TALKS ABOUT LABOR PROBLEM

GRAND TRUNK CHAIRMAN DISCUSSES SITUATION

Mr. Smithers Thinks Dominion and Province Should Try to Bring Laborers

What most concerns Canada at the present time is to keep the credit of the country unimpaired so that capital may be induced to come in and develop your wonderful natural resources. That is the feature that has struck me throughout my trip ever since I landed at Montreal," said A. W. Smithers this morning, the chairman of the London board of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, the man who has his finger on the financial pulse through which the funds for the building of the Grand Trunk Railway flows, and who is at present in the city.

"Let the credit of the country be once impaired and the country will get a great setback," he continued. "You cannot progress without money, and most of this must come from England. Even the United States, with nearly one hundred million people has had to borrow largely from England within the past year, and will continue to do so."

"The people of England will not continue to pour their money in here at the very low rate of interest paid unless they can see that their investments are secured. All we get is four per cent. It cannot be expected that more will be sent unless the present labor conditions are relieved. We find it impossible to get half the men we want on the Grand Trunk construction work, and yet the men are paid three dollars, and three and a half dollars a day. There was a time when men were underpaid, I acknowledge that, but today I consider they are getting more than their share."

"I fear the people of certain sections of this country are taking a wrong attitude towards capital. Take, for instance, Prince Rupert, which we visited recently and which owes its very existence to the Grand Trunk Railway. They told us that they were getting large dividends, and are a day, going to exact all sorts of unheard-of taxes, when as a matter of fact we have been in Canada for fifty years and have never received a dividend yet. This sort of treatment is not encouraging. The construction work on the railway is already costing us a great deal more than we calculated upon simply because of the cost of labor."

"What do you suggest?" inquired the interviewer.

"I think," answered Mr. Smithers, "that the Dominion and Provincial governments should work together for the purpose of bringing people into this country from England and other parts of Europe. There should be some relaxation of the immigration laws against these people. The present laws are too stringent. They make the breaking up of families and are a detriment to the country. You want to take only the strong members of the family, but if a whole family wishes to come here you must take them all. England has never had any barriers against anybody, and I do not see why you should. Then there should be an effort made to foster immigration. People from Europe should be shown that they are wanted. I understand that you have done something along this line, but more is needed."

"I say again, that under the present conditions it is impossible for the capital you require to be procured, and even the investments which have already been made are endangered. I say this here, although I would not say it in London, for I am too much interested in the country to speak against it. I feel, though, that I should speak plainly to you."

"You can understand the position of the working men of this town, for instance, Mr. Smithers," explained the interviewer. "Most of them have purchased their own homes, and they are naturally very jealous of doing anything which will imperil these, or which will lower in any way the standard of living."

"Yes, I understand that," was Mr. Smithers' reply. "But you see that if capital stops coming in here, there will be no money for the working man to keep up his payments or for anything else. It is absolutely essential to you that you keep your credit good, and under present conditions I cannot see how this can be. We do not regret having come here. We believe the country has great resources and that eventually the railway will pay, but at the present time the outlook is not bright unless the present labor conditions are alleviated."

Mr. Smithers expects to leave for Vancouver on Monday and will return east with the rest of the Grand Trunk party.

PRIESTS ARE ENJOINED.

Must Not Sell Peace River Lands While Before Courts.

(Special to the Times.)
Montreal, Sept. 3.—Justice Lafontaine has handed down a judgment restraining the priests of the Petit Seminaire de Montreal from carrying out the decree of the papal authority while the civil case is before the courts for judgment.

The order is in connection with the petition for a writ of quo warranto sought by Edwards of Vancouver, in connection with a sale of Peace River lands.

SIR WILFRID ENDS HIS TOUR

ELOQUENT ADDRESS AT MEDICINE HAT

Calls for Consecration of All Canadians to Work for the Nation

(Special to the Times.)
Medicine Hat, Alta., Sept. 3.—The tour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, which opened with a mammoth meeting at Toronto and Fort William two months ago, was brought to a conclusion with another great gathering here yesterday afternoon. It was the last big assembly scheduled on the itinerary. Last night the premier's train left for Winnipeg whence, on Monday, he will entrain for Ottawa.

The two prairie provinces, by the presence and speeches of their premiers, Hon. A. L. Sifton and Hon. Walter Scott, united in doing vaudeville honor to the first Canadian, who has spent his summer in touring their needs. The premier of Saskatchewan conveyed a message of Premier McBride, of British Columbia, to "Canada's most illustrious statesman."

Hon. C. R. Mitchell, attorney-general and minister of education of Alberta, occupied the chair, and addresses were also delivered by Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Hon. Frank Oliver, E. M. Macdonald, M. P., and F. F. Pardoe, M. P. Lady Laurier attended the meeting and was accorded a most hearty reception.

In an eloquent address Sir Wilfrid summed up the experiences of his tour: "I left home Canadian to the core; I return ten times more Canadian," he said. "I have inhaled the air, the spirit and the enthusiasm of the west. I am a true westerner henceforth, and I should say Canadian, for we must in future aim to know west and east, only in emulation of the best in each other, trying who can do the most for Canada, our common country. (Hear, hear.)"

"So I am going home now. I have learned a great deal in the past two months. I have learned to know my country. On July 7th I set my face towards the rising sun, whether the rising or the setting of the sun is the same sun over all Canada." (Cheers.)

Sir Wilfrid made his farewell appeal for a united Canada. During his tour he said, he has met multitudes of new Canadians, thousands of whom are settlers from the United States. He had asked them whether they were satisfied with conditions under our institutions here. Without an exception the response had been, "Yes, and proud to become Canadians." (Cheers.)

Such experiences had been an intense satisfaction to him. "The republic was learning that monarchical institutions were not less democratic than they were in the south. The King of England was to the law as the president of the American republic, without so many autocratic powers."

"We are all working together to build up Canada as a nation," declared Sir Wilfrid. "We are not following in any beaten path; we are choosing our course. We are hewing out our own history. Our experience has not a parallel in any part or age of the world. History tells us of countries which have reached the status of nations by severing their connection with the parent state; we have found the secret of building a nation without breaking relations with the Mother Land. We are proud of our nation and we are proud of our Imperial connections." (Cheers.)

In concluding, the premier made an appeal for consecration to the great cosmopolitan citizenship to all that prospered and happiness of the Canada of our birth and the Canada of our adoption.

LABORERS TO INTERVIEW MAYOR AND ALDERMEN

Union Will Press for Increase and a Standard Rate of Wages

At a largely attended meeting of the Victoria Laborers' Protective Union, held last evening, the recent action of Mayor Morley and certain members of the city council, in refusing to accept the recommendation of the city engineer that an increase in pay be granted the laborers on corporation work and that a standard minimum wage be fixed, was discussed at length.

Mr. Fullerton was commended for the manner in which he had taken up the question, and a resolution was passed at the meeting of the city council and the attitude of the mayor was deprecated. There was a lengthy debate as to what the union ought to do under the circumstances, all present agreeing that the matter was one of supreme importance to all wage-earners in the city, and the fate of a vital principle of unionism was involved.

Finally, a decision was unanimously reached that a delegation from the union should wait on the city council at its next meeting and urge that the recommendation of the city engineer be accepted.

BI-CENTENARY ANGLICAN WORK

STRIKING SCENES IN HALIFAX TO-DAY

New Cathedral Dedicated—Brilliant Gathering of Church Dignitaries

(Special to the Times.)
Halifax, Sept. 3.—Never before has Halifax had so many dignitaries of the Church of England in the city as today, when the initial proceedings in connection with the bi-centenary celebration took place with the dedication of the new All Saints Cathedral.

The trains yesterday and this morning brought not only clergymen from all parts of Nova Scotia, but archbishops, bishops, and prelates from various parts of Canada and the United States, England and Scotland. The magnificent cathedral of All Saints was formally opened for divine service at 7 o'clock this morning with the celebration of the holy eucharist by the Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, assisted by the dean and chapter of the cathedral. This was followed by the dedication of the altar.

At 8 o'clock the celebration of the holy eucharist again took place, the celebrant being the primate of Canada, the Archbishop of Rupert's Land, assisted by the Lord Bishop of Glasgow and the Bishop of Duluth, after which followed the dedication of the organ.

It was the first visit of Halifax people to the magnificent new church and they, as well as the visitors, felt proud of such a splendid edifice. It is only to be regretted that the handsome front and tower planned for it are not ready. The temporary front is of wood, shingled and painted dark. The architecture is perpendicular Gothic and the edifice is built of local granite, which is in harmony with the rugged surfaces of both arsenal and citadel, familiar to every visitor to Halifax.

It was the intention of the architects that the materials of the buildings should savour of the locality as far as possible. The organ, which is built by Casavant Bros. of Ste. Hyacinthe, is described by competent judges as a noble instrument.

The general opening of the cathedral took place at 11 o'clock and was preceded by a procession, from the school for the blind in the block below, of all the archbishops, bishops and clergy present, in their cassocks and surplices. It was an imposing scene when the procession entered the church and proceeded to the left nave, while a triumphal march from the organ rang through the pillared aisle and stately transept. The procession was witnessed by a large concourse of people who had assembled in the square opposite. Only the ticket-holders were admitted to the church up to 10:45 a. m. when the doors were thrown open to everybody and the cathedral was thronged.

The service was opened with the processional hymn, "Blessed City, Heavenly Salem," preceding exhortation and absolution by the Archbishop

WEST LEADS ALL IN EDUCATION

ALBERTA INCREASES TEACHERS' SALARIES

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Says East is Put to Shame in This Regard

(Special to the Times.)
Medicine Hat, Alta., Sept. 3.—The frank statement of Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial Minister of Education, that Alberta had started upon a policy of paying teachers materially increased salaries, seeking the best teachers, erecting thoroughly equipped schools and making liberal appropriations to all educational projects, drew from Sir Wilfrid Laurier words of earnest commendation, coupled with a note of warning to eastern Canada.

Significant addresses were delivered on the occasion of the opening of the large new Alexandra school by the Premier here. Children with flags paraded the streets and presented Lady Laurier, who joined the party this morning from Banff, with a beautiful bouquet.

Introducing Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was accompanied by Hon. A. L. Sifton of Saskatchewan, the Minister of Education said that Alberta realized that its greatest possession was in its children, the citizenship of tomorrow. For this reason its people had unanimously determined upon an advanced policy in education.

"We do not grudge the highest salary to our teachers," said he. "In fact, we aim and take pride in paying them the best salaries to be procured. In this way we are able to obtain the best teachers, though in return they have to look after our children. We are building for a great future, for a province of well-equipped men and women, our sons and daughters."

He also added that no expense was being spared in erecting modern schools and equipping them according to the highest ideals.

Sir Wilfrid congratulated Alberta on such a policy. He added that he had been impressed in all the four western provinces by the fact that no monetary sacrifice was too great for the cause of education.

"It is a noble rivalry," was his comment. "Nothing can do so much for the higher objects of civilization and the prosperity of our country. I shall repeat the declaration of your minister of education in the provinces of the east. In your generous, enterprising treatment of those engaged in the cause of education the people of the west put us in the east absolutely to shame. My message to the east will be 'If you want to keep up with the west you must awake to your opportunities and do as much for education.' If any rivalry is justified it is that which seeks to excel in all that makes a great and powerful country. There is no more sacred obligation on a father than to give his children a good education." (Cheers.)

Addressing the children, the Premier smilingly observed that he had reached that mature age when it was always pleasant to give advice. He urged the boys to be manly and fight fair. They would have to fight in the world, but there was no disgrace in fighting fairly for a good cause. He counselled them to take part in the public life of their country.

"When you enter the arena of politics," he said, "choose your party for yourself according to the dictates of your conscience. Put the honor and welfare of your country first."

The advice given in Sarnia by Charles Hope Mackenzie, brother of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, to the children at the sunset of a long and useful life, had impressed the Premier through life. "We have two parties; I would wish you to belong to the better party, but I would rather see you in the other party than in none."

"To the girls what shall I say?" continued Sir Wilfrid, adding with a smile, "I shall say nothing. Little girls always know what to do and grown up girls know it still better." (Laughter and applause.)

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC WILL HANDLE GRAIN

Minister of Railways Makes Ele- vator Arrangements for the Present Season

(Special to the Times.)
Medicine Hat, Alta., Sept. 3.—In an interview yesterday afternoon, Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways, told the Times correspondent that arrangements had been completed by the government for the handling of grain shipments of the new transcontinental line between Winnipeg and St. Boniface over Canadian Northern connections.

This arrangement furnishes a complete through route to the elevators over the new railway for the present season and is the result of negotiations by the minister with Mackenzie & Mann, Canadian Northern railway. It means that the Grand Trunk Pacific will handle a large amount of this season's grain crop.

SOME FEATURES OF FALL FAIR

SPLENDID VARIETY OF ATTRACTIONS ARRANGED

Driving and Trotting Races Every Day—Entries Pouring in Fast

If variety of attractions, abundance of amusement, excellence of exhibits and plenty of good sport will draw a good crowd, the provincial exhibition which starts on the 27th inst. should be thronged during the whole of the five days it will be in progress.

Secretary Sangster, of the B. C. Agricultural Association, stated this morning to the Times that he expected the fair to be the biggest and best yet held, and when the splendid records of past years are taken into consideration, this means that a magnificent showing in every department will be made.

A feature of the exhibition will be the museum. First and foremost of these is the time-honored bronchobusting display for which six experienced white cowboys and several Indian experts have entered. A number of horses are coming from Keramos, Vernon, Chilliwack, Delta and other places, and a series of exceptionally exciting feats can be expected. In addition to the A. G. Barnes circus, which will be a new departure in the entertainment line, concessions have been let for twelve side shows, so that there will be always "something doing" along the "spiclers' walk."

There will be driving and trotting races every day, a fine programme having been arranged. No betting will be allowed, and the contests will be almost entirely amateur ones. The programme arranged is as follows:

Thursday, September 27.—1. Gentleman's driving races, 1 mile, heats 2 in 3, to an appropriate 2 or 3 wheeled vehicle. For horses that have not been raced during 1910, and to be owned by the person entering them for 30 days previous to race. Hobbies barred. Amateur drivers: 1st, silver cup and $50; 2nd, $25; 3rd, $15.

Wednesday, September 28th.—2. Two-year-old trot or pace, for B. C. bred horses; half mile heats, 2 in 3; hobbies barred: 1st, silver cup and $50; 2nd, $25; 3rd, $15.

Thursday, September 29th.—3. 2 1/2 trot and 2 1/2 pace, 1 mile heats, 3 in 5; five per cent. to enter: 1st, $300; 2nd, $100; 3rd, $50; 4th, $40.

4. Flat race, one mile, for members of hunt clubs or riding schools (amateur): 1st, $75; 2nd, $25.

Friday, September 30th.—5. Three-year-old or under, trot for B. C. bred horses; half mile heats, 2 in 3; 35 to enter: 1st, silver cup and $50; 2nd, $25; 3rd, $15.

Saturday, October 1st.—6. Green pacers; 1 mile heats, 2 in 3; five per cent. to enter: 1st, $100; 2nd, $35; 3rd, $15.

7. Grand steeplechase, for members of hunt clubs, with pig pen and water jumps: 1st, $55; 2nd, $35; 3rd, ribbon.

Entries for the horse show are pouring in and the showing should surpass that of any previous Victoria fair. Nearly all the box stalls have already been reserved by Vancouver and Calgary parties, the prices being $15 and $20 for the three days during which the show will continue. Three special prizes of $40, $25 and $10 have been offered for the best decorated boxes, and the building will no doubt resemble a veritable fairyland. Arrangements have been made to light it at the most up-to-date fashion, and the difference between night and day will be scarcely noticeable inside.

Practically all the stock raisers of Delta and district will be represented, and a big contingent will attend from Chilliwack, in addition to those from nearer mainland and island points.

The abundant crops of fruit which have been raised this year will make the fruit exhibits greater than in previous years, both as regards quantity and quality, Vancouver Island having an especially fine showing.

The Millside Mushroom Company, of this city, will feature a large mushroom bed and an exhibit of mushroom products in its booth.

Secretary Sangster is hoping for a large number of children's parties. "We are offering good prizes," he said, "and there are enough Victoria children owning ponies and handsome turkeys to make a good showing."

Among the prizes recently added to the horse show list are the following: Standard bred horses—To be shown to appropriate four-wheeled vehicle: 1st, $100; 2nd, $50; 3rd, ribbon.

14B. Pair of trotting horses: 1st, $25; 2nd, $15.

Tandem—35 A. Other than Sietlands under 13 hands: 1st, $20; 2nd, $10.

Livery rigs as let for hire—50. Pair of mares or geldings to be shown to a landau: 1st, $25; 2nd, $15.

Every possible precaution will be taken to ensure comfort for those attending the fair. The arrangements for supplying lunch will be better than in any previous years. The restaurant will be in good hands, and in addition to this regular dining room, refreshment booths will be erected by the King's Daughters, W. C. T. U., Congregational church and other organizations.

RIGHT ARM TORN OFF. Chinaman Succumbs to Terrible Injuries. His right arm torn off at the shoulder by revolving shafting in the Michigan Puget Sound mill shortly after 3 p. m. yesterday, a Chinese employee was found shrieking with pain by other workmen. He was taken, in an unconscious state, to the St. Joseph's hospital, where he died an hour later. None of the other employees in the mill witnessed the accident, but it is supposed that a pick, which he was using to steady lumber on a carrier feeding one of the dressing machines, slipped out of his grasp and in attempting to regain it his arm was drawn into the shafting. His cries brought others to him too late to aid him, as his arm was torn from his shoulder, only a short stump being left. The coroner has been notified and an inquest will be held.

PERSONAL. Chief Justice Macdonald leaves next week on a trip to the east. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Elliot, Mrs. and Miss Langley left today for England. Miss Betty Johnson of Nelson is visiting Miss Blackmore at 191 Rockland avenue. Capt. and Mrs. Gidley, Victoria, West, left this afternoon for a brief visit to Vancouver. Dr. E. C. Hart, who has been on an extended visit to the east, is expected home this afternoon. Dr. Edward Hasell has been the guest of W. E. Oliver at his summer residence on Cowichan Lake.

Mr. Douglas Macdonald, Head-Street, was hostess on Thursday at a tea in Miss Perry's honor. The Misses Landis, after spending a week in Victoria with relatives, left for Bellingham last Thursday. Thomas J. Worthington and wife, of Seattle are here the guests of J. A. Worthington, Government Street. Mrs. Musgrave of Esquimalt left during the week for Prince Rupert to join her husband, Captain Musgrave.

Mrs. William Holmes left during the week for Montreal to go to her sister, Mrs. Austin, who is very seriously ill. Mr. and Mrs. Cuggage will spend a holiday on their yacht "Alba," cruising among the Gulf Islands, for a week or more. Miss Nellie Fuggle left yesterday afternoon on the Princess Charlotte for Tacoma to resume her musical studies at Aquinas Academy.

Mrs. Edward Lonias and family, who have been camping during the summer months on Cowichan Lake, left during the week for their home in Quinlan. Rev. J. and Mrs. Rippon have left Victoria on route for England on S. S. "Tumbler." They have been staying for about two months with their son-in-law, G. A. Hawkes. Mr. Rippon's health has considerably improved during their stay. William L. Bond left yesterday on a business trip to Mexico. He will journey to Mexico City by rail and then proceed to the Pacific coast by way of the Balas river and the overland trail from Balas to Acapulco.

Mr. George Douglas of Cowichan Lake gave a most delightful picnic last Saturday, conveying his guests by launch to the head of the lake. Among those present were: Mr. J. MacKenzie, Mr. F. Bannister, Mr. Ford, Mr. K. Gillespie, Mr. Purver, Mrs. Douglas and others. Miss Marguerite Little was hostess of a very jolly supper at the Oak Bay golf links on Wednesday evening in honor of today's bride. There were present: Miss Perry, Miss Little, Miss L. Eberis, Miss Mason, Miss D. Mason, Miss V. Paulsen, Miss G. Irving, Miss Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Elliot, Mr. Lawry, Mr. Montell, Mr. Arbuckle, Mr. Twigg, Mr. J. Bromley, Mr. Matthews, Mr. Darcy Martin, Mr. Carew Martin, Miss Kathleen Dunsmuir, Miss Marie Young, Miss N. Combs, Mr. Clarke (Gambler), Mr. J. James and others. CHANGE IN ROUTE TO AVOID DIFFICULTIES. William Mackenzie's Explanation—Says it Does Not Affect Contract. (Special to the Times.) Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 3.—President William Mackenzie, of the C. N. R., who arrived here this morning and left later for Victoria, when asked about the application for a change in the route under the old E. Y. & P. charter, said that it was merely to avoid certain difficulties in construction. He refused to look upon the question as in any way affecting the company's agreement with the Mc-Bride government.

GREAT SHIPBUILDING LOCKOUT IN ENGLAND. Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, Sept. 3.—Fifty-four thousand workers in the boiler-shops here were locked out today by shipbuilding firms. More trades are to be affected and it is expected that 100,000 of the allied trades will be out within a day or so. The workers declare that the agreement entered into between the employers and workmen in 1908 has been violated, and they demand that the old agreement be lived up to.

OBITUARY RECORD. This afternoon the funeral of the late Catherine Irene, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herriek McGregor, took place from her family residence, Oak Bay. Rev. W. Barton officiated and the remains were interred in Ross Bay cemetery.

There passed away at Nanaimo on Thursday night Joseph Shaw, the pioneer boat-builder of the Coast. Deceased was a native of New Brunswick and was 80 years of age. He had resided in Nanaimo for 22 years, and prior to that time had followed his trade in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. James Owens, Jr., mourn the loss of their infant son, Edward Desmond, who died at the residence of his grandmother, Tenney's road, last night. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence and at 2.15 o'clock at St. Mark's church. Interment will be made in Ross Bay cemetery.

The remains of the late Thomas Anderson were interred in Ross Bay cemetery this morning. In the presence of a large number of sympathizing friends, the cortege left the Victoria Undertaking Parlors at 8.45 o'clock and proceeded to the Roman Catholic cathedral, where Rev. Father Laterne conducted services. Rev. Father Daly read the services for the dead at the graveside. Members of the Longshoremen's union attended in large numbers. The floral tributes presented were beautiful. Following were the pallbearers: C. Johnston, W. Pollard, H. Gelbraith, A. McKinnon, J. Lackey and C. Wiffler.

GENERAL BOOTH'S OFFER.

London, Sept. 3.—General Booth has made a notable offer to the state in the course of a speech at South Shields. He said that if the government would lend him the price of a single Dreadnought at 2 1/2 per cent, he would place on small holdings on the land 2,000 families, representing 10,000 souls, and repay the loan in forty-four years. The men he would settle would be chosen from among the unemployed, with their wives and children.

FORTY-TWO HINDUS ARE NOW ON TRIAL

Charged With Sedition and Conspiracy Against British Rule in India

Calcutta, Sept. 3.—Forty-two Hindus, many of them men of mature years and of recognized position, are now on trial at Dacca, charged with conspiracy to subvert British rule in India, with sedition, and with waging war against the King-Emperor. The prisoners were arrested early last month. In Calcutta the police seized documents revealing a conspiracy affecting every province in India, and extending even to Burma. It is believed to be the proceeds of dacoity or political blackmail, and machinery for making cartridges.

The trial is exciting the greatest interest throughout India, as it is regarded as the culmination of a long series of incidents that have marked the growth of political outrage and sedition.

An attempt has been made to intimidate witnesses by sending to the police a parcel containing a human head and a warning that a certain high official will shortly be beheaded.

RECORD PEEP AT SATURN. Astronomers From All World Gather on Mount Wilson.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 3.—The astronomers from all parts of the world, who since Tuesday have been attending the sessions of the International Union for co-operation in solar researches, closed their formal conference last night at the Carnegie observatory on Mount Wilson. They are being entertained at a banquet to-day by Dr. Geo. E. Hale, director of the Carnegie observatory, and will leave on visits to various observatories in the United States.

GENEROUS CONSTABLES. Made Up Widow's Loss to Her When They Heard of It.

New York, Sept. 3.—A frail little woman struggling under the weight of a big bundle of soiled linen, came sobbing into a downtown New York police station late yesterday evening. She told the lieutenant in charge that she was a widow with three little children, and earned $2 a week by scrubbing floors and a little extra by washing and ironing. On her way home she had lost her pocketbook containing $10.55, of which $10.50 was for rent.

The lieutenant pushed an electric button in front of him. In about a minute all the policemen on reserve duty had lined up in front of the desk. "Say, you fellows," said the lieutenant, "this woman has lost her pocketbook. There was $10.55 in it and all but 25 cents was for the rent to keep a roof over the heads of the children. This is what I'm going to do."

With that he held up a greenback. Every man went down into his pocket and turned over the money to the lieutenant. The officer counted the money carefully and handed it to the woman. "Here is your rent and something over," he said brusquely. "God bless you, and run along—now don't thank us, you'll embarrass us if you stay any longer. Good night."

DREDGING ST. LAWRENCE.

Montreal, Sept. 3.—"There will be no let up in the dredging of the St. Lawrence ship channel," said Mr. Alex. Johnston, deputy minister of marine and fisheries.

"In some sections of Canada the expenditure of the appropriations passed at the last session having been accomplished we have had naturally to stop dredging, but this will not apply to the channel between Montreal and Quebec. This is to be made as safe as possible for the largest vessels, particularly at Cap a la Roche."

Mr. Johnston had just returned from a trip to Halifax, and stated that one reason why the expenditures for dredging had already been used was because the season opened unusually early.

MONTENEGRO A KINGDOM.

Cettinje, Montenegro, Sept. 3.—The little principality of Montenegro, which by the elevation of Bulgaria to sovereign rank in 1908, was left the sole Balkan state not enjoying the title of kingdom, will join its sister states when the principality will be declared a kingdom and Prince Nicholas, its picturesque ruler, will take the title of King of Montenegro, and for the first time in his life receive the royal salute of 101 guns.

TALKED LONG AFTER PRONOUNCED DEAD

For 54 Minutes After Body Had Become Cold and Rigid Man Spoke

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—To all appearances dead, with eyes glazed, pulsation stopped, his body cold and rigid, Theodore Bailey for twenty-seven minutes continued to talk to his wife and daughter till his vocal organs became paralyzed. He continued the conversation for eighteen minutes more with his daughter by means of the deaf and dumb alphabet.

Bailey was assistant manager of the Philadelphia Power Co., and while not strong physically was a man of unusual nerve power and mentality. He had been operated on, without hope of success. His condition grew worse, and at 11.45 he died, to all appearances. His eyes became fixed, a slight tremor passed through his body and then it became rigid with the exception of his hands and throat. His eyes nearly closed. The nurse indicated that death had come. Word was sent to his friends who waited outside.

Then, in a whisper, with tremendous mental effort to master the inert muscles of the throat, Bailey began again to talk. For twenty-seven minutes he gave directions for the care of his estate and the education of his daughter, Laura, fifteen years old, besides uttering phrases for the comfort of his wife. All this time his eyes were half closed and fixed.

At 12.12 his voice failed him. After trying to master it he made a motion with his hand indicating that he wished to write. A pencil and pad were brought. He scribbled meaningless lines at first, but then clearly wrote "Paralysis," indicating by a motion the cords of his throat. A moment afterward one hand, resting on the pillow, was lifted till a finger touched his forehead, indicating that he was still conscious. His eyes were closed and there was no indication of pulse. He had all the appearance of a dead person, but gradually his fingers began to work, and he delivered a message by the deaf and dumb alphabet.

BRYAN'S ADVICE. Thinks Roosevelt Should Speak For La Follette.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 3.—W. J. Bryan, in his paper, the Commoner, suggests that Roosevelt should go to the aid of Senator La Follette, who is being fought by the administration forces.

"La Follette is fighting desperately for his senatorial life. It is Roosevelt's opportunity to test practically his insurgency," says the Commoner. "Roosevelt is said to dislike La Follette personally. That is, at no moment at this time when the special interests in the Republican party are trying to defeat the Wisconsin senator. La Follette has been true to the public interests. He has not done everything the Democrats would have had him do, but he has made a determined fight according to his convictions, and is entitled to the cordial support of men like Roosevelt, who prefer to be counted on the side of the masses rather than aligned with the special interests."

"If Roosevelt would deliver one speech for La Follette it would advance the cause of insurgency in all sections."

IDAHO PRIMARIES. Insurgent Secured Republican Congressional Nomination.

Boise, Ida., Sept. 3.—Carrying every county save two, by pluralities ranging from 200 to 2,000, Eugene French, insurgent, secured the Republican nomination for congress, according to the latest returns from the primary election held Tuesday. French's victory was the most overwhelming ever given a candidate for office in Idaho, and it stamps the state as insurgent from the northern panhandle to the southern boundary. French ran against Congressman Hamer, regular, who was up for re-election.

Governor Brady was renominated on first and second choice. His plurality over his three opponents probably will be 60,000, while his majority probably will be 300 votes. Brady carried 180 of 230 counties. His opponent at the general election in November will be Jas. H. Hawley, who was given the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

TO FIGHT VIVISECTION.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—That Miss Elisea Anna Gwynne, late of Toronto, had very strong views with regard to vivisection and that she was willing to show the courage of her convictions with her money is evidenced by the contents of her will filed in the surrogate court yesterday. Miss Gwynne gives $75,000 to the British Union for the Abolition of Vivisection. The Toronto Humane Society also benefits largely, getting $25,000. The Sarnia Humane Society gets $5,000. Miss Gwynne's estate amounts to $192,625.

STRIKE SETTLED.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Fifty thousand striking miners in the Illinois district probably will resume work next Wednesday. The committee representing the strikers and the mine owners expect to reach a compromise satisfactory to all parties in the controversy to-night. The terms of the agreement have not been announced. It is reported that the operators practically agreed to the demands made by the miners. It is estimated that the strike has cost the operators $29,000,000.

SURVIVORS RESCUED.

Mashia, Sept. 3.—Rescued by the timely arrival of the liner Germania, eleven survivors of the wrecked Norwegian trawler Bertha, which went on the rocks off Barras Island, arrived in this port to-day. They report the Bertha a total wreck, beyond all possibility of being saved. The Bertha was en route to Japan when she was lost.

WATER SUPPLY.

The peculiar ideas some people entertain as to the origin and quality of water are illustrated in a letter published in this issue of the Times. Sooke Lake is described as a fountain of living, pure water, bubbling up from some mysterious depths at the base of the sea of mountains surrounding the reservoir.

One has only to make a visit to Sooke Lake early in the spring when the rainy season is nearing its end and another trip to the same place at the present season of the year, and compare the height of the water at the different seasons, to realize from whence the "fountain" draws its supplies of "spring" water.

Another correspondent, whose letter we do not print because we do not think it worth the space it would occupy, says there is plenty of water in Elk Lake to supply Victoria at its present rate of growth for ten years to come.

at the port of Montreal were the largest on record. It is the desire of Canadians that the investment of British capital in their country shall be encouraged and that no obstacles should be permitted to stand in the way of investments earning substantial dividends.

On a notable feature of the tariff agitation in the United States is that all the more prominent commercial journals support the demand for reductions and the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty with Canada.

Victoria is being reconstructed. And the work is proceeding with some approach to vim; at last. In another year or two many sections of the city will scarcely be recognizable so greatly will the improvements alter their appearance.

Hamilton Times: One British manufacturer has just booked an order for $30,000 worth of motor delivery wagons, trucks, and cars for Rio Janeiro.

So Victoria is to have a first-class theatre after all. Just try to conceive of a city of between forty and fifty thousand population being without such an institution, and particularly a city whose people are very liberal patrons of the dramatic and musical arts.

CARDINAL LEGATE ON THE WAY TO MONTREAL

His Eminence Expresses His Appreciation of the Warm Welcome Extended: (Special to the Times.) Three Rivers, Que., Sept. 2.—At dawn to-day the Lady Grey, with his eminence Cardinal Vannutelli, Archbishop Bruchesi and other dignitaries on board, arrived here on route for the eucharistic congress at Montreal.

Accompanying him is Count Vannutelli, nephew of the cardinal legate. "I am delighted with Canada," the count declared this morning. "My uncle was deeply touched with the reception given him. He expected a cordial welcome, but hardly imagined that Canadian Catholics were so deeply attached to the Holy See."

On her trip up river the Lady Grey is closely followed by the government steamer Montmagny. By the courtesy of Hon. L. P. Brodeur an invitation to make the trip to Montreal on board the Montmagny was extended to the Quebec members of the senate and House of Commons, as well as representatives of the press.

KILLED BY BLACK DAMP: Foyall, Wash., Sept. 2.—Eugene Goff, 51, and Guy Ronnes, 17, are dead to-day as a result of suffocation by black-damp in a well they began boring yesterday.

PUGET SOUND OYSTERS: Seattle, Wash., Sept. 2.—A heavy demand to-day marks the real opening of the oyster season, and the Puget Sound product is held at $2 a gallon.

SERIOUS FIRE IN FAIRBANKS: Seattle, Wash., Sept. 3.—According to advices dated August 6 and received here to-day from Fairbanks, Alaska, that town was visited by a serious fire, a warehouse owned by E. R. Peoples being entirely destroyed. The loss is $50,000.

CLOAK-MAKERS WIN COMPLETE VICTORY

New York Employers Make Many Concessions and 80,000 Return to Work: (Times Leased Wire.) New York, Sept. 2.—Rejoicing is great to-day throughout the East Side. Eighty thousand cloak-makers are preparing to return to work, having through suffering and without disorder won a complete victory.

The employers have granted the strikers practically everything that was demanded, and have agreed to give unanimous preference when hiring labor. Among the concessions made by the employers are the following: A nine hour day, average wages of $10.25 weekly, with more for piece workers; a sanitary board and an arbitration committee for the settlement of labor disputes.

FORCED TO FLY FROM BURNING FREIGHTER: Westport Founders in Mid-Atlantic—Captain and Twelve Men Lost: (Times Leased Wire.) Boston, Sept. 2.—"Abiase and abandoned by its crew, who were forced to take to the life boats, the freighter Westpoint is adrift in mid-ocean."

UNKNOWN DROWNED: As the Charlotte was coming in this afternoon an unknown man jumped out of the water apparently afraid he would be run down. A boat was put off from the steamer but he was drowned before it could reach him.

SACRAMENTO FAIR: Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 1.—What is predicted will be the greatest state fair in the history of California opened to-day. The weather, though sunny, is cool and thousands of persons flocked to the grounds.

An Attractive Display of New Fall Models in Tailor-Made Suits. Many of these new suits are severely tailored and distinctly mannish in cut. Others in fancy effects, handsomely trimmed with novelty braids, velvet pipings and buttons. Coats, cut on straight, semi-fitting lines, are prominent, and the collection also includes a number of smart, tight-fitting models. Lengths vary from 32 to 38 inches. Linings are of satin and peau de cygne. The new narrow-cut skirts are featured, and many plain-gored and cluster-plaited styles are in evidence. The colorings include navy blue, brown, green, grey, tan, wisteria, black and novelty mixtures. Prices: $25.00 $30.00 $35.00 $37.50 $40.00 $45.00

Hats That Suggest Paris. A handsome lot of Hats are now being shown, importations by us direct from the most noted milliners of Europe. Striking styles, which are clever adaptations of our own milliners, developed under the guidance of Paris modes, but far lower in price, are now to be seen here in endless array. Girlish Hats For Young Heads. Many a young girl will be delighted with the pretty, fashionable hats which have just been taken out of their shipping boxes. These are made by experts who know how to please young girls. The very fashionable Persian, Turkish and cashmere effects predominate in both tailored and semi-dress hats. Prices most moderate.

Fall Exhibit of Women's New High Grade Footwear. Shoemaking has become a fine art—the touch of distinction and refined elegance showing the expert craftsman is apparent in the best footwear models of to-day. America leads the world in the manufacture of fine shoes, and at our store can be seen the best that America produces. This season's fashions prove the master's skill—his deft hand shows graceful lines that one would hardly think it possible for shoes to look so small; short vamps, high heels and arch all tend to deceive the eye into the most pleasing shoe illusion yet conceived. Better come in and let us show you them.

REGIMENTAL ORDERS

Efficiency Pay to be Distributed at a Parade Called for Friday Evening Next.

Major W. Ridgway-Wilson, adjutant, has issued the following regimental orders for general information at the command of Lieut.-Col. A. W. Currie: The following extract from advance copy of general orders, dated headquarters, Ottawa, August 2nd, 1910, is published for general information: "Military District No. 11—Lieut.-Col. and Brevet Col. J. Peters, district officer commanding, is retired 1st September, 1910."

It was district officer commanding, Lieut.-Col. R. L. Wadmore from the Royal Canadian Regiment, vice Lieut.-Col. J. Peters, 1st September, 1910. The regiment will parade at the drill hall on Friday, September 9th, at 8 p.m. Dress: Undress uniform. At the above parade the efficiency pay will be distributed to those whose equipment is reported complete. The regular monthly meeting of the officers' mess will be held in the drill hall on Thursday, September 8th, at 8.30 p.m. Dress: Muff.

BAND CONCERT MONDAY

Ald. Humber and Mayor Morley to Defray Cost of Music on Labor Day.

The last band concert of the season is to be given on Monday afternoon at Beacon Hill park at the expense of Mayor Morley and Ald. Humber. Arrangements were made between these members of the council at last night's meeting of the streets committee.

Ald. Humber asked that a sum of money be contributed to the appropriation for parks for the holding of a concert on Labor Day. To this the mayor replied that a great deal of money had already been spent on concerts, and he proposed that the representative from Ward 2 donate the required amount instead of giving the members of the council the extra support he had promised them at the street returns to the civic body.

This lead Ald. Humber to make a business-like proposition to the mayor. He stated that he would pay half of the expense if the mayor would defray the other portion. The mayor announced his acceptance of the proposal.

The honorary president, Mrs. Henry Croft, escorted by Boy Scouts, will declare the fair open. "The Maple Leaf" will then be sung by H. Helgeson, after which short addresses are expected from Hon. W. J. Bowser, minister of agriculture, Hon. W. Haugh Allen and others. In the evening an informal entertainment will be given, including a brief speech by John Jardine, M. P., and several musical numbers.

Once in a great while promoters make good. The Amalgamated Development company has done so.

WOULD WIDEN FORT A FURTHER DISTANCE

Property Owners on Thoroughfare Wait on Streets Committee With Scheme

Property owners on Fort street are desirous of having this thoroughfare widened from Douglas street to the city limits. At the meeting of the streets, sewers and bridges committee held last evening a deputation waited on the councillors and presented a petition for the widening of Fort street from Cook to Linden avenue.

A. E. Todd, speaking for the deputation, stated that they wished to have the roadway widened to a uniform width of seventy-six feet, to be paved, lighted with cluster lights and also to have the wires placed underground. He also requested that the sidewalk be widened to the uniform distance of 12 feet, that the city bear one-third of the cost and that the city's share of expense should not exceed $14,999, all the other costs to be borne by the ratepayers on the basis of assessment for the widening and expropriation work and all other details be arranged on a frontage basis.

Continuing, Mr. Todd said that the property owners would like to have the work done at the same time as that on the lower portion of Fort street and as quickly as possible. Mr. Todd stated that it would be an excellent thing for the city to have this undertaking accomplished as it would improve that street immensely. He informed the council that in a very short time he would be able to present to the committee further petitions for the continuing of this scheme to the city limits. The speaker felt that the property owners past the Oak Bay junction would favor the proposal greatly and that there would be little difficulty in securing the land for widening purposes.

Mr. Todd stated that it would take a little time to educate the people to the proposed undertaking, yet he felt quite confident that it could be accomplished. The street between the head of Yates and the junction is under the present conditions extremely dangerous, but what it would be in the future in a growing city like this he was unable to estimate. The traffic there is congested and many accidents have been narrowly averted.

The people rejected the proposition before because they naturally expected that the city should defray some of the expense. If, however, the owners recognized that the city will bear its share of the cost, then he thought that the proposal would almost be unanimously carried.

It was proposed by Albert Haynes, one of the members of the deputation, that a committee from the council be appointed to approach the property owners in that section on the question and find out if there were any objections and what they were. The streets committee, however, did not give their consent to the motion.

The petition for the widening of the street from Cook street to Linden avenue was received and referred to the city assessor for the usual report.

GROINS AT ROSS BAY

City Engineer Reports That Foreshore Protection Work is Well Under Way.

The city engineer presented a report at the meeting of the streets committee last evening on the construction of the groins at Ross Bay cemetery, which was adopted. It read as follows: "The construction of the groins is well under way, and I am informed by the inspector that the two groins will be built somewhat under the estimate of $300. In the appropriation made in the first of the year an allowance of $6,000 was made for the cemetery foreshore protection. I would suggest that the four-inch planking that was torn away for a distance of approximately 400 feet, opposite the cemetery, be replaced on the sea side of the piles and carefully bolted. I estimate that this will cost approximately $200."

PERRY-JOHNSTON NUPTIALS TO-DAY

PICTURESQUE WEDDING AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

Interesting Event Witnessed by Many Friends of Contracting Parties

A most picturesque wedding was solemnized at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Christ Church cathedral, the contracting parties being Miss Gladys Borlase Perry, daughter of the late Charles E. Perry, Victoria, and ward of her uncle, Hon. E. G. Prior, and Mr. Charles C. Johnston, Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Trotter-Johnston, Somenas, B. C.

The sacred edifice had been most artistically decorated for the occasion with a profusion of white flowers of various kinds, relieved by ferns and other greenery. Large arches spanned the centre aisle, and the altar, chancel rail and choir loft carried the same chaste and beautiful color scheme of white and green.

The bridal party were met at the door by the choir boys, who preceded them to the altar, singing the beautiful hymn "The Love That Breathed o'er Eden."

Seven of Victoria's fairest, maids attended the bride: Miss Vera Mason, Miss Helen Peters, Miss Genevieve Irvine, Miss Marguerite Little, Miss Lorna Eberts, Miss Doris Mason and Miss Violet Pooley.

These were all becomingly gowned in white satin with Dutch necks and elbow sleeves inset with lace medallions, and nylon overdresses, caught in with wide embroidered bands. They wore white tulle Charlotte Corday hats, with lace boucree underbrims, finished with cream satin bow, and carried shepherdess crooks with white satin streamers and trails of white clematis. The effect was extremely quiet and pretty.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Hon. E. G. Prior, was very sweet and charming in a lovely Paris gown of ivory duchesse satin fashioned of tight-fitting Princess lines with modish draped court train, having draped bodice, underdress, and sleeves of coarse weave silk net, heavily embroidered in rich raised effect and finished with satin bands. A long veil caught with orange-blossoms, and a bouquet of bride's roses, completed an exquisite toilette. She also wore the groom's gift, a very beautiful diamond bow-knot pendant.

The impressive marriage ceremony was conducted by Very Rev. A. J. Doull. Mr. H. A. Bromley officiated as best man and Messrs. H. D. Twiss, Clark Gumble, Roger Monteith, Arthur Lowrie, Jack Cambie and J. C. Young were the ushers.

A very large number of friends were present in the cathedral, and a reception is being held this afternoon on the beautiful grounds surrounding Hon. E. G. Prior's home, Pemberton road. Two large marquees festooned with white clematis, asters, and other white blossoms are being used for refreshment booths. The ideal weather prevailing will make the gathering a memorable one. Miss Thain's orchestra is furnishing the music. In the dining room the wedding gifts are displayed, all of which are very beautiful and costly. Worthy of especial mention is the united offering of the attendants of the bride and groom, a case of sterling silver.

The groom's gift to his bride's fair attendants were chosen with great care and to suit individual needs and tastes. To Miss Doris Mason he gave a pearl and peridot pendant; to Miss Lorna Eberts, a pearl and amethyst pendant; to Miss Marguerite Little, pearl and peridot earrings; to Miss Vera Mason, hoops of brilliants; to Miss Helen Peters, a pearl bar brooch; to Miss Irving, a pearl and turquoise brooch; to Miss Violet Pooley, a turquoise and pearl bar brooch.

To his own attendants, he gave handsome hunting crop scarf pins. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will motor this evening to Mrs. Prior's summer home at Shawnigan Lake, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride's going-away costume is of green cloth, smartly tailored, and a becoming morning bonnet.

THERE ARE OTHERS.
"Please, Mumsey, just five cents," begged Johnnie.

WILL SUBMIT TELEPHONE BY-LAW ONCE AGAIN

Another Vote to Be Taken on the Proposition to Put Wires
Underground

At the next civic elections to be held in January the by-law for the placing of the overhead wires of the B. C. Telephone Co. underground will again be submitted to the ratepayers. Members of the streets committee were unanimous in their opinion last evening that this by-law should be presented to the people once more, and will recommend this step to the city council.

The mayor asked the opinion of the city solicitor on the placing of this by-law before the people at the same time as the Goldstream proposition. Mr. McDiarmid replied that under the provisions of the Municipal Classes Act the same by-law cannot be submitted a second time in the same year without an interval of 60 days, and as the Goldstream by-law is to be voted on before that time expires it will have to be left over until the beginning of next year. One-fifteenth of the number of electors qualified to vote must first petition the council that the measure be again presented to the people and they must bind themselves to defray all expenses in connection with it.

The city solicitor gave a verbal report to the effect that if the by-law for the $100,000 loan had passed it would mean no extension of the franchise of the telephone company. But this was the idea that many of the ratepayers had got hold of. Mr. McDiarmid showed the council that by looking up the records he had discovered that the B. C. Telephone Co. possesses a perpetual charter. A company styled the Vernon and Nelson Telephone Company had secured a charter from the provincial legislature giving it the privilege to amalgamate with any other company and to change its name. The Vernon and Nelson had powers authorizing it to carry on business all over the province for all time. Later the B. C. Telephone Company was wound up and was absorbed by the Nelson and Vernon concern, which thereupon changed its name to the B. C. Telephone Company. Accordingly the present company of that name has practically a perpetual charter.

Ald. Sargison wished to know whether the council had any power to force the company to place its wires underground without awarding them a certain sum. He felt that if the by-law did not pass at the next elections that something would have to be done. Ald. Bannerman, however, did not think that there would be any danger of the by-law not passing, stating that it was purely through a misunderstanding that it failed to meet with the approval of the ratepayers.

It was discovered at the meeting last night that J. P. Mann, who acted as city solicitor until Mr. McDiarmid was able to fulfill the position, has refused to hand over some documents required by the solicitor. Ald. Raymond brought the matter before the meeting. He said that certain papers in connection with the suit over the expropriation of certain land on Bellott street for the purpose of extending that thoroughfare through to Linden avenue were now in the hand of Mr. Mann and the solicitor wished to look into them to find out the facts of the case. The city has delayed paying Mr. Mann the $3,400 which he asked as remuneration for his services and as a result he is holding the documents. He does not wish to sue for the money but is content to keep the papers until paid.

The legislative and finance committee of the council which meets on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock were instructed at this meeting to consider the matter and report to the council.

YOUNG "JOY RIDERS" CAUGHT AND FINED

Boys Who Took and Damaged G.
A. Richardson's Auto Plead Guilty

Through following the descriptions given, Detectives O'Leary and Heather last night effected the arrests of Joseph Davidson, a bell boy at the Empress hotel, and Henry Leroux, a youth employed at Lemon & Gonnason's mill, and lodged them in the city jail on a charge of taking the automobile of Geo. A. Richardson from the garage at his house, Cook and Pandora streets. The two accused this morning pleaded guilty and were fined $20 each, with the alternative of two weeks in jail.

Davidson told the court this morning that there were five of them altogether who took the machine. The names of the others were not given. Davidson said the five wheeled the machine out of the garage which they found unlocked, and pushed it on to the roadway and thence round into Chambers street. From there they employed a joy-ride for several hours, Davidson driving, until in putting on the brakes to avoid an obstruction on the road the machine collided with a pole near Yates and Quadra streets, and the hind wheel was torn off in the collision. The youths then abandoned the machine.

When the machine was taken from the garage it was without gasoline. The boys pushed it round the corner and left it there while they went away to obtain gasoline. Later they returned with sufficient juice to last through the joy-ride, having secured the gasoline from a store. Davidson said this morning that the machine got away when he attempted to apply the breaks on the homeward journey after they had enjoyed a long outing, and he was unable to prevent the accident.

The father of one of the boys has agreed to pay the damage to the machine which amounts to about $50.

CHALLENGE COMING FOR RUGBY FIFTEEN

Cup Holders Will Organize When Men Return to the City

The Victoria Rugby Clubs will be in receipt in a few days of an official challenge from the Vancouver Rugby union to play for the right to meet California for the Cooper-Keith trophy this year. The challenge for the trophy from challenging teams has to be filed by the end of the present month, and the game against the Californians would probably take place towards the end of December.

The challenge will have to be put in by the Californians themselves, and the British Columbia representative teams will have to play for the right to meet the Californians. Victoria at present holds the cup and the match will take place in either Victoria or Vancouver this year.

The Vancouver Rugby union decided at a meeting last night to send a challenge to Victoria, calling on the local team to meet Vancouver in a play-off match to decide which city shall meet the Americans, provided a challenge is received from them by the trustees.

The Victoria team would not be ready to meet the Vancouver team until the end of next month or the beginning of November, in fact the challenge matches, which will be played in Victoria will not take place until the grounds are in fit condition.

The Victoria Rugby clubs are not yet organized because the majority of the players are out of town. As soon as these return to the city the two Rugby clubs will commence business and any challenge received from Vancouver will be dealt with.

RAILWAY COMPANY AND MARKET BUILDING

Failure of V. & S. to Vacate Premises is Reported to the City Council
 Next Wednesday the agreement between the city and the Victoria Terminal and Sidney railway, by which the company promised to vacate the Market building, have a new station erected on Blanchard street and to place three trains on the Victoria & Sidney route each day instead of two, expires. None of the stipulations have been carried out.
 At last evening's meeting of the streets, sewers and bridges committee this matter was brought up. It was alluded to in the presence of the reporters but the representatives of the regular business the representatives of the streets committee were asked to leave the room and the matter was then privately discussed.
 City Solicitor McDiarmid stated that the time of their agreement was about up and he wished to know what action to take.
 Ald. Sargison said that the interests of the public should be protected and as the company has not lived up to its agreement they should be compelled to leave the building.
 Ald. Raymond did not favor the taking of such drastic action and thought that it would be best to have the city solicitor write the railway company and explain their position and the matter being put in the hands of the city solicitor with power to act. Mr. McDiarmid has not yet decided as to what steps he will take.

why you should not further imperil your temperance habits by committing your fair city to the liquid fallings of Goldstream.
 Are you aware that Elk Lake used to be a fine, cool body of spring water until the dam was raised to hold back the rainfall of the surrounding country? So much rain-water has entirely changed it as a drinking fount. Now the same applies to Goldstream. There is very little, if any, spring water there. It is only by holding back the rain in winter that a supply can be obtained; so you would still have your flat tasting water. On the other hand, Sooke Lake where, if we have it properly conveyed to our homes we will for long years to come be able to get a satisfactory drink without danger of having to resort to artificial liquids.
 All the talk about cost is so much rot. We've paid our way, so far and we can do it again.
 The talk about revenue from power is hot air. We voted away last fall our right to use power in opposition to the tramway. Our only hope for compensation lies in leaving Goldstream in the hands of a private company who can do as they please with their power.
 Beware, and be wise. Stand pat for Sooke and you won't have to take strong drink to bury your remorse.

DYSENTERY.
 To the Editor:—It is reported that this disease is very prevalent at present in this city. To any one troubled with that distressing ailment, I can recommend them to use powdered charcoal. It can be had in the drug shops put up in boxes ready for use with instructions how to use it. I have never known it to fail in curing dysentery and some very severe cases of that disease. Charcoal will not do any harm and can be taken until the disease is cured. ONE THAT HAS PROVED IT.

WATER PROBLEMS.
 To the Editor:—If your correspondent, "Aqua Pura" refers to "pure water," he errs in assuming that good drinking water must be pure water, that is to say, distilled water from which the free oxygen has been expelled, leaving it flat and insipid. This is a common error, and another is, that rain-water is, as a rule, pure. The latter, though containing a large amount of free oxygen, absorbs from the air poisonous acids, such as carbon dioxide and sulphuric acid. It soon becomes putrid. A further error is the faith of the public in an analysis of the water, an ineffective test, in the case of stored water collected from the hills, for the quality of such water continually varies, being, probably, at its best during frost, and at its worst during summer weather, but affected always by many influences.
 Of the sources of supply, "spring water" is the best, when unaffected by mineral deposits. The first expense may be heavy, but much further expense is not incurred, as is necessary in caring for reservoirs fed with "surface water" from the hills, laden with sediment. The latter source, though perhaps the most unsatisfactory, is by far the best when the surface water which has run some distance in a stream (the farther the better) is mixed with spring water. Even without the latter, the "surface" (or rain) water, in proportion to the length of the stream, tends to lose harmful impurities. But what happens when the stream ends in a lake?
 A different quality of water is produced. Off from the still water, the free oxygen, which is lighter than air, begins to permeate more freely in the liquid area the carbonic acid and other gases from decomposing matter in suspension, or at the bottom, including the various summer algae. For this process of putrefaction, kind nature supplies a remedy by covering the lake bottom with aquatic vegetation for instance—at any rate in Scotland, where "stuffed" (those "matters" "lakewort" (Littorella laevis), which covers the bottom like grass, and which winter, always green and fresh, giving off oxygen and absorbing poisonous gases. Here modern man's work, rather specially, begins, and what a mess he makes of it, untaught by Roman aqueducts! From a lake, more or less impure, he conveys water, defended from purifying influences by iron pipes sunk in the ground. The counteraction of this evil, as the consumer is approached, by filtration, artificial lakes, or reservoirs, is, of course, the hinge of the question, but I have not space here to deal with it. Each kind of water requires special treatment, "spring water," a deep reservoir, "surface water," a wide, shallow reservoir open to ruffling by the wind—the latter with "evergreen" aquatic plants to keep its contents sweet. The outlet pipe should not be close to the bottom, for in that case the supply drawn off contains the minimum amount of free oxygen. The best water in a reservoir which is fed by "surface" water, is at a few feet from the top. It is easy to arrange for the getting of this, whatever depth of water happens to be in the reservoir. The filter in a reservoir, so supplied, should be at the inlet. Artificial filtration, perhaps, hardly is what it is cracked up to be. Gravel beds, etc., only remove matter held in suspension. They do not make purer water good. Your correspondent, "Aqua Pura," describes our water as "heavily stuff to drink"—not fit for a self-respecting pig to drink!—wherefore he is "thrown sick on weak tea or pop." Many consumers agree with him, and it is averred that impure water, probably, claims more victims than do alcoholic drinks. My object is to suggest that the problem is more than an engineering one, and that, in conveying or storing water, nature's methods should be followed in relation to the effect of aerial, aquatic, animal and vegetable influence.

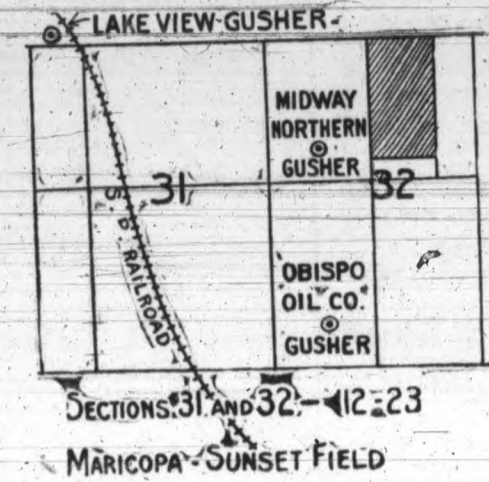

What Other People Think
SOOKE'S LIMPID WATERS.
 To the Editor:—Your correspondent in last evening's paper, while condemning Elk Lake as a drinking fount, is like the man who jumped out of the frying pan into the fire. Else why does he want to go to Goldstream to save himself from drunkenness? Better take a few cool beers, old man, and wait for Sooke. If you are not financially interested in Goldstream, if that magnanimous is not lining your pocket, then perhaps I may give you a few reasons.

CIVIC WORKMEN'S WAGES.
 To the Editor:—In to-night's paper I notice a letter in which complaint is made against the civic authorities for their very slack system of paying civic employees. I quite agree with the writer and admire him for stating the case so concisely.
 Why should the city hold wages due their employees for seven days? They claim that owing to the enormous number of men employed all this time is required in which to make up the pay sheets, etc. If this is the case would it not be more reasonable to the men for the mayor to employ more clerks in the city hall and pay the wages when due?

 There are cities in existence which employ thousands of men and pay them every week, and I fail to understand why Victoria could not do likewise.
 A laborer in Victoria earning $2.50 per day, if married, lives a hand to mouth existence. In a number of cases he cannot get credit, therefore if he has to wait seven days for wages due, he and his family are compelled to go without many necessities until the city hall, in all its wonderful magnificence, chooses to hand out to him his delayed pay.

 One more kick, sir, and I have finished. As you know, the civic employees have asked for a reasonable increase in wages. This request was treated in a very abrupt manner by Mayor Morley. Was this because the request found favor in the eyes of the city engineer? I am sorry that Mr. Smith did favor the increase. If he had been dead against it, I think the mayor would have granted it immediately.

NEW THEATRE SCHEME IS AGAIN REVIVED

Simon Leiser and Others Working on Scheme Which is Considered Promising

Should a scheme which is backed by John Cort, of the Northwest Theatrical Association, be brought to a successful consummation, Victoria is assured of a fine new theatre to be built on lot 41 and part of lot 42, on Government street, at the corner of Elliot street.

Since the failure of the efforts of leading citizens to secure a playhouse which would replace the present out-of-date Victoria theatre, the lease of which expires on December 31st this year, various proposals have from time to time been made, but the present scheme is the first of a feasible nature to be advanced.

Briefly stated the proposition stands as follows: The owners of the property referred to, which has an area of 140 feet by 80 feet, has offered the land in return for $20,000 worth of debentures in the theatre. Mr. Cort has estimated that the cost of the building will approximate $70,000 to $80,000.

Warden Reid had served for years and had been a leader in the movement for prison reform.

DIED YESTERDAY

Captain Amesbury, of Victoria and Vancouver Stevedoring Co., Passed Away Very Suddenly.

Captain Fred W. Amesbury, Vancouver manager of the Victoria and Vancouver Stevedoring Company, died yesterday at Vancouver quite suddenly. He was out driving with his wife the previous night, but on his return was taken seriously ill.

Captain Amesbury came out here years ago as master of the British barque Puritan, and had a distinction of making the record voyage in a sailing ship to this port, arriving in 107 days from the time of leaving. He was about fifty years of age.

BUYING AN AUTOMOBILE TIRE

You don't buy an Automobile Tire out and out, you buy it upon the understanding that under certain normal conditions of usage it will give you so many thousand miles of service—therefore the actual cost of a tire is not its initial purchase price, but the purchase price plus the cost of tire repairs, during the time you are running your car. Dunlop's Automobile Tires give a low average cost per mile, because, besides the quality of the tire, there is a further guarantee of service in the ready willingness of the Dunlop Company to thoroughly satisfy every user of Dunlop Tires.

Table with columns: Date, Time, High, Low, etc. for Victoria, September, 1910.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for high tide serve to distinguish high water from low water.

BLACK EYE FOR BALLINGER

Friend of Pinchot to Be Head of Bureau of Mines

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 2.—Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, said to be a foe of Secretary Ballinger and a known friend of Gifford Pinchot and James R. Garfield, has been appointed director of the new bureau of mines by President Taft. Secretary Ballinger, under whose department the new bureau falls, has been opposed to Holmes' appointment, and his selection by Taft has caused much surprise. Dr. Holmes was backed by a large delegation of western men. Congressman Tawney, chairman of the house appropriations committee, and other regulars opposed the appointment.

EXTRACT FROM "BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL"

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of cod liver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter nearly takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

"BUTTER-SCOTCH" which Messrs. Callard & Bowser (Duke's Road, Euston Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable. In fact, that children are more likely to need restraining, from excess than any persuading to take it. This BUTTER-SCOTCH is stated to contain 11 1/2 per cent. of fat and 7 1/2 per cent. of sugar, and the results of a specimen analysis which we have made recently of a specimen, substantially confirm these figures. Further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended not only as a harmless sweetener, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases. In all the principal candy stores in Victoria.

TENDERS

TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, Ottawa, and endorsed on the envelope "Tender for lighthouse and buoy steamer" for the Pacific Coast, will be received up to noon of the THIRTY-FIRST DAY OF OCTOBER, 1910, for the construction of a Twin Screw Steel Lighthouse and Buoy Steamer for the Pacific Coast, to be delivered at Victoria, B. C., and the following leading dimensions: namely—length between perpendiculars 200 feet, breadth 35 feet, depth 17 feet 6 inches, draft 12 feet 6 inches, and speed 12 knots per hour.

Plans and specifications of this steamer can be seen at the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, at the offices of the Collector of Customs, Toronto, Collingwood and Midland, and the Agencies of the Department of Marine and Fisheries at Montreal, Quebec, Victoria, B. C., Halifax and St. John, N. B.

Plans and specifications can be procured by application to the Purchasing and Contract Agent, Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, and from the Agent of this Department at Victoria, B. C. Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque in favor of the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries equal to 10 per cent. of the whole amount of the tender, which cheque will be forfeited if the successful tenderer declines to enter into a contract with the Department or fails to complete the steamer. Cheques accompanying unsuccessful tenders will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender. Newspapers copying this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid.

ALEXANDER JOHNSTON, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, Canada, 22nd Aug., 1910.

SEAMY SIDE OF GREAT STRIKE SUICIDE, CRIME AND STARVATION FOLLOW

Heartless Landlords Evict Families From Their Miserable Homes

New York, Sept. 3.—Rumors that a general strike affecting a million persons on the east side spread rapidly through New York yesterday. The first effect was upon the police department, where orders were quietly issued to strengthen the reserves in the precincts from 14th street to the Battery.

The men and women now out on strike number 75,000, of whom 10,000 are men. The remainder being women. Of the women, 15,000 are women and half of the strikers cannot speak English. The trades now on strike are the cutters, largely Americans, and the fishers and pressers, ignorant and poorly paid.

Their demands briefly are: Abolition of the home sweatshop; no more than 2 1/2 hours overtime during the rush season, thereby preventing the killing work of 18 and 20 hours; a 48-hour week; a definite minimum scale sufficient to maintain the worker during a part of the time he is idle, because of trade conditions; free use of power-driven sewing machines and other necessary appliances in the shops; strictly union shops.

The cutters, pressers and fishers have been on strike since July 7th. There has been little or no disorder but though spectacular features have been lacking the horror of the strike has been great. A train of suicide and crime by the men; of suicide and worse by the women, has followed in the wake of the strike. It is freely asserted that a general strike could create no worse conditions, save possibly to add riot and murder to the list.

The effect of a general strike on the clothing trade would be paralyzing. Five hundred shops already are closed at the height of the season. Fifteen hundred shops are running crippled, and thousands of shops would face ruin with the cessation of work at this time. The manufacturers of other cities could not meet the demands throughout the country of the fall and winter trade, and the cost of clothing would jump from 20 to 30 per cent, it is predicted.

Judge Smitken, hearing the hundreds of eviction cases which has resulted from the strike, rebuked George Hallock, Jr., a wealthy real estate owner, for his heartlessness, and suspended for a week an eviction case so that the defendant, Nathan Hyman, might attend the funeral of his wife.

Hyman's pitiful story touched the judge. A process server, he said, forced his way into the house and thrust a summons into his hand while he was kneeling with his children about the body of his wife, who died while the officer was knocking at the door. Hallock was complainant in the case.

"Did you know this man's wife was dead?" the court inquired sharply. Hallock admitted that he did. "They were undesirable tenants," he added defensively, "and I wanted them put out."

"Haven't you any feeling?" the judge asked. "It's a matter of business," Hallock replied. He was going to say more but the judge cut him off and lectured him severely. Then he postponed the case for a week and sent Hyman home, telling him to look out for his children as best he could and assuring him that he would not be disturbed until the funeral of his wife was over.

Forty strikers were jailed during the morning for violating Justice Goff's injunction against picketing or interfering in any way with the employees. Judge Smitken's court was crowded with parties to the eviction suits. In most of the cases, after a hurried hearing the judge extended the time. More suits were filed during the day, more than 1,500 now being on record.

$100,000,000 WAS MADE LAST YEAR

By Those Who Own Property in the Live and Growing Cities of Western Canada

WHAT PORTION OF THIS DID YOU MAKE?

From the most accurate figures obtainable, it is found that the assessed valuation of real estate in the live and growing cities of Western Canada last year increased more than $100,000,000. This does not include improvements, but the actual increase in value of real estate in these cities. The Winnipeg Free Press, securing its figures from "records which have been gathered directly from original sources," finds that in eight Western Canadian cities the increase in real estate values of land alone, and not improvements, for the past five years has averaged 562%, or an average annual increase of 112% for each of these cities during the past five years.

What do these Figures Indicate? They indicate that an investment in the live and growing cities of Western Canada is as safe and sure as anything can be, and that your investment is almost certain to make you 100% profit each year.

What Does This Mean to You? It means nothing unless you participate in the profits, and you can do this only by buying real estate in these young and vigorous Western Canadian cities. The time to buy is when a new city has passed through the "seasoning" stage—when it is in the formative period—when its natural resources and strategic position assure the building of a big city, along broad lines.

Watrous has all the natural advantages that any new city could wish, and, in addition, is destined to be one of the most popular health resorts of all America.

Watrous

Is the geographical centre of the great and growing Canadian West—The centre of the finest farming section in all Saskatchewan—The most attractive town of this new Golden Empire—The Central and Principal Divisional Point on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway—The natural point from which the Hudson's Bay Railway will be built to Port Nelson or Fort Churchill—In direct line between Regina and Prince Albert, and will be on line of railway when built between these two cities—The terminus of the branch line of the Grand Trunk Pacific to Prince Albert.

How Many Lots in Watrous Do You Want?

Are YOU going to purchase some lots in Watrous, and take advantage of the big increase in value which is practically sure to take place in this live and growing city in the next two or three years? Or are you going to procrastinate—hesitate—put off the matter until later on?

The money YOU make in Watrous will be through the ownership of lots you ACTUALLY PURCHASE, and not on the lots which you INTEND TO PURCHASE. Remember, "He who hesitates works for the other fellow."

Later on, when Watrous is one of the important and rapidly-growing cities of Western Canada, and real estate which is close in commands high and constantly-increasing prices, will YOU then be pointed out as one of those who took advantage of a live opportunity, or will you be one of those who lament their condition and discuss what "might have been?"

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen, The saddest are these—'It might have been.'"

Will the opportunity now presented, in a couple of years when lots in Watrous command high prices, be to you like "water that has passed over the mill-dam?"

Suppose you had purchased a few years ago lots close in at $100 in any of the Western Divisional Points on the C. P. R., your investment would have been safe and certain right from the start, and it would have been constantly and rapidly increasing in value.

Note the map showing the main line of road of the C. P. R. running west from Winnipeg. Note the Divisional Points—Brandon, Moose Jaw, Swift Current, Calgary, Medicine Hat, Revelstoke. If you had purchased lots in any one or all of these Divisional Points, when conditions were similar to those in Watrous to-day—when these young cities were about two years old, had a population of 1,500, and choice inside lots could be purchased at $100 each—there could be no doubt about the wisdom of your investment, which would likely be worth to-day not less than $10 for each dollar you invested. This opportunity, however, was presented a few years ago, but is now a thing of the past.

You now have the same opportunity in Watrous that was presented in these Divisional Point cities on the C. P. R. The Grand Trunk Pacific is the latest and destined to become the greatest of all the Transcontinental lines. Traversing as it does a great and rich territory, there can be no doubt that the Divisional Points on the Grand Trunk Pacific will in a few years be cities of equal size and importance with those on the C. P. R.

If you had, a few years ago, purchased ten lots in each of the six Western Divisional Points on the C. P. R., right in the heart of the city, at $100 each you could to-day write your check up in the six figures.

You cannot make a mistake if you buy lots in Watrous. It is a Central Divisional Point on a great Transcontinental line of railway, surrounded by rich agricultural territory and located near the banks of Little Manitou Lake, which will bring tourists by the thousands, to Watrous to avail themselves of the benefits afforded by this wonderful medicinal water.

Being a Divisional Point on a great line of railway is usually alone sufficient to make a city of considerable importance, but Watrous, on account of its natural advantages and strategic position, would be an important inland city even if it were not a Divisional Point.

An investment in real estate in Watrous offers a splendid opportunity for large and certain profits. And no line of investment during the last few years has been so safe and shown greater returns than an investment in lots in the rapidly-growing cities of Western Canada.

History DOES repeat itself, and it is usually safe to judge the future by the past. Therefore, it will be well for you to ponder over this fact: The C. P. R. was the first of the great Transcontinental lines of railway.

But let us carry this comparison a little further. Of the Great Western Provinces, Moose Jaw is the Central Divisional Point on the C. P. R., while Watrous is the Central Divisional Point on the Grand Trunk Pacific. Moose Jaw is now a city of 15,000 population and growing rapidly. It is but a few years since Moose Jaw was no larger than Watrous is to-day, and choice lots, close in, could have been purchased for $100 each. However, lots which sold in Moose Jaw a few years ago at $100 are to-day worth from $1,000 to $3,000, and they are advancing in price rapidly, just as the price of lots is advancing in practically all of the Western Canadian cities.

You can buy lots to-day in Watrous, close in, splendidly located, for $100, and in five years these lots in Watrous should be worth at least as much as the same kind of lots in Moose Jaw to-day. The "Ten Thousand Club" of Watrous is made up of the leading business men, and it is their ambition for Watrous to have 10,000 population by 1914. With a population of 10,000 in Watrous, lots which we are offering to-day for $100 will easily be worth $1,000.

THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

The last and greatest of the Transcontinental Railways—extending from Halifax, N. S., to Prince Rupert, B. C.—has been and will be an important factor in the growth and development of Watrous, this thriving little city being the Central Divisional Point for the Great Prairie Provinces on the G. T. P. Railway, and the terminus of the branch line of the G. T. P. to Prince Albert. Watrous being located midway between Winnipeg and Edmonton, where the present shops of the G. T. P. are located, it is quite certain that the Central Shops of the road will be located at Watrous. With the building of these great shops at Watrous and the employment of hundreds of men, the population will be at once doubled. Watrous being the Central Divisional Point, it is from here that the different branch lines to other important cities will radiate.

The Grand Trunk Pacific, in its course through the three Prairie Provinces, draws on a larger area of wheat-producing land than the entire wheat belt of the United States. Hon. Sydney Fisher says that this Great West will in a decade be producing a billion bushels of wheat annually.

The Grand Trunk Pacific is assisting in an energetic and vigorous manner in the building of the Great Empire to the North and to the West. This is truly the Land of Opportunity. Unequaled railway facilities are being supplied—towns and cities are showing magic growth. This Great Western Empire will have a population of 30,000,000 in a few years, and the cities which are well located will double and quadruple in population and real estate values.

Little Manitou Lake—"The Carlsbad of Canada."

Watrous, in addition to all its other advantages, has a wonderful attraction in Little Manitou Lake, which is three-quarters of a mile wide and twelve miles long, with water so clear that the bottom can be seen distinctly at a depth of six feet, and specific gravity so high that a human being floats on its surface like a fishing cork.

This wonderful mineral lake, filled with medicinal water, brings tourists to Watrous by the thousands. People from far and near are coming to Little Manitou Lake to avail themselves of the curative principles of these waters. This lake will blossom into a health resort. It will become the "Carlsbad of Canada," the most popular and accessible health resort in all America. Many of those who go to Watrous to visit will decide to make it their permanent home, because of the medicinal waters of the near-by lake, and on account of the wonderful business opportunities afforded at Watrous.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company will advertise this lake as a pleasure and health resort, and all of the time-tables and printed matter issued by the railway will call attention to it. Three large sanatoriums are already projected or under way, and others will doubtless be built to take care of the thousands who will come to Little Manitou Lake to be healed.

Telegraph Your Order at Our Expense.

On account of the rapidity with which lots are selling, we advise that you let us make the selection for you, and we promise that we will give you the best available remaining lots at the time your order is received. That we may make the best selection for you, we advise that you telegraph at our expense the number of lots you wish, and the prices you desire to pay, and let your remittance follow by return mail.

St. Ann's Academy

Its Birth and Development

With the completion of its new wing, St. Ann's Academy, Humboldt street, takes its position as the largest, most commodious, and best equipped of the private educational institutions in British Columbia.

The entire building is a fine brick structure which has been added to from time to time as its ever-growing needs necessitated. Whilst in the very heart of the city the institution, surrounded and embellished by extensive and beautifully kept grounds, enjoys the seclusion needful for conventual life. From the balconies can be obtained splendid views of the adjoining parts of the city, including the inner wharf, the Parliament buildings and Beacon Hill park, and resident pupils enjoy the invigorating sea air and pleasant surroundings with the privacy so necessary to successful student life.

taught by competent teachers; and vocal and elocutionary pupils receive special attention.

In the new wing five music rooms in suite, interlaid with sound deadening felt, are located on the second and third flats. These are furnished harmoniously with pretty curtains, rugs and potted plants. The walls are hung with pictures of famous musicians of all ages and nationalities. The pianos and up-to-date musical libraries are also found in each room, every facility being provided for carrying on a musical education in a way to attain the best results.

The large and beautifully fitted commencement hall which is a feature of the institution, has the largest private stage in the city. It is located adjacent to the music rooms of the second flat so that when pianos are required

St. Ann's Academy is the oldest private educational institution in the province, having been founded over a half century ago, and the institution of to-day is a result of the early years of self-sacrifice on the part of its foundresses and the hearty broad-minded co-operation of the people of Victoria.

Over fifty years ago, on June 5th, 1858, at 3 p. m., the Sisters of St. Ann, after an adventurous two months' journey by land and sea from their sedulous home at St. Jacques, Quebec, first set foot on the soil of Victoria and walked through the bush to the bishop's residence.

The members of the party included: Bishop Modeste Demers; two ordained priests and two candidates for priesthood, four Sisters of St. Ann and a lay assistant.

After partaking of their first meal in the colony, not the least part of which was a fine haunch of venison donated for the bishop's table by Mrs. J. S. Helmecken, the Sisters and Miss Mainville, their assistant, were conducted through the bush across what is now North Park street, to a log cabin 18 x 20 feet, on the west side of Humboldt street.

A large stone, placed awkwardly high, did duty as a step, and one of the priests stood on the door sill to help the Sisters up. Here the clergy, with good wishes, left them to take possession of their new home.

It was well that their hearts were brave, for the interior of their cabin was far from promising comfort. The windows were broken, the door without a lock. There was no stove, a small fire-place doing duty as cooking and heating stove. The building and lot on which it stood had been purchased for one hundred dollars.

Two days were taken by the Sisters to put their small abode in order. Mrs. Macdonald, one of the three white women then living in Victoria, brought them a ball of wool, a few candles and some kindlings. Their trunks furnished curtains, towels, bedding and like necessities, and mattresses had been purchased in San Francisco.

Sister Mary of the Sacred Heart, a woman of French extraction and sterling qualities, held the office of superior in the humble log cabin convent. Within a week after her arrival she opened a school for white children and another for Indians. Both of these prospered, and from the tiny seed sown by faith in the wilderness, a mighty tree has sprung—under whose ever-spreading branches thousands of children of all creeds, have been educated and fitted to hold their own with honor in the battle of life.

The instruction given in the institution is practical, solid and refined. It embraces all that is comprehended in the words "education," "knowledge and virtue united."

The curriculum for the class work proper is the course of study followed throughout the province in the public and high schools. Students desirous of taking the provincial examinations are duly prepared, and the numbers who successfully pass each term reflect credit on the efficient teaching staff.

The music department is second to none in the province, piano, harmony, counterpoint, and all the stringed instruments, including the harp, are for ensemble playing they can be moved from the music rooms through the large folding doors on to the back of the stage without any difficulty. The stage has a very handsome drop curtain, representing Warwick Castle, painted by the Sister in charge of the art department.

In the art department, which has also been moved to large sunny rooms in the new wing, the students are surrounded by everything that serves to cultivate artistic taste; the methods of instruction are the best and latest; excellent work in china painting, water color and oil painting, as well as crayon work, evince the skill of both teacher and pupils. The course of instruction consists of: Drawing from the antique, drawing from life, painting from still life, perspective and art composition. One great advantage of these studies is the fact that the institution owns a first class modern kiln where the pupils' work is fired.

Four modern iron fire escapes protect the front and rear and either end of the entire building, and the fan ventilation system is used throughout, providing the most thorough ventilation with exemption from draughts. Steam heating and up-to-date plumbing and sanitary arrangements are another commendable feature.

A new physical laboratory equipped with all the latest conveniences, will stimulate interest in that line of work. The children's library, a large sunny room furnished in oak and hung with bright Madras curtains is an ideal place for cultivating a taste for all that is best in juvenile literature. A similar room with a most extensive library is provided for the senior pupils, and two literary clubs promote a love for the better class of authors.

Private sleeping rooms have been furnished by the kindness of the Weller and Capital Furnishing Companies, and the dormitories on the upper flats are fitted with every comfort and privacy. Two Sisters sleep in each dormitory, thus ensuring the good conduct and safe-keeping of those entrusted to their care.

The large airy babies' dormitory, in which are twenty-one beds, is furnished in white and green, and in the adjoining hall are commodious individual lockers, where the clothes and other possessions of each child are kept.

The senior dormitories, carrying out a dainty color scheme of white and blue, are provided with curtains which give the privacy of separate bedrooms, while insuring the perfect ventilation and warmth necessary to health. Private baths are also provided for senior pupils, and the large individual lockers prevent all disputes as to the disposal of clothing.

Dust and soiled clothes shutes on every flat are another up-to-date feature worthy of mention.

Most of the class-rooms are now located in the new wing, and are models of light, cheerfulness and comfort. Large recreation rooms, for seniors and juniors, prove that the social side of life has not been overlooked, and in the attic, with its magnificent view of the city, abundance of room is available for different sports in the wet season.

Arrangements have been made by which those who wish to sleep out of doors can do so with perfect safety,

The Berean Class.—This class is conducted by the pastor and meets on Sunday afternoon at 2.30. It is composed of young men and women. To-morrow a new course of studies will be taken up on "Christian Doctrine," when the lesson will be on "What is God?" The class meets in the church and is open to strangers.

B. Y. P. U.—The Young People's Union have arranged to commence meetings for the fall and winter terms on Monday, September 12th, when there will be a special meeting of all friends. It is hoped that the committee will then be able to produce their syllabus, which presents a strong and attractive programme for the coming season.

ECHOES OF CONFERENCE

Now that the meetings of the Methodist conference are over and the delegates have all left for their homes, questions are being asked concerning the results that will follow the conference and what effect the decisions arrived at will have upon the life of the church community.

Perhaps never in the history of the Methodist church were the meetings of the conference so well attended by the general public, and at every session, morning, afternoon and evening, the galleries of the church were well filled by interested listeners. Especially was this the fact when such questions as church union, missionary enterprise, theological teaching and others of equal interest, were up for discussion. The delegates, many of whom had attended previous sessions of the General conference, expressed much gratification at this evidence of interest on the part of Victorians.

On every hand the visitors to the city spoke of the great kindness of the people of Victoria and said that they had never been entertained better. They were loud in their praises of the beauties of Vancouver Island and particularly of this city. A great many found time and opportunity to take trips around the city and adjacent country and after looking into all the advantages to be offered by Victoria expressed the hope that some day they might be able to come here to live.

In some cases the visitors have made arrangements to secure property in the city and the advertisement that Victoria has received cannot be over-estimated. The young man whose duty it is to sign the railway certificates, stated that nearly 500 persons had come to Victoria as delegates or visitors to the conference, and a great many came to the city who did not have the conference certificate, so that it may reasonably be stated that over 800 persons were in the city for the event. Every one was delighted with the city and its surroundings and returned to their homes full of praise for Victoria the Beautiful.

The Metropolitan church proved to be one of the most suitable buildings for the conference gatherings that could be found in the Dominion of Canada. Many of those who had attended previous sessions of the conference said that they had seldom met in a church better adapted for the purpose. The auditorium proved easy to hear and to speak in, and the many class-rooms made it easy for the delegates to do their work. The conference passed a very hearty vote of thanks to the officials of the church for the use of the building, and special mention was made of the courtesy of the Presbyterian church in lending their building for the committee meetings.

The conference was interesting from first to last. There were some great moments in its sessions which will remain long in memory. One of these was the time when the Rev. Dr. Chown was elected as the second general superintendent of the Methodist church. In a few words, full of intense feeling, he accepted the call of his brethren to the high office, and spoke of the regret he had in leaving his chosen work of reform work of the church. Then in his closing speech he asked the veteran Dr. Carman to lead the conference in prayer, and everyone realized something of the intensity of the moment. It was a great man, equal to a great occasion.

Another event that will be long remembered is the service of last Sunday evening, when N. W. Rowell, the eminent Toronto lawyer, told the story of the World's Missionary Conference at Edinburgh. The preachers in the conference church were all happy in their choice of subjects and in the delivery of their message and some of the best services were held during the past three weeks. But without undue comparison, one may safely say that Mr. Rowell's address was the crowning point of all the public services. It was intensely practical and yet it lifted the hearer on to a very high plane of spiritual experience. The great movements along missionary lines which are affecting the world to-day were most graphically described and the lessons of the World's Conference pressed home with wonderful effect.

The conference was at a speech-making point when the vote was taken on the matter of church union. It was expected that a very great many would be adverse to carrying the negotiations any further, and some strong speeches were made against the basis of union as presented by the committee. But when the vote was taken and it was seen that the motion to proceed to lay the matter before the churches had prevailed by a vote of 29 to 35, the conference was stirred to its depth. Church union received an impetus that it will feel the effect of until the consummation of the union between the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist churches.

Great interest was taken in the matter of theological belief and the discussion of the matter led to the adoption of an exceedingly well-worded resolution presented by Dr. A. D. Watson of Toronto. The resolution made no uncertain sound upon the fundamentals of Christian faith, and reaffirmed the general conference in these fundamentals. The education committee in their report suggested a court by which professors in colleges might be tried, should they teach other than these truths, and the controversy, so far as the general conference of the church was concerned, was settled by adopting this report.

The General Conference of the Methodist church has come and gone and no one in this city will exercise regret that the invitation to the conference was sent four years ago. It has meant much for Victoria and for British Columbia that the conference has met in the city. It may be many a long year before such a gathering is again held. The recent gathering will be far-reaching for the good of the church particularly concerned for all mankind.

THE FORMULA OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Is On The Outside Of Every Box For All The World To See

Every user of "Fruit-a-tives" knows exactly what is being taken. The formula of this famous fruit medicine is printed plainly on the outside of every box. We have stated many times—and now state clearly—that "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, with valuable heart and nerve tonics and antiseptics.

Everyone knows that fruit juice is healthful—but perhaps some do not understand why this is true.

Fruit juice consists of about 91 per cent water, 8 per cent of sweet principle, and 1 per cent of a bitter substance. It is the quantity of bitter principle in fruit that gives the fruit value as a medicine. An eminent physician of Ottawa, after years of experimenting, found a method of increasing the bitter principle in fruit juice, thus increasing the medicinal or curative qualities.

The juices are first extracted from fresh, ripe oranges, apples, figs and prunes. By a secret process, some of the sweet atoms are replaced by the bitter principle. Then tonics and antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets, now known far and wide as "Fruit-a-tives."

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that is made of fruit juices, and is one of the few remedies that have let their composition be known from their introduction to the public.

"Fruit-a-tives" is nature's stimulant for the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin. In cases of obstinate Constipation, Liver Trouble, Indigestion, Backache, Rheumatism, Headaches and Impure Blood, this wonderful fruit medicine cures when everything else fails.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold everywhere at 50c. a box; 4 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c., or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

Have you a good "forgettery?" Can you put out of your mind the silly parody on some solemn ceremony, the wicked suggestion of some sensual book, the muddled allusion of some ribald rhyme, or must they always come back to you whenever something happens to call them to mind?

Nor are evil things the only ones for which we need a "good forgettery." It would also be good to be able to forget some of the useless and unimportant things that take up our brain-room. Conan Doyle makes his world famous hero, Sherlock Holmes, say that the reason he is able to remember so marvelously the many things important in his profession, is that he at once expels from his mind all information that is useless to him. For instance, he can instantly recognize the ashes from almost any brand of cigar, but the fact that the earth goes around the sun, instead of vice versa, was not necessary to him and therefore, he forgot it as soon as he had learned it.

I certainly do not think such complete ignorance of everything outside one's particular sphere very desirable, but to do think the ability to unload one's mind, so completely of all unnecessary memories would be very fine to possess, and I wish Sherlock Holmes had explained just how he did it as glibly as he explains his other slight-of-mind feats.

Probably he did it by cramming his mind full of the things he did want to remember.

I guess that's the only principle on which a good "forgettery" can be cultivated—the exclusion of the bad and useless by the free and full admission of the good and useful.

In an article on "Mental Chemistry" a new thought writer says:
"That man is truly great who can rule his mental kingdom, who at will can master his moods; who knows enough of mental chemistry to neutralize a fit of the blues, to antidote any evil, poisonous thought with the opposite thought just as a chemist neutralizes an acid which is eating into the flesh, by applying an alkaline antidote."

And then he makes the optimistic prophecy—
"The time will come when we shall find that it is just as easy to counteract an unfriendly, disagreeable, vicious thought by turning on the counter thought as it is to rob the hot water of its burning power by turning on the cold water faucet. We shall be able to regulate the temperature of our thought as the temperature of water. If the water is too hot we simply turn on the cold faucet. If we feel our brain heating up with hot temper we shall simply turn on the love thought; the peace thought, and the anger heat will be instantly counteracted."

In the same way I suppose an evil remembrance could be counteracted by a pleasant one.

I hope his prophecy is a true one.

Why not try to make it so?
Ruth Cameron

VOLE COAT SUIT.
An odd but good-looking coat suit of dark blue velle. In lieu of the much-used tunic, there is an overskirt of shaped panels, each edged all around with a bias band of self-tone satin and fastened to skirt on each side with a good-sized fancy button. The coat, rather more elaborate than the earlier methods is none the less stylish. The shawl collar and belt are of satin, as are the small inset pieces just below elbow on sleeves. This is a charming model for an autumn bride's travelling suit.

An Appreciation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier

In the issue of Thursday the Vancouver Daily Province thus speaks editorially of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his trip through the west:

Now that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's western trip has practically been completed the country will be interested to discover what effect it has had upon the public mind in this new portion of the Dominion. This interest will chiefly beset his own party but will certainly not be confined to it. And the West itself will desire to know in some practical form what effect his visit and his new appreciation of this vast region will have upon the future statesmanship of the Federal Premier. The motives which prompted Sir Wilfrid's trip were largely party ones, will, perhaps, readily be admitted. It would, however, be unfair to assert that he was not actuated by higher and better motives. It must be his desire to leave behind him a name for statesmanship which his own followers, and many other than they, claim for him now, and even on the ground if on no other, he must be anxious to display the hand of a nation builder rather than that of a political partisan. The Canadian people then, with some interest, will look for results from his visit to the country and, perhaps, to the party of which he is the leader.

The advantages which the Liberal party may expect to derive from Sir Wilfrid's visit will undoubtedly depend upon the impression of his personality which he left upon the minds of the Western people; whether he created a strong and abiding reliance in his sincerity as a citizen, his honesty as a statesman and his ability as an administrator. That throughout the vast country from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Ocean he was everywhere greeted with acclamations may mean little, if indeed it means anything, now that he has departed. He came not as the leader of a political party, but as the head of the government, anxious to acquaint himself with the country and its people and to carry back with him information which would be of service to him, as the chief executive of the Dominion, in promoting the prosperity and happiness of the population. The Western people cordially received him on his own terms and as the leading citizen of the country, they joined with enthusiasm in doing him honor.

Sir Wilfrid must be given credit with having adhered to the bargain he made when he entered the West. His speeches could in no sense be regarded as partisan utterances. But that he should have refused to discuss political questions was impossible. To discuss political questions was one of his missions and it was natural that in such discussions he should present his own point of view and that of his government. But that whatever party capital he made was obtained in the fair exchange of good fellowship with the people cannot be denied. When we consider the visit and examine with candor the statements contained in his addresses throughout the West we must admit, whether we be Conservative or Liberal, that Sir Wilfrid fairly earned the goodwill with which he was received and the feeling of confidence which he left behind him.

His opponents or rather the extremists among them, lay much stress upon the finish of his oratory and the fact with which he replied to those who demanded from him a change in this or that feature of his policy; and they would persuade us that these are highly cultivated arts which he employs to deceive the public as to his real mind and motives. But that is a shallow method of disparaging one whose arguments they do not answer and it must be admitted that in the long journey from Port Arthur to Vancouver, Sir Wilfrid, in his discussion of public questions, spoke from an elevation which lent reason and dignity to his utterances even in the light of local prejudices and complaints. Even here in Vancouver on the question of Asiatic immigration he justified to the satisfaction of fair-minded men the sincerity of his conviction that the course he had adopted would provide the best remedy for the evil with which we were threatened; and that it would accomplish the desired aim without embarrassing the foreign relations of the Motherland. In the prairie country his expressions of personal views on the question of tariff and his justification of a policy not in accord with those views were quite reconcilable when we consider the compromise which must be made by the leader of the government in a country situated as Canada is to-day. Even on the question of a Canadian navy the West, which has been and will remain strongly opposed to his policy, on the ground of its inadaptability and want of imperialism, cannot in the face of his representations, personally made, hesitate to believe that he regards it as the best course to be pursued in the interests of the Dominion.

Sir Wilfrid's evident lack of Anglo-Saxon sentiment, of enthusiasm for the imperial idea has been a stumbling block to his disciples in the West as it has been in Ontario. He has been regarded as a Frenchman with French attachments and loyalty to the French traditions and language, but after a fair examination of his position, he must be credited with adopting a course which he believes to be in the best interests of Canada and which he pursues, if without any desire to strengthen, certainly without any intention of weakening the tie with Great Britain. It is Canada whose welfare and whose future greatness it is his desire to serve and if his views are not on imperial matters, in accord with the great majority of the people of the Dominion that does not mean that they are not patriotically entertained; it does not even mean that they are erroneous, although we believe they are.

But the people of Western Canada will not estimate Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the light of his tariff policy which they realize must be adjusted to the varying demands of many interests in a vast and undeveloped country. Nor will it be by his course in regard to the navy, nor because of his lack of possession of imperial sentiment. They realize that eventually the imperial idea will prevail despite any temporary opposition from any source, however powerful for the time; and if they discover in the man at the head of their affairs honesty and ability infused with Canadian spirit they will readily place their confidence in him no matter what his race may be or his economic beliefs.

Is Sir Wilfrid Laurier worthy of confidence on these grounds? We have been assured for some years by politicians and we are at the present time assured by them with more emphasis than ever, that he is not; that Sir Wilfrid is a humbug, that he is not a statesman with the welfare of his country at heart, but a crafty politician who is maintaining himself in power by all the questionable devices to which an unscrupulous politician can resort; that he callously betrayed the old Liberalism of Canada when he found it expedient to do so, and that he is now engaged in betraying the West for the benefit of the Eastern manufacturer. These accusations are all of a very general character, and those who make them do not attempt to be specific. They must, not therefore complain if the public refuses to be convinced without proof. It is true that Sir Wilfrid found it advisable for his government to adopt the tariff policy of his predecessors, and that has been urged against him with all the violence of political invective; that was his cardinal sin, that was his betrayal of the old Liberalism, that is his crime against the West.

We have no doubt whatever that his adoption of the Conservative policy secured him in power. But are we to believe that it was that he might retain power, and for that alone, that he abandoned the old Liberalism? It was certainly a difficult situation in which he was placed when he took office in 1896. He was recognized by Great Britain as the chief exponent, in Canada, of the free trade doctrine; he had placed himself on record, he had given pledges, behind him was a government and a party no less deeply committed than he was. And yet from the time Sir Wilfrid assumed office there has been no serious talk of any appreciable change in the tariff. Does that mean that he was insincere when he declared for free trade and that his insincerity became manifest when he obtained power?

To answer that question we might be permitted to ask another. Is it statesmanship to hold unflinchingly to a course which however right threatened to sink the ship of state? It is now admitted on all hands that had Sir Wilfrid in 1896 or at any time since abolished the tariff barriers or even attempted substantially to lower them he would have induced a financial and industrial depression in Canada that would have set the country back a quarter of a century. Was he insincere in his previous expressions of opinion because he hesitated to risk the ruin of the Commonwealth?

But any discussion of Sir Wilfrid's sincerity is fruitless and must remain so. He alone can decide that point, and he can decide it only for himself and for those who believe in him. As to his statesmanship, history is the tribunal before which his claims in that cause will be tried. The future will be able to weigh testimony, to discriminate and determine; the present cannot. That the country has made immense progress and that the people have enjoyed an unusual degree of prosperity during his rule can not be denied by the most bitter of his adversaries. How far his government has been responsible for this, how far that prosperity and progress would have been increased or diminished by another administrative policy than his we must also leave it to the future to judge.

One thing, however, can not be denied by the most hostile of his critics. For fifteen years now he has kept the diverse elements of the Canadian people together with singular ability and success, and has made them work in harmony for the good of the country. That this achievement has been due to his dominating personality, his intuitive comprehension of racial characteristics and his quick understanding sympathy is beyond all question, and if he had no other claim on the good-will of his countrymen than this it would constitute a very valid and powerful one. But has he no other claim?

As a charming and cultured personality, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stands with the people of the old world, as the equal of the best type which they produce there; and that individual charm, which no Canadian public man, excepting Sir John Macdonald, has possessed to the same degree, has endeared him to his countrymen. They cherish him, too, as they did for Sir John Macdonald, that pride which has its origin in the assurance that politically his hands are as clean as his manners are courtly.

FATHER OF THE HOUSE.

"Burt, where did you get your style?" John Morley once said to the new "Father" of the House of Commons, and the editor of the Book Monthly has repeated the question to Mr. Burt. "I never knew that I had any style, literary style—a big term that—until people told me I had." "I had read and what a dawning it meant—was Gibbon's 'Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire'."

"Sir William Marcourt was a fine reader and book-lover, and I recollect telling him of this. 'My dear man,' he said, 'you read Gibbon when you were a pit boy.' Read and enjoyed him," I answered; and Sir William's friendly words grew.

LONDON'S WATER SUPPLY.

Remarkable figures illustrating the enormous consumption of water for domestic and manufacturing purposes by the seven million people within the area supplied by the Metropolitan water board have been compiled by William B. Bryan, M.Inst.C.E., chief engineer to the board. Mr. Bryan gives the following average daily figures for the year ending March 31st last—Daily supply, 225,660,000 gallons; weight, total, 1,007,410 tons; weight, per person, 2 cwt. 3 qrs. 11 lbs.; revenue per 100 buckets, is 3s. 4d.

This quantity of water used by London each day in the year would fill a canal 85 miles long, 20 feet wide, 4 feet deep, or a railway train 500 miles in length, consisting of 201,482 wagons, each holding 5 tons of water.

In 1886, said Mr. Bryan, London used about 38 1/2 gallons each day per person; in 1909-10 only about 22. The saving has been effected by the use of the Deane meter, an instrument which automatically records on paper the flow of water in the main hour by hour-day and night. There is, let us say, one instrument to ten streets. If there is a leak in one of these streets the diagram drawn on the paper in the midnight hours will show it at once. By shutting off the water street by street in this way we can ascertain from the diagram in which street the leak exists. The next step is to find the faulty joint in the pipe, and this is done by listening for the faint hissing sound which betrays the escape of water to the practised ear. Our men use a simple stethoscope, consisting of a rod of straight-grained wood, if there is much vibration or noise in the neighborhood they stop their ears and place the end of the rod against the chest. The amount saved by detecting and stopping waste is almost incalculable. Long ago I worked out the fact that a leak one-eighth of an inch in diameter in a pipe carrying water at twenty pounds pressure will waste 2,000 gallons a day, enough for the domestic use of 100 persons."

HOW ONE WOMAN REGAINED HEALTH

Utterly Helpless and Friends Did Not Expect Her to Get Better

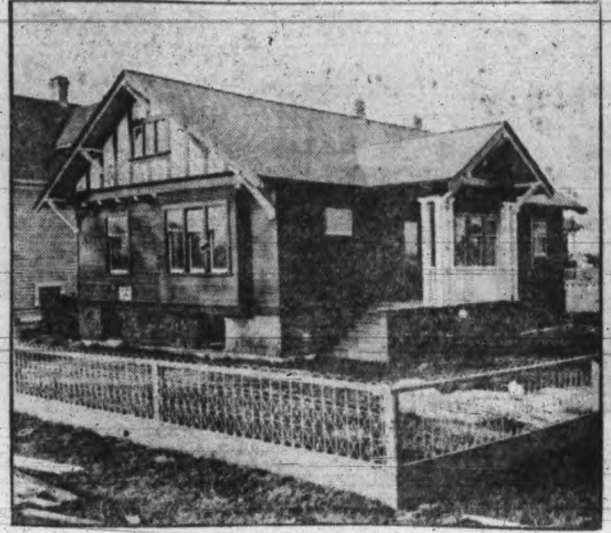

The great fame of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they have restored to active health and strength hundreds of people when all other treatment had failed to cure, and who had come to believe themselves hopeless, chronic invalids. The case of Mrs. Henry Britton, 124 Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg, Man., adds another striking proof to the truth of this assertion.

Mrs. Britton writes as follows concerning her wife's last illness and ultimate cure through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "It is a simple thing to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and yet it is difficult to express fully one's heartfelt gratitude for such a marvellous remedy, as they have restored my wife to health and strength after the best efforts of the medical fraternity had failed. For years prior to our coming to Canada, and since that time up to about three years ago, my wife had been subject to severe illnesses from what the doctors said was chronic anaemia. She was utterly and entirely helpless, and so weak that she had to be lifted in and out of bed for weeks at a stretch. The trouble was aggravated by recurrent rheumatism and heart trouble. She had no appetite or strength for anything. I employed the best medical attendance and nurses procurable. The doctor gave her tonics and ordered beef tea and wine. The tonics and medicines would relieve her for a time, and then she would slip back once more into the old state—but worse if anything. Then we began giving her advertised remedies, but all seemed of no avail. One evening while reading a newspaper I happened to see an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It told the case of a young woman who had been a great sufferer from anaemia, and who testified to having been cured through the use of these Pills. The case seemed to describe very closely the symptoms of my wife, and although I had pretty nearly lost all hope of her ever being well again, I decided to get a supply of the Pills and urged her to use them. My wife was thoroughly heartened, and said she expected it was only another case of money thrown away. However, she began taking the Pills, and I thank God she did, for after she had used them for a time she felt they were helping her. From that time on her appetite came back, her color began to return, and she who had been looked upon as a helpless invalid began to take a new interest in life. She continued taking the Pills, and through them her health continued to improve, until at last we were able to heartily congratulate her upon her complete restoration to health. Some three years have since passed, and in that time she has never been bothered in the slightest degree with the old trouble. Her cure has astonished everyone who knew how ill she had been, and we acknowledge with heartfelt thanks our gratitude to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which literally brought her back to health from the brink of the grave."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such cases as this in just one way—they actually make new blood, which fills the depleted veins and brings new strength to every nerve and every organ in the body. Nearly all the everyday ailments of life come from poor or watery blood, and it is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new blood that they cure anaemia, indigestion, headaches, dizziness, backaches, rheumatism, neuralgia, general weakness and the ailments that growing girls and women do not like to talk about, even to their doctors. If you are weak, sick or ailing, no other medicine will cure you so quickly as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Remarkable Progress of The Amalgamated Development Company

Has been unprecedented in the history of the Oil industry. Full title to all of this Company's immense holdings was not completed until the 20th of June—JUST TWO MONTHS AGO.

Since that date the Company has installed machinery for pumping two flowing oil wells. Has commenced and is already far advanced with the construction of a refinery on the ground; and has shipped NINE MILES OF PIPING to convey the product of their Oil Wells to tidewater.

number of heads. It is the authentic guillotine made for and used by the Revolutionist Javoues, of whom several vigorous sayings are recorded: "The only guillotine of a good Republic is the guillotine," and "two million heads are wanted to accomplish holly the work of the regeneration of France." This bloodthirsty maniac established "Commission of Popular Justice" in the little town of Feurs, in the Loire, on November 7, 1793, and a fortnight later the guillotine, specially ordered from Paris, was set up in the chief square. The executions began two days afterwards, and went on regularly at the rate of one or two a week until the following February. On one occasion during the revolutionary rejoicings the guillotine was used for solemnly beheading the effigies of the kings of England, Prussia, Spain and Piedmont; the emperor of Austria, the pope and William Pitt. How the instrument, which is authenticated by inscriptions upon the wooden uprights, came into the possession of an old curiosity dealer, from whom the present owner, who is putting it up for sale, bought it some years ago for $50, is not known. The guillotine is all but complete, as only the knife is missing. The suggestion has been made that the Grand Guignol should buy the instrument for use as a property in its performances, which already include at least one guillotine scene of an evening.

A TRIP TO EUROPE

To the Editor:—Leaving here July 5th to join the Imperial Limited for Calgary, where I was entertained by some old Victorians—the first thing I noticed was their street cars, "Pay as you enter," at the rear and exit at the front, which seemed to work well. After taking a general view the next day I was on my way to Winnipeg. Both the places have grown wonderfully since my last visit, having many handsome buildings. Fort William and Port Arthur are growing very fast—real estate advertising here is very much in evidence.

Ottawa was next visited. Here the Grand Trunk Pacific are erecting a very costly building, and the grounds around the parliament building were in summer array, the mint being closed I had only to admire the structure, which is a credit to the Dominion. In the House of Commons I had the honor to sit in Sir Wilfrid's, the Hon. William Templeman's and George Barnard's seats. Restaurant services, not only here but throughout the whole Dominion, are more expensive than in Victoria.

Montreal seems as busy as ever, with its disorderly streets around many fine buildings, and as for Quebec it looks much the same as it did years ago with its historical statues, Plains of Abraham and other places all well known to Victorians.

Leaving on the Empress of Ireland we had a successful passage, with the usual life and entertainments at sea. We arrived at Liverpool July 22nd. I started for Merton (a district in London), where I took up my abode. Here there are many historic buildings, including the old church built in 1115, a structure principally of black flint, with a Norman doorway. Many noted people are buried here, the wife of Capt. Cook (one of our streets is named after him); Francis Nixon, the first who projected copper plate calico printing, and died 1768; William Rutish, embroiderer to Charles II., who died 1687; Lord Nelson used to attend this church—his flags are on view around his seat—his widow lived nearby. Here also stands the home of Lord Nelson, where he lived with Sir William and Lady Hamilton 1801 to 1805. It is interesting to see the quaint little door-way he passed through on his way to Portsmouth, a distance of fifty miles, then nothing but lanes and fields, to join his famous ship Victory to win that immortal battle at Trafalgar which every child under the British flag must hold sacred for the liberty enjoyed to-day. In Merton stands the house where Defoe wrote his famous "Robinson Crusoe," which most children like to read. It is now a dairy farm, called the Crusoe Dairy.

Being in company of friends and good guides, we next visited Westminster. On our way we passed Cleopatra's Needle, near Waterloo Bridge. This famous obelisk is made of granite and is 70 feet high. The removal of the huge block from Egypt cost $10,000, which was paid by Sir Erasmus Wilson. From the heiroglyphics it has been calculated that it is three thousand years old, Westminster Abbey, the great pantheon of England's glory, the last resting place of kings, queens, warriors, princes, poets, artists, sculptors, and authors. It is a most impressive sight in the metropolis with its seven million inhabitants. The Chapel of Edward the Confessor is the oldest in the Abbey. Here lie the remains of its founder. Not the least interesting sight in the chapel is the Coronation chair, which contains the Stone of Scone, a block of reddish grey sandstone, on which the Scottish kings were formerly crowned. None of the chapels equals that of Henry VII. In the north aisle of this chapel is the Tomb of Queen Elizabeth, bearing the figure of "Good Queen Bess," supported by four lions. In the south is a rich tomb. On the top is an elaborate figure of the unfortunate Mary Queen of Scots, whose memory this memorial perpetuates. It was erected by her son, James I.

On the tomb of Geoffrey Chaucer is inscribed the following verse:
 Of English bards who sing the sweetest strain,
 Old Geoffrey Chaucer now this tomb contains;
 For his death's date, if reader, thou should call,
 Look, but beneath, and it will tell thee all.

We passed on to the houses of parliament, built in 1834. There are upwards of three miles of corridors; the Clock Tower, 40 feet square and 230 feet high; the dials are 67 feet in circumference and weigh over four tons; the figures are about two feet apart; the length of the hour hand is nine feet; the minute hand sixteen feet; the hours are struck on "Big Ben," the famous bell.

The Victoria Tower entrance to the House of Lords rises to a height of 340 feet, which is a gorgeous chamber, rich in gilding and carving. Over the throne is a rich gilt canopy and on either side are seats for the princes. In front of the throne is the Woolpack, seat of the Lord Chancellor, a large cushion of wool covered with red material to match the other seats. I am told the Woolpack was first introduced in the reign of Elizabeth to commemorate an act forbidding the export of wool, then the staple industry. The reporters' and stangers' gallery behind face the throne.

The House of Commons is smaller and less richly furnished. The speaker's chair occupies a position similar to that of the throne in the upper house. The corridors are richly ornamented with paintings of famous historic scenes.

Westminster Hall, adjoining, is one of the largest buildings in the world with a wooden roof entirely supported by pillars 290 feet long, 70 feet broad and 92 feet high. The projectors of the ceiling have carvings of angels bearing shields, on which appear the arms of Edward the Confessor and Richard II. The building is rich in historic associations.

We next went to the Guild hall, built in 1411 and rebuilt 1789. Here are held the famous Mayor dinners November 3rd of each year. The custom dates back to the beginning of the sixteenth century. The library here is a handsome structure, containing 70,000 volumes. The Roman remains which have been unearthed in the metropolis are well worth a visit.

The Tower of London was also visited. Historical associations cluster thickly about this grim old pile. Passing under the middle tower, we notice as we go along the Beef-Eaters (or guards) dressed in the costume of Henry VIII. Next we come in the Byward Tower, which is the principal entrance. A stone bridge spans the moat, which encircles the whole building. On the right is the Traitor's Gate, the entrance for prisoners brought by the river. Among those who have trodden these damp steps were Anne Boleyn, Raleigh, Russell and Cranmer. Opposite is the tower where the sons of Edward IV. were murdered by their uncle, Richard III.

In the Wakefield Tower are deposited the Crown Jewels, the value of which is about $15,000,000. The crown of Queen Victoria, made for Her Majesty's coronation, is valued at $1,500,000. This place was closed to the public for alterations, as the officials since they lost the great Kooch-1-1-have been very uneasy. But I was gladly furnished with details.

The cap of purple velvet is enclosed in silver hoops surmounted by a ball or cross, brilliantly studded with diamonds. It weighs nearly two pounds and comprises more than 2,000 precious stones, of which five-sixths are diamonds.

In the Bell Tower, in one of the rooms is the grim cell in which Sir Walter Raleigh spent twelve years for conspiring on behalf of the Lady Arabella Stuart. Here he wrote his famous history of the world and made his chemical experiments. Above is the council room. In the centre of this apartment is the block on which the heads of many brave men and beautiful women were chopped off. The headman's axe is a gruesome-looking weapon. Here, we were told, was borne before the window where Lady Jane Grey was praying, the mangled corpse of Guilford Dudley. The place where Anne Boleyn was beheaded is marked in the yard in front of the chapel.

Later on we visited St. Paul's cathedral, which was built about 200 years ago by Sir Christopher Wren. At the entrance is a monument of Lord Nelson. Also of Arthur the first Duke of Wellington, and many other heroes of Trafalgar.

The colonial troops who died in South Africa are commemorated by a monument erected by H. R. H. Princess Louise, an angel releasing Christ from the cross—deliverance from suffering through death.

London has made many changes since I last visited it. The old horse bus has practically gone. Motor buses and electric cars have taken their places. They are now making subways for the people to cross busy thoroughfares. The traffic is almost impassable. I must conclude by saying that the traffic to Canada from England is enormous and I found that the first and second cabin passengers on many of the liners had to book their passage three months before date of sailing, and a friend of mine told me he could get nothing but steerage until October.

The Empress of Britain had a thousand in the steerage.

At quite a number of the various places I distributed Vancouver Island literature.

The friends of the Pollard Opera Company will be pleased to hear of their reorganization and merger with the National Opera Company, which was seen here in "The Mikado" a few nights ago. On Sunday last the National-Pollard Opera Company left Seattle on its tour of the southwest in "The Mikado." The National Opera Company disbanded in Seattle Sunday night at the conclusion of a week's engagement in "The Mikado" and the "Chimes of Normandy." The merger of the two companies brings into the case the names of five of the best-known of the Pollard troupe, playing roles with which they have been familiar since the days when, as the Lilliputians, their names became household words on the Pacific coast and throughout the continent. Now the five Pollards, grown, have lost none of their cunning and are as clever and winsome in their Japanese parts as when they came to this country from Australia, as little children. Of the original "Nationalists" there are Miss Elycia Croix, Senbrook, who continues her effective work as Katsiha; Frank Priesch, who now has the role of Poo Bah, formerly played by James Stevens, and Miss Kathleen George, a young Seattle girl, who last spring made her first appearance behind the footlights and won her way from the chorus to the role of Pitti Sing. The National-Pollard Company is under the management of W. M. Russell and Mrs. Nellie Chester, Edward F. Seaman will be travelling manager.

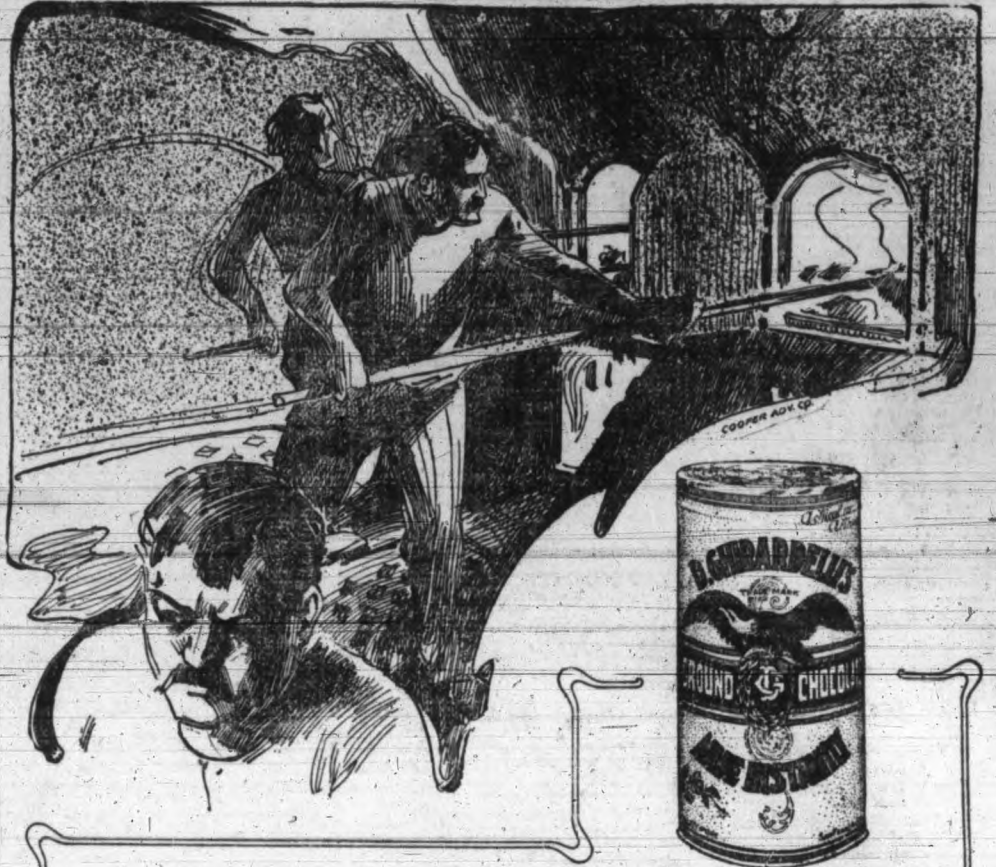

Whiteside, its star, has scored a really sensational personal success, is coming to the Victoria theatre next Thursday. Many already know the theme of "The Melting Pot"—a vivid portrayal of America as God's crucible. David Quixano, a musician, has fled his native Russia in horror and loathing, having seen his parents and little brethren butchered before his very eyes. A haven of rest and refuge appeals to the young genius all the more after what he has survived, and inspired by the thoughts so beautifully expressed by Zangwill, he sets himself the task of composing an American symphony, a prophetic, inspiring thing that is put to music all the love, hope and admiration he holds for the country of his adoption. All this is interwoven into a beautiful story.

Mr. Whiteside will be supported here by the same strong cast that appeared with him during the long runs of "The Melting Pot" in Chicago and New York. The play was staged by Hugh Ford, and is one of that master craftsman's most notable achievements.

New Grand Theatre.

An act that will please any audience, however exacting, comes here next week as the Grand theatre headliner, in the Hughes Musical Trio, who are versatile instrumental virtuosi. They will open Monday afternoon and be a big holiday attraction. Performing together in evening dress, they will be heard on many musical instruments in many delightful selections, finishing the act with a great applause-drawer of popular melodies. The turn has played the Orpheum circuit with a former budget of music, and has now come west again with a new repertoire of music, under the Sullivan-Considine management and are making a bigger hit than on their last trip.

Richard Carter has written himself a new comedy playlet and will offer it to Victoria players Monday on the Grand programme. The title of the

It often requires heroes at the stoke hole as well as a master mind at the bridge to bring success to the fighting ship. CONSPIRACY IN INDIA.

Number of Arrests Made By Police—Important Documents Seized.

What is described as the greatest conspiracy in India since the days of the Mutiny, has been revealed by the arrest of thirty-seven men, all Bengalis, in connection with the Dacca conspiracy case, says a London exchange. Seven of the men were arrested in Calcutta, one in Rangoon, and the remainder in eastern Bengal. All were apprehended under the sedition section of the criminal code, and it is believed that all the accused are members of the Anisalan Samiti, which is the inner circle of the defunct National Volunteers.

The police are reticent as to details. The preliminary inquiry before the magistrate is being held in camera. A rumor is current in Calcutta and in Dacca that the documents seized prove that a wide conspiracy with ramifications all over India has been brought to light.

Evidence given in the Khirna conspiracy case now proceeding before the high courts shows that similar Samitis have been collecting money, ostensibly for the poor, which has not been utilized for the purpose to which it was supposed to be devoted.

The importance of the Dacca arrests is indicated by the social prominence of the accused. The European community in Calcutta is puzzled by the secrecy of the arrests and of the subsequent proceedings, but it is felt that there must be serious evidence to prompt the government in the action it is taking.

Native Calcutta is silent. The demonstrations in honor of the anniversary of the declaration of the boycott of British goods were abandoned, but there was a small disturbance in southern Calcutta, where a native police officer's house was attacked and the furniture smashed by a mob at the instigation of a youth who had been reprimanded for annoying the officer's wife.

So grave is the situation considered that the Bardipur, Barisal, and Mymensingh districts in Bengal have been proclaimed, and the Sedition Meetings Act has been renewed until March 31 next.

The refinery for the product of the oil wells of the Amalgamated Development company at the Katalia oil fields is already under construction. Invest now.

HETTY URMA.
 England's Pet Boy at the Grand next week.

at Duncan. On Thursday evening Walker Whiteside will appear in Zangwill's play, "The Melting Pot," which was one of the successes of last season in New York, and on Friday and Saturday "The Burgomaster," that tuneful light opera, will be here.

new work is "Vacation Time," and is classed as a satirical classic in musical travesty. If it comes only half way to his previous offerings it will be a winner, but reports from the middle states tell that Mr. Carter has excelled himself. Just how true this is will be for Victoria to judge next week.

Pantages Theatre.

Another big vaudeville show will be presented at the Pantages next week at the reduced prices of ten and twenty cents. This policy of good vaudeville at cheap rates will be followed until a good musical comedy company can be secured for the Johnson street theatre.

The very superior class of entertainment offered this week has demonstrated the fact that just as good a class of specialty acts can be given at ten and twenty cents as has been given at the higher figure—increased patronage has been the equalizing medium.

The new programme for next Monday and all week is composed of the following standard circuit attractions: Willard and Sharon, champion female grotesque dancers, who add the latest "down south" coon song creations to their unique entertainment; the musical Mansfields, in a classic recital of the greatest compositions; Inez Allen, the popular singing soubrette; Herr Wyer, operatic baritone, and a double series of the very latest moving pictures.

Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot."

Israel Zangwill's "The Melting Pot," that remarkable play about the American race in the making, which has called forth the enthusiastic endorsement of a former president, to say nothing of a number of eminent statesmen, a score of the leading literary lights of the country and a hundred clergymen, and in which Walker

L. Wolfe Gilbert, composer, singer and entertainer, is to be here Monday at the Grand and will have a new line of melodies, recitation and parodies. A quietly appearing man is he, and thorough in all he does. This turn will be one of the best.

England's Pet Boy, whose name on the stage is Hetty Urma, promises to give patrons a ten-minute turn of brightness and inimitable fun. A nice speaking voice, a pleasing appearance, a good line of amusement material all go to make a good turn and she will have them all.

A mixture of songs, dialogue, dancing and monologue and many things else, will be given by Lester and Miss Mours. The lady of the act sings along the same lines as Alice Lloyd, has several costume changes, a clear enunciation of the English artists, and her partner is an eccentric of the most amusing type.

Thomas J. Price will be heard again in an illustrated song, and the moving pictures will be changed again, the new films being shown for the first time Monday matinee.

"The Burgomaster," which comes to the Victoria theatre next Friday and Saturday, is perhaps the best musical attraction we will get this season. Manager Wm. P. Cullen, who has given many good things by the way, is the producer and he has spared neither time nor expense in making this season's production better than ever before. The cast is headed by Gus C. Weinburg, who plays Peter Stuyvesant, the one-legged old governor of New Amsterdam. Mr. Weinburg is the original Burgomaster and has never been seen to better advantage than in this part. He is supported by a company of fifty people, in which the principals are most of the originals.

Mr. Cullen always makes a feature of his choruses and this season's presentations is no exception, as the press, wherever they have played, speak of it as being the best singing and dancing one seen in years. The production is brand new, also the costumes, which were purchased at Marshall Fields in Chicago this summer.

PASSING SHOW

Last night the Byden stock company again played to a crowded house. "Charley's Aunt," one of the most side-splitting comedies ever written, and kept the house ringing with merriment. As the "aunt," Mr. Byden has greatly added to the fine reputation he gained in the first two shows produced by the company. He is irresistibly funny, and although he pushes the role nearer to burlesque than is perhaps warranted, neglects no opportunity for raising a laugh.

The last performance of "Charley's Aunt" will be given to-night, on Monday "Paid in Full," aptly described as the most intense domestic drama of recent years, will be presented.

AUTOMATIC STREET LIGHTING.

Why should sober-minded citizens who are in their homes and safe in bed by 10 o'clock at night pay lighting taxes for others who, being of a jovial turn of mind, prefer to stay in cafes, clubs or bars until midnight and do not return home until the early hours of the morning?

Manifestly it is unfair, but in Germany this question has now been answered in a way which will please the earnest taxpayers, and probably prove a terror to the late night birds, says Mail Gazette, the village of Zarkau, near Glogau, in Silesia, must be given the honor of installing a system of automatic electric lighting for the streets. The electric lights burn every night from the outskirts of Glogau through the village of Zarkau, a distance of about a kilometre, until 10 o'clock at a mutual cost to the community in general. Then they are switched out.

At each end of this kilometre stretch, on an iron pillar, stands a small iron cupboard lighted by a tiny electric light. Those persons who are out after 10 o'clock wishing to have their way lighted must insert a ten-penny piece into a slot in the side of the iron cupboard. Then the nine lamps placed along this stretch burst forth into a 12-minute life, thus enabling the passer to find his way in lightness to his or her home.

The scheme is working in a satisfactory way, and it seems quite probable the other German villages and towns will follow the example of Zarkau and install the automatic-lighting system to be put into operation after 10 o'clock.
