1860. TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT. 1860

FREIGHT will be received at the Company's Depot, foot of Calliope street, up to 5:30 P. M. daily, Sundays excepted.

All freight intended for transportation must be plainly marked with the name or initials of consignee and place of destination, and no freight will be received unless accompanied by a bill of lading, or the receipt of the company in connection therewith.

Bills of lading and receipts for freight may be obtained at the Depot, or at Messrs. Carson & Armstrong's, Camp street, for those to whom they may wish to send them.

The Company will not be held responsible for the value of all cotton shipped by the roads—which it may be lost by fire on the levee, or in the transportation to the depot, unless the said cotton have been insured by consignors on the arrival at the depot in this city.

The Company has all the Railroad and Steamboat connections with the Great Southwestern line between New Orleans and Memphis, and with the Mississippi Central and Illinois Central Railroads, and the Adams Express Company has in a manner daily the only Express between the two cities, the Express business is therefore one of the first importance to the public, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the Express Department of the Company's business as perfect as can be obtained on the subject; from all express matter will be carefully attended to, and delivered at the depot, or obtained on the subject from J. AYER'S AGUE CURE,

FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF

Intermittent or Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers induced by the whole class of diseases originating in Miasmatic encampments caused by the malaria of intensely malarious countries.

This remedy is found to be useful for by the necessities of those who live in, or travel through, districts of country where Fever and Ague, and the various enumerated modifications of it, prevail. Containing neither Arsenic, Mercury, nor any other mineral substance, it is safe to administer to the young or old, and may be taken when other medicines would be improper. Containing the antidote to the poison of Miasma, it expels it from the system, and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for the cure of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity of medicine which we furnish for a dollar, and the great reputation it has won for its cures in all parts of the country, place it within the reach of every body, and no Indians districts where Fever and Ague prevails, everybody should have it with and use it freely. By timely use of this remedy, the liability to attack is destroyed, and the system is left strong and healthy. Being agreeable to the taste, and possessing powerfully cleansing and resolving properties, it is the best aperient that can be employed, where a cathartic is required, and is the most effectual purgative that can be administered to children. They readily take it, as it is pleasant to the taste, and it may be confidently relied upon to perform its cures, without any of the drawbacks of ordinary cathartics. In the prevailing bowel complaints of the season, it will be found an invaluable remedy, which will promptly check the progress of the disease, and in many cases, by its timely use, save the life of the patient.

On the authority of several communities from eminent medical gentlemen who have administered the remedy to their female patients of all ages, and for nearly all the difficulties and diseases exclusively incidental to the sex, we feel warranted in pronouncing it a safe and reliable tonic to every female invalid whose system is debilitated by internal weakness, or who is suffering from a number of the many ailments engaged in voluntary pursuits opposed to the fitness of the female organs. Its immediate effect is to restore the appetite, to give tone and strength to the digestive organs, and to regulate the whole secretory system, when it is disordered, in such a manner as to bring back the long-lost roses to the pallid cheek, and to change the weak, nervous, and sickly woman into the strong, healthy, and vigorous wife and mother.

It would be easy to adduce the evidence of the certificates of remarkable cures which it has performed, but this would be unnecessary, as the trial of a single bottle will convince the most incredulous of its superior power to cure all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, and Pulmonary Organs, from the fact that it will relieve more distressing cases in a shorter time than any other medicine. Consumption, which fastens its fangs upon its victims when Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spasmodic Hysterics, Pain in the Breast, Liver Complaint, Heart Disease, Pain in the Side, Back, or Limbs, and Rheumatism, will yield to its mighty power, when administered in time, but in the more obstinate cases of the disease, where the lungs are half consumed, and the system is reduced to the last degree of debility, and the hectic flush has settled upon the cheek, and the frame is wasted by night sweats, and the fatal cough has exhausted the energies of the sufferer, and seemingly loosened every fibre of the system, and the pallid messenger has marked the victim for his own, and the doctor has given over in despair, and the friends are looking on in sorrow and anguish, and the coffin and shroud are in preparation, and the solemn funeral bell is about to toll, and the mourners are about to follow the body to the tomb, this remedy has been found to arrest the destroyer, and restore the sufferer to health and vigor.

INVIGORATING GRUEL.

L. L. L. NOURISHING REMEDY

INVENTED AND PREPARED

BY P. MARMAY.

THE invention of this new and invaluable remedy has been patented in France, England, Scotland, Ireland, Belgium and the United States.

This truly hygienic composition is a natural preparation of a glutinous farina—such as is found in and a relish by those in good health, and an unfailing remedy to restore to health and vigor the debilitated, in the shape of a soup.

The astringent effects ordinarily resulting from Tonics, Bitters and Vermifuges, so valuable in many cases, are modified by the use of the invigorating Gruel, which can be taken without fear by persons of the most delicate stomach.

This invigorating Gruel has been tried by distinguished physicians, and it has been most triumphantly in every disease of the stomach, such as Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Constipation, Morgrims, Sick Headache, Pains in the Stomach, Costiveness, Vomiting, Cholic Diarrhœa, &c., &c.

The invigorating Gruel is taken in different ways; with a broth—with milk or sweetened with sugar—with or without wine—Sherry or water. A spoonful is sufficient, and should be put in boiling milk and remain 15 or 20 minutes.

To be taken morning and evening.

For further particulars, apply at the General Depot No. 56 Canal street, between Chartres and Royal streets.

For sale, wholesale and retail, by A. RENAUD TRAINER, principal agent in the United States. Depots in the principal cities of the United States.

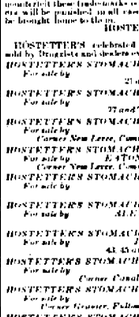
DUCONGE'S

PECTORAL BALSAMIC SYRUP.



It is now thirty years since this truly valuable Syrup was first offered to the public, and although it was never "puffed," nor even advertised, it has gradually risen in public favor, by its own merit, gained an unquestionable reputation, and is daily becoming more popular. Unlike most of the celebrated medicines of the day, it will never die, it will outlive all the quack nostrums in existence, for it has real merit, and is a sovereign remedy for all diseases of the breast, chest and lungs, such as colds, coughs, sore throat, hoarseness, inflammation of the chest, spitting of blood, whooping cough, bronchitis, &c. &c.

In all affections of the lungs, verging on

it has been found to prevent that dreadful scourge, whenever timely resorted to.

Many cases of Asthma have been cured by a few occasional doses of this Syrup, and even in cases of rheumatism, dizziness, dysentery, summer complaints, and especially in those cases of "obstruction," which, for want of proper attention, frequently lead to consumption, it has established the efficacy of the

but this mode of recommendation has been so much abused that the people care little or no faith to these certificates. The proprietor is, therefore, willing to let his Syrup stand upon its own merits.

It is not only the BEST, but the most pleasant preparation ever offered to the public. Indeed it is so palatable that children take it without the least difficulty, and it requires no particular diet.

IT IS ALSO THE CHEAPEST,

MEDICAL.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Let the Afflicted Speak for Themselves.

From more than one thousand communications, received from all parts of the United States, we consider the following plain statement of the effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS upon invalids entitled to the confidence of reason and sensible men. The symptoms from disease of the digestive and secretive organs, from general nervous debility arising from a long residence in the tropics, from a small constitution, or the absence of a state of sufficient testimony, which, if published in volumes, we presume would not possess all the prominent reasons given by recovered patients for their confidence in a preparation which has restored them from a state of bodily suffering and mental depression that rendered life a burden to a condition of perfect health. For the benefit of the uninformed, this statement is not the advertisement of the proprietors of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, but of those wards of and observers of the patient, the pith of whose opinions and experiences of its merits we simply reproduce in this form for the information of all who languish in sickness and despondency. The letters themselves certifying every word in this article, are on file, and subject to the inspection of any one who doubts the correctness of the statements we make. Let the sick and despondent prepare, from these documents, that confirmed Dyspepsia, of the most malignant type, is uniformly cured by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Bitters in a period varying from one to six weeks, and that its return is effectually prevented and that a thorough renovation of the entire system is the effect of a subsequent occasional use of this remarkable invigorant. The diseases, as described in the letters from Dyspeptics, would be known to have an almost limitless variety of symptoms. Among them in the constant intervention of the liver in the healthy every facility possible for perfecting themselves in this language.

The establishment is commodious and well ventilated, and has recently been entirely renovated, with the utmost regard to the comfort and health of the pupils.

Mme. LOCQUET respectfully invites parents and families to call and visit her school, where prospectuses, with all the information which may be desired, can be had.

Letters of inquiry will be promptly attended to by the Principal.

Madame Parent's Institution,

Corner Royal and Hospital Sts.

DAY AND BOARDING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES.

THIS establishment, founded by Mme. and Mlle. Caulay, whose high reputation has existed for a number of years, will commence the next scholastic session on the 26th of September.

Mme. and Mlle. Caulay, assisted by her sister, Mme. FRANCOIS LOCQUET, with whom she has associated herself, will use her best endeavors to continue to merit the confidence reposed, for so many years, in her predecessors.

Professors of the highest talent are employed in all the branches, both useful and ornamental. Piano, Music, and the study of the Solfege will be taught exclusively by the Misses Locquet, whose reputation as professors of music has been all well appreciated by the numerous families who have favored them with their confidence.

The French language, the native language of those ladies, and the acquirement of which will prove indispensable to a good education, is familiar with the utmost care, and is spoken in the Institution. Young ladies will therefore have, both in the constant intercourse with their teachers every facility possible for perfecting themselves in this language.

The establishment is commodious and well ventilated, and has recently been entirely renovated, with the utmost regard to the comfort and health of the pupils.

Madame Parent's Institution,

Corner Royal and Hospital Sts.

DAY AND BOARDING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES.

THIS establishment has been removed to corner Royal and Hospital streets. The building is vast, well ventilated and admirably adapted to the purpose. Madame Parent avails herself of this occasion to thank the numerous families who have so largely patronized her institution, and to assure them that their daughters will receive the same maternal care as heretofore, and the same reputation of her establishment will be guarantee to their parents for the future. A corps of study completes the same system, in both English and French, as heretofore. Music, Drawing, Painting, Dancing, Languages and Vocal Music, Instrumental and vocal, by the first Masters in the city. Embroidery, Fancy Work, Needle and Shoe Work, taught by the most eminent Professors.

Madame Parent will remove her institution across the lake at Pontchartrain, on the 15th of May, and will be found again in the city throughout the year. Finally, there will be nothing wanting to complete a nursery of health and education, which, for the future as for the past, will be without rivalry in comparison.

It is not always the fault of the parents of sickly children that Dr. Hostetter's Bitters have not restored them to health. Individuals of both sexes, who suffer from general debility, weakness and physical pain, or from the effects of a deranged constitution, will find great benefit from their faithful application to the frame and the constitution, and a where they have failed. Let the sick and despondent immediate the energy and vitality which Nature has supplied to supply.

The feeble girl, the ailing wife, the nursing mother, the overtasked man of business, the man of pleasure, under the pressure of late hours and excitement, and those who have a predisposition to paralysis, will do well to resort to this incomparable tonic and restorative.

A contemporary says and it is true—that "Hostetter's Bitters are not to be known as almost infallible remedy for dyspepsia, morning nausea, pain between the shoulders, costiveness, flatulency, nervousness, chronic debility, broken sleep, nightmare, loss of memory, dizziness of sight, prostration of strength, dull, stupifying headache, want of appetite, and kindred ailments. Their despondency and despair wholly independent of external causes, and which has passed into a habit, can be cured."

Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Constipation, Morgrims, Sick Headache, Pains in the Stomach, Costiveness, Vomiting, Cholic Diarrhœa, &c., &c.

The invigorating Gruel is taken in different ways; with a broth—with milk or sweetened with sugar—with or without wine—Sherry or water. A spoonful is sufficient, and should be put in boiling milk and remain 15 or 20 minutes.

To be taken morning and evening.

DUCONGE'S

PECTORAL BALSAMIC SYRUP.

It is now thirty years since this truly valuable Syrup was first offered to the public, and although it was never "puffed," nor even advertised, it has gradually risen in public favor, by its own merit, gained an unquestionable reputation, and is daily becoming more popular. Unlike most of the celebrated medicines of the day, it will never die, it will outlive all the quack nostrums in existence, for it has real merit, and is a sovereign remedy for all diseases of the breast, chest and lungs, such as colds, coughs, sore throat, hoarseness, inflammation of the chest, spitting of blood, whooping cough, bronchitis, &c. &c.

In all affections of the lungs, verging on

it has been found to prevent that dreadful scourge, whenever timely resorted to.

Many cases of Asthma have been cured by a few occasional doses of this Syrup, and even in cases of rheumatism, dizziness, dysentery, summer complaints, and especially in those cases of "obstruction," which, for want of proper attention, frequently lead to consumption, it has established the efficacy of the

but this mode of recommendation has been so much abused that the people care little or no faith to these certificates. The proprietor is, therefore, willing to let his Syrup stand upon its own merits.

It is not only the BEST, but the most pleasant preparation ever offered to the public. Indeed it is so palatable that children take it without the least difficulty, and it requires no particular diet.

HOUSE OF

JEAN AUGE,

No. 63 CHARTRES ST., cor. Marville.

MR. and MRS AUGE beg to inform their numerous customers that Mrs. Auge has returned from Europe, and has made her Fall and Winter purchases of a large assortment of new articles, received by late arrivals, comprising as follows:

A complete assortment of Hats of all colors and long lists of Ostrich Feathers, Flowers, Ribbons, Velvets, Blonds, &c. Madame Parent avails herself of this occasion to thank the numerous families who have so largely patronized her institution, and to assure them that their daughters will receive the same maternal care as heretofore, and the same reputation of her establishment will be guarantee to their parents for the future. A corps of study completes the same system, in both English and French, as heretofore. Music, Drawing, Painting, Dancing, Languages and Vocal Music, Instrumental and vocal, by the first Masters in the city. Embroidery, Fancy Work, Needle and Shoe Work, taught by the most eminent Professors.

Madame Parent will remove her institution across the lake at Pontchartrain, on the 15th of May, and will be found again in the city throughout the year. Finally, there will be nothing wanting to complete a nursery of health and education, which, for the future as for the past, will be without rivalry in comparison.

It is not always the fault of the parents of sickly children that Dr. Hostetter's Bitters have not restored them to health. Individuals of both sexes, who suffer from general debility, weakness and physical pain, or from the effects of a deranged constitution, will find great benefit from their faithful application to the frame and the constitution, and a where they have failed. Let the sick and despondent immediate the energy and vitality which Nature has supplied to supply.
