DUTCH AND SWEDISH SETTLEMENTS ON THE DELAWARE.

A Paper read before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania on November 9, 1908.

BY HON. HAMPTON L. CARSON.

[The purpose of this paper is to give a general view of the settlements on the Delaware River and Bay before the arrival of Penn; considered under Dutch rule, first period, extending from 1609 to 1638; Swedish rule, extending from 1638 to 1655; and Dutch rule, second period, extending from 1655 to 1664.]

DUTCH RULE: FIRST PERIOD.

THE earliest European settlers on the shores of the Delaware were the Dutch, whose actual occupancy lasted over fifteen years. Then came the Swedes, who for seventeen years maintained their sway, until the territory was reconquered by the Dutch, who held it for nine years more, when, vanquished in another part of the world by English arms, they relinquished forever their pretensions to American soil, and the government passed to the Duke of York, who yielded his supremacy to Penn in 1682. Hence a history of the institutional establishments of Pennsylvania would be incomplete without an introductory account of what had been accomplished under Dutch, Swedish, and English rule prior to the actual settlement of the province by William Penn under the charter of Charles II.

The English title, which finally prevailed, has often been the subject of specific judicial determination. It sprang from original discovery. "We derive our rights in America," said Edmund Burke, "from the discovery of Sebastian Cabot, who first made the North American continent in 1497. The fact is sufficiently certain to establish our right to our settlements in America." "To this discovery," says Chief Justice Marshall, "the English trace their title."¹ The same view is presented by Chief Justice Taney: "The English possession in America was not claimed by right of conquest, but by right of discovery."² Inaction followed for almost eighty years, and then the scientific interest of Sir Humphrey Gilbert in a Northwest passage, the romantic heroism of Sir Walter Raleigh, and the daring spirit of Capt. John Smith led to further explorations and to some feeble attempts at settlement, but the English claims came into conflict with those of no other nation, until Hudson, an Englishman in the employ of the East India Company, in search of a passage to China, acting on some vague suggestions of the redoubted Smith, tacked about for a few hours in the mouth of Delaware Bay, on the 28th of August, 1609, and then, baffled by shoals and sand bars, put out to sea, and five days later entered the North River, ascending it for over one hundred miles, and thus laid the foundation of a claim which was sustained by subsequent possession at New Amsterdam, now the City of New York.¹

In 1610, the English navigator, Lord De la War, touched at Delaware Bay on his passage to Virginia, and the credit of its discovery was attributed to him in a letter written by Capt. Argall in 1612, without doubt in ignorance of Hudson's acts.²

Hudson had reported his discoveries on his return to Holland, and the States General had, in 1614, granted a general charter, securing the privilege of trade during four voyages to all those accepting its provisions. Merchants of Amsterdam and Hoorn accordingly fitted out five vessels, which proceeded, under the command of Captains Mey, Block, Cortiansen and Hendrickson, to the mouth of the Manhattan River. Here Block's vessel was destroyed by fire, and its place was supplied by the Onrust, or Restless—the first ship ever built by Europeans on American soil—and Mey sailed with his little fleet to the Delaware, giving his first name "Cornelius" to a cape (now Henlopen) at the mouth of the Bay, and his last name to the opposite cape, which, with a slight change in spelling, preserves the memory of his exploit. Mey made no further exploration, but returned with four vessels, and it was left to Capt. Hendrickson, a genuine Dutchman, in the Onrust, to ascend the Delaware almost to the present site of Philadelphia. On this expedition he met three white men who had traversed the wilderness from Fort Orange on the upper Hudson, by way of the valley of the Delaware. On his return to Holland, Hendrickson made a claim for special privileges, which were never granted.

In the meantime, however, two exiled Englishmen, the renowned Elders Robinson and Brewster, in behalf of their Puritan associates at Leyden, applied to the States General for protection in the execution of their wish to emigrate to the country on the Hudson. Had this been granted, it is curious to note that the Pilgrim Fathers would have been New Yorkers, or, possibly, might have established themselves on the Delaware.¹

In December, 1621, the Dutch West India Company was incorporated, and in 1623—three years after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth—the first settlement on the shores of the Delaware was made by Cornelius Mey—described by an Indian Sachem as a “skipper with a film on the eye”—who built Fort Nassau, near Gloucester, on the Eastern bank, but soon afterwards abandoned it. Seven years later, purchases were made of the natives on both sides of the river as far up as Bombay Hook in behalf of Herr Samuel Goodyn, a member of the Amsterdam Association.² An expedition was sent out from the Texel, on December 12,

1630, under the command of the celebrated DeVries, "a bold and skillful seaman" and a "master of artillery in the service of the United Provinces." Just when he arrived in the Delaware is not known, but he built Fort Oplandt, a house surrounded with red cedar pallisadoes, but without parapet, serving at once as fortress, trading post, and place of rendezvous, near the present town of Lewes, in the State of Delaware, and his little settlement assumed the picturesque name of Zwaanendael, or "Valley of the Swans." The arms of Holland, painted on a piece of tin, a glittering object to savage eyes, were erected on a pillar, and the commander departed, happy in the thought that he had erected a permanent lodgment. On his return, two years later, he found his colony exterminated by the Indians. The whitened bones of men and animals, in the midst of charred ruins, greeted his saddened gaze. A chief had wanted an ornament for a pipe, and, in ignorance of the affront, had seized on the emblem of Holland. On complaint by the settlers, the offender had been slain by his own people, but his friends had avenged him by a general massacre.¹

Ascending the river, through a cheerless solitude, DeVries visited Fort Nassau, but found that the Dutch families had left it, and that it was in the possession of a few savages, who wanted to barter furs.² Here he was informed by a friendly squaw of the murder of an English crew which had appeared in a sloop's boat, probably from Virginia, and, in confirmation of the story, he saw Indians dressed in English jackets. DeVries returned to Holland by way of Virginia, where he had occasion to deny the ownership of Delaware Bay by the English, and to relate the story of the murder of the English crew.³

The next year Wouter Van Twiller, the famous Knickerbocker Director General of the New Netherlands, restored

Fort Nassau to a condition of defence, and was charged on this account with extravagance in the expenditure of public funds.

In 1633, the Dutch made another attempt at a settlement, and a purchase was made by Arondt Corsen on the banks of the Schuylkill, where, in the same year, Fort Beversrede was erected, soon to be abandoned. On which Mr. Armstrong remarks: "the readiness which the natives manifested to part with their territory was equalled only by their willingness to sell it again to any who might choose to purchase it."

In 1635, a party of English adventurers from Connecticut, under the command of George Holmes, made an unsuccessful attempt upon the fort, were taken prisoners, and were sent to Manhattan, where they were pardoned, and allowed to settle in the vicinity of Fort Amsterdam—they being the first English to acquire a habitation in the New Netherlands.²

Fort Nassau remained with more or less of a garrison until the Dutch themselves destroyed it in 1650, as "being too high up and too much out of the way."³

Such were the principal events during the first period of Dutch rule. The attempts to plant colonies proved to be failures, for while Fort Nassau seems to have been irregularly maintained, it was rather as a fortified trading place, than as the nucleus of a colony. The ill-fated effort of DeVries under the Goodyn purchase had been made under the auspices of an assembly of eleven Delegates, to whom was entrusted, by virtue of the charter, the supervision and government of the West Indian Company.⁴ Freedom and exemption were offered to all such as should establish any colonies. Those who were disposed to avail themselves of these privileges were, under certain restrictions, obliged to "plant a colony of fifty souls," and might occupy a territory of four Dutch miles¹ along a navigable river, and "as far into the country as their situation might permit," and received, among other feudal rights, the power of administering justice.² In fact, among the leading features of the chartered privileges of the West India Company were the administration of Justice, the preservation of order, the maintenance of police, and the appointment of judicial and executive officers. There was also an express provision that the Roman law, the imperial statutes of Charles V, and the edicts, resolutions, and customs of the Fatherland were to be received as the paramount rule of action in New Netherlands, except in cases specially provided for by the will of the Company, expressed in their instructions, or declared in their military or marine ordinances.³

The execution of these ambitious grants of power was brought to naught by the melancholy extinction of Gilles Hossett and his companions, in the blackened and blood-stained Valley of the Swans.

SWEDISH RULE.

In 1638, the Swedes appeared. Their coming was without a shadow of right under the law of nations. It has been asserted that Charles I had, by deed, relinquished to Sweden the English rights upon the Delaware,⁴ but the deed has never been found, and no English statesman or historian has ever admitted its existence. The true explanation lies in the conduct of two dissatisfied servants of the Dutch.

⁴ A Short Description of the Province of New Sweden, by Thomas Campanius Holm, Memoirs of Hist. Soc. of Pa., vol. iii, p. 68.

In 1626, William Usselinx, a merchant of Antwerp, a truly remarkable man, and the original projector of the Dutch West India Company,¹ growing sour and sullen, threw up his employment, and for the price of one florin per thousand of merchandise to be exported or imported, persuaded Gustavus Adolphus of the advantages of organizing a Swedish West India Company. The ambition of the conqueror of Tilly, who was the first of the Swedish monarchs to play a great rôle in European history, was aroused by the thought of trading with lands in Africa, America, Magellanica or Terra Australis, and of extending the commerce of his realm, while his zeal as a Protestant was fired by the thought of spreading the truths of the Christian religion. In fact, the plan of colonization was spoken of by him as "the jewel of his kingdom." A charter was granted with most elaborate provisions, and vague and extraordinary powers. The company was to constitute a Council, which, with its officers, should attend to the administration of justice, preserve good laws, continue war, appoint soldiers, governors, directors, and judges, build castles and cities, accommodate differences between citizens of the country and the natives, as well as between directors or chambers, and, finally, preserve everything in good condition.²

In the same year, the Dutch West India Company, as a protective measure, determined to establish its authority in New Netherlands by a formal government with greatly enlarged powers. They appointed a Director, assisted by a Council of Five, and a Schout, who combined the duties of Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney; there were also inferior magistrates called Schepens. Peter Minuit was chosen

² The full text of the Swedish charter is given on pp. 16-20 of Hazard's Annals of Penna., obtained from a rare source, the Argonautica Gustaviana, published by Usselinx in 1663, of which the only copy supposed to be in this country is in the library of Harvard College.

Director and held the office until 1633, when he quarrelled bitterly with the powerful Patroons, and was superseded by Van Twiller, a near relative to the influential Van Rensselaers. Embittered by his removal, he tendered his services to Sweden, whose Chancellor, Oxenstiern, a man of profound combinations, and quite the equal of Richelieu in statecraft, was anxious to carry out the cherished plan of the great Gustavus, who had fallen on the field of Lützen. Accordingly, after some delays, owing to the unsettled state of the finances following the death of the king, Peter Minuit, with a commission in the name of the infant Queen Christina, brought out an expedition in two vessels, ascended the Delaware, purchased the soil of the western shore from Cape Henlopen to a point north of the site of the future Philadelphia, and erected a fort on a small stream in the neighborhood of the present city of Wilmington, which he named Christina.

Kieft, the successor of Van Twiller, as Director of New Amsterdam, protested vigorously against this invasion of Dutch territory. "This has been our property," said he, "for many years, occupied with forts, and sealed with our blood," and then, with a fine personal thrust at Minuit, added, "which was also done when thou wast in the service of New Netherland, and is, therefore, well known to thee." The protest was disregarded. Minuit, who had brought with him about fifty Swedes, displayed skill and enterprise, succeeding in avoiding encounters with the natives and the Dutch, building up an extensive trade in furs, and governing his little colony with vigor, but he died within three years in the bosom of his settlement.¹

had arrived in 1640 with a ship richly laden with cattle and provisions, at a moment so opportune as to save the colony from the humiliation of self-confessed failure. About this time two bold attempts were made by Englishmen, acting without visible governmental authority, to plant themselves upon the Delaware. One party, under the command of Robert Cogswell, from Connecticut, established itself at the mouth of Salem Creek on the eastern shore. Another party from Virginia sailed past Fort Christina and Fort Nassau, and started a settlement on the River Schuylkill. They were driven off and their works destroyed by an expedition fitted out from New Amsterdam, the Swedes at Christina acting as allies of the Dutch.¹ The Dutch had been told by their Director General that "it was their duty to drive these English from thence."

In 1643 a new Swedish Governor arrived in the person of John Printz, whose commission was dated at Stockholm. The most minute instructions were given for his guidance. He was to maintain friendly relations with the Indians; to hold their trade; to sow grain for the support of his colonists; to plant tobacco; to breed cattle and sheep of high grade; to raise silk worms; to cultivate grapes; to manufacture salt; to search for metals; and to promote the whale fisheries. He brought with him a strong body of settlers, about one hundred in number. Perceiving with the eye of a military man the weakness of Fort Christina for commanding the navigation of the river, he erected a new fort of great strength on Tenna Kong or Tinicum Island, and called it New Gottenburg, which became "the metropolis of the Swedish American Empire," as it was pleasantly denominated by the learned Mr. Duponceau. Here he built a "Stately Palace" of bricks brought from Stockholm, known as Printz Hall, and with a singular admixture of executive, legislative and judicial powers discharged all the functions of government. He was an irascible, bluff, but enterprising soldier-governor, and planted another fort, called Elsingborg, manning eight brass pounders, near the mouth of Salem Creek, compelling all ships ascending the river to lower their colors and secure a permit before they could pass. He even brought DeVries, the Dutch "master of artillery," to anchor by a cannon shot.¹

Numerous remonstrances and protests passed between the doughty Printz and the Dutch at Fort Nassau, and for a time a wordy war was waged. DeVries described him as "Captain Printz, who weighs 400 pounds, and drinks three horns at every meal." Judge Grubb adds, "little is known of him in his judicial capacity, but it is probable that he brought more weight than law to the bench."² Mr. Fisher describes him as a man of education and ability.³ Mr. Armor says that he was furious and passionate, difficult of access, and sending home messengers, who brought him intelligence, "bloody and bruised."⁴ Mr. Ferris declares that he was bold, active, persevering, but passionate and rash.⁵ Acrelius admits that he acted haughtily.⁶ Mr. Armstrong argues that he acted with energy and ability, and that the charge of undue violence was made by the rivals of his government.⁷

The English charged him with putting one of their men in irons, plying him with strong drink and then pressing him to admit that they had hired the Indians to cut off the Swedes. Whatever his character, the Swedes throve under his rule. Besides the places already named, they had settlements at Swedesboro, Upland (now Chester), Manaiung, a handsome little fort of hickory logs at the mouth of the Schuylkill, Wiccacoa (late Passyunk), Shackamaxon (late Kensington), and elsewhere. Three Swedes, the sons of Sven, subsequently owned the tract included in the ancient limits of Philadelphia which they exchanged with Penn for a tract in the Liberties, near the City, containing 820 acres.¹

The Dutch grew restive under these aggressions. Peter Stuyvesant, the recently installed Director of New Amsterdam, who stumped about on a silver leg, determined to separate the Swedish forts. He boldly destroyed Fort Nassau, and blockaded the river by the erection of a new fort on the site of the present town of Newcastle, which he called Fort Casimir.² Fort Elsingborg thereupon became untenable, and the Swedes withdrew, excusing their action by the not incredible plea that the place had been made uninhabitable by the repeated and sanguinary attacks of mosquitoes. Printz's spirit, and that of his son-in-law, Pappegoya, suddenly failed, but their places were taken by the defiant John Claude Rysingh, who, disregarding his instructions to employ none but the mildest measures against the Dutch, entered Fort Casimir, some say by storm,³ some say with the aid of the strategy of Lieutenant Swen Schute,⁴ and others say that he forcibly took possession and rifled the garrison even to their side arms.⁵

Affairs had now reached a crisis. The Dutch blood could not brook this atrocious outrage. Holland, for years at war with England, and a recent victor over the great navy of Spain, now turned to aid her struggling offspring in America. Swedish military glory had grown dim; the great Oxenstiern was dead; Christina had dropped her heavy sceptre into the feeble hands of Charles Gustavus, and dark clouds gathered over the Delaware. While Rysingh employed the engineer Lindstrom to strengthen the captured Fort Casimir, Stuyvesant retaliated by seizing a Swedish ship—the Golden Shark—loaded with merchandise and reinforcements, which by some accident had got into the Raritan river instead of the Delaware. For a year the Dutch military preparations were conducted with secrecy. In the meantime Rysingh, who had himself proclaimed Director General over New Sweden, summoned the Indians to a treaty of friendship at Printz Hall upon Tinicum.

Upon the 31st of August, 1655, the storm burst. Stuyvesant, with a squadron of seven armed ships and transports, containing between six and seven hundred men, appeared before Fort Casimir, and Swen Schute, the Swedish commander, realizing the hopelessness of a defence against such an armament, surrendered without a blow. Stuyvesant then turned to Fort Christina, and conducted a regular siege. Batteries were erected on every side except on the southeast, which was guarded by a low morass which, at high tide, lay five feet under water. Armed ships were anchored near the mouth of the Brandywine, and Rysingh was summoned to surrender.¹ For some time there was an interchange of messages. Then Rysingh, to scale his guns, fired a couple of cannon. The Dutch replied by discharging a number of balls directly over the fort, and by several volleys from their batteries. The Swedes called a council of war. Their weakness was manifest. With but thirty men against seven hundred, with but a scanty stock of provisions, and but little ammunition, they faced despair. Rysingh resorted to diplomacy. Stuyvesant met him with dogged stubbornness. Then, without attempting the violence of arms, he killed all the cattle, goats, swine, and poultry in the fields, broke open the houses outside of the fort, and destroyed the town. For sixteen days Rysingh held out; helpless and half starved he uttered his last defiance, declaring that he would defend the fort to the last extremity, and in the event of capture would appeal to the government of Sweden to avenge his wrongs. Stuyvesant, who throughout had borne himself with moderation, fairness, dignity, and patience, brought all his batteries to bear upon the fort, and sternly summoned Rysingh to surrender within twenty-four hours, or suffer the consequences of a capture by force of arms. A council of the whole garrison was called, and it was unanimously concluded that defence was hopeless, and that the fort should be yielded up on the best terms obtainable. The articles of capitulation were honorable to both victors and vanquished. The Swedes were permitted to retain all the cannon, ammunition, provisions, stock, and articles within the fort. The Governor, his officers and men, marched out with all their arms, to the sound of music, and beneath their own colors, under a safe conduct to Sweden. All letters and documents, whether public or private, were retained. No one was deprived of property, and all citizens were allowed a year and six weeks within which to depart, unless before that time they swore allegiance to the Dutch government.

Thus fell New Sweden. The victory of the Dutch, while complete, was unstained by blood, although Rysingh bitterly complained to his king that he and his companions had been "left as sheep doomed to the knife, to receive the wild barbarians." Even the mild Acrelius asserts that the Swedes suffered great hardships from the Dutch; that the flower of their troops were picked out and sent to New Amsterdam; that men were forcibly carried aboard the ships; that women were ill treated in their houses; that their goods were pillaged, and that their cattle were killed.¹ This judgment appears harsh and overstated. There was much crimination and recrimination in the correspondence between Stuyvesant and Rysingh, and much in the way of rejoinder and sur-rejoinder, but the Dutchman stood firmly on the position that his countrymen had discovered and first occupied the land into which the Swedes had intruded, and that both Printz and Rysingh had been guilty of unprovoked acts of violence.²

It is undeniable that it was Rysingh's act in seizing Fort Casimir that cost the Swedish throne its American colonies, and it was in terms of lamentation that the historian addressed Louisa Ulrica: "Most Gracious Queen! That land upon the river De la Ware which Queen Christina purchased of the wild heathen according to the laws and rights of nations; that land whereon her soldiers built forts and erected the arms of the Swedish crown; that land which its first colonists brought forth from its solitude—that land was ours."

Few traces exist of Swedish judicial establishments, but though slight, they are interesting. The ponderous Printz was the first judge upon our shores, and Tinicum Island was the first seat of justice. By the Swedish instructions the administration of law was to be in the name of Her Royal Majesty and the Crown of Sweden. At first the Governor might use his own seal, but in somewhat larger form, in briefs, contracts, correspondence and other written documents of a public character; he was to decide all controversies which might arise according to Swedish law and right; and in all matters, as far as possible, he was to adopt

² See the Correspondence, Hazard's Annals of Penna., pp. 183–203. The Directors in Holland objected to all this correspondence: "That all which is written and copied is too long preserved, and may sometimes, when it is neither desired nor expected, be brought forward; whereas words not recorded, are by length of time forgotten, or may be explained, construed, or excused as circumstances may require."

and employ "the laudable customs, habits and usages of this most praiseworthy realm."¹ This, though but a glimpse, is sufficient to show that no special code was prepared for the government of the colony. Although Swedish writers have asserted that trial by jury is of Swedish origin, yet no instance is known of its application in the colony, unless it is to be inferred from the fact that Printz was empowered to punish offenders with imprisonment and even with loss of life, "yet not in any other than the usual manner, and after the proper hearing, and consideration of the case, with the most respectable people and the most prudent associate judges who can be found in this country as his associates."² Evidently he found difficulty in discharging his duties, and in finding competent assessors, for as a military man he was not learned in the law, and as the protector of the interests of the West India Company he was embarrassed by acting in a double capacity. On the 20th of February, 1647, he writes: "Again, I have several times solicited to obtain a learned and able man, 1st. To administer justice and attend to the law business; sometimes very intricate cases occurring, in which it is difficult, and never ought to be for one and the same person to appear in Court as plaintiff as well as judge. 2nd. To act as Secretary, especially in the Latin language, for it many times has happened, as is proved by the annexed paper, that I have received Latin letters from all parts."³

The fiery Rysingh attempted some matters of domestic regulation by drawing an ordinance "concerning the People, Country, Agriculture and Cattle" proclaimed in New Sweden in the year 1654.⁴

Mr. Armstrong considers it not improbable that a Swedish court was established at Upland, and we shall very shortly see that all of the Justices of the earliest English tribunal on the soil of Pennsylvania were Swedes.¹

DUTCH RULE: SECOND PERIOD.

Upon the conquest by the Dutch, affairs assumed a more stable condition. An oath of allegiance to the United Netherlands was prescribed to be taken by the Swedish settlers—most of whom, between four and five hundred in number, preferred to remain. With but few exceptions, they proved tractable, devoting themselves to the peaceful arts of husbandry. The administration of justice was placed on a new basis. New Gottenburg, on Tinicum, now ceased to be the seat of government, which was removed, as a piece of poetic justice, to Casimir, the name being changed to New Amstel. John Paul Jacquet was appointed by the Director and Council at New Amsterdam, Vice Director and Commander upon the Zuydt, or South River,² under a commission “to do justice and administer it, either in civil or military cases.”³ In him, and two other persons as a Council, to be increased, in the adjudication of affairs “purely civil between freemen and Company’s servants,” by the addition of “two most expert freemen,” was vested jurisdiction in “all propositions relative to justice,”—extending, as it has been understood, to the establishment of a method of procedure suited to the wants of the colony; the decision in the Council to be by the majority, and the casting vote to be by the Vice Director.

Jacquet soon got into trouble with his accounts, and was arrested by the Attorney General. On demanding a copy of the petition under which the arrest was made, and a statement of the authority by which he was proceeded against, the Attorney General answered: "as plaintiff, ratione officii," an early instance of proceedings ex officio. On his appearance in Court, he presented a written answer, which was rejected by the Attorney General, who said he must answer "ilice on the accusations, or return to his arrest."¹ He defended himself with spirit, but was relieved of his office.

In 1657, with a view of reducing expenses, occasioned by the cost of acquiring the river, the West India Company transferred New Amstel, with the territory as far North as Christina Creek, and South as far as Bombay Hook, to the Burgomasters of the City of Amsterdam, who appointed Jacob Alricks Director General. A mode was provided for the government of New Amstel by the selection of a Schout, or Sheriff, and Prosecuting Attorney, a Chief Judge and Schepens.² The latter had the power to decide suits under 100 guilders ($60.00); but if over that amount, subject to an appeal to the Council at New Amsterdam; and to pronounce sentence in criminal cases, also subject to appeal.

Before the arrival of Alricks the government consisted of a military council over the soldiers, while differences between the settlers were decided by the commander and two persons acting as schepens. After his arrival several city councillors were elected, and from them three new schepens were chosen; another secretary and schout were also appointed, and two elders and two deacons for the management of church affairs.³

All necessary means were furnished for the legal guidance of Vice Director Alricks, as appears from a letter written by him to his superiors:—"I have received the police and law books which were sent out, consisting of two parts, and duplicates of each; they will be of great convenience to us, and we shall make use of them."¹

The West India Company, notwithstanding the transfer of New Amstel, retained jurisdiction over the territory not ceded. Hence there was a divided jurisdiction, and it has been conjectured, on somewhat uncertain evidence, that wherever the Swedes had courts or magistrates, they were continued by the Dutch.²

Some entertaining glimpses are obtainable of the character of the cases arising. Prices were fixed on deer and beaver skins, and a written pledge was exacted for their maintenance, under penalty of perjury for the first offence, suspension from the privileges of trade for the second, and, if the culprit proved obdurate, expulsion from the colony. Duties were imposed on French wine, brandy, distilled waters and Holland or foreign beer; guards were posted against smuggling, and it was enjoined that no liquor should be sold to an Indian. Frequent controversies arose as to duties, and breaches of the latter regulation called for the action of the schepens. A Swede and a Finn were arrested for selling beer to a savage, but being lately arrived, were discharged because of their ignorance of law. Lots were to be enclosed and goats were to be attended by a keeper. Damages for trespass were awarded, and damages refused for injuries to strays. Swine were to be yoked or killed. A servant charged one Thomas Broen with an assault and battery which disabled him from labor, and the assailant was ordered to supply the servant with victuals until he could work. The same Broen, who seems to have been a turbulent character, was soon after arrested for abuse of the Vice Director. Swen Schute and Jacob Swenske were sent to New Amsterdam, under a guard of twelve soldiers, for holding secret interviews with the savages; while a Swedish woman, who had debauched sailors, was given the option of going to Long Island or to the woods on the river. Licenses of marriage were recorded.¹ In 1661 a Swedish clergyman, the Rev. Laurentius Lockinius, or Pastor Lock, as he was also called, his wife having eloped with a low character, broke open her abductor's trunk in search of evidence against her paramour. It was solemnly adjudged, as his punishment, that for his offence he pay all the debts of the absconding wife-stealer. The doubly violent presumption that he both found assets and feloniously appropriated them may be explained, as Judge Grubb remarks, by the fact that the absconding debtor owed the court.² The same Pastor Lock married another woman within nine months without securing a divorce. He was rebuked by Stuyvesant at New Amsterdam and obliged to intermit his ministry for some months. Then the governor granted a divorce, confirmed the second marriage, and restored his gown.³

In 1658, Vice Director Alricks wrote to Stuyvesant: "I have also to pay the attorney Schelluyn, for salary earned by him in the suit against the skipper of the ship Printz Mauritz." It came about in this wise. Shortly after the Dutch conquest, and in ignorance of the change of government, the ship named arrived from Sweden with one hundred and thirty souls—farmers, traders, and mechanics, with their wives and children. They were not permitted to land, and, pending the settlement of their status at New Amsterdam, suffered many privations. A pitiable statement of their plight was made by the Captain, who resisted the effort to collect charges accruing during his detention, and duties on goods damaged by the delay, and this was the subject of the suit.¹ It seems to have been finally compromised by the payment of 750 guilders.

Such are the scattered instances of the administration of justice during the second period of Dutch rule, but they serve to give us a vivid though incomplete picture of the times.

I reserve for future consideration the establishment of English rule in 1664—extending to 1673—when, with a slight Dutch resumption of jurisdiction for a single year, English supremacy became permanently established, under the sway of a code known as the Duke of York's laws, which finally gave way to those of Penn in 1682.

Gilbert Motier de La Fayette (1757-1834) made his farewell visit to and tour through this country in 1824-25, arriving August 15, 1824, and departing Sept. 7, 1825. He was in Philadelphia from Sept. 28 to Oct. 5th, 1824, and again from July 18 to 21, 1825, and Sully made a study of his head while in Philadelphia during the first visit, which original study, signed and dated 1824, is owned by Herbert Welsh, Esq., of Germantown. This important study is not entered in the Register, which may be accounted for by a note under that year, "Some studies for other pictures are begun, but not registered." The subscriptions for 982 failed and the portrait, which was not finished until 1833, was left on Sully's hands. He subsequently presented it to the Pa. Academy of the Fine Arts and that institution later, with the artist's consent, transferred it to the city of Philadelphia in exchange for West's painting of Paul and Barnabas which had been bequeathed to the City, and thus 982 finally reached the destination originally intended for it and it hangs in the old State House. It is one of Sully's fine works. 983 is in hall of Hist. Soc. of Penna.

LETTERS OF GEN. JOHN FORBES, 1758.

[The following letters of Gen. John Forbes, together with those of Col. Henry Bouquet we are printing, furnish interesting details relating to the march to and capture of Fort Duquesne, by Forbes' army. The original letters are in the Manuscript Department of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.]

(General Forbes to David Ross.)

SIR

I designd to have wrote you the other day when I sent Mr. Howell credit for the money paid into your hands over and above the £1500 Sterling allowed to be paid by Mr. Kilby, but I was so much out of order that I was not able.

I am sorry that this transaction designed almost entirely for your behoof, and the carring on of the service, should have turned out so disagreeably, nor could I have imagined that you was to conceive either Governour Sharp's honour or your own so deeply concerned as to choose to go to Prison rather than return Mr. Howell that money, when a little reflection must have suggested to you that some misunderstanding or neglect had been the cause of Mr. Howell's redemanding it, which a letter to me must have cleared up imediately.

As the neglect was mine I hope you have now got the money, I am therefore now to acquaint you in order to prevent misunderstandings betwixt Governour Sharp and me that you are not to pay away that whole sum untill that you hear farther from Govern^r Sharp, as this money advanced by me is designed as a Generall aid to diminish the debts due by and to, the Maryland troops, and for the carrying on of the service, and not at all designed to the paying of any particular debt due in this manner, I mean transporting provisions, officers or mens pay, hospitals &c^a because, before those can be fully cleared the Accounts and the Vouchers must be properly examined and found relevant.

So therefore I would not have you use above £500 of the above sum until that you hear farther from me or the Governour, and that only to stop the mouths of poor people who may be in want, the rest of the sum remaining in your hands accountable for it to me.

I hope to see the Governour in a few days when all this will be easily adjusted I am Sir

SIR

SHIPPENSBURG 28 August [1758].

I wrote you by Mr Ennis the Express two days ago, and have little to add, only my distemper begins to abate.

I know that your Coffee house people will make their remarks very freely why I do not proceed but they must talk; altho' I must take my own way. But the great reason is, the horrible roguery, and rascality in the Country people, who did not at all fulfill their Contracts and agreements, neither in Carriages nor Horses. For in the place of Carrying 2000 w^t they never had above 14 or 1500, and in place of 12 days made 20 of their Journeys by which our magazines were disappointed and our daily consumption at Raestown must have fallen upon them [the Magazines] had I pushed forward the troops.

Everything that depended upon the troops has succeeded to admiration, and we have got intirely the better of that impossible road, over the Alleganey mountain & Laurell ridge, so we are ready to take the very first favourable opportunity (if not with the whole) at least of visiting the Enemy with pretty large detachments. So that now my advancing will again depend upon the honesty of the Inhabitants by their furnishing proper or improper Carriages, and which I beg you will make known to every body, as the troops are in great spirits, but I must not lead them to fall a sacrifice to want or Famine, and the price I pay and the treatment the Waggoners and horses meet with, deserves a better return from the Inhabitants, than they have as yet shown, for which their Country may suffer severely in the End.

I hope we have chased off the Enemy Indians from this neighbourhood, having had 300 Highlanders with all the best woodsmen out these 3 days, night and day, but never could have the Good fortune of falling on with any of them.

Two of the Indians fired upon the Head of a party of ours of 80 men, yet notwithstanding they were Instantaneously pursued they gott away. The whole Country has been in a pannick but begin again to revive. They are a sett of helpless heartless mortalls.

Col^o Byrd writes me from Fort Cumberland that a large party of Enemy Indians have been in that neighbourhood, and that Cap^t Bullen and Cap^t French who had just brought 50 Catawbas to our assistance, coming from Winchester, would go before the party when they come near Fort Cumberland, by which means they were attacked by 9 Indians, killed, and scalped within a mile of the Fort. This is a very great loss, as Bullen had proved himself a sincere friend to us.

A party of ours have returned from the Ohio with two scalps which I shall endeavour to get you, they were within a half mile of Fort Duquesne, but do not say anything extraordinary, only thinks there were about 50 Tents near the Fort and reckons there may be as many Indians there as tents, and a Garrison of 3 or 400 men.

But as this is all Conjecture, and that hitherto in spite of all the partys I have sent out, I can learn nothing that is to be depended upon, I must therefore beg that Andrew Montour may be forthwith employed in getting me Intelligence of the Enemys Strength in those parts, by going himself, as likewise sending 2 or 3 trusty hands to pick up what they can learn, as to the number of the French Canadians or Indians there at present, or expected, wether they have thrown up any Entrenchments before the Fort betwixt the Ohio and Monongahela. What they have built lately either at the Fort or tother side of the river. What Guns they mount in the Fort, wether they send out partys from the Fort during the day or night to reconnoitre the Environs. How many men mount Guard daily, &c &c and the disposition of the Indians. These spies may return to our advanced post 9 miles forward from Loyall Hannon on the other side of the Chestnut ridge of Mountains and about 40 miles from Fort Du Quesne. They may make themselves known by wearing yellow Fillets about their heads and Arms, and waving of their matchcoats upon a long pole.

I am in want of spying Glasses to send out with my partys so pray buy for me two or three good ones, and send up by the very first Express. Let Mr. Croghan send out people likewise with the same directions, and I shall be very glad to see him after your Congress, which I hope still goes forward and will produce something. I should be glad to know if they were Delawares, that was here the other day. I dare say everything will be said to bring the Indians to see their own Interest, and to abandon the French, and I fancy any demands that they have to make will be so moderate, as to be asily complied with, and doubt not but many of their young men may be induced to join me, In which case Mr. Croghan would do a signall service in conducting them safe to me. Let Mr West purchase 50 llb. weight of Vermillion, and send it off, with the first waggons that come up from Mr. Howell, with proper directions. I have broke my little Barometer, I wish you could purchase me another and send it me up safe.

Hambies & Teedyuscungs son goes down to Easttown to persuade their friends to come and join me, I wish they may be sincere so pray let them be watched narrowly.

I hope the Province will make no difficulty, as to the Expencc of this meeting, as it will be a most monstrous reflection upon them if they do, and they never after can either look for, or expect the favour or protection of Great Brittain.

I stand greatly in need of a few prunes by way of Laxative, if any fresh are lately arrived a few pounds will be a great blessing, or a pound 2 or 3 of such fine raisins as Mr Allen's were, as I eat nothing.

I expect all the news of Louisburgh so dont baulk me—

I am D^r Sir most sincerely yrs &c &c

(General Forbes' Instructions to Major Shippen.)

MAJOR SHIPPEN, You are to order the 2 new Levyed Companys of ——— to march without loss of time to strengthen the Garrison of Fort Augusta leaving one Officer and 30 Men at Fort Hunter.

All the rest of the new levyed Companys are to march towards Lancaster and so up to Carlisle, where they will have tents provided for them.

The Arms and camp necessarys for those Companys levyed up the Country, ought to be sent to Lancaster or Carlisle, as those towns lyes most contiguous to the Companys.

You are to wait upon S^r John St Clair if he is at Carlisle, who will give you his orders about the marching up of these companys to the Camp at Carlisle, From whence a Detachment equall to the Garrisons of the Forts may be made from the whole, and the companys now there may be brought on to join the army.

(General Forbes to Governor Sharp.)

RAESTOWN 16th Septem^r 1758

DEAR SIR

I received your letter from Fort Cumberland at Juniata last night, and that I might answer it more exactly brought your officer on here this day, where I now find there has a transport gone from here this morning for Fort Cumberland with provisions which will serve in the meantime untill Mr Rutherford arrives; what I was to do with regard to spirits I could not well say, imagining they could be bought as reasonable and cheap at Fort Cumberland as they could be sent from this, but now being informed of the contrary I have ordered two hogsheads to be sent off directly, which will give me time to look about me for a day or two and draw Breath, being at this present moment in bed wearied like a dog.

I have the most laconic letter from Dr. Ross that ever was wrote to a Gentleman where £1500. was concerned, consisting of these words, "Sir I have received yours and shall report to Gov^r Sharp. I am Sir"— In a day or two I hope to write you more fully upon several other things. In the meantime I am very sincerely

P. S. If spirits can be purchased reasonable at Fort Cumberland, I dont see why we should be obliged to send them from this. Mr St. Clair is just now come in and informs me that the transport of provisions above mentioned, did not proceed as I have said—However as there is an Express gone to Winchester to Mr. Rutherford to hasten him up, I hope you will be able to make a shift untill that he arrives or that I can send you a fresh supply, which shall be the first thing I shall take care of when any comes to this place, and that expect tomorrow or the day after

(General Forbes to Richard Peters.)

SIR

I have been of late but a bad correspondent as I could only write of multiplicity of grievances crowding upon the back of one another, all dismall to look at, yet by patience and perseverance, to be in some measure surmounted or alleviate. This I hope in God I have done, and trust greatly that from the same principles I shall be able to accomplish what yet remains.

I wish sincerely your treaty could have been brought about a little earlier, from whence wee might have drawn some powerfull helps this very Campaign, but I never repine at what cannot be remedied, and I am this moment flattering myself that from the joint endeavours of all with you, the dropping of foolish trifles, some measures will be taken with those originale Inhabitants as to strengthen ourselves and diminish our Ennemys Influence with them in those parts for if it is as I see things giving up sometimes a little in the beginning will procure you a great deal in the end.

Frederick Post has been here some time, I think he has execute the Commission he was sent upon, wth ability and Fidelity, and deserves a proper reward. The two people who reconducted him here, deserve likewise of any Government, but I think if what he says of Daniell be true that he deserves no countenance. I do not know whether the province will defray those charges, but they certainly ought as they may reap the profitts, I have no kind of judgment what Post deserves. I have ordered him fifteen pounds in the mean time I send him to you by this Express, that he and his two Conductors may be sent directly back with proper Messages (as the Governor shall direct) to the Ohio Indians to retire directly, as the season will admitt of no delay.

Pray make my excuse to Mr. Croghan for not answering his letter, but I approve of his measures and proposall of joining me, which I wish he would do without the loss of one moment of time, as now that I have everything in readiness at Loyall Hannon, I only want a few dry days to carry me to the Ohio Banks, where I hope our operations will not be long, so send me back the express that carrys this, with all diligence and let Mr. Croghan write me the day that he intends setting out, with his route, and when I may expect him here, with the number that he expects to accompany him, Dispatch at present is absolutely necessary, so I should think he can dispense without seeing the end of your Congress.

Most of the Indians that have been preying upon us all year, have after getting all they possibly could expect, left us, and the few remaining were just agoing home in spite of every kind of means used to prevent them, when the little Carpenter arrived at this Camp with about 60 good Warriors, But he is as consummate a Dog as any of them, only seeing our distress, has made him exceed all others in his most avaricious demands, There is no help for those criticall minutes, and after foolishly laying out many thousands of pounds, I judged it would be wrong policy to lose him and all the rest for a few hundreds more.

Upon the 12th in the morning the French from Fort Du Quesne having a mind to repay Major Grants visit came to drive us away from our advanced post at Loyall Hannon destroy our Magazin, Bullocks, Carriages &c. They consisted of a body of 900 French and Canadians and two Hundred of those Friends, you are now treating with, they had gott within five miles of the post, and proposed attacking all the out post and Guards next morning, but being discovered they resolutely attempted to storm the Breast work thrown up about the Camp—accordingly fell a firing and Halloing in order to bring out detachments, by which they proposed entering the Breastwork pell mell with them when routed. The 60 Maryland Volunteers went out and attacked them with vigour and Courage, but overpowered, Col. Burd who commanded sent a strong detachment of the 1st Pennsylvania Reg^t to sustain them, but they being likewise repulsed a third detachment of the Virginians &c, went out to bring the other off, which they did by retreating to the Breastwork. The Ennemy followed closs to the edge of the Wood where they were stopt by the Grape shot from our Cannon and the shells of the Coehorns and Howbitzers, however they continued firing upon the breast work from eleven to three in the afternoon without any Considerable loss on our side, they then retreated a little, and carried away their dead and wounded in which they were favoured by the lying of the Ground, and then marched five miles off. Wee saved all our live Cattle, but the officers horses are either carried away or a missing. Two Maryland officers are killed and about 60 of our men are missing altho wee cannot believe them killed having only found six bodys, one officer of the Train wounded, wch is all our loss. That of the Ennemy wee cannot ascertain, altho it must needs be Considerable considering the advantages wee fought with against them, a Breast work & Cannon—I fancy they will not visit soon again and it has put all the Waggoners in such spirits that a single waggon will go now without one escorte, but these cursed Rains upon our new roads in clay soils and everything upon wheels, has at present renderd the Laurell Hill quite unpassable so wee must wait some dry days to be able to go forward. God grant them soon—

I think Mr. Croghan might send a trusty man or two or three towards Venango, in a direct Road from you, who by coming down the Ohio might come over and join us at Loyal Hannon with what intelligence of the Reinforcements lately gone to the French they could pick up, and what tribes of Indians are still with them which sure can not be many now as I am sure they are scarce of provisions. Pray make my apology to Gov^r Denny for not writing him, being still extreemly bad that is to say, weak, and my Complim^{ts} to him and Gov^r Bernard, to whose negotiations, I sincerely wish success, and hope they cannot fail, send me all your news by the express and believe me Sir very sincerely

RAYSTOWN CAMP

October 16th

Pray heartily for fair weather and dispatch of Business— But what absurd mortall made your Assembly settle the price of tranporting provisions this length and no further— This length the Waggoners do come & finer horses and Waggons I never saw, each bringing at least 2000 Weight with ease, but one foot further they will not move, so I am drove to the necessity of persuading them to move forward in the military way, but still paying them in proportion, or leaving the price to their Assembly—I am quite tyred. Adieu. I have sent home your books.

SIR

[Torn] astonished and amazed upon [torn] and villanous desertion of [torn] of the methods he had used [torn] from our assistance at so very criticall a time, He has often told us in publick that his nation were going to make warr against the virginians & His Majesty's subjects. I therefore thought him a good pledge in our hands to prevent that, and consequently the whole of them, were indulged in every extravagant, avaricious demand that they made. But seeing that those who have thus deserted and abandoned us, with all the aggravating circumstances attending their desertion, are preludes to what we may expect from them, I therefore desire that upon receipt of this you will instantly dispatch an express to the Commanding officer at Raystown who is to send one to Winchester & Fort Cumberland in case that he, the Carpenter & his Followers should have already past Raystown, and notice ought to be sent to fort Loudoun likewise with my orders which are that having under the Cloak of Friendship robbed us these severall months, But that now having discovered themselves our private Ennemies, and having turned the Arms putt into their hands by us against his Majestys subjects, which the former partys have already done, That therefore prudence and self preservation oblidged us to require of them the returning of their Arms and ammunition, directly, as likewise the horses that were furnished them to accompany us to warr

That as their Blanketts Shirts Silver truck are not of that consequence, therefore the peremptory stripping off them need not [torn] But I insist upon the Inhabitants [torn] — chester making them do [torn] and horses, which is but [torn] fellow subjects of the [torn] through, where no doubt they would committ all sort of Outrage, so that it will be necessary to send a sufficient escorte along with them, allowing of them a sufficiency of provisions and no more, so that the Cherokee nation may see plainly they will have nothing to complain off but the baseness and perfidy of those whom they have sent amongst us as friends for these seven months by past.

The Garrison of Fort Cumberland is strong enough to compell them to deliver up their Arms, so let a Copy of this my letter be sent to the Commanding officer who is to make use of all the fair means in his power, before he takes their arms from them. Raystown they are to do the same.

But as the Garrison of Fort Loudoun is perhaps too weak either to refuse them their presents, or make them deliver up their Arms, I desire therefore that in case they take that way, that Major Wells march directly himself with a sufficient force from Raystown to Fort Loudoun to execute this, which you and all Concerned are always first to try by Gentle methods, before that rougher ones be made use off —As it is impossible any of your Garrison can overtake them before they reach Raystown, I therefore desire no time may be lost in sending copys of my letter and directions to Raystown, to be forthwith transmitted by Major Wells if they are passed to Forts Loudoun, Cumberland and Winchester by expresses [torn] Mr. Smith [torn] Interpreter ought to be sent after them, to serve to explain matters and prevent as far as can be the bad Consequences of them going home through Virginia and north Carolina arm'd— for which purpose this letter is wrote as Virginia has already suffered.

FORT DUQUESNE NOW PITTSBURG

SIR

I have the pleasure and honour of acquainting you with the Signal success of His Majesty's Troops over all his Enemies on the Ohio, by having obliged them to burn and abandon their Fort Duquesne which they effectuated upon the 24th instant, And of which I took possession with my little Army, the next day, the Enemy having made their Escape down the River part in Boats and part by Land to their Forts and settlements on the Mississippi, being abandoned or at least not seconded by their Friends the Indians whom we had previously engaged to act a neutral part, and who now seem all willing and ready to embrace His Majesty's most gracious protection.

So give me leave to congratulate you upon this important event of having totally expelled the French from their Fort and this prodigious tract of fine Country and of having in a manner reconciled the various tribes of Indians inhabiting it to His Majesty's Government.

I have not time to give you a detail of our proceedings and approaches towards the Enemy, or of the hardships and difficulties that we necessarily met with, all that will soon come out, but I assure you after reviewing the Ground and Fort I have great reason to be most thankful for the part that the French have acted.

As the conquest of this Country is of the greatest Consequence to the adjacent provinces by securing the Indians our real Friends for their own advantage, I have therefore sent for their head people to come to me, when I think in a few Words and few days to make every thing easy. I shall then set out to kiss your hands, if I have strength enough left to carry me through the Journey.

I shall be obliged to leave about 200 Men of your provincial troops to join a proportion of Virginia and Marylanders in order to protect this Country during Winter, by which time I hope the provinces will be so sensible of the great benefit of this new Acquisition as to enable me to fix this noble fine Country, to all perpetuaty under the Dominion of Great Britian.

I beg the Barracks may be put in good repair and proper lodging for the Officers, and that you will send me with the greatest dispatch your Opinion how I am to dispose of the rest of your provincial Troops, for the ease and convenience of the province and the Inhabitants.—You must also remember that Colonel Montgomery's Battalion of 1300 Men & four companies of Royal Americans, are after so long and tedious a Campaign to be taken care of in some Comfortable Winter Quarters.

I kiss all your hands and flatter myself that if I get to philadelphia, under your cares and good Companys I shall yet run a good chance of reestablishing a health that I run the risque of ruining to give your province all the satisfaction in the power of my weak abilities.

I am Sir

with great esteem and regard

Your most obedient

humble servant

SWEDES OF WEST JERSEY, 1745.

[The journalist, Rev. Abraham Reincke, was born 1712, in Stockholm, Sweden, finished his education at the University at Jena, and shortly after entered the ministry of the Moravian Church. In 1744, he was sent to Pennsylvania, and for a time preached to the descendants of the Swedish settlers along the Delaware in West Jersey. After serving in the ministry for twenty-two years, he died at Bethlehem, April 7, 1760. His companion on this journey was Joachim Senseman.]

March 26.—We left Bethlehem to day, and after dinner, in crossing a creek, we both slipped in and were thoroughly soaked. At night we lodged with an old Switzer and his wife.

March 27.—Set out early in the morning, in the midst of a heavy rain, and at dusk, reached Germantown, where we were entertained by John Bechtel and family.

March 28.—Early this morning came in to Philadelphia, and called on Charles Brockden. In the evening took part in the services in the Moravian Church.

March 29.—With [Daniel] Neubert, [Gustavus] Hesselius and [John] Herrenbom, we went to the ferry to cross over to ye Jerseys. At Peter Rambo's house we were kindly received.

March 30.—Rode to John Johnson's, who with his wife, entertained us hospitably.

March 31 (Sunday).—We all rode to Thomas Dennys, in whose house we are to keep a service. About 11 o'clock the meeting began, many people having been gathered, and Bro. Reincke spoke on the text: "I ask therefore, for what intent ye have sent for me?" A. Hopmann, clerk of Racoon, is my friend, clerk, and Psalm-setter. After the service, visited Matthew Gill, an awakened Irishman, who wants to send his children to our school.

April 1.—Came to Andreas Holsteins, who directed us on the way to Gerred van Nimmen's, who is one of the principal men among the Swedes in Penn's Neck.

April 2.—John van Nimmen and his son, went with us to the Church at Penn's Neck, seven miles distant. Before preaching my Swedish sermon, Mr. Tranberg and wife arrived from Wilmington, and I was subsequently introduced to him. While we were speaking together, a man beg'd me to baptize his child, but I declined and prayed Mr. Tranberg to comply—at first he declined, but finally yielded to my request. Before the English Sermon, I could have sung a Psalm out of their Book of Common Prayer, but was unacquainted with the tunes, when Mr. Tranberg offered and acted as my clerk. It is the desire of the people of Penn's Neck that I shall preach to them, and Mr. Tranberg has given his free consent. Van Nimmen's family is very numerous and live in the neighborhood—the emigrant was from Holland; the Gracebergs, an Irish family, also live nearby.

April 3-4.—We set out early this morning with Andreas Holstein, for Morris River, 40 miles from Raccoon. About 13 miles on the other side of the river, came to an English family by the name of Campbell. He begged me to come and preach to the English who live in his neighborhood, who are attached to the Church of England but have no preacher. A Baptist minister from Cape May, sometimes preaches among them. In the evening came to old George Keens', who has one son Eric, who with his family lives with him. Old George, who is a widower, and desires to marry a widow of about fifty years old, asked me to publish the bans in Raccoon, Penn's Neck and Morris River, and when I return to perform the ceremony.

April 5.—In company with George Keen visited in the neighborhood—Nicholas Hoffman and his wife Catharine were very agreeable. From Hoffman's crossed the creek to the Church, some years ago begun by the Moravians. It stands on a hill, not far from Morris River, very conveniently located for all the people; two acres of land belong to it. From thence we went to old John Hopmann's, who looks like an Indian, and met there his wife, and the wife of William Cobb; next to Joseph and Abraham Johnsons.

April 7 (Sunday).—About 11 o'clock more people assembled than expected, and I preached in George Keen's house, first in Swedish, and later in English. Baptized infant son of Eric and Catherine Keen. Samuel Issard, a New Light, and many Germans, who burn tar, were present from Cohansey.

April 8.—Resumed our visits and came first to Samuel Cobb's, who married a daughter of George Keen; thence to Nicholas and Catherine Hopmann's, where we met Lucas Petersen, and to John Hopmann's. I found in this country scarcely one genuine Swede left, the most of them are either in part or in whole on one side or other descended from English or Dutch parents, some of them have had a Dutch, German or English father, others a Swedish mother, and others a Dutch or English mother and a Swedish father. Many of them can just recollect that their grand-fathers or mothers were Swedish. In general there is such confusion in their lineage, that they themselves can't tell, if they spring from English or Dutch, Swedish or German parents. The English are evidently swallowing up the people and the Swedish language is so corrupted, that if I did not know the English, it would be impossible to understand the language of my dear Sweden.

April 9.—This morning I preached in the Swedish language, and later in English, and prepared for my return home.

April 10.—After taking leave of my friends, I started on my journey homeward.

BY HELEN JORDAN.

SIR

You are hereby required to pay out of the money actually in your hands or out of the Sums which will hereafter be paid to you for His Majesties Service all the orders from General Stanwix & all my Draughts not exceeding said sums for the present you will be pleased to answer the Draughts of Cap. Hambright to the amount of Two Thousand pounds Currency to be employed by him in purchasing waggon horses not exceeding seven hundred pounds at a time and to account with him regularly upon his producing the Horses to you with the Certificates of the Price paid for each allowing to said Captain Hambright twenty Shillings Currency for each horse over and above the Price of the Horse and just Expences to bring him to Lancaster. You are also to pay unto Messieurs Barr & Slough the Price of Six Thousand bushels of Oats not exceeding two shillings ₤ bushel and to pay the necessary charge of a clerk to receive and deliver it, & of Storage.

Mr. Armour has also Credit upon you for y^e amount of Three Thousand bushels of oats at the same price.

Lieutenant Kern has credit for two Thousand bushels of Oats not exceeding twenty pence ₤ bushel.

You are also desired to pay four pounds in advance to every owner who enters his Waggon in the service to be deducted out of his pay when you settle his acct.

The Waggon Masters are to receive Ten Shillings Currency ₤ day including their horses and Benjamin Price [wagonmaster] Ten Shillings Sterling ₤ day.

You will be pleased to pay for all y^e Oats, Spelts and Rye bought by several people and sent to the Kings Stores not exceeding Twelve Thousand Bushels all included till further orders.

The Receipts of the above Gentlemen or others concerned with their Vouchers will be your sufficient warrant. Besides the sum of One Thousand & Seventy three pounds, seventeen Shillings Currency paid to you and Two hundred and fifty pounds which you are to receive of Bernard Hubley, I give you a Credit of Two Thousand, One hundred and eighteen pounds and eight pence Half peney upon John Nelson of Philadelphia, payable at sight on your order.

Lancaster 15 May, 1759

HENRY BOUQUET
D. A. General.

In Consideration of the Trouble and Expenses attending the Payment of Money, Keeping accounts and collecting the Waggon, &c. Brigadier General Stanwix allows you to Charge in your account two and a half ₤ cent Commission upon all sums paid by you for the Carriage of the County of Lancaster during the ensuing Campaign to the Westward. Given under my hand at Lancaster the 22^d June

1759

HENRY BOUQUET

CARLISLE 26th June, 1759

DEAR SIR

I arrived here yesterday morning & found our stores very thin, Therefore must desire you to load at Lancaster as many Waggon as you can with flour, & even take what Scott may have ready, as we would not have enough here to load all our Waggon, were they to come.

Mr Shippen will get from the Contractors agent a Receipt for the quantity of flour carried for them to Carlisle to charge them afterwards with the Carriage.

If some of the Waggon's can load a sufficient quantity of their own forrage to serve them two or three trips to Bedford, they must be excused from taking flour, But all those who have room left must load as much as they can.

Mr. [Adam] Hoops [Commissary] must not depend upon Scotts, Stevensons or Leshers Contracts. I see little or nothing done by them: If our contracted Waggon's are not sufficient to carry his flour, He must procure some himself.

I have Intelligence that the French had 300 men and 200 Indians at Venango, & expected more with an Intention to act offensively; We must now exert ourselves to the utmost to form the Magazines, all methods be taken at once to procure Waggon's.

This little County rated at 30 has really 40 Waggon's in the service & Byers expects 20 more. The County of York shall be impressed immediately

There is only 377 stands of arms here; therefore be pleased to arm all the Troops coming this way at Lancaster & send with the first Waggon's the rest of the Tents.

Capt. Gordon's stores are not to be mixed with other goods, but sent by themselves as soon as possible.

I shall perhaps have the Pleasure to see you again at Lancaster to meet the General;

Be so good to collect all your Recruiting Parties and send them to this Place, I will forward them up the Country to form your Batt. as you desired.

My Compliments to M^r Shippen (to whom please to communicate this) & to your Ladies.

I am

Dear Colonel

Your most obedient
hble servant

HENRY BOUQUET.

If you see Mr. Hoops desire him to send Bullocks immediately, In Spite of all my Recommendations on that head, we are eternally in Want.

(Colonel Bouquet to Colonel Burd.)

CARLISLE, 27th June 1750 Evening.

I received this Instant My Dear Colonel yours of the 25th in which you ask my opinion about sending the Waggons scattered as they are pleased to come, on acct. of the heavy charge of paying Drivers a long time before the Brigades can be ready.

I am sensible that it is a hardship, and if it could be removed I should be glad of it. But you know as well as myself that order & method are the soul of every thing, & chiefly necessary in the management of public affairs.

These Waggons will go without Waggon Masters if they commit any disorder who shall be answerable for it; If their Horses are lost or any accident happens, we must either take their word for it or displease them.

What Calculation & dependancy can we make & have upon People who are under no other Rule but their own Whims; at times the Roads may be incumbred with Waggons, at others nothing will come to us.

If you could get 15 or 20 of such Waggons ready to set out at once, no matter where they belong to, you could dispatch them under the care of a Waggon master, But I foresee nothing but Confusion when we shall be [illegible] of any other method: As you cannot stay longer at Lancaster than the General and considering the State of Health of Mr Shippen, the Extent of the County & the bad disposition of the People, which will oblige to take every Tripp the same Trouble to raise the Waggons, I think that no man alone is equal to the Task. Therefore I would propose to Mr. Shippen to associate himself a man of interest & activity to take off his hands the Riding Part & assist him in every other Branch which appears to me the more necessary as Besides his own Current affairs We must give him the Trouble to receive & pay money to all his Neighbors, which must of course confine him often at home & take too much of his time: But this I leave entirely to yours & his own discussion & Choice. Hoops writes me that the Counties of Philad^a & Northampton & Bucks have raised their Waggon. This County upon which we had no dependancy furnishes double the number required; Will it not be an eternal shame & scandal that Lancaster where we do not ask above the 10th Waggon should disapoint us to that degree?

I do not know what measures the General will take, But if he ask my sentiment, I would not move a step with the Troops till I had every Waggon wanted & the Troops should be sent back to impress every Horse in Chester, Berks, York & Lancaster Counties. I suppose that military Execution would make the magistrates sensible of the necessity of furnishing their moderate Quotas.

It is evident if we march without magazines & carriages that we go to certain ruin & destruction, & I cannot see how we could be justified having the Right to impress and an army to support it if we did make no use of such means in our Hands.

The Companies at Lancaster ought not to be removed till the General comes up & gives his orders, and if the Commissioners refuse to subsist them there, (as I think they have a right to do) They must be victualed from the King's Stores.

I shall be glad to know what success they have had in the 3 Townships, I expect little or none. I see an absolute necessity for me to go back before you leave Lancaster, to advise with you upon the best method to ascertain the continuation of Carriage for the Campaign.

I have yet no answer from York, or Berks, tho' I wrote twice to Conrad Weiser, Please to send him an Express to know what he is doing. I am vexed out of my senses by the Plague of the new Levies: My compliments to Mr. Shippen & the family.

I am entirely My dear Sir

Yours

HENRY BOUQUET

(Colonel Bouquet to Edward Shippen of Lancaster.)

DEAR SIR

If you have seen a round Tin Case to carry White Paper, which Col. Burd had made at Lancaster, I shall be obliged to you to order such a one for me, & send it by the first opportunity or Express.

We set out tomorrow for your Town. Your Children are well. I hope you are so. My best Compliments to the family. I wish you success and plenty of Waggon We shall want a good deal of forrage, but don't buy any more than you can conveniently load upon Empty Waggon; about 12000 Bushells till further orders must be bought after harvest.

I am

My dear Sir

Please to forward the Inclose, if no opportunity offers for Reading in 3 days, send it by Express.

(Col. Bouquet to Edward Shippen of Lancaster.)

FORT BEDFORD, 1st August 1759

DEAR SIR

The First Brigade from Lancaster having disappointed us for the time of setting out, I am afraid the other will follow the Example and I shall be obliged to you to let me know what dependancy we may have on them, as the service would be entirely ruined, if we had not every Waggon assessed, and each making at least three Trips during the Campaign.

The little forrage we had being near out, I beg you will immediately purchase the 12000 Bushells mention'd in my last, and, any quantity more that may be asked by M^r Sinclair and send it by the first Waggon—as soon as oats are reaped you will please to buy as much as Mr. Sinclair will desire you and besides Bar and Slough already employed you may add as many more as will be wanted to collect said forrage.

I have given a new Credit upon you to Capt. Hambright to raise Drivers, and purchase, if possible, 30 Waggon & Horses compleatly equipped for the Expedition, for which you will please to pay him the money.

I have received his Accounts, all is right, Col. Burd & your son are well. I suppose you will have a Letter from them today. No news from above, we are still detained for want of Carriages.

FORT BEDFORD, 7th August 1759

DEAR SIR :

I have the Pleasure to inform you that the French have evacuated & burnt their Forts at Venango Beef River and Priskisle [Presque Isle] and retreated to Fort Detroit, so that we have no other Ennemys for the present than the People who refuse to furnish their Waggon to enable us to build the Fort at Pittsburgh and secure that fine Country.

I broke this morning the glass of my watch which I beg you will get repaired by Mr Ray at Lancaster and cleaned.

I never received the shoes &c given to Capt. Hambright. My Respects to your Ladies

DEAR SIR

I am to acknowledge the favour of your Letters of the 25th 28th July, and 1st August. The good News contained in the two last, have greatly diminish'd my anxiety about our Situation. The Waggons come in so slowly that we have yet formed no Magazines: We hardly send a Convoy without being obliged to fight for it: The numerous Escorts wanted, and the number of Indians to feed at Pittsburgh, consume daily as much as we can forward: The excessive heat ruins the Horses, and as you will observe the Season run from us without effectuating anything.

Since we have been here, our affairs take a better face: We have recalled the Troops that were not necessary beyond the Mountains, and forwarded in a few days, two months Provisions for 2000 Men: one of the Convoys is Safely arrived by the bravery of poor Jocelyn who by his personal Example and Courage, defeated the Ennemys, and lost his life at the Lawrell Hill. The other convoy goes under the Comand of Major Tulleken to Pittsburgh.

Our fate depends still upon Niagara, as I look upon it as the Signal upon which the Indians will join again, or abandon the French: I am extremely anxious that we have heard nothing yet; and fear that they may fall Short of Provisions or Ammunition, if they dont Speedily Succeed. If my friend can be there in Time I have great hopes of Success, as he will be Sparing of both.

It is not possible to have by 500 the true Return of the Troops, Scattered as they are, But I see that yours will not be 1600 Effectives—The desertion running very high, and the new Levies far inferior to those of last year in Every Respect. The want of method in cloathing & paying these Troops must always be their Ruin: We are happy that we have the Superiority every where else For Certainly we have it not here.

All the Letters are delivered unopened to every Individual, Those only on His Majesty's Service are opened :

I do not remember the Expression you mention in the Conference with Indians. We certainly never did intend to abandon Pittsburgh nor had the Indians then any apparent Jealousie of that Port. The army was the object of their fears, which were removed by assurance that as soon as the Enemys would be interely removed beyond the Lakes, The Army would then go beyond the Mountains : But this shall be explained at the first Conference.

Last night we had Letters from Col. [Hugh] Mercer, all the Indians collected at Venango lefft the French at the Lake, except 50, who went with them to Niagara and about a 100 to infest the Communication.

We do not know whether De Signery could get in, But there is great appearance that his forces were Part of that Garrison.

We had a few days ago Kikiuskung [Teedyuscung?], who went back and fought bravely in defence of the Convoy, and the last Letters were brought by Killbock,¹ who returns to morrow to Pittsburgh.

Our old Soldiers behave with great steadiness against the Indians. But there is no dependancy on the new ones: We have not half the number necessary to carry on this Expedition, & build the Fort: We are opening Braddock's Road which will I hope be of great service to us.

Be So kind as to send us all the news, don't spare Expresses, Farewell my dear Sir, My Compliments to our Friends.

I am interely Yours ———

H. B.

P: S: Col. Armstrong informs me this moment that the Prosecution is renew'd against him by new Bills found by an irregular Jury— your friend Mr. Ch— Should remove that fop of R— and appoint an honest man to represent him. you will serve your Friends, & I hope your friends will Serve you.

(Col. Bouquet to Edward Shippen of Lancaster.)

DEAR SIR

I had your favours of the 5th and 8th Insts and cannot express my surprise at the unexpected disappointment we meet with from the County of Lancaster only: I send you enclosed a Letter from the General which he desires you will communicate to the Magistrats, I hope your People will no longer distinguish themselves by their shamefull opposition to the Public Welfare and safety but will rather endeavour to repair their unjustifiable backwardness by their future activity & zeal for the service.

The forrage must be bought at any rate, as at this advanced season we cannot admit of delays of any kind. Therefore I beg that you forward immidiately to Carlisle as great a quantity as you can procure Waggons for; and if the Waggons going upon the Expedition are not sufficient for that Purpose, Please to hire others to go to Carlisle only. If this can be done without prejudice of the service, I shall supply you with any sums wanted.

I am Dear Sir

Your most obed^t hble Serv^t

HENRY BOUQUET.

(Col. Bouquet to Edward Shippen of Lancaster.)

BEDFORD 23^d August 1759

DEAR SIR

I had your Letters as far as the 17th Inst^t. The accounts you are pleased to give me of the Waggons and forrage in your County are very discouraging. This last must be had at any Rate, and if the People continue to refuse to sell,

They must be compelled to do it, at the Prices fixed by the magistrates. The 30 Waggon bought by Capt Hambright must be loaded at Lancaster with forrage. Let the Price be what it will; We are this day reduced to 104 Bushells of oats, and unless we are immediately supplied, all our Horses will dye, and the Service be ruined.

No flour, Pork, or Liquor, are to be sent up till we have two Trips of all Waggon with forrage, and I beg you will differ no longer to procure some, as a delay at this Season would be our utter Ruin—

Employ as many People as will be wanted to purchase and if you are obliged to raise the Price, Let it be bought privately: If you want money you shall have it.

I am Dear Sir

Your most obed^t hble serv^t

HENRY BOUQUET.

(Col. Bouquet to Edward Shippen of Lancaster.)

FORT BEDFORD 1st Septem^r 1759

DEAR SIR,

I was favoured with your Letters of the 23^d & 27th Insts in which I observe with deep concern that we can have no dependance upon your County. I expected at least that forrage would have been bought after so many urging Letters on that Subject, and I see that you cannot load even Capt^a Hambright's Waggon. I can add nothing more to what I have repeated so often, our Horses are already destroyed for want of forrage and there is none provided nor Waggon to bring it up.

In several of your Letters you made me Expect an Account of the Waggon that could be depended upon, but I am still as ignorant as before and perceive nothing but uncertainties.

The Campaign is half over, and nothing done as yet, nor likely to be done, as we are going on. I suppose that you did not pay the Waggoners who left their Loads at Littleton, the same Price as if they had carried them to Bedford—which would indeed give the finishing Stroke to our tottering Condition in encouraging that practice.

Justice requires that they be paid in proportion to the distances, and if they receive 17/6^d from Carlisle to Bedford—the Calculation is easy for the other Posts.

You seem to apprehend that if the People are not paid what they have no right to, They will abandon the Service. If that is the Case we must submit to it: But we can not, at the Expence of the Crown, give any Countenance to fraud or abuses.

Colonel Burd & Col^l Shippen are gone to Fort Cumberland, to open a new Road to the Mouth of Red Stone Creek, and build Storehouses upon The Mononghehela; being at last obliged to have recourse to Virginia to avoid the Impending Ruin of the Army.

FORT BEDFORD 3^d Sept^r 1859

DEAR SIR

Capt Hambright informs me that he has bought more Horses than he had orders for; But as we are in Want of them to Supply the many losses we have sustained I beg that you will pay him the money for Said Horses, and Send me at leisure a general account of the whole. But on no account, I desire that you will not Stop or detain him, as he must come with that Brigade, which is expected with the greatest Impatience, having no forrage at all here.

FORT BEDFORD 4th Sept^r 1759

DEAR SIR

I had yesterday the favour of your Letter which gave me the more Pleasure, as I meet with difficultis, and obstructions from all sides, But you never knew any where the service was concerned: The Weather is a great misfortune, and am afraid will hurt your People.

It was not possible to send Waggon's loaded by that Road till the Rain is over; Therefore I have sent 12 Pack Horses loaded with forrage to Cumberland, to load & Send you the Horses you left behind: and I have given the following directions to Major Livingston.

That when the Pack Horses come from Virginia he is to Send 100 loaded with forrage to Pittsburgh and all the rest to you with flour and forrage and your artificers as Soon as possible. He has a new Waggon & 2 Horses for Express.

I heard last night that Hambright was detained at Lancaster for want of oats to load his fine Brigade. But I have sent an Express to hurry him to Carlisle, where I hope he can be loaded.

He has engaged upwards of 80 Drivers which will enable us to give you back your men.

There is upwards of 50 Waggon's upon the Road loaded with forrage, and I have a mind to employ the 30 new Waggon's from Hambright to carry between Cumberland & Redstone Creek, The distance will be shorter, The Road they Say better and the grass certainly So; But of this I Shall be glad to have your sentiment; and to know for certain what sort of Road you will find.

I desired the General to Send a Batteau to meet you and reconnoitre the navigation of the Mononghehela, by which you will have a free Communication with Pittsburgh.

My best Compliments to Col. Shippen, M^r Jones is to go to Cumberland, and to join you with the first Convoy I have advanced him money for his men.

I am

My dear Sir

Your most obed^t

hble servant

HENRY BOUQUET

(Col. Bouquet to Edward Shippen of Lancaster.)

FORT BEDFORD, 8th Sept^r 1759

DEAR SIR

I had this moment your favour of the 3^d which gives me the more satisfaction, as I expected nothing more from your sleepy County, and indeed if we had depended on them for forrage, we would not have a Horse left; We have already 400 unfit for service. The rest is very few & weak and Capt. Hambright's Brigade is much wanted.

I will send you in a few days an order for two thousand Pounds sterling, which I expect from Pittsburgh. What you may want above that sum, shall be sent immediately, as we must not suffer any delay for want of money.

Send us soon good news. You can expect none from us having no other Ennemies to fight than Hunger, which I hope we can now subdue.

I am Dear Sir

HENRY BOUQUET

Capt Ourry writes you concurring the Error of forrage.

(Col. Bouquet to Edward Shippen of Lancaster.)

FORT BEDFORD 12th Septem^r 1759

DEAR SIR

I had last night your last of the 7th Inst^t The sketch of Capt. Hambright's account is so high that I feel more deeply the great loss of his times as it will be too late to have any service of said Waggons equal to that prodigious Expence.

The price of Oats must be raised at once at 2/6^d and spelts in proportion, where it must remain during the Campaign and if the People expect that we shall raise it again, they will certainly be mistaken, and in order to prevail upon them to thresh immediately, it would be right to fix a term when this price shall again fall to 2/. I think that the 15th of October or at last the 1st of November should be the utmost Extent, to receive it at 2/6^d &c. I desire Capt. Sinclair to fix it in a general way for the Provinces of Pennsylvania & Maryland, and to inform you of it.

When the Waggons unload at The Posts upon the Communication by real accidents, they are not to suffer any deduction of the Mileage between Lancaster and Carlisle.

I send you a bill for £1000 Currency and shall send you immediately a sufficient supply of Cash. I hope you have been able to dispatch Capt. Hambright without waiting for it. If I had known sooner his great demand, I would have lodged more money in your hands.

Tho' I desired that the Waggons should load forrage for two Trips, I did not intend that they should be prevented from loading flour, if forrage could not be had.

Therefore for the future I beg that you would send them as soon as they can be raised with either Flour, Pork or Forrage to Carlisle, where their loads can be changed according to circumstances.

I am much obliged to Emanuel Carpenter Esq. for his kind assistance to you. I hope he will be so good as to continue to help us.

Co^l Burd has had a fever upon his Road, But is now recovered; Col^o Shippen is well. They have had very bad Weather, but go on chearfully and in good Spirits.

I have forwarded your Letters to them—The appearances begin to look very favourable for supplies from Virginia and Maryland and I hope with their Assistance that we shall be able to subsist the Troops.

I am sensible that the necessity we are under to draw Provisions, forrage and Carriages from other Provinces, will in Time draw also the Trade that Way, and deprive your Province of the Advantage which they had in their power to secure to themselves. But such stupid, obstinate, narrow sighted People, do not deserve the favour of Providence, nor the just rewards of public Spirit and Industry.

I am fully convinced that you have done everything in your Power to surmount the obstacles that surround you and am not so unjust as to make you answerable for the sins of your People. I beg you will continue to make use of all the means in your Power to make the best of their backward disposition and believe me with the greatest truth

Dear Sir

Your most obedient

Humble Serv^t

HENRY BOUQUET

I just received yours of the

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Notes.

MOUNT VERNON, Feb. 5th 1784.

DEAR SIR.

On the 8th of last Month I wrote to you for 70 yards of Livery Lace, of which I was in immediate want, and requested to have it sent by the Post to Alexandria—as there is some reason to believe the Post has hardly gone through yet, I beg leave to repeat my want of it, & to pray it may be sent as soon as possible. The Lace should be red & white, Inch, or $\frac{3}{4}$ of an Inch wide, or anywhere between.

I would now thank you for sending me a two pole Chain, exact in its length, & not too small, or weak in the links—this I wish to receive soon too.

The things you were to send by water, did not arrive before the Post set in, & I have heard nothing of them since.

I am with esteem & regard

Y^r most Obed^t Serv^t

MOUNT VERNON, Feb. 10th 1786.

Sample Livery Lace

DEAR SIR.

A hasty letter which I wrote to you by Col^o. Grayson, was accompanied with ten half Johan^s the application of which I informed you sh^d be directed in a subsequent letter.

Let me now request the favour of you to send me the following articles if to be had.

A pair of Boots, and two pair of Shoes, to be made by M^r Star (who has my measure) agreeably to the enclosed Mem^o

Young's Six months tour through England (his tour thro' Irel^d I have)
The Gentleman Farmer—by Henry Home.

Tulls Husbandry.—All to be neatly bound. & lettered.

200 Weight of Clover Seed—to be fresh and good.

12 lbs. Saint seed

6 lbs. of the field Burnet } if to be had good.

A Common Hunting horn of the largest and best sort.

It will readily occur to you, my good Sir, that these Seeds (as they are to be sown this spring) cannot be forwarded too soon. I ought indeed to have wrote for them at an earlier period, but they may yet arrive at a proper Season if they are quickly dispatched.—At any rate, inform me if they are to be had, & the prospect there is of forwarding them, for thereon will depend my preparation of the ground.

The Gazettes which were furnished by Mr. Dunlap, for my use, during my Military appointment, ought, undoubtedly to be paid for by the public—and I had no doubt but that this had been done, regularly, by the Q^rM^r General or his assist^t in the State of Pennsylvania—If the case is otherwise, I am ready to give my aid towards his obtaining it.

My respects to Mrs. Biddle

I am—Dear Sir,

Y^r Most Obed^t H^bl Ser.

G^o WASHINGTON.

I pray you to be pointed with resp^t to the goodness of the Seeds: as imposition of bad seed is a robbery of the worst kind; for your pocket not only suffers by it but your preparations are lost & a season passes away unimproved.

DEAR SIR.

By the Post of Yesterday, I received the enclosed Mem^o—If you can comply with them in time, for the Alexandria Packet it w^d oblige me.

If the Hatt is already got for Washington, it will be unnecessary to exchange it; If not, he prefers a black one, with such ornaments as would suit a boy of his age, & the colour of the hat.

I beg leave to remind you of the Linnen—two pieces—from Mr. Hazlehursts; and of the two pieces of finer than those you have purchased at 4/6. For the purposes they are wanted indeed, they should be a good deal finer.

I am D^r Sir

Y^r Obed^t Serv^t

G^o WASHINGTON.

Friday Morn^g.
28th June 1787.

DEAR SIR

I have received both your notes of this morning and thank you for notice of the vessel's sailing.—The Books, I perceive, are only small treatises upon education, referred to by Doct^r Rush, which I can get, & carry in my Trunk.—Remember the clothes baskets. I send a small box containing a Lamp—it is a present, but could not have cost 20/.—If the hounds presented to me by Captⁿ Morris are not provided for, will it not be necessary to lay something in for them?—I think of nothing else at this time; therefore, if you will let me know how the acc^t stands between us I would wish to square it.

Monday 10th Sept^r 1787.

A COMMITTEE OF THE ALUMNI OF ALL DEPARTMENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA IS PREPARING A CATALOGUE to contain all of the graduates and non-graduate matriculates of the University. We append a list of the medical graduates of whom the committee has no information. Our readers will lighten not a little the difficult labors of the committee in collecting data of these graduates, some of more than a century ago, if they will send at once whatever information they may have to Dr. Ewing Jordan, 1510 Walnut St., Philadelphia.

Information is especially desired as to full name, parents' names, full date and place of birth and of death, if married, wife's name, academic degrees received, prominent positions held, and any printed reference to the men named.

PATTERSON.—In the PENNSYLVANIA MAGAZINE for January, 1902, Vol. XXV., p. 576, reference is made to John Patterson, Collector of Customs at Philadelphia, 1772. In Minutes of the Provincial Council of Pennsylvania, Vol. X., p. 213, a document dated Oct. 17, 1774, refers to John Patterson, Collector of Customs. I should be glad for any information about this man and his family. It is said that Daniel T. Patterson, Commodore in the U. S. Navy, was a son. If so, Carlile Pollock Patterson, Director of the U. S. Coast Survey for many years, would be a grandson, and the wife of Admiral D. D. Porter a granddaughter.

PROGRESSIVE PENNSYLVANIA: A RECORD OF THE REMARKABLE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE KEYSTONE STATE, WITH SOME ACCOUNT OF ITS EARLY AND ITS LATER TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS, ITS EARLY SETTLERS AND ITS PROMINENT MEN. By James M. Swank. Philadelphia, 1908. 8vo. pp. 360. Price, $5.00.

The long connection of the author with the work of the American Iron and Steel Association has made him acquainted with many important facts relating to the industrial development of Pennsylvania, including its systems of transportation, which are not to be found in accepted histories of the State. In arranging these facts, it was necessary to give prominence to some features of the early years of the Province, which include the presence of settlers on the Delaware, before the granting of Penn's Charter; the existence of negro slavery, and when and by whom the agitation for its abolition was set on foot; the cause of the estrangement of the peaceful Delaware Indians; the physical characteristics of Pennsylvania, and its animal life. After the presentation of these and other features of the early history of Pennsylvania, he considers the means of transportation that were employed by the pioneers and by those who came after them — the early roads, flatboats, keel boats, ferries, bridges, turnpikes, canals, steamboats, and railroads, and these details are followed by several chapters which deal with the great productive industries of the State. Included in these chapters are given the early history of Pittsburgh, the world's industrial wonder, and the prominence of Pennsylvania as the leading industrial State of the Union. A chronological chapter follows which gives a record of many notable industrial events in the history of both the State and the country, and embodying a vast amount of information, the value of which would have justified its presentation in more elaborate form. The book closes with a number of chapters that are devoted to biographical sketches of some eminent Pennsylvanians, most of whom have been prominently identified with the history and development of Western Pennsylvania, and some of whom have not been honored by their fellow citizens as they have deserved. Mr. Swank is one of the most loyal of Pennsylvanians, and he presents his facts with the same exactness as has marked his statistical compilations.

THE LIFE OF FRANCIS DANIEL PASTORIUS, THE FOUNDER OF GERMANTOWN. By Marion Dexter Learned, Ph.D., L.H.D. Philadelphia, 1908. 8vo. pp. 324. William J. Campbell, Walnut St. Illustrated.

There are many facts which tend to give Francis Daniel Pastorius a foremost position among the interesting characters of our early American life. He was the most conspicuous, if not the most important, figure in the settlement of Germantown, a movement marking the beginning of German immigration into North America and the first manifestation with respect to race of that broad and catholic spirit which differentiated Pennsylvania from the other colonies and later made her the fruitful source of American institutions and modes of thought. The son of a judge and literateur, he had been trained in the universities of Europe, and his powers had been broadened by travel and political discussion. A linguist, he used with accuracy and fluency the German, English, Dutch, Italian, Spanish, Latin and Greek languages. His Latin epigrams, poetry, and jeux d'esprit show a complete familiarity with that tongue and much literary facility. He may be regarded as the typical man of letters of his period in America, and his original productions are numerous. He, together with Abraham Op den Graeff, Dirk Op de Graeff and Gerhard Hendricks, began the struggle in America against the institution of slavery. He was a lawyer, as well as a pedagogue, who composed the first Pennsylvania primer. In modern times a great interest has been taken in his career. The late Dr. Oswald Seidensticker, of the University of Pennsylvania, studied his achievements and published an excellent memoir; the author of The Settlement of Germantown, added considerable information concerning him; and Whittier made him the subject of our epic, "The Pennsylvania Pilgrim." It has remained, however, for Prof. Learned, of the University of Pennsylvania, whose researches in the libraries of Europe and America have developed much new and hitherto unpublished matter, throwing light on Pastorius's antecedents and early career, to prepare this eminently satisfactory biography, which enhances our appreciation of this eminent American colonist and scholar. The work is well printed, and the text illustrated with ninety photographic reproductions of original documents, title pages and foreign views.

FREE MASONRY IN PENNSYLVANIA, 1727-1907, AS SHOWN BY THE RECORDS OF LODGE NO. 2, F. AND A. M. OF PHILADELPHIA, FROM THE YEAR A.L. 5757, A.D. 1757. Compiled from Original Sources. By Norris S. Barratt, P. M. Lodge No. 2; Julius F. Sachse, P. M. Lodge No. 91. Philadelphia, 1908. 8vo. pp. xvii, 477.

This important contribution to Masonic historical literature is a souvenir of the sesquicentennial of Lodge No. 2, of Philadelphia. The beginnings of Free Masonry in the American colonies, partially shrouded in uncertainty owing to the lack of documentary evidence, has been a subject of controversy for writers on Masonic subjects. In recent years, however, incontrovertible proof has been produced to establish the claim that Philadelphia is the cradle of Free Masonry in America, where it was introduced in the year 1727. The history of Lodge No. 2 is the history of Free Masonry in Pennsylvania. In the volume under notice, the compilers only cover the period from 1757 to 1786, reserving the succeeding one hundred and twenty-one years for another volume. The care with which they have conducted their laborious investigations, through the minutes of early lodges, the Grand Lodge and other sources is commendable, and they let these original documents tell their own story. During the Revolution the Lodge was distinctly patriotic, and a partial list of its members looks like a muster roll; sixteen Colonels, ten Majors and twenty-eight Captains saw active service. No meetings of the Lodge were held during the British occupation of the city, owing to the absence of so many members with Washington's army. The lodge room was broken open by the British, and all the jewels, paraphernalia and books stolen by them, while two other lodges, being loyal to the king, not only met, but also initiated British officers and local loyalists. The volume is an attractive piece of book-making, liberally illustrated with chromotypes and photogravures of lodge halls and portraits, and facsimiles of early documents, certificates, title-pages of sermons and autographs. It is bound in purple cloth, with the old seal of the Lodge on the cover.

THE TRUE STORY OF THE AMERICAN FLAG. By John H. Fow. Philadelphia, 1908. 8vo. Pp. 54. On sale by William J. Campbell, 1008 Walnut Street. Price, 75 cents.

Much has been written and much said on the history of the American flag, and the claim that "Betsy" Ross made the first flag. The Ross claim is based upon the statements made by her grandson, William J. Canby, in a paper read before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, thirty-eight years ago, but the researches of Mr. Fow show how legendary they are, and without that foundation necessary to sustain such a claim. And the further claim, that Washington visited the house on Arch Street and what transpired there, simply rests on statements of relatives, unsupported by any substantial evidence. The Commander-in-chief of the army would have sent for and not called on Mrs. Ross, if he was in need of her services. After Mr. Canby's death, a brother devoted much time and research to uphold the disputed claim; examined the records in the departments of War, State and Treasury, at Washington, but found no mention of flags or the name of Mrs. Ross, but at Harrisburg was shown a voucher in her favor, for making flags of the navy of Pennsylvania, which did not resemble the American flag.

It is well known that all the Continental regiments were not supplied with American flags, owing to the lack of material to make them, and that the colors carried were largely the devices of their officers or suggestive of the districts in which they were recruited. It will probably never be known who did design the American flag, but readers of Mr. Fow's book will find that there is no evidence to prove that Mrs. Ross is entitled to the honor. Many colored illustrations embellish the text.

BUDDHIST AND CHRISTIAN GOSPELS. NOW FIRST COMPARED FROM THE ORIGINALS: BEING GOSPEL PARALLELS FROM PALI TEXTS.
By Albert J. Edmunds. Vol. I, 8vo. pp. 325.

This work represents the mature results of a quarter-century of earnest investigation, and is an interesting and illuminating contribution to comparative religion. It begins with an historical introduction with reference to the antiquity of the canonical Pali texts, and the relation between Christianity and Buddhism. Then follow three parallels in the infancy legends of both religions, five in the initiation and preparation, five in the ministry, and thirty-three in the ethics and subject-matter of the teaching: also nineteen parallels on the character of the Lord, and twenty-eight on the closing scenes and the future of the Church and the individual, ending with an appendix containing mention of six parallels from uncanonical texts. Heavy type is used for the sacred Scriptures of all religions, so that the reader can distinguish at once between actual text and editorial comment. The simplified spelling is used, and the book is probably the first large and serious work to adopt this reform. The official organ of the modern Buddhist mission to the United States characterizes Mr. Edmund's work, as the first comparison made between the two religions direct from the originals; all previous ones have either been partial and desultory by scholars, or else second-hand by students who did not know Pali. Volume II is now in press.

CALENDAR OF THE PAPERS OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN IN THE LIBRARY OF THE AMERICAN PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY. Edited
By I. Minis Hays. Philadelphia, 1908. Vol. I-V. 8vo.

Two years ago the American Philosophical Society, of this city, celebrated the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin with highly appropriate ceremonies, and the proceedings were later published. As a further tribute to the memory of their Founder, this venerable Society has recently issued, in five octavo volumes, an exhaustive calendar of his papers preserved in their library: Letters to Franklin, from 1730 to 1790; letters of Franklin, from 1757 to 1790; letters to William Temple Franklin, from 1775 to 1790; and a mass of miscellaneous papers from 1742 to 1814, relating to Franklin. In the Appendix will also be found a calendar of the Franklin papers in the library of the University of Pennsylvania. The work of arranging and editing this important collection of original material was naturally entrusted to its librarian, Dr. I. Minis Hays, and to his knowledge and admirable arrangement we are indebted for this valuable contribution to American historical literature. He has made a careful summary of every letter and paper, verified names and dates, indexed them, and the rich store of information he has compiled is deserving of the highest commendation. A word of compliment is also due for the excellent style in which the work has been produced.

LEBANON COUNTY IMPRINTS AND BIBLIOGRAPHY. By Rev. P. C. Croll, D.D. 1908.

The members of the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies were quick to recognize the need of bibliographies of the counties of the State, and a committee was appointed to urge and encourage their preparation. The Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and the Lancaster County Society, have made very considerable progress in the work of their respective counties, and the Tioga County Historical Society, the Washington County Historical Society, and the Lebanon County Historical Society have printed their first compilations. The Rev. Dr. Croll's "Lebanon County Imprints and Bibliography," published by the Historical Society of that county, shows a zealous spirit of research, but to make it of permanent value, full imprints should have been given. Some years ago, a bibliography of Chester County was compiled, which has recently come into the possession of the State Library.

THE CONSTITUTION OF ST. JOHN'S LODGE. A FACSIMILE COPY OF THE THO. CARMICK MS., A.D. 1727. By Julius F. Sachse, Librarian, Philadelphia, 1908.

The finding in the possession of one of the old Colonial families of Pennsylvania, of a MS. copy of the Constitution of St. John's Lodge, of Philadelphia, bearing the date 1727, settles the friendly controversy that has existed between the Masons of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, as to which is entitled to the honor of being the first in which Masonry was introduced, in favor of Pennsylvania by seven years. This antique document of twenty-two pages, signed by Thomas Carmick and reproduced in facsimile, also proves that St. John's Lodge was the first Masonic lodge founded on the western continents. The work is published under the direction of the Committee on Library, at the request of the R. W. Grand Master of Pennsylvania.

THE ANCESTRY OF ROSALIE MORRIS JOHNSON, DAUGHTER OF GEORGE CALVERT MORRIS AND ELIZABETH KUHN, HIS WIFE. Compiled by R. Winder Johnson. Philadelphia, 1908, Vol. II., 4to, pp. 87. Printed for private circulation only.

After the first volume of this work had been placed in the hands of the printer, the compiler visited Antwerp, where his researches enabled him to add much interesting data to his records of the Stier family. In the present volume a few additional English lines have been included with the Flemish ancestry, pedigrees, charts and facsimiles of autographs from original documents. The volume is an attractive piece of bookmaking.

ADM HUBLEY, JR., LT COLO. COM^{DT} 11TH PENNA.
REG^T, HIS JOURNAL, COMMENCING AT WYO-

BY JOHN W. JORDAN.

Colonel Adam Hubley, Jr., son of Michael (1722–1804) and Rosina (Stumpf) Hubley (1719–1803), a well-known colonial family of Pennsylvania, was born about 1744. He married, January 21, 1772, Mary Evans, who died in June of 1794, and is buried in St. Peter's P. E. Church grounds, Third and Pine Streets, Philadelphia. They left issue.

Colonel Hubley's name appears early in the struggle for independence, as one of the signers of Bills of Credit of Pennsylvania. He entered the Army October 27, 1775, as First Lieutenant in the First Pennsylvania Battalion, raised in pursuance of a resolution of Congress, October 12, 1775, recommending the Committee of Safety to raise a battalion to consist of eight companies. Colonel John Bull, who was elected by Congress, November 25, to command the battalion, resigned January 20, 1776, owing to difficulties with his officers, and on February 22, John Philip de Haas was elected to succeed him. The battalion participated in the Canada campaign, and after the expiration of its term of enlistment, became the nucleus for the formation of the Second Regiment, Pennsylvania Line. Hubley was commissioned Major, Tenth Pennsylvania Line, December 6, 1776, and promoted Lieutenant Colonel, March 12, 1777. In the campaign for the defence of the Delaware, he participated in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown, and Whitemarsh, and in the night attack at Paoli his regiment acted with meritorious bravery; he mentions that one private, William Leary, was wounded in the hand by a sword, in the right leg from a bayonet thrust, and had his jaw broken by the butt of a musket. On the formation of the Eleventh Regiment of the Line, he was appointed its Lieutenant Colonel, and when Colonel Hartley resigned, February 13, 1779, Lieutenant Colonel Commandant. Hubley at this date was the senior Lieutenant Colonel in the Pennsylvania Line.

When Washington determined on the expedition to punish the hostile Six Nations in Western New York, Hubley's regiment was assigned to Gen. Hand's brigade. General Sullivan opened his headquarters at Easton, Penna., and on June 5, in company with Colonels Dayton and Pierce, visited the Moravian town of Bethlehem, and ten days later he again visited the town with Generals Maxwell, Poor, and twenty officers, as escort to Lady Washington, who had left headquarters and was en route to Mount Vernon.

Colonel Hubley retired from the service January 1, 1781, and on February 14 was appointed Lieutenant of Lancaster County, which office he filled with much ability to the close of the war. He also served in the Assembly from 1783-1787, and the State Senate, 1790. In 1793 he was appointed one of the auctioneers of Philadelphia, his store being at No. 54, and his dwelling No. 221, South Front Street. In the summer of that year, he fell a victim of the yellow fever, then epidemic in the city, and his remains were interred in St. Peter's church yard. His grave is unmarked and unknown.

The Journal of Colonel Hubley, while attached to Sullivan's expedition against the Indians, is preserved in the Manuscript Department of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania; and although it has been printed in Miner's History of Wyoming, and in other forms, the records heretofore have not been strictly followed nor the illustrations reproduced.

The subtitle to the Journal reads :

Should the army be attacked in front while on its march, the light Corps will immediately form to repulse the Enemy, the flanking Divisions will endeavour to gain the flanks and rear of the Enemy. While the line is forming, the Pack horses will in all cases, fall into the position represented on the annexed plan. Should the enemy attack on either flank, the flanking Division attacked will form a front, and sustain the attack till reinforced, in which case a part of the Light Corps is to be immediately detach'd, to gain the enemys flank and rear, the covering parties of the 2nd line moove to gain the other flank, should the enemy attack our rear, the 2nd line will face & form a front to the enemy, the covering parties of the first line, will moove to sustain it while the flanking Division face about & endeavour to gain their flank, & rear. Should the Light troops be driven back, they will pass thro' the intervals of the main Army & form in the rear. Should the enemy in an engagement with the army when formed endeavour either flank, the covering party will move up to lengthen the line and so much as may be found necessary from the flanking divisions will display outwards to prevent the attempt from succeeding, the Light Corp will have their advance & flank Guards at a good distance from their main body, the flanking Division will furnish flank guards, and the 2^d line a Rear Guard for the Main army.

When we find the Light Corp engaged in front, the front of the pack horses halt & the rear close up while the columns move in a small Distance, close and display, which will bring the Horses in the position on the plan for the order of Battle, should the attack be made on us either in flank or in Rear, the horses must be kept in the position they are at the commencement of the attack, unless other orders are then given.

Wyoming in Penna. July 30th 1779.

Wyoming is situated on the East side of the East branch of Susquehanna, the Town consisting of about 70 Houses, chiefly Logg-buildings, besides those buildings there are sundry larger ones which were erected by the Army for the purpose of receiving stores &c., a large Bake and Smoak houses.

There is likewise a small Fort erected in the Town with a strong Abattas around it, and a small redoubt to shelter the Inhabitants in case of an Alarm. This Fort is Garrisoned by one hundred men draughted from the Western Army and put under the Command of Colo: Zebⁿ Butler.

I cannot omit taking notice of the poor Inhabit^{ts} of this Town, two thirds of them are Widdows & Orphans, who by the vile hands of the savages have been most cruelly deprived some of tender husbands some Indulgent parents and others of affect^e friends & acquaintances, besides robb'd & plundered of all their furniture and Cloathing. In short they are left totaly dependent on the public and are become absolute objects of charity.

The situation of this place is elegant & delightful. It composes an extensive Valley, bounded both on the East &

West side of the river, by large chains of Mountains. The valley a mere Garden, of an excellent rich Soil, abounding with large Timber of all kinds, and thro' the Centre the East branch of Susquehannah.

Wyoming in Pennsylv^a July 31st 1779.

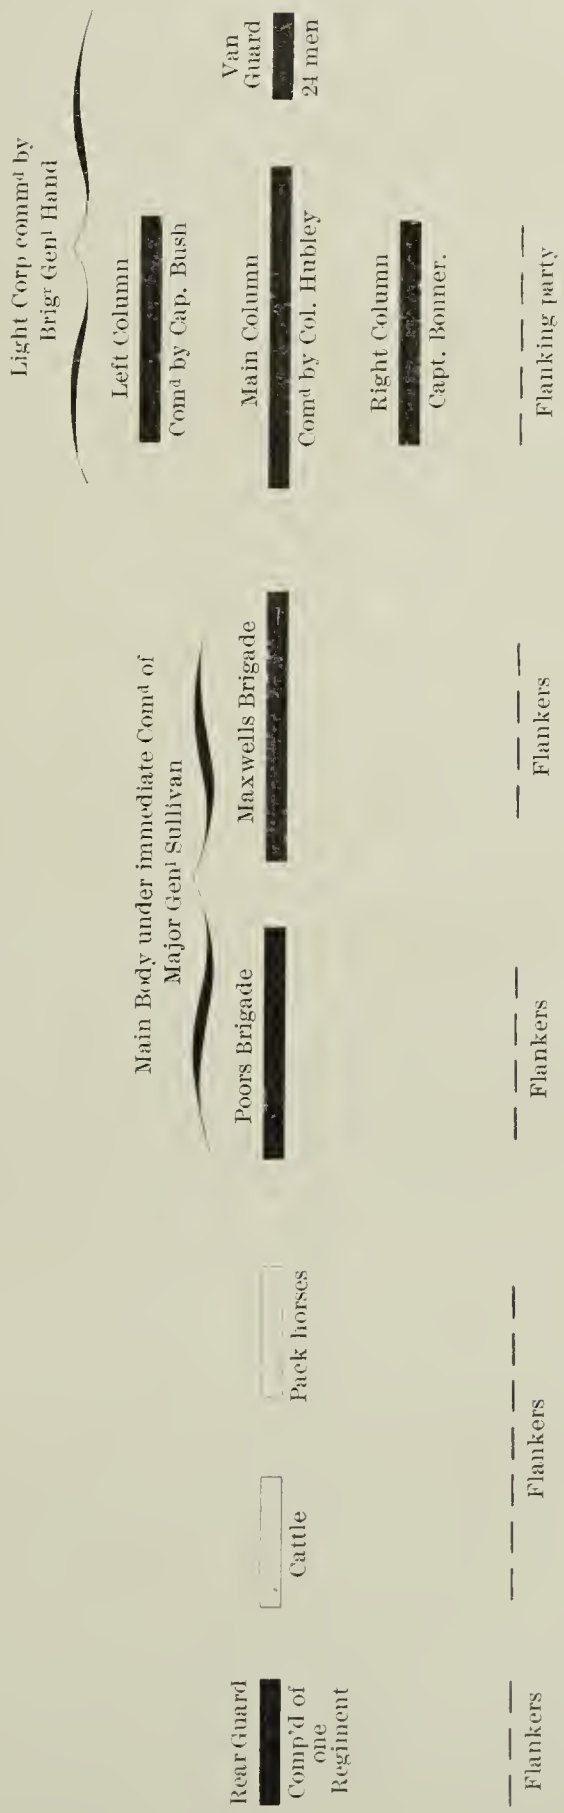

Agreeable to orders, march'd the Western Army under the Command of Major General Sullivan in following order from this place to Tioga.—viz^t

Took up the line of March, about 1 o'Clock P.M. viz^t Light Corp advanc'd in front of Main body, about one Mile, van Guard consisting of 24 men under command of a Subaltern, & joined by L^t Colonel Brice, a volunteer, advanc'd about 200 yds. in front of the whole. Then proceeded Gen^l Maxwells & Poors Brigades (main body) followed by Pack horses and cattle, after which, one complete Regiment, taken Alternately from Maxwells & Poors Brigade (compos'd the Rear Guard).

Observ'd, the Country much broken, & Mountainous. Wood chiefly low & compos'd of Pine only. I was struck on this days march with the ruins of a number of Houses, chiefly built of Logs, & Inhabited as I have been inform'd by an industrious sett of Inhabitants tho' Poor, yet happy with their situation, untill that envied moment when the British Tyrant, let loose upon them, his Emissaries, the Savages of the Wood, who not only destroy'd & laid waist those Cotages, but in cool blood masacred, and cut of the Inhabitants, not even sparing the gray locks or helpless Infant.

About 4 o'clock P.M. arriv'd on a most beautiful plain covered with abundance of Grass, soil excessive rich, thro' which run a delightful stream of Water, known by the name of Lackawanay, cross'd and encamp'd about one mile on the North side of the same, advanc'd about half mile in front of Main body. After night sett in with rain, continued until morning. Distance of March this day 10 miles.

Order of March.

A Sketch of the Encampment at Lackawanna

Sunday, August 1st.

Continued at Lackawanay, waiting for the fleet, which by reason of considerable rapids was detain'd until nearly 12 o'clock this day, before the rear could possibly cross them. In getting thro' lost two boats, chief of their cargoes where saved. About 2 o'clock P.M. the whole arrived opposite our Encampment, in consequence of which received Orders for a march, struck tents accordingly & moved about 3 o'clock P.M. About one mile distant from Encampment entered the Narrows on the River, first detaching left column under com^d of Capt. Bush, to join the right column of the Light Corp, and cross the Mountain, which was almost inaccessible, in order to cover the Army from falling in an Ambuscade, whilst passing thro' the defile—found passage thro' the defile exceeding difficult and troublesome, owing to the badness of the path. We passed by a most beautiful Cataract, called the Spring falls, to attempt a discription of it, would almost be presumption. Let this short account thereof suffice: The first or upper fall thereof is nearly 90 feet perpindicular, pouring from a sollid Rock, ushering forth a most beautiful Echo, and is received by a Clift of rocks, considerably more projected than the former, from whence it rolls gradually and empty into Susquehannah. Light Corp pass'd & got thro' the defile about 6 o'clock P.M., arriv'd about Dusk at a place called Quialutimunk, and Encamp'd one mile in front of the place, occupied that night by the Main Army.

The Main Army on acc^ot of the difficult passage march'd nearly all night before they reach'd their Encamping ground, great quantities of Baggage being dropt & left lying that night, oblig'd us to continue on the ground. All the proceeding day, numbers of our pack horses where sent back & employ'd in bringing on the scattered stores &c. Distance of March this day about 7 miles, fine clear evening. Quialutimunk is a spot of Ground, situate on the River, fine open & clear, quantity about 1200 Acres, soil very rich, Timber fine, grass in abundance, & contains several exceeding fine Springs.

Monday, August 2nd.

In consequence of the difficult & tedious March the preceeding day, the Army received orders to continue on the ground this day, in the mean time to provide themselves with five days provision, and getting every other matter in perfect readiness for a march next morning, 6 o'clock. Nothing material happened during our stay on this ground.

Tuesday the 3rd.

Agreeable to orders, took up the line of March 6 o'clock A.M. Took the mountains. After we ascended, found them exceeding level for at least 6 miles. Land tolerable, the Timber vizt. Pine & White Oak chiefly large. About three mile from Quialutimunk we crossed near another Cataract which decent the mountain in three successive falls, the last of which is equally if not superior to the one already described, altho' its not quite so high it is much wider, and likewise empties into Susquehanah seemingly white as Milch. They are commonly known by the name of Butter Milch falls.

About 12 o'Clock we decented the Mountain, near the river, March'd about one Mile on flat piece of Land, and arrived at Tunkhannunk, a beautiful stream of Water so called, which empties into Susquehannah. Cross'd the same, and encamped on the River, about 1 o'Clock P.M. Nothing material happened this day, excepting a discovery of two Indians, by the party on the West side of the river. Indians finding themselves rather near the party where obliged to leave their canoe & make thro' the Mountains. Party took possession of the canoe, and brought it to their encamping place for that evening, immediately opposite the Main Army,—distance of March this day 12 mile.

Wednesday the 4th.

The Army was in motion 5 o'Clock A.M., and moved up the river, for three miles, chiefly on the beach, close under an almost inaccesable Mountain. We then ascended the same, with greatest difficulty, and continued on it for near seven mile, a considerable distance from the River,—the Path along the Mountain was exceedingly rough, and carried us thro' several very considerable Swamps in which where large Morrasses. The lands in general thin & broken, abounds with Wild Deer and other Game. We then Descended the Mountain, and at the foot of it, cross'd a small Creek called Massaspe (immediately where it empties into the river), we then continued up the same until we made Vanderlips Farm, discovered several old Indian Encampments, one of them appear'd to have been very large.

The Lands after crossing Massaspe, are exceedingly fine & rich, the soil very black & well Timbered, chiefly with black Walnut, which are remarkable large, some not less than 6 feet over, and excessive high. Its likewise well calculated for making fine and extensive Meadows. The Main Army took post for this Night on Vanderlips farm, and the Infantry advanc'd about one mile higher up, and encamp'd about one o'Clock P.M., on a place known by the name of Williamsons farm. Distance of March this day 14 miles, fine clear day, very hot.

Thursday the 5th.

In consequence of orders, issued last evening to march this Morning 5 o'Clock, we struck tents & loaded baggage. But Boats being considerably impeded by the rapidness of the Water, some Miles below our encampment, could not reach us & where obliged to halt all night. Did not join us till 9 o'Clock A.M., all which time we were oblig'd to halt, on their arrival the whole Army where put in motion, and as more Dangers on this Days March was apprehended, than any before, the following disposition of the Army took place vizt. The right & left columns of the Light Corp conducted by Genl. Hand, moov'd along the Top of a very high mountain. Main body of Light Corp under Colo. Hubleys Command, with an advance of 24 men, moov'd on the beach several mile on the edge of the Water. The Main Army followed by the baggage &c. flank'd on their right by 400 men, who had likewise to take this Mountain, thus we mov'd for several mile, then arrived in a small Valey, called Depues farm, the land very good. Observ'd and reconnoitred this ground for some distance, it being the place on which Colo. Hartley was attacked by the savages last year on his return from Tioga to Wyoming. The Country being fine & open, some loss was sustained on both sides, the savages at last gave way and Colo. Hartley pursued his rout to Wyoming without further Molestation. Continued our March for about one mile & form'd a junction with the parties on the right flanks, assended a high mountain and march'd for some miles on the same. Land poor, Timber but small, chiefly Pine, after which descended the Mountain nearly one mile in length and arrived in a fine & large Valley, known by the name of Wyalusing, the Main Army took post at this place and the Infantry advanc'd about one mile in front of them, and Encamp'd about 2 o'Clock P.M. Clear but very warm day—distance of March this day $10\frac{1}{2}$ miles.

This Valley was formerly call'd Old-Mans farm & occupied by the Indians & White people together, they had about 60 Houses, a considerable Moravian Meeting-house & sundry other public buildings, but since the commencement of the present War, the whole has been consumed & laid waist, partly by the savages & partly by our own people. The land is extrodinary, calculated chiefly for meadows. The grass at this time is almost beyond description, high & thick, chiefly blue grass and the soil of the land very rich. The Valley contains about 1200 Acres of land, bounded on one side by an almost inaccessible Mountain & on the other by the river Susquehannah.

Friday August 6th.

The Boats not arriving before late this day, the Army received orders to continue on the ground. In the mean time to be provided with three Days provisions, get their Arms & accoutrements in perfect order, and be in readiness for a March, Early tomorrow morning. A Sub. & 24 Men from Sketch of Portland Stone.

My Reg^t reconoitered Vicinity of Camp, return'd in the Evening, made no discoveries. Rain all night.

Saturday the 7th.

The heavy rain last night & this Morning rendered it utterly impossible to march this day, continued on the ground for further orders.

A Cap^t & 30 men from my Reg^t reconnoitered vicinity of Camp, made no discoveries.

This day received a Letter (p^r Express) from his Excellency Gen^l Washington, dated Head-quarters at New Windsor.

Sunday the 8th.

The Army moov'd (in same order as on the 5th) this Morning 5 o'clock, cross'd Wyalusing Creek and ascended an extensive Mountain. The Top remarkably level, lands poor and timber small, arriv'd about 10 o'clock A.M. at the North end and descended the same, close on the river side, and continued along the beach for some distance, after which we entered an extensive valley or plain, known by the name of Standing Stone, made a halt here for about half an hour, for refreshment. This place derives its name from a large solid Stone standing erect in the river, immediately opposite this plain. Its near 20 feet in height 14 feet in width & 3 feet in depth. This valley abounds in grass, the Land exceeding fine & produces chiefly White Oak, black Walnut & pine Timber. After Refreshment continued our March along the same Valley. Land not quite so fine. Arriv'd about 3 o'clock P.M. at a small Creek call'd Wesauking, cross'd the same, and encamp'd one mile beyond it, & immediately on the River.

4 O'clock P.M.

Since our arrival at this place, some of my officers discovered a small Indian Encampment seemingly occupy'd but a few days since, found near the same a neat Canoe, which they brought off. This evening the scout (of 3 men) send up to Shackshenea, some days since, return'd, without making any discoveries.

Genl. Sullivan on acco^t of his Indisposition came on this day in the boat.

Monday, August 9th.

The Boats not being able to reach Wesauking the ground on which Light Corps encamp't, preceeding evenings, The Main body in consequence thereof took post & encamp'd at Standing Stone, about three mile below, Light Corp Encampment, for protection of the Boats.

The Light corps on acco^t of their detatch'd situation from Main body, the preceeding evening, and apprehending some danger, being considerably advanc'd in the Enemys Country, for their greater Security, stood under Arms, from 3 o'Clock A.M. untill day-light, where then dismiss'd, with orders to hold themselves in readiness at a moments warning. Previous to their dismissal my Light Infantry C^o was send out to reconnoiter the vicinity of Encampment, return'd about 7 o'Clock A.M., made no discovery.

This Morning 9 o'Clock, boats hove in sight, in consequence thereof received orders to strike Tents & be in readiness for a March. Main Army in the meantime arriv'd about 10 o'Clock, the whole was in motion. Marched thro' a difficult Swamp, at North end of same, cross'd a small stream and ascended a hill. Land poor, & wood but indifferent, about 12 o'Clock P.M. descended the same, and entered a small valley, continued about half mile, when we ascended a very remarkable high mountain generally known by the name of Break-neck-hill.

This mountain derives its name from the great height, the difficult & narrow passage, not more than one foot wide, and remarkable presipice, which is immediately perpendicular, & not less than 180 feet deep. One miss-step must inevitably carry you from top to bottom without least hope or chance of recovery. At North end of same entered a most extensive & beautiful Valley, call'd Sheshecununk.

Sketch of Encampment at Preshecumunko

Gen^l Sullivan wth a number of officers made a halt here at a most beautiful Run of Water, took a bite of dinner & refreshment of Spirit & Watter, continued near an hour and then proceeded on along the Valley, which very particularly struck my attention. Any quantity of Meadow May be made here, abounds wth all kinds of wood, particularly White Oak, Hickory & black Walnut, the ground covered with grass & Pea-wines, the soil in general very rich. About 4 o'Clock P.M. arrived on the Bank of the river. The whole Encamp'd in a line, on a most beautiful plain call'd Upper-Sheshecumunck, this plain consists chiefly in a meadow, the grass remarkably thick & high. On our arrival here, made discoveries of some new Indian tracs, places on which fire had just been & fresh bows cut, and appear'd as if the place had just been occupy'd a few hours before our arrival. Distance of march this day 9½ mile.

Tuesday August 10th.

Set in with rain and Boats not reaching this place before 9 o'clock this morning. Army received orders to continue on the ground untill further orders. Men drew & cook'd two days provisions.

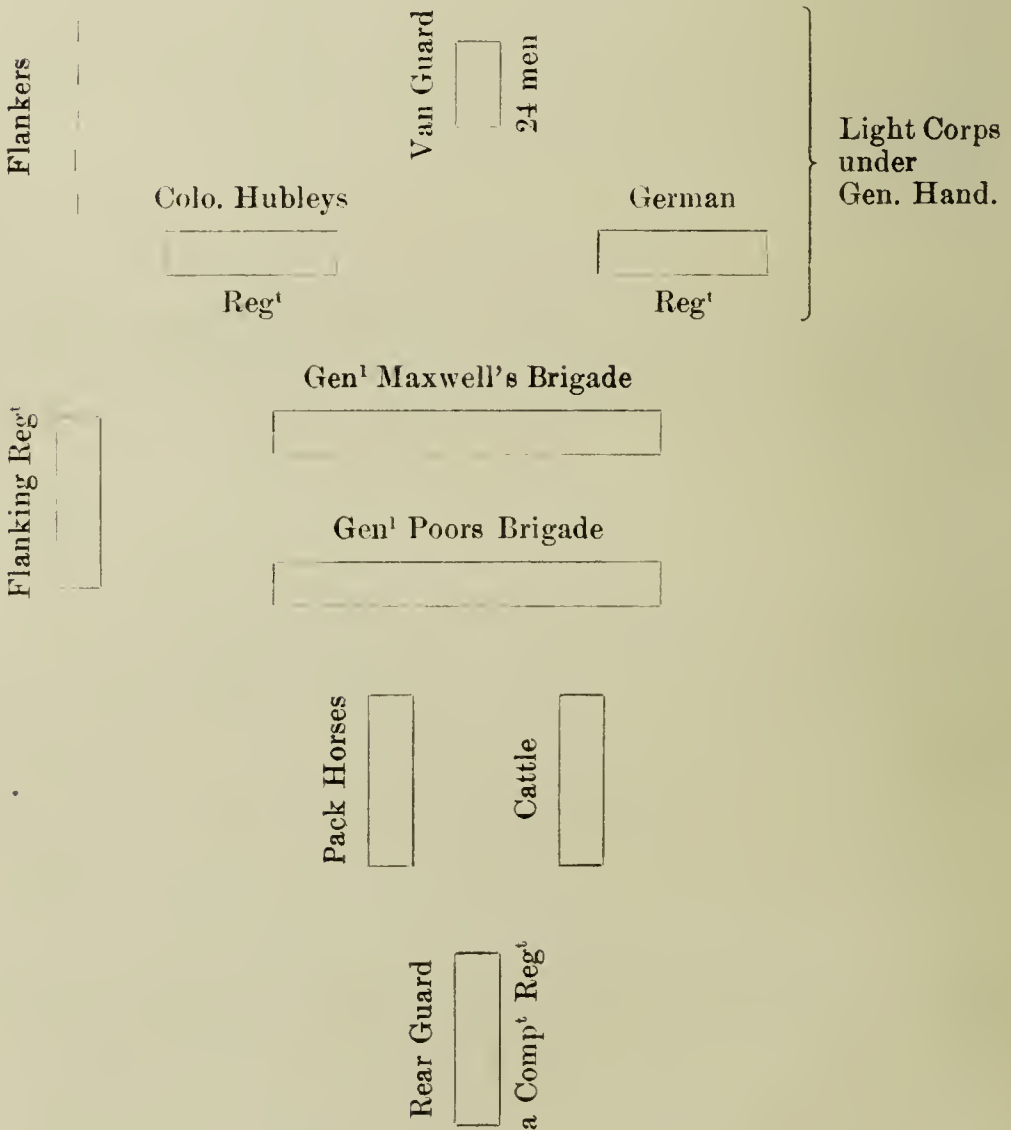

One Regiment from each of the Brigades attended Gen^l Sullivan, the General & Field Officers of the Army, whilst they were reconnoitering the River and Ground near Tioga branch about 3 mile above this place. Return'd without any discoverys worthy remark, about 4 o'clock P.M.

Wednesday August 11th.

Agreeable to orders, The Army moov'd this morning 8 o'clock A.M. in the usual order, Light Corp moov'd half an hour before the Main Body, and took post on the Banks of the river, near the fording place. On the arrival of the Main Army & Boats, Colo. Forrest drew up his Boat at the fording place & fired several six pounders on the opposite shore in order to scour the woods and thickets, and prevent any Ambuscades from taking place. In the mean time the Light Corp, march'd by platoons link'd together (on account of the rappidity of the Water) and forded the same, and effected a Landing about nine o'clock, they immediately advanc'd about 100 yards across the river and form'd in line of Battle in order to cover the landing of the Main Army which we savely effected about 10 o'clock A.M., after which came on Pack-horses cattle &c. covered by a Regiment which compos'd the rear Guard. About half past ten o'clock the whole moov'd in following order.

Order of March up Tioga Flats.

Previous to our arrival on the flats, we had to pass about one & half mile thro' a dark difficult swamp, which was covered with weeds & considerable underwoods, interspers'd with large Timber chiefly Button wood. We then entered the Flats, near the place on which Queen Esthers pallace stood, and was destroy'd by Colo. Hartleys detachment last Fall. The grass is remarkable thick & high, we cont^d along the same for about one mile & arriv'd at the entrance of Tioga branch into Susquehannah. About 1 o'clock we cross'd the same and landed on a Peninsula of land which extends toward Chemung and is bounded on the East by Susquehannah & on the West by Tioga branch and continued up the same for about two miles & a half, and Encamp'd. This Peninsula is compos'd of excellent Meadow & Upland, Grass in plenty and Timber of all kind, and soil in general good. Distance of march this day 5 mile. Since our arrival a scout of 8 men was ordered up to reconoiter Chemung and endeavour to make discoveries of the number of Savages & their situation if possible.

Thursday Aug^t 12.

TIOGA PLAIN:—This being a place calculated to cover the Western Army during the Expedition to the Northward of it. A garrison for that purpose is to remain until our return. Sundry Works for the security of the same are now erecting about $2\frac{1}{2}$ Miles distant from where Tioga branch empties into Susquehannah, and where the two rivers are but about 190 yards distance from each other, those Works to extend from river to river.

Capt. Cummings with his Scout (sent out last evening) return'd this day 11 o'clock A.M., made several discoveries at Chemung, an Indian Village 12 Miles distance from this place. In consequence of which a council of War sat & Determined an Expedition should immediately take place for the reduction of the same. The Army (two Regiments excepted) received orders to be in readiness for an immediate march. 8 o'clock P.M. the whole where in motion and proceeded for Chemung.

Friday August 13th 1779.

The Army having march'd last evening 8 o'clock P.M. in the following order vizt. Light Corp under Com^d of Gen. Hand led the Van, then followed Gens. Poor and Maxwells Brigades which formed Main body & Corps de reserve, the whole under immediate command of Maj^r. Gen^l. Sullivan. The night being excessive dark and the want of proper guides, impeded our march, besides which we had several considerable defiles to march thro' that we could not possibly reach Chemung till after day-light. The morning being foggy, favoured our enterprize, Our Pilot on our arrival from some disagreeable emotions he felt, could not find the Town. We discovered a few Hutts which we surrounded, but found them Vacated. After about one hours search, we came upon the Main town. The following disposition for surprizing the same was ordered to take place, viz^t. Two Regiments one from the Light Corp & one from Main body were ordered to cross the river and prevent the Enemy from making their escape that way (should they still hold the Town) The remainder of the Light Corp viz^t 2 Indep^t Companies & My Regiment under Com^d of Brig^r Hand were to make the attack on the Town. Gen^l Poor was immid^y to moove up and support the Light Corp. We moov'd in this order accordingly but the savages probably having discovered our Scouting party the preceeding day, defeated our Enterprize by evacuating the village previous to our coming, carrying off with them nearly all their furniture and stock, and leaving an empty village only, which fell an easy conquest, about 5 o'clock A.M. The situation of this village was beautiful, it contained 50 or 60 Houses, chiefly build of Loggs & frames situate on the banks of Tioga branch and on a most fertile & beautiful extensive plain, the land chiefly calculated for meadows and the soil rich.

The Army continued for some small space in the Town, Gen^l Hand in the mean time advanced my Light Infan^y Comp^y under Capt. Bush about one mile beyond the Village on a path $\frac{h}{w}$ leads to a small Indian Habitation called Newtown. On Cap^t Bush's arrival there, he discovered fires burning, an Indian Dog $\frac{h}{w}$ lay asleep, a number of Dearskins, some blankets &c. He immediately gave information of his discoveries, in consequence of which the remainder part of the Light Corp viz^t the two Indep^t Companies & My Reg^t under Gen^l Hand's command were ordered to moove some miles up the path, and endeavour if possible to make some discoveries, we accordingly proceeded on in the following order viz^t Cap^t Walker $\frac{h}{w}$ 24 Men, compos'd the van, then 11th Reg^t under my command after $\frac{h}{w}$ the two Indep^t Com^{ps} the whole, covered on the left by Tioga branch & on the right by Cap^t Bush's Infantry co. of 40 Men—in this order we moov'd some what better than a mile beyond the place, the fires first were discovered when our Van was fired upon by a party of savages who lay conceal'd on a high hill immediately upon our right and which Cap^t Bush had not yet made. We immediately formed a front with my Regiment, pushed up the Hill with a degree of intrepidity seldom to be met with, and under a very severe fire from the savages. Cap^t Bush in the mean time endeavoured to gain the Enemy's rear. They—Enemy seeing the determined resolutions of our troops, retreated and according to custom, previous to our dislodging them carried off their wounded & dead, by which means they deprived us from coming to the knowledge of their loss.

The ground on the opposite side of the Mountain or ridge on which the action commenc'd, being compos'd of Swamp & low grass covered with underwood &c. favoured their retreat, and prevented our pursuing them, by which means they got off.

Our loss on this occasion which totaly (excepting two) fell on my Regiment was as follows vz^t Two Captains, one Adjut., one guide & eight privates wounded, and one Serg^t, one Drumer & four privates kill'd. Officers names viz^t Cap^t Walker (slight wound) Cap^t Carbury & Adj^t Huston (I fear mortal).

We, after gaining the summit of the hill & dislodging the Enemy march'd by the right of Companies in 8 columns and continued along the same untill the arrival of Gen^l Sullivan we then halted for some little time, and then return'd to the village, which was instantly laid in Ashes and a party detach'd to cross the river & destroy the Corn, beans, Pumpkins, Squashes & other Vegetables &c of w^h there were several very extensive fields, and those articles in the greatest perfection. Whilst the Troops were engag'd in this business Gen^ls Poor & Maxwells Brigades were fired upon, lost one man kill'd & several wounded. The whole business being compleated, we return'd to the ruins of the Village halted some little time and received Orders to return to Tioga plain, at which place we arrived 8 o'clock P.M., considerably fatigued. Least the Savages should discover our loss after leaving the place, I had the dead bodys of my Reg^t carried along, fix'd on horses and brought to this place for interment.

The expedition from first to last continued 24 hours, of which time my Regiment was imploy'd without least intermission 23 hours. The whole of our march not less than 40 miles.

Sully painted a picture that was engraved by John Cheney for The Gift, for 1837, of a young girl reading a letter addressed to "Mary H.," entitled The Love Letter. From its composition it could be a portrait or a fancy picture. In May, 1891, at a sale of paintings from the Cooper Estate, at Davis and Harvey's Auction House, Philadelphia, this picture was sold as "Portrait of Miss E. Sims, of Philadelphia." The canvas was signed "T. S. 1837." There is no portrait of Miss Sims in the Register.

FORT BEDFORD 12th Sept 1759

DEAR SIR

Having an Express to Send down in a hurry I have only time to acknowledge the reception of your last of the 1st Ins^t.

I forwarded to the General the Governor's Letter I do not know whether he will feel as I do the injustice of your People But I confess my Patience is at an End, having had particulars & personal Proofs that no Gentleman can dream of living in your Province, while the Power is lodged in hands Still full of the dirt of their former Mechanical & base Trades—

If your Propr. will Submitt to their Ineroachments, I think he has a right to do it and if hé continues to doze, his thin attendance of friends will fall asleep :

Major Ward has no Comission, Please to Send me one for him. I will write you more fully by the first Express. For this day, Forgive & Vale

H. B.

(Col. Bouquet to Col. Burd.)

FORT BEDFORD 13th September 1759

DEAR SIR,

I received your favours of the 5th & 7th Instant and hope you have got to your ground by this time, The weather having been remarkably fine.

I wrote to Cumberland to send you flour & forrage, by the first Pack Horses from Virginia, but wish you had taken more with you. Col. Mercer is desired to send you 12 Beeves, Capt. Woodward is to inform you by express of the time those supplies will set off from Cumberland.

Had we Tools and proper People to employ, the reparation of Braddocks Road would be very necessary; for want of those two things, I am afraid we shall do nothing Cap^t Pearis has orders to join you with his Company, taking the Pack Horses under his Escort, and Lieut. Jones is to follow with the next Convoy to you.

We have had an account from St. Lawrence that Gen'l Wolff attacked the lines the 31st July with all the Granadiers & 200 R. A. but was repulsed with loss of 400 men partly wounded. People begin to think that he will not succeed, But will ruin the Country in his Retreat. I hope better, he has beat the Canadians & Indians everywhere, killed great numbers, & got 500 Prisoners.

No news from Europe, Callendar is arrived with his new Horses, But Hambright is yet at Lancaster.

I am my Dear Sir

Your most obed^t hble serv^t

HENRY BOUQUET

Col. Armstrong marched with his Battⁿ the 8th for Ligonier.

For fear of exposing you to want, if the Pack Horses should not return in time from Winchester, I send orders to Capt Woodward to send you directly ten of Donaldson's Horses with 150^w of flour each and six Beeves under an Escort of a Lieut. & 16 men and as soon as the Pack Horses arrive to order 36 to proceed to you with [torn] & 18 with forrage, the rest to go to Pittsburgh.

H. B.

(Col. Bouquet to Edward Shippen.)

BEDFORD 29th September 1759

DEAR SIR

Besides the £2000: St. I sent you lately, I desired Capt. Sinclair to pay you £500: and I inclose you another draught of this date for £1000: St. which I desire you will not draw till you have occasion for it, and give advice to Mr. Nelson of the time that he may be ready for you.

Capt. Hambright's Brigade is in sight, he has lost many drivers & Horses.

The forrage being abundant here, you may begin to let some Flour come up when occasion offers: We have upwards of 12000 Bushells of different grains here, and more coming every day, So I suppose we shall soon have enough, and I shall let you know when to stop buying more.

BEDFORD 30th September, 1759

DEAR SIR

Your letter of the 25th received last night surprised & vexed me beyond Expression; after giving such strict charge to Lt. Col. Mercer to subsist you & repeated orders to the Commanding officer at Cumberland to forward Provisions with the utmost diligence, Could I imagine that they would let you starve? It is hard to have nobody to depend upon; Those Pack Horses you sent back to be loaded with forrage are not come back yet; and that was the Province to subsist the whole army.

I hope your Beeves have saved your Lives, with what Deers you could kill, till the Convoy gone from Cumberland reaches you: There is 41 Waggons from Winchester loaded with flour, and the Pack Horses going to your Post; I wish you had sent to Pittsburgh for supplies, it would have been easier. I had beg'd of the Genl. to send a Battoe to meet you, But with other Things was forgotten. I am sorry to my Soul of your cruel situation, reproaching myself to have trusted to any Body but myself the Care of your subsistence, But I did not then expect to have been so long detained here.

Hambright's Brigade arrived at last yesterday with at least 20 Horses lost & 9 Drivers. They will require 3 or four days rest, & when I see them on their Way forward, I shall proceed myself to Pittsburgh.

Ourry sends you the things you want which we were obliged to get done in a hurry not to detain this Express.

I hope the nails & other things from Winchester will be sent to you. But to make sure you could write for some to Cap^t Gordon and replace them to him, when you arrive.

You will have oats for your Horses, If you find the River navigable, Please to write to the General to send you the Battoes to take what flour and salt will come to you.

I am glad you could find such a pretty situation for your Post. Give it a shorter name than the wild one of the Creek.

If I don't go to Niagara (as I hear I am ordered by Gen. A) I will pay you a visit, if you have not joined us when I am at Pittsburgh

Provost Smith is expected at Philad^a having defeated the Philistins compleatly

There is some Church Squabble stirred up by one M^cclanigan, supported by Mr Rob —— & Party.

No better news from Quebec. It is generally expected we shall miscarry there.

Nothing from Europe.

Mrs Sterling is gone. The departure was so lamentable that Pat —— writes me he was sent for to moderate the grieff.

Farewell my dear Sir, my kind Compliments to Col. Shippen.

I am

Dear Sir

[Addressed] On His Majesty's Service To COLONEL BURD

upon the Monongahela

& Horse to Colonel Burd.

(Col. Bouquet to Col. Burd?)

PITTSBURGH 24th October 1759

DEAR SIR

I arrived here the 15th and was since upon the new Road opened from the three Redoubts to this Place which has proved a heavy and difficult Work.

I returned yesterday and the General ordered me to answer your Letter of the 18th

He approves of the two small Houses you propose to build at the Crossing of Yioghiogheny, and desires when the flatt and Houses are finished that you would order a carefull Sergeant and ten men to keep that Post. They must have a couple of falling axes and a Padlock for the Stores.

As there is neither men nor Tools at Fort Cumberland or Bedford you must be so good to take the charge of getting the Bridge built upon the little crossing and to order the Loggs to be covered with good fascines and Earth and secured by strong Pins.

As soon as your own Post is finished, the General desires you to march with the remainder of your detachment to Pittsburgh, leaving a diligent officer and 20 or 25 men at Burd's Fort. The officer must give Certificates for all Provisions, Forrage &c, that will be sent there from Virg^a and Maryland and inform the General or me thereof that Battos may be sent to bring them down. He will give a Regular Invoice of Each article sent here, to prevent neglect and Confusion: Some allowance will be made to him in Consideration of his Care.

I shall be extremely glad to see you here and remain, my Dear Sir

HENRY BOUQUET

They say Quebec is fallen,
Wolff killed, Montcalm and 2 more generals killed. 500 lost on our side. 1600 on the French.

(Col. Bouquet to Col. Burd.)

DEAR SIR

To prevent any future deficiency of Provision at your Post, Please to send orders to Messrs Walker and Rutherford for the quantity of Beeves that you may want at your Post & the two crossings of the Yioghiogheny and stop the flour you will have occasion for from the Convoys passing at your Post.

If you had a Canoe I would propose to you to send a small Party up the Mononghehela to reconoitre the course & bearings of that River and how far it is navigable above your Fort; We could discover by that if a nearer Cut could be found with the Patowmack.

The Yioghiogheny deserves also some notice, But am afraid you have nobody to judge of the possibility of making use of it for a communication unless Col. Shippen could take the trouble to follow that River down to the Mononghehela. Could I be spared here it would give me great satisfaction to explore those Waters with you, and contribute to a service that may prove so beneficial to the Public.

Farewell my Dear Sir

I am Yours

WINCHESTER 18th December 1759.

DEAR SIR

I have at last settled the account of this department as far as could be done & propose setting off the 20th for York, where I shall stay a day or two to settle wth M^r Stevenson & then proceed to Lancaster: as I must make some Stay there, I must beg the favour you would secure me a lodging at Slough, Mr. Carr's House being too cold.

I hope that M^r Shippen has been able by this time to close his accounts, as I don't Expect any more Carriages this year: If any body there has any Claims against the Crown; Be so kind or Mr Shippen to publish an advertisement for them to bring in their accounts to him, to be settled that I may not be detained having so many more below.

The General writes me that he does not propose to leave Pittsburgh before february if so soon. Your Troops are coming down to form the Line settled at Pittsburgh.

Farewell my dear Sir

Your most obed^t hble serv^t

H. BOUQUET

My Respects to y^r Lady & Mr Shippen's family, hope you found them all well.

PRESQ'ISLE 30th September 1760

DEAR SIR

I received last night your Letter of the 31. August and was very glad to hear that you are Well. No Body can be more sensible of your past services than I am, and would be better pleased to see them properly rewarded. But as I never had the Power to appoint a. D. Q. M. G. I can not see of what use my Certificate would be to you: nevertheless you know you may command me, and if I can Serve you, I will do it with all my heart—I hope it will not be detrimental to your Interest to postpone Sending you that Certificate till I can see General Monckton, and know his sentiments upon it: Sir John St. Clair being at the head of that branch, and acting, is the proper Person to give such Certificate, and as your friend will not refuse it: It is very probable that if I do interfer I might rather hurt than serve you. But I am ready to do what I can for your advantage which nobody wishes more sincerely than Dear Sir

Your Devoted hble Servant

DEAR SIR

I have the Pleasure to acquaint you that the Treaty at Detroit has Succeeded to the utmost of our Wishes.

A Separate Confederacy is made between the Shawanese, Delawares, Wyandots, and other Western Indians offensive and deffensive in which we are Included: The Petticoat is taken from the Delawares & they are now Men, with all the appurtenances thereto belonging, as many of our female Captives can certify.

All their Prisoners are to be delivered, but they will force none to quit them: a New Regulation is made by Sir William for the Trade at Each Post lowering the Price of goods: Traders will be sent to their Towns with Sir William's Licences But this will take Place only when they have performed their Engagement.

Several Parties are gone to War against the Cherokees, & will certainly Influence their disposition for Peace.

All this Transaction can not be very agreeable to the Six Nations, who are to meet Sir W^m in their country, when after a Rebuke for their past Rash behaviour, They will be taken into favour again. Their Complaints redressed and there will be a general Peace all Nations. Amen.

Pray what is the Cause of the unexpected Return of Col. B—— I don't like it, because I love him & am afraid he has been too Impatient. I wish most sincerely on his account a Speedy Peace with the Cherokees, which would put an End to all the transactions on that Side.

We have here the Carolina Paper War. It is high time to end the War with the French, for I see Ennemys enough among ourselves to keep up a martial Spirit. Forgive this hasty Scrawl— Shall I not See you Soon in Town— I hope So & am my dear Sir yours

H. B.

(Col. Bouquet to Col. James Burd.)

PHILAD^A 10th April 1763

DEAR SIR

As you remember that you desired to know how to make Shot, I send you the following method, which you can easily try.

Put a quantity of Lead into an Iron ladle, and melt it slowly over a gentle fire; so soon as it is perfectly liquid, pour it into a round wooden Box with a wooden cover nicely fitted to it, and let both that and the cavity of the box be well rubbed over with chalk; Shut the box immediately when the melted lead is in it and shake it violently, so that the metal within may be agitated forcibly against all parts of the box. Continue this agitation till the metal is cold and on opening the box you will find the greatest part of it finely granulated; Let the chalk that adheres to the grains be rubbed off and then siff them to make them of an equal size

Your Turner at Lancaster can make you the Box, with an opening wide enough to rub the inside with chalk, it ought to be screw'd to prevent its opening before the Lead is cold.

I am going tomorrow for twelve days to Maryland & expect to have soon after the Pleasure to see you. I beg my Respects to M^r Shippen & the Ladies and am Dear Sir

Your most obed^t hble Serv^t,

H. BOUQUET.

PHILADELPHIA 24th June 1763

MY DEAR SIR

The Circumstances having not permitted you to let me know, what acknowledgement I could make to our very obliging Friend Mr. Chew, any way adequate to the many Services he has done me: I find myself obliged to leave this Town without discharging So just a debt, which gives me some uneasiness, as it appears ungrateful.

I must therefore depend upon your usual kindness for me to settle this point at your return from New York, and inform me what will be right that I may remit it immediately, with my Sincere thanks.

I will give myself the Pleasure to communicate to you whatever remarkable Events may happen in this Department, during this Savage War, and shall always remain with the most Sincere affection

MORAVIAN IMMIGRATION TO PENNSYLVANIA,
1734-1765.

BY JOHN W. JORDAN.

[The compiler has also prepared a list of the immigrants from 1765 to 1800, which may be consulted in the Manuscript Department of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.]

Moravian immigration to the British Colonies of North America¹ dates from the year 1735, when, in March, the ship Two Brothers, Capt. Thompson, landed at Savannah, Georgia,

Augustus G. Spangenberg,	Peter Rosa,
Anton Seyffert,	Michael Haberland,
John Toeltschig,	George Haberland,
Gottfried Haberecht,	Frederic Reidel,
Gotthard Demuth,	George Waschke.

On February 16, 1736, the Simonds, Capt. Frank Cornish, landed at Savannah the second colony :

Bishop David Nitschmann,	Rosina Haberecht,
Christian Adolph von Hermsdorf,	John Martin Mack,
Henry Rascher,	Matthias Seybold,
Andrew and Anna Dober,	Jacob Frank,
David and Rosina Zeisberger,	Judith Toeltschig,
David Tanneberger,	Gottlieb and Regina Demuth,
John Tanneberger,	Catherine Riedel,
David Jag,	Anna Waschke,
Augustine Neisser,	Juliana Jaeschke,
George Neisser,	John Boehner,
John Michael Meyer,	Matthias Boehnisch.

¹The first Moravian to come to America was George Boehnisch, in September of 1734, who accompanied the Schwenkfelders to Pennsylvania. See Erläuterung für Herrn Caspar Schwenkfeld, for a narrative of the voyage.

They had as fellow-passengers General Oglethorpe, Charles and John Wesley, Benjamin Ingham, and Charles Delamotte. The Moravians, who had been granted by the Georgia Trustees, in 1734, a tract of 50 acres near Savannah, and in 1735, two lots "in the new town," began to clear the land and erect dwellings. The prospects of these small colonies, however, received a sudden check in 1737, for when the Spaniards of Florida endeavored to expel the English from Georgia, the latter called upon the Moravians to join in taking up arms against them. This they refused, having declared in London, "that they neither could nor would bear arms on any consideration," and eventually those who had not returned to Europe were transferred to Pennsylvania, and the mission abandoned. The Georgia estates were not sold until 1801.

On July 21, 1740, Christian Henry Rauch arrived at New York, and October 26, 1741,

Gottlob Buettner, John C. Pyrlaeus,
J. William Zander.

December 2, of the latter year, Count Zinzendorf and suite landed at New York, and on the 10th inst. arrived in Philadelphia, where a house on the east side of Second Street above Race had been rented for him. With him came

Benigna von Zinzendorf, his daughter,
Rosina Nitschmann, wife of Bishop David Nitschmann, John Jacob Mueller,
Abraham and Judith Meinung,
David Bruce,
John Henry Miller.

Following closely after the first purchases of land by the Church, in the present Northampton County, Pennsylvania, in the year 1741, two colonies were organized in Europe, which are known as the "First" and "Second Sea Congregations," followed by four at later dates, the most conspicuous in that interesting period in the history of Moravian immigration, which falls in the interval between 1742 and 1765. Individuals and small companies occasionally arrived on vessels from England, and from Holland, through which country the Rhineland sent her Palatinates for transportation to the New World. When, however, the Church organized colonies, she invariably provided vessels of her own, from considerations of economy and out of regard for their comfort, but more particularly from a reluctance to expose her members, for whose spiritual welfare she was concerned, to the hurtful influences of promiscuous association during the tedious weeks and months of a sea voyage.

There were four vessels, the Catherine, Little Strength, Irene, and Hope, owned by the Church and afloat at different dates, and their crews, with but few exceptions, were members of or connected with the Church. In build they were snows, the largest of all two-masted vessels engaged in commerce. The ensign of the Little Strength, Irene, and Hope was a lamb passant with a flag, in a blood-colored field, and notwithstanding the peaceable character of these vessels, they carried an armament of from two to four cannon and small arms.

The Catherine was purchased in London in the spring of 1742, and on her the "First Sea Congregation" arrived at Philadelphia, July 7. The following day the German colonists were landed and taken to the Court House, at Second and Market Streets, where they took the usual qualification. The following is a list of the colonists :

Henry and Rosina Almers,	Samuel and Martha Powell,
David and Ann Catherine Bischoff,	Joseph and Martha Powell,
Peter and Elizabeth Boehler,	Owen and Elizabeth Rice,
John Brandmiller,	Joachim and Anna Catherine Sen-
John and Mary Barbara Brucker,	seman,
Paul Daniel and Regina Bryzelius,	Michael and Ann Rosina Tanne-
George and Elizabeth Harten,	berger,
Robert and Martha Hussey,	John and Elizabeth Turner,
Adolph Meyer,	David and Mary Elizabeth Wah-
Michael and Anna Johanna Miksch,	nert,
Thomas and Ann Yarrell.

Single Men.

Andrew, a negro,	William Okely,
John George Endter,	Christian F. Post,
Hector Gambold,	Gottlieb Pezold,
John C. Heydecker,	John R. Ronner,
John Michael Huber,	George Schneider,
George Kaske,	Leonard Schnell,
Jacob Lischy,	Nathaniel Seidel,
John Philip Meurer,	Joseph Shaw,
Joseph Moeller,	George Weisner,
John Okely,	Christian Werner,
Matthew Wittke.

A number of the English colonists were first settled at Bethlehem, and then at Nazareth, whence they were transferred to Philadelphia, where they formed the nucleus of the Moravian congregation in that city.

After the colonists had been disembarked and the cargo discharged, the vessel and her stores were sold, under instructions from England.

During the month of September, the following colonists arrived on a vessel not owned by the Church:

Daniel and Hannah Neubert, with an adopted child,
Jacob and Anna Margaret Kohn,
Christopher and Christina Franke,
Martin and Anna Liebisch,
Anna Liebisch,
Maria Brandner,
Michael Schnall.

Maria Dorothea Meyer, wife of Adolph Meyer, died off the Banks of Newfoundland, and was buried at sea.

For the transportation of the colony organized in Germany for peopling the settlements on the Nazareth tract, and known as the "Second Sea Congregation," the Little Strength was purchased in England, and Capt. Nicholas Garrison appointed her Master. Late in August of 1743, she was dispatched to Rotterdam, where the colonists were taken on board, and on September 17 sailed for New York, where she arrived after a passage of eighty-seven days. The names of the colonists were :

Gottlieb and Johanna C. Anders,
 John Henry and Rosina Biefel,
 Martin and Margaret Boehmer,
 John David and Gertrude Boehringer,
 George and Anna Mary Christ,
 Thomas and Agnes Fischer,
 John C. and Anna Margaret Fritsche,
 Peter and Anna Barbara Goetje,
 John Godfrey and Anna Mary Grabs,
 Matthew and Elizabeth Hancke,
 Abraham and Anna Mary Hessler,
 John Tobias and Mary Hirte,
 John C. and Mary M. Hoepfner,
 John and Anna M. Jorde,
 Matthew and Christiana B. Krause,
 Andrew and Rosina Kremser,
 George and Anna Mary Kremser,
 Daniel and Anna Mary Kunkler,
 John and Barbara Michler,
 John Henry and Rosina Moeller,
 John and Mary Philippina Mozer,
 John Michael and Catherine Muecke, Jonas and Margaret Nilsen,
 George and Susan Ohneberg,
 John G. and Susan L. Partsch,
 David and Elizabeth Reichard,
 Matthew and Magdalen Reutz,
 John and Anna C. Schaaf,
 John and Divert Mary Schaub,
 Andrew and Hedwig Regina Schober,
 Matthew and Anna M. Schropp,
 John C. and M. Dorothea Weinert,
 Matthias and Margaret C. Weiss.

The following are the names of the colonists fitted out at Herrnhut :

Andrew and Anna E. Brocksch,
 Christopher and Anna Mary Demuth,
 John G., Sen^r, and Regina Hantsch,

Christopher and Elizabeth Hencke,
John Henry and Barbara E. Hertzner,
John and Rosina Muenster,
George and Johanna E. Nieke,
Christian and Anna D. Schutze,
George and Anna D. Zeisberger.

Single Men.

John Jacob Doehling, Conrad Harding,
John G. Hantsch, Jr., Christian F. Oerter,
John G. Nixdorf.

Single Woman.

Anna Regina Hantsch.

Names of the colonists fitted out in England :

Elizabeth Banister, widow, John and Sarah Leighton,
David and Mary Digeon, Andrew and Jane Ostrum,
James and Elizabeth Greening, Jasper and Elizabeth Payne, Richard and Sarah Utley.

With Bishop David Nitschmann, David Wahnert (cook of the Catherine) and wife, George and Elizabeth Harten, George Weber and wife, and Samuel and Mary (Indian converts), as passengers, the Little Strength, on March 24, 1744, sailed from New York for Amsterdam—a port she was never destined to reach. On the morning of May 1, when in the chops of the English Channel, she was captured by a privateer, a prize crew put on board, the passengers robbed, and six days later they were landed at St. Sebastian. The Little Strength proved a total loss to the Church. Four years elapsed before the Church again had a vessel of her own afloat.

The demand from Pennsylvania for more colonists becoming urgent, Captain Garrison, who had returned from captivity at St. Sebastian, was dispatched to New York to superintend the building of a transport vessel. On Oct. 25,

Bishop A. G. Spangenberg and wife,
 Capt. Nicholas Garrison,
 Abraham and Sarah Reincke,
 Andrew and Dorothea Horn,
 Christian Froelich, George Neisser,

on the ship Jacob, arrived at New York. The day following his arrival, Capt. Garrison called on Timothy Horsfield, with reference to building the projected vessel, and also on Thomas Noble, who was to act as financial agent. Finally they decided that a "snow" should be built, and contracted with Jan Van Deventer, a reputable ship-builder of Staten Island, to build the hull, make and set the masts and rig the vessel. The rigging, cables, and anchors were to be purchased in England, these articles being cheaper there than in the colonies. The building of the vessel progressed slowly, and it was not until the spring of 1748 that she was ready for launching. Accordingly on Tuesday, May 29, at eleven o'clock A.M., in the presence of about one thousand spectators, the Irene, as she was christened, was successfully launched, after which a lunch was served to the workmen. In honor of the event, Bishop Spangenberg presented the builder's wife with a new gown. Three days later, the new transport was docked at Old Slip, Captain Garrison put in command, and she was registered in the name of Henry Antes. Securing a cargo and a few passengers (not Moravians), on September 8, the Irene cleared from New York on her maiden voyage for Amsterdam. While the Irene was being built, several small companies of Moravians arrived at Philadelphia and New York. In September of 1745, the following persons landed at Philadelphia :

William P. and Hannah Knolton,
 Eve Mary Meyer (a widow),
 Jarvis Roebuck.

On December 28, 1746, the snow John Galley, Captain Crosswaite, arrived off Lewes, Delaware, and navigation being closed, her passengers were landed and continued their journey by land to Bethlehem, via Philadelphia.

Bishop J. C. F. Cammerhoff and wife,
Esther, wife of Christian Froelich, Matthias Gottlieb Gottschalk,
Vitus and Mary Handrup,
Judith Hickel, a widow,
Sven and Anna Margaret Roseen,
John and Johanna Wade,
John Eric Westerman.

In June of 1748, there arrived at New York,

J. G. Bitterlich,	Paul Paulson,
Andrew Broksch,	Christian Pfeiffer,
John G. Geitner,	Godfrey Roemelt,
Bernhard Adam Grube,	Jeremiah Schaaf,
Joseph Hobsch,	Christian Schmidt,
Gottfried Hoffman,	Paul Schneider,
Matthew Kunz,	John Seyffert,
Samuel Wutke.

In September there also arrived at the same port:

Baron John and the Countess Benigna von Watteville,
Anna Rosina Anders,	Catherine B. Keller,
— Hasselman,	Elizabeth Lisberger,
Elizabeth Palmer.

During the nine years the Irene was in the service of the Church, she crossed the Atlantic twenty-four times, sailing between New York and ports in England and Holland, and made one voyage to Greenland. She was always rated a staunch vessel and an excellent sailer, and at the time of her capture and loss had never met with any serious mishap. The large number of colonists she brought over from Europe for settling the estates of the Church in Pennsylvania, and the fact of her never entering or clearing from the port of Philadelphia, caused Governor Hamilton in a personal interview with Bishop Spangenberg to ask for an explanation. "We wish we could use the port of Philadelphia," stated the Bishop, "but since our captain is a native of New York, and has a large acquaintance with the merchants of that city, he can more readily obtain freight there than in Philadelphia, passengers alone not being sufficient. Another serious objection is, the merchants of Philadelphia own their own vessels." As already stated, the Irene sailed from New York for Amsterdam September 8, 1748, and arrived at the Texel November 1. She cleared from London, March 1, 1749, and arrived at New York May 12, with the "John Nitschmann Colony," with whom came Christian David, of Herrnhut, Matthew and Rosina Stach, missionaries to Greenland, and three converts, who had been on a visit to Europe.

The "John Nitschmann Colony" was the largest ever brought over on a Moravian transport. The following is a roster of the colonists:

John and Juliana Nitschmann,
 David and Rosina Nitschmann,
 Michael and Anna Helena Haberland,
 Samuel and Rosina Krause,
 Joseph and Verona Mueller,
 Christian J. and Anna M. Sangerhausen,
 Matthew and Rosina Stach,

Loading lumber and other material for the mission in Greenland, the Irene sailed on her second voyage from Staten Island June 21, 1748, with Christian David, the missionary Stach and wife, and the three converts, and arrived at New Herrnhut, Greenland, on July 30. She was back again in New York, August 29. In the summer of 1749, the following single men from Yorkshire, England, arrived at Bethlehem, who were to carry on the manufacture of woolen goods:

William Dixon,
 Joseph Haley,

John Hirst,
 Richard Poplewell.

On October 15, 1749, the Irene sailed on her third voyage from New York, and arrived at London November 21, making the quick passage, as her log states, of "thirty days from land to land." She sailed from Dover, May 11, 1750, and arrived at New York on June 22, making a remarkable westward passage, with the following colonists on board:

The Irene left her dock in New York, 28 August, 1750, on her fourth voyage, and during a severe storm lost both topmasts and narrowly escaped from foundering. On her return voyage, she sailed from Dover, and arrived at New York, 26 September, 1731, with the following passengers :

Joachim and Elizabeth Busse, '	John Jacob Schmick,
John Christian Christiansen,	David Zeisberger,
John Michael and Gertrude Graff.

On her fifth voyage, the Irene sailed from New York, 22 November, 1751, and was again in port (last from Dover), 17 May, 1751, bringing as passengers :

Rev. Francis and Ann Catherine Boehler,
 Rev. Andrew Anton and Anna Maria Lawatsch,
 Rev. Jacob Rogers (widower),
 Jacob Wahnert (do),
 Rosina Pfohl (widow),
 Margaret Wernhamer (single).

About a month after the sailing of the Irene on her fifth voyage, there arrived unexpectedly at New York, Bishop A. G. Spangenberg with

Rev. Philip C. Bader,
 Rev. Nicholas H. Eberhardt,
 Rev. Matthew and Anna M. Hehl,
 Matthew Kremser,
 Carl Godfrey Rundt,
 Henrietta Peterman.

The Irene sailed from New York on her sixth voyage, July 6, 1752, and from London on her return, reaching her dock November 20, having on board a number of single women and others :

Anna Maria Beyer,	Margaret C. Klingelstein,
Maria C. Dietz,	Anna Mann,
Margaret Ebermeyer,	Agnes Meyer,
Dorothea Gaupp,	Johanna D. Miller (wife of
Catherine Gerhardt,	Henry Miller, the printer,
Inger Hyde,	of Philada.),

Linet Redderberg,
Catherine Ruch,
Felicitas Schuster,
Margaret Seidner,

Anna Sperbach,
John Toeltschig,
Juliana Warkler,
—— Schultz (widow),
David Wahnert.

On April 5, 1753, the Irene sailed from New York, on her seventh voyage, and from London on her return, June 13, and was docked September 9. Her passengers were :

- Rev. Peter and Elizabeth Boehler,
- Rev. Jacob and Elizabeth Till,
- Susan Till,
- Rebecca Till,
- George Stephen and Susan Watson,
- Ludolph Gottlieb Backhof, student, Luneberg,
- Christopher Henry Baehrmeyer, writer, Brandenburg,

- Christian Frederick Toellner, tailor, Pomerania,
- Christian Wedsted, carpenter, Denmark,
- Peter Weicht, farmer, Silesia,
- Peter Worbass, carpenter, Denmark,
- Curtius Frederick Ziegler, student, Pomerania.

It is worthy of mention, that the first steam engine operated in the colonies was brought over on this voyage, and taken to the copper mine near the present town of Belleville, New Jersey.

On November 3, 1753, the Irene sailed from New York on her eighth voyage, and from Gravesend, March 15, 1754, reaching her dock April 15, the quickest western voyage she ever made, "being but three Sundays at sea." The following is a list of her passengers:

Bishop Augustus G. Spangenberg,
 Rev. Francis Christian Lembke,
 David Nitschmann, Sen^r.
 Andrew Schoute,
 C. T. and Anna Maria Benzien,

In charge of Nicholas Garrison, Jr., as Master, the Irene sailed from New York February 4, 1755, and arrived from London, August 11, her tenth voyage, but brought over no colonists.

The Irene, Christian Jacobsen, Master, sailed for England, on her eleventh voyage, September 28, 1755, and was back in port again June 2, 1756, having brought over the following single men :

John B. Böninghausen,	Henry Ollringshaw,
Joachim Busse,	John M. Rippel,
James Hall,	John Roth,
Casper G. Hellerman,	Michael Ruch,
Elert Koortsen,	William Schmaling,
George E. Mentzinger,	George Seneff,
John Mueller.	Hans Jacob Schmidt.

The twelfth voyage of the Irene was made to London, July 1, 1756, and on December 12, she landed the following passengers at New York :

Peter Boehler,	Christian Bohle,
William Boehler,	Adolph Eckesparre,
Philip Christian Reiter.

The thirteenth voyage of the Irene, to London, in March of 1757, is devoid of interest, and no colonists were brought over.

On November 20, 1757, the Irene sailed from New York on her fourteenth and last voyage. When ten days out she was captured by a French privateer, and proved a total loss to the Church. The news of her capture and wreck did not reach Bethlehem until May 19, 1758. Andrew Schoute, for five years one of her mates, who was returning to Europe in impaired health, prepared an account of his experiences, from which the following extracts are taken :

“ On the 20th of November we cleared Sandy Hook. At noon on the 29th, we sighted a vessel to the north bearing down on us and soon after hoisting the English flag. Mistrusting the stranger, we showed no colors, but crowded on all sail in the hope of effecting our escape, whereupon the stranger ran up the French flag. It was now a trial of speed, in the course of which the Irene gave proof of her excellent sailing qualities ; but at eleven o'clock at night our storm sails parted. The privateer now gained rapidly on us, and as she did so fired shot after shot. It being bright moonlight and no further hope of escape in our disabled condition, we backed our sails, and at midnight our ill-fated vessel was boarded—Lat. 36°, Long. 62°. Capt. Jacobsen and two of his crew were immediately transferred on board the privateer, which proved to be the Margaret from Louisburg, and the Irene given in charge of a prize crew who were ordered to take us into Louisburg. At day-break we were ordered on deck, and stripped and plundered of all we had on our persons. The weather grew foul, and we found the prize crew inexperienced in seamanship, and occasionally they would call upon us to assist in navigating the vessel. . . . On the morning of January 12, 1758, the fog raising, we discovered an island close by the vessel, whereupon we put out to sea. In the afternoon the Frenchmen decided to make for the land again, when I went to the captain and pilot, and tried to dissuade them from so unseamanlike a course in foggy weather, and told them that they would certainly lose the vessel. As they would not listen to my protest, I prepared for the worst. At 2 p. m. breakers were reported ; very soon we were among them, and struck a rock. The Frenchmen became so demoralized that I ordered the boat launched, into which we all got (twenty-two in number) and reached the shore in safety. On landing the French captain fell upon my neck, kissed and thanked me for saving the lives of all. We then entered the woods, made a fire, and on returning to the boat for provisions, found that it had drifted out to sea. The next morning the masts of the Irene only were seen above water. . . . On February 5, we reached Louisburg, and were taken before the Governor, who committed us to the common prison. At this time there were eight large men-of-war, four frigates, and transports laden with men and munitions of war, collected in the harbor, for the protection of the city against a demonstration it was known the English designed to make. On the 1st of June General Amherst's expedition hove in sight. . . .

“All the English prisoners in the city were ordered on board the men-of-war and confined below decks under guard. One week later the English effected a landing and four days thereafter succeeded in dislodging the French from their outworks. Cannonading was opened on the 14th simultaneously between five French vessels and the Island battery, and an English man-of-war and the Lighthouse battery. The French vessels were compelled to fall back on the 16th under cover of the fort. The ship on board of which I was, being in range, was riddled by three hundred shot. One night when I was asleep behind a barrel of flour in the hold, a ball came crashing through the hull and buried itself in the barrel! On the 16th the English opened a general cannonade against the city, which was sustained with unremitting fury for two days. Then they opened their mortars upon the fleet, pouring into the vessels a fiery hail, which soon wrapped three of them in flames. Compelled to abandon our burning ship (a 64) all hands took to the boats, but it was a desperate alternative, as the way of escape to the shore was commanded by the English batteries. On landing, we prisoners were immediately put in confinement. Thus another week passed, when on the 26th July, the cannonading ceased and news was brought to us that the garrison had capitulated. The next day we were released."

The Hope, the fourth and last of the transport vessels of the Church, was built in 1760, at New Haven, Connecticut, "was 120 tons burthen, mounting four cannon, and navigated by thirteen seamen." She was registered at the New York Custom House, and prohibited from taking out of the Province "any servant, debtor, or any person without a passport."

Securing a cargo for South Carolina, the Hope left her dock on her first voyage, Saturday, January 17, 1761, the day on which George III was proclaimed king in the Province. Arriving at her destination, she sailed for England, February 20, under convoy. Again under convoy, she arrived at New York, October 19, having on board the following passengers :

Nathaniel and Anna Johanna Seidel,
Frederick and Hedwig Elizabeth von Marshall,
Paul and Anna Muenster.

During the ensuing two years, the Hope was engaged in the general freighting business, but on October 21, 1763, she landed at New York the following passengers, who reached Bethlehem November 4:

John Frommelt,	Dorothea Lefler,
Paul Tiersch,	Frederica Pietscher,
Justina Erd,	Elizabeth Seidlitz,
Susan von Gersdorf,	A. Salome Steinmann,
M. Barbara Horn,	Maria W. Werwing.

The first fire engine for Bethlehem, purchased in London, was brought over on this voyage, and is still preserved in that town. With the arrival of the Hope at New York, April 11, 1765, with the Rev. Frederick Smith and wife as passengers, her career as a transport vessel of the Church ends.

At a meeting held in Bethlehem, June 6, 1762, in which Bishop A. G. Spangenberg, who for almost twenty years was at the head of the American branch of the Moravian Church, announced his departure for Europe, he took occasion to review the Moravian immigration of the past twenty-six years, and stated that of the six hundred and more men and women, but one died—a remarkable instance of Divine protection.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Notes.

ALLUMMAPEES, OR SASSOONAN, A DELAWARE KING, whose name appears frequently in Colonial records, as early as 1718, headed the deputation of Indian chieftains at Philadelphia who signed an absolute release to the Proprietaries for the lands situate between the Delaware and Susquehanna Rivers, and from Duck Creek to the mountains south side of the Lehigh, which land had been granted by their ancestors to William Penn. In 1728 he removed from the Delaware to Shamokin (Sunbury, Northumberland County, occupies the site of the Indian town). Conrad Weisser writes in 1747: "The Delaware Indians last year [1746] intended to visit Philadelphia, but were prevented by Allumapees' sickness, who is still alive, but not able to stir. * * * Allumapees has no successor of his relations, and he will not hear of none as long as he is alive, and none of the Indians care to meddle in the affair. Shikelimy advises that the Government should name Allumapees' successor and set him up by their authority, that at this critical time there might be a man to apply to, since Allumapees has lost his senses, and is uncapable of doing anything."

While David Brainerd was on a visit to Shamokin in September of 1745, he wrote: "Visited the Delaware King, who was supposed to be at the point of death when I was here in May last." "Allumapees is dead," writes Weisser to Richard Peters in October of 1747. "Lapapiton is allowed to be the fittest to succeed him, but he declines. He is afraid he will be envied, and consequently bewitched by some of the Indians. Allumapees would have resigned his crown, but as he had the keeping of the public treasure (that is to say the Council Bagg), consisting of belts of Wampum, for which he buys Liquor, and has been drunk for this 2 or 3 years almost constantly, it is thought he would not die, so long as there was one single wampum left in the bagg. Lapapiton is an honest, true-hearted man, and has very good natural sense; he is also a sober man, between 40 or 50 years of age, and well esteemed among his country people and others."

PETITION OF CITIZENS OF WILMINGTON, DELAWARE, FOR IMPROVED ROAD TO PHILADELPHIA.—

TO THE HONOURABLE THE GOVERNOR & COUNCIL OF THE PROVINCE OF PENNSYLVANIA AND COUNTIES OF NEW CASTLE, KENT AND SUSSEX ON DELAWARE.

The Petition of sundry Inhabitants of the Borough of Wilmington and the County of New Castle.

Respectfully Sheweth:

That the Publick Highway from the City of Philadelphia to Chester, now in use, leads over no less than fifteen steep and stony Hills of very difficult Ascent, and is also crooked and far about, which renders it very inconvenient to Travellers, but more especially to those who travel with Carriages of all sorts.

That a more straight and Convenient Road, on level Ground, and easy to be maintained may be opened from the Road leading into the Streets of the said City, through the Townships of Moyamensing and Passiunk on the North, and Kingsess, Tinicum and Ridley on the South Side of the River Schuylkill into the present Road, leading from Philadelphia to Chester near Crum Creek, by which the many rough Ways and steep Hills which render Travelling tedious, disagreeable and dangerous, as well as very difficult with Carriages of Burthen, may be avoided and a considerable length of Way saved in Distance between Philadelphia and Chester.

That your Petitioners having frequent Occasions to travel from their respective Dwellings to the said City in their constant Intercourse of Trade and Dealings with the Merchants there—find the Road at present in use very incommodious and in some Seasons Dangerous, request that the Governor and Council will be pleased to make such Orders as to them shall seem meet for the Viewing, laying out and Opening the said Road in such manner as shall most effectually conduce to the Public Benefit and Relief of your Petitioners.—

SECOND AND MARKET STREETS FRIENDS' MEETING HOUSE, or, as it is frequently designated in bills, "Ye Great Meeting House."—

"The Friends appointed to build the New Meeting House, laid the Accounts of that building, as far as they have settled them, before this Meeting, and Samuel Sansom, Israel Pemberton, Thomas Clifford, William Lightfoot, Joseph Morris, Owen Jones, & John Pemberton are desired to Examine them, & consider of some Method to pay the Ballance and report to next Meeting." A few of the names of those who assisted in the erection of the Meeting House have been selected from the report of this Committee. William Rakestraw was one of those who charged £6 . 12 . 6. for "pulling down old Meeting House." Jonathan Zane was one of the principal carpenters, one bill footing £92 . 18 . 11. Lumber of various kinds was supplied by Joshua Humphreys, Joseph Watkins, William Dilworth, David Roe, and others; bricks by Joseph Lownes, Isaac Roberts, John Coats, Jr.; hardware, John Cresson, Joshua Howell, Isaac Greenleafe, Hugh Roberts. Reuben Haines supplied 18 barrels of Beer, and Sarah Cromer's bill for Rum and Beer amounted to £10. John Crosby supplied a stove; Isaac Greenleafe, a globe lamp; the chief measurer was Isaac Roberts; and William Topham did part of the painting. Laborers were paid 5 sh. per day; a number of members loaned their servant men, and every person who did any work on the meeting house made a donation, which was deducted from their bills.

LETTER OF GEORGE MORGAN TO THOMAS WHARTON.

SIR—

The Bearer Doctor M^cMehan is a Gentleman of considerable Interest & was connected with Numbers in his neighborhood in sending Parson Davis to view the Ohio Lands. Some of his Relations have already removed to & are settled on the Banks of the Ohio & a number of them were preparing to go there the ensuing Season, but it seems that Col. Washington's Friends are busy in spreading the Report of his extensive Surveys in that Country by an order from Virginia, which has much discouraged Mr M^cMehan. You will therefore much oblige him by giving him any Information on that Head which you may think yourself at Liberty to mention.

It seems beyond a Doubt that Col. Washington is determined to adhere to his Claims.

I am Sir
Yr most Ob^t Servant
GEO. MORGAN.

PENSION APPLICATION OF MICHAEL FACKENTHAL, OF BUCKS COUNTY, PENNA.—The following application for a pension by a soldier of the Revolution contains records that are worthy of preservation.

On the 26th day of October, A. D. 1832, personally appeared before me, William Long, one of the Associate Judges of the Court of Common Pleas for the said county of Bucks, Michael Fackenthal, Esq., a resident of Durham township, Bucks county, Pa., and who says he was born in the year 1756, the 23d day of May, to the best of his information from the records of the church book in Springfield township in said county. In the year 1776 he enlisted in Captain Valentine Opp's company in the said township of Springfield, was appointed Sergent of said company. It was one of the four companies from Bucks county that formed a regiment with four companies from Northampton county of the Flying Camp. Joseph Hart from said county of Bucks was appointed first Colonel, and Peter Kichline, from Northampton county, second Colonel. Colonel Kichline with the four companies from Northampton county were in the engagement on Long Island, August 27, 1776, and was made prisoner with a number of his men. Colonel Hart was stationed at Amboy and the company I was with. Shortly after this Colonel Hart left the service, and we were put under the command of Colonel McAlister, from the county of York, Pa. On the night of the 16th of November, 1776, we went over to Staten Island, and the next morning attacked the British and Hessians at a place they then called Cockletown (now called Richmond). We took several of the Hessians prisoners. About the last of October (same year) Colonel Kichline's men that remained, joined us and Colonel Baxter was appointed to command us. Shortly after this one regiment was ordered to march to the North River, and crossed said river at Fort Washington (commanded by Col. Magaw) where on the 16th of November, 1776, Col. Baxter was killed, and most of his men taken prisoners, or lost their lives. Before the engagement, I was taken sick with camp fever, and received a certificate from Doctor [Joseph] Fenton (our surgeon) of my not being fit for duty. I obtained a pass signed by the adjutant by the order of Major Kern, who was then commanding officer. I did not get my health restored for a considerable time after the time of my enlistment was expired. I got my discharge (which is lost) and received six months pay.

“In the year 1781, I performed a tour of duty as second lieutenant of the militia in Capt. Christopher Wagner's company, marched from said township of Springfield to Trenton, New Jersey, under command of Colonel McRay [McIlray]. Governor Reed was Commander in Chief, and General Lacey Brigadier General. We laid in camp below Trenton until discharged. Received my pay for two months. My commission for Lieutenant is lost.

(Signed) MICHAEL FACKENTHAL.”

A COLLECTION OF PAPERS READ BEFORE THE BUCKS COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY, Vol. 1. 8vo. pp. xxxviii, 585. Illustrated. Price $2.00.

The Bucks County Historical Society was founded by Gen. W. W. H. Davis in January of 1880, but notwithstanding it has been active in developing the history of the county, its transactions were only given to the public through the medium of the local newspapers. Now, through the liberality of Mr. B. F. Fackenthal, Jr., the papers read have been collected, corrected, arranged and published in the present volume and liberally illustrated. Among the contributors of historical papers are the well-known antiquarians Gen. W. W. H. Davis, W. J. Buck, Hon. Henry Chapman, Howard M. Jenkins, Charles Laubach, H. C. Mercer, Rev. D. K. Turner, Henry D. Paxson, Alfred Paschall, Capt. J. S. Bailey, and others. The Society has an attractive building with a library of 2500 volumes, a Herbarium of 20,000 specimens, and a fine archæological collection. It has also marked historical sites with appropriate memorials. The book is well printed and neatly bound, and can be had by applying to the Librarian, Doylestown, Pa.

“L'ÉVOLUTION DE L'ARBITRAGE INTERNATIONAL,” PAR THOMAS WILLING BALCH. EXTRAIT DE LA “REVUE DE DROIT INTERNATIONAL ET DE LÉGISLATION COMPARÉE.” Philadelphia; Allen, Lane and Scott, 1907, 8vo. pp. 122.

This work originally appeared during the summer of 1908 in the Revue de Droit International et de Législation Comparée. Published at Brussels, this review was started in 1869 by a trio of notable international jurists, Rollin-Jacquemyns, Asser, and Westlake, the two latter of whom are still active contributors to the development of the science started by Gentilis and Grotius; the Revue occupies a leading place in the literature relating to the Laws of Nations. After a discussion of the causes of war and the possible development of a sanction behind international peace, this book gives an account of the gradual growth of International Arbitration from an idea at the time of the Thirty Years' War to an actually used custom in the present century. The great part of the United States in this beneficent gift to civilization is shown, including the contributions of Pennsylvania. The book is dedicated to Emeric Crucé, a notable irenist.

ORDERLY BOOK OF GEN. JOHN PETER GABRIEL
MUHLENBERG, MARCH 26—DECEMBER 20, 1777.

[The Muhlenberg Orderly Book of the Ferdinand J. Dreer Collection, of the Manuscript Department, Historical Society of Pennsylvania, is divided into two parts, the first, beginning at "College Camp Va.," and ending at Suffolk, April 15, 1776; and the latter at Camp Middlebrook, N. J., March 26, and closing at Valley Forge, December 20, 1777. It is this latter part, which is associated with the movements of the army in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, under the immediate command of Washington, that has been selected for publication.

John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg, a son of the eminent Lutheran divine Rev. H. M. Muhlenberg, was born at the Trappe, Penna., October 1, 1746, and died near Philadelphia, October 1, 1807. He studied for the ministry in Germany and Pennsylvania, and at the outbreak of the Revolution was in charge of a congregation at Woodstock, Va. His ardent patriotism and military spirit induced him to accept the commission of Colonel of a Virginia regiment of infantry; he was promoted Brigadier General February 21, 1777, and mustered out of service a Brevet Major General, November 3, 1783. He participated in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown, Monmouth, Stony Point, and Yorktown. At Germantown his brigade, attached to the left wing of the army under Greene, was distinguished for its bravery, and when it went into winter quarters at Valley Forge was composed of the First, Fifth and Ninth (consolidated), Thirteenth Virginia Line, the Virginia State Regiment, and the German Regiment. Muhlenberg after the war was a member of the First, Second, and Third Congresses, U. S. Senator, and Supervisor of Revenue and Collector of the Port of Philadelphia.]

HEAD QUARTERS May 26th 1777.Parole, GatesCountersign Stuart & Wilkinson.

Major Ryan is appointed to act as Deputy Adjutant Gen^l & is to be oby'd & respected as such untill his Excellency, the Adj^t Gen^l or his Deputy arrives in camp & gives counter orders.

Each Brigadier or the Command^s Officer of Brigades are requested at eleven O'clock in the morning to send a Brigade Major to Major Ryan's Quarters near the Gap at the Mountain; The Deputy Adj^t Gen^l will deliver out the details which are to be sent at the time & place accordingly. The returns order'd yesterday to be deliver'd in to the Adj^t Gen^l as soon as possible. The Brigade Majors are to deliver to morrow to the Adj^t Gen^l at 11 o'clock the names of the Brigad^r Gen^l the field Officers & Adjutants in the Brigade to which they respectively belong. If any of the Brig^{rs} are without Brigade Majors they must appoint some person to do that duty. Such Brigades as the Brigad^r are absent from the eldest Officer in the Brigade to give the necessary orders in that Brigade. The Brig^{rs} or Commanding Officers of the Brigade are to appoint Brigade parades. The troops for guard are to be assembled on the Brigade parades by Adj^{ts} & by the Brigade Majors march'd from thence to the grand parade half past 8 o'clock. The Gen^l expects all orders will be punctually obey'd. The good of the service & the safety of the Camp depending thereon. All Off^{rs} of whatever Rank are requested to govern themselves accordingly. A gen^l Off^r two field Officers & one Brigade Major of the day to mount every morning at Guard mounting at the Grand parade. After the Guards are sent off the Brigade Major of the day to attend at Head Quarters to deliver such orders as the Occurrences of the day may render necessary. Each Brigade Major of the day to appoint an Adjutant of the day for the Brigade. Every Brigade to furnish two orderly Serjeants one to attend at h^d Quarters and one at the Adj^t Gen^l's Tent.

B. O. Adj^{ts} of Reg^{ts} to attend at Gen^l Mughlenburg's Quarters at 12 o'clock to receive orders. Lieut. Math^w Smith is appointed to act as Brigade Major till further orders. The troops to parade in the rere of y^e 1st Virg^a Reg^t.

G. O. CAMP MIDDLEBROOK May 27th 1777

Major Gen^l Lincoln is requested in company with the Gen^l Officer of the day, to examine the state & situation of the Picquet Guards to fix upon the proper ground to post them, & establish such others as may be necessary for the further security of the Camp and fix their position by day and night. The Officer of every guard must send a Serj^t on the grand parade to pilot the new guard for the relief of the old one, written instructions must be given by the Gen^l Officer of the day to the Officer of every guard what line of Conduct they are to observe. The field Off^{rs} of the day are to see to the posting the Centries & directing the Patroles, which are not to be alter'd by the Officer Commanding the Picquest unless the enemy are advancing without first reporting it to the commanding Officer or field Officer of the day, with the reasons for the alterations & obtaining One of their consents for the same. Officers of particular guards making alterations without paying attention to the other guards often breaks in upon the chain of communication & is productive of great confusion and disorder.
The Gen^l & field Officers of the day are requested to dine with the General. The Centries are not to be posted single, especially in the night, but placed double.

G. O. MIDDLEBROOK H. Q. May 28th 1777.

The Commanding Officers of every Reg^t must examine the state of the Ammunition in the respective Reg^{ts} & make a return to the D^y Adj^t G^l of the numbers of cartridges wanting to complete every man with twenty four rounds. The D^y Adj^t Gen^l will give an order for the same on Mr Geo. Everson D^y Commissary of Ordnance stores. This to be done immediately that every Reg^t may be in readiness to march to Action at a moments warning. To give a gen^l Alarm, the following Signals to be observ'd, three Cannon to be first fir'd quick one after another, in front to Gen Waynes brigade in the Gap of the mountain, to be answer'd by three at the park of Artillery in the Center of the front line, upon which all the troops are to get under Arms as soon as possible. It is expected that every Brigade Major will be very punctual in bringing their troops to the grand parade agreeable to the orders of the twenty sixth ins^t for guard mounting that one part of the guards may not be detain'd for the neglect of others.

F^d Off^{rs} for guard Colo. Spotswood & Maj^r Buford Brigade Major Kirkpatrick.

Brigade Orders.

The Adj^{ts} of the different Reg^{ts} belonging to the Brigade are to make a return to the Brigade Major every Friday morning before eight o'clock of the strength of their Reg^{ts} in which returns a particular Acc^t is to be given of the absentees naming the Hospitals in which the sick are lodg'd and what services those return'd on comm^d are engag'd in. The command^s Officers of Reg^{ts} or Corps are to see that their pay rolls are made up & deposited at the end of every month in the hands of the pay master Gen^l in doing this the Resolves of Congress pointing out the mode of doing it must be strictly adher'd to. As nothing is more conducive to the health of the troops than cleanliness the Officers in general belonging to the brigade are requested to pay the strictest attention to the conduct of their men & see that not only the Camp is kept clean, but that the Soldiers appear on the parade as clean as circumstances will admit of, with their Arms & Accoutrements in the best order.

The whole brigade, when not otherways employ'd, is to parade every noon at four O'clock on the parade appointed for the brigade that they may be taught the Maneuvres requisite; No officer that is able & not on duty will be excus'd from attending. The Adj^{ts} will do this duty by rotation & in order that the soldiers may not straggle about & perhaps be absent when wanted the Rolls are to be called regular morning & evening & the Absentees reported Gen^l Mughlenburg makes no doubt these Orders will be strictly & punctually observ'd. The necessity of it will appear evident to every intelligent Officer.

To Brigad^r Gen^l MUHLENBURG.

SIR:—

You are to enquire minutely into the state & condition of your Brigade & order every Officer & Soldier belonging to it, not usefully employ'd in recruiting or in the execution of any command by proper Authority or sick in the Hospitals, to join their respective Corps immediately, & see that it is done.

Make strict enquiry what measures the commanding Officer of each Reg^t your Brigade is taking to compleat it to the establishment, & see that no means are left unessayed to accomplish this desirable end. Let none but trusty & diligent Officers be sent upon this business such as have a turn to this service, & you have good hopes will not misapply their time, or the money committed to their charge.

Every Monday you are to render to the Adj^t Gen^l a correct return of your brigade, at the foot of which a particular Account is to be given of the Absentees, naming the Hospitals in which the sick are lodg'd, & what services those return'd on command are engag'd in. Mention is also to be made of the kill'd, wounded, & missing, if any there be, after every Action or skirmish with the enemy. As also of any other remarkable Occurrence which may need explanation.

Compare always the last return made you with the preceding one & see that they correspond, or the Alterations satisfactorily accounted for, that no error or abuse may escape unnoticed uncorrected & unpunished if the mistakes are wilful.

Desertions having been very frequent of late, endeavour to discover the causes of them, that a remedy may be applied. One step towards preventing which, is, to have the Rolls regularly called morning & evening and the absentees satisfactorily accounted for, or immediately sought after with vigilance & care.

No furloughs to be given either to Officers or men except in cases of extreme necessity.

See, that the Officers pay great attention to the condition of the Soldiers, arms, ammunition & accoutrements, as also to the manner of cooking their Victuals, and as far as in your power lies, cause the men to appear neat, clean, & Soldier-like, not only for the sake of appearances, but for the benefit of their health.

Improve all the leisure time your Brigade may have from other duties in manouvring & teaching the men the use of their legs, which is of infinitely more importance than learning the manual exercise. Cause the Off^{rs} to attend regularly & perform their part of these duties with the men.

You are not to accept the resignation of any Commission'd Officer, but upon a vacancy happening in any Reg^t in your Brigade, you may consult the Field Officers thereof, & recommend to the Commander in chief, a fit person to supply the deficiency, 'till a Commission however is bestow'd or approbation given in gen^l orders such person is not to be included in the Returns or Pay rolls.

You are to cause the pay Rolls of every Reg^t in your Brigade to be made up and deposited at the end of every month in the hands of the pay master General. In doing this, strict attention is to be paid to the Resolves of Congress for the manner of doing it.

The Experience of last Campaign abundantly evinc'd the absurdity of heavy baggage, & the disadvantages resulting therefrom to Individuals and the Public, prevent therefore as much as possible all incumbrances of this kind, and do not upon a march suffer the Soldiers to throw their arms or Packs into Waggon, unless they are either sick or lame.

Let Vice & immorality of every kind be discouraged, as much as possible in your brigade. And as a Chaplain is allow'd to each Reg^t see that the men regularly attend divine Worship. Gaming of every kind is expressly forbid, as the foundation of evil and the cause of many a brave & gallant Officer's ruin. Games of Exercise for amusem^t may not only be permitted but encouraged.

These instructions you will consider as obligatory, unless they should interfere with General orders, which you must endeavour to have executed in your brigade with punctuality.

Given at Head Quarters in Norristown this 26th day of May Anno Domini 1777.

HEAD QUARTERS May 29th 1777

Brigad^r for tomorrow Gen^l Conway

Field Officers Col^o Wood, Lieut. Col^o Barber

Brigade Major Smith

G.O. The Commander in chief directs that all orders issued previous to his coming to camp be observed in full force till countermanded or alter'd by him. As it is a matter of great importance to have the camp well secur'd, Guards properly fixed their respective duties precisely pointed out and proper Regulation establish'd to enable them to act in concert & support each other Major Gen^l Green is requested to assemble as soon as possible all the other Gen^l Officers & take these matters into consideration at large & report their opinion of what they shall think necessary to be adopted. A Major Gen^l of the day to make a report of those regulations. The detached state of the Army has heretofore render'd it extremely difficult to communicate the orders of the Commander in chief to all the different parts & will render it necessary that many should be repeated. He flatters himself that henceforth the most punctual regard will be paid to all orders which is the good of the service & principle of honour do not produce, he is determin'd to impose. All firing without permission from the Major Gen^l of the day is strictly forbid, those that are guilty of a breach of this order must be secur'd & severely punish'd. The nearest guard to the place where the Offence is committed to send a file of men to secure the Offender. The Commanding Officers of Reg^{ts} are to have their pay Abstracts immediately made out & lodg'd with the pay Mas^{tr} Gen^l for all pay due to the first of May. After that time they are to pursue the Mode pointed out by Congress to obtain payment & each Brigadier will inform them what they are & see them properly complied with. The Brigade Majors are to attend the Adj^t Gen^l precisely at twelve O'clock every day to receive orders. Two orderly Serj^{ts} to be furnish'd by each Brigade one to attend the commander in chief, the other the Adj^t Gen^l Major Ryan who has done the duty of Adj^t Gen^l for some days pass'd is now excus'd from that service, the duty as usual.

HEAD QUARTERS May 30th 1777.

Brigade for tomorrow Gen^l Maxwell
 Field Off^{rs} Col^o Morgan & Major Davis
 Brigade Major Farling

The Commissary Gen^l is to adopt every means in his power to provide Vinegar for the use of the Army & see that the provisions are regularly serv'd. To do which with ease, he is to have an Assistance with each Brigade. Provisions are to be deliver'd to Regimental Quarter Masters only or commission'd Officers authorized for that purpose, when the Reg^t has no Quarter Master, except in case of small detachments when a non commission'd Off^r may receive them; none to be deliver'd without proper returns being made to the Commissary. The Command^s Officers of Corps are to take care that their men have two days provisions by them that they may not suffer in case of any sudden call to any particular duty. The Brigad^r to pay proper attention to this matter, and also to have the Arms of their Brigade examined and make report of kind and quality. They are moreover to see that their Brigades are completed with Ammunition as soon as possible & that all waste of it is prevented. The Gen^l has the pleasure to acquaint the Army that Gen^l Parsons form'd an expedition to the East end of Long Island under the Comm^d of Lieut. Col^o Meges, which was attended with the most happy success. After burning eleven Vessels loaded with one hundred & twenty Tons of press'd forage Rum & other Articles and one armed Vessel of twelve guns, they brought off ninety prisoners, besides killed several of the enemy, six only escaped. As the Army is collected & may soon be engag'd in important transactions. The Gen^l takes Occasion from the laudable instance he has mention'd, to declare to the Army, both Officers & Soldiers, that he will be strictly observant of their conduct & make a point of distinguishing those by his rewards, who distinguish themselves by their Bravery & good behaviour as merit will not pass unnotic'd, so misconduct will meet with the severest punishment. A Gen^l Court Martial to sit immediately for tryal of Prisoners brought before it. All evidences to attend. The Brigade Majors to attend the grand parade & be Answerable that their men be well supplied with Ammunition & their Arms in good condition. No excuse will be admitted for their neglect of this necessary piece of duty. The light Cavalry which are to attend the picquets as Videts are to be on the parade at guard mounting.

G. O.

HEAD QUARTERS May 31st 1777

Brigadier for tomorrow Gen^l Scott
F^d Off^{rs} Col^o Hendricks, Major Byrd.
Brigade Major Wetherspoon.

The principal design of the movement this morning was to see if a proper distribution of baggage Waggons had been made to the several Reg^{ts} & to what degree of alertness & Expedition the Army would be ready to march on a sudden emergency. The Gen^l has much reason for Approbation in many respects, but though there was a great exactness in some instances, he wishes that a greater punctuality had been paid more generally to the time. Every Officer of Reflection must be sensible of the necessity of a strict regard to the time appointed in movements of this kind on which the success of the most important events may absolutely depend & it will be expected in future that a precise conformity to the moment pointed out will mark the conduct of every Corps. The General earnestly recommends that Officers of every Rank will disencumber themselves of all superfluous baggage, as it will only serve to employ a number of waggons more than can be shar'd, consistent with the good of the service & must be lost in the course of the Campaign.

Nothing is more common than to hear men plead ignorance of Gen^l orders in excuse for the breach of them, nor is the excuse confin'd to privates only, it sometimes even disgraces the mouths of Officers. To prevent it in future, The Gen^l positively orders the command^s Officers of Corps to have Gen^l Orders constantly read to their Corps. They may rely on being called to a severe Account, should the same plea be made hereafter suppos'd by truth.

It is to be lamented that the foolish & scandalous practice of prophane swearing is so prevalent in the American Army. Officers of every Rank are bound to discourage it first by their example & then by punishing. As a means to abolish this & every other species of immorality, Brigadiers are enjoin'd to take effectual care to have divine service duly perform'd in their respective Brigades. By a return from the Quarter M^r Gen^l it appears that more than a sufficient Quantity of tents have been issued to cover the whole army. Yet some Corps are defective in this Article. Others must have more than their proportion. The Command^r in chief repeats the last order from Major Gen^l Green calling for immediate returns to the Quar^{tr} M^r Gen^l of the exact number of tents drawn by each Corps.

The Gen^l approves of the following sentences of the Court Mars^l held at Bound brook 21st Ins^t whereof Col^o Spotswood was president. Tho^s Edwards of the 7th Virg^a Reg^t try'd for sleeping on his post sentenc'd to receive 50 lashes. Wm. Foes of Col^o Angel's Battⁿ for desertion to receive 100 lashes. Evan Thomas of the 9th Pensylv^a Reg^t for D^o to receive twenty five lashes. Evan Apply of the 4th P^a Reg^t for sleeping on his post to receive twenty-five lashes. On acc^t of his being a young Soldier & of a good Character his punishment is remitted. Jos^h Bryan of the 2nd V^a Reg^t for D^o to receive 50 lashes. Denis Meyers of the 3rd Pensylv^a Reg^t for desertion & threatning to desert to receive one hundred lashes. John Town, Maj^r Offendorfs Corps for desertion to be reprimanded. Edw^d Baker of D^o for D^o to be acquitted. Tho^s Murphy of 10th Pennsylv^a for D^o to receive 100 lashes. James M^cKenzie of 10th Pennsylv^a to receive 100 lashes. W^m Hardy of the German Reg^t for deserting and enlisting in two different Reg^{ts} to be reprimanded by his Commander. Jefferies Connor of the 5th Pennsylv^a Reg^t for desertion to receive 25 lashes. Rob^t Story of 7th Maryl^d for D^o to be reprimanded. Alex^r Henderson of y^e 10th Pennsylv^a Reg^t for D^o to receive 20 lashes. Peter Smith of the 7th Maryl^d Reg^t for Quitting his post to be reprimanded. Mehol^r Hamber of y^e 8th Pensylv^a R. for desertion, acquitted. Those sentenc'd to be immediately executed. Except the instances in which the punishment is remitted.

A. O. The Brigades on the right & left, front & rere of the Camp are to establish small guards of one Subaltern, one Corp^l & 8 Privates in all the passes leading to the Camp in order to prevent Soldiers from strag. and the Country people from coming into Camp. No Country person to come into Camp except by permission of the nearest Brigadier or field Officer. All persons in Camp who cannot

The most essential part of discipline being marching & forming. This should be more particularly practiced. All officers not on another duty to be present on these Occasions not as unconcerned Spectators, but to learn & perform their own duty & see that their men do theirs. The field Officers to exercise their Reg^t themselves & in their absence the Captains & not leave it to Adj^{ts} as has been heretofore the Case. It is necessary the men should be Accustom'd to the Voice and command of those who are to direct them in Action & that those should by practice acquire a facility in doing their parts. The Gen^l observes with concern that both Officers & Soldiers are guilty of the unsoldierly practice of stragling from Camp, he forbids the continuance of it on any pretence whatever. Whoever shall be found a mile from Camp, unless on duty or with permission of the brigadier command^s him whether Officer or Soldier shall be tried for disobedience of orders. As there is a necessity for the Army to rise and turn out every morning at Revellie beating, they ought to go to rest early. All lights must be put out at 9 o'clock in the even^s & every man to his tent. The Provost Martial to patrole the Camp & its invirons frequently to take up all who cannot give a good Acc^t of themselves, & all disorderly persons, he is to see that the Sutlers do not deal out their liquors at an untimely hour, but conform to such Rules as have been or may be form'd relating to them. The Command^s Officers of every Corps is to make a report every morning to his Brigadier of the number of Riflemen under his comm^d in doing which he is to include none but such as are known to be perfectly skill'd in the use of these guns & who are known to be Active & orderly in their behaviour. Each Brigadier to make a collective return to the Adj^t Gen^l of these men.

B. O. The different Reg^{ts} belonging to the brigade to parade every morning immediately after beating of the Revellie on their own parade, to go through the evolutions, except on those days when the Brigade parades. The Adj^{ts} of the 1st 5th & 9th Virg^a Reg^{ts} to make a full return of all the men in their Reg^{ts} mentioning the Abs^t Officers & on what Acc^t employed, what alterations since last return, how many men wanting to complete the Establishment, & the number of Vacant Officers & of what Rank.

HEAD QUARTERS May 20th 1777*Parole AlexandriaCountersign Bedford*

Valentine Peers Esq^r is appointed Brigade Major to Gen^l Weedons brigade and is to be respected and obeyed as such. Lewis Woodruff Esq^r is appointed a deputy Muster Master. Colo^s & Commanding Officers of Battalions & Corps must call their Regimental Pay masters to make up their pay Abstracts to the 3rd of April inclusive and order them to attend at the Pay Mast^r Gen^l's office for the money, they must be examin'd & sign'd by their respective command^g Officers and Brigadiers, who will diligently compare them with the daily and weekly Returns & certify them. The Comp^{ys} abstracts must be delivered into the pay Mas^{tr} Gen^l with regimental Abstracts. That the great & necessary purpose of Adjusting the Rank of all Officers in the American Army may be affected with expedition. His Excell^y. the Command^r in chief is pleas'd to order that the field Officers of each Continental Battalion do immediately examine into the present Rank & hear the pretensions thereto of all their Cap^{ts} & Subalterns, settle them where they can to the satisfaction of all the Gentlemen concerned, and make a full & fair report of all their proceedings to the Brigadiers command^g their brigades & that the Brig^{drs} with the assistance of the field Officers in the brigade do upon the receipt of such reports proceed to adjust the Rank of all the Officers in their respective Brigades, & make a full and fair report of all their proceedings to the Major Gen^l commanding their division, that should there be any instance of dissatisfaction in the Officers with the determination of their field Officers, they be candidly enumerated by such field Off^{rs} & parties complaining with all their attendant circumstances and reported to their respective Brigadiers, who will call before them all the parties interested, inquire into their claims & if they cannot be settled to general satisfaction, make a special & particular report to their Major Gen^l, who upon receipt of such report will summon a board of Officers, will take a dispassionate comparative review of the whole & determine the rank in the Army; untill which time it is expected the service of the Army will not be injur'd by disputes about Rank, but that every Officer will by an emulous discharge of his duty, recommend himself to his Country & to the promotion he thinks he is entitled to.

Brigad^r for the day tomorrow Gen^l Wayne
F^d Off^{rs} Col^o M^oClanaghan & Maj^r Harmer Brigade Major Ryan

The Muster Mast^r Gen^l is without loss of time to cause Musters to be made of the whole Army, he will give notice to the different Corps, when to hold themselves respectively in readiness for that purpose. The Brigadiers and field Officers of the day are constantly to attend the grand parade to see that the guards are properly assembled, give the necessary directions concerning them, & have them march'd to their several posts in order. The Adjutants to collect the proportion Assign'd on their Regimental parades, inspect carefully the state of their Arms, Accountriments, ammunition and dress, & march them off in order to their brigade parades. The Brigade Major to receive them from the Adjutants examining in like manner the state of their Arms, &c, & to march them off to the grand parade, there deliver them to the Brigade Major of the day. Decency and a regard to health, especially in this hot season indispensibly require that Vaults should be immediately dug in the rere of each encampment as the repositories of every kind of filth, they should be cover'd with green boughs & fresh earth thereon every morning or two. This business to be done by Camp Colour men under the directions of Regimental Quarter Masters, who are to see that they execute it properly, sweep the streets of the encampment & keep it in all respects clean, & free them from every thing nauseous or offensive. The Quarter Mas^r Gen^l will furnish tools, he is also to visit the Camp, & report how far this order is complied with. Each Reg^t or Corps to appoint by rotation a Regimental Officer of the day, whose province shall be to visit the sick, and see that they are provided for & taken care of, making daily Reports to the Commanding Officer of their number & condition, to inspect the food of the men, both as to the quality & the manner of dressing it, obliging the men to accustom themselves more to boiled soups, and less to broiled and roasted, which as to their constant diet is destructive to their health. This Off^r is also to attend closely to the cleanliness of the camp, for which he will be Answerable and is bound to see there is no neglect in the Quarter Master or C. C. men.

Returns of all the sick both in and out of Camp to be made out tomorrow morning to the Surgeon Gen^l their number, Condition, and place where they are to be specified. The Command^s Officers of Corps not yet provided with pay masters to recommend without delay proper persons for that station to the General, they must be men of property, good Accomptants & methodical & must write a good hand. Henry Livingston Esq^r is appointed Lieu^t in his Excell^y's guard. A party of two hundred men to parade this evening at the grand parade with four days provision to take their orders from the Adj^t General. Major Morrel to command this party untill the arrival of Gen^l Dehes's eldest Officer in his brigade to take the command, and John Harper Esq^r is to do the duty of brigade major in that brigade till further orders.

Brigadier for the day tomorrow Gen^l Weedon
Field Officers Col^o Chambers & Major Campbell Brigade Major Peers.

As in the detach'd state of the Artillery the men often suffer for want of Surgeons, it being impossible for their own Regimental Surgeons to take due care of them dispers'd as they are over the whole line. Each Brigadier is to see that the Regimental Surgeons of his brigade pay every necessary attention to the detachment of Artillery annex'd thereto.

Regimental Surgeons are not to send any of their sick to Hospital without first obtaining a Certificate from the Surgeon Gen^l or one of his deputies for that purpose. The Brigadiers to have the springs Adjacent to their several encampments well clear'd and enlarg'd, having Centries over them to see that the water is not injur'd by dirty utensils or any other means. A barrel sunk in them will be the best means to keep them from being made muddy, and an arbour over them will serve to preserve them cool. They are also to have all dead Cattle, horses or other Carrion remov'd to a distance from the Camp and buried deep under ground. They will see that the orders to promote cleanliness are punctually observ'd and indeed all others whether particularly called on or not.

The Commander in chief looks to them with an attentive eye for the execution of all his orders which they must be sensible their duty & honour demand. No Prisoners whose crimes may properly come before a Regiment Court Martial to be sent to or rece^d at the Provost guard but to be committed to Regiment^l Quarter Guards and regimentally tried. It having been represented to the Gen^l that command^g Officers of Corps undertake to seize and confine Commis-saries at their pleasure in common Guard houses. He thinks it necessary to declare a practice so irregular & injurious cannot be tolerated. At the same time he means not to countenance any neglect of duty in the Commissary, but will be ready to attend to whatever complaints may be justly made against them, to rectify the Abuses they commit and punish their delinquency. No horses to be let loose into the wheat or other fields about Camp, unless first pointed out and devoted to the purpose by the Quarter Master General. Brigad^{rs} to see orders for the arrangement of Officers Rank immediately complied with by appointing a day for the field Officers of each Reg^t to take it up. The Gen^l is surprized and sorry to find that a matter about which so much anxiety and embarrasment is express'd, when put upon a footing to be adjusted meets with so much neglect & delay. The Gen^l Field Off^{rs} & Brigade Majors of the day will be expected to favour his Excell^y with their Comp^y at dinner as a standing rule without particular invitation.

The following sentences of a Court Martial held the 2nd Inst. are approv'd by the Commander in chief and their immediate execution directed. Ab^m Wood of the 9th Pennsylv^a Reg^t tried for desertion & sentenc'd to receive twenty five lashes on his bare back. John Welch of the 7th Maryland Reg^t charg'd with desertion, the Court of Opinion he is entitled to the benefit of Gen^l Washingtons proclomation offering pardon for deserters & that he should be delivered to Major Bush to do duty in his reg^t untill he can be sent to the Reg^t he belongs to. Henry Bryan of the 8th Pennsylv^a Reg^t charg'd with encouraging desertion & sentenc'd to receive fifty lashes on his bare back. Patrick Henry of the 1st Pennsylv^a Reg^t charg'd with having enlisted into two Reg^{ts} without being discharg'd sentenc'd to be reprimanded by the Commanding Officer of the Reg^t he belongs to & the money he reced from Cap^t Taylor of the 5th Pennsylv^a Reg^t to be stopt out of his pay. Lieut. Tho^s Cook of the 8th Pennsylv^a Reg^t charg'd with having made known the Parole & Countersign to a person not entitled to receive it, found guilty of the charge exhibited against him, but on consideration of his good Character sentenc'd only to be reprimanded by the Col^o in the Presence of the Officers of the Reg^t he belongs to. Lieut. Jolly of the 11th Pensylv^a Reg^t charg'd with Cowardice & neglect of duty not guilty & ordered to be releas'd from his Arrest forthwith.

The Prisoners mention'd in this day's orders to be punish'd at the head of their respective Reg^{ts} for which purpose the commanding Officers will send for them to the main Guard.

HEAD QUARTERS June 4th 1777

Brigadier for tomorrow Gen^l Conway
Field Off^{rs} Col^{os} Malmade & North Brigade Major Day

The Commissary Gen^l to have his slaughter houses at least a mile in the rere of the Camp & to be very careful to have the Offal of what he kills buried a sufficient depth under Ground. He must be provided with Waggon^s to convey the meat to places near each brigade for the more Commodious distribution of it, & must see that no reliques are left in those places through Carelessness. As proper precautions in the regulation of this part of the Commissary Gen^{ls} department is essential to the Army, The Gen^l hopes he will be peculiarly attentive to it. A Return to be made tomorrow to the Adj^t Gen^l of all the Women in Camp.

The Music of the Army being in general very bad, it is expected that the drum and fife majors exert themselves to improve it, or they will be reduc'd and their extraordinary pay taken from them. Stated hours to be assign'd for all the drums & fifes to attend them & practice. Nothing is more agreable and ornamental than good music. Every Officer for the credit of his Corps should take care to provide it.

The Revellie to be beat at day-break. The troop at 8 o'clock in the morning and the Retreat at Sunset, for the sake of regularity, the drum of the Reg^t on the right of the line to give three taps allowing a sufficient equal space between each, as a warning for the one next on the left, which is to do the same & so on through the whole. The second Line taking it by the right from the right in front & the advanc'd brigades by the right, from the right in the rere. These Taps over & a proper interval allow'd for the warning to become general The drummers call is to be given as a signal for what is to follow after & then the whole Musick of the line to begin in concert. The Revellie, troop or Retreat as it may happen. The same complaint has been made to the Gen^l respecting abuse of Quarter Mast^s which was mention'd in yesterdays orders relative to Commissaries. An end must be put to such irregular conduct. Misbehaviour in those departments ought to be punish'd but it must be done in a proper manner. The Army to be immediately furnished with four day's provision.

Major Gen^l for the day tomorrow Green
 Brig^r Scott
 Field Off^{rs} Col^o Sayton—Maj^r Heath

All detachments or reinforcements to be reported to him immediately on their Arrival & to take his orders, he is to superintend the regulation of the Camp & the execution of all Gen^l orders, for which purpose he shall visit the whole line, if not absolutely prevented by other duty, and he is to report to the Comm^r in Chief, what from his Observations he may think necessary to be done for the better regulation of the Camp and army.

He is to oversee the Orders of March and the Dispositions for Battle according from Directions from the Comm^r in Chief. In case of sudden Alarms he is instantly to repair to the place where the danger appears to be and if it is likely to be serious, he must with all speed send to inform the Comm^r in Chief until he hears from him he must employ those means which seem to him Necessary Conformable to the Exigency of the Occasion, he is to make a Gen^l Report next morning to the Comm^r in chief of every thing that passes worth Notice on his day. Occurrences of immurgency and that require immediate attention to be reported the moment they are known by the Maj^r Gen^l.

The Brig^r of the day is to be Considered as the Comm^s Officer of all the Guards, he is to receive orders in the morning of the Major Gen^l he is to attend the grand Parade to see everything conducted with propriety, to assign the posts and give all necessary directions, to Visit them after they arrive and see if they have post right, and have followed the Rules proscribed them & taken proper precautions to secure themselves and avoid surprise and to give his orders accordingly on an alarm he is to perform all the Essential duties of the Comm^s Officers of the Guards, he is to make a General report of every relative to him, to the Maj^r Gen^l. The field Officers to attend the Grand Parade and assist the Brigadier and follow such directions as he shall think proper to give respecting the Guards, they are to visit them at Night by way of Grand rounds Escorted by a small party of Horse, to see if they are alert and upon their watch, and if the Sentries are well stationed and do their duty. They are to receive an evening report from the officers of the state of their Guards and of what unusual occurrences may have happened and to give direction accordingly of everything Extraordinary to be reported to the Brig^r as soon as the Tour is over or sooner if necessary, they are to receive morning reports from the several guards when relieved. On an alarm they are to take their orders from the Brigadier. The Brig^r Major of the day is also to attend the parade to receive the men that are to compose the Guards and compare them with the Detail to inspect their Arms, Accountriments, Ammunition and Dress to count of the Guards and assign the Officers their posts by Lot to march them from the Grand Parade and do every other requisite duty agreeable to the order of the Brigadier. He is to give each Comm^s Officer of the Guard the Parole and Countersign before he marches them Off and is to attend the Brig^r frequently through the day to receive his farther occasional orders, in case of an alarm he is to accompany the Brig^r—for the future an Aid D Camp from each division to attend at Head Quarters for G. Orders. The Brigade Maj^{rs} to receive the orders at the Quarters of their Maj^r Gen^l which will be more convenient for them as they are obliged to attend for Division orders. The Brig^d Majors to attend the Adj^t Gen^l once a week or oftner if required to settle the detail.

B.O. This Evening at 6 o'clock the 1st 5th & 9th Reg^{ts} are to Parade on their Brig^d Parades to discharge their Musquets, the German Reg^{ts} to parade on their Regimental parade for the same purpose and at the same time. This afternoon the Q^r M. of the differant Reg^{ts} belonging to the Brigade at 4 o'clock are to attend at Gen^l Muhlenburghs Head Quarters to receive their Proportion of Ammunition and Catridge Paper, which is to be made up into the Blind Catridges as soon as possible.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock the Brigade is to meet at the Brigade Parade to pass the review before Maj^r Gen^l Green. The Officers will take care to bring their men on the Parade Neat & Clean with their Arms & Accountriments in the best order they will likewise take particular care that each of their men are supplied with Catridges and the real Catridges properly secured that no mistake may happen.

ADM HUBLEY, JR., LT COLO. COMPT 11TH PENNA.
REGT, HIS JOURNAL, COMMENCING AT WYO-

BY JOHN W. JORDAN.

Saturday August 14th.

THIS morning 10 o'Clock A.M. had the Bodies of those brave veterans, who so nobly distinguished themselves and bravely fell in the Action of yesterday, interred with Military honours (firing excepted) Parson Rogers, delivered a small discourse on this occasion.

Was imploy'd greatest part of the day in Writing letters to my friends at Lan^r & Philad^a w^h were forwarded the same Evening.

Sunday 15th.

Agreeable to orders of Yesterday 900 Men, were order'd to meet on the grand parade, for inspection and to be furnish'd w^h Ammunition & eight days Provisson for the purpose of marching up Susquehannah & meeting Genl. Clinton, who is now on his March, to form a junction with this Army.

Two o'Clock P.M. a firing was heard on the West side of Tioga branch, immediately opposite our Encampment, a number of Indians under cover of a high Mountain advanc'd on a large Meadow or flat of ground, on which our Cattle & horses were Grazing, unfortunately two men were there to fetch some horses, one of which was kill'd & scalp'd, the other slightly wounded but got clear; one Bullock was likewise kill'd, and several public horses taken off. My Regiment was ordered in pursuit of them, we accordingly cross'd the branch, and ascended the Mountain, march'd along the Summit of the same for up^{ds} of two miles in order to gain their rear but the enemy having too much start, got clear. After scouring the Mountains & Valleys near the same, we return'd much fatigued about 5 o'Clock P.M.

Monday 16th.

The detach^t under Gen^l Poors Command agreeable to orders mooved this day 1 o'clock P.M. up Susquehannah for the purpose of forming a junction with Gen^l Clinton.

Several of our Out Centinels alarm'd the Camp by firing of several Guns about 1 o'clock in the morning, in consequence of which Light Corp stood under arms, several Patroles were send out to reconnoitre the front of Encampment, return'd near day break, but made no discoveries. Alarm prov'd primature. Gen^l Hand being ordered with the detachment under Gen^l Poor. Command of Light Corp devolv'd on me during his absence.

Tuesday 17th.

7 o'clock P.M. firing was heard about 500 yds. immediately in front of Light Corp Encampment, a party of 50 men properly offic'd were immediately detach'd and endeavour to find out the cause of it. Return'd 8 o'Clock P.M. reported that a party of Indians 11 in number had way-laid a few pack-horsemen, who were just returning with their Horses from pasture, that they had killed and scalped one man and wounded another. The wounded man got safe to Camp and the Corps of the other was likewise brought in.

An Alarm was fir'd by a Centinel about 11 o'clock P.M. but proved false.

Wednesday 18th.

In order to entrap some of those savages who keepsneaking about the Encampment the following parties were ordered out for that purpose and to be reliev'd daily by an equal number until we leave this ground. viz^t One Sub : & 20

Men on the Mountain opposite the Encamp^t, one Sub: & 20 Men on the Island about $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile above the Encampment on the Tioga branch, and one Sub: & 20 Men in the Woods about $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile immediately in front of Light Corp Encampment. With orders to waylay and take every other means to take them.

This day by particular request of several Gentlemen, a discourse was delivered in the Masonic form by Doctor Rogers, on the death of Cap^t Davis of the 11th Pen^a and Lieut. Jones of the Delaware Regiments who were on the 23rd of April last most cruelly & Inhumanly Massacred & Scalp'd by the savages, (Emissaries imploy'd by the British King) as they were marching with a detachment for the relief of the Garrison at Wyoming.

Those Gentlemen were both Members of that Hn^l and ancient society of Freemason. A number of Brethren attended on this occasion in proper form and the whole was conducted with propriety and harmony. Text Preach'd on this Solemn occasion was the first clause in the 7th verse of the 7th Chapter of Job, Remember my life is but Wind.

Thursday 19th.

Nothing remarkable this day.

Friday 20th.

This day arrived Lieut. Boyd of Col. Butlers Reg^t with Accounts of Gen^l Clintons movements on Susquehannah, and that a junction was form'd by him with Gen^l Poores Detachment at Chukunut, about 35 mile from this place. Rain very heavy chief part of this day.

Saturday 21st.

The detachment under Gen^l Clinton & Poor on account of the very heavy rain yesterday did not reach this Encampment, as was expected.

Sunday 22nd.

This day 10 o'clock A.M. Generals Clinton & Poors detachments with about 220 Boats pass'd Light Corp Encampment, for the Main Army about 17 miles in their rear. On their passing they were saluted with 13 rounds from the Park. The Light Corp being likewise drawn up, and received them, in proper form with Colo: Proctors Music & Drums & fifes beating and playing.

Monday 23rd.

This day a most shocking affair happen'd, by an accident of a gun, which went off, the ball of which entered a tent in w^h was Cap: Kamble of Gen^l Poors Brigade and a Lieut. the Cap^t was unfortunately kill'd & the Lieut. wounded.

Gen^l Clinton having form'd a junction with the Army at this place, the following alterations in the several Brigades were ordered to take place viz^t:—Colo. Courtland Reg^t to be annex'd to Gen^l Clintons, Colo. Olden to Gen^l Poors and Colo. Butlers Reg^t w^h Major Parrs Corps to Gen^l Hands Brigades.

Tuesday 24th.

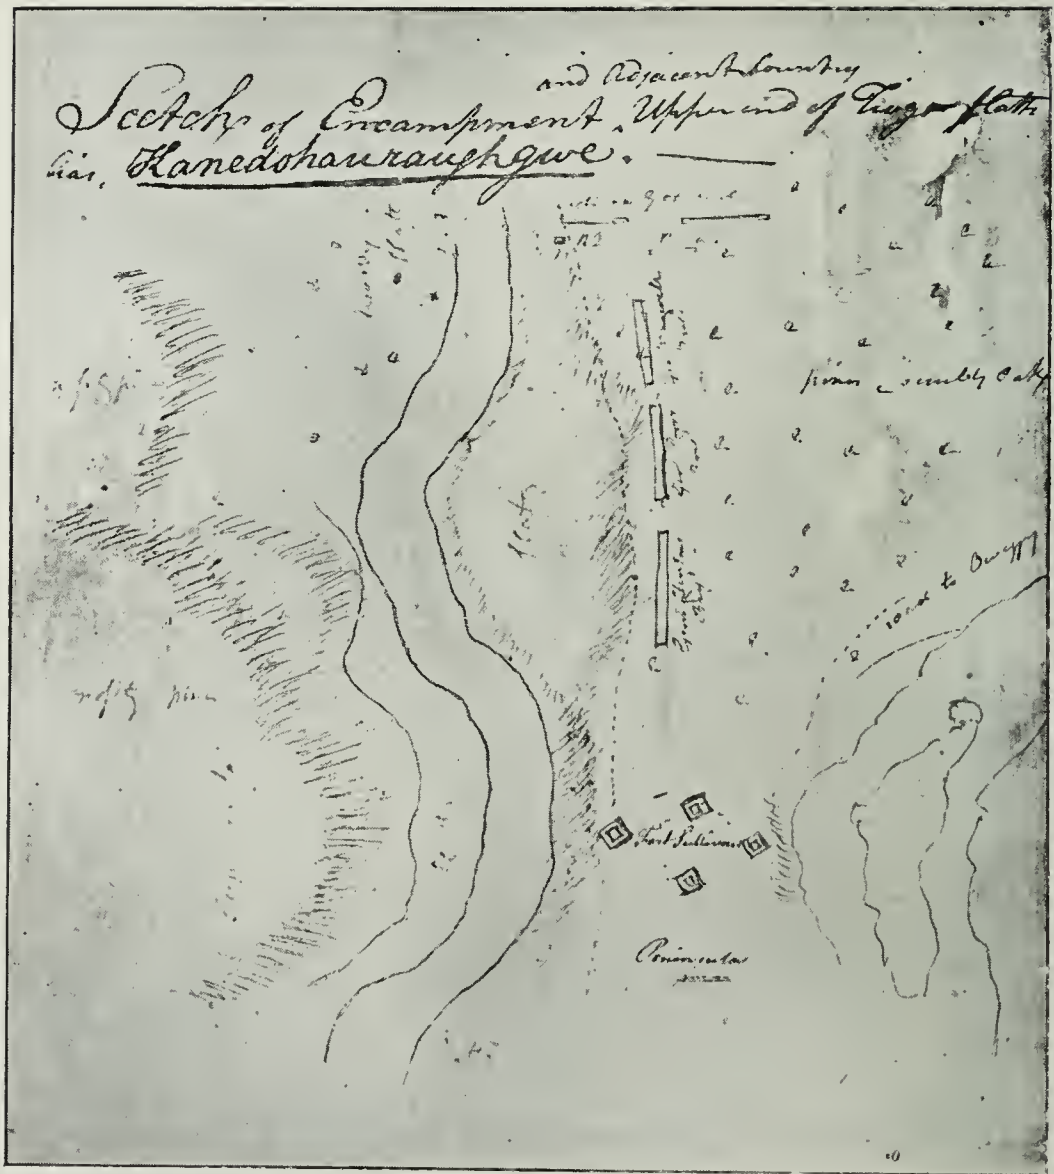

This day imploy'd hands to make baggs for the purpose of carrying flour, hands imploy'd all day & night in this business.

Agreeable to orders a signal Gun was fir'd for the whole army to strike Tents 5 o'clock P.M. and march'd some small distance, in order to form the line of March: 7 o'clock P.M. another signal Gun was fir'd for the Army to Encamp in proper order, and to be in readiness for an immediate March. Colo. Butlers Reg^t with Major Parrs Rifle men, join'd Light corp & encamp'd with them this day 7 o'clock P.M.

Colo. Shrieve, took command of Fort Sullivan this day, agreeable to orders.

Flying Hospital & Stores &c., were moov'd this day to the Garrison.

Wednesday 25th.

This morning, was entirely devoted to packing up & getting everything in readiness for an immediate march, a heavy rain fell in 11 o'clock A.M. continued greatest part of the day, which prevented our moovements.

Thursday 26th.

The Army not being perfectly ready to March 8 o'clock A.M. agreeable to yesterdays orders, the Signal Gun for a march was not fired until 11 o'clock, when the whole took up the line of march in the following order Viz^t: Light Corp Commanded by Gen^l Hand, March'd in six Columns, the right Commanded by Colo. Butler and the left by myself. Major Parr with the Rifflemen, dispers'd considerably in front of the whole with orders to reconoitre all mountains defiles, or other suspicious places, previous to the arrival of the Army, to prevent any surprize or ambuscades, from taking place. The Pioneers under command of a Captain & Sub. then followed, after which proceeded the Park of Artillery. Then came on the Main Army in two Columns, in centre of which moov'd the Pack-horses & Cattle, the whole flank'd on right & left by the flanking Divisions, commanded by Colo: Dubois & Colo. Ogden. And rear brought up by Gen^l Clintons Brigade, in this position the whole mov'd to the Upper end of Tioga flats, about 3 Mile above Fort Sullivan, where we encamp'd for this night. This day dispos'd of one of my horses for £— to Mr. Bond.

Cap^t Bush on acco^t of his indisposition obtained leave to continue either at Fort Sullivan or go to Wyoming until the return of the Regiment from the expedition.

Friday, August 27th 1779.

On account of some delays this morning Army did not moove until half past eight o'clock A.M., previous to the March the Pioneers under cover of the Riffle corps, were advanc'd to the first & second defiles or narrows, some Miles in front of our Encampment, were they were employ'd in mending and cutting a road for the Park to pass. The Army march'd in same order of yesterday, the Country thro' w^h they had to pass being exceedingly Mountainous & ruff, and ye slow movements of the Park, considerably impeded the March. About 7 o'clock P.M. we arrived, near the last narrows, at the lower end of Chemung, were we encamp'd in following order viz^t. Light Corps near the entrance of ye Defile or Narrows and in front of some very extensive Cornfields suppos'd to be planted by ye refugee Torys now acting w^h ye savages, the Main Army, about one Mile in our rear, and immediately fronting the Corn-fields. After Encamping: Troops had an agreeable repast of Corn, Potatoes, Beans, Cucumbers, Watermelons Squashes & other vegeta^{ls}, which were in great plenty (produc'd) from the Cornfields already mentioned, and in the greatest perfection. Distance of March this day 6 Miles.

Saturday Aug^t 28th.

Fore part of this day, being employ'd by the Gen^l & principal officers of ye Army, in reconnoitering the river, and finding out some fording place for the Artillery, Pack-horses & Cattle, to cross to gain Chemung, the defile or narrows mentioned in my Yesterday Journal being so excessive narrow, and indeed almost impracticable for them to pass.

The following disposition for the marching of ye Army took place accordingly viz^t The Riffle Corps with Gen^l Maxwells Brigade and left flanking Division of the Army, Covering the Park, Pack-horses & Cattle cross'd to the West side of the river, and about one & half mile above, recross'd the same, and formed a junction (on the lower end of Chemung flats) with the Light Corps, Gen^l Poors & Clintons Brigades & Right flanking Division of y^e Army, who took their rout across an almost inaccessible Mountain on the East-side of y^e river, the bottom of which forms the narrows, already mentioned, the summit was gained with greatest difficulty, on the top of the Mountain, the lands, which are level & extensive, are exceeding rich with large timber, chiefly Oak interspers'd with underwood & excellent grass. The prospect from this mountain, is most beautiful, we had a view of the Country of at least 20 mile round, the fine extensive plains interspers'd with streams of Water, made the prospect pleasing and elegant. from this Mountain we observ'd, at some considerable distance, a number of clouds of smoaks arising were we concluded the enemy to be encamp'd.

Previous to the movement of the Army this day a small party of Men, were send across the river, in order to destroy some few Indian Hutts, which were immediately opposite our Encampment, before the business was quite effected, they were fired upon by a party of Indians, who after giving the fire, immediately retreated, the party executed their orders, and all return'd unhurt to the Army.

The Scout send out last evening, to reconoitre the Enemy, near Newtown (an Indian Village so called) return'd this day, and reported they discovered a great number of fires and that they suppos'd, from the extensive piece of ground covered by the fires, the enemy must be very formidable, and mean to give us battle, the likewise discovered four or five small scouting parties on their way towards this place suppos'd to reconnoitre our Army. Since our arrival here a great quantity of furniture was found by our soldiers, which was concealed in the adjacent Woods. After forming the junction above mentioned, we took up the line of march and moov'd to the upper Chemung-town and Encamp'd about 6 o'clock P.M. for this night. Distance of March on a straight course about 2 miles.

From the great quantities of Corn & other vegetables here and in the neighbourhood, it is suppos'd the intended to establish their principal Magazine at this place w^h seems to be their chief randevouze, when ever they intend to go to War, it is the Key to the Penn^a Jearsey and New York frontiers. The Corn already destroyed by our Army is not less than 5000 Bushels, upon a moderate calculation, and the quantity yet in y^e ground in this neighbourhood, is at least the same, besides which there are vast quantities of Beans, Potatoes, Squashes, Pumbkins &c. which shar'd the fate of the Corn.

Sunday August 29th.

This morning 9 o'clock the Army moov'd in same order of 26th the Rifle men were well scattered in front of the Light Corps, who moov'd with greatest precession & caution. On our arrival near the ridge on which the Action of 13th commenc'd with Light corps, our Van discovered several Indians in front, one of which gave them a fire, and then fled. We continued our march for about one Mile, the Rifle corps entered a low marshey ground, which seem'd well calculated for forming Ambuscades, they advanced with great precaution, when several more Indians were discovered, who fired and retreated, Major Parr from those circumstances judg'd it rather dangerous to proceed any further without first taking every precaution to reconnoitre almost every foot of ground, and ordered one of his men to mount a tree and see if he could make any discovery. After being some time on the Tree, he discovered the movement of several Indians, (which was rendered conspicuous from the quantity of paint they had on them) as they were laying behind an extensive breast work, which extended at least half a Mile, and most artfully covered with green boughs & trees, having their right flank secur'd by the river and their left by a Mountain. It was situated on a rising piece of ground, about 100 yards in front of a difficult stream of Water, bounded by the Marshy ground already mentioned on one side, and on the other between it & the breast works by an open & clear field. Major Parr immediately gave intelligence to Gen^l Hand of his discoveries, who immediately advanc'd the Light Corp within about 300 yards of the Enemy's works, and form'd in line of Battle, the Rifle Corps, under cover advanc'd and lay under the bank of the Creek within 100 yards of the lines. Gen^l Sullivan having previous notice arriv'd with the Main Army and ordered the following disposition to take place, the Rifle & Light Corp to continue their position, the left flanking Division under com^d of Col. Ogden to take post on the Left flank of the Light Corp and Gen^l Maxwells Brigade some distance in the rear as a Corps de reserve, and Colo. Proctors Artillery in front of the Centre of the Light Corp and immediately opposite the Breast works, a heavy fire ensued between the Rifle Corp & the Enemy, but little damage was done on either side, in the mean time Gen^{ls} Poors & Clintons Brigades with the right flanking Divisions were ordered to march & gain if possible the Enemys flank & rear, whilst the Rifle & Light Corps amus'd them in front. Colo: Proctors had orders to be in readiness w^h his Artillery, and attack the lines, first allowing a sufficient space of time to Gen^l Poor &^c. to gain their intended stations. About 3 o'clock P.M. the Artillery began their attack on the Enemys works, the Rifle & Light Corps in the mean time prepar'd to advance and charge, but the Enemy finding their situation rather precarious and our troops determin'd, left & retreated from their works with the greatest precipitation, leaving behind them a number of Blankets, Gun-covers, and kittles w^h corn boiling over the fire. Gen^l Poor &^c on acco^t of several difficulties which they had to surmount, could not effect their designs, and the enemy probably having intilgence of their approach, posted a number of Troops on the Top of a Mountain, over which they had to advance, on their arrival near the summit of the same, the Enemy gave them a fire and wounded several Officers & Soldiers. Gen^l Poor push'd on & gave them a fire as the retreated, and kill'd five of the Savages. In the course of the day we took nine scalps (all savages) and two prisoners, who were seperately examin'd and gave the following corresponding intilgence that the Enemy were 700 Men strong, viz^t 500 Savages and 200 Torys with about 20 British troops, commanded by a Seneca chief, the two Butlers, Brand & M^cDonald.

The Infantry push'd on towards Newtown, the Main Army halted & Encamp'd near the place of Action, near which were several extensive fields of Corn & other vegetables. About 6 o'clock p.m. the Infantry return'd & Encamp'd near the Main Army.

The Prisoners further informed us, that the whole of their party had Subsisted upon Corn only, for this fortnight past & that they had no other Provision with them. And that their next place of Randevouze would be at Catherines town, an Indian village about 25 Mile from this place.

Distance of March (exclusive of Countermarches) this day about 8 miles.

Monday August 30th.

On account of the great quantities of Corn, Beans, Potatoes, Turnips & other vegetables, in destroying of which the Troops were employ'd, and the rain, which sett in the after part of ye day, oblig'd us to continue on the ground for this day & night, the troops were likewise employ'd in drawing eight days Provisions (comg.-1st day Sep^r). The reason of drawing this great quantity at one time was (however inconsistent with that Oeconomy which is absolutely necessary in our present situation, considering the extensive Campaign before us and the time of consequence, it will require to complete it) the Want of Pack-horses, for transporting the same and in order to expedite the great point in view, are oblig'd to substitute our soldiery for carrying of the same.

From the great & unparalleld neglect of those persons, employ'd for the purpose of supplying, with every necessary the Western Army, to enable them to carry through the important Expedition, required of them. Gen^l Sullivan was at this early period (almost the beginning of y^e Campaign) under the disagreeable necessity of Issuing the following

Address to the Army, which was communicated by the Commanding officers to their Corps seperately viz^t

General Sullivan's Address.

“The Commander in chief informs the Troops, that he used every effort to procure proper supplies for the Army, and to obtain a sufficient number of Horses to transport them, but owing to the inattention of those whose business it was to make the necessary provision he fail'd of obtaining such an Ample supply as he wish'd, and greatly fears that the supplies on hand, will not, without the greatest prudence, enable him to complete the Business of the expedition.

“He therefore requests, the several Brigadiers and Officers commanding Corps, to take the minds of the Troops under their respective Commands, whether they will, whilst in this Country which abounds with Corn and Vegetables of every kind, be content to draw $\frac{1}{2}$ ^{lb} of flour $\frac{1}{2}$ ^{lb} meat and Salt p^r Day. And he desires the Troops to give their oppinion with freedom, and as soon as possible.

“Should the generaly fall in with the proposal he promises they shall be paid that part of the rations which is held back at the full Value in Money.

“He flatters himself that the Troops who have discovered so much bravery & firmness will readily consent to fall in with a measure so essentially necessary to accomplish the important purpose of the expedition, and to enable them to Add to the Laurells they have already gain'd.

“The Enemy have subsisted for a number of Days on Corn only, without either Salt, Meat or flour, and the General cannot persuade himself that Troops who so far surpass them in Bravery & true Valour will suffer themselves to be outdone in that fortitude and perseverance, which not only distinguishes but dignifys the Soldier.

“He does not mean to continue this through the Campaign but only wishes it to be adopted in those places where Vegetables may supply the place of a part of the common ration of meat and flour, which will be much better than without any.

“The Troops will please to consider the matter and give their oppinion as soon as possible.”

Agreeable to the above address the Army were drawn up (this evening) in Corps, seperately, and the same thro' their Commanding Officers made known to them, and their oppinions requested thereupon, when the whole without a decenting voice: chearfully agreed to the Request of the General, which they signify'd by Unanimously holding up their hands and giving three Cheers.

This remarkable instance of fortitude and virtue, cannot but endear, those brave Troops to all Ranks of People, more particularly as it was so generously & chearfully entered into without a single decenting voice.

Tuesday August 31st.

Took up our line of March in usual order, 9 o'clock A.M. March'd about $3\frac{1}{2}$ Mile thro' a broken & Mountainous Country, and an almost continual defile, on the East side of Cayuga branch, the West of the same for that distance was an excellent plain, on which large quantities of Corn, Beans, Potatoes & other Vegetables, stood, and were destroy'd by us the preceeding day. We then cross'd Cayuga branch where it forks w^h a stream of Water (running East & West) known by the name of _____ and landed on a most beautiful piece of Country, remarkable level, on the banks of the same stood a small Indian Village, which was immediately destroy'd, the Soldiery found great quantities of furniture &° which were bury'd, some of which they carried off & some was destroy'd. About 2 o'clock P.M., we proceeded along the path which leads to Catherine's Town (an Indian Village) and leaves the Cayuga-branch on its left, about 5 o'clock P.M. we Encamp'd, on a most beautiful plain, interspers'd w^h Marshes, well calculated for Meadows. Wood, chiefly pine, interspers'd with Hayzel bushes, and great quantities of grass; distance of March this day 10 Miles.

Order of Encampment this Night.

Wednesday September 1st 1779.

About 9 o'clock A.M. whole Army moov'd in good order, on a level piece of ground. About 11 o'clock A.M. we entered an extensive Hemlock Swamp, not less than 6 miles through, the path thro' almost impassable, owing to the number of Defiles, long ranges of Mountains, Ravines after Ravines, interspers'd with thick underwood &c. The Infantry with greatest difficulty got thro' about half past 7 o'clock P.M., The remainder of the Army with the Pack Horses, Cattle &c were chiefly the whole Night employ'd in getting thro'.

As the Infantry were approaching Catherines Town we were alarm'd by the howling of Dogs, and other great noise, a few of the Riffle men were dispatch'd in order to reconoitre the place, in the mean time we form'd in two solid Columns and fix'd Bayonetts with possitive orders not a man to fire his Gun but to rush on, in case the Enemy should make a stand, but the riffle men who had been sent to reconoitre the Town return'd with Intiligence, the Enemy had left the Town. We then immediately altered our Disposition, on account of the narrowness of the roads, and march'd in files thro' the first part of the Town, after which we cross'd the Creek in a field immediately opposite, were there stood a number of houses also, were we encamp'd, and substituted the lumber of the Houses in room of firewood. On our arrival we found a number of fires burning and appear'd they had gone off precipitately.

This days march completed 12 miles.

Thursday September 2nd.

The Dismal situation of our Pack-horses & Cattle of which several were kill'd by falling into ditches and several otherwise disabled, in getting thro this horrid Swamp last evening, prevented our March this morning, the fore part of this day was intirely imployed in collecting them, which from their scattered and dispers'd situation was attended with the greatest difficulty.

We this morning found an old Squaw, who we suppose by reason of her advanc'd age, could not be carried off, and therefore was left to our Mercy. On examining her she inform'd us that the Indians on our approach last evening went off very precipitately, that the Women & Children had gone off in the Morning to take shelter in some Mountains, until the Army had pass'd them, that then Colo. Butler promis'd he would send back some Warriors, who should conduct them by byways, to some place of safety. She further adds that previous to the Squaw's going off there was great contentions with them and the Warriors, about their going off, the former had determin'd on staying & submitting to our Generosity, the latter oppos'd it, and inform'd them, that by such a step the Americans would be able to bring them to any terms they pleas'd, whereas did they go off they would have it in their power to come to more favorable terms, should a treaty at any time be offered.

Catherine Town is pleasantly situated on a Creek, about 3 mile from Seneca Lake, it contain'd near 50 houses, in general very good, the Country near it very excellent. We found several very fine Corn fields, which afforded the greatest plenty of Corn, bean &c. of which after our fatiguing march we had an agree^{ble} repast.

Friday September 3rd.

After getting everything in perfect readiness, we took up our line of March, 7 o'clock this morning. The roads from this place for about one Mile, were rather difficult & Swampy. We then ascended a rising Country, which was in general level excepting a few defiles w^h we had to pass, but were by no means dangerous or difficult, the lands are rich, abounding with fine large & clear Timber, chiefly White oak, Hickory, Walnut & Ash, bounded on the left for about 3 Miles with excellent Marsh or Meadow ground. After which proceeds the beautiful Seneca Lake which abounds with all kind of Fish, particularly, Salmon, Trout, Rock & Pearch, as also that which resembles a Sheep-head.

in the Woods

Previous to our leaving this place, the Squaw which was taken here, was left, and a Hutt erected of which she took possession, a quantity of Wood was also gathered & carried to the Hutt for her use, she was also provided with a quantity of Provision. All these favors had such an effect on her that it drew tears from her Savage Eyes.

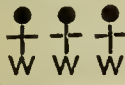

Its about 3 miles in breadth and about 40 miles in length. Upon the right, tho' considerably up the Country is another delightful Lake, call'd Kayuga Lake, abounds with all kinds of fish also, and is about 46 miles in length.

We proceeded along this beautiful Country about 12 Miles and incamp'd near a Corn field, (on which stood several Indian Cabines), leaving between the Light Corp & Main Army an advantageous Ravine, & bounded on our left by Seneca Lake.

Previous to our arrival here, the Indians who occupy'd the Cabines (already mentioned) probably discovered our approach, push'd off precipitately, leaving their kittles with corn boiling over the fire. During our march this day, we discovered several Trees with the following characters newly cut on them, by those Savages commanded by Brand & the Buttlers & with whom we had the action on 29th ult.

Saturday Sept. 4th.

On Acco^t of the rain this morning the Army did not moove untill about 10 o'clock A.M. we pass'd thro' a delightful level Country, the soil of which, very rich, the Timber fine & large interspers'd with Hazzel-bushes, fine Grass & Pea-wines, on our march we discovered several fires burning, which fully intimated some of the Savages were not far in front of us, we destroyed several fields of Corn, and after a March of 13 Miles we Encamp'd in the Woods in the front of a very large Ravine, and about half a Mile from Seneca Lake. On Acco^t of some difficulties with the Pack horses &c. the Main Army did not reach so far as the Infantry and Encamp'd about 2 Miles in their rear.

Sunday September 5th.

About 9 o'clock this morning the Army moov'd thro' a Country much the same as Yesterday. About 12 o'clock we arrived at Candai about 3 Miles from last Encamp^t, were we encamp'd for this night. Previous to our arrival, we entered several Corn fields and furnish'd the Men with two days allowance of the same. The riflemen who were advanc'd Retook a prisoner who was taken last year by the Savages on the East branch of Susquehanah. An Indian who lay conceal'd fired, but without effect on our riflemen & immediately fled.

On Examining this prissoner, he informs us that Brand with near 1000 savages including Buttlers Rangers left this Town last Fryday seemingly much frightened & fatigued, that they were pushing for Kanadasaga an Indian Village, where they mean to make a stand & give us Battle. He further informs us that exclusive of a considerable number of Savages kill'd & wounded in the Action of the 29th Ulto: seven Tories were kill'd that all their wounded with some dead were carried in Canoes up the Cayuga Branch, that they allow they sustained a very heavy loss in that Action.

Candai is much y^e finest village we have yet come to. Its situated on a rising Ground in the midst of an extensive Apple & Peach orchard, within half a mile of Seneca Lake, it contains about 40 well finished Houses, and every thing about it seems neat and well improv'd.

In this Town we found several Tombs, most curiously painted & shap'd, which denotes some Capitol Warriors are buried in them. It likewise shows the great respect they pay their deceased. A description of one of the Capitol Tombs or monument is taken notice of.

Monday September 6th.

The forepart of the day was intirely employ'd in hunting of our Horses & Cattle, a number of which were lost. About 2 o'clock we took up our line of March and moov'd about 3 Miles, were we encamp'd on a beautiful piece of Woodland (interspers'd with vast quantities of Pea Vines, which served for food for our horses &c) our rear covered by the Lake and our flanks by considerable Ravines.

On the 4th whilst on our March, several Officers Waiters, who had delay'd in the rear, lost the path along which the Army moov'd, and towards night found themselves near an Indian village which had been previously evacuated, they found a quantity of plunder, which the brought off, first putting the town in flames. A Captain and a party on their missing being sent in pursuit, and fell in with them as they were returning to the Encamping place occupy'd by the Army the preceeding day, and conducted them safe to the Army at Candai.

An Express from Tioga w^h Packets &c. for the Army arrived this day at Head-quarters. Received several letters from my friends.

Tuesday Sept. 7th.

At half past 7 o'clock the Army moov'd and arriv'd at the Head of the Lake, about 2 o'clock P.M. the Country we pass'd thro' was exceeding fine, and chiefly along the Water for 8½ Miles.

About 3 o'clock P.M. the Rifle & Infantry Corps, cross'd at the mouth of the Lake about knee deep and not above 30 yds. wide, on our arrival at the opposite shore we immediately entered a dangerous & narrow defile, bounded on the left by the Head of Seneca Lake, and on our right by a large Morass and slow, and at intervals well calculated to form Ambuscades. From every Circumstance, both as to intelligence and the great advantage the enemy might have had from its situation, we fully expected an Attack. However we moov'd thro' in files, supported by the two flanking Divisions and gain'd the other side, the Main Army then cross'd, and took our places. We then moov'd thro' a second defile, as difficult as the first, and form'd again, untill the Main Army possess'd themselves of the same ground we had just left. We then March'd and pass'd a third defile, and form'd in a Cornfield, near a large house, which was beautifully situated on the Head of the Lake, and generally occupy'd by Butler, one of the savage leaders.

The Light Corps flank'd by the two flanking Divisions received orders, to moove and gain the rear of the Town. The Main Army took the Path, and March'd immediately in front of the same, but the Enemy no doubt having Previous notice of our Moovements, had abandoned the Town, which we entered about Dusk, leaving behind them a number of Bear and Deer skins, as also a fine White child about 3 years old.

This Town is called Kanadasaga and appears to be one of their Capital settlements about it is a fine Apple Orchard, and a Council House. There was in the neighbourhood a great quantity of Corn beans &c, which after taking great quantities for the use of the Army, we totaly destroy'd. Burn'd the Houses which were in number about 50, and girdled the apple-trees. Distance of March this day about 12 Miles.

Wednesday September 8th.

This day we lay on our ground, the Rifle Corps, with several other parties were detach'd down the Lake to destroy a small village call'd Gaghsiunqua and a quantity of corn &c. Fatigues partys were also imploy'd to destroy the Corn &c in this neighbourhood, and the Army prepar'd for a march early tomorrow morning.

Various oppinions prevail'd between many officers about our proceeding any further, on account of our Provisions, but Gen^l Sullivan with a number of officers, nobly resolv'd to encounter every difficulty, to execute the important expedition, and determin'd, notwithstanding the horrid neglect in not furnishing us with Provisions, Horses &c. sufficient to enable us to carry thro' the expedition, even to proceed on with the scanty pittance, and accomplish the arduous task of destroying the whole Seneca Country.

Thursday September 9th.

On account of a number of Pack-horses, which had gone astray & could not be found, the Army did not march at 6 o'clock, agreeable to yesterdays orders.

A command of 50 Men under a Captain return'd from the place to Tioga to Escort the sick and those who were not able to proceed without retarding the March of the Army, which is now under the necessity, on account of our wants, to be as expeditious as possible, to complete the Expedition. All those Pack-horses which were lame or otherwise reduc'd, likewise return'd.

About 12 o'Clock the Army march'd, their first rout was over bushy land, interspers'd with remarkable high wild grass, and appear'd to have been formerly clear'd, we then decended into an extensive Maple Swamp, which was very rich, and well calculated for Meadow, after Marching Seven Miles, we came to a Creek known by the name of Flint-creek, which the whole excepting Clintons Brigade cross'd, and Encamp'd on a plain which had been occupy'd by the Enemy but a few days before, for the same purpose. Distance of March 7 miles.

The rifle-corps, who yesterday went to destroy Gaghsiunga, this evening return'd, they report it was a fine Town, well improov'd, with a great quantity of Corn near the same, likewise an abundance of Beans, Water mellons, Peaches and all kinds of Vegetables, the whole of which they totally destroy'd.

Friday September 10th.

Eight o'clock this morning, the Army took up their line of March in the usual order, their rout about 4 mile continued through the Swamp, which in some places was miry & difficult for pack-horses, otherwise the foot would not have been much retarded. We then arriv'd on very fine ground for marching, which to appearance was old clear'd fields, as they contain'd a great quantity of Wild grass as high as the Horses in many places the land continued in this manner (alternatively having a strip of Woods between), for about four Miles when we arriv'd at a Lake (the name I could not learn), which appear'd to be a mile wide, and six or seven miles in length we march'd half a Mile along this lake and came to the mouth which we cross'd, the Water not knee deep, and about thirty yards over but it narrowed so fast that about twenty yards from the Mouth it was not in Width more than five, but much deeper, we then moov'd up a fine country from the Lake and in half a mile came to Kanadalaqua a beautiful situated Town containing between twenty & thirty Houses, well finish'd chiefly of hewn plank which we immediately burn'd, and proceeded about half a mile on our right, where we found large fields of Corn, Squashes, Beans &c. at this place we encamp'd but were very bad off for Water, having none but what we sent half a mile for, and that very bad. The Seneca Country from its extreme flatness has no good Springs, which is extremely disagreeable for a Marching Army. Distance of March this day nine Miles.

In this town a dog was hung up, with a string of Wampum round his neck, on a tree curiously decorated, and trim'd. On inquiry I was inform'd it was a custom among the Savages before they went to War to offer this as a sacrifice to Mars the God of War, and praying that he might strengthen them. In return for those favours they promise to present him, with the skin for a Tobaccoe Pouch.

Sketch of Encampment,

Saturday September 11th.

Agreeable to orders took up our line of march this morning precisely at 6 o'clock, we moov'd thro' a thicket & Swamp, near one Mile before we gain'd the Main path, the Infantry on account of this difficult Swamp could not possibly march in the usual order without being considerably dispers'd. We moov'd along this path for about 3 Miles, after which we ascended a rising ground, the Country remarkable fine & rich covered chiefly with fine Oak & hickory timber, at intervals we cross'd considerable clear fields with remarkable high wild grass, about one o'clock we descended into a most beautiful Valley within one Mile of an Indian Village known by the name of Anyayea, situate on a fine plain about half a mile of Anyayea Lake, which is but small and very beautiful, and abounds with all kinds of fish. This Town contains about twelve houses, chiefly hewn Logs, about it are several large Cornfields, and a number of Apple & other fruit trees. We encamp'd about 2 o'clock for this day, after compleating a march of 13 Miles.

Sunday September 12th.

In order to expedite our March and prevent the Enemy from making off with their Effects from Jenise, their Capital and last Town in the Seneca Country. It was determin'd a Garrison of 50 Men, with those soldier who were not very able to march, should continue at this post, in order to Guard Our Stores viz^t Ammunition & flour, untill our return.

The rain having set in very heavy this morning, we could not moove untill about 12 o'clock we then began our March, but on account of a defile which we had to cross, could not march in the usual order, after passing the same, we took up our line of March as usual, and ascended a rising piece of Ground, after marching about 5 mile we came to a Lake w^h we cross'd at the Mouth, being about knee deep & about 10 yards over, we then ascended another rising piece of Ground, compos'd of exceeding fine rich land, with large Oak & Hickory Timber, and at intervals with Marsh or Swamps, well calculated for Meadow Ground. After arriving within half a mile of Kanaghsas, a small Indian Village (which was previously destined for this days march) Night sett in and the Main Army being at least a Mile in our rear we received orders to Encamp, for this night, which was in the Woods and exceedingly ill calculated for that purpose no Water being nearer than half a Mile. This days march compleated 12 Miles.

After we were Encamp'd Lieut. Boyd of the Rifle corps some Volunteers & as many rifle men as made up six & twenty in the whole set of to Reconoitre the town of Jenese, having for their Guide an Onieada Indian named Han-joit, a chief of that Tribe, who has been remarkable for his attachment to this Country having serv'd as a Volunteer since the commencement of the War.

Monday September 13th.

This morning before daylight the general beat on which the Tents were immediately struck and in half an hour the Army march'd into the Town of Kanaghsas which contain'd about 10 houses, situate in a flat near the Head of a small Lake, The flat contain'd a great quantity of Corn & Vegetables of all kinds, which was remarkably well tended. At this place we halted to draw provisions dry beef (half allowance) and destroy the Corn & Town &c.

Four Men of Lieut. Boyds party this morning return'd bringing information of the Town of Gaghsuguilahery (which they took for Jenesie) being abandoned about 12 o'clock we were alarm'd by some Indians firing and giving chase to M^r Lodge and a few men who went forward to Survey, they wounded a Corp^l who died next day and chac'd him untill one of our Camp Centinels fir'd on them and stop'd their career.

Sketch of encampment this night

Lieut. Boyd having retir'd from The Town of Gaghsuguilahery to wait for the arrival of the Main Army, which was detain'd longer than he expected he sent back two men to know the cause, these two men had not gone far before they discovered a few Indians ahead. They then retir'd & inform'd Lieut. Boyd, who immediately with his party gave chase and followed them within about $2\frac{1}{2}$ Mile from the Main Army, were a Body of Savages of at least four or five hundred lay conceal'd, and probably intended giving the Main Army (the ground being favourable on their side) a fire & push of according to custom. Who immediately surrounded him & his party, he nobly fought them for some considerable time, but by their great superiority he was oblig'd to attempt a retreat, at the same time leading & firing as his party Run.

The Indians kill'd and in the most inhuman manner, tomhawk'd and Scalp'd six that were found, nine of the party has got safe in but Lieut^s Boyd and Han-jost (the Indian already mentioned) with seven others are yet missing, one of which we know is prissoner as one Murphy a Rifleman of the party who made his escape saw him in their possession. This Murphy is a noted marksman and a great soldier, he having kill'd and Scalp'd that morning in the Town they were at an Indian which makes the three & thirtieth man of the Enemy he has kill'd (as is well known to his officers) this War.

There being a Swamp or Morrass totaly impassible for our horses in front of Kanaghsas. The Infantry & Rifle-corps pass'd over and ascended the Hill where the Indians lay, in hopes to come up with them, but they had fled leaving behind them upwards of One hundred blankets, a great number of Hatts and many other things, which we took and then halted untill the Main Army arrived, they having first been oblig'd in order to enable them to moove, to throw a Bridge over the Morrass.

The whole then took up their line of March and proceeded to the Town of Gaghsuguilahery thro' the finest Country I almost ever saw, without exception, before Dusk we arriv'd within sight of the Town. The Indians having thrown themselves in a Wood on the opposite side. The following disposition for an attack was immediately ordered to take place. Viz^t The Infantry with the Artillery to push on in front Gen^l Maxwell's Brigade with the left flanking Division to endeavour to Gain the Enemies right flank. Gen^l Poors Brigade to move & gain their left. The right flanking Division & two Regiments from Gen^l Clintons Brigade, to moove round Poors right flank, the Infantry to Rush on in front supported by the remainder of Clintons Brigade, we then moov'd forward and took Possession of the Town without opposition. The Enemy flying before us across a branch of Jenesie River thro' a thicket were it was impassable for us to follow, we not being acquainted with the Country, and night having set in.

We received orders to Encamp after making a march of Eight & half miles.

FRIENDS:—

With hearty good will and good wishes for you & the people under your care know, I have writt to you severall times on occassion to which I never had any answeare, nor the least respect or Salute or testemony of it since my leaveing of you, I hope it is from the little want you have of me, which would be an exceeding joy to me, for if it should be from forgettfulness of me or remissness in y^e duty to Govern^t I should be not a little Greived. I cannot, I dare not commend my skill, but my good will I am bold to say has been towards you with strong desires for y^r prosperity. I earnestly press to be with you but much agst my inclinations am kept back, & still may be some months, whatever you do, keep up vertue, punish vice, cherrish the people, be kinde to straingers, & above all lett ye widdow & orphant be your care, & god y^t is above man & has all pow'r in his hand, will bless & keep you, & I beseech him to do it. Two things I recommend to you, the demolishing, or rather filling up of those caves, & y^e publick supply, ye is debtor enough to my circumstances. The Bearer hereof is a sober and ingeneous man, a lawyer, bred & of use to you, I have commis^d him Attorney Genl of y^e Province may encourage him and as he deserves so preferr him. FRIENDS—

My last went by Cap^t Dymond who I hear is well arrived. I intended you no more, for I resolved to have been the messenger of my own minde, but since the letters from the Province make so great a noise of the slight your neighbours make of the king's order to settle our limitts, tho. I had determined to have come by this ship, I thought it most fitt to have such an express Authority as should overule and silence their objections, for being come on that errand, I did not think it wise to returne without it, least after transporting my famely I should be brought under the necessity of goeing back to finish y^t dispute. I do not doubt my success since this does but add to their unpleasant censures. This say'd (for there is nothing more desired by me after y^e life of me & Myne then to be with you) I have this to add, that Instead of disputes about laws and points of Government, such persons would study quietness & y^e means of supporting it, for as no govermt. can stand without it, so I will tell you that no interest of my own could have prevaled with me so painfully to have stemed the tyde of Quo warranto's & had not yours done it some busy bodys would have had their mouths stopped for good an all. It is not known to you w^t I have run through & what time & mony have been expended in the Service of that province which makes me look upon that gross delusion of y^e Merchants about the supply with out excuse. I do recommend that again to you, & expect it from you as wise & Just men, lett them be sent for & a due course taken for y^e battle is without example and should not be made one now by your neglect. I need not name the Persons to you y^t came to lay aside y^e law for a supply, thos are y^e men at whose door it must be had, for s^d vallue promessed which I think was six hundred pounds at least.

I hear that Christopher Tayler is deceased, a Just man & a lover of y^e Province. I think James Claypole a fitt man for it, and therefore recommended him to be commissioned by you to continue dureing my pleasure, he wronging no body in y^t charge.

Lastly, I do most earnestly press you to love & peace. I hear the Country thrives but thos in Govern^t apt to fall out, a sorrow to me, a dishonour to the Province, & a shame to themselves—be you Peacemakers, you are the great overseers of the peace, lett none break it & mark them y^t are given to contention. I beseech Almighty God to inspire you with the Love of peace & truth, y^t he may bless y^e with lasting blessings, in whose hands & disposall are all y^e Kingdoms & Provinces of the whole earth. Salute me to the people in some publick ordinance, & inform them of my stay & y^e reasons of it, & my Inclinations & resolutions to be with you God permitting, by the first. This I mention be cause of y^e impatiency of some for my return; but leave it to you to do it or not to do it, as you see an occasion for it, or no need of it.

I did in my last mention the caves, the time is more then expired y^t I gave them, wherefore stop them up, only accommodate strangers at first comeing especially y^e poor, gratis, lett the sed pay moderately if any desire them.

I have no more, but the remembrance of my reall love to you, with fervent desires for y^r prosperity everyway as my own, and when I say you, I mean the people in you, whom you represent. God direct you, I am

The Kings absence by Progress shutting up all offices nothing can yet be done in our business. vale.

FRIENDS :—

I greet you all with unfeined love, desiring your prosperity every way as myne own.

That which occasions this to you, is the continuall care that possesses my heart for your wise, just & dilligent administration of the Govern^t that is in your hands, for I well know the success of that Province is sufficiently watcht by friends & foes, & it much depends upon thos in powr, for I never heard of a Country used one nor made without them. Where a Magistracy is a terror to the evill doer &

A praise to him that does well, all must goe well, since god by whom Kings raigh & Princes decree Justice is engaged to preserve such a Country, and so great a coward is vice, that it can not long look vertue in the face, when it shines through the actions of Governours. Do not therefor I beseech you debase your noble calling by a low mean & partial behaviour, neither lett any privat concerns defraud the publick of your care & pains to serve it, for besides that thos neglects are of wors consequence, there is a singular sort of recompence that will follow the publick spirited to do this well, sloth in any should not be drawn into example, but a just emulation ought to possess your brests since that is to lay up a more lasting store to your posterity both in y^e sight of god & your just followers. And I cannot but say that if ever god bring me safely among you, as the Lewd & disorderly among the multitude, and the careless among thos in Govermt. will finde a due resentment in me of their unworthiness so assuredly, the virtuous and dilligent shall reap the fruit of what favour & preferment I am capable to conferr upon them. Friends, this absence of myne is your tryall, lett it not be a slight thing to you, it affects me at heart. Many eyes are upon you, & any miscarriage is aggravated to a Mountain, and 'tis not a faith without works that will remove ye privat offences are made y^e publicks, where the Publick does not punish them, and where they are duely rewarded, the dishonour is prevented, & malice has nothing to work upon, for it is not the reproach of a Govermt. that any perticular person under it or in it transgressed, but yt he is not corrected. This is recommend to you with much zeal & concernment of spirit, that the report of yt Justice may come with that of the offence God Almighty preserve you all.

Next, It is your interest as well as reputation, to seek peace and ensue it. Keep down all contentions that may arise as much as you can for next sobriety, peace recommends any Govern^t for the one is not more virtuous then the other is wise. Remember that your station obliges you to be the light & Salt of the Province; to direct & season thos that are under you, by your good example. 'Tis not wealth or trade that Makes a goverment great, the noblest examples of Govern^t that time has deliver'd down to us had little of either, they are preferr'd to our Imitation for their sobriety, Peace, temperance, labour and equal administration. This I am sure you may have in Poor Pennsylvania if you will; the climat is as fitt for it as any other in the world, & I know tis expected at our hands; and lett me tell you, that it was the most Noble & prevaleing motive I had to take my lott in y^t solitary part of the world, where there was room & oportunity for thos excellent methods of life & Government. O that God would please to inspire you with zeal & resolution to endeavour so blessed & honorable a work; else what can be expected but the faults & Judgements that attend & ruine other places; which would make my heart sad, and alianate my love from that place of the whole earth, that is left beloved by me, & I long the most to be at, & where I pray & hope my god will graciously please to bring me in his time.

In the next session of your Gen^l Assembly, pray vew your laws well, & see w^t are needless or inconvenient, especially y^t about advancing y^e rate of mony in which we do but (hazardously) cheat ourselves I fear.

Next, I would have you take care that no offence be given to the Kings officers, but that you treat them with respect & rather suffer ourselves than defraude him of his dues, for what is his, it is with me matter of Conscience that he should have it. I speak as to his customs & y^t regular way of trade the laws of England have provided for that purpose. I do recommend to you a law for stateing factors accompts whereby employers here may see y^e Govern^ts care in their right, want of yt witholds some thousands of pounds from the province, they are willing to allow out of y^e gain at least 10 Pct for examination, so y^e Commissioners for y^t purpose provides.

The society is a great Reproach to y^e Province, & in nothing more then not sending an account of the debt^e & cred^t which I stayd there so long & lett so often for, & saw effected. That itself was mislay'd or lost or designedly kept back after all y^t pains, so y^t my own credit, y^t I saw it & y^e totall of debt 6000 lbs. odd hundred & y^e cred^t 9000 lb. odd hundred pounds, was all they had to rest upon, & certainly merchands & traders y^t trust not themselves, but their books, had little reason to give me that respect pray call the President or chief officer before you on my complaint, order him to transmitt a faithful account. I writt to them to transmitt y^e govern^t of it hether, w^{ch} would serve the Province, content the present rich members here, & encourage others to come in for fresh stock can only save it with fresh and other methods.

I long time writt you word of my success agst y^e Lord Baltim^r but y^e chief letter I suppose may be lost in Conway, who playd ye villian & carried y^e people to Bermudas & there left or sent them to a wors place, not Cap^t Conway that comes to Maryland but an Irishman y^t to drown'd his name, y^t I believe was O'Coner, called himselfe by y^t name, I hear he is gone a privateering.

I shall last of all mention to you y^t which seems most to concern my selfe, & but touch upon it neither. first, that no care is yet taken to supply me according to y^e Marchants engagem^t in so much y^t one there y^t left mony in my hands here, would not gett twenty pounds to answeare his occasions among you, w^{ch} was very odd, the River did much more before I came into it, secondly, that nothing is done towards a future establishm^t Govern^t must be for want of it, complaints come by every winde, this cannot be if the Persons concerned are not supported in y^e administration of it, they will run to their famelys & farms so y^t have as little of Govern^t as can be desired with any safety to y^e publick, but mens expences must be born & their time Consider'd for I can do no more then I have done for you of y^t kinde.

And now I have said all this, I have only to wish you to live well with your neighbours, especially about servants y^t run away. That you shutt up y^e caves of Philadelphia to prevent clandestine loosness, and Stier up y^e Magistrates to minde sobriety there & every where, that by a conscientious discharge of your duty to god and man, you may provoak others to do the like in their inferior stations, for since people are less under Notice & so more left to themselves in the wilderness of America, then in the more planted & crowded parts of y^e world, so they have more need to watch over themselves & become a law to themselves, that the great god by whom we live, move & have our being, may not be provoked to desert us, but by a virtuous regard of his blessed & eternall law in our hearts, we may engage his powr & goodness in our preservation & success, that happy days we may live & good deaths we may dye, & finde a better world when we shall leave this & be here no more so prays and would hope

DEAR ROBERT TURNER,—

With my dear & ancient love In the truth to thee & thyn, and all y^r truly love & feare the Lord, know this is cheifly to inclose a lett^r from G. F. to y^e I haveing writt largely and fully by Ed. Blackfan, & I hope w^t I have said therein will not be matter of grief to thee I suppose thou art married, I wish thee comfort every way, I think her a sober and accomlisht young woman. The Lord bless you & all his people wth his grace Mercy & peace, y^t you may flourish to his praise & y^r great rejoyceing.

I desire to take care my letter now sent to be read and observed, my present condition either as to my privat affaires or y^e publick, in w^{ch} I have had no little concern of late, at present are a stop to me. Frds unwilling & y^e K. & some of his Ministers not very enclinable to part wth me till this Liberty of Conscience be established by an apeal of all thos

P.S:—I would not have thee make words about G. F's words of Tho. Budd, had I been wth him he had lett it alone for tho Thomas was rash in a passage or two, yet y^e book is universally liked as to American matters, but G. has been disturbed partly by S. J & T. B^s standing agst. Bill & him for upholding him & partly by y^e Gen^l enimys America but for y^e other matter they are well and it is his proper element, in w^{ch} he has his honour of thos y^t honour God. Vale.

Next to the grief y^t has afflicted me, by reason of Misunderstanding between thee & my friends, that of being not able to tell you both so, has been y^e greatest for about 4 days after y^e Pensylvania Merch^t sayled away an embargo came out and by it and y^e want of man by reason of y^e great press for y^e navy (being a war with France on y^e score of this revolution) the tryal has not been able to get away, in the mean time many letters from thee and other friends are comē to my hands, and several people arrived, by all which I see all my hopes frustrated and y^e dawnings I had of an happy agreement between thee and my friends, overcast with y^e sharpest animosity imaginable, which is so much y^e more unhappy as it has gratified our emulous nighbours with occasion to toss us about here into many places and companys, with some contempts and my circumstances being not so shining as a while since my enemys to be sure have made y^e worse of it. The Consideration of this and thy repeated desire to leave a station that is so uneasy to keep and to execute, hath att last brought me to resolve though with some reluctance to answer thy request and ease thee of that burden, but upon y^e terms of taking thee to myself for after y^e Idea I conceived of Cap^e Blackwell as an honest, virtuous & able officer in government, I cannot bring myself to lett him goe, and if I have any power with him, let something else entertaine him, against y^e natural or other inconveniences of y^e place, and y^e country to be short and free to, I have sent two commissions about settling y^e government there in Condition, that may please y^e generality, let them be the chosers, either of them shall satisfy me, for thyself, I have made thee my Receiver general of y^e Province and territorys, which in my opinion is a better condition of life, considering y^e little occasion of expences, there will be in y^e discharge of those trusts.

I therefore desire thee to quit that place thou art in, as a man that sought it, and let y^e Prov. Coun^l know as much, and betake thyself with an Equal Zeal and diligence to y^e other employment, and let me see some face of my poor affairs of which I have not recovered one tittle or farthing, my lot having been hitherto to get nothing from thence but bills of exchange, which with difficulty I got pay'd.

I both desire and empower thee to be supervisor of my plantations, houses, servants, stock, growths and improvements, and to direct my people what to doo therein, in which I design only to secure and preserve what is done, and finish what is begun for having lost att present my Irish Estate, and receiving not a penny from the exchequer since this revolution, I must be as thrifty as is possible, especially having some debts upon me.

If it be agreeable to thee to live at my plantations, the house and gardens are at thy service, but what fruits or roots are not used I would have the gardener that is coming over (not y^e same) to dispose of them as advantageously as he can for my use.

I would have but a little family, indeed none but y^e blacks and one I send with y^e gardner for that wou'd but draw guests, thou will find a small stock there I fear, to what I left, pray inquire into all and let me have an exact accoumpt, sparing no body for Nation, Religion or relation. Capt^{nc} Blackwell I remember thee as a man that hath had a savour of Religion of old Days, that I must not forget and lett despite thou art also a man of repute with those that know thee, and has had a character of a superior sort, as all this I confide in thee, and desire to continue thee if thou pleasest be as kind to all as thou Canst with justice, divulge not the state of my private affairs now committed to thee till I know all, unless the parties concern'd are unreasonable and even then be judiciously rather then resentingly firm, bear this from me for I am thus plain because I love thee much, and remember that I tell thee that a reserved behaviour and an intereness to thy present trust will be an indication to thee above Volumes, and shew thee in an aimable Colour, it will be thy turn then to see faults and thy abilities will shine less emulously in this third capacity.

My cosen Blackfan cometh not, but hath sent to y^e account of things at Pennsbury as Receiver General, which is to be treasurer of our small treasure, take an account of all my demeans and moveables, as well as of all my rents, fines &c, by y^e Secret^{ys} office, and that of y^e Survey^r and Master of y^e Roles & thou wilt be able to make a right charge upon y^e tenants, and consequently a true rent Role; and for the ould inhabitants they must be summoned by an order from y^e Commiss^{rs} to bring in a true account of their several holdings by which tho wilt and y^e old records be enabled to charge them and compleat the Rols, I remember Capt^{nc} Markam once since I came, sent me a handsome list, but it might not be perfect, especially now, for that was soon after his last arrival, things have been very rare about my stores, as well as rents ; review all and bring things into a plain account and method, and of that I shall say no more here.

For y^e Register Generals place thou wilt find I have left great room, and it will be y^e foundation for thy desirable bank, and many things may be with time grafted upon it, I wish thee a Comfortable advantage in it, by a good improvement of it. Thy old friend Roberts as a token of his friendship wou'd present thee with some model for y^e better regulating our little revenue which cometh here with, I leave it to thy judgement and experience to add, diminish or to change but the fault I find is, it is too improved for our noneage and early time of y^e day, yet y^e Provincial judges may serve for y^e Chamber, as he calls it, the Secretary may draw draughts instead of an attorney, y^e M^r of y^e Roles may be y^e Auditor general and thou art y^e Receiver General which the last named is y^e first in quality, but if y^e checks be fewer, and it lye in a narrower Compatt it may doo very well, of which I know thou art an able judge.

I have also an interest in both y^e Jersyes, in West Jersey, besides my concern in Salem a tenth (managed by one James Nevel a shrewd man, and who cometh under the Province) I have two proprieties in right of Will. Hague & Daⁿ Waite of London and I would have my share of each propriety taken up, though it were remotely, provided y^e same were near navigation att least for one propriety and y^e Land of y^e other any where in a good place up y^e freshes. In East Jersey one Cap: Berry will assist where I have $\frac{1}{4}$ of the whole, give him my Salutes and let him know that I recommend his request to y^e proprietors Lest he hath my order to take up my proportion, I know not what he has done in it, this I press but in ye Second place yet it will very naturally fall under the Care of a Receiver and overseer general.

I must recommend to ye government the Case of the widdows Jeff and Whitpaine in which believe me y^e honour of y^e Province is deeply concerned, especially the last, because of her husbands Creditors whose expectations are much from you there.

Sam^l Bersant left a Child there, that was att my charges, but I think it must be maintained by the Community, it is y^e Grand Mothers desire he should be sent over by y^e first opportunity that is safe as if there Cometh a fleet with a Convoy from Virginia or New York or y^e like.

Being my receiver general I need not to recommend thee the payement of thy self which Indeed I had ordered my Cosen Blackfan had he gone, as now by long delays and his wife's indisposition he declineth, but if thou canst get y^e people to pay y^e, as in justice they ought, it would be the better att least out of the 600 lb. they owe me. I desire thee to press that upon them as a debt due upon publick faith, as thou art my receiver general.

I shall conclude with my fervent resolution to be with you by Gods help, by y^e very first door that his Providence opens, and with syncere prayers to God for all your prosperity wishing peace and happiness to abound among you.

Thy reall & affect Frd.

CAPTAIN BLACKWELL.

THOMAS WHARTON, OF PHILADELPHIA, 1773-1783.

[The Historical Society of Pennsylvania has recently received, by gift of Mrs. Sally Fisher Lewis, a valuable collection of letter-books, documents, and miscellaneous manuscripts, belonging to Thomas Wharton, a prominent merchant of Philadelphia. The letter-books are of especial interest, for they contain much data that relate to social and political affairs of the Province; to the extensive land enterprises in which Mr. Wharton, his brothers, and his friends were interested; and to some facts connected with the return of the "Tea Ship" to England.]

PHILADELPHIA Nov. 30, 1773.

DEAR BROTHER,

I wrote thee on the 19th Inst: under cover to our friend Strahan via Liverpool, which I hope will come safe to hand, as it contained some matters I could wish thee to be informed of, since when I have not had the pleasure of receiving any of thy favours. By the Reports here spread, we are told, that the Tea-Ship for this port sailed the 27th September, and is therefore hourly looked for; this occasions severe speeches and Declarations, that, it never shall be landed, and threats are throw'd out, of destroying the property; to such a pitch of zeal are some people rais'd, that I fear the worst. The last Post brought information, that, on Governor Tryon's declaring he had receiv'd orders to land and protect it, the inhabitants of New York have entered into a resolution not to injure the Property, but that they will neither buy nor use it, the Agents are all compelled to an absolute Resignation, and I have been assured that letters from thence say that, when Kelly's Effigy was carrying about and hung, B. B. stood a most miserable chance of sharing the same fate, but was saved by the Mayor and some more Magistrates, who went to his assistance. What will be the issue here I know not, for it does not seem to me that there is resolution enough in the Executive branch of Government to protect the Property. I really dread the worst. As for J & D they are in a bad situation and have no chance of saving themselves but by an absolute Resignation and add to that they have lost the affection of their fellow Citizens by their want of an explicit conduct. I wish thou could learn of Pigon what they have from time to time wrote, and if possible get extracts thereof.

Since my last, to secure an habitation for sister I have bought John Malcolm's house and lots for £1550., the deed I expect will be signed tomorrow, and I shall pay a £1000. down, and £250. in 12 months, and £300. in 24 months, this I mean solely for thou knows who; I am assured the house cost him £2500 and is better furnished than most houses in the city. I hope it will prove an acceptable act.

G. Morgan returned a few days since from fort Pitt, and say that G. Croghan had held a kind of a treaty with the Indians and was distributing of goods to them, which he says, he was told by a person who saw the letter, were purchased in consequence of a letter sent him by you, signed by L^d G., L^d C., T. Walpole, thyself and two others—that the Indians were very peaceable.

J. Dobson is now here having sent for him to take up some money to G. Croghan to defray the provisions accounts of those Indians, and he having lately seen some very substantial persons lately returned from that country, is assured that the country is thickly settled for 150 miles below fort Pitt, they have erected two good Grist Mills, and have large quantities of winter grain in the ground.

Some companies have (its said) located large tracts, the Principals of which reside in this city.

As I fear much trouble from the surveys which Col. Washington has made about the great Kenhawa, I beg thy particular attention thereto, and that thouⁿ obtain from Government such orders as shall settle clearly his claims with all others who have lately made their surveys, as be assured many score thousand acres have within these few months been surveyed below the Scales.

As nothing that I know of can so greatly advance the sale of the lands as a Loan Office, it would certainly be of the greatest consequence to settle this point with our great partners before thou leaves England, that they may give such assistance as lays in their power, and if possible obtain leave for the Governor to pass such a law.

Thy family and relations are well, I remain

thy affect^t Bro:—

PHILADELPHIA Decem^o. 24, 1773.

DEAR FRIEND,

The arrival of this days post from N. York brought us such accounts from Boston as have alarmed the thoughtful, considerate mind, and I am truly sorry that matters have been drove to such extremes, as I fear it will tend still further to widen the unhappy breach between the mother country and colonies; it is needless for me to enter into a detail of the facts, as the enclosed paper setts the transaction in a clear light. It is positively asserted that the inhabitants of N. York are determined the Tea shall not be landed with them, notwithstanding Gov^r Tryons intimation that it shall. You doubtless will know before this can reach you of the conduct of South Carolina, that the agents have resigned, and that the ship with the tea sailed from thence for London.

As neither the tea ship for this place or York is yet arrived, nothing certain can be said but the best I expect is that the Ships will proceed back to England, for I have long since seen, that, the attempting to land the same, would be the certain loss of the property, And indeed if any thing could stimulate me to resign in the early manner I did, it was, a belief, that after I had done my duty to my country, I could with more certainty and effect, serve the Hon^{able} the East India Company. Should the intelligence now communicated, not have reached you before this I beg thou'lt please to take the most early opportunity of informing the Hon^{ble} the Director of it.

I remain &c &c,

THOMAS WHARTON.

PHILAD; Dec: 29, 1773.

RESPECTED FRIEND,

I wrote thee by Campbell on the 25th & 26th inst. who then returned with the writ to remove the action against Major Ward into the Supreme Court, and as thou expressed thy desire for money to replace what thou had laid out for provisions for those Indians who assembled at Fort Pitt. I sent thee by said Campbell, one hundred and sixty pounds in cash to answer that purpose, which I hope will be safely delivered to thee with my letters, as therein is said who furnished it.

I have now the pleasure to enclose thee a letter from Bro: Samuel, which came to hand by the November Packet last night. He informed me in my letter, that they had obtained a fresh order of the Privy Council to the Attorney General for perfecting the grant, and doubted not that it would be soon done, but as I suppose that he has been pretty full on this head, I need say no more. He likewise mentioned that he had given this order to draw on me for £150, and as I suppose its to repay for the provisions &c: had for the Indians, the money we sent by Campbell will answer that end.

I remain thy friend

DEAR BROTHER,

The letters which I have some time since wrote thee, and those to the Hon^{able} T. Walpole must have advised you of the disposition of the inhabitants of these Colonies respecting the tea—I sincerely wish, that no blame may fall on my brother, for the part he has taken in the exportation thereof, the arguments thou has made use of, that the Indian Company pay the duty, especially if it could be settled by bills drawn on the directors, may look passable to you, but no such alternative is admissable by the Americans because they contend, that no power on earth has a right to tax them but their own Assemblies and as long as the India Company do make the duty a part of the first cost (which they have in directing that the Bohea tea shall not be sett up to sale under 2/ per Sterl'g) the people who purchase at that price or upwards pay the duty; these with other reasons have induced the Americans to give this measure the warmest opposition. And although I never could see the justice of refusing the tea to be landed, but have in all companies, and on every occasion spoke my sentiments, that every Englishman has a right to import his property agreeable to law into America, and that, the refusing this plain and just right to the India Company is a violation of their privileges as English subjects—but its to little purpose to oppose the voice of the multitude. On the 21st Capt Ayres set sail from hence with his ship for London having on board the exact cargo she left London with, and with the ship G. Barkley returns. He will give thee a very particular account how he found matters—I had only him to write our friend Walpole by that vessel, all being very much hurried, as the vessel staid but two days with us, and as I had not a doubt, if thou should be in London when the ship arrived, that he would communicate the whole to thee. Indeed my hopes for several months past, that thou had left England has caused me to write but little to thee; but as thou'l find by perusal of the letter to T. Walpole my sentiments respecting some men, and my earnest desire is (should the India Company think fit to send this tea to America after the duty is taken off) that Willing and Morris should be in the nomination, that I hope thou'l do all in thy power to serve them with Jno Brown, G. Barclay & I & I. W. It has afforded me a great deal of pain to see that J. & D. could act the ungratefull part they have done, having absolutely agreed with us to give the answer to the people we did with J. B. instead of which they gave so ambiguous an one, as to render them dispised by their fellow Citizens; refuse to unite with us, either in answering the Directors letter or those received from the other Agents at Boston, unless we would insert the dates of our respective resignations, from whence most clearly appears their want of candour both to the public and the other Agents, as thou'lt fully be satisfied with on perusal of the papers sent to T. Walpole & G. Brown Esq that I cannot wish longer to be united with them; I doubt not they have endeavoured to gloss their conduct over with Pigon, but let a dispassionate man read their answer, the Committees report and J. & D.'s explanation and the Committees reply with their last declaration of Dec. 2nd and determine whether its possible those men have acted a candid part either to the public or their fellow agents. I beg thou'lt know what they write the Directors, and get a copy thereof; thou has no conception of the light in which their conduct is viewed by the inhabitants; they never so much as offered Capt Ayres the least assistance. We with J. Brown advanced him what money he wanted to victual his ship, &c:—and as poor Gilbert returns with the Ship, I leave him to give the further account of matters. My chariot, though it might be fit to visit Pine Street meeting in, must once more be landed in Brittain, and thereby share the same fate with every other article on board the ship. I have enclosed the bill of lading therefor with the receipt for thy box to our friend Walpole, should thou be on the spot I doubt not thou'lt order them as thou'lt think best.

I have now the great satisfaction of acknowledging the receipt of thy favor of November 3rd and most sincerely congratulate thee on surmounting the new difficulty started by the Attor^v General and most ardently wish thou may be in possession of the grant, before the arrival of the full accounts respecting the conduct of the Americans touching the tea, as I fear it will strengthen our enemies to oppose the completion thereof. I hear the Doct. has wrote J. G. (which I shall as soon as I can see him know the truth of) that if the Americans refuse to receive the tea, but send it back, it will more over-sett the ministry than any thing that could happen, but if they tamely receive the same and thereby submit to the duty, it only is the beginning of their trouble &c:—He does not mention one word to him respecting Vandalia, therefore I suppose he had not heard of your last move.

I beg thou'l excuse the roughness of this letter, as its not possible for me to copy it, my present engagements public & private deprive me of suitable time to do it. Thy family are well & I remain

Thy affec: Brother

TO SAMUEL WHARTON.

PHILAD^D January 4, 1774.

DEAR BROTHER,

I wrote thee per packet and under cover to the Hon^{able} T. Walpole on the 1st instant which will naturally make this epistle short, yet I thought I could not let the opportunity slip without saying thy connections are well.

By a vessel from Charlestown their appears some reason to apprehend the people there will receive the tea, notwithstanding the resignation of the Agents & positive agreement of the people who met together to oppose the receipt of it. It here is alledged that the cause of the alteration is, their fear of losing the bounty on Indigo and that the exports of their rice to foreign ports may by Act of Parliament be forbidden. This intelligence is not yet reduced to a certainty, but I fear as they have admitted the vessel to an entry, that, if the opposition to the landing continues, it will cause the tea to fare the same fate as at Boston. The tea ship for New York was not arrived when last post left that place; but there is no reason to believe it will be landed. We have the disagreeable news, that the Governor's house within the Port of N York is destroyed by fire, and it was with much difficulty that the family escaped.

I shall be much obliged if thou can bring me over a single man who understands the care of horses, and that of driving a carriage with a box, as I stand in need of one. I would contract with him for 5 or 6 years and give him £15. curr^y. per anum with his accommodations; I would not have too tall and lusty, but should prefer a light person, I doubt not thou'lt attend to his character for honesty and sobriety.

As Capt Ayres in the tea ship sett sail from hence on the 28th ult with his whole cargo a board to return for London, I did myself the pleasure of writing to Tho^s Walpole by her, who I doubt not communicates the contents to thee, I shall not now enlarge on that subject.

I have seen Geo. Morgan and read to him that part of thy letter relative to the accounts against the Crown and Col. Wilkin which he has been preparing, but this vessel sailing before it was expected, hinders us now of forwarding them. But its right for me to mention that G. Morgan said that those accounts which were delivered to Col. Wilkin and by him (he supposes forwarded to Gen^l Gage) do not contain by a great deal the amount of your demand on the Crown, it will therefore be right for thee to mention this at the proper Office, least when those accountts from York should get home, they may be passed to your great injury.

I remain thy affec^e Brother

PHILA^d January 31, 1774.

DEAR FRIEND,

I did myself the pleasure on the 27th Dec^m to write thee a few lines, since when I am not favored with any of thy letters; as I do not think it right to suffer a transaction to take place, which in its nature has some connection with the country we expect to possess, is the reason of my troubling my honoured friend at this time.

About a week since an Express arrived from Fort Ligonier (53 miles on this side Pittsburgh) to our Govonor acquainting him that one Dr. Connelly had published an advertisement there, requesting all the inhabitants of those parts to meet him at Fort Pitt on the 25th January in order that he might muster the people, and enrole the Militia, having received a commission from Lord Dunmore for that purpose, and at which time the inhabitants should be further informed of what was intended. The Express added that it was given out that L^d Dunmore had appointed Major Ward, Campbell and another person as Magistrates, and that he was determined to keep possession of that country as Virginia. This account has a good deal alarmed our people; they immediately appointed three more magistrates to strengthen their party; but do not know how to view this affair, for they cannot suppose that L^d Dunmore would take this measure solely at his own risque, and if it be in consequence of orders he has received from home, they conclude a serious affair, and that its done by you to keep them from possessing the country; others say its a manevor of L^d Hilsborough to grant this part of the country, that, the new proprietors may not have it. The last suggestion gives us no concern, as we suppose that nobleman has nothing to do with American affairs; but we find our property officers look on the matter in so serious a light, that an Express went of to L^d Dunmore with letters from them, in which its said, they very seriously expostulate with him on the subject.

We conclude that about this time Capt Ayres is arrived with you, with his cargo of tea &c: and be assured the people are anxious to know how this transaction will be viewed by our Superiors. A flying report is propogated, that the tea is destroyed at South Carolina but I cannot credit it. You no doubt will be informed before this can reach you that the tea put on board Capt Lorings Brig' (which vessel was lost on Cape Cod) is safely stored at Castle William; by a letter lately rec^d from the Boston agent by us, we find they were still confined at the Castle.

I cannot help being desirous to know how Dr. F. will stand his ground, and support the measure of the Bostonians, as I presume the ministry can never suffer him to justify, and he with his son, at the same time to hold two such lucrative offices under the Crown, and if he does not justify the measure it may lose him his agency. If some affairs happen, which I think there is a probability of, I doubt his being again appointed for this Province.

I remain with the sincerest desire to render thee any acceptable service thy real friend

PHILAD^A May 2, 1774.

DEAR FRIEND,

Thy favor of the 3rd Feb^{ry} I had the satisfaction of receiving by the packet for that month, and am glad to find that my several letters mentioning the transactions relative to the India Compa^y's tea were got to hand, and that thou had been so obliging as to communicate the necessary parts to the Directors; my regard to justice and the rights of that company influenced me to be as early as possible in transmitting my sentiments, that if possible a stop might have been put to the adventure if subject to the payment of a duty on this continent, but as that was not effected, I should be extremely glad, could our Assembly or the inhabitants of this city be prevailed on to make a tender of such a sum of money as would reimburse the East India Company for the amount they were subject to for the freight of those teas, but notwithstanding I have with some others urged both the Justice and Policy of this measure, I can not see at present a probability of its taking place by a subscription among the people, and as our Assembly stand adjourned till September they will scarce have more time (before the new election comes on) than will be sufficient to settle the public accounts; what may be the resolutions of the new House in their Winter Sessions time must tell us—but I may venture to assure thee and every person in administration, that the last resolve which was entered into by those who met at the time of Capt Ayre's arrival, was at that period, and has ever since continued to be very inconsistent with the sentiments of the substantial thinking part of our inhabitants. I have been well assured that this same resolve to justify the conduct of the Bostonians was attempted to be carried in the Committee (appointed to attend the tea consignment) when 10 Gentlemen out 12 of the Committee absolutely refused to have it inserted with the other resolves, but two of their body determining to involve as far as they could the whole continent in the unjustifiable conduct of the Bostonians, concluded that at the general meeting one of them should call for such a resolve, and the other should both put it and support the same, thou art too good a judge of mankind to want any further explanation on this head. A number of men met with a view to determine a measure generally esteemed salutary (which the sending back the tea was) are easily led to assent to a 10th resolve, after 9 had been unanimously entered into, without considering the force & effect of such a resolve, and I really believe this to have been the real case as to that resolve, because I have heard almost every man who has conversed with me on the subject, disapprove thereof and declare that the Bostonians must and ought to pay the India Company for the tea; clear I am that had the property on board Capt Ayres belonged to private merchants instead of the India Company, it would have shared the very fate it did undergo, and that the sending the property back was not occasioned by any primary consideration but that of preserving their rights and liberties as Englishmen, as the Colonists do contend that no man or body of men can take their property from them, but their own Representatives in Assembly.

How long this bone of contention may last its not easy to determine, but I wish with the utmost degree of good will and sincerity towards Great Britain and the Colonies, that we might to the latest day keep up and preserve that union and happy connection which subsisted before the late unhappy Stamp Act; but who will undertake and adjust the necessary points I cannot tell; but when its considered how extensive the Colonies are; how different in their various jurisdictions, and how unhappy a disunion between the parent state and them must render every thing—I could wish that a Superior Magistrate to that of Governor might be appointed by the King to reside on the continent, whose duty alone it should be to act in Legislation with a certain number of members to be appointed out of and by each House of Assembly, composing an Upper house which body in conjunction with the King's representatives should have power to make laws relative to the General Police of America, this I conceive would have a tendency of checking a turbulent spirit in any one of the Colonies and give England as well as the Colonies a greater security than they can otherwise have.—This may be looked upon by our Superiors at home as granting the Colonists too much, yet I believe some such measure will be found necessary to be adopted.—

About the time this letter will reach thee I suppose the New York tea ship will be returned with her outward bound cargo of teas, as she sailed from hence about a week since, and its said returned Capt Chambers the late Mr of one of the York ships.—The enclosed paper will inform thee relative to the fate of his property (tea) and in some measure justifies my declaration that, had the East India teas been private property it would have undergone the same or a worse fate; should Parliament conclude to pursue compulsive measures, I fear in the end you will have to repent thereof; and ardently wish, both for you and us, that it may not be the case.—The severe attack made upon Dr. Franklin with his conduct on that occasion, has gained him the greatest number of admirers. Its given out, that notwithstanding he has resigned his share in the Ohio Colony, yet when all's finished he is to be reinstated, you best know how this affair stands.—

Since I had the pleasure last of writing thee, some very extraordinary transactions have taken place, founded upon an assertion made by Lord Dunmore that Fort Pitt was within the limits of Virginia, and the Penn family alledging it to be within the line of this province, the proclamation of Jn^o. Conolly in January last first gave the public an account thereof, tho' the Court of Westmoreland having exercised jurisdiction about 100 miles below Penn's line, first gave rise to complaints against them, and caused (its said) L^d Dunmore to give Conolly a commission.—About the time appointed for the meeting at Fort Pitt, one Sinclair a magistrate under Penn, seized J. Conolly and confined him in goal—this caused an express to be sent to L^d Dunmore who returned a very severe and grating answer to our Governour of which the enclosed is a copy, he at the same time wrote to J. Conolly agreeable to the copy herewith.—On Gov^r Penn's receipt of those letters, orders were sent up for the releasing of Conolly from Westmoreland goal, which was done on his parole, that he would appear at the next County Court, which he accordingly did, but attended with near 200 armed men, and then told the Magistrate, that they had no right to hold a Court in that place (about 35 miles on this side of Fort Pitt) as he said it was within the limits of Virginia; and on some altercation seized three of the Magistrates, and has taken them to Fincastle County where (as far as we know) they yet remain; this has caused so great a ferment with our prop^{ty} people, that its said, they are going to send an Embassy to L^d Dunmore on the subject. I have also enclosed a printed advertisement signed by J. Campbell and J. Conolly for the settling of lots and establishing a town on the Ohio below the line of Vandalia, its said a great number of lots will be sold,—Is it possible when our great people come to consider the Annarchy & Confusion that now prevails on our frontiers, and that increasing numbers will multiply the disorders, that they will any longer delay the completion of the Ohio grant,—I confess I cannot unravel the conduct of the Attor^y Gen^l—but should rather fear its sinister, than arising from an apprehension that the boundary is not sufficient and clearly expressed.—

I am just now assured that James Hamilton, W^m Allen with others here and in New York have thro' the intervention of Sir W. J. purchased of the Indians a tract of country containing its supposed 20 Millions of Acres situate about the Lakes in New York Government, and its said they have L^d Mansfields opinion that such a purchase from the Indians is valid.—

I am not able to furnish at this time the vouchers for the £160. but will do it as soon as I can get it from Col. Croghan, the money was sent by us for no other end but to pay for the provisions of those Indians who had been summoned in consequence of your directions, and for want of which Col. Croghan complained to me; If you think right, it may be settled so as to let Bro. Samuel account to us for it when he returns.

I gratefully acknowledge the assurances thou art pleased to give me, relative to the East India Company's consignment

I remain with great respect thy real friend—

To THO^s WALPOLE Esqr.

PHILADA May 17th 1774.

DEAR BROTHER SAML WHARTON,

I wrote thee per packet on the 3rd and per Capt All on the 5th inst: to which please to refer. G. Morgan the other day returned from viewing your land bought of Budd, and informs me its a pity they had not been disposed of some years since, as they have not risen in value, and that they will scarce now pay more than the interest due to John Trell; he also informed me that as J. Trell lived at no great distance from them, he went to him to consult him about their value, and whether it would not be best to dispose of them, and he told me he was exceeding glad that he had seen Trell because he had by his representation put him off from sending a power of Attorney to England against thee. Trell assured him that all his friends in N York had constantly blamed him for not doing it, as they said he would certainly thereby get his money but G. M assured me that he satisfied John Trell of the contrary, and that such a step might have the very contrary effect;—On the whole Trell promised he would wait to see the issue of thy negociations.—It does appear to me that G. M. is abundantly altered in his conduct, perhaps the Doctor's loss of office may convince him that his dependence is more on thee, than before he was willing to believe. We were together 4 days since pressing D. Franks for payment of the award and judgment obtained about 12 months since against him of which he has not paid one shilling though the debt is about £10,000. We told him unless he paid a considerable part this week we should be compelled to take an execution out against him. We settled the other account with Rumsay, Murry & Co and got bonds for between £3 & £4000 payable some time hence and G. Morgan has sold to two other men the remainder of your property at the Illinois for (I think) about £1500 to be paid this year, a considerable sum in silver—&c: remains with A. James then this extensive affair is near wound up. G. M. the other day asked me if I had received any letter from thee acknowledging the receipt of Wilkins papers. He no doubt was desirous of knowing whether his letter had come to hand and what effects it had—but this matter is kept to ourselves.

I have now enclosed thee a proclamation issued by Lord Dunmore, the mention he therein makes of the Indians is only a colour, the whole is levelled against the Penn family, and so very serious an affair it is to them, that they have sent James Tilghman and And^r Allen down to his Lordship to try to mollify him and settle matters, but I have good reason to believe that will not be effected; the Virginians keep possession of Pittsburgh and the copy of the letter Lord Dunmore wrote to J. Penn will satisfy you in what point of light he puts this matter; this letter I enclosed to Thomas Walpole by Capt All, by which opportunity I also sent thee a letter I had received from Capt Callender.—On the 14th inst. the post from N. York brought us the Act of Parliament which so effectually put a stop to the trade and commerce of Boston, Capt Cowper by whom it came had but 26 days passage; thou can scarce conceive the effect it had upon the people, those who wish to have the union with Great Britain continued, were told to declare that it was but just and that the Bostonians ought to pay for the tea, &c: the other party declaimed against it but their topsails were much lowered, and they acknowledged that it is of such a nature, that it would force its own way, and its the general opinion among those I converse with, that, as Hutchison is removed the Bostonians will avail themselves thereof and pay for the tea; I cannot help being of the same sentiments should General Gage but take a proper method at his first landing, which W. hourly expects to hear of, but its apprehended among us that if an Act of Parliament should pass to alter their constitution it will be attended with difficulty to execute the same.

As for the loss which the East India Co suffered in the payment of Capt Ayres freight, it looks to me, that if they would read the 14th and 20th section of their charter, to W^m Penn they will find it very easy to obtain it of J. Penn as he is on the spot, and let him if he chooses make application to our Assembly for a reimburse. By Capt. Cowper letters are received that mention Col. Dalrymple being appointed to the Government of New Jersey—should this be true the Delaware crossing gentlemen must go to the plough, and may rue the day he has treated particulars so unjustly, the report has thrown the family into great trouble.

I have not heard from R. N about the chariot, if its not shipped I could wish it might be to this port on the best terms he could get, and if thou'ld let me know the cost I shall be glad.

A report prevails here that the Dean of Bristol has charged Dr. Franklin with being the original proposer of the Stamp Act—should he prove that it will be a cutting stroke to the Doctor's popularity.

Strahan has never had the manner to acknowledge my last letter informing him of my having secured Reads debt, had it not been for thy recommendation I would not have taken the abundant pains I did, and I cannot but be surprised what has altered his conduct towards me, as no mans letter could be more expressive of regard than his used to be.

Some of our warm politicians talk of again entering into a nonimportation agreement, but this I am satisfied they cannot effect, as most of our merchants are dissatisfied with the former conduct of the Bostonians. Its not improbable that an attempt will be made to get a Congress established of a deputation from all the Assemblies on the continent. A hopeful figure we shall make for it may be said that our house never was so thin of men of understanding as at this time.

Since writing the foregoing part of this letter a person has arrived here and brings us such intelligence from the banks of the Ohio that is of the utmost importance to the future well being of not only the new province, but of all these provinces, and fully shews the absolute necessity of a Civil establishment in that Quarter, indeed if its not soon done, these colonies will be involved in the most distressing war; the account says that one Black and others being together at his house about 70 miles below Fort Pitt saw some Indians on the opposite side of the river, they gave them an invitation to come over to the house which the Indians did, and they soon after killed every one of them, that next day two Indians were at the house of a son of Col. Cressup and told him, that there was war. He said he did not know it, they told him it was, and said they would have his things, on which he pulled pistols out of his pocket and shot one or both of them, that leaving one man in his house, he took to his canoes with several others and proceeded down the river to an Indian settlement, and then killed a number of men, women and children, so that our account say 49 Indians have been massacred, on this occasion. An account was sent up to Fort Pitt when there were two Indian chiefs with their families there, who were for immediately posting off to alarm the nation and spread destruction over our frontiers, but I am told that Col. Croghan has persuaded them to take a belt with them, and is doing all he can to restore peace, but its scarce believed he will effect it, and the people are leaving the frontier. Its needless for me to attempt to say anything more on this tragical and distressing event, sure we are, that if a government is not soon established on those lands, destruction awaits the interior Colonies. I must close this letter by telling thee that all thy connections except father are well. He seems much on the decline and I fear his remaining long with us.

I am thy affec^d Brother,

PHILAD^A May 31, 1774.

DEAR FRIEND,

On the 2nd inst: per Capt All I did myself the pleasure of writing thee, since when thy favor of the 5th April came to hand, for which I very sincerely thank thee.—The Act of Parliament (which it contained) relative to Boston has spread such general uneasyness thro' this continent that I wish the consequences may not be of the most serious kind, and unhappily tend to widen the breach rather than conciliate matters. The enclosed newspaper will give thee some idea of the situation of matters. As soon as the Bostonians heard of their fate it threw them into a deep consternation but they soon called a large town meeting, and dispatched an express to New York and this place with alarming letters, endeavouring to arouse all the Colonies by pointing out that their present suffering was the common cause of America; some of the warm partisans in this city immediately got together, and were for entering into resolves as pointed out from Boston, that we should neither export nor import any commodities to or from Great Britain or the West Indies; this or any other measure was sett aside for that time, and a more general meeting was appointed two evenings after, when about 250 or 300 respectable citizens attended, and after communicating the letters and papers rec^d from Boston and N York two persons very strenuously insisted that the city should enter into the proposals of nonexportation and nonimportation, and that we should aid and support the Bostonians in every respect, as they were now suffering in the American common cause. Several persons who had never before met at any of their meetings thought it quite time to interpose, and not suffer those warm and violent men to carry measures as they pleased, attended that evening, among whom I was one, and we entered the lists and opposed their measures with so much resolution and firmness, that every step which appeared to have a tendency to inflame was entirely set aside; and only two resolves entered into; the first was, that a committee should be appointed to answer the Boston letter, —the second, that the same committee should wait on the Governour and request him to call the Assembly that they might unite with the other Assemblies in a decent but firm application to the Crown, for redress of our complaints, thus after the warmest and greatest expectation by particulars, we were capable of quickly (for the present) putting aside any rash resolutions, and we very sincerely hope, that Governour Gage will be enabled to accommodate matters with that people, and that harmony may again be restored between you and us. It does not remain as any doubt with me, that they will tender the money for the tea; and its now sincerely wished that the advice T. and I. W. gave to our committee, of landing and storing the tea had been adopted. I have enclosed the copy of our committee's letter to the committee of Boston in answer to theirs by the express. The New Yorkers have appointed a committee consisting of 50 very respectable men, to attend to this important affair, being determined to support their rights, and at the same time not to suffer a few rash men to involve their Colony in difficulties, we shall shortly know the sentiments of the Virginians, as their Assembly is sitting, they are certainly a sensible and wealthy people, and the part they shall take in this affair will have great influence on their sister colonies. The committee appointed by the New Jersey Assembly are to meet this day at Brunswick to take the matter into their deliberation; and it does appear to me that a Congress of the Committees from all the Assemblies on this extensive continent will now take place; I believe you'll find that some constitutional plan must and will be attended to, and altho' the fears of some with you may for a time obstruct it, yet I do give it as my sentiments, that nothing I know of can take place which will so long continue you and us as one people, as the establishing an Upper House to consist of deputies for every Assembly to act in Legislation with a Lord Lieutenant.

We cannot get to the bottom of the report, relative to the killing of those Indians on the Ohio, near the Great Kenhawa, but it does appear to us from every circumstance we can collect that Michael Cressup was in that quarter locating a large quantity of lands to be confirmed to him either by the Government of Vandalia or Virginia, and that some altercation happened between his company and some Indians, that he have acted in a manner unwarrantable both to the laws of nature and natives. I wish that this step is taken to hinder the settlement of that Colony, but surely it must have a contrary effect with our King and his ministers, as it cannot be supposed they will suffer their subjects to kill and destroy those Indians, whom we are in friendship with, and this certainly will be the circumstance so long as that extensive frontier is without the jurisdiction of any Colony, which surely it at present is, as no laws made in Virginia is of any effect there.

An account has just reached us that the Charter of Boston is taken away by Act of Parliament, but we as yet know not how matters will settle.

If my Bro: is with you be pleased to inform him his family and connections are well, & that I beg his excuse for not writing at this time being extremely engaged. I remain with the sincerest regard and esteem thy obliged friend

WILLIAM PARSONS.

SURVEYOR GENERAL, AND FOUNDER OF EASTON, PENNSYLVANIA.

BY JOHN W. JORDAN.

IN the Manuscript Department of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania is preserved a letter from Thomas Penn to Governor Hamilton, dated September 8, 1751, in which he states: "Sometime since, I wrote to D^r Graeme and Mr. Peters to lay out some ground in the Forks of the Delaware for a town, which I suppose they have done, or begun to do so. I desire it may be called Easton, from my Lord Pomfret's house, and whenever there is a new county, that shall be called Northampton." William Parsons was selected to lay out the projected town, on the wedge of land between the Lehigh River, Bushkill Creek, and Delaware River, and on May 9, 1750, Surveyor General Nicholas Scull joined him on the site, and with a corps of assistants the survey was soon completed. The county of Northampton was erected under Act of Assembly approved March 11, 1752.

William Parsons was born in England, May 6, 1701, where he learned the trade of shoemaking, and before attaining his majority, came to Pennsylvania. While carrying on his trade in Philadelphia, he devoted all his spare time to study, so that in the course of time, he became acquainted with persons of education, and gained the reputation of "a man having a profound knowledge of mathematics." He became a member of the famous "Junto," the club formed by Franklin, soon after his return from England in 1726, to discuss ethics, politics, and natural philosophy. Franklin mentions Parsons as a Geographer, in a letter of April, 1744. From 1734-1746 he served as librarian of the City Library.

On August 21, 1741, Parsons was appointed Surveyor General of the Province, to succeed Benjamin Eastburn, a position which called his peculiar qualifications into exercise, but the physical hardships connected with it caused him to present his resignation to the Provincial Council, which was accepted June 10, 1748, and Nicholas Scull was appointed in his place. He then became a resident of Lancaster, was commissioned a Justice of the Peace, April 22, 1749, and also filled the offices of Prothonotary, Register, and Recorder, and continued to survey at intervals.

After the erection of Northampton County out of the upper part of Bucks County, Parsons wrote to Secretary Peters, in December of 1752, that he had removed with part of his family, servants, and household effects, and established themselves at the "Point of the Forks"; and here the most eventful years of his life were passed. The first County Court was held at Easton, June 16, 1752, and the first County election for Assemblyman, Sheriff, and three County Commissioners, October 1, of the same year. Parsons served three terms as Justice of the Peace between 1752 and 1757; one term as an Assemblyman, 1753; and filled the offices of Prothonotary, Clerk of the Court, Recorder, and Clerk of the Commissioners. He also acted as the agent of the Proprietaries, looking after their interests, and promoting the sale and settlement of lands. Through his personal efforts, the first building for school and worship was erected by subscription. Parsons contributed £5 and was a Trustee.

During the Indian troubles, Parsons was appointed Major in the Provincial service, in 1755, and the following year assigned to the First Batallion, commanded by Lieut. Col. Conrad Weiser. On December 29, 1755, he was appointed Major in command of all the troops raised in Northampton County, and for a time supervised the defences of that region. At all the Conferences held at Easton prior to 1758, between the Provincial authorities and the Indians, Major Parsons attended in his military capacity, and Governors Morris and Denny were his guests, the last named, however, found that the Major was at the seashore for the benefit of his health. Parsons died at Easton, December 17, 1757, and is justly entitled to the honor given him, "The Father of Easton."

William Parsons, in many respects, was a man of perverse disposition, that marred his relations with people without real occasion. His anti-German position, which he thought the Proprietary interests he represented demanded, was intensified by being outvoted at several elections in the new county, and his prejudices against the Moravian settlements—a prejudice which he tried unsuccessfully to impart to the Proprietors—all injured his popularity. His old associate Nicholas Scull said of him: "Parsons is a man that is not apt to forget any old differences." The first election held in the new county, October 1, 1752, resulted in the election of James Burnside as first Assemblyman, he being a Moravian living near Bethlehem, and representing the elements which Parsons spoke of as the Quaker Party at variance with the Proprietary interests. At the election of 1753, he was successful, but in 1754 and 1755, two Moravians, James Burnside and William Edmonds, were again elected.

Later his prejudices against the Moravians changed, and his attitude became friendly; he embraced the evangelical faith; and as his end drew near, he desired to have all his family gathered around him, but in that pathetic hour, it was too late for his wife to come from Philadelphia. He died December 17, 1757, and at his request a simple funeral service was conducted by his son-in-law, the Rev. Jacob Rogers, of the Moravian Church.

The substantial stone house which Parsons built as his second residence in Easton, is still standing at the northeast corner of Fourth and Ferry streets. After his death it was occupied by George Taylor, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, who died there in 1781. It is now the property of the George Taylor Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, who have restored it and placed a memorial tablet on its wall.

It so happened, that the year and month—May, 1901—which marked the bi-centennial anniversary of Parsons' birth, brought the announcement that the spot where his remains rested on Mount Jefferson was to be sold for a site of a free library, a more pretentious undertaking than the first institution in the interest of popular education which he succeeded in erecting at Easton. His remains were not disturbed, and are marked by an appropriate memorial.

The will of William Parsons is dated December 15, 1757 (two days prior to his death), in which he bequeaths to the children of his sisters Mary and Sarah £50 each; to his son-in-law James Worrell his watch and £40, with which he is "to make up and decorate the graves and tombs of my late dear mother," and his own children, Robert, Susannah, and Hannah; to his nephew, Dr. Stephen Woolley, £100; to his niece, Rebecca Woolley, £20, for the great care and attention shown him; to his niece Elizabeth Cummins, £50; to a servant girl, Elizabeth Kristman, £20; to the "Poor Scholars of the Academy of Philadelphia," £200; and the residue of his estate to his wife during her life, and after her death to their three children. His executors were his "very good friends" William Coleman, and Evan Morgan of Philadelphia, and Timothy Horsfield of Bethlehem.

William Parsons was married at Philadelphia in 1722, to Johanna Christina Zeidig, born May, 1699, a daughter of John Julius Zeidig and Salome Margaret Sprogel, a daughter of the Rev. John Henry Sprogel, a widely known clergyman and educator of Quedlinburg, in the Saxon province of Prussia. A sister was the wife of the Rev. Gottfried Arnold, church historian, a professor at the University of Giessen, and a man of great learning. Two of her brothers were John Henry Sprogel and Ludwig Christian Sprogel, names familiar to the students of early Pennsylvania history, with one of whom Miss Zeidig came to Philadelphia, where she first affiliated with the Dunkards under Alexander Mack. Parsons, about the date of his marriage, was in nominal connection with the Lutheran Church, but was so absorbed in studies and plans in the direction of his personal inclinations and ambitions, that he had no sympathy with the fervent piety of his German wife, and at times was indifferent and harsh towards her. She withdrew from all religious associations and became a Separatist, and next found satisfaction in a kind of Agnosticism. She next came in contact with certain "French Prophets," who gave her books to read, in which she thought that she had found light. These enthusiasts are not commonly mentioned among the sects which presented such a motley array in Pennsylvania in those days. When Whitefield visited Philadelphia she attended his preaching, and when the Moravian evangelists came, she was constantly at their services. To this her husband objected, and forbade his children to attend their meetings; and when his wife seemed disposed to do so nevertheless, he threatened to forsake her, if she did not follow his wishes. In 1745, Parsons really carried his threat into execution and the couple were never re-united. Leaving his wife in Philadelphia, he took his two youngest daughters to the Swatara, where he owned a tract of land, but later he yielded to their wishes and permitted them to return for awhile to their mother. In 1751 she was admitted to membership in the Moravian Church, and in 1769, removed to Bethlehem, where she died March 10, 1773. Six children were born to them:

Susanna, who died unmarried, Oct. 17, 1746.

Robert, who died April 27, 1746.

Hannah, who married James Worrall, and died Jan. 20, 1753.

Ann Mary, married, March 31, 1756, the Rev. Jacob Rogers. He had been a clergyman of the Church of England, but joined the Moravian Church at Bedford o. E. in 1741. She died at Dobbs' Parish, North Carolina, where her husband was stationed, July 19, 1759. They had issue:

Johanna Salome, born Dec. 10, 1759; died Sept. 14, 1769.

Johanna Grace, born Nov. 28, 1736, was named after her grandmother, Grace Parsons. She married at Bethlehem, July 29, 1758, Nicholas Garrison, Jr., son of Capt. Nicholas Garrison, of Staten Island, New York, who possessed some skill in drawing and sketching, and executed several noted views of the Moravian settlements, which are much sought after by collectors. In 1762 they removed to Philadelphia, where Garrison engaged in business on Race Street. Just before the occupation of the city by Howe's army, they fled to Oldman's Creek, New Jersey, where they remained until the following summer. After 1780, they became residents of Berks County. They had issue:

John Nicholas, born Oct. 26, 1760.

Frederick.

Juliana Sarah, born at Philadelphia, Nov. 19, 1738; married, Oct. 14, 1766, Timothy Horsfield, Jr., son of Justice Timothy Horsfield, of Bethlehem. He died April 11, 1789, and she, Jan. 17, 1808. They had issue:

Timothy, died young.

William, born 1770; died Feb. 8, 1845. Married Rebecca Weiss, daughter of Col. Jacob Weiss, the founder of Weissport, Carbon County; and died Feb. 14, 1845. Descendants living.

Thomas, born May 12, 1773; died in London, England, July 24, 1859. He received his early education in the Moravian schools at Bethlehem and Nazareth; pursued a course in pharmacy with Dr. Otto of Bethlehem, devoting special attention also to botany; and later attended lectures at the University of Pennsylvania, where he took his degree of M.D. in 1798. Some years afterwards he went to England, and thence to the East Indies in the service of the East India Company. He attained a reputation in scientific circles, both as a practitioner and as an author. His extensive researches as a naturalist, particularly on the island of Java, are known through his Zoological Researches in Java, 1821-1824; Lepidopterous Insects; and Plantæ Javanicæ Rariores. He was the first librarian of the East India House in London. He had issue; a son, Charles Cooper Horsfield, and a daughter.

The "Parson Papers" in the Manuscript Department of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania comprise a large and valuable correspondence, and surveys; his Day Book, 1723-1727 (shoe and slipper making); Index to Surveys made in 1730; Field Book, 1734; Receipt Book, 1738-1749; Common Place Book, 1741.

LETTER OF JAMES LOGAN TO HANNAH PENN.

[The following interesting letter of James Logan to Hannah Penn is in the Logan Papers, Manuscript Department of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.]

PHILAD^{IA} 1. 11^{mo} 172⁵/₆

HONOURED MISTRESS,

Tho I have wrote very largely to thy ffamily of late by sundry Conveyances, yet I cannot lett this opportunity pass without addressing thee in particular in regard to y^e Transactions of the last year in thy Province, on which I must beg leave to observe That notwithstanding I have led a Life, for about 25 years past fill'd wth a continued Series of anxiety & trouble on acco^t of yo^r affairs (while my own, by which I principally gett my Living flow'd as smoothly and easily as most other mens) yet nothing ever more deeply affected me, than the unhappy Success of those Instructions I brought over from thee to W^m Keith, for w^{ch} I well know I am in no small measure accountable to you and I have only this to say for my self that the fatal step was wholly owing to my Weakness in not believing after so long an Experience of Mankind there could be any of the Species found bearing y^e Character of a Gentleman, & endued with but a common share of good sense, who could be so insensible to all the Obligations of Duty, as to make the use of them that S^r Wm. has done of these rational and justifiable Ord^{rs} another wrong Step, I doubt was my writing the Memorial which I did not then expect to see published, for that gave the Gov^r and D. Ll. a handle to work up to themselves a kind of Merit among the weaker Sort that is the greater number of the People. To the Govern^{rs} answer to that Memorial I drew up a Reply w^{ch} I presented to the assembly but would not suffer it to be printed, nor did I design to take further notice of D. Ll's till drove to it by the uses he made of his, as well as by the persuasions of your best friends who insisted on it as my Duty. These at length produced the Antidote which has generally given the well affected full Satisfaction. A dozen of them only were printed off (but with too many Errors) the night before Annis sailed. In y^e last page I made some alterations but hesitated near 2 months longer about their Publication being then unseasonable, besides that I was really ashamed of y^e Contest as a Reproach both to the Province and the Profession. But D. Ll's Paper being spread all over the Countrey had done much mischief gott him into y^e Assembly (is our further Scandal) and perverted the Understanding of many, who from my silence accounted it unanswerable. I therefore sent mine abroad & a few dayes after recv'd a Lett^r from the Gov^r intended by him for the Press w^{ch} it has since pass'd. You will judge of it there by y^e Copies now sent. He is privately soliciting (I find) to have the Governm^t of New Jersey under Coll. Burnett to which his fine Syllogisen if presented to the Ministry, will not I believe very much recommend him. I have noted some of its Errors and with these I send a Copy or two of the Antidote as it was published which I design shall be the last of that kind from me that shall ever see the light.

I hear further from Engl^d that the E. of Southerl^d is renewing his application for our Lower Counties w^{ch} tis believed is owing to your Division and astonishing neglect of your own affairs which will naturally lead People to believe there is no absurdity in conveying them into other hands. For my own part I am overwhelm'd with the thoughts of them, while I see nothing but trouble following trouble, as Waves roll after waves in the Sea, the cause of all which is plain is owing to those fatal Mistakes in the Beginning. In taking a Title at first to those Counties that was not legal and then not perfecting it while practicable. In not fixing the Line with the L. Baltimore when it might easily be done and in heaping things called Privileges on a People who neither know how to use them, nor how to be grateful for them. I must however here note the Consequence of those Counties being alienated from your family especially by an absolute Grant of the Interest without regard to the Grants formerly made viz. The Trade of the Province will sink, It will create inextricable difficulties in Answering the Peoples Demands for what they formerly paid in their Wrong, as it will then be called, and your Receivers when molested must come again upon you for Satisfaction & finally it will fix an Indelible Reproach &c. I can scarce however believe it possible that it should be brought to such an Extremity. The Courts are not to be depended on without Money and Interest. The address from the Assembly of those Counties to our present Gov^r immediately after his first Accession, if properly applied may very much Strengthen you. You have the Original Compleat and I hear enclose a Copy of it. His Behaviour in that affair (which was press'd on principally by two or three of y^e Council) gave cause to suspect what afterw^{ds} more fully appear'd, viz his holding with the hound & running with the hare, & now tis probable he is at y^e bottom or in concert wth the other in his motions. Two things I desire may be remembred viz. that New Castle and a Circle of 12 miles round it was granted by the D. of York absolutely without any other Reservation than (I think) a Crown piece or 5 shills. Yearly, ffor all y^e Rest below half y^e Rents & Profits were reserved to the Duke & at least one half of them is now due in Arrears so that the Bargain in that part might without refunding be complied with. What else relates to the Title you have formerly had it from me very largely.

Money I know is wanting to bring on a Settlem^t of those affairs (I speak not of your family Dispute) to gett which, since it equally affects both sides, If you would joyntly agree in an Authentic Power to raise and remit some for that particular purpose, You might, tho' with a disadvantageous exchange, have sufficient to carry on what is to be done in that way.

Our Assembly last month granted the Govern^r 400 lb. and being to meet again next week he expects (& will labour hard for it) to prevail on them for the usual yearly allowance. They have drawn up two addresses, which goe home by this Vessel, One to the King to thank him for His Sanction to our late Affirmation Act. It is to be sent I suppose to Joshua Gee & Jos: Wyeth who tis probable will scarce give themselves much trouble about it. The other is for your Family in behalf of S^r William who has been at great pains to obtain Recommendations. After his ill success with the last Assembly who could never be prevailed on to say one word in his favour He applied last 7th moth to our Yearly Meeting in this place for a Certificate, but failing of that also. You will find by the inclosed votes how the House was drove to speak for him. This address was at first intended for Springet only, but they soon discovered their Mistake & therefore send it to both, I have never yet seen it.

I have so often spoke & have said so much of the extream Confusion All Proprietary affairs are & must be in till the ffamily Dispute is ended & proper Measures are taken thereupon that I shall not attempt to add any thing here. We expect another Govern^r but that will not avail much in this case. Tis a final and absolute settlem^t of the Right that is wanted, and the Presence of the Proprietary himself to direct how his Lands shall be disposed of, ffor I doubt not but there are at this time near a hund^d thous^d Acres possess'd by persons who resolutely sitt down and improve without any manner of Right or Pretence to it. Some, tis true have had a permission to prevent worse from coming into the place, yet most of them are so poor that they have nothing to pay with, & therefore will expect or endeavour to be allow'd as Renters. An unruly sort of Palatines have by encouragem^t from the Gov^r entred upon (as I formerly mentioned) about 20 thous^d Acres in one Tract, the best that was left undisposed of in his Province and how they are to be dealt with is beyond my skill to judge nor can it be to any purpose to treat with them, till Terms can be absolutely proposed and Titles be made to them, but I question whether this ought to be done, for ten thous^d acres were laid out there by young Rees Thomas (without any authority tis true) for his Uncle Wm. Aubrey in Right of Latitia's Legacy in the Will which he has sold at a great price to a Member of Parlm^t who expects to enjoy it there. But it would be endless to enter into the Detail of these things, I shall therefore only proceed to say That being quite tired with the perplexities arising from y^c Unsettled State of your affairs and the Embarassment of the Powers of Governm^t by the Will I have for some years past believed & have mentioned it in two Letters to thy Uncle that as it would be for the Peace, so it might be for the Interest of thy family to compound with Springet for a handsome Sum, for the whole Interest here and in my last to thy Son was particular on that head, but lest I should be thought partial, I must here observe that some Lands w^{ch} lately was thought would scarce ever be accounted worth taking up, are now, notwithstanding their Rocks and Hills of some value for the wood to make Charcoal for the Ironworks which within these last 12 Months are in divers places vigorously carrying on and may beyond expectation become an advantageous Improvem^t of this Country. Inquiring diligently of Jos. ffarmer who first sett the Work on Northeast on foot, he represented the Charge of a Furnace & finishing the first Blast with the fforges to be 12000^{ks} sterl, but tis now believ'd it may be done with about a third of the Money. Divers Companies are now going on with them, and as the Countrey abounds wth ore, we might with the conveniency of Water Carriage in time almost Supply Engl^d with Iron. But alas we have but one side of but one River that is navigable. We may however have some advantages of making Returns more easily by that method if the Success proves answerable to the Vast Charge. This I thought necessary to hint here, I mentioned also my design to take over my family next ffall to Bristol but know not how my Wifes Resolution may hold out. She brought me a Son the 12th of Nov^{br} last named Charles after her father & brother, and presents her most hearty Respects to thee. Hannah Hill has long kept her bed through a heavy Indisposition, but tis hoped She is recovering.

One thing deserving your Notice I had omitted to remark on the head of the Lower Counties w^{ch} is that the Gov^r having while I was absent granted a Charter of Incorporation to the City of Newcastle (as tis now called) of w^{ch} you were then informed by R. Hill and I. Norris, the notion propagated among the People was that these Counties belong'd solely to the King, for there was not the least notice taken or mention made of y^e Propriet^r in that Charter, and all friends were excluded by it. Soon after a Dispute arose about the Boundaries of Newcastle and Chester Counties. Those of the Province insisted on the Circular Line of 12 miles from Newcastle run in 1701 by the Proprietors Ord^r but others urged that Newcastle now (by their Charter) extended to 5 miles distance from y^e Town and therefore that these 12 miles should be measured from that Extent which would take in a Ring of 5 miles more out of the Province and throw even the Town of Chester into Newcastle County, of w^{ch} Endeavours are now used to deprive you. That this was a form'd Design at that time and that it was resolved to quarrel with you and therefore with me in[~]course I think is not to be doubted.

15th 12^{mo.} The foregoing having been wrote above Six weeks since, has by y^e Shutting up of our River (now opening again) lain till this time for a Conveyance and I must here add from y^e experience of this Winter, that I find the severe effects of that cruel Distemper (w^{ch} so violently seized my head soon after my last arrival) to a degree that nothing but a retirem^t from business will preserve me capable of being much longer useful to my family of w^{ch} my wife is so sensible that nothing short of it will make her easie. If any Lines however are to be run on the Settlem^t with Maryl^d you may I hope depend on my assistance. That you may finish that and all your affairs to Satisfaction & once come to know y^e comforts of Peace and a quiet Establishm^t is the most earnest Desire of

Thy faithful friend & Servant

SIR :—

Agreeable to the Orders you Yesterday rec^d you will proceed to Wyoming on the Susquehannah River with the Regiment under your Immediate Command, Colonel Armands, & Captⁿ Schotts Corps, the former is commanded at present by a Major Lomaign and the latter by Captⁿ Selin, these Corps will join you at or before you reach Col. Strouds at Fort Penn, as you will see by their Orders left open for your perusal. & which you will have delivered— you must take with you from here all the flour now left in store and Beef sufficient to carry the Detachment thro' to Wyoming, you will receive additional supply of Flour at Col. Strouds, take care that each Corps takes with them the Provisions they have respectively drawn, you will receive a few Camp Kettles for the Detachment at Colonel Stroud's and may draw 20 Axes for your Regiment, 6 for Armands, & 3 for Schott here. It will take you four days from Col. Strouds to Wyoming, you will therefore regulate your Provision accordingly. Capt. Alex^r Patterson A.D.QMG will Provide you with a guide from Fort Penn, and an Express to send to Col. Zebulon Butler commanding at Wyoming with notice of your approach from Fort Penn you will march to Lardners thence to an Incamping Place in what is Commonly cal'd the great Swamp, the third day to Bullocks which is within five miles of Wyoming Garrison where for the present you will put yourself under Col. Butlers directions.

I am thus Particular as It will be necessary to make easie Marches in order to reconnoitre the Country well, & examine every thicket & hollow way or Swamp before you enter it, which I desire you may be very Particular in doing, to prevent being Surprised, led into an Ambuscade, or attack'd without previous knowledge of the Enemys being near, you will be particularly Attentive to keep the Body of the Troops Compact, Suffer no stragler on Any account, keep a proper advance & Rear Guard, tho' not at too great a distance, and also small parties on your Flanks observing the same Caution. Should any Enemy appear. you must take care not to advance on them precipitately before you know their numbers, or untill you have sufficiently extended your front to prevent being out Flanked, by a Steddy adherence to the Above directions you will have little danger to apprehend, double your attention as you approach the Fort, as the badness of the Roads at present & the Scarcity of horses will prevent your carrying your heavy Baggage, you must leave it at Fort Penn with a Guard untill you have a more favourable opportunity.

Relying much on your Steddyness, Industry Zeal & Activity. I wish you a good March, & am sir

EDW. HAND.

Col: ZEBULON BUTLER.

DEAR GENERAL,

Just this moment a party of Indians on the opposite side of the River from us kill'd a family of people who lived about one mile from this, but unknown to me, & burnd the House I immediately sent a party after them, they found tho' dead lying scalp'd two men, one woman & 2 Children, from their tracts it is that there is Better than 30 of them & we are not able to send a sufficient party after them, if some men where to come from Wyoming on that side the River with a good guide they might be met with, the way the tracts went, makes me believe the intend making a Stroke on Cattawissey. I have sent a Runner to give them intelligence as a number of Inhabitants live there, they have taken some Horses from this family. I believe the saw the Guard that left us this morning with the Boats, as it was soon after that they done the Mischief.

I wish we were strong enough to send out a strong party, I would fain think I could intercept them in their marches.

DEAR SIR:—

I am favor'd with your second Letter of this date.

Be assured Sir there is nothing I more earnestly wish for than a friendly intercourse with every officer in the Army I have the Honor to serve in, yet I cannot submit to indignities from Col^o Lutterloh or any other person. I have as often as any officer in the Service put up with inconveniences when necessary, and mean to do so still. I believe you misapprehend the Spirit of the order of the 28th it does not in my opinion authorize Col^o Lutterloh's depriving me of what I am justly entitled to, especially as he has pasturage elsewhere equally near your Quarters, for instance Mr. Beekman's Large Pasture.

I am just favoured by the rec^t of your note of this date, don't wish to be possessed of any article that I am not entitled to, or more than I want, as Brigad^r I am entitled to a Marque, there must also be one to Issue Orders as I look upon it also that the Gentlemen of the Office should have one to cover them, but if that be not the case, any person better entitled to one shall have it.

There is no person in the Army has more use for their horses, or wants them nearer hand than myself, the pasture I now have is convenient & no more than I want, no person shall occupy it except by order of the Commander in Chief, it would not be more than compliance to have informed me previous to freeing my Guard.

At a Meeting of sundry Officers of the late Penn^a Line held at the City Tavern in Philad^a the 24th of April 1784 pursuant to Public notice given Colonel Francis Johnston in the Chair.

Whereas the United States in Congress assembled did on the 3rd day of Nov.^r 1783 Resolve "That the Pay Master General deposit in the hands of the Regimental Agents the Certificates for the arrears of pay due to the Officers and Soldiers of the respective Lines to be by them delivered to the individuals to whom they belong, or deposited for their benefit as the Supreme Executive Power of the State to which the respective Agents belong shall direct."

And Whereas in the present dispersed state of the late Pennsylvania Line it is found impracticable to appoint Regimental Agents as directed by the above Resolution Nevertheless it being absolutely necessary to appoint some person or persons to receive from the Pay Master General the Certificates of pay Ac^a due to the said Line and distribute or deposit the same agreeably to the said Resolve I do therefore hereby Certify that Major Thomas B. Bowen and Captain Ercurius Beatty are unanimously elected

Agents for the purposes aforesaid: And that it is the desire of the said Meeting of Officers that the said agents do wait on the Supreme Executive Council as well for their confirmation of the said appointment as for their directions concerning the Execution of the Trust reposed in them.

Given under my hand this 24th day of April 1784.

SIR :—

As it may be possible I cant accompany you from Wyoming to Tioga, I thought by giving you in writing wat Places are propper for Encampm^{ts} on your March might be of some use. They are as follows Vizt. from—Wyoming to the mouth of Lahawanack is good Road Both sides of the River but best on the west side, opposite the mouth of Lahawanack is a pretty Island for the Boatmen & Cannoes to lay very Safe at, at this Place you will I think Encamp the first night.

The second days march will be over a mountain And your Ground for Encampment will be at a place cal'd Quilutimack, where you will find an old Indian field & Good Water & the Ruins of a settlement made by our People.

The next day will with great ease carry you to Tankhanack where you will find plenty of good Grass, a fine stream of water & good ground to Encamp on, with open Woods North side of the Creek.

The next day if possible I would get as far as the place on which one Frederick Vanderlip lately dwelt here you will find Good Ground to Encamp on & Good Water—but if you cant get so far you will stop at the mouth of Mashapen, which is not a very good place as it is Scarce of Grass.

The next day will bring you to Wyaloosing and this days march will require particular attention as the Ground is favorable for the Enemy to contend, between Vanderlips & the mouth of Tuscarora Creek is a remarkable ridge of Hills & a very narrow Pass, at Tuscarora Creek the Country opens, & caution will be necessary in ascending the Hill between Tuscarora Hill & Wyaloosing.

I think it Probable you will Halt at Wyaloosing one day or two, and that your first days march from there will carry you to a place Called Weesangtring or Rush meadow Creek here you will find plenty of Good food & Good Water & open Ground to encamp on.

The next day will bring you to Towandani where you will find plenty of Good Grass & Good Ground.

The next day will bring you to Sheshequenung a place of Plenty & safe Encampment, after you cross the River but Crossing will require a little Attention.

From Sheshequenung to Tioga is in part good & part Bad ground to march over there is a Hill on the way but at Queen Esters palace at Tioga you will find a long body of Cleared bottom & Grass in Abundance.

Col. Zebulon Butler of Regg's Reg^t will be a proper person to give you information of the Grounds over which you are to march, there is a New England Lad named Sam^l Gray at Brinker's Mills that knows that Country very well & will readily go with you I believe you will find him a Trusty fellow

I am & c^a

A Description of the Road from Weyoming to Wyelusing and the distance from one Stage to another.

From Weyoming to Lackawaney ten miles the road tollerable good passable for any kind of Carriages from thence to Gardners 3 miles the road good except one mile where the road goes between the End of a Mountain and the River but passable for pack-horses when the river is low from thence to Wyelutimunk 4 miles the road good. Except one mile where the road goes between the end of a Mountain and the River but passable at all seasons of the year from thence to Tankamack 10 miles the road tollerable good from thence to Merhoping 12 miles the road tollerable good except one bad mile about 3 miles from Tankamcock where the road leaves the river from thence to Vanderlisst 4 miles the road good from thence to Depews 3 Miles the road good except half a mile where the road goes between the end of a Mountain the River which is passable at all seasons of the Year from thence to Wychwink 7 miles the road good. The whole distance 53 Miles.

JAMES LOGAN'S OPINION ON CERTAIN LAND TITLES IN PENNSYLVANIA, 1734.

Being desired to give my Sentim^{ts} on the case of Anne Brown, Daughter to Coll. William Markham as she has presented it to our Proprietor Thomas Penn Esq. I shall here give what I know of that affair being probably better acquainted with it than any other person now living with all the Truth and exactness in my power.

Coll Markhams name being by some means entred amongst the List of the first Purchasers of Lands in this Province for y^e quantity of five thousand acres tho I could never learn that he had any Grant by Deeds as all other Purchasers had presuming on that while he was Secretary of the Province to cause Some Tracts of Lands in the Countrey and Lotts in the City to be survey'd to him. The late Proprietor coming over in the year 1699 with whom I also at the same time came as his Secretary, being offended with that Gentleman for some part of his Conduct as Govern^r which he then was, objected also to him that he had presumed to make those surveys without any right, and therefore declared them void.

Jacob Regnier with whom I had an intimate acquaintance having married Govern^r Markham's wife's daughter in his frequent journeys between New York & Maryl^d applied to me to know whether on a Grant to him from his father in law he might not have some of that Land, I told him the case, and so it lay for many years after.

One Theodore Colby Nephew to Govern^r Markhams' Widow upon some encouragem^t from his Aunt came over to her from London about the year 1717 or 1718 to New York, where great notice was taken of him for his Integrity and some other qualities by Brigadier Hunter then Govern^r of New York who was known to express a particular friendship for me. He in discourse with T. Colby found y^e Gent was under some disappointm^{ts} in his expectations from his Aunt, but understood that she had offered him between 2 & 3 thous^d acres of the Land her deceased husband had Claimed in Pensilv^{ia} which might be of some value to him if he could procure it. The Brigadier hereupon as the Widow expected made use of his Interest with me while I was at N. York on some public business in y^e Month of May & June, 1719 & to try to obtain a Grant of the Land for him. I answered as I could not find Coll. Markham ever had any Right it was not in mine or our Commission^{rs} Power to give the Land and if he ever obtain'd it, it must be by a Grant directly from the Proprietor's Heirs or Exet. The Brigadier being then extreamly afflicted with y^e Sciatica had some thought of taking a Voyage to Britain to try for a Cure & desired that in case he went I would give him a Lett to the Exec^{rs} in Colby's favour and he would himself

Sollicite it I desired to See the Right that he claim'd by, upon w^{ch} before I left N. York T. Colby produced some an Authentic Deed from his Aunt for 2400 Acres of it, and at the Same time a Copy of it Sign'd as I remember by the Same Witnesses that had sign'd the Original. He also gave me a Petition to the Commissioners which he begg'd me to lay before them in case the Brigadier should not embark for England. But he did embark the following July and forwarded my Lett^r as directed. Yet nothing was done in it till Colby in the year 1722 went over himself and then waiting on M^{rs} Penn with a Lett^r from the Brigadier, he procured her Letter to me of ye 25th of february 172³. directing that Theod. Colby should have the sd 2400 Acres of Land & also that the Remaind^r of the 5000 Acres should be granted to such as had the right of claim under W^m Markham w^{ch} Lett^r I have, he also obtain'd a Duplicate of it directed to y^e Widow Markham that by vertue of those who claim'd the Remaind^r might obtain it Theod. Colby inclosing this Lett^r to me in his own of the 8 March following viz 172³ desired I would help him in the disposal of the Land, an opportunity for Engl^d presenting very soon after my Receipt of it I told him I design'd to embark myself for Engl^d the Same Summer accordingly I did embark and arriv'd in London ye Nov^{er} following where T. Colby soon met me & earnestly press'd me to buy his Land but he was in so weak a State of health that he appear'd to me unfit for business & his distemper grew so fast on him that the next Spring it terminated in Distraction w^{ch} brought him up to one of those houses provided for persons in that Condition where not long after he ended his Life.

James Steel being at N. York in the year 1726 he purchased of the Widow Brown and her Daughter 2000 Acres of the Remainder of Coll. Markham's for w^{ch} on his Return he produced to the Comm^{er} her Daughter Joannah's Deed as also that other Duplicate of M^{rs} Penn's own Lett^r to make good the claim, and he then told me the Widow had given him an Instruction where Theod. Colby's heirs might be found in Lond if he had any Inclination to purchase his Land. Accordingly going over himself to Engl^d in 1729 he made the Purchase.

It therefore appears to me somewhat Surprizing how the Widow Brown could possibly be persuaded to represent her case as She calls it in a Manner so inconsistent with common Justice and in some part with her own knowledge, but probably she knew not the whole. The Widow Markham's Original Deed to her Nephew w^{ch} as I have said was produced to me it seems is not now to be found.

Theod. Colby as appears by his Lett^{rs} to me of w^{ch} I have Several, when he left New York in 1722 fully intended to return thither within one year, & therefore probably not expecting an opp^{ty} of disposing of the Land in Engl^d if he should obtain it, for w^{ch} he depended on my Lett^r to Mrs. Penn and not on his Deed from his Aunt, he might probably I say leave the Deed in N. York and if so some there might be the most capable of accounting for it. But Coll Markham had no Deeds and the Grant depends wholly on Mrs. Penns Lett^r which expressly gives those 2400 Acres to Theodor Colby therefore if there never had been a Deed to him from his Aunt the Right from him is good. But that there truly was such a Deed of which I had and brought with me a true Copy still in being I am an Evidence which I here certify under my hand this 25th of June 1734.

LETTER OF JOSEPH WATSON TO THOMAS & JOSEPH WHARTON, 1763.—

MESS^{rs} THOMAS & JOSEPH WHARTON,
 GENTLEMEN.

I was favoured with your very obliging Letter of the 7th of April To which you wou'd have Received an Answer long before this but that I hoped by delaying I shou'd be enabled to write still more to your satisfaction relative to several particulars you were desirous of being made acquainted with & which wou'd have given me great satisfaction to have communicated to you.

A Survey of the increase of the Numbers of People & Value of Lands of our Frontier and adjacent Counties for some years past I thought might be both Useful and interesting. A Gentleman well qualified for the Purpose from his having successively fill'd a Variety of Public Posts in one of the Remote Counties engaged to furnish me with all the materials necessary. I make no doubt he has them in readiness. But of Late the Savages have cutt off almost all Communications between the back Inhabitants and us.

The Deeds for the Land upon Potomack in Frederick County I will send to you by the first good Opportunity after I have been in that County (being there lodg'd in the Clerk's Office), which I expect will be in a Week or ten Days. If the Indians will give me Leave.

The 400 Acres of Land Adjoining the Lands for which you have Deeds already would have been Survey'd and deeded before this Time but through a Neglect of the Surveyors to take from the Offic Books the Courses of the pre survey'd Tracts. I think there is no Sort of Doubt of its being done next Winter sooner I'm Apprehensive it cannot be done with Safety however I shall take particular care by regularly renewing the Warrant to prevent its falling into the Hands of any Person else.

You may Assure yourselves, My much valued Friends! that I will neglect nothing in my Power that may redound to your advantage. If the detestable Savages had not prevented us you wou'd have had the Lands you requested taken up for you before this Time.

But as Col^o W Castin (The Proprietors Agent) has determined Not to receive any Entries or grant any Warrants for these as yet untouched Lands Before He has first of all survey'd for himself 10,000 Acres He intended it last Spring & I was to have been of the Party. (If the Indians had not interposed) After having done which he designed to give leave to any Person asking it to make 2 Entries of 400 or 500 acres each. I should Necessarily have had the first Chance and depend upon it my worthy Friends wou'd not have been forgot. I expect we shall get it done next Winter if the Season is att all Favourable.

I was going to send you (unconsiderately) a Paltry Survey of Lord Fairfax's Grant commonly called the Northern Neck But as it was by no means worth your paying postage for, I Resolved to postpone it till I wou'd meet with a better. The Mapmaker had not even so much as taken Notice of the South Branch of Potomack or as the Indians call it the great Wappacomo. Though it is much longer & larger River than the North Branch before their Conflux. Nor has he mentioned Patterson's Creek so famous for its fine Lands & the great Extent of Country it runs through.

Lord Fairfax promis'd to send me a large & well finished one But I imagine he has forgot it

Col^o George Washington tells me that you will Receive more Satisfaction from Jeffersons & Fry's Map of Virginia than from any other it is probable you may have of them in Philadelphia If there had been any Here I wou'd have contrived you one.

Whatever Relates to the Lands I purchas'd for you since I had the Pleasure of seeing you will be mentioned in my Letter to Mr. Joseph Wharton.

A good part of the Wines turn'd out very indifferently in Spite of good Cellars and all the Pains I cou'd take, They were not to be prevented from becoming Sour.

The Pipe of Wine I had from Mr. Tho^s Wharton though I cannot say it is prick^d yet neither its Flavour or Colour by any Means Please. I have not been able to sell it for near what it cost me. Perhaps it may have been used Ill on Board the Vessel.

Pray let me be remembered in the most respectful manner to Both your Ladies & believe me to be with great Affection and Esteem

LETTER OF JOHN HUGHES TO THOMAS WHARTON, 1769.—

UPPER MERRION, June 7th 1769.

SIR—

I have now waited a long Time expecting that a little cool Reflection would bring you to Reason and Justice, I therefore once more call upon you by the Bearer my Son John to pay your Note of Hand. And I also request that you will by Letter delivered him let me know when you will pay it, and also what Time I shall call to leave the Article sign'd relative to the Residuary Sum that may become due, there being already a Part of the Land sold and the Money or at least the Bonds for my Part now due to me. If my Son did not take you wrong, you once express'd a Pleasure in having it in your Power to expose me in Open Court. If Justice is not done me immediately on the Receipt of this, I will apply to the Meeting for it, and if that proves ineffectual the Law shall take Place. It is no pleasure to me to expose you or any of my former Friends But if you oblige me to it, tis not my Fault. Therefore please to remember that you gave Mr. Reed a Letter in which you say you are Ready to execute the Article if I would execute the Release, I did the latter, & if the former is refused or further delayed, I shall not only be justified in saying but will publicly declare that the Release afores^d was basely and surreptitiously obtain'd by you. I have neither injured you nor yours in any Thing whatsoever & therefore am not fearful of any Thing you can justly charge me with, But perhaps it may not be amiss in you to recollect that you have said some Things of me that you cannot justify by any means therefore if Recrimination is brought forward it shall be your own Act, and not mine.

JUNE 29TH, 1764.

Respected Friend I've Sent thee bran
As Neat & Clean as any Man
I've took Great Pains for fear of Loss to thee in foundering of thy Horse
It's Ground With Bur. and Ground so nice it Looks as t'was bolted twice But that's Nomatter Since it's Such thy Man Can't ever feed tomuch
I mean Can't founder if he wou'd
I've took Such pains to Make it Good.
Nor will it Ever Dust his Cloaths
Nor Give thy horse a Mealy Nose
And further in its praise I'le Say t'will Never Make him Runaway but if on this alone he's fed a Child may hold him with a thread feed freely then Nor be in Doubt I'le send thee More when this is out.

It is 30 bushells I have sent thee, and Notwithstanding the Labour & Care I have taken to oblige thee which the bran itself will testify to any one Who is a Judge I have Charged only 15 pr. bushell—Lower then Can Well be aforded ; but I shall not Regard that as it is to a friend—it May appear to thee perhaps that I have Said Rather tomuch in praise of the bran yet upon Examination I think it will appear [illegible] for if it Don't fully answer the Discription I have Given it I should Not be unwilling to make some abatement in price—this from thy Most Respectfull & Sincere friend

W^M AUBREY.

1701. The Man^r of Fleming laid out in 1701 & surveyed by Henry Hollingsworth in 1707 was 15000 acres of Land as appears by ye Pattend for which I allowed J: Logan £10.15^s for surveying at 25^s 3^d m. as appears by his account.

In 1723 James Logan sends me an account wherein it appears that then he had sold But 5964 Acres of it att the same time he alsoe sends me Isaac Taylers Letter to him which gives y^e pticulars of about 7000 acres which were then unsold as appears by the Draught of y^e same for which Draught & Survey I paid J: Logan £20. as appears by his account sent me then.

Q: 1. What become of 2000 acres missing in y^e above account and alsoe what become of y^e 7000 acres which appeared then to be unsold if any of it is sold when sold, to whom sold what price it is sold for and what is become of the money for I have not received above £600 on y^t account for 7 years past and on y^e account of Bonds due to me att that time as appears by J. L. account to be about £430 besides Interest on said bonds ever since.

In 1707 there was 5000 acres of Land surveyed in the County of Chester as I doe apprehend for my Dear wife in S^r Jn^o Fagg's name for which Survey I allowed James Logan as appears by his account £8.1.8. and to Tho. Storey for Registering 3 pattents £3.5.4.

Q: 2^a. What is become of that 5000 acres alsoe I hope that James Logan will not suffer us to be wronged of it our Father Penn Left Land Enough to make good his pattents especially to y^e Child of her that brought him twenty thousand pounds fortune whose Estate Laid y^e foundation of the province.

The Man^r of Mountjoy as appears by the Pament was 7000 Acres. I never had an account but of 600 acres of it Sold. & y^t was before 1723.

Q: 3^a. Whats become of y^e rest of that Man^r how much sold, when sold, what price sold for and to whom sold what Quitt rent is paid & how much Land is Liable to pay Quitt rent and what reason Can be given that the Liberty Land belonging to it was not taken up which I am sure was Intended my wife by her father and is our Due yett why I have not a Draught of it tho' soe often desired and how much of y^e High Street Lott and the other Lotts belonging to that man^r is there unsold.

Q. 4. What Reason can be given that Rees Thomas his account (which I have soe often pressed & been very uneasy about) cannot be settled.

Q. 5. Why Ralph Ashton is suffered to abuse me soe long in not paying me my money Laid out for him soe long since.

James Logans Letters of y^e 7 & 18 8br 1728 writes that our Land in y^e Man^r of Steining are claimed by y^e Crown & Lord Baltimore and that he will not endanger himself to Lye in a jayle In making Sale of them. James Logan in his Letter of y^e 3^a 8br 1729 writes to y^e same effect and that noe Attorney in his senses will warrant y^e Sale of Steining Land and that he was to meet Resse Thomas y^e week following to Settle with him.

J. Logan his Letter of y^e 15 9br 1729 to y^e same effect Butt noe account that Rees Thomas had settled with him.

LETTER OF JAMES STEEL TO THOMAS STORY OF LONDON, RELATING TO LANDS IN PENNSYLVANIA.—

PHILADA. 30th 8^{br} 1718.

ESTEEMED FFR^D }
THO: STORY }

I have thine of y^e 14th 5^{mo} last p Jehu Curtis who arrived here about two weeks since. In answer whereunto please to take the ffollowing acco^t (viz)

I finde in the list of first purchassers one John Jones of London for 500 Acres of Land and that two warrants were granted for the laying of it out one of which was granted to Henry Waddy for 250 a's dated y^e 14th 5^{mo} 1684 the other to John Rush dated y^e 24th 7^{mo} in y^e Same year for 240 acres together with the Lot & Liberty Lands the Lott falls on Schuylkill Side of the City.

To the Warrants there are noe Returns in the office but in the Map of the Province there is a Tract laid down for 500 acres in Warminster Township, Bucks County and in my hands a Draught of the like quantity located by T. ffairman as he Sayes in the Same place for John Jones and yet lies without any other claim to it as I can understand by any person I have enquired of. The Writings in my hands concerning it, are only the affidvits of two psons taken before the Mayor & Alderman of London certified under the City Seal Testifying that Eliz. Hilton was the only Sister & Heir of John Jones and her Power of Attorney to Gilb. ffalconar to Sell the Land, and also Gilbt. Mollesons Letter to Giff. in favour of the Widow, & the above Draught from T. ff.

The original Deeds (or Copies) I have never Seen nor any other writing concerning it more than I have mentioned.

As for the Sale thou mentions made to Jn^o Hart I know nothing of it but soon after the papers were put in my hands I agreed with one Henry Comly who lives near the Land that he should have it for 100 Sterl. upon payment whereof he was to take his Title from the Woman but he soon after declined his bargain, since which several persons has offered to buy but cannot pay as I would have them, but one Isaac Knight was with me yesterday to treat about it who inclines to have it and says he can pay in some short time, he is gon to view it & is then to give me his answer : with kinde love and respect I am

ISAAC NORRIS ON PIRATES, 1699. [Norris Manuscripts, Historical Society of Pennsylvania.]—

PHILADELPHIA the 9th 4 mo. 1699.

My Dear frd.

JONATHAN DICKINSON.

These comes via N. York at uncertenty soe write a few lines for cover to thy Wives giveing the account of our Continued health and mercyes—wee count y^e Days of thy absence and begin now to hope thou art a shore.

Norman put up for Jamaica but when all most full altered his voyage and turned of again the 4 barrells of Flower for ad : Cohen by thy order Miller In New-Castle as cleared for Jamaica but Refused fr^t and I beleive it Is but a cover for Caladonia tho our Governours Proclamation by the Kings order has bin out against all Trade with them.

Thomas Storry and Roger Gill yester day came up—Aron Is comeing up a Gain.

We have 4 men in prison taken up as Pirates supposed to be Kidds men. Shelly of York has brought to those parts Some Scores of y^m and there Is Sharp a looking out to take y^m we have various Reports a bo^t their Riches and Some talk of much Money hid between this and the capes, there was Landed abo^t 20 men as we understand at Each Cape and Severall gone to York.

We hear a Sloope has bin seen Cruissing of the capes this considerable Time But has not medled with any vessells yett. Tho' Spoke with Severall Inward Bound Hitchins and Butterworth sailed last week If they be Rogues outward bound I fear thy'le plunder them thy wife and children well with ffrds. Generally with Dear Love conclude thine

ISAAC NORRIS.

My wife and sisters and all Love to thee My Sister mightly pleased and Satisfied in thy wifes Company and Society as well as wee In her near Neiboured And I hope ours is not uneasy to her.

Deare ffrd,

It being Some time Since I wrote to thee, my friend Ship & Love makes me Embrace the Conveyancey by Jn^o Cropp, haveing noe other Buissniess but y^e Dutey of Corresponding. and to Remitt the of y^e prommice of Seeing us at our Yearly metting Tho. Storey & Roger Gill are Gone for New England—Aron is Gone for Shrosberrey we suppose they all Intend to be at or : Meeting I am oblidged & Gratefully acknowledge thy Rememberance of me Verbally by our Frd^s Tho thou could not Daigne to write.

The Earle Galley from Bristoll arrived here y^e 28 Ultimo wth ab^t 150 passengers wee Expect Thomas Musgrave In a Ship from Liverpoole Dayly.

Governer Penn has haired a Ship So y^t we have now Greater hopes of of Seeing him yⁿ Ever. Coll. hamilton Is at Seay tis Supposed & is Gover^r of y^e Jerseys.

I need not advise the that Kidd and his men have been on these Coasts—hereing that Some of y^m are Taken up wth you—But it may be proper to tell the y^t Kidd Landed on Long Island from whence he Took of Ja. Emmot a Lawyer of New York. And Carryed him Towards Boston the Acco^t of his Negotiation there thou hast by the Inclosed St : from the Earle Bellamont Some say Kidd Is Gone In Upon it w^{ch} I Question for the Letter Seems to me Either a Decoy or a hook bated & heav'd out for a Little of that Same, tho' we must not Judge y^e Action of great men this being but a flash of opinion on the first Reading for I just now Rece^d it by the post. All west Indies Goods verry deare wth us, as In Barbadoes too I have advise 4th 3 mo. Tobacoes Scarce worth fr^t & Custome at Bristoll but no newse of this Kind can be Sent you I Know not what wadd further nor how far this Rambling Stuff may be acceptable Yett having Comitted it worth my while to write thou May account it worth y^e Receiving from thy Assured frd. I. NORRIS.

I hope thou had thy bread Safe, our family all well & thires Loves wth mine to thy father mother & wife &c Richd. has bin out of ord^r wth a sore-throat but Prettey well a Gaine.

PATTERSON.—Since sending the inquiry about John Patterson, which appeared in the January issue of the PENNSYLVANIA MAGAZINE, I find that he and his wife and three children are buried in Christ Church, Philadelphia. He died Feb. 22, 1798; and his wife Catharine, daughter of Robert Livingston, third and last Lord of the Manor, survived him nearly thirty-five years. They had at least eight children—five sons and three daughters. Of the sons, Daniel T. Patterson was commodore in the U. S. Navy, and Walter (d. 1852) is buried at Christ Church. Was it this Walter Patterson who represented Columbia Co., N. Y., in the Legislature and Senate, 1818–1823? What is known of his life?

John Patterson's eldest daughter Maria (or Mary) Thong became Mrs. R. E. Griffith of Philadelphia. Rather curiously her portrait by Gilbert Stuart (reproduced in Century Magazine, May, 1899) is referred to on page 40 of the PENNSYLVANIA MAGAZINE for January. When and where was John Patterson married? When was he born? In the Century Magazine he is referred to as "Major" Patterson an aide to General Abercrombie when he made the disastrous attack on Fort Ticonderoga, on July 8, 1758. Can these statements be verified? His name does not, apparently, occur in Ford's List of British Officers, 1755-1774 (N. E. H. & G. Reg., 49); and Claypole's American Daily Advertiser (Feb. 22, 1798) states that he died in his fifty-seventh year. But would this not make him too young to act as aide?

I should like to get in touch with any descendants of John Patterson.

Who was the Walter Patterson who died at Baltimore, Sept. 20, 1832, "in his 77th year," and whose funeral was from the "residence of John Clay, 10th St. below Locust," Philadelphia?

McPIKE AND PIKE FAMILIES.—The surname McPike occurs several times, circa 1775-1781, in the Pennsylvania Archives, and a list of those references was published in The Celtic Monthly (Glasgow), vol. xiv, page 170. The name seems to be quite uncommon, however, both in America and Great Britain, although a few members of that family still reside in Scotland and Ireland. The name "McPeake" (perhaps allied to McPike) is less unusual. (See the London Notes and Queries, tenth series, vol. x, pages 105, 314.) One James McPeak, of Henry County, Virginia, appears in the "lists of persons renouncing allegiance to Great Britain and swearing allegiance to the Commonwealth of Virginia" (see Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, Richmond, 1902, vol. ix, page 12). He may or may not have been identical with the writer's ancestor, James McPike, who, according to traditions, served under General Anthony Wayne and others and whose military services were mentioned in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, for January, 1903, vol. xxxiv, page 55; also (with new facts) in the Magazine of History (New York), March, 1908, vol. vii, pp. 167-168.

The writer would be very grateful for any information concerning the marriage of James McPike, circa 1789, to Martha Mountain, daughter of J. Mountain, "from New Jersey." A new collection of unedited "Extracts from British Archives on the families of Halley, Hawley, Pyke, etc.," will be published, in pamphlet form, late in the present year.

A COMMITTEE OF THE ALUMNI OF ALL DEPARTMENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA IS PREPARING A CATALOGUE to contain all of the graduates and non-graduate matriculates of the University. We append a list of the Medical graduates of whom the committee has no information. Our readers will lighten not a little the difficult labors of the committee in collecting data of these graduates, some of more than a century ago, if they send at once whatever information they may have to Dr Ewing Jordan, 1510 Walnut St., Philadelphia.

BROAD AND CHERRY STREETS HOSPITAL—[PENNA. MAG., vol. xxxii, p. 512].—Through the courtesy of Dr. Samuel A. Green, of the Massachusetts Historical Society, the letter of a correspondent gives the identity of "S. E. B.," who sent the verses, with a bundle of socks, donated by a "Lively Old Lady" of Amherst, N. H., in 1862, to the sick and wounded in the U. S. Hospital at Broad and Cherry Streets. She was Sarah E. Barron, daughter of Solomon Rice and Dolly Channel Barron, born in 1847. Later she married Charles Longe, and is now deceased, but surviving friends remember the circumstance. Thus after many years, an interesting incident of the Civil War has been developed.

The Pennsylvania History Club, while primarily designed to encourage the investigation and exploitation of the original sources, also aims to aid all existing agencies for collecting, preserving, or rendering accessible the materials relating to the history of the Commonwealth. The present publication has been compiled by the Secretary of the Club; and although intended mainly to be useful to its members, it is believed it will serve as a helpful contribution to Pennsylvania historical bibliography. Contents: Introductory; Constitution and By-Laws; Officers and Committees; Meetings and Pilgrimages, 1905-1908; List of the Members, with their Historical Bibliographies.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA. Vol. I, No. 1. 1909. 8vo, 120 pages.

The contents of the present number are "Gleanings in Sussex County, Delaware," by Rev. C. H. B. Turner; "Claas Bible Record," translated from the German by Hon. S. W. Pennypacker; "Dutton Records of Deaths, Marriages, etc., 1770-1870," arranged by Gilbert Cope; "Marriages by John Graves, Esquire, West Chester, Pa.," and the "Seventeenth Annual Report of the Board of Directors," from which we learn that the work of collecting and preserving church and meeting records of value has been going on steadily, and the following additions made to the Collection during the past year: Records of Reformed Church, Whitpain Township, 1764-1860; St. Peter's Church, Philadelphia, Baptisms, 1831-1884, Marriages, Burials, Confirmations, and Communicants, 1828-1884; Records of Abington Presbyterian Church; Records Salem, N. PROCEEDINGS AND COLLECTIONS OF THE WYOMING HISTORICAL AND GEOLOGICAL SOCIETY, for the years 1908-1909. Edited by Rev. Horace Edwin Hayden. Vol. X. Wilkes-Barre, Penna., 8vo, pp. 256. Illustrated.

This volume is largely devoted to accounts of the celebration of the centennial of Jesse Fell's successful experiment with Wyoming coal as a domestic fuel, and also semicentennial of the founding of the Wyoming Historical Society; the addresses made by Rev. Horace E. Hayden, Dr. John W. Jordan, William Griffith, C.E., and others. The Muster Roll of Capt. Henry Shoemaker's Company of Northampton Co. Rangers, 1781; the Capture and Rescue of Rosewell Franklin's Family by Indians, 1782; Revolutionary Pensioners in Bradford and Luzerne Counties in 1835; and Marriages and Deaths, Wyoming Valley, 1810-1818, are valuable local historical contributions. Biographical sketches of deceased members will aid genealogists. The volume is neatly printed on good paper, and the numerous inserts add value to the text.

Address delivered at the dedication of the Cemetery at Gettysburg.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives, that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate — we can not consecrate — we can not hallow — this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced.

It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us — that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion — that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain — that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom — and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

THE GETTYSBURG ADDRESS.

WHEN WRITTEN, HOW RECEIVED, ITS TRUE FORM.

BY MAJOR WILLIAM H. LAMBERT.

[Read before the Commandery of the State of Pennsylvania, Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, February 14, 1906; and before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, February 8, 1909.]

THE most notable of the series of speeches made by Abraham Lincoln after leaving Springfield, and while on his way to Washington for his inauguration as President, was that made in this city in Independence Hall, and inspired by its sacred memories; and the most famous of his addresses as President was delivered at the dedication of the Soldiers' National Cemetery on the battlefield of Gettysburg.

Consideration of these remarkable utterances upon the soil of our State would seem appropriate by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania at this time of commemoration of the centenary of Lincoln's birth; and your attention is invited to the circumstances attending the delivery of the Gettysburg Address, as described in some of the accounts of the dedication, which I present in an endeavor to determine what was the origin of the address, how it was received, and what is its true form, for, strange as it may appear, widely differing answers are given to these several questions.

President Lincoln left Washington for Gettysburg at noon on Wednesday, November 18, 1863, in a special train consisting of four passenger coaches; he was accompanied by a large party that included members of his Cabinet, several foreign ministers, his private secretaries, officers of the Army and Navy, a military guard, and newspaper correspondents; the train arrived at Gettysburg about dark. Mr. Lincoln spent the night at the house of David Wills, Governor Curtin's representative and the active agent in the establishment of the Soldiers' Cemetery.

Arnold, in his "History of Lincoln and the Overthrow of Slavery," asserts that the President "while on his way from the White House to the battlefield was notified that he would be expected to make some remarks," and that asking for some paper a rough sheet of foolscap was handed to him; "retiring to a seat by himself, with a pencil he wrote the address."

Similarly Ben Perley Poore says in his "Reminiscences of Lincoln" that "his remarks at Gettysburg * * * were written in the car on his way from Washington to the battlefield, upon a piece of pasteboard held on his knee." In the beautiful story by Mrs. Andrews entitled "The Perfect Tribute," which, because of its wide circulation in the magazine in which it first appeared, and subsequently as a daintily printed book, has done much to form popular opinion of the composition and delivery of the Address, it is said that the President after gazing wistfully across the car at Edward Everett—who was not in it, having previously gone to Gettysburg by another route—appealed to Secretary Seward for the brown paper he had just removed from a package of books: "May I have this to do a little writing?" and then with a stump of a pencil labored for hours over his speech.

On the contrary, General James B. Fry, who was present in the car as one of the escort, says that he is confident that the assertion that the Address was written in the train en route to Gettysburg is an error, and states, "I have no recollection of seeing him writing or even reading his speech during the journey, in fact there was hardly any opportunity for him to read or write." Nicolay, the senior of the President's private secretaries, in an interesting and highly valuable paper on the Gettysburg Address, says, "There is neither record, evidence, nor well founded tradition that Mr. Lincoln did any writing or made any notes on the journey between Washington and Gettysburg," the many interruptions incident to the journey, together with the rocking and jolting of the train, made writing virtually impossible.

In Mowry's "History of the United States for Schools," published in 1896, it is said: "There is conclusive evidence that the words of the address were not written out until after the Presidential party had arrived upon the ground"; and in an appendix it is stated: "The following account of how the address was written was received directly from the lips of ex-Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania, who was present on the occasion and knew whereof he affirmed. Governor Curtin said that after the arrival of the party from Washington, while the President and his Cabinet, Edward Everett, the orator of the day, Governor Curtin, and others were sitting in the parlor of the hotel, the President remarked that he understood that the committee expected him to say something. He would, therefore, if they would excuse him, retire to the next room and see if he could write out something. He was absent some time, and upon returning to the company had in his hand a large-sized, yellow government envelope. The President sat down, and remarked that he had written something, and with their permission he would like to read it to them, and invited them to criticise it. After reading what he had written upon the envelope, he asked for any suggestions they might make; Secretary Seward volunteered one or two comments, which Mr. Lincoln accepted and incorporated. Then he said, 'Now, gentlemen, if you will excuse me again, I will copy this off,' and returning again made a fresh copy to read from."

A somewhat different account of Governor Curtin's recollection is given by Hon. Horatio King in his "Turning on the Light," wherein he writes that in 1885 at Gettysburg the Governor said: "I saw Mr. Lincoln writing this address in Mr. Wills' house on a long yellow envelope. He may have written some of it before. He said 'I will go and show it to Seward,' who stopped at another house, which he did and then returned and copied his speech on a foolscap sheet." Mr. King adds that the Governor expressed extreme regret that he had not secured that envelope on which he most positively declared he saw Mr. Lincoln writing his Address as above described.

The Hon. Edward McPherson of Gettysburg, for many years Clerk of the House of Representatives, said in 1875, in a newspaper communication, that after Mr. Lincoln had retired to his room on the night of the 18th he sent for his host and "inquired the order of exercises for the next day and began to put in writing what he called some stray thoughts to utter on the morrow." Mr. Wills believed that the Address was written in his house and said in 1893, as he had earlier, that the President read "from the same paper on which I had seen him writing it the night before."

Prof. Draper in his "History of the American Civil War," one of the most scholarly and philosophic of the histories of the Rebellion, asserts that when the President rose to speak "he unpremeditatedly and solemnly said, 'It is intimated to me that this assemblage expects me to say something on this occasion.'"

Noah Brooks, newspaper correspondent at Washington during the war, who, having been acquainted with Mr. Lincoln in Illinois, was on terms of friendly intimacy and has written much about him, declared that a few days prior to the 19th of November, 1863, Mr. Lincoln told him that Mr. Everett had kindly sent him a copy of his oration in order that the same ground might not be gone over by both; the President added, "There is no danger that I shall, my speech is all blocked out—it is very short." In answer to the question whether the speech was written, he said, "Not exactly written—it is not finished anyway." Brooks further asserted that the speech was written and rewritten many times, and revised somewhat after Mr. Lincoln's arrival at Gettysburg.

Ward H. Lamon, a personal friend and associate of Mr. Lincoln before the war, accompanied him from Springfield to Washington, was appointed Marshal of the District of Columbia, and had confidential relations with the President throughout his administration, and was the Chief Marshal of the ceremonies at Gettysburg; and he devoted a chapter of his "Recollections of Abraham Lincoln, 1847–1865," to the Gettysburg Address, in which he writes: "A day or two before the dedication of the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, Mr. Lincoln told me that he would be expected to make a speech on the occasion; that he was extremely busy, and had no time for preparation; and that he greatly feared that he would not be able to acquit himself with credit, much less to fill the measure of public expectation." Lamon says he was shown "a sheet of foolscap, one side of which was closely written with what he informed me was a memorandum of his intended address. This he read to me, first remarking that it was not at all satisfactory to him. It proved to be in substance, if not in exact words, what was afterwards printed in his famous Gettysburg speech."

A newspaper paragraph, the original date and source of which are unknown to me, alleges that Senator Cameron had asserted that he had seen a draft of the address in the White House before the President left Washington.

Such are the divergent testimonies concerning the preparation of the Address. Fortunately there exists documentary evidence to substantiate the statements of Brooks and Lamon and Cameron, and to establish conclusively that the Address was the outcome of deliberation and careful thought.

The formal invitation to the President was written on the 2nd of November and specifically stated that "it is the desire that you as the Chief Executive of the Nation formally set apart these grounds to their sacred use by a few appropriate remarks." In the article before referred to Nicolay says that Mr. Lincoln carried in his pocket the autograph manuscript of so much of his Address as he had written at Washington, and a facsimile reproduction of the original draft is given. The first page of the manuscript is written in ink and ends with an incompleting sentence, facts which justify Nicolay's inference that at the time of writing it in Washington the remainder of the sentence was also written in ink on another sheet of paper. On the morning of the 19th when, in Nicolay's presence, the President finished writing his Address he used a lead pencil with which he crossed out the last three words of the first page and wrote other words above them and on another sheet wrote the remainder of the Address, in substance about one-third of the whole; this second page is also produced in facsimile. This manuscript consisting of two pages was in Mr. Lincoln's hands when he delivered his Address. Undoubtedly the first page of this manuscript was part of the original draft of the Address and the second page was the new draft substituted for the cancelled original, there being probably some immaterial differences between the two versions.

Another manuscript exists, which is now in the possession of the family of the late John Hay, who as one of the President's private secretaries was present at the dedication. This manuscript, which is in the President's autograph, is reproduced in facsimile in Putnam's Magazine for February, 1909, in connection with "Recollections of Lincoln" by Gen. James Grant Wilson, who believes the manuscript was written after the President's return from Gettysburg.

The Hay manuscript is undoubtedly the second existing draft of the address, but because of information obtained from Col. John P. Nicholson, to whom it was imparted by Secretary Hay, I am convinced that this manuscript was written before November 19, 1863, and that it was inadvertently left at Washington. . This opinion is further strengthened by the internal evidence of the manuscript itself.

The second page of the Nicolay manuscript is almost identical with the corresponding page of the Hay manuscript, but the latter in its entirety conforms much more closely to the Address as actually delivered than the Nicolay and justifies the belief that the Hay was the final draft of the complete Address before its delivery. Neither manuscript was written after the delivery of the Address, for neither contains the notable addition of the words "under God," that were interpolated by the President when he spoke, and which he would not have omitted from any subsequent transcript.

Whatever revision may have been given to the Address en route to or at Gettysburg, whatever changes or additions may have been made in its delivery, the Address existed in substantially completed form before the President left Washington.

There can be no doubt that he had given prolonged and earnest thought to the preparation of this Address; he had had more than two weeks' notice that he was desired to speak; and although the demands upon his time and attention were such as to allow him little opportunity for uninterrupted thought, he appreciated the momentousness of the occasion, he knew how much was expected of him, and what was due to the honored dead, and he did not trust to the inspiration of the moment or rely upon his readiness as an impromptu speaker when he dedicated the Soldiers' Cemetery at Gettysburg, for he had wrought and rewrought until there came into perfect form the noblest tribute to a cause and its heroes ever rendered by human lips.

The Address has been so long and so generally accepted as the highest expression of American oratory, that it is difficult to realize that it ever had less appreciation than now. The testimonies of those who heard the Address delivered differ widely as to the reception given it and as to the impression it made.

In the "History of the Battle of Gettysburg" (published in 1875) Samuel P. Bates in giving an account of the dedication ceremonies quotes the Address and says: "Its delivery was more solemn and impressive than is possible to conceive from its perusal. Major Harry T. Lee, who was one of the actors in the battle and who was present upon the platform at the dedication, says that the people listened with marked attention throughout the two hours that Mr. Everett spoke; * * * * but that when Mr. Lincoln came forward and, with a voice burdened with emotion, uttered these sublime words the bosoms of that vast audience were lifted as a great wave of the sea; and that when he came to the passage, 'The brave men living and dead, who struggled here,' there was not a dry eye.* * * *"

Arnold in his life of Lincoln (1885), after citing the Address, states: "Before the first sentence was completed, a thrill of feeling like an electric shock pervaded the crowd. That mysterious influence called magnetism, which sometimes so affects a popular assembly, spread to every heart. The vast audience was instantly hushed and hung upon his every word and syllable. Every one felt that it was not the honored dead only, but the living actor and speaker that the world for all time to come would note and remember, and that the speaker in the thrilling words he was uttering was linking his name forever with the glory of the dead. * * * All his hearers realized that the great actor in the drama stood before them, and that the words he said would live as long as the language; that they were words which would be recollected in all future ages among all peoples, as often as men should be called upon to die for liberty and country. As he closed, and the tears and sobs and cheers which expressed the emotions of the people subsided, he turned to Everett and, grasping his hand, said, 'I congratulate you on your success.' The orator gratefully replied, ‘ Ah! Mr. President, how gladly would I exchange all my hundred pages to have been the author of your twenty lines.’ ”

Major Nickerson, of the 8th Ohio, who had been severely wounded in the battle, was present at the dedication and had a seat on the platform within a few feet of the speakers, gave an account in Scribner's Magazine, July, 1893, of his “ Two Visits to Gettysburg.” He says: “ Others, too, have differed as to the immediate effects of the President's remarks. I give the impressions received at the time, which were also identical with those of all with whom I spoke. I thought then and still think it was the shortest, grandest speech to which I ever listened. * * * My own emotions may perhaps be imagined when it is remembered that he was facing the spot where only a short time before we had our death grapple with Pickett's men and he stood almost immediately over the place where I had lain and seen my comrades torn in fragments by the enemy's cannon-balls—think then, if you please, how these words fell upon my ear.” Then, quoting a portion of the Address, the Major adds: “ If at that moment the Supreme Being had appeared with an offer to undo my past life, give back to me a sound body free from the remembrance even of sufferings past and the imminence of those that must necessarily embitter all the years to come, I should have indignantly spurned the offer, such was the effect upon me of this immortal dedication.”

Robert Miller, who had been the Adjutant of an Ohio Regiment of 100 days' volunteers, was a member of the Ohio Legislature and attended the dedication ceremonies, stated in a letter published in the Eaton, Ohio, Register, November 30, 1863: “ The tall form of the President appeared on the stand and never before have I seen a crowd so vast and restless, after standing so long, so soon stilled and quieted. Hats were removed and all stood motionless to catch the first words he should utter, and as he slowly, clearly, and without the least sign of embarrassment read and spoke for ten minutes you could not mistake the feeling and sentiment of the vast multitude before him. I am convinced that the speech of the President has fully confirmed and I think will confirm all loyal men and women in the belief that Abraham Lincoln, though he may have made mistakes, is the right man in the right place."

The Commissioners representing Massachusetts at the dedication, in their report to Governor Andrew, say, "The brief speech of President Lincoln * * * * made a profound impression"; and that it was spoken with great deliberation. The correspondent of the Boston Daily Advertiser, who was probably one of the Commissioners, in his letter to that paper expressed a similar view and added that the remarks "seemed to be emphatically the right words in the right place."¹

A committee from the city of Boston attending the dedication reported: "Perhaps nothing in the whole proceedings made so deep an impression on the vast assemblage or has conveyed to the country in so concise a form the lesson of the hour, as the remarks of the President, their simplicity and force make them worthy of a prominence among the utterances from high places."²

The opinions of these Commissioners and of Lieutenant Miller are especially valuable because expressed and recorded immediately after they had heard the address.

John Russell Young, who was present on the speaker's platform as representative of the Philadelphia Press, in an article published in 1891, based upon his recollections and memoranda made at the time, says that the report made by the Associated Press "was studded with applause, but I do not remember the applause and am afraid the appreciative reporter was more than generous—may have put in the applause himself as a personal expression of opinion. * * *

I have read * * * of the emotions produced by the President's address, the transcendent awe that fell upon every one who heard those most mighty and ever living words, to be remembered with pride through the ages, I have read of the tears that fell and the solemn hush, as though in a cathedral solemnity in the most holy moment of the Sacrifice. * * * There was nothing of this, to the writer at least, in the Gettysburg Address."

In Lamon's account he professes to quote Mr. Lincoln's own opinion of his Address and says that, "After its delivery on the day of commemoration he expressed deep regret that he had not prepared it with greater care. He said to me on the stand immediately after concluding the speech: 'Lamon, that speech won't scour! It is a flat failure and the people are disappointed.' He seemed deeply concerned about what the people might think of his address, more deeply, in fact, than I had ever seen him on any public occasion. * * * The occasion was solemn, impressive, and grandly historic. The people, it is true, stood apparently spell-bound; and the vast throng was hushed and awed into profound silence, and attention to his words arose more from the solemnity of the ceremonies and the awful scenes which gave rise to them than from anything he had said. He believed that the speech was a failure. He thought so at the time and he never referred to it afterwards in conversation with me, without some expression of unqualified regret that he had not made the speech better in every way. On the platform from which Mr. Lincoln delivered his address and only a moment after it was concluded, Mr. Seward turned to Mr. Everett and asked him what he thought of the President's speech. Mr. Everett replied, 'It is not what I expected from him, I am disappointed.' Then in his turn Mr. Everett asked, 'What do you think of it, Mr. Seward?' The response was, 'He has made a failure and I am sorry for it. His speech is not equal to him.' Mr. Seward then turned to me and asked, 'Mr. Marshal, what do you think of it?' I answered, 'I

"In the face of these facts it has been repeatedly published that this speech was received by the audience with loud demonstrations of approval; that amid the tears, sobs, and cheers it produced in the excited throng, the orator of the day, Mr. Everett, turned to Mr. Lincoln, grasped his hand and exclaimed, 'I congratulate you on your success,' adding in a transport of heated enthusiasm, 'Ah! Mr. President, how gladly would I give my hundred pages to be the author of your twenty lines!'

"As a matter of fact, the silence during the delivery of the speech, and the lack of hearty demonstration of approval immediately after its close, were taken by Mr. Lincoln as a certain proof that it was not well received. In that opinion we all shared. If any person then present saw, or thought he saw, the marvelous beauties of that wonderful speech, as intelligent men in all lands now see and acknowledge them, his superabundant caution closed his lips and stayed his pen. * * * * I state it as a fact, and without fear of contradiction, that this famous Gettysburg speech was not regarded by the audience to whom it was addressed, or by the press and people of the United States, as a production of extraordinary merit, nor was it commented on as such until after the death of the author."

While there may be some truth in Lamon's narrative, and the language ascribed to Lincoln seems natural and characteristic, allowance should be made for the author's idiosyncrasies as exhibited in the "Life of Lincoln" published in 1872, that, purporting to have been written by Lamon, and was based upon information that had been secured by him, was really written by Chauncey F. Black, son of President Buchanan's Attorney-General. Certainly Lamon's assertion concerning Everett's criticism of the Address is not consistent with his letter to the President on the following day, in which, after thanking Mr. Lincoln for the kindness shown himself and his daughter at Gettysburg, Mr. Everett said: "Permit me also to express my great admiration of the thoughts expressed by you with such eloquent simplicity and appropriateness at the consecration of the Cemetery. I should be glad if I could flatter myself that I came as near the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes."

The President's reply was characteristically modest; I quote the reference to himself: "In our respective parts yesterday you could not have been excused to make a short address nor I long one. I am pleased to know that in your judgment the little I did say was not a failure."

Mr. Clark E. Carr, who was present at Gettysburg as a Commissioner from Illinois, is the author of an address, "Lincoln at Gettysburg," in which he quotes liberally and with approval from Lamon and from Nicolay, and also gives his own impressions concerning the President's Address, saying: "His expressions were so plain and homely, without any attempt at rhetorical periods, and his statements were so axiomatic, and, I may say, matter-of-fact, and so simple, that I had no idea that as an address it was anything more than ordinary." But he adds, "Every one was impressed with his sincerity and earnestness," and, "There was one sentence that did deeply affect me—the only one in which the President manifested emotion. With the close of that sentence his lips quivered, and there was a tremor in his voice which I can never forget. * * * The sentence was, 'The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here.'"

This sentence that so impressed Mr. Carr attracted the attention of George William Curtis, who, in Harper's Weekly, December 5, 1863, said of the Address, but with special reference to the sentence quoted: "The few words of the President were from the heart to the heart, they can not be read even without kindly emotion. It was as simple and felicitous and earnest a word as was ever spoken."

However the various narratives may differ as to the degree of appreciation of the Address, all agree that the President was accorded most respectful attention and that his bearing and demeanor were appropriate to the solemn occasion. I have found no evidence to justify the statements in "The Perfect Tribute" that the effect on the audience of the President's voice was ghastly and with his gaunt figure too much for the American crowd's sense of humor, and that a suppressed yet unmistakable titter caught and ran through the throng. It is unfortunate that this popular story should promulgate such a travesty of fact.

The circumstances attending the delivery of the Address were not such as to conduce to its full appreciation. The procession that had escorted the President to the field had been greatly belated, and after his arrival upon the platform the proceedings were still further delayed, awaiting the arrival of the orator of the day. Mr. Everett's oration, that had been preceded by a prayer of some length and by music, was of two hours' duration, so that when the President spoke it was to an audience that had been standing for nearly four hours.

The brevity of the speech, the absence of rhetorical effort, and its very simplicity prevented its full appreciation. Nicolay's statement seems to accord with the facts, and as a devoted admirer of his Chief he would naturally incline to enhance rather than to minimize the effect of the Address upon the audience.

"There is every probability that the assemblage regarded Mr. Everett as the mouthpiece, the organ of expression, of the thought and feeling of the hour, and took it for granted that Mr. Lincoln was there as a mere official figurehead, the culminating decoration, so to speak, of the elaborately planned pageant of the day. They were therefore totally unprepared for what they heard and could not immediately realize that his words, and not those of the carefully selected orator, were to carry the concentrated thought of the occasion like a trumpet-peal to farthest posterity."

Undoubtedly there were many in the audience who fully appreciated the beauty and pathos of the President's Address, and many of those who read it on the following day perceived its wondrous character; but it is apparent that its full force and grandeur were not generally recognized then, either by its auditors or its readers. Not until the war itself had ended and the great leader had fallen did the Nation realize that this speech had given to Gettysburg another claim to immortality and to American eloquence its highest glory.

The variations between the several contemporary versions of the Address and its many subsequent reproductions are remarkable, particularly in view of its brevity and importance. Attention has more than once been attracted to these variations; and because of the differences between the earlier reports and the version published in autographic facsimile in 1864, it has been assumed that the discrepancies were due either to blunders on the part of reporters, or to their attempts to improve the President's composition. But examination of a number of versions forces the conclusion that while some of the minor variations in the newspaper reports were caused by typographical or telegraphic errors, the rhetorical differences between these reports and the later version were plainly the result of the author's own revision.

The reports of the Address, published November 20, 1863, in the Ledger, the North American, the Press, and the Bulletin of this city, in the Tribune and the Herald of New York, in the Advertiser and the Journal of Boston, and in the Springfield Republican, and on the 23d in the Cincinnati Commercial, were furnished by the Associated Press. The reports printed in the Philadelphia papers named agree with the exception of obvious misprints. The New York papers agree with a single exception, probably a typographical error; the Boston papers also agree substantially with but three verbal variations. But the respective versions of the several cities differ from each other in a number of details, probably because of errors in telegraphing the reports from Gettysburg.

The reports of the Address published in the Philadelphia Inquirer and in the Cincinnati Gazette, November 20 and 21 respectively, differ materially from each other and from the Associated Press report, and are apparently independent in source; lacking in completeness, they seem to be paraphrases rather than literal reports, and are probably free renderings of notes made at the time, but are valuable so far as they go, in aiding to determine which of the other reports most nearly represents the words actually spoken.

Another independent report of greater value is that made by the Massachusetts Commissioners, which they assert is "in the correct form as the words actually spoken by the President, with great deliberation, were taken down by one of" themselves. The differences between their report and that printed in the North American, which is freer from obvious errors than any other version of the Associated Press report that I have seen, are slight.

Nicolay says that the President did not read from the written pages, and that he did not deliver the Address in the form in which it was first written, but from the fulness of thought and memory rounded it out nearly to its final rhetorical completeness. Brooks states that as Mr. Lincoln read from the manuscript he made a few verbal changes.

Comparison of the several reports named leads to the conclusion that the President, remembering what he had written in the Hay manuscript, delivered his Address in closer accordance with it than with the Nicolay manuscript which he held, but to which he referred little. The North American report, which in my judgment reproduces the words spoken more accurately than any other, and more closely than the President's final revision, differs from the Hay manuscript in several instances, but materially only in the words "under God," which were interpolated by the President as he spoke, for the phrase does not appear either in the Nicolay or the

Hay manuscript, and in the use of "the" instead of "this" before "government of the people."

Nicolay says that a few days after the visit to Gettysburg, upon receipt from Mr. Wills of a request on behalf of the States interested in the National Cemetery for the original manuscript of the Dedication Address, the President re-examined his original draft and the version that had appeared in the newspapers, and he saw that because of the variations between them, the first, that is, the Nicolay, seemed incomplete and the others imperfect; he therefore directed his secretaries to make copies of the several reports of the Associated Press and, "comparing these with his original draft and with his own fresh recollection of the form in which he delivered it, he made a new autograph copy, a careful and deliberate revision."

What became of this first revision is unknown, it was not received by Mr. Wills, who wrote me years ago: "I did not make a copy of my report of President Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg from a transcript from the original, but from one of the press reports. I have since always used the revised copy furnished the Baltimore fair, of which I have a facsimile in lithograph."

Other copies were made, one in February, 1864, at the request of Mr. Everett, to be bound, with the manuscript of his oration and Mr. Lincoln's letter to him of November 20, in a volume to be sold at the Metropolitan Fair for the benefit of the United States Sanitary Commission. Still another copy was made at the request of the Hon. George Bancroft for the benefit of the Soldiers and Sailors Fair in Baltimore; this, having been written on both sides of a letter-sheet, was unavailable for purposes of lithographic production in facsimile, and Mr. Lincoln, in March, made another copy, which was reproduced in "Autograph Leaves of Our Country's Authors"—a volume published for the benefit of the fair.

This version exhibits the result of the author's final revision, and, except in punctuation and in the use of "on" instead of "upon" in the first sentence and in the omission of "here" between "they" and "gave" in the last sentence, is identical with the version made at Mr. Everett's request, which is the earliest of the several existing revisions of which I have been able to learn.

In an address so brief, but so momentous, every syllable tells; and though the differences between the final revision and the speech as actually delivered are few and seemingly immaterial, the changes intensify its strength and pathos and add to its beauty, and as so revised the speech cannot be too jealously preserved as the ultimate expression of the author's sublime thought. Increasing appreciation of Lincoln's character and of his fitness for the great work to which in the providence of God he was called enhances the value of his every word, and surely the form by which he intended this utterance should be judged is that in which we should perpetuate the Gettysburg Address.

men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

DEDICATORY SPEECH BY PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

Four score and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation—or any nation, so conceived and so dedicated—can long endure.

We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We are met to dedicate a portion of it as the final resting-place of those who have given¹ their lives that that nation might live.

It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow, this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our power² to add or to detract.

The world will very³ little note nor long remember what we say here; but it can never forget what they did here.

It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated, here, to the unfinished work that they have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to Report in Philadelphia "Inquirer," November 20, 1863.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing the question whether this nation or any nation so conceived, so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on the great battlefield of that war. We are met to dedicate it, on a portion of the field set apart as the final resting place of those who gave their lives for the nation's life; but the nation must live, and it is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

In a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground in reality. The number of men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor attempts to add to its consecration. The world will little know and nothing remember of what we see here, but we cannot forget what these brave men did here.

We owe this offering to our dead. We imbibe increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion; we here might resolve that they shall not have died in vain; that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom, and that the Government of the people, for the people, and for all people, shall not perish from earth.

Report in Cincinnati "Daily Gazette," November 21, 1863.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers established upon this Continent a Government subscribed in liberty and dedicated to the fundamental principle that all mankind are created free and equal by a good God. And now we are engaged in a great contest deciding the question whether this nation or any nation so conserved, so dedicated, can long remain. We are met on a great battle-field of the war. We are met here to dedicate a portion of that field as the final resting place of those who have given their lives that it might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in a large sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, the living and the dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add to or detract from the work. Let us long remember what we say here, but not forget what they did here.

It is for us rather, the living, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work that they have thus far so nobly carried forward. It is for us here to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us, for us to renew our devotion to that cause for which they gave the full measure of their devotion. Here let us resolve that what they have done shall not have been done in vain ; that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth offered ; that the Government of the people, founded by the people, shall not perish.

Tuesday September 14th

Previous to our March this morning parties were ordered out to destroy the Corn, which they did plucking and throwing it into the river.

About 11 o'clock we took up our line of March and proceeded for Jenisie, the last & Capitol settlement of the Seneca Country. The whole cross'd a branch of the Jenisie river and moov'd thro' a considerable Swamp and form'd on a plain the other side, the most extensive I ever saw, containing not less than Six Thousand Acres of the richest soil that can be conceived, not having a Bush standing but fill'd with Grass considerable higher than a Man. We moov'd up this plain for about three miles in our regular line of March which was a beautiful sight, (as a view of the whole could be had at one look) and then came to Jenise River which we cross'd being about 40 yards over and near middle deep, and then ascended a rising Ground which afforded a prospect which was so beautiful that to attempt a Comparison would be doing an injury, as we had a View as far as our Eyes would carry us of another plaine besides the one we cross'd through which the Jenisie river form'd a most beautiful Winding and at intervals Cateracts which roll'd from the Rocks & emptied into the river.

We then march'd on thro' a rough but rich Country, untill we arriv'd at the Capitol town which is much the largest we have yet met with in our whole rout, and encamp'd about the same.

At this place we found the Body of the Brave but unfortunate Lieut. Boyd and one Rifle-man Massacred in the most cruel & barbarous manner that the human mind can possibly conceive. The savages having put them to the most excruciating Torments possible by first plucking their nales from hand & feet then Spearing, cutting & whipping them and mangling their Bodys, then cutting off the flesh from their shoulders by pieces, tomahawking & severing their heads from their Bodys and leaving them a prey to their Dogs. We likewise found one House burn'd in which probable was a scene as cruel as the former.

This evening the remains of Lieut. Boyd and the Riflemen's corps were interred with military honors. Mr. Boyds former good character as a brave soldier and an honest man, and his behaviour in the skirmish of yesterday (several of the Indians being found dead & some seen carried off) must indear him to all friends of mankind. May his fate await those who have been the cause of his—O Britain—Behold—and blush!—

Jenise-town, the Capitol of the Seneca nation, is pleasantly situated on a rich and extensive flat, the soil remarkable rich and great parts well improv'd with fields of Corn, Beans, Potatoes and all kinds of Vegetables. It contain'd 107 well finished houses.

This days march completed $6\frac{1}{2}$ Miles.

Wednesday Sept 15th.

This morning the whole Army excepting a covering party were engaged in destroying the corn, beans Potatoes & other vegetables which were in quantity immense and in goodness unequal'd by any I ever yet saw, agreeable to a moderate calculation there was not less than two hundred acres, the whole of which was pull'd & piled up in large heaps mix'd with dry wood taken from the houses and consum'd to Ashes. About 3 o'clock A.M. the business was finish'd and the immediate objects of this Expedition accomplish'd vizt.

the total ruin of the Indian settlements & distruction of their crops.

The following is a part of the orders issued this day, Vizt—

“ The Commander in chief informs his brave and resolute Army that the immediate objects of this Expedition are Accomplish'd viz. the total ruin of the Indian settlements and destruction of their Crops which were design'd for the support of those inhuman Barbarrians while they were desolating the American Frontiers. He is by no means insensible of the obligations he is under to these brave officers & soldiers whose virtue and fortitude have enabled him to complete the important design of the expedition, and he assures them he will not fail to inform America at large how much they stand indebted to them. The Army will this day commence its March for Tioga and proceed in the following order—first an advance Guard of one hundred Men, advanc'd about one hundred yards in front,—Second Gen^l Clintons Brigade advancing in four Columns from its front, third the Pack-horses and Cattle, fourth Gen^{ls} Maxwells & Poor retiring in Columns as they advanc'd ready to form a front in the rear of the Army. Sixth the Riflemen in a line retiring in the rear of the whole at Seventy rods distance from the Light-corps, two pieces of Artillery well loaded are to goe between Gen^l Hand & the Rifle corps, one piece is to be immediately in rear of Gen^l Clinton & centre Columns and the small Howitzer to proceed with the advance Guard, these pieces also to be loaded, the flanking divisions will each be formed in two divisions, one Division of each flanking Gen^l Clinton, the rear of the other Divisions will be in a line with the Light Corps, their duty will be the same as when advancing with this difference only, that whenever a firing may commence, the division next the enemy will indeavor to gain their flank the other Divisions by mooving rapidly in a large Circle will endeavor to gain their rear, the duty of the covering party & select flanking companies will be the same as in advancing.”

About 4 o'Clock P.M. the Army took up their line of march in the above order and arrived sometime after night near Gaghuigulahery town were they encamp'd in a wood but without observing any regularity, as it was impossible owing to the late Season of our arrival.

Previous to our leaving Jenise, a Woman with a Child came in to us, who had been taken prisoner last year near Wyoming, and fortunately made her escape from the Savages. She with her bandling was almost starv'd for want of food, she informs us that the Indians have been in great want all that spring, that they subsisted intirely on green Corn this summer, that the Squaws were fretting prodigiously and continually teasing their Warriors to make peace, that by promisses from Butler & his Minions they are fed up with great things that should be done for them, that they seem considerably cast down & frightened, and in short she says distress and trouble seems painted in their Countenances.

Distance of March this day 6 Miles.

Thursday September 16th.

After destroying several Cornfields we took up our line of March about 11 o'clock A.M. and proceeded towards Kanaghsas: previous to our arrival there, parties were ordered out to reconoitre the Woods, and gather the Bodys of those soldiers who fell in the Skirmish of the 13th, fourteen including those six mentioned in my Journal of the 13th were found and buried with Military honors, the sight was most shocking as they were all scalp'd, tomahawk'd and most inhumanly mangled. Amongst those unfortunate men was Hans Jost the volunteer Indian who paid equally with the rest.

About 6 o'clock we arrived at Kanaghsas and encamp'd, we found several Cornfields which were immediately laid waist. Our March this day 9 Miles

Friday September 17th.

About 5 o'clock this morning the General beat, the Tents were struck and the line of march taken up about 6 o'clock. We arriv'd at Anyeaya about 12 o'clock being the place our Stores with a Garrison was left; it was with not a little satisfaction we found everything safe. We were not without our apprehensions about them on Account of the intelligence we were fearful the enemy might have collected from the unfortunate prisoners who fell in their hands on the 13th. We encamped in the same order, and on the same ground as of the 11th Instant.

Saturday Sept^r 18th.

This morning about 8 o'clock the Army moov'd, the Rear was ordered (before they left the ground) to kill all such horses as were unable to moove along least they should fall in the enemys hands. On our rout we fell in with several Onida Indians (our friends) who seem'd much rejoic'd at our great success against the Seneca Nations. We arrived about 6 o'clock P.M. at the East side of Kanadaaqua Lake where we encamp'd after compleating a march of 13½ Miles.

Sunday September 19th.

The Army moov'd 8 o'clock this morning in the usual order, excepting a few obstructions they met with passing thro' several Swamps they march'd remarkable steady. On our rout we were met by an express from Tioga who brought a number of Letters & Newspapers informing us of Spain declaring War against Great Britain, they likewise brought us the agreeable intelligence of a good supply for the Army having come on to New-town (about 20 Miles above Tioga) to meet us. This agreeable intelligence conspired to make us exceeding happy, as we had not only been a long time intirely in the dark with respect to Home-news, but the disagreeable reflection of half allowance was intirely dispell'd.

We persued our march untill we arrived at Kanadasaga, which was about dusk when the Infantry got up, we Encamp'd in the same ground and in the same position as on the 7th Instant after compleating a march of 15 Miles.

Monday September 20th.

The greater part of this day was employ'd at Head-quarters in holding a Council in consequence of the intercession made by some Oneida Indians (our friends) in favour of the Cayuga tribe, who have been for some time past in alliance with the Senecas, and Acted with them and are now desirious to make peace with us. The Council determin'd no treaty should be held with them, and a Command of 500 Infantry with Major Parrs Rifle-corps were immidiately detach'd and sent to the Cayuga Lake on which their settlements lay, with orders to lay waist and destroy their Towns, Corn &c. and receive none of them but in the character of Prissoners of War.

Colo^l Smith with 200 Men was also detach'd down the North side of Seneca Lake in order to finish the destruction of Gensiuoque, an Indian Village about 8 miles below Canadasaga. Colo^l Ganseworth with 100 men was likewise detach'd & sent to Fort Stanwix for some business from whence he is to proceed to Head-quarters on the North-river and join the Main Army.

About 4 o'clock P.M. the Army took up their line of march and moov'd steadily, about half past five they reach'd & cross'd the Out-let of Seneca lake and Encamp'd about one mile beyond the same.

Tuesday September 21st.

The Army march'd this morning about 8 o'clock, and continued mooving steady untill we pass'd Candai about 2 miles were we Encamp'd near the Lake. Previous to our Marching this morning, Colo^l Derbourn with a Command of 200 men, march'd to destroy a Town on the North side of Cayuga Lake. Distance of march this day 13 Miles.

Wednesday September 22nd.

The General beat and tents were struck about 6 o'clock this morning, but on account of some unavoidable obstruction we did not move until 9 o'clock when we took up our line of march and moved steadily and in good order. We had several very difficult Ravines to pass on our route. After completing a march of 16 Miles we encamp'd in the Woods near Sunset.

Several fine Indian horses were taken at our arrival on this ground.

Thursday September 23^d.

About 8 o'clock this morning the Army march'd and arriv'd at Katherines-town about 2 o'clock P.M. where we made a small halt. We found at this place the old Indian Squaw which was left here, on our march up the Country, Gen' Sullivan gave her a considerable supply of flour & Meat for which, with tears in her savage Eyes she express'd a great deal of thanks. During our absence from this place, a young Squaw came and attended on the old one but some inhuman villain who pass'd thro' kill'd her.— What made this crime still more heinous was because a Manifesto was left with the old Squaw positively forbidding any violence or Injury should be committed on the Women & Children of the Savages by virtue of which it appears this Young Squaw came to this place, which absolutely comes under the notice of a breach of faith, and the offender ought to be severely punish'd.

I went to view in Company with a number of Gentlemen a very remarkable fall of Water, which is about one mile above this place, its beauty & elegance surpasses almost anything I ever saw, the fall is not less than 200 feet. About 3 o'clock the army moved about 3 Mile further, and incamp'd on a plain, at the entrance of the great Swamp, after compleating a march of $13\frac{1}{2}$ miles.

Friday September 24th.

This morning precisely at 8 o'clock the Army moov'd and continued this rout through the Hemlock Swamp, mentioned on the 1st Ins^t meeting with much fewer obstructions than we expected owing to the very dry weather, which we have had for this month past. After passing through the same, we came to a fine open Country, and soon arrived at Kanawaluhary where there was a post established with a reinforcement of Stores which was a most pleasing circumstance as the last was issued, and that at half allowance at Kanadasaga, on our arrival the Garrison saluted us with the discharge of 13 cannon which compliment was return'd them by the Army.

Saturday September 25th.

In consequence of the Accession of the King of Spain to the American Alliance and the genrous proceedings of the present Congress in Augmenting the subsistance of the officers & Men of the Army, General Sullivan ordered five head of the best cattle viz^t one for the use of the Officers of each Brigade with five Gallons of Spirits each to be delivered to them respectively thereby giving them an opportunity of testifying their joy on the occassion.

In the evening the whole Army was drawn up and fired a few de-joy, thirteen Cannon being first discharged, the Infantry then commenc'd a running fire through the whole line, which being repeated a second time the whole Army then gave three cheers vizt. One for the United States of America, one for Congress and one for our New Ally the King of Spain.

The Army being then dismissed Gen^l Hand with the officers of his Brigade attended by the Officers of the Park of Artillery repaired to a bowery erected for that purpose, when the fatted Bullock was serv'd up (dress'd in different ways) the whole seated themselves on the ground around the same which afforded them a most agreeable repast. The Officers being very jovial and the evening was spent in great Mirth and jolity.

After dinner the following toasts were drank, the Drums & fifes playing at intervals vizt.

1. The thirteen Sisters and their Sponcers.
2. The Honorable the American Congress.
3. Gen' Washington and the American Army.
4. The Commander in chief of the Western Expedition.
5. The American Navy.
6. The faithful allies the United House of Bourbon.
7. May the American Congress and all her Legislative representatives be endowed with virtue & wisdom and may her independence be as firmly establish'd as the pillars of time.
8. May the Citizens of America and her Soldiers be ever unanimous in the reciprocal support of each other.
9. May altercation, discord and every degree of fraud, be totally banish'd the peaceful shores of America.
10. May the Memory of the brave Lieut. Boyd & the soldiers under his Command who were horridly Massacred by the inhuman Savages or by their more barbarious & detestable Allys, the British and Torys the 13th Instant,—be ever dear to his country.
11. An Honourable peace to America or a perpetual War with her Enemies.
12. May the Kingdom of Ireland merit a stripe in the American Standard.
13. May the Enemies of America be metamorphos'd into pack-horses, and sent on a Western Expedition against the Indians.

An Express with dispatches for General Sullivan from Philadelphia arrived this evening, by whom I received a packet inclosing the Commissions for my Officers.

Sunday September 26th.

A detachment was ordered out this morning to proceed up the Tioga branch, but a heavy rain coming on prevented their Marching.

About 11 o'clock A.M. the Command under Colonel Derbourn who left us 21st for to proceed to the Cayuga Lake, return'd bringing two Squaws prissoners, he having in his rout destroy'd several towns and a great quantity of fine Corn.

Monday September 27th.

The detachment ordered to march yesterday moov'd this morning up Tioga branch to an Indian Village about 12 miles from this place with orders to destroy the same.

Coleman & Caldwell two of my Soldiers who by some means lost the Reg^t at Kanadasaqua Lake on the 18th Ins^t after Wandering for 7 days in the Wilderness, found and join'd us at this place, they subsisted during their absence on the Hearts & livers of two dead horses which the found on the path along which the Army had march'd.

At dusk this evening the detachment which march'd this morning, return'd after destroying a considerable quantity of Corn, beans and other Vegetables, 16 boat loads of which they brought with them for the use of y^e Army, the also burn'd a small village.

Tuesday September 28th.

Several Commands were ordered out this day viz^t. One up and the other down the Tioga branch for the purpose of destroying Corn &c of which there was a quantity left on our March towards the Seneca Country.

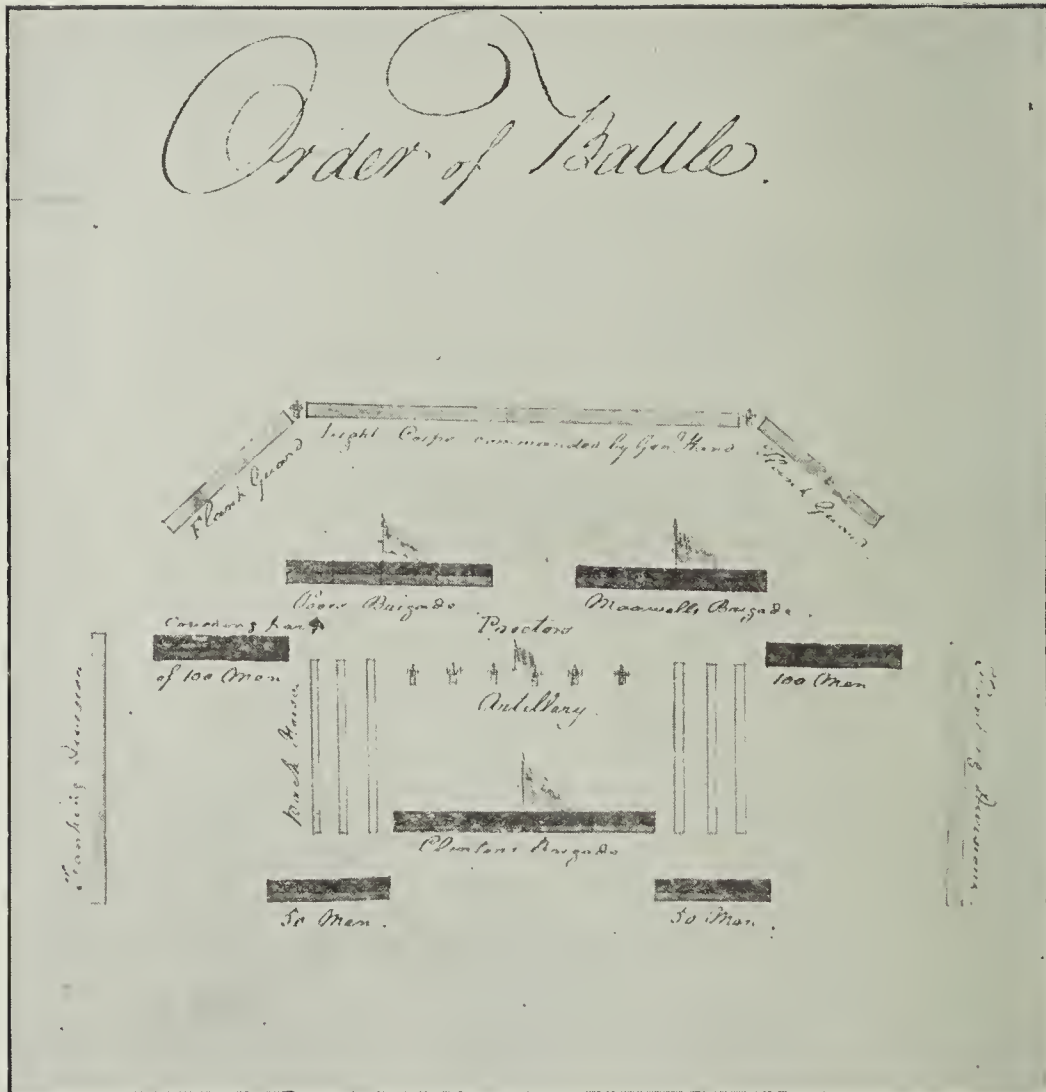

All the Lame & sick soldiers of the Army were this day ordered to go to Tioga in boats, and the Pack-horses least able for other duty.

Colo^l Buttler with his Command after laying waist & destroying the Cayuga settlements and Corn &c of which there was a very great quantity, returned and join'd the Army about ten o'clock this morning.

Wednesday September 29th.

The Army marched this morning about 8 o'clock and continued moving steady until we pass'd Chemung about one mile, where we Encamp'd on the same ground and in the same position as on the 27th Ult. The two Commands ordered out yesterday morning return'd and join'd the Army at this place about 9 o'clock P.M. after destroying large quantities of Corn, beans and other vegetables.

Thursday September 30th.

This morning about 9 o'clock the Army mov'd about two o'clock they arrived on Tioga plains near Fort Sullivan, where the whole form'd in regular line of march and mov'd into the Garrison in the greatest order when we were received with Military honours, the Garrison turning out with presented Arms and a salute of thirteen rounds from their Artillery, which Compliment was return'd them from the Park of Artillery with the Army.

Colonel Shrieve, Governor of the Garrison had an elegant Dinner provided for the Generals and Field Officers of the Army, we regal'd ourselves and great joy & good humour was visible in every Countenance. Colo^l Proctors Band & Drums & fifes played in Concert the whole time.

Friday October 1st.

This morning the Horses, belonging to the officers of the Brigade, were forwarded to Wyoming. We also sent our Cow which we had along with us the whole expedition, And to whom we are under infinite obligations for the great quantity of Milch she afforded us, which rendered our situation very comfortable and was no small addition to our half Allowance.

This Afternoon Colo: Brewer (Gen^l Sullivan's Secretary) Set of to Congress with the dispatches which contain'd a relation of the great success of the Expedition.

Saturday Octor 2nd.

This day the Commander in chief made an elegant Entertainment and invited all the General & Field officers of the Army to dine with him.

In the evening to conclude the mirth of the day, we had an Indian dance. The officers who join'd in it puting on Visiors (alias) Monetas. The dance was conducted and led off by a Young Sachem of the Oneida Tribe, who was next followed by several other Indians, the whole led off and after the Indian custom, danc'd to the Music which was a rattle, a knife and a pipe, which the Sachem continued clashing together and singing Indian the whole time. At the end of every Dance the Indian whoop was set up by the whole.

Sunday October 3rd.

Agreeable to the orders of Yesterday the Garrison of Fort Sullivan this day join'd their respective Corps and the Fort was demolish'd. The Stores & other baggage with the Park of Artillery were put on board the boats and every other matter put in perfect readiness to moove with the Army on their rout to Wyoming to morrow morning 6 o'clock.

The Young Sachem Warrior with several Oneida Indians (Relatives & friends of the unfortunate Indian Han-jost, who bravely fell with the party under the Command of the much lamented Lieut. Boyd :) who have faithfully acted as Guides to the Army, left us this day well pleas'd (after bestowing some presents on them) for their native plaice, The Oneida Country.

The German Regiment who compos'd a part of the flanking divisions of the Army, were this day ordered to join & do duty with the 3^d Penn^a Brigade commanded by Gen^l Hand.

Monday 4th October.

This day about 8 o'clock the Army took up their line of march & proceeded steady & in the same order as when marching to the Jenesi Country with this exception only, that the two flanking Divisions of the Army be join'd & compose one, and march on the left flank of the Army.

The Pack-horses with the greatest difficulty, pass'd the mountain (call'd Breakneck hill) Six of them by making miss-steps, tumbled down & were mash'd almost to a jelly. (This Hill is describ'd in my journal of the 9th of August last.)

We arrived at Weusakin about 6 o'clock in the evening after compleating a march of 15 miles. On acco^t of the rain marching was rather disagreeable this day.

On my arrival at this place I received a Letter with some News papers &c. from his Excellency President Reed, which contain'd agreeable News &c.

Tuesday October 5th.

The Army received orders this morning to embark on board of the boats which was effected about 11 o'clock after which the whole moov'd, (but paying little respect to order) about dusk the Troops landed & struck up fires, every boats crew choosing their own ground, the night sett in with rain, which continued untill morning. A number of the troops not having any tents, suffered considerably by the rain.

Wednesday October 6th.

About 8 o'clock this morning the whole embark'd again, and moov'd (paying no attention to order) down the river, about 6 o'clock the landed and Encamp'd, the weather being exceedingly cloudy & look'd likely for rain.

Thursday October 7th.

Embark'd about 6 o'clock and kept on steadily untill we arriv'd at Wyoming about 3 o'clock P. M., the whole Army landed and Encamp'd on the same ground and in the same order as on the 30th July.

Thus by the perseverance, good Conduct and determin'd resolution of our Commander in chief, with the assistance of his council and the full determination of his troops to execute have we fully accomplish'd the great end & intentions of this important expedition, And I flatter myself we have far more than fully surpass'd the most sanguine expectations of those whose Eyes were more immediately looking to us for success.

The glorious achievements we have exhibited in extending our conquests so far, and at the same time render them so very compleat, will make no inconsiderable ballance even in the present politicks of America. Its future good consequences I leave to the eloquence of time to declare, which will in Ages hence celebrate the memory of those brave Sons, who nobly resign'd their lives disdaining every fatigue & hardship, to compleat a conquest, the real good effects & advantages of which posterity will more particularly enjoy.

Whilst I revere the merit and virtue of the Army, I am sorry I am under the necessity of mentioning that there was an unparallel'd and unpardonable neglect (and which ought not to pass with impunity) in those whose business it was to supply them with a sufficient quantity of necessaries to carry them through the expedition, instead of which not more than 22 days of flour & 16 days meat was on hand when it commenc'd. And altho' the Army possess'd a degree of Virtue perhaps unparallel'd in the Annals of History, in undertaking an expedition on half allowance which was in every instance hazardous and injurious, Yet had we not been favoured with the smiles of Providence in a continuation of good Weather, the half allowance itself would not have enabled us to perform what from that circumstance we have.

FFRIENDS.—

I have Rec^d your Divided packett w^{ch} show yo^{er} Divided Governm^t and surely y^o Cause of it will early or late meet with its Reward wherever it lives. In y^o mean time your Division has torne me to peices and open'd those wounds that Malice gave me here, and time & patience had Closed up and almost Cured. No publick frowns have given me that trouble or Concerne, and I am Greived that what I thought y^o highest mark of a lowly and loving minde has had no better Effect. What is next to be don to gaine you or quiett you, to perswade you to your owne Interestt before yo^{er} Disorders spoyeld you and Devour y^o Country? you Cannot Imagine what use is made by all sorts and Especiall those at Helm of your Divisions. O ffriends I Came to you in love, I left you in love and with Resolutions of Returning to you with all that was Dear to me in this World and my letts and Disapointments y^o Righteous God knows were neither what I Desired nor Could overcome, but y^o Course you take will ever make it Impracticable. I am a man of Sorrows and you Augment my Grieffs, not because you dont concerne, but because you dont love one another. Though you are not of one Judgment in Religion, you are of one ffamily in Civiles and should aime at y^o publick good, and your owne private Interests only in that, and if you Cannot Deny your selves, your private humour & Resentments I must Expect ffrom your strifes y^o Loss of the whole to me and mine and as uneasie as the administrations have been to all sides under my Deputations, you will ffinde the change worse then you are able to Imagine or Mend.

I write this therefore and Dedicate it to you all before any resolutions are taken (from Your Division) here, to your and my prejudice. Shall your Disatisfaction about David Lloyd and Joⁿ White, their usage ruine us all? Cannot you bear a little ffor y^e good of y^e whole at least till it please God to bring me among you. One party Complaines of a surreptitious Councile, the other of an Incompetent Election of a Deputy. Before you part I oblige you in y^e ffear and name of God, by w^t power I have with you in ffriendshipp or Office that you fforgive and pass by yo^r respective heats & objections & studdy peace and love and whoever is most in the right will I hope show most of that Disposition and by y^t Convince y^e opposite party. I call upon you all my Loving ffriends, Tho. Lloyd, Wm. Markham Arth^r Cook, Jo^s Cain, Jos. Growdon, Wm. Clark &c to hear what I say and to remember yo^r Gover^r, your ffriend and your affectionate one too, asks this at your hands. I Can fforgive you in what any of you have thoat or done at anytime ag^t me. Can you not ffor my sake and your owne fforgive one another? And wherein you have served me, I am, and hope to be ffurther thankful to you. Strive not, read y^e 5th Mat. y^e 12 Rom. 3 of y^e Coloss. 1 Tim: 3, 2 Tim 2: 1 & 2 of Tim. you will see what becomes Christianity, even in Government, the matter is Easily Convertible to Conclude if Petitions were Rejected it was not well, if the assemblys Clark was knowingly, or as such arrested it was not Discreet but I must tell you they have none by Charter, but y^e Proc^l Councills, ffor he whoever he be is y^e Clark to y^e Gen^{rl} Assembly and the assembly but an additionall to y^e Prov. Councill who is the true Representative which answers to y^e Commons not y^e Lords of England, being Elected which ye Lords are not and ffor that reason Least Councillors, tho the peoples choyce may miss it, by Weakness or Corruption, yett they shall have an I or an no ffor it but not a r^d Debating power as hath y^e Prov Councill which I have more than once hinted to you. Againe if the New Castle &c councillors surprised y^e board it was not well y^e president and all in Towne should have been summoned and if the Prov. Councill Choose a Deputy without a Charter Quorum, it was also reprehensable. I therefore require y^e Meeting of y^e Councillors that could meet, whome sickness or absence did not hinder, that you might together hear my minde and my desires and by answering which I shall see whether you remember, love or desire your ffriend & Gover^r againe. You of the Lower Counties Call to minde how you desired to be joyned to y^e uper, and you of y^e upper Counties how much you were pleased at y^e union of y^e Lower and both at Chester (then Upland) and afterwards at Philadelphia, y^e solemn presence that union was blest with. I can better fforgive those that were not witnesses of it. It is never to be forgotten of those that will remember that w^h is good. Take that Hono^r from me be united before I come that I may ffinde you as I left you to Gods Glory and our Mutuall Comfort.

I had y^e New Castle packett 10 days agoe that of y^e Province but 6 days since have had but an hours time given me to send you this and not an hour before came y^e Laws &c from ffrance that Came by y^e Tryall as I suppose with Divers Letters but none ffrom any publick person but a short one from Cap^t Markham of the 3^d mo. 90, if more they may follow ffriends I conclude with this chuse againe in a ffull Councill, be Kinde and yeilding, that your Neighbours may see you Can fforgive as well as resent and be wise as well as Jealous of your Rights, and lett no man be turned out nor make Changes but upon misdemeanour ffarely proved. And ffor all New Towns or Charters or Counties &c Nothing to be done but by my Knowledge and Consent Especially no alteration in the Townes or Settlement already made. The Messengers stays and I have only time to salute you all, and by you y^e people, that am your reall ffriend

ROB. TURNER

I cannot complain of thy silence, tho more of laite then formerly & must own I have had more letters from y^e than any one in y^e Province except my Cos. Markham. But y^t ill favour'd Jumble of G. K. agst which the life of God in frds has risen throughout this nation, Scotland & Ireland has I beleive hindered y^e of late; Thou going in too far with him in Countenanceing, or not enough discountenancing his violences, and managem^t Tho I have sayd thou hast to me disliked them. Rob. the ancient, noble, Glorious truth turns agst his work & he is fallen in with y^e dreggs of aposttacy & enmity of all sorts of Professions agst. us & not 5 people in y^e unity before he came over adhear to him as I can learn he dwindles away, depend upon it. Thou knowst I was kinde & plain too, but I of all men, he runs at, & has most unworthily used, the Lord rebuke him & restore him.

Now for w^t thou hast writt in thyn of y^e 6. 6^m 96. I take it kindly, for there are good hints & sights of things, & I shall make use of them accordingly, as thou mayst soon see. But Robert, If truly thou lovest me & one whose shoes latchet I am not worthy to unloose, then let me prevale with thee not to strengthen y^t Int. & Party w^{ch} runs agst y^e ancient unity & frds. as we were a People when I was among you. I will not say they have not their weaknesses; some may be high, some selfish, some hote, yet they are a people called and In measure saved by the Lord. They have known & do know & measurably enjoy the Lords love & presence which is beyond words & speculations and doubtful disputations. I beseech thee as an ancient professor of y^e ever honourable truth & an acquaintance of the nobles of Israel in y^e begining, y^t thou come forth clearly from any privat dissatisfactions, or singularitys & thou wilt soon feel the comfort & encrease of it to thyselfe in thyn own bosome, none knows of this but my selfe. I know thou art a secret man & therefore to y^e I ease my minde next, for my own poor languishing Interest I am enough a beleiver of y^e ill estate of it, but alas who will help me. I have not seen sixpence these twice six years, my Plantation expensive & yet ruinous, a lovely place & good begining but every one mindeing their own things. But my eye is to the Lord y^t from my youth has preserved me & from my mothers womb seperated me to see his wondrous works in y^e great deeps of my day & in my voyage to eternity for which my soul blesseth his holy name.

I hear vice raings to y^e reproach of the Province—thou wilt be heard by Gov^r Mar. & used to write to me about it in T. K's time, urge him to suppress it with an high hand. I have suffered much formerly on his account & others as P. R's &c. for being over them y^t made it a country, & expected under me the chiefest Administration and came with y^t hope, & if they see no better conduct than in other Govern^{ts} they will be under a very troublesome disappointmt. I cannot but acknowledge they have some reason, wherefore pray let thos y^t Govern, represent me & my strictness, all they can for every body here &c expect it & y^e Contrary is my reproach & our Professions. I shall next tell thee that I shall shortly nominate a surv^r Gen^l Deputy, also com^{rs} of Propriety & some other new measures, what thou canst pray be helpfull that my affaires sinck not, my poor daughter now by me, beggs y^t her house may not sinck, but if needfull be repaired the best way to improve it for her would be a reall kindness to her & to me. The Accusations of one sort & the reports of another that are come for England against your Govern^t not only tend to our ruine but our Disgrace. That you winck at a Scotch Trade & a Dutch one too receiveing European goods from the latter, as well as suffering yours agst law & y^e English Interest to goe to the other, also that you do not only winck at but embrace pirats, ships & men. Thes are your Accusations, and one Francis Jones of Philadelphia has complained of it to Gov^r Nicolson because It was not redrest in y^r Governmt.

The Reports are & a nameless letter is come to me besides from Philadelphia to y^e same purpose, that there is no place more over run with wickedness, sins so very scandalous openly Committed in defiance of law & virtue, facts so foul, I am forbid by common modesty to relate them. I do therefore desire & charge you the Gov^r & Council for y^e time being to issue forth some act or acts of state, forth with to suppress both forbidden Trade and piracy & also y^e growth of vice & loosness, till some severe laws be made agst them. And I doe hereby Charge that no licences be granted to any to keep publick houses y^t do not give great security to keep civil houses, & are not known to be of a sober convirsation & y^t the Courts of Justice in each County have the approbation of not licenseing of them in order to prevent much of the occasion of such Lewdness & Idleness as are too often seen in such places. And that you take care that Justice be Impartially done upon Transgressors, that the wrath and vengeance of God fall not upon you to Blast your so very flourishing begining. I hasten to you so fast as the Complaints here agst you will give me leave, y^t make my presence now but too necessary. Lett neither base gain nor a byass affection, byass or make you partiall in these cases. But for my sake, your own sakes & above all for God's sake, lett not the Poor Province longer suffer under such greivous & offensive Imputations, and you will oblige him y^t loves you, prays for you & prays to be with you, & is with true love

SELECTIONS FROM THE LETTER-BOOKS OF THOMAS

DEAR FRIEND,

I had the pleasure of communicating a few lines to thee on the 31st ult^m packet, since when none of thy favors have come to my hands; the murder of those Indians on the Ohio has been since fully ascertained, and the enclosed copy of a letter from John Irwin will give thee a pretty clear view of that horrid transaction; he is a man of good character, and his account is therefore much to be depended on. It is ascerted that an express went to the Governor of Virginia with the account, but he has taken no notice thereof.

What I mentioned in one of my former letters, is now daily verifying; all this extensive Continent considers the port bill of Boston as striking essentially at the liberties of all North America, and the enclosed newspaper will give thee a specimen of their sentiments, in the resolution of the Virginians who have determined (tho' not public) to break off the rearing of more tobacco unless the grievances are redressed, and every man knows how this will affect the revenue of England; Maryland has followed the example, and almost all the counties of that province have entered into resolves. Pennsylvania is following on, and on the 15th a general meeting is to be held in this city, when its not doubted, that the greatest numbers will attend that was ever known on any occasion, a body of about 40 persons were together yesterday to propose the resolves for this grand meeting,—Our Governor has been petitioned by a large number to call the Assembly that they might unite with the other Assemblies in forming one General Congress, which he has refused to do; notwithstanding which I am clear, that a General Congress of Deputies from all the Colonys will take place this fall, and thereby will begin the formation of an union, which I am clear it will become Great Brittain so far to unite on as to form a constitutional connection between you and us, whereby a lasting cement will be effected.

We yesterday were informed by a coasting vessel that he had seen the fleet of men of war and soldiers going to Boston where no doubt they are arrived before this.—

I beg the favor of thy informing my Brother, that his connections are well (except our honoured father whose health seems much on the decline) and that I propose to write him by next packet if I find he is like to continue.

I remain with the sincerest esteem thy obliged friend

T. WHARTON.

NEWINGTON July 5, 1774.

DEAR BROTHER,

My last to thee per Capt F. of the 17th May I hope thou hast received, since when thy favor of the 6th April came to hand for which I thank thee, and we were pleased to find you had hopes soon of setting in motion your own affair, and we were confirmed in the prospect by a confirmation of the assurance given you by Lord Dartmouth, that he would write in His Majesty's name to L^d Dunmore forbidding the sale &c. of the Ohio lands. I mentioned that J. Tilghman and A. Allen were gone down to Virginia to try if possible to settle matters with Dunmore respecting the conduct of Dr Conolly, and they happening to be at Williamsburg when the dispatches by the April packet got there, his Lordship, (as A. Allen told me) could not help expressing with much warmth the receipt of those prohibitory orders, and it appeared that he was much disappointed in not being able to serve himself and some others by locating a large track; and when they found their schemes were thus frustrated, they openly denied the quality of the land, this however could avail but little with any judicious man; but the consequences flowing from the barbarous murders committed by Michael Cressup and Baker are likely to have the most serious tendency as the Indians have taken up the hatchet against the English, and killed a number of people; its said that upwards of 200 families have already left their settlements, with all the prospect of fine and plentiful crops, and in the utmost confusion fled to the interior parts of Virginia and this province; by these most wicked acts of Cressup, Baker and some others, the rapid settlement of Vandalia is greatly checked, and great numbers of industrious, usefull people driven to the utmost despair.—Some do not hesitate to say that, a certain Lord must have been at the bottom, in order if possible to drive thy friends from our scheme, that he with a few others might step in and get the prize, as it was conceived that our great friends at home would not think a country worth obtaining which lay constantly open to the attacks of a wild ferocious enemy, and thou’l find observation hinted at in a letter I lately enclosed to Thomas Walpole from John Irwin to R. Callender, so serious is this important affair grown, that notwithstanding L^d Dunmore dissolved his Assembly some weeks since, to hinder them from taking the affairs of the Bostonians into their consideration, yet he has on these Indian allarms, issued writ for a new election, which comes on in as short a day as possible.—Our Governor has also summoned our Assembly to meet the 18th inst: to take Indian affairs into their consideration, and thou may be assured, that at a time he wished to do nothing that might offend administration he would not have called the house, and thereby given them an opportunity constitutionally to unite with the other Colonies, had not this most pressing necessity obliged him to it, and I am therefore very unhappy in being necessitated to inform thee of matters so very disagreeable as the certainty of an Indian war must be to us.—There were about 50 traders with all their property in the Indian country just ready to depart from thence when these wretches Cressup and Baker committed these murders, the consequence of which is the immediate loss of those traders lives with about £20,000 property belonging chiefly to some merchants in this city.—I have not received a letter from Col. Croghan for some considerable time, tho' I hear he is doing what he can to pacify the Indians, but all seems to little effect. Can it be possible that Government will let such men as Cressup and Baker go unpunished. Its said (and I believe with great truth) that Michael Cressup was making of large surveys at the time of this quarrel, and some do not hesitate to say, for a certain Lord; but whether true or not I cannot tell, I can assure thee that every information we can get very clearly proves the friendly disposition of the Indians, but it cannot be expected they will put up with such atrocious acts of vilany.—

Since my last, great have been the commotions on this continent, occasioned principally by the act of parliament for shutting up the port of Boston, and the prospect of other acts relative to that unhappy place, and be assured the whole continent will hereby be united in a stronger and more firm union than any thing which has heretofore happened could possibly effect, as thou no doubt peruses the several papers of this continent, they will inform thee of the general steps persueing to effect this grand measure. Virginia took the lead, and they fixed the 1st of August to meet in order to appoint deputies to attend the Congress, but as L^d Dunmore has called a new election, he no doubt means the House shall meet in a legislative capacity to do something relative to Indian affairs, when they will authoritatively appoint deputies for the Congress. The Carolinas and Maryland will do the same, and our Assembly, it cannot remain as a doubt will comply with the desire of their constituents in this point; the Jersey and New York have engaged to be ready; Rhode Island and Massachusetts have appointed their deputies, and the latter fixed on the first of September to be the time of meeting and that the Congress sit in Philadelphia, hence thou sees the great probability of an American Union taking place, and I dare say thou'lt join with me in believing it would be happy could our parent state assist us in thus establishing a Constitutional Union betwixt her and us, she appointing a supreme magistrate to reside on this continent, who, with a fixed number from each House of Assembly should form an upper legislature to control the general affairs of this continent, and who would be a proper check to the forward or ambitious views of any one colony.—The intent of this congress, is to endeavour to form a constitutional plan for the government of America, dutifully to petition the King, and remonstrate to parliament relative to various acts of trade, the several acts respecting the Massachusetts government, and if possible to point out such heads that we may unite with the mother country in a constitutional Union; and I suppose it will then be considered how far a general nonexportation, and nonimportation will be proper for the Colonies to engage in, should relief not be granted to the prayer of the Americans.—

Thou may somewhat admire to see my name among the Committee lately appointed at a grand meeting of our citizens, as thou knows I have for some years declined taking an active part in public measures, but I shall freely say that the inducements to me on this extraordinary occasion were the solicitations of great numbers of my fellow citizens, and a sincere desire in myself to keep the transactions of our city within the limits of moderation and not indecent or offensive to our parent state.—When the affairs of Boston became very serious by the passing of the portbill the committee consisting of 19 who were chosen some time since, thought it not prudent of themselves to prepare resolves &c. for a general county meeting (which was strenuously insisted on) they selected 6 persons from each society in this city, to unite with them in considering and preparing those resolves, when as many attended, increased the number to about 60 persons; at this meeting J Dickenson (one of the committee) produced a number of resolves, some of which were expressed in terms we could not approve of, and therefore after debates which lasted for 10 or 12 hours, we took off all the acrimonious parts and reduced them to the printed ones enclosed; but thou'l find that those published in our newspapers as agreed at the general meeting is somewhat different; on the whole as I cannot pretend to give in the course of a letter a circumstantial detail of those transactions let it suffice, that, I say, our only motive for meeting was to keep the peace of the city and as much as possible to hinder any thing from being done that could tend to influence or insense Great Britain against us, as we are abundantly convinced that our happiness depends on a strict union with her on constitutional principles, and we hope the great among you will be convinced of the propriety of this union, and grant their assistance to a measure which if well executed, must tend greatly to the prosperity of both countries.

Thy family are well—our honoured father continues very low and I very much fear his continuance with us.

I am thy affe^o Brother

T. WHARTON.

P. S. Thy letter of 6th May with the act of Parliament respecting Quebec and that to J Dobson and Co is just come to hand—the packet not yet arrived. Where will matters terminate.

NEWINGTON Aug: 2. 1774.

DEAR FRIEND,

My last of the 10th June I hope came safe to hand since when I had the pleasure of thy favor of May 4th for which I thank thee.—The sentiments it contains do honour to the author, and I hope the day is not far off when the foundation will be laid whereon a substantial and permanent union between Great Britain and her Colonies will be established, as this union cannot be durable unless fixed on constitutional principles, I trust our great ones with you will not take umbrage at the Congress which has been formed to collect the united sentiments of all America on this great point and in which the utmost degree of harmony prevails among us; and I cannot entertain the most distant doubt but that it is the desire of this continent and will be one principal object of that body to manifest to our parent state the most sincere disposition to continue with her in the strictest harmony and friendship, notwithstanding some very violent and base publications have issued from the pen of men who are unworthy of the connection we bear with you, but I know I am writing to so good a judge of mankind, that he will not blend the virtuous of an extended continent with a few whose [illegible] prove them unfit for the members of civil society. The Boston portbill with the other two acts of parliament relative to that place, have aroused this whole continent and thou'ld find by all their proceedings that they consider Boston as suffering in the common cause of America, these sentiments have naturally produced the several measures which have been pursued, and by the accounts received we find that South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, the three lower counties on Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts Bay and New Hampshire have all actually appointed deputies to attend the Congress to be held in this city the beginning of September next, and we can have no doubt but that North Carolina and Georgia will also attend by their deputies. Hence thou sees, that what I sometime since mentioned will clearly take place, and I am sure as I can be of any thing not perfected, that if our parent state will but meet us on such grounds as becomes her dignity and our affinity to her, all will be happy, and perhaps through a union of counsels difference in sentiment which for some part has subsisted, may have the happy tendency of striking out a path of procedure for both countries which may not only secure their future good will towards each other but confirm to all the world that we are bone of your bone, and consider the freedom of one country as the sure pledge of the other.

By a vessel belonging to R^d Neave which I expect will sail in 10 days I intend to forward for thy amusement and information a number of our papers as thou'll thereby be fuller informed of what has been doing on this continent than the limits of a letter will admit of, thou'l no doubt see my name in the list of our Committee, and I can truly say, that, the only motive I had in undertaking a service which I knew would be very arduous and therefore disagreeable, was that I might contribute as far as possible in keeping my fellow citizens from proceeding to declarations and measures inconsistent with their duty and true interest, and I do not repent the time I spent therein, although I cannot approve of all of the resolves entered into, nor of the instructions delivered to our members of Assembly; a few of us on that committee protested against the violent and therefore unworthy parts of them, and the opposition to which cost many hours, for altho' we are satisfied, if the freedom of America is taken away, that of England will not continue long; yet we are equally convinced that decent and loyal expressions, with a firm attachment to the Constitutional principles of an englishman, would better become us, than any other mode that could be adopted; and indeed I know the general sentiments of the people on this continent, is that of true and faithful subjects to our Gracious Sovereign George the Third, and who in the most ardent manner wish a preservation of that ancient harmony, which subsisted between you and us, but yet they cannot admit of the possibility of our being represented by the Commons of Great Brittain, and therefore, that, constitutionally they can have no right to take our money from us.

Among the papers I shall send thee will be the votes of our Assembly, herein thou'l perceive the sentiments respecting the unhappy differences which have taken place between the Virginians and Indians, owing, we have too much reason to believe to the disposition of L^d D. to get possession of the lands on the Ohio, that he and a few others might garble up what quantities they thought proper; but I have the happiness to believe they will be disappointed therein. L^d Dunmore (as published in the Virginia papers) left Williamsburg on the 11th ult^o for Fort Pitt, in order, (as its said) to settle with the natives, and if possible to restore peace and tranquility to the unhappy but industrious poor who have settled along the banks of the Ohio, he will, if he is sincere in the measure, very easily accomplish the necessary work, as there has been treaties held by Col. Croghan and Capt McKee with the several tribes of Indians in that quarter, all of whom have engaged to continue their friendship with us, except the Shawanese, who were the tribe that suffered by the baseness and horrid murders committed by Michael Cressup and his party, yet its not doubted but a present to them will effect the salutary purpose, and restore peace along our extended frontier. Col. Croghan forwarded me the copy of a treaty, which tho' several sheets of paper, I thought might be acceptable, and therefore have caused the same to be transcribed, and which shall be forwarded to thee.

This packet will convey to you an account of the irreparable loss the nation has met with in the sudden and unexpected death of that great man Sir W^m Johnson about the 11th of last month. It seems he had just had a conference with a large body of Indians on the murders committed by Cressup &c:—and that he happily induced them to remain in quiet with us, but just as they were taking leave of him, he was seized with the Bilious Cholic, which in a few hours put a period to his stay in this life.

I remain &c &c

T. WHARTON

NEWINGTON August 20. 1774.

DEAR FRIEND THOMAS WALPOLE,

I did myself the pleasure on the 2nd inst. per packet to write thee, and a few days after (by a vessel from hence to London addressed to Hartford & Powell) I sent thee a number of newspapers with the Votes of our Assembly and the proceedings at Fort Pitt relative to an accommodation with the Indians, these papers were directed to the Captains particular care, to be delivered to those gentlemen without cost of postage, which I hope as well as the one per packet will soon reach thy hands; altho' I have not had the pleasure of any of thy favors since that of May I could not avoid transmitting thee, the extraordinary resolves and instructions of the Virginians. And it appears to me they have proceeded further in this declaration than any of the other Colonies, and indeed much further than, I think, was prudent or just for them to do, but who shall say, thus far you shall proceed and no further, yet I trust when the wisdom of this continent is united in Congress they will pursue such measures as shall convince you of our firm and sincere attachment to a Constitutional connection with the parent state, both parts supporting its legal and just rights.—Some of the delegates from South Carolina are already arrived, and I doubt not by the 10th September the Congress will sit, when I shall have it in my power regularly to inform thee of the steps they shall take.

As I find a disposition is strongly prevalent in most of the Colonies, that a nonimportation from Great Britain shall take place, I am very jealous that the Congress will be compelled to adopt this measure, perhaps to commence the 1st January 1775, and I do believe it will be attended with the most positive and strict observance, you best know how far this will affect your true interests and perhaps our great ones may find they had better never have compelled the Americans to adopt this measure.—

Let those who write to please ministers of State, say what they may, be assured of a truth, that the Colonies from one end of the continent to the other, consider the proceedings against Boston as levelled at each of them, and they do also consider the act (in its present form) for establishing the Government of Quebec, as the greatest departure from the English constitution of any ever yet attempted; and fear that its meant and intended to keep the body of inhabitants of that province, as auxiliaries, to reduce both the laws and people of every other Colony; some of our polititians ask, how comes it that this act should comprehend a territory so much larger than that which was ceded by France; when by a reverse of the chances of war to that of the last, that country may be taken by the French, who then will not be content with the limits she surrendered to us, but will insist upon the limits ascertained and fixed by this very act of parliament.

A report strongly prevails here that Gen^l Gage has requested leave to return home or resign his commission.—I am told that upwards of £20,000 is and will be sent to Boston for the relief of her distressed inhabitants

I am with the sincerest esteem and regard thy real friend

(N. B. I did not sign this letter.).

PHILADELPHIA Sept 3. 1774.

DEAR FRIEND,

Since my last of — ult^o none of your favors has reached me.—

I had the satisfaction a few days since of receiving per Brother Samuel a letter, and agreeable to which I have sent Joseph Dobson to Georgetown on Potomack with instructions to remain there and take care of the goods; I have not as yet heard of their arrival, nor will it be prudent to send them to the westward until a peace is established between the Virginians and Indians. Its certain that Lord Dunmore has gone to the westward, and its said with desire to restore peace, but as yet no proceedings of his which have such a tendency, has come to our hands; a few days since I delivered to one Mathias Bush (who will be heard of at Moses Franks) a packet for an America pamphlet and an account of the proceedings of some of the Virginia troops against the Indians.—

I now enclose the extract of a letter which I received from Col. Croghan by which thou'lt perceive the horrid situation which the base acts of some of the Virginians has thrown the western country into, and on receipt of which letter I applied to the Governors Secretary and endeavoured to convince him of the necessity that some goods should be sent, but he replied that they had sent several belts to the Indians and had reason to hope that they would be prevailed on not to join with the Shawnese in the war, but as Col. Croghan writes in such strong terms that a general war would absolutely follow if some steps were not taken, and that if I would send him 50,000 of black and white wampum he would do his utmost to prevent the spreading of the war, I consulted my father and we were of opinion that the proprietors of Vandalia would not hesitate one moment in approving the propriety of the measures; I therefore purchased the quantity of Wampum and sent it by John Campbell as he requested, the cost being £75 is charged with the £160, advanced in January last to the proprietors, and so those informed me that I might reimburse myself by a draft on thee, therefore I shall in a few days sell a Bill on thee for about £135 sterling for that purpose and which I doubt not thou'lt answer and that my conduct herein will be agreeable to the proprietors with you.

I have now enclosed thee a list of the delegates for the several provinces all of whom are arrived, and in a few days a piece will be published pointing out more strongly the reasons why the Americans are not represented in parliament, than any piece yet printed has done and which I shall endeavour to forward for thy perusal, some of the members attending were very warm, others more moderate and I should conclude after certain resolves they will proceed to what they conceive the Constitutional rights of America, and appoint certain persons to accompany those performances to Great Britain and lay the same before the King and Parliament hereby endeavouring to begin the establishment of that harmony which we sincerely wish was restored between you & us. I am at a loss to determine whether the Congress will advise the entering into a general non importation agreement immediately, or whether they will advise the waiting the issue of our application for redress, provided a final answer should be given within a few months; severe & disagreeable indeed are the circumstances attending those measures and those who wish well to both countries lament the bad policy in Agitating this matter; however its generally thought that the principles of the Quebec law as its so abhorrent to the English constitution will tend to raise us friends with you especially if it should appear that our requests are not derogatory to your just rights.

I remain &c.—

TO THOMAS WALPOLE

PHILADELPHIA Sept 23rd 1774.

DEAR FRIEND,

It is truly very disagreeable to find with what determined obstinacy the crown lawyers have delayed their report on the papers establishing the Government of Vandalia. We think it impossible but that their conduct must be influenced by some secret and weighty opposers or they would not thus long have kept us from the completion of so just a contract, but it has afforded the proprietors here the highest satisfaction to peruse the just and spirited memorial you have presented to His Majesty. The weight of the personages who presented it, with the strong and pointed facts it contains will certainly effect what we wish, or drag into view the secret opposer to it, whence you will be enabled to determine with precision what steps next to pursue.

As I am on the subject of Vandalia, I cannot omit to give thee a detail of a very singular anecdote which I yesterday was favored with by Mr Henry one of the delegates from Virginia attending the Congress, he is a gentleman of the fairest character, an eminent lawyer, and man of great abilities; he called at my house to breakfast with me, and we soon entered into conversation respecting the new Colony, as he was very desirous of knowing the general tenor of the Constitution I gave him, to which he said, that on those general and catholic principles there could not be the least doubt, but that it would settle at a most rapid rate; I told him it certainly would had not their Governor (L^d Dunmore) taken up arms against the Indians, which created war between them and us, and consequently drove the inhabitants from the new Colony, who were making very great improvements. He replied, L^d Dunmore is your greatest friend, what he is doing will forever hereafter, secure the peace of your colony, by driving the Indians to an amazing distance from you; I opposed this by such arguments as occurred, and put some leading questions to discover if possible the real intentions of Dunmore for prosecuting this unjust war, and was happy enough to succeed; he replied that he was well acquainted with the secret springs of this affair, and knew it would ultimately tend in the greatest happiness to the proprietors of Vandalia. I then begged him to explain himself as we were really ignorant thereof; on which he said, that he was at Williamsburg with L^d D. when Dr Conolly first came there, that Conolly is a chatty, sensible man, and informed L^d Dunmore of the extreme richness of the lands which lay on both sides the Ohio; that the prohibitory orders which had been sent him relative to the land on the hither side (or Vandalia) had caused him to turn his thoughts to the opposite shore, and that as his Lordship was determined to settle his family in America he was really pursueing this war, in order to obtain by purchase or treaty from the natives a tract of territory on that side; he then told me that he was convinced from every authority that the law knew, that a purchase from the natives was as full and ample a title as could be obtained, that they had Lord Camden and Mr York's opinion on that head, which opinion with some others that L^d Dunmore had consulted, had with the knowledge Conolly had given him of the quality of the country and his determined resolution to settle his family on this continent, were the real motives or springs of the present expedition. This gentleman then asked me, if I knew where he could buy some Indian goods, I told him where, but said, its not possible you mean to enter the Indian trade at this period. He laughingly said, the wish-world is my hobby horse, from whence I conclude, he has some prospect of making a purchase of the natives, but where I know not. It seems he has a survey on the Ohio, just below the Scioto; he also said, that he with other lawyers had been consulted on the right the crown had to make our grant, or it was within the limits of Virginia their grant was, that the crown had an undoubted right to grant the territory of Vandalia and that we should have no opposition he believed from Virginia. I believe it will be best to keep this gentleman's name private, lest this free communication should injure him.

The just and affectionate sentiments thou art pleased to express both with respect to Great Britain and her colonies affords me the most sensible satisfaction, and I am happy to find my sentiments on the propriety of an established & constitutional union between both countries, supported by the great abilities of my worthy friend, and I trust that the determinations of this congress will meet the approbation of the good and wise among you.—By a rule established at the opening of the Congress, we cannot get copies of their proceedings, but my intimacy with the leading members of most of the colonies, gives me an opportunity in conversation of knowing their daily results, and as they by a grand committee of 24 members, have for 10 days past been digesting and framing the rights of American liberty but having not yet reported it to the body of the Congress, I can only say that so far as they have proceeded gives me satisfaction, as they step along on principles founded in the British rights; and I do expect, that, before they break up, they will form the rights into a system, and present them to the King and parliament, supported by gentlemen named by them, and perhaps confirmed by each Assembly, these gentlemen will, I trust arrive with you before Christmas; this mode I find was anciently and successfully practised by the Roman colonies.—Its strongly insisted on that we should immediately proceed to a total stoppage of trade with England, Ireland, and the West Indies, but its not possible to say what will be the result of the Congress on that head, but I may venture to conclude it will be either the preceeding mode, or that of a total stoppage, should not American grievances be redressed within some limited time after the Continental delegates shall have presented their remonstrance; the enclosed papers from the congress relative to the merchants delaying their orders for goods, will justify the above conjectures.

I will just mention a word or two respecting Boston, it appears to us from every circumstance that the people conduct themselves with great moderation and firmness, and the enclosed papers will full satisfy thee, that their Governor is in fear, and indeed well he may, considering he has undertaken to distroy their liberties. Its said he will not have above 2500 or 3000 troops with him to oppose amazing numbers, I am well informed that within 3 days after the alarm raised by Col. Putnam there was 40,000 men in arms from Massachusetts and Connecticut colonies only. —

What shall I say with respect to Gov Franklin? he certainly must be lost to every principle which his aged and honoured father has been for years supporting, and as it's said the substance of his letter to W^m Strahan of May 21st is written to others, it is become very much known in this city, and in proportion thereto, his character is treated with great freedom, and it must be supposed that, as the minister will find both his and Hutchison's information not turn out true, Gov Franklin cannot receive any permanent advantage from thus imposing on them, and betraying the place of their nativity.

The vessel staying longer than expected enabled me to add under the 28th that yesterday the Congress went into the consideration of the propriety of a nonimportation from Great Britain and Ireland, when it was agreed to stop all manner of imports from those kingdoms until our grievances are redressed, and I should imagine that as its the result of delegates from every province on the continent (Georgia excepted who has always engaged to observe the resolution of the body) that, there is the utmost reason to believe it will be strictly adhered to. The newspapers I have enclosed will give some general prospect of matter, but when and where things will terminate is beyond my sight to determine. I most ardently desire that the well wishers of both countries may be enabled to unite in such a manner, as to restore and preserve the peace and happiness which once subsisted.

thy real friend

PHILAD^D Sept 23. 1774.

DEAR BROTHER,

Thy several favors about the 23^d July by Capt All I had the satisfaction of receiving a few days past, with the Memorial to the King &c for all which I thank thee and as I am much engaged, and almost hourly called upon by some of the delegates, it will hinder me of answering by this opportunity the particular parts of thy several letters, and thou must take this as only flying hints. I have now wrote our friend Thomas Walpole pretty fully which letter I doubt not he will freely communicate to thee, the anecdote respecting L^d Dunmore is I think curious and worthy of your attention, tho' perhaps it may be best to keep the gentlemen's name from whom I got it a secret.

That letter respecting G. F. is truly a very extraordinary one, and as the substance of it has by other letters been brought to this place, that he wrote to W^m Strahan is much known and talked of. It has reached Governour Franklins ears, who has sent down here to know from whom such letters come, and I have seen one he has written to J. G. wherein he says, he has only wrote a letter to Mr Strahan, and that it was a confidential letter not to be shown to any one, and refers to a more particular letter he had wrote to his Brother Bache for an explanation of his conduct, but I am not quite clear whether its in the letter to Bache or J. G. that he says the letter was entirely confidential, and that he had forbid Mr Strahan to shew it to any person whatever. He no doubt has done his business here, but certainly our friend Strahan will be obliged to justify himself against the Gov^{rs} declaration that it was a confidential letter &c.—and may be under the necessity of giving a copy thereof to exculpate himself from the publishing this letter; be that as it may it affords a severe sting to the author, and I am assured that the Doctor has wrote his son about it, and do not know what he may say more than that Mr Strahan had never shewn it to him, tho' he found it was very public.—

We are very uneasy about thy absence, and the cruel disappointment thou has again witnessed, and cannot help concluding that some forcible cause hinders the Att^y General from reporting, and that stronger than his own sentiments; the measure you have adopted of presenting a Memorial to the King, especially as its headed by such great men, it will undoubtedly bring into view your secret enemies or complete your contract; its here generally believed that Gage is and has been your fixed enemy, but I should think it impossible that he could have sufficient weight there essentially to injure you.

The very cruel and unjust attacks made by Rawle and Footman gives us great anxiety. I have shewn thy letter to several of the Trustees, and they declare it a shame, and as soon as this vessel is gone J Reynell & myself will go into the country to B. Rawle (where he now lives) and endeavor to get him to withdraw the action if not already done as he promised me on my first application; I have been with R^d

Footman, who is much concerned at the affair, but said it was not in his power to help it; they were greatly indebted to J. Samuel whose affairs were in the hands of assignees, and they declared they could get the money of thee and compelled him to deliver the accounts. We shall I expect in 10 days have a meeting of the Trustees to settle what money is in the hands of Abel James, and to make a dividend thereof, when I shall not fail to lay before them the state of those matters, and to do every thing in my power for thy safety, but I have never had the least help from any of thy connections and therefore at times lays very heavy on me, but I am willing to do all I can for thee.

I have the satisfaction to tell thee that by a letter I received from Thomas Richardson of the 15th instant I find the Brig^t Rogers was arrived and that they had got near one half the goods stored, but that the packages were so numerous, that it was with difficulty he could find sufficient stores for them, unless I should receive other orders from thee.—

That part of my letter to T. Walpole relative L^d Dunmore will satisfy thee that the Indian goods must remain in store for some time, as we have as yet no certainty of peace.

About a week since the Indian King Kayasuta was with me, and told me he had been as low as the Illinois in order to settle and preserve the friendship of the Indians with us; he is now gone to Johnson Hall with belts from the nations, for order to holding of a grand treaty with the Indians in the spring, at or near which time it may be best perhaps to present your gifts, and before which I sincerely pray thy business may be effected and thyself arrived.

It is with abundant pleasure that I received the copy of the note from L^d Chatham to thee, as it evinces us of the great connections thou hast formed. We have as yet no account of L^d Pitts arrival at Quebec but whenever he approaches this city, I shall not fail to wait on him, and render him all the services in my power, and I dare say that every true American will try to surpass his fellow country man in showing to the son of the greatest patriot and friend to the liberty of both Brittain and her colonies, every possible mark of esteem & regard.

The Congress yesterday agreed to an absolute and full nonimportation agreement from England, Scotland and Ireland to take place the first of December. In this measure the whole continent by their delegates have agreed unanimously to continue until our grievances are redressed.— I can only hint at matters as I am much pinched for time, the principal part of Congress dining with me this day.

I remain thy affec^e Brother

T. WHARTON.

PHILADELPHIA Decem^b. 21, 1774.

DEAR BROTHER SAMUEL WHARTON,

I refer thee to my last of the 10th per Capt Ward to London, yesterday the November packet arrived but to our mortification not a line was received from thee and had it not been for the kind letter from our friend Thomas Walpole, we should have feared that something very distressful had attended you.

This day the remains of Deborah Franklin the wife of our greatly esteemed friend B. Franklin will be interred.— She died on the 19th having lately been struck with a fit of the palsey, which deprived her of the use of her speech, tho' not of her senses. As the family will be distressed at this unexpected event, perhaps they may not write by this conveyance; it will be but kind and right for thee to convey this intelligence to our friend.

It seems to be the expectation of a number of our sensible fellow citizens, that this port as well as all the rest on this continent will be shut up. Indeed last night a report prevailed here that orders for that purpose were arrived to Gen^r Gage which caused our offices to be open very late last night, as the harbor is full of shipping, but what will be the issue time must tell us. As I pretty well know the disposition of the colonists, I fear the worst. This days post brought us an account, that one of the men of war from England destined for Boston was drove ashore in a snow storm as she was approaching the coast, and its supposed will be lost. I have the clearest account from Boston that the people of property are doing every thing in their power to keep things from coming to extremity, and, as for the laboring poor, they have not known such plenty of money among them for many years, which is occasioned by the sums daily spent by the Army & Navy.

I remain thy affec^e Brother

THOS. WHARTON.

PHILADELPHIA, January 18, 1775.

DEAR FRIEND,

I have the satisfaction of receiving thy favor of the — last, accompanying the books for our Hospital all of which were received in good order, except that on examining them we found you had omitted sending one which the invoice mentions, and if I mistake not about 4/ value.

I should by this conveyance have forwarded thee a certificate under the seal of our corporation, but thy leaving the donation to my judgment, and it rather appearing from the face of thy letter, that thou supposed it to be an annual contribution, I was totally at a loss to conclude what sum might be agreeable, I would just mention that by the constitution of our hospital all persons contributing £10, and upwards, are entitled to all the privileges and immunities thereof. I assure thee great have been the advantages which English seamen & others have received from this institution without fee or reward. So sensible of its importance have been D. Barklay and a number of others of thy fellow citizens that they have contributed £100 sterling each to this charity. I shall therefore wait thy further directions on this head. The enclosed letter from Ed Biddle will satisfy thee that I have not been unmindly of that part of thy interest, & I expect it will not be long before I shall receive it.

By some of the English papers I had the particular satisfaction to find that the public had called upon my friend Strahan to afford his assistance in the public cause, and as I have no doubt that the exertion of thy extensive abilities will be greatly useful to the parent State so I entreat thee to turn thy attention to her children, to believe that the good people of this continent do not wish a separation from you, but their most ardent desires are for the restoration and continuance of that harmony which a few years since subsisted between you and us. A difference in our local circumstances there certainly is and if a plan can now be proposed by the wisdom of parliament to call forth in cases of emergency the strength of the whole body or empire, preserving the freedom of its respective parts it will give a vast majority on the Continent the most comprehensive joy.

THOS. WHARTON.

G. O. HEAD QUARTERS June 6th 1777

Major Gen^l for tomorrow Lord Sterling
Brigadier ——— Conway
Field Officers Col^o E. Stephens & Maj^r Taliaferro
Brig^r Major ——— Smith.

Gen^l Lincolns division is to furnish the Guards for the Quibble Town & Lincolns pass (or mount pleasant) and to be excused from furnishing men for the other Guards and as it would be inconvenient for the Gen^l field Officers of the Day for the line to visit these Guards, Gen^l Lincoln and his Officers are excused from doing duty by rotation with the other divisions of the Army. Gen^l Lincoln is to establish a grand parade for his division to assemble his Guards at, & appoint Field Officers to visit the Guards by day and night.

He is to send a daily report of all extraordinary Occurrences in his division to the Major Gen^l of the day.

When Quarter Masters or Commissaries are guilty of a neglect or breach of duty if they are attached to the Brigades a report to be made to the Brigadier—who is to order a Court of inquiry & report the proceedings if the charge is supported to the Maj^r Gen^l of the day, if they are not so attach'd the complaint to be lodg'd with the Maj^r Gen^l of the division who will order a Court of inquiry and receive a report of their Proceedings. The report in both Cases to be submitted to the Com^r in Chief who will take care that all offenders do not go unpunished. Regm^l Q^r

Masters not included in these orders who are subject to the same rules with the other Regm^l Officers. The morning Gun at day break to be a signal for the Revelle and the Evening Gun at Sun set a signal for the retreat. The Officers of the Q^r Guards are to March immediately after beating in each Reg^{ts} in the order heretofore prescribed. M^r Hezekiah Stoakes by recommendation of the field Officers of the 8th Virg^a Reg^t is appointed Paymaster thereof. A fatigue party of 100 Men with a Proportion of Officers to parade tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock at the Q^r M. Gen^l Quarters to take their orders from Maj^r Gen^l Green.

Maj^r Gen^l Green's division to practice by actual firing this afternoon at 4 o'clock, in this and all like cases, before the men begin to fire their Arms to be critically examined by the Officers to see that they are not loaded with Ball, also attention to be paid to their having their Catridges so disposed as to be in no danger through hurry of their making up of their Catridges charg'd with Ball instead of the others. Accidents will be imputed to the carlessness of the Officers and they made to account for it. Lieut. Myers tried by a Court Martial of the 3rd Instant for behaving in a scandalous & infamous Manner unworthy of the Character of an Officer & Gent^m in Getting drunk and abusing the Col^o & the rest of the Officers of the Reg^t he belongs to & acquitted. The Comm^r in Chief is sorry he is obliged to descent from the sentence but as he cannot conceive from the face of the evidence what reason could influence the acquittal, he is under the disagreeable necessity of desiring a reconsideration of the matter.

G. O.

HEAD QUARTERS June 7th 1777

Maj^r Gen^l for tomorrow Stephens
Brig^r for the day tomorrow Maxwell
F^d Officers Col^o Spencer & Maj^r Nicholas
Brigade Major Wetherspoon.

As the Army is now on a permanent & hoñble footing & as the Gen' has the Credit of it very much at heart, he expects that every Officer on whom the importance of this Contest and a regard to his own honour or duty are sufficiently impress'd will lend their aid to support the character of it. To this end nothing can be more effectual than a close attention to discipline & subordination and particularly in an exact obedience to G. O. which is the Life of an Army.

Officers should consider that a repetition of orders is the highest reflection on those who are the Causes of it. An orderly Book is a record in the hands of thousands of the transactions of the Army and consequently the disgrace of those whose insensibility of the obligations they are under and want of a manly emulation of temper oblige the Comm^r in Chief to publish their misconduct by repeating his calls upon them to discharge their duty. The Gen' appeals to the understanding of every Officer and earnestly recommends to serious Consideration of these matters. Their engagement with the Publick their own honour & Salvation of their Country demand it. The Gen' wishes it on these acc^{ts} and for their own ease and satisfaction, for as nothing is more easy to conduct an Army, where a chearful & ready Obedience is paid to every order, so nothing is more difficult and embarrassing where a careless licentious & disorderly Spirit prevails. This much is said to lead Gentⁿ into a proper train of thinking on the subject & to engage their Judgment & feelings on the side of their duty. But it is at the same time necessary to subjoin that punishment & disgrace will attend those who will not be influenced by more hoñble means.

Cap^{ts} should make it a point that every order respecting their Comp^y is complied with, Col^{os} should do the same in their Reg^{ts}, Brig^{rs} in their Brigades, Maj^r Gen^{ls} in their Divisions. No officer should implicitly trust to another, but each perform his own Part, & see that those under him do theirs, this being the case every thing would go on smoothly & well, but while the Contrary is practiced, and every Officer is glad to throw the irksome drudgery of obedience upon his inferior, nothing but disorder and ruin can ensue. No Officer to be absent from Camp without a Furlough from his Brig^r nor in that case for more than ten days at a time. The Adj^t Gen^l will furnish each Brig^r applying with printed furloughs for the purpose which alone are to be used. Deserters are to be immediately sent to the Maj^r Gen^l of the Day, the person conducting them not to permit them to stop any where, to answer any Questions shall be made them.

The Comm^r in Chief approves the following sentences of a Court Martial held the 4th Ins^t and Orders their immediate execution, the Prisoners mentioned in the above as well as in former orders who are Yet in the guard house to be taken out by their Respective Reg^{ts} and receive their punishment on the Brigade Parade.

An orderly Serg^t from each Brigade to attend at the Gen^{ls} Quarters they are to bring their provision with them.

D. O. The Brig^o Major to make a weekly return to the Gen^l the same time they do to the Adj^t Gen^l. Mr. Brown being assign'd Commissary to this Division the different Reg^{ts} will draw their Provision from him accordingly. A corporal and 6 Privates to be furnished from the two Brigades daily for the Commissary's Guard, one day by Gen^l Muhlenburghs next by Gen^l Weedons.

After Orders.

Three men from each of the following Brigades Viz Maxwells, Muhlenburghs, Weedons, Woodfords, Scotts & Conways, to parade tomorrow at Guard Mounting at the Q. M. G.^s as a guard for the Commiss^{ys} Cattle, the party to be commanded by a Subaltern Officer and relieved daily till further orders, the Officers to be furnished in rotation from the different Brigades begining with Maxwells.

Maj^r General for tomorrow . . . Green
 Brig^e Muhlenburgh
 Field Officers Col^o Ogden L^t Col^o Seayers
 Brig^e Major Piers
 Guards and Fatigue as Yesterday.

By intelligence from different Quarters there is much reason to believe the enemy are on the eve of some important Operation. This makes it absolutely necessary that the whole Army should hold themselves in readiness to move at a moments warning and for that purpose they are to be always furnished with three days Provision ready cook'd. Officers to take care the men cary their own packs and to suffer none but invalids to put their arms or packs into the Waggon, the Q. M. G. to settle with the Brigadiers the proper allowance of Waggon for their respective Brigades and to furnish them or make up any Deficiency immediately. All arms delivered out of the Public Store or purchased by Officers for the use of the Continent, to be branded without loss of time agreeable to former orders, for the future none but printed Furloughs to be given to Soldiers, any Soldier absent from his Corps, with only a written furlough, will be taken up, his furlough deem'd a forgery this to be advertised in the Public papers of each State. A return to be made tomorrow of the Captains in each Brigade specifying where they are.

Dan^l Hayley of the 3rd New Jersey Reg^t charg'd with deserting from his Reg^t and Inlisting into the 10th Pensilv^a Reg^t to receive 25 Lashes.

Sam^l Allison of the 3rd Virg^a Reg^t charg'd with deserting from his Reg^t & Enlisting into the 10th Pensilv^a Reg^t to receive 20 Lashes. John Bybricker of the German Battalion charg'd with desertion & inlisting in another Reg^t the sentence postponed for further evidence.

The duty of the Maj^r Gen^l to begin at the mounting of the Guards and to end at the same time next day. The Comm^s Officer of each Corps, to keep an Ammunition Acc^t with their Men & make them pay for all that is wantingly wasted. Cap^{ts} of Companies to keep a List of their Mens Clothes and have them carefully exam^d every Saturday. A Soldier shall not presume to sell any part of his Clothes upon any pretence whatever. The Prisoners under sentence of death to prepare for Execution tomorrow at 12 o'clock. The whole army except Gen^l Lincolns Division is to be assembled for this purpose near the Artillery Park. The Criminals is to be attended with such Chaplains as they chuse.

As there is plenty of French and common Sallid, Lambs Quarter & Water Creeses growing about Camp, and as these Vegetables are very conducive to health, and to prevent the scurvy and all putrid disorders, the Gen^l recommends to the Soldiers, the constant use of them, as they make an agreeable Sallid & have the most Selectary Effect.

The Regm^l Officer of the day to send to gather them every morning & have them distributed among the Men. A Detachm^t of 3 Cap^{ts}, 6 Sub. 6 Serg^{ts} & 150 men to parade this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Artillery park with three days Provision, to be commanded by Maj^r Wiltner who will receive his orders from Brigadier Gen^l Maxwell.

CAMP AT MIDDLE BROOKE, June 9th

After Orders.

One field Officer 4 Cap^{ts} & Subalterns & 200 Privates from Gen^l Stevens division to parade immediately with their arms &c^a and march to Steels Gap to Execute a Piece of work, the Comm^s Officer will send to the Q. M. G. for 200 Axes. One Cap^t 2 Sub. & 50 Privates from each Gen^l Mughlenburghs & Weedons Brigade to parade for the same purpose and march with axes to the same place.

The movements of this Army either for offensive or defensive measures will be sudden whenever they happen consequently no time can be allowed to draw or Cook provision it may not be amiss therefore to remind the Officers of the necessity of having the men provided agreeable to the order of 8th Ins^t. and the Commissary is desired if possible to furnish Biscuits and salt provision for this purpose which the men may keep by them, and continue to draw their usual allowance, it has been so pressingly recommended to the Officers to have no unnecessary baggage with them, Though it is hoped the Army is entirely unencumbered with it, but if the case should be otherways the Gen^l desires that the Brigadiers will have it immediately moved, the Adj^t Gen^l will direct to what place after this notice. Officers are not to be surpris'd if heavy Boxes, great Bedsteads &c are left in the field, a very small Escort from the whole line will be necessary to guard the Baggage sent of pursuant to this order to be composed of the most indifferent, but under the care of a careful Officer. The Gen^l is informed that Complain^s are made by the inhabitants nearest to the Enemies lines of Soldiers taking away their horses and other property, and that in many instances they are countenanced by the Officers under the idea of the Inhabitants being Tories. The Gen^l expressly orders a stop to be put to these proceedings, or those who are convicted of them will be brought to Exemplary punishment.

Such Inhabitants as are proper objects of Punishment will be dealt with in a Legal way, But no Officer or Soldier is to judge for himself and appropriate their property to their own use, or to seize it without proper orders. The Comm^r in Chief approves the following sentences of a

Brig ^e Major	Wetherspoon

The Gen^l thinks it necessary to establish the following regulations for Guards and hopes that Officers will consider them as the Rule of Practice and make themselves well acquainted with them, when any Guard arrives at the Post assign'd it the Officers first care must be to plant his Sentries properly according to Circumstances, the Guard should remain under arms while this is doing, and if it be at an out post or any where near the Enemies Camps Temporary Sentries should be placed at a small distance to prevent surprize, while the Commis^s Officer Reconnoiters the situation of the Post to know where his Sentries should be plac'd for a continuance this is to be done in case the Ground has not before been Examined and Particular directions given about the matter, or in case he does not relieve some other Guard, but if he relieves another he is to receive all the orders given to the Officer of the guard in writing, which together with those he may have rec'd from the Brig^r & Field Officers of the day, he is punctually to observe if any difference between them arise he is to obey the latter in preference, he is immediately to send a party under a trusty Officer conducted by an Officer of the old Guard to relieve the Sentries thereof who are to return to the Guard they belong to, if the guard be of such a Nature as that other matters than the security of the Post are intrusted to it, they must be Continued in a written Report, and the Officer of the new accompanied by an Officer of the old must be sent to them in charge, comparing the things themselves with the report, and seeing that all is right the sentries of the old Guard having join'd it, the Officer to march it back to the Parade, from whence it came with the greatest order and Decorum and thence send of the Detachments composing it under an Officer to each to join their Corps preserving Regularity on the way, after placing his Sentries the Officer of the new Guard is to make the men lodge their arms first giving them the orders necessary to govern their conduct, care must be taken to lodge their arms in such a manner, that each man may have a recourse to his own in a moment without Bustle or Confusion in most cases it is best the arms were grounded on the grand Parade during the day no man is to put of his accountriments on any pretence, this done the Comm^s Officer attended by a couple of men is to visit all his Sentries to see that they are posted right and instruct them in the line of their duty, his next care is to take such precaution for the security of his Post, by forming Abbitus, digging Diches, raising parapits as Circumstances require to guard again surprise, or repel any sudden attempt he should make himself acquainted not only with all the Great Roads leading to the enemy or to the Army he belongs to, but he should search out every bye path and Avenue by which he may the more securly send his parties to Reconnoiture the Enemy or make his retreat good in any Emergency.

He should have scouting Parties all day and Patroles all Night going toward the enemy in his rear and upon his flanks to gain Intelligence of their Motions and timely notice of any attempt they may be making if this notice can be given without firing it will be best if not it must be done by firing the Scouts & Patroles retreating by way of the Sentries to alarm them. Visiting rounds should be going all night to see that the Sentries are at their Post alert & acquainted with every particular of their Duty. The break of day being the most favorable time for an attack or surprises, a Good Officer will be careful to turn out his Guards under Arms till an hour after sun rise and to have his visiting rounds and Patroles going then more than ordinary from watching through the Camp, men towards morning grow drowsy, numb and Listless and are the more liable to a surprise, an Officers reputation calls on him to Guard against this evil, a guard is bound to maintain their Post as long as possible, but if likely to be overpower'd with numbers it is at least to make Skirmishing retreat firing all the way it goes to give the alarm and taking advantage of every defile, Morass wood or advantageous post it can find to delay the enemy, if the enemy do not pursue but retreat after having dislodg'd the Guard it is to resume its post, first taking measures to be sure all is safe, if two Guards are so placed as to have the same object in view and depend upon each other they must be attentive to everything that befalls one another, and act in concert if either is attack'd the other must not only put itself in a posture of defence but must keep Patroles continually going to bring intelligence of what is doing if the one attack'd retreats the other must retreat also, if it returns the other must return also, these things depend on circumstances and the order of the Brigad^r and Field Officers of the day, any Parties of whatsoever kind, coming towards an out Guard, are to be stopp'd by the out Sentry's and notice given to the Guards which is in most cases to be turn'd out and the Officer in most cases to send a proper person to examine such party and give his orders accordingly.

All flaggs to be stopp'd at the out Sentries, the Officer of the Guard to meet them there and know their business, if they are charg'd with Letters or any other matters that can be communicated to him he is to receive and transmit them to the Maj^r Gen^l of the day, otherways the flag must wait till information can be sent to the said Maj^r Gen^l of the day and his orders received. No Officer or Soldier to sleep a single moment on Guard, no cooking to go on while on Guard, the men must either carry their Provisions ready dress'd, or have them sent to them, the former preferable, no man presume to be out of call without permission from the Officer who is not to suffer more than two to be absent at a time, nor them at the out posts, in Case of desertion from the out posts the Officer from whose party it happens, immediately to change the Countersign advertising the other out Guards of it who are to conform thereto, he is also to send in instantly and acquaint the Brig^r of the day of it, all Guards to turn out to the Brig^r & Field Officers of the day, and except the out Guards to all Gen^l Officers, paying them the Honour due to them according to their rank and the usuage of war, the out Guards to turn out to the Brig^r and Field Officers only. The honour of the drum never to be paid by them, all Guards to turn out to receive the Grand rounds, the Officer of each to prepare an evening report for the Officers of the rounds, all Guards at a time when releived to make a report of every occurence that may have happened to one of his Field Officers of the day, who is to attend at or near the Guard Parade to receive it when the Guard returns, arms after this whet weather to be carefully inspected and put in the best order possible for use.

After Orders.

The Brigade Commissarys are to receive their orders from the Commissary Gen^l this afternoon respecting the mode of supplying their respective Brigade in case of a sudden move, the Assis^t Q^r Masters are to do the same with Col^o Biddle that no Complaint or Confusion may arise on a march. Instead of delivering spare Ammunition to each Brigade, Gen^l Knox will furnish the divisions with it in order to lessen the number of Carriages and Conveying it more securely, if the Q^r Master Gen^l could furnish each Brigade with a proper number of Scythes for foraging the Horses, might be better Provided for.

EXECUTIVE MANSION
 MAJOR GENERAL GRANT. WASHINGTON, July 13, 1863.

My dear General.

I do not remember that you and I ever met personally. I write this now as a grateful acknowledgment for the almost inestimable service you have done the country.—I wish to say a word further—When you first reached the vicinity of Vicksburg, I thought you should do, what you finally did—March the troops across the neck, run the batteries with the transports, and then go below; and I never had any faith, except a general hope that you knew better than I, that the Yazoo Pass expedition, and the like, could succeed. When you got below, and took Port Gibson, Grand Gulf, and vicinity, I thought you should go down the river and join Gen. Banks, and when you turned Northward East of the Big Black, I feared it was a mistake. I now wish to make the personal acknowledgment that you were right, and I was wrong.

Yours very truly
 A. LINCOLN.

EXECUTIVE MANSION
 ELIZA P. GURNEY. WASHINGTON September 4, 1864.

My esteemed friend,

I have not forgotten—probably never shall forget—the very impressive occasion when yourself and friends visited me on a Sabbath forenoon two years ago. Nor has your kind letter, written nearly a year later ever been forgotten. In all it has ever been your purpose to strengthen my reliance on God. I am much indebted to the good christian people of the country for their constant prayers and consolations; and to no one of them, more than to yourself. The purposes of the Almighty are perfect, and must prevail, though we erring mortals may fail to accurately perceive them in advance. We hoped for a happy termination of this terrible war long before this; but God knows best, and has ruled otherwise. We shall yet acknowledge His wisdom and our own error therein. Meanwhile we must work earnestly in the best light he gives us, trusting that so working still conduces to the great ends He ordains.

Surely He intends some great good to follow this mighty convulsion, which no mortal could make, and no mortal could stay.

Your people—the Friends—have had, and are having a very great trial.

On principle, and faith, opposed to both war and oppression, they can only practically oppose oppression by war. In this hard dilemma, some have chosen one horn and some the other. For those appealing to me on conscientious grounds, I have done, and shall do, the best I could and can, in my own conscience, under my oath to the law. That you believe this I doubt not, and believing it, I shall still receive, for our country and myself, your earnest prayers to our Father in Heaven.

Your sincere friend,

A. LINCOLN.

ACT RELATING TO THE PENN TITLE IN DELAWARE.—The following Act, somewhat in line with the policy of the Divesting Act of the Assembly of Pennsylvania, is found in “The Laws of the State of Delaware,” printed by Adams, Newcastle, Del., 1797, vol. ii, p. 1174 :

Chap. LVII. c. Passed February 7, 1794.

A Supplement to an act, intituled : An act for opening and establishing a Land Office within this state, and for the sale of all vacant and unlocated lands therein.

WHEREAS the rights to the soil and lands within the known and established limits of this state, was heretofore claimed by the crown of Great Britain : And whereas by the definitive treaty between his Britannic Majesty and the United States of America, his said Majesty relinquished all rights, proprietary and territorial within the limits of the said United States, to the citizens of the same, for their sole use and benefit ; by virtue whereof the soil and lands within the limits of this state became the right and property of the citizens thereof, and who at the time of passing the act to which this is a supplement, had, and now have, full power and authority, by their Representatives, to dispose of the same for their sole benefit, emolument and advantage. And whereas the claims of the late and former proprietaries of this state, to the soil and lands contained within the same, are not founded either in law or equity ; and it is just, right, and necessary, that the citizens thereof should be secured in the enjoyment of their estates, rights and properties.

SECTION 1. Be it therefore enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the state of Delaware in General Assembly met, That all patents, warrants, and grants, for lands within this state, made or granted by James heretofore Duke of York, the proprietaries of Maryland, or the pretended proprietaries of this state, or their or any of their Agents, Officers or Commissioners, duly authorised to grant lands within the same, at any time before the first day of January, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Sixty, and all surveys made in pursuance of any such patents, warrants, or grants, shall be, and at all times hereafter shall be deemed and taken to be good and valid both in law and equity, fully, clearly, and absolutely exonerated, discharged and exempted of and from all manner of rents, fines, and services whatsoever ; and the said patents, warrants, and grants so fully, clearly and absolutely exonerated, discharged and exempted, are hereby ratified, confirmed, and established forever, according to such estate and estates, rights and interests, and under such limitations and uses, as in and by the said patents, warrants and grants, are expressed, directed and appointed, and no other.

[The twelve other sections of the Act are not relevant.]

ST. CLAIR—ROSS LETTERS.—The following letters of Gov. Arthur St. Clair to Col. Mentges, and of John Ross to St. Clair, are contributed by C. C. Ramsey, of New York City.—

FORT WASHINGTON May 18th 1791.

SIR,

An Officer and a party of fifteen Men are ordered to repair to the mouth of the Kentucky River, where I expect a Detachment of Mounted Militia will be assembled by the 20th instant. He will set out this day and you will please to go with him in order to muster the said Militia. Four Rolls of each Company are to be made out, one of which, after being certified by you, is to be retained by the commanding Officers of the Companies respectively; another to the commanding Officer of the Detach^t; a third to the Paymaster of the Detachment to be by him transmitted to the War Office of the United States, and the fourth you will retain yourself.

You will please to observe that the whole number ought not to exceed seven hundred and twenty Privates, divided into ten Companies to each of which Comp. there is to be allowed a Captain, Lieutenant, Ensign and four Serjeants, but there is some Reason to believe that they will exceed the stipulated number. Should that excess amount to one or more complete Companies, you will please to note below the certificate of the Muster (this Company supernumerary) should the excess fall much short of one complete Company it must be distributed among the ten Companies, with such a Note as this on the M. Roles—this Company has — men more than the compliment.

The distribution of the Provisions and the Ammunition will probably take up some time, and I request you not to press the Muster until that is over for tho I would not seem to retard them in the least I do not wish that the march should begin before the 24th. The delay may be a little painful to you, but as I have reasons for it of a public Nature, but which it is not proper should appear, I am confident that you will submit to it with cheerfulness, and manage it with delicacy, for it is expedient that it should not be discovered that any delay has been premeditated.

COL^O MENTGEZ.

A^R ST CLAIR.

PITTSBURGH 16 October, 1801

DEAR SIR.

On the behalf of James Galbraith one of the heirs at law of Thomas Galbraith late of Ligonier deceased, I have to request, that you would be so good as to State for what sum you sold the Ligonier property to Galbraith, how much he paid you in his lifetime, how much Jameson his son-in-law & adm^r paid to you or whether he paid any thing, and how much remained to be paid out of the sale of the real property ;—as far as your recollection or papers will enable you to give an account of it.

This has become absolutely necessary, as Jameson is dead without having made any settlement of Galbraith's Estate, and Jameson's administrators alledge that he made payments to you out of his own property for which he ought to have credit, but they can produce no receipt.

You will oblige me by forwarding an answer to me by Post as soon as your business will permit you to make the necessary Enquiries.

With the highest respect I have the honour to remain

Dear Sir

Your most obedient Servant

JAMES ROSS.

GOV^R ST CLAIR.

GERMAN FAMILIES :—The following list of German families, arrived at Philadelphia, appears in an advertisement in Henry Miller's Staats Bote of February 9, 1758, and will be helpful for genealogical purposes. The translation was made by the contributor, R. G. Swift.—

The following German families and a couple of unmarried persons, are now in this city ; all held for their passage from Holland, and desiring to bind themselves out for the same ; they are in present need ; they hope to find their friends and would like to emigrate to free themselves of indebtedness to Willing and Morris as they themselves are unable to pay, since they (W. & M.) are willing to give credit either to their friends or themselves if they bind themselves out.

LETTER OF DR. JOHN MORGAN TO JOHN EWING.—

PHILAD^A Feb^{ry} 9th 1756

VERY DR SIR

I have just Liesure Time enough to let you know the following, viz, that I sent you y^e Oratio Valedictoria of Mr. G: Duffield, and Smith's Longinus, last week by the Rev^d John Brainerd, as you requested, and which I hope are come to hand ere now, (I likewise wrote to Mr Jonath: Odell)

I should not have been so scrupulously exact in executing my Charge, had I known of any other Opportunity before Mr. Brainerd, nay, I was for a long time uneasy lest I should never see either him or any body else going to New Ark, & was ready to conclude that all Communication between that Place and this, was quite cut off; & yet I had the mortification to hear the Day I wrote by Mr. Brainerd, that there had been an Oppertunity some time before: I call it a Mortification not because I had it in my power to send, and would not, but because you might think my not sending was owing to willfull neglect or Laziness; but when I had made a very strict Enquiry diverse Times to no purpose, I deem my Ignorance not imputable. I have several Times had a mind of sending by the Stage Boat, but have been prevented from Fear it would be quite lost Labour, as I am fully satisfied, the Boat does not come within many miles of the College, & wether they would have a Speedy & sure Opportunity of forwarding to you, or wether if they had, they would take Care to do so, I very much doubted; besides wether, I ought not to direct it to the Care of somebody at Amboy or elsewhere, I knew not; so y^t I should be glad y^t you would let me know how I am to manage, if I should have any further Occasion of sending that way; not that I have any great Opinion of a good Conveyance by Water, or y^t I intend to send that Way when I can send by Land.

As to News I have nothing very Particular to write except that Major Washington is now in Town & has some Business with our Assembly, but what it is, I can't say; but conjecture that he wants his Hands strengthen'd y^t he may be enabled to distress the French & Indians in their Interest toward Fort Duquesne. This seems more probable, as he has lately been into y^e Country of the Cherokees, & 'tis said y^t they have offer'd to go out in very large Bodies, & resolve if possible to Penetrate even Fort Duquesne if they receive suitable Encouragement.

Mr. Franklyn came to town last Friday from Fort Allen, & left the men there in high Spirits— There is a report prevailing in Town y^t an English 40 gun-ship is taken by the French, & some dismall Acc^t that the Western Islands Fiall, Teneriffe &c, are all swallowed up, & y^t there is not the least vestige of any of them remaining, not the least Mark or Remains of the famous Peke of Teneriffe, so well known in the Annals of History ; this Acc^t it seems is sent by one Cap^t Hinton, who was bound to Fiall, & cruiz'd off the Place where Fiall once was, for several weeks, without the least prospect of any such place, though he had often been there before, & was at length oblig'd to put into Lisbon ; but both these Accts want Confirmation ; & I have some secret Hope y^t they will prove false. The Officers in Town seem to do much more Execution among the girls than ever they did among the Indians & if they dont leave their Hearts quite behind them, I hope they will give the pretty Nymphs as good Proofs of their Courage next Campaign in the Field of Mars, as they have Done here in their Feats under y^e Banner of Venus. But Business interrupts, therefore I conclude with repeating my wishes for your Prosperity.

JOHN MORGAN

EAST TENNESSEE FRENCHBROAD RIVER, Oct. 18, 1814.

Great Grace attend us, in Great Days of distress, in the States ; and in the Churches : Zion Languisheth. The superabundant goodness of my dear Philadelphians and others still liveth upon my soul ; excuse my seeming severity, when pressed so exceedingly. I traced the footsteps of providence, after 700 miles and 12 weeks. I had said B. McHendree must not be a man of straw ; but steel, if he wrought his way to Cincinnati, Ohio Conference. After all things well, to the west of Pennsylvania, the Bishop, was thrown from his horse ; seriously bruised on the hip, and Ribs ; he is on a Crutch. I am a reed shaken with the wind ! God is with me ! we have Travelled about 1500 miles, incredibly bad roads, heat, drought, Dust. Wesley Bond made himself merry, at the thought of riding Eight or 9 miles per day when driving 9 days ! The pleasure we felt in disposing of the sacred goodness of the Bible Society. It was from pike to pike, from house to house. A venerable mother ; her person put me in mind, (of our dear Friend, and mother Potts, of Coventry. Long since gone to her Eternal rest and reward !) The aged Mother we gave a Testament to, could not hide, but confessed her daughter some time past wished a book of God to read. Oh the gratitude of the receiver ! Oh the joy, felt by handing to these precious souls ; the pure Truth of God, sown by the way side, it shall spring up. A respectable couple at another Gate newly at housekeeping ; were poor without the Treasures of the word of God. The Brethern in the Ohio Conference could only receive 2 Testaments per share, when they, and the Brethern of Tennessee, would have handed Ten : Yes my Friend, to the extremities Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, Tennessee, Mississippi and all the western country. The books handed to the Philadelphia Conference, and sent to their western Brethern ; the goodness of the female Bible Society, shall be duly honoured, and sent into solitary places, where few families, have any copies of the Oracles of God! I conclude should there be a disposition to send hundreds to our western Conferences, no men are more willing, or in such preparation, as our travelling preachers to have Books. We say, know ye a spot where the Gospel is not preached, in the United States tell us and we will send soon Missionaries there. I recommend the Societies to ticket their books. Perhaps some will say it is a Political trick; others will say, the books came across the Atlantic. I presume the Devile and the Diests, are not a Little vexed that the word of Truth prevails. If a man shall gain greatly by printing the Bible, "Oh it is a money getting thing" says the infidel. If a number of Christians of many Denominations unite—oh there is some Political Craft; but wisdom is Justified of her Children. I should be pleased that the number of members, of the Bible Society of different religious communities, was given in Mass; upon the Ticket. Amen. Dear Thomas be ye faithful, be ye diligent, be ye holy. Our felicity was honoured to carry 100 Testaments from Cincinnati to Logan County in Kentucky, to Tennessee Conference, 300 miles, and many carried them three and 500 miles from thence. We are very near perpetual motion in our Felicity. We shall if we ride 5000 miles, call for new wheels, and under work next Fall. I have bought another horse 60 dollars, how will that comport with 100 per year and 3 and 6 dollars and 25 hours Tavern Bills. But the Earth is the Lord's and the fulness there off! My Christian salutation to all that ask after me. Dear Michael he fell for me, I fell for him. It seemed to me he was near to Death, or Death near to him. Oh may I live, to see the [torn] and soul keep silence. pray we mightily possibly we may be hidden in the Day of adversity! I only and I continue to do Something like preaching, when we have an opportunity; but I shall depend upon riding 200 miles a week. As to Conferences, I only direct the men, the courses. John Sale presided in the Ohio Conference by my appointment, and asking our pardon, I think he made out abundantly better that I could at best, nor could the Bishop have done better; is my opinion. The help of the presiding Elder is great; we have a great work to appoint and Govern 53 men, our Eyes, Ears, Mouths, Hands and Feet. Farewell, as ever to thee and thine.

F. ASBURY.

A COMMITTEE OF THE ALUMNI OF ALL DEPARTMENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA IS PREPARING A CATALOGUE to contain all of the graduates and non-graduate matriculates of the University. We append a list of the Medical graduates of whom the committee has no information. Our readers will lighten not a little the difficult labors of the committee in collecting data of these graduates, if they send at once whatever information they may have to Dr. Ewing Jordan, 1510 Walnut St., Philadelphia.

Information is especially desired as to full name, parents' names, full date and place of birth and of death, if married, wife's name, academic degrees received, prominent positions held, and any printed reference to the men named.

Book Notices.

THE MORRIS FAMILY OF PHILADELPHIA. DESCENDANTS OF ANTHONY MORRIS, BORN 1654-1721 DIED. By Robert C. Moon, M. D., Philadelphia, 1908. Vols. iv and v. Illustrated.

The publication of these additional records of the Morris Family of Philadelphia is due to the fact that much important data and illustrations could not be included in the three original volumes of the family history published in 1898. They are now collected together in these supplementary volumes, which also include new detailed and varied information relating to the early history of the family. The births, deaths, and marriages which have occurred in the family since 1898 are also recorded. An interesting feature of the work is the wealth of illustrations, which comprise facsimiles of original documents, portraits, the homes, antique furniture, silver, glass, and other family relics, in the possession of the descendants of Anthony Morris. Dr. Moon cannot be praised too highly for his authoritative and monumental work; to the family it will be indispensable, and as a contribution to local genealogy it is invaluable. A very full general index, and index of names, will be found helpful. Typographically the volumes are very attractive.

JOHN REDINGTON OF TOPSFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS, AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS, WITH NOTES OF THE WALES FAMILY. By Cornelia M. Redington Carter. Edited by Josiah Granville Leach, LL. B. Boston, 1909. 8vo, pp. 86. Illustrated.

Genealogical works have a singular attraction, for by them we are enabled to come close to the actual life, the labors, and the virtues of our ancestors. The data collected of John Reddington and some of his descendants, with notes on the Wales family, will interest their descendants, and the good taste displayed in the arrangement is commendable. Typographically, the volume is in every way pleasing.

GEORGE WASHINGTON—STATEMENT OF RICHARD PARKINSON [Lincolnshire Farmer]. By Alfred J. Morrison. The Lord Baltimore Press, 1909. pp. 38.

Richard Parkinson, the scientific farmer of Lincolnshire, England, and the author of several works on Farming, made a tour in America in 1798, and visited Washington at Mount Vernon. He was among the first foreigners to print a general dislike to this country and to warn immigrants off. However, he met with much kindness here, and is not chary in admiration of individuals. His impressions of Washington are perhaps all the more interesting from the fact of his disappointment in the capabilities of the latter's River Farm, as it appeared; but time proved that the English scientific farmer was wrong. What astonished Parkinson was Washington's exact justice and scrupulous habits of business.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICAN EXPANSION. By H. Addington Bruce. New York, Moffat, Yard & Co., 1909. 8vo. pp. 246. Illustrated. Price $1.75 net.

The aim of this volume is to give a brief, yet sufficiently comprehensive history, of the territorial growth of the United States. In every stage of the growth of the country, there has been some dominant, central figure playing a leading rôle in determining the progress made. Mr. Bruce takes eight famous historical personages—Daniel Boone, Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Sam. Houston, Thomas H. Benton, John C. Fremont, William H. Seward, and William McKinley — and, interweaving their personal achievements with a more general account of the events in which they participated, gives the story of expansion in a form that makes it of the liveliest interest to the general reader and of great helpfulness to the student. From beginning to end, there is little to regret and much to admire, in the story of American expansion. The book is based upon exhaustive research, contains much valuable information not elsewhere brought together, and the closing chapter contains a critical bibliography, for those who desire to make a more detailed study of the different acquisitions.

A COLLECTION OF PAPERS READ BEFORE THE BUCKS COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Vols. II., III. Published for the Society by B. F. Fackenthal, Jr. 1909. Illustrated.

A few months ago we welcomed the publication of the first volume of historical papers read before this Society, and now the second and third volumes have been issued. Taken together, they comprehend a most valuable contribution to the history, archeology, and genealogy of Bucks County, the writers being the foremost authorities in their chosen fields. It is quite safe to predict that they will meet with a ready sale. The text is generously illustrated, the type and paper good, and the binding neat and substantial. For copies address the Society, at Doylestown.

THE PENNSYLVANIA FEDERATION OF HISTORICAL SOCIETIES. ACTS AND PROCEEDINGS. Harrisburg. 1909. 8vo, pp. 46.

In addition to the very full report of the fourth annual meeting, the Secretary, Dr. Heilman, has prepared a list of the publications issued during the year by the societies composing the Federation, which will be helpful to librarians.

ANNUAL PROCEEDINGS PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY, SONS OF THE REVOLUTION, 1908-1909. Edited by Ethan Allen Weaver, Secretary. Philadelphia, 1909. 8vo, pp. 84. Illustrated.

This attractive Year Book contains, in addition to the proceedings of the twenty-first annual meeting, an historical sketch of St. Peters P. E. Church, by Charles Henry Jones, and the annual Sermon preached before the Society by the Rev. Nathaniel S. Thomas. The Necrological Roll for the year has been prepared with great care, and the illustrations comprise interior views of St. Peters Church; facsimile in colors of the Valley Forge banner; and the equestrian statue of General Anthony Wayne, erected by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at Valley Forge, at the dedication of which the Society participated.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE AMERICAN JEWISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY, 1909. No. 18. 8vo, pp. 245.

The present annual is made up in the main of papers presented to the meetings of the Society at Newport, R. I., and in New York City. It also contains three papers, "The Early History of the Jews in New York, 1654-1664," by Samuel Oppenheim; "The Jews' Tribute in Jamaica," by George Fortunatus Judah; "A Memorial of Jews to Parliament concerning Jewish Participation in Colonial Trade, 1696," by Max J. Kohler, A.M., LL.B., which were presented at the meeting held in Philadelphia in February of 1909. The other papers are: "A Burial Place for the Jewish Nation Forever," by Rosalie S. Phillips; "Notes on the History of the Jews in Barbados," by N. Darnell Davis, C.M.G.; "Notes on the History of the Jews in Surinam," by Rev. P. A. Hilfman.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF HUNGARIAN CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTY. By Count Julius Andrassy. (Translated from the Hungarian by C. Arthur and Iona Ginever.) London, 1908. 8vo, pp. 462. Received from Emil Zerkowitz, Hungarian Commercial Councillor, 49 Exchange Place, New York.

This volume is only part of the book projected by the author, dealing with the preservation and development of Hungarian constitutional liberty. It treats of the period from the entry of the Hungarians into the country now known as Hungary, say 896, down to the reign of Matthias II, in 1619. Hungary has been so much to the front in recent years that this work of Count Andrassy, the present Minister of the Interior, and a son of the late Count Julius Andrassy, the Austro-Hungarian Minister of Foreign Affairs, which contains much reliable information, will be valuable for the American public.
