The MEDICAL FACULTY throughout the Union, have acknowledged this to be ONE OF THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINES NOW IN USE. chemical process, it has been proved to possess ALTERNATIVE, TONIC AND ANTI-DYS-PTIC PROPERTIES, superior to those found in any other medicinal beverage yet discovered. The Medical Faculty of the State of New York prescribe it in almost every case for debility and itude, owing to its soothing effects on the system, and the absence of all injurious minerals, micals or acids.

The Turner Brothers have in their possession numerous certificates of its sanitive properties, a the most eminent Medical Men in the United States, who have witnessed its effects on the ents, where it has been administered in their extensive practice.

T HAS BEEN ANALYZED by the most eminent Chemists of New York City and Buf-, where the Turner Brothers manufacture daily thousands of gallons, and so popular has it be- ie, that they can hardly supply the demand, even when their stills are kept in operation day night. This Wine is acknowledged at the East to be the best Restorative now in use, ere general prostration of the system exists, or derangement of the functions of the digestive ans, as it braces the nerves anew, re-coats the stomach, and creates an appetite, when other ces have failed. This excellent Wine is pleasant to the taste, and the strictest advocate of perance cannot discover any intoxicating quality in it. It is wholly free from all substances are injurious to health, but, on the contrary, its effects on the system of either invalids or per- s in robust health, are of the most beneficial description.

Caution to the Public.

he reputation awarded to TURNER'S GINGER WINE, and the unheard-of popularity it has received at the East, ell as in this State, has been the means of putting into the market MANY SPURIOUS ARTICLES—to guard against ch, Turner Brothers have had engraved on a steel plate, a splendid new label, which is copy-righted and can- be counterfeited or imitated, without an infraction of the copy-right law. This label has a correct portrait of Turner Brothers, six in number, and no bottle that has not this label will contain the genuine Ginger Wine. nprincipled men in this city have partially counterfeited the label lately used by the Turner Brothers, and eby imposed upon many persons.

Be caution all consumers of GINGER WINE to examine the label, as none is genuine save such as have our por- s in a circle on a steel plate, surrounding the inscription—"TURNER'S GINGER WINE, prepared by Turner bers, New York, Buffalo, (N. Y.) and San Francisco, California."

CONTINENTAL INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF NEW YORK,

OFFICE No. 14 WALL STREET,

Has a Cash Capital of $500,000, and will Insure Buildings, Merchandise and Personal Property, against Loss or Damage by Fire.

DIVISION OF PROFITS WITH POLICY HOLDERS.

Office Continental Insurance Co.,
NEW YORK, JULY 1, 1856.

This Company will hereafter give the holders of its policies the right to participate in the profits of the business of the Company. The extent of this participation will appear from the following, which is an extract from that portion of the policy referring to the subject:

"FIRST.—Within one month after the expiration of each fiscal year, the profits of the business for the year shall be ascertained, in order to divide and distribute the same to the Company and policy holders according to their respective interests therein. These profits shall be determined in the following manner:

Interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum upon the capital ($500,000) and upon whatever amount of surplus, not belonging to or set apart for policy or scrip-holders, shall remain undivided, shall be first retained and set apart as the property of the Company, the balance of interest received or accrued during the year on loans, including the discounts on losses paid before maturity, and the amount of premiums earned during such year, shall then be ascertained, and the sum of these shall be considered the gross receipts.

The general expenses, taxes, losses, and the interest paid or payable to scrip holders, and all other contingent charges and liabilities shall be considered gross expenses; the gross expenses being deducted from the gross receipts, the balance shall be considered the profits of the business for the year, and this estimate shall be binding and conclusive upon all parties entitled to participate in said profits.

SECOND.—Three-fourths of the balance of profits so ascertained, shall be divided to policy holders, and scrip shall be issued to them for such sums as they shall be respectively entitled to in proportion to the amount of premium paid by each, which scrip shall be entitled to such interest, not exceeding six per cent. annually, as in the judgment of the Board of Directors, the business of each year shall warrant; but no scrip shall be issued for any fractional excess over even fives of dollars, but scrip may be issued for three dollars, or four dollars, in case the amount to which a policy holder shall be entitled, shall equal one of these sums, and be less than five dollars.

FOURTH.—The scrip shall be redeemable as follows: whenever the fund represented by said scrip shall exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, the Board of Directors shall thereafter apply the excess of said fund annually towards the redemption of such scrip, commencing with the earliest in date. Notice of the redemption of the scrip shall be given for ten days in two daily newspapers, published in the city of New York, and no interest shall be payable on such scrip after the time mentioned in said notice for the redemption thereof.

FIFTH.—By holders of policies is intended not only the party in whose name the policy is issued, but also the party to whom the same is assigned, or to whom loss is made payable, and the scrip for the amount to which the premium paid entitles the holder, may be issued in either, at the option of the Company."

The Capital of the Company is $500,000, which, with the surplus, is invested principally in Bonds and Mortgages upon Real Estate worth more than twice the aggregate loans. The plan now adopted is designed to give a gradual and permanent increase in the security afforded to customers.

The Company insures Household Furniture, Buildings, Rents, Leases and other Insurable Property, at the usual rates.

THE compiler considers it due to himself and respectful to the public of San Francisco, to say a few words explanatory and apologetic, by way of preface, on the appearance of COLVILLE'S SAN FRANCISCO DIRECTORY AND GAZETEER.

Having had considerable experience in this branch of business, the compiler, with slight hesitation, complied with the wish of many personal friends, among the merchants of this city, who declared that a really complete Directory of San Francisco was very much needed, and being favorably impressed with his capacity for the work, urged him to undertake it. But, impelled by a higher ambition than the publication of a mere Directory, and desirous of establishing an enterprise of a permanent character, by laying the foundation of an annual commensurate with the present importance and prospective greatness of the metropolis of the Pacific, he proposed that his book should contain, not only the names and residences of the citizens, with the ordinary data usually included in such registers, but that it should also contain, arranged in a concise and systematic manner, a brief review of the history of the city, short biographical notices and sketches of its institutions, enterprises, etc., by which, so to speak, a picture would be presented, reminding the early citizen of almost forgotten reminiscences, and interesting him in present progress, while the new-comer could, within a reasonable space, possess himself of the important features of the past and present of San Francisco.

How nearly he has realized his conception in this work must be determined by his patrons—but he has fallen short of his own desires, and very far short of what he hopes to make of its successors; he can, however, conscientiously affirm, that he has spared neither labor nor expense in his efforts to perfect the work.

He claims indulgence only to the extent that may be justified by the fact that, it being a pioneer work of the character in this city, he was without the advantage which the present work must be to the future; to the difficulty, aggravated by that circumstance, of obtaining from those in possession of it, the various and extended information required; the reluctance of many individuals to have their former official relations mentioned; and, finally, to the unexpected announcement of an opposition Directory, which, however incomplete or unsatisfactory it might prove, was still formidable enough to destroy the hope of reasonable gain on this publication, if suffered to appear much in advance of it; hence, the compiler has anticipated, by some weeks, the date at which he intended to have his book out, and to that extent curtailed the time intended to have been devoted to the compilation and careful revision of the reading matter.

In reference to the register of names, no expense has been spared to make it complete and accurate; nevertheless there are many omissions arising from the absence of inmates, and refusal, in numerous instances, of persons to give their names or the names of others, partners or inmates with them, fearing consequences, in reference to taxation or jury duty, if their names and residences were given; or, perhaps, influenced by pride or mere caprice to prevent the publication of their residence.

Notwithstanding these defects, the compiler relies, with implicit confidence, upon the community who have so generously sustained his work by their subscriptions and advertisements, firm in the conviction that the material found in its pages is well calculated to convey a clear impression of the character and importance of the city, as well as aid its business men in their pursuits, promising the citizens and his patrons that each year shall exhibit a progressive improvement in every department of the enterprise.

The uniform courtesy which the compiler has received from all those holding official position to whom it was necessary to apply for information, and their ready acquiescence, attended frequently with great labor in furnishing the information sought, would render it invidious here to mention individual names; but these gentlemen are assured of his grateful appreciation of their kindness, and enjoy the satisfaction of having contributed matter useful and important, otherwise inaccessible.

HISTORY OF SAN FRANCISCO.

NO PERIOD of life is more interesting to the student of nature, than is that known as childhood. Not even the full tide of success upon which manhood is borne onward to the highest honors of professional life, pleases the philosophic observer so much, as do the early developments of the child. Mature honors which sit upon the wintry brows of age, are pleasant to contemplate as the rewards of a life well spent—but all are then more a souvenir than anything else. There is little of earthly hope left to be woven with those chaplets. Anticipations have been realized or disappointed. Memory is then most of life. And memory is ever sad, if not mournful. But the cradle and the nursery are presided over by the smiling goddess, Hope. Nothing of a gloomy past casts shadows upon the buds and blossoms of youth. Life is a joyful avenir, and we watch its every development as the horticulturist watches the sprouting plant, and the pomologist his budding scions. The growth of the soul is quite as delightful a study as is its matured expansion. Cities are like human creatures. They have their infancy, their childhood, old age. Some have even had their death, and have found after long ages of silence, their “Old Mortalities” to move away the rubbish from over their graves, brush the dust from their tomb-stones, decipher their epitaphs, and give the world their histories. Ninevah, Pompei, Palenque, begun, grew, matured, became old, passed away, and were forgotten in their graves of empires, until Layard, Stephens and others, gathered up their dust and preserved it in their classic urns. All periods of their history, could we have them in the language of Gibbon, Hume, or Prescott, would doubtless be of great interest. But it may be doubted if during the greatest conquests of Ninevah, the highest triumphs of the Roman Empire, or during whatever known glories may have clustered around the lost cities of the American continent, anything so pleasant to contemplate would be found, as the early signs of future greatness which accompanied their infancy. To see dark forests open to the sunlight, barbaric rites and customs fade before civilization’s illumining, to see the clipper supercede the canoe, the white sails of Commerce succeed the Indian paddle, and hear the steamer’s pattering wheel chronicle its progress where only the stealthy course of the savage in midnight silence had previously been; to mark the resolute landing of hale, adventurous, thinking, civilized men on shores hitherto trod only by the listless aboriginee, the transient foot of the buccaneer, or the visitant mariner in search of wood and water; to hear the war-whoop give way to the saw, hammer and ribbon-stripping plane, and note the cabin follow the original hut, the handsome dwelling succeed the squalid hearth-fire of the native; to observe how habitations advance upon the hill sides and out upon the ocean’s verge; lumber, brick and stone supplanting sticks, bark and brush; roofs of smoked hide and sooty willows changed for frescoed and pictured walls, wigwams to marble facades, air-bound council halls to churches and courts of justice, Indian tracks to busy streets, war-paths to avenues of trade, war-dances to Christian worship; to see the frowning face of nature changed by the wooing touch of human industry and intellect into a picture which greets the visitor with a smile and lives in the minds of the absent a pleasant memory; to see the triumphs of trade and commerce succeed the trophies of barbarian warfare, rustling silk instead of the bloody scalp, and to hear the worship-moving organ where the death song has so lately been heard—this it is to watch the birth and early growth of a city, this peculiarly the fortune of those who have for a few years helped watch over the cradle of San Francisco. They have seen all this, and more. They have witnessed scenes such as perhaps no other place or time has furnished. For never before had human passions been so strongly appealed to, and left so free to act, as here. Never before had such a promise of gold been sounded forth to the adventurous of all nations and so few restraints placed upon its acquisition. Upon the ear of the fainting toiler the cry of measureless gold fell like an annunciation from pitying and blessing Heaven. Ancient myths became realities, the caves of romance were open, El Dorado was found. The great, deep, universal passion was aroused, the love of wealth had a promise of gratification. Gold had taken voice and spoken to the world. This modern "Peter the Hermit" had entered upon its mission, and cold were the harangues of the enthusiast monk compared with the soul-thrilling appeals which were heard in the ringing promises of gold. The appeal found ready and anxious listeners. The crusade was inaugurated. A new Jerusalem was to be invested, its golden temple despoiled, its golden sepulcher seized, its scoffing inhabitants driven out, its treasures appropriated. And with a wild worship of what lay buried in the mines of California, not inferior in intensity to that religious enthusiasm which swelled the hearts of the knights and retainers of Richard I., Phillip II. and Lewis IX., in swarms they moved toward the promised land. Like Jason and his Argonauts, they traversed the waters in search of the golden fleece. Like Atilla and his Huns they crossed the plains and left no blade of grass where the hoofs of their horses trod. Like the early voyagers, they doubled Cape Horn in crafts little better than hulks. Like Cortes, they plunged into the unknown tracts of Mexico; like Pizarro, they traveled the isthmus, and catching a view of the Pacific, stood as did he, gazing

"Silent upon a peak in Darien."

From the four quarters of the earth, they came, and the isles of the sea kept not back. The five great races were all represented. The Caucasian, traveling on the track of empire, and the Mongolian with his face against it; the Malay, leaving his piratic freedom, and the Negro escaping from his bondage, met upon the shores of the American Indian, all except him, worshippers at the same shrine, all anxious to bow in reverence to the same god, all crusaders in the cause of Mammon, all sinking for a time the arrogance of blood and caste and color in the universal passion which sought its gratification here. From that "Northern Hive" which had poured its swarms of conquering Goths, Huns and Lepidæ over the fertile plains and proud cities of classic Italy fourteen centuries before, came the plodding, industrious, educated emigrant from northern Europe. The descendants of the countrymen of Brennus, forgot Napoleon and the "Barricades," for the time, intent upon storming the rocky ramparts which concealed nature's army-chest in the fastnesses of the Sierras. The Scot turned his back upon classic Edinburgh and his native heather; the disciple of St. Patrick forgot the Hill of Howth; and John Bull exiled himself from the sound of Bow Bells—that they might gather gold from beneath the mansanita bushes, and by the brink of Californian rapids. From the climes of Kamehameha, from the land of the Cid, from the gold-ribbed realms of Montezuma, and the silver-veined hills of the Incas they came; the tappa-clothed Otaheitan and the fur-clad Russ, the Creole dweller by the St. Lawrence, and the Ganges-worshipping Hindostanee, the discomfited adherents of Kossuth and Mazzini, battalions of the Guarde Mobile, and squads from the rabbles of General Flores, the imported Coolie and the transported “Sidney Duck,”—all turned their faces toward the land of bright gold and brighter hopes—gold often “hard to get and hard to hold”—hopes ever easy to come, and ready to leave. Thus was San Francisco peopled by such a human mosaic as never before had been wrought into a harmonious society. All creeds were represented. The devotee of the Prophet of Mecca side by side with the disciple of the Cross. The enthusiastic followers of Budh, Brahma and Vishnu, and the undoubting believer in St. Peter’s Apostolic succession. Brethren of the creeds of Calvin, Luther and Penn, and members of Loyola’s Society of Jesus; fellow-scoffers of Voltaire, and fellow-thinkers of Tom Paine. Gold is the great leveler. Gold is the great human amalgam. It draws all castes and creeds, religionists and sects into the congregations of its worshipers. So was it in the great Hegira for California. The turbaned Turk and the pig-tailed Chinese, the red-capped Malay and the “stove-piped” heads of whiter nations, joined the train and bowed in its presence. All moral codes and immoral, had their representatives. The Fourierite and the Turner, the wifeless Shaker, and the well-wived Mormon, the non-resistent and the believer in the code of honor, the debt-payer and the sponge, the spendthrift and the miser, the free hand and the sordid heart. From all points of the compass, all quarters of the globe, all nations and tribes, they converged toward this golden magnet like rays of light, and shadows mixed together.

To those who think, the knowledge of these things must operate as a preventive of astonishment that so anomalous a collection of humanity should result for awhile in an anomalous state of society, morals, government, politics and trade. For in this strange admixture of men, there could be said to exist but one reliable element of order. The Anglo-Saxon race formed the nucleus around which the elements of religion, morals and enlightened progress were to gather and crystallize. For, passing by the earlier history of San Francisco, its native condition, of which little is known and nothing remains save some of its hills and the debris of its Indian rancherias; its discovery—probably in 1769—its settlement at the Mission Dolores in 1776, by the Missionaries of St. Francis, and the dreamy life of clergy, laity and neophyte which succeeded, the acquisition of California by the United States is the period when the history of San Francisco properly commences, and from that time its prevailing principle of order, progress and prosperity has been found in the races which peopled the eastern side of North America. In properly estimating the condition of the city in all its aspects and stages during its short but stirring history, it is necessary to understand the character of the population thus assembled, from which ingredients the compound of society was to be formed. No chemist’s laboratory ever contained a greater variety of materials for analysis, admixture, or solution, perhaps never so many antagonistic in their natures. If their contact has created violent ebullitions, it is no more surprising than are those occurring in the crucible, and instead of wondering at the seething which accompanied the process, a pleasant surprise at the advances made in so few years, is a more just and natural feeling.

Through untold centuries the site of what is now San Francisco, remained, doubtless, with scarce a change, save the slow growth of the shrubs and dwarf oaks which maintained severe contest with the dry earth and strong winds, vegetated and decayed; the drifting sand, and the slight incidents and vicissitudes which marked the dream-life of the few savage tribes that have left no trace except the decomposed shells and other matter forming their rancheria relicts. The barren sand hills, the rippling waters of the Bay, the stunted shrubs, the flowers giving an early answer to the winter rains—these were the history of the spot until men foreign to the soil, but imbued with a sublime faith, left home and civilized society and plunged into its desert of cold winds, desolate sand, and savage men, to teach civilization to barbarism and preach salvation to the heathen.

Then followed the details of missionary life, self-denial, industry, toil, the policy of the statesman, the fortitude of the Christian, the courage of the soldier. Gradually the wild man's confidence was won, his listless nature partially aroused, through his appetites, his life of laziness and hunger changed to some degree of industry and comfort. He was taught to supply food by tilling the soil, and his dim ideas of God were used as avenues to reach his soul with some conception of moral and religious accountability. All these poor heathen with their teachers, have passed away, leaving scarce a trace of their history. But who shall say that in the great hereafter the records of what the Franciscan Missionaries and their wild Indian pupils did and tried to do, may not shame the grander results of our more modern missionary and political achievements.

Three score years and ten—man's allotted age—thus passed away, a few acres of soil being cultivated; a few Indians through hope of food more than from any religious bias or conception of what the gospel meant, demanded and promised, being added to the missionary fold; a few soldiers stationed at the Presidio; a few ships at intervals visiting the harbor for water, hides and tallow; and few advances in civilization other than those indicated. For, however admirably calculated the system of Catholic Missions may be for drawing into their fold the Indian, teaching him a few of the common arts of life, and to incorporate upon his heathenistic traditions of the Great Spirit some of the forms of Catholic worship, it has seldom or never progressed beyond these partial results, either from inadequacy in the system itself, or, what is more likely, owing to the principles of the materials upon which it labored—the apathetic, intractive, unprogressive Indian nature. And little better adapted to aid in human progress, than the Indian's, was the nature of a large portion of the Mexican population, which first took possession of California, and which at the time of its acquisition by the Americans, was the ruling class. They are generally as far reduced in character from their ancestors whether Moorish or Castillian, as they are in point of time, or as the adobe haciendas and Missions, are inferior to the palaces of Grenada or Madrid. Beyond a certain point their power of civilization, progress and industry seems incapable of advancing, and that point was reached soon after the Missions were established, and enough Indians "lassooed" to supply the priests and their adherents with food through their labor. A few men of a different class, fine types of the grand old Dons, must be acknowledged as exceptions to this. But beyond their own ranches, whatever of liberal sentiment they felt fell dead before the bigoted policy which prevailed.

And thus the civilization of the Indian amounted to little more than the process which breaks the wild ass to the pannier, his conversion only to an engrafting of religious forms upon heathen superstitions; and the progress of the Spanish priests and task-masters, rested satisfied with such results.

This condition of things could not last forever. So fine a bay could not remain merely the resort of an occasional whaler, or the clumsy hide drogher. Its waters were destined to be thickly dotted with the snowy sails of commerce, to bear up the graceful and vast forms of the clipper, and its shores to echo back the broadsides of men-of-war. The splendid site of the present city could not forever be left to the listless savage, and the stunted civilization of Spanish-American policy. Located and formed by nature for a great destiny, on one of the finest bays in the world, looking out upon the greatest, richest and most pacific of oceans, in the very track of empire, in the healthiest of latitudes, within nine days sail of the Sandwich Islands, within a month of China, standing a neighbor to Japan, and the archipelagos of both northern and southern Pacific, holding a relation to the commerce and wealth of that vast sea such as was held by Tyre toward the Mediterranean, and is now held by London and New York in respect to the Atlantic—this place could not fail to attract the shrewd attention of the expanding Saxon race, and of falling into their hands as ready to receive as mighty to win.

That time was approaching. Commerce was hastening it. The whaler got some idea of the country in his occasional visits. The beaver and otter even, were aiding in the work by enticing across the continent the hardy trapper. Some of these adventurers when they had crossed the Sierra, felt the touch of the delicious climes, and tasted the dreamy life on its western side, either took up their abode in the country, or returned to carry back a good report. Gradually the regenerating race began to dot the country, a few even settling in San Francisco.

From the first settlement of the Presidio, and the Mission Dolores, now embraced within the limits of the city and county of San Francisco, for a period of nearly sixty years, few incidents occurred worthy of history, beyond the usual events of a mission life, or the details of a Mexican military occupation of a country with only a sparse population of miserable Indians, and a few foreign residents. What is now San Francisco proper, during all this time, had few inhabitants, and was known as Yerba Buena, so named from an aromatic plant which abounded among and upon the sand hills. The taste which substituted its present name for that which it bore so long, which had reason for its application, and which is so much more sonorous and agreeable, is at least very questionable.

In 1816 the British sloop-of-war Raccoon, entered the Bay and port. Whaleships commenced in 1822 to visit the place for supplies of fresh provisions, and even previous to this, some trade had been carried on between the place, Mexico and the Sandwich Islands. Men-of-war of various nations arrived, but only at intervals, for some twenty years after this period, before a regular commercial trade can be said to have been fairly established.

In 1835, however, the port and its trade were considered of sufficient importance to deserve the honors and attention of a Harbor Master, and Captain W. A. Richardson, whose decease has so recently been announced, received that appointment. He was at that time engaged in the freighting business between different points around the bay, and the vessels which visited the harbor of Yerba Buena for the purpose of obtaining supplies, or freights of hides, tallow, soap and grain. During this year he erected the first dwelling, or tent, in the place. It was merely a few posts covered with the sails of a ship. Thus and then commenced the village which, in fifteen years, was destined to astonish the world with its almost fabulous prosperity, its abundance of gold, its recklessness of trade, of life, of business, of speculation; its harbor of a thousand ships and forests of spars; its miraculous growth, sudden fortunes, stirring events and electric life.

We have passed over the minor events of a few years, the earthquake of 1812 and of subsequent dates; the torrents of rain which flooded the land in 1824 and 1825; the squabbles of the inhabitants; the trifling excitements, which scarcely broke the monotony of the place,—this not being intended as a history, but only a sketch, and what most concerns the public, are the data which mark the growth of the American city.

In May, 1836, Mr. Jacob P. Leese arrived at Yerba Buena, for the purpose of locating and commencing business as one of a firm, his partners to reside at Monterey. Finding that an ordinance of Governor Figueroa prevented him from obtaining a grant of land within two hundred varas of the beach around the harbor, he returned to Monterey, obtained from Governor Chico the necessary authority for selecting such a position as he should consider best suited to his purposes, returned to Yerba Buena on the first of July succeeding, landed his lumber, and at once selected a hundred vara lot, on which the St. Francis Hotel was subsequently built, and by the Fourth of July had his house—the first real house of the future city—finished. The building of the house, the arrival of Mr. Leese, the “glorious Fourth,” the beginning of a great city—perhaps of a great empire—were all celebrated by Messrs. Richardson and Leese, and as many others, American and Mexican, as could be assembled, by a grand banquet and ball—the first ball on the Fourth of July celebrated publicly in the place. Omen-lovers may find in the fact food for their faith. Captain Hinkley, of the American bark Don Quixotte, together with the captains of other vessels, American and Mexican, then in the harbor, supplied the decorations of flags of both countries, the band of music from the Don Quixote, and two cannon were obtained from the Presidio. There were present more than half a hundred of the most respectable inhabitants and strangers; a grand dinner was served, toasts were drunk, a ball followed; they were all happy; they made a night of it; they prolonged the session, as do our members of Congress on the third of March, late into the subsequent day. American civilization, trade, amity and pleasure were thus inaugurated.

During the year 1838 Mr. Leese erected a large building on the spot which is now the corner of Commercial and Montgomery streets. Captain Richardson, during this year also, erected the adobe house formerly known as the “Casa Grande,” near where the Adelphi Theater now stands, a short distance west of the line of Dupont Street, between Washington and Clay Streets. After standing seventeen years, it was taken down to give place to more modern structures, and thus the most noted of the old Mexican landmarks disappeared; for although not erected by a Mexican, it was of truly Mexican architecture, and indicative of Mexican supremacy at its beginning. On the 15th of April, of this year (1838,) a daughter was born to Mrs. Leese, which was named ROSALIE, the first child of civilized parents born in Yerba Buena. The mother—a sister of General M. G. Vallejo—Mr. Leese had married on the seventh of the preceding April. In 1839 the first survey of Yerba Buena was made by Captain Juan Vioget, by order of Governor Alvarado, covering only the space now included principally within the boundaries of Pacific, Montgomery, Sacramento and Dupont Streets. In 1841 Mr. Leese sold out all, or a portion of his real estate, to the Hudson Bay Company, and removed to Sonoma. Three years later the place contained only ten or twelve houses and some fifty people; two years later still, the Hudson Bay Company broke up their establishment and departed. This, however, did not appear to have exercised any injurious effect on the place, as buildings and population had, by the close of the year, quadrupled within two years, and from this time the increase was still more rapid; for, on the 8th of July, the American flag had been hoisted in the Plaza, by Captain Montgomery, of the American sloop-of-war Portsmouth, in obedience to the command of Commodore Sloat, who had run up the same ensign on the previous day at Monterey. Under that flag population rapidly gathered; its shadow was a protection, and in its flutterings people heard the murmurs of approaching empire, wealth, freedom and prosperity. On the last day of the same month the ship Brooklyn, with a large complement of Mormon and other passengers, arrived in San Francisco. This may be considered the vanguard of the fleet of immigrant-loaded ships which, for years, came loaded with their adventurous, living cargoes.

Little occurred worthy of notice during the remainder of 1846. The population gradually increased and took the form of society; balls were given; Commodore Stockton received a public reception, foreigners and natives joining heartily in the compliment, and general quiet prevailed. With the American people the printing press goes in the van of emigration, and the newspaper is quite likely to give notice of the first sermon to be preached. Yerba Buena, peopled mostly by Americans and Europeans, not only had felt for some time the need of a newspaper, but, by 1847, was considered sufficiently able to support one. On the 7th of January of that year, Mr. Samuel Brannan published the first number of the "California Star," which was edited by Dr. E. P. Jones. It was published weekly—a small but prettily-got-up paper for a new country, "so far away from home!" This was the second newspaper published in the State, the "Californian" having been commenced in Monterey as early as August 15th, 1846, by Messrs. Colton and Semple. On the 22d of May, Mr. Semple transferred the publication of his paper to Yerba Buena, which, by that time, had almost eclipsed Monterey.

On the 30th of January, 1847, the settlement of Yerba Buena was christened San Francisco—the old name being dropped—by authority of an ordinance issued by Washington A. Bartlett, Chief Magistrate, or Alcalde—being the first person holding that office under the American rule. Being ordered to his ship, Mr. George Hyde acted temporarily as Alcalde. On the 22d of February, 1847, Mr. Edwin Bryant, subsequently author of "What I saw in California," was sworn into office as successor to Mr. Bartlett.

A regiment of volunteers had been raised in New York City, during 1846, for service in California, under command of Col. J. D. Stevenson. The first detachment, with its commander, reached San Francisco on the 6th of March, in the ship Thomas H. Perkins. Many of the officers, as well as privates of this regiment, still remain in the State, not a few having filled very important positions. A strong American sentiment, as well as population, now ruled in the town. This feeling was strongly expressed on the 28th of May, when the place was illuminated for the first time, in honor of Gen. Taylor's victory at Buena Vista. On this occasion there was a great consumption of whatever could produce light and noise. Tallow, oil, tar, powder, lungs,—all were brought into requisition, and houses, hill-sides, shipping, air and sea, were lighted up with a blaze and a glow of light only equaled by the patriotism which thus found expression.

General Kearny, Governor of California, having by decree, on the 10th of March, released to the people and town of San Francisco the interest of the United States in the beach and water lots on the east front of the town, between Clark's and Rincon Points, they were advertised for sale on the 10th day of June, by authority of Alcalde Bryant, on the 16th of March. The sale was postponed until the 20th of July, when nearly one-half of the four hundred and fifty lots were sold, at prices varying from fifty to one hundred dollars. In the course of five or six years some of those lots were valued at more than fifty thousand dollars, and we believe changed hands at even higher prices. The upland lots, fifty varas square, during this summer, had been disposed of at twelve dollars each, which, with costs of recording, etc., amounted to sixteen dollars. It was but a short time before many of these lots were worth and sold at sixteen thousand dollars each, and some of them soon commanded prices having too much the sound of the fabulous to be here stated. The provision which restricted any one person from holding more than a fifty, or a hundred vara lot, was evaded by speculators; and alcaldes and council, catching the speculative mania, and, at the same time, laying aside conscience as a profitless encumbrance, soon rescinded the anti-land grabbing regulation, and plunged head-foremost into land-jobbing and speculation. A few men then seized almost the entire domain, grew suddenly immensely rich, created a land aristocracy, and reduced all others to the necessity of paying immense prices for building lots, or still more enormous ones in the shape of rent. The Mexican system was the rational one, and had the same or a similar one prevailed, limiting each of our own inhabitants to a single lot, the city of San Francisco would have been worth more by millions than it is to-day. There is no monopoly so detrimental to the prosperity of a community as a monopoly of land.

In June of this year the population amounted to about four hundred and sixty, of which nearly one hundred and forty were females, the bulk of the inhabitants being composed of persons in the prime of life, or of still immature years; an ardent, daring, adventurous population, one-half of American birth, and the rest hailing from nearly all the nations of the earth. Thus early was the place in its population a fair specimen of what it has continued, with the exception, perhaps, that the American element has gradually gained in relative proportion upon the foreign. Certain crosses of blood in the horse and other animals are known to improve the stock. It is so with mankind. Whether it will prove so with the people of this city, can be better decided some years hence. But as certainly as the mingling of the Crusaders with the people of other than their own countrymen, was the means of advancing the civilization of Europe, and changing, eventually, its "Dark Ages" into the clearer light of modern civilization, art, science, literature and liberty, so surely may we anticipate that the knowledge gained from the opportunities here enjoyed, of studying the characteristics of other nations without travelling abroad, and appropriating to our own use whatever of intellectual or mechanical superiority they may exhibit among us, will tend still further to advance our own knowledge, and more rapidly develop the resources of city, state and people.

The public business of the town having much increased, Governor Mason ordered the Alcalde, Mr. George Hyde, to hold a meeting for the election of six persons to assist him in the government of the town. These persons were to constitute the ayuntamiento. The Alcalde had previously appointed six to hold office until superceded by those elected by the people. The election took place on the 13th of September. Much blame has been heaped upon the government thus formed. They doubtless did some unwise acts; it may be, some deserving a harsher term, for they were men. But when it is recollected that they had to bring order out of chaos, perhaps a milder and more just estimate of what they did will prevail. At least, a portion of the council were men of honesty of purpose, unimpeached and unimpeachable.

Steam, like the press, goes with the Americans as one of their institutions. In November the first steamboat which honored the bay, made an experimental trip. The exports during the last three months of this year amounted to within a fraction of fifty thousand dollars, and the imports to something more than that sum. Early in January, 1848, an attempt was made by the ayuntamiento to suppress gambling, by resolutions authorizing fines and confiscation. But the next meeting of the council repealed these resolutions—through what influences they were actuated, is not quite clear. Gradually the town assumed a more and more commercial character. A wholesale prices current was published on the 15th of March. Gradually, too, the population increased, and now amounted to more than eight hundred persons, sixty of whom were children of an age capable of attending the school which was opened soon afterwards, viz., on the 3d of April, under the charge of Mr. Thomas Douglas. On the same day, Dr. J. Townsend became Alcalde, Mr. Hyde having resigned. The town was slowly rising to the dignity of "a place." It already had several mercantile firms, places of amusement, public houses, and, according to appearances, promised, in the course of one or two decades, to become perhaps a city with half a score of thousands of inhabitants. Suddenly into this quietly-progressing community, as into the conclave of the gods, came the same tempter, gold. In January it had been discovered at Coloma, on the American River. Rumors of the discovery and particles of the dust occasionally reached San Francisco. Soon miners, with suddenly-acquired "piles," arrived, and then the race for wealth commenced. All other occupations at once lost their charm. Gold dazzled the eyes and the imagination, and the three beauties of heathen mythology were eclipsed in speed and fervor by the new pursuers of the tempting fruit. In this modern contest, however, the golden apple was not dedicated to "the most beautiful." Strong hearts and willing hands, industry, perseverance, energy, hope, and, as some believe, luck, decided who should be successful.

Thus commenced a human stampede such as few things less than an avalanche, an earthquake, a conquering army, or a flood, could produce. Who would drudge and fag at dry goods, at the press, on ship or on shore, for wages which seemed a mere pittance when contrasted with the fabulous wealth which lay in the beds and banks of the streams, ready to bestow a golden smile upon the wooer? Away went laborer and mechanic. Away went clerk and merchant. Business in the town stood still. Tents were empty—houses shut up. The turkey buzzard alighted in the streets; grass grew where men had trod; ships lay at anchor without a keeper; the town was almost depopulated. The newspapers ceased their issues, for the printers and pressmen had fled like people from the plague of London, and the editor exchanged the quill for the crowbar, the scissors for the pick, and, instead of writing leaders upon the supplies of gold, he rushed to the mines and washed it from his pan. The people of the place having left, off went the government also. The town was almost deserted. After awhile, the "Californian" revives, and is issued once more on the 15th of July. Nearly a month later a grand illumination in honor of the peace with Mexico, occurred on the 11th of August. Something later, viz., on the 9th of September, a public meeting decided that sixteen dollars an ounce should be the rate at which gold dust should be received in business transactions, and it was resolved to urge upon Congress the establishment of a mint in the town, so confident were the people, many of whom had returned from the mines, that the supply would be enormous.

On the 1st of November, Rev. T. Dwight Hunt was elected chaplain, to preach to the citizens in the school-house, on the south-west corner of the Plaza. Prices of provisions were high, wages also still advancing. Real estate did not follow the usual increase in prices; it may be said to have jumped from low figures to princely sums, doubling in the space of twenty-four hours, and even in many instances at a still more rapid rate. Cargoes of goods were landed—the duties during the year amounting to nearly $200,000; the goods imported, to nearly a million of dollars in value; coin to an equal amount, and the export of gold for the last half of the year reaching two millions of dollars. Since then it has reached more than twice that amount monthly. As might be anticipated, the world was stirred at such a result so soon after the discovery, and the thousands of adventurers throughout civilization had already begun to prepare for their emigration.

Many who had tried their luck in the mines, returned to San Francisco. Even their great success in obtaining gold could not compensate all for their privations; the exposure, the sickness, the hard labor and harder fare, which fell to their lot. And the shrewd trader saw that rich as were the gold placers, a richer field for accumulating wealth lay open before him in the town itself. The great prices and great rise in various kinds of goods, provisions and other necessaries of life, opened the brightest prospects for those who preferred trade to gold-hunting. He saw, also, that immigration from the nearest territories was but a mite to that which would flow in from abroad, when the wild reports of abundant gold should reach and be accredited in the Eastern States, in Europe, and among the eastern nations of Asia. Very wisely some chose the placers in the town in which to coin fortunes, instead of the ravines and river beds, where they might dig the raw material. So they remained. Experience proved the wisdom of their choice. The profits of some firms were enormous. Fortunes were acquired in a year through trade. For soon the influx of strangers became enormous. The key note was struck. The music had gone abroad, and the echoes were heard returning in the voices of hundreds of thousands of gold-seekers, and the sounds of trade and business which their advent made. Cadmus had sowed the dragon's teeth, and now sprung up on all sides men armed for the combat—the battle for gold against every obstacle—ocean dangers, long voyages, dangerous travel, deserts, Indians, sickness, hunger, thirst, starvation, heat, cold, toil, absence, isolation, death. The nations were stirred, the sea was alive with ships, the ships with multitudes; the deserts heard human voices; the mountains felt the rushing tread of westward-moving myriads; and soon this host were to touch the shores, tread the sands and make busy the streets, tents and stores of San Francisco.

The "Star and Californian" newspaper, which had succeeded the "California Star" and "Californian," uniting the two offices during the latter part of 1848, became the "Alta California" on the 4th of January, 1849. After the middle of this month, when an election for a new town-council had been held, the civil aspect of the town was rather mixed and uncertain, there being three councils, each claiming to be the legitimate one. That of the early part of 1848 finally yielded to the one chosen on the 15th of January, but the one chosen on December 27th still held out. Finally a compromise was effected through a public meeting; the members of both councils resigned, and fourteen new members were elected for the council, and three as justices, on the 21st of February. On the last day of February the steamship California, the pioneer of the mail steamers of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, arrived, and was warmly received. On the 31st of March arrived the steamship Oregon, bringing the first regular mail and the first postmaster for San Francisco—Col. John W. Geary. During the first half of this year the municipal affairs of the place were in chaos. There was, indeed, no settled government—the people opposing the claims of Mr. Leavenworth, the Alcalde, and Governor Riley supporting him. However, the Governor finally issued his proclamation for an election on the 1st of August for municipal and other officers, and for delegates to form a State Constitution. The people held a meeting, denied the right of Governor Riley to appoint the time and place for election of delegates, yet acquiesced, as a matter of policy, in his proposal or order. The legislative council finally dissolved, and left the Alcalde and his council in undisputed sway.

The population was fast increasing, the harbor was fast filling with ships, the immigrants were coming by thousands, improvements were progressing rapidly, and business was exceedingly brisk and profitable. Fresh comers made their purchases and left for the mines; successful miners returned with their quickly-acquired fortunes, to spend their gold at the gaming table, or in other modes of dissipation, or to appropriate it in purchases for the mining trade, lands, or buildings. The people as yet were like one of the tribes of Israel, living in tents; or like the Arabs, sleeping in the air and on the sand. Everything went with a rush. Society there was none. As in Israel at one time, "every man did that which seemed good in his own eyes." By midsummer, disorder reigned; lawless persons became a terror to the well-disposed, and, having formed themselves into a kind of organization known as the "Hounds," spread terror and dismay through a town by this time having a population of at least five thousand persons. They committed all sorts of outrages, attacking and robbing tents and stores, and helped themselves to whatever they fancied, without money and without price. Their outrageous conduct at length aroused the inhabitants, and they formed themselves into a kind of police and military organization, seized numbers of the "Hounds," or "Regulators," as they styled themselves, put them upon trial before a court which the community instituted, found nine of them guilty of robbery and other crimes, and punished them with imprisonment and fines. This organization of the people may be considered the first Vigilant Committee of San Francisco. It scattered and suppressed effectually the organization of the "Hounds."

At the election on the 1st of August, in accordance with the proclamation of Governor Riley, Horace Hawes was elected Prefect, and John W. Geary First Alcalde. The council assembled, the Alcalde and Prefect gave their addresses, and the city was organized by a regularly constituted elective government. The Baptists dedicated the first Protestant Church in the town, on the 5th of August, of this year, (1849). Several other denominations were already organized, and were progressing towards the erection of houses of worship.

During the month of October steam navigation became a feature in business transactions, the iron steamers Pioneer, and Mint, and the old propeller McKim, having commenced their trips between San Francisco and the interior towns. The Senator was soon put upon the Sacramento and San Francisco line, where she continued for years, and with a safety and pecuniary success perhaps never equaled. On the 25th of the same month, also, political matters took form by a Democratic meeting on the Plaza. Rowe's Olympic Circus opened on the 29th of the same month, and thus inaugurated the commencement of theatrical entertainments. One month later, a day was observed as one of thanksgiving and prayer for the advent of the new State of California, in obedience to a proclamation of the Governor. Thus early was the custom of the Eastern States acknowledged and instituted on the Pacific Coast. Probably pumpkin pies were not so generally discussed as in New England, but the day and the sentiment were not forgotten.

An election was held on the 13th of November, 1849, to elect the first officers under the new State Constitution, and, at the same time votes were polled upon the acceptance or rejection of that instrument. In San Francisco only five out of two thousand and fifty-six votes were thrown against it. At this election Gabriel B. Post and Nathaniel Bennett were chosen State Senators; and William Van Voorhies, Edmund Randolph, Levi Stowell, J. H. Watson, and J. A. Patterson, members of Assembly. It was the first election for State officers.

The Court of First Instance, under Judge William B. Almond, by order of the Governor, was organized on the 12th of December. Its jurisdiction was limited to civil cases, and to sums exceeding one hundred dollars. The object was to lighten the duties of the Alcalde's Court, which had become too onerous. All who ever stood in the presence of the Court of Judge Almond, can never forget the amusing scenes which occurred there, where decision was rendered by the Judge with a promptness and result which often astounded lawyers, witnesses and contestants.

December 24th is remembered as that which saw the first of those great fires which, at intervals, have laid the buildings and the hopes of many of the citizens of San Francisco in ashes. On the morning of that day, Dennison's Exchange, on the east side of the Plaza, was discovered to be on fire at about six o'clock. Nearly all the block bounded by Kearny, Washington, Montgomery and Clay Streets, was destroyed. The loss was estimated at a million of dollars. With no organized Fire Department, and the inflammable nature of the buildings being considered, it was wonderful that the conflagration did not make a still more general devastation. By this fire, the Parker House, which at that time was probably bringing in a much larger rental than any other building in the United States, was destroyed. The condition of the streets at this time was exceedingly disagreeable. The first rains of the season had commenced on the 8th of October, and the next day it fell in great quantities. But the streets were soon in a tolerable condition again. But about the 4th of November the rains re-commenced, and from that time until April, the mud was truly appalling. The streets were, almost without exception, in a state of nature, neither paved nor planked, and their continual use by teams soon rended them mere quagmires, where man and beast were liable to be stuck as in a bog. Something disagreeable was this to persons recently from the firm streets of eastern cities.

This year had added a large increase to the previous population of the town. More than thirty thousand persons had reached San Francisco by sea—more than two-thirds of whom had come within the latter half of the year—for the Atlantic States and Europe were now pouring their adventurous population into California. The city now contained at least twenty thousand inhabitants, and besides these, probably more than ten thousand transient persons on their way to the mines, or returned from them, for business, pleasure, or health. It was a town of men—few women and fewer children being of its population. At this period men's homes were at the eating houses, or in their miserable cloth tents, and almost the only comfortable places of resort were the gambling saloons, which were warm and dry, though foetid with the fumes of tobacco, gin, and other liquors, and the poisonous air which had done its duty in turn to a hundred sets of lungs. In such places men needed not drink as a prelude to intoxication. They could absorb it through nostrils and pores of their skin, and, in addition, bands of music helped the excitement and diverted the self-examination and reflection of those who stood within those alluring hells. Few could see the heaps of gold upon the gambling tables and breathe the air, and resist the influences around and before them. Men entered to avoid the rain and get warm, or through curiosity, saw, bet, and were ruined. Most men gambled in those days. It is fashionable and right now to denounce the habit. But some, ay, many who do so, when they do it, denounce their own conduct in 1849. The fox who lost his tail is not likely to admire the trap, nor them who set it. And the temptations now to gamble, it must be confessed, are vastly less than then. But although that vice is now deservedly unpopular, charity and consistency should not be.

Those closing months of 1849 were the golden age of the town. Nearly everybody had money, and few were there who did not assign a large tenement in their minds to the smiling goddess, Hope. There was enough to do, wages were high, gold was plenty. "On with the dance, let joy be unconfined," seemed the motto of all. Everything was high—rents, interest, goods and pleasures. Men lived a year in twenty-four hours, for events are a truer chronicler of life than days and years. To this bright picture there was a dark side, for there were some destitute and sick even in the midst of so much plenty; and woe to the invalid, whose sick-bed was probably the ground, with only a blanket between it and his body, a thin cloth tent above him, and neither wife, sister, doctor nor nurse, to soothe, to administer, to nourish. Strangers in a strange land, many a poor creature sickened and died in destitution, whose previous life had been passed amid the comforts, pleasures and luxuries of society. Ever thus is it in life. At the side of the palace totters the hut. The hovel leans against the gorgeous cathedral. The groans of the sick and dying penetrate the wall and windows of the ball-room; the beggar is jostled in the street by the millionaire. Rags and ribbons, poverty and wealth, sleek comfort and squalid misery, lamentation and laughter, mourning and rejoicing, bridal robes and weeds of sorrow, sickness and health, life and death, fill up the Pandora's box in which we dwell. San Francisco, in its best days, has not been free from the common lot. Yet, amid all its recklessness, many of its people were not unmindful of the obligations of a common humanity. They gave freely for the cause of the distressed when appealed to. But the trouble was that nearly all the well were too busy to think about the destitute—strangers and aliens to each other.

On the 3d of Jan'y, 1850 by order of the ayuntamiento, a sale of four hundred and thirty-four water lots brought nearly six hundred and fifty thousand dollars, averaging nearly one thousand five hundred dollars each, an evidence of prosperity truly astonishing, when those prices are compared with sales of similar property less than two and a half years before, being from fifteen to twenty times as great. On the eighth of January an election for State Senator, Member of Assembly, First Alcalde and other officers was held, which resulted in the choice of D. C. Broderick for Senator, Samuel J. Clarke for Assembly, and John W. Geary for Alcalde. About this time, viz: on the 22d of January, another evidence of the progress of the place was the issuing of the "Alta California" newspaper as a daily. The next day a new paper, the "Journal of Commerce," was published as a daily, in accordance with a prospectus previously issued by Mr. W. Bartlett. The proprietors of the "Alta" anticipated the issue of the "Journal" by a "snap judgment," bringing out their paper as a daily one day in advance of it without previous notice. The issuing of newspapers, and generally their demise, subsequent to this time were so frequent, that they may be passed over as unimportant facts. The first "squatter" difficulty occurred on the 28th of February, on Rincon Point. The United States Reserves at this point had been leased to Mr. Alexander Shillaber, who upon attempting to take possession, was resisted by the squatters who had settled upon the land. They were dispossessed by Capt. Keyes of the U. S. Army with a small force of troops. He was sustained by the Courts. During March the contest about the "Colton Grants" between the ayuntamiento and the prefect, Horace Hawes, came to a climax, by the former preferring charges against the latter who was restrained by the Governor, from exercising the duties of prefect. He had previously authorized Mr. G. Q. Colton, a Justice of the Peace, to sell the lands of the city and account to himself for the same. Many lots were under such authority, sold for a song, and the authorities of the city had not even the benefit of the music. On the 1st of April Col. "Jack Hays, the Texas Ranger," was elected Sheriff of the county at its first election for officers. There was much enthusiasm for "Jack" on this occasion, and there was no resisting his popularity.

The Legislature passed on the 15th of the month the first City Charter of San

San Francisco. By the boundaries fixed by this charter the city covered a space of about three miles, north and south, by nearly two east and west. It divided the city into eight wards. The Charter was approved by the people on the first of May, and J. W. Geary elected Mayor, together with seven Heads of Departments, eight Aldermen, eight Assistant Aldermen and eight Assessors.

We now approach the date of the second great fire of San Francisco, viz: the 4th of May, 1850, at which time property valued at four millions, was destroyed. It commenced at about four o'clock A. M., and in five hours laid three blocks, of six fifty varas each,—more than seven acres—in ashes. The fire was supposed to be the work of incendiaries. Great however as was the disaster, the young and hopeful energy of the citizens which knew no such feeling as despair, or even despondency, commenced rebuilding ere the cinders of the conflagration had cooled. This has ever been a marked characteristic of the people and place under all similar afflictions. Instances have occurred where bargains for new buildings have been made ere the fire reached the old ones, and the timber for the one to be built begun to be landed on the lot ere the smoke from the burned building had ceased to rise. Set the mind and energies of man free, and fire his soul with hope, and there is no bound to what he may accomplish. The city government was organized on the 9th of May by the meeting of the two Boards of the Council, election of officers, appointment of committees, and reading the message of the Mayor. The finances were reported to be in a favorable condition. Another terrible fire occurred on the 14th of May, more destructive than either of the preceding, the damage being estimated at over five millions of dollars. It destroyed nearly every building, and almost all the goods located within the bounds of Clay, Kearny and California Streets and the harbor. This was a severe shock. But so elastic was the public feeling, that persons who left the city just preceding the fire, and returned in July, saw no signs of the conflagration save the absence of the buildings which they left standing, and the same sites occupied by entirely new structures. The burned district was entirely rebuilt.

The members of the Council soon begun to discuss the propriety of voting themselves salaries. This created much discussion among the people and through the press. The Council fixed high salaries for the Heads of Departments, and four thousand dollars each to themselves. Indignation meetings were held, the Council were requested to reduce those salaries or resign, and finally the salaries of the municipal officers were reduced, and the ordinance allowing the members of the Common Council four thousand dollars each, was vetoed by the Mayor. Some idea of the business and commerce of the place about this time, may be inferred from the fact that by July of this year, over five hundred vessels were lying in the harbor, by far the greater portion being ships. It was very difficult to ship a crew at that time, the mines and high prices of labor offering enticement enough to induce most seamen to desert, and to prevent them from reshipping. So, when a vessel once reached the port she was very effectually anchored for a long time, more through lack of crew than by her "ground tackle." The searchers after the Northwest Passage found not the Polar ice a more certain barrier, than did masters and consignees of vessels, the temptations which took Jack from the fore-castle and changed him into a land crab. About this time many of those who had come early to California, commenced discussing the propriety of associating themselves as a society for social enjoyment, etc.

and the "Society of California Pioneers" was in consequence formed during August. Wm. D. M. Howard was elected the President of the Society. News reaching the city that squatter riots had occurred at Sacramento and Brighton resulting in the death of several persons, the California Guard and Protection Fire Company, No. 2, in response to a proclamation of the Mayor, repaired to Sacramento on the 15th of August. The disturbances had been quelled before their arrival. The 29th of this month was observed as one of sorrow for the demise, and respect to the memory of President Taylor. A very large funeral procession, in which the military and fire companies and other associations joined, proceeded through the streets, and to the Plaza, where it was addressed by Hon. Elcan Hydenfeldt, who pronounced an eloquent eulogy upon the departed hero. The Chinese, who had on the previous day been presented with tracts, books and newspapers printed in Chinese characters, by the Mayor and others, on the Plaza—formed a curious and picturesque feature in the procession. They were richly and gaily dressed in their national costumes, and excited much interest.

The march of improvement was visible on all hands. Its steps were rapid and distinct. During September one of them appeared in the issue of the first "Directory" of the city, published by Charles P. Kimball. It contained about two thousand five hundred names, printed in a duodecimo pamphlet of one hundred and thirty-six pages. It may be interesting to compare that pamphlet with the present work, with its sixteen to twenty thousand homes, long list of schools, colleges, churches and public institutions, commercial establishments, foundries, miles of streets, wharves, roads, cemeteries, hospitals, benevolent societies, halls, fire department, presenting all the indications of a rate of progress scarcely conceivable in the short interval between the two publications.

The effects of the speculations of the past and present year began now to be felt. The reaction came, real estate and goods became a drug, prices fell, confidence was lost, a run was made upon the banks, merchants, bankers, contractors and others failed, and many from the height of apparent prosperity and wealth, were ruined almost in a day. Immediately upon these events came the fourth great fire, on the 17th of September. It destroyed nearly four blocks lying between Montgomery, Washington, Dupont and Pacific Streets. Most of the buildings were wooden shanties, and probably the damage did not exceed half a million of dollars. It however ruined completely for the time, many industrious, but unfortunate persons. However, hope revived, and the smoking ruins soon gave way to new improvements. At this period, the city was advancing rapidly in improvements along the margin of the bay, on the eastern front. Not only were stores being erected upon piles, over the water, but to accommodate and facilitate commercial transactions, some ten or twelve wharves had been commenced, and had been extended, some of them thousands of feet into the bay.

The long suspense of the citizens in reference to the admission of California into the Union, was put at rest on the 18th of October, by the arrival of the steamship Oregon, which arrived that day, decorated with flags and firing salutes as an indication that the long agony was over. The delay of Congress had given much offense, and not a few had talked of an independent Pacific Republic. But at the sight of the Oregon with the news she bore, every other thought died out before the one feeling of patriotism, and hearts, hands and voices united in a most joyous welcome. Flags of all nations were hoisted, and little else than rejoicing was done during the remainder of that day. The 29th of the month was fixed upon as the one when the people unitedly in a public manner should express their satisfaction and joy at the result. On that occasion a very large procession was formed, and proceeded through the streets, Judge Bennett delivered an eloquent oration, bonfires and fireworks illumined the night, and more than five hundred persons attended a grand ball at the California Exchange. This day, too, chronicled the first steamboat explosion in California. The boiler of the Sagamore burst just as she was about leaving the wharf and some thirty persons lost their lives. Thus mingled are the scenes of life and death, joy and sorrow.

The proposition of Col. Wilson to construct a plank road to the Mission Dolores through the sand hills, was acted upon by the Council on the 18th day of November, and an ordinance granting the privilege, was passed. The road was commenced, and completed within five months, and has added much to the progress and convenience of the city, as well as to the value of its real estate. Generally the streets of the city had been much improved, graded, planked, and were in a very different condition for meeting the demand upon them during the rainy season, from what they had presented one year before. More than six hundred and fifty vessels had arrived in the port during the year, and the population had greatly increased. The influx of strangers and gold, had more than counterbalanced the effects of the great fires which had occurred. Thus ended 1850. There had been reverses, but still the city's course had been onward. The place had proved eminently healthy—even the cholera lost its terrors here for nearly all, except a few dissipated persons. Politically and financially, it cannot be said that much progress except backwards, had been made. The city was getting deeply in debt, and her credit growing worse. The courts were inefficient in most cases, and violations of law and order were frequently committed.

The year 1851 was inaugurated during all the month of January by the Gold Bluff excitement. That "old sea loafer" the propeller Chesapeake, which had expended twelve or fourteen months in floating sidewise, stern foremost and otherwise, in reaching California from somewhere on the Atlantic coast, had taken a company of "prospectors" up the coast to a place where, near the point afterwards dubbed "Gold Bluffs," on the Pacific shore, the magnifying eyes, fancies and tongues of the party located in their reports, unheard of, incalculable amounts of gold dust in the sands of the sea beach. The reports run some people almost wild. The share holders in the expedition and discovery were assured that their claim would yield them at least fifty millions of dollars each. The old catch of "white sand gray sand," took a new form. It was now "black sand and gold sand." The writer saw one of these happy gentlemen, when the announcement was made to him, place his feet upon the mantel, and heard him exclaim, "Now I'll buy Rhode Island for my summer villa, and Cuba for my winter's residence." Extravagant as were these reports, many believed them, and invested all they had in expeditions got up for securing the immense treasure. The whole affair was a humbug, the stories lies, with the poor foundation of a little gold dust mingled with any quantity of sand washed from the "Bluffs" by the lashing waves of the ocean, and to gather which required risk of life for a very poor daily recompense. This was the last flickering blaze of glory in the expiring rocket of the pestilent "old sea loafer." The social condition of the city grew rapidly worse. Robberies, assaults and murders grew more and more common, until on the 19th of February audacity and crime reached its climax by an attack upon a Mr. Jansen in his own store on Montgomery street, early in the evening, by two villains, who knocked him down with a slung shot, robbed his desk of two thousand dollars, and left him for dead on the floor. This outrageous act created an intense excitement. Two men, Burdue and Windred were soon arrested and tried by the people outside of the law and the courts. An attempt was made to seize and hang these men by the people assembled by thousands around the City Hall. Speeches were made calling for their execution. However, a people's jury, judges, prosecutor, sheriff, and prisoner's counsel were appointed, and the prisoners were tried on the 24th of February. Nine of the jury were for conviction, three were opposed. Many of the people, much disappointed, cried aloud for their execution, but cooler counsels prevailed, and the crowd voted to adjourn. It was proved afterward that these two men were not guilty of the assault and robbery of Mr. Jansen. They were afterward tried by the court, found guilty, and sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment. Windred escaped from prison and left for Australia. Burdue, who had throughout all this excitement been believed to be one Stuart who had murdered Sheriff Moore of Auburn, was subsequently tried at Marysville for that offense, and sentenced to be hung. But before that sentence was carried into effect, the real Stuart had been arrested, tried, and found guilty by the Vigilance Committee which had been formed in San Francisco, had confessed the murder of Moore and the attack and robbery of Jansen, and was finally hung by them. Burdue was released in consequence. His personal likeness to Stuart was very remarkable, even to the loss of a portion of one of his fingers. Stuart's arrest and punishment seemed to partake of the Providential. He had returned to the city, visited the Mission, returned to the city over the sand hills to avoid observation, but in doing so fell among some members of the Vigilance Committee who were searching among the bushes in the vicinity of a recent robbery, and was arrested by them as the robber. Instead of being guilty of that crime, it led to his arrest, trial, conviction and execution for having committed the others. Truly, "murder will out."

William Walker—now President of Nicaragua—then one of the editors of the "San Francisco Herald," having commented pretty freely upon the conduct of Judge Levi Parsons of the District Court, so offended him that he had Mr. Walker brought before him, convicted him of contempt, fined him five hundred dollars, and ordered him into custody until the fine was paid. This aroused a storm of wrath among the people, who assembled upon the Plaza on the 9th of March, passed resolutions approving of the course of Mr. Walker and requesting Judge Parsons to resign. Mr. Walker was afterwards taken before the Superior Court on a writ of habeas corpus, and discharged. Judge Parsons was afterwards impeached by the Legislature, but he was not pronounced guilty by that body.

The "First Water Lot Bill" which ceded for ninety-nine years the interest of the State in the beach and water lots of the city, was passed on the 26th of March. This act was succeeded on the 1st of May by the "Second Water Lot Bill" ceding the State's right and interest to these lots forever. These two acts created much discussion and litigation. An Act to reincorporate the city, which enlarged its boundaries, was passed on the 15th of April. At the election on the 28th of April, the Whigs carried the city, electing Charles J. Brenham, Mayor, and the other Whig candidates generally. The city had previously gone Democratic. On the 1st of May the Legislature passed an act to fund the debt of the city. The expenditures had for a year and a half exceeded one hundred thousand dollars per month, and scrip had depreciated to a ruinous rate. The fact was apparent that the city had been swindled, her property sold, the proceeds squandered, her debts alarmingly increased, her credit nearly ruined, and the corporation reduced almost to bankruptcy. She was in debt more than a million of dollars, and she had little besides taxes and licenses to look to for paying it. These had been found inadequate to meet her current expenses, as her government was managed. To save her credit from ruin, the Legislature passed the funding act.

The fifth great fire occurred on the 4th of May, the anniversary of the second. It commenced on the south side of the Plaza, in a paint shop, between eleven and twelve o'clock of the 3d of May, and in a few moments the building was in a blaze. It spread in all directions. Nothing could arrest its course. All night long it raged, and when the sun arose next morning, eighteen squares, some two thousand buildings, were in ashes. Not only wooden tenements were destroyed. So great was the heat, and rapid the progress, that nearly every brick building, previously considered fire-proof, shared the same fate. Many estimated the loss by this terrible conflagration at more than ten millions of dollars. But sadder than even this immense loss of property, was the destruction of human life, several persons having been burned to death. Before the fury of that fiery tornado, wood changed to flames and cinders in a flash, brick stores became furnaces, and buildings of iron rolled up like leather and crushed into ruins. It was a night of terror, a morning of desolation succeeding.

One of the greatest inconveniences which the inhabitants had felt was, the inadequate supply of good fresh water. To obviate it, a plan was formed to introduce water from the Mountain Lake, a body of water located among the hills, between the Presidio and the Pacific Ocean, at about four and a half miles from the Plaza. An ordinance granting the privilege to the company formed for the object named, was passed by the Council on the 3d of June, which has since been confirmed by the Legislature, amended by subsequent ordinances, and the time for completing the work extended. Difficulties have arisen to retard the work, but it is now in a fair way for being completed within the time specified by the last ordinance which allowed eighteen months from the nineteenth of March, 1856, for its completion. There had been several hundred thousand dollars expended before the suspension of the work, which is now soon to be resumed. When completed, it will prove a great blessing to the city, and will doubtless be a paying investment for the capital expended in its construction. The great fires of the city, as well as the daily wants of its people, have taught the necessity of a work which shall be to San Francisco what the Cochituate works are to Boston, the Croton to New York.

Disorders and brutalities of all kinds continuing to increase, early in June a large portion of the active citizens formed themselves into a "Committee of Vigilance," and on the morning of the eleventh, executed John Jenkins, by hanging him to a cross-beam of the old adobe building then standing on the north-west corner of the Plaza. He had been taken in the act of conveying away a small safe of which he had boldly robbed a store, during the evening, and having been tried by the Committee, was taken to the place named, and executed between one and two o'clock in the morning. It was a solemn scene, and one which they who witnessed it, can never forget. Nothing less than a full conviction that the courts of the city were entirely incapable of punishing crime, and that some terrible example of justice was needed to check the wholesale disorders which were still increasing, could reconcile law-abiding people to the act. The majority decided for, or acquiesced in the action of the Committee, and the deed was done. But the police and some private citizens endeavored to prevent it. Their numbers were not sufficient to effect a rescue. The crowd had indorsed the finding of the Committee's sentence, and were ready to assist in its execution. The thousands of the multitude swaying to and fro in the excitement of that scene in the darkness, the quiet determination of the Committee, the callousness of the prisoner, the dreadful sight of a human being swinging from a beam, indistinctly seen between the eyes of the gazer and the dim horizon, all these formed a picture which made an instantaneous impression upon the memory, like the action of light upon the daguerreotype plate, but unlike it, one which cannot be erased. It was hoped by many that this summary punishment of crime would check the career of the desperadoes within the city, especially as threats had been made by some of them to burn it again. It appears however not to have proved entirely effective. For on the morning of June 22d, just as the bells were ringing the hour for worship—it was Sunday—their invitations to prayer and praise, were suddenly changed to the clangor of a fire alarm. The hour of the sixth great fire had come. It commenced near the corner of Pacific and Powell Streets—undoubtedly the work of an incendiary—and within four hours, about fourteen blocks were in ashes. The destruction of property amounted to three or four millions of dollars.

At the previous fire every newspaper establishment in the city, except that of the "Alta California," had been entirely, or partially destroyed. At this, that office shared a similar fate. Coming so soon upon the destruction of the May fire, this conflagration was a very disheartening one. But the life and energy of the people soon arose above even this stunning blow, and although some were financially ruined and disheartened, there were others who gathered up hope and energy even from the ashes, and commenced the world anew. Yet it was a longer time than ever before, ere new buildings covered the desolate track made by this tornado of fire. Since then there have been numberless fires, but none to rank with the six already named. The best Fire Department in the world has saved the city from such misfortunes.

The Vigilance Committee executed James Stuart, previously mentioned, on the 11th of July, and on the 24th of August re-captured two men—Whittaker and McKenzie—who had been taken from them by the authorities and locked up in the County Jail, and hung them within twenty minutes from the time they were taken from the Jail. In about two weeks from that date the Committee suspended their operations, having hung four men, shipped away quite a number of other bad characters, and frightened from the city many more. Robberies, assaults, thefts and crimes generally had become less frequent, and comparative quiet now ruled in the city. Those only who had been residents during the previous reign of terror, could correctly judge of the action of the Committee. Had the courts been what they should have been, it never would have existed.

Theatricals took a new position on the 4th of October, by the opening of the Jenny Lind Theater, now the City Hall. It was the fourth or fifth theater built on the same spot, all the others having been destroyed successively by fire. It was a beautiful temple for the dramatic muse, externally and internally. On the 20th of the same month the American Theater was opened. It was a large and commodious building, and was built on Sansome Street, at some distance beyond where had been the shore of the harbor a year or two previously. During this year the tide of human influx by sea fell considerably below that of the previous year, when it reached thirty-six thousand. Many of the arrivals were from China. But as yet few of that most degraded and beastly of all the human creatures yet located on the continent—the female Chinese—had come. That was an accursed nuisance left for a future judgment. The city was, nevertheless, progressing in population and improvements; hills were removed into the harbor, houses were erected forty feet below where the surface of the sand had been, and stores were built where ships had floated a year before. Comfort, and even luxury, were supplanting the exposure and hard fare of the previous years. The markets were abundantly supplied with meats wild and tame, game and vegetables. The place was fast becoming an American city, with phases, to some extent, unlike any other—the large foreign population having engrafted upon its character and appearance not a few of their own national characteristics. It had the shrewd business air of the Yankees; the French vivacity; the laborious, plodding and intelligent industry of the German; the dreamy and improvident idleness of the Mexican; the unique, pig-tailed, narrow-eyed Chinese, to make people wonder that nature and custom should so combine to manufacture so much individual ugliness.

On the 30th of January, 1852, the last great sale of city property, under the Peter Smith judgments, took place. During the previous year Dr. Peter Smith had obtained judgments against the city on the scrip which he had received on his contract for keeping the city sick, and under those judgments, during that and the present year, disposed of nearly all the city's property in wharves, water and upland lots, worth several millions of dollars, for prices that did not pay his claim, which was less than $65,000. It was not believed by the public at large that the sale was legal, and only a few persons had the nerve to bid, and of course the property was sacrificed. The Supreme Court subsequently confirmed the sales, and thus the princely inheritance of the city was lost to her forever. This was the result of a great conspiracy, or an ignorance little less than villainy, on the part of some persons. Who were they?

Notwithstanding the property of the corporation was thus sacrificed, the recklessness of expenditures, and consequently taxation, did not diminish. The city had paid, during the fiscal year ending on the 31st of May, 1852, more than one million seven hundred thousand dollars as taxes, in the form of licenses, taxation for City, County and State purposes, and as Custom House dues; besides which, there were some three hundred thousand dollars yet to be collected. An additional two hundred thousand dollars was added to the city debt by the purchase of the Jenny Lind Theater for a City Hall, on the 4th of June. A very large amount, besides, was expended subsequently to fit it up, and yet at this day there is a mortgage on the lot upon which it stands, for some thirty thousand dollars, unless it has been redeemed within a few weeks.

Though far away from the East, the people of San Francisco were still close to their patriotism, and their admiration of genius, eloquence and statesmanship had not diminished. This was evident upon the 10th of August, which was solemnized by an immense procession and other marks of homage and affection for the great man, Henry Clay, news of whose death had recently reached the city. All parties, sects and callings forgot, for the time, their rivalries and contentions, and united to pay the last sad, grateful honors to one of the greatest and best of orators, citizens and statesmen. The city was draped in mourning. Over the tomb of greatness and worth, the dissensions of politicians grew silent; the soul was dumb; the heart was sad. Nationalities were forgotten in honor to him whose broad humanity had embraced all the earth. The great man was no more. The great Whig Party lay in his honored grave!

The sad news of the death of Clay, and the solemnities which followed, were succeeded, on the 21st of November, by the news of the death of that other great man of the Whig party, of the nation and the world, Daniel Webster. All suitable and possible honors were paid to his memory. In all which constitutes a great man, a great statesman, a great orator, Daniel Webster possessed as much, if not more, united in the same individual, than any other man whose mental glory has illuminated the continent and shed undying luster on his name. These notices of those two statesmen are not strictly of the current history of San Francisco, but the influences of their death upon its people, are. And, besides, it may be said that notices of such men are seldom out of place. Whatever illustrates the tone of society, may aptly be considered an historical event.

The progress of the city was somewhat illustrated, during December, by the publication of a Directory, by Mr. James A. Parker, of nearly one hundred and fifty octavo pages, containing some nine thousand names. It was a creditable work, and was the third or fourth, in point of time, published in the city. On the 10th of the month the first legal execution within the city took place, upon the body of José Forni, who was hung upon Russian Hill, for the murder of José Rodriguez. He persisted to the last that the homicide was committed in self-defense. Many thousand persons were present to witness the sad affair. In all countries, communities and ages, a great portion of the people are possessed of a large amount of morbid curiosity, which, as in this instance, can extract pleasure even from death itself. Hazlitt enumerates a funeral among his subjects for laughter.

Nearly seventy thousand persons arrived by sea, in San Francisco, during 1852, and but little more than one-third of that number departed seaward. This left a large margin of increase for the city, after making due allowance for those departing for the mines and other parts of the State. They embraced representatives of nearly all the nations of earth. Of the number, a large portion—twenty thousand, at least—were Chinese. People differ upon the question whether their influx is to be a blessing or a curse. The census of the city and county returned over thirty-six thousand as the population, or nearly one-seventh of the whole State. The entire population, as reported, of both city and State, was undoubtedly too low. The city was steadily improving as the last months of the year passed away.

The arrivals in the port during this year amounted to eleven hundred and forty-seven, with a tonnage of over half a million, against eight hundred and forty-seven arrivals for the year 1851, with a tonnage of less than one-half that amount. Clearances exceeded in number, but not in tonnage, those of 1851. The generosity of the mines may be inferred from the shipments of gold dust, which, during the year, amounted to over forty-six and a half millions of dollars.

One of the first notable events of 1853, as marking the advance of the city in intellectual progress, was the establishment of the Mercantile Library Association. This institution, which has received the warm support of the community, is in a very flourishing condition. It has a large and increasing library of valuable books, and the influence it is exerting upon the minds and morals of the community, is beyond calculation. Like the churches, schools and benevolent associations which have been formed, public libraries operate not only upon the intellect, but upon the morals, the heart. The essentially animal nature may not be won by them; but to him who possesses a soul above that of the beast in its propensities, these means of pleasure and improvement have charms superior to the degrading course of amusement to which the ignoble nature resorts, as much more powerful as virtue is more beautiful than vice. Viewed in this light, the formation of the Mercantile Library Association seems a blessing more valuable as an encourager of virtue, a winner from demoralizing pleasures, than for its intellectual influence, or the great convenience it proves to the people at large no less than to the scholar.

Many had been the obstructions to the city's progress. None had been more so, not even the great fires, than the unsettled nature of land titles. There were so many claimants under different titles for the same lots, that he who bought, despite all the care expended in examination and inquiry, was pretty certain to buy from one to several lawsuits when he purchased land. During February, the famous claim of Limantour, for a large portion of the city's site, was presented before the Board of Land Commissioners, and notwithstanding all which was said against it as being fraudulent, was finally confirmed by that tribunal. Limantour's claim professed to be in virtue of a grant by Governor Micheltorena, in consideration of moneys advanced the agents of the Mexican Government by the claimant. Abuse and ridicule followed his claims, which were enormous in extent, covering, besides those in the city, and which were of four leagues in extent, numerous other localities, islands in the bay and in the Pacific Ocean, and vast tracts of land in other parts of the State. But as the lawyers and the courts must decide this question, it is passed over to their tender care. The suit, when brought, threw additional doubt upon land titles, already as deep over the land as was the drifted sand over the original soil.

An election of three delegates from each ward to revise the city charter, occurred on the 16th of February; and, among other names of those elected, are found, for the first ward, those of Harry Meiggs, Edward McGowan and William Carr. The first, for forgery, voluntarily sailed away; the second, for safety from various charges and an indictment for murder, gladly run away; and the third, for ballot-box stuffing and other villanies, involuntarily was sent away by the Vigilance Committee of 1856.

The efforts of Governor Bigler and his sympathizers to extend the water front of the city, met with determined opposition from its inhabitants, and during April, the city government took strong ground against the proposed measure, and memorialized the Legislature upon the subject. The bill, however, passed the Assembly—two of the San Francisco members voting for it. The five who opposed it, resigned, returned to the city, and were re-elected by an immense majority. The opponents of the measure argued that the front line of the city had been fixed by the State as a permanent one by a previous legislative act; that rights had accrued under it, and that it would be an unjust violation of the implied contract to change that boundary, to the great injury of the city, nominally to raise revenue for the State, and particularly to enrich a few speculators who were the instigators of the measure. The bill came to a vote in the Senate on the 26th of April. The vote stood thirteen for, to thirteen against it, when Lieut. Gov. Purdy, as presiding officer, gave his casting vote against it, and thus strangled the monster. Subsequently, attempts to pass the bill, or similar ones, although urged by Gov. Bigler, ingloriously failed.

The corner stone of the United States Marine Hospital was laid on the seventh of April, on Rincon Point. It is a very fine building, nearly two hundred feet long, and almost one hundred feet wide, and is capable of accommodating from five to eight hundred patients. It cost nearly or quite a quarter of a million of dollars. Thus the first public building erected by the United States Government within the city is one of benevolence, for the benefit of that most useful, though improvident class, the mariners.

As said before, many of the foreigners who settled here, brought with them and instituted in their new home some of the customs of their father-land. Perhaps none of the Europeans more firmly adhere to the associations of their youth than do the Germans. On the 1st of May their society of Turner Gesang Verein celebrated the institution of their association, in great numbers, by a procession, athletic exercises, music and dancing, at Russ' Garden, with much spirit. The associations and pleasures of early life, by the Vistula, the Rhine, the Danube, the Oder and the Zuyder Zee, were renewed by the sports and enjoyments of the day, and the grand old harmonies which had sprung from the souls of Handel, Mozart and Beethoven, and had rung amid the palaces and castles of classic Germany, found voice and echo on the Pacific shore, in a new land, but with the original sound and accent. Music, in itself, is the universal language. All can understand the nightingale, whether she rise from the meadows of "merrie" England, or from Sweden's rugged land; and so the harmonies which delight a court in Berlin, or an Italian diet, are understood and felt in the cities of Washington and of Montezuma; by the dweller at Melbourne, or by the Bay of San Francisco. So the Germans thought of their father-land, listened to its grand symphonies, and were happy. On the next day—Monday—the school children celebrated May Day by a procession and various ceremonies, having and crowning their May Queen, and enjoying themselves greatly. There were about a thousand children, male and female, in the procession, dressed for a holiday, and probably a healthier collection of juveniles was never before seen. No spectacle in the city had ever given more pleasure to those who wished it prosperity.

The electric telegraph sent its first California flash along the wires on the 22d of September, between San Francisco and Point Lobos, on the Pacific Coast. It was built by Messrs. Sweeny & Baugh, proprietors of the Merchants' Exchange, to facilitate their business of ship reporting. This was the first link in those wire lungs which now enable the citizens of the principal cities and towns of the State to converse together, as if they sat side by side. In the month of October Judge Heydenfeldt, of the Supreme Court, gave a decision in favor of grants by Alcaldes—the other Judges concurring. This was a very important decision, for although it probably covered many fraudulent grants, it went far towards quieting titles and putting an end to certain classes of squatter difficulties. It was one step towards permanency.

On the 24th of October the mountains spoke to the sea with a lightning flash over the wires from Marysville to San Francisco, a distance by the telegraph line of over two hundred miles. Charge for the first ten words, two dollars. Even at these prices the privilege of the telegraph was thought a great acquisition.

Filibustering which had been inaugurated some years before by American adventurers on the Atlantic side and around the Gulf of Mexico, took form and name here during this year, and received its baptism on the thirteenth of December, when the bark Anita sailed from San Francisco with two hundred and forty men, to join a small party which had already landed in Lower California under Col. Wm. Walker. The first party had been a mere investiture of the infant—these dressed it in long robes and took it to the ocean front. Although not much was effected in that expedition by its god-fathers and sponsors, except to chalk out on paper a new "Republic of Sonora," yet it was the pioneer movement which has led to the virtual conquest of Nicaragua by the parent of the excursion, and may yet result in completely revolutionizing all Central America, and supplanting its effete people and government, by those of greater energy, if not greater justice. It has ever been the fate of nations as of the lower races of animals. The weaker have given way to the stronger. The partition of Poland is not a solitary instance. Nearly all southern Asia has passed a similar ordeal. In all such changes policy has had more to do than justice, and strength more than right. Similar agencies may effect similar results in the five States of Central America.

The Drama was honored on the twenty-fourth of December by the opening of the Metropolitan Theater, internally one of the handsomest and most comfortable theaters on the continent. During its first season it had a wonderful run, and the amount of money received during a year and a half was enormous. Nor is it strange, for Madame Anna Thillon, Kate Hayes, the Bateman Children, Madam Anna Bishop, James E. Murdock, the Monplaisir Troupe, Clothilde Thorne, Miss Heron and other celebrities played engagements as soon as they could be obtained. But the greatest success which has yet occurred, probably, was that which was achieved by Julia Dean Hayne during the present year. Her four weeks' engagement was a continual triumph. And yet the proprietors of this splendid theater, they who owned it, lost their entire investment, the architect and chief stockholder being completely ruined by the venture. While several of the "stars" realized fortunes of from twenty to thirty thousand dollars each by their engagements of a few weeks at the Metropolitan, the projectors and builders who had added so beautiful a place of resort to the public places of the city, and those who catered for the public taste so lavishly in talent and in spectacle, saved nothing from the gross receipts.

The city's interest in her water lots was sold on the twenty-sixth and twenty-eighth of December. The two sales amounted to more than one and a half millions of dollars. Some of these lots brought sixteen thousand dollars, although the title sold was only the city's interest in them after 1951. The gold dust shipped from the city during the year as noted by the Custom House, reached nearly fifty-five millions.

A large amount left in private hands which could not be ascertained exactly, but which may be estimated to have exceeded five millions. There had been a great improvement in the production of the mines. The character of the buildings during this year had been very much advanced, fire-proof brick being the prevailing kind, and the style had much improved. Granite and freestone fronts had become common, and elegance had been consulted as well as convenience in the architecture. The real estate of the city was valued at about thirty millions of dollars. By the close of the year there were eighteen churches, ten public schools, fourteen fire companies, one hundred and sixty hotels and public houses, fifteen flouring and saw mills, nineteen banking houses, six military companies, and many literary, social, benevolent, religious and professional societies, twelve daily newspapers, and various weekly, and monthly publications, six theaters, a music hall, and gymnasium. Importations during the year amounted to almost twelve millions of dollars, duties collected over two and a half millions, arrivals one thousand and twenty-eight vessels, departures sixteen hundred and fifty-three. From this limited statement some idea may be formed of the progress and commerce of the city. One of the best features of that progress was an increase in the arrivals of ladies. The effect of this all can appreciate. Woman's best eulogium is found in her influence. Without her presence there is no such thing as home, without home there is to a vast majority of the people, little which deserves the name of happiness. When at a public meeting the wife of Daniel O'Connell was toasted, the great orator said among other things in answer to the sentiment, "no man was prepared for great enterprises unless his nest was warm at home." As woman came, homes were formed, and men for the first time began to look upon California as their permanent place of abode. The beginning of 1854 saw San Francisco in many senses, a great city. One improvement had trod close upon the heels of the preceding, quite as rapidly as had misfortunes. Printing, steam, electricity had in turn been introduced, and on the eleventh of February of this year the city was lighted with coal gas for the first time. The muddy streets had been succeeded by planks and stone pavements, the darkness of 1849, and the, if possible, still greater obscurity of the oil lamps which subsequently glimmered blindingly, long distances apart, had passed away, forever. The clear light of the San Francisco Gas Company from three miles of pipe and hundreds of burners, illuminated the streets and the hearts of the people. The occasion was celebrated by a delightful reunion at the Oriental Hotel.

There are no great blessings unmixed with pain, and seldom or never a time of great commercial and business prosperity that is not followed sooner or later by reverses. By March of this year the effects of the large importations of the previous year began to be seriously felt in depreciation of prices to a ruinous rate, and in great financial distress. For some time this condition of trade had been foreseen, and felt considerably by many. A few had wisely prepared for the crisis, but by far the majority had held on to the hopes which the business of former years had taught them to entertain, and consequently not a few were ruined. As the State began to supply itself with breadstuffs and other provisions, and manufactures increased, much of the business of the city commercially had passed away, "good times" took a nap, high rates and rents, prices of real estate and goods decreased, and much distress ensued.

The Branch Mint of San Francisco commenced operations on the third of April. The building of Curtis, Perry & Ward, U. S. Assayers, had been partially rebuilt, and purchased by the U. S. Government, supplied with new machinery, and although altogether too contracted in dimensions for the vast amount of work required, has been of immense benefit to the city and State. Instead of three hundred thousand bars, Congress should have appropriated one million at least to build a Mint worthy of the city, of the country, and of the mines whose treasures it was to turn into coin. In the little building appropriated now to the purpose, more coin and bars have been prepared for the currency, than in all the other Mints in the country, the "Mother Mint" of Philadelphia included. But our distance from the Federal Government is so great that the voice of our necessities can scarcely reach it.

The trial of the Mexican Consul, Don Luis del Valle, before the U. S. District Court, for breach of the neutrality laws, in enlisting, or sending emigrants to Sonora, was terminated the twenty-eighth day of April by a verdict of "guilty." This trial with its attendant circumstances, excited much feeling and discussion. The real injury done by the Consul in sending away persons who preferred Sonora to California, could not have been much, except as a breach of international etiquette. Monsieur Dillon, Consul of France, was subsequently tried upon a similar charge, the jury disagreed, and on the twenty-ninth of May a nolle prosequi was entered by the District Attorney and he was discharged. With regard to the Mexican Consul, further proceedings were suspended. M. Dillon had claimed exemption from any obligation to appear in Court as a witness, in virtue of the Consular Treaty existing between France and the United States, refused to so appear when required by the Court, and was sustained eventually in that position by his own, and the American Governments. On the twenty-ninth day of this month, a Chinese newspaper, entitled something which meant Golden Hills, the Chinese name for San Francisco, and printed in Chinese characters, was issued. This made the fifth language which had a newspaper mouth-piece in San Francisco.

Healthful as the city had proved, many persons nevertheless traveled the dark road whence they return not. The old grave-yards within the city had given up their dead, the march of improvement had covered most of them with buildings, or cut streets through them. But one remained within the city limits—Yerba Buena Cemetery—and that already had gathered a multitude to its narrow cells, and the inhabitants of the living were fast approaching the silent chambers of those who lay there in slumbers which wake not. New and more spacious grounds suitable for a cemetery capable of answering the melancholy demands of a great city, became a necessity. Two or three persons selected and secured a tract of land toward the Pacific Ocean, and about three miles from the harbor, and set it apart for the sacred purpose. It is of quite uneven surface, hill and dale, very generally covered with evergreen oaks and other trees and shrubs, and from portions of it the city, and the Pacific are visible. This spot containing one hundred and sixty acres, was dedicated to the purposes of a Cemetery by name of the Lone Mountain, on the thirtieth of May, with appropriate ceremonies, addresses, an ode, poem, prayer and hymns. In allusion to the chemical decomposition and rearrangement of the particles of matter by which even the changed human organization may become portions of the shrubs and trees beneath which it is buried, the poem concluded thus:

“From every nation, and from every clime,
Youth, innocence and beauty gathered here,
With springs returning warmth and joyous time,
In renovated life shall re-appear;
Their voices whisper in each rustling leaf,
Their beauty glowing still through bud and flower,
Like their own transient life, as fair, as brief,
Shall give our tottering Faith new warmth and power,
And Hope new wings to scale that blissful shore,
Where, Love, grown God-like, shall be faint no more.”

Since that time many a beloved form has been laid in that last home of our citizens, and many improvements, which love and veneration have dictated, have been made to render the place as beautiful as it is sacred and mournful. The seasons deck it in perpetual green, and the deep organ of old ocean rolls forth its eternal dirge. Its keeper is sad, beautiful, sublime Nature.

Much trouble had been experienced for a long time in consequence of the unsettled state of land titles. The squatters or settlers had frequently been at loggerheads, and many lives lost in consequence. The feeling engendered by such a condition of affairs arose to such an intensity that during the month of June a regular battle occurred between certain squatters and a party which attempted to eject them from a lot claimed by Capt. Folsom, in which one of his party was killed. A few days afterward a woman was killed in another part of the city during one of these unhappy riots. This was soon followed by an organization of property holders as a special police for the protection of their property, and about one thousand persons enrolled their names as members. It is hoped that all such collisions have passed away, no more to be repeated, and that no similar organization will ever be required in consequence of disputes arising from conflicting land titles and claims.

The social state of society had in some respects much improved, in others little or no better condition existed. The ruinous vice of gambling had much decreased, so of some other reprehensible practices. There were more homes to attract, more comforts, more opportunities of social intercourse and improvement. Little offenses and misdemeanors were more certainly punished. But great crimes quite as generally escaped, as in former years, at least such as legally merited capital punishment. If the penalty attached were known to be incarceration in the penitentiary, there might be conviction for crime. But almost without exception the murderer escaped. Technicalities, quibbles, sharp practice added to the sympathies of juries not always constituted of the most reliable material, and that feeling of pity for the living criminal which with so many banishes a sense of justice to the murdered, and to outraged society and law, were generally sufficient to shield the accused whatever the evidence, and however heinous the crime. The transient character of those classes of the inhabitants who are most likely to be spectators of bloody affrays, and the consequent difficulty of securing their testimony, made it still more difficult to convict. But not always did crime go unpunished. On the twenty-eighth of June, Wm. B. Sheppard was found guilty of the murder of Henry C. Day, and sentenced to be hung on the twenty-eighth of July. The mandate of the law was carried into effect, Sheppard protesting his innocence. He played the part of a hero on the scaffold, and won the honors of “dying game.” Yet he was justly punished for a deliberate murder. There are witnesses who were not present on the trial, that are now residing near the city, who saw the deed committed. Shepperd left a confession of his—innocence! Of so much value are such professions, on the gallows, of just so much value are death-bed conversions, both, usually, breath and no more.

The fire-proof brick office of the "Alta California" newspaper having been purchased for the round sum of nearly fifty thousand dollars in scrip, for a Hall of Records, was opened for that purpose on the nineteenth of July. This is one of the very few evidences of any value received by the city for all of its vast expenditures. About this time the strong opposition felt by many to the great influx of Chinese, received new strength from the dreadful condition in which many of them reached the port. Whole cargoes of them—or rather such as lived to reach the bay—were landed at Goat Island, where the mortality was very great. The disease which caused such wholesale destruction, was the scurvy. The horrors of the African slave trade seem to have been reproduced on board some of the miserable old hulks which left China loaded with these wretched creatures, bound for California.

To the great number of churches already erected, were soon to be added two synagogues, the corner-stone of the first being laid on the twenty-third of July. A House of Refuge having become necessary, the Supervisors made a movement toward one by purchasing a lot of ground to the west of the Mission, for an immense price. This done, and the cash or scrip paid and divided, the whole subject was left to fall asleep where it slumbers still. The Plaza was inclosed with a handsome iron fence, and the ground considerably improved, leveled, and planted with trees and shrubs. The election which occurred on the seventh of September exhibited a heavy vote, 10,883 being cast in the city. On the first of October the Yankee Blade steamship, was lost near Point Conception, and many of her passengers were drowned. Soon after, the city was thrown into another intense excitement, by the discovery that Harry Meiggs, "honest Harry," who had held office in the Council for years, and who had possessed an enviable reputation as a man of integrity, energy, enterprise and benevolence, had escaped by sea with his family and brother just elected Controller of the city, leaving behind him several hundred thousand dollars of forged city warrants which he had hypothecated and for which he had received heavy amounts of cash. Harry made his way to South America where he resided when last heard from.

Col. Walker having been indicted and tried for having fitted out an armed expedition to Lower California, etc., was acquitted on the nineteenth of October. This ended that filibustering tragedy and farce. The assessed property of the city at this date was over $34,000,000. The schools at this time were in a flourishing condition, the children by the census amounting to 3,780, of ages entitling them to the privileges of scholars. Much interest was exhibited at this period in favor of inducing immigration, and several meetings for the purpose took place. But they resulted eventually in nothing more than resolutions. The last event of importance of the year 1854, was the decree by the Board of U. S. Land Commissioners, that San Francisco was a "Pueblo" under the Mexican Government, and as such entitled to the lands within its limits, etc. Many hailed this decision as their salvation, others denounced it as a fraud, although indorsed by the Commissioners. Upon a question respecting which learned lawyers disagree, and differ so widely, a non-professional may be excused for expressing no opinion, especially as it could have no beneficial effect, be it what it might. That Commission has confirmed several claims which cover partly the same territory, but their defenders say in their support that their decisions are not inconsistent, as they only determine between the United States and the claimants, and not between the claimants themselves, as to the respective merits of their titles. Thus the United States are relieved from the suits, and Limantour, Bolton, Barron & Co., and others, are left to settle the matter as best they can. Joy to them. So ends the year, many things for which to be glad, many to regret, fortunes lost, some made, gold passing through the city by millions, yet many persons in want, many formerly rich, feeling now much poorer, and all hoping that the bottom of that deep slough—"hard times"—has been reached. Upon the whole the city has considerably improved in appearance and substantial progress. Yet many are disappointed, for the fast days, prices and business of former years for which they have hoped, have not returned, and it is hard to yield a cherished idea, and bury a beloved hope. So along the road of time travel people and city, leaving the worn track of the old year with its ruts and broken pavements, and looking ahead for the avenue opening into the new year, which fancy, hope and desire have laid among pleasant scenes, and paved like a new Jerusalem, with gold, gold, gold.

During January, 1855 the new Merchants' Exchange, a very beautiful building, erected on Battery, between Washington and Jackson Streets, was opened. Subsequently the United States Circuit and District Courts were located in its principal rooms, and there their sessions are now held. A great excitement caused in the city by reports of exceedingly rich gold discoveries at the Kern River mines, reached its climax during the month, and the bubble, like the Gold Bluff exaggerations, exploded, leaving many disappointed. Rumor is as great a liar now as she was represented to be by Ovid in his time. The mines proved to be very poor, and hundreds lost money, and some their lives, in consequence of the hopes excited by the false reports of their richness.

On the seventeenth of February, begun the greatest financial excitement ever experienced in the city. On that day commenced a "run" upon Page, Bacon & Co., in consequence of reports received from the East. On the twenty-second they suspended. This firm had for years done the leading banking business of the city, and the closing of their doors created an intense excitement. It caused a run on several other banking houses, and on the twenty-third Adams & Co., Wells, Fargo & Co., Robinson & Co. and Wright & Co., suspended payment. The public mind was in a furor in consequence. Indignation, condemnation, discussion and law suits innumerable resulted. Arrangements were made by which Page, Bacon & Co. resumed on the twenty-ninth of March, but after keeping open a few weeks, they were compelled again to close in consequence of the conduct of the House of Page & Bacon of St. Louis, Mo., with which they were connected in business relations. Wells, Fargo & Co. soon resumed, and have continued in successful operation ever since. Many of the creditors of the other houses lost the entire amount of their deposits, not a few of them being thus deprived of the whole of their fortunes. The miserable uncertainty, injustice and partiality of the laws touching banking insolvency and assignments, saying nothing of the practice of our courts and lawyers, have succeeded in expending in fees for litigation, and in shielding roguery and embezzlers, all, or nearly all the great assets of these establishments, so that while a few have saved themselves, and lawyers and others have grown rich from the spoils, the honest depositors have generally lost all.

During April several jobbing and some importing houses failed, one of the latter with liabilities exceeding $200,000. By this time through such and other causes, business became paralyzed, and hard times sat like a blight upon the city. The new charter for the city had been passed by the Legislature, and some hope was entertained that under it the city's interest would be better secured, and its expenses greatly lessened. This really proved true. About this time the ship Charmer sailed for New York, loaded principally with California productions, wheat, barley and flour. The tables seemed now turned, and instead of importing breadstuffs, from the East, the State was in a condition to supply a surplus to other countries. The Branch Mint during June was coining at the rate of two and a half millions of dollars per month, and assaying weekly one million two hundred thousand dollars of gold. Notwithstanding so much treasure was in the city, and so much coin issued from the Mint, business men in great numbers went by the board. Within two and a half months there were fifty-six applications for the benefit of the insolvency law, with an excess of liabilities over assets, even estimated by the bankrupts themselves, of over three millions of dollars. This was one coloring of a gloomy picture.

The Bolton and Barron claim to the land of a great portion of the city, was confirmed by the United States Land Commission, on the fifth of June. Much excitement, in consequence, resulted among the settlers; meetings were held, resolutions passed, and a determination expressed to raise a fund and fight the claim before the United States Courts to the last. The council voted, on the 20th, to purchase from the United States its title to all lands within the boundaries of the city, and to grant it to persons in actual possession. The Mayor entered the lands at the Land Office in Benicia, for that purpose. Another immigration excitement, which effected nothing, existed during the month, and an Immigration Society was formed.

An Italian newspaper was issued during July or August, thus giving utterance to another nationality. I. C. Woods, of the firm of Adams & Co., left for Australia secretly, in the month of August. Many believe that he took with him a large amount of the funds of Adams & Co., known to have been in their vaults during the night previous to their suspension. An election, under the new charter, was held on the 5th of September, when the vote of the city and county reached 12,724, that of the city being about 11,700. The steamship Uncle Sam, of the Nicaragua Line, reached the city September 14th, with the cholera on board. One hundred and twenty persons had died on the passage, out of six hundred and fifty on board, and a large number died after the vessel reached the port. But the disease did not spread in the city.

The sale of the "City Slip Property," which had occurred in December, 1853, and which had brought a million of dollars, was declared, by Judge Norton, invalid, and the city was held liable to refund the amount received. This was a shock to the city's credit. From its treasury, between October 1st, 1849, and July 1st, 1855, $4,324,650 19 had been disbursed. People wondered where it had all gone.

The English, French and Sardinians in the city celebrated the 26th of November, by a grand Fete at South Park, in honor to the success of the "Allies" in the Crimea. It was chalked out for a splendid affair. An immense tent was erected, decorated with flowers, evergreens, flags, inscriptions and views of Crimean scenes, and all which music, religious ceremonies by the priesthood, speeches, etc., could do, was done. Men-of-war anchored opposite the grounds, salutes were fired from on board and from an eminence near by, named, for the occasion, the "Malakoff," and everything went harmoniously until during the repast, when a band of rowdies created a disturbance, tore down the flags, destroyed the dinner, broke the dishes, and broke up the celebration. A viler outrage upon a peaceable meeting was never committed. It was a disgrace to the American name, although committed by the vilest of the vile.

The "consular difficulty," arising out of the trials of the Mexican and French Consuls, before alluded to, was settled on the 30th of November, in accordance with the terms agreed upon by the French and American Governments. The United States ship Independence saluted the French ship Ambuscade, in reparation to M. Dillon, the tricolor was again hoisted over his consulate, and thus amity was restored, never, we hope, to be again interrupted.

Some idea of the crushing nature of business, during the last year or two, may be inferred from the disheartening fact that, during the year 1855, one hundred and ninety-seven persons applied to the courts for the benefit of the insolvency act. Many of these failures were for large amounts, and although a large portion of the losses had to be borne by persons out of the State, the effects in the city were very serious and discouraging. Business reached a point of depression which had never been felt before. The city's head was bowed, and the whole business community tottered in consequence of the reverses which led to such results. And yet more than forty-five millions of gold were shipped from the city during the year, besides all which went by private hands, and which doubtless amounted to several millions, although not entered at the Custom House. Over thirty-one thousand persons arrived during the year. The arrivals of vessels from foreign ports were one thousand one hundred and sixty-three. Seventy-two millions pounds of flour were shipped for markets out of the State. The entire exports exceeded four millions of dollars in value. Freight, paid upon goods from foreign ports, exceeded four millions of dollars. During the year, two hundred and sixty-seven marriages occurred in the city; seventy-two applications for divorce were made, and forty-one petitions for a dissolution of the silken bands were granted. Instead of silken bands, perhaps the term gossamer were more appropriate. Nearly all these suits were commenced by the wives of the disagreeing pair. Comment is left to others. During the year, the losses by the various fires which occurred, amounted to over two millions of dollars. The enrolled and licensed tunnage, at the close of the year, amounted to 79,319 tons. The coinage in the mint, for two years, was over $30,000,000. Arrivals of persons in three years, 117,292; departures, 76,407—leaving an addition of population of 40,885.

A large sale of three hundred and nine lots of land, belonging to the estate of Captain Folsom, deceased, occurred on the 10th of January, 1856, which brought $607,695. A little while afterwards, the Limantour claim was confirmed by the United States Land Commission. On this immense track, which covers nearly or quite two-fifths of the surface of the city, perhaps twenty thousand persons dwell. The decision created an intense excitement among a large portion of them, some of whom had purchased their lots several times over, being covered over by various titles besides that of Limantour. An excitement of a different kind occurred on the sixteenth, when the people of the city were shaken from their propriety, and some from their beds, by an unmannerly earthquake, which created no little terror. It was by far the heaviest which had been experienced, and was severe enough to throw down some parapet walls and crack others. Had the shocks lasted as many minutes as they did seconds, there is no telling how great would have been the destruction. It commenced by a loud report, which sounded like an explosion of a steam boiler, or magazine of powder, and immediately the rumbling and trembling motion commenced. It occurred in the latter part of the night, and pretty effectually aroused the people from their slumbers. The shock was more severely felt in those parts of the city which had been built on the new land, made where the waters of the harbor had previously flowed. The fright created was, however, greater than the damage done.

A Mormon newspaper, called the "Western Standard," was issued on the 23d of February. Nearly every sect, party, profession and interest, has now its editorial vindicator. There seems little room, henceforth, for any new newspaper enterprise, unless some enterprising person, emulous of editorial honors, shall start "The Putty Prices Current." Here's an opening for genius.

A suit, which had been instituted by Henry M. Naglee, Receiver of the effects of Adams & Co., against Alfred A. Cohen, previously appointed Receiver, was decided on the 8th of March, against the defendant, for $269,046. Under the operation of this verdict, Cohen was held in jail until discharged by the Supreme Court, about the close of September. The yearly amount of correspondence between the State and the great abroad, may be conceived from the fact that 257,175 letters were sent from the city to the Eastern States during the first three months of this present year, and 216,175 were received. The least postage on each of these letters was ten cents—more than three times the amount charged the citizens of the other thirty States for their correspondence with each other. But California is used to these oppressions in the shape of onerous and unjust discriminations against her. Distance may lend enchantment to the view, but in the instance of our own geographical position, its enchantment is not of the most favorable kind.

In April, the traveling facilities of the city and State were diminished by the stoppage of the Nicaragua line of steamers. General Walker having seized and confiscated the steamers and other property of the Transit Company in Nicaragua, the communication was broken up, and the ships ceased running, with the exception of the Sierra Nevada, which, being under the control of, or owned by, Messrs. Garrison and Morgon, has continued her monthly trips. The grand Bulkhead project came before the council and the citizens during this month and created much discussion, being severely handled by the press and the public generally, though strongly urged by a company formed for the purpose of obtaining the grant to build this wall along the front of the city. The opposition had the effect of defeating the proposed measure.

But all these causes of excitement were soon to sink into comparatively nothingness before an event and its consequences, which tore up the very foundations of society in the city and State, and fell like a thunderbolt upon quiet people here and elsewhere. On the 14th of May, Mr. James King, of William, Editor of the "Evening Bulletin," was attacked in Montgomery Street, while on his way home, by James P. Casey, and shot through his left breast with a pistol ball. Mr. King lingered until the 20th, when he died. Casey had served out a term of imprisonment in Sing Sing, and made the statement of the fact in the "Bulletin" the occasion and excuse for killing the editor. This execrable act was followed by an excitement such as had never before existed in the city.

A desperate effort was immediately made by the crowd to seize Casey. "Hang the murderer!" "Hang him! hang him!" sounded from all sides. But the police had succeeded in conveying him to the jail. The Mayor called out the military companies, some of whom were stationed in and on the jail; a citizens' posse was summoned and assembled in front, and, with arms, guarded the building. Many of the enraged citizens were for attacking the jail at once. But cooler counsels prevailed, and a surer method was subsequently adopted for obtaining possession of the prisoner. The nucleus of a Vigilance Committee was formed that night, and its numbers increased rapidly. On Sunday, the 19th, the Committee appeared in the streets in great force, armed and formed into companies and battalions. They took possession of all the avenues leading to the County Jail, and the points which commanded it; arranged a strong force in front, along Broadway; placed a cannon directly opposite the jail door, and made a demand upon the Sheriff for Casey, who was confined within. After some delay, the deputies of the Committee were allowed to enter the jail and take possession of Casey, who was conducted to a hack in the street, and strongly guarded, was taken to the head-quarters of the Vigilance Committee, in Sacramento Street. Subsequently, Charles Cora, who had been indicted for the murder of General Richardson, United States Marshal, was also taken from the jail, and, in like manner, removed to the Committee Rooms. The whole scene was a very quiet, yet very exciting, determined and fearful one.

On the twenty-second, the funeral of Mr. King took place. The people of the city which had been draped in mourning, immediately upon the announcement of his death, attended in great numbers. While the funeral ceremonies were being performed in the church, Casey and Cora, who had previously been tried by the Vigilance Committee and sentenced to be executed, were hung from the windows of the Committee Rooms, in presence of a vast multitude. An immense procession followed the remains of Mr. King to his final resting place in Lone Mountain Cemetery. Subsequently the Committee arrested many other persons against whom charges of crimes and misdemeanors had been made. From twenty-five to thirty of these were either sent away, or ordered to leave by the Committee. The charge against many of them was that they had been engaged in ballot-box stuffing, and other election frauds. Generally they were men for whom personally but little sympathy could be felt. There were those, however, who opposed the Committee's action and existence as a dangerous exercise of power unauthorized, unconstitutional and illegal, and as subversive of all the guaranties of republican government, and who argued that the arrests, trials and punishments inflicted by the Committee upon the humblest, or most guilty, being illegal, were acts against the rights of all, dangerous as a precedent, and in themselves crimes against the public, and treason against the government of State and Nation. On the other hand, the Committee and their sympathizers replied that, they were the people, the public; that the people possessed the inherent right to revolutionize when the government failed to protect them, and to correct outside of the law great evils which the law through the courts did not, or could not remedy. They declared that the evils which existed could not be longer borne, and that no way to abate them existed, except by means such as they were employing.

Meanwhile the Grand Jury had found true bills against Edward McGowan and Peter Wightman, as accessories to the murder of James King. The police force were immediately in hot pursuit of them. The police of the Vigilance Committee were also exerting themselves to the utmost for the same purpose. But all in vain. To this day no reliable information has reached the public, except the report of McGowan's having been seen in Santa Barbara, and even that many do not believe. That "white hat" disappeared as mysteriously as a "little joker" beneath the cabalistic words of some necromancer, and its locality is as uncertain as is the burial place of De Soto. On the twenty-ninth of June the third legal execution took place in the yard of the County Jail, upon the person of Nicholas Graham, convicted some time before, of the crime of murder. He was a young man, and had killed a companion on one of the steamers lying at one of the city wharves, as he averred, while under the influence of liquor. A terrible penalty he paid for his intemperance. One of the persons who had been arrested by the Vigilance Committee, was the noted pugilist Yankee Sullivan, whose fights, victories and defeats had made him notorious the world over. Though brave enough for a milling match, he had not the moral courage to endure the dangers which he imagined surrounded him as he lay incarcerated in the rooms of the Committee. He undoubtedly believed that he was to be hung, or sent back to Australia. He chose to die by his own hand rather than risk the fate which he feared might be intended for him. On the morning of May thirty-first, his guards on entering his cell, found him dead, lying partly on his bed, bathed in blood, his left arm above the elbow disfigured with a terrible gash. Alone in his cell, he had done the fearful deed, and his soul had in silence passed away, let us hope, forgiven even after the commission of the act at which humanity shudders. Who knows but in that dreadful agony which preceded and followed the fatal blow, his soul may have been purified and forgiven.

The exports of treasure during the month of May, amounted to $4,575,408. In shipping the arrivals amounted to 38,789 tons. Thus the great oracles of wealth still poured their current through the heart of the State, although the business of the city had nearly reached a stand-still. Gold came and went, ships came, discharged, spread their white wings and departed. Goods came, were landed, disposed of, some here, the freight paid somehow, and remittances for them made, although the general report and conversation was that, there was no business doing. Indeed little else was discussed except the subject of the Vigilance Committee, and with many, their relations with it superceded all other occupations.

On the fourth of June the Proclamation of Governor Johnson appeared in the newspapers, together with the General Orders of Gen. Sherman. By the Governor's Proclamation the County of San Francisco was declared in a state of insurrection, and the Militia of the Third, Fourth and Fifth Divisions were ordered to hold themselves in readiness to operate for suppressing the insurrection. Gen. Sherman's orders called for volunteers, and enlistments began in various parts of the city and in other places. Some companies were mustered into the service of the State. Meanwhile the Committee put their head-quarters in a state of defense, erected a breastwork of gunny-bags filled with sand, in front, planted cannon inside, made an arsenal, armory and fort of the building itself, kept guards day and night on the breastwork, on the roof, at the entrances, and took every precaution against a surprise, as well as for defense in case of attack. Enlistments and drills during this time, were progressing under the Law and Order party, and many anticipated battle and bloodshed.

In the midst of all this excitement a new Bulkhead project was brought before the Council, and passed before the Aldermen, in the face of a most unequivocal condemnation by the press and the public. However it was arrested in its course by an injunction upon the Board of Assistant Aldermen, and thus defeated. It would scarcely have passed that body even without the injunction. Gen. Sherman tendered his resignation on the ninth of June, and the Governor appointed Volney E. Howard in his stead. An effort was made by parties not connected with the Vigilance Committee, to bring about an understanding between the Governor and the Committee, the withdrawal of His Excellency's Proclamation, and a settlement of the exciting Vigilance question. The attempt failed. About the same time the Address of the Committee to the public was published. On the tenth, eleventh and fourteenth, large numbers of people assembled in public meetings to express their sentiments upon the exciting questions of the time. At the date last named, the meeting was called for an expression of feeling by those sympathizing with the purposes of the Committee, although not belonging to the organization. It was a very large assemblage, at which several prominent lawyers made addresses, approving the acts and purposes of the Committee, a sentiment which was indorsed by the meeting in a series of resolutions. Sometime previous there had been held a large meeting on the Plaza by those opposing the Committee, at which strong ground was taken in favor of the constitution, laws, courts, trial by jury, right of the writ of habeas corpus, and as which the Committee was severely denounced. By the twentieth of the month that organization claimed to have six thousand enrolled members and four thousand muskets. This was doubtless an exaggeration. But that they were strong in men and arms could not be doubted. An occasion was near at hand when this was to be made manifest.

On the twenty-first of June an attempt was made by a party of the police force of the Committee, under the command of a person named Hopkins, to arrest J. R. Moloney. In doing so, Hopkins and Judge Terry of the Supreme Court, came in collision, and during the scuffle, which ensued, Hopkins was stabbed in the neck by the Judge. Moloney, Judge Terry and the rest of their party took refuge in the armory on the corner of Dupont and Jackson Streets, near which the struggle had taken place. Immediately the armory was besieged by members of the Committee. In a very short time that organization appeared in the streets in squads, companies and battalions, armed, and in a very little while all the armories of the Law and Order party, were surrounded, and commanded by infantry, horse and artillery. The persons of Judge Terry and his companions were demanded, and after some delay, there being no chance of making available resistance, they surrendered prisoners. All the arms in the armory were likewise taken possession of by the Committee's forces. All the persons found in the other armories were likewise taken prisoners, and together with the arms taken to the Committee Rooms. All opposition to the Committee in the city, seemed now powerless.

The arrest of Judge Terry and the circumstances which led to and attended it created a perfect furor. The embers and flames were lashed into a sea of fire. Both sides were raging, one demanding the destruction of the Committee and the release of Terry, many of the other party calling for his execution. In the midst of all this excitement, the Executive of the Committee commenced the trial of Judge Terry. It was long and tedious to all parties. The doubt which for a long time existed as to Hopkins' chance of recovery, upon which it seemed to be generally conceded, the life of Terry hung, was very exciting to the public, very painful to the friends of the Judge. Hopkins eventually recovered, Terry's trial was finally ended, he was declared guilty of some of the charges preferred, but was nevertheless unconditionally discharged by the Committee on the seventh of August, with an expression that he ought to resign his position of Judge. Previous to this time, viz: on the twenty-fourth of July, Dr. Andrew Randall had been shot in the bar-room of the St. Nicholas Hotel, by one Hetherington who had repeatedly threatened to take his life. Dr. Randall lingered one or two days in an unconscious condition, when he died. The killing was a cool, predetermined murder. The Committee arrested Hetherington, tried him, pronounced him guilty, and condemned him to death. He had some years before killed Dr. Baldwin under circumstances of great barbarity. On the thirtieth of July, Hetherington, and one Brace, who had been a party nearly two years before, to the murder of Capt. West near the Mission, and who was supposed subsequently to have murdered his companion in the crime, one Marion, in Alameda County, were taken from their rooms by the Committee, to a scaffold erected in Davis Street, and there executed by hanging. On the scaffold Hetherington was cool and self-possessed, and attempted to make a speech, but was soon interrupted by Brace, whose expressions and conduct were of the most shocking nature possible to be conceived. Total depravity seemed virtue compared with his moral perceptions, and character, as illustrated by himself on that fearful platform.

On the eighteenth of August the Vigilance Committee appeared in force at a Grand Parade and Review, preparatory to a dissolution of the organization. About three thousand men appeared under arms, formed in line, were reviewed by their officers and the Executive Committee, and afterward paraded through the principal streets of the city. This was their last appearance as an organized force, in public. Soon afterward their rooms were opened to the public, and many thousands visited them. At one period afterward it was feared that they would again be assembled for the purpose of rescuing two of their number from the operations of the law. Messrs. Durkee and Rand had been indicted by the U. S. Grand Jury for piracy, in taking forcibly from a small vessel in the bay, in obedience to the orders of the Committee, certain arms belonging to the State, on their way to the city. They were tried, and acquitted on the eleventh of September, and thus for the present all fears of a collision between them and the authorities passed away.

Since then few things worthy of particular notice, have occurred. Nearly all other subjects of discussion and interest, have been submerged in the excitement of politics. The candidates, the platforms, the parties, their principles, their calculations and their abuse of each other form the principal staple of current discussion, and little relief can be anticipated ere the election in November.

After the preceding paragraph was written, a vile act was committed which deserved and received the reprobation of all correct minds. On the morning of Sunday, October fifth, an effigy of Rev. Dr. Scott, Pastor of Calvary Church was found suspended by the neck in front of that place of worship. Dr. Scott had seen fit to express his opinions in regard to certain events that had taken place in the city, and it is supposed that in consequence this wanton outrage, which disgraced no one except its cowardly perpetrators, was committed. To hang a man in effigy, by daylight, is but a poor, weak, and contemptible way of expressing the vilest of the malignant passions. An act of the kind is doubly despicable when done as was this, like a theft, or robbery, in the dark, by persons lost to all decency, except the shame of letting their personalities be known. Such a deed ranks with writing abusive anonymous letters, poisoning of cisterns, or using the dagger in a dark alley. The result of this act has been to crowd the Reverend gentleman's Church since then, with greater congregations than filled it before. Oppression and persecution are not suited to the sentiments of a free people.

The arrivals of passengers during the first three-quarters of the present year have reached 23,511, the departures 15,905, leaving an addition to the population of 7,606. This is a small increase from that source. The necessity of an avenue from the Eastern States overland by means of a railroad, is evident in this fact, as in many others. California and San Francisco cannot expect an equal share with their sister States and cities, of the emigration from the Atlantic States, while only the present facilities exist. Around Cape Horn, and over the plains are too long, as well as too expensive. By steamship across two oceans and over the territory of a foreign, half-civilized nation, territory at all times subject to dangerous diseases, epidemic and contagious, and to the dangers of warfare and riots, is not only a passage of risk and accident, but of still too much time, and far too expensive for those very classes which the city and the country most particularly, need, the laboring, honest men of moderate means, who have families to bring, with whom a few hundred dollars are the result of as many years toil; and the month spent on the journey is an additional loss not easy to be borne. To a railroad uniting the Pacific and Atlantic territories, must the public of this city and the State look as the only reliable route through which the broad, rich lands of the State are to be peopled and made productive, manufactories erected, and the whole country, city and State, placed on a basis of permanent prosperity, such as by nature they seem entitled to enjoy.

The operations of the Mint, for the last two years, and the first three-quarters of the present, show the following total results of the coinage. In 1854, over nine millions of dollars, more than five and a half millions of which were in bars. In 1855, over twenty-one and a half millions, three and one-third millions and over being in bars. During the current year the coinage has been nearly twenty-four millions, of which bars have a little exceeded three millions. During the last and present years, the coinage of silver has averaged about one hundred and seventy thousand dollars, exhibiting a small annual increase. The total of coinage for the three years exceeds fifty-five millions of dollars. At times the operations of the Mint have been very much impeded by a scarcity of acids. This, added to the inadequate size of the Mint, has curtailed the amount of the coinage. Yet it has reached a figure sufficient to warrant in the estimation of all reasonable men, the construction of a much larger and more commodious building.

Thus in as limited space as possible, a sketch of the history of San Francisco has been given. The theme is one upon which the writer could delight to linger, full as it is of most stirring incidents, phases of life and colorings of character, to be found in real life, perhaps no where else. But time for this, was limited, as intimated in the preface; and besides, in such a rushing community as ours, he who would be read, must make his writings short. Those who have watched for six or seven years, the city's growth, physically, morally and socially, scarcely need the aid of what has here been written. But to the stranger, and him whose residence here dates but recently, the facts stated will serve to give a general, and as nearly as possible, correct idea of the origin, growth and importance of a young American city, destined yet to be the grand metropolis of the Pacific, rivaling perhaps in riches and renown the great ones of antiquity, the greater ones of modern times.

GENERAL REVIEW.

We purpose in the following pages to give a brief glance at the principal public institutions, and many of the private establishments of San Francisco, with such details as we may deem of interest or a reference to the pages of this work where the same may be found.

As first in importance and public estimation, we shall commence with the subject of Education and the Public Schools.

From the earliest period at which this Department attracted public attention in San Francisco, it has properly been deemed one of its most important interests, and though sometimes inefficiently, has always been better sustained than any other branch of the city government. It has been deemed the pride of our metropolis, and with commendable liberality its citizens have cheerfully paid the self-imposed and heavy taxation required for its support.

The salaries allowed Teachers have been as generous as circumstances would allow, and their payment, though sometimes long delayed, has always been finally provided for.

Our subsequent remarks will exhibit the Schools in a prosperous state, so far as the discipline and system is concerned; but requiring a persistent and judicious economy in the management of the resources of the department, to preserve its efficiency and protect it from fearful pecuniary embarrassment.

For the present high character of the department, it is in no small measure indebted to Jno. C. Pelton, Esq., the present worthy Superintendent, who as the pioneer in the Free School enterprise in this city and State, gave it a progressive impulse, which it still maintains.

The system of administration is in many respects similar to those of Boston or New York. There is a Superintendent, chosen by the people at large, and a Board of School Directors, consisting of one from each election district elected once in two years. To this Board is confided the entire management of the Schools, appointment of Teachers, selection of studies, discipline etc., with the complete control of the resources assigned by law for the support of the schools. Within their appropriate sphere the Board of Education is independent of, and in no way accountable to, any other branch of the government.

The resources of the Board of Education are derived from a tax of thirty-five cents on each one hundred dollars—the maximum allowed by law—and the sum received from the Treasury as the pro rata of this county from the income of the State school fund. From both these sources there will be realized, the coming fiscal year, about $102,000—a sum entirely inadequate to sustain the present scale of expenditure, and meet the appropriations for the sinking fund, chargeable upon the revenue. The citizens in addition to the heavy taxation with which they are burdened, authorized a loan deemed to be ample for the objects contemplated, and they now, perhaps justly, require from the Board such application of the annual revenue as will gradually liquidate the debt, without the substitution of another.

The city, principally through the loan referred to, is the owner of four school house sites and buildings, viz:—The Union Street School—a brick house, well constructed and admirably adapted to its purposes. About four hundred pupils in the Grammar, Intermediate and Primary Departments under the charge of Wm. Hammell, Esq., as Principal, attend this school; the commodious brick at the corner of Francisco and Stockton Streets, is occupied in the same manner, and has nearly the same number of scholars, F. E. Duane, Esq., Principal; the brick building at the corner of Stockton and Bush Streets, Jas. Denman, Esq., Principal, with about three hundred pupils in the different departments; and the school house at the Laguna, with about two hundred pupils in the several divisions, J. C. Morrell, Esq., Principal;—the latter, although the first owned by the city, is the smallest and most inconvenient of all.

There is in addition to the above named, ten buildings leased for school purposes, in three of which are taught Grammar Schools, to wit:—The Powell Street School, formerly occupied by the San Francisco Academy, accommodates a Grammar and Intermediate Schools numbering about three hundred children, A. Holmes, Esq., temporary Principal. The Primary Department of this school occupies a frame building on Washington Street, used in 1849 by J. C. Pelton, Esq., (now Superintendent,) who established the first public school on the Pacific Coast. The school thus established, now known as the Powell Street School, has continued to be a most flourishing and important one. The school on Hampton Place, Jno. Swett, Esq., Principal, with about four hundred pupils in all the departments. The school at the Nonantum House, Mission Street, H. P. Carlton, Esq., Principal—this being badly located and not well attended will probably be discontinued. There is also the Union Grammar, or High School, in the building on Powell Street, heretofore known as Doct. Borring's Church. About ninety pupils promoted from the grammar schools attend this school; M. E. Holmes is the Principal. Considerable dissatisfaction has been expressed in regard to the establishment of this school, and earnest efforts will be made to discontinue it, which aided by the necessity for retrenchment, will perhaps be successful. The Board here recently established an Evening School, which is certainly equal in importance to any of the others; it is attended by about three hundred young men and boys, ranging from thirty down to ten years of age, disqualified by age or prevented by their daily avocations from attending the day schools. A small monthly payment secures to the former the advantages of the very liberal course of studies prescribed at this institution.

The whole number of pupils in attendance at the public schools is near four thousand, consisting of about equal numbers of each sex. By the School Law pupilage is from four to eighteen years of age.

It has been observed by persons competent to form an opinion on the subject, that the pupils of our public schools evince an extraordinary disposition and a ready facility in the acquisition of knowledge and exhibit a degree of proficiency in the various studies pursued, certainly not surpassed if equaled in any other city of the Union. While on this subject, we avail ourselves of the remarks of a talented female Teacher, whose ample experience, in other fields favorable for observation, lends great weight to her conclusions, she says:—"One peculiar feature to be marked in the children attending these schools is their healthful appearance. Their robust proportions, clear complexions, and excess of animal spirits, give full evidence that the bracing climate of San Francisco is highly favorable to the growth and development of the physical nature of children, and if properly trained, the mind, from very sympathy, must be susceptible of large culture, giving fair promise for the future of California. Perhaps in no city in any part of the world are there children brought together with such diversity of habits, creeds, thoughts and feelings, but with the ready adaptation and quick assimilation of childhood these destructive traits gradually pass away, they catch the impress of the prevailing tone and when they enter upon the responsible duties of life, will prove themselves Americans in heart and Americans in action. All ranks in society send their children to these schools, hence, if for no other reason, they should be exalted to the highest point of excellence, that the rich and the poor may alike, draw their intellectual sustenance from the same fountain. How important, then, that the teachers should be experienced, competent and responsible, that the instruction imparted be solid and practical, and that morality and refinement here find a place."

As a part of the system, the Board have established a Normal School, attended weekly by the Teachers and others interested in the subject of education. It bids fair, properly conducted, to become a useful adjunct to the department, tending, as it does, to the mutual improvement of the Teachers.

In closing our remarks on this subject, we earnestly desire to impress upon the citizens the great importance of the "Night School." It is ably conducted and well attended, and while it is an object of especial interest and benefit to the youth of the city, it should receive the fostering support and countenance of the citizens. Gentlemen of standing, fathers and guardians, should make it a point to visit it, and thus hold up the hands of the Teachers, and cheer on the Board in their most commendable efforts to extend the benefits of education to an important class, who otherwise would be in a great degree debarred from its advantages.

To the arduous labors of the Board of Education the Department is indebted for much of its efficiency. The citizens will gratefully remember these gentlemen, who have devoted so much time and labor without fee or hope of reward.

We subjoin a short financial statement, a list of the officers of the Department, and the course of studies prescribed in the several schools.

In addition to the Public Schools, there are several private Academies and Institutions of learning, firmly established and receiving a liberal patronage, among which we may mention the

SAN FRANCISCO COLLEGE.

Commenced in March, 1854, as the Trinity High School, and was in June of this year organized on its present basis, supplying a necessity, to wit: an institution where an University education could be obtained, contiguous to the city, and free from any sectarian associations. "The College and College School are situated on Bush, between Mason and Taylor Streets, on a planked road, easy of access from the city, on an eminence commanding an extensive view of the surrounding country." The dwelling house is commodious, affording ample accommodation for such students as board at the College, with suitable conveniences and comforts. A play-ground inclosing two fifty vara lots is attached to the College, with a gymnasium, etc. The sessions are half-yearly, commencing on the fifteenth of May and fifteenth of November, and containing five months each—with a recess of two weeks at Christmas. Terms of tuition, with board, $40 to $60 per month, payable quarterly in advance; day scholars, $7 50 to $15 per month. There are about forty students in attendance. The course of studies in the several divisions includes the ordinary English branches—Latin, Greek, modern languages, mathematics, drawing, painting, music, etc. There is a well selected library, and the most complete set of philosophical apparatus in the State, and a globe seven and a half feet in diameter.

SAN FRANCISCO FEMALE INSTITUTE.

"This school was opened with the express design of establishing in San Francisco a permanent institution, where advantages for a thorough and complete education should remove all necessity or desire, on the part of parents, for sending their daughters to any Eastern school." It has been in successful operation since the early part of 1855. Under the experienced Principal, aided by his accomplished lady and the well qualified instructors in the several branches, a finished female education can be here obtained. These advantages appear to be fully appreciated by our citizens—the published catalogue of pupils for the present year, includes one hundred and two names.

YOUNG LADIES' SEMINARY, CALIFORNIA ST.

Every branch of a finished female education is here taught, including the modern languages. Average attendance thirty to thirty-five.

CATHOLIC SCHOOL AT THE CHURCH OF ST.

IGNATIUS.

Organized October 15th, 1855, under the direction of the order of Jesus, Rev. Anthony Marschi, Principal. About thirty pupils attend. Ancient and modern languages, and other classical and scientific studies usually taught in high schools and graduating institutions, are here taught, in that thorough manner for which the Jesuit schools are distinguished. The Rev. Principal is also Agent and Treasurer for Santa Clara College, Santa Clara County, California.

HEBREW SCHOOL.

Portsmouth House, Plaza—Principally for instruction in the elements of the Jewish religion. At the Emanuel Synagogue, Broadway, between Powell and Mason Streets, a School is taught. One hundred pupils in attendance. Rev. H. Bien, Principal.

Beside the Schools, public and private, that we have enumerated, there are a number of others—male and female, Catholic and Protestant—of which we can furnish no particulars; as their Conductors have either failed to respond to our inquiries, or we have overlooked them. But the facts shown demonstrate conclusively, that while the facilities for obtaining a finished classical education in San Francisco are second to but few cities in the Union, the means afforded for good Common School instruction are superior to most.

The liberal support extended by San Francisco to educational enterprises, public and private, is the most certain indication of her future greatness, while it is one of her noblest sources of self-gratulation and pride. Her citizens, with such a system of Schools—built up within six years, under all the circumstances which have embarrassed and retarded its establishment—may certainly without vanity point to it as an instance of enlightened energy without a parallel. From the nature of her position, as the depot of the vast gold fields of California, the great exponent of American civilization on the Pacific, San Francisco becomes the cynosure of the vast nations of Asia and the "Islands of the Sea," now first interested in the affairs of "outside barbarians," as well as the subject of careful observation of the Christian world; how important then that her infancy should exhibit the characteristics of American progress—the Press, the School, the House of God—Religion, Education, a Free Press—that she has struggled bravely, that she has nobly succeeded, the pages of this work afford ample testimony.

Religion—Religious Societies and Associations.

The number of churches, and the numerous auxiliary associations existing in our midst, afford at least some evidence that our people on this "far distant shore" manifest the same respect for religion which has characterized us as a nation; and that the principle of active benevolence which seeks to make itself efficient by association, is as vital here, as it is with our brethren on the Atlantic.

The principal sects are in possession of houses of worship, some of them, of several, for descriptions and locations of which, the reader is referred to the appropriate heads, in the registry or appendix. All of these buildings are tolerable, several of them imposing and even splendid structures. There are also two Jewish synagogues, one of which is a very elegant building. In addition to the houses of worship enumerated, there are several congregations who are not provided with a permanent location, and who assemble either in the church of some friendly sect or in one of the public halls. So it can be truthfully said, that San Francisco affords ample accommodation to the church-goer, with an expanded field from which to select the Divine nourishment. The attendance on the Sabbath, at the public ministrations, at most of the churches, is very good and constantly increasing. In this particular the influence of Christianity has been, within a few years, very great, affording a happy presage of the future of our city.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

There are Sabbath Schools connected with most of the churches. Some of these have a very large attendance, well selected libraries, etc. We learn from Mr. Stoddard, that there are about three hundred and fifty Teachers, but he declines giving the average attendance of the schools, for reasons he deems satisfactory. In this connection, it is not improper to state that in several instances parties have refused to furnish statistics, alleging that they did not wish to have them published—did not think any benefit would be derived, etc. This notion—for we can call it nothing else—is altogether too antiquated for this period, or at any rate for this locality, and we beseech these gentlemen to arouse and rub their eyes. The spirit of the age is that of investigation; men demand facts, and respond "humbly," to declarations that "this is too sacred," or "this will give offense," or "the cause will suffer if all the facts are published," etc. Why, wise men are now demanding that Diplomacy, that seven-times-sealed subject, shall henceforth be open and above board; that Ministers of State and Ambassadors shall no longer play at hide-and-seek with the vital interests of great nations; and there is every reason to believe that this will be complied with before many years shall pass away. The public require information upon all subjects of public concernment, and that such information may be not only readily accessible, but properly diffused, they demand its publication.

SOCIETIES AND ASSOCIATIONS—CHRISTIAN AND BENEVOLENT.

These have been very fully described under the proper heads in the Registry or Appendix, and we have time only for a few remarks.

During the year past the Tract Society has distributed, gratuitously, within the eighteen districts into which for convenience they divide the city, 218,227 pages of tracts, of which 26,197 pages were in foreign languages.

The Young Men's Christian Association is a most influential institution, well calculated to produce good fruits. Confined to no denomination, its halls are open to all who either profess or seek a knowledge of Christ. They have several well-arranged apartments, assigned to conversation, reading, library, etc. The library contains several hundred well-selected works in the different walks of literature.

This institution is commended to the attention of pious young strangers visiting the city. They will there find congenial associates and an opportunity to participate in Christian privileges and enjoyments.

ORPHAN ASYLUMS.

Of these there are two. The Catholic Orphan Asylum has been so fully described that we have nothing to add. The house occupied by the other is a substantial building. The premises inclosed, belonging to the Asylum, are 618 feet 9 inches by 412 feet 6 inches—equal in area to about six one-hundred-vara lots—affording ample space for all the purposes of the institution, playgrounds for the children, etc. There are now forty-three orphans under the care of the Board. The names of the ladies constituting the Board of Managers for the present year, afford sufficient assurance that these little ones have indeed a home.

Orders.—Masonic and Odd Fellows.

The several Orders, Masonic and Odd Fellows, are represented to be in a highly prosperous state. For the very full reports of these societies which appear, (the former on pages 128-9, and the latter on page 164,) we are indebted to the respective Grand Secretaries—Alex. G. Abell, Esq., G. S. of the M. W. G. L. F. and A. M.; and T. Rodgers Johnson, Esq., G. S. of the M. W. G. L. I. O. O. F.—who courteously prepared the entire matter for the press. The following extract from the "Sacramento Directory for 1856," contains some interesting facts connected with the first movements of the Odd Fellows in California, and an allusion to the Masons. In fact, the two Orders united in the establishment and maintenance of a hospital at that city, which, with its enormous expenses at that early day, with the severe drain upon the resources of brethren, alluded to in the extracts, contributed to the pecuniary ruin of many of the more active members:

"On the morning of the 20th of August, 1849, A. M. Winn had the following notice printed in handbill form, and circulated throughout the city:

"I. O. O. F.—The Odd Fellows of Sacramento City, will meet at the store of Winn, Baker & McGhee, on Third Street between J and K Streets, this evening, at 8 o'clock.
August 20, 1849."

That evening the members of the Order met according to the notice, and were called to order by B. F. Hastings, of Warren Lodge No. 3, of Vicksburg, Mississippi, and on his motion, A. M. Winn was called to the chair, who explained the object of the meeting, as follows:

'BRETHREN:—You are assembled under most extraordinary circumstances. We have not the power to work as a Lodge, and yet the immense amount of suffering among the members of the Order, requires our most active benevolence in carrying out the great principles taught us at the altar of Odd Fellowship. We have met for the purpose of finding out who of our citizens are Odd Fellows, and to form an association for the relief of sick and distressed brothers.

A dreadful calamity has overtaken us—hundreds are lying sick, rolled in their filthy blankets, without wife, children or friends to nurse them while sick, or bury them when dead. We who have health and means, should be liberal to those in distress, as long as in our power. Let us do all we can, without a violation of the principles of the Order.'

On motion of Thomas Bannister, Daniel McLaren was chosen Secretary.

B. F. Hastings offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

'1. Resolved, That we will form an Association of Odd Fellows in Sacramento City, for the relief of the distressed members of the Order.

2. Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to draft rules and regulations for our government.

3. Resolved, That a Committee of Relief be now appointed, whose duty it shall be to collect by voluntary contributions from members of the Order, an amount sufficient to relieve the distressed and bury the dead, until further provisions are made by the association.'

The Chair appointed as Committee on Rules and Regulations, B. F. Hastings, Daniel McLaren and Joseph C. Derby; and, on motion, the Chair was added to, and made Chairman of, the committee.

On the Relief Committee the Chair appointed E. K. Gallup, Dennis Ridout, Isaac H. Norris, Samuel McNulty and Jas. B. Cunningham.

On motion, the meeting then adjourned to the 24th inst., at 8 o'clock, P. M.

On the 24th, the members of the Order met pursuant to adjournment, A. M. Winn in the chair. The Committee on Rules and Regulations reported as follows:

'SACRAMENTO CITY, Ang. 24, 1849.

The members of the Order met pursuant to adjournment, A. M. Winn in the chair. The Committee on Rules and Regulations reported as follows:

CONSTITUTION.

1. The name shall be the 'Sacramento Odd Fellows' Association.'

2. Its objects—to relieve the distressed and bury the dead.

3. Its officers shall be a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, who shall hold their offices one year, and until their successors are elected, and shall perform the duties incident to their offices, as the Association may require.

[The By-Laws reported at this time have been lost.]

On motion, the Constitution and By-Laws were adopted; and the names of the following persons were registered as members of the Association:—A. M. Winn, B. F. Hastings, Daniel McLaren, E. Meconick, James A. Myer, Henry E. Robinson, Israel S. Chase, John Seymour, James B. Cunningham, J. Brown, Thomas Bannister, M. E. Hedrick, John Taylor, O. C. Osborne, Jos. B. Adams, Samuel Smith, Ephraim Martin, Samuel McNulty, J. C. Stumbaugh, W. F. Deitz, H. R. Bradley, E. S. Elsworth, James A. Reed, John H. Flender, A. Barker, August P. Taylor, Wm. Kesey, Benjamin Carter, D. O. Mills, C. E. Warren, Woodbury Masters, E. H. Hall, L. A. Booth, A. C. Watson, W. D. Drake, J. C. Jones, D. C. Ashcraft, R. G. Random, Wm. P. Sayward, J. R. Welden, E. K. Gallup, John Ledger, C. J. Hendrake, Robert Hannuett, R. G. Slaughter, C. F. Hare, Gilbert L. Sees, Henry Bates, J. O. Derby, Isaac H. Norris, H. S. Merrill, Wm. Glaskin, Edward E. Hunter.

On motion the Association proceeded to elect its officers, which resulted as follows:—A. M. Winn, President; Edward E. Hunter, Vice President; Daniel McLaren, Secretary, and E. K. Gallup, Treasurer.

Several members of the Order were reported sick, and committees appointed to attend them. The Committee of Relief was directed to report all cases of sickness or distress to the President.

The President was vested with full power to do whatever he deemed necessary for the good of the Association, or members of the Order. The Secretary was directed to receive all moneys, and pay the same to the Treasurer. The Treasurer was directed to receive all moneys from the Secretary, and disburse the same on the warrant of the President, countersigned and numbered by the Secretary.

The admission fee was fixed at five dollars.

It was ordered, that the regular meetings should be held every Friday evening, at the President's office, on Third Street, between J and K.

The Association then adjourned.

DANIEL McLAREN, Secretary. A. M. WINN, President.

The foregoing are all the proceedings of the Association that have been preserved, the record book having been lost during the flood of January, 1850.

The Society continued to meet regularly, until the number of sick members of the Order became so great, that the active members had but little time to bestow upon those whom they were appointed to attend. The cases of sickness became so very numerous, that the members who were able to attend to them, frequently became sick themselves, from actual fatigue; and some fell victims to disease through their own acts of benevolence. Soon after the organization, the whole Association was resolved into one Committee of Relief,—the members of which were constantly on duty, and reported verbally to the President, day and night. Their reports were frequently of the most heart-rending character.

Cotemporaneous with the operations of the Odd Fellows, was that of the Free Masons, who, though without any special organization, acted in concert with their brethren in relieving the distresses of their fellow-men. The sanitary dispensations of the associations alluded to above, is but a reflex of what attaches itself to the Free Masons. We were promised a detailed account of their proceedings, from their first meeting in this city to the present time, but have been disappointed in obtaining it."

Son's of Temperance—Templars of Honor.

Both these Orders are fairly represented in this city. A. C. Manning, Esq., G. S. of the former, in a letter of Sept. 24th, says: "The Order of S. of T. now numbers about 160 active working Divisions in this State, with a membership of some 7,000. The Order was never in a more healthy condition than at the present time, and there is every indication of a prosperous future."

The Templars of Honor are a comparatively new organization, but are rapidly gaining public consideration and importance.

Society of California Pioneers.

The Society have two pleasant apartments on the Plaza, fitted up for the enjoyment of the members and their visitors, where the Ancients assemble and mourn over the departed days when the abundance of gold and its general diffusion were the best protection against dishonesty

—when pans of the rich dust hams, hologna sausage, beans, etc., were promiscuously exposed, equally without risk. Admirable moral atmosphere, albeit accompanied with the slight drawbacks of mule locomotion, canvas houses, flannel shirts, beds minus sheets, pillows and mattress, fleas, slap jacks, fried pork, and balls without woman.

The Mercantile Library Association

Has been so fully referred to on page 148, that we deem it necessary only to append the report of Mr. Moore, the Librarian, in reference to the issue of books for the past month.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER, 1856.—To the Board of Directors of the Mercantile Library Association—Gentlemen: The whole number of books taken out of the library during the past month was 978, consisting of works in the following branches of literature, viz.:—Romances, 42 vols.; Biography, 92; Voyages and Travels, 136; History, 80; Belles Lettres, 70; Science and Art, 30; Poetry, 40; Law and Politics, 14; Religion, 5; Miscellaneous, 52; Bond Periodicals, 38.

The above shows an increase of ten volumes above the number taken out of the library in August, with no remarkable attention to, or neglect of any of, the departments. Eight new subscribing members have been added to the Association during the month; ten volumes of miscellaneous books have been presented to the Association by Wm. Gouverneur Morris, Esq.

Mechanics' Institute.

We much regret that we are unable to give a more full account of this interesting institution than can be found in the Register.

California Academy of Natural Sciences.

The proceedings of this institution indicate that California, pre-eminently distinguished as it is for the devotion of its people to mere material acquisition, yet has distinguished exceptions. The importance of the unpretending exertions of these gentlemen, who shall estimate? For the names of officers of this institution, location, etc., the reader is referred to the Register.

Steamboating.

The history of Steamboat enterprise on these waters, exhibits the same mutations which have influenced all other business, magnified or aggravated by the nature of the pursuit, and some peculiar circumstances affecting it on this coast. The country suddenly occupied by a numerous population, totally without local supplies, and with ample means to purchase the luxuries of life, as well as its necessities,—gave an impetus to trade never before known in the history of Commerce. The products of every portion of the globe, commanded a ready market in San Francisco—limited only by the means of transportation to the interior. The prices paid for carriage of freight and passengers were so enormous, that the proceeds of a single trip of one hundred or one hundred and thirty miles, would equal or exceed the original cost of the boat in the States; and profits almost fabulous were realized to the lucky owners, after the payment of the most unheard-of wages to the employees. Thus stimulated, the utmost exertions were made by steamboat owners, here and in the Atlantic States, to place their boats in California, or to supply the demand by building them here. The result was, within a very few years, a vast accumulation of steamboat tonnage upon the waters tributary to San Francisco Bay. But while the population had increased, it had also found means to supply, at home, many of those necessities hitherto procured from other countries, and the transportation of which had formed so important a part of the business of the river steamers. Gold being the principal product, no export trade of produce, as in the great valleys of the West, arose to compensate for the diminution of the original business. Again, owing to the discovery of gold in Australia, and other causes, the influx of population was seriously checked, and the passenger trade was diminished in the same proportion as freight. Under these circumstances, the owners of Steamboat stock on the waters of California found themselves engaged in a competition utterly destructive of their interests, present and prospective. With an amount of tonnage ample for three times the population; without the least prospect of improvement in the character or extent of business to be transacted; no boundless regions, penetrated by navigable streams, yielding to cultivation annually a vast increase of bulky produce for transportation, supplying an active business for the idle boats of the preceding season—existed here, as in the great valley of the Mississippi, to give hope to the future. The steamboat owner saw before him but ruinous competition—involving direct pecuniary loss and the certain depreciation and final decay of the costly property which in most cases represented, not only his entire capital, but much of debt, incurred in its construction.

A continuance of competition of this character, under the peculiar circumstances of California—while vitally injurious to the owners of steamboats, and productive of temporary and questionable benefit to individuals—must terminate in serious injury to the people at large. The result could not be doubtful. After the pecuniary ruin of all or nearly all engaged in it, the business would certainly pass into the hands of capitalists able to control it, and who at this remote distance, having the entire control of the stock remaining suitable for business, would constitute—not a combination of numerous small interests, intent only on self-preservation,—but a successful monied monopoly; which, holding in its hands ample resources, and the entire command of the trade, could safely defy competition by pointing the daring projector of opposition to the direful consequences of accumulating steamboats on waters affording so limited a field for their employment; and thus for a series of years hold within their soulless grasp the business of the country.

Urged by this state of facts, and determined by these reflections, the steamboat owners of California resolved to combine their interests, and in March, 1854, organized THE CALIFORNIA STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, under the general law, with a capital of $1,800,000. As soon as the Company got into operation, they reduced the number of boats plying on our rivers within the limits justified by the business of the country, while the others were laid up under as careful protection as possible.

But following as it did one of the most stupendous monopolies of breadstuffs ever known, by which flour was forced up to the most exorbitant rates, (from $35 to $45 per barrel in San Francisco,) this company came in for a share of the popular indignation which had been aroused by the latter, and amidst this storm, swelled by Executive denunciation and Legislative threatenings, no discrimination was exercised, and no allowance made for the very different character of the organization, or the peculiar state of facts out of which it grew; and every attempt made to oppose the Company, or embarrass it, was hailed with delight, and an effort was even made to interfere by Legislative enactment with the legitimate business of the Company,—presenting the disgraceful spectacle in the middle of the nineteenth century, of a collection of American legislators seriously entertaining Legislative propositions scouted years ago, as at war with every true principle of political science. But these things have passed away. The conciliatory and honorable course pursued by the Directors, and their exertions to meet the requirements of the public—their moderation in the exercise of their somewhat dangerous power—the conviction that reparation for accidents and losses can be much more certainly obtained from a wealthy company, than from individuals of uncertain or no responsibility,—has tended to mollify the public feeling, which, reverting to the reasons for its establishment, looks with indulgence upon the California Steam Navigation Company.

For the first six months after its organization, dividends commensurate with the risk and uncertainty of the business were paid;—for the past six months the Company has made money, paid regular dividends since April, and has on hand a cash surplus to meet contingencies. During the interval, however, between these two periods, the operations of the Company were unprofitable, arising from conflicting interests, and other circumstances not permanent in their character.

Having secured the confidence of the business community in the permanency of their organization, and shown its determination to deserve it, by correct dealing and prompt and honorable adjustment—fair profits may hereafter be anticipated, and some appreciation in their stock hitherto so ruinously low, may reasonably be looked for.

In one particular highly important to the people of the State, the Company has displayed a most praiseworthy enterprise and liberality. The impoverished condition of the State Treasury has entirely precluded all dependence upon that source for any expenditure for opening or preserving our internal navigation. Such works are clearly beyond the means of individuals, if we could even hope for the exhibition of that degree of exalted patriotism, involving immense private expenditure without any exclusive advantage. The Company, however, availing itself of its extensive resources, responding to the requirements of the community, and sustained by the hope of future gain, has freely borne the heavy expenditure incident to clearing out the impediments to navigation in the Upper Sacramento, and are at this moment engaged in similar operations on that river, and are contemplating a like enterprise on Feather River.

The following figures, shown by the books of the Company, are interesting:

From March 1st, 1854, to August 31st, 1856, (two and a half years,) there were 385,000 passengers conveyed, to and fro, between the Cities of San Francisco and Sacramento; and 328,000 tons of freight, from San Francisco to Sacramento, Marysville, Colusi and Red Bluffs, by the boats of the Company. During the same time, 120,000 tons of freight were taken to Stockton. It is proper to observe, that a much larger proportion of freight is conveyed to Sacramento in schooners, than to Stockton.

For further details, see Register, pages 30-1. The Company have constantly employed about 450 persons.

For information of the Steamers belonging to the Citizens' Steam Navigation Company, and individuals, reference is made to the Register.

Steamship Companies.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

The main facts as to the organization of this great Company, will be found on page 169. They dispatch one of their splendid steamers semi-monthly, to Panama, with the Great Atlantic Mails, and weekly, to Oregon and Washington Territories. The principal depot of the Company is at Benicia, where they have extensive foundries, iron works, etc., and complete facilities, for the repair of their vessels, and where such of them as are not in use are laid up.

NICARAGUA STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

See Register, page 161.

ACCESSORY TRANSIT COMPANY.

C. A. Low, Esq., agent, 30 Front Street. This Company is still owner of the Steamers Uncle Sam, Cortez, Pacific and Brother Jonathan, on this side, and Northern Light, Star of the West, Daniel Webster and Prometheus, on the other—of the aggregate value of $1,500,000—and are now engaged in making arrangements for the establishment of a line via the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, by which it is confidently expected that the time between this city and New Orleans will be reduced to fourteen days, and to New York, seventeen days. The Company was incorporated in 1851, and up to the present year, was engaged in the conveyance of passengers via Nicaragua, when their business was broken up by the intestine troubles of that State.

Iron Foundries, Boiler Works and Blacksmith Shops.

The various establishments under these heads in this city are numerous, and some of them extensive. Of these we may mention the Pacific Works, Vulcan, (joint stock co.,) Sutter, and Fulton. The Steam Boiler Works of Messrs. Coffey and Risdon is the only establishment on this coast confined to this manufacture exclusively, and does an extensive and increasing business, employing a large number of hands, involving a heavy outlay for labor and materials the past year of $65,000. The worthy proprietors are men of family, settled here as permanent Californians, and deserve, as they will certainly achieve, success.

And, though last, not least, the extensive establishment of Mr. Peter Donahue, known as the "Union Iron Works." The present proprietor, with his brothers, are well known among the most enterprising and successful of the business men of San Francisco. Commencing in 1849 in a small way as blacksmiths and machinists, they continued to enlarge their works as their capital justified, and the business of the city required, until they have extended to their present importance. In March, 1850, the first essay at iron casting was successfully made at these Works, consisting of propeller boxes for the Steamer McKim. Although the enormous price of fifty cents per pound was received for this work, it was unprofitable, owing to the great expense of preparation for it. A brick Foundry and Machine Shop has just been completed, which with the different Machine and Boiler Shops, etc., covers a fifty vara lot and an adjoining space of 40x30 feet. All the machinery of these works was constructed within them, and the extensive castings and machinery of the Gas Works of this city were also made here. From 50 to 170 men are employed at the Union Works, according to the exigencies of business.

Furniture.

A branch of trade of great magnitude in this city is the FURNITURE BUSINESS. Various causes have combined to prevent its manufacture here, while the influx of a large population, and the sudden growth of towns and cities, with perhaps a larger proportion of people of taste and means for its gratification, than that of many older communities, created a great demand for all descriptions—which demand had to be supplied from the Atlantic States and Europe, hence the entire trade has centered here, and several mammoth establishments have been created by it. In the extensive warehouses of these dealers are displayed immense stocks, constantly renewed from the clippers at our wharves, which include every thing in their line, from the unpretending necessities essential to the humblest housekeeper, to the most elegant articles demanded by modern luxury.

Of these houses, as senior in date of establishment, and equal in importance to any, we take the liberty of naming Messrs. GEO. O. WHITNEY & Co. Their history is a recital of San Francisco, or rather California perseverance and determination under discouraging circumstances. They commenced business in the fall of 1850 on Pacific street, and established a branch warehouse at the corner of Sacramento and Webb Streets. Both of these stores, with their large and valuable stocks, were totally destroyed in the great fires of May and June, 1851. Notwithstanding these disasters, by which within the short space of thirty days their stock was twice destroyed and their business twice broken up, they resumed or rather continued their business, occupying a warehouse on Battery Street next to the old Vigilance Committee Rooms, and rebuilt and continued the store on Sacramento Street. In 1852 they built a warehouse on Sacramento Street, which was the first fire-proof building put up on that street. In 1853 they built the spacious warehouse they now occupy on California street. This building is 57x80 feet, with three stores besides basement, built expressly for their business, and admirably adapted to it, yet scarcely sufficient to contain the immense stock their extended business requires. Besides the store here, they have an extensive branch establishment in Sacramento. Mr. Geo. Whitney, the father of the members of the firm here, remains constantly in the Atlantic States, for the purpose of selecting and forwarding the constant supplies arriving here by every clipper.

Another of these great houses, Messrs. J. G. CLARK & Co., occupy the old Clipper Warehouse, extending through from No. 128 Washington to Jackson Street. Their premises front on Washington 30 feet, and 75 feet on Jackson, besides an extensive yard West of the warehouse, work shops, etc., suitably divided and assigned to the different departments of their business, viz: desk-rooms, varnishing-rooms, mattress-rooms, shipping-rooms, sales-rooms, etc., etc. But the Hall, especially worthy of observation, is the principal salesroom, occupying the second story of the warehouse, 30 feet wide, and extending from street to street, a distance of 275 feet. No conception can be formed of this magnificent apartment from mere description, and any person visiting it will be amply rewarded by an exhibition of tasteful and elegant furniture, artistically arranged in an apartment so extensive and so well calculated for its display.

This house has just commenced manufacturing, and have a large number of hands constantly employed upon fine parlor sets, desks, and other bulky and costly articles. Some idea of the extent of their business may be formed, when it is stated that their stock sometimes exceeds in value the sum of $200,000, and their freight bill in a single vessel $5,000.

Besides these there are other houses of less extent, but transacting an extensive business, amongst whom may be named Messrs. S. O. PIERCE & Co., and others whose address may be found in our Registry.

Sugar Refinery.

The San Francisco Steam Sugar Refinery have in progress extensive Works, which, completed, will add a most important branch of business to San Francisco industry. The facility of obtaining ample supplies of the cheap sugars of the East, and the extensive markets of the Pacific for the refined article, will doubtless enable the Company to command a large and profitable trade.

Flouring Mills.

This business has become within the last three years a most important branch of California industry, and is destined, when agricultural labor shall have developed the capacity of the country for grain growing, to become its leading manufacturing interest. There are ten or twelve mills here, which are described in the register. Several are now idle, owing to the high prices of grain. The Ophir Mills, 149 Battery Street, are recommended for the superior articles of flour, corn meal, etc., etc., prepared for city use.

Pavements.

The principal material heretofore used in our thoroughfares it is conceded must give way to something safer and more durable, and the public are divided in opinion as to the advantages of the various plans proposed to take the place of plank as it becomes worn out. Montgomery Street from Clay to Washington has the cobble pavement, of which that between Merchant and Washington has been but recently laid down. In some other parts of that street experiments have been made with a composition of asphaltum and cobble stones, which if it possesses durability, certainly presents advantages in the facility of putting it down. In front of the U. S. Court Building and Custom House is a splendid specimen of the RUSS pavement. In this climate, with no frost to disturb it, one who saw that put down, might reasonably suppose that "it was there" until upheaved by some mighty convulsion of nature. We understand from Mr. Cheenery, the agent for COL. RUSS in this city, that arrangements are in progress for an abundant supply of material for next season, when it will be extensively laid—both as side walks and carriage ways.

Tanneries, Leather, etc.

The Encinal in Alameda Co. have 42 vats, and turn out 250 sides per month. An artesian well is being dug on the premises, 610 feet has been reached without finding water; they are still persevering, with encouraging prospects.

SANTA CRUZ TANNERY.

This is the largest and most complete establishment of the kind in the State. It is situated in the town of Santa Cruz, on the coast, about 65 miles to the southward of this place. The capacity of this yard is 800 sides per month, but has never been worked to that extent, 600 being the extent in any one month up to the present time. Harness Skirting and Sole Leather are principal kinds manufactured. These works are principally owned in this city, where the leather is brought for sale.

SADDLERY AND HARNESS

Are also manufactured here extensively, and vie in excellence and beauty with any made elsewhere.

Agriculture.

Our readers will no doubt fully sympathize in our disappointment, in being unable to give them a promised article on this subject from the capable pen of Col. Warren—the other engagements of the Colonel having compelled him to delay beyond our time, its preparation.

City Government.

Incorporated by the Legislature of 1850; the new government got into operation in May, of that year. Since that time, the Charter has been repeatedly changed and amended, but no legislation, apparently, was sufficient to check the career of extravagance that rapidly dissipated the magnificent domain which had belonged to the city, and created a debt doubly burdensome to the tax-payer, as he could point to no wise and necessary expenditure, the advantages of which at once justified the outlay and authorized its imposition upon posterity. In this respect, the County Government was equally successful, and a few years exhibited a debt which, scarcely inferior in amount, was created in the same reckless manner, without resulting permanent benefits.

Finally, the last Legislature, detaching a large portion of the territory, united the City and County Government by an Act of Consolidation, which went into operation on the 1st July last. From the stringent provisions of this law, thorough reform is anticipated; at any rate, many of the enormous expenses incident to the former dual system have been either entirely abolished, or seriously reduced, while the checks upon lavish expenditure appear to be so well devised as to defy evasion; and the inhibition of debt, and its repudiation if contracted, are so positive as effectually to deprive the authorities of the power of exceeding their income. The officers under the Act will be chosen at the next General Election, (November.) The city is divided into twelve districts, each of which elects one member of the Board of Supervisors. A President of the Board, with the other Executive officers, is chosen by the city at large.

Military.

A strictly accurate return of the various organizations in this city is at this time almost impossible, owing to the confusion arising from the exciting events of the past summer. We have given in the Register as complete a summary as could be obtained.

Fire Department.

The complete and copious statement contained in the Appendix under this head, prepared by the courteous and talented Secretary of the Board of Delegates, M. D. Beruck, Esq., has left us nothing to say on this subject, but to express our appreciation of his kindness, with the single remark, that the condition of the Department reflects unbounded credit upon the patriotic body of men belonging to it, and is worthy of the liberality so judiciously exhibited by the citizens in sustaining it.

Water Works.

The want of an abundant supply of pure, soft water for household purposes, to say nothing of its importance in other respects, is certainly a serious evil in this city. Nothing speaks so convincingly of the purity of the atmosphere of this locality, as the absence of anything like pestilential diseases, notwithstanding the accumulation of filth and garbage in the numerous courts of the city, and the horrible state of many of the slips and docks. Very much of this filth is justly chargeable to the scarcity of water, which, purchased by the bucket, is too expensive to be used except for the indispensable purposes of drinking, cooking and very slight lavations. The organizations formed with a view to meet this requirement seem to be too much embarrassed with objects of private speculation, to subserve adequately, the necessities of the public, in this most vital matter. Steps should be taken at an early day to make such provision as is required, and to retain a proper control of it in the hands of the people.

Telegraph Lines.

Of these there are two which are completed to this city—the “State Telegraph Company,” and the “Alta California Telegraph Company.” See Register.

Apologetic.

Since the sheets containing what purports to be the list of the officers of the Committee of Vigilance were printed, we have ascertained officially, that the same is altogether imperfect and incorrect. That this is so we much regret, and we still more regret that we did not make the discovery in time to suppress it altogether, especially as we have been informed that the publication may be disagreeable to the gentlemen named, and we can only ask that degree of consideration merited by the fact that no evil to any was intended.

S P. M. October, 1856.

The hurry of publication, for reasons mentioned in the PREFACE, has compelled us to curtail this branch of our work, and to omit, or barely to allude to much in the business of the city worthy of extended notice, and which, under other circumstances would have occupied ample space, accompanied with important statistical data. We now, in this connection, bid our friends a reluctant farewell, until the 1st of October, 1857, when we shall again appear before them with, we trust, a similar work, still more worthy of them and of ourselves.

The following appears at the head of the first page of the Registry of Names:

“ NOTICE.—Names too late for regular insertion, changes that have occurred during compilation, etc., will be found on a preceding page.”

This arrangement we have been compelled to alter, and the same will be found commencing on page 243, and a Supplement on the last page of the work.

Adelphi Theater, Dupont bet Clay and Wash'n

A frame structure was erected by members of the Theatrical profession, July, 1851, and opened by

- Messrs. Robinson & Weisenthal. The most memorable epoch connected with its history is the assumption of its management by John Lewis Baker, and others, May 9, 1853. Mr. Baker with his talented lady, supported by a company of surpassing merit,—among whom were Mrs. Torrence, Miss Coad, Mr. Thoman, Mr. Coal, Mr. Dumphries, Mr. John Torrence, (Machinist,) etc.—did a most prosperous business for the space of nine months, with a profit of over $30,000. Crowded houses nightly greeted the performances of this company, notwithstanding the opposition of other theaters, and the very successful career of Signora Eliza Biscaccianti and Miss Catharine Hayes. The size of the building is as follows: front, 40 feet; depth, 65 feet; height, 31 feet. Owned by J. B. Tassin. Agent, Henry Palmer.

ANTELOPE STEAMER, commanded by Capt. E. A. Poole, and owned by Cal. Steam Nav. Co.; plies between San Francisco and Sacramento; lands at Pacific Street Wharf

The recent alterations and repairs of this popular steamer, hitherto unparalleled in extent on this coast, render it proper to recall reminiscences connected with her career. The Antelope was built in 1849, by a joint stock company, to run between New York and New Brunswick in opposition to the Raritan, then owned by the great New Jersey steamboat monopolist, Robert L. Stevens. After a successful season she was purchased, in 1850, by George Law, converted into an ocean steamer, and dispatched to California where she took her place in "Law's Line," and for the period of about one year from the fall of 1850, ran successfully between San Francisco and Pauma. It will be remembered that this was the first opposition to the inammoth Pacific Mail Steamship Company, and under the management of Oliver Charlack, Esq., the Agent at San Francisco, was highly popular and successful. In the early part of 1852, Capt. John Van Pelt, (the pioneer commander of the Senator upon the waters of California,) purchased the Antelope, and at considerable expense restored her to her original character of river steamer, in which trade she remained as an opposition steamer to what was known as the "Old" and "Union" lines, making (with the exception of the Senator) more money for her owners than any other river steamer. In March, 1854, the Antelope, in connection with most of the river stock, went into possession of her present owners, who, with characteristic sagacity and liberality, have recently (August, 1856,) almost rebuilt her, at an expense not much short of $50,000,—adding 30 feet to her length of keel, improving her already easy model, and giving promise of great speed. The recent improvements were made under the joint supervision of Capt. David Van Pelt, General Superintendent of the Company; Capt. James Whitney, Jr., Vice President; and her well known and justly esteemed commander, Capt. E. A. Poole,—who have availed themselves of the opportunity to add conveniences and comforts permitted by the increased size and changes incident thereto. Her present dimensions are as follows:—Length of keel, 206 feet; breadth of beam, 28 feet; depth of hold, 9 feet;—with a capacity to carry, with ease, 250 tons of freight above-decks; with state-room and sleeping accommodations for 150 cabin passengers, and about the same number in the steerage. Her cylinder is 45 inches in diameter, with 10 feet stroke. The Antelope has been pre-eminently what, in steamboat parlance, is called a "lucky boat." In almost constant service since she was first launched, she has never met with an accident of any serious character, and has always made money. With this prestige, and commanded by a gentleman so universally popular as her present captain, being so well adapted as she is for her present trade, who can doubt a most successful career in the future.

SAN FRANCISCO.

S. O. B. keeps constantly on hand, both Circular, Needle and Shuttle Machines of the above Patent, and challenges any person to produce a Machine that will do one-half the amount of work of the above, or is so simple and so little liable to get out of order. THE ELECTRO-CHEMICAL BATHS OF DR. BOURNE, Southeast Corner of Sansome and Commercial Sts., opposite the St. Nicholas Hotel, San Francisco,

Are effecting the most extraordinary CURES of Fever and Ague, Intermittent and other Fevers, Jaundice, Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, the Genital and Urinary Organs, all Sexual Disorders, Paralysis, Neuralgia, including Tic Doloieux, Stiff Joints, and are also employed with astonishing success in

DISEASES OF THE UTERUS.

Also, all Inolent Ulcers, Tumors, Swellings, Abscesses, Cancer of the Womb, all other affections of the Womb, and Cancerous Affections generally, and Scrofula. These Baths seem to be Nature's own chosen medium for effecting cures where all other means would fail without them; and prove beyond the possibility of doubt, to all who take them, the iniquity of Medical practice which poisons the human system by administering to it calomel, arsenic, lead, zinc, iron, antimony, quinine, iodide of potassa, and a whole host of deadly drugs which remain in the system, and are EXTRACTED BY THESE BATHS.

During nearly fifteen years I have never given even a solitary dose of oil or salts, much less any POISONOUS DRUGS, or herbs, and have NEVER seen a case in which they were requisite if Water Treatment was employed. When will the people cease to be such simpletons as to hire men to POISON and BLEED them, while they also retain on their statute books laws against poisoning, maiming and bleeding CATTLE? Are the members of the human family less worthy of protection than animals? I assert in the face of this entire State and the world at large, that there never was, is not now, and never will be, a case in which calomel, crude mercury, quinine, arsenic, lead, zinc, iron, antimony, iodine, or any other POISON, should have been, or be, administered to the human system, or in which bleeding, cupping or leeching was required; and further, that hundreds of thousands fill premature graves through an ill-timed or over-dose of salts or oil. Let the people ponder on these things, and if the poor and deluded victims of medical rascality desire health, I pledge the honor of one man at least, that I will so employ NATURE'S AGENCIES of Good Food, Air, Pure Water, Exercise, Clothing, the Electro-Chemical Baths, and the Sleeping and Waking Hours, that without a particle of NASTY and POISONOUS medicine, I will so arouse the powers of their systems that if there be any strength left, they shall speedily get perfectly well in body, with minds so expanded to the perception of natural philosophy, as thereafter to cause them to set their faces against all professional rogues or fools, and awake them to a knowledge of the evils of intrusting their own vital interest to the keeping of others whose interest must ever be antagonistic to their own.

Address, by letter or personally, Dr. BOURNE, Water Cure Physician, Sansome street, opposite St. Nicholas Hotel, San Francisco, importer into this State of the FIRST and ONLY apparatus for giving these delightful and beneficial Electro-Chemical Baths, and whose experience in their use warrants him in speaking of them in the terms he employs. They require great caution in administering them, and Dr. Bourne never intrusts that duty to others, thus avoiding all danger.

So many lying and forged certificates, and PRETENDED editorial recommendations are published, that those truthful statements of facts which Dr. Bourne could offer, are withheld; rather than any should suppose they were merely "got up."

Consultations without charge, and charges very moderate for the benefits conferred.

QUICK CURE—SURE CURE—if curable—is the motto of Dr. BOURNE.

PIONEER WATER CURE INSTITUTE,

South-east corner of Sansome and Commercial Sts., opposite St. Nicholas Hotel, San Francisco.

 BRAGDON J. steamer commanded by Capt J. Polk, owned by California Steam Navigation Company, plys between San Francisco, Sacramento and Marysville—lands at Pacific Wharf

This high pressure steamer was constructed in San Francisco during the fall of 1851, under the supervision of Capt. T. W. Lyles, the materials, machinery, etc. for which were shipped from New Albany, Ind., and gotten up with an express view to her present trade, in which she has been very successful, never having met with an accident of a serious nature, and making a large amount of money for her owners. March, 1854, in conjunction with the other river steamers, the J. Bragdon went into the possession of her present owners, who have recently spent much in repairs, ranking her among the first class high pressure steamers—so elegantly adapted for the river trade. Her dimensions are as follows:—Length of keel 150 feet, breadth of beam 26 feet, depth of hold 7 feet, has two high pressure engines, with 16 inch cylinders, and 7 foot stroke; carrying capacity 200 tons.

Arrived in California, per ship Brooklyn, July 31st, 1846; was the projector and publisher of the "California Star," January, 1847—the first journal printed in San Francisco, and became submerged into the present "Alta California." In the fall of 1847, Mr. Brannan established a store, or trading post, at Sutter's Fort, under the name of C. C. Smith & Co., which was the first mercantile house located in the Sacramento Valley. The discovery of gold attracted an enormous trade to this point, and prices for every description of merchandise became at once enhanced to a wonderful degree—profits proportionate thereto. At this time, monthly sales by this house is said to have averaged $150,000 per month. In the affair of the "hounds," (a class of lawless "desperate adventurers," which infested the city during the fall of 1849,) he took an active part, and aided materially in extirpating the rascals from the town. In August of this year, he was elected a member of the first regular Town Council; and in 1851 was chosen President of the first Vigilance Committee. In 1853, he was elected to the office of Senator of California, which position he was compelled to relinquish, owing to business and private engagements in the Atlantic States. En passant—in reference to this gentleman we copy the following from the "Annals of San Francisco."—"From the earliest to the latest records (1854) of San Francisco, we discover him appearing at every public meeting, and taking a prominent part in municipal business. At one time he is encouraging the establishment of the first school, and offering handsome contributions to the building; at another, he is haranguing the people on the subject of the hounds; now, he takes on himself the responsibility of hanging a rogue by Lynch law, for the benefit of the citizens; now, he charitably bestows sufficient land for a cemetery to the Odd Fellows, of which Order he is an active member; now, he bullies, reasons, and conquers in some purely municipal matters, urging a local improvement, or where jobbing officials seek to line their pockets. His energy, abilities, force of character and courage, are very great, and have been only the more conspicuously shown in face of these obstacles and dangers that would have hampered and filled with dread less bold and talented men."

- Bulletin Evening, an evening daily, weekly and semi-monthly newspaper, is published by C. O. Gerberding & Co. prprtrs, and edited by Thos. S. King. Office of publication cor Merchant and Mont'y; editorial room N. s Merchant bet Sansome and Mont'y 3d floor
- The first number of the "Daily Evening Bulletin" was issued Oct. 8, 1855, by the present publishers, under the editorship of James King, of Wm. On the 8th December following, Mr. Abel Whitton purchased an interest in the paper, and is still one of the proprietors. It commenced its career on a very small scale, with a daily issue of 1,000 copies, its circulation however rapidly increased, and owing to the patronage received, its dimensions was from time to time enlarged to its present size, and has at present a larger circulation than any other newspaper in the State. Besides the daily, it also issues a weekly for circulation in this State, and a semi-monthly for circulation in the Atlantic States and Europe, which latter (we are informed), has reached as high as 10,000 issues. This establishment employs about 40 persons in its different departments, besides 21 city carriers and 93 country agents. The actual expenses of the "Bulletin" averages from $2,000 to $2,300 per week, and is independent of that of its proprietors, whose investment is said to be most profitable (an exception to those of a similar character in California, but more particularly so as a general rule in San Francisco). After the ever to be lamented death of its editor, James King, of Wm. who fell by the hands of James P. Casey, on the 20th of May, 1856, his brother, Thomas S. King, assumed his position, and together with C. O. Gerberding and A. Whitton, compose the firm of C. O. Gerberding & Co., proprietors.

- CALIFORNIA STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, office N. E. cor Jackson and Front
- Organized March, 1st, 1854. Capital stock invested, $2,200,000. The following are the officers for the present year:—President, Sam'l J. Hensley; Vice-President, James Whitney, Jr.; Secretary, William Norris; Directors, Samuel J. Hensley, James Whitney, Jr., Alfred Redington, R. M. Jessup, Walter Minton, David Van Pelt, Samuel Soule, F. P. Low and John Bensley. Agents—Sacramento, Alfred Redington; Marysville, Henry Gilman; Red Bluffs, E. J. Weeks; Stockton, J. S. Pratt.
- In connection with associations and joint stock companies, we have thought it not amiss to say a word, having strict reference to the California Steam Navigation Company, which may be justly claimed, stands at the head of all associations in this state; both in point of magnitude and power, as a monopoly affecting the interests of all classes. Monopolists are odious to an American public; and our citizens seldom discriminate in their denunciation—classing all as alike injurious to the common weal; but the philosophical observer of passing events, and careful thinker upon questions of political economy, is not carried away by popular catch-words, or deafened by noisy clamor; and while he freely admits the correctness of a general doctrine, can discover where its application admits of important modifications. We contend, and we think we have shown, that the establishment of this company, and its absorption of the steamboat property of California, was a great public benefit. [See Preface.] And for minute history of steamers Antelope, Senator, New World, Surprise, Confidence, Wilson G. Hunt, Cornelia, J. Bragdon, He. en Heesley, &c., see in appropriate alphabetical position, Directory Register.

California State Telegraph Co. W. B. Ransom
superintendent, office 101 Merchant

Capital stock of this company is $300,000. Has two hundred and ten miles of wire in operation, and communicates with Sacramento, Marysville, Stockton and San Jose. H. W. Carpenter, President; W. B. Ransom, Gen'l Superintendent. Tariff—From San Francisco to Sacramento, first ten words or less, $2; each five additional words or less, 75 cts. To Marysville and Stockton, the same. To San Jose, $1; additional 40 cts.

Line commenced operation to San Jose Oct. 1st, 1853; wholly completed Oct. 25th, 1853.

California Chronicle newspaper, Wm. L. Newell proprietor, office 95 Merchant

The first number of this daily was issued on the 21st of November, 1853. It was commenced by an association of gentlemen, and was published by them in the name of Frank Soule & Co., who, until a late date, presided over its editorial department. Under Mr. Soule's charge, it was conducted as an independent journal upon all subjects; and, owing to the great care used in the character of miscellaneous reading matter as well as the high standard of its editorial articles, it at once procured a large circulation, and was esteemed a worthy journal for the family circle. After the nomination of Col. Fremont for the Presidency, Mr. Newell became sole proprietor—Mr. Soule resigning his position. It is now conducted as a political journal, devoted to the principles of the Republican party.

Calvary Church, Rev. W. A. Scott, (D. D.) pastor, N. s Bush bet Sansome and Mont'y

Services every Sunday at 11 A. M. and 7½ P. M. Public lecture every Wednesday evening at 7½ P. M. Sunday school every Sabbath at 1 P. M. H. F. Coon Superintendent.

Present Officers—Elders, Edick McKee, Stephen Franklin and H. P. Coon; Deacons—Jas. B. Roberts and Edward Hagthrup; Board of Trustees—W. H. Dow, T. H. Selby, F. Henderson, J. L. N. Shepard, Frank Baker, E. C. McComb, J. B. Roberts, H. C. Beales and J. D. Thornton.

The following sketch of the organization and establishment of the above church is from the pen of one of the members of the first Board of Trustees:—In the years 1853 and 1854 the number of families having increased in the city, and having begun to regard this country as their home, it was thought the time had arrived for erecting a large church edifice in a central location—furnishing it in as comfortable and attractive a manner as practicable—and for procuring a preacher who, by his ability and reputation, would induce young men, strangers and our citizens generally, to attend upon public worship with greater regularity. For this purpose, a letter was addressed to the Rev. W. A. Scott, D. D., then settled in New Orleans, requesting him to remove to this city, to aid in the formation of a new church and to become its pastor. Dr. Scott arrived in San Francisco on the 19th of May, 1854, and commenced his labors in Musical Hall, Bush street, on the Sunday following. Afterward, by polite invitation of the officers of the Unitarian Church on Stockton street, (their pastor being absent,) he preached in that church.

On the 17th of July, 1854, a society was formed, adopting the name and title of the "Calvary Presbyterian Church and Congregation of San Francisco," to be connected with the "old school" Presbyterian General Assembly of the United States. A constitution was adopted, and in accordance therewith, C. K. Garrison, James B. Roberts, J. Carothers, E. W. Taylor, Thos. H. Selby, John Middleton, H. C. Beales, Henry M. Hale and Lucius Bell, were chosen as a Board of Trustees. A Building Committee, consisting of Messrs. J. B. Roberts, H. M. Hale, John Middleton, H. C. Beals and L. Bell, was also appointed, and on the 9th of August, 1854, one-half of a 50-vara lot on Bush Street was purchased for the sum of $20,000, cash. On the 25th of the same month proposals from H. C. Brown were accepted to build a church on said lot, in accordance with a plan furnished by L. R. Townsend. The building was finished in December following, and is in size—front 60 feet, depth 100 feet, height of the side walls from the surface of the ground 45 feet; with a foundation of seven feet in depth. Style of architecture, Ionic Italian Corinthian. The pews in the main floor are arranged as arcs of circles having the pulpit for their center, which is placed in an arched recess. From the recess there is communication with a two-story building in the rear of the church, used as a study and library room by the pastor. The galleries are on each side and end, having well cushioned seats which are kept entirely free. The main floor with the galleries will conveniently seat from 1,000 to 1,200 persons. The gallery at the end is used by the choir. In the rear of this gallery is a large well arranged recess, in which to place a fine organ. There is now in the choir gallery a small organ of two stops, which was designed to be used temporarily until means could be furnished to procure one suitable to the church. The basement of the building is set apart in divisions, and used as Lecture, Sabbath School and Library rooms, conveniently arranged and neatly furnished. The entire cost of the lot and improvements has been about $70,000. On account of great reverses, many citizens who would have contributed largely, became unable to assist, materially, in prosecuting this enterprise, and as a consequence a heavy debt was left upon the church. A mortgage, the only debt now remaining, will expire on the 1st of January, 1857, at which time also a number of responsible notes will become due which have been given to meet the mortgage in full. The annual expenses of the church are about $13,000, which amount is amply provided for by the rent of the pews on the main floor of the church and the ordinary Sunday collections.

It has a ground base of 60 by 100 feet, is a very beautiful and massive brick structure, and with its basement, which is intended for school rooms connected with the church, has a capacity of comfortably seating 700 persons.

Cemetery Lone Mountain, 2½ miles W. from Mont'y and directly on Cal'a, road mostly traveled leads from Bush

This Cemetery was dedicated in June 1854, and is the property of private individuals, whose design is to incorporate it as soon as the incorporation law can be so amended as to enable them so to do. It contains an area of 150 acres. The grounds are beautifully undulating, with avenues leading through the ravines and then gradually rising to an eminence, from which you have a commanding view of the surrounding country. On the South three-eighths of a mile distant, stands the celebrated Lone Mountain, a lofty conical shaped hill, from which the Cemetery derives its name. On the East lies the City and the Bay with the villages of Oakland, Alameda and Clinton, and in the distance Mount Diablo. On the North may be seen the Bay of San Pablo, Angels and Alcatraz Islands, Sausalito Bay and Village, and the entrance to the Golden Gate. On the West in the distance, you have the Farraloue Islands and the Pacific Ocean, the roar of whose waves are sounding a continual requiem as if to soothe the spirits of the dead. The arubbery is mostly evergreen, containing more than twenty different kinds of flowering shrubs. More than fifteen hundred interments have already been made within the inclosure, and the improvements now made and others designed, with its natural beauties, bid fair to make this rival any of the rural cemeteries of the Atlantic States. Officers, David S. Turner, Sam'l M. Bowmao and John Perry, Jr. Trustees; Nathaniel Gray, Managing Agent; Joseph H. Atkinson, Superintendent; F. B. Austin, Secretary. On the grounds is erected a receptacle vault capable of containing fifty bodies—also a chapel. First interment June 28, 1854. Monthly average of interments at this cemetery, 30.

 This building was erected during 1851, by Thomas Maguire and others, for dramatic purposes, and opened as the Jeany Lind Theater, October 4th, of same year. Externally, it presented the same handsome appearance that it does at present. The interior was fitted up with exquisite taste; and rivaled the most noted theaters in the Atlantic cities, not only in size, but in beauty and comfort. It had a capacity for comfortably seating two thousand persons. The enterprise was a stupendous one, considering the age of the city, and reflects great credit upon the projectors and owners. During 1852, the building was purchased by the city for its present uses, at a sum exceeding two hundred thousand dollars. The whole of the interior was removed and fitted up for the special purposes to which it is now applied, viz: city and county offices, courts, city prison, etc.

- COMMERCIAL BOOK AND JOB PRINTING OFFICE, Monson, Valentine & Co. proprietors, 127 and 129 Sansome, 2d floor
- Owing to the extent of this well-known establishment, we think it not amiss to revert to reminiscences connected therewith. It was established by two of its present proprietors, Messrs. Monson & Valentine, shortly after the fire of May 4th, 1851, from material formerly belonging to the "Public Balance," a newspaper office. The great part of the material was somewhat damaged by this calamity. On the first of November, 1851, the office was removed to 159 Montgomery Street; from thence, in the fall of 1853, to 124 Sacramento Street—"Times and Transcript" building; and thence, on the first of April, 1855, to present location. Additions to its material and machinery were made from time to time, giving it now a most prominent position, not only as regards the extent of its facilities, but the character of its work. The Commercial office was the first exclusively Book and Job Steam-Printing office established on the Pacific coast. Its steam-presses send forth, not only very many miscellaneous publications, but the documents and laws of the State Government. The Laws and Journals of the Third Session of the Legislature were printed at this office, and were the first executed in California. In the 1st, 1856, Mr. W. P. Morrill became interested as one of the proprietors. The mechanical department is under his control.

Confidence steamer, owned by California Steam Navigation Company, is kept as a reserve boat between San Francisco and Sacramento

This vessel was constructed by W. H. Brown, for Thomas Hunt, to ply between New York and Albany. She was fitted up for her passage to San Francisco in 1850, under command of Capt. J. P. Gannett, where she arrived Feb'y, 1851, consigned to Messrs. Vassault & Co., who immediately had her fitted up for her present trade, and in conjunction with the Wilson G. Hunt, formed what was known as the "Union Line," and with considerable success ran in opposition to the "Old Line," viz: Senator and New World. The Confidence came into possession of her present owners upon the formation of the company, March, 1854, but owing to her lack of facilities for carrying freight, other vessels with greater capacity have taken her place—consequently she has been little used of late. Her dimensions are as follows—length of keel, 172 ft., 4 in.; breadth of beam, 28 ft.; depth of hold, 8 ft. 1 in.; and has a measurement of 370 tons.

CONFIDENCE HOUSE, William Nightingale, prptr, cor Jackson and Kearny

Congregationalist Church, First, Rev. E. S. Lacy, pastor, S. W. cor Cal'a and Dupont

Has preaching every Sabbath at 11 o'clock A. M., and 7½, P. M.; Lecture every Wednesday at 7½ o'clock; Sabbath School immediately after morning service—average attendance 200 scholars and 40 teachers. Present officers of the Church: Deacons—Willard Leonard, Sam'l A. Chapin, Jos. W. McKee, Fred'k S. Hawley; clerk and treas'r, F. S. Hawley. Officers of the Society: Ira P. Rankin, moderator; Geo. H. Kellogg, clerk; Edw'd P. Flint, treas'r. Trustees—Ira P. Rankin, Sam'l Adams, L. B. Benchley, J. H. Titcomb, Wm. A. Dana, Edw'd P. Flint.

This church, or congregation, was organized July 29, 1849, when Thomas Douglass and Frederick S. Hawley were chosen Deacons, and inducted into office on the following Sunday by Rev. T. D. Hunt, assisted by Rev. A. Williams. The Society met in the school-house on the Plaza until it was required for other purposes, when the members were deprived of a regular place of meeting for several months. As early as practicable, however, efforts were made for the erection of a suitable house of worship, which resulted in the building of a commodious frame structure 25 by 50 feet, on the corner of Jackson and Virginia Streets, which was dedicated to the worship of God, February 10, 1850. Rev. T. D. Hunt was chosen pastor, and installed June 26, 1850, who in this connection, it is proper to state, was the first Protestant clergyman, located as such, in the State; having arrived at San Francisco as early as October 29, 1848, and was immediately invited by the citizens, in a meeting called for the purpose, to act as their chaplain for one year, commencing Nov. 1, 1848, in which capacity he was laboring at the time of the organization of this church. The congregation increased so greatly as to require a larger house; accordingly, measures were adopted in the summer of 1852, for the erection of the present substantial brick edifice, which was dedicated on the 10th of July, 1853. Rev. E. S. Lacy was installed July 6th, 1856.

Congregational Church, Rev. J. E. Benton, pastor, Mission Dolores

Public services every Sunday at 11 o'clock, A. M. Sunday School immediately after service. Number of scholars, 45. This congregation has but one Professor of its faith.

This majestic high pressure steamer was constructed under the special supervision of her well-known and justly esteemed commander, Capt. T. W. Lyles. Her machinery was got up by the celebrated makers, Leat, Shipman & Co.;
 the hull by John Evans, and the cabin by the tasteful decorator and builder, Mr. ——— Wingard. The entire works were shipped from New Albany, Indiana, and constructed in San Francisco. She was launched in the month of November, 1854, and took her place in the Sacramento trade the December following. By an arrangement with the California Steam Navigation Company, she was taken off the route in Feb. 1855, since which time up to the present
 she has laid in ordinary. Her dimensions are as follows:
 Length of keel 250 feet, breadth of beam 26 feet, depth of hold 9 feet; she has six double flued boilers, forty-two inches in diameter by thirty feet in length, with two engines and cylinders twenty-four inches in diameter with ten feet stroke. In conjunction with the machinery is a separate steam power for the engine, for the purpose of receiving and discharging freight. The cabin is 210 by 16 feet in the clear, divided into ladies' and gentlemen's cabins, social hall, etc. handsomely decorated, with spacious state rooms on each side throughout, the doors of which are set off in panels with scenic views. Her carrying capacity is 800 tons.

Major H. is emphatically a pioneer on the Pacific coast, having emigrated to Oregon in 1843. Soon afterward visited Capt. Sutter at New Helvetia, (now Sacramento,) with whom he formed business relations which continued for a long period, and were closed highly to their mutual satisfaction. Maj. Hensley was a leader in the Bear Flag movement, commanding a battalion, and otherwise by his great influence sustaining that enterprise. After the close of the Mexican war, Maj. Hensley established a mercantile house in Sacramento City, and in 1849 was located at the old embarcadero, corner of Front and I Streets. Afterward he established a banking house at that place, under the firm of Hensley, Merrill & Co., which enjoyed the confidence of the community—a confidence never abused—until closed by the removal of Mr. M. to the Eastern States. During the early years of his residence in Oregon and California, Maj. H. was employed in surveying, trapping and exploring, and is, probably, practically better acquainted with the geography of the rivers of Oregon and this State, than any other man,—particularly of the sources of the Sacramento, which in his various expeditions he fully explored. Maj. Hensley has a beautiful place near San Jose, where, in the possession of an ample fortune, he is surrounded with the comforts and luxuries of civilization, in a home created by himself from the wilderness of his early experience.

Hensley Helen, steamer, commanded by Capt. E. C. M. Chadwick, and owned by the Cal. Steam Navigation Co.; employed in the Sacramento and Marysville trade; loads at Pacific Street Wharf

The Helen Hensley was built in San Francisco, under the superintendence of Capt. James Whitely, Jr., who was a joint owner with Col. S. J. Hensley, the late James Blair, E. C. M. Chadwick, and John Polk, the original proprietors. The Helen Hensley is built after the style of the magnificent Mississippi packets, with elegant cabins, state rooms, halls, etc., extending nearly the entire length of the boat, elevated above the main deck, and entirely disconnected with the freight-room and general business of the boat, and affording ample room for exercise and recreation, necessarily more restricted on boats differently constructed. She is propelled by two powerful high-pressure engines, and is not surpassed in speed by any boat upon the waters. Her superior accommodations, and the popular manners of Capt. Chadwick, have rendered the Hensley a favorite, doing full justice to the amiable and accomplished lady (Mrs. Samuel J. Hensley) from whom she derives her name. Dimensions: Length of keel, 175 feet; breadth of beam, 30 feet; depth of hold, 5½ feet; carrying capacity, 375 tons.

Hossefross Geo. H. contractor, office 102 Mer-

Was elected Chief Engineer of the Fire Department in the month of Dec. 1851. Re-elected to same position Dec. 1852.
 Owing to business in the East he resigned said office Oct.
 1857. Mr. H. discharged the duties of his position with distinguished ability and success, and did much—very much, towards the full and complete organization of an Association which is perhaps unsurpassed by any city in the United States. In public enterprise this gentleman stands prominent. His name is not only familiar to the "boys" who run with the "machine," but in the family circle as that of household words. Upon Mr. Hossefross' return from the East he engaged in the business of raising brick buildings by means of hydraulic machinery, which worked with complete success.

Hunt Wilson G. Steamer, owned by Cal. Steam Nav. Co. is kept as a reserve boat bet San Francisco and Sacramento

This vessel was constructed for the Hudson River trade in 1849; fitted up for California by Thomas Hunt, where she arrived in the early part of 1851, when, in conjunction with the Confidence, she was refitted as a river steamer, and took her place in the Union Line, between this city and Sacramento. In March, 1854, the W. G. Hunt became the property of her present owners, who supplanted her position by the Antelope, a steamer of much greater capacity. The W. G. H. has been a fortunate steamer, always commanded by popular officers, she has been a favorite with the public.
Her dimensions are as follows: length of keel, 185½ feet; breadth of beam, 25 5-6 feet; depth of hold, 6¾ feet; measures 311 tons.

- Mr. Larkin arrived in California in April, 1832; the next year married a lady from Massachusetts; the ceremony was performed on board an American vessel from Honolulu, lying at Monterey, by Jno. C. Jones, Esq., American Consul at the Sandwich Islands, then en route for home. Mrs. L. was the first American lady who settled in California, and their children the first full-blooded Yankees born in this country. In 1844, Mr. Larkin received the appointment of Consul of the U. S. for California, the only consular agent for that government in the country. Afterwards appointed U. S. Naval Agent for the N. W. coast of America; and in 1847, by appointment of Commodore Stribrick, was made U. S. Naval Storekeeper. In every position Mr. L. has faithfully and ably discharged all the public duties pertaining to it. For his important and faithful services during the period of the war, Mr. L. received the thanks of the Navy Department with the acceptance of his resignation. As one of the earliest American settlers, his every interest—family and fortune—is identified with the country, having a thorough acquaintance with all its history, and familiarity with its resources and its wants, Mr. L. occupies a prominent and peculiar position before the people of California.

- Mr. Latham arrived in California in the winter of 1850, and, for a short time, served as clerk in the court of Judge Tilford, then Recorder of San Francisco. In the spring of that year he removed to Sacramento, (which has ever since been his permanent home,) and formed a law partnership with James B. Haggin, Esq. and Gov. Briggs; this firm changed to Haggin, Latham & Monson. In 1851, Mr. L. was elected

District Attorney for the Sixth Judicial District, at that time composed of the counties of Sacramento and El Dorado. The faithful and able discharge of his duties in that office won for him the confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens, and tended, in no small degree, to his subsequent political advancement. At the Democratic State Convention held at Sacramento in 1852 for the appointment of delegates to the National Convention, Mr. L. was elected President; and, at the regular annual convention, received the nomination to Congress, to which position he was duly elected in the fall of that year. In September, 1855, Mr. Latham was appointed to his present position, succeeding R. P. Hammond, Esq. Scarcely thirty years of age, Mr. Latham has filled a large space in the public eye of California, and his career, eminently successful in every respect, is a speaking evidence of what may be effected by determination and perseverance, aided by talent, purity of character and systematic industry.

This complete and extensive establishment unsurpassed in the United States, deserves more than a passing notice. Its present proprietor in conjunction with his associate, commenced business in the infancy of the city, and has participated in its early vicissitudes caused by the conflagrations which were so destructive. In the early part of 1853, the present splendid structure occupied by Mr. LeCount was erected at an expense of $82,000, and exhibits in all its details completeness of adaptation, the result of the perfect acquaintance of its enterprising owner, in the business in which he is engaged. It is 26 by 90 feet, and four stories in height. One of its early and most successful merchants, Mr. L. considers as his permanent home the city which his enterprise has aided to enlarge and adorn.

 This Brewery was established by Judge S. L. Burrett in 1852, and was known as the Eagle Brewery. In 1853, Lyon & Co. became owners, and changed its name to that of its prop-ertors—"Lyon & Co." Dec. 1855, a joint stock company organized under the name of Lion Co. Brewery, purchased the entire works—and, from this date, the Brewery assumed the style of Lion Co. Brewery. It has a capacity of brew-

MAGUIRE THOS. prptr San Francisco Hall, res N. s Washington near Dupont

The persevering enterprise of this gentleman and the relation of his efforts with the early progress of the city, are entitled to notice.

Mr. M. arrived here in September, 1849. Soon afterwards he became proprietor of the Parker House, and after the May fire of 1850 erected on its site the Parker House, and first Jenny Lind Theater. The Theater was leased by James Stark, Esq., who, for twelve months, consecutively, paid a nightly rent of $175. In 1851 these premises were again destroyed in the great conflagration of that year, and again their energetic owner erected the Hotel and Theater, still again doomed to utter destruction in 1852, when Mr. Maguire determined to build a permanent structure that should be fire proof. Aided by the sale of a portion of the ground, and the immense rental in prospect, with an unlimited credit, he built the Jenny Lind Theater, at a cost, independent of the ground, of $160,000. The subsequent history of this edifice and its conversion into the City Hall, are well known to all. The outlay of Mr. M. in improvements, during his residence in San Francisco, will not vary much from a half million of dollars. Notwithstanding losses and embarrassments of the most discouraging character, the business tact and energy of Mr. M. has never forsaken him, and he has evolved success when utter prostration appeared inevitable.

The immense success which has attended the Minstrel Concerts has induced Mr. M. to build, and he has now under contract a new San Francisco Hall, to be erected on the present site, 50 by 150 feet, with an elevation of 50 feet, and which, when completed according to the plans, will be one of the most beautiful edifices of the kind in the United States.

This Association was organized by the election of the following officers, March 29, 1855: President, R. Matheson; Vice President, Gardner Elliott; Rec. Secretary, P. B. Dexter; Cor.
 Secretary, H. F. Williams; Treasurer, E. Cook; Directors,
 J. E. Kincaid, J. Kittredge, Wm. McKibben, G. D. Street, E. P. Swett, C. L. Taylor, D. Van Pelt. Its object is the establishment of a library, reading room, collection of a cabinet, scientific apparatus, works of art, and other literary and scientific purposes. How far beyond the collection of a library of about 600 volumes, and a well arranged room, containing upon its tables the principal newspapers and periodicals of the day, it has progressed, we are unable to say, neither can we give the present officers of the Association, from our inability to meet the Secretary, or receive a response to our letter, asking the necessary information and data.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION, 2d floor Montgomery Block, rooms 15 to 20 inclusive

Organized January 24, 1853, by the election of D. S. Turner President; Josiah P. Haven, Vice-President; C. E. Bowers, Treasurer; W. H. Stevens, Recording Secretary; Dr. Henry Gibbons, Corresponding Secretary; and Messrs. E. P. Flint, E. E. Dunbar, H. D. Haskell and J. B. Crockett, Directors. This association has been carefully and ably managed and generously nurtured, and bids fair to take rank in extent and importance with its kindred institutions in New York, Boston and Cincinnati. The Library now contains about five thousand volumes of miscellaneous books, including selections of the best works in every branch of literature, with a valuable collection of works of reference, and several complete sets of English and American periodicals, and bound files of California newspapers. The rooms are open from 9 o'clock, A. M., to 10 o'clock, P. M., every day except Sundays. In addition to the Library and Reading Rooms, there are apartments for conversation, playing at chess, draughts, etc. The terms of admission to the Rooms and Library, are five dollars initiation-fee and one dollar per month, payable quarterly. The present officers are—F. A. Woodworth, Pres't; E. H. Washburn, Vice-Pres't; W. C. Hyde, Rec. Sec'y; E. H. Howard, Cor. Sec'y; Wm. R. Garrison, Treas'r; H. H. Moore, Librarian; and a Board of nine Directors. The influence of an institution of this character, properly directed, cannot be estimated; and it can scarcely be doubted that the Esprit du Corps of our mercantile community will sustain and enlarge this association, by confiding its management to energetic and talented men, and by liberally contributing to its support.

MERCHANT'S EXCHANGE, Sweeny & Baugh prptrs, 135 Clay S. s bet Sansome and Mont'y

The Merchants' Exchange was opened by Messrs. Sweeny & Baugh in March, 1852, on Sacramento Street, one square south of its present location, and in Sept. 1853, they completed a line of Telegraph to Point Lobos (south lead), enabling them to report as soon as they can be signalized at sea, the names of inward bound vessels. The Telegraph Line is the Pioneer creation of that character on the Pacific Coast. In July, 1855, the Exchange was located in its present commodious rooms, where can be found files of the leading newspapers, foreign and domestic. The merchants of San Francisco, with generous sagacity, have always liberally sustained this important enterprise.

METROPOLITAN THEATER, John Torrence, prptr, W. s Montgomery, bet Wash'n and Jackson

On the 24th Dec., 1853, this spacious and elegant temple of historic art, just finished under the supervision of that talented architect, Mr. Joseph French, was opened by Mrs. Catharine N. Sinclair. For a period of about eighteen months this lady presided over the management, during which many celebrated and talented "Stars" filled engagements, of whom may be named Mesdames Anna Bishop, Anna Thillon, Barilli Thorne and Williams; Misses Catharine Hyles, the Ronsett Sisters, Laura Keene, Susan and Kate Denin; Messrs. Jas. E. Mardock, J. Hudson, Jas. Stark, Barney Williams and J. J. Neafie. The stock company included many prominent performers, among whom were Mesdames Judah, Woodward, Thoman, Mansfield, Booth and Burrill; Misses Julia Gould and Montague; Messrs. Edwin S. Booth, J. B. Booth, J. A. Phelps, Chapman, Coad, Smith, Rand, Wilder, Anderson, Barry and Collins, etc., with Mr. J. Torrence us Machinist and J. W. Fairchild as Scenic Artist. For about two-thirds of the time Mrs. S. had the Metropolitan up to Jan., 1855, the receipts were enormous, amounting to $400,000. During the interval, from the abandonment of the management by Mrs. S. and its assumption by Mr. Torrence, the direction was transitory, with fluctuating success—but the ample means of that gentleman, united to skillful management and a frank and courteous address, have established the Metropolitan under his auspices as a permanent institution.

 Mission
 Established in 1852.
 Mission House (Chinese,) N.-E. cor Sac'o and Stockton
- This institution was established by the Rev. Mr. Speer, who in 1853 commenced the erection of the present structure, which on Sunday, June 4th, 1854, was dedicated to its sacred purposes. The building is forty-four feet on Sacramento Street, by thirty-seven and a half feet on Stockton; two stories in height, with a basement and cellar. The basement is divided into rooms for a school, dispensary, etc. The chapel, accommodating about three hundred persons, is located in the principal story. The upper story is occupied as the dwelling of the pastor. The building is a substantial and handsome edifice. This enterprise was commenced by the reverend gentleman in July, 1853, when at the close of a series of lectures on the subject of the Chinese and the Mission, eight thousand dollars were subscribed for its objects. The entire cost of building and lot has been about twenty-five thousand dollars—mostly the contributions of our generous citizens. A debt of $6,500 has been necessarily incurred in placing the building in its present condition, which is still unpaid. The property is held by a Board of nine Trustees, under the general act concerning corporations. The first Board were Messrs. T. H. Selby, D. S. Turner, T. Adams, H. C. Beals, E. Knight, I. P. Rankin, S. Franklin, J. B. Roberts and E. P. Flint. The religious direction of the institution is in the hands of the "Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church." A Church, in connection with the Mission, was organized after the Presbyterian form, November 6 1853. In the building, there have been maintained a Depository for Chinese scriptures and tracts, a Dispensary for the sick, a Night-School, and an Office for the "Oriental," a monthly religious newspaper, printed on one side in Chinese and the other in English.

NEW WORLD STEAMER, San Francisco and Sacramento Packet, Sam'l Seymour, master, owned by Cal. Steam Nav. Co.

The N. W. was built in New York in 1849 by the late Wm. H. Brown, an eminent ship builder of that city, expressly for this trade. She came out early in 1850, under the command of Capt. E. Wakeman, consigned to Chas. Minton, Esq. After undergoing the requisite alterations, she was placed on the line in connection with the Senator. In 1854, she became the property of her present owners. The New World is 216 feet keel, 27 feet beam, 9 3-12 feet hold—measuring 524 tons. Her excellent accommodations, speed, and the courtesy of her officers, have sustained the N. W. as a popular boat. Excepting one or two slight accidents, she has been successfully and almost constantly employed, since her arrival in 1850, in the trade for which she was designed by her original owner, Mr. Brown.

NICARAGUA STEAMSHIP COMPANY, office
S. W. cor Battery and Wash'n, up stairs, C.
K. Garrison & Co. agents

This company organized 1856, and are the successors of the Accessory Transit Co. of Nicaragua, which was recently overthrown by the present dynasty in Nicaragua. The prominent men of the new company are Cornelius K. Garrison, of San Francisco, and Charles Morgan, of New York, who are the holders of a grant from the Nicaraguan Government ceding the exclusive right of way over the Isthmus of Nicaragua. The steamers at present running in the line are the Sierra Nevada and the Orizaba, on the Pacific Ocean, and the Texas on the Atlantic. New ships are now upon the stocks at New York, destined for the service of this company on this coast, and their dimensions are greater than those of any steamship ever yet built at the port of New York, viz: 325 feet length of keel, 42 feet breadth of beam, and 22 feet depth of hold—burden, 3,000 tons. They are built for great speed, and it is intended that the time to New York, via Nicaragua, shall be reduced to less than 18 days, early next summer, when the new ships will be finished, and have taken their places in the line. The gentlemen engaged in this enterprise are men of large fortune, well known energy, and great experience in steamship business.

PACIFIC EXPRESS COMPANY, Express Bdg, cor Mont'y and Cal'a

This extensive Company was organized March 12, 1855, immediately subsequent to the failure of the great house of Adams & Co., by a number of the employees of that firm, who commenced their enterprize with all the advantages resulting from a thorough training in that unrivaled establishment, an ample capital, and the scarcely-disturbed arrangements of their predecessors. By rigid attention to business, perfection of detail, and strict probity, this house has built up a business whose ramifications penetrate every avenue of commerce throughout the civilized world. A reorganization of the concern has recently taken place, with enlarged capital, gives increased facilities.

PACIFIC FOUNDRY, Goddard & Co. prptrs, E. s First bet Mission and Howard

These Works were established on their present location Sept. 1850, by Egery & Hinkley. The improvements consisted of a one-story frame building, 50x50, in which a general foundry and machine business was transacted. December, 1853, the present proprietors (E. B. Goddard, W. A. Palmer and E. B. Galusha, comprising the firm of Goddard & Co.) purchased the interest of the original owners—erected a three-story building, 30x60—and added greatly, by improvements in machinery, etc., to former facilities for meeting the increase of trade. On the premises is a steam hammer with a capacity of 1½ tons,—said to be the only one in operation on the Pacific coast, with the exception of that in the Navy Yard. The cupolas, two in number, have a capacity of melting 12 tons of metal per day. The Works employ from 50 to 80 men, and the average annual business is $240,000 per annum.

This is a weekly paper, devoted to Religion, Education and Useful Intelligence. Was established August, 1851, by J. W. Douglass, editor and proprietor. In January, 1855, he disposed of his interest to Rev. I. H. Brayton and S. V. Blakeslee, who have since watched over its career. Oct. 1st, 1856, J. H. Brodt became interested in the editorial department.

Incorporated in New York in 1849, with an original capital of $750,000, subsequently enlarged to the sum of $3,600,000. The California, Oregon and Panama were the first steamers dispatched to the Pacific. The California arrived at this place on the 28th February, 1849, the Oregon on 31st March, 1849. The former was deserted by her crew—who went "gold hunting"—and detained in port for several months. The Oregon got away on the 11th of April on her first return trip. The present steamers owned by this mammoth company are the Golden Gate, Golden Age, Jno. L. Stephens, Sonora, Northerner, Columbia, Republic, Fremont, Constitution, and the pioneer steamers California, Oregon and Panama. The Columbia is engaged in the Oregon trade, and has made one hundred and nine voyages without an accident. The company have lost two steamers, viz: the Tennessee, in March, 1853, and Winfield Scott, Dec., 1854, by shipwreck. Not a single life has been lost, however, by explosion or collision, which is certainly creditable to the prudent management of such a fleet of steamers. During the existence of the company, they have safely conveyed from our shores the gold export of the country to the enormous extent of from three millions to four millions of dollars per month.

Presbyterian Churches—

First Presbyterian Church.—Stockton Street, near Broadway; Service Sundays 11 o'clock A. M. Sunday School and Bible Class 1 o'clock P. M. Rev. W. C. Anderson, D. D., pastor. This congregation was organized May 20, 1849, under the pastoral care of Rev. Albert Williams, and was the first Protestant Society in San Francisco. W. W. Caldwell, Dr. Geo. F. Turner, U. S. A., Frederick Billings, Sarah B. Gillespie, Ana Hodgkinton and M. A. Geary, were the original members; and Bezer Simmons, Elihu Woodruff and Hiram Grimes, first trustees. For about eighteen months the congregation worshipped in a tent on Dupont street, except the interval of the wet season, when they met in the Custom House. Jan. 19, 1851, a neat antique gothic edifice, capable of accommodating seven hundred persons, was dedicated. This building was destroyed by the great fire in June 22, 1851. In October of the same year a plain and unpretending structure was erected in which the congregation now meet. Efficient measures are in progress for the erection of a large and beautiful building, the congregation being in a prosperous state, possessing within itself all the elements of strength and efficiency. Messrs. Billings, Grant, Weller, Osborn, Henry Haight and Jas. DeFreemery, are the present trustees. Number of communicants, one hundred and forty. The Rev. Mr. Williams, compelled by ill-health, resigned Oct. 8, 1854, and the present pastor entered upon his duties Nov. 1, 1855.

Howard Street Presbyterian Church.—Happy Valley. Public services every Sunday at 11 o'clock A. M. Sunday School, 2 o'clock P. M. Rev. S. H. Wiley, pastor. Messrs. D. N. Hawley, C. F. Potter, H. B. James, G. M. Blake, G. S. Mann and R. F. Knox, trustees; organized Sept. 1850, to supply a portion of the city (Happy Valley) then destitute of devotional facilities. Under the auspices of the present pastor, the building at present occupied by the congregation was dedicated June 17, 1851, and was the first public building erected in the city with hard finished plastered walls.

 QUEEN CITY STEAMER, commanded by Geo. R. Barclay, and owned by the Citizens' Steam Nav. Co. employed in the Sacramento and Marysville trade, lands at Pacific Wharf

The Queen City was built in San Francisco, under the supervision of her present popular commander and for present owners, after the style of the magnificent Mississippi packets, with elegant cabins, state-rooms, halls, etc., extending almost the entire length of the boat, situated above the main deck, and entirely disconnected with the freight room and other business of the boat, thus affording ample room for exercise and pleasure, to a great extent restricted on boats differently constructed. She is propelled by two powerful high pressure engines, and is not surpassed in speed by any boat upon the California waters. Dimensions: length of keel, 185 feet; breadth of beam, 31 feet; depth of hold, 9½ feet; carrying capacity, 450 tons. The hull was built by J. Lockwood, cabin by Mr. Weingard and machinery by Messrs. Martin, Anchutz & Co., Cincinnati. The Queen City made her first trip on the 4th of November, 1854, and ran with success up to February, 1855, since which time, by arrangement with the California Steam Navigation Company, she has been laid in ordinary.

School House of the Sisters of Presentation

This building is situated on Powell and Greenwich Streets, and has a frontage of 80 feet on Powell street, by a depth of 50 feet, exclusive of the spacious balcony in the rear; it consists of two stories and a basement. The building was commenced on the 9th of August, 1854, and completed the December following, and is of fine proportions, with spacious rooms, and passages which are well lighted and ventilated; its entire cost was $19,000. At present there are two hundred girls in attendance for educational purposes, upon whom the good sisters gratuitously bestow their best exertions, with kindness and constant care for the accomplishment of that object.

Animated by early and pleasing associations, arising from the residence of the writer in New Orleans, and his attendance on the ministrations of Dr. S. in that city, he here presents as full a memoir of this distinguished divine as the nature of the work will permit. Dr. Scott was born in Shelby County, Tennessee—at that time the frontier. He was early accustomed to toil: the back-woods implements and arms—the axe, the plow and the rifle—were to him familiar companions. Induced by early indications of intellectual development, his parents, at considerable inconvenience to themselves, sent him to Cumberland College, Ky. At the breaking out of the Black Hawk war in 1832, young Scott then in his junior year, and a licentiate preacher of the gospel, volunteered to go with the army into the Indian territory and act as chaplain. He remained in that country, then called the North-Western Territory, until the close of the war—traversing the extensive regions east and north of Galena; and crossing the Wisconsin River, penetrated to Prairie Du Chien. After the battle of Bad Axe, which resulted in the complete overthrow and subsequent capture of Black Hawk, Dr. S. returned to college. Descending the Upper Mississippi to the Rapids at Keokuk, in a small canoe, with no other companions than his gun and a small Sioux boy, he there found a small steamer which carried him to St. Louis, where he arrived November, 1832. Having with him his Greek books, and having presented the reading of Xenophon and Homer in the wilderness, amid campaigns and camp-scenes, a private examination by the Faculty, on his return, resulted in his restoration to his place in his class, with which he graduated the following year, on which occasion he was chosen by his fellow-students to deliver the valedictory of the class. In 1836 Dr. S. married the only daughter of the late R. Nicholson, M. D., of Mississippi. Afterwards became pastor of the Hermitage Church, near the residence of General Jackson, to whom it was his privilege to minister in holy things. In 1839, declining an appointment as President of Jackson College, Tenn. he accepted the pastoral care of the Presbyterian Church at Tuscaloosa, Ala.; from whence he removed in 1841 to New Orleans, where his faithful labors during his period of service literally built up the wealthy congregation over which he presided, while several other congregations sprung from his church during that time. Unremitting application and unceasing labor, finally began to tell with fearful effect upon his health. Then was shown the affectionate appreciation of his flock, who during a tour of Europe, and a subsequent journey to Egypt and the Holy Land, undertaken by Dr. S. at the earnest persuasion of officers solicitors about his health, nobly continued his salary, paid his traveling expenses and supplied his pulpit during his absence. Completely restored to health, Dr. S. continued his career of usefulness in New Orleans, until in May, 1854, yielding to the earnest request of numerous friends and admirers, who had become citizens of San Francisco, he removed to this city, where beloved by his congregation and respected by his fellow-citizens, he still pursues that career of useful labor which is his characteristic. Dr. Scott is eminently a practical man; progressive democracy (of course we do not mean in a restricted party sense) is his political creed. Tyranny in every form, especially over the mind of man, is his abhorrence. He feels an earnest desire to aid the youth of the country, and loses no opportunity to impart to them useful knowledge from the vast store-house of his mind. Though not ambitious as an author, Dr. Scott has published various pamphlets, addresses and discourses, on "Civil Liberty," "Home Education," and other popular subjects. Last year he published a volume of "Lectures on Daniel: a Model for Young Men." The first edition of these lectures is exhausted. Since his removal to our State, he has published a true California-book—"The Wedge of Gold"—addressed particularly to young men. The whole edition of this work is also exhausted. A volume of his Lectures before the Mercantile Library Association of this city, entitled "Trade and Letters, Their Journeys Round the World," is just issued in New York. For several years Dr. S. was chief writer in the "New Orleans Presbyterian," and is a frequent contributor to literary and religious journals, as well as the daily press—being a firm believer in its power and influence.

[We are indebted to the "New Orleans Directory for 1854," for a portion of the information embodied in the foregoing.]

Senator, Steamer, Capt. Thomas Seely, master; owned by Cal. Steam Nav. Co. plies as a coaster between San Francisco and San Diego, lands at Pacific street Wharf

This vessel was built in New York, 1848, by Wm. H. Brown—James Cunningham, owner—for the trade between Boston and St. John, and run as a coaster, for the space of seven months, under command of Capt. Sam'l Seymour, now commanding the New World. She was transferred to New York, and put on the trade between that place and Fall River. January, 1849, her owner disposed of three-fourths of his interest, and she was fitted out for California, for which point she sailed under command of Lieut. Beaché, of the U. S. N. The public are indebted for this enterprise to our fellow-citizen, Lieut. Maynard, who had been a resident of California prior to the date of writing, and who visited New York about this period, having in view, perhaps, the object attained, viz: the procurement of a proper steamer for the trade of the Sacramento River. In this enterprise it may be said, lay the foundation of this gentleman's now large fortune. She was dispatched in the month of March, 1849, at an expense of $112,000, but did not arrive in San Francisco until October following; the length of the voyage is to be attributed to the scarcity of fuel on the route, she being detained a number of weeks in the Straits of Magellan, while her hands cut the wood to enable her to reach the islands on the coast of Chile, where coal could be obtained. She was consigned to Charles Minturn, who arrived with the vessel. She was (it may be said without alteration), immediately placed upon the river between San Francisco and Sacramento, under the command of the pioneer steamboat-man of California—Capt. John Van Pelt. The success she met with may be readily understood, when the net profits for her owners during the first twelve or fifteen months that she run in California can be safely set down at exceeding $600,000. We have frequently paid $30 fare between San Francisco and Sacramento, which was exclusive of state-room or meals. Her rates for freight were $35 per ton, and, at these prices, she did as much business as she was capable of. With the other vessels of the Cal'a Steam Navigation Company, the Senator came into the possession of present owners March, 1854, and was fitted out for her present trade shortly thereafter. The following are her dimensions: length of keel, 220 feet; breadth of beam, 30 feet; depth of hold, 12 feet, and measures 755 tons. Her engine has a 50 inch cylinder, with 11 foot stroke. By "forty-niners" she is always mentioned as the "old Senator," not with any reference to her age, but as a term of endearment, in remembrance of the personal comfort to which she so essentially contributed in the days when Californians dwelt in tents.

Mr. S. arrived in California May 29, 1849. In Sept. 1850, was associated in the editorial department of the "Alta California." Was elected a Senator from this county to the State Legislature, Sept. 1851. Established the "Daily Chronicle," Nov. 21, 1853. In Sept. 1854, was elected School Commissioner as successor to Judge P. A. Morse. Mr. S. has been distinguished in this State as a prominent politician and political writer of the whig party, but characterized by a degree of personal independence for which politicians of no school are remarkable; as an instance of which we may mention the production of a letter at the whig state convention of 1854, which had appeared in the Alta, where Mr. S. was a prominent candidate for a congressional nomination with every prospect of success, wherein the administration of Mr. Fillmore was rather severely commented on. The authorship of this letter Mr. S. promptly and ingeniously avowed, and thereby effectually defeated his nomination. The "Chronicle," established under his auspices as an independent daily, soon took rank as a first class newspaper, and, distinguished for the purity of its columns, and excellence of its literary department, obtained an extensive circulation in the domestic circle. Mr. S. is also well known as one of the authors of the Annals of San Francisco—a work which not only sustains his reputation as a writer, but is creditable for the industry and research which has preserved so much of interest in the early history of our city. Mr. S. has shown himself, in every position, fully equal to its responsibilities, and, as friend or opponent, has commanded the esteem of his fellow citizens.

South Park, bounded by Second, Third, Bryant and Brannan

This improvement was projected by Mr. George Gordon, in 1852. The design embraces the block of six to seven lots (about twelve acres) bounded by Second, Third, Bryant and Brannan Streets, forming the only level spot of equal area, free from sand, within the city limits. A public garden, 75 feet wide and 550 feet long, is laid out down the center of the block, and surrounded by an ornamental iron railing, around which run avenues, 40 feet wide, opening on to Second and Third Streets by avenues 75 feet wide. Building lots, 68 in number, are laid out around the avenues. The Trust Deed of this property, framed after that of Gramercy Park in New York, prohibits the erection of buildings other than brick or stone. One-fourth of the lots—being a quarter-section of the improvement—were built upon by Mr. Gordon in 1854, forming a symmetrical and uniform frontage of 440 feet, divided into 17 buildings. The cost of this block of buildings was $110,000. From the basement of each lot clay was taken sufficient to make bricks for the houses erected thereon. Water is obtained at a depth of 25 feet. The general situation of South Park is one of great beauty and salubrity. Omnibus lines run to it every ten minutes. The building provisions give almost perfect security against fire. The remainder of the unimproved lots are still in the hands of the original projector. When the design is carried out, the tout ensemble will be highly imposing and worthy of the oldest city in the Union.

This Journal was established by F. A. Bonnard, and issued its first number May 9, 1853, under the editorial charge of John C. Cremony, under whose control it remained for 65-tenths months, having at this time attained a circulation of five thousand copies per day. Mr. Bonnard disposed of his interest at this date, to R. B. Quayle & Co., the editorial department remaining the same. At the expiration of six months, Mr. Quayle disposed of his interest to J. E. Lawrence, who disposed of his interest to Gould, Pitch & Williams; after which, it passed into the possession of a joint stock association, and upon the 13th of Feb., 1856, F. A. Bonbard became its sole owner. Changed to present style July, 1856. Advocates the principles of the democratic party, which cause it espoused September, 1855.

Sutter Iron Works

These works were established on the corner of Folsom and Beale streets, Jan., 1850, by George K. Glayas, in connection with the international navigation company, known as the Aspinwall company. The buildings were not fully completed until September of the same year, when the works were in full operation, and did a very large business. Prior to September, the work that was transacted by this establishment, was, to a great extent, performed in the open air. Up to 1854, the works kept in daily employ about sixty hands. Since this date, however, the business transacted has not been by any means so great.

TRUE CALIFORNIAN

NEWSPAPER & JOB OFFICE

ALMARIN B. PAUL & CO., Publishers.

WM. H. RHODES, C. J. & W. BARTLETT, .. EDITORS.

THE TRUE CALIFORNIAN,

As its name imports, was established in 1856, for the purpose of more prominently bringing forward the peculiar interests of California, as contra-distinguished from those of the Eastern States.

Particular attention was thought to be requisite in order to develop her great mineral, agricultural and commercial wealth; and it was deemed by the founders of the paper incompatible with this object, to take sides on any of the political questions of the day. Hence the tone, spirit and aim of the paper is independent of all factions, cliques and parties, and a devotion to California and her resources.

ASSAYERS

— OF —

GOLD, SILVER, AND ORES

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

No. 87 MERCHANT STREET,
SAN FRANCISCO.

W., U. & Co. take the liberty to draw attention to the following circumstances in connection with their Melting and Assaying business:

They have reduced their charges for Melting and Assaying of Gold; return Deposits in bars within 24 hours, and receive Deposits by the Express Offices.

S. C. WASS, of the firm, having personally made arrangements with MESSRS. B. BEREND & CO. and other heavy Bullion Merchants in NEW YORK, Bars of our manufacture can be disposed of without any difficulty or inconvenience to shippers.

CALIFORNIA METALLURGICAL WORKS

S. W. COR. OF HARRIS & BRANNAN STS., SAN FRANCISCO,

For the purpose of melting various kinds of Ores, especially Tailings of Quartz Mills, Black Sand, Jewellers' Sweepings, and other Gold and Silver bearing matter.

Auriferous Quartz frequently contains Sulphurets, combinations of Gold with Lead, etc., which prevent the proper extraction of the precious metal by Amalgamation—a circumstance which often causes a severe loss to the owner. We therefore invite proprietors of Quartz works, and everybody who may be in possession of some Gold or Silver bearing stuff, to collect the same and have samples of it tested at our office. Our charges for such assays shall be moderate, and not exceed $3.00 for each; and if the assayed lot should be sold to us afterwards, we shall make no charge at all for the assay. Samples of such tailings of about 1 lb. weight are solicited, but have to be sent to us free of Express charge.

- WOODS ROBERT E. City and County Treasurer, office W. s Kearny near Wash'n
- Mr. W. emigrated to California from Texas; arrived in April, 1849; resided at Sacramento City until beginning of the year 1851, when he removed to Crescent City. In June of that year was elected County Judge of Klamath County for the regular term of four years; but, after serving one year, resigned, much to the regret of the people. Subsequently removed to San Francisco, and, for several years, transacted a stock and money brokerage. In September, 1855, Mr. Woods was elected County Treasurer of S. F. County, and, by the consolidation bill, confirmed in his present position. The son of an old Kentucky physician, (Dr. John H. Woods,) Mr. W. was educated at St. Joseph's College, and took the degree of M. D. Afterwards was attached to the U. S. A. as Assistant Surgeon. Possessing all the winning frankness of manner for which Kentuckians are distinguished, Mr. W. has made hosts of friends wherever he has resided, whom his generosity has firmly attached.

 CHURCHES, ROMAN CATHOLIC—

St. Mary's Cathedral.—N. E. corner of California and Dupont Streets. The erection of this noble structure was commenced on the 17th of July, 1853, during which year the basement portion was built, and the work was resumed the July following. This church is 75 feet wide, fronting on California Street, by 131 feet on Dupont Street, being the largest church in the State. A portion of the basement is now used for schools and a library, the rest being reserved for a small chapel. Service was begun at midnight on December 24th, 1854. The basement portion, which is 19 feet high, is lighted from both sides and well ventilated. The present expenditure on the building is $120,000, and will require $5,000 more to complete it. The church portion is 45 feet high in the clear and contains spacious galleries and an organ loft. The ceilings are to be vaulted with series of groined arches which are to be decorated, and every means have been resorted to for accommodation, light and ventilation. The church can seat 1,200 persons. The parapets on the flanks are surmounted with embasres, and the different buttresses are to be finished with cut stone pinnacles. The tower is at present 90 feet high, and when completed, with the spire, will be 200 feet high. The edifice is of Gothic architecture, which will be carried out in every detail through the building. In all the arrangements for the erection of the church, the greatest attention has been paid to the selection of the best materials and to the combination of strength and durability, which are admirably effected in its construction. The edifice is built with bricks on massive foundations of stone. The door-way in the tower, the sills, the plinth, the caps of the buttresses, the embrasure caps and all the mouldings and crockets, together with the corbels of the windows are of cut stone. The substantial roof is covered with the best tin, the gutters and conductors are of heavy copper. Over the main entrance there are two large tablets, bearing the following inscriptions:—"Hail, full of grace, the Lord is with thee," Luke 1, and "Eccl. iv., 23. In the third division of the tower there is provision for a clock, which will have four dials, at an elevation to be seen from nearly all parts of the city. The mason work was done by M. Jordan, the wood work, etc., by James J. Doyle, and the cut stone work by Messrs. Andrews & Co., Craine & England, architects. Masses: Sundays at 6½, 9 and 11 o'clock A. M.; week days, 6½, 7 and 7½ o'clock A. M. Vespers at 4 o'clock P. M. Sunday evenings. Dedicated Dec. 25, 1854, by the Most Rev. Archbishop Alemany. Most Rev. Joseph S. Alemany, Rev. H. S. Gallagher, pastors; Rev. J. A. Gallagher and Rev. M. Kraig assistants. Archbishopal and pastoral residence, corner Pine and Quincy Streets.

St. Patrick's Church.—Market between Second and Third Streets. Rev. John Maginnis pastor, assisted by Rev. J. Harrington. Masses: Sundays at 6, 8 and 11 o'clock A. M.; week days, 6 and 7 o'clock A. M.

M.; week days, 6½ and 7½ o'clock A. M. This church is under the direction of the Jesuits, was dedicated July 15th, 1855, and has an excellent school connected with it. The 100-vara lot on which the present humble edifice stands, belongs to the society and cost $11,000. As soon as the means can be procured, a splendid church will be erected.

Notre Dame des Victoires.—Bush between Kearney and Dupont Streets. Rev. Dominic Blaire, pastor. Arrived in California Oct. 13th, 1850; appointed to present position in Sept. 1855. Mr. Blaire was Director of the Diocesan Seminary at Tours, France, from 1841 to 1848.

CUSTOM HOUSE AND POST OFFICE BUILDING, W. s Battery bet Wash'n and Jackson

For the foundation of this imposing building the piling and grillage were finished in October, 1854, from which time the work of the structure advanced with regularity; and was completed in October, 1855. By the official report in the premises it appears that the amount expended in connection with the building to September 30, 1855, was $847,101 08, and that the total amount of appropriation for the object was $866,271 09. The edifice is 70 by 160 feet and contains three spacious stories and a basement; it is built with massive granite work from the adjacent millage to the height of about 10 feet, above which the superstructure is formed with heavy brick work, having a spacious granite balcony in the East front communicating with the 2d story. The bases and capitals of the pillars and the ante, the balustrade, the caps of the windows, and the cornice of the exterior are of cast iron. The 1st story is devoted to the purposes of the Post Office, and is arranged in the most appropriate manner for the business of that department, having an entire extent of passage way in front of the delivery windows, capable of accommodating 1,000 persons, with spacious approaches, affording abundant means for ingress and egress. The 2d story, which is approached by means of two grand stair-ways of iron, is used for the business purposes of the Custom House; its elegant ceiling is supported by two rows of Corinthian columns with ante along the sides, and the furniture, which is formed of mahogany, is arranged in an admirable manner for the convenience of the department. The 3d story and basement are used for the various offices in connection with the department. The building is rendered fire-proof on the exterior, and to a very great extent in the interior—the floors being of brick and the stairways either of granite or iron. The chief portion of the materials used in the work are of California production. The superior quality of the materials of which the structure is formed, and the admirable manner in which they are disposed of in its erection, insures strength and durability; it is well provided with every means for light, ventilation and convenience throughout the interior, and reflects great credit on Mr. James Smiley, contractor and on the superintendent, Major Zealous B. Tower.

ORPHAN ASYLUMS—

Orphan Asylum (Catholic), Market near Kearny Street.—Organized March 23d, 1851, and placed under the care of the Sisters of Charity. A frame building for this purpose was commenced in July, and completed in September, 1851; it was occupied in part for a School, and a portion was temporarily used as a Church, under the pastoral charge of Rev. John McGinnis. The present spacious brick building was completed in November, 1854, at a cost of $24,000. It is a source of gratification to behold the consoling appearance presented by the 130 little ones now provided for in the Institution, which speaks audibly of the benign influence of their guardian Sisters, and of the true liberality of our community in their noble efforts to lead a helping hand to the fatherless.

Orphan Asylum (Protestant) of the City of San Francisco.—Organized January, 31st, 1851, and incorporated February 10th, 1851. Original officers: Mrs. Aburt Williams, President; Mrs. S. H. It originally occupied the building on the corner of Second and Folsom Streets, owned by Mr. Halleck, whence they removed the children in March, 1854, to the present building, just then completed at a cost of $50,000. This house, built of stone and brick expressly for the purpose, is highly creditable to the institution, and one of the noblest monuments of San Francisco benevolence. Present number of children under the care of the Asylum is forty-three. Present Board: Mrs. R. H. Waller, President; Mrs. F. W. Macdonray, Vice-President; Mrs. W. G. Pardee, Treasurer; Mrs. C. V. SOLE AGENT FOR THE SALE OF

Or WORMWOOD CORDIAL, and

SPICE & WORMWOOD BITTERS.

ST. CROIX & JAMAICA RUM,

Fine BRANDIES & Sherry WINES—constantly on hand in bond.

RICHARDS' AMERICAN VERMOUTH, AND SPICE AND WORMWOOD BITTERS.

The undersigned would respectfully call attention to the above articles manufactured by them, as being the most superior of any ever offered to the public.

The VERMOUTH is an INVIGORATING CORDIAL, particularly recommended as an Antidote for a sluggish state of the digestive organs, and the removal of an exhausted vital energy. It is a superior Tonic, and Anti-Dyspeptic and complete Regenerator of a weakened system.

Invalids suffering from Loss of Appetite, Indigestion, and torpid state of the Liver, caused by over indulgence of Vitiated Appetites, and also by residence in warm climates and fever latitudes, will derive great benefit from the use of the Spice and Wormwood Bitters, and to such we particularly recommend them.

We would especially remark, that great discrimination should be used by the Invalid, in procuring such a composition of Wormwood or Spice, either in the form of a Cordial or a Bitter, as is entitled to the highest confidence; for there is compounded and vended in the several large cities of the United States, base and poisonous imitations of this really legitimate health restorative. The pernicious effects of inferior preparations of Wormwood, have been realised by so many Invalids who have sought relief from diseases for which this article is a CURE-ALL, has induced the proprietors to give their article the name of "RICHARDS' AMERICAN VERMOUTH," in order that those who are seeking for a really superior preparation may be protected from imposition by unprincipled dealers, who vend their article under the old name of Wormwood Cordial.

The very large and steadily increasing demand for this article in the principal cities of the Union, more particularly in the Atlantic States and California, has induced the proprietors to give a large share of their time and attention to compounding and manufacturing such a preparation as must inevitably prove a SOVEREIGN BALM to the afflicted, more particularly as the articles used in its composition are of the purest quality, and selected by us from stocks in the hands of parties in whom we can place the utmost reliance. We have appointed

S. S. PHILLIPS, of San Francisco, Sole Agent for the State of California,

For the sale of these articles, and purchasers desirous of furnishing themselves can always obtain a supply either Wholesale or Retail, at his Store, Corner of Sansome and Sacramento Sts.

Business Hours,.....from 9 A. M to 5 P. M.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN wishing my services may rely on prompt attention and thoroughly-finished workmanship.

I manufacture the Teeth I use expressly for the cases intended, in blocks or otherwise, and prepare my own material for filling teeth, and nothing but chemically Pure Gold by a new process of preparation will be used, as any tooth worth an attempt to save, can be better plugged with this prepared Gold than with any other material heretofore discovered.

I do not use "Watts' Patent Prepared Gold," neither is the Gold I prepare scarcely in anything similar to it.

My charges are moderate, but sufficient to allow me to be just to my patients.

Cash is expected when an operation is finished.

L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D.

(Late of the Hungarian Army, and Chief Physician of the Hospital of Pesth.)

HAS ESTABLISHED IN THIS CITY A

Medical Institute,

FOR THE TREATMENT OF DISEASES OF THE

BRAIN, LUNGS, LIVER, STOMACH, KIDNEYS, AND GENITO-URINARY ORGANS.

These last diseases the Doctor has been induced to add, in consequence of the daily evidence of the evils consequent upon the malpractice so generally pursued by advertising empirics, whose conduct exemplifies the truth that "Man's inhumanity to man, makes countless thousands mourn."

The Doctor's thorough knowledge of the principles of Physiology and Pathology, and the modus operandi of the agents embraced in our Materia Medica, is a guarantee of the assurance that all will be treated in accordance with the established principles of Medical Science, and in accordance with the improvements made therein. The gradual accumulation of valuable information since the days of Hypocrates, and the exclusion of such agents as have proved inert, have left the regular practitioner the means wherewith to combat successfully the ills to which flesh is heir. Especially is this true in reference to that branch of the science to which cupidity has invited charlatanry, much to the detriment of the unfortunate and incredulous. With a view to counteract the evils which flow from this source, the Doctor is happy to give the guarantee of a safe, speedy and effectual cure to all who seek his assistance, and complete immunity from evil after-consequences.

It often happens that the abuse of instinctive passion leads to fearful consequences, unless the aid of the Physician is made available to arrest these certain and ruinous results. Among the symptoms arising from this cause, the following may be enumerated:—Confusion of ideas, loss of memory, destruction of the nervous equilibrium, timidity and headache, loss of mental power, partial and complete dementia; these oftentimes terminating in death. For the amelioration of these symptoms, and the avoidance of so fearful a consequence, the Doctor offers his services, and guarantees in all cases perfect satisfaction.

In Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Rheumatic Affections, and other diseases incident to this climate, assurance is given of speedy relief. All consultations by letter, or otherwise, free. Address to
