

Done

Boston, Nov. 22, 1839.
Rev. Charles G. Torrey;

Sir,

In reply to your letter of Nov. 12th this day received, requesting information respecting the letter alluded to in "Right & Wrong in Massachusetts," pp. 59 & 67. I enclose a copy of a certificate as to its contents signed by the gentlemen to whom you alluded ^{to} & by two other gentlemen to whom, ~~among~~ ^{others,} ~~the~~ ^{it} was communicated it, which, before I wrote that book, I deemed it proper to have. ~~As you~~ ^{As you} giving me to understand that you had ~~publicly~~ ^{publicly} denied writing such a letter, you furnish me with the proper ground on which to publish this certificate.

With respect to the publication of your letters appeared to "Right & Wrong in ~~Boston~~, Massachusetts" to which you allude disapprovingly, I have only to remark, that such letters have a far other character than that of private correspondence. Taken in connection with their author's course towards the Anti-Slavery public, they become a public concern. To suppress them is in my estimation wrong - to make them public, right & duty to the Anti-Slavery cause.

I am yours faithfully,
Maria Weston Chapman.

Close

Certificate

The following is the substance of Mr. Jorey's letter.

Charles G. Jorey wrote to P. C. Pettibone last December, stating that Garrison had a great deal of influence in this state, & hence it would not ^{be safe} ~~be~~ to attack him or the Liberator openly. We needed a new paper: ~~in Massachusetts~~. He had founded the Ministry throughout the state & they were for it to a man. Now, Brother Pettibone, have on a full delegation at the Annual Meeting, to come at 10 o'clock, prepared to stay two days; have them pledge to go for the new paper & show the Annual Report & we will show them how it is done.

(Signed)

P. C. Pettibone,
Ezra C. Smith
J. A. Collins.

~~The original of Pettibone's letter~~

Lead The following note from Mr. Pettibone will explain the reason why ~~the letter to~~ Mr. Jorey's letter to him has not been published.

Ms. A. 9. 2. 18. 90