Remarks:

Dept. of Hiroshima Reformatory has been a serious problem. Whether he can make the grade is still a deep problem. Present active Instruct supervision seems determined to get better administration, or ask parole. Such action already taken in case of Kitamehara, where the defects are more marked. Reports of blood or in-law relationships between Supt Mori and Miss Yoshimura evidently are being watched. Salaries will be passed home with Cash Sections BJ 2

MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: Inspection Trip to Hiroshima District to Observe the Implementation of Japanese C&R Headquarters, Juvenile Prisons, and Headquarters in Accordance with Democratic Reforms

TO: Chief, Public Safety Division

1. Personnel Assigned:

George W. Cornelius, Capt., Arty.
Gerald B. Stahly, DAC
Ralph M. Mori, DAC

2. Concerned officials of the Hiroshima District Civil Affairs Region and CIC were contacted for the purpose of acquainting them with our mission. Quarters and rations were furnished by the Regional Civil Affairs.

3. Hiroshima District Headquarters

Conference was held with Mr. Miyako, District Supervisor, and his staff. During all phases of the inspection trip throughout the District a representative of this headquarters was present.

4. General Observations

a. District Supervision. The District supervisor is quite capable and has done good planning in the area of providing adequate facilities for anticipated increased population. Some plans have been submitted to and approved by National; others have been submitted with disposition pending; a few are embryonic and not yet submitted. As yet facilities for girls are inadequate. Copies of 1950 and 1951 District Training School schedules were received.

b. Most Pressing Problems. Other than general budgetary problems, the District is faced with the difficulty of securing professional personnel. Only one of five Juvenile Detention Homes and Classification Centers is adequately staffed. However, the other four have arranged to employ 1951 professional school graduates (See Exhibit B).

c. Classification of Institutions. This phase of the program appears to be in good shape.

d. Capacity, Present Population and Unused Capacity. Table I shows the adequacy of present and soon-to-be-available facilities to care for anticipated population increases. It shows a need for female institutions.

e. Classification. Juvenile Detention Homes and Classification Centers have the capacity to handle double the present intake. The use of Classification at the center appears satisfactory but there is a general failure to get the information down to the people who use it and thereby receive maximum value from it.

f. Education. This part of the program is under the development but needs some direction and stimulation. The supervisor feels that some of his superintendents are not equal to the job.

g. Recreation. This phase of the program appears satisfactory.

h. Morale. Morale appeared high among inmates, particularly

f. Education. This part of the program is under the development but needs some direction and stimulation. The supervisor feels that some of his superintendents are not equal to the job.

g. Recreation. This phase of the program appears satisfactory.

h. Morale. Morale appeared high among inmates, particularly among the girls.

i. Clothing and Bedding. This is inadequate in the boy's school.

j. Medical and Sanitation. Personnel problems are the most serious here. Services are inadequate but physical facilities are satisfactory. Sanitation needs attention.

k. Fire Protection. The boy's school has the best layout seen. The girl's is satisfactory.

l. Security. This seems satisfactory and well administered.

5. Institutions

a. Kifunehara. Supt. Mrs. Yoshima. Limited space and program. Baths are limited to every five days because of fuel shortage. The superintendent is colorless and the supervisor has asked for a replacement. A few of the staff members seem stronger than she.

Declassified E.O. 12065 Section 3-402/NNDG No. 775009

b. Hiroshima. Supt. Mori. This institution has excellent possibilities which are not being realized. Sanitation is poor. The general layout of the institutions is good. The wood and metal shops are the best seen but they are not being used to capacity. General farming, forestry and woodcraft, cooking, and bamboo work are in the program. Would like to add printing, tailoring, and machine and auto repairing. Program ideas are good but rather loosely organized. Supervisor has asked that the superintendent be replaced. He feels the administration is not strong enough for an institution this size.

6. Detention Homes and Classification Centers.

a. Hiroshima. Supt. Masumi. This is an excellent physical plant with a good staff. It is crowded at the moment but some expansion is under way.

7. DYOPAR Commission.

There is a shortage of 17% rehabilitation (volunteer) workers. However, the work seems to be of high calibre. They report two percent institutional returns while on parole, a somewhat higher rate after discharge. Success on probation is not quite as high as parole.

8. Recommendations

a. Additional institutional provisions should be made for girls.

b. Budgetary adjustments by District, between institutions, to provide more equitable allocations in terms of the local resources of institutions.

c. More attention to housekeeping is necessary at Hiroshima Reformatory.

VIII WARDEN'S COMMENTS AND REMARKS:

Needs public phone. GHQ regulation prevents at present. Kitchen inadequate for increased population. Needs boiler. Increase T/O. Would like cannery, print shop, tailor shop, machine and auto shop.

VIII WARDEN'S COMMENTS AND REMARKS

Warden wants larger T/O to handle anticipated increase in population.

I

IX CONCLUSIONS

A good program, apparently in spite of the Supt. Has several strong younger women and men on the staff. Morale among girls seems high.
