Robert's Latest Plan

He is Gathering Wagons and Transport Animals to Hasten Advance.

Suppressing the Rebellion in Cape Colony-Kruger Says He Will Attack Bloemfontein.

London, March 31.—The cluster of hills, 21 miles north of Bloemfontein, which are now occupied by the head of the army of Lord Roberts, were won from the Boers after a stiff fight, in which the British lost seven officers and one hundred men. The Boers had been using these kopjes as a base for marauding bands that have been beating up the country adjacent to Bloemfontein, driving off cattle and forcing resident Free Staters into the ranks again. The enemy must have been in Considerable Force, as Lord Roberts sent 8,000 infantry and 3,000 cavalry against them.

Lord Roberts's progress to Pretoria will probably consist of a series of sally-forward movements, in which Boer positions will be attacked by a portion of the army advancing rapidly with wheel transports, the main army coming up as the railway is repaired.

Lord Roberts is stripping the forces in the minor spheres of operation of their wagons and transport animals, in order to hasten the advance. This is understood to be the reason why he recalled Lord Methuen from Barkley West to Kimberley. Roberts had to have Methuen's transport.

The reason why a'ho' was not made after Commandant Olivier is that Lord Roberts did not wish to wear out the Cavalry Transport.

Gen. French lost 3,000 horses in the relief of Kimberley and the pursuit of Gen. Cronje. Lord Roberts lost 3,000 transport cattle at Waterford last, and it is estimated that he has lost 3,000 other animals since the forward movement began on February 13th.

The advance beyond Bloemfontein is through a bare country, and the supply officers foresee an increasing difficulty in providing for a great army moving along a single line of railway, even when the latter is moving smoothly and with ample rolling stock.

The Canadian Mounted Rifles were part of the force that occupied Kenhardt yesterday. The rebellion through the northwest districts of Cape Colony is almost suppressed.

The Daily Chronicle Bloemfontein correspondent telegraphing on Thursday, says: "President Kruger's latest proclamation warns the women and children to leave Bloemfontein within five days, as he intends to bombard and destroy the city and to shoot the burgars whom he captures there. Vigorous measures have been taken by the British to harass marauding bands of Transvaalers. The latter are resorting to Guerrilla Methods, chiefly against Free Staters who refuse to join Kruger."

Mr. Winston Churchill, in a long dispatch from Durban, expresses regret that the Morning Post does not support his views regarding the treatment of rebels. He says he desires to give a full explanation of his views hereafter, but will not again allude to the subject in the columns of the Morning Post. He proceeds, however, to say that Sir Redvers Buller and most of the officers of distinction share his views. He protests against "the spirit of vengeance, which can only delay the attainment of peace."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of Thursday, says: "Lord Kitchener and his staff crossed the temporary bridge at Norval's Pont.

Last night—He had 3,000 men under his command and he left 700 at Prieska. He considers the rebellion crushed, although "the fire may smoulder for some time."

London, March 31.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Koffyfontein dated Thursday March 29th, says: "General Clement's flying column after a forced march of 30 miles yesterday arrived here unopposed."

HOW SAILORS FOUGHT.

London, March 30.—Dispatches from Rear-Admiral Harris, commanding the British South African Squadron reporting the proceedings of the naval battles at Belmont, Graspan and Colenso, are published in to-night's Gazette. They throw little new light on the battles, but show that throughout the courage and determination of the naval men were beyond praise, and that their assistance to the military authorities was invaluable.

Lient. Archibald, Dux of the third-class cruiser "Hibdon," in the report of his proceedings with the four naval guns at Graspan, where he was detailed to attack two strong kopjes on either side of the railroad, relates how, after two hours' shelling, he received orders to retire. He continues: "The Royal Artillery on the right had already moved off when I got the order, and the Boers having got our range accurately were

A Whaler For Nome

Steamer Jeannette at the Outer Wharf Loading Supplies For the North.

Whalers Tell of the Early Discovery of Gold at Port Clarence.

Pouring in on us such an effective salvo that I judged it to be impossible to carry out the order without leaving the gun or suffering very heavy losses, I therefore continued to fire on the Boer guns, with such effect as to put them out of action, first one and then another.

For 15 to 20 minutes at a time their grand burst with the utmost accuracy. Our guns and ammunition trolley were scattered all over with shrapnel balls, but owing to my system of making all hands lie down when the Boer guns flashed, we had only six wounded when after an hour and a half the Boers abandoned their positions."

Admiral Harris expresses great pride in the conspicuous gallantry of both the sailors and the marines.

AFTER CITY OFFICIALS.

The whaling steamer Jeannette, Capt. Newth, of San Francisco, is now at the outer wharf to load supplies and bunker coal for her northern cruise to the sea of Anadır and to Cape Nome. She will leave for the North on Tuesday. She does not expect to reach Nome until late in May or early in June. From here the steamer will go to the ice of Anadır to the northwest of the Behring sea, thence to the north of the Pribylofs. This is the early season whaling region. It was in the Arctic above that most northerly cape Point Barrow, that the Jeannette was taken prisoners ago imprisoned in the ice in company with many of the other whaling steamers, ships and barks of the fleet, some of which were crushed and wrecked when the ice jammed. It was then that Mate Tilton of the Belvedere, made that great journey over the ice, guided by some Eskimos, and brought the news of the jamming of the whaling fleet in the Arctic ice to the outside world. Victoria was the point from which the tale was first telegraphed to the world. In return for the assistance rendered to the messenger of the whalers in accompanying him on his 575 mile walk, and to Lieut. Jarvis and party from the steamer Bear, when they went to the rescue of the imprisoned whalers, the Pacific Whaling Co. has purchased the schooner Sophie Sutherland, and presented it to the natives at Point Barrow.

Capt. North of the Jeannette, says that Nome is more often reached quicker by the westward vessels going around the way of Indian point, on the Siberian coast. This course is, however, only free from ice during the summer months from the northeast. When the wind is from the northwest the passage usually adopted by the regular Nome and St. Michael Davis becomes free of ice first. Capt. Newth, who has been whaling for nineteen years, has reached Nome by this route as early as April 13th.

Although it is only three years since the Cape Nome mining district was known to the outside world, Capt. Newth knew of the presence of gold on Anvil creek nine years ago, and as long ago as eight years, he outfitted a party of two at a cost of $1,200 to prospect on Dexter creek. The discovery of the Cape Nome gold is credited to a Swede, a missionary at Golovin Bay, but the whalers knew of the existence of gold the many years before he made his discovery. Capt. Newth took his steamer in to the vicinity of Nome and took on water, where Anvil City now stands, eighteen years ago.

Off his gristmill party to Dexter creek, the captain's money needs no refreshing. He is still looking for the men on whom he spent $1,300. The men never returned. This party was sent in five years before the Swedish missionary located there.

Premier's Speech

He Addresses a Meeting in the New Westminster Opera House.

The Action Against the New Vancouver Coal Company—Premier Questioned.

(Vancouver News-Advertiser.)

The opera house at New Westminster was fairly well filled on Thursday night, at the meeting called by the Hon. Joseph Martin. There was a carload of his Vancouver friends present.

Mr. J. Cavan was chairman. He set an example in the brevity of his introduction. There were less than 30 words in his opening speech. The coming forward of Mr. Martin caused no appearance of enthusiasm.

Mr. Martin said that in opening, he intended to speak first of personal matters, in some such way as he had at Victoria. He referred to the fact that the report had been industriously circulated in New Westminster that he had opposed the rebuilding of the court house in the Royal City. About the time of the taking of Mr. Henderson into the cabinet, he said, the statement had appeared in the News-Advertiser that he (Mr. Martin) had done all he could against the interests of New Westminster. As soon as he saw the statement he wrote to the Hon. Mr. Carter-Cotton and to Mr. Semlin, asking the former to have a contradiction inserted in the paper mentioned. No contradiction ever appeared, however. So that in his opinion Mr. Carter-Cotton fathered the statement that had probably been first used by a reporter. He was heartily in favor of the restoration of the court house, and he objected to the underhand methods employed and the gross by Mr. Carter-Cotton and Mr. Semlin. It seemed to him that the members of the government blamed everything reflected on to that "Bad Man Martin" (daughter)—and the way in which they took the credit for the good things that had been done, could be seen from the address recently issued by Mr. Carter-Cotton, as leader of the Provincial party.

Injustice Done to Him

He referred to the plank of the Government ownership of railways in the platform of the former Semlin party. The Canadian Pacific Railway, however, did not seem to be very much afraid of the short line to Kootenay. But when he brought this proposition of the competitive line forward in his address, it caused a great deal of consternation, and it was immediately said that he therefore must be kept out of power. The Canadian Pacific Railway, for instance, knew that when he endeavored to do so, he had a right to say so of the past—he invariably carried it out. It had been suggested by Mr. Carter-Cotton and the Colonist that it was impossible to borrow $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 for the Coast-Kootenay Railway. But the Colonist never had any such qualms when Mr. Turner was empowered to borrow $6,000,000 to be scattered broadcast among other people to build railways in the province. The province could borrow money to give away, but it was impossible, according to his political opponents, to do it to build railways under government control.

The interruptions at this point caused Mr. Martin to appeal to the audience for fair play. Then he went on to call attention to mines, and how farm products and such things should be sent from the Fraser Valley to the Kootenay. The Canadian Pacific Railway gave the preference to the Northwest and Manitoba, on account of the long freight haul that would benefit them. He proposed, therefore, to build the Coast-Kootenay Railway, at any rate, from the Coast to Midway. He claimed that no matter how much care was taken, the Canadian Pacific Railway would, in the end, get half of a railway to be built there by the aid of Government bonds. A private enterprise would be against the interests of the country as much as ever, if high rates were charged. He impressed upon those present how, every time they travelled by the Canadian Pacific Railway they were helping to enlarge the enormous profits of the multi-millionaire promoters. He spoke of how it would be the best line from an engineering standpoint in America. Farm property in the Fraser Valley was not at present very salable. He believed, however, when the new railway was started, property would double in value. He discussed the magnificence of the market of Kootenay.

Continuing, speaking personally, he wanted to know what there was against him, for which he was considered such a bad man. Then he reviewed the political events of the past two years. He claimed that a majority of the members elected at the last election were in favor of the speaker to be the

Head of the Party

This opinion was arrived at while they knew everything about his Manitoba record. He did not deny the fact, from the Tory standpoint, that he was a very bad man. The government grew weaker and weaker all the time after he resigned. He was very much inclined to plead "guilty" to the allegation that he had caused the fall of the party, and that he was a wrecker. He characterized as grossly unfair the statement made by Mr. Carter-Cotton in the House, when he had implied that he had agreed to be bound by the caucus, held to discuss his case, and still support the government, no matter what the caucus might do. It was not a financial advantage to say lawyer of ability to be in the government, so he had not felt any loss in a monetary sense in being turned out of his government position.

The silly reasons put forward by Mr. Semlin were the real reasons why he was dismissed. The real reason was that Mr. Carter-Cotton disagreed with his views, and so wished his removal. He referred to the differences of opinion on the Labor Regulations Act. The Dominion government had disallowed this act, and he believed that the House should have been called together at once to re-enact the act. During the last session the provincial government had refused to re-enact this legislation to Keep Out Mongolian Labor.

He claimed it not to be the duty of the provincial government to pay any attention to the international phase, to the pleasure of the Emperor of Japan. If something was not done to keep out Mongolian labor, there would, in a few years, be no white people left here at all. He considered that being a master of life and death, the Liberals of British Columbia would be justified in opposing their friends at Ottawa, on this question at least, in order to obtain our rights in the West. Mr. Carter-Cotton disagreed with him there, and he was satisfied that was one of the reasons why Mr. Carter-Cotton had put out of the government. There was the second reason, too, of the Crow's Nest railway grant, which he explained, the same as he had done on several other platforms lately.

Mr. Martin claimed that Mr. Carter-Cotton wanted to give away this land, and before he could do so, he must get rid of Mr. Martin, and that was what he did. He declared that the opinions of Mr. Christopher Robinson and Mr. B. B. Osler were over-ridden, and the opinions of Messrs. E. V. Bodwell and Alexander Henderson were taken.

One of the funniest incidents of the meeting took place here, and the audience had its first good laugh at the expense of Mr. Martin. That gentleman was telling as he said, of how Messrs. Cox & Coffey had bulldozed Mr. Carter-Cotton into giving them the land grant. Mr. Alexander Henderson, M.P.P., was sitting in a front seat, and when Mr. Martin reiterated his ironical allusion to the great value of Mr. Henderson's the ex-Attorney-General arose and remarked that on one occasion Mr. Martin had said that he was not in the government at the time, and at another time said his advice had been taken in this matter. This was a power for Mr. Martin, and he explained much to the further amusement that Mr. Henderson had said he had given his advice on it. "Where did I say that?" asked Mr. Henderson. "Well, I said it in the Columbian," said Mr. Martin. Mr. Henderson replied that he did not think that Mr. Martin did see it there. "Well it doesn't matter much, one way or the other," said Mr. Martin, as he waved his hand conclusively, "and he can say whether he did or not."

"Well, you're making the speech; I'm not," replied Mr. Henderson blandly, and Mr. Martin was compelled to laugh at himself in the uproar that followed.

Mr. Martin then took up the matter of the E. & N. Railway Company vs. the New Vancouver Coal Company. He said that to-day or to-morrow he would serve on Mr. Robins, of the New Vancouver Coal Company, a writ to recover the land under Nanaimo harbor which had recently been granted by Mr. Carter-Cotton and his associates, which Mr. Martin claimed that he could fight. The title was given to the company without any reference to the House. He did not think that Mr. Robins, acting on behalf of the New Vancouver Coal Company, would be in any hurry to give it back. He proposed to Have the Deed Cancelled, and claimed that he would see that it was not back anyway.

A question was then asked if it were not getting the land from Mr. Robins for Dunnsmuir & Sons.

Mr. Martin then made a long explanation, which resulted in the statement that he was fighting the Dunnsmuir, who claimed the land from the Dominion government, and the Robins claim on the provincial claim. Fighting the latter would settle them both. He reiterated his claim that Mr. Carter-Cotton had given away land without proper reason.

was defended. He, Mr. Martin, was considered a very bad man, and it he did anything it was said that he should be blamed for it and Put Out of Power.

But no matter what Mr. Carter-Cotton did, there was always someone to defend him. How was that?

"We have not heard Cotton's statement of it yet," came a voice from the rear of the room.

"Yes you have," said Mr. Martin, and he said that everyone should read the News-Advertiser, as he did, and see Mr. Carter-Cotton's explanations of these things very lucidly given there. "Mr. McBride, M. P. P., interposed with the question as to how Mr. Martin had been in power for some time as Attorney-General and not known of this New Vancouver matter. Mr. Martin said that he never heard anything of it. He was always up to the neck in business when Attorney-General.

In speaking of the issuance of the letters patent in connection with the New Vancouver Company's grant, Mr. Martin referred to the "secrecy" of the grant.

Mr. Henderson wanted to know what he meant by this.

Mr. Martin said that even the officials of the government were instructed not to say anything about it.

Mr. Henderson interrupted with the remark that Mr. Martin either knew that was true, or that it was not. Mr. Henderson declared it was not.

Mr. Martin said he was told so. Mr. Gough had known nothing about it.

Mr. Henderson explained that he was certain that of this nature had been given.

Mr. Martin referred to the benefit to be derived by having the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railways coming in over his proposed bridge over the Fraser.

His statement that the section of the Coast-Kootenay line from Vancouver to Hope would be in operation early in the next spring caused much laughter. He referred to the seven or eight millions of dollars that would build the whole road.

Mr. Kennedy here asked if Mr. Martin knew if it was more than half the present provincial debt.

"Yes," said Mr. Martin, as he enumerated a few of his financial policies.

"The amount of the country borrows says no figure at all—so long as the man who puts up the money is satisfied with his security.

If the security is satisfactory, the more money you ask for the easier it will be to get it subscribed."

Mr. Martin's concluding remarks were about the same as at Victoria. At 11:00 o'clock he finished and the audience filed out of the building without any delay for three hours of the evening.

THE TYPE OF THE PREVAILING CRIP.

(From New York Herald.)

"Although Grip prevailed in mild form during the late autumn months, it has now taken on an unmistakably virulent type in the extent and character of its new invasion. During the last fortnight thousands who have escaped hitherto have been attacked, and the disease is plainly epidemic over a very wide section of country.

The type of the disease is essentially catarrhal and chiefly manifests itself in inflammatory affections of the membranes of the nose, throat and upper air passages. The attack is quite sudden and there is generally a high temperature, with pain in the forehead, hacking and irritative cough, with general muscular pains and prostration.

It is the attention to little things—the avoidance of draughts, the cultivation of habits of temperance in eating and drinking, the obedience to all hygienic rules—which can make any one reasonably safe."

SALMON.

Big Run Expected On the Fraser—Product of a Good Season.

George T. Myers, the Puget Sound canneryman, says in an interview at Seattle that the outlook for salmon this season is particularly bright. Seven-eights of the past year's pack has already entered consumption and that means high prices.

The forecast for the season on the Sound and Fraser river is encouraging, so far as the catch of the Columbia river is concerned.

Mr. Myers' observations have led him to expect the production of fish for the season on the amount of rainfall or snowfall in the mountains. This year, from all the observations and information he can get, he has been led to believe that the snowfall in the watershed of the Columbia has been a very light one. At the same time mild open weather has prevailed to a large extent and much of the snowfall has already melted.

Salmon begin entering the Columbia on their way up to the spawning ground early in April following the freshets, but the great run of the fish comes after the melting of the snow in June and July. This year, he says, on account of the light snowfall, there will be but slight delay in the entry of the fish.

"On the Sound," said Mr. Myers, "the same conditions do not exist. The fish do not have to wait for the freshets, but after entering the Straits from the ocean they pass on up and in time either enter the Fraser river, or seek the spawning grounds of the upper bays and rivers of the Sound."

"I started in on Grape-Nut food, husbanding good humorously at the time. I ate it with cream, and the result was most surprising. After the first dish of it I felt a great sense of satisfaction. I have now been using Grape-Nuts but a week, have gained several pounds, the old gnawing, gnawing, etc., is gone. I return and sleep well at night, whereas I used to awake in the night and was unable to sleep again until I had taken some sort of food."

"On the Sound," said Mr. Myers, "the same conditions do not exist. The fish do not have to wait for the freshets, but after entering the Straits from the ocean they pass on up and in time either enter the Fraser river, or seek the spawning grounds of the upper bays and rivers of the Sound."

By reasonable calculation the run of fish to the Fraser ought to be, this year, a good one. Some six years ago the British Columbia fishing interests began the establishment of hatcheries on the Fraser.

The fish begin returning from the sea about the thirty-first year from the time when the hatchery spawn began to return up the river. The two previous years proved good ones, and Mr. Myers thinks the third season will prove equally as good and probably better.

"Our English cousins," said he, "set us a mighty good example in the establishment of these hatcheries, and we old fishermen recognize that it has been a great success."

NEWSPAPER MEN'S RIGHTS.

To the Editors of the Vancouver World:

I had not intended to pay the slightest attention to the observations in regard to myself, made by Mr. Joseph Martin at his Victoria meeting. He felt it necessary to do something to break the force of the Colonist's arraignment of his platform and his constitutional position as Premier, and chose the method which condemned itself to his judgment, and was within his means.

I have no fault to find with him, except that he took the occasion of his first appearance in public to violate your understanding that there would be no resort to personalities in the newspaper.

But when you, sir, say that "the rating received by Mr. Logan was well deserved," I feel that as newspaper man I am called upon to ask you what you mean.

Let it be supposed that what Mr. Martin said was true, and that I had entertained the hope that the Lieutenant-Governor would call upon me to form a government. (I may say that such an idea did not enter my mind, although I admit that I took the liberty of suggesting to His Honor that he was acting unwisely in his own interest and that of the province in retaining Mr. Martin.) Is there anything in the fact that, like yourself, I am a newspaper man, which renders me deserving of a rating for cherishing such an ambition, if I did cherish it? I would like your answer to this question, for it would be of some value to know at what rate you esteem the profession to which we both belong. I had an honorable and not unsuccessful career at the bar. I am to day a barrister in good standing in the province of New Brunswick; and yet let me say to you that of the two professions, law and journalism, I regard the latter as infinitely the more responsible and at the same time as honorable as the other. Do you share these views or do you not? If you do, why do you regard it as an act of presumption that a newspaper man should aspire to any position whatever?

I ask these questions, not in my own defense, for I am willing now as I ever have been to let my life in the community speak for itself. I ask them in the interest of the profession of journalism, whose best traditions I hope always to maintain. My family have been identified with Canadian journalism since the first decade of the century. There has not been a great public movement in British North America in nearly a hundred years in which they did not take part to the best of their ability with the pen. The traditions of journalism which I have inherited are those of which such newspaper men as George Brown and Joseph Howe are the most conspicuous examples. I have no hope of ever accomplishing such work as has made the names of these great tribunes of the people so famous in the annals of Canada, but I sincerely hope to be able to maintain as far as my humble abilities will permit, the right of free and fearless discussion of all public questions, either in the press or on the platform, no matter who may "rate" me for so doing, or what newspaper man I deserve to be rated for it.

THE OPINION OF WOMEN.

Women who have tested the merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills return the verdict that for barkis and kidney disorders there is no preparation in any way equal to this great discovery of Dr. A. W. Chase, America's greatest physician.

This great kidney and liver cure is sold by all dealers at 25 cents a box, and has proved most effectual as a remedy for the many ills to which women are subject.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

—Tea Pots, Jugs and other goods in great variety just opened at R. A. Brown & Co., 80 Douglas street.

—Ramblers are noted for easy running qualities and rigidity of frame. Inspect them at Weller Bros' Cycles.

—The B. Y. P. U. of Emmanuel Baptist church will hold a social on Monday evening. An excellent programme has been arranged.

—Tree Pruners, Pruning Knives; Hedge Trimmers and Garden Tools cheap for cash, at R. A. Brown & Co., 80 Douglas street.

—The beautiful weather and extremely favorable cycling facilities are enabling the police to reap a harvest in the way of transgressions, as the law prohibiting the racing on sidewalks. Five summonses have already been issued for Monday, and more will probably follow.

—Imperial Restaurant, cor. Douglas and View streets; special Lent dishes.

—We study the head and fit the hat accordingly. It is our aim to retain every customer. We make and take infinite pains to fit him to a hat that is becoming. Our range of styles and prices is large, but our special Fur Felt with all Silk Ribbons and Russia leather sweat at $3.00 has no peer in the trade. Geo. R. Jackson.

—Anniversary services were held in the Chinese Methodist mission last evening, a large number being in attendance. The chair was occupied by Rev. J. P. D. Knox, and addresses were delivered by the clergymen and Mrs. Glover, Payne and Winchester. An excellent literary and musical programme was rendered, and the reports which were submitted were of a most satisfactory character. The proceedings were terminated by the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. C. M. Tate.

—In accordance with the agreement that the corporation of Toronto and the government should appoint engineers to collaborate on the plans for the improvement of the Toronto harbor, the government has appointed J. R. Roy, one of the engineers of the Public Works Department, to act with W. T. Jennings, the city's appointee. Mr. Roy, who is a graduate of McGill's Science Department, returned to Ottawa two months ago after having spent three years in British Columbia, where he acted as government engineer in charge of public works, and made a reputation for himself as an efficient officer.

—Imperial Cafeteria afternoon tea, Ralston's bread and buns; cosy rooms for ladies.

—The old wooden shacks about the city are gradually succumbing to the invasions of progress. Architect Thomas Hooper having just about completed plans for two more new buildings. The first will be erected for the Porter estate on Fisgard street between Store and Government streets, and will have a frontage of 150 feet, and a depth of 70 feet. The structure will be two stories in height, and of brick, and in order to allow for five stories, several old eaves are being destroyed. When completed accommodations will be made for nine stores, to be occupied mainly by Chinese merchants. The contract has been awarded to Edward & Sons, and the cost of the building will be in the neighborhood of $8,000. The other building will be erected by John Frank Young, the architect, and will be situated on the corner of Government and Herald streets. The building will be two stories in height, with basement, and will have a frontage of 120 feet on Government street and 60 feet on Herald street. Allowance will be made for five stories, one of which will be reserved for the owner in the carrying on of his rice business. The plans have just been completed, and tenders will be called for early next week.

—Go to Drill hall concert to-night.

—Try the Native Sons Cigar, manufactured by Meiss & Co.

—Native Sons cigar will be on the market Saturday, March 17th.

—Ramblers stand every test, they are built that way. See them at Weller Bros' Cycles.

—The case of Beglin vs Holland came up yesterday before Mr. Justice Drake, but was adjourned until April 26th. Mr. McPhilips appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Geo. Powell for the defendant.

—The three sailors who deserted from the German bark Silo at Duncan came up in the provincial police-court yesterday afternoon, and were ordered to be held in custody until the ship sails on Monday.

—Men's Suit Sale: See prices marked plain figures. McCandless Bros., Johnson street.

—A conference was held last night with closed doors between the mayor and aldermen on the Point Ellice bridge claims. The object of the conference was to arrive, if possible, at a basis of settlement of the various claims.

—The petition which was circulated and signed by a number of people, in behalf of the West Coast Telegraph line, and which was recently laid before the board of trade, and endorsed by them, has now been sent in to the local government, and will be forwarded to the Dominion government.

—President Dallain, of the S. P. C. A., was called upon to exercise his responsibilities in that regard yesterday afternoon. A big Scotch jollie and a settee became involved in a caliginous argument that they capsized a lady. The brutes were savagely settling their differences when Mr. Dallain arrived and succeeded in separating them. Even after doing so the dogs returned to the combat and had to be separated a second time.

—Just received, direct, a splendid assortment of trout flies. Inspection invited. Henry Short & sons, 72 Douglas street.

—Miss Daisy A. Torrey, B. E., who gave such a successful recital in Calvary church a few weeks ago, will appear there again on Tuesday evening. Concerning Miss Torrey the Toronto Globe says: "Attracted by her appearance of a remarkably flexible voice, which can be adapted to the largest hall or the smallest parlor, and can be made to imitate in a marvellous manner, the child, the child, the lady, the gulf, the gulf, the gulf."

—The Local Council of Women of Victoria has invited the National Council of Women to hold its annual meeting here in July. The president, Miss Perrin, sister of the Bishop of Columbia, is anxious that a large delegation from the Eastern provinces should visit the West. The idea is to draw the workers of the several provinces into touch with each other, and so on that it is expected that the delegates will pay short visits to the local councils in Port Arthur, Rat Portage, Winnipeg, Brandon and Regina.

—Go to Drill hall concert to-night.

—The special Victoria edition of the San Francisco Wave arrived in the city yesterday and met with a ready sale.

—The number is well illustrated with views of the principal points of interest in and about Victoria, with flash light views of the legislature in session and of the city council. There is also a double page supplement containing reproductions of photos of the members of the legislature. The descriptive matter is from the pen of J. G. Gordon-Smith, of the Times staff. The whole number forms a good advertisement.

SILVERTON.

Silvertown is to have a complete water system installed immediately, and number of local men have formed themselves into a company, to be known as the Silvertown Waterworks Company, which will apply at once for incorporation, waters of Bartleford, a tributary stream, within the hundred yards of the works, to be supplied by the new company. The street hydrants will ultimately not be in position by May 1st, otherwise a wet test hose reel race will be among the features of the town's birthday celebration, but in next year's celebration Silvertown will enter our team for that event.

VANCOUVER.

The new rock tunnel for the water-line that has just been completed on north side of the Narrows is 549 feet long. The engineer estimated that about feet would be through solid rock and result has shown that he was very right. The rock tunnelling being 496 feet, which was performed at cost of $12,000 per foot. The tunnel was driven through 34 feet of earth, for which $10 per foot was allowed. The total cost is in the neighborhood of $60,000. Messrs. Jefferies & Grey carrying out the work.

There was a large attendance on Wednesday night at the meeting of veterans of the drill shed. Lieut.-Col. Worsnop called the meeting and he was unanimously elected to the chair. Mr. J. Turk, being elected secretary, a number names were placed on the roll. It was voted by Captain McMaster, seconded Lieut. Eldridge, that a Veterans' Association for Vancouver district be formed and that a committee of five be appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, after communicating with similar organizations in Eastern Canada; and the meeting was adjourned.

To a thinking man, more especially to the heart of a parent, looking at the playgrounds of our public schools, crowded as they are during play hours, it brings a pang of wondering doubt as to where a place will be found under existing circumstances for the numbers growing up. "Ah God!" if but a few men could be found with firm will and persistent effort to roll back, this increasing evil, an evil that is devouring the land till no one will be left but serif and bord. Has the cabinet at Ottawa no power to remedy this evil, or are they influenced by the representations of those few in this province who think it their interest to employ serif labor? I believe that the Imperial authorities (if this power does not at present exist in this Dominion) would, if asked, give ample power to let us deal with this question to suit our own circumstances.

Unfortunately the want of numbers and unity of the working classes in this province has hitherto prevented them from being a dominating factor in any question affecting their interest, and now things are rapidly changing. I think it is well that those seeking to be directors of our public affairs should be alive to this fact. What gratitude should we not show to men of any party or where having from, if they would grapple with this question so well.

P. Gutelius, late of Trail, came Nelson on Wednesday and is to make home here, having recently been appointed engineer for the districts under control of Superintendent Trapp.

Rev. G. J. Colter White, M. A., the pastor of the Baptist church has arrived. Mr. White obtained his degree at Acadia University, of which he is now a governor. After duating he took a three year course the Newton, Massachusetts, theological seminary, and then assumed the pastorate of the Baptist church at Annapolis, Nova Scotia, which he held for months ago, when failing health spelled him to relinquish his duties, so that time Mr. White has been resting his health at Wolfville, Nova Scotia, the university town.

His smaller band has decided to abandon the proposal to affiliate with the local organization, and will be constituted as a strictly independent institution.

An interesting experiment was conducted on Tuesday at the C. P. R. station Nelson and Slocan junction to determine just what tonnage the locomotives doing duty here are able to pull the grade. A train with 475 tons freight, the schedule load for the engine, went over the section with Trainee Hamilton and Robert Mee, training locomotive engineer, aboard. The

A disastrous explosion occurred yesterday afternoon at Five-mile point, where the dynamite factory of the Ontario Powder Works is situated. William Way and Harry Gervan were in the packing house engaged in packing dynamite cartridges when a terrible explosion occurred, killing the two men and completing wiping the packing house off the face of the earth. A portion of Way's body was found in the lake about 100 yards away, while Gervan's corpse, terribly mangled, was washed up about half the distance. Four hundred pounds of dynamite exploded, but the other buildings of the company were not seriously damaged, and none of the other employees were hurt. COMMUNICATIONSTHE MONGOLIAN EVIL.

To the Editor: No matter what calamity, actuated by the envy of ignoble minds, may alight against the Hon. Joseph Martin, he has struck a chord that vibrates in the heart of every man in the province that earns his bread by the labor of his hands, when he declares in public his conviction that the inundation of Asiatic hordes is sapping the life blood of those who are dependent on labor for the support of themselves and their families. That opposition and detraction will certainly follow from those who, besotted with the lust of gain, would exhaust the help of the help of Heed labor the resources of this province, only to enrich themselves, while leaving to their fellow settlers a shadow of the benefit derived, unless they place an Asiatic in every place where a presumable profit can be made. I have often thought how much more beneficial to the province, if, instead of employing such numbers of the yellow skins in the canneries, the labor of our youths and girls could be introduced.

To a thinking man, more especially to the heart of a parent, looking at the playgrounds of our public schools, crowded as they are during play hours, it brings a pang of wondering doubt as to where a place will be found under existing circumstances for the numbers growing up. "Ah God!" if but a few men could be found with firm will and persistent effort to roll back, this increasing evil, an evil that is devouring the land till no one will be left but serif and bord. MR. MOODY'S MINT.

To the Editor: My correspondence re a mint as a private company having been so thoroughly read, I think, perhaps, a better just now, in justice to myself and the public, would be beneficial to British Columbia if a mint is desired in this province. I wish particularly to notify the public of British Columbia in connection with the practical proposition of a mint of any sort, or, I might add, almost any business of any sort. There are people in this province who are the rulers of the province of British Columbia, and I say particularly who obstruct the proposition of a mint as a private company.

The name of the people I refer to is McInnes. McInnes is the executive head of British Columbia. McInnes, M. P., represents British Columbia from Nanaimo at Ottawa. Mr. Joseph Martin is the McInnes nominee for the administrative head of the McInnes business in British Columbia.

I have no objection whatever to Mr. Joseph Martin. I rather admire some of Mr. Martin's qualities. It is the McInnes government I object to.

As a son of British Columbia and a legal English subject, I object most emphatically to the McInnes form of government in its entirety.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

To the Editor:—One by one your correspondents has abandoned his objections to my proposed improvement of the harbor. "It was all very well," he admits, "when it was thought the Dominion government would undertake the work which they declined to do." The proposition is entirely unchanged, and the Dominion government have not declined anything, except to entertain the "more modest plans for harbor improvements" put forward by Mr. Shearman and his associates. "The only result of the ill-advised actions of the board of trade being to still further antagonize the government against Victoria. The intolerable part of the matter is the opposition to my plan has not been on its merits or in the public interest, but solely to prevent the council stamping it with its approval by passing "a resolution in its favor," as it "would thus prevent the Dominion government giving proper attention to" his "more modest plans." I quote from your report of the meeting of the 19th February. And from your report of the meeting of a few members of the Board of Trade held on the 20th March I gather the following particulars of this scheme: It is proposed to dredge a channel 20 feet deep, 1,700 feet wide opposite the outer wharf, and 350 feet wide from Shoal Point inwards, using about one-sixth of the excavated material in the filling in of James Bay and carrying the remainder out to sea. Now, the locomotive had no difficulty in handling her load.

A disastrous explosion occurred yesterday afternoon at Five-mile point, where the dynamite factory of the Ontario Powder Works is situated. William Way and Harry Gervan were in the packing house engaged in packing dynamite cartridges when a terrible explosion occurred, killing the two men and completely wiping the packing house off the face of the earth. A portion of Way's body was found in the lake about 100 yards away, while Gervan's corpse, terribly mangled, was washed up about half the distance. BE A FREE MAN!

Be a Man Among Men! Be Strong and Youthful!
Free Yourself From the Chains That Hold You Down!

Nature intended you to be a strong man. You have the physique, the constitution, and yet you do not feel the vim, the sand, the ambition one would expect in a man of your age. What is it? Why a lack of vitality—the foundation of manhood. You have lost it, no matter how. Get it back; feel young, look young, act young. Life is beautiful when you have health. I can help you.

DR. MC LAUGHLIN'S ELECTRIC BELT.

With Suspensory for weak men, has brought strength, ambition and happiness to ten thousand men in the past year.

Men, why will you be weak? Why do you not listen to the echo of thousands of grateful voices raised in thanks to Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt? Why do you go on from day to day realizing that you are losing your nerve force, your manhood, when you see a cure within your grasp? Reach for it, take it to your heart, and feel the life-blood flowing, jumping, dancing through your veins; feel the exhilarating spark of manly power warm your frame, the bright flash come to your eye, and the firm grip to your hand—the grip which grasps your fellow man and tells him that you have found your Mecca—you have regained your manhood.

Act now. Do not delay a matter which is the key to your future happiness; do not allow disease to destroy all pleasure for you. Whatever your condition to-day you will not improve as you grow older. Age calls for greater vital force, and the older you get the more pronounced and apparent will be your weakness, so cure it now—cure it while you are young. The time is ripe. While the vital spark is still warm it can be easily fanned to flame by Electricity, and Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt will make you strong if you try it now. Warranted not to burn nor blister.

My appliances are warranted the strongest in the FREE BOOK—I have published an 8-page world, yet they give the current like a soothing balm, beautifully illustrated and full of truths for all ages, warming, flowing into the body within the men and women who are low in vitality, weak and stinging, burning sensation caused by old-style declining. It is worth reading. If you have tried Belts. My special inventions—the cushion electrode—nothing else need be done, this book will and regulator—prevent this horror. My Belt is conduct you to the altar of truth. I send it closely packed up and sealed, free. Ask for it. Call, if possible, and consult me personally.

Cambridge Wins Again

The University Boat Race To Day Proved a One-Sided Affair.

Light Blues Led Tideway and Won by About twenty Lengths.

(Associated Press.)

Putney, Eng., March 1.—The 57th annual boat race between crews representing the universities of Oxford and Cambridge was rowed to-day over the usual course from Putney to Mortlake, and was won by Cambridge.

The race was favored by magnificent weather. The bright sunshine attracted immense crowds, which, from an early hour, congregated on the course or steamers, in boats, on the bridges and on the banks overlooking the scene.

Every point of vantage was crowded in spite of the general belief that it would be a one-sided contest. Oxford won the toss and chose the Surrey. The crews embarked at 1:30 p.m.

The two boats took up their positions at 1:50 p.m. and started at 1:55 p.m. Cambridge promptly took the lead. At Waddens, about 1 mile from the start, Cambridge was two lengths ahead. Passing the Crab Tree, Cambridge, 14 seconds ahead, and off the Sauceline works the light blues were leading by six lengths. At Hammersmith bridge, less than 1% miles from the start, the lead of Cambridge had been reduced to 5 lengths. But the light blues began to lead again. At the lead miles they were rowing 35 to Oxford's 34. At the Doves, about 1½ miles from the start, the lead had been reduced to 4 lengths. At Chiswick church, 2½ miles from the start, the race had developed into nothing more than a procession. When the Cambridge boat passed Thorncrofts, nearing the three miles post, the light blues led by ten lengths. Oxford then began to show signs of distress, and at the Devonshire meadows, over 3 miles from the start, 11 lengths separated the two boats. At Barn's bridge, about 3½ miles from the starting place, Cambridge was 10 lengths ahead.

The light blues then eased off and won by about 20 lengths.

The Oxford crew was greatly distressed at the finish.

Cambridge finished very fresh and pulled past the stakeboat at Mortlake, the easiest of winners. Oxford, however, came in for a full share of cheering.

Official time, 18 minutes, 47 seconds.

Some precious results.

The following are the results of races from 1889 to 1900, during this time the course has been from Putney to Mortlake.

REVOLUTIONISTS DEFEATED.

Severe Fighting Near Bolivia in Which Over Two Hundred Men Were Killed.

(Associated Press.)

New York, March 31.—The Venezuelan Government reports that severe fighting occurred near the city of Bolivar on March 22nd, says a dispatch to the Herald from Port of Spain, Trinidad. General Hernandez, commanding the government forces, is a confirmed, determined Gen. Hernandez. His forces killed 223 of the revolutionaries, took 80 prisoners and captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition. The government loss was small. Gen. Hernandez, it is reported, retired to the interior of Venezuela with 1,200 men.

Montreal, March 31.—James Baxter and Ferdinand Lemieux, who were found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the Ville Marie Bank, were both sentenced to five years in the penitentiary by Justice Wurtele this morning. This makes Lemieux's term eight years, being already under sentence of three years for issuing false statements to the government regarding the financial condition of the defunct bank.

STEAMER FLOATED.

(Associated Press.)

Portland, Me., March 31.—Steamship California, of the Allan line, which went aground on Ram Island ledge, Portland harbor, as she was leaving for Liverpool five weeks ago, was floated at 10 a.m. At Hammersmith bridge, less than 1½ miles from the start, the lead of Cambridge had been reduced to 5 lengths. But the light blues began to lead again. At the lead miles they were rowing 35 to Oxford's 34. At the Doves, about 1½ miles from the start, the lead had been reduced to 4 lengths.
