LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL ORATORY CONTEST IN OPEN AIR

Annual Event on Myose Field
Tomorrow Night; Band Will Appear First Time

The student body and the faculty, the class orators and booth committees are making their final preparations for the annual oratorical contest of the Glendale Union high school, which takes place tomorrow night on Myose field.

This big contest and annual event has been held ever since 1910, when it was founded by Harry L. Howe, former vice principal of Glendale and now principal of Coachella Valley Union high school, to stimulate interest in public speaking and oratory. It has always been one of the most exciting events of the school year, with class rivalry at its height. And if the present plans are carried through, it is certain that this year's contest will be no exception to the rule.

The oratorical, as it is called, consists of two separate contests—the speaking contest and the booth contest. Tryouts are held in the various classes and an orator is chosen to represent each class. The four class orators will compete tomorrow night and the winner will receive a $20 gold piece, given by the student body. The booth contest consists of competition between the four classes for the most artistic booth, the most effective grand march or procession with consideration of costumes, the best songs and yells and demonstration of spirit.

First Time Outdoors

For the first time in the history of the school, the contest will be held outdoors on the campus. This was the only possible solution of the problem of the small auditorium which could only seat half of the student body. A stage and platform is being erected on the athletic field in front of the grand stand. The portable bleachers will be moved to each side of the grandstand for the public. Walter C. Gorman, head of the woodworking department, is in charge of the construction committee.

This year the public is invited to the contest. Always before, there has been a great demand from the public to witness the contest but Continued on Page 7.

Mrs. F. G. Hartman in Charge Circle's Review

Mrs. F. G. Hartman had charge of the review given yesterday at the meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle at the public library, her topic being "Why Children Lie," taken from a recent issue of a popular magazine.

The members of the Circle were given a delightful surprise yesterday by Mrs. L. J. Sheridan of 318 Patterson avenue, who presented them with a delicious angel food cake of her own handwork, each member receiving a generous piece of the cake. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Sheridan for her kindness.

In accordance with the request received from N. P. Banks post that a delegate from the Reading Circle be appointed to serve on the committee in charge of Memorial Day observance, the president, Mrs. A. A. Barton, appointed Mrs. E. B. Moore to serve as the delegate.

Mrs. Moore took the members of the Circle of the May festival being staged by Cerritos avenue school and extended a welcome to everyone to attend the excellent program which has been arranged, and which Mrs. Moore stated would vie with anything given by the Pasadena, Hollywood or Los Angeles schools. No admission will be charged, she stated, although there will be booths where refreshments will be served.

Mrs. C. H. Pendleton, treasurer, reported a paid-up membership of 100. At yesterday's afternoon session several good chapters from the book "Mother Love in Action" were read by Mrs. E. B. Moore. The review for next week will be given by Mrs. H. V. Henry.

Mrs. Mabel Olsen of Bisbee, Ariz., Honored

It will be composed of John Copeland, pitcher; Russell Lavelle, catcher; John Franklin, Lee Rambeau, Donald Whitaker, Grant Abbott, John Winger, Porter Thompson, Allan Lovell, Owen Dawson and Harry Clark.

Be Singer or Poet and You Have Good Chance for Election

Gee whiz! This singing mayor stuff seems infectious. Doggone near everybody who wants an office now warbles a few strains and gets elected.

Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale has competition for honors in the matter of original composition, however. There's Harry O'Neill of Akron, Ohio, who wants to be sheriff. Here is one little ditty he has composed:

If you're ever in jail
And want a square meal,
Put an X on the ballot
For Harry O'Neill.

However, Harry doesn't stop at one verse. Having access to a radio broadcasting station, he chortled the following for the fun of the fans:

Get out your radio,
Hear the loud peal,
Wireless crying,
"Vote for O'Neill!"

Some candidates talk their way into office, he says, but being an ex-service man helps a lot. He is going to sing his own rhymes with musical chimes as follows:

The biggest question
Is not the tariff,
But whether O'Neill
Is elected sheriff.

Will Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson please stamp his approval on the meter, or will Peter Diederich of the public service department have to do that?

To mark the event "The Stepping Stone," a school annual of forty-eight pages, has been issued with Mervin Peterson, editor-in-chief. It is a very creditable book and reflects the earnest efforts of not only the editor and instructors, but Emery Ostendorp, Merlin L. Neff, Myrna Matteson and Gavin Darrell who were members of the staff.

Irish Continue Fight In Face of Compact

BELFAST, May 4.—Despite efforts of the Dail Eireann at Dublin to effect a truce, fighting continued at various places in northern Ireland today. Three ambush attacks against police had been reported from Derry and Tyrone counties before noon.

Six persons have been killed and ten wounded in the past twenty-four hours in Ulster.

Near Magherafelt, a policeman was killed and three orderlies wounded. Several other policemen were wounded in attacks elsewhere. The rebel casualties are unknown.

The situation is tense with crown forces searching the hills along the Ulster frontier for republicans. Four persons were arrested at Mullinger in connection with the firing of the barracks. The blaze was extinguished after the barracks had been partly destroyed.

The Castle Pollard barracks were blown up. A detachment of police on route from Antrim to the relief of Ballyronan barracks was ambushed and one constable was killed. Reinforcements were rushed up and the republicans who were beleaguering the barracks were dispersed.

Harry E. McCartney Is Author of This Yarn

Another fish story: "I got so many fish that I had to quit," stated Harry E. McCartney, speaking about his outing at Matilja.

"I might have gotten two limits—if the game warden hadn't been fishing right along side of me. He suggested that I ought to count 'em. I did and there were exactly twenty-five."

Yes, Mr. McCartney is a member of the real estate firm of Hayward & McCartney, 142 South Brand boulevard.

STAGE COACH INTERESTING

The stage coach which is now on exhibition in the salesroom of the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand boulevard, is attracting considerable attention, according to Don Packer. One caller mentioned the fact that he ran away from home when he was 12 years of age and got a "lift" in the luggage carrier at the rear of a similar stage coach.

PETITIONS OUT FOR IMPROVEMENT OF W. BROADWAY

Council Will Be Asked to Start Necessary Proceedings for Removal of 'Jog'

Petitions asking the city council to institute proceedings for the extension of West Broadway across private property at West Broadway and Central avenue so that the "jog" at that corner may be removed, are being circulated today as the result of action taken at a public meeting held last night at J. C. Pollock's garage, 208 West Broadway, attended by about 100 interested property owners.

James H. Sherman, 341 West Broadway, presided at the meeting and Albert C. Read, 360 West Broadway, acted as secretary. The gathering authorized Chairman Sherman to appoint a committee of three to circulate the petitions calling upon the council to institute the improvement proceedings. He selected O. R. Barnett, 334 West Broadway; Jacob G. Smith, 431 West Broadway, and Albert C. Read.

Before the meeting adjourned last night more than fifty owners had signed the petitions. The gathering voted to suggest to the council that the territory to be removed from Louise street to the San Fernando Road on Broadway, a block on Brand in either direction from Broadway, and a block on Central in either direction from Broadway.

Map Shows Extension
A map showing the extension of West Broadway, eighty feet in width, is in the hands of the committee having the petitions in charge. It is proposed to have the district pay for the necessary property, also for the curbing, sidewalk and improving of the new thoroughfare.

There was no opposition to the proposed improvement at the meeting last night, although Wilbur C. Alvord, 314 West Broadway, declared that he desired it recorded that he is neither for nor against the project until he learns what valuation is placed upon his property by the appraisers.

It was stated that the cost of the improvement may be between $50,000 and $75,000. It was explained that the assessments could be spread over a long term of years, if desired.

Last night's meeting was one of a series held recently by interested owners and, it was declared, an inquiry along West Broadway shows that a large majority of the property owners stands behind the project.

Incidentally, thirty-five cases of Fru-ber-ree' punch, donated by the Sierra Club beverage plant, have been dispensed this week and the postoffice orchestra lazes things a bit every afternoon.

REALTOR IMPORTANT FACTOR IN STATE CONSTRUCTION

President of Long Beach Board Makes Address At Session of Local Organization

"The realtor is getting to be more and more an important factor in the building up of this state," H. P. Barbour, president of the Long Beach Realty board, which is the second largest in the state of California, made this statement yesterday noon in the banquet room of the Glen Inn before members of the Glendale Realty board.

George H. Knox of Los Angeles, president of the Knox Institute of Individual Efficiency, also was a speaker.

"Look at the lines of progress and achievement and you can put under them the word 'realtor,'" declared Mr. Barbour. "The California State Real Estate Association you will find is the greatest and best developing power we have in the state today. As chairman of the membership committee, I want to ask all of you, who have not taken out your membership in the state association to do so at once. It will cost you $10 a year and it is worth it."

80 Boards in Association
Mr. Barbour commented upon the eightieth local board which has just joined the association. Two years ago there were only twenty. He touched briefly upon the various movements endorsed by the board and recalled with enthusiasm the recent state convention.

As soon as enough local realtors have joined the state association, they have a right to expect that the banks and financial institutions of the community should take out associate memberships and assist in the promotion work according to Mr. Barbour. He stated that banks at Long Beach had readily accepted the suggestion.

"The men, who will attend this convention are not the curbstone brokers or the selfish men who are always thinking of themselves," declared Mr. Barbour speaking about the approaching national convention at Oakland. "They are the big men of each state and each city. You are going to meet from 2500 to 5000 of the best men in the United States. You can't afford to miss this convention. ### RED AND BLACK IS DEFEATED, 7 TO 1, BY FRANKLIN

Ageson, Glendale's Ace, Holds Visitors Down Six Innings and Then It Happens

By HOWARD M'GILLIS
Sporting Editor The Evening News
For six long innings yesterday afternoon the Glendale high school baseball team loomed as winners over the championship Franklin nine, but the pace was too fast for the locals, who began weakening in the seventh round and completely were under in the eighth. The final score was 7 to 1, the winners scoring all of their run in the last three innings.

The Franklin Printers lived up to all advance notices by playing some of the fastest ball seen on the local diamond this season. It's very seldom that a high school aggregation goes through an entire nine-inning game without a single misplay, and that's just what the Franklinites did yesterday. Not an error was chalked up against any of their players.

"Strikeout" Ageson, Glendale's heaving ace, outpitched "Lefty" Teachout for six innings, his one run lead at this stage apparently indicating a victory for the Black and Red. In the seventh, however, he himself paved the way for the tying run when he gave Teachout a life on first base on his third walk of the day. The lanky pitcher immediately pitched second and rambled home on Harris' single to center.

Eighth Period Bad One
The eighth canto was Ageson's "Waterloo." Not only scoring the run that cinched the game the Franklin batters conducted a mauling spree in this eventful inning that netted them a total of four tallies. Stein, the visitors' midget left-fielder, started the fireworks by beating out a bump along the third base line. He stole second on the first ball pitched and ambled on to third on Haysom's single to left. Third baseman Godett then sent a roller to second base and all hands were safe when Terzo's throw failed to beat Stein to the plate. Haysom took third on the play.

Turner, their next batter, was safe at first when McCourt pulled his foot off the bag before he caught the ball. Haysom scored on the play and Godett took third. In an attempted double steal Godett was nailed at the plate by Terzo's accurate peg into the waiting mitt of Ringstad. Blake, replacing Fogarty in right field, was safe at first on a fielder's choice. Harris then sent a sharp single to center, scoring hot Turner and Godett. Hitch, hitting for First Baseman Crandall, ended the circus with an infield pop-up.

Chalk Up Two More
Just to make their lead more secure the Printers, through the efforts of Haysom and Godett, added two to their run total in the final round. After two were out Haysom rapped out a two-base clout, which was his second hit of the day. He had hardly stopped long enough at the key-stone station when he was sent on home ahead of Godett, who then cleaned out one of Ageson's slants for a home run over the center field fence.

Glendale's lone run came in the second inning when Dutcher scored Gab, who had reached first by being hit with a pitched ball and taken second on Lavelle's walk, with a long single to right center. Only one more hit was registered by the "home guards," it being Dutcher's second single of the afternoon in the eighth round.

The locals made a valiant attempt to stage a rally in the ninth inning, but were not equal to the occasion. Green, the first man up, reached second on a single over the third baseman's head, only to be called back on the grounds that this was a foul ball. The next best thing he could do was to fan out. "Woodrow" Wilson, who had already received one walk, then raised the Glendale rooters' spirits by reaching first on a walk. A fitting and exciting climax was then furnished to the 600 fans when McCourt lined out an apparently safe blow between short and third, only to have Shortstop Turner make a brilliant backhand catch and double Wilson at first.

In fairness to Glendale it should be stated that the local team was playing without the services of Pete Fruhling, captain, and easily the star of the squad. The clever little shortstop was reported to be spending the afternoon in a sick bed.

A Reply to Dr. Harrower's Open Letter In Yesterday's Evening News

The development of any city is judged by the amount of its civic improvements. We all boast of the million dollars in building permits issued in the city of Glendale during the past month. Permit me to ask, had every citizen in Glendale followed Dr. Harrower's example in trying to obstruct street improvements where there is no cross street within 1000 feet of him, how many would have taken out permits to build homes in an almost streetless town? There is a stretch along Broadway where Dr. Harrower lives, of something like 1800 feet with no cross-streets. Within this territory between Broadway and Colorado streets there are approximately 40 acres of land with no houses. How can this section of the city be developed without streets?

Dr. Harrower would have you believe that I would be the sole beneficiary by the opening of School street, and that the Union High School would have to pay all of the bills. When this school is open to students, and especially on field days, there will be hundreds of cars to be parked somewhere, and no one will need School street so badly as the Union High School, for it will be practically impossible to leave cars on Broadway or Colorado. In addition to dedicating to the city my portion of School street, am also donating 50x580 feet on Orange Grove, 50x180 feet on Harvard, and 25x400 feet on Harvard. Figuring this land and street improvements on the same basis that Dr. Harrower figured the half of School street, these donations to the city will amount to about $20,000, so that in the development of this section the Union High School will not have to stand all of the cost.

In my judgment the City Council, the Union High School Board, and the committee that was selected to secure options for school grounds are all well qualified and will look after the best interests of the city and schools without any suggestions from Dr. Harrower or myself.

When the committee came to me for an option, I had my tract platted and streets provided for, had presented my plans to the City Council and it had granted to me the extension of Harvard and Orange Grove streets, these being all of the streets I then needed, but, by letting the Union High School have a strip across the west end of my tract, it cut off these two streets, and it would become necessary to rearrange my plat. When it was suggested that a street running north and south from Colorado to Broadway would give an outlet both for the school and myself, the committee thought it the best thing to do, and, with that understanding, I granted to them an option.

The Union High School Board has accepted the deal, the City Council has granted the streets, and I don't think that one kicker can cause them to rescind their actions.

I would suggest to Dr. Harrower that if he wishes to live an isolated life, free from the annoyance of neighbors, that he had better move to the Isle of Yap or buy all of the land that adjoins him, for, within the short time of his natural existence he will see a building of some kind on every available lot in Glendale.

Realizing that this class of reading matter is of no interest to the average reader, and there being no money, pleasure nor Christian spirit in it for the writers, this letter closes the controversy so far as I am concerned.

Respectfully,

THE OLD TIMER SPEAKS
I've been in every rotten spot. I've trod the land and sailed the sea. I've lived my life and lived it free. In bridal suite and prison cell. I've lived, my boy, I've lived.

From Transvaal to the Yukon's mist, It's been mine for the open road. Sometimes its here and sometimes there. But I went on with not a care. My only guilt, the woman's code. I've lived, my boy, I've lived.

One day a bloated plutocrat, And the next an evil curse. 'Twas all the same to me, my friend. For come what may, some pal would lend A helping hand and the needed sum. I've lived, my boy, I've lived.

I've seen the best, I've seen the worst, And I never care which is which. For food is bad and bad is worse, A kind word off an evil curse. Though I've been poor and you've been rich, I've lived, by Gad, I've lived.

DANGEROUS JOHN MCGRAW
John McGraw is a right handy sort of a monkey wrench to have for a friend. He may be derelict in some ways, but he takes care of his own. Some days ago you read of him picking up Davy Robertson and giving him a job with the Giants. Nobody else wanted Davy because he doesn't play baseball good enough to make up for his peculiarities, on and off the field. McGraw himself wasn't exactly frantic for an extra outfielder.

But Robertson was fortunate enough to have started his major league career under McGraw and that was deemed enough. If he behaves himself he will finish it here, for John McGraw is patient with those who have bided with him long. For further evidence consult Billy Gilbert, whom McGraw placed as manager of the Waterbury club this year, favoring him, meanwhile, as a farm for promising ball players. Or you might ask Larry Doyle, who seems to come to the Polo Grounds each year to get a start on some new managerial venture.

LOONEY LINES
Charley Paddock chased a steam roller for five blocks the other day, but didn't quite reach it.

A drink in the hand is worth two in the barrel.

Of course, the mere suggestion is likely to make gentlemen of Kentucky violently ill, yet desire to toy with the thought of cashing in one of those 1000 to 1 shots for the Derby is almost beyond restraint. A Kentucky gentleman who knows his horseflesh as he knows his "licker" wouldn't stoop so low as to play a horse that has no right to win.

But if we could see our way clear to win one of those 1000 to 1 things we would stoop so low that we would have to climb a step ladder to shake hands with a snake.

Though East vs. West tennis championships have been played for years past it is only within the last few years that an official championship of this sectional nature has been recognized by the Lawn Tennis Association. The tournament for 1922 is to be played at Berkeley, Calif., May 5 to 7 inclusive, this being the first time the tournament has come to this western Pacific coast.

From 1890 to 1906 the strongest teams of the East and West fought for supremacy to determine which team would meet the champions for the national title, but this was not an East vs. West tournament as it is now known.

In the coming tournament William Tilden and Vincent Richards will represent the east while the western team is to be selected from William Johnston, Willis Davis, Roland Roberts, John Strachan and Robert and Howard Kinsey. Two singles and a double match will be played each day and the title decided on the number of matches won in the three days.

To date, in the recognized east vs. west events, the east has won every series. In 1920 the east won four of the six singles and won all three doubles. In that tournament C. S. Fagland, W. F. Johnson, Norris Williams, Dean Mathey, Watson Washburn, Bill Tilden represented the east while Bill Johnston, Beck Griffin, Roland Roberts, W. T. Hayes and R. H. Burdick represented the west. The 1920 series was played at the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia. The year previous Cincinnati was the seat of the contest and here again the east won by six matches to three. Robert Kinsey, Bill Johnston, Sam Hardy, Ralph Burdick, A. L. Green, the latter two of Chicago, the others from San Francisco, represented the west and were defeated by Bill Tilden, Vincent Richards, S. H. Voshell, Ichiva Kumagae, R. L. Murray and Wallace F. Johnson represented the east. Other series in 1916 and 1918 were also won by the eastern players.

This year only two players will represent the east, namely, Tilden and Richards. Just whether the west will use all the men ordered into training will not be settled until the arrival in California of the two eastern stars. It is naturally certain that little Bill Johnston will be a sure starter and it is also pretty sure that Robert and Howard Kinsey the third ranking national doubles team, will play in the doubles, but whether they play all the three doubles match is also undecided. Willis Davis, John Strachan, Roland Roberts are all working, but none of them are yet at their top form, and as far as that is concerned it is hardly likely that Tilden or Richards are any better situated in this respect than their western opponents. Johnston has already been beaten by almost an "unknown" this year, but in the last few weeks has been showing to better advantage. He is, if anything, in better shape than any of the other western representatives.

Tilden is well known on the coast and very popular. Richards is making his first trip to the far west and with two such brilliant stars representing east coupled with the popularity of Bill Johnston and his team makes record-breaking crowds are anticipated for the three-day series. On May 8 the Pacific Coast championships will open and both Tilden and Richards are entered.

Has Morris Kirksey, the star sprinter of Stanford University, shot his bolt? Will he ever again be able to even approximate the figures he has reached in the 100 and 220 yard dashes? Those who saw him defeated by Ed Sudden in the recent California-Stanford dual meet, and who saw him go limping out of the 220-yard dash fifty feet from the finish believe that he is done for as a sprinter. It looked like a debacle and a Waterloo for the man who, next to Charles Paddock, has figured as the best sprinter on the Pacific coast. When stars of the first magnitude are beaten in one race and quit in another, it generally means that the curtain has been rung down.

Jack Dempsey says he is perfectly willing to let Georges Carpentier name the place where another match between them can be staged; he will allow the Frenchman to choose the size of the ring and name the referee. Also, Jack probably would be quite willing to allow Georges to select his undertaker and the cemetery where he prefers to be interred.

It will be good news to tennis followers to learn that Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the French player, will defend her title of world champion at Wimbledon this year. Now, if Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory will only oblige by reaching the challenge round in this tournament, we will see the match which last year broke down so disastrously when the little Frenchwoman broke down physically on the court while playing Molla.

What is the difference between ethical publicity and advertising?

I think this question was sent in by a humorist. The answer to it is certainly a joke. Ordinarily your doctor is very anxious to get publicity through the columns of the local paper. Any mention of his activities is highly appreciated and is very ethical if the publicity is not paid for. If he buys an X-ray machine or other equipment or has taken special training, he is delighted to have the local paper mention it, if he can induce them to do it free of cost, and even his competitors think it is all right too, but if he pays to have the public told of it, he is advertising.

Again a famous physician has said: What doctors do in the mass is ethical, but what one does individually is unethical. There is no authority except self-appointed authority to determine what is ethical and what is unethical publicity. The whole thing is a joke and not being a humorist, I am perhaps not well fitted to handle the subject. However, I will talk to you seriously in this column tomorrow about publicity.

Frank Booth Opposes Opening New Street
Editor The Evening News: As one who has worked so hard for the acquiring of the new high school site, and to the success of the bond election, I am in full sympathy with Dr. Harrower's stand in opposing the needless expenditure, of opening the proposed unnecessary street from East Broadway to Colorado boulevard and the gobbling up of about one acre of land bought by the taxpayers' money for use of the high school, entailing in all, a cost of about $7,000.

This site was purchased because our present high school site was too small. Well, then, why on earth give up one acre of our land for a street that is not needed? The site is already bounded by three good streets, East Broadway, Verdugo road and Colorado boulevard.

When the option was taken out by the school trustees of such strings as donating a part of the land purchased should have been allowed. Had the voters known at the election of such a clause, a different verdict on the poll would have been shown.

However, it is not too late to remedy this proposed extra expense to the city. Our board of trustees and the city council, who represent the taxpayers of Glendale and vicinity, should refuse agreeing to this proposed gift of the people's land, and if that party wants a street, let him put his own in at his own expense, and not ask us taxpayers to do it to improve his property at our expense. The new high school site was decided on as the most beautiful, healthy and secluded spot for our students, away from the bustle and noise of the city and streets, and the less highways and by-ways there are, the greater the privacy for the school and campus.

All property owners know what taxes were last year, exceeding considerably the previous year, and next year will shoot still higher. Bonds for this and bonds for that, and city expenses increasing yearly. Then people wonder why rents are so high. The first expense is borne by the property owner, then it comes back on the tenant for more rent. I believe the time is ripe for a property owners' protective association. Such an organization would help curb all unnecessary expenditures. I am right alongside Dr. Harrower's fight for the right, and I believe the great majority of Glendale taxpayers will also back him up, and also our mayor and square-minded board of city trustees, whom the voters of Glendale put their trust in at the last Glendale election, will do the right thing by their constituents.

Yours truly,
FRANK BOOTH.

Smith, contractor, of 312 North Kenwood street, of property in the triangle at Brand boulevard, San Fernando road and Cerritos avenue. The property purchased by Mr. Smith has a frontage of 146 feet on Cerritos avenue and runs to a point, making a V-shaped strip of land, with an alley on either side of the property. Mr. Smith states that it is his intention to build a large commercial garage there in the near future. The purchase was made through the W. A. Heitman company.

Shopping with the Bride

The Junetime bride comes into her own. It is wedding time and orange blossom time. So that her task may be easy—her pre-nuptial work reduced to the minimum—we are taking her on a tour of the leading stores of the city with the ease and comfort of a pleasurable shopping trip. Here she will be offered many practical, appropriate and valuable suggestions. Everything has been chosen with that enduring charm of distinction.

The Bride Buys Her Gown

Oh, the bride will be here
And the whole town will cheer;
Even songbirds will be in carol
And the folks will admire
Her wedding attire
From this house of fine Women's Apparel.

The Bride's Shoes

As the Bride passed by the door
Of Smith's Broadway Shoe Store
She said to hubby, "Here's good news;
There are oxfords and pumps in great array,
In fact I can find just what I want in Shoes."

From the things on their shelf,
'Tis a store that sells Quality Linen."

Questions on Radio and Their Answers

Question: Radio editor; I ask the following question in perfect good faith: We hear a song being broadcasted from Los Angeles through a wireless telephone receiver, and at the close of the song we naturally cease to hear that particular song any longer, and what I would like to know is: where does that song go to?—A. F. G. Glendale.

Answer: My dear sir: About the only way your question can be answered is by asking you another, namely, to-wit: where does a fire go when it goes out?
Question: The distress call of ships being "S. O. S." in wireless telegraphy, will you kindly tell me how this sounds in the wireless dots and dashes?—E. M. Glendale.

Answer: S. O. S. made universal famous since the time the famous Jack Binns sent out that thrilling CDQ (now SOS) from the sinking Republic is composed of the following: S is three dots, O is three dashes and S three dots, so when you hear three dots, three dashes and three dots you want to sit up and take notice.

Question: In tuning in closely, I have noticed that when I remove my hands, or rather fingers from the condenser dial I lose the sharp tuning; please tell me what causes this?—M. H. B. Glendale.

Answer: This is what is known as body capacity effects and shows that your dial is not properly grounded, and to overcome it, ground your dial or move the dial to its proper position with the eraser end of a lead pencil, and you need a good lead pencil come down to The Evening News office as we have a supply with our telephone number embossed thereon that we give out in place of cards.

Question: Who gets the most credit for the discovery of wireless telephony, Marconi or deForest?—T. M. A. Glendale.

Answer: Guess if you asked either of these gentlemen they would both claim it, but every once in a while we run across somebody who laugh both of these boys all they know, so it is sort of hard to say just who is entitled to carry this burden of credit around, but it is pretty well recognized that deForest in bringing out the vacuum tube did more to make radio-telephony popular than anyone else.

Question: Can oak or mahogany be used in place of Bakelite?—L. C. S. Glendale.

Answer: It does very nicely, although Bakelite is best, but, inasmuch as Bakelite is so very hard to get these days, go ahead and make your machine up with either of these two woods and it will be much better than waiting indefinitely for the Bakelite. I heard a receiver working the other day the box and panel being made of mahogany and to tell you the truth it was a wonderful little receiver and I have some doubts if Bakelite had been used instead of the mahogany whether it would have added any material improvement.

Question: When receiving from a Los Angeles broadcasting station and I am getting the music at the clearest, should I mark the position on the different dials, could I immediately turn to these marks the next day and be assured of again receiving the music in the same clear tone, provided, of course, the music is being sent from the same station on the same wave length?—J. L. Glendale.

Answer: By marking the dials in the manner you describe you would be assured of quickly tuning in, but climatic conditions as well as several others would have a bearing on it, and it would not necessarily follow that the same position of the dials giving a clear tone one day from a certain station would give the same clear tones at some other time.

Would suggest that instead of marking the dials, you make a memorandum of the positions of your dials that give you the clearest results from the several popular stations, have this memorandum on a piece of paper somewhere handy to your receiver, and while it would not be absolutely accurate, it would come close to the correct position which would enable you to reach the desired position of the dials in the shortest possible time.

Realty Concern Issues
'Extras' on Bond Issue

When it comes to giving the "latest" hats off to the firm of Warnock & Knappen, owners of the Meeker's Orange Manor tract, who put out 5000 "extras" Wednesday morning informing the people of Glendale how magnificently the school bonds carried.

Incidentally, they also drew attention to the fact that Meeker's Orange Manor is but a stone's throw from the new school, making it a most desirable place for families in which there are school children. The Broadway grammar school is but two blocks away while car service is quite handy.

A. W. Warnock, who engineered the "extra" knew where to get service in printing and he had employees of The Glendale Evening News job printing department working early and late. However, he feels it is worth the effort for Ruddick & Driver, the selling agents, report a brisk demand for homesites in Orange Manor.

MUSIC HATH ITS CHARMS
"Music in the Sunday School" was vividly demonstrated last night at the teachers' training class at the Central Christian church by Mrs. Alice Smith of 504 Fairmont avenue, wife of Rev. Edgar Lloyd Smith, Floyd Mercer of 319 North Jackson street, superintendent of the Sunday school presided. Mrs. Smith punctuated her addresses with hymns, illustrating the effect of music upon children.

"We believe the Hupmobile to be the best car of its class in the world."

RADIO EXPLAINED
By E. H. LEWIS
INSTRUCTOR NEW YORK Y. M. C. A. RADIO SCHOOL

STATIC
Static is a word used in radio language to refer to natural electrical disturbances in the medium called "ether." These disturbances produce crackling or crashing noises in receivers (or ear pieces) which frequently drown out all signals or less seriously, static is often referred to as "atmospherics" or "strays," but the word "static" is the most commonly used. The static disturbances are usually not present to any extent in the winter months, especially in the more northern latitudes. They are, however, quite annoying during the summer months in almost all latitudes. For the benefit of the listener to broadcasted concerts it may be said that these disturbances are hardly ever as severe on the short wave lengths as on the longer. This is some consolation to the person who wishes to receive the broadcasted programs in the summer months. The disturbances are always more severe in or near the tropics than in the temperate zone. Also, they vary from day to day and during certain hours of the day. They seem to increase with the temperature, to be maximum around sunset and do not seem usually to vary much between sunset and sunrise. At sunrise they usually decrease considerably and are of small intensity between that time and noon, when they increase.

A static has been classified under three headings, "clicks," "ticks" and "grinders." The grinders give the most trouble, as they often sound like crashing noises and completely overwhelm the singles at certain times. Between the intermittent crashes there is a rattling noise not quite as annoying as the crashes. This type of static seems to come from overhead and to be an electrical discharge or discharges to earth through a receiving antenna. Possibly, it originates in an upper atmosphere, which is highly charged. Clicks are far less annoying and appear to come from various directions along the horizon. Hisses are usually due to actual discharges of electricity from the antenna to the earth through the receiver and are the least annoying of any. They are absent entirely when ungrounded antennae are used, for example, the loop antennae.

When an ether wave created by an atmospheric discharge strikes the antenna, the antenna is struck an electrical blow much like a pendulum which is struck a mechanical blow with a mallet. The pendulum in that case swings back and forth at a rate dependent upon its natural frequency of swinging. The antenna when struck such an electrical blow is set into oscillation electrically at its natural frequency or the frequency which it happens to be adjusted to. Free oscillations of electrical current are thus created in the antenna circuit. These electrical blows are relatively quite powerful, when compared with the signal energy, particularly in midsummer. This is why the signal is then frequently drowned out. It is just as though one were striking a note on the piano and another note was being continuously pounded the same piano string with a hammer.

A RADICAL DEPARTURE IN STORAGE BATTERIES
The illustration shows what appears to be an ordinary storage battery, with which most radio enthusiasts are quite familiar. It has, however, some very interesting and valuable features peculiar only to itself. For example, it cannot be recharged by electrical means such as iron, salt, soda, etc., coming into contact with the plates. This would ruin the usual storage battery, and the author was quite skeptical regarding these claims until he tried it himself. He has been convinced and hopes that his readers will pardon some mild enthusiasm. The secret of the whole affair lies in the process of mixing the oxides which go to make up the battery plates and which are pasted in the openings of the grids. In the Slater process, under which these batteries are made, a certain chemical is mixed in with the plates and the oxides to produce active material, which is always in a moist condition and does not shed. This eliminates the accumulation of sediment in the bottom of a cell and makes a rubber retainer unnecessary. It is claimed that this also prevents the sulphation that hardens and insulates the plates and renders them useless. Other claims are that overcharging and overdischarging will not affect the plates or active material, since they are built to withstand any degree of heat. No active material ever falls from the grids under such conditions. These claims appear to be very well founded.

Human Body Like
Radio Says Early

By GEORGE VAN SAND
A. N. Early, D. C., Ph. C., of 225 No. Isabel street, makes this entry to the prize radio story contest, and the point he raises shows an interesting similarity between the human body and the wireless telephone.
"Do you ever stop to realize that each radio fan, every human being, is a living, breathing animated radio machine?"

"Have you ever listened in on the oldest, the simplest, the most universal broadcasting station of them all—the you—casting station? We are daily listening in on one of the latest and most wonderful inventions in the history of our world, but Nature beat us to it. The Great Mechanic of the universe way back in the beginning of time, evolved a much more wonderful radio machine than man can ever produce and placed it in the human body."

"The brain acts as the central receiving and broadcasting station. It receives these electro-magnetic waves from the ether, and, in a manner not yet understood, transforms these waves into what is known as nerve energy, the force that runs the body."

"The brain is a complex mechanism and its functions are equally complex and varied. If we consider one of the functions of the brain as that of a central receiving station of electro-magnetic waves from the ether, we have an exact analogy of the action of a vacuum tube. It controls the amount of energy or "juice" which is to be sent over the body "wires" or nerves, after the fashion of a load dispatcher of a large radio telephone system."

"The nerves may be called the "land lines" or wires of the body. We have three groups of them, the three forming a complete system, connecting the brain with all parts of the body. We have the receiving, or sensory nerves, the transmitting or motor nerves, and sympathetic nerve groups. The sympathetic nerve group functions as a relay station, booster station and auxiliary storage battery for the other two groups."

"Every human being is an intelligent radio machine and our bodies are animated antennae, receiving incoming messages through our ears, eyes, and sense of feeling, tasting and smelling and through these means, sending the messages to our brain where they may be translated into mind or intelligence. Imagine being able to send our thoughts over great distances and receiving messages without the help of the radio machine. This would be telepathy or thought transference from one mind to another without the help of any mechanical invention. Today Christian Science practitioners, metaphysicians and many other mental healers are using telepathy to heal their patients through what is called absent treatment, and the day is not far distant when a great majority of the people will understand their own wonderful radio system and will be able to communicate with their friends at great distances."

"I could go on and show how telepathic communication goes on often among the lower animals; birds of one species communicate with each other during periods of migration. Insects are even said to communicate with insects telepathically."

"With your extreme interest in the most wonderful invention of all times, when you read of new developments, give thought to your own 'You' receiving and broadcasting station and make comparisons. Then you will get a greater enjoyment out of radio and possibly be able to add to its advancement."

EXCLUSIVE GLENDALE SALES REPRESENTATIVES FOR VERDUGO WOODLANDS, OUR CHOICEST RESIDENTIAL SECTION

Verdugo Woodlands is climatically and artistically the choicest residence property in Southern California, and, at present prices, will be the biggest money-maker. It is only a few years ago Hollywood building sites sold for as low as $1000 to $1500, that are now selling as high as $15,000 to $25,000. Verdugo Woodlands' future is brighter than Hollywood, because the natural beauty is superior and the "movie factory" is absent. We offer a selection of highly desirable home and villa sites at such prices and on such terms as to suit each purse. Also a few choice houses on terms to suit.

REALTOR IMPROVING LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL ORATORY CONTEST IN OPEN AIR CONSTRUCTION

President of Long Beach Board Makes Address At Session of Local Organization

will turn your bank account thousands of dollars. But that is the small part of it. You want the inspiration, the fellowship and the acquaintance of the big men who will be there."

For Public Improvements Mr. Barbour urged the local board to forge ahead and take its rightful place as a moulder of public affairs and instigator of public improvements.

"I find that the men, who are giving the greatest service, strange to say are doing the biggest business," he remarked. "They are thinking of the other fellow and, naturally, the other fellow is thinking of them. One of the biggest, strongest and best professions in the world is not 'cut-throats,' but realtors. Let us make that word mean 'service.'"

Mr. Barbour called attention to the realtors' picnic at Long Beach Saturday, May 20, and to the caravan of 500 automobiles which will take eastern delegates to the national convention from Los Angeles to the Bay Cities.

A brief inspirational address was given by Mr. Knox.

"It is certainly a fact that the realtors are the center of enterprise in every town where they are organized," he asserted. "It is just simply wonderful the service that can be rendered to a community through a board and by each individual member."

Develops Character "When you sell a man a home, you do something more than make a little commission. You have done great things for that man. There isn't a boy and girl in the public schools of Los Angeles who hasn't a better character and who isn't developing more responsibility because their parents own their own homes."

The night business meetings of the board will be eliminated in the future, according to a decision reached at the luncheon.

Mention was made that twelve local realtors are now members of the State Real Estate association.

Among those present were: President, C. D. Thoms of the Glendale Realty company, 133 South Broadway; H. C. Yale and A. M. Yale, 249 North Brand boulevard; Dr. Jessie Russell, 208 South Brand boulevard; Mrs. Mable L. Tight and Mrs. W. C. Fraley, 612 East Broadway; Secretary E. P. Hayward and Treasurer J. W. Osborne, 210 West Doran street.

Following the luncheon the five members of the governing committee met and elected four new members to the board including W. L. Traut, 812 South Brand boulevard; J. I. Wernette and W. E. Sawyer, 116 East Wilson avenue; W. B. Kelly, 106 West Colorado street and Fred Heal, 105 North Glendale avenue.

there has been no space available. This year they will be taken care of. The speaking contest will undoubtedly be very close for the junior and senior classes are represented by Kathleen Campbell and Paul Hutchinson, both experienced and capable orators. The other two orators, for the freshman and sophomore classes, are dark horses, so to speak, and there may be surprises.

Orators and Subjects The orators, their subjects, and the order in which they speak, is as follows: Juniors—Kathleen Campbell, "Foch, the Man." Sophomores—Fred Peck, "The Social Obligations of Man."

Seniors—Paul Hutchinson, "The Trend of Civilization." Freshmen—Donald McMillan, "Our Nation Today."

Francis Read, who won last year, will be chairman of the evening.

The orations are judged both by composition and by thought, and delivery. The three judges for composition, thought, and originality, which counts one-half, are the heads of the English departments of Occidental and Pomona colleges and the University of Southern California. These judges send in their decisions before the contest without ever seeing the competitors. The delivery judges, who will be present at the contest, will be an attorney, a minister, and a college professor. Under these conditions there is no doubt but the best all-around orator is chosen as winner.

The oratorical contest is being managed and supervised by Victor Colburn, secretary of debating. Albert Hewitt and Willard Roberts have charge of lighting and electrical effects. Dorothy Peart will take care of the arrangement of the stage.

The Glendale Union high school band under the direction of Mr. Mulford, will play several numbers. This is the first public appearance of the band.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce Denies Taking Poison

By FRANK E. MASON Written for International News Service PARIS, May 4.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, beautiful, four times married and noted as the "twentieth century Cleopatra," emphatically denied today that she had taken an overdose of veronal as a result of the suicide of her young South American lover, "Billy" Errazuriz. "I am going to spend my time in my country home. Henri Letellier (multi-millionaire newspaper owner) is arranging the details of the house purchased, but with my money, of course. I am going to become a feminine hero."

A physician is attending Peggy, and for the time being she has forsaken her gay haunts among the dance palaces and cabarets.

Both Peggy and Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion, denied that the former's plight had anything to do with Jack's hasty trip from Berlin to Paris.

Dempsey said he had come here to facilitate the shipment of a couple of German police dogs to the United States and that the new storm of notoriety that has centered on the former American chorus girl had nothing to do with his sudden return to Paris.

Dempsey said he might see Peggy before he goes to London Saturday, but was not sure. Peggy said she might see Jack; she was not certain.

Whether Dempsey was here before, he and Peggy danced together in one of the all-night restaurants.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Harold F. McCormick, head of the International Harvester company, who recently was divorced from Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, denies that he intended to marry Ganna Walska, grand opera singer, who is suing Alexander Smith Cochran of New York for divorce.

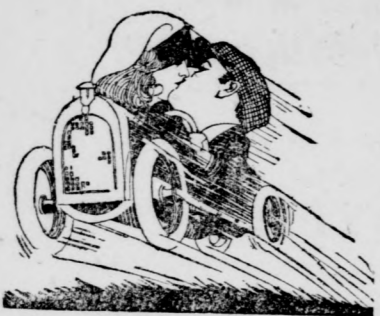

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Because of the large number of petitions which have come to the war department urging the retention of at least one regiment of American troops in Germany, the government is considering holding some troops in the Rhine after July 1, the date set for a general withdrawal, it was learned officially this afternoon.

TO KEEP WATCH ON RHINE WASHINGTON, May 4.—Unforeseen circumstances "will necessitate a postponement of the return of the Eighth United States infantry from the Rhine, Colonel Campbell King of the general staff, today informed Senator Harris, Democrat of Georgia. King did not explain what the circumstances were.

Have You Entered the Contest?

FOR ALL OF US—

This past winter Glendale, with other cities, had an epidemic. We went to the local Board of Health and they hoped that we would put our 100% sanitary service in every location where they used the "common glass."

We haven't yet, but—

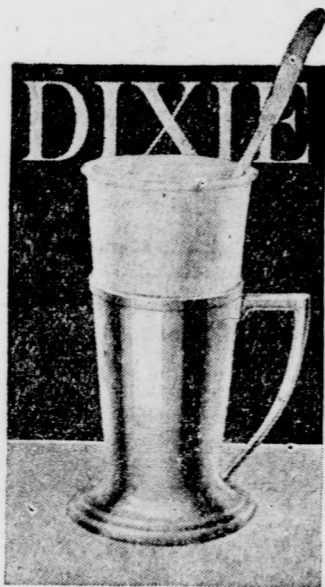

It has been said that the most remarkable discovery of the present age, more remarkable than the radio, is the discovery of a social conscience. As Secretary Hoover has so vividly put it—

"Our responsibility for children is based not alone in human aspirations, but it is also based upon the necessity to secure physical, mental and moral health, and the economic and social progress of a nation. Any child that is delinquent in body education or character is a charge upon the whole community itself. The children are the army with which we must march to progress."

Send your children to the soda fountain dealer who has made the discovery of a social conscience, one who uses the 100% sanitary DIXIE CUP.

PARADE AND PICTURE WIN APPROVAL OF GLENDALE FOLK

Those Who Believe in Signs Know That All Roads Lead 'Across the Continent'

Did you see the Dents in the streets yesterday? Well, they were only Fords dolled up for a parade at noon to represent Dents.

Who let the loozies loose, or—the lizzies loose, or ask? Or the flippers flouter from gutter to gutter?

Well, it must have been the same person that decorated a MacFarlane to look like a Fountaine, whatever that may be.

Jesse E. Smith, director of the Chamber of Commerce, etc., was one of his flock of Fords about while Harry Gerson and a lot of others you likely don't know also drove.

However, to tell you something and get started in the middle of the big idea, Ralph Allan, manager of the T. D. & L. Theatre who breaks into print every day or two, was the stage director, runner up, etc., of this great event.

Many Believe in Signs "Across the Continent," a Wally Reid picture that has Dents and Fountaines featured, was the incubus, omnibus or motorbus of the excitement. He got the great cooperation of the universal car dealer and they went to work and had all sorts of signs printed announcing that ALL ROADS "ACROSS THE CONTINENT" LEAD TO GLENDALE.

That got across great. There were 144 merchants who liked the text and gave window space to the cards. Then Jesse E. Smith dolled up the cars with banners, also provided by Mr. Allan, which announced that this great automobile picture was playing at the T. D. & L.

It went across big! Four representatives of the Paramount exchange came out from Los Angeles and approved the Ford parade. Several thousand people have approved the picture. Nuff sed.

Babe Ruth's Tonsils and Adenoids Removed

NEW YORK, May 4.—"Well, I know I'm going up, but I don't know how I'm coming down," soberly remarked George Herman (Babe Ruth) this morning as he stepped in an elevator at St. Vincent's hospital and was whisked to the operating room where his tonsils and adenoids were removed.

In an adjoining room lay Mrs. Ruth, awaiting a major operation, the third in a year.

Before being placed on the operating table, baseball's great hitter entered the sick room of his girl wife and knelt by her bedside. "Everything's all right, don't you worry," she said, extending a weak little hand.

Then a priest entered and the two of them took communion together. A few minutes afterward Ruth went with the doctors.

"The game needs Babe," murmured Mrs. Ruth to a friend as she awaited word from the operating table. She made no comment whatsoever about the serious operation that she was to undergo in a few minutes.

In the operating room, the "king of sweat" was stretched out on the white-topped table and the anaesthetic was applied. An attendant wheeled another table outside of the wife's door. The moment that Ruth's operation was completed he was taken out of the white-walled chamber and Mrs. Ruth was wheeled in.

'Across the Continent' Is T. D. & L. Picture

There are at least 4000 people in Glendale that will tell you all about "Across the Continent," the automobile racing story featuring Wally Reid at the T. D. & L. theatre. They will say it is not only Reid's best yet but one of the fastest and most interesting pictures they have seen. And it only goes to show how people do follow the movies and especially the good ones of which there are many at the T. D. & L. So if you want to be numbered among the many who have enjoyed this truly great show, you'll have to hurry for "Across the Continent" will be shown for the last times tonight.

The special comedy, News Weekly scenic and singing with Grant Symal completes this wholly satisfying program.

Irish Free State and Rebels Effect Truce

DUBLIN, May 4.—A truce was effected today between the Irish Free State supporters and the rebel faction of the Irish Republican army, which have been conducting violent guerrilla warfare against each other.

The armistice was arranged by staff officers of the Free State army and the commandants of the Republican.

A commission from the Dail Eireann (Sinn Fein parliament) met during the afternoon to draw up the terms.

The leaders on both sides said that they hoped that the armistice would put an immediate end to fighting.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Antiquated Farm Finance Fears Sometimes Are Fatal World Cannot Keep Pace Subconscious Education

By Gil A. Cowan

EUGENE MAYER, JR., managing director of the War Finance corporation, said a mouthful when speaking before the house banking and currency committee yesterday afternoon. In effect, it was this:

"American finance needs Americanization and demands a radical departure from the present system which is based upon European financial conceptions."

He further said that prevailing methods of financing agriculture were antiquated and the loaning of funds to farmers on a sixty or ninety day basis had damaged the farming industry.

Which gives the big bankers something to think about. In a word, Mr. Mayer sounds a protest against the "squeeze" process which has been most profitable in years past, but, with the education now prevalent among the people of the rural communities, they are prone not to poke their heads into the financial may. This results in short crops, general depression, etcetera. Evidently, Mr. Mayer, representing the monied interests, sees the folly in the system and says so!

American finance really is getting Americanized. Yet, it takes time. There are old-fashioned fears still existing in people's minds that anything new is not good.

A dear old grandmother up in New York state died yesterday as the result of her aversion to electric lights. She considered them dangerous and had refused to have them in her apartment, which she lighted with oil lamps. Arising during the night she overturned a lamp in lighting it and was burned to death.

New life is needed in school books on geography, according to a professor's plea before the Tuesday Afternoon club here the other day. "Certainly, it would seem that way when a high school student of the present digs up a geography used in the sixth grade of an Illinois grammar school twelve years ago and says it is better than the textbooks now at hand."

Jazzed geography would be mighty interesting and a lot would be learned by the young people if it were put in an interesting way. One authority contends that the "flappers and flippers" are not out of the way—the rest of the world can't keep up with them.

Here is a suggestion for those who want to keep up with events. Why not have people going to sleep with their radiophones clamped to their heads. Then through the night a wireless extension university would educate their subconscious minds.

Thus the public would know things it didn't know it knew. Great idea, eh? Yet it is coming to just that. And it wouldn't be surprising if the bottler of some popular beverage would find a method of including a whole course of instruction on trigonometry in each drink.

It is a well-established fact that enough whisky was equal to a visit to a zoological garden. Other liquid or ethereal education undoubtedly will take the place of intoxicants.

Following up the Trade at Home idea so often expressed in these columns, a local manufacturer calls up to tell me that merchants should practice it themselves.

Everything equal, he says, why not give the local industry the benefit? he asks.

We'll say for him that he practices what he preaches to the largest possible extent.

Yosemite Mystery Is Cleared Up in Note

YOSEMITE, Calif., May 4.—Sentimental desire of a prominent pioneer family to have the remains of one of their members rest in Yosemite valley was responsible for the findings of the cremated ashes and bits of bones ten days ago by Ranger Reed. This developed today definitely upon receipt by Chief Ranger Townsley of a letter from McCloud, Calif.

The writer, whose name was withheld, stated the box contained the ashes of his sister, who died in Los Angeles in 1890. In 1914 the growth of that city necessitated removal of the body. The remains were cremated and brought to Yosemite secretly with the hope of burying them in a little cemetery beside another sister buried there before the valley became a national park.

Fear of arousing suspicion and lacking government permission for local interment, the black box was hidden temporarily to await a favorable opportunity for the planned burial. The family moved away from the valley shortly and eight years elapsed without a chance to carry out the original intention.

Finally the box was discovered by Ranger Reed and an investigation started on suspicion that a crime had been committed.

Park Superintendent Lewis stated permission will probably be sought from Washington for local interment beside the sister's body.

The picture for new faces for the screen has been successful in the latest Goldwyn picture shown at the Glendale theatre. "Grand Larceny," by Albert Payson Terhune, is the photoplay chosen by Goldwyn for the debut of beautiful Claire Windsor as a leading lady. No one in recent years looks more beautiful in everything she wears, and at the same time doesn't let you forget that she is an actress who will make a unique reputation for herself. Miss Windsor is fair, willowy and carries herself excellently. As the woman who holds down the right angle in this domestic triangle, she measures up to every expectation.

Another player, new in Goldwyn pictures, though a well known player, is Elliott Dexter. As was to be expected, his performance is excellent in the society film.

The Sunshine comedy, "Try and Get It," has got the laughs, while Aesop's Fables Modernized always are filled with subtle humor. Pathe News concludes the bill with current events up to date.

Wu Wins Victory In 12 Hours of Battling

PEKING, May 4.—Reports indicate that forces of General Wu Pei Fu have won a sweeping victory at Machang, Kuan Hsien and Shan Sin Tien. Wu is reported to have taken the latter point and is driving toward Fengtai. The gates of Peking have been closed.

Fengtai is one of Chang Tso-Lin's strongest centers. It is from this section that his famous Fengtai troops come. It has been serving as one of the bases of his campaign.

The report of Wu's success came after twelve hours of terrific fighting. Earlier reports said Machang and Kuan Hsien changed hands frequently and claims of victory were made by both Chang Tso-Lin and Wu.

Tien Tsin reported that twelve of Chang's troop trains had passed through there evidently to reinforce his hard-pressed forces at Machang.

Chang Sin Tien, center of much of the fighting since the war started a few days ago, was the scene of bitter conflict. Attack there was followed by counter attack.

Explosion of an ammunition dump there yesterday by a bomb from one of Wu's airplanes has sent the peasants streaming to the city in fear.

Missionary Shaw brought 400 refugees from the vicinity of Chang Sin Tien. A refugee camp for women and children has been established on the compound of the American board of foreign missions.

The city is furnishing grain with which to feed the refugees who are flowing in at every gate.

Arrangements have been completed for the hospitals of Peking to take care of a large number of wounded in event their services are required.

Staffs of the Rockefeller and a few other institutions have not gone to the front in order that the situation here may be organized and prepared for trouble.

British-Indian troops have been assigned to the duty of guarding the Peking-Tien Tsin railroad at Lao Fa. Japanese troops have been assigned to guard the inhabitants of Tung Chow.

E. S. Bennett, vice-counselor of the British delegation, is in a serious condition as a result of a bullet wound received while watching the fighting. He is the first foreigner reported wounded.

A rumor of the death of Wu Pei Fu while leading his forces to battle caused great excitement last night in the native quarter as the belief is strong here that a victory for Chang will mean the end of the republic. Students and merchants are especially strong supporters here of Wu.

The Peking government is completely impotent. The city administration, however, has promised complete protection for foreigners. As a means of enforcing this armed Chinese soldiers have been refused entrance to the city. The closing of the gates was to safeguard the city against entrance of battle stirred hordes either in retreat seeking safety or flushed with victory.
