GENERAL HEADQUARTERS
SUPREME COMMANDER FOR THE ALLIED POWERS
Civil Intelligence Section, G-2
Public Safety Division

APO 500
2 June 1947

MEMORANDUM TO: Chief Prison Administrator

1. Mr. Cranor and Dr. Fitzgibbon, Prison Branch; Mr. Fukui, B/PA, M/J; and myself visited Yokohama Prison to discuss with the warden and his staff problems relating to correctional classification.

2. The warden stated the psychologist he was to receive from Tokyo H.D. (Kosuge Prison) to assist in this experiment has been of little assistance. Instead of being assigned to Yokohama Prison as I understood, the psychologist is being retained at Kosuge. Of the four psychologists assigned to the B/PA, three are at Kosuge. When asked about this, the psychologists talk vaguely of research projects at Kosuge. Later in the day all the psychologists from Kosuge came to Yokohama. Apparently the psychologists want to function as consultants in the experiment and not as technicians who perform a service.

3. The warden stated he would like to eliminate the use of first class prisoners as interviews but at present he needs all his personnel in their assigned duties. Since he is 30 officials understrength, to assign additional officials to the examination section would be impossible. With a monthly intake of 500 inmates it would be necessary to have the services of an additional 10 to 15 officials assigned to the examination section if first class prisoners are eliminated.

a. The only realistic solution the warden believes is to continue to use first class prisoners under supervision until the personnel problem is solved. Mr. Fukui is going to collect all available data on this problem and discuss it with me.

b. The warden stated if we can eliminate some of the personality tests, the time needed to complete the classification summary will be greatly reduced. I asked the warden if he understood or used these tests. He replied he didn't understand them and never used these tests. Mr. Fukui expressed the opinion that for the most part the results of these tests we entered but never used.

Declassified E.O. 12065 Section 3-402/NNDG NO. 775009

(1) Apart from the validity of these tests, the fact that in the institutions there are no competent persons to interpret the tests makes their continued use questionable. As nearly as I can determine, the psychologists are not at all positive about the meaning or use of these tests. When they are administered by prisoners and interpreted by persons with little or no psychological training, they are valueless.

c. It was decided by the warden and Mr. Fukui to retain the general intelligence test and vocational aptitude test but to recommend to Director of B/PA that Yokohama Prison be permitted to eliminate the personality tests.

(1) Mr. Fukui will arrange a conference with Director of B/PA and warden of Yokohama Prison to discuss this matter 2 June 1947. Members of the Prison Branch are invited to this discussion.

4. The warden stated that with an intake of approximately 500 inmates a month, he should discharge or parole a like number. However, the P.C. parole policies at present prevent this and the result is overcrowding at Yokohama Prison.

5. Mr. Cranor addressed a conference of warden and his staff personnel on the "Warden and Correctional Classification". Mr. Cranor discussed:

a. The philosophical background of correctional classification.

b. The administrative use of correctional classification.

c. The possibilities inherent in the use of correctional classification for the rehabilitation of the offenders.

d. How correctional classification can function to assist in the realization of the goal of making good citizens.

6. Dr. Fitzgibbon discussed the relation of correctional classification to parole with the warden and staff personnel. Dr. Fitzgibbon discussed:

a. The elements of good parole practices.

b. The relation of correctional classification to good parole selection.

c. The close interrelation between selection for correctional classification and parole.

d. The use of information for correctional classification and parole selection.

e. Parole as the end product of correctional classification.

7. The warden and his staff briefly questioned Mr. Cranor and Dr. Fitzgibbon.

THE TRIAL PLAN FOR THE CLASSIFICATION AND TREATMENT OF PRISONERS.

I. For the execution of the scientific treatment of the prisoners, the method of the classification isroughly divided to the custody classification and the treatment classification.

2. In principle, the custody classification is performed by the Agency of the Judicial Department, and the treatment classification by the branch of probation of each prison.

3. On the standpoint of convenience of sustody, the new prisoners are classified to the following ten classes.)--

A class; Ocassional offender.

A I; In A class, the prisoners being suitable to transfer to the prison camp.

A 2; In A class, the prisoners being able to transfer to the prison camp ~~pf fpr~~ AFTER a CONSTANT period.

A3 ; In A class, the others besides A I, A 2.

B class; Habitual offender.

B I; In B class, the prisoners being suitable to transfer to the camp.

B 2; In B class, the prisoners being able to transfer to the prison

I class; The prisoners having the special technique for the industry being not concerned with its criminal number.

J class; Woman prisoners.

4. On the assumption that all prisoner's number in I948 year in Kanto Judicial Agency will increase to 2,3000, this classification plan is decided as the accompanying paper (I), in proportion with the capacity and institution of each prison.

5. The transfer plan on this classification method is chown in the accompanying papers (I), (2). This transfer plan is decided considering the difficulty of transfer, the capacity of each prison, the condition of work and natural increasing number in each prison.

Declassified E.O. 12065 Section 3-402/NNDG NO. 775009

6. The prisoners in C, D, E, F, H, J class is transfered to the proper prison, respecti vely.

7. The prisoners in G class experimentaly involved in the Tokyo Detention Headquarter.

8. In each prison except Tokyo Detention Headquarter, the prisoners in G class are classified to A. G. or B. G. and transfered to the appointed prison in accordance with A class, B class.

9. The prisoners whose sentences are less than I year, except the prisoner in D, E, F, G, H, J class, are involved in their prison.

IO. The prisoners in I class are organically transfered by the technical registration system.

II. The vicious prisoners who disturb the orders of prisons, are transfered to the institution having the suitable equipments.

I2. While this plan is established on the assumption that the prison camps in I947 year shall be continued to I948 year, if the prison camps in I947 year are discontinued, this plan will go wrong on the stand point of capacity. And then the new camps are intended to establish in order to exclude this abstacle.

I3. If the obstacles arise on the execution of this transfer plan, the Administrator of Kanto Judicial District indicats the transfer plan at times and excutes smoothly this plan.

MEMORANDUN TO: Dr. Lewis, Chief Prison Administrator

1. 26 June 47 Mr. Ogawa, Mr. Fukui, B/PA, and myself visited Yokohama Prison to evalve with the warden a scheme for classification of prisoners.

2. The following points were discussed and the warden agreed all could be executed if B/PA gives him approval:

a. A revised personality summary will be utilized.

(1) This form shall be completed within one month of the inmate's incarceration.

b. After the personality summary is completed the committee (its composition dependent upon warden's wishes) will decide the following:

(1) Transfer to another institution.

(2) Security classification into:

a. Minimum, which will include a trustee group.
b. Medium.
c. Maximum, which will include punishment group.

(3) Job assignment.

(4) Special care or treatment (medical education etc.)

c. Privileges of each grade to be "concretely determined by a committee consisting of warden and various staff officers, Mr. Ogawa, Mr. Nakao, Mr. Fukui, Mr. Cranor and myself.

d. All prisoners will be examined for parole at end of 1/3 of sentence, at this time a date for parole or the next parole hearing will be decided upon.

e. All prisoners will receive initial classification within one month after being admitted to the institution, reclassified 6 months later, and thereafter every year. The prisoner will appear in person before the committee.

Declassified E.O. 12065 Section 3-402/NNDG NO. 775009

Classification

28 July 1948

1. Some time during the Spring of 1947, Mr. Lloyd McCorkle, a former member of prison branch, PSD., began the project of conducting a Classification demonstration in the Yokohama prison. The Warden, Matsujiro Kakehi, with a background of thirty years in prison work with a little more than a year at the Yokohama Prison, was seemingly very anxious to accept modern penological principles. Frequent trips were made to the prison by Mr. McCorkle during the summer of 1947 and up to the time of his departure for the States in September 1947. During that time, certain forms covering Classification procedure were inaugurated and apparently wholeheartedly accepted by the Warden.

2. In September 1947, I was assigned the Classification project at Yokohama Prison and was pleased to observe the zeal manifested by the Warden in wanting to be a progressive prison administrator. Classification seemed to be soundly implanted in this prison with the Warden meeting about three times each week with his Committee. I have checked the forms being used and find them to be very complete, giving the most minute details relative to the records of each individual prisoner. The Warden has expressed himself repeatedly to the effect that it is his desire to accomplish all that Classification implies, but realizes his own limitations insofar as securing the proper personnel is concerned. However, he has apparently surrounded himself with officials, who appear to have a keen interest in the operation of the Classification Committee.

3. I have made weekly trips weekly trips to this prison since being given the Classification demonstration assignment and a number of times have sat in with the Committee and observed its operation. My observations of this project during the time of my assignment might be summed up as follows:

(a) Warden's background of some thirty years and desire to progress, makes ideal opportunity for Classification project.
(b) All personnel seem to have accepted the Warden's attitude and there is a very cooperative spirit.
(c) All forms now in used giving initial commitment data, complete information on personal and criminal history, photographic and identification record, psychological tests, observation chart, medical record, industrial report and treatment recommended for prisoner.
(d) Frequent meetings of committee attest to successful operation of the classification program, its use in determining trusty assignments, job transfers and recommendations for parole.
(e) Prisoners are placed in four classes. On entry, usually given testing class assignment, then a training class assignment with trials and observation in shops. The next step is that of "ordinary" with further study inside the prison preparatory to the final assignment - trusty class. The latter classification is necessary or essential for parole eligibility, whether prisoners is actual working as a trystry or retained inside on some more important assignment.

(d) One remains in the training class about three months, and after about seven months confinement, he is re-examined for further classification, then ever six months thereafter. Thru this method a fairly close watch is kept over each prisoner.

(e) According to the classification of a prisoner, he is given certain privileges with regard to mail, visitors, recreation, etc.

(f) To be eligible for parole, a prisoner must be in the trusty class. The parole committee consisting of the Warden, as chairman, the deputy warden and the Chief of all sections,

(g) The decision of the parole committee may be "approved", "Not ready yet" or "disapproved". The question of a parole depends on family and job connections, but sometimes if all other conditions suggest the advisability of a parole, a prisoner may be released to an ex-prisoner aid association or "first friend" organization.

(h) The warden has recently completed a new building just outside of the main entrance ofthe prison for the use of those prisoners, who have no friends or relatives interested in them. They may stay at this place, with sufficient shelter and food, until such time as proper arrangements can be made for them. This building is chiefly for those who have served complete sentence and cannot be held longer under the law.
