Welcome to the workshop!

Here's how we can have a great time together:

- Please read and respect our Friendly Space Policy: w.wiki/5Fsc

- This workshop is recorded on Youtube

- People who signed up as active participants can turn on their microphone and camera - however, please keep your microphone muted when you're not speaking

- Everyone can ask questions & add comments in the chat (make sure you select "to everyone")

- Feel free to join the Celtic Knot Telegram groups: w.wiki/5FqK

Agenda

- What is Databox and how does it work? (15min)

- How to install Databox on a wiki? (35min)

- Break (5min)

- How to add Databox on articles? (20min)

- Q&A (35min)

- Conclusion & how to stay in touch (5min)

What is Databox and how does it work?

- A Databox (Plural Databoxes) is a sidebox within a book or article, containing illustrative data or structured data.

- It links Wikidata items to Wikipedia articles.

What are the differences?

What do you notice?

What are the advantages of using Databox?

Why should you use Databox

- To give simple structured data

- To display data curated and updated by a broader community

- To ensure articles are linked to Wikidata

- To make Wikipedia articles look beautiful!

How to install Databox on a wiki?

All you need to get started on Databox

1. Install a Module Databox
2. Install a Template Databox
3. Install a Generic Template Databox
