HENRY HASTINGS ROOM.

A collection of models and paintings of ships owned and managed by the firm of Henry Hastings & Co., from the year 1847 to 1887; given to the Society by Col. Henry Hastings. The list of articles is as follows; the models are board models, showing the lines of the vessels in half sections.

- 309 BARQUE "Kate Hastings." Built in Newburyport, 1847, by W. & B. W. Picket. First voyage, Capt. James G. Allen, sailed from Boston, Oct. 19, 1847, and arrived at Batavia, Jan. 26, 1848—99 days.
- 310 SHIP "Midnight." Built at Portsmouth, N.H., by Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew. Launched May 18, 1854. Length 170 ft. 11 in.; breadth, 34 ft. 11 in.; depth, 21 ft.; tons, 962 $\frac{48}{5}$. First voyage, Capt. James B. Hatch, sailed from Boston, June 30, to San Francisco, where she arrived Oct. 25, 1854—116 days. Abandoned Jan. 7, 1878, at Ambogna, Banda Sea, after a heavy gale.
- 311 SHIP "Noonday." Built by Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew, at Portsmouth, N.H. Launched Aug. 25, 1855. Length, 182 ft.; breadth, 97 ft. 5 in.; depth, 23 ft.; tons, 1,177. First voyage, Capt. W. B. Gerry, sailed from Boston, Oct. 18, 1855, for San Francisco, where she arrived March 1, 1856—135 days. The "Noonday" struck a sunken rock off the Farallones, entrance to San Francisco, Jan. 2, 1863, just at noontime, while the captain was taking the sun. She filled and sank with all sails set. The rock was subsequently named "Noonday rock."

- 312 SHIP "Charger" (first). Built at Portsmouth, N.H., by E. G. Pierce, and launched October, 1856. Length, 195 ft.; breadth, 38 ft.; depth, 23½ ft.; tons, 1,307. First voyage, Capt. Luther Hurd, sailed from Boston, Jan. 4, 1857, for San Francisco. She made the quickest passage (80 days) from Calcutta to Boston. The "Charger" struck a coral reef near the island of Macatara, Dec. 14, 1873, and was abandoned.
- 313 SHIP "Harry Hastings." Built by E. G. Pierce in Portsmouth, and launched Nov. 24, 1858. Tons, 863. First voyage, Capt. G. W. Tucker, sailed from Boston, Dec. 15, 1858, for San Francisco, and arrived there May 3, 1859—138 days. On her third voyage the "Harry Hastings" was lost, and none of her crew were ever heard from.
- 314 SHIP "Cutwater." Built at Medford by James O. Curtis, and launched May 17, 1861. Length, 173 ft.; breadth, 38 ft. 8 in.; depth, 23 ft.; tons, 986. First voyage, Capt. W. V. Potter, sailed from Boston for San Francisco, Jan. 17, 1862. This ship was sold at Hamburg in 1882, and her name was changed to the "Port Royal," of Bremen.
- 315 SHIP "Invincible," rigged model (loaned). Purchased in New York, 1863. First voyage, Capt. George K. Kellum, sailed from New York, May 3, 1863, and arrived at San Francisco September, 1863—135 days. Burned in Philadelphia some years later.
- 316 BARQUE "Nonantum" (oil painting). Built by Hartley Lord & Co., Kennebunk, Me., in December, 1861. Purchased November, 1863. Tons, 998. First voyage, Capt. Seth Kingman, sailed from New York, Dec. 29, 1863, for San Francisco; passage, 154 days.
- 317 SHIP "Daring." Built at Newburyport by Jackman, for Messrs. Bush & Comstock, and purchased by Henry Hastings, Feb. 2, 1863. Tons, 1,095. First voyage, Capt. W. W. Henry, from New York, April 9, 1863, for San Francisco; passage, 129 days. The "Daring" encountered a gale from Baker's Island to Liverpool, and was totally dismasted; bore away for Valparaiso and arrived there under jury-mast July 28, 1865, 99 days from Baker's Island, and 63 days from the time of the accident. She was sold in Valparaiso.
- 318 BRIG "Madawaska." Built in Medford by Messrs. Hayden & Cudworth. Launched May 12, 1866. Tons, 511. Lost at Avola, Sicily, 1875.

- 319 BRIG "Nellie Hastings." Built at Medford by James O. Curtis. Launched March 31, 1866. Tons, 467. First voyage, Capt. Cyrus Hall, from Boston, Oct. 20, 1866, for Liverpool; passage, 21 days. Abandoned, sinking, after a typhoon, March 13, 1875, in lon. 14, lat. 49.38 N., and the crew was taken off by the barque "Victoria," and landed in Liverpool.
- 320 BARQUE "John Worster." Built by James O. Curtis in Medford. Launched May 11, 1867. Tons, 611. First voyage, in ballast, for Philadelphia, and loaded there for San Francisco; Capt. G. B. Knowles.
- 321 SHIP "Springfield." Built by James O. Curtis in Medford. Launched Nov. 19, 1868. Length, 170 ft.; breadth, 36 ft.; depth, 23.5 ft.; tons, 1,043. First voyage, Capt. Jas. S. Dwight, from Boston, Dec. 28, 1868, for Bombay; passage, 123 days. Sold in Hamburg, 1880, and sailed under the German flag; renamed "Christina."
- 322 SHIP "Cashmere." Built by James O. Curtis in Medford. Launched May 22, 1889. Length, 166 ft.; breadth, 32½ ft.; depth, 216 ft.; tons, 937. First voyage, Capt. S. K. Kingman, from Boston, July 3, 1869, for Batavia; passage, 100 days. Changed into a barque in 1881. The barque "Cashmere" encountered a typhoon in Van Diemen's Straits, Sept. 12, 1885; all the masts were cut away, and Capt. Alex. Nicols and first and second mates washed overboard; with only one boat left, part of the crew started for land. The remainder of the crew stayed by the ship for nine days, when they managed to make a raft and left the vessel. They reached shore, and after many days of travel arrived at Nagasaki, Japan. The cargo being oil, the vessel did not sink, but was never found.
- 323 SHIP "Pilgrim." Built by J. T. Foster, of Medford, the last vessel built there. Launched Dec. 3, 1873. Length, 173 ft.; breadth, 35 ft.; depth, 20 ft.; tons, 957. First voyage, from Boston, Capt. Fowle, Feb. 14, 1874, for Hong Kong; passage, 121 days. Changed to a barque in 1880.
- 324 SHIP "North American." Built by Messrs. Curtis & Smith in East Boston. Launched Jan. 3, 1873. Length, 219.65 ft.; breadth, 41 ft.; depth, 24.05 ft.; tons, 1,584. First voyage, Capt. G. W. Tucker, New York, May 4, 1873, for Melbourne; passage, 72 days. This ship made several remarkable short passages; for instance, New York to Melbourne, 72 days, 14,112 miles, 196 miles per day; Melbourne to San Francisco, 51 days, 10,500 miles, 204 miles per day; San Francisco to Liverpool, 93 days,

16,919 miles, 182 miles per day, or a grand total of 216 days. 41,539 miles. 192 miles average per day, or 8 miles per hour, for 216 consecutive sailing days. She was lost in a typhoon on her way from Japan to New York, July 23, 1892.

- 325 SHIP "Charger" (second). Built by Smith & Townsend in East Boston. Launched April 18, 1874. Length, 205 ft.; breadth, 40 ft.; depth, 24 ft.; tons, 1,444. First voyage, Capt. G. B. Knowles, New York, June 9, 1874, to San Francisco; passage, 128 days.
- 326 CHARTS showing the passage of the ship "South American." Built by Smith & Townsend in East Boston. Launched Sept. 2, 1876. Length, 245 ft.; breadth, 41 ft. 10 in.; depth, 25 ft. 6 in.; tons, 1,762. First voyage, Capt. G. B. Knowles, New York, Dec. 3, 1876, for San Francisco; passage, 109 days. The "South American" was at her time the fastest sailing-vessel afloat. She made a voyage from San Francisco to Liverpool, thence to Cardiff, Eng., thence to Hong Kong and back to San Francisco, in 10 months and 17 days, including discharging and loading time. This is the quickest sailing time on record around the world. She also made three consecutive passages from San Francisco to Liverpool in 100 days each; once to Cardiff in 89 days; thence Hong Kong to New York in 88 days. She was lost Sept. 15, 1889, in Struy's Bay, Cape L'Agulhas, southern end of Africa. The charts also show the quick passages of the "Charger" and "North American."
