

HAPPENINGS IN STATE

RED CROSS NURSE EXAMINATIONS—RAILROAD COMMISSION RENEWS HEARING

SACRAMENTO, Cal., August 22.—Nurses who seek to serve their country under the Red Cross on the French battlefields and in the base hospitals in this country, began taking examinations to-day to qualify for the positions. The examinations are being held in two cities, San Francisco and Los Angeles, under the direction of Miss Anna C. Jamme, director of the state bureau of registration of nurses. The examinations have no touch of sentimentality connected with them. Miss Jamme declares, but are rigid tests of the qualifications of the applicants for the rigors of war service.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., August 22.—The state railroad commission resumed its hearing of the Los Angeles union passenger and freight terminal case here to-day. The hearing was adjourned a short time ago after taking the testimony and hearing the arguments of the cities and civic organizations which are asking that a union terminal be built. At the hearing to-day the railroad companies and the Industrial Terminal Railway Company of Los Angeles are presenting their views of the situation.

FERNDALE, Cal., August 22.—The annual Humboldt County Fair and race meet, the latter as a member of the California Racing Circuit, opened here to-day with an attendance which surpassed all expectations. Four days of racing with California horses representing every section of the state competing, is the big feature. A total of $5000 in purses has been offered.

BERKELEY, August 20.—A course in salesmanship for the girls of the Berkeley high school, with their class-room work enhanced by actual experience in Berkeley department stores, is the latest innovation of the Berkeley system. Announcement of the plan brought forth a big response from the school girls, who came by the scores to ask registration in the class. During the week the course will include arithmetic, spelling, accounting and lectures on the psychology of salesmanship and on Saturdays the girls will do their "laboratory" work in the stores.

OAKLAND, Cal., August 22.—Investigations to determine whether Greek letter societies are flourishing among the students of the high schools in the east bay region, have been launched by the high school authorities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda. Alameda ended its investigation to-day with the announcement that the school is free from the "frats" and sororities which are under the ban of the state law. The investigations at the other schools have not been completed. "The Alameda school department will not for a moment tolerate this breach of the state law," was the declaration of C. J. DuFour, principal of the Alameda high school at the conclusion of his investigation.

ELECT G. A. R. OFFICERS

BOSTON, August 22.—The general business meeting and election of officers of the G. A. R. national reunion are scheduled for to-day.

This evening the Grand Campfire will take place in Mechanics Building. Trooping of the colors, a ceremony dear to the heart of every soldier, will be one of the features of the evening.

The principal speakers will be Governor McCall, Mayor Curley of Boston and William J. Patterson, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army. Others who will take prominent parts in the program are Senior Vice-Commander-in-Chief W. H. Weststead of Kansas City, Mo., and Junior Vice-Commander-in-Chief E. A. Russ of New Orleans, La.

HOUSES SCARCE IN GLENDALE

"More houses are occupied in Glendale than there have been in years," W. E. Borthick, of Borthick Bros., declared this morning. "We find it very difficult to secure houses for those who want to rent, and many of the applicants are from Los Angeles and other places.

"Real estate is looking up. The situation is wonderfully improved. If you had come in here ten days ago, I would not have been able to say that to you. But we have turned the corner; there are a good many inquiries from intending purchasers, and we are looking now for increased activity."

R. M. Jackson, another real estate man, confirmed the foregoing, and added that business was really better than is usually the case at this time of the year.

THE ELKS' BUILDING

FIRST STORY IN PROCESS OF CONSTRUCTION—READY FOR OCCUPANCY BY CHRISTMAS

When the Elks designed their new home, now in course of construction on Colorado street, they looked to comfort, convenience, to the features that spell the modern building for a fraternal organization. It will be a plastered exterior, with art-stone trim, and will have an air of dignity and repose; but the idea is concerned more with the interior than with that which will present itself to the outside. The exterior may suggest something of the spirit, as the richest natures convey little to the mind, and still less to the heart, with only an outside acquaintance. And the meaning of this is that you will have to be an Elk to know and to enjoy what they have to offer in their new quarters.

As mere details, the lodge, card, billiard and ladies' rooms will all be on the main floor, while the basement will be devoted to the band and drill team lockers, to the lobby, to the assembly and banquet rooms and to bowling alleys, and, in addition, to a completely equipped kitchen. The second and third floors will contain rooms that will be rented to members, some forty in all. These rooms will be revenue producers, and it is believed that most of them will be occupied.

The interior will be finished in hardwood, while the lodge room and lobbies will be done in ornamental plaster. The cornices will be chaste and elaborate. The fireplace in the lounging room will be done with bachelor tile, on which will appear the names of the members, who will thus be given permanent memorials. The work has so far progressed that it is now at the second story, and a large force of men is employed in order that the building may be completed in time.

The building, when completed, will have cost about $60,000; but even that conveys little besides so much money and a building presumably worth the expenditure. The value of the Elks' building will be in the scheme of finish and equipment; in the scheme of adjustment; in a comfort and convenience that will please the eye, and give the feeling of a home, more than of a club.

It is expected that the building will be completed and ready for occupancy by Christmas, and although it is too early to make arrangements at the present time, the house warming will be made an event in the annals of Elkdom.

NEW SUNSET BUILDING

So far as known at the office of Chas. W. Kent & Son, the contract for the new Sunset Telephone building has not been awarded yet. Mr. Kent went to San Francisco on Saturday to be present when the bids were opened at the office of the chief engineer, but no word had been received from him this morning, while at the same time they have been looking for his return.

The building will, in all respects, be an ornament to Glendale, as no expense is to be spared in making it thoroughly representative. So far as its character is concerned, it will be as representative a building of its kind as can be found in California. It will cost $45,000, be three stories high, and have a frontage of 50 feet at 425 South Brand boulevard. There will be much marble work inside, and the finishing will be decorative and tasteful. It will be absolutely fireproof; thirty-five tons or more of steel rods will be used in the construction, and the material used will be of the best grade throughout.

W. C. T. U. ANNUAL PICNIC

The City Union and West Glendale Union will unite in having their annual outing on Friday, August 24th, at the Southern California W. C. T. U. Home at Highland Park. They will go by auto truck at 25 cents each, return trip. It will start at 9:30 a. m. and will stop at the following places, starting at Pacific and Broadway; Central and Broadway; Brand and Broadway; Kenwood and Broadway; Glendale avenue and Broadway; Adams and Broadway, and the last stop will be Colorado and Verdugo Road. Please do not delay the truck. Be on time. Take plenty of lunch for two and a gift if you can, for the ladies of the Home are our guests.

NO ADDITIONAL DRAFT NEEDED

It was the opinion of the Exemption Board of the 7th district when the members adjourned Tuesday that it would not be necessary to call for an additional draft of men at present.

EXCURSION TRAIN WRECKED

TRAIN CROWDED WITH RETAIL GROCERS ON AN OUTING WRECKED NEAR TOLEDO, OHIO

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
TOLEDO, August 22.—An excursion train crowded with retail grocers, bound for Columbus for a day's outing, was wrecked near Lime City, 10 miles from here, on the Toledo Ohio Central. One dead and forty injured was the toll.

FAVOR WEALTH CONSCRIPTION

SENTIMENT IN FAVOR OF HIGHER INCOME AND WAR PROFIT TAXES GROWING IN SENATE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, August 22.—Further increase in war taxes not later than December was the forecast this afternoon by Senator Lodge, speaking on the pending war revenue bill. The Senate move for conscription of wealth found reinforcement of several Senators who favor higher income and war profit taxes. Senator Chamberlain, advocate of youth conscription, swung over to the conscription of wealth. Senator Borah is to assault the bill on the ground that it leaves wealthy men to fatten on the profits of the slaughter of Americans. The poll shows 36 for the tax on wealth, 42 against, and 15 doubtful.

Before the war ends it will be necessary to take 60, perhaps 80, per cent. of war profits, Lodge declared, but defended the bill as it now stands. Lodge also sounded the note in the Senate that is now increasing in volume. "No peace without complete victory for America and her Allies is possible," he said.

GERMAN CHANCELLOR'S SPEECH

DECLARES THAT TEUTONS AT PRESENT DO NOT DESIRE PEACE IN VIEW OF ENEMY'S EVIDENT WAR AIMS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
AMSTERDAM, August 22.—Berlin sees no present hope of peace, despite the Pope's proposal. This was indicated by Chancellor Michaelis in a speech to the Reichstag when he said: "The enemy's war aim proves the desire to annihilate Germany; therefore at present we desire no peace."

AEROPLANES RAID ENGLAND

GERMANS AGAIN ATTACKED ENGLAND FROM THE AIR USING AIR SHIPS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MONTHS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, August 22.—Ten enemy aeroplanes raided England and dropped bombs on Dover and Margate at 10:25 this morning. Two flyers were brought down. Also for the first time in months Germany has used airships in another raid last night off the Yorkshire coast and attacked points near the mouth of the River Humber, dropping bombs and then making off towards the sea. At London late this afternoon the casualties as summarized show 11 killed and 13 injured. Considerable damage was done to property.

VIOLENT FIGHTING AROUND LENS

BRITISH RESUME DRIVE BETWEEN LANGEMARCK AND FREYENBERG IN SPITE OF VIOLENT OPPOSITION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN THE FIELD, August 22.—The British have resumed the drive between Langemarck and Freyenberg. Violent fighting is in progress. Furious German counter attacks failed to dent the new advanced line near Lens, nor did the bitter enemy resistance stop the continued advance north of this city.

AUSTRIAN LOSSES HEAVY

ITALIAN ADVANCE HAS SWEEPED THE ENEMY FROM FIVE VILLAGES WITH HEAVY TOLL OF CASUALTIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY IN THE FIELD, August 22.—The Austrian toll of casualties is continued in the Italian advance and has reached 35,000 dead and wounded, according to head-quarter's estimates. The Italians have swept the enemy from five villages, which they found in ruins.

REPLY TO POPE

PRESIDENT WILSON NOW FRAMING REPLY TO POPE'S DOCUMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, August 22.—The president began to-day to frame a reply to the Pope. Regard to whether the Pope's document was inspired by Austria or advocated by purely neutral persons does not affect the fundamentals for which the United States is fighting, is the opinion here.

TAILOR MAKES THE MAN

SHERMAN IS IN TOWN READY TO MAKE MEN—AND WOMEN

In these days, perhaps more than at any other time, it is the tailor that makes the man—and the woman. And to make a man or a woman now requires the dual gift of the artist and the psychologist.

Sherman, who has just come to town, is a tailor, and to hear him talk about tailoring and fabrics and so forth, you would think he lived for nothing but to make clothes, and clothes that made the man, at least that would make you think he was and inspire your respect and confidence accordingly.

Sherman does not come down from war times. He is not a warrior; he is a tailor and that surely is plenty if he can furnish men and women who give the appearance its highest mark—the mark of distinction. Any husky may be a soldier, but a tailor's a tailor and, like the poet, he is born not made. But ambition helps a lot and Sherman also has the ambition. Talk to him five minutes and you will find that out. With him, clothes means the salvation of the race, the civilization that makes for greatness and glory. Draws rather a long bow, to be sure, but that's how it should be. He maybe talks through his hat about things but that's all of a piece with a well-directed ambition. If Sherman didn't believe that tailoring was just the thing that meant progress, he wouldn't be the tailor he is. If you saw him you would think he was a millionaire, a "dook," or a regenerated German junker. Any way he looks the ticket,—and that's how he makes you look.

It won't be necessary to go to Los Angeles for distinction; Sherman's the man. His place is at the corner of Broadway and Maryland and even the place has a distinction that talks.

P. E. TRAFFIC QUESTION

General Superintendent F. L. Annable and Division Superintendent A. C. Bradley, of the Pacific Electric, visited Glendale yesterday to look into the matter of the handling of traffic at Brand boulevard and Broadway, with a view to working out a plan to obviate some little confusion that now exists among passengers with regard to outbound cars. The adjustments recently made with regard to inbound cars are said to be working satisfactorily.

SAMUEL PARKER'S GUESTS

Among recent callers on Samuel Parker were Mrs. Miranda Boyle and Mrs. Albert Shirley. These ladies fairly represented two pioneer families with a record of over a half century residence in Marshall county, Illinois, where older members of the families had known Mr. Parker ever since the 60s. Mrs. Shirley has lived on the Coast for several years, now at Sawtelle. Mrs. Doyle, a tourist, resides at Henry, Illinois, but glad to meet and greet out here any of any age or sex. The ladies were piloted to ideal Glendale by Mrs. R. L. Vivian, wife of a minister of that name who was pastor of the Methodist Church at Henry for four years, now living in Los Angeles. How strange and subtle the "ties that bind."

POPULARITY OF SADDLE HORSE

The automobile has not yet superseded the horse and saddle, if it ever will. The day of the equine is not over. So at least is the judgment of John Shelby, of Los Angeles, and Mr. Shelby ought to know. He has acquired the old Glendale Livery property at 328 Glendale avenue and is reconstructing it for a riding academy. The building is being remodeled for academy purposes, and Mr. Shelby hopes to be able to open soon. He began the work of remodeling only a week ago, and he already has demands for the horse and saddle.

ELECTRIC SIGN

John Fanset, proprietor of the Fanset Dye Works, at 1108 West Broadway, Glendale, has had a large electric sign placed in front of his place of business. The word cleaning appears in large letters in a horizontal position. Below this word in smaller letters are the words Fanset Dye Works, none better.

RED CROSS MEETING

The executive board of the Glendale Chapter of the Red Cross met at the home of the chairman, J. H. Braly, Tuesday evening. A full report of the meeting will be published in to-morrow's issue of the Evening News.

BEAUTIFUL PAGEANT

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HONOR MR. AND MRS. GAMMON

The missionary spirit which is so strongly characteristic of the First Presbyterian Church of Glendale was visualized Tuesday afternoon in a beautiful pageant given by the various missionary societies and their branches in honor of Rev. George Gammon and Mrs. Helen Smith Gammon. Mrs. Gammon, better known as Helen Smith, is a missionary from Nanking, China, to the support of whose work the Presbyterian Church of this place has largely contributed, and it was a great disappointment that Mrs. Gammon was unable to be present on account of a recent attack of ptomaine poisoning. Other honored guests were Miss Edna Lowe, of Canton, China, accompanied by Miss Daisy Law, a young Chinese girl.

A most interesting program was given in the afternoon. After devotional exercises led by Rev. Gammon a splendid report by Miss Marie Maier and Miss Mary Wilkin of the Presbyterian Young People's Bible conference, to which they went as delegates, was heard.

The Little Light Bearers, in charge of Mrs. Roy D. King, assisted by Miss Margaret Nichols and Miss Elizabeth Edmonds, presented the first part of the program in a manner which delighted the large audience. The Missionary Months were presented by fourteen little light bearers in costumes of the various countries, heralded by a diminutive Father Time who, at the close of the little exercise, turned the months around and the letters on their backs read "Over Sea and Land," the title of their missionary magazine. A charade of five acts by the Light Bearers was given to be guessed and the answer was the name and address of a well-known missionary. This proved to be the guest of honor and the answer read Mrs. Helen Smith Gammon, Nanking, China. Miss Elizabeth Edmonds gave two piano numbers and little Mabel Harrison sang a solo, both in a very pleasing way.

A missionary drama, "Two Masters," under the able direction of Miss Winnie Sinclair was presented most interestingly by the following young ladies: Miss Olive Taylor, Miss Margaret Nichols, Miss Helen Wallace, Miss Mary Wilkins, Miss Mildred McKee, Miss Ruth Hall, Miss Evangeline Quackenbush and Miss Winnie Sinclair.

The decorations were in charge of Mrs. Reid Fulkman, Mrs. A. N. Richardson, Mrs. T. D. Ogg, Mrs. P. E. Maxwell and Mrs. Henry Lawrence.

The committee in charge of the tables was Mrs. J. J. Davis and Mrs. Ed Stafford. The church was strung with electric bulbs, veiled with Chinese lanterns and the favors were Chinese place cards and tiny Chinese lanterns. Incense burned during the repast. The table was further adorned by beautiful September lilies.

Miss Edna Lowe of Canton, China, presented her student, Miss Daisy Law, a young Chinese girl, who spoke in Chinese, which was interpreted by Miss Lowe. Miss Law also sang. The evening closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie" and the Mizpah.

RED CROSS NEW QUARTERS

At a meeting of the executive committee of the American Red Cross chapter of Glendale Tuesday evening it was decided to lease for headquarters, the rooms formerly occupied by the Glane tailoring establishment at 906 W. Broadway. Chairman Braly advised that these rooms be furnished in a suitable manner and kept in neat condition.

SANTA MONICA ELECTION

Just as we go to press the news comes from Santa Monica that the anti-annexation faction is winning at the election. Shall Santa Monica annex to Los Angeles? The count of the ballots after the polls are closed will tell the whole story truthfully.

TRAINING CAMP FOR ARMY BAKER

NEW YORK, August 22.—Army bakeries for troops in training here are to be established at Gettysburg, Pa.; Washington; Syracuse, N. Y.; and Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., by the quartermaster's department. Capt. John C. Pegram is enlisting 1010 bakers. There will be a total of 10 bakeries. Later big army bread factories will be placed along the American lines of communication in France.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1917

ROCKFORD, ILLINOIS, LEADING IN CONSTRUCTION

Illinois will lead the nation in its irresistible march to wrest world freedom, according to the latest construction reports issued to cantonments by the war department. With nearly six hundred of the twelve hundred camp buildings completed and well under way, Major D. H. Sawyer and his loyal working army, now numbering 7,900 men, have received a new impetus in the last lap of the construction race through the hearty approval given Camp Grant by Major Peter Washington. The Major after a detailed inspection of Camp Grant and a twelve hour conference with heads of departments, declared that although two weeks behind many cantonments in the beginning of work, the Illinois division city stands in the first division at present and is certain to reach completion ahead of the sixteen national cantonments if the present schedule is carried through.

Featured in the building operations at present is a handsome plaza to head the mile-long parade ground. Work on this plot is being directed by E. H. Bennett, supervising architect whose army city plan has been carried out in detail. A mammoth statue of General Grant will be framed in flowers and shrubbery to lend a touch of color to the somber military surroundings. The center of attack in camp has been shifted to rushing through the remount station, a unit including eighty-five acres, where the twelve thousand horses and mules ordered for cantonment use, will be cared for. A veterinary hospital, blacksmith shop, training building, stables, graneries and other facilities are being pushed to receive the first consignment of animals. A field bakery is under construction to include six buildings and three continuous ovens, each with four thousand loaves of bread a day capacity. Two companies of each army cooks will be trained here under expert chefs. Hospital, artillery, and headquarters units are forging ahead. Thirteen miles of rock roads with macadam coating are nearly completed and the camp water supply system is ready for service.

The guard now protecting Camp Grant in twelve hour reliefs now number three hundred men and precautions against fire and enemy mischief have been redoubled. Sheriff Guy Ginders has detailed three mounted deputies, equipped with carbine, revolver and field uniform, to patrol the camp day and night. A proof of the loyalty among men in the construction army is held in the fact that only five workmen have been arrested to date for failure to report for draft examination. Temporary exemption has been awarded cantonment workmen by order of the war department until the close of the construction period.—Morrison, Ill. Whiteside Sentinel.

CANNING FRUITS BY COLD PACK METHOD

Sugar is not necessary for the preservation of fruit. The University of California College of Agriculture, recommends the following methods:

Select fruit which is as ripe as possible so that it will have maximum quantity of its own sugar. Prepare by pitting or peeling as the case requires and pack into jars or cans. Fill the jars or cans with boiling water. Sterilize the fruit as follows: Place the rubbers and caps on the jars loosely. Place a screen or other false bottom in a washboiler. Set the jars of fruit on this false bottom and add water to the washboiler to about one half the height of the jars. If only a few jars are to be sterilized, a large pot may be used. Heat the water to boiling and keep at boiling for twenty minutes. Remove the jars or cans and seal at once. If the fruit is not sweet enough when it is opened for the table, sugar may be added. The mixture of sugar and fruit is improved by a second cooking after the jars are opened. Many fruits, however, if picked when thoroughly ripe can be used without further sweetening.

With Sugar—Prepare a syrup of one cup of sugar to three cups of water for ordinary canning purpose. If a preserve is to be made use one cup of sugar to one cup of water. Pack fruits in jars and fill with the hot syrup and sterilize as in the first method described above.

A TIME TO SAVE

There is only one thing certain about the financial and commercial conditions that peace is going to bring and that is their uncertainty. It may be that an era of great prosperity may be upon us; it may be an era of stagnation; it may be an era of the severest competition we have ever experienced.

It involves a paradox, but in this present time of comparative commercial peace, for the great war has largely stopped for a time the struggle among nations for foreign commerce, it is a wise thing to prepare for the economic war that will succeed the present world-wide war.

It is well for every American citizen to lay aside in some absolutely safe security something for that day that is coming. If it be great prosperity one will be able to take advantage of it. If it be stagnation one will be enabled to live through it. If it be a bitter competition one will be better able to withstand it.

No better provision could be made for the future than an investment in Liberty Loan Bonds. They are absolutely safe and no possible condition can destroy their value; exempt from all taxation except estate or inheritance taxes the income from them cannot be lessened; with a market everywhere in the United States and, as competent financial authorities assert, a market in every commercial center in the world when peace comes, they will be readily convertible into cash. They possess all of the elements that would attract a sound investing mind in times of uncertainty.

More than that an American citizen investing in Liberty Loan Bonds is investing in victory, for the proceeds of the Liberty Loan Bonds are to win the war and bring peace in Europe and peace and safety to the rest of the world.

VALUE OF A VACATION

In these vacation days, when we seek the beaches and the mountains, the solitudes that are far from the madding crowd, it is not merely that we may rest from our usual occupation and only mark the passage of time, but that we may encourage the mood, from time to time, of quietly reflecting on the things that visit our serious moments, but to which we can give no consecutive thought in the rush and stress of our daily life.

To enjoy a vacation is not to be idle, mentally, nor is it the way to make it profitable. There is no such thing as idleness, in the sense of inaction; movement is everywhere and at all times in the mental as well as in the material realm, and our thoughts are either leading us or we are leading them, and in our vacation, when the former is apt to be more common than the latter, is the time above all to take our thoughts in hand; to look at the subjects that fit in and out of the mind, the subjects that deal with the serious affairs of life, that come to all of us more or less, as we try to keep step with the procession.

It need not be made an occupation that becomes so serious that it is distasteful; but rather as an inviting avocation. That has certain values for you. That mean something to you. That some day you may have to address yourself to, whether you would or not.

Not many of us in the usual whirligig can devote much of our time to the subjects that are of the greater importance to us, and so we leave them until we have the leisure, but the leisure never comes, and when we take a vacation—those of us who are fortunate enough to be able to take one—these subjects are pushed still farther from our thoughts.

But this is the time above all others to leisurely glimpse them, to try to come to some conclusion, in the light of authority and experience, to make it rather a pleasure than a toil or a task, for as a toil or a task, you could not think at all.

It is not in the rushing, heedless world that we think the thoughts that are things, but in the silence and grandeur of nature; in the thunder of the sea along the shore, in the voice in the heavens when the lightnings flash, as in ocean's lapping murmur, as in the whisperings of the forest.

We have our serious moments, all of us, and the time to bring them to the mark is during vacation and so make it doubly profitable.

ORGANIZE FARM BUREAUS

One of the greatest needs of the present war, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, is the effective organization of agricultural forces. The department advocates the formation of county farm bureaus as an effective means of securing needed local organization.

The county farm bureau, says the department, helps to unify the efforts of existing farmers' organizations and to strengthen their work. The bureau is likened to a rural chamber of agriculture, corresponding in many of its functions to a city chamber of commerce. The farm bureau grew out of a similar need for effective agricultural organization to meet rural problems, and it has been described as organized self-help. It started as an outgrowth of the work done by the county agricultural agents, but it has become the local federating agency through which groups of rural people may find expression.

The farm-bureau plan, as seen by the United States Department of Agriculture, provides for a representative membership, with committees and a county council. The membership should be general over the county, and at least four-fifths of it should be made up of active farmers. Those who are interested in either the formation or the development of a farm bureau should write to the extension director at the State agriculture college and secure advice as to how to proceed.

HOW A LANGUAGE GROWS

A language, like a human being, grows year by year. New inventions, new discoveries, and new ideas demand new words to fit them. The English language produces nearly 1,000 words every year.

In the year 1615 a complete English dictionary was published. It contained 5,018 words, and would not be reckoned very complete to-day. Johnson's dictionary was published in 1755, and contained 50,000 words. The first edition of Webster's dictionary was issued in 1830, and contained 160,000 words. But in 1894 the Standard dictionary had grown to 318,000 words. The next edition, it is said, will contain 450,000 words. A big spelling-book that!—Exchange.

LEARNING MANY NEW THINGS

The men and women of the United States are learning many new things this year that they were unable to learn in high schools and colleges and even at the country debating society. They have learned that the President of the United States and Congress claim the right to call American soldiers to any part of the world, and that it is not a question that is left to the masses of the people.

THE WALNUT CROP

LOSS THROUGH SUNBURN FAR LESS THAN AT FIRST ANTICIPATED

That 15,000 tons will be this season's walnut crop in California is the report of the California Walnut Growers' association, says the Whittier News. This will be an increase of more than fifteen per cent. over last year's crop.

The report was based on the survey by the association, following the recent sunburn. The loss through sunburn was declared to be far less than had been at first feared, while the increase of new bearing trees further aided in bringing in an increased crop.

The July heat wave hurt the walnut crop considerably, but not nearly so much as the 50 per cent. loss, which was the earlier estimate.

Four Southern California counties—Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Ventura and Orange—will furnish 45 per cent. of the entire nation's walnut supply.

The losses by sunburn were estimated as follows: Santa Barbara county, 8 per cent. Ventura county, 15 to 20 per cent. Orange county, about 35 per cent.

Following his inspection of field reports covering the entire walnut district, W. T. Webber, secretary and assistant manager of the association, stated that the California crop this year will certainly exceed the 1916 figures, due to the much greater number of bearing trees and the increased yield of trees which have not yet reached their full bearing stage. He thought the increase might be 20 per cent. and declared that it was certain to be at least 15 per cent.

"We shall have a 15,000-ton yield," he predicted. "Last year the average netted about 14½ cents to the grower. What the price will be this year can not yet be foretold. "Walnuts will bring more money to California growers this year than ever before. That is because of the heavy setting—the fact that we have more of them."

SIX TOMATO RECIPES

Tomato Leather

When fruit jars were not as plentiful as they are to-day the housekeepers were experts in the art of drying fruits and one almost forgotten article was "tomato leather" or paste, and was used for soups, or any recipe calling for tomato flavoring, as it dissolves easily by soaking in warm water.

Blanch and peel tomatoes, cook without water until thoroughly soft; rub through fine colander to exclude seeds. Cook over slow fire to a stiff paste, then finish evaporation by putting in thin layers in shallow pan and set in strong sunlight until it forms a leathery substance. A variation may be had by adding an onion, head of celery and bell peppers to the tomatoes while cooking. It is easily stored by lining tin cans such as coffee or baking powder cans with oiled paper and keeping covers on tight.

If a cup of finely mashed, cooked tomatoes is added to the gravy for your breaded chops or cutlets you will find it a most appetizing combination.

The raw tomato eaten with only a little salt as dressing is an excellent throat remedy, having been known to cure a rather stubborn case of tonsillitis.

recipes, a simple one being as follows:

Four large ripe tomatoes or one-half can. Cook until well mashed. Add 1 cup of thick white sauce, with salt, pepper and onion, salt to taste. Instead of the white sauce, a half cup bread crumbs and half cup condensed milk may be used. One green pepper chopped fine also gives variety. A substantial luncheon dish may be made by boiling 1 cup rice and four pared and chopped tomatoes for about twenty minutes. Season with salt, one dessert spoon sugar and small lump butter.

This is also a good recipe to use up cold boiled rice. Add rice when tomatoes are almost cooked done.—Hollywood Citizen.

SPANISH UNREST EXPLAINED

MADRID, August 3 (By Mail)—The movement of unrest which has been making itself more and more felt in Spain during the last two months, is due to three factors: the agitation in military circles, the discontent of the democratic party (which includes socialists, republicans and reformists), and the unrest of the working classes, due to the privations of the economic crisis.

The dissatisfaction in the army is due to what is held to be favoritism, certain officers receiving advancement through court influence. It is claimed by the Officers' Committees that the King is aiming to form a personal party in the army on which he can rely for events. A second reason for discontent is the insufficiency of officers' pay and the need for technical reorganization in the army.

As important is the agitation of the democratic group, which is daily growing more dissatisfied with the government's attitude towards the belligerents and lack of firmness with regard to the Central Empires. This group which comprises the various anti-constitutional parties and has been supporting the government, forms what is called the "Block of the Left," is working with combined energies to give Spanish neutrality a frankly Ententeophile character. One of the ends in view is a diplomatic rupture with the Central Empire, the pretext for which would be the German submarine exploits against Spanish shipping.

The third factor, the unrest in the working classes, is entirely due to the economic crisis. Sympathy for one or the other group of belligerents varies according to the different regions.

The main object of the democratic party is, to turn both the military and the proletarian movements to their own benefit, by co-ordinating them and giving them a common direction.

As regards the military malcontents, this appears quite feasible, in view of the fact that so far the army has concerned itself very little with the actual form of the government. Therefore if the "Block of the Left" can persuade the dissatisfied elements that their aims are shared by the democratic group, they will not hesitate to make common cause with them.

The democratic group is likewise counting on turning the labor unrest to its advantage. If a general strike is proclaimed, which seems quite likely, and another cabinet crisis is the result, the workmen will not object if the radical party gains the upper hand in the government. This party is therefore watching intently every phase of the labor unrest, as well as the development of the military movement, ready to exploit both whenever the occasion offers itself.

On the other hand the declaration signed by the leaders of the three political parties which fused to form the "Block of the Left" leaves no doubt that this group contemplates vigorous action, even independently of the Army and Labor movements.

SMALL GARDENS

The Los Angeles County Council of Defense recommends for all inexperienced gardeners that they restrict their efforts to a plot of ground 20x20 feet or its equivalent, 400 square feet. Some of the reasons for the establishment of this unit follow:

(1) Proper care can be given to this amount of ground by devoting to it one-half hour a day. This makes it possible for all persons engaged in other occupations, and for all school children to do their "bit."

(2) It gives a standard for results and enables comparison between competitors as to what they can get within a year out of this small plot of land.

(3) Experience proves that an amateur gardener will get very much more out of 400 square feet than out of several times that amount of ground.

(4) If all the elementary school children in Los Angeles county cultivated for one-half hour a day efficiently, 400 square feet of ground they could raise 25,000 tons of potatoes, 7,500 tons of onions, 7,500 tons of carrots, 20,000,000 heads of lettuce, 15,000,000 heads of cabbage and a proportional amount of other small vegetables.

AMERICAN AND FRENCH SAILORS FRATERNIZE AT AMERICAN PORT

AN ATLANTIC PORT, August 22. American and French sailors do not wait until they arrive in France to fraternize. The French tars are here with French ships lying in the harbor, while American sailors by the thousands are at a navy yard nearby.

Residents witnessed a novel sight recently. Four of Uncle Sam's sailors and four from France paraded the main thoroughfare on a sight-seeing tour. The men were paired and each man wound his arm about the other's waist.

Pals they were despite the fact that they could not understand each other's language. Apparently it made no difference. Hundreds turned to watch them and momentarily reflect, perhaps, on the significance of the comradeship.

Lady—"You look robust. Are you equal to the task of sawing wood?"
Tramp—"Equal isn't the word, mum. I'm superior to it. Good morning."—Wasp.

THE POLITICAL AND MILITARY SITUATION IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Canada, August 22.—Canada is facing its first crisis since the opening of the European war.

A general election is to be called by Premier Borden within the next few weeks for early in the fall. The life of the present Conservative government expires on October 7th. This will be the first opportunity the people of Canada have had to pass upon the war policies of the Borden government since the Dominion plunged into the great conflict.

The government—has been split wide open on the issue of conscription. British Canada, generally speaking, supports conscription. French Canada is almost solidly opposed. The bitterest and most exciting political campaign in Dominion history is in prospect. Upon the result, depends the continuance in power of the present Conservative government and the enforcement of the compulsory military service act.

Leading the Liberal opposition is Sir Wilfrid Laurier, ex-premier and the idol of the French-Canadians of the province of Quebec. A brilliant speaker and a masterly politician, Laurier is bending every effort to bring to his standard all the elements in Canada disaffected with the Borden regime.

Already however he has had to face the refusal of twenty-two non-French-Canadian Liberals in the House from Ontario and the western provinces to follow him in his anti-conscription battle. What strength those conscriptionist Liberal party "belters" can take with them to the polls has become one of the big question marks of the campaign. In its answer may lie the final decision. On the part of the Conservatives they have had to face minor but very significant desertions from French-Canadian Conservatives.

Canada has 406,000 enlisted men. Her over-seas force is made up of five divisions. Four of these are in France and one is held in England as a reserve division. Since the desperate, bloody day at Vimy ridge, heavy drafts have been made on this reserve. Canada must provide more men or soon Dominion troops will be left without reserve. This would mean the elimination of Canada as a fighting factor at the front. Canada must raise 100,000 more men and do it quick.

Voluntary recruiting is a thing of the past. Canada has no great wealth of man power. Eight million people is her top. Already the 400,000 men who so freely gave themselves to service have seriously tightened the labor market in places. Farmers are in straits for help. In many cities clerks and municipal employees are given half holidays from their regular employment in order that they may go into the fields. This shortage is emphasized by the anti-conscriptionists. Conservatives declare there are hundreds of "slackers" in the cities who could be spared and assert that these are the men they want to get too under the law.

Intricate as is this problem alone, it is intermixed with the racial question, an alien enemy tangle, a tremendously difficult financial situation, involving the nationalization of 7,000 miles of railroad and millions of dollars in advances to others, and a line of hoary but still virulent political animosities, which stirred together offer the Canadian voter a political salad unlike anything previous in his entire political experience.

The next few weeks will see stirring times across the border.

A 300-MILE HOTEL

The next time you read your newspapers, glance again at the map of the west front. Follow the line that begins on the channel above Calais, turning southeast above Ypres and ending in the passes of the Vosges in Alsace; then think of it in this way: On the dunes you can enter a ditch that has been dug across Europe from the English Channel to Mulhausen. You can walk about three hundred miles under ground, eat three meals a day, and sleep on officers' cots without once having to expose yourself in the open. You will realize—as you see second, third, and fourth trenches parallel and connecting by labyrinthine passages—that the labor of excavating would dig a dozen subways. The Catskill Aqueduct, the Chicago subway, the irrigated desert lands of our West seem inadequate for comparison. Not from the standpoint of engineering skill; more than that. You think of this ditch in terms of the Panama Canal and the Great Wall of China. It is a work of heroic proportions, for it has been dug under constant fire. And it is only a detail of this war.—The Christian Herald.

Doctor—"What? Troubled with sleeplessness? Eat something before going to bed."

Patient—"Why, doctor, you once told me never to eat anything before going to bed."

Doctor (with dignity)—"Pooh, pooh! That was last January. Science has made enormous strides since then."—Tit-Bits.

Pat—"Could yer give a man a job, yer honor?"

Barber—"Well, can you repaint this pole for me?"

Pat—"Bejapers, I can, sir, if you'll tell me where to buy the striped paint."—Punch.

CANNING OF VEGETABLES BY THE "LEMON JUICE METHOD"

By W. V. Cruess, Assistant Professor of Zoology in the University of California.

Vegetables are very difficult to sterilize because of their composition and because they contain bacteria that are very resistant to heat. Most vegetables are deficient in acid. This makes it very hard to kill these heat resistant bacteria. If we add any harmless fruit acid, such as the acid of lemon juice, or vinegar, the vegetables become as easily sterilized as are fruits. The following method recommended by the University of California College of Agriculture, may be successfully used in the household. This method makes it possible to sterilize vegetables in one sterilization without the use of a pressure cooker.

String Beans:

Prepare a brine consisting of three ounces of salt and six ounces of lemon juice to the gallon of water. String the beans and break into proper lengths for cooking. Pack them into jars or cans. Fill the containers with the brine described above. Place the rubbers and caps on the jars loosely, but do not screw down the caps. Sterilize as follows: Place a screen or cloth or other false bottom and fill the container with water to within about one-half of the height of the jars. Heat the water to boiling and boil for about two hours. Seal the jars at once.

Peas:

Peas may be canned in the same way as described for string beans.

Asparagus:

Asparagus may be canned in the same way as described for string beans, but in this case the amount of lemon juice may be reduced to 4 ounces to the gallon.

Corn:

Corn is very difficult to sterilize. In this case, 8 ounces of lemon juice is used to the gallon and the corn must be sterilized for 2½ hours. The amount of salt is three ounces to the gallon.

Tomatoes:

Tomatoes contain enough acid of their own to make them easily sterilized and therefore no lemon juice need be added to the tomatoes. They are packed into jars, the jars are filled with tomato pulp or juice, and sterilized for one hour in the wash boiler sterilizer.

Other Vegetables:

Other vegetables, such as carrots, beets, turnips, etc., may be sterilized in a brine consisting of 5 ounces of lemon juice, 3 ounces of salt to the gallon, followed by sterilizing in boiling water for 1½ hours.

Use of Vinegar:

Where vinegar is used, use 1½ times as much as recommended for lemon juice; that is to say, if 6 ounces of lemon juice is recommended, use 9 ounces of vinegar, should vinegar be used instead of lemon juice. Vinegar gives as good results as lemon juice when used in this proportion.

WASTING FOOD AT THE SOURCE

In the domestic economy of the world onions are not as important as wheat, yet this ingredient of soup and stew was important enough last winter to bring about riots in the poorer quarters of New York and Philadelphia. Six months after these onion riots part of the new crop was left to rot in the California soil because the grower could not sell the produce for enough to pay the harvesting charges.

The potato is an indispensable necessity; hungry Europe can and will joyfully consume every pound America can spare. Yet many tons of potatoes have gone to waste this summer on California farms, many more tons will go to waste on the farms of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Colorado and Montana, will be fed to the hogs or left to spoil unless somebody somewhere pushes a button and starts something.

If a food dictator has the power to pay the farmer a living price for his product, if he is authorized to buy Far Western potatoes now at a reasonable price that will leave the farmer a fair profit, if he can store these potatoes and sell at a reasonable price next January when the world's floating ribs begin to show, then by all means let us have a food dictator.

Wasting food at the source is the most inexcusable of all extravagances.—Sunset.

SPAGHETTI SPANISH

A very excellent dish to substitute for the meat course at dinner is made as follows:

Break spaghetti in medium lengths and boil in salt water till done. Oil a baking dish and put in layer of spaghetti, then layer of grated cheese, bread or cracker crumbs, green bell pepper chopped, two canned pimientos chopped, 1 onion, sprinkle of flour and salt if needed. Then another layer of spaghetti. Pour over top 1 can tomatoes or 1 quart of cooked tomatoes mashed fine. Bake in oven for half an hour.

Every human being is intended to have a character of his own—to be what no other is, to do what no other can.—Channing.

TOPSYTURVY ADVICE

Its' a mighty queer world, isn't it?

Four months ago the Far West was exhorted from breakfast to the Welsh rarebit to eat rice instead of potatoes, to abandon the enjoyment of the toothsome and odoriferous onion as a patriotic duty, to go into the back yard and serve the country by planting spuds. At that time we ventured to remark that the excessive price of potatoes and onions would surely result in overplanting and overproduction even without the aid of the back-yard farmers.

And now it has come to pass. In July the California state council of defense was urging the citizens to eat more onions and potatoes, urging increased consumption of these staples, luxuries a few months ago, as a patriotic duty, endeavoring with might and main to restore them in the good grace of the consumer. The council's plea was rightfully based on the needs of the farmer. He had been asked to produce more food. He had produced it, and all he received for his patriotic effort was a deficit. He was offered a maximum of two cents a pound for potatoes costing him six and seven cents a pound for seed that was planted with high-priced labor, harvested by higher-priced labor.

After all, there is sound sense in setting minimum as well as maximum prices on the needed products of the soil.—Sunset.

FOSSIL OCEANS OF GREAT AGE

Among the many unsolved mysteries concerning the interior of Mother Earth few are more fascinating than those brought to light by certain surprising experiences of drillers of deep wells. Although many people are not aware of the fact, a large proportion of the wells sunk to depths below 1,000 feet encounter large bodies of salt water, the flow of which may be so great that the driller remarks that he has struck the Gulf of Mexico or some other immense body of salt water. The salt water may even flow up out of the mouth of the well, but more commonly it rises in the well to a height of several hundred feet above the bottom, and its supply is so great that only a pump of enormous capacity can keep the well empty. Where does this salt water come from? It is often assumed that it fills some immense cavity or system of crevices, but in fact it is generally contained in some bed of unusually porous rock, like sandstone, in which the pores, though minute, have an aggregate volume or capacity of millions of cubic feet.

But one question is no sooner answered than another one, more difficult, arises, and the question now is, How did this salt water get into the porous rock? Has rain water soaked far down in the earth and found some bed of rock salt which it dissolved and thereby became salty; or had the salt water some source far within the earth, from which it has arisen toward the surface; or is it the water of some ancient ocean that filled the pores of the sand and mud of its bed, which in ages gone by became buried under sand and mud that gradually accumulated on the ocean bottom? The shells of sea animals found in limestones and other hard rocks at the heart of the continent show clearly that the ocean, in some one or several remote ages, covered a large part of the country, and it appears extremely probable that the salt water found in the deep wells is really fossil sea water entombed in the sands and muds of former eons and now brought to the surface by the drill, which in innumerable places in this and other countries is being sunk to depths of two, three, and four thousand feet, and even down to depths of nearly 7,500 feet, a depth reached by a very deep well which is still being drilled at a place a little west of Pittsburgh.

This salt water seems to be found especially in oil fields, but it has been struck by the drill at many other places, as, for example, near Leavenworth, Kans., where enormous quantities of salt water are found at various depths below the surface. Although no valuable pools of oil or gas have been found in that region, numerous beds of coal underlie it. In one boring four beds of coal aggregating over 8 feet in thickness and numerous thinner beds having an additional total thickness of 6 feet were found. In that region also many outcropping layers of rock contain remains of marine shells, and the entire region was no doubt once covered by the sea. Indeed, the geologist has been able to decipher in the rocks numerous details of the record of the advance and retreat of the sea and has been able to establish the fact that the region was submerged at several different times.

These and other geologic features of the region near Leavenworth, Kans., and east of it, in Missouri, including its mineral resources, are described in a folio of the Geologic Atlas of the United States just issued by the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. This folio, the Leavenworth-Smithville folio (No. 206), which was prepared in co-operation with the Missouri Bureau of Geology and Mines, contains also geologic maps and numerous other illustrations. It may be obtained by sending 25 cents to the Director of the Survey.

GROWS WHILE YOU WAIT

If a good-sized, healthy banana tree is cut off a few feet above the ground during the wet season, the tree will not die, but, nine times out of ten, will send up a new shoot from the center of the trunk and will grow fast enough to make up for lost time, for within forty-eight hours it will rear waving green leaves triumphantly above the severed trunk.

The secret lies in the fact that the trunk of the banana tree is not hard and woody like other trees; but is really composed of undeveloped leaves wrapped tightly together.

The story of a man's first impressions of the police-court is told by Mr. Pett Ridge.

The magistrate recognized the visitor as a fellow clubman, and invited him to take a seat on the bench. The gentleman accepted, and confidentially told the magistrate that this was his first visit to a police-court, adding, "But I see you have a remarkably tough lot of customers to deal with this morning."

"Hush!" replied the magistrate. "They are the lawyers."

Mickey's mother visited a young school teacher on the East Side, New York, the other day. As nearly as she could make out from the mother's splutterings, the teacher had been calling Mickey "names that no lady would use and no decent mother would stand for." The teacher thought hard, but could recollect no time when she had given way to an impulse to call Mickey dreadful names.

"Sure, but you did," insisted the mother. "I don't know what you meant by it, but scurvy elephant is no nice name to call a boy. That's what he said you called him—a scurvy elephant."

"Scurvy elephant? No," said the teacher in a relieved voice. "I didn't call Mike a scurvy elephant. I called him a disturbing element, and I reiterate my statement."

Mickey's mother went home partially satisfied, but not quite sure that the teacher hadn't been calling her names, too.—Selected.

Pigs and cows enjoy fish dinners prepared especially for them in Norway and some parts of Great Britain, and the cheapness of the kind of fish used, together with the good results of such feed in connection with ordinary foods, may be expected soon to put fish on the diet of animals in other countries. In Norway cod and herring are principally used. The codfish are dried, first in the air and then in an oven, and finally the mass is ground. The herring are made into meal by boiling and then putting the mass through a press. Waste from all sorts of fish and fish which have no value as human food are used in England and Scotland.—Onward.
