

A few bits & pieces to make life easier...

Click on Preferences...

Scroll down in the “user profile” tab...

Click “email me when a page or file on my watchlist is changed”...

Then click save.

Now go to the “beta features” tab...

Click “Automatically enable most beta features”

And click save.

The screenshot shows the 'Preferences' page on Wikipedia. At the top, there is a header 'Preferences' and a link to 'Help:Preferences'. Below this is a navigation bar with tabs for 'User profile', 'Appearance', 'Editing', 'Recent changes', 'Watchlist', 'Gadgets', 'Search', 'Banners', 'Beta features', and 'Notifications'. The 'Beta features' tab is selected. The main content area contains the text: 'Here are some new features we're considering for Wikipedia. Please try them out and give us your thoughts, so we can improve them based on your feedback.' Below this is a checkbox labeled 'Automatically enable most beta features', which is checked. A note below the checkbox states: 'Some beta features can have surprising changes, and so you have to opt in manually.'

By switching on email notifications, you'll know immediately if someone leaves you a message, or edits a page that you've just created - this is a useful thing for new users!

Beta features make wiki editing easier...