

SCENES ON BORDER

MRS. E. H. WILLISFORD TELLS OF SAN DIEGO SITUATION IN WARLIKE TIMES

"We spent a very pleasant two weeks in San Diego," said Mrs. E. H. Willisford, who, with the Rev. E. H. Willisford, returned to Glendale Monday evening. It is quite warlike down there, but there is no likelihood of there being any trouble just at present. Nevertheless the American soldiers are camped out on the hills close to the border and neither Mexican soldier nor American soldier is permitted to cross the frontier.

"It is different with tourists. Even in the most threatening times of the war American visitors were in the habit of going down to the border at Tia Juana to see what was doing. Just at present several auto buses are running down regularly. We had heard so much of conditions at Tia Juana that we ventured to make a two-hours' visit to the border to see what actually are the conditions. There is a strict customs outlook on both sides.

"There was no sign of excitement on the Mexican side. Gov. Cantu is favorable to Americans and has a little kingdom of his own in Lower California, which neither Carranza nor Villa has yet been able to master. We took a cursory look at the place, which was very quiet but for the American visitors. The horse races are now at Reno, Nev., and there was no excitement on the race course in Tia Juana; but there will be a renewal of the old conditions, alas.

"In San Diego we visited Coronado and saw the once famous Palm City, now deserted and unoccupied. It is said that John Spreckles, the owner of the Coronado Hotel and of the Palm City, had been refused certain drink privileges connected with the beach and that he had refused to let the Palm City tents and cabins this year to show the people how much the place depends on him. This has made the Coronado beach rather slimly attended this season.

"We also visited La Jolla and were astonished to see the poorly kept streets and the unkempt condition of some of the gardens and yards. In the midst of all this disorder there was one bright spot—the civic playground. This playground was donated to the city by Miss Scripps, one of the family that owns the Scripps-McRae News Agency and a string of newspapers of which the Los Angeles Record is one.

"The playground is beautifully kept and well fitted up with all manner of conveniences—a kitchen for public use, parlors and tennis courts. It is under the charge of a superintendent and two directors and has a gardener. There is also a nice clubhouse. There is a very fine Congregational church in La Jolla.

"In San Diego we naturally visited the exposition, which is a veritable 'Garden of Allah.'" It was created out of the real desert. Balboa Park four years ago was absolutely desert and now it is wonderful to behold what a transformation the application of water has done. The wilderness is blossoming as the rose, and the solitary place is glad. It is a marvel with its profusion of California shrubs, palms and rhododendrons, azaleas, laurels of every kind, magnolias and many hundreds of other plants and shrubs. Some day I hope Glendale will have a park like that."

PROGRESS OF STREET WORK

The attorneys who have been managing the legal proceedings in connection with the improvement of Canada boulevard reported this week favorably in connection with this matter and the work will probably be begun the moment the legal limit expires.

It is expected that all the work on Pacific avenue will be completed within ten days.

MOTHERS' STUDY CIRCLE

The Mothers' Study Circle, which was organized under the supervision of the United States Department of Education, some time ago, has been holding its meetings all through the summer and has managed to keep its members together as far as they have been in town, has arranged to meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson, 805 South Central avenue. The circle will resume the study of Edith Mumford's interesting book, "The Dawn of Character."

FIGHTING DISEASE

DR. J. E. ECKLES SAYS CALIFORNIA EMPLOYS LATEST MODERN METHODS

"Apart from its fine climate and the open air treatment which is so efficacious in cases of tuberculosis," said Dr. J. E. Eckles, of North Central avenue, "California is employing all the latest means of combating tuberculosis, known to modern medical science. The large institutions of the East, with every convenience at their command, have been making researches in the domain of remedial methods of treatment of tuberculosis that are of high importance.

"It is well known that while California natives are remarkably free from tuberculosis that there is a large number of tubercular patients who have come into the State to seek the benefit of its unrivaled climate. These persons only too often do not come here until they are in the last stages of the disease.

This gives the death rate of California an unnatural accretion that is no fair criterion of the real health conditions of the State. However the health authorities of the State have diligently taken up the task of fighting these conditions and have called to their aid every means known to modern medical science to aid in the fight.

"In similar manner the private physicians of the State are aiding in the great fight against tuberculosis. The doctors of the State are well equipped in many ways to carry on this important campaign. One of the latest means of aiding the system to throw off the poison of tuberculosis is by injecting a vegetable preparation intermuscularly. This in patients who are in the first stage of tuberculosis usually effects an improvement and receives an immediate response. When administered in the later stages it adds to the efficiency of other treatment.

"Another of the more recent methods of treatment is by the administration of extract of the spleen of various animals. This method is of use in stimulating the vitality of the white cells in the blood. These phagocytes are unable to do much in the way of fighting the tubercular germs. The tubercular germs are stronger than they and keep up a constant warfare in the system; bit by bit the tuberculosis germ wears down the protective cells of the body. The administration of these extracts of spleen act as a stimulus on the white corpuscles and enable them to overcome their weariness and exhaustion and to take up the fight again. In this way the patient may be aided over a critical point and set on the way to ultimate recovery by taking advantage of the open air treatment.

"California at present, by reason of the influx of tubercular patients, is affording an excellent field of study of this particular disease and many improved methods of treatment are being discovered by the ordinary practitioner here."

ROYAL ARCH MASONS

Unity Chapter 116, Royal Arch Masons, was among the chapters that attended the "get together" meeting of the various chapters throughout this district at Pasadena, Tuesday night. There were delegations from Pasadena, Alhambra, Los Angeles, Santa Monica and other centers present. The Glendale contingent left in a large auto. Those present were Dr. Hogue, C. H. Woolsey, D. O. Peet, J. H. Jackson, D. Hunchberger, Roy Masters, W. S. Rattray and Riley Lyon. The visitors were received with characteristic hospitality by the Pasadena chapter, in the Temple. A pleasant supper was enjoyed and speeches dealing with the progress of Royal Arch Masonry and the prosperity and development of the order were made. The Glendale contingent is of opinion that it would be difficult to conceive a better time than had at Pasadena in the society of their brethren.

FIRE ENGINE GETS NEW WHEELS

As far as its apparatus goes Glendale's fire department has everything at present in good shape. The fire engine has recently been fitted out with new wheels and Fire Superintendent Lankford has just finished painting them. They give quite a presentable appearance to the old engine.

WEATHER FORECAST—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; cloudy along the coast; warmer; westerly winds.

LATEST RETURNS FROM PRIMARY ELECTIONS

JOHNSON'S NOMINATION CONCEDED—DODGE AND PACKER NOMINATED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—It was conceded at noon at Willis H. Booth's headquarters that Johnson had been nominated for United States Senator. It is stated that Craig, Finlayson and Woods have been elected Superior Court judges.

San Francisco states that 60 per cent of all the votes cast up to noon were in favor of Johnson. It is believed that his majority over Booth will be 15,000.

The Progressive headquarters state that Johnson has received their nomination.

WILSON SAYS "GOD FORGIVE YOU I CAN'T"

PRESIDENT DECLARES HE CAN NEVER PARDON THE RAILROAD OFFICIALS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30.—Democrats and Republicans alike in Congress agree that anything like a general strike must be prevented. President Wilson says that he offered the friendly services of the administration to the railway managers to see that justice was done them and had given them surely ample guaranties that no injustice to them would be allowed; but they preferred to take the way that has led to the present difficulty by which the country faces a general strike. "God forgive you; I cannot," were the president's last words to the railroad executives.

FRENCH ADVANCE ON GREEK FRONTIER

SERVIANS ADMINISTER CHECK TO BULGARIANS AT OSTROVIE LAKE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, Aug. 30.—The French troops sent forward by Gen. Sarrail have made considerable progress in the Vardar region, on the Greek frontier. There has been severe fighting with the Bulgarian forces, who have attacked along the whole of the center of the Allied advance. They came in contact with the Servians at Ostrovie Lake and were repulsed with severe loss.

LONDON HEARS OF ROUMANIAN REPULSE

DEFEAT OF SMALL ROUMANIAN BODIES REPORTED FROM RED TOWER PASS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, Aug. 30.—It is reported here that the Roumanians have suffered a setback at the famous Red Tower pass in the Carpathians. This pass runs along the railroad to Hermannstadt. There was a sharp engagement between the Roumanians and the Austro-Hungarian border guard. The three important passes leading into Hungary will now be the scene of some desperate fighting. Should the Roumanians force them, their armies will speedily overrun the Hungarian plains.

ROUMANIANS FIGHT AUSTRO-HUNGARIANS

KING FERDINAND'S MEN ATTACK THREE PASSES IN MOUNTAINS OF HUNGARY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, Aug. 30.—Without waiting for the main body of the Roumanian troops to move to their assistance the advanced guards of Roumania joined battle with the Austro-Hungarian defenders of the important passes into Hungary. The fortifications on the boundaries are very strong. The positions at the Rothen-thurm pass are particularly well constructed. The Toerzburger pass was also attacked without result. Another body of Roumanians are advancing on the Toemoss pass near Predeal without making much impression. These, however, are merely outpost skirmishes.

GREECE FACES CABINET CRISIS

KING CONSTANTINE ADVISED THAT RUIN AWAITS HIS COUNTRY AND MEASURES MUST BE TAKEN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
ATHENS, Aug. 30.—The resignation of the Greek cabinet is awaited at any moment. The demonstration in front of King Constantine's palace has moved the king greatly. He is quite ill from the effects of a recent operation. The people who made the demonstration informed the king that if they were not heard they would take counsel as to what should be done to minimize the ruin ahead of the country. Former Premier Venizelos points to the manner in which the Bulgarians have broken their assurances and the traitorous conduct of the Greek-Teutonic general staff which has left the entire artillery of three army corps to fall into the hands of the Bulgarians.

PACKER AND DODGE LEAD PRIMARY TICKET

GLENDALE AND SOUTH PASADENA CANDIDATES WILL BE IN SUPERVISORIAL CONTEST AT NOVEMBER ELECTION. GLENDALE NEARLY SOLID FOR PACKER

STEPHEN C. PACKER

Glendale citizens and all of Stephen C. Packer's friends throughout the Fifth Supervisorial district are rejoicing today that he has been named as one of the two candidates who will make the race for Supervisor in the Fifth district next November. There were five candidates who entered the contest at the primary election. They were S. C. Packer of Glendale, W. A. Roberts of Highland Park, Jonathan S. Dodge of South Pasadena, John T. Wilson of San Fernando and E. H. Owen of Glendale. The primary law provides that the two candidates receiving the greatest number of votes at the primary election shall be the candidates to be voted on at the general election. The returns which are quite incomplete at the present writing show very conclusively that Mr. Packer and Mr. Dodge received the greatest number of votes. In Glendale the vote was: Packer, 1316; Dodge, 186; Wilson, 159; Roberts, 192; Owens, 53. The above vote shows that Glendale presented only one logical candidate. Mr. Packer's large vote in Glendale as compared with all the other candidates is indeed very flattering and is greatly appreciated by Mr. Packer who has been kept busy thanking his friends for their very liberal support and it is his purpose to so conduct his coming campaign and so serve the people elected Supervisor that those who voted for him at Tuesday's election will never regret having done so.

W. A. Roberts' Glendale workers deserve much praise for bringing out the large vote he received here. To receive 192 votes against 186 for Dodge and 159 for Wilson is sufficient proof that Mr. Roberts was the popular outside candidate. Had it not been for his connection with the Los Angeles City Council he probably would have been the winner in the district. Mr. Roberts has many friends in Glendale who would have been pleased to have supported him had they not thought it their duty to be loyal to Mr. Packer, their home candidate. However, Mr. Roberts has had the opportunity of getting before our people and at some future time when he asks support for some office we will be pleased to comply with his request.

John T. Wilson of San Fernando taking fourth place in the race for Supervisor does not mean at all that he is fourth man as to ability to fill the office. He was the last candidate to enter the race and many voters had made up their minds as to their favorite candidate for Supervisor before Mr. Wilson announced his candidacy. Mr. Wilson is the type of man that is necessary to agitate needed reforms. He speaks out plainly what he will do if elected to office and there is nobody doubts that he will do the very thing that he promises to do. But according to present conditions in politics there is a tendency to keep the man out of office who publicly speaks his mind. There are many good men who are not able to be elected to an office just because they tell the truth while campaigning and sometimes the truth hurts. The Glendale Evenings News always advocated that Mr. Wilson declared so emphatically what he would do when elected to office that he would be an unpopular candidate at the primaries but that did not mean that Mr. Wilson was not a good citizen or would not make a competent official.

Jonathan S. Dodge of South Pasadena was a fairly good vote-getter before the primaries. One of his strong points was to meet the people and ask for their support at the election. When it came to outlining his platform he was weak upon that subject and, in fact, ignored it when making addresses before public audiences. He preferred rather to relate his life history in an amusing manner and talk upon subjects entirely foreign from the business of the county, which, by the way, is what the people of this district want to know about. This story telling and descriptions of streams and trees will not satisfy the desires of an intelligent people from now until the November election. Mr. Dodge will be required to come out fairly and squarely upon all questions pertaining to the county's welfare and make clear to the voters just how he stands. It is a well known fact that both Mr. Dodge and Mr. Packer are both good, law-abiding citizens and will see that all measures for promoting good order and decency in the county are strictly enforced. The qualification of being graceful and an easy handshaker will not count among the business men and business women of the district. The ability to do business squarely and honestly with men will be one of the requirements of these candidates and we know that Mr. Packer stands strong in this respect.

The fact that South Pasadena and the Highland Park section has had a Supervisor from their part of the district for many years will offer a strong inducement for the people of the San Fernando Valley and the adjacent territory to give Mr. Packer undivided support. At this early stage of the campaign The Evening News kindly asks that the San Fernando Valley be allowed a representative at the next organization of the Board of Supervisors. Nothing unfair about this, is there?

DIES IN TEJUNGA CANYON

L. G. Scovern of the Scovern-Letton-Frey Undertaking Company was called up to the Little Tejunja Canyon this morning when a party of surveyors found the lifeless nude body of a man in the canyon about four miles from the San Fernando road. The remains were those of a young man named Booth. He was about twenty-four years of age and was recently honorably discharged from the United States Army. As far as can be learned his death was due to excessive drinking. The body is being held awaiting word from relatives.

VALUE OF INDIVIDUALITY

There is value in individuality. The individual who has no individuality is weak, inane and in nothing differs from a million others, who are as alike and think as much alike as the frogs in a pond. Individuality is a gift with some people. Some persons radiate individuality and because they do so they are often found antagonistic by persons who have no individuality. One can surround oneself with things that make up this individuality and stamp the person who is surrounded by them with the distinction of originality.

In a commonplace world originality is rare enough and much of the tendency of the age is to destroy individuality. It can easily be seen, however, that the real greatness of great men has invariably consisted in their being to a certain extent different from the multitude that surrounded them. You will find two individuals working side by side and yet the one does whatsoever his hand findeth to do with an original air and an original perfection that is as different from that of the commonplace individual party as day is from night.

It is small differences that make up the sum of the vast gulf that often separates individuals. It is the same with families. You will find two families living in the same vicinity, with similar incomes, similar homes and similar opportunities. The one family will be distinguished by fine qualities. Their house will be adorned with carefully cultivated vines. Their lawn will be carefully kept. Weeds will be eradicated. The walks will be in order and the sidewalk carefully cleaned.

"The other family will be just the opposite. Though with exactly the same opportunity there will be an air of untidiness in the grounds about the second house and the walks will be untidy and littered with articles of every kind. The grass will be growing over the lawn in a tangle of rank and unhealthy stalks. There will be grass between the interstices of the pavement; or the concrete will be pushed up and cracked by the roots of trees unskillfully and carelessly planted.

Inside the houses will be found similar differences. The rooms in one house will be beautifully clean and carefully swept and dusted. Everything will be in its place and there will be a place for everything. The girls of a well brought up family will leave a certain stamp on the rooms they use. That is individuality. The girls of another house will leave an atmosphere of untidiness. That is their individuality.

In two families not separated by the width of the street; where the parents have had equal opportunities and the children have been brought up and educated together there may still be such a difference as would make one wonder why such a gulf should exist. It is simply because in the one case the family was endowed with individuality of the right kind. The other with individuality of the wrong kind.

There are cases where people can say, "I am sure so-and-so was in this room; just see how everything has been thrown about." In another case it is possible to say, "Undoubtedly such a person was here; see how everything has been tidied up and put in its place." That is what it is to have a proper individuality. Your surroundings may not be ideal; but you can make them so by infusing into them the beauty that dwells in your own soul.

UNSELFISH WORK

There is the kind of work that is done without a grudge and that does not emanate from the sentiment "Does it pay?" That does not infer that in business it should not be inquired whether a certain method of conducting affairs pays or not. If a business does not pay it goes to the wall and its own goes into bankruptcy. It is essential to conduct a business on business principles. It is not necessary, however, for those who are working in this world to refer everything to the one criterion, "Does it pay?"

There are many things that are of the highest value that cannot be summed up in those words. There is a spirit in which people ought to work that alone can have endurance. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." It always pays anyone to do his or her best, under any circumstances. There is always a reward for unselfish labor. If it comes in nothing else it comes in the sense of having done one's work and of having done it faithfully and well.

There is something more to do than merely to do the minimum that is possible with which to get along. In school the student who is content with a pass is seldom or never the one who distinguishes himself or herself in the world. The unfortunate thing is that usually reflection and perception of this truth come too late. When the student has awakened up the time is past. The opportunity is gone. One moment this day stays with us, then like the snow-fall on the river it melts forever. Flitting like the aurora borealis race before you can point its place, this day, this year is fled and no power can recall it from the abyss of time.

"Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow;

SOUTH AMERICAN STYLES

By Margaret Mason

They say the two Americas, The South one and the North, Will get more chummy from now on; And so I've sallied forth To learn if we'll take tips from them Or we the tipsters be In fashion, drama, art and life, I've gone to sea to see.

ABOARD S. S. VERDI, BOUND FOR BAHIA, RIO DE JANEIRO AND BUENOS AIRES (By mail) Aug. 1.—With the closer union of North and South America, our getting together with our South American cousins, we in Oshkosh, Seattle, Miami, Buffalo and Topeka are much concerned.

The cracker barrel oracle at the corner grocery has settled the Mexican question and the European horror, but is a'fussed up over the interesting possibility of Brazilians and Argentinians and Chileans getting right pally with New Yorkers and Hoosiers and Kentuckians.

The dames in the Ventura Club are all agog about "Ross on South of Panama" and at Forty-second street and Broadway a discussion of the drama in Rio and Buenos Aires has "When I was with Sothern and Marlowe," pushed clear into the last trench. No wonder then that my woman's natural curiosity is awakened (not that it ever snoozes,) and that I have decided to see for myself or, in more expressive parlance, to give our South American cousins the once over before we get all chummed up.

Consequently I told the passport man my right name, the color of my hair in the original, the number of chins and the date of my birth—but why go further. Take it from me, you need a four season repertoire of clothes a bathing suit, a mackintosh and a bottle of Mothersils if you contemplate a brief trip down this way. Food for thought and also for the fishes is the necessity for Mothersils.

Heavy garments are essential because June, July and August are the winter months in Buenos Aires and brides and roses bloom contrariwise is December. Thin clothes are needed because Rio has a tropical climate, smuggling as it does just within the torrid zone. A mackintosh comes in handy because as you sail near the equator, where often the coolest weather of the trip is encountered, the showers are as frequent and fleeting as any of our April best.

As for the bathing suit, it is indispensable, first of all because of the advent on board of Neptune and his daughter, Aphrodite. They appear as the equator is crossed and initiate into the mysteries of Neptune's court, all those innocents who never have crossed the line before. They cross the line but they do not draw the line and no mere sex will gain you exemption from the rite. Neptune's vigilant police are no respecters of fine apparel and though you duck and run in all the grandeur of your festive togs, they trail you to your stateroom's lair and lead you to be ducked again.

'Tis a neat and simple service: You first say "howdy" to Neptune and Aphrodite. Aye, then comes the rub. You are smeared with a lather of flour and water and shaved by Neptune's own barber and then promptly ducked in the canvas swimming pool set up on the lower deck. After being duly ducked you are handed an elaborately engraved certificate signed by Neptune Rex, the skipper and divers lesser official lights, which entitles you to cross the equator unmolested for the rest of your days. I for one emerged strong for preparedness and convinced that a bathing suit in time saves nine-tenths of the wear of a salt water dip on a perfectly good dinner gown. Your bathing suit comes in handy yet again to be donned when masticating mangoes, which are purchased in great abundance and juiciness at Bahia, Brazil, the first port of call. When eating this tropical fruit you are bound to be covered both with embarrassment and mango.

And all our yesterdays have lighted fools the way to dusky death." One instant this day remains. We lay us down in peace to sleep the morrow comes and lo it is "today!" What we can do in our brief day is what we are worth, and that alone will remain unhurt amid the wreck of matter and the crash of worlds. There is an immortality in the accomplishments of the man or woman who is unselfish. Who is not always measuring out what he or she can do and giving scant or even exact measure. "Behold!" said the evil servant, to whom his master had given two talents, "behold thou hast thine own!" It is not enough to hide the talents God has given you in the ground and then to give back just such measure as you had received.

Whatsoever a man can do is his greatest accomplishment. To be faithful in little is to have earned the right to be a ruler over many things. There is no man who has done what he could who will not receive even in this world a measurable reward were it in nothing else than the satisfaction of having done his best in whatsoever circumstances he has been placed. In the development of soul that comes from such circumstances there is an additional reward. That is ours. It comes out of honest work, honestly done and is often to be found on narrow thresholds and among narrow circumstances.

GOOD LUCK SHOES

The custom of throwing a shoe after a departing bride and groom originated so far back in the dim and mystical past that the memory of man stretcheth not back to its beginning. It is by some thought to typify an assault, and is a lingering trace of the custom among savage nations of carrying away the bride by violence. Others claim that it has a likeness to a Jewish custom mentioned in the Bible. Thus in Ruth, when the kinsman of Boaz gave up his claim to the inheritance of Ruth, and to Ruth also, he indicated his assent by plucking off his shoe and giving it to Boaz. Also, we read in Deuteronomy that when the brother of a dead man refused to marry his widow, she asserted her independence of him by "loosing his shoe."—Exchange.

WHY SHE WAS QUALIFIED

"And have you had any experience with children?" inquired the woman who was about to engage a nurse. "Shure, Oi hov," returned the applicant with a broad smile; "wasn't Oi wan meself wanst?"

NIGHT-FLYING BIRDS

It is difficult to believe that at times during the season of migration the sky at night is filled with birds from dusk until dawn. Onward they hurry through the darkness. If they see the earth below, it must be too dim to guide them on their journey. Still, they find their way just as surely as do those birds which travel by day.

The day fliers are hardy rovers which are used to the open, and do not hesitate to venture far from cover. But the night-fliers are the shy, retiring birds of thickets and undergrowth, which rarely go far from their own doorstep. Or if they live in trees their flight is usually only from tree to tree. The thrushes, warblers, vireos, and small fly-catchers are all night fliers.

To boast of what we have done, for no reason except to gratify our vanity, is unworthy.

FOOTMEN OF OLDER TIMES

Few young people know the real meaning of the word "footman," inasmuch as in the present era such a servant has no duty suggestive of the name. The footman of today rides on the box with the driver, or is seated, rigidly erect, on a little backless seat behind, and it is his work to get down and open the door of the carriage or coach. But the footman of former days was really what the name implies. He was of the utmost importance and no heavy carriage could get along with him.

It was in England that the greatest number of footmen were found in olden times. The public roads of that country were not what the roads of today are; they were very poorly kept up, and in the rainy season, or, in fact, after an exceptionally heavy shower, the coaches had to be helped through the mud. As the driver had all that he could attend to in taking care of the horses and getting the most out of them by cautious driving, it fell upon the footman to do the work of getting the coach out of the mud.

Footmen were strong, robust men, who had the strength to keep pace with the coach by running by its side or behind it. When a mud hole was encountered the footmen would put their shoulders to the wheels and push with all their might to help the horses get it upon firm ground again. It goes without saying that they did not wear such finery as the footmen wear today; they dressed to suit their duties and not for show.

It did not take as much fast running as one would imagine to keep up with the coach in olden times, for the roads were so poor that it was thought to be pretty good driving if a coach made five miles an hour. But the coach sometimes accomplished fifteen, twenty or even twenty-five miles on a long trip, when the footman's strength was taxed to its utmost, especially if he had many mud holes to encounter, so in the choosing of a footman his physique had to be looked to.—Beatrice M. Parker, in Young People.

TROPICO TRUSTEES MEETING

The board of trustees of the city of Tropic met in regular session in the City Hall Tuesday evening at 7:30 with Trustees Alsbach, Boyce, Henry, Peters and Seal present; also City Engineer Wattles, City Health Officer Mabry, Street Superintendent Wasson and City Marshal Gould.

The minutes were read and with a few corrections ordered in were laid over until next meeting night for approval.

A communication was received from Allen H. Wright, secretary of the State Municipal League, stating that the ninth annual meeting of the league would be held at Visalia, beginning October 10, and asking that representatives from Tropic be present.

A communication was received from the State Compensation Insurance Bureau stating that they had received notice of the injury of J. W. Jones and the claim for same.

A communication was received from the State Railroad Commission asking for a report on the conditions of power lines, poles and other overhead and conduit wires in the city of Tropic.

A communication was received from E. Shillings, asking for thirty days' extension of time to complete the Adams street and Moore avenue contracts. The extension was granted.

A communication from Peter L. Ferry was received, giving his prices per day with various equipments for street repair work. The same was placed on file for reference.

At a former meeting the City Attorney was requested to look up the garbage contract and see if it contained any provision wherein the contract could be terminated. He reported that the contract was given from April 1, 1916, for one year and could only be cancelled for cause of neglect on the part of the garbage collector.

The City Attorney reported that he had drawn up a city ordinance regulating the auto bus traffic in Tropic, and the same was turned over to the board for its consideration at a later date.

The city street superintendent was instructed to place signs of Moore and Adams street prohibiting the use of these streets for heavy traffic until they were permanently set.

The ordinance establishing the budget and tax rate for the ensuing year was read and adopted.

The City Marshal was instructed to have the broken light standard at the corner of Tropic avenue and San Fernando boulevard replaced by the Keystone Iron Company with a new one, same design as others on that street.

The City Marshal reported that he had received $20 for the services of the engine and firemen on last Wednesday night at the Kalem Studio. On motion of Trustee Henry the marshal was instructed to divide the money among the fire boys.

The street superintendent was instructed to furnish a man two or three days to assist in cleaning off the public playgrounds.

Bids for the improvement of Acacia street between Central and Brand were opened and read. The following bids were received:

Peter L. Ferry—Macadamizing, per square foot, 4c; grading, per lineal foot, 40c; curb, per lineal foot, 25c; sidewalk, per square foot, 10c.

E. S. Groshong—Macadamizing, per square foot, 4c; grading, per lineal foot, 28c; curb, per lineal foot, 25c; sidewalk, per square foot, 10c.

The bids were referred to the City Engineer, who later reported that the bid of Mr. Peter L. Ferry totalled $2423.44; E. S. Groshong, $2327.68, and E. Shilling, $2228.98, and recommended that the bid of Mr. Shilling be accepted.

A resolution was then passed awarding the contract to E. Shilling. Trustee Seal moved to appoint Sam Brown for inspector of the work on Acacia street, but Mr. Brown was present and declined to accept the job. On motion of Trustee Henry Mr. Framm was chosen inspector for the work.

The following claims were followed and warrants ordered drawn for the payment of same:

- J. S. Ripley, $15.
- Tropico Sentinel, $27.94.
- League of California Municipalities, dues, $10.
- W. C. Wattles, $40.65.

MAKE THIS THE DAY

Make this the day! There is no gain in brooding over days to come; The message of today is plain, The future's lips are dumb, The work of yesterday is gone. O'Pr good or ill, let come what may But now we face another dawn —Make this the day.

The day is this! The time is now. No better hour was ever here— Who waits upon the here and now Remains for ever in the rear. Tho' yesterday were waster stuff Your feet may still seek out the way. Tomorrow is not soon enough —Make this the day.

NOTABLE COSTUMES

An interesting fashion exhibit is the collection of gowns worn by the wives of the Presidents, which has recently been gathered and placed in the National Museum at Washington. The display includes the costumes worn at inaugural balls by the first ladies of the land from Martha Washington to Mrs. Taft. They are arrayed upon figures made to resemble those of the ladies who first wore them, and all of the styles of hair dressing have also been preserved; the elaborate coiffures of Martha Washington and Mrs. Van Buren appears side by side with examples of modern hair dressing. Mrs. Taft was the first living Presidential lady to send a gown to the museum, and Mrs. Roosevelt contributed a flounce from the dress she wore at an inaugural ball. The dress worn by Mrs. Washington is an amazing thing to modern eyes. It is a light brown silk covered with a hand-painted trellis upon which are represented leaves, flowers and insects.

This steamship measured 2306 gross tons before she was altered and will be 2800 tons and 300 feet long when she leaves the dry dock.

SURVEYOR'S LAMP
E. G. Fisher of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey has designed an electric lamp run on a single dry cell battery which can be seen for more than 100 miles. It is to be used by surveyors in the mountains of Idaho and Oregon in making triangulation surveys. The lamp is believed to be sufficiently powerful to be used for observations even when ordinary haze or smoke is in the air. It is so comparatively light in weight that it can be transported with ease and carried up to regions in the mountains that are difficult of access.

THE INDIAN LANGUAGE

A white man who visits a foreign nation finds it hard, and sometimes impossible, to make his most ordinary wants known.

Should the Indian from northern Alaska go to Patagonia he could by means of this universal language converse with his southern brethren almost as easily as he could with his neighbors at home.

When this language was invented no one knows, says the Youth's Companion, but every Indian learns it in addition to his own.

This universal language is, of course, made up of signs. For example, if an Indian is passing through a strange country and sees other Indians at a distance he makes the "peace sign"; that is, he holds up his blanket by two corners so that it covers his whole figure.

Most white people think that the Indian word of greeting, "How," is merely the abbreviation of the question, "How are you?" But that is not so.

UNIQUE CAVE

The cave is located seven miles from Fresno, north on the State Highway. The beginning of the underground passageways was a little dug-out, started eight years ago.

Three of the rooms are completely furnished with living accommodations. The walls and floor are smooth and hard, as if cemented.

THE ORIGINAL JACK HORNER

"Little Jack Horner," the familiar nursery rhyme, had its origin in a real tragedy, according to the story that the London correspondent of the New York Sun tells:

"During the Reformation the head of Glastonbury Abbey, in the west of England, resolved to make his peace with Henry VIII, and, in token thereof, sent certain title-deeds of abbey property to the king at Whitehall.

"On the road Jack Horner became hungry, and came to the conclusion that it would be foolish to starve while he had a pie in his hands.

"When the deeds did not appear, the king charged the abbot with contumacy, and commanded that the unfortunate cleric should be hanged."

HAD TO SING

PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT CITY OF GLENDALE

Glendale was incorporated February, 1906, with a population of not to exceed eight hundred (800). The area of the original city was 2 1/4 square miles, and the assessed valuation at that time was $653,386.00.

The population of Glendale at the present time is eight thousand (8000), the present area of the city is 8 1/2 square miles and the assessed valuation is $4,952,680.00.

Building Department

The value of new buildings constructed during the year was $202,802.00. The business buildings erected are valued at $18,700.00.

There has been a steady growth throughout the year in the residence districts of the city, there being eighty-nine new residences built and in most instances these residences represent the establishment of new homes.

Police Department

A new system of police records has been installed during the year by which a detailed record is made of the activities of each member of the department and the extent and cost of each line of police service obtained.

The following report for the seventy-one days prior to July 1st, 1916, will indicate in a measure the activities of this department:

Table with 2 columns: Description of police activities and Total Cost. Includes items like 'Number of persons devoting all or part time to Police Service' and 'Average number of hours on duty of each officer per day'.

Table with 2 columns: Distribution of Time and Total Cost. Includes items like 'Patrolling', 'Investigating', 'In Court', 'At Desk', and 'Police Judge'.

Messages Received

Total number of messages received, 220. Public Service, 3; Street, 14; Forestry, 4; Health, 7; Police, 190; Miscellaneous, 3. Total number of messages investigated by Police, 132.

Arrests

Assault, 4; Disturbing the Peace, 3; Drunk and Disorderly, 5; Burglaries, 0; Theft, 3; Vagrancy, 6; Traffic, 4; Miscellaneous, 9; Total number of arrests, 34.

Police Department

Disposition

Dismissed, 6; Vagrants given orders to leave town, 6; Number of Court Complaints, 21; Number plead guilty, 6. Total number of convictions, 13; Cases not tried, 4. Total amount of fines paid, $74.00.

The best comment that might be made in regard to the morals of the city is to call attention in this connection to two items on this report. First: During these seventy-one days only five arrests were made for drunk and disorderly conduct.

While the members of the department have been very active in the discharge of their regular duties, most of the violations of the law reported have been of a very minor nature and the year has been marked by almost an entire absence of serious crime.

The appropriation for the Police Department for the coming year will permit the adding of two patrolmen to the force during the time from November 1st to April 1st, for the purpose of patrolling the residence districts of the city.

Fire Department

This department has given very good service with the equipment at hand, but fortunately it has had no very large fires to cope with during the year. Attention is again called to the very great necessity for the addition of a pumping engine to the equipment of this department.

During the past year this department has responded to sixty-one fire calls, five of these were false alarms. There were forty-one calls at which no damage took place. Thirty-one calls were grass fires, nine calls were outside of the city, four fires were in the business section, two fires were extinguished by means of chemical, eighteen were extinguished by water and twenty extinguished by means of chemical and water.

Health Department

"Glendale, California, July 25, 1916.

Mr. T. W. Watson, City Manager, Glendale, California. Dear Sir:

The sanitary conditions in Glendale have been very satisfactory during the past year. The ratio of contagious diseases to population has been very low as has been shown by the monthly reports.

Respectfully yours, (Signed) R. E. CHASE."

Under the supervision of the Health Officer and Milk Inspector, and with the co-operation of the dairies, the milk supply of our city has been very effectively safeguarded during the year.

The following report for the quarter ending June 30, 1916, will indicate something of the activities of the Milk Inspector:

- Number of inspections of dairies and milk depots, 67. Number of notices to clean up corrals, 20; stanchions, 4; milk houses, 6. Number of orders to provide sterilizers, 3; to use sterilizers, 5.

Forestry Department

Trees planted in street parkings usually have to grow under very unfavorable conditions and should have the very best of care if expected to flourish.
