SITUATION IN HUNGARY NOW CAUSES DELAY

BODY OF MISS CAVELL LAID TO REST TO-DAY IN SOIL OF ENGLAND

Britain Does Tribute to Martyr's Memory at Service in Westminster Abbey; Multitudes in Streets; Interment Made at Norwich Cathedral

London, May 15.—(Associated Press).—Britain paid tribute to Edith Cavell, the English nurse executed by the Germans at Brussels on October 12, 1915, to-day when her body, en route from Brussels to her native city of Norwich, was taken to Westminster Abbey for an impressive memorial service. It was a public funeral in which it seemed every resident of the great metropolis endeavored to participate. The streets through which the cortege moved were congested with crowds and every inch of standing room in the neighborhood of the Abbey was occupied by a densely massed multitude which was eager to do reverent homage to "that brave woman," as the Bishop of London described her, "who deserves a great deal from the British Empire."

The congregation in the Abbey included high officials of the Government, representatives of foreign countries and men prominent in many walks of life. King George was represented by the Earl of Athlone, brother of Queen Mary.

The service was conducted by the Dean of Westminster. No address was delivered. The opening sentences of the burial service were sung by the choir, which then sang the Twenty-Third Psalm. A short lesson from the Revelations was read. Then came Sullivan's anthem "Ye, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death" and "I heard a voice from Heaven." The Litany, the Lord's Prayer and two collects were then repeated, followed by the hymn "Abide With Me." The benediction was then pronounced and the last post and reveille were sounded.

To Norwich
The service, which began at noon, lasted half an hour. The procession left the Abbey to the strains of Chopin's Funeral March and proceeded to the station, where the coffin of plain oak was placed on a train for Norwich. On the coffin was the simple inscription: "Edith Cavell, born December 4, 1865, died October 12, 1915." At Norwich it was placed on a gun carriage and was taken to Norwich Cathedral. The service, which was officiated by the Bishop of Norwich, Edith Cavell, a nurse who gave her life for her countrymen, was followed.

As the coffin was taken into the Cathedral the hymn "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er" was sung, followed by the reading of the lesson, 1 Peter II, 19, by Canon Deuchar. Then came the anthem "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" and Chopin's Funeral March.

"Last Post"
While the hymn "Brief Life Is Here Our Portion" was being sung, the procession formed for the march to the graveside. There the latter portion of the burial service was conducted by the Bishop, and the hymn "Abide With Me," which Miss Cavell repeated shortly before her execution by the Germans, was sung. The benediction was then pronounced and a bugle sounded the "Last Post."
The funeral party which accompanied the body from Brussels to Norwich included eight members of Miss Cavell's family and prominent British and Belgian officials.

FOODSTUFFS EXPORT THROUGH LICENSE

Women's Convention Also Recommend Price Control Under Commissioner

Vancouver, May 15.—"Whereas: the present high cost of living is such as to make it impossible for our Canadian children to obtain proper and nourishing food, and
"Whereas: this accentuates the unrest which follows as a natural effect of the world-wide war;
"Be it resolved: That we do urge the Dominion Government to only the surplus foodstuffs over and above our Canadian needs be exported.
"We suggest that this restriction of export of foodstuffs be carried out under an export license plan and that the surplus available be shipped preferably only to countries with which Canada has an unfavorable balance of trade.
"And, we further urge that to attain these objects the government make an immediate survey and public report of the food supplies of Canada, both present and prospective, directing particular attention to cold storage plants and grain elevators.
"We also ask the government to establish a trade commissioner to con-

COUNCIL OF FOUR DISCUSS MILITARY TERMS FOR AUSTRIA

Paris, May 15.—The Council of Four this morning discussed with its military advisers the military terms of the treaty to be presented to the Austrian delegation. It is understood that these are similar to those in the German treaty, including the prohibition of conscription.

GENERAL STRIKE BEGINS IN THE CITY OF WINNIPEG UNDER ORDERLY CONDITIONS

Winnipeg, May 15.—Precisely at 11 o'clock this forenoon, the time set by the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council, a general strike began here and approximately 27,000 union workers left their work. The street cars were taken to the barns, the elevators in buildings stopped running, the postal employees went home, all deliveries of milk, bread and other foodstuffs ceased, and about 3,000 clerks, bookkeepers and stenographers employed throughout the city stopped work. Except for a specially organized life-saving crew, all the firemen walked out. The policemen were ordered by the strike committee to remain on duty, although they had voted solidly to strike; it was announced, and some strikers were delegated by the committee to offer their services in the interest of maintaining order.

The walk-out was conducted in a very orderly manner in every case. The strike committee had arranged to continue a supply of water for domestic purposes and a sufficient force of operators in all the hospitals to insure adequate service.

A citizens' committee of 1,000 has been formed with the object of aiding in the maintenance of order in the city and arranging for the operation of essential public utilities. Volunteers for this work are being asked for.

Papers May Suspend
The press procession was considering the advisability of joining the strike. If they should decide to walk out it would mean that the three local newspapers would be compelled to suspend publication.

All except about a half dozen of the smaller restaurants have closed up. Those remaining open are limping along with short staffs.

The large departmental store—Eaton's, the Hudson's Bay and Robinson's—are still open for business, although many of their employees have struck.

Streets Crowded
The streets are thronged with good-natured crowds and there is a general holiday spirit.

The telephone service is still being maintained, but the operators have signified their intention of going on strike to-morrow morning.

The stage hands employed by the local theatres notified their employers that they would not report for duty this afternoon. The musicians, however, decided to continue their services at the theatres. The theatrical managers announced their intention of going ahead with the shows for at least the remainder of the week.

Three downtown moving picture houses have closed. The others expect to continue in operation.

RUSSIAN WORKERS IN SASKATCHEWAN BEING WATCHED

Regina, May 15.—Orders have been given to the Provincial Police to investigate the activities of members of the Federation of Unions of Russian Workers, whose gospel is a little red book advocating revolution as a means of gaining control of the wealth of a state with which to satisfy the needs of the individual. The individual is supposed to do his part by giving of his labor and knowledge in return for his share of the spoils.

RANTZAU WANTS TO "IMPROVE" TREATY

Alleges German Will Not Sign Terms They Cannot Fulfill

Berlin, May 14, via London, May 15.—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, in communicating to the other members of the delegation the text of the three notes he had sent to Premier Clemenceau, President of the Peace Conference, pointed out that the peace treaty in its present form could not be accepted and could not be signed because it was impossible to fulfill its terms.

Dispatches from Versailles reporting the Count's action said that he told the German delegation that it would sign nothing it was not intended to fulfill. The delegation, he continued, would endeavor to improve the treaty and make its signing possible.

AUSTRIAN DELEGATION READY BUT UNCERTAIN STATE OF AFFAIRS IN HUNGARY WILL HOLD TREATY BACK

PREMIER OLIVER ON SERVICE MEN'S NOTE

"Let Them Take Down the Sign If They Deny the 'Business,'" Says He

STILL SEES POLITICAL MOTIVES IN BACKGROUND

Premier Oliver still retains the opinion that party political motives are actuating some of the leaders of the various returned soldiers' organizations in their repeated demand that the present administration resign from office and appeal to the electorate for endorsement. Although no reply to his recent communication in answer to the petition presented to the Provincial Cabinet a few weeks ago has reached the Premier's office, however, Mr. Oliver stated to The Times representative this morning that he had seen a newspaper copy of a letter presumably intended for him essentially.

Discussing the communication as it appeared in the press of the Province yesterday, making special reference to what he describes as the party political motive which he alleged is behind the demand for the Government's resignation, Mr. Oliver says that as the alleged reply made on behalf of the returned men is a distorted statement of his own reply, he cannot treat it seriously; moreover, the absence of a direct reply leads him to believe that he will not receive one.

GERMANS ARE TOLD ALLIES' LABOR PROGRAMME MUST BE ADOPTED AS BEST OFFERED

Paris, May 15.—The Council of Four has declined to consider the note from Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, chief of the German peace mission, relative to international labor legislation. In a note sent to the German delegation yesterday, M. Clemenceau, President of the Peace Conference, said that the Allied and Associated Governments were "of the opinion that their decisions give satisfaction to the anxiety which the German delegates profess for social justice and insure realization of reforms which the working classes have more than ever a right to expect after the cruel trial to which the world has been subjected during the last five years."

GERMAN EX-PRINCE ATTACKS WILSON

Zurich, May 15.—The German Prince Alexander Hohenzollern-Schillun, in an article in The Neue Zeitung, of Zurich, attacks President Wilson in regard to the peace treaty, which he calls the "tragedy of Versailles."

The local flyers were not satisfied with their record-breaking flight to Vancouver. As soon as the machine had filled up with gasoline and oil and the pilots had lunched, the Pathfinder hopped off from Minor Park on its

No Hungarian Delegation Sent to Congress; Allies Lack Definite Indications As to Whether Kun Government Growing Stronger or Weaker

Paris, May 15.—The failure of the Hungarian Government to respond to the invitation to send delegates to France to receive the peace terms and the general uncertainty of Hungarian conditions probably will delay the Austrian peace negotiations, it developed to-day. The problems relating to Austria and Hungary overlap so greatly that the Allies feel that many phases of them must be considered jointly.

No inspection of the credentials of the Austrian peace delegates, who arrived at St. Germain-en-Laye yesterday, has as yet been arranged.

An attache of the United States Embassy in Vienna who has been in Budapest recently, arrived to-day from Hungary, bringing unsatisfactory reports of the general situation in Hungary and ignorance as to whether Bela Kun's Government is growing weaker or if its position is being strengthened.

The text of the reply to the German note sent by M. Clemenceau follows: "Sir, I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of May 10 in regard to international labor legislation, together with a draft of an international agreement on labor law. The reply of the Allied and Associated Governments is as follows: Relief.

"They take note of the declaration made by the German delegates that domestic peace and the advancement of mankind depend upon the adjustment of the labor question and they are convinced that such adjustment will be rendered easier in the future than in the past as men's minds are freed from the fear of war and industry is relieved of the burden of armaments which German militarism had imposed upon it.

"Part XIII of the draft of the conditions of peace provides a means by which such adjustments can be made, and section II of that part of the draft lays down the principles which will progressively guide the labor organization and the League of Nations. Article 437 indicates clearly that the enumeration of the principles set forth is not exhaustive. The purpose of the labor organization is that it should promote the constant development of the international labor regime.

Must Sign
"The labor convention has been inserted in the treaty of peace and Germany therefore will be called upon to sign it. In the future the rights of your country to participate in the labor organization will be secured so soon as she is admitted into the League of Nations in accordance with Article I of the treaty.

"It has not been thought necessary to summon a labor conference at Versailles. The conclusions of a syndical conference at Berne, which are reproduced in the draft of the international agreement on labor law referred to in the first paragraph of your letter of May 10, had already been studied with the closest attention. Representatives of the trades unions had taken part in the preparation of the articles relating to labor.

At Washington
"As appears, moreover, from the annex to Section II of Part XIII, page 209, the programme of the first session of the International Labor Conference to be held at Washington next October comprises the most important of the questions raised at the syndical conference at Berne. Trade unions will be invited to take part in that conference and it will be held under direct rules which provide for due effect being given to conclusions subject only to the assent of the competent authorities in the countries represented.

The draft of the international agreement on labor law proposed by the German Government is deficient in that it makes no provision for the representation of labor at the international conference.

THIRTY-SIX JEWS KILLED AT PINSK

Stockholm, May 14.—Via London, May 15.—The Jewish Press Bureau here announces that according to a communication from members of the inquiry commission at Pinsk, Russia, who investigated the recent pogrom there, thirty-six youths of Pinsk, who were in no way connected with the Bolshevik movement, were killed.

A dispatch from London on May 1 gave an announcement from the central office of the Zionist Association which asserted that word had been received at its Copenhagen bureau that fifty-six Jews had been killed in a pogrom at Pinsk.

VISITORS WILL NOT SEE LLOYD GEORGE

Representatives of Irish Societies in States Denied the Opportunity

London, May 15.—Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law, Government leader in the House of Commons, admitted yesterday that Mr. Lloyd George had asked Frank P. Walsh, Edward F. Dunne and Michael F. Ryan, representatives of Irish societies in the United States, to call on him. He had planned to lay before them the British case and have it widely reported in the United States, where it is insufficiently understood, Mr. Bonar Law said.

The Prime Minister withdrew the invitation, however, the Government leader said, because, while he was willing to receive Americans, he was unwilling to receive those who "come to Ireland not only to take part in the politics of Ireland, but also in rebellious movements."

A MOONEY STRIKE VOTE IN TACOMA

Tacoma, May 15.—By unanimous vote, the Tacoma Central Labor Council last night recommended that its affiliated unions take a referendum to strike July 4 as a demonstration against the imprisonment of Thomas J. Mooney.

MARSHAL FOCH GOES TO THE RHINE LINE

Allies Prepare to Take Military Action Should German Delegation Balk

Paris, May 15.—Immediate measures tending to the further subjugation of Germany if her delegates should refuse to sign the peace treaty were indicated yesterday by the announcement that Marshal Foch had been sent to the Rhine by the Council of Four to take such action as might become necessary in the event that the treaty should not be signed.

The Council of Four yesterday considered the immediate reimposing of the blockade against Germany in case the German delegates should decline to sign the peace treaty. The subject was under discussion at two separate meetings of the Council.

On the other hand, it is expected that the blockade will be entirely lifted immediately if the German delegates affix their signatures to the treaty.

To Committees.

The three notes presented by the German delegation yesterday were referred by the Council to special committees.

One of these notes, dealing with territorial questions, protests particularly against the Saar Valley arrangement and the transfer of the Malmédy, Moresnet and Eupen districts to Belgium, as well as the forced evacuation of a part of Schleswig.

Another of the notes, dealing with reparations, does not protest against the payment by Germany for the devastation wrought in Belgium and Northern France, which, it says, Germany is ready to do willingly. It is added, however, that Germany will not pay reparations for this damage on the principle that she was responsible for the war.

Requisitioning Ended.

Paris, May 15.—Speaking at a banquet of the Republican Commission on Commerce, Agriculture and Industry, yesterday, Louis Nail, Minister of Justice, said that the taxing of the Allies was demanded to the limit. The Versailles treaty, however, is not written in a spirit of conquest and hatred.

Roumanian View.

Berne, May 14.—Via London, May 15.—Roumania considers the peace terms given Germany severe, but just, and she is determined to impose upon Roumania a year ago, the Roumanian Press Bureau here announces. It is recalled that the German plenipotentiaries made this remark to the "Times" in London.

"The conditions imposed upon you are mild compared with those we intend to impose on the Allies."

COWICHAN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETS

Duncan, May 15.—There was a good attendance at the Cowichan Women's Institute's meeting this week, held at Mrs. Leather's home.

Mrs. Blackwood-Wileman was in the chair and spoke of the efforts of the women to advance the consolidation of the schools of the city of Duncan and the municipality of North Cowichan. A good word also was put in for the Boy Scout Movement recently inaugurated and the support of the members for that organization, and also for the Cowichan Girl Guides, was asked. Two scouts had raffled a pig which had been donated by E. H. Hopkins to help the Scout fund. The scouts offered to kill it and dress it if the winner should wish to have this done.

As secretary of the Victorian Order of Nurses' Association Mrs. Blackwood-Wileman stated that the collectors had taken $150 towards the establishment of a district nurse and that as much more had been promised. The funds collected did not go to the central authorities but would be administered by the local committee, which would fix the fees to be charged at the next meeting. Mrs. Hannington would have a nurse as soon as the committee was ready to ask for one.

The meeting of the Institute justified the appointment of another director and Mrs. G. Corfield was elected.

The feature of the afternoon was the demonstration by E. H. Hopkins, district agricultural supervisor, on dairy work in small dairies. Mr. Hopkins showed the way to make butter from sweet cream and from sour cream. The butter made was tasted by the ladies present and was found to be most excellent.

DOMINION TRUST.

Vancouver, May 15.—It seemed as if the long drawn out struggle of the depositors of the Dominion Trust Company for recognition as ordinary creditors in the liquidation of the company, with its attendant piling up of costs and delay in liquidation, showed signs of drawing to a sudden end when at a meeting of depositors held in the O'Brien Hall here last night the compromise proposal put forth by the liquidator was accepted by practically every depositor present.

Subject to the approval of the winding-up judge, Mr. Justice Murphy, the depositors will rank in the dividend payable to half the amount payable to the other preferred creditors; that is, if the latter receive ten cents on the dollar, the depositors will receive five cents, or will rank for the full dividend on half of the admitted claims.

IRRIGATION SCHEME.

Lethbridge, May 15.—Farmers owning 17,000 acres in the Taber district have accepted a proposal from the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation System to extend the Lethbridge system to them by a twenty-five-mile ditch. The total cost will be $27,500, and the farmers have created an irrigation district which will issue bonds for that amount. The construction work will be completed this year.

RAILWAY BOARD NOT GIVEN CONTROL

Commons Committee Decides Against Inland Water and Coastwise Plan

Ottawa, May 15.—A vote was taken in the special Railway Committee of the Commons yesterday on an amendment proposed by Mr. Armstrong, East Lambton, to give the Railway Commission control over inland water coastwise navigation. This control would have included authority to decide the question of rates. The amendment was defeated by a vote of five.

Mr. Armstrong stated to the Canadian Press that he is contemplating bringing his amendment before the House when the bill is under consideration. He said that the doubling and tripling of rates was putting manufacturers in difficulties and some had made the statement they would be put out of business.

INSTRUCTIVE LECTURE GIVEN AT DUNCAN

Duncan, May 15.—The public lecture on the health by-laws of the city of Duncan, given by K. F. Duncan, M. P. E., in the Odd Fellows' Hall here under the auspices of the Cowichan Women's Independent Political Association, proved both interesting and instructive.

The speaker dealt with the general need for health laws and the tremendous advantages derived from their compulsory observance, as in the army camps, the yellow fever districts and malarial districts of the tropics.

The authority of the city to make by-laws was explained, and the powers of the Provincial Board of Health to step in as a safeguard when municipal bodies failed in their duty.

The almost absolute power of the Municipal Health Officer in such questions as quarantine, sanitation, and water supply, were clearly explained. The power that two or more ratepayers had to complain of anything detrimental to health and have it investigated, and if necessary rectified, was a revelation to his audience.

The extraordinarily great powers any official or any ratepayer has when public health is threatened was proven to be well worth the very careful duty of the women.

Since women secured the franchise the Women's Independent Political Association has been making a study of Dominion, Provincial and Municipal powers and laws, and is securing the help of prominent men from every party to explain various points in the whole structure of government.

A Shell-Shocked Soldier

Tells of His Remarkable Experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

MR. FRED K. SAUNDERS, 46 Euclid Ave., London, Ont., writes: "After having returned from the front with shell-shock, and while still in a nervous condition, I met with a painful accident due to a fall from the top of a ladder, striking my back on the edge of a desk, which confined me to bed for three weeks. After the sprain had been reduced and the pain eased so that I was able to be around, I was obliged to return to bed, suffering a complete nervous breakdown. My regular physician attended me until the middle of September, without results being in any way satisfactory.

"My nights were spent in tossing about the bed worrying about the future, which looked so black. The continual loss of sleep caused me to become light-headed, so that I would say and do things quite unreasonably. My heart action became quite deranged, together with my stomach and digestion. My skin and the whites of my eyes became yellow. My kidneys were affected, and when I would try to get up everything would go black in front of me with dizziness, and I would fall if nobody was near. Following these dizzy spells I would become so weak, and a sickening feeling of faintness would creep over me, so that for two or three hours afterwards I would be helpless, and my head would ache almost to the point of splitting. Nothing seemed to help these weak spells. I became so irritable that to speak to or answer anyone, even my wife, in a decent manner seemed almost impossible.

"About the end of October someone recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and my wife got some for me. After taking only a few doses I thought I felt a little happier and better in several ways. The weak, dizzy spells were gone after taking two boxes. About that time I noticed my yellow complexion, and decided to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I took occasionally at night. After taking seven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and two boxes of Kidney-Liver Pills I was able to get up and be around the house, gradually taking more interest in life.

"My heart action gradually became normal, my digestion good, and the dirty, muddy, yellow color of my skin and eyes disappeared. My hands and feet were no longer cold and clammy, and my weight increased at the rate of four pounds a week. I was quite normal and fit for work after using eleven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and four boxes of Kidney-Liver Pills, and felt just as good as new, but in order to safeguard myself continued to take this treatment for some time afterwards. I really think—in fact, I know—that Dr. Chase's medicines saved me from the asylum or even paralysis, perhaps even saved my life. These are my reasons for saying that I swear by Dr. Chase's goods. I am never without them in the home, and recommend them to anyone as a safe and reliable medicine to those who will give them a fair trial. One or two boxes won't work any miracles, but I do believe in praise when praise is due; and I praise them to every poor soul who is in poor health. I shall be glad to answer any correspondence on these valuable remedies from anyone doubting their value as reliable and safe medicines."

The conditions so well described in this letter are experienced by many people who will appreciate Mr. Saunders' thoughtfulness in writing so fully of his case and pointing the way to cure. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, six for $3.75. All dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

KOLCHAK PLANS TO TAKE MOSCOW

Omsk All-Russian Government Aims to Destroy Bolshevik Army

Paris, May 15.—(French Wireless.)—Plans are being made by the All-Russian Government at Omsk to begin an advance on Moscow, Admiral Kolchak, head of the Government, declared in an interview with a correspondent of The Petit Parisien. In discussing the military situation in Eastern Russia, the Admiral said: "Owing to the thaw and the difficulty of moving the artillery forward, a lull prevails, but the operations will be resumed before long and we will try to establish and guarantee communication with Archangel, and also with General Denikine in the south. The advance in the direction of Moscow will then begin. The capture of Moscow is the supreme end, the political aim to which our wills must bend, but we must first reach the purely strategic aim, which is the destruction of the Soviet army. This is the end to which I will devote my attention."

After the final victory, the Admiral continued, a National Assembly will be called, to which Admiral Kolchak will hand over his authority.

Poles and Ukrainians
Vienna, May 15.—(Associated Press)—Polish attacks in the region of Lemberg in the last few days failed completely, according to reports received here from Ukrainian sources. The Poles attempted a strong infantry charge against the Ukrainians, but were mowed down by machine gun fire, leaving hundreds of dead behind them as they retired. The same message indicates heavy fighting near Kiev, occasioned by Bol-

Experience From Two Sides

One letter was from a young lady that has something to do with a grocereria.

She says that they sell more Pacific Milk than all the others put together—and there has never been a complaint.

And she further adds that they use it at home, and so from personal experience she can say its flavor is more like fresh cream and does not give an unpleasant taste to cooking.

General Ivanoff-Rinoff was charged with having interfered with business and having checked the activity of the Cossack Hetman in establishing military control.

WILLIAM T. PRESTON DIES AT SEATTLE

Seattle, May 15.—Wm. Trutch Preston, senior Assistant United States Engineer for the Puget Sound district, died of pneumonia at his residence in the St. Paul apartments yesterday after a brief illness.

Few men had a greater share in the engineering problems and the upbuilding of the Northwest than Mr. Preston. As a young man in 1899 he came to the Canadian Northwest as a civil engineer in charge of important work under Andrew Ogdenonk in driving the Canadian Pacific Railway through the mountains to the Coast, and he had a leading part in the mastery of the Fraser River canyon, which is a monument to his skill.

He took part in the construction work of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern Railroad during 1887-1889, the building of which was a great step toward the present growth of Seattle. He saw the Lake Washington Canal grow from a mere runway of logs, from one lake to the other, put through by private interests, to the present national maritime highway and was personally engaged in all of its development.

Since 1898 Mr. Preston was chief Assistant to the United States Engineer in charge of the Puget Sound district. For four years he was stationed at Fort Stevens, in Boston, Massachusetts, and for three years after he was in charge of fortifications at Fort Warden.

DEBATE ON NATIONAL SCHOOLS AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, May 15.—A debate on the question of national schools was precipitated in the Commons yesterday afternoon by Dr. J. W. Edwards, member for Frontenac. Dr. Edwards had a motion on the order paper calling for the establishment of a national school system, but it was not reached before private members' days were abolished for the session, so he started a discussion yesterday on the motion to go into supply. The debate, which ensued at times was inclined to be heated. R. H. Butts, Cape Breton, as a mark of disapproval, walked out of the House during the course of Dr. Edwards' speech.

A statement by Dr. Edwards that there were whole counties in Ontario and Quebec where no provisions were made for the education of the children of the minority, drew forth denials from Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and J. A. Robb, Chateauguay. As a representative Protestant of Quebec Province, Mr. Robb stated that he was well satisfied with educational conditions in that province.

Support for the national school proposal came from H. A. Mackie, East Edmonton. H. C. Hocken, Toronto East, complimented Dr. Edwards for bringing up Government of Manitoba for handling the separate school question. He said it was the duty of Parliament to see that a national school sentiment was created in Canada.

When Mr. Hocken concluded, the debate petered out and the House went into committee of supply.

London, May 15.—Having expressed readiness to negotiate a new commercial treaty with Britain, Venezuela has been informed by the British Government that it is prepared to arrange for a new understanding if Venezuela will abrogate the law placing a surtax of thirty per cent. on imports from the West Indies and British Guiana. LITTLE BUTTER IN STORAGE IN CANADA

Ottawa, May 15.—The Cost-of-Living Commissioner, in his report to the Minister of Labor concerning commodities in cold storage and in process of curing on May 1, says: "The stocks of butter are the lowest recorded since the cold storage report was inaugurated. The ordinary course of events in the butter trade is to put into storage a part of the surplus made during the summer months and to sell this for consumption during the winter months. "As a result it was found that the stocks on hand at this time of the year are trivial compared with the quantities handled by the wholesalers. In fact, at this season of the year, after the stocks stored from last season are used up, and before the production of the new season, the stocks shown in storage on any particular date are practically confined to what is being passed on for consumption as rapidly as the trade can handle it, being kept in refrigeration only for safe keeping during the process of marketing."

FARM LOANS for SOLDIERS

How Returned Men Can Become Farmers

EVERY returned man who wants to become a farmer and is qualified for that vocation can get real, practical help through the Soldier Settlement Board.

The Government's programme includes:—

- (1) The securing of land.
- (2) The loaning of capital needed to purchase equipment and live stock, and erect buildings.
- (3) Agricultural training and farm supervision.

The Loans Granted

Loans may be approved by the Loan Advisory Committee, according to the needs of the settler, on the following basis:—

- (1) Up to $4,500 on the purchase of land.
- (2) Up to $2,000 on the purchase of live stock, implements and other equipment.
- (3) Up to $1,000 on the erection of buildings and other permanent improvements.

The first and third are repayable in twenty-five equal annual instalments; the second in four equal annual instalments beginning the third year, no interest being charged for the first two years.

On all these loans the low interest rate of five per cent. will be charged. A cash payment of ten per cent. of the purchase price will be required on the land—but this may be waived by the Board in special cases.

Qualified settlers on Dominion lands may secure loans up to a maximum of $3,000 on a plan similar to the above for farm equipment, live stock, and erection of buildings, provided security offered justifies the loan.

To Whom Granted

To be entitled to these privileges a man must have served with an honourable record in the Canadian, Imperial, or British Colonial forces in an actual theatre of war or outside of the country in which he enlisted (service in U.S. or Bermuda not included). Others eligible are:

A British subject who lived in Canada before the War and who was on active service with the Allied Forces in an actual theatre of war.

A member of the Canadian Expeditionary Force who served in Canada only, but is in receipt of a pension for disability occasioned by such service.

These benefits are also granted to widows of such men.

A Broad Policy

All soldiers whose best interests will be served by taking up farms will be assisted. Only suitable land will be approved. That is (a) land that is near to existing railways or organized communities; (b) land that will make money for the soldier; (c) land that will provide a first class home.

In addition to these advantages the Board has planned a system of collective purchase, so that it can guarantee settlers the best value obtainable anywhere in live stock, implements, lumber, and other needs. It will also assist soldier settlers with advice and supervision, if necessary, in the management of their activities, so that the best results will be obtained.

FORTY-TWO MINUTES.

It must be a dull imagination that is not stirred by the performance yesterday of Lieut. Clémence and Lieut. Grayes, of the Victoria branch of the Aerial League of Canada, in returning Monday's visit, by aeroplane, of two representatives of the Vancouver branch of the League. The Victoria machine made the trip to the Terminal City in forty-two minutes and returned in an hour and twenty-five minutes, including a side visit over New Westminster and a little stunting for the edification of the public of that place. If it had returned from Vancouver to Victoria by direct route, it would have made the round trip, perhaps, in ninety minutes, and certainly in not more than an hour and three-quarters.

Victoria to Vancouver in forty-two minutes! There are not a few people in this city who can recall the time when a trip to the Mainland consumed the greater part of a day. They can remember the sensation created by the old ship Beaver, when she steamed from Victoria to Hastings Mill in eight hours, and by Princess Louise, when she cut two hours off that record and won for herself the proud title, "The greyhound of the Gulf." Then Charmer, nee Premier, and Yosemite reduced the "greyhound's" best time by air hour.

Ten years ago a new era in swift communication between Victoria and Vancouver was opened by Princess Victoria, whose best time between Brockton Point and Bretche Ledge was three hours and nine minutes, but the time from wharf to wharf, of course, was considerably more, and this is what the passengers were most concerned in. The quickest connection between Victoria and Vancouver up to this week, however, was made by one of His Majesty's destroyers, which covered the distance in two hours and forty-five minutes—a very notable performance for even one of the speed marvels of the navy at that time.

The progress of aerial navigation has been very rapid. Children can remember the first flight across the English Channel, and now a journey by air from Paris to London or from London to Paris is a common occurrence, and excites little or no comment. Members of the British delegation to the Peace Conference often return to England by that route. The war greatly stimulated this method of transportation, forcing improvement upon improvement, both in the character of the machines and in the training of aviators, to such an extent that undoubtedly there has been an advance in the last five years greater than would have been made in several times that period if there had been no war. It also has made commercial aviation a certainty, and not the least significant indication of this was the recent action of so practical and farsighted a company as the C. P. R., in obtaining a charter for aerial navigation.

Time will come when Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle will be linked by aerial services in regular operation, and subject, like other enterprises of this nature throughout the Dominion, to a Board of Aerial Commissioners. Perhaps, we shall see even greater development in the form of privately-owned aircraft, from the luxurious high-powered touring machine to the modest jitney, in an almost steady procession passing over the Strait and the Gulf, taking Victorians, Vancouverites and Seattleites on two-hour visits to one another, or to work, or to transact business, or to attend some social function. Things move quickly in the air, and if the development of aerial navigation continue as consistently as that which has marked the brief period since the first machine took the air, no picture of what will happen in the next few years will be too fanciful.

There will be reverses; this has been the experience of all transportation agencies. The floor of the Atlantic is strewn with the wrecks of the ships following in the path of Santa Maria, Pinta and Nina, which formed the little fleet of Christopher Columbus. Many railway trains have come to grief since Rocket wheezed slowly along drawing its little flat car with half a dozen passengers—to the horror and anger of a great part of the populace. There still remains much scepticism about the prospects of aerial navigation. But this will disappear. We recall that there were many sceptics who declared that the idea of utilizing aircraft in war was preposterous.

PREMIER'S PLAIN TALK.

If the members of the Vancouver Board of Trade expected Premier Oliver to tell them of any new-fangled process by which British Columbia's trading ledger could be made to show harmonizing debit and credit columns, they must have been disappointed. The leader of the Government, instead, provided a cold statistical menu devoid of all garnishings. He made it pretty clear that boom time appetites had proved altogether too much for Provincial digestion, and that the attack of dyspepsia, from which British Columbia is now suffering, could only be cured by an extremely uninviting and uninteresting course of dieting. Nevertheless, the Premier does not despair of the Province's ability to right herself. He is mindful of vast untapped wealth and, in the nature of things, a greater population helping those who are already here to share the burden.

It will be remembered, that in his budget speech at the recent session of the Legislature, the Minister of Finance showed that Provincial revenue for the current fiscal year will be more than $3,000,000 less than the expenditure. This cannot be avoided. The public debt is increasing and will, no doubt, continue to increase, while the heavy expenditure, demanded by a programme of works directly related to British Columbia's share in repatriation, may or may not be productive of profitable returns. Some of the undertakings, as the Premier pointed out, may prove a drag on the treasury. On the other hand the successful project will add to the assets of the Province. As for the future, and the manner in which British Columbia will meet her increasing obligations, heavier provincial taxation may be expected, while the extent of the additional burden upon industrial activity and the people as a whole, will depend upon internal development and the division of subsequent imposts amongst a greater population. Risks, however, will have to be taken, and failures as well as successes must be expected.

Nevertheless, the future is in the hands of the people; it is the people's business. At no time in the history of the Province has individual responsibility been more clearly defined than it is today. British Columbia has sufficient natural wealth to support millions of industrious people. Her credit has gradually recovered, and her securities are no longer dubbed "deficiency bonds." But what is required most of all at the present time is a temperate view of conditions as they are. Hysteria, unintelligent criticism and subterranean political drives are of little benefit to the taxpayer.

WINNIPEG IN TROUBLE.

It looks as if Winnipeg's troubles were about to begin to-day with a general strike, and it might not be very surprising to find that Bolshevik pedagogues were at the back of the whole business. According to a press dispatch from the Manitoba city the Labor Council is desirous of protecting the enemy alien, and to promote "the cause" ten thousand copies of a Socialist organ containing a letter from Lenin have been scattered broadcast.

We are not near enough to perceive the real inwardness of the present trouble in Winnipeg, but it appears to be another case where the majority, loyal at heart to the sound principles of Trade Unionism, have been stampeded into action by a very small number of silver-tongued irresponsibles. Apparently the Army and Navy Veterans are incensed at what they describe as pro-Bolshevik and pro-Stratcan resolutions passed by the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council. Their demand for a "show-down" may easily result in lively developments.

DELIVER THE CAR.

Everybody nowadays looks upon the tag day as one of the established institutions of modern times. Some people, for one reason or another, regard these events as of too frequent occurrence, yet a closer analysis of the reasons for each one will generally show good and sufficient cause. Some demand special support by virtue of the particular mission intended to be carried out. In this category next Saturday's tag day, in aid of the Victorian Order of Nurses, assuredly comes. There is nothing spectacular about a visiting nursing organization and, perhaps, many Victorians fail to realize what a magnificent service has been rendered to the community by the Victorian Order. But the nature of its undertakings at the present time imposes a distinct hardship upon the nursing sisters, who are required to go from case to case, in many instances, on Shank's pony. To serve the people better and to lighten the task of these splendid women an automobile is wanted, and we venture to believe that Victoria will gladly provide the wherewithal on Saturday.

Sir Edward Kemp, Overseas Minister of Militia, comes home with a strong defence of the administration of Argyll House. It ought to be an easy matter to determine whether the charges against that institution are well-founded or not. It could be done by an inquiry involving the character of the work done, the number of people employed, the cost of the work and comparison with similar establishments conducted by the other Dominions, particularly that of Australia. Such an inquiry will have to be held in any case, because there never has been an accounting to the public of the large expenditures made on overseas service, the Overseas Ministry being beyond the reach of questions by inquisitive members of Parliament at Ottawa, and operating very much on its own.

PERSONALITY.

(By William George Jordan.)
The only responsibility that a man cannot evade in this life is the one he thinks of least—his personal influence. Man's conscious influence, when he is on dress parade, when he is posing to impress those around him—is woefully small. But his unconscious influence, the silent and subtle radiation of his personality, the effect of his words and acts, the trifles he never considers—is tremendous. Every moment of life he is changing to a degree the life of the whole world. Every man has an atmosphere which is affecting every other. So silently and unconsciously is this influence working that man may forget that it exists. Into the hands of every individual is given a marvellous power for good or for evil—the silent, unconscious, unseen influence of his life. This is simply the constant radiation of what a man really is, not what he pretends to be. Every man, by his mere living, is radiating sympathy, or sorrow, or morbidity, or cynicism, or happiness, or hope.

THE FARMER'S LOT.

(Grain Growers' Guide.)
The farmers here have been hoodwinked, bamboozled and plundered for years by iniquitous legislation. They will never get a square deal in this lower world until they wake up to the necessity of using the ballot unafraid. Those fellows who look upon the farmer as their legitimate prey will never see any argument but force—political force. They have the money and have the idea that money must rule. It is up to the farmers to teach them a lesson they richly deserve.—Grain Growers' Guide.

tional conference which is proposed. It is also inferior to the provisions submitted in Part XIII of the peace conditions in the following respects:

(a) Five years is suggested as a maximum interval between conferences. (Article VIII.) The peace conditions provide that a majority of two-thirds only of the votes cast shall be necessary in the final vote for the adoption of a recommendation or the draft of a convention by the Conference. (Article 405).

(b) Each country has one vote. (Article VII.) The peace conditions give vote to the German delegates representing a Government, employers or workers. (Article 350).

Two-thirds Vote.
(c) Resolutions are only binding if carried by a majority of four-fifths of the voting delegates. (Article VII.) The peace conditions provide that a majority of two-thirds only of the votes cast shall be necessary in the final vote for the adoption of a recommendation or the draft of a convention by the Conference. (Article 405).

The Allied and Associated Governments therefore are of the opinion that their decisions give satisfaction to the Allies, that the German delegates profess for social justice and insure the realization of reforms which the working classes have more than ever a right to expect after the crucial trial to which the world has been subjected during the last five years.

PREMIER OLIVER ON SERVICE MEN'S VOTE

Chinamen on construction of the C. N. P. railway between Victoria and Sooke last fall. Oh, no," recalled the Premier, "the G. W. V. A. left it to myself to protest and secure a change of procedure."

Ottawa Not Worried.
"This Government is asked to resign," he proceeded, "because it did not appoint returned soldiers to the Land Settlement Board in the summer of 1917 when there were no able-bodied returned soldiers available; but there was no demand made to the Ottawa Government that it resign on account of the appointments of Dr. Black and J. W. Berry, of Langley, neither of them returned men—to the Soldier Settlement Board. Now, I heard of them demanding the removal of either of them and the substitution of returned soldiers in those two positions."

"This Government must resign," the Premier went on, "because it has no ready-made army of returned soldiers, but no demand is made for the resignation of the Ottawa or any other Provincial Government for a similar reason. It is well known, of course, that the Government has not even yet secured the statutory authority to purchase lands for returned soldiers, a bill for that purpose having been introduced only two or three days ago."

Details Would Interest.
"What about the employment of other than returned soldiers in connection with the laying of water pipes to the William Head quarantine station?" queried Mr. Oliver. "Nothing is heard of the Great War Veterans' Association wanting to examine the official records to establish its satisfaction the percentage of returned soldiers employed there. What about the engineering staff in connection with the construction of the Canadian National branch line from Kamloops to Vernon? My office has been literally swamped with applications from civil engineers and other professional men returned from the front, yet I venture to assert," said the Premier, "that there are civil engineers by the Dominion Government on this railway who are not returned men. But there is no demand, as far as I am aware, either for the replacement of returned men by returned soldiers or for the resignation of the Dominion Government."

"No party politics in it?" mused the Premier in conclusion. "Well, if they were in the business, let them take the sign."

FIVE RECORDS MADE BY PATHFINDER; GREAT FLIGHTS YESTERDAY

first aerial trip to New Westminster. The Vancouver League was planning one making the flight this Saturday, but the local boys decided to have the honor. They made the trip, which takes the electric train forty minutes, in thirty minutes. When passing over the bridge down to within 1,500 feet of the Public Library grounds in the Royal City, the pilots dropped a message bar with a letter to the Editor of The British Columbian, extending their greetings on the first visit of an aeroplane. All business was suspended for fifteen minutes as the Pathfinder started and demonstrated a few daredevil feats.

Whirl of Excitement.
The flights yesterday have caused a whirl of excitement and interest at the Aerial League offices to-day. The boys have the jump on all other branches and are planning several larger and more enterprising flights, including one to Seattle and another to Cumberland, the latter if completed, will constitute the longest non-stop flight in Canadian aviation.

In speaking of the flight yesterday the pilots give some very interesting information. When passing out yesterday afternoon at 11:25 o'clock the Pathfinder was at a height of 2,500 feet, with the wind blowing lightly from north. A course was set direct for Sidney with the plane climbing until an altitude of 4,500 feet was reached. On reaching Sidney the Pathfinder flew straight to Active Pass and found the bridge shrouded in mist. At the Pass the Pathfinder was 5,500 feet up and had a fair wind on her tail. The Princess Adelaide was seen entering the Pass and turning slightly down in order to give greater speed. It had been the original intention to cross the Gulf to Point Roberts, a distance of sixteen miles, but when a record was in sight they crossed the water. At the widest part, about twenty-four miles.

The Pathfinder was flying beautifully and with the slight descent made between seventy-five and eighty miles an hour. Arriving over the Minoru Park aerodrome at 1,500 feet the plane landed immediately. The pilots stepped out of the machine at 1:37 o'clock, exactly forty-two minutes after leaving Victoria.

As a result of the record trip, no one was at the aerodrome to welcome the Pathfinder and her crew. The machine had beaten the transmission and delivery of the telegram announcing the departure of the plane from Victoria. Shortly afterwards Capt. Eklund and Capt. Dull, the two Vancouver flyers who made the first aerial trip to Victoria, arrived and entertained the local boys to luncheon. Taking off at 3:07 o'clock, the Pathfinder headed for New Westminster on the initial aerial passage to that city. For fifteen minutes the plane stunted there and then set a direct course to Victoria, following the Fraser River to Point Roberts, which was passed at 4,000 feet. A strong head wind was blowing. The plane crossed the east end of Mayne Island and found the weather very bumpy. The course kept the plane on the east side of James Island and directly across Cordova Bay, Gordon Head and then to the Willows aerodrome. The Pathfinder landed at 4:38 o'clock, in the teeth of a nasty westerly gale, with a sprinkling of rain.

AMERICAN DIRIGIBLE NOW AT ST. JOHNS
C-5's possible ocean cruise estimated that with favorable conditions a flight to England could be made in forty hours. This would tax the dirigible's fuel capacity almost to the maximum, and if head winds should develop it might prove necessary to shape the course to the Azores, where fuel ships already are awaiting the several crews of trans-oceanic dirigibles.
Delayed by Weather.
St. John's, Nfld., May 15.—Noon.—There will be no flight by either Hawker or Raynbam from here to-day owing to unfavorable weather.
American Planes.
Trepassey, Nfld., May 15.—Commander Towers announced after a conference this afternoon with his trans-Atlantic flight colleagues that reports of weather conditions on the eastward end of the course to the Azores were "not highly favorable." However, no decision was announced regarding a possible start by the American seaplanes late to-day.
Earlier in the day Commander Towers said the N.C.-1 and N.C.-3 might start before daylight for the Azores.
The commander stated that if the N.C.-4 were to leave Trepassey twelve hours later than her sister planes she would be able to make the flight to Lisbon in their company. The trans-Atlantic voyage could not be delayed much longer, he said, because

AN INSANE MAN IN NEW BRUNSWICK SHOTS FOUR PERSONS
Moncton, N. B., May 15.—A telephone message from Rexton, in Kent County, forty-five miles from here, told of the shooting of four people by a man apparently insane, named Childs, alias Robert McIntosh.
Childs reached Rexton last night and this morning went to his old homestead about half a mile outside the village, on which he said he had a claim. He set fire to the barn and shot a horse. Mrs. John Childs, his brother's wife, and her son, Harold, started to the barn to try to save the cattle and horses, and he shot them both. Two neighbors noticed the fire and went over to try to assist the Childs and he shot them. Mrs. Childs and one of the neighbors are in a serious condition.
Robert Childs had three revolvers and is still at large in the woods. No further particulars are available.

control the prices, profits and distribution of the necessities of life."
The above resolution, together with a like resolution from Victoria, was passed unanimously by the provincial convention of women held in O'Brien Hall on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of originating some plan to deal with the high cost of living.
A plan of work was outlined by Mrs. Johnson of Victoria, and will be taken up later before the women's organizations in the different districts.
Mrs. Johnson also explained fully that the purpose of the resolutions was to "fight systematized profiteering," and to formulate a plan of work along "safe and sound" lines, the motto of the women to be "Your goods should cost you less."
The meeting went on record in favor of the following principles:
1.—Government ownership and operation of the cold storage plants, grain elevators and other food depositories.
2.—Establishment of a permanent trade commission with authority to control prices, profits and methods of competition.
After some further discussion it was decided that the resolutions be sent to Ottawa immediately.

A BEDTIME STORY
Uncle Wiggily and Bunt's Party
Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. (By Howard R. Garis.)

"My goodness me, sakes alive, Nurse Jane!" cried Uncle Wiggily Longears one morning, as he came downstairs in his hollow stump bungalow. "Why are you making so many cakes, pies and jam tarts? You have enough for a picnic!"
These are for Baby Bunt! explained the muskrat lady housekeeper. "What'll she be going to eat all those?" asked Uncle Wiggily, surprised-like, not to say disconcerted. "Oh, I'm going to let her have a play party in the evening," explained Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Baby Bunt has been a good little girl lately, and when she asked me if she couldn't have a party, with real cakes and cookies, I said yes, I hope you don't mind."

some fire engines!" cried Mr. Longears, waking up so suddenly that he spilled some carrot marmalade on his red vest. "What's the matter, Baby Bunt? Is it the Pipisewah and the Skuddlemaggon come to spoil your party?"
"Why no?" answered the little rabbit girl, sweetly. "It's just the grasshoppers and cricket musicians, who are coming to play for the dancing. May I have a one-step with you, Uncle Wiggily?"

Todd & Sons, of Victoria, were interested.

Invitations to their dance to be held at the Alexandra Club on Friday evening have been sent by the Victoria and District Teachers' Association to the School Trustees of Victoria, Oak Bay, and Esquimalt Municipalities and to Municipal Inspector Paul and District Inspector May. Tickets have been selling rapidly, and indications point to the affair being one of the most successful functions of the season.

Her many Victoria friends will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Frederick T. Godman is expected back from overseas this summer. She was formerly Josephine Ellison of Victoria, daughter of Rev. W. S. Ellison, naval chaplain at Esquimalt. Mrs. Godman is known in England as co-organiser with Mrs. A. M. A. M. of women's institutes, and herself was promoted over one hundred of them. Among many activities she was elected chairman of the Agricultural Board of Success by legislation, and has held a prominent position under the government food production department, women's branch. Mrs. Godman helped to organize the toy-making industry when it took an impetus after the beginning of the war, and stated that she hopes to take up the manufacture of Canadian toys as soon as she comes back. After a brief visit to Vancouver, where she has many friends, she will make her home in Victoria. Her husband was a prisoner of war in Germany, but died two days before he would have been repatriated.

Mrs. P. H. Webb and son, late of 756 Discovery Street, who have been the guest of Mrs. McFadyen, of 742 Bay Street, will leave on Sunday afternoon for Vancouver, Washington, where she will join her husband and make her future home.

A wedding of equal interest to residents of Ottawa and Victoria was solemnized at the Bishop's Palace, View Street, on Wednesday afternoon, May 14, when Miss Kathleen Irvine, of Ottawa, became the bride of C. F. Stephens, son of Mrs. Nellie Stephens, of this city. After the ceremony a reception was given at the Bishop's Palace. The groom has recently returned from overseas, having served with the 2nd C. M. R. since 1915, and was wounded at the second battle of Ypres. He was a popular member of local sporting circles before leaving for France, and is well-known in Victoria.

At the home of the bride's parents at Blackwood Avenue, yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Rev. John Gibson Inkster, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, united in marriage Miss Craze Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Chambers, and George Leitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Leitch, of Perthshire, Scotland. The bride was given away by her father, who was assisted by Miss Eva Chambers, bridesmaid, dressed in navy blue with hat to match and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations and fern. Little Miss Grace Geddes made a dainty little flower girl. The room was supported by George Leitch, brother of the bride. Miss Moggy presided at the piano and played the Wedding March as the bridal party entered the room. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome tuxedo cape and to the bridesmaid a gold brooch. After the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served, at which the following guests sat down: Mr. and Mrs. George Chambers, Jr., of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. Moggy; Miss Moggy; Miss Ledingham, of Winnipeg; Miss Violet Stewart, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. Davis, Victoria; Miss Carson, Miss Eberts, and Mrs. and Mrs. Ledingham left on the afternoon boat for Seattle en route for Portland, where the honeymoon will be spent, before leaving for Winnipeg, where they will take up their residence.

With the return from overseas of many of the younger dancing men, Victoria is gradually resuming the social life which marked the pre-war era, and private functions are once again taking their place on the tapis. One of the most delightful of the late-season events took place at the Victoria Club last night when a few of the bachelors of the city entertained at a gay little dance and social. The club rooms were lavishly decked with masses of purple lilac and rosy tulips, forming a charming background for the gay frocks of the ladies and the khaki and flying blue of the many officers present. Mrs. J. D. Holden was the hostess and welcomed the guests on arrival. The unusually attractive programme of lively dance music was furnished by Heaton's orchestra and in the intervals between dances, songs by Mrs. Harry Peters, Mrs. Henry Briggs and Miss Lillian Holden added much to the pleasure of the occasion. Among the invited guests were Mrs. D'Oyly Rochfort, Mrs. H. Foley, Mrs. Briggs, Mrs. Turner, the Misses Mackenzie, Brownie and Innes McDowell, Lucy Little, Peggy and Mary McBride, Tiny, Tommy and Baba Monteth, Gladys Peters, David, Kerr, Gladys Pitta, Armine Pemberton, Madge Gillespie, Florence Colburn, Jenny and Nelly Turner, Tinker Jones, Gwen McPhillips, Iris Burton, Louise Durand, Lillian Holden, Leslie Gulliver, Jean and Carol Tolmie, Marjorie Meredith, Marjorie Campbell, Betty Gray, Doreen and May Smith, Laura Eng, Agnes, Dorothy and Margery Stuart Robertson, Winona Neroutos and Daisy Babbington, and Dr. Locke, Major Briggs, Capt. PORTAL OF DALMATIA
Zara—the Zadera of the ancients—is the portal by which one enters Dalmatia, after sailing many hours along a barren shore!
It looks across to the long low island of Ugljan on which a Venetian fort proudly rears its head! In Zadera pulsed the luxurious life of ancient Rome even as at Salona. In days before the Emperor Diocletian built his palace by the seashore at Spalato.
Where now the ancient Christian Church of St. Donato stands was the forum—centre of the city's life—and round about were noble temples dedicated to the gods and thronged with worshippers, and many stately homes of proud patricians. Broken fragments on which St. Donato rests, and two beautiful Corinthian columns, one of which still stands, they say, where the Roman builders reared it to the sky; that is all except a few inscriptions to tell the story of the first city which stood upon this site!

BACK FROM TOUR IN KOOTENAY VALLEY

Chairman of Land Settlement Board Will Report on Inspections Made

After a ten days' trip through the Kootenay Valley, M. H. Nelems, Chairman of the Land Settlement Board, has returned to his office at the Parliament Buildings annex. He travelled from Golden through the Columbia Valley and in company with Director C. R. Ward, inspected different areas in the Windermere Valley and south of Cranbrook. In the St. Mary's and Cherry Creek districts agricultural lands were examined, as well as in the district between Cranbrook and Fernie.

The officials inspected about 10,000 acres around Creston, where fruit growing and mixed farming are being carried on profitably. The chairman spoke highly of the lands in the Creston district. Owing to departmental business he was unable to visit the Arrow Lakes section, but in company with Mr. Ward, he will thoroughly examine lands there within a short time.

Owing to the absence of the Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, the chairman will submit his reports to Premier Oliver, who will, no doubt, make an announcement shortly. The object of the Board is to obtain suitable tracts of land at as low a price as possible for settlement purposes, the placing of returned men on good agricultural land being the first consideration.

Work will be carried on in as many districts as found advisable, so that the development of the lands of British Columbia may receive all possible encouragement and assistance.

THREE ATHLETES RETURN

"Bill" Erickson, Percy McAdam and Gilbert Parfitt Arrive To-day From France.

Gunner William Erickson, who prior to enlisting was employed at R. P. Ribbet and Company, returned to Victoria this morning after two years' service in France with the First Division. "Bill" was a well-known baseball player and also played a good game of cricket and football.

Gunner Percy McAdam returned on the afternoon boat to-day. For two years he served in France with the 2nd Howitzer Battery. He was a prominent athlete, having won a number of British Columbia swimming championships. He also played ice hockey and basketball and was a bit of a runner.

After several years in France with the 48th Battery, C. F. A., Gunner Gilbert Parfitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Parfitt, of Gladstone Avenue, returned to Victoria this morning. He played basketball with the Belmonts.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Eucalypt Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloot right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no souring or pain. Eucalypt Magnesia powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk—is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

ORIGINAL GORDON HIGHLANDER HOME

One of the few original officers of the Canadian Scottish 16th Battalion to survive the terrific battles of the Great War, Capt. P. R. M. Wallis, M. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wallis, 2647 Quadra Street, returned to Victoria yesterday afternoon.

As a lieutenant, Capt. Wallis left Victoria in August, 1914, with the draft from the 60th Gordon Highlanders for Valcartier, where it was incorporated in the 16th Battalion. Proceeding to England in October with the armaments of troops, Capt. Wallis spent the winter on the wild and muddy Salisbury Plains.

In April he proceeded to France and participated in the ghastly Second Battle of Ypres. He proceeded with the 16th Battalion, then under the command of Major-General Leckie, to the big counter-attack which developed at Festubert. From there he went to Hill 60 and was in the salient when the Germans made their third thrust at the Droecourt-Queant Canal du Nord and Valenciennes battles. Following this he accompanied the battalion on forlough.

On reporting back in England he was detained there for a considerable time on special duty. On August 28, 1918, Capt. Wallis returned to his old battalion in France and went through the Drocourt-Queant, Canal du Nord and Valenciennes battles. Following this he accompanied the battalion on the march to the Rhine. He returned to Canada with the Canadian Scottish and was demobilized at Winnipeg.

Capt. Wallis is well known in this city. He attended both the Victoria High School and the University School and played rugby and other sports with both schools. He was also a prominent member of the J.B.A.A. He was a hard and steady player, and the skill which featured his playing on the field led to his winning the Military Cross on the greater fields of France.

AIR FIGHTER RETURNS AFTER LONG SERVICE

Capt. Percy Beasley Spent Nearly Four Years Flying in England and France

Captain P. Beasley, R.A.F., returned yesterday afternoon after nearly four years of service overseas with the Imperial air forces. Captain Beasley was among the first Victorians to enlist for the air service, leaving here for Toronto to undergo training in the early summer of 1915. From Toronto he and other aviation recruits from Victoria proceeded to Dayton, where they pursued their training further, subsequently going to England and completing their training, after which he obtained a commission in the Royal Naval Air Service.

Captain Beasley went to France in 1916 and was stationed at Luxeuil, not far from Nancy, on the Lorraine front, where the British and French had established a base of aerial operations against the military centres in the upper Rhine valley. Their chief objectives were the enemy's munition depots, particularly his chemical factories, and the strategic railway system which links the Rhine with the southern interior of Germany and Austria-Hungary. Many raids were conducted, in some of which Captain Beasley participated. Not infrequently the Germans retaliated by raiding Luxeuil and other bases on the French front. These raids were the forerunners of the more ambitious exploits against Cologne, Coblenz and other great German centres by the British Independent Air Force two years later.

After flying in eastern France for seven months, Captain Beasley was transferred to the Somme front, then the scene of the first big offensive launched by Sir Douglas Haig and for a time afterwards operated in the St. Quentin section of the Hindenburg line. Later he was stationed at Dunkirk, engaging in bombing and coast patrol. He returned to Victoria on a short furlough in the summer of 1917.

GENERAL CURRIE IS EXPECTED ON JULY 1

One of the officers of the 15th Battalion, who arrived yesterday afternoon, informed The Times that Lieut.-General Sir Arthur Currie, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., will arrive in Victoria about July 1. Before coming West he will spend a few weeks with his mother in Ontario.

BUSINESSMEN'S IDEAS ON POLICY OF CITY COUNCIL

Aldermen Hear Many Forcible Opinions on Needs of Victoria

Members of the City Council heard the ideas of representative business men on various civic problems at a luncheon of the Rotary Club to-day. The Aldermanic party, consisting of Mayor Porter and Aldermen Cameron, Sargent, Johns and Clark, listened to the views of a large number of Rotarians who all took part in the chief need of Victoria. After hearing an arraignment of civic policy, Mayor Porter made a brief but comprehensive reply on behalf of his colleagues.

Various Contentions.

Better playgrounds were urged by Rotarian Purser, while Rotarian Hayward contended that the strict enforcement of the Closing By-law was very necessary.

Announcing that the Victoria and Island Development Association's drive for funds had been completely successful and that more money than ever was being received, the speaker would be spent on advertising in Victoria this year. Rotarian W. H. P. Sweeney dwelt upon the necessity of ferry connection between the Outer Docks and Poincille Bridge for the shipment of Trans-Pacific freight to Patricia Bay.

Boulevards on the streets leading from the Outer Docks occupied the attention of Rotarian H. J. Pendry. While agreeing with the suggestions of former speakers, Rotarian Jack Hamilton considered that Victoria needed industries—more than anything else. "Last year," he said, "Victoria business men enjoyed more business than ever before. This was largely due to the shipbuilding industry which was proceeding. The business men, the Provincial Government, and the City Council should get together, and form some sort of body to bring industries here. We should not wait until shipbuilding has petered out," he warned the gathering.

The jitneys would ultimately succeed electric cars as a method of municipal transportation, and that their general inauguration in Victoria should be hastened, was the statement of Rotarian S. Lawton.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of someone who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England, where the disease is a constitutional one and necessarily requires constitutional treatment, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease toward the ears. Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages toward the lungs. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate, is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climatic conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength). Take this in the form of a 4 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh of head noises or is troubled with hearing should give this treatment a trial.

SOME EMPLOYEES OF CITY SUPPORT PLAN

Small Gathering Endorses One Big Union Scheme

Though the vote at last night's meeting of the organization was overwhelming in favor of the plan, it is not fair to conclude, therefore, that the Civic Employees Protective Association is a follower of the "One Big Union" scheme, according to official information to-day.

The vote at the meeting last evening stood 69 for and 5 against the One Big Union. But out of a membership of 200, only 72 voted and only six belonged to the inside service at the City Hall. It is also pointed out officially that only one side of the question was described by delegates from the Trades and Labor Council. The men who addressed the meeting were: Joseph Taylor, of the Longshoremen's Union; C. J. Gardner and J. Stevenson, of the Carpenter and Joiners' Union.

It is possible that at the next meeting of the Association the employees will be given an opportunity of voting to rescind the motion in favor of the One Big Union question.

The secretary was instructed to bring to the attention of the City Council the fact that raises in wages granted to park workers by the Conciliation Committee had not yet been received.

MANY ORIENTALS TO PACIFIC COAST STATES OF MEXICO

Mexico City, May 15.—Reports to newspapers here reflect considerable concern over the increasing number of Chinese and Japanese arriving in the Pacific coast states of Mexico. It is declared that 5,000 Asiatics arrived during March and that unless restrictive measures are taken the number of immigrants during the current year will reach 100,000.

Most of the Asiatics entering the country are taking up agricultural pursuits in the states of Sonora and Sinaloa.

It's Easy to Peel Off All Your Freckles

The contrast between the freckles and the clear skin usually is so great that no bleach can be more than partially successful in obliterating the disfigurements. Ordinary mercurized wax is far better; it literally peels off the freckles. Get an ounce of it at the nearest drug store and to-night spread on enough to completely cover the face; remove in the morning with warm water. Repeat daily until every freckle has disappeared.

Rough, blotchy, pimply skin, also common at this season, may be entirely gotten rid of by this same method, without discomfort or inconvenience. The effort is decidedly worth while, the new complexion obtained being so clear, smooth and youthful.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Rose Stahl's greatest dramatic success written by Chas. Klein, was "Maggie Pepper," and it had its first presentation in December, 1911, at the Harris Theatre, New York City. Undoubtedly one of the most successful stories ever staged, this play presents a remarkable human touch which immediately met with popular approval. A picturization of the play starring Ethel Clayton, will be displayed at the Royal Victoria Theatre for the first time to-night and for the balance of this week. There has probably been no play of

When "Maggie Pepper" played this city as a road attraction it was considered one of the best attractions of the season, and as a photoplay it is even better. So you will surely see a good picture.

Pepper's her name and pepper's her temper. That's the sort of saucy Ethel Clayton shows you in this picture. She sell's goods as natural as life, and can prink her hair and kid the cheap mashers off the floor. Gee, it's fine to see a girl who knows how to take care of herself, isn't it!

"The Man of Bronze"

This picture gives a splendid characterization to the role of John Adams, the man who comes back to his ranch in the West to burn the home he had built to house his bride. But happiness comes to him at last.

recent years in which the element of heart interest has been so compelling as in this romance of a department store employee, for Maggie Pepper, head of the silk department, for fifteen years has had nothing but the commonplace of business in her thoughts until suddenly she becomes obsessed with the desire to enter society. This she does with complete success and wins the admiration of a man who turns out to be head of the firm, recently returned from a long sojourn in Europe. He makes Maggie manager of the business, but the scandal spectre stalks about and to save the situation she resigns. Through many trying situations Maggie's love remains steadfast and ultimately triumphs.

The part of Maggie Pepper offers an ideal character for Miss Clayton, who is given a supporting cast of unusual excellence. The players include such well-known players as Elliott Dexter, Raymond Hatton, Tully Marshall, Billy Elmer, Walfred Greenwood and others scarcely less prominent in film circles. Chester Withey directed the production and the settings are wonderfully done.

DOMINION

A story written expressly for the screen, and with its chief recommendation for conversion into motion pictures, the fact that it conforms in every particular to the technical requirements of the fifth estate will be presented in "A Midnight Romance," second of the Anita Stewart special productions to be shown at the Dominion Theatre, all week.

The story was suggested by Marion Orth, and was produced by Lois Weber. It gives to Miss Stewart a role she never before has attempted. Her introduction is with a boat-load of refugees being landed on the American shore from a stranded ocean liner. Then she becomes an enigma in the capacity of a maid at the Sea View Hotel. Twice her charming smile and gracious manner saved her from dismissal for open insubordination born of her resentment of criticism for her lack of a proper attitude of servility toward the hotel guests. The continuity, or, in the layman's terms, the sequence of action in "A Midnight Romance," is an example of the truly superior results in production with a story written for the screen. In many adaptations of famous stories from books or plays, it has been necessary for directors to ignore logic and go beyond the limits of possibility to encompass the theme or motive in the story. This has resulted in breaks which have served to detract the tensely of situations or the smooth moving action of the picture. In the instance of Miss Stewart's second production under the management of Louis B. Mayer, the Boston film magnate, her role as Marie, the maid, requires the portrayal of a character whose experience includes three of the most difficult phases of entertainment in the realm of the screen, the first two of which combine to make the third—mystery, suspense and feasibility. "A Midnight Romance" will be shown all week at the Dominion.

Mildred Harris, the budding star in Lois Weber productions, has the wonderfully exacting role of Toni Wilde in "For Husbands Only," the Jewel picture, which is proving a strong drawing card at the Variety this week. The role requires Miss Harris to run the gamut of human emotion. From a convent girl, big-eyed and ingenuous, she learns at the hands of a past master of the art of the thrill of love, only to know that to him there is no sacredness about it. It is a passion to be satisfied. In viter cold-blooded rage she marries a man at whom she was accustomed to poke fun, with the determination to bring this Rollin D'Arcy, the cruel heartbreaker, to her knees when it was too late. Then she has to go through the experience of an hour of agony when she believes he holds her life happiness in his hands.

The bachelor also learns of the fraud practiced years ago by his uncle and seeks to convey his fortune back to the girl. She learns to love him and refuses to accept the riches. In time he learns her reason for her refusal and when he offers love with his millions she accepts both. Harry Morey, forceful star, is the young millionaire, and in the supporting cast are: Alice Terry, Denton Vane, William Shea and Jessie Stevens.

ROMANO

A strong, interesting, vivid play is "The Man of Bronze," starring Lewis S. Stone, which will be shown at the Romano to-day and for the remainder of the week. It is a Western story, the tale of a rancher who scrapes up enough money to send the girl he loves East to study music, and who later follows her East, when he finds out that she has turned cold toward him. He goes back to his ranch and burns the little home he had built to house himself and his bride. Then, when the girl returns, they finally become reconciled and everything ends happily. The role played by Mr. Stone is one that fits him perfectly. The character, of course, is given a humanizing strength that Mr. Stone alone can impart. Marguerite Clayton, a very popular personality in pictures, is seen in the role of the young lady with whom the rancher is in love. All the other members of the cast are splendidly fitted for the roles they play.

PANTAGES

It is typical of the Irish character that an Irishman can get along on friendly terms with almost any one except another Irishman. That is the secret of all the revolt in the Emerald Isle to-day. There are too many factions, each with its chief and followers, each man of them, is ready to take the chieftain's place or start a new party if he can only get the chance. Says John G. Sparks, the eminent Irish character actor who is appearing on the Pantages circuit this week in an act by Willard Mack entitled "A Friendly Feud." "The Irish are the most lovable race in the world," says Mr. Sparks, "and therefore the most jealous of their friendships. If it wasn't for Ireland's many friends the country would be a great one. She has too many well-wishers—and not enough enemies. I've seen Irishmen with a recital of opposition—and they've come out on top. And on the other hand I've seen Irishmen with no barriers to battle against and they've been failures. When an Irishman fights against odds—he fights for him—he's absent. If Ireland has to fight her own battles without the sympathy and friendship of the outside world she'd be a better and a stronger and a more peaceable nation."

CRITICS EULOGIZE MME. FAHEY'S WORK

Gifted Victoria Soprano to Appear in Recital at Empress Hotel

Encouraged by the tremendous success which has greeted her many appearances in the large cities in the Western States, where she is hailed as "Canada's greatest soprano," Mrs. Macdonald Fahey has arranged to give a recital at the Empress Hotel on Tuesday evening next at 8:30.

It is eight months since Mrs. Fahey sang in Victoria, her native city, but in the interim her wealth of talent has not lain idle for she has been in constant demand at concerts in Vancouver, and at Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and Camp Lewis, where her singing has aroused so much enthusiasm that she has been called upon to fill many return engagements.

No greater tribute to the artist's well-earned reputation can be paid than by citing the encomiums of the critics. The Tacoma Tribune, in its report of a concert at which Mme. Fahey was the soloist says in part: "The high-water mark was reached when Mme. Macdonald Fahey appeared and gave, with superb artistic finish, the beautiful scene and aria from Verdi's opera 'Aida.' Mme. Fahey has been called Canada's greatest soprano, and the phrase seems limited. She is one of the truly endowed, as to voice, temperament, and, happily, finely trained in artistic expression. Her appearance is satisfying in every respect, personality, poise and sincerity to her art. A voice of rare quality, range and power, with the real grand opera call, swept the audience and set them clamoring for more, each number being encored until the singer's store of songs at hand was exhausted."

THE "BLIMPS." The small British airships, popularly known as "Blimps," which rendered such valuable aid to the convoy service, represent a greater development in airship construction than is generally known. They are of two types, officially known as the Zero and the Twin.

The Zero, which has been most in use, has an engine of 200 horse power for her size. With an engine of only one-third of the horse-power of a modern war aeroplane, she is capable of flying fully equipped with a crew of three, wireless, and bombs, for periods ranging from twelve hours at full speed to anything up to fifty miles at lesser speeds, without a stop. At full power she can force through the air at about fifty miles an hour; not a very considerable speed in comparison with land-going aeroplanes, but amply sufficient to enable her to "make rings round any ordinary seacraft."

The Twin, a later type, rather larger than the Zero, follows the same general lines, but the cabin is roomy enough to accommodate a crew of five, and has outriggers built on each side to carry the two engines. Speed and reliability were the chief points aimed at in the design of the Twin, and with her two engines the chances of complete power failure are almost negligible.

She has a speed of eighty miles an hour, or sometimes a mile over, which is only exceeded by the largest Zeppelins. It is suggested that the airships may have a peace-time future as pleasure craft, and that they would be less expensive than steam yachts. "The-Bit"

Wonderful Success Preparation Has Achieved Here Exceeds Expectations

In referring to the unprecedented demand for Tanlac in Victoria since its introduction here a short time ago, Mr. Bland, of the Duncan E. Campbell Store, the well-known retail druggist, and unquestionably one of the largest and best known drug concerns in Western Canada, says: "I have been closely identified with the drug trade in this city for a number of years, and in all my experience we have never handled anything in the way of a proprietary medicine that even approaches Tanlac as a seller. "In the comparatively short time of six months that we have been handling Tanlac we have sold thirteen thousand two hundred and forty-eight (13,248) bottles, and I believe I will be entirely safe in saying that this amount of business in so short a period establishes a new sales record, not only for Victoria, but for the entire Province. On one day alone recently we sold two hundred (200) bottles of the medicine. The sales are now averaging over one hundred and seventy-five (175) bottles each, and every day; and the demand is increasing rapidly. "While we were aware of the success the preparation had achieved in other cities of the United States and Canada, we had no idea that the medicine would become so popular in Victoria in so short a time. "Judging from the repeat sales and the expressions of satisfaction from those who have actually tested Tanlac, and who state that they have been benefited by the preparation, Tanlac must be something of unusual merit. "The class of people who are buying Tanlac are among the best in the city, people who are capable of judging impartially and whose statements carry weight. "When it is considered that the demand is confined to one preparation, it is indeed remarkable, and is certainly the biggest thing of its kind ever seen in our store."

CONTRACTOR SAYS IT IS WONDERFUL

Sibson Declares Results From Tanlac Proved Surprise To Him

When so many well-known people of unquestioned integrity make statements after statement, each and every one of them testifying to the same thing day after day, and each and every statement corroborating the other, the truth of such statements can no longer be doubted. "One of the latest to testify regarding Tanlac, the medicine that is accomplishing such remarkable results in this Province and in Western Canada, is G. F. Sibson, the well-known contractor, living at 1063 Nelson Street, Vancouver, and when men of this type testify it cannot be doubted that the "premier preparation" is all that is claimed for it.

"I never was so surprised in my life," said Mr. Sibson, while in the Owl Drug Store, Vancouver, recently, "as I was when I finished my first bottle of Tanlac, for the results were nothing less than remarkable. For five years or more I had been in a badly run-down condition. I would always float up with gas after eating, and have a sort of bilious, dizzy feeling which at times was so bad that I had great difficulty in getting my breath after walking a few blocks. I always had to be very careful what I would eat, there was a nagging pain in and about the small of my back, which was so bad when I would stoop over that I could hardly straighten up. Also, before taking Tanlac I was badly constipated, and was constantly taking something to relieve this condition. Then, when in this awful run-down condition, I was taken with the 'flu,' which left me still weaker than ever. I was hardly able to get around at all. "I simply had no appetite, and when meal time came nothing tasted right, and what little I did manage to eat seemed to do me no good, as I couldn't even regain the little strength I had before I got the 'flu.' But when I got Tanlac I commenced right away to gain ground and from that time I began feeling like a new man. I am now on my fourth bottle, and all that tired feeling is gone, and I am gaining weight and strength rapidly. I can eat now without fear of suffering afterwards, and the shortness of breath, pain in my back and all my other distressing symptoms have been overcome. I feel sure if I had not taken Tanlac I would still be in a suffering and miserable condition, so I feel that I owe to suffering humanity to let them know what it is that has put me on my feet."

BEST SELLER SALT LAKE FIRM EVER HAD

In fifteen months' time we have purchased approximately 144,000 bottles of Tanlac. Our sales of this article have been phenomenal and most satisfactory. At the time of taking it on, we could not believe that any such business could be done, but through persistent advertising and the merit of the goods, Tanlac has proved to be the best selling patent medicine we have ever had. Other Western Dominion Concerns Tell of Unprecedented Success of Tanlac

The following are extracts from letters from prominent dealers in Canada, telling in plain, bold figures of the remarkable growth and development of Tanlac throughout Western Canada.

Calls it "Wonder Medicine." Vancouver, B. C., April 9, 1919. Mr. G. F. Willis, 1101 4th National Bank Building, Atlanta, Ga. Dear Mr. Willis—Tanlac is called the "Master Medicine," but to us it appears to be the "Wonder Medicine." It is wonderful how it sells and continues to sell.

The Owl Drug Company commenced selling your "Master Medicine" November 11, 1918, and in five months our gross Tanlac sales were twenty-five thousand (25,000) bottles, and we are still selling about ten gross (1,440 bottles) a week. Not so bad for a city of 125,000 people; and, by the way, Vancouver is some city!

This company is tickled to pieces with the Tanlac agency. It pleases our customers and brings new business. It is the best single agency this company ever had, and we are glad to recommend it. Yours truly, THE OWL DRUG CO., LTD., Per J. M. Watson.

Surprised by Big Sales. Toronto, Ont., April 22, 1919. G. F. Willis, Esq., 1101 4th National Bank Building, Atlanta, Ga. Dear Sir—We are indeed very much pleased with the agency which we have for Tanlac, considering it the best we have ever had. Up to the present time we have received and disposed of fifty-seven thousand one hundred and sixty-eight (57,168) bottles, and expect to send you another order in an early date. We have certainly been surprised at the volume of business we have done with your preparation and assure you our appreciation of the agency for Toronto. We do not see how we can say anything stronger in favor of the preparation. Yours sincerely, G. TAMBLYN, LIMITED, By G. Tamblin.

Finds Tanlac Biggest Seller. Toronto, Canada, April 4, 1919. Mr. G. F. Willis, 1101 4th National Bank Building, Atlanta, Ga. Dear Sir—Regarding our experience in handling Tanlac for you in Ontario, would say it has been the largest selling proprietary medicine we have ever handled.

All our dealings with you have been most satisfactory and pleasant, and that the retailer is satisfied is evident by the constantly increasing demand. We have handled five carloads (about 60,000 bottles) since October 1st, 1918. Prior to that date we handled ninety-eight thousand two hundred and twenty (98,220) bottles, making a grand total of one hundred and fifty-eight thousand two hundred and twenty (158,220) bottles. From past experience, we hope to handle more than ever during the balance of the year. Wishing you every success, we are, Yours truly,

THE LYMAN BROS. & CO., LTD., By Chas. McD. Hay, President and Managing Director.

Backed by Many Friends. Victoria, B. C., April 22, 1919. G. F. Willis, Esq., 1101 4th National Bank Building, Atlanta, Ga. Dear Sir—Reference to my agency for Tanlac, I can truly say that it is one of the most profitable agencies that I have ever secured in my forty years' business in the drug trade.

Since November 8, 1918, I have sold thirteen thousand two hundred and forty-eight (13,248) bottles of Tanlac, and the sale apparently is as good as ever, due to the wonderful merit of the preparation.

I have never handled a remedy in my store that has as many friends to back it up as Tanlac. Yours very truly, DUNCAN E. CAMPBELL, Per D. E. C.

VISITING EDITORS IN AUGUST. Seattle, May 15.—That Seattle and the Pacific Northwest will receive a vast amount of publicity throughout the country by the visit from August 13 to 17 of the National Editorial Association delegates was the opinion expressed by the Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce and Commercial Club at its meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Arctic Building. A committee from the Press Club and another from the publicity bureau of the Chamber presented to the trustees the matter of entertaining the delegates. It was pointed out that this national convention would be one of the most important to visit this section of the country this year. The trustees voted to extend their co-operation and financial support as soon as a concrete plan for the entertainment is mapped out by the two committees having the work in charge. Bank Clearings The clearing for the week ending to-day were $2,121,352, as compared with $1,871,119 in the corresponding week of 1918.

but after it was over I had no doubt of what sort of soldiers we were. From that time on the old 16th took whatever it went after and never lost an inch of anything it ever took. Colonel Peck told of the Second Battle of Ypres and his remarks brought frequent laughter and cheers, of how his inquiries as to the general situation in that dreaded salient brought forth the statement from a brother officer: "It's a great life if you don't weaken." Following the battalion to the Somme, Colonel Peck told of 900 casualties in three trips to the line of the bloody struggle for Regina Trench. "We won that trench and held it all afternoon until dark when we were ordered to come back. No man will know how many we left in the shell holes of that field." Colonel Peck followed the battalion through the battles at Vimy and Hill 70, and then to Amiens the unit took 22 heavy guns and 266 prisoners in one action and then on to Arras. Supported Currie. Col. Peck attracted considerable attention on his appearance in the House of Commons at Ottawa by the stand he took in support of Lieutenant-General Arthur Currie, who repudiated the charges brought by Major-General Sir Sam Hughes against the commander-in-chief of the Canadian Corps. Col. Peck left here with the 30th Battalion and joined the 16th Battalion. He served through all the actions and finally took command of the battalion on the Somme in 1916, relieving Brigadier-General J. Leckie, who had taken charge when Major-General Leckie was wounded. During the last Dominion general election Col. Peck was elected for the St. James district. He won his V.C. at Arras for conspicuous gallantry and any man who served with the Canadian Scottish, will say that "Cy," as all the boys called him, did not secure more honors than were coming to him. This evening at 8 o'clock in the Empress Hotel, Col. Peck will be the guest at a dinner, arranged by the members of the 16th and 30th Battalions. Lieutenant-Col. J. A. Hall will act as chairman. The toast list will be as follows: Colonel Hall, who will propose the toast to Lieutenant-Col. Peck, will propose the toast to Major-General R. G. E. Leckie, C.M.G., General Officer Commanding Military District No. 11; Sergeant-Major Birch, M.M., who will propose the toast of "Comrades of the 16th Battalion Just Arrived," to which Capt. Wallace, in the absence of Lieutenant-Col. Hope, will reply; Sea-brook Young, President of the Welcoming Club, will propose the toast of "Returned Men," Sergeant T. A. Darke replying; and Major-General Leckie, who will propose "The Chairman."

Anglican Teachers' Institute to Continue.—At a meeting of officers and teachers in connection with the Institute promoted by the Sunday School Association of the deanery for the training of Sunday School teachers and aid in the preparation of Sunday School lessons, it was decided to continue the regular weekly meetings of the institute until the end of June. On account of the sessions of the Annual Diocesan Women's Auxiliary being held this week in Christ Church Cathedral schoolroom, the three departmental classes in connection with the institute will meet this week in the Anglican Synod office, Pemberton Building, at 3 o'clock on Friday evening. Rabbit Breeders.—The Victoria and District Rabbit Breeders' Association held a very successful and interesting meeting on Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. Cheetham, 1625 Hollywood Crescent. A general discussion on matters closely concerning rabbit raising took place, and Mr. N. read several very interesting and instructive papers dealing with successful and up-to-date rabbit raising. Owing to the ever-increasing price and shortage of meat generally, the aims and objects of the society, to encourage the breeding of sound standard-bred stock and to be helpful to all its members who need experience in rabbit raising, to build up a sound commercial local and Provincial industry, should lead to a steadily increasing membership.

The first to greet Col. Peck was Major-General R. G. E. Leckie, C. M. G., G. O., who was the original commanding officer of the 16th Battalion. Others to welcome the hero were Colonel John Hall, Colonel the Rev. G. H. Andrews, Captain the Rev. J. Campbell, Major Wollaston, Major Wendell Shaw, Capt. Hendy, Capt. Tennant, Capt. Roberts, Canon Hinchcliffe, and Lieut. G. A. Watson and Lady McBride, who all succeeded in the greetings by those from the 16th and 30th Battalion Reception Committee: T. A. Darke, Hon. Secretary; Sergt. F. Abraham, Sergt. Progard, Sergt. A. Little, Sergt. D. C. Holmes and Sergt. Major T. Birch, M. M. With Col. Peck when he stepped off the boat were Major R. Wallis, M. C.; Capt. Johnston, Lieut. Gallen, Q. M. S.; J. R. Stone, Sergt. Colin Campbell, S. T. Dallas, T. Oliver, T. Haddon, A. Keaysey and G. Hall.

His Wounded Boys. After the reception the committee had planned several things for Col. Peck, but they were not what he wanted. In France the wounded boys were his first consideration, and now that he was home he felt his first duty was to his wounded comrades. Consoling with his wish the Colonel was taken to the hospitals, where he visited and spoke cheery words to the lads who had sustained serious injuries while serving with the 16th Battalion. Speaking in regard to the old battalion, Col. Peck states that the 16th Battalion had a record second to none in France. The "Peck brigade" of the First Division made a wonderful name in the early days of the war and in every succeeding battle played havoc with the Hun until in the last months of the war, they swept the Boche off his feet every time they went over the top. Devotion of Men. "I can tell you some of these things about the Sixteenth Battalion, but I can't tell you the love and devotion that made these things possible, of the courage and devotion of the men who never spoke a word of disrespect, who never flinched at the worst conditions in battle and who never failed in battle during the long time I had the honor to command them," said Colonel Peck. Colonel Peck gave a short and impressive history of the battalion in Flanders and France. "I remember," he said, "the first time we leapt from the trenches along with the Tenth Battalion, in that dreadful Ypres salient and against the flower of the German army. I remember wondering as we went over the top just what sort of soldiers we would prove to be; fresh and untried as we were; we took the seventh and left many of our comrades forever."

VARIETY AND QUALITY ON STREET THROUGHOUT

Johnson Street Stores Offer Supplies For Requirements of Everyone

Johnson Street stores have always had the reputation for a variety of supplies, as well as for convenient handling of merchandise. The fact that several classes of trade show continuous management, or management under one or two names during the whole period of the city's history proves that the character of the trade is not of a transitory nature, but is founded on the sure principle of business confidence.

Well-Known Firms. One of the oldest firms of this character, with a clothing line which has been in existence for two generations is that of McCandless Brothers. Though there was a short interval when Mr. George McCandless withdrew, he is now again in business, conducting it on the principles which prevailed for many years.

Some of the firms which are well established and have gradually extended their window display are Seabrook Young and the Old Country Shoe Store. Mr. Young's premises exhibit an attractive display of smart untrimmed and trimmed millinery, in which the firm specializes, and all the demands of women and children can be met in the premises at the corner of Broad and Johnson. The Old Country Shoe Store is a firm with an extensive footwear display, which affords every variety and price in an article which has felt the effects of the war in a marked degree. Claiming that the low rent district enables them to make offerings which are not possible in the locations on the north-running north-south, the Old Country Store features all classes of footwear.

With a main frontage on Johnson Street, and with sufficient window space on Government Street, the display of the goods featured by C. H. Dorman affords assurance of good quality articles at the lowest possible price in men's and boys' clothing and furnishings.

White Help Restaurant. Across the street from the Dorman store is the former premises of the Shore Hardware Company, now fitted up as Hank's Restaurant. The restaurant made a point at the start some time ago of employing white help only, throughout the premises, and claims thus to be in a position to give cleanliness as well as quick service. The patrons, in addition to all the usual courses, have an opportunity to dine in these days, even located as Victoria is on the coast, to get a real fish-meal at suitable prices. Ex-Sergeant Hankin the proprietor is a veteran of the Great War.

The furnishing needs of the citizen may be supplied at the R. H. Stewart Company. They offer some attractive lines in modern furniture for the home, and the store will repay a visit to examine the wares on sale. Dining room sets in fumed and golden oak are among the leading lines offered.

LARGE INCREASE IN ALBERTAN PRODUCTION

Neighboring Province Made Larger Output Than Other Provinces

According to statistics prepared by the Department of Mines the output of Canadian coal mines during 1918 was 14,979,213 short tons, including 2,900 tons produced in the Yukon District, and the value of this output (at an average of $3.72 per ton), was $5,552,671. This production was with the exception of that of the year 1913, the largest obtained in any one year from Canadian mines. The amount of coal imported into Canada during 1918 was 21,578,587 tons valued at $71,050,584, an average value of $3.20 per ton. In 1913 Canada exported 1,317,196 tons, valued at $3,504,423. The estimated consumption of coal based on production, exports, and coal imported as "entered for consumption" amounted in 1918 to 34,840,495 tons, as compared with a corresponding consumption in 1917 of 33,123,735 tons. The 1918 consumption included approximately 4,900,545 tons of anthracite; 26,608,224 tons bituminous, and 3,331,216 tons of lignite. The consumption of coal during 1917 included approximately 5,428,423 tons of anthracite; 24,911,625 tons of bituminous and 2,784,237 tons of lignite. Where Increase Was Obtained. The increase in the production of coal in the Dominion in 1918 has been obtained chiefly in the Province of Alberta; although there were also substantial increases in British Columbia and in New Brunswick. The Nova Scotia production fell off 474,289 tons, or 7.5 per cent, as compared with 1917 and was less than the production in 1913 by 2,137,371 tons, or nearly 27 per cent. New Brunswick increased by 78,451 tons, or 41. per cent; Saskatchewan, 1,115,125 tons, or 23.85 per cent; Alberta increased 1,505,496 tons, or 25.45 per cent, and reached its highest production on record. British Columbia increased by 1,147,743 tons, or 5.53 per cent, but was less than the highest production reached in 1910 by 762,154 tons.

The Export Output of Coke. The total output of coke during 1918 was 1,234,347 tons, made from 1,945,475 tons of coal, of which 1,348,232 tons were of domestic origin and 897,243 tons imported. The output thus averaged 9,634 tons of coke per ton of coal charged. The total coke used or sold by producers during the year was 1,227,292 tons valued at $10,841,251 (partly estimated), or an average of $8.83 per ton. In 1917 the total output was 1,231,965 tons of coke, made from 1,928,923 tons of coal, an average of 9,839 tons of coke per ton of coal charged. The coke sold or used by producers was 1,245,862 tons valued at $9,662,581, or an average of $7.75 per ton.

By Provinces the production was: Nova Scotia, 581,379 tons, a decrease of 53,199 tons; Ontario, 498,923 tons, an increase of 22,812 tons; Alberta, 32,891 tons, an increase of 1,695 tons; and British Columbia, 211,643 tons, an increase of 31,057 tons. The exports operated during the year were those at Sydney Mines N. S.; Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; Coleman, Alta.; and Fernie, Mich., and Union Bay, B. C.

Many Ovens Idle. At the close of the year 1,560 ovens were in operation, 1,941 were idle, and 115 were building. The ovens under construction included sixty Koppers ovens at Sydney, twenty-five Williams putte ovens at Sault Ste. Marie, and thirty Lomax regenerative ovens at Anzac, B. C.

The exports of coke in 1918 were 29,512 tons valued at $223,829, or an average of $7.55 per ton, as against exports in 1917 of 23,595 tons valued at $173,310, or an average of $7.35 per ton. The imports of coke in 1918 were 1,165,590 tons valued at $8,975,445, or an average of $7.70 per ton, as against imports in 1917 of 879,198 tons valued at $6,517,569, or an average of $7.72 per ton.

The estimated consumption of oven coke in 1918 was 2,263,270 tons, as compared with 2,132,373 tons in 1917. Of the total output of coke, 870,063 tons, or 71.2 per cent, was made in by-product recovery ovens, and the recovery of by-products included ammonium sulphate 10,525 tons and tar 5,697,435 gallons, as against 9,941 tons of ammonium sulphate and 9,012,202 gallons of tar in 1917.

Reconstruction in France
Christian Science Monitor.

The speech delivered recently by Mr. Loucheur, Minister of Industrial Reconstruction, in the French Chamber, was of a most encouraging nature. In France, as elsewhere, the reconstruction problem demands for its solution not only patience and foresight, but a breadth of vision which is ready to depart from accustomed methods the moment the wisdom for such a departure becomes apparent, and a courage which insists on seeking, at all times, for the greatest good of the greatest number. There is much evidence to show that Mr. Loucheur is clear, for instance, in beginning his speech, that one of the primal demands in the great work of reconstruction was unity. The Government has a great programme to carry out, he said in effect, a programme which has been drawn up with the utmost care, and as the result of the best advice obtainable, but the Government will be helpless unless it can count on the cordial co-operation and energetic effort of all who are in a position to help.

Mr. Loucheur then went on to tell how the Government, in order to insure the resumption of work as speedily as possible, had already transformed some of the state establishments into workshops for repairing cars, engines, and so forth, and how it was intended to continue to carry out that policy with the utmost freedom, whilst doing everything possible to make certain that private enterprise was not handicapped by unfair competition. The French Ministry of Reconstruction, in fact, is evidently fully awake to the truth that, with some four years of arrears to make up, to say nothing of the arrears of the last year, the work which has to be made good, and the insistent demand for expansion which will have to be met, there will be room enough and to spare for all manner of enterprises, both state and private. And so the work of transformation and adaptation is to go on, and the Government is to undertake the maintenance of the most necessary articles which are much needed, devoting itself especially to meeting the tremendous international demand for railway rolling stock.

One of the most important portions of Mr. Loucheur's speech, however, was that in which he definitely pronounced himself in favor of international co-operation, and announced that the Government had appointed Mr. Jouxhaux, the able Secretary-General of the Confederation Generale du Travail, to serve on a special commission consisting of representatives of both employers and employees to inquire into the whole matter. The Government could not well have made a happier choice, and the very fact that the commission has been appointed indicates another step toward that larger co-operation between Labor and Capital of which Mr. Jouxhaux has always shown himself an earnest advocate, and which Mr. Loucheur recognizes as necessary if France is to effect a return to normal conditions, and then expand beyond them in the shortest possible time.

It will not be the first time, by any means, that Mr. Jouxhaux, as a representative of Labor, will have met representative employers in an effort to secure a better understanding between the two great parties to all industry. There was a notable occasion, just three years ago, when the Secretary-General received an invitation from the Federation of French Manufacturers to address that organization at the Palais d'Orsay on the relations between Capital and Labor. Mr. Jouxhaux, it may be remembered, accepted the invitation in the spirit in which it was offered. He spoke frankly and fearlessly, and whilst making it quite clear that his object was to secure a better understanding, it is equally clear that no understanding was possible unless both sides were willing to be just. Labor, he contended, made certain just demands, and until these demands were conceded a settlement could not reasonably be looked for. Employers, he added, would have to accord greater liberty to their men, and treat them as genuine collaborators, so as to awaken their intelligence, encourage the dignity of Labor, and prevent them from becoming machines. This position Mr. Jouxhaux has steadily maintained ever since, and has thus helped to forge that most valuable of all tools for the work of reconstruction, namely, a fuller understanding between Labor and Capital. One but the best results, therefore, are to be anticipated from Mr. Jouxhaux's present appointment.

Another important point brought out by Mr. Loucheur was the fact that the Government was fully awake to the

FOCH ON GERMAN GENERALSHIP

Marshal Foch is the first soldier of our day. He will have a place among the great soldiers of all time. His opinion of the professional capacity of the German military leadership is of great interest to those who want to get an intelligent understanding of the strategy of the war.

The Marshal says that the Germans never produced a general of the capacity of the elder Moltke. Nobody is likely to dissent from that judgment. The elder Moltke had the touch of genius. He founded the modern German military school. In this war the German General Staff merely attempted to apply the body of doctrine which it inherited from him. The staff tradition had also stamped out originally. German military conceptions had become rigid. There were naturally in 1914-18 many imitators of the elder Moltke. But there was no second Moltke.

The younger Moltke was little more than a name. He was a courtier rather than a soldier. He filled in at general staff headquarters because his pleasingly negative temperament appealed to William II, who wanted no men of will and independent character about him. Moltke the younger tried to execute a plan of campaign bequeathed to him through Count Schlieffen. It looked promising at first—due to faulty French concentrations and operations at the beginning of the war. But it went to pieces at the first Marne. It was not the junior Moltke's fault that the Schlieffen envelopment scheme failed. But he was made a scapegoat.

Foch says of him: "He was devoted to the idea of outflanking. It was his stock manoeuvre." Yet he was himself outflanked east of Paris.

Falkenhayn had the second idea of

LARGE PERCENTAGE APPROVED.

A large percentage of the returned soldiers who have applied for the benefits of the Soldier Settlement Act in the four Western Provinces have been found to be qualified to engage in farming at once. Figures given out by Mr. W. J. Black, chairman of the Board, show that from February 10 to April 10, since the new loan provisions came into effect, 4,225 veterans have been approved by the agricultural qualification committees of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Quite a large number were found to have had insufficient agricultural experience to warrant the committees in placing them immediately on the land, and they will spend one year at work on farms managed by successful farmers who are interested in returned soldiers. Lists of such approved farmers are posted in the provincial offices of the Soldier Settlement Board.

The figures of applications approved for the four provinces are: British Columbia, 631; Alberta, 1,361; Saskatchewan, 1,364; Manitoba, 1,269.

FRUIT SHIPMENTS INCREASE.

Okanagan United Growers' business for the year amounted to $1,587,464, an increase of nearly half a million over that of 1917; 941,296 packages of fruit were shipped, as compared with 772,842 for the previous year, according to a report from the Department of Immigration and Colonization, Winnipeg office.

B. C. LUMBER SHIPMENTS.

During the week 488 cars of lumber were shipped from various mills in British Columbia, an against 462 cars last year. The Associated Timber Exporting Company of British Columbia, with a capitalization of $200,000, has been formed by local lumbermen in the Province with the view of increasing the export of lumber.—Report from Western Office, Department of Immigration and Colonization.

INFLAMED GUMS—THE CAUSE OF TOOTH-BASE DECAY

Just as the strength of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so are healthy teeth dependent upon healthy gums.

Perforate the gums to become inflamed or tender and you weaken the foundation of the teeth. This condition is called Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Loosening of teeth is a direct result. And spongy, receding gums invite painful tooth-base decay. They act, too, as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) attacks four out of five people who are over forty. And many under that age, also. Its first symptom is tender gums. So you should look to your gums. Use Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. It also scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean. Brush your teeth with it.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

DOUBLE-HEADER YESTERDAY PUTS VICTORIA SECOND IN THE RACE

Five Straight Wins Gives Them Fifty-Fifty Break; Beat Beavers Nine to Two and Seven to Nothing

To prove that they are a winning team, Brown's Tyees put themselves in line to wrench the top position in the International Northwest League from Seattle by smothering brother Bob's Beavers from Vancouver by nine runs to two yesterday in the afternoon game and seven to nothing in the evening at the Royal Athletic Park.

Zinkle's Homer Clink on the mound had a lot behind the ball, but Brown's hitters were out to live up to their reputation. Zinkle in the third put one over the centre field fence with yards to spare and, with no one on the bases, made the round trip for one.

Two of a Kind The seventh was a swiftest for the local boys. Hinkle followed Zinkle's two-bagger by lifting the ball over the three spot on the centre field fence and followed Zinkle to the home plate.

Another for "Army" Armstrong got the second home run of the day and the third in the game. He followed Easterly, but the catcher had broken his bat putting all his weight on one of Clink's best.

Morton Also Hits The home boys got their other two runs in the second and third innings, Morton getting the single which scored Easterly in the second.

Harry was getting every assistance from his fielders in spite of the hope in the ground. Ted Easterly stopped one on the knee in the eighth inning, which made him bite the dust for a while, but continued the game.

Evening Game The evening game only got as far as the sixth inning, the rain making the play difficult and fairly drenching the players. Five runs in the fifth by the local boys followed four round O's hung up for both sides and then Brother Jim's boys followed with a couple in the last inning played.

Table with columns for player names and statistics (runs, hits, errors, etc.) for the double-header games.

Summary: Home runs—Mullin, Two-base hits—Easterly, Corrihan, Stolen bases—Armstrong, Speas, Hood, Struck out—By Heaton, 6; by McIvor, 5.

Strong Objections to Sunday Baseball Strong objections against the practice of young men who play baseball on the High School grounds on Sunday were launched by Trustee Mrs. Andrews at the School Board meeting last night.

Picking 'em Off The Tyees left this afternoon for Seattle to play three games against the Sound City men. If Jim's men can continue the habit of shutting out all comers they are top of the league.

Five Clubs Out After Lacrosse Bunting Montreal, May 14.—When the Indian lacrosse club secured a lease of the old baseball grounds at Alwater Park here this morning, President Dumochal, of the N. L. U., announced that five clubs would play in the league this year—Shamrock, Nationals, Indians, Cornwall and Ottawa.

SanTel and Jap-Both Fight and Wrestle Yakima, Wash., May 14.—A wrestling match between Taro Miyake, Japanese, and Ad SanTel, to-night at the Yakima Armory ended in a row after Miyake had won the first fall jiu-jitsu style and the second, catch-as-catch-can style, had been awarded to SanTel by default. The third fall, which was to have been at jiu-jitsu, was abandoned when Miyake refused to wrestle the second fall. SanTel struck him. The referee gave the Japanese ten minutes to decide whether he would go on. Miyake declined and the fall was given to SanTel.

A Fogless London Next

According to a bulletin of the American Chamber of Commerce in London, science is trying to abolish the famous London fog. This is what the bulletin has to say about it: "Those who have stumbled off pavements in fogs, bruising their shins, or who have embarrassed themselves by sticking a fending finger in a horse's nose, will have a vengeful satisfaction in hearing that a practical plan is being investigated to do away with the fog nuisance."

MOST NOVEL LUMBER CRAFT YET DEvised: DEMOUNTABLE SHIP

DEMOUNTABLE SHIP IS APPROVED BY LLOYD'S

Novel Craft Expected to Revolutionize Delivery of Lumber to Offshore Markets; Scheme Is Attracting Widespread Attention.

With the arrival of Sir James Ball on the coast in connection with the placing of large lumber orders in British Columbia for delivery in the United Kingdom, interest is revived in the "demountable ship" scheme, the invention of John Arbuthnot, the well-known financier, which was fully described in The Times of April 24.

Sir James Ball is authority for the statement that orders for 20,000,000 feet of lumber have been placed with British Columbia mills for shipment to Great Britain by way of the Panama Canal in demountable ships.

According to Sir James the British Government considers the demountable ship scheme feasible.

Interested in this scheme is Percy M. Furber, President of the Mexican Oil Fields Co. of New York, and John Arbuthnot, who have formed a syndicate which will be known as the Furber Lumber Company. The originators of this scheme propose to build these demountable ships, each of which will carry 5,000,000 feet of lumber, where the lumber is most conveniently available.

Sites for the construction of the "bottoms" of these demountable ships have been looked over at Victoria and Esquimalt. The services of J. H. Price, one of the best known wooden shipbuilders on the Pacific Coast, have been secured to supervise the construction of these novel vessels.

The method of constructing these demountable ships is very simple. Blocks will be laid for the different keels and enough of the fore and aft and cross timbers will be placed and fastened together with steel bolts. After sufficient lumber has been put together in this manner to ensure buoyancy enough to keep the bottom high out of the water, it will then be launched, with donkey engines aboard, which will be used to haul the lumber out of the water and right into one place on the ship. After about 8 or 10 feet of lumber has been built up, this section will be clamped down very securely with more bolts, and the same process will be continued another 8 or 10 feet until the ship is completed.

Building the boats in this way can be done as cheaply as putting the lumber inside an ordinary ship. The method of fastening the lumber-ship will be such that on its arrival in England the nuts will be taken off and the bolts taken out, leaving all the lumber for distribution.

The boat will be equipped with engines capable of driving the ship along at about seven knots. These engines, when the ship arrives at its destination, will be taken off and sent back to be used on another vessel. This demountable ship has been patented by Mr. Arbuthnot and has been passed by Lloyd's Register of Shipping in England as a first-class method of transporting lumber, and they have given their highest recommendation, allowing very reasonable insurance policies to be placed on these ships.

The boats will be 250 feet long, 60 feet beam and 40 feet from bottom of keel to top of rail, and will draw from 28 to 30 feet of water when fully finished with machinery and equipment all on.

By transporting lumber in this way, very large timbers can be handled as easily as small timbers, thus allowing the lumber merchants in other countries to have lumber in stock that can be re-sawn to any dimensions required, consequently an order for different sizes can be furnished.

Sixth French Vessel Will Be Floated From Point Ellice Plant.

BAYLY HIPKINS REFUSES TO DISCUSS SITUATION

Seattle, May 15.—That the Foundation Company will be able to bring back to Tacoma and Portland the gigantic $296,000,000 order for 174 steel ships which it holds from the French Government, has loomed up as one of the immediate probabilities in the Coast shipbuilding industry as a result of the lifting of the ban on foreign contracts by President Woodrow Wilson.

All work has been stopped on the large steel shipyard which the Foundation Company began building two months ago in Cetta, France. Construction of this plant was decided when the United States Shipping Board refused to allow the Foundation Company to build the 174 ships in its Tacoma and Portland yards.

Nothing to say. Bayly Hipkins, general manager of the Foundation Company on the Pacific Coast, refused point blank to be drawn into any comment on the probable return of the 174 ship contracts to Tacoma and Portland.

"Pending word from our head offices in New York city," he said, "I have absolutely nothing to say."

From Eastern sources it is learned that the Foundation Company undoubtedly will reopen negotiations with the Shipping Board if it has not already taken that step. In this case, it is pointed out, there are no insuperable difficulties in the way, the French High Commission and the Foundation Company having their headquarters in New York.

The return of the gigantic ship order to Tacoma and Portland would bring to Puget Sound and the Columbia River the greatest flood of foreign gold ever received on the Pacific Coast. It would stabilize the entire industrial situation and banish for several years all uncertainty as to the shipbuilding on the coast.

In the advice received this morning from the East, it is stated that the Foundation Company was making remarkable progress in building the new plant in Cetta when all work was ordered stopped. The date of the cessation of work was not given, but it is understood that the order was issued only recently or after President Wilson has taken the lifting of the foreign contract ban under consideration.

Mr. Ballantyne acknowledged the importance of the suggestions made by the delegates and promised to take the recommendations made up with his colleagues.

TO INSTALL PLANT FOR COMPLEX ORES

Hon. William Sloan Reports on Mission to National Capital

With the assurance that the Federal Government will provide $100,000 this year for an experimental plant for the treatment of complex ores, Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, returned to his office at the Parliament Buildings at noon today.

Hon. Mr. Sloan announced that the plant would be constructed within the next few months. He had sought a Dominion grant of $200,000, and while failing to obtain the complete sum this year is satisfied with the reception which his request received from Hon. Martin Burrell, Federal Minister of Mines.

"I asked to have the plant constructed in connection with the University of British Columbia," said Mr. Sloan, "and the authorities at Ottawa, although the idea of building the plant in order to co-operate with the work at the University has been strongly represented to him."

"Such an experimental plant will fill a long-felt want in this Province. It will give a mill test of complex ores and in this connection I may point out that while the all flotation process of the Mineral Separation Co. has been successful with low grade ores, there is now an alkaline process under investigation at Brooklyn. I visited the works."

Having received representations from coal mining interests of the Province with regard to the proposed removal of the duty on fuel oil, Hon. Mr. Sloan says he discussed this subject with the authorities at Ottawa, although the idea of building the plant in order to co-operate with the work at the University has been strongly represented to him.

The dual control of minerals in the railway belt of British Columbia was discussed by the Provincial Minister with the Federal Department, but Mr. Sloan is unable to report any great amount of progress.

"What progress did you make in iron and steel development for British Columbia?" the Minister was asked.

"The whole affair is still under consideration at Ottawa," said Mr. Sloan, "going on to explain that he had been the encouragement offered by the Province by way of $50,000 for the experimental treatment of iron ore, and a bounty of $3 per ton. While in New York he received many enquiries about the iron and steel possibilities of British Columbia, and Dr. Stanfield's report on the electrical treatment of iron ore on the Pacific was widely discussed."
