White Requests Aid of Club to Assist in Putting Over School Bond Issue

Members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club met Tuesday after the summer vacation to take up the work of the club year.

The auditorium in the Masonic Temple, where the club met, was decorated with huge jars of dahlias in honor of the opening meeting.

In putting the proposition before the members Mrs. Hutchinson told of the conviction that had developed during the summer in the minds of many with whom she had talked.

Mrs. Hutchinson told of meetings of the executive board and of the appointment of a sub-committee consisting of Mrs. Andrew Findlay, Mrs. H. E. Barlett and Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

Before the executive board could act the lots were sold to a woman who refused to entertain any proposition to part with them.

AFRICAN GOLFERS MAILED TO COURT

Yesterday at noon Frank Booth, proprietor of a grocery store and confectionery at 316 East Broadway, phoned the police that there were some boys in the rear of his store shooting craps and disturbing the peace.

The boys were taken to the police station and questioned by tax officers. The gangster boy, who is at present on probation from the reform school was sent to Los Angeles in custody of Officer McLean and turned over to Juvenile authorities there.

ALHAMBRA HIGH IS TRIMMED TUESDAY

Alhambra High School sent a lightweight team to Glendale yesterday to play against the regular football team of the Glendale High School.

This game is a preliminary to the really hard games that are scheduled for the league season that opens Friday. Glendale played that opened Friday.

During the first practice games of the season Glendale players had a tendency to play careless, fumbling the ball and playing wild, but yesterday's game showed that these two faults had been eliminated to a great extent.

CHILDREN TO TAKE BLANKS TO PARENTS

Plans were changed for taking the school census yesterday in this city and blanks for all children under the fourth grade were given to children to take home to their parents by whom they will be filled out and then returned to the schools.

Just when the information thus secured will be compiled or the totals made available, Superintendent White could not say, as the work will have to be performed by the teachers as they have time they can spare for the purpose.

SCHOOL BOARD AND CERRITOS SCHOOL COMMITTEE MET

Board to Proceed at Once With Many Necessary Changes at Cerritos

At a special meeting of the Glendale board of education last night, a very satisfactory understanding was reached with the special committee representing the South Glendale Improvement Association, which discussed with the board improvements at the Cerritos Avenue school which would give additional fire protection and relieve congestion.

After various means of relieving the situation had been reviewed, the board authorized Superintendent R. D. White to proceed at once with the following improvements at the Cerritos Avenue school:

To cover the opening between the first and second floors which has been referred to as "the well," and which was made to afford additional light and ventilation to the corridor below. Fears have been entertained that this would serve as a flue to carry flames to the second floor in case of fire.

To provide additional drinking fountains on school grounds. To rehang some of the classroom doors so they will open out instead of in.

To cut a door from a large room in the southwest corner of the building on the upper floor from which the fire escape chutes descend into a smaller room adjoining so that students therein could more immediately reach the chutes than if compelled to go around through the hall.

To convert windows at the foot of the two staircases and thus provide an immediate outlet independent of the main corridor.

To install on both floors the fire hose previously ordered. A letter from City Manager William H. Reeves proposing to install a four-inch water main from Cerritos avenue to the property line of the school if the board would recompense the city. Mr. White was instructed to take the matter up with Manager Reeves and see on what basis the proposition could be carried through.

There was considerable discussion relative to the possibility of building a permanent school unit on the Cerritos campus out of the funds to be derived from the proposed bond issue. The board agreed to give the matter careful consideration and to send a statement in writing to the committee to present to the association setting forth just what the board will be able to do.

In a special meeting of the board will be held Thursday evening when bids will be opened for the strips of land needed for the improvement of streets abutting on Acacia avenue and Cerritos avenue school grounds. The law provides that school boards cannot give anything away without a consideration. The city desires to open Garfield avenue and widen Brand.

Bids will also be opened for a similar proposition in connection with the Maple avenue school. In that case, Messrs. Pitts and Meeker, who are subdividing "surrounding property," will be the bidders.

HUM OF AIR MOTOR DISTRACTS CATTLE

ELKO, Nev., Oct. 5.—Nevada cattle have not yet become used to airplanes, which means that the Southern Pacific may be compelled to move its shipping pens at Elko, whence thousands of head start for market. The pens are adjacent to the landing field of the United States Air Mail Service and the cattle, raised on the mountains and having never seen a plane, go wild when the big fliers come zooming down. The two-inch planks of which the pens are made are no stronger than are needed to restrain the frantic animals.

The greatest trouble is experienced when new herds are being driven in at the same time that a huge Liberty motor comes roaring from the sky. Cattle once inside the pens usually become accustomed to the noise in the few days that they remain.

CARPENTER'S TOOLS ARE AGAIN STOLEN

John Fretwell, a carpenter living at 111 1/2 North Louise, reported to the police this morning that a number of tools had been stolen from him some time during the night.

According to the report of the theft the tools were at a job of construction on Kenwood street and they were valued at several hundred dollars. This is another of the long list of tool thefts that have been reported in Glendale during the past two weeks and officers have been detailed to the case with instructions to leave nothing undone to capture the thief or thieves.

RAILROAD STRIKE IS NOT PROBABLE NOW

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—There is only a remote possibility of a railroad strike, a union official, high in the ranks of his brotherhood, stated today. In spite of the strike ballot now being taken he does not believe there will be a strike. "Industrial conditions do not warrant one. In case of a strike half the union men would become 'scabs' and the other half tramps." This is no time for a strike," he said.

BOND ISSUE IS GIVEN ENDORSEMENT BY LOCAL CHAMBER

Grand View Will Be Given Cheaper Car Fare Rate by Traction Line

PURCHASE IN GLENDALE

Congressman Lineberger Is Urged to Get Postoffice Here at Earliest Date

The school bond issue of $260,000, which will come before the voters of Glendale next Tuesday, has been endorsed by the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. This action was asked by Superintendent of Schools Richardson D. White and after satisfactory explanations the board voted unanimously in favor of the issue.

A short time ago a petition was forwarded to the chamber of commerce by the people of the Grand View district asking the chamber to use its influence to secure cheaper carfare to Glendale points and Los Angeles. At the meeting Secretary Rhoades read a communication from the Pacific Electric company stating that the company put into effect October 1, reductions amounting to about 40 per cent between Grand View points and other stations located between that section and Los Angeles. The fact was emphasized at the meeting yesterday that this is but one instance where the city of Glendale is helping the Grand View district.

Roy L. Kent addressed the board, stating that it is his opinion that so far as possible the work of building the new school houses and additions and the purchasing of the material to go into these structures should be done as much as possible in Glendale. It seems, he said, that some one on the school board favors Los Angeles concerns. Mr. White, superintendent of schools, stated that so far as he is aware there is no inclination to be out of Glendale, but that it must be understood that the contracts must of necessity be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder.

Mr. Gray, representing the Laurel street district, asked that certain men living in that section be appointed as a committee from the chamber of commerce to assist in the annexation campaign, and the committee was appointed as suggested.

A committee consisting of Richardson D. White and J. H. Bentley was appointed.

AUTO BANDITS IN HOLDUP TUESDAY

Automobile bandits operated last night in the vicinity of Glendale but did not cross the line. H. Nagahama who operated a fruit stand on Los Feliz road reported that three men in a large blue touring car held him up and robbed him of $100.

Nagahama described the men as being between the ages of 25 and 28 years. One man according to the description given the police, was wearing a United States army uniform and cap, another was wearing an army uniform and grey cap. The third and apparently the youngest of the trio remained seated in the car while his companion held up their victim.

About an hour after the holdup was reported a similar report of this trio's activities in the city of Los Angeles was made to the police department of Los Angeles. While the holdup was committed outside of the city limits of Glendale and in the Los Angeles district, investigation of the case was made by Glendale police.

BATTLE OF SUDS IS ENDED; CLEAN FIGHT

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—On July 29 last Nan Patterson, original "Florodora" sextette singer, who was tried on a charge of murdering Ceasar Young, some twenty years ago, was doing her own washing in a small apartment here.

According to the story told Acting City Judge Charles W. Botte, in court, Francis S. Feleh, her landlord, who lives in the same building, wanted the use of the washbasin for his family, and in a discussion which arose he grabbed Miss Patterson, she says, pushed her back over the tub and choked her.

Right then it started, Miss Patterson told Judge Botte, and when the argument was over the former "Florodora" girl had command of the wash-tub and immediate vicinity, while Mr. Feleh lodged a complaint of assault against his tenant.

The complaint was not in court, so Judge Botte dismissed the case.

SOCCER PRACTICE GAME TUESDAY

There was a practice soccer game yesterday afternoon between Intermediate and Cerritos to put the boys in condition for the series of league games. The intermediate team won with a score of 1 to 0.

The games scheduled for this afternoon in the Grammar school league between Doran and Central and Cerritos and Colorado are likely to be called off on account of the bad weather. So said Athletic Director Blanford.

YANKEES WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES AT POLO GROUNDS

Carl Mays in Box for Yanks and Parades Giants Back and Forth Quickly

RUTH SCORES A RUN

Giants Are Given Only Five Hits in a Game Full of Exciting Thrills

A large crowd of baseball fans gathered in front of the office of the Glendale Daily Press shortly before the world series game started and "listened" to the game, play by play, announced through the magnavox loaned by the Kenby Music Company. The returns will be given each day at the Glendale Daily Press office in this manner, throughout the series. The plays are received over leased wire of the United Press Association in the office of the Glendale Daily Press.

Mowed down by the underhand stunts of Carl Mays, the New York Giants became the first casualty of the annual baseball harvest here this afternoon. Playing like champions with a dash and spirit in their game, the Yanks got the jump on their home town by winning the first game of the world series, 3 to 0.

Mays, the ace of the American league pitchers, was the trump card in the Yanks' list. The Giants spent most of the cool, crisp afternoon walking up to the plate and walking back. They were whipped from the mound and their procession looked like a cortege.

The big sticks of the Giants connected safely only five times and four of them were poled out by Frank Frisch, the brilliant young third baseman, who was the whole team in the field at that.

The Yanks started off with the sound old baseball policy of getting the jump early. In the first inning the history led off by singling through Ravinings. Peck sacrificed him to second and then Babe smashed a single to center and the run was over.

Again in the fifth inning the Yank attack delivered. McNally opened the inning with a two-base clout to left. He reached third on Schang's sacrifice and pulled the unexpected on Phil

NEW THEATRE HERE TO BE MODERN IN EVERY DETAIL

Ambrosini Says It Will Cost $150,000 and Have 1,500 Seating Capacity

HOTEL IS PROGRESSING

Materials Will Be Purchased in This City Where It Is Possible to Do So

A steel and concrete theater building to cost $150,000 and to be located on the northwest corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway, where the White Inn is now situated, is the latest proposed improvement in the city. The building will be either three or four stories in height and will be strictly fireproof. The theater will have a seating capacity of 1500 and will be located on the ground floor, while the floors above will be taken up by offices and apartments. The ground floor will be 100 feet square. In addition to the opera house on the main floor, there will be one small storeroom.

Work on this building will be started just as soon as the hotel building, to be constructed across the street, has been finished, according to reliable parties interested. Work on the proposed $500,000 hotel building, which is to be erected on the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway, will start in about ten days, according to Anthony Ambrosini, chief promoter of the enterprise. The plans for this building are now being drawn, under the supervision of Mr. Ambrosini, by the architectural department of the Roy L. Kent company, and as soon as these are finished work on the hotel structure will be started. It is estimated that after work has been commenced it will take about five months to complete the building. It will be of class A construction, six stories high and will contain about 300 rooms. Being constructed entirely of steel and concrete, it will be strictly fireproof, and the finest building of its kind in Glendale.

A large dining room will be located on the second floor of this building and on this floor, also, will be located the reception room. On the third floor will be a large private theater and ballroom, which will be for the use of the guests and invited friends only. The building will be equipped with three elevators, two

FRUITLESS SEARCH BY MOVIE FOLKS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—Shades of Bacchus, grandfathers of bootleggers and ancestors of home brew "A" movie company searched Southern California high and low for an old-fashioned polished mahogany bar, with a mirror behind it, and failed completely in its mission. The film people wanted it for a "prop" to live up some scene of the "good old days."

A few years ago there used to be 200 mahogany bars in downtown Los Angeles. Their owners paid men high wages to keep them polished off the whole armies of men paid liberally for the privilege of lining up on the other side. A few of the old bars are used in soft-drink parlors, but the others have disappeared.

So the "movie" people had a scout headed for San Francisco to try to locate a bar.

Other large items were: San Francisco harbor improvement, $169,000; highway improvement, $1,400,000; University of California, $426,000; compensation insurance investment, $731,000; Los Angeles flood control, $880,000.

Los Angeles Morning Paper Story Is Branded as a Deliberate "Lie"

MEMBERS ARE WROTH

Story of Protected "Still" in Woman's Apartment Here Emphatically Denied

A Los Angeles morning newspaper published in last Sunday's edition a story to the effect that Ernest Theede, arrested in a raid in Glendale and Burbank by prohibition enforcement agents and James L. Brown of the Glendale Merchants' Patrol, has made a confession regarding the activities of an alleged "booze ring" in this city.

The story also stated that Theede, in his confession, had implicated an official of this city. It is reported that the official was present at a party in the apartments of a well-known Glendale woman where liquor was served. It is further said that the liquor had been manufactured in a still operated in the woman's apartment and that the city official knew of the existence of the still and had boasted that the woman had no fear of police interference.

Theede is also said to have stated that several other parties were given in this woman's apartment, within a stone's throw of the city hall, at which several members of the city administration and well-known society women were present.

Officials of Glendale are up in arms as a result of the story and declare it has all the appearance of being a falsehood, in their opinions.

In speaking of the incident and the possible truth it might contain, Councilman C. E. Kimlin said:

"I know absolutely that none of the present city officials are implicated in such an affair. It is unjust for the Los Angeles paper to make such palpably false statements. If people will only stop and think over the council's attitude regarding crookedness and the steps they are taking to eradicate wrongdoing from the administration, they will know that the charge of promised protection to any member or members of an alleged 'booze ring' or any other lawbreaker in Glendale, is a lie. Those who know the members of the council, know they will not pontificate any crooked work on the part of any city official or employee."

BURNS' RELTIVES SCORE SWANSON

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—Relatives of Mathew P. Burns, owner of a chain of shoe stores, who died August 17, leaving an estate valued in excess of $100,000, filed a contest of the decedent's will yesterday.

The complaint specifies that the widow, Adeline L. Burns, agreed to pay Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hayes $100 if they, either of them, would introduce her to Mr. Burns and if such an introduction resulted in a marriage.

Gloria Swanson is accused of having made love to the wealthy shoe dealer and it is charged that when he finally desired to marry her she explained that it could not be arranged as she was already married, and advised him to marry her mother. It is further charged that due to her influence the decedent did marry the mother and left all his possessions to her with the exception of $500 each to his sister, two brothers and a nephew, and $2000 to Esther Buetel, who was his bookkeeper.

COMMENTS EDITORIAL IN LOS ANGELES EXPRESS
Glendale, Calif., Sept. 30, 1921.

Editor Los Angeles Express, Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Sir:—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Glendale, representing 150 women, who are vitally interested in the prohibitory amendment to the Constitution of the United States and also in its enforcement, wish to commend you heartily for your splendid editorial, "A Little Counsel to the 'Wets,'" which appeared in the Express of September 8. We believe that good laws, rigidly enforced, are a bulwark which assures the perpetuity of our nation.

Cordially yours,
MRS. C. W. BACON,
Corresponding Secretary for W. C. T. U.
900 South Glendale avenue.

The editorial which brought forth the above commendatory letter follows:

A LITTLE COUNSEL TO THE "WETS"
The "wets" are wantonly slow in their obedience to the prohibition amendment to the federal Constitution. Some seem to be sustained by a hope that the amendment will be repealed. Others have persuaded themselves that by some species of judicial legerdemain, some decision of a judge willing to "distinguish and divide a hair twixt south and southwest side," the amendment will be devitalized.

The prohibition amendment will not be repealed. It is as fixed as the center of the earth's gravity. It will not be devitalized. The manufacture or sale of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes will remain a violation of the Constitution of the United States as long as this nation endures.

As generation succeeds generation, and the taint of alcohol gradually eliminated from the blood of the race, the demand for repeal or modification will grow weaker and ever weaker and the sentiment in support of prohibition will grow stronger and stronger. Alcohol has had and abused its day. The day never will return. That home-wrecking day never can return. As booze has been banished from America, so will it ultimately be driven off the whole earth. It must go, as slavery has gone.

The "wets" may as well adjust themselves to the situation voluntarily as compulsorily. Every man who makes liquor, every man who sells it, and every man who buys it, for beverage purposes, violates the Constitution and the laws of the United States. There are no degrees of guilt in offending against the Constitution. One part is just as sacred as any other. A man cannot say: "I will obey this clause of the Constitution and that clause, but this other clause does not meet with my approval, and I will violate it as and when I choose." If that sort of philosophy is allowed to function there is an end of government. When it manifests itself, as it now does, the remedy is to be found in the enforcement, not in the repeal of the law. The tail must not be allowed to wag the dog.

The government has been very indulgent in dealing with the situation. It has employed its powers of action with restraint. The consideration it has shown has been abused. The leniency often exhibited in administration has been construed as a relenting weakness or a confession of official incapacity or disinclination or as an implied license. Kindness and moderation having proved ineffective, nothing remains but to enforce the law with vigor and apply such penalties as will prove a deterrent punishment to offenders and a warning to all who would offend.

In pursuing such a policy the government will be supported, as a matter of patriotism, by every citizen who loves the Constitution. It will be supported by every social, political and business agency that realizes that the maintenance of the law is the supreme social necessity. If the prohibition law is to be violated with impunity, the reflex action will be to create conditions under which all laws will lose their power. It is but a step from manufacturing illicit whisky to counterfeiting currency and forging checks; from selling moonshine to tapping a till, and from buying it to buying stolen goods. Break down respect for one law and you undermine the sanctity of all.

The prohibition law, therefore, must be enforced. The prohibition law will be enforced. Men who have been violating it would better mend their ways. The agencies that have been seeking loopholes in the law, hunting technicalities whereby its force may be thwarted or lessened, would better cease their irritating endeavors. The home distillers and the lawbreakers who make a business of illicit distillation must put an end to their activities. The men whose slavery to booze prompts them to buy the wretched stuff the moonshiners make must curb their appetites, for the day of official indulgence nears its end.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Charles Evans Hughes, counsel for the United States and Prosecutor-in-chief in the case of the Principal Allied and Associated Powers et al. vs. War, Armaments & Company, Unlimited.

In some such fashion one might describe the position Secretary of State Hughes is to hold in the forthcoming "Conference of the Limitation of Armaments, in Connection with Which Pacific and Far Eastern Questions Also Will Be Discussed," which President Harding has called to convene in Washington on Armistice Day, November 11.

During his long public career Hughes has earned the right to a score of imposing titles and degrees, but it is as "Counsel for the United States" that he likes best to describe his present status. And though he has tackled some tremendously important "cases" during that career, there can be no doubt that the forthcoming conference is by far the biggest job he ever undertook.

Upon the result of that conference may depend the future peace of the world, to say nothing of the possibility of saving to mankind hundreds of billions of dollars which now go to the maintenance of enormous competitive armaments. As chairman of the American delegation and potential president of the conference, Hughes will doubtless play a stellar role and certainly will be called upon to match wits with the foremost intellects of the leading nations of the world.

RIDDLE OF SPHINX DR. RILEY'S SUBJECT

Dr. F. L. Riley took for his subject Sunday morning "The Riddle of the Sphinx." Contrary to the expectation of the many of his audience, he treated the subject from a Biblical standpoint.

Quoting many passages of Scripture bearing upon the subject, which are invariably taught and accepted literally, and understood just about as so much Greek would be understood, he made it very plain that in order to correctly understand the meaning of writings of thousands of years ago, one must have the "key," as in the case of the deciphering of a telegraphic message in the form of a "code," without an understanding of the "code," one could not understand the intent of the message.

The "code" or "key" to our Bible, is its allegorical interpretation, which is neither taught nor understood by the orthodox teachers of our Bible; this makes much of the teaching of the most wonderful book in the world enigmatical.

The Alexandrian library, containing over 800,000 volumes, or "rolls," which owing to religious persecution by the Mohammedans, were consigned to the flames, keeping the water hot in the public baths for six months, contained all the allegorical interpretation necessary to a correct knowledge of the wonderful truths contained in our Bible.

The Mohammedan bible is about 1200 years old, our Bible over 2000 years old; one old bible of the East is comprised of 30 volumes. There are scores of Bibles representing various beliefs through all of which "runs the golden thread of truth." As a student for more than 20 years of the world's religions, Dr. Riley has read over 60 of these bibles.

The sphinx of Egypt faces the east; "east" being symbolical of light and life; "west" of darkness and death, as in the "rising" and "setting" of the sun.

The "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" compare favorably to the sphinx; as shown in Scripture, the upper portion of the body portrays the better nature, the spiritual; the lower, the sensual, brutal, beastly; a dual being.

He asserted that "innocence" is many cases is simply inexcusable ignorance.

BUILDS HOUSE IN ONLY FIVE DAYS
J. E. Peters, 209 North Orange street, builder and contractor, has the record as far as can be learned in Glendale for erecting a four-room bungalow complete in five days.

On September 24 Mr. Peters was approached by a Burbank man and asked if he would build a house by October 1. Peters said that he thought such a job was possible and he would undertake to do it. To make a long story short, Peters was given the contract to build the house and started work on it a week ago Monday. On Friday the house was complete except for plastering, and the family moved in.

HART REALTY NOW IN NEW QUARTERS

The Hart Realty Company, which has been located at 120 North Brand boulevard, is now located in its new quarters at 113 East Broadway. This company took possession of its new offices Monday, and although things are not entirely straightened out, it is opened for business.

This company will conduct a general real estate business, as it has done in the past, and in addition will install a complete fire insurance department. The room in which this firm is now stationed is being newly decorated. The entire woodwork will be done entirely in a light color. Up to the 7-foot moulding the walls will be papered, while the walls above and the ceiling are tinted. At the right side the room is divided into several offices. At least three of these will be occupied by the Hart Realty Company and one will be taken up by the insurance department. There will be a ladies' rest room, a reception room, etc. Mr. Hart of this company says that when the proposed improvement work is completed this will be one of the most attractive real estate offices in Glendale.

The formal opening will be announced later, this depending entirely upon the length of time it takes to complete the improvements. Charles Cawson is associated with Mr. Hart in this company.

MRS. SALTUS WILL FIND WELCOME HERE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—All the conveniences for wives, children, cats, dogs and other household pets are in the construction of an apartment house to be erected by Mrs. Edgar Saltus, wife of the late well-known novelist, Edgar Saltus, at Giles Place here.

The accommodations for the cats and dogs will include drinking fountains and ample spaces for basking in the sunlight. The plans, as drawn up and filed with the city building department, do not specify whether special areas and fountains will be designated for canines and felines, respectively, to avert strife.

Ample spaces within the patio also are set off as open air playgrounds for the children of the neighborhood. Conveniences for the wives who occupy the apartments will include a pergola on the roof.

TUESDAY CLUB BUYS LOTS FOR HOME

It stated that he was authorized to offer the club the northeast corner of Lexington and Central, 90 feet frontage by 200 feet in depth for $8000, also to offer the next two lots, 100x200 feet, for $6500, making a total of $14,500; that on the above basis he was to receive a commission of $400 which he would donate to the club as his contribution to its building fund. This offer on the part of Mr. Guthrie was warmly applauded. If accepted, it would reduce the cost to $14,100 for the three lots.

Mrs. Hutchinson stated the lowest offer the club had received for the Brand boulevard frontage was $18,000 and it had been assumed that the lots will be worth $25,000 soon. Unless the club could be certain of another site, it could not sell. It was therefore necessary, Mrs. Hutchinson explained, if the organization desired to capitalize the increased value of its holdings, to vote authorizing the club officials to purchase the Central avenue property on which the option would expire Tuesday night.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell stated an adjoining lot could be had for $2,000 and in her opinion the club should buy the four to secure control and insure the organization against a garage or other undesirable structure which might be placed there. This would bring the investment to $17,100 for land 240x200 feet, whereas the Brand frontage is but 150x132.

Authorize Purchase

Mrs. Ella Richardson moved that the club authorize its officials to secure the four lots mentioned at Central and Lexington. Mrs. W. E. Evans moved to amend by changing the words "four lots" to "three lots."

After discussion the motion to amend was lost and the original motion authorizing the purchase of four lots, carried. In the meantime Mrs. Hutchinson had assured the audience that the plans for the building of a club house would go forward.

Vocal Number

Miss Stevenson Laura Spang, the vocalist of the afternoon, was then introduced and carried the audience by storm with her fine interpretation of five numbers which afforded vivid contrasts and showed her powers to advantage, viz: "A charming lullaby," "Hail to Spring," "The Birthday," "The Tramp," and "My Laddie." Mrs. L. N. Hagood accompanied.

Richardson D. White was granted five minutes in which to make an appeal to club members for the support of the proposed school issue of $260,000 to be voted upon next week. He explained its purpose to relieve school congestion and discovered the audience was sympathetic by the applause which followed his statement: "I know I have this entire audience with me on the proposition that Glendale deserves and must have first class schools."

The curators of the various club sections were then introduced in turn and outlined their programs. Mrs. Harry Greenwalt of the Parliamentary Law section, Mrs. R. E. Chase of the Drama section, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of the Shakespeare section, Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth of the Literary section, Mrs. Anna Williams of the Legislative section, Mrs. R. W. Meek-

DR. CLYDE CRIST IS DETAINED BY COLD

Dr. Clyde M. Crist, pastor of the First Methodist Church, is the victim of a severe cold which kept him from attending the reception tendered Bishop Leonard last night as a preliminary to the opening of the Southern California conference of Methodist churches.

He expected to attend the morning session of the conference, however, as he was to give the memorial for Rev. L. D. Van Arnam, a close friend who passed away during the year while pastor of the First Methodist Church of Ontario.

STATE WILL CLOSE SPENCER'S CASE

LAKE PORT, Calif., Oct. 5.—The prosecution will complete its case today against the Rev. John Spencer, former Presbyterian minister of Fulton, Calif., on trial here for the alleged murder of Maudie Spencer, his wife. Witnesses yesterday described how Spencer went to the home of Robert Siedell, a friend, the night Mrs. Spencer was drowned, and told them that his wife had fallen from their canoe and lost her life. He had told them, witnesses said, that he had dived four times in an effort to recover the body, but failed. Later the body was found floating on the surface of the lake.

or of Arts and Crafts. Mrs. C. L. Marlenee, curator of the Music section, was absent because of illness in her family and a communication from her was read by Miss Eva Daniels.

President's Address

A fine address was made by the president in which she expressed satisfaction in the opportunities for service to the word that are now accorded women, mentioning some of the movements they should help to forward, such as disarmament.

"The voice of woman," she declared, "should be heard loudly crying out for peace. The world must have peace and club women may be powerful factors in its accomplishment." The correction of illiteracy in our own land where thousands cannot read and write in spite of the fact that the nation spent $1,000,000,000 for education in 1920 and also spent $3,000,000,000 for joy rides, was another responsibility referred to. Work for the Americanization of foreign women was mentioned. Also she said: "Let us not be afraid to investigate and undertake new things, to weigh them and prove their value. Let us not be pessimistic of the future. The stream that does not flow swiftly soon stagnates. So with organized bodies. They must be actively engaged in useful service or they become hotbeds of envy and jealousy."

Mrs. Mabel Ocker was introduced as the second vice-president and tireless worker who had sacrificed her summer holidays to insure the getting out of the beautiful year-book which members would receive with their cards of membership as they left the hall.

Mrs. A. M. Williams announced a bazaar to be given by the club December 7 in which the different club sections would have charge of booths. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, chairman of hospitality, assisted by Mrs. A. D. McCoy, Mrs. T. W. Preston, Mrs. Lillian Dow, Mrs. Frank Archer, Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. Pierson Hanning, and Miss Lily Fielding.

COUNCILMEN DENY 'BOOZE RING' STORY

"I greatly regret any publicity which reflects anything but credit on Glendale. Still, if such a condition exists as intimated in a recent morning paper, I have never before heard of it. I shall be among the first to insist upon a thorough investigation with fear or favor shown to no one. We pride ourselves upon a city of homes, and we certainly wish to keep the home environment clean."

Councilman Dwight Stephenson said:

"I know nothing of the matter. I was told the story and as far as I know it is a fabrication. Nothing of the sort has come to my attention. If I knew of such a state of affairs existing in Glendale I would be the first to start eradicating the evil. As far as I am concerned there is no protection in Glendale for any alleged 'booze ring' or any lawbreaker and if the promise of protection to an alleged maker of illicit liquor was made, it was made by someone who is not in a position to make such a promise."

William H. Reeves, city manager, said:

"I know nothing about the matter as I am told it occurred before my time as city manager. I am positive, however, that no promise of protection to an alleged bootlegger or any other lawbreaker has been made by any member of the present city administration as they are all men who have the best interests of the city at heart and would not allow any attempt to evade or break a law of the city, state or government."

Mayor Spencer Robinson said: "Of course the story is untrue in every respect. There is no city official who has promised protection to any 'booze ring' if such a ring exists, or any other form of lawlessness in Glendale. Any employee or official of the city who would make such a promise would not be tolerated by the city administration."

Councilman Samuel A. Davis said: "The story is not true and doesn't amount to anything. I think it is a good deal like the charges made by a Los Angeles paper that several delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention here last spring had been seen on the streets of Glendale under the influence of intoxicating liquor purchased from the alleged 'booze ring' now under investigation. There is no city official protecting a 'booze ring' in Glendale, if such a ring is in existence here."

HIGHTOWER TRIAL UP TO TESTIMONY

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Oct. 5.—Evidence started today in the trial of Wm. A. Hightower, poet, dreamer and itinerant baker, for the alleged murder of the Rev. Father Patrick Heslin of Colma, Calif. His jury is composed of eight men and four women.

District Attorney Swart declared he would show that Hightower, after kidnapping the aged priest, wrote a letter to Archbishop E. J. Hanna of the San Francisco Catholic diocese demanding $5,500 ransom.

"I've been experimenting with an infernal machine and with poison gas," Swart quoted Hightower as saying. And the ransom letter mentioned an infernal machine and poison gas, the district attorney added.

YANKS WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES

Douglas by stealing home in front of his eyes.

Bob Meusel took a hand in the festivities in the third inning when the American leaguers again shoved over a run. Peckinpaugh opened the inning with a single and scored when Meusel slammed to center field for three bases. He failed to touch first, however, and was out, but the run counted.

In marked contrast to the attitude of the Yanks, the Giants played a listless game, seeming to lose spirit and hope early when they couldn't handle Mays.

In the fourth inning the lack or much lost the Giants a good chance to score. Frisch singled and third. The great Kelly, champion slugger of the National league, stepped to the bat and fanned. "Irish" Meusel, his star running mate, killed the chance by grounding out weakly to Peckinpaugh.

Frisch gave his mates another chance in the sixth inning when the artillery failed. With two down, the young Giant star tripled to left but was stranded there when Mays pulled the blinds over Young's eye and got him on an easy chance to Peckinpaugh.

Phil Douglas pitched a good game but he couldn't hold the Huggins' in the tight places. He was finally taken out in the eighth inning in favor of a pinch hitter and Jess Barnes took his place.

Babe Ruth failed to do his copy-righted act but his punish was a big help to the Yanks. His single in the first inning really won the game for the Yankees.

Mike McNally played the spectacular game that put the great Frank Baker on the bench. He got a single, a double, stole two bases. Thousands of open seats yawned in the upper stands and the bleachers were not packed.

NEW THEATRE TO BE MOST MODERN

for passengers and one for freight. On the center of the second floor there will be a sunken garden, which will be one of the most elaborate features of its kind in Southern California. Throughout the building will be steam-heated and will be equipped with every modern convenience.

During the construction of the hotel building and before the starting of the opera house building, the Ambrosini Construction Co., which is putting up both these structures, will also build several apartment house and store buildings at the corner of Glendale and Wilson avenues, where the company owns five lots.

On each of the five lots an independent building will be erected. Each building will be three stories in height and will be of steel and concrete construction. On the second and third floors of the buildings two and three room apartments will be arranged. The first floors of each of these units will be occupied either by a store or apartment, this to be determined later. Each of these units will cost something like $125,000 to construct, so that the entire investment will total about $125,000, exclusive of the price of the lots. While these units will be constructed separately they will be so erected as to have the appearance of one large building.

Mr. Ambrosini announced this morning that so far as possible the material for the buildings will be purchased in Glendale and labor from this city will be hired to do the work. The idea is to make all of these buildings "home institutions" from the ground up.

NOT ALWAYS VISIBLE

"Come, come, don't be too hard on Wilkins. He has his faults, but there is one good thing about him."

"Indeed! What is it?"

"Why—er—I can't say; but there is about everybody, you know."

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

BOND ISSUE GIVEN CHAMBER SUPPORT

appointed to meet with the Citizens' Building company to arrange for the rents to be charged the chamber of commerce in the new building now being constructed on Brand boulevard. This meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

A communication, drafted by Secretary Rhoades, and addressed to Congressman Lineberger, insisting that Glendale be given an independent postoffice, was read and on motion approved and ordered mailed. It was also decided that each member of the board of directors write individually to Congressman Lineberger, demanding that he do everything in his power in the matter. It was the consensus of opinion at the meeting that if Mr. Lineberger did not do something along this line it would be wise to take the proposition to higher authorities. It is planned that this city shall have a postoffice, and until it is secured there shall be no let up.

Referring to a certain sign on the highway just north of Glendale, the chamber sent a letter to the Automobile Club of Southern California asking how long that sign is going to be permitted to remain. The Club responded that it would be left in place until the traffic officers of Glendale discontinued arresting motorists who come through Glendale. Secretary Rhoades was instructed to write the Auto Club to the effect that just so long as motorists continue to speed and in other ways break the law in Glendale they will be arrested.

A lengthy discussion on this subject followed, some thinking that the local authorities are too strict in the matter of the traffic rules, others saying that if the law is broken the offender should be made to pay. It was decided to have the chief of police appear before the board at the next meeting and to instruct the members regarding the traffic laws as enforced in Glendale.

The trouble with one type of reformer is that he tries to be his brother's keeper when he isn't able to keep himself.

Truths in Epigram

"The best physicians are Dr. Diet, Dr. Quiet and Dr. Merryman." — Sydney Smith (1771-1845).

The best part of every man's education is that which he gives to himself. — Sir Walter Scott (1771-1832).

Selfishness is that detestable vice which no one will forgive in others, and no one is without in himself. — Rev. Henry Ward Beecher (1813-87).

FALSE ECONOMY

The speech of Representative Lineberger August 4 explained why he voted against the Sweet bill. This measure was for the benefit of disabled soldiers. Major Lineberger made his position plain, and vindicated his course.

As the measure had passed the senate it had allowed totally disabled ex-soldiers a maximum of $50 for nurse hire per month. In conference this maximum was reduced to $20, and then the bill including the amendment, which there was no opportunity to debate, was rushed to vote. Major Lineberger and Hamilton Fish of New York, both ex-service men, and both theretofore supporters of the bill, voted against the measure as a protest against this injustice. Lineberger in his speech termed it "false economy."

The totally disabled soldier is entitled to complete care. This is not only in accord with the promises made him, but with the desire of the public. When these boys were sent overseas with pledges ringing in their ears, the pledges had been made in all sincerity. They expressed the popular desire then and they express it yet.

Congress has overlooked the essential point that the soldiers now receiving money, or some form of benefit, not only paid for this in advance, but by keeping up insurance, paid for a large part of it in actual cash.

The talk on the part of congress that this government has been generous to ex-soldiers does not set well. The government has not been generous. It has been slow even in its proffers of comparatively meager aid.

There is no disguising the likelihood that the millions of ex-soldiers, observing that the railroads get millions for the asking, resent the claim of economy advanced as an excuse for allotting $20 a month for nurse hire, when that sum would not procure the services of a competent nurse for a week.

JEOPARDIZING A TREATY

The senate soon is to consider a measure for exemption of American coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls. In the view of the private interests engaged in such shipping, the proposition doubtless is wise and timely. Comparatively few have the privilege of looking at the matter from the peculiar coign of vantage occupied by the shipper. The public, which ultimately pays the freight in every instance, has not even a slight assurance that the benefits sought to be conferred by the proposed exemption would extend beyond the maritime coterie.

If the government were to construct a railroad line from coast to coast, and permit its free use by American shippers, there can be no doubt that other shippers would be embarrassed in competing. As yet the impulse to build and to donate such a line to private enterprise has not been felt. The government built the canal at stupendous cost to which millions who are not shippers contributed a quota.

Quite aside from the commercial aspect of the question, is the fact that exemption as outlined, would be in violation of a treaty with a friendly nation. The practice of regarding a treaty as a scrap of paper is very un-American indeed. If necessity arises for abrogation of a treaty there are seemly and decent methods. Deliberate breaking of the treaty by legislation is not among these methods.

DISARMAMENT

Much will be said in the next few weeks concerning disarmament. It is the most important subject that the world has under consideration. By far the larger part of the comment will be in favor of disarmament. Here and there will be observed the covert attack; the insidious poison gas of diplomacy or greed.

To say that disarmament is the most important topic is not alone because international peace may be assured by support of the principle. If the nations decline to take a step in the direction of peace they will be taking a step towards war. They will be laying plans for destruction of lives, property, and of that whole edifice which has been built by centuries of endeavor, and is called civilization.

There is no mistaking the voice of the people this time. Not the people of the United States alone, but of every government of the first rank. The voice demands disarmament. It proclaims that the day of that sort of diplomacy which fixes a burden upon production so as to carry on war that nobody wants, and that the actual participants fear and dread, must be brought to a close.

Were the conference to fail utterly, the natural consequence would be to incite a maniacal race for pre-eminence in armed strength. Governments might resort to the sword. Citizens, enraged at the ignoring of their wishes, might produce revolution.

The citizen, generally speaking, is no more in favor of war than of arson and burglary. He has no dream of conquest. He does not understand why other nations should scheme to assail his own.

The spectacle of a nation full panopied for war, really is as absurd as that of an honest business man going about with a gun in each hand, a bowie in his teeth, and his pocket bulging with grenades. It is high time that the nations of the earth cease to be ridiculous.

HEADING OFF OLD AGE

A man of fifty-eight writes to tell about how he intends to ward off old age by annexing glands from a monkey. He is a writer by profession. Possibly he will not succeed in warding off old age, but he understands the value of space rates. One wonders what the monkey gets out of it.

The man who at fifty-eight feels that senility is stealing his activity and numbing his perceptions, possibly would be wiser to correct his methods of living than to rely on the rejuvenating essence derived from the tissues of even the most worthy monkey. If he thinks he traces his lineage to the simian family, he must be regarded as trying to retrace the long path.

That the man may not benefit from the operation is not to be said with authority. Men, worked upon through their imaginations, benefit by all sorts of operations that could not by any virtue of their own, be of effect.

One patient, deeming himself the victim of indigestion, rallies back to normal if deceived into taking a bread pill, thinking it to contain a potent cure. The fresh air crank awakes in the night feeling suffocated, smashes the window of the bookcase, and sinks back to rest content and refreshed.

A Paris doctor announces belief in his ability to graft the canine eye to the human optic nerve, restoring the sight. Nobody is able to say that this cannot be done. In such case a single organ would replace another of similar function and mechanism. Strange but understandable; not a miracle.

The claim of the Paris doctor is not of the type of that of the doctor who proclaims that by the introduction of a monkey gland into the human anatomy, youth will return, energy revive, the mind once more be a scintillating fountain of beauteous thought.

No man of ordinary constitution and reasonable habit needs to be old at fifty-eight. But if he survives a sufficient length of time, he will be old, and all the monkeys on earth cannot help him. The passage of years is an actuality, and that each as it goes, leaves some measure of burden, is a fact. There is no utility in making a fuss about it, nor in trying to dodge the inevitable.

SNAKES

By Dr. Frank Crane.

According to an old legend, God put in the Garden of Eden two trees, the one the Tree of Life, the other the Tree of Death. He then sent the serpent to tell Adam and Eve to eat only of the Tree of Life. But the serpent told them to eat of the other tree and thus got the fruit of Life for himself. He immediately gobbled up the Life apple, with the result that he is immortal and human creatures must die.

This legend probably originated in the fact that the snake sheds his skin. Many savage tribes believe that when this moulting takes place, the snake becomes as strong and as young as the year before. At any rate, the superstition is widespread that snakes live forever and from most ancient times the image of the snake has been used as the symbol of life. Curiously enough, we find this symbol upon the uniform of the United States army medical officer.

The Bible story says that after the downfall of Adam and Eve and their expulsion from Eden eternal enmity was declared between all children of Eve and snakes; men were forever to crush the serpent's head and the serpents were forever to bite man's heel. This may be the form in which tradition pictured the natural loathing which most people have for reptiles.

At any rate the snake stands for treachery, for immortality and for wisdom or shrewdness. The snake legend takes these three forms.

Even a snake's eggs have been supposed to have healing power, in that strange pharmacopoeia of the past where they used bats' wings and toads' livers.

In some parts of the United States, and probably elsewhere, a snake's skin nailed to the roof of the house is supposed to be a protection against lightning. Here again the snake represents a good power and protection against the destructive forces of nature.

There are some Christian sculptures wherein the snake is used to symbolize Jesus because life and protection against evil, which are brought to us by the Saviour, were also attributed in pagan legends to the snake.

The natural antipathy, however, of human beings toward reptiles has not given the snake much chance to pose as a model of goodness. He is rather a symbolization of that shrewdness by which one can protect himself.

Thus the snake has been used as a symbol for argument, clever and bewildering argument, difficult to combat. This was an appropriate figure in the middle ages, when the wisest kind of man was supposed to be one who could prove just how many angels could stand on the point of a needle. Naturally no one but a real serpent could discuss matters so fine.

The snake was also used as a symbol of prudence, for prudence, and shrewd arguing went together.

And as a part of prudence is liberation from passion and the dangers into which passion leads us, and as snakes are especially cold-blooded, their use as representatives of prudence was appropriate.

In art we sometimes see snakes used in connection with vampire women. But this was not true of the most ancient art, for their serpent was the symbol of the prudent man or woman, who was not to be taken in by any passion or led astray by any whim.

THE LISTENING POST

A man had a job.
A splendid thing to have.
Because it enables you to do something for the world and yourself.
And keeps you out of a lot of mischief.
And prevents a lot of unhappiness.

The unhappiest people in the world are the idlers.
Those who do nothing.
But wish they had something to do.
They want to kill time.
It hangs heavily on their hands.
The hardest thing in the world is successfully to do nothing.

So the first thing you want to get when you go out into the world is a job.
Not a situation or position or anything like that.

A job.
We spell it with capitals.
JOB.

For ourselves, perhaps.
We have a Listening Post to write.
A poem to make.
An article to prepare.

And it is just as definite and distinct a job as that of the blacksmith.
Who has a horse to shoe.
Or of the baker.
Who has a batch of bread to make into loaves and bake.
Or of a tinker.
Who has something to make or mend.

And if it is a good piece of work, it is as hard a job as that of the blacksmith.
Maybe harder.

For it uses up just as much energy.
For you can get just as tired and hungry writing an article or a poem or something like that as you can plowing a furrow.

The mental process exhausts energy just as does the physical process.
Transforms food into fuel and then burns it up.
That is what a job does.
It transforms food into fuel and burns it up, and by the heat of the fire we make something.

Weld a lot of ideas together.
Fashion some rhymed lines.
Put a punch into words and smear them with printer's ink.

But to get back to the man with the job:
He did not appreciate what a good thing a job is and how well it ought to be safeguarded.

So he watched the clock.
The Boss had told him to quit at five.

And when it was five minutes to five he stopped work.
The Boss was not about anywhere.
And he knocked off work.
"It is near enough!" he said.
He was one of the men who believe near enough is good enough if you can get away with it.

So he quit at five minutes to five.
After all, what are five minutes of time?
The Boss would not suffer.
And surely enough, he did not.
But the man did.
Because he kept on quitting at five minutes before five.

And then at ten minutes.
And then at fifteen.
And so it went.

And one day the Boss came in.
And was good natured and friendly.
And told him a story.
Of a man who started to measure and lay out a line forming the boundary of a farm.
And he got a quarter of an inch off at the start of the line.
And ran the line as it was started.
And when he got to the end of the mile boundary he was a good many feet off.
And ran into another man's barn and raised hob generally.

And just for curiosity, as we say, another man followed the line as it was begun.
Starting with the quarter inch departure from exact east and west.
And carried it clear through to the sun.
And when he got there he was several hundred thousand miles off in his reckoning.
Although he had started only a quarter of an inch off.

And the man said:
"I don't see the point of the story."
And the Boss said:
"You will in a minute."

And then he said:
"Today I am choosing a sub-boss and I might have had you in mind. But you started several weeks ago five minutes off in your reckoning. And now you are as far from that sub-boss' place as the fellow was off when he got his line run to the sun. And beside that, you're fired."

And the man finally got the point of the story.

SONGS OF THE POETS

All Is Vanity.—By Philip Rosseier (1575-1623).

Whether men do laugh or weep,
Whether they do wake or sleep,
Whether they die young or old,
Whether they feel heat or cold;
There is underneath the sun
Nothing in true earnest done.

All our pride is but a jest,
None are worst and none are best,
Grief and joy and hope and fear

Play their pageants everywhere:
Vain Opinion all doth sway,
And the world is but a play.

Powers above in clouds do sit,
Mocking our poor apish wit,
That so lamely with such state
Their high glory imitate.
No ill can be felt but pain,
And that happy men disdain.

HAPPY NEW YORK KIDS!

[Hartford Times]

These must be great days for New York city children who prefer vacation to school-time. The latest reports show that about 95,000 youngsters will have to go on short time. And this in spite of the fact that nine new schools have been added, and two of those already existing have been enlarged. But this is not all. It has already been announced that there is a possibility that some of the schools may be closed soon for lack of funds and that bond issues, or other help from the state, will be required almost at once; also that all high school students will have to be instructed on a double session basis. In fact, all sorts of crowding and doubling up seem to have become a necessity. For instance, the Erasmus High School in Brooklyn, which has a capacity for 4100, in Brooklyn reports 600 new pupils assigned to a building already condemned, and in another school there are 4000 students where there is room for only 2634. And these are only a few features of the situation recently reported at the opening of a school session as "a record-breaking attendance under the most gloomy prospects in the history of the board of education."

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

This year Yosemite park's visitors have numbered 90,000. These figures show an increase of 22,000 over last year. A. B. C. Dohrmann, president of the Yosemite National Park company, ascribes the gain to a new paper advertising. For twelve months a systematic campaign of advertising had been carried on, largely through newspapers. Mr. Dohrmann believes in the press as a medium. The results justify his belief. Yosemite is a place of marvels and of beauty. Its scenic splendor cannot be duplicated anywhere else in the known world. If the public were made fully aware of its attractions doubtless the influx would be greater even than shown by this season's record. There is only one way in which to spread knowledge of Yosemite effectively. This is by the printed word. With an army of tourists every summer drawn by advertising, which must be the frank statement of what is to be seen there and how the spot is to be reached, the fame of the valley would be spread abroad by tourists, too, thus making the advertising doubly efficient. The advertisement brings the tourist, the tourist brings others; and so the chain is established. The methods of Mr. Dohrmann are recommended to the whole of California.

The baseball race in the Pacific Coast league has been close and interesting. Only near the end was there certainty as to which of four teams of the eight, teams would win the pennant, and almost to the final game, there was a chance for either Sacramento and San Francisco, with Seattle a possibility. Los Angeles was the winner. This league had a good season of clean sport.

Trial of W. A. Hightower at Redwood City for the murder of Father Heslin is bound to attract unusual interest. This worthy priest had been lured from home by the pretense that a sick man needed his services. The next news relating to him was a demand for ransom. The third episode was the discovery of his body in a shallow grave. Hightower denies guilt, and preserves an unshaken nerve. The evidence against him so far is circumstantial.

Here is another case that ought to be a warning to young women: A divorced woman, of much personal attractiveness had been out having a good time. Perhaps it was at some function in itself wholly proper. She accepted the offer of a young man, virtually unknown to her, to take her home in his automobile. Hours later she was found in the street, terribly bruised and apparently in a dying condition. Since then she has rallied and seems likely to recover. A suspect was arrested, and has been identified by the girl. She says that after he had assaulted her, he threw her from the machine. If these are the facts, a matter easy of determination, the fellow should be sent to join the members of the San Francisco gang at San Quentin where they are serving sentences varying from fifty years to a century. Probably this would have small effect upon the discretion of the average comely woman willing to accept a midnight ride with a stranger.

Japan has indicated a willingness to get along with a navy of two to America's three and England's four. This does not mean much as to disarmament. The problem of the nations is to reach a basis of agreement at which the huge navy shall become superfluous, and no nation in itself have excuse for maintaining one larger than essential for police duty.

Indications are for a huge strike in defiance of the wage scale as fixed by Judge Landis in Chicago. Such a strike would set industry back, widen the field of unemployment, and accentuate the distrust that exists between the employing class and the employed. In other words, it would be extremely unfortunate in every respect.

Old Coloradans will notice thoughtfully the death of Edward Chase of Denver. He had reached the age of 85. In the eighties Chase ran the Palace theater, a most notorious resort. It was part gambling, den and part saloon, the liquor being of the worst and all the games crooked. As to the theatrical side of the entertainment it was unprecedentedly vile, much sought out by slummers looking for a thrill. Nevertheless Chase was a kindly, amiable man when he could be regarded apart from his business. He had long ago went dry, and lost other social characteristics that rendered possible such a place as a Palace theater, but the old man had enough to live on, and he continued to live a long time.

These walls are the background against which you must decorate—it is the walls which are more noticeable than almost any other detail of the room, not, indeed, with the boldness with which a chair or table thrusts itself upon one's vision, but with a quiet consistency that, should they be of a trying color, might lead to irritate those whose time is spent within their embrace.

TROPICO DISTRICT RELATED OVER PLANS

A wave of satisfaction and appreciation swept over the residents of South Glendale at the discussion at the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce to the effect that something ought to be done immediately to make the Cerritos avenue grammar school less of a fire trap.

On account of a discussion that was held at a meeting in South Glendale last week the residents of that section realize that so far as the coming bond issue for $260,000 for school purposes is concerned nothing very costly can be done to the Cerritos avenue school, but it is generally believed that the matter of improving this school or replacing it with a fireproof structure will be considered as early as possible after the coming election.

South Glendale

Miss Winifred Williams of Los Angeles was entertained at dinner last night by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Marple of 215 West Palmer avenue.

Mrs. Cramer of Bakersfield, formerly of Glendale, has been visiting Mrs. Rose of East Garfield street.

Miss Jewel Garner of West Cypress street is enjoying a visit of two weeks with friends at Long Beach. She is expected to return to her home at this place Friday afternoon.

Misses Lois and Margaret Austin, Charges Reed and Frank Thomas, of Hollywood, enjoyed a visit during the early part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marple at 202 West Palmer avenue.

Rev. V. Hunter Brink, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church, is attending the Southern California conference of the Methodist denomination which is now being held in Los Angeles. So successful has Rev. Brink's pastorate at the local church been that he is expected to remain in Glendale another year.

A meeting of the cabinet officers of the Glendale district, Christian Endeavor, was held last night at the home of Miss Carol Duncan, on South San Fernando road. Harry Marple, one of the officials, gave an address on the Four Square contest and the Tenth Legion movement.

The regular monthly gathering of the Epworth League of the Central Avenue Methodist church will be held in the social hall of the church next Tuesday evening. The early part of the evening will be taken up by a business session, after which a watermelon feed will be enjoyed.

Residents living near the intersection of San Fernando road and Central avenue are rejoicing over the report that in the near future a traffic officer will be stationed at that point. In the past there have been several near-accidents at this intersection.

The regular meeting of the South Glendale Improvement Club will be held tonight in the hall over the public library, corner Brand boulevard and Los Feliz road. The principal topic of discussion will be the Cerritos avenue school problem, while several other matters of interest to the southern end of the city will be taken up.

The residents of the southern part of Glendale are rejoicing over the fact that the Glendale officials have installed a mammoth, high-powered electric light over the center of the intersection of San Fernando and Los Feliz roads. For months a light has been needed at this point on account of the heavy automobile traffic to which this intersection is subjected at night as well as by day. In fact, this is one of the busiest corners in Glendale.

T. M. Edwards of 1415 South San Fernando road is about to strike it rich. He has eight lots which he pur-

BUSINESS IS GOOD IN TROPICO DISTRICT

"Business could hardly be better," says the Russel Furniture company of 1529 South San Fernando road. "Ever since starting up here we have done a good business and the patronage we have been receiving is increasing daily. It took the people of Glendale some time to realize that they have in their midst a sure-enough furniture factory from which they can purchase their furniture and thereby eliminate the several profits of the 'middle men.'"

This company is specializing in the manufacture of bedroom furniture, although all kinds of furniture is handled. They carry furniture of all finishes, including the ivory, French gray, mahogany, walnut, and Loma gray, which is something entirely new in this section of the country. They also have a combination of mahogany and ivory that is extremely attractive, the combining of these being original with this company.

WOMAN NAMES AUTO IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The woman who recently named golf as a correspondent may find a kindred soul in Mrs. M. E. Kloofain of Brooklyn, who has brought suit for separation, naming the family motor car. According to his wife, Kloofain spent much of his time tinkering with the car so that he might as well have been married to it. The supreme court today granted Mrs. Kloofain $15 alimony pending trial.

chased in the Huntington Beach oil district about a year ago for $200 each. When oil was struck by the Standard on Bolsa Chica dome, which is close to Mr. Edwards' lots, his property went up to $500 a lot. Since that time the price of these lots has gone sky high and they are going higher, which all looks mighty good to Edwards, who hails from Texas.

Word has been received by friends of Miss Dora Hewitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hewitt of Gardena avenue, of her marriage recently in Chester, Pa., to Bennett Hoopes of that city. The affair taking place on September 18. Mrs. Hoopes is well-known in church circles in South Glendale. For years she was an officer of the Epworth League of the Central Avenue Methodist church. She recently completed a three years' course in nursing at the Methodist hospital in Los Angeles. It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Hoopes will reside permanently in Chester, Pa.

One of the pleasing features of the week in the southern part of the city was the party given by Mrs. Albert Valet at her home, 1338 South San Fernando road, Monday night. The affair being given in honor of Mrs. W. E. Anderson, whose birthday anniversary occurred on that date. For the affair the home was prettily decorated with seasonal flowers and greenery, and during the evening games were played and refreshments were served. Those who enjoyed the pleasant affair were Mr. and Mrs. George Hopkins of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Valet and Harry Harris of Los Angeles.

CADMAN'S CONCERT HERE FRIDAY TO OPEN SEASON

Other Well-Known Artists to Appear Here Before Glendale
Music Club Soon

As great interest is being manifested in the Cadman concert, to be given by the Glendale Music Club Friday evening at the high school as its first fall program, and as this will be the musical event of the month, information concerning the three artists who are to provide the program is welcome.

Charles Wakefield Cadman, the composer, whom Glendale knows so well that it almost claims him as her own, has been very busy the past year on the score for the super film, "The Rublyat of Omar Khayyam," which is nearing completion. His new orchestral work, "Thunderbird Suite," consisting of five numbers, has just been issued by his London publishers and is scheduled for performance by many large orchestras at home and abroad. "Musical America" pronounces it the best work of its kind since MacDowell's "Indian Suite." His new Oriental Rhapsody is to be performed by the Los Angeles Orchestra this season.

Miss Margarete Messer, who will appear with Mr. Cadman and interpret his songs, is a young Canadian soprano whose brilliant voice has won her a wide following. She recently returned from a concert tour covering nine states in which she attracted the attention of musical critics in New York and other cities. She created quite a sensation when she appeared with the Lyric Club of Los Angeles last spring and out of many excellent singers in the angel city Mr. Cadman selected her to illustrate his programs.

Sol Cohen, the third artist, a concert violinist, is described as having created a furor in Los Angeles. So great is his vogue and so wonderful his interpretations that he has been engaged for the Philharmonic orchestra this season.

Those who know him best say that he was developed spiritually and mentally by his experience overseas with the expeditionary forces and that it is manifest in his playing. During the past season he has appeared before the Friday Morning and other of the leading clubs of Los Angeles.

"THE OLD NEST" AT PALACE GRAND

When "The Old Nest" comes to the T. D. & L. Palace Grand theater today, the people of Glendale will have a chance to see a picture that has been hailed by critics and reviewers as the most satisfying all-American picture that has yet been produced. The theme, that of a mother who sees her six children leave her, one by one, is common to American families. All the poignancy of feeling that these leave-takings arouse in real life have been caught on the screen.

Rupert Hughes is the author. He has sought to present a cross-section of a universal theme as applied to an American family. All the joys and sorrows connected with raising a family have been dramatized. Each of the children grows to manhood or womanhood with his or her own individual interests, then leaves the old nest to follow the call of his or her desires. Only their mother is left to her loneliness and her memories. But, as in every American family, the young remember the old nest and return to it.

Buster Keaton's latest comedy screen, "The Playhouse" (life behind the footlights), will be a special added attraction.

"NO WOMAN KNOWS" IS EDNA FERBER STORY

When "No Woman Knows," the Universal Jewel production at the Glendale theater tonight was being cast, the long list of names in the casting director's office was carefully scanned in order to provide the proper small-town types for the picture. As a result of this, one is introduced into the very midst of home-life with all the interesting and human touches that lend atmosphere to the proper presentation of "Fanny Herself," the Edna Ferber story which has been adapted to the screen as "No Woman Knows."

A man who is henpecked tries to conceal it, but a woman who is roosterpecked tells the world.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

MR. FOLEY TO HIS CRITICS
(In Defense of Songs of Schooldays.)
Oh, Critic, if by trick or knack
The heart to boyhood be led back
What matter if the beaten track
Be traversed never?
And if we'd reach the human heart
May not we play some novel part
Or must, I pray, the selfsame art
Be practiced ever?

This lad of mine—he cannot spell,
A pity 'tis, and yet, ah, well,
'Tis after all the outer shell,
The nut's within it.
And would, I ask, the tale—the meat,
Be more acceptable and sweet
If with smooth mouthings and complete
He'd chance to spin it?

Would the bright stars more brightly shine,
And gratify your sense and mine
As much if the ywre ranged in line
And had their places
At intervals exact, and all
Precisely mathematical
In distribution, like a wall
Of checkered spaces?

Or would the robin's tuneful lay
Be better if 'twere sung the way
The street musicians sometimes play,
Precisely grinding
Their music out in little kinks
Like instrumental sausage links,
A tape of barren notes, me thinks,
Gravely unwinding?

Do the red roses sweeter blow
Upon the bush, or when they grow
Upon wallpaper, set just so,
Like gypsy campfires, not as fair
Cast from the merry grate fire there
As solemn tapers?

Come once, I pray, apart with me
From the main traveled road and see
How seems a short coat after tea,
And by intention
Let's measure up the worth of things,
The thrush in wanton sweetness sings
Its notes—it is the crow that flings
By stern convention!

Purely Personal

Mr. and Mrs. A. Zeitlin, 702 North Jackson street, entertained at dinner Monday Mrs. Nettie Williams and son Sidney, 811 East Colorado boulevard. During the evening piano numbers by the Misses Dorothy and Jeanette Zeitlin were enjoyed.

Mrs. Ed Adams of South Maryland avenue will attend the South Pasadena Woman's Club today. Mrs. Adams is chairman of its committee on Foreign Relations. Mrs. Adams is today entertaining her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. Laubach of Los Angeles, who is a daughter of the late Mrs. George Adams of this city.

Miss Jeanette McLennan of 330 North Jackson street began teaching physical culture last week at the Hollywood School for Girls.

Miss Leota Snyder of 112 West Arden avenue has just returned from a three months' vacation trip throughout the East. Most of her time was spent in visiting friends and relatives in Washington, D. C., New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and many other points of interest. Miss Snyder also spent a month at Lake Wentworth.

Little Alva Dew, who lives at 116 North Isabel street, had the misfortune to fall and break his arm on Sunday.

Mrs. C. H. Jones of 136 Franklin court has been entertaining her brother, Otis Leland, of San Francisco, for a short visit. Mr. Jones was formerly in charge of the X-ray laboratory at the Glendale sanitarium. He and a Mr. Honey now have laboratories in Los Angeles.

CALIFORNIAN'S WAD OBJECT OF SEARCH

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 5.—The body of Edward F. Searles, reclusive millionaire of Methuen, was ordered examined for the purpose of holding an autopsy today. District Attorney S. Howard Donnell made this announcement following anonymous reports that Searles was poisoned. The estate is estimated to be worth from $14,000,000 to $40,000,000. The Searles fortune was largely that of Mark Hopkins, California railroad magnate, whose widow Searles married.

JOLIET GIRL WILL DECIDE ON MATE

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 5.—Miss Katherine Peterson, 20 years old, who a month ago offered to marry a man for $3000 in order to secure an education and buy some clothes, has announced it is now a question of deciding which man to take. Miss Peterson, unable to achieve her desire by working as a clerk, bookkeeper, saleswoman or nurse, said her 100 replies came from switchmen, insurance agents, clerks, business men and day laborers.

NOT IN ONE SENSE

"Your big brother is rather shiftless, isn't he?" said the grocer.
"No, he isn't," replied Johnny. "He does lots of shifting. Everytime he is asked to do something he shifts it onto me."

Town Topics

Collision—Mabel R. Green of Los Angeles, while turning the corner at Jackson street and Broadway, with her machine collided with another car driven by Rhodes Stimson of 1103 Helman avenue, Los Angeles. According to the report of the collision the accident was unavoidable. The damage to both cars was slight.

Held Rehearsal—Members of the orchestra of the Junior Music Club had a rehearsal at the high school Monday night, followed by a rehearsal of the chorus at the home of its director, Mrs. Charles A. Parker. It is practicing numbers which will be given at the first November meeting of the full Junior Club.

Enters Otis—Miss Winifred Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of this city, has entered the Otis Institute and will be busy there four days a week this winter.

Stauffacher Quits—J. W. Stauffacher has resigned as city treasurer on account of ill health. He tendered his resignation to the city council Monday and it was accepted, to take effect at once. Mr. Stauffacher may be employed by the city at some outside work until November 1, when he will leave the employ of the city.

ANGELUS PARK SITE SALE NEARS END

Angelus Park, that beautiful subdivision just beyond the limits of Glendale toward Los Angeles, lying between Glendale boulevard and Tropic avenue, is to be completely sold out. The two remaining blocks of lots are now thrown open for sale and consist of some of the choicest lots available for the immediate construction of bungalows. The improvements, such as curbs, sidewalks, water, gas and electricity are included in the sales price, which appear to be bargains, judging from prices asked for lots in or near Glendale.

Tremendous building activities are under way, over 70 houses having been constructed in the past few months, and a new one is being started daily. They are cosy bungalows, modern and complete, with four to eight rooms, and they present a pretty picture from Glendale boulevard.

Angelus Park is reached by the Glendale car which has a stop directly in front of the tract, known as Richardson station. The running time from this point to Sixth and Broadway in Los Angeles is 20 minutes, and the fare is 7 cents by commutation. Los Angeles rates cover the price of the utilities, with free phone service.

The tract office is located at the corner of Seneca avenue and Glendale boulevard, with Gilbert Fay in charge, who will be pleased to show these high class lots and furnish full information concerning them. The main office of the sales agents, Rigali & Veselich, is at 706 Merchants' National Bank building, where it is possible, also, to secure information relative to Angelus Park.

A single orange tree of average size will bear 20,000 oranges in the course of its life.

HIGH RENTS MAKE PEOPLE OWN HOMES

"There are some people I would rather have in my house with six children, than others I know of who have no little ones," said J. B. Doner, Glendale real estate agent who is a member of the firm of Doner, Hemenway & Burns, 110 South Brand boulevard, speaking of the landlord who refuses to rent to people with children.

"It is the parents that I blame for the present condition that causes landlords to refuse to rent houses to them because they have children," said Mr. Doner. "The child is not to be blamed for it does not know that it is wrong to destroy the property of others. The parents, however, know that it is wrong and should teach the little ones, early in life that other people's property should be respected."

"Rents are high, yes, but not too high considering that everything else is high. Years ago rent for houses here in Glendale was so low that building houses for rent was one of the worst investments that could be made. At present the owner of a house can rent it and get a fair return for its investment. One thing is certain and that is as long as rents are high there will be a lot of people who will build their own home rather than pay the high rent."

You can't improve the quality of a Ben Davis apple by giving it a "good talking to," and it's quite as useless to try to improve the intelligence of a lot of people by giving them advice.
