ALLIES ARE FORMALLY NOTIFIED TREATY WAS RATIFIED BY GERMANY

Von Lersner, of German Delegation, Informed Allied Representative at Versailles This Forenoon of German Assembly's Action Yesterday

Versailles, July 10.—Official notification of the ratification of the peace treaty by the German National Assembly was given the Peace Conference this morning.

The notification was presented by Baron Kurt von Lersner, head of the German peace mission here. Colonel Henry, the French liaison officer at Versailles, was the recipient. The hour was 11 a. m.

Colonel Henry immediately conveyed the notification to the French Foreign Office.

Berlin, July 9.—Via London, July 10.—(Associated Press).—President Ebert signed the bill ratifying the peace treaty at 8 o'clock to-night, according to The Vorwarts, and the document has been dispatched to Versailles.

Weimar, July 10.—(Associated Press).—The German National Assembly very plainly demonstrated yesterday that it wanted to complete the unpleasant task of ratifying the treaty fully and without obscuring the measure in any way with qualifying resolutions.

At the opening of the session the Conservatives introduced a resolution against the enforcement of Articles 227 to 230, inclusive, of the peace treaty (providing for the trial of the former Kaiser and other Germans accused of causing the war or of violations of the rules of war).

Short recess. The bill ratifying the treaty passed the first reading and then a recess was taken to give the parties an opportunity to discuss the resolution. After fifteen minutes the Assembly reconvened. The Conservatives defended the resolution, but it was decisively beaten.

The treaty bill was then taken up and successfully passed second and third readings, with the opposition coming from Democrats, National Liberals and Conservatives.

WANT THE BORDEN CABINET TO RESIGN

But There Were Only 200 Vancouverites at Cost-of-Living Meeting

Vancouver, July 10.—Calling upon the Dominion Government to resign, a mass meeting of citizens held on the Cambie Street grounds here last evening unanimously passed a resolution to this effect after hearing addresses upon the high cost of living. In this resolution reference is made to the failure of the Government to conscript wealth, failure to punish the members of firms and corporations who have shown excess profits or watered stocks, the ignoring by the Government of the abuse of the cold storage facilities and the failure of the Federal authorities to bring about a remedy to reduce the high cost of living.

There were fewer than 200 present at the meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. D. A. Lowrey, Elevator Companies. Moose Jaw, July 9.—The Association of Grain Buyers has telegraphed the Government asking that it not too late the Cost-of-Living Committee investigate the methods of doing business of a number of elevator companies besides those already investigated. The telegram states that if the Government can not take action, the association will strive to secure publicity through the Moose Jaw Trades and Labor Council.

A Winnipeg Charge. Winnipeg, July 10.—Men who protested against the chloroforming of the transactions of the citizens were being deported, F. J. Dixon, M.P.P. for Centre Winnipeg, asserted last night, addressing a meeting held in Market Square in condemnation of the amendment of the Immigration Act passed at the session of Parliament just concluded.

VICTORY DAY PROFITS IN PARIS ARE HEAVILY TAXED BY THE STATE

Paris, July 10.—The Chamber of Deputies unanimously passed a bill to-day imposing a tax of eighty per cent. on all profits realized by owners of buildings from the rentals of the windows and balconies for the Victory Day parade July 14.

Effort to Restrict Employing of Aliens in United Kingdom

London, July 10.—Notwithstanding strong opposition by the Government, a House of Commons committee to-day adopted by a vote of fifteen to twelve a clause in the Bill restricting the employment of aliens in Great Britain.

The Under-Secretary of the Home Office had argued before the Committee that inclusion of the clause in the bill would wreck the influence of the country in the Empire.

REPUBLICAN MOVE IN EAST GERMANY

An Attempt to Thwart Allies' Plans for Polish State

Paris, July 10.—Word has just been received in France of the formation of a republic in the Eastern territories of Germany which the treaty assigned to Poland. After an active propaganda in these territories, the project advanced so far that a Provincial President was selected in the person of Adolph von Batoeki, the former German Food Minister. The argument was presented that it would be better for the inhabitants to govern themselves under republican rule than that they should be under the dominion of Poland.

Hungarians Attack Bolshevik Troops which were withdrawn from the Czecho-Slovak front on orders from the Peace Conference, have attacked Rumanian forces on the Thes River, according to reports from Transylvania, which say that the fighting continues.

A False Report. Paris, July 10.—Reports received from German sources that United States troops would occupy Upper Silesia was denied in United States circles here to-day.

Bolshevik Counterfeits. Geneva, July 10.—The police have discovered that the Bolsheviks have been operating a counterfeiting plant at Zurich and have made a number of arrests, among the prisoners being a German named Brogan, who is said to be the leader. Notes, large quantities of which were imitations of British and United States notes were seized, their apparent face value being several millions of pounds sterling.

BOLSHEVIKI CLAIM THEY ARE GAINING IN NORTH RUSSIA

London, July 10.—Bolshevik forces have started an advance in the region of the Northern Dvina River, southeast of Archangel, according to a Bolshevik wireless message received to-day from Moscow, and have occupied Peshmo after fierce fighting, 200 prisoners and eight machine guns having been captured. It is added that the Bolsheviks are pursuing the north Russian forces.

In the region of the Ingermannland lakes, southwest of Petergof, the Bolsheviks, the message claims, are developing successfully their advance in the direction of Pakov and Narva.

LINER GRAMPAN HIT BIG ICEBERG; TWO MEN KILLED; SHIP ARRIVED AT ST. JOHNS

St. Johns, Nfld., July 10.—Two men were killed and two injured when the Allan liner Grampian, Montreal for Liverpool, collided with an iceberg off Cape Race last night. The steamship, with 750 passengers and a crew of 350, arrived here this morning for repairs.

The killed and injured were members of the crew who were asleep in the bow of the ship when she struck. Virtually all the passengers were awake, but although there were more than 500 women and children on board, there was little excitement and no panic.

Too Late to Clear. That the Grampian did not suffer the fate of the Titanic, with considerable loss of life, is believed to have been due to the decision of the captain to strike the iceberg bow-on instead of taking a glancing blow on the side. The iceberg, which was large, was encountered forty-five miles off Cape Race in the early evening. When it was sighted through the fog it was too late to clear it, although the ship was proceeding slowly.

The captain said he realized that a glancing blow, which would tear through the ship's side, would sink her. The course was changed, and the vessel struck the berg squarely head-on. The entire forepart of the ship was smashed in above the waterline, the stem being driven back nearly forty feet. The vessel was not damaged below the waterline, however, as the portion of the berg which she struck proved to be an overhanging shelf.

TREATY IS BEFORE SENATE OF STATES

Pact With Germany and League Covenant Presented by Wilson

Washington, July 10.—President Wilson in presenting the peace treaty and the covenant of the League of Nations to the Senate to-day spoke as follows: "Gentlemen of the Senate: The treaty with Germany was signed at Versailles on June 28. I avail myself of the earliest opportunity to lay the treaty before you for ratification and to inform you with regard to the work of the problems with which that treaty was formulated.

World Settlement. "The treaty constitutes nothing less than a world settlement. It would not be possible for me either to summarize or to construct its manifold provisions in an address which must of necessity be something less than a treatise. My services and all the instruments possessed by me are at your disposal and at the disposal of your Committee on Foreign Relations at any time, either informally or in session, and I would be glad to be present, will not hesitate to make use of them. I shall at this time, prior to your own study of the document, attempt only a general characterization of its scope and purpose.

Reported by Press. "In one sense, no doubt, there is no need that I should report to you what was attempted and done at Paris. You have been daily cognizant of what was going on in an address which must of necessity be something less than a treatise. My services and all the instruments possessed by me are at your disposal and at the disposal of your Committee on Foreign Relations at any time, either informally or in session, and I would be glad to be present, will not hesitate to make use of them. I shall at this time, prior to your own study of the document, attempt only a general characterization of its scope and purpose.

The treaty between the Allied Powers and Germany was signed at Versailles on June 28, but the Chinese delegates did not sign on behalf of their country. An earlier dispatch than the above, however, indicated that as late as July 3 uncertainty, mixed with anxious apprehension, existed in Peking and throughout China as to whether the Chinese delegates had actually signed the peace treaty with Germany. Wireless messages from Lyons had reported to Peking that the Chinese delegates had absented themselves from the signature ceremony.

Originally the Chinese Government had instructed its delegates to sign. On June 26, however, instructions were sent to the delegates not to sign, unless with reservations on Tsing-tau. The Chinese Government, in declining to sign, only made a reservation, it has been announced since, with respect to Tsing-tau. The Government accepted everything else.

China, it was added, desired to make full reparation to Japan in the repayment of moneys advanced on secret contracts, but China did not feel justified in definitely signing away rights to Shantung which, by the operation of international law, had accrued to China since August, 1917.

The Government set forth that China was not animated by hostility to Japan, but by the necessity of keeping China intact.

DECLARE OPPOSITION TO ONE BIG UNION

Saskatoon Typographical Men Cross Swords With Labor Council

Saskatoon, July 10.—The Saskatoon Typographical Union caused trouble in the ranks of the Trades and Labor Council when at a meeting of the Council last night a letter was read from the types demanding that the officials state clearly their stand with regard to the One Big Union. The letter further stated that members of the union recently elected to office on the Council would be forbidden to occupy their positions if the Council should favor the One Big Union scheme. The matter caused considerable discussion, the officials absolutely refusing to make any statement. The installation of officers had to be postponed owing to the action of the typographical men.

A labor church for the city was decided on and the first meeting will be held on Sunday in the city park, if permission is granted.

An appeal was made for every union to vote one day's pay of each member for the defence fund of the strike leaders in Winnipeg.

Resignations. Saskatoon, July 10.—Stating that the resignation of every officer of the Saskatoon Trades and Labor Council who was in favor of the One Big Union should be demanded by the Council.

Small Nations' Hopes. "The atmosphere in which the Conference worked seemed created not by the ambitions of strong Governments, but by the hopes and aspirations of small nations and peoples hitherto under bondage to the power that victory had shattered and destroyed. Two great empires had been forced into political bankruptcy, and we were the receivers. Our task was not only to make peace with the Central Empires and remedy the wrongs their armies had done. The Central Empires had lived in great violation of many of the very rights for which the war had been fought, dominating alien peoples over whom they had no natural right to rule, enforcing not obedience, but vassalage, and exploiting those who were weak for the benefit of those who were masters and overlords only by force of arms. There could be no peace until the whole order of central Europe was set right.

Rumor Says Currie May Be New Chief of Staff at Ottawa

Ottawa, July 10.—It was stated at militia headquarters to-day that no decision had been arrived at as to who will succeed Major-General Gwatkin as Chief of the General Staff. General Gwatkin, who was lent to Canada by the Imperial army, probably will return to the United Kingdom before long.

Rumor mentions Lieut.-General Sir Arthur Currie as General Gwatkin's successor. Major-General Elmley, who commanded the Canadian-Siberian Expeditionary Force, also is mentioned.

CHINA WILL BE MEMBER OF LEAGUE

Her Delegates Will Sign Treaty With Austria, It Is Announced

Peking, July 5.—Delayed.—(Associated Press).—The Chinese peace delegates, it is announced here, will sign the treaty with Austria, to which the League of Nations convention is attached, China thereby becoming a member of the League.

The treaty between the Allied Powers and Germany was signed at Versailles on June 28, but the Chinese delegates did not sign on behalf of their country. An earlier dispatch than the above, however, indicated that as late as July 3 uncertainty, mixed with anxious apprehension, existed in Peking and throughout China as to whether the Chinese delegates had actually signed the peace treaty with Germany. Wireless messages from Lyons had reported to Peking that the Chinese delegates had absented themselves from the signature ceremony.

Originally the Chinese Government had instructed its delegates to sign. On June 26, however, instructions were sent to the delegates not to sign, unless with reservations on Tsing-tau. The Chinese Government, in declining to sign, only made a reservation, it has been announced since, with respect to Tsing-tau. The Government accepted everything else.

China, it was added, desired to make full reparation to Japan in the repayment of moneys advanced on secret contracts, but China did not feel justified in definitely signing away rights to Shantung which, by the operation of international law, had accrued to China since August, 1917.

The Government set forth that China was not animated by hostility to Japan, but by the necessity of keeping China intact.

BULGARIAN EX-KING LOSES SECURITIES HE HAD IN LONDON

London, July 10.—Securities valued at £2,000,000 belonging to former King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, which have been in London since the beginning of the war, were declared forfeited to the Crown last night. The forfeiture was made after proceedings before a commissioner and a jury.

MANCHESTER COTTON STRIKE SETTLED; WAGES INCREASED

The operatives will resume work on Monday on the basis of a forty-eight-hour week and an advance in weekly wages amounting to thirty per cent.

ALPINE CLIMBING CLAIMS VICTIMS

Geneva, July 10.—Since the end of hostilities there have been 275 Alpinists killed in the Central Alps. The fatalities have been unusually heavy, considering the restrictions still placed on mountain climbing. During the present year there have been twenty-six ascents of Mont Blanc, chiefly by British and American officers.

GIANT DIRIGIBLE IS NOW MAKING A RAPID TRIP OVER ATLANTIC

At Last Reports R-34 Was Doing Sixty Knots an Hour and Was 240 Miles South of Sable Island; Message Reaching Halifax Says All Well

Halifax, July 10.—A message timed 1 o'clock Halifax time (9 a. m. Victoria time) from the giant British dirigible R-34, now over the Atlantic on her return voyage to the United Kingdom from North America, reads:

"Latitude 42 north, longitude 60.50 west; sixty knots. All well." This position indicates that at the time the message was filed, the airship was 240 miles due south of Sable Island.

New York, July 10.—The naval wireless communication service in this city picked up at 11.16 a. m. a message from the big British dirigible R-34, on her way back to the United Kingdom after her brief stay in the United States, saying: "Now doing eighty miles. Your signal service clear. How far are we now?"

The message was addressed to the wireless station at Otter Cliff, Maine. 215 Miles From Halifax. Halifax, July 10.—The R-34 was reported by the Barrington wireless station as within range at 11 o'clock Halifax time (7 a. m. Victoria time). Barrington is 127 miles southwest of here. A message from the R-34 received at the naval station here at 11.12 a. m. gave the position of the dirigible as latitude 41 degrees 15 minutes north, 65 degrees, 30 minutes west, a point 215 miles due south of here. Fifty-Eight Knots. Washington, July 10.—The British dirigible R-34 was 345 miles due east of New York on her return trip to Scotland at 7.10 a. m. Washington time, to-day (3.10 a. m. Victoria time), according to a radio message to the Navy Department. The message said: "R-34, position at 11.10 G. M. T., latitude 49.15 north; longitude 65.50 west." A later message placed the R-34 460 miles east and slightly north of New York at 10.15 a. m., "making 400 miles east and slightly north of New York city early this morning while thousands in the streets craned their necks to catch a last glimpse of her and while a score of searchlights from naval craft in the harbor and from the North and East River shores illuminated her. She first appeared over the Harlem River at 12.35 a. m., flying south toward Lower Manhattan, and faded from view heading almost due east at 1.15 a. m. Broadway gave itself over entirely to watching the R-34 as soon as the big ship hove into view. Above Times Square the dirigible circled about, giving the dense crowds almost a full five-minute view of her.

TRADE PREFERENCE SCHEME EXTENDED

British Plan Now Is to Include Areas Administered Under League

London, July 10.—The House of Commons to-day adopted an amendment to the Finance Bill, moved by Rt. Hon. J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, giving the Government power to extend by an Order-in-Council, colonial preference to any territory of which any portion of the British Empire may become a mandatory under the League of Nations. The vote was 195 to 53.

During the course of the debate, James Hogg, a Liberal, contended that this policy would sow dissension among the navy. Because the covenant of the league of Nations promises equal trade and commercial opportunities in those territories.

Sir Donald Maclean also protested against the amendment, but Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister of National Service and Reconstruction, replied that what the Government would be empowered to do would not be contrary to anything in the covenant.

WEATHER REPORTS

The naval communication office in downtown Manhattan began sending wireless reports of weather conditions at sea to the dirigible at 1.15 and continued relaying reports from ships at sea to her for an hour.

At police headquarters the radio operators reported picking up two wireless messages from the R-34, one of which said: "I'll take weather report for an hour, then commercial messages. Have only a short while over the town."

The other message requested the navy yard to wireless "all weather reports of the trans-Atlantic flight."

At 2 a. m. the R-34 flashed the following message, which was picked up by the naval communication radio: "All O. K. on board. Bound for England."

At 2.20 a. m. the naval communication office picked up this message: "Course ninety true; speed forty-nine knots; going well."

The operator said the message was very weak. Well On Way. New York, July 10.—The British rigid dirigible R-34 to-day is well on (Concluded on page 11.)

HUMBOLDT LIBERALS

HOLD A CONVENTION

Saskatoon, July 10.—The Liberal convention for the constituency of Humboldt, just held, was one of the biggest rallies ever held in that town, representatives from all parts of the constituency being present. The meeting, which started at 1 o'clock, did not close until after 11 o'clock in the morning. Addresses were delivered by Hon. C. A. Dunning, Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, W. H. Paulson, M.P.P. for Wynyard; James Hogan, M.P.P. for Vanda; and J. A. Macmillan, M.P.P. for Wadena. All the speakers urged for the rallying of the Liberal Party at the next Dominion election.

SEATTLE AND I. W. W.

Seattle, July 10.—Any building opened to the Industrial Workers of the World or kindred organizations for meetings or for headquarters purposes may be declared a common nuisance and its abatement for one year authorized by court order to the chief of police, a resolution introduced in the City Council yesterday reads.

The Council was called in special session to receive the resolution. An ordinance covering the matter was drawn at the request of Mayor Ole Hanson.

Lawyers said the Council's proposed action attacks the problem from a new angle, and opens a broad question of constitutionality.

CO-OPERATIVE KHAKI UNION RESTAURANT

Vancouver Organization Goes Into Business; An Invention for Farmers

Vancouver, July 10.—The Khaki Labor Union is going into the co-operative system. At a meeting last night it was decided to buy the restaurant of one of the members and operate it on a co-operative basis, members taking out equal shares of $100.

It also was decided that an invention expected to have great influence in the farming industry now in the hands of one of the members would be manufactured by the Union as soon as it proves itself practicable.

Active steps will be taken to have the Union recognized as belonging to the labor movement. The Khaki Union already has secured 1,260 members.

"This is just to let the Bolsheviks know where we stand," said Organizer J. H. F. Hallam, in speaking of the formula with which all meetings will be closed in future. It is: "May Canada be saved from anarchy and ruin; God Save the King."

MANY CANADIANS WHOM GERMANS HELD WILL BE REWARDED

Ottawa, July 10.—Officers and soldiers of the Canadian Expeditionary Force who displayed gallantry while escaping, or attempting to escape, from the enemy, or who rendered exceptional services while prisoners of war or interned, are eligible for a reward.

An order of the Militia Department just issued states that recommendations for such reward may now be submitted. The facts supporting each recommendation must be substantiated by statements of evidence from at least two witnesses who should reach Militia Headquarters before August 31. Officers and soldiers who are still serving should submit their claims through the usual official channels. The claims of those who have been demobilized should be presented through the officer commanding the militia district in which they live.

NEW D. O. C. AT REGINA.

Regina, July 10.—Col. J. A. Cross, D. S. O., officer commanding Military District No. 12, is soon to relinquish his command and retire to civil life. In an interview with the Canadian Press Col. Cross stated that he hoped to be relieved of his military duties at an early date, and had intimated his wish to the Ottawa authorities some time ago. He wishes to resume the practice of law as soon as possible.

Formerly mentioned as successor to Colonel Cross are Brig.-Gen. G. S. Tuxford, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., of Moose Jaw; Brig.-Gen. Alex. Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O., and Col. J. L. T. Carson, C.M.G., D.S.O., Legion of Honor, both of Regina.

ALBERTA LACKS FEED FOR CATTLE

Half Million Animals in Danger; Immediate Action Is Necessary

Winnipeg, July 10.—Half a million head of cattle in Southern Alberta are on the verge of starvation, and their plight is such that immediate steps on a considerable scale must be taken if they are to be saved. Such is the pessimistic report of delegates assembled here for the meeting of the Canadian Council of Agriculture. The continued drought has destroyed all feed, and the Council yesterday had under advisement what relief measures it could recommend to the Dominion to save the industry.

The following telegram was received from George S. Ferris, of Nanton, Alberta, by H. W. Wood, president of the Council: "Half a million head of cattle in Southern Alberta (50,000 between High-River and Willow-Creek) must be shipped out for winter food or will perish. A hard winter, total loss. No feed south of Edmonton. Amount of feed below average north of Edmonton. Relief must come from Manitoba or farther east. Winter most urgent in history of country. Action must be immediate or loss will cripple stock industry for years to come."

The Council decided that action for relief must be taken and a committee was appointed to investigate the matter and make a report.

Delegates from both Alberta and Saskatchewan were gloomy about the crop outlook in their respective Provinces, predicting a hard winter. So far as the stock is concerned, suggestions are offered to the extent that if transportation is available the animals be taken to northern Alberta, and even as far as the Peace River country, where feed is plentiful, or to northern Manitoba, that Province having had plentiful rains and its northern mixed farming areas being capable of supporting large herds of stock.

As to the spring wheat crop, it is a total failure in Southern Alberta, and the average yield for that Province will be low. In Saskatchewan recent rains have done much to improve the outlook, but the most sanguine estimates do not go beyond a fifteen bushel crop for the entire Province.

In Manitoba, on the other hand, the crop has never looked better, particularly in the central and northern districts, where yields of as high as forty and fifty bushels to the acre are confidently expected.

MANITOBA MINIMUM WAGES.

Winnipeg, July 10.—The work of the Manitoba Minimum Wage Board is being brought to a close, so far as the fixing of minimum wages is concerned. Announcement was made yesterday of a proposed minimum wage of $12.50 per week for women in offices, and $12 for female help in theatres. The Board has dealt with approximately 8,000 women in industry in Winnipeg, and has affected about forty industries.

MADE WAY FACES AT RATIFICATION

But German Deputies Endorsed Treaty yesterday by Ninety-Three Majority

Weimar, July 9.—Via London, July 10.—The resolution ratifying the peace treaty was adopted by the German National Assembly here to-day by a vote of 208 to 115. Ninety-nine Deputies abstained from voting. Most of the Ministers were present and there was a full attendance of Deputies.

Dr. Hermann Mueller, Foreign Minister, explained that the hastening of the ratification order would bring about the lifting of the blockade.

"We are about to enter upon a forty years' march through a desert," he said. "I can find no other term for the path of suffering which fulfillment of the treaty prescribes for us."

Dr. Peter Spahn, leader of the Roman Catholic Centre Party, said: "We agree to the treaty under hard compulsion, to save ourselves from anarchy and to preserve the fatherland from internal ruin."

Kretzer, a Socialist; Schuecking, a Democrat; Dr. Traub, of the National Party, and Kahl, of the People's Party, all violently protested against what they declared the injustice of the treaty, and the impossibility of its fulfillment, and declared that the day of Germany's liberation would come.

These speeches were greeted with such turbulent applause and hand-clapping that the President of the Assembly called attention to the fact that hand-clapping was against the rules, threatening to have the galleries cleared. The debate, however, proceeded with similar speeches by other members and similar applause.

An Amendment. The National Party introduced an amendment in favor of ratification with the express reserve that the sanction of international law experts of repute should first be obtained concerning Articles 227 to 230, and that a neutral court should be created to investigate the responsibility for the war.

President Fehrenbach protested against Alsace-Lorraine being torn from Germany. He said that the treaty of 1871 simply made good what had been taken from Germany 150 years before. He hoped that the people of Alsace-Lorraine would preserve their German character, customs and civilization.

Articles 227 to 230 relate to penalties. Article 227 arraigns the former German Kaiser for "supreme offences against international morality and the sanctity of treaties." The other articles relate to the bringing before military tribunals of persons accused of having committed acts in violation of the laws and customs of war.

Another "Goat" Berlin, July 9, via London, July 10.—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the former German Kaiser, has now come to the aid of the dethroned war lord and adds his plea to that of the others for abandonment by the Allies of their project to bring the former Kaiser to trial for his crimes against mankind.

Prince Henry, in a telegram to King George begging him to desist from the effort to extradite the former monarch, pledges himself to assist the King in bringing to light "the truth regarding the war and its consequences." In his message Prince Henry says that after his conversations with King George in July, 1914, he returned to Berlin and was with the Kaiser until mobilization began. The telegram continues:

"I can testify that the Kaiser and his councilors endeavored by every means to avert the war and disaster to mankind. I am ready to refute the calumnies regarding the German Kaiser which have been circulated for years in contradiction of all truth, and I place myself at your disposal in order to assist Your Majesty in bringing to light the truth regarding the war and its consequences."

States and Trade Washington, July 10.—While ratification of the peace treaty by the German National Assembly at Weimar yesterday makes possible the lifting of the blockade of Germany, it will be for Attorney-General Palmer to determine to what extent commercial relations between the United States and Germany may be resumed. Should the Allies and Associated Powers agree to lift the blockade, Attorney-General Palmer will have to render an opinion as to whether provisions of the Trading-With-the-Enemy Act can be suspended or abrogated by executive order in advance of the formal termination of the war through final exchange of ratifications of the peace treaty. The Attorney-General in a formal statement has declared that the Trading-With-the-Enemy Act will continue in force until the date of the proclamation of exchange of ratifications, unless the President declares an earlier date.

However, the State Department, realizing the importance of giving American business interests an advantageous position in the race for German trade, has made arrangements to have the American consular service in Germany begin to function at the earliest possible moment.

MASSEY DECLARES EX-KAISER SHOULD SUFFER PENALTY

Toronto, July 10.—Rt. Hon. W. F. Massey, Prime Minister of New Zealand, arrived in Toronto yesterday accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Massey. In an interview he said: "If the ex-Kaiser of Germany is responsible for the crimes most people believe he has committed, then I am of the opinion that he should be put on trial for those things and made to take the consequences."

"Are you satisfied with the signing of the treaty?" he was asked. "Collectively, yes," he replied. "I think in the case of some articles it could be improved upon, but I realize that it is quite impossible to get a perfect treaty, and I believe the best was done."

Reverting to the case of the ex-Kaiser, Mr. Massey said: "What the penalty in such a case would be I can not tell. I do not think it will be capital punishment or commitment to prison. I believe it is possible for him to be interned or put on an island. But here comes the difficulty. We also recommend that the more important officers should be tried by the tribunal. If the ex-Kaiser should be allowed to escape, how could we try his subordinates?"

Toronto, July 10.—Sir Thomas White, who is at his home here for a few days, stated last night that reports which had appeared and were appearing in the press to the effect that he had been offered and had accepted an executive position with some railway corporation, or bank, or life insurance company, were entirely without foundation and were unfair to the men occupying the positions which had been mentioned. He stated that he had made no plans whatever for the future.

Seattle, July 10.—Denouncing Edward de Valera, "President of the Irish Republic," as an "opportunist with the spirit of a traitor," the Presbyterian Synod of Washington in a resolution last night urged the Seattle City Council not to extend official recognition to de Valera by inviting him to speak in this city. The resolution characterized de Valera further as a man who "was willing to sacrifice his fellowmen and their hopes for selfish and narrow purposes."

TO JUNE 30 WAR COST STATES $30,177,000,000

Washington, July 10.—The cost of the war to the United States was $30,177,000,000 up to June 30, 1919. Secretary Glass made this estimate in submitting to the Congressional Appropriations Committee yesterday the preliminary statements of the Treasury on the condition of the nation's finances. He arrived at the estimate by subtracting the average peace-time expenses for the same length of time, at the rate of $1,000,000,000 annually, from the total expenditure, $32,427,000,000, during the war. Taxes and revenues other than borrowed money took care of $9,284,000,000, or about twenty-nine per cent of the war cost. The remainder came from Liberty Bonds and Victory note issues and savings stamps.

STATE CONTROL OR EXTRA AID FOR PUBLIC HOSPITALS?

Proposal by J. J. Banfield of Vancouver Raises Discussion at Hospital Convention

SUGGESTED PER CAPITA TAX ON POPULATION

That the public hospitals of the province should receive more adequate assistance from the Government was the general consensus of opinion at the meeting of the B.C. Hospitals convention last night. But the methods by which this assistance should be granted furnished much food for controversy, opinions varying as to whether the hospitals should be placed under state control or left under the boards, as at present, with Government aid to make up the financial deficits. The Medical Associations of Victoria, and Vancouver, through their respective spokesmen, Dr. A. B. Hudson and Dr. J. H. McDermott, proved non-committal in their attitude towards the question, on the grounds that the matter was a big one, requiring careful consideration by the medical profession before the associations would be prepared to accept or reject any proposal verging on the adoption of State Medicine.

Financing Hospitals
Considerable discussion was created by the paper by J. J. Banfield, of the board of directors of the Vancouver General Hospital, on the subject, "A New Basis of Financing Hospitals of British Columbia." Taking the stand that the present system of the Government per capita grant to the hospitals was wrong in principle, Mr. Banfield declared that by the present grant of one penny per diem, a maximum of $1.00 per diem, the large hospitals were penalized for their good work and were steadily losing. The unpaid work produced a big deficit. Citing the case of the Vancouver General Hospital, he stated that the institution was hampered last year by a burden of $140,000, representing unpaid work. To add to its difficulties the Minimum Wage Act has increased the wages bill by about $7,000, while the continual increase in the cost of foodstuffs and hospital requisites added to the ever-growing deficit.

Per Capita Tax.
The hospitals were justly a provincial charge, continued the speaker and the trustees would welcome government control as a means of eliminating their financial worries. He put forward a suggestion that the provincial government take over the hospitals and levy a special tax. A tax of 98 per head levied annually on all of the population between the ages of 18 and 50 years would meet the requirements and impose no extra burden on the Government, said Mr. Banfield.

Middle-Class Sufferers.
Enlarging on his suggestion, Mr. Banfield pointed out that owing to the high cost of maintenance many of the smaller hospitals were unable to have the fullest and most up-to-date equipment such as was in use in the more expensive private institutions. Under the present system, the public hospital offered special advantages only to the very poor man who was unable to pay, and to the very rich who were able to pay. The middle class—the working man and his family—were left out. Such conditions lead to the suffering of the patient and often to the loss of valuable lives which might otherwise have been saved for the community.

Unbusinesslike Method.
The freedom from disease of the men in the armies and the high standard of health efficiency maintained in spite of the most adverse conditions during the war were a striking testimony to the efficiency of the medical military service. The public service must be extended along similar lines to ensure the same standard of public health and efficiency, Mr. Banfield said. The ninety-four hospitals of the province in British Columbia were all receiving government support. An unbusiness feature of the present procedure was that although contributing about $1,500,000 yearly to the maintenance of the hospitals, the government took no step to check up the results to ensure that it was receiving adequate return in service. The present lack of government inspection gave opportunity for a laxity in efficiency.

Tentative Scheme.
Summarizing his suggestions, Mr. Banfield crystallized them into the following: (a) To have standardized hospitals for each hospital community; (b) To make such services free to each patient in the public ward service—such service to include diagnostic and medical treatment and medicines, the patient desiring a private room or additional luxuries to pay the difference between the free service and the cost of the additional luxury; (c) To put the hospitals on a financial basis and at the same time furnish them with an opportunity of more sympathetic development.

Administration.
Referring to the administration of such a scheme, the speaker suggested the appointment of a hospital commission of three members, a directorate with authority to inspect all hospitals; a business manager or controller, medical director, director of nursing and a Board of Trustees as at present organized. In concluding, Mr. Banfield stated that his tentative administrative scheme would relieve the present financial troubles and at the same time increase the efficiency of the hospital until they became a big economical factor in the Province.

Other Opinions.
Following Mr. Banfield's paper the discussion was opened by the reading by D. G. Stewart of Prince Rupert of a lengthy resolution from the Prince Rupert Hospital Association asking the convention to memorialize the Provincial Government to take over the general hospitals, to set a common standard for training of pupil nurses, permitting their interchange between any of the hospitals in time of emergency, and other steps conducive to the raising of the efficiency of the institutions. A letter from the Windermere District Hospital Association was along similar lines, and with the above resolution was referred to the Resolutions Committee for consideration and presentation to a later business session.

Oppose State Hospitals.
Dr. C. H. Vrooman, of the Vancouver Tuberculosis Clinic, former Superintendent of Tranquille Sanatorium, was in favor of adequate Government assistance but pointed out that the moot question was whether the hospitals should be State institutions run by the Health Department, with free treatment, or free medical assistance to be by Hospital Boards as at present constituted. He was of the opinion that the present Hospital Boards were composed of proven men who had done excellent work, but the time had come when the hospitals should widen their activities, and to that end the people should contribute a tax. Volving his strong opposition to absolutely State hospitals, with free treatment, Dr. Vrooman was of the opinion that the local influence, sympathy, local benevolence, and, above all, the local Boards should remain. For the Government to take over the whole of the running and maintenance of the hospitals would, he thought, be too heavy a burden, but he favored a suggestion that the Government should make up the deficits.

At End of Tether.
The insufficiency of the then liberal help adopted by the government in 1915 to meet the present cost of operating the hospitals was referred to by Dr. E. H. Wrinch of Hazelton. The hospitals had in many cases reached the end of their tether and the inevitable end would be that the government would have to come to their assistance or they would have to cease operation. The method of government procedure was a matter which required further and earnest consideration. Speaking from the viewpoint of a medical man, Dr. MacDermott, of Vancouver, pointed out the vital affect of the proposed free hospital and free diagnosis on the attitude of the patients towards the private medical practitioners. The Vancouver Medical Association had felt that the matter was too large a one to dismiss or accept without mature consideration from every angle.

Government Investigation.
Dr. Brodie of Vancouver endorsed the sentiments of the foregoing speaker, admitting that the medical profession realized that some steps would have to be taken in the matter of hospital finances. The profession was anxious to secure the highest efficiency for the hospitals. He reminded the convention that, were the government to assume control or be called upon for further assistance, it would probably ask if it were getting the best results for the money paid into the institution. The government would then investigate all hospital expenditure to see if there could be any change or reduction in the present cost of administration and operation. Dr. Hudson, speaking for the Victoria Medical Association, stated that the matter was to come up for further consideration by the medical men, until which time he did not care to venture any opinion on the proposed schemes.

Layman's View.
As a layman with considerable experience and interest in the operating of hospitals, Chas. Graham of Cumberland supported Dr. Vrooman's scheme of asking the government to make up any deficit. He was not in favor of nationalization, asserting that such a step would not be to the best interests of patients, nurses or doctors, but at the same time he believed in the principle of government supervision. Dr. J. W. McIntosh, M. P., contributed his views on State Health Insurance to the discussion, announcing himself in favor of free medical attendance in connection with free hospital treatment. Dr. M. Raynor also spoke in favor of State Health Insurance, taking the view that such would remove the stigma of charity from any free treatment.

More and Better Babies.
"Maternity in relation to Public Health" was the subject of an interesting paper by Dr. A. G. Price, medical officer of Victoria. His theme was for the encouragement of more and better babies, by the establishing of a government bonus system and free maternity care, together with pre-natal care and the education of girls and young mothers in mother-craft.

R. S. Day's Address.
In the course of a paper dealing with the proposed financing of hospitals, R. S. Day, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, made the following observations: Why is it that our hospital boards, composed of representatives appointed by the Government, municipalities and other bodies, have to go year after year to them, hat in hand, and beg for money to liquidate the deficit incurred in running the hospital, not extravagantly, but with economy consistent with efficiency. We give our time, month after month, year after year, cheerfully, freely and patiently to its management. We seek no benefit ourselves, but work quietly and unostentatiously for the benefit of the sick and injured. Our chief mark of appreciation is re-appointment to the job, and not a well ordered scheme for lightening our work and making it more efficient by adequate financial support.

A Public Utility.
The School Trustees, Police Commissioners and Fire Wardens can estimate their annual expenditures and have them included in the civic estimates, but the hospital board, controlling another necessary utility is not brought under full State of civic control, and has to take what it can get and be thankful. This ought not to be. With due provision for oversight of all expenditure to check extravagance, there should be set aside every year for hospital purposes a sum sufficient to meet the estimated excess of expenditures over income from private sources, and there should be no undue difficulty in the way of the Government and municipalities getting together and apportioning the cost and how it is to be got. In this Province the main support of the hospital is derived from grants made by the Government and the municipalities. Between these two stools the hospital often falls to the ground. Then ensues a wrangle as to who is to pick it up.

All Should Pay.
The present system of partial aid is deemed an adequate excuse by many for endeavoring to secure free treatment, who can afford to pay something for it, and some succeed in doing so, and it is considered an adequate reason by the vast bulk of our population for not subscribing towards its support. With pressing financial burdens, sitting heavily on the shoulders of the powers that be, and with existing taxation pressing with still heavier weight upon the property owner, it is little wonder that no disposition is shown to add to them, but is there not a large, untapped source of revenue which could, and should, be made contributory to hospital support? I venture to lay down this axiom. Every man and woman in the community capable of self-support should directly contribute towards the support of the hospital in his or her district.

Sad Debts.
A large industry is started as a war emergency. A great number of men are attracted from far and near and are employed. Some are aliens. While the work lasts they are with us. When it stops many will go. If any are injured, the Government, through the Workmen's Compensation Board, will pay the hospital a stated charge for his treatment. If, instead of being injured, he becomes ill, the hospital has to depend on its own resources to collect its fees. Unlike the grocer it has not the option of collecting in advance. At best it can only take a deposit. It has to take the risk of making a bad

Here's a chance to make big money on a $10 investment—or to lose but $10—You can't lose much if you do lose—You may make hundreds—or even thousands. Note the men back of this enterprise. Then decide yourself.

Great Fortunes Are Made When Oil is Struck

ALL the oil enterprises that are today pouring forth such vast riches were at the start speculative. This is speculative. If this were not speculative—if oil were actually spouting from wells, on this property to-day—you wouldn't have this opportunity—your money wouldn't be needed or accepted.

Folks of very limited means—often very poor people with only a record for honesty—and many capitalists HAVE BEEN REAPING A FINANCIAL HARVEST through Texas oil resources.

It is reasonable to expect that what has happened elsewhere—in other Texas oil territories—must happen here. Those who bought ahead of the drill in other sections are rolling in wealth to-day. Take the famous Burkburnett and Ranger districts here at one time—not many months ago—leases could be easily bought around $10.00 an acre. Deals have been reported recently as high as $195,000 an acre. Frequent deals in that field are around $25,000 an acre. An oil strike did the work.

Our Holdings in This Rich Field Offer Choice Locations for Many Wells

We own leases aggregating 292 acres situated Northeast of Roby, Fisher County, Texas, a short distance west of the Ranger field, where many gushers of from 1,000 to 12,000 barrels of oil per day have been brought in. Our leases offer choice locations for upwards of 60 wells. There are four oil sands in this section, and our chances of striking a gusher are equal to any and better than most. On the North and East we have Burkburnett, Iowa Park, Electra and Henrietta fields, and on a direct line, a short distance East, the famous Ranger oil fields, all big producers. The Company's land shows all the surface indications of oil that these other fields ever had. Producing wells are being brought in nearer every day—wells are now drilling to the North, East and South.

Many new locations are being made in this section—drilling rigs are being rapidly moved in and instructed to begin operations at once. The activity in this section is increasing daily and development is being rushed on a large scale. Any day word may reach us of the bringing in of these wells—a gusher—would mean thousands or perhaps millions of dollars in increased values of our leases and the stock of this Company.

These are some of the reasons—without going into geological or technical details—why the officers and directors of the Company have such faith in this property.

10 Cents a Share Now, and Money Back in 10 Days If You Want It

To enable the Company to start drilling as soon as possible and to pay necessary overhead costs this popular subscription plan has been adopted, and this most unusual offer is made to those who will act at once. If you will remit promptly you will pay but ten cents per share or $10 per unit of 100 shares. Send your money any convenient way—money order, check, bank draft or currency by registered letter—then look up the Company or directors or property, and if not perfectly satisfied, ask return of your money within 10 days and it will be forwarded to you at once.

Facts concerning this proposition have been told you in brief without elaboration. What do you think about the prospects of making your $10 in this venture grow many fold? As good as it looks, you have not been told anywhere near all the favorable things about this immense project. If you want a $10 unit at the ground floor price—fill out the subscription coupon (or send letter) without delay and send it with your $10—before the price goes up.

debt. It cannot throw a sick man into the street when his money is exhausted. Why should not every man in that employment, and in every employment, contribute something every month—it need not be large—towards the support of the hospitals in his district? Why does not the Government see that he does, for do not men under similar circumstances where no public hospital exists tax themselves to retain a doctor to treat them in a private hospital free of charge? Hospital For All. Everyone should pay, employer and employed; the man who has retired on his earnings and the man who has inherited his support. Grade it, if necessary, but be fair to all. Four years ago, I saw a direct tax of this kind, being smoothly collected as far as I could judge, to provide for old age and sickness. The time has come for our legislators to put hospitals on a sound financial basis. To see that with the best modern equipment in the large centres, the grading is systematic down to the smallest places, and that where special need exists, the special equipment is supplied. "I have opened up a large problem, and have only lifted the fringe. My aim is to start thought and discussion in order that we may accomplish something more than mere talk. The public hospital exists for all. The burden of its support should fall on all, the wealthy should bear a higher share of the cost than the man of small means, for the strong should help to bear the burden of the weak." Miss Chatterbox—"I must tell you the sad story of my sister some day. Poor girl, she's a widow and she's looking for a captain to steer her through the stormy seas of life." Naval Friend—"She doesn't require a captain—it's a second mate she wants"

THE DUTY OF THE STATE.

To the general public Hospital Conventions first suggest gatherings of medical men and representatives of the allied professions assembled to discuss in technical fashion the ills of mankind and their treatment. This suggestion is only partially correct. It merely scratches the general principle. True, the three-day Convention, which comes to an end this evening, has been fruitful of a multitude of suggestions directed towards what may be known in the abstract as a more effective conservation of health and life. These are technical and professional phases of the question, but there are other aspects.

Like all works essential to our economic, industrial and social life the care of the sick makes a large demand upon the public purse. It is an old saying that the doctor is the first called and the last paid. What is true in some cases with the private practitioner is true of the institution. Very few hospitals find it possible to pay their way. Hospital poverty will be with us until the state assumes control and; fundamentally, the care of the sick should be the most important function of the state. So far, however, the state has not rated the health of its citizens sufficiently high to permit of its shouldering the responsibility which rightly belongs to it.

Government grants to recognized curative institutions were pitifully small in pre-war days; with the general advance in the cost of operation during the last five years they have become almost negligible. Private philanthropy and public subscriptions are still necessary to supplement the Government dole in order that proper hospital treatment may be afforded to those unable to pay for themselves. Hence, this year, civilization marches past the street corner to the jingle of the collection box willingly filled; be it remarked, by people anxious to render service to mankind.

But this manner of raising funds for such a service is wrong in principle. It does not harmonize with the general march of progress. The state fails to respond sufficiently to the unspectacular pleas of humanity. Politicians do not believe that the palate of an electorate may be tickled by progressive health legislation. By this we do not set up the public health as a political shuttlecock for legislator battledores; but until the law makers of the country reach that stage when political ambition must bow in subservience to the vital needs of the state, even so serious a matter as the care of the sick, will not be shorn of material considerations.

So far as British Columbia is concerned its Department of Public Health has done much with finances at its disposal. But it is not enough, and it will have to be brought home to the people that British Columbia's future depends upon her ability to conserve the health of her citizens. Her population is small enough now and this Province can ill afford, for instance, a second influenza epidemic. Tuberculosis exacts too large a toll. Yet with the accommodation now being added at Tranquille there will still be a waiting list of incipient cases whose earlier treatment could rescue them from the risk which attends delay. Lack of funds is the only answer. That is to say, there is lack of appreciation on the part of the country as a whole that human life is the nation's asset that should count most, while its preservation is cheap at any price.

Therefore, as one of the speakers at the Hospital Convention rightly says, the day is passed when sickness and disease may be regarded as "visitations of Providence." Prevention must be the watchword. Education in the fundamental principles of health conservation is essential. It must be promulgated in such a form as to arrest the attention of the people. When it has been fully realized that every human life is a financial pillar to the state there will be a proper readiness on the part of the public to assume the obligation it imposes. The time to act is now. Educate at once so that the day when hospitals depend upon private philanthropy will soon be over.

SIR THOMAS WHITE RESIGNS.

Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, has submitted his resignation to the Prime Minister. His action is reported to have been prompted by considerations of health which, during the last year or two, has suffered considerably from the tremendous strain involved in the direction of Canada's war finance. For some months last year, it will be recalled, he was absent from his post on vacation, his place being taken by Hon. A. K. Maclean. Whether the reason given out for the Minister's desire to retire is correct or not political events of the future will disclose. In any case Sir Thomas evidently is anxious to withdraw from the Cabinet and should he carry out his intention Sir Robert Borden will lose an important colleague.

Sir Thomas White has been regarded as the leading champion of big interests in the administration, although he often has repudiated that impression. Prior to 1911 he was a Liberal, but in that year left the Liberal party with seventeen other prominent high protectionists as a protest against the Reciprocity Agreement which he considered to be a menace to the fiscal policy he espoused. When Sir Robert Borden assumed office as a result of the election on the reciprocity issue eight years ago he, in deference to the wishes of influential protectionists, appointed Sir Thomas White to be Minister of Finance, to the great annoyance of not a few old-line Tories who resented the appointment of a man so recently a Liberal to the most important position in the new Cabinet next to that of the First Minister himself.

It always had been anticipated that this post would go to Sir George Foster, who for years had been the financial critic for the Conservative party when it was in opposition and who, it will be remembered, had been Finance Minister in the Cabinets of Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir John Abbott, Sir John Thompson, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Charles Tupper. Sir George, however, was relegated to the relatively minor post of Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Sir Thomas White is a high tariff supporter by honest conviction born of his business associations and training and the environment in which he moved in Toronto for many years. It is possible to disagree with his point of view and yet to admire the ability, resourcefulness, unchallenged integrity, tireless industry and loyalty with which he has discharged the extremely difficult duties of his office, especially during the war. Allied to these are a pleasing personality and many attractive qualities which have made him generally popular in the House however marked has been the conflict over his fiscal policy.

If Sir Thomas White's resignation should go into effect it will not be hard to envisage the influences that will be brought to bear upon Sir Robert Borden in selecting a successor, for every big protectionist in eastern Canada will join in the pressure on the Prime Minister to choose somebody who will not lay a sacrilegious hand upon the tariff or the special privilege fattening behind it.

CARVELL, TOO!

Ottawa newspapers foreshadow the resignation of Hon. Frank Carvell, Minister of Public Works, before the end of the present month. This is not the first time the retirement of the aggressive Minister from New Brunswick has been foreshadowed, but there is every reason to believe the prediction is well founded. When Mr. Carvell entered the Union Government he declared that he had done so for the period of the war, that for the time being he had ceased to be a party man, insisting like other Liberals who joined the coalition that controversial policies should be kept in cold storage until after the struggle. With the end of the war the forbidden topics have begun to emerge from their arctic prisons, and probably Mr. Carvell, who cannot see eye-to-eye with the Prime Minister on most of them, desires to withdraw to the open again to wield that deadly claymore which has left so many political heads on the green. With Crerar, White and Carvell out the Union Government will have lost three of its strongest members and Sir Robert Borden is likely to confront the House next session with an administration greatly weakened in material.

GERMANY'S LOAD.

Mathias Erzberger, German Minister of Finance, says he will have nothing to do with suggestions for the annulment of the German war loans or for a declaration of general bankruptcy. As to that we shall know more when Erzberger tackles the financial problem in earnest, but the financier who will clear up the mess in which Germany's method of financing the war has left the country will have to be a veritable genius.

Germany financed the war almost entirely by domestic loans, her Government fearing to try to raise more than a negligible amount by taxation. Loans were pyramided upon loans until they left her with a debt which must aggregate $30,000,000,000, not counting the debts of such states as Bavaria and Saxony. She also made heavy advances to Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey, virtually all of which never will return. During the last year or two of the war the German revenue was insufficient to pay even the interest on her loans and she had to divert funds from fresh loans to meet that charge.

In the early part of the war the head of the Deutsche Bank told a Chicago correspondent that Germany could stand a debt of $20,000,000,000 without being bankrupt, but that if that limit were exceeded the outlook would be very dark. This dead-line has been exceeded by probably $10,000,000,000, and Germany must increase her pre-war annual income from considerably under $1,000,000,000 to more than $4,000,000,000 to pay her way.

CAPT. ROBERTSON'S PROMOTION.

The promotion of Captain George Robertson, for the last eight years local Agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, to be Superintendent of Pilotage with headquarters at Ottawa, is a matter for congratulation to both the Government and the captain. It is an evidence of the Department's recognition of the efficient manner in which Captain Robertson has discharged his duties as Agent, which has been clearly reflected in the excellence of the branch of the service under his direction. The Times wishes Captain Robertson every success in his new post.

History is being made in Canada every day, but a new step is recorded in a dispatch from Windsor, Ontario. A steamer weighed anchor at Walkerville yesterday, outward bound for Glasgow, and she had on board 1,100 tons of whiskey. It is said that this is but one of several shipments to be made to Scotland on account of prohibition laws on this continent which compel the distillers to find markets overseas. Talk about carrying coal to Newcastle!

Some medical authorities describe golf as a nerve tonic. It probably is, after the expiration of the seven-year probationary course which, experts declare, a devotee must undertake before it becomes possible to do eighteen holes with fitting mental poise and in such form as to permit one to talk about it afterwards without exciting hilarity. But during those seven years it often is found to be more of a stimulant of anger poisons and a menace to an important provision of the Decalogue than a nerve tonic. Jacob's seven-year probation for Rachel undoubtedly exercised a profound influence upon the human race. Just what the history of the world would have been if Jacob had spent seven years learning golf, instead, must be left to an unfettered imagination.

WHY BRITISH MAIL

SERVICE IS LATE

Deputy Postmaster General Replies to Board of Trade Query

Delay in delivery of British newspapers and magazines is entirely due to conditions of transportation over which the Post Office has no control, according to a letter received by the Board of Trade from R. M. Coulter, Deputy Postmaster General, Ottawa. He says in part: "So long as the Atlantic service is being used for the transportation of many thousands of returning soldiers it will be impossible to establish pre-war conditions, and the public must not expect this to be done at the present time."

"As an instance of the above we may take the British mails arriving at Victoria nearest to the date of your letter, that is on 27 and 28 respectively. These mails were despatched from the United Kingdom on the 'Scotian' and 'Aquitania'. 'The Scotian' was due to leave Liverpool on the 6th of June, arriving at Quebec on June 25, the mails reaching Victoria on June 28. 'The Aquitania' sailed from Southampton on the 14th of June, arriving at Halifax on June 20, and the mails reached Victoria on June 27. This illustrates the conditions of transportation under which British newspapers and magazines posted between the seventh and fourteenth of June reached Victoria on successive days, the twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth of June."

PROPOSED NURSES' CLUB

All nurses, whether members of the Association or not, are earnestly requested to attend a special meeting of the Victoria Graduate Nurses' Association, on Friday, July 11 at 8 p.m., to be held in the Victoria Club Rooms, Campbell Building. The object of the meeting is to discuss an offer from all Overseas Sisters to start a Club for nurses in Victoria.

NEW HOSPITAL IS WOMEN'S OBJECT

Relation of Women's Auxiliaries Explained at Hospitals' Convention

Nothing short of a new hospital is the plea of the Women's Auxiliary of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, according to Mrs. E. S. Hasell, who addressed the Hospital Convention at the Empress Hotel this morning on the subject of "The Relation of Women's Auxiliary to the Hospital." Mrs. Hasell's experience in hospital work covers a period of over twenty years. In her opening remarks she said, "This is a subject rendered somewhat difficult by its very simplicity and obviousness, for the whole basis of the usefulness and the success of 'auxiliary' service rests upon organization, co-operation, and efficiency. "Wherever a movement of importance is begun there is always a woman's auxiliary. In all hospitals work is done under the leadership of a woman, and such is the case in Victoria. "In all community matters, it has been demonstrated that better progress is made under the dual control of men and women, while the public interest taken in such affairs has a great deal to do with the success attained. "The objects of the W. A. were: 1. To act as an intermediary between the business management and the public. 2. To become the agency through which comforts may be arranged and secured. 3. To be a channel through which complaints may be remedied. 4. To bring to the superintendent and hospital staff that personal fellowship and support which is such a very real 'auxiliary' to the lives of those whose daily round and duty is a perpetual toil. 5. To preserve the ideals and spirit of the Red Cross. 6. To assist in the collection of necessary funds. "The question of the W. A. was discussed. Mrs. Brown advocated tag days. She said Nanaimo's hospital was free from debt and had a $5,000 nucleus for a new hospital which it was expected would be built next year. A telegram from Dr. A. Henderson, St. Luke's Hospital, Powell River, was read at the meeting expressing deep regret at his inability to reach Victoria in time to give his address on "Result of Two Years' Examination of Men Seeking Employment."

The Convention went into business after luncheon. This evening the public is invited to attend the Graduation Exercises of the Training School for Nurses to be held in the Empress Hotel Ballroom. The three days' convention closes to-night with a dance at the Empress Hotel.

COL. OGILVIE HOME AFTER LONG SERVICE

Former G. O. C. of This District Returns; Commanded 14th Brigade, C. F. A.

After spending over three years on overseas service, Lieut.-Col. A. T. Ogilvie, D.S.O., formerly G.O.C. of Military District No. 11, has returned to this city. He expects to return to Ottawa very shortly to consult with the military authorities.

Col. Ogilvie is one of Canada's regular soldiers and has a splendid record. When the Canadian Expeditionary Force was organized the colonel was retained here owing to his recognized ability of organization. After many persistent efforts Col. Ogilvie finally succeeded in getting Ottawa to allow him to go overseas. Early in 1916 he was authorized to form a Western brigade of artillery. He made a trip to the prairies and enlisted the 56th Battery from Winnipeg, the 60th Battery from Regina, the 61st Battery from Lethbridge, and the 62nd Battery from Vancouver. When the Fourth Artillery Division assembled at Petawawa for training Col. Ogilvie was made camp commandant and retained the position until the force left for overseas in September, when he became commanding officer of the 15th Brigade. In the reorganization of the artillery in England Col. Ogilvie was made C.O. of the 14th Brigade, C.F.A., including the 58th Howitzer Battery, 61st Battery and 66th Battery. In August, 1917, Col. Ogilvie proceeded to France with the unit and remained with it until it was broken up in England for demobilization purposes. During the fight for the Canal du Nord, Col. Ogilvie was in command of the 5th Artillery Division during the absence of Brig.-Gen. Dods, and also had two brigades of Imperial Artillery under his control. The 14th Brigade received high honours for its effective work during the last three months of the war. The colonel was decorated for the work of his brigade. For its efficiency the brigade was given the distinguished honor of being the first artillery to cross the Rhine.

The member for Atlin proposes to attend to a number of Departmental matters affecting his constituency while in Victoria as well as to be present in the city to attend the next meeting of the British Columbia Game Conservation Board which is scheduled for July 21. At the meeting in question the members of the Board will make their own and receive reports from the various game associations throughout the Province. Upon such information as will be on file at that time the Board will fix the dates for the coming game season and frame such regulations for submission to the Government as may then be deemed necessary.

FURNITURE GOING CHEAP

It is likely that office furniture of all kinds will be going cheap shortly. The Office of Works in preparing to dispose of the hundreds of thousands of chairs, tables, presses, typewriters and other things supplied to the vast number of offices opened to carry on war work of one kind or another. In fact, so many offices have been opened in all parts of the kingdom that officials appointed to take an inventory of their contents say that it would take a good-sized army to complete the job in the course of the next six months. The best of the furniture, the £14 tables, for example, will not be sold, but will be used to displace inferior furniture in all the Departments that will survive the war.—Tit-Bits.

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and the Woozey Bug
 Copyright, 1912, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
 (By Edward R. Galt.)

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggly Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, was riding along through the woods in his automobile, he heard, near a sassafras bush, a voice calling: "Help! Help! Please get me out!" "Well, I wonder who it is who wants to be gotten out, and what they want to be helped out of?" said Uncle Wiggly to himself, as he stopped his machine next door to a mulberry plant. The rabbit gentleman looked around and, not far away, caught in some sticky gum of a pine tree was a large red bug.

"Oh, will you please help me, Uncle Wiggly?" begged the bug. "I'm stuck fast and can't get loose."

"Of course I'll help you, answered the bunny. Then, with the end of his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, the bunny rabbit helped the bug get loose from the sticky gum. "Is there anything else I can do for you, my friend?" asked Uncle Wiggly of the bug.

"Well, I was on my way to call on my friends, the Squiggly Bugs, when the answer, 'I'm the Woozey Bug myself. I'm a bit late, from having been caught in the sticky gum, and if you wouldn't mind giving me a ride in your auto, why, I'd appreciate it.' 'Crawl in!' cried Uncle Wiggly. 'So the red Woozey Bug crawled into the bunny rabbit's auto, sitting close beside Mr. Longears.

"I don't know how to thank you for having gotten me loose from the sticky gum," said the Woozey Bug. "You are very kind, Uncle Wiggly—I love you!" And the Woozey Bug crawled up Uncle Wiggly's coat and nestled close against his neck.

"Ouch!" cried the bunny rabbit, as he hunched and bunched himself up so quickly that the auto went rattle-saggle.

"What's the matter?" asked the Woozey Bug. "Did I bite you by mistake? I'm sure I didn't mean to."

"No, you didn't bite me," answered the bunny. "You just tickled me. You're very fuzzy-like, you know."

"Yes, that's the reason they call me the Woozey Bug," answered the furry creature. "Oh, but I love you so much for having helped me, Uncle Wiggly!"

"Stop! Wait a minute!" begged the bunny, with a laugh. "Love me all you like, but don't tickle me when I'm steering the car or we might run in the ditch."

"All right, I'll be careful," promised the Woozey Bug. "I'll move farther away from you so I won't make you nervous."

And the Woozey Bug did, and Uncle Wiggly was glad, for the red chap was as hairy as a caterpillar and twice as ticklish-like.

So Mr. Longears and the Woozey

Bug rode along together in the auto, and, all of a sudden, out from behind a stretchy rubber plant jumped the bad old Bazooka.

The Bazooka is a funny animal, with a skin like the head of a drum, very light and tender. But it is a bad animal, and Uncle Wiggly knew this.

"Ah, ha! at last I have caught you!" cried the Bazooka as it stretched out a claw and grabbed hold of the auto, so the rabbit gentleman had to stop it.

"Yes, you have, but what are you going to do with me?" Uncle Wiggly wanted to know.

"Take a lot of sooze off your ears, and give it to the Pipisewah," answered the Bazooka. "Look out now! Here I come to get sooze!"

"Oh, let me see how you get it!" cried the Woozey Bug, as he crawled down off the seat of the auto. "Let me see you take Uncle Wiggly's sooze!"

Then the red Woozey Bug crawled up the leg of the Bazooka, and crawled on his light, drum-like skin. All at once the Bazooka began to squiggle and squirm and he cried: "Oh, how ticklish you are! Get off my skin! Please get off my skin and stop tickling me!"

"Oh, am I tickling you?" asked the Woozey Bug, innocent like and pretending.

"Yes you are, and please stop!" howled the Bazooka.

"Not until you promise not to take any of Uncle Wiggly's sooze!" cried the Woozey Bug, crawling very fast over the tender skin of the bad chap, and tickling him more than ever. "Will you go away?"

"Oh, I'll do anything if you'll stop crawling on me and tickling me!" cried the Bazooka, and then he ran away, and the red Woozey Bug dropped off and crawled back to Uncle Wiggly.

"There are more ways of getting rid of a Bazooka than by making him eat lollypops," said the Woozey Bug, as he crawled up in the auto again. "But don't worry, Uncle Wiggly, I won't tickle you."

"Thank you for saving my sooze," spoke the bunny. Then he gave the Woozey Bug a ride to the home of the Squiggly Bugs. And if the loaf of bread doesn't go sailing with the tea-pot in the gravy boat, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and the Wizzle Bug.

PRETTY WEDDING

Miss Miriam Elliott Wedded to Lieut. W. A. Shields Last Night at Christ Church.

The church was prettily decorated for the occasion, forming a charming setting for the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. C. R. Litter, rector of St. Michael's and All Angels, Royal Oak.

The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the church as the Bridal Chorus from Loheingrin was played by the organist, Dr. J. E. Watson. She looked radiantly pretty in her wedding gown of silk and georgette, and the red Woozey Bug dropped off and crawled back to Uncle Wiggly.

MANY VISITORS AT CHAPTER'S FETE

As befitting a function arranged by a chapter which has done yeoman service for sailors and their dependents, the navy was well represented at the Navy League Chapter's garden fete held yesterday afternoon at the home of the regent, Mrs. David Doig, on Fairfield Road. Capt. Martin, C.M.G., R.N., and a number of naval officers were present. Lady Barnard attended in person and joined the coterie of bridge-players after making numerous purchases at the stalls.

Flooded with sunshine, the lovely old gardens with their velvety lawns and glowing flower-beds furnished an ideal background for the gaily-decorated stalls. Fragrant summer blossoms of all kinds were sold by Mrs. Gordon Smith and Mrs. L. Travis; fancy work by Mrs. G. A. Richardson and Mrs. Rosenbergy; "superfluties" by Mrs. A. T. Purser; "stouch-and-take" booth by Mrs. Carl Kenning; and candy, cakes and fresh vegetables by Mrs. W. H. Watson and Mrs. Strachan. Delicious ice cream was dispensed by Mrs. R. Haddow and Mrs. H. W. Wilders, while the afternoon tea arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. Evans and a bevy of assistants.

Devotees of bridge indulged in this pastime in the spacious reception hall, where six tables were engaged in play. This feature was in charge of Mrs. David Doig, who also furnished the delicious tea for the players, being assisted in serving by Mrs. Mortimer Appleby, Mrs. Purser and Mrs. Guy Langton. Entertainment features included a splendid programme by the Foundation Band, which was presented through the courtesy of E. E. Jenkins, local manager of the Foundation Company. Under the direction of Miss Irene Long, the convener and accompanist, a programme, to which the following popular artists contributed numbers, added further to the pleasures of the afternoon. Mrs. Harry Briggs, Miss F. G. Barton and Mrs. McDonagh, vocalists; pretty dances performed by Miss Lorraine Wootton, Kollie Hibber, Hilda Lanston and Sylvia Appleby. Miss Ruth Cochrane's ukulele orchestra also played selections.

Outdoor attractions included clock golf in charge of Miss Regina Verrinder and Miss Stevens; ping pong directed by Mrs. Verrinder and Miss Verrinder, and tennis supervised by Mrs. Rickaby. Mrs. Randall and Mrs. Humphrey Baynes, in gypsy costume, told fortunes to a steady stream of clients. Mrs. A. Thomson and Miss Sweet as a gate-keeper, collecting the admission fees. Altogether the affair was a gratifying success both socially and financially and should result in material aid to the funds of this hard-working chapter.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

It has been said that there is now hardly a city, town or village in this country wherein some woman does not reside who has found health in that good, old-fashioned remedy, Lolla E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Therefore, if you are suffering from some ailment, and hardly know what to do for it, and have tried other remedies without help, ask your neighbor if she has ever used Lolla E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If she herself has never had the need for it, undoubtedly she knows others who were just in your condition and who have been restored to health.

CELEBRATION TO BE A BIG AFFAIR

Entire City Will Join in Peace Day Demonstration; Numerous Events

Having contributed generously of her men and resources during over four years of the fierce conflict in world's history, Victoria will rank equally high with all other cities in Canada in the extent of her celebration in honor of the peace that has been won by the valiant men of the British Empire and her Allies.

"Let our returned men feel that we know they are responsible for giving us this peace, and that we are celebrating it for them," was the declaration of F. Landsberg at the special meeting at the City Hall last night, called by Mayor Porter to prepare the Peace Day Celebration programme.

The meeting was largely attended by representatives of almost every organization in the city, all of whom were enthusiastic and promised the utmost support in making the affair the biggest event in Victoria's history.

Parade to Park.
A monster parade, at the head of which will ride the wounded veterans followed by their comrades of the Army and Navy, will assemble on the morning of Saturday, July 19, and proceed to Beacon Hill Park, passing under a great Peace Arch to be constructed over Government Street near the Causeway. Bands will lead the procession, in which school children and every society or organization in the city is invited to be represented.

At the Park Mayor Porter will read the Peace Proclamation, followed by five-minute speeches by Sir Frank Barnard, Major-General Leckie, G.O.C., and Captain Martin, R.N. Patriotic songs will be sung by the children and the gathering will then disband to take part in the many other features that have been arranged for the day. The B. C. E. Railway Company will be asked to furnish extra cars to enable the children and older folks attending this portion of the celebration to return to their homes.

A Noisy Awakening.
The people of Victoria will early learn that a day of celebration has dawned and instead of the usual alarm-clock method of being awakened they will be aroused by siren blasts, ringing of bells, shouting of every conceivable kind of horn or noise-making apparatus.

"It is the duty of every man, woman and child to show his joy," is the slogan the Celebration Committee adopts to insure the affair being the biggest success on record. There are numerous events that already have been scheduled to take place on July 19 and when the official souvenir programme is printed, it will be found that all of these have been made to take part in a complete and substantial whole.

Sports, garden fetes, cabarets, a swimming gala at the George, fireworks in the evening and a splendid programme of music rendered by massed choirs in front of the Parliament Buildings, which will be illuminated in honor of the day, will be among the prominent features.

The Inter-State Realty Convention will conclude its sessions in Victoria on July 19, when hundreds of influential men from all parts of the Pacific Northwest will be here.

Celebration Committee.
At last night's meeting a Celebration Committee was named to work out the details, which in turn appointed sub-committees and another meeting of the general committee will be held in the Council Chamber on Monday at 5 o'clock. Suggestions will be welcomed. An endeavor will be made to have all craft in the harbor illuminated, and illuminated aircraft and fireworks sent up from the Inner Harbor will add to the evening portion of the celebration.

The Committee issues a special appeal to every merchant and householder to decorate as generously as possible and to take a personal interest in turning out for the affair and making it a success.

F. Westley Newton is secretary of the General Committee, which includes Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Graves, Major Waugh, Messrs. Gioia, Flumert, Landsberg, Brown, Forrester, Best, Greene and Dr. Raynor.

The parade will be directly under the control of the military authorities and the committee in charge will be headed by Lieut.-Col. F. W. L. Moore, Chief of Police Langley and Lt. D. McLean.

The following are the sub-committees: Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Spofford, Captain Aitken and School Superintendent Paul was named to organize the school children of the city so that they might take a prominent part in the parade and other items of the programme.

Capt. T. J. Goodlake, F. Gioia, M. P. P., George I. Warren, Mrs. Thomson, Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Ball were appointed as decorations and illuminating committee. The ladies were chosen as officers of different auxiliaries to service organizations.

A publicity committee was appointed to be composed of C. Swayne, B. C. Nicholas, Emmett E. Ewers, H. W. Hart, F. Henning and Phil R. Smith.

"Just ask Doctor Jones to run round to my place right away. Our cook's fallen downstairs, and my two boys have been knocked down by a taxi," telephoned an English father. "I'm sorry, sir," answered the doctor's stenographer, "but the doctor was blown up in yesterday's air raid."

School Board Records Sorrow at Death of Ex-Mayor Charles Hayward

A resolution of condolence to the relatives of the late Charles Hayward was passed by the School Board last night.

A high tribute to the work and career of Mr. Hayward was paid by Trustee George Jay, the (senior) member of the Board. Trustee Perry, seconding Trustee Jay's motion that the Board express its sorrow at Mr. Hayward's death, pointed to the deep interest in which the late pioneer had displayed toward the educational life of the city. "The passing of Mr. Hayward," said Trustee Perry, "will leave a gap in the minds of the older residents of Victoria."

NUMEROUS PICNICS ARE NOW BEING HELD

Three Outings Yesterday Were Greatly Enjoyed; More Are Arranged

Numerous church, Sunday school and other picnics are being held in the present summer days. The firemen of the night shift, No. 1 Fire Hall, and their friends, in all about fifty, spent a very enjoyable time at Cadboro Bay Beach yesterday. The party left the city in the morning, and returned at 5 o'clock in the evening.

The Sunday School children of St. Jude's church held the annual outing at the Craigflower School grounds yesterday and the children, and adults as well, enjoyed themselves immensely.

It required two tallyhoes and six automobiles to carry the one hundred odd members of the Girls' Corner Club to the beautiful gardens of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart at Tox inlet yesterday. The young ladies spent their time fishing, boating, and otherwise enjoying themselves. A hearty vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Butchart for the kindness extended the girls.

The A. O. U. W. picnic, which includes three city lodges, will hold a picnic at Kanaka Ranch, Esquimalt, Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2.15. Tea, coffee, milk and hot water, will be provided on the grounds. The picnicers will go to the grounds by the B. C. E. Railway, taking No. 4 car to Fraser Street, thence turning to the left. Special arrangements for sports have been made.

The Garden City Women's Institute will hold a picnic at Mt. Douglas Park next Wednesday, July 16, when there will be a special motor bus service from Marigold and Burnside leaving at 10 o'clock in the morning. Sports for the children and other forms of entertainment have been arranged.

The First Unitarian Sunday School picnic will be held on Saturday, arrangements having been made for holding the affair at Spurn Bay, Uplands.

ALWAYS WEAR IT.

Though the day be sad and weary,
And the way seem long and dreary,
It never will be better if we fret,
For upon the inside lining,
Be sure the sun is shining,
So give a smile and with a smile be met.

Keep smiling, that's the motto
In every Fairy Grotto,
And for us mortals it is well worth while;
Our troubles they will scatter,
Whatever may be the matter,
If we only meet them bravely with a smile.

Our neighbor has his trouble,
Of perhaps ours more than double,
So we never should go round with faces
long;
But with head erect and steady,
And a smile that's ever ready,
We should go about our business with a song.

We can always make life dreary,
We can also make it cheery—
It depends upon each of us when we meet;
So let us all keep smiling,
Though our troubles may be piling,
It will help to make our journey much more sweet.

LOCAL OARSMEN ARE PREPARING FOR TWO ANNUAL REGATTAS ON ISLAND

Shawnigan Lake Athletic Club Will Hold Its Rowing Competitions on August 9 and One Week Later the J. B. A. A Will Row at Gorge—Many Oarsmen Are Being Developed

Vancouver Island rowers are in vigorous training for two regattas which will be held during August. The Shawnigan Lake Athletic Association announces that it will hold its annual regatta at the Lake on Saturday afternoon, August 9, and the following Saturday the James Bay Athletic Association will pull off its annual regatta on Indian River during August, and the local rowers are getting themselves into the finest fettle so as to make a clean sweep of all the regattas.

The feature race of the Shawnigan regatta will be for the Walbank Cup for four-oared crews that have never rowed a winning race before. There will be a number of other races for experienced crews as well as the championship singles.

Develop New Rowers.

For their regatta on the Gorge the Bays have drafted a splendid programme. They have paid particular attention to races for novices. It is the attention of the club to develop a lot of new rowers and they are providing every opportunity for these boys to get into the regatta. They realize that a bunch of green crews would be unable to accomplish much and have arranged to distribute the novices in the boats with old-timers at stroke and in the bow the new rowers are being put in the centre.

This excellent spirit on the part of the club is resulting in a rapid growth of membership. Many young fellows are now able to get into a good boat and after a few days of barking their knees and getting their muscles loosened up, are able to pull a good oar.

The Gorge Programme.

The programme for the Bays regatta will be as follows:

- 1. Heats and final of the club fours for the Flumert Cup.
2. Single sculls championship for the Helneck Cup.
3. Single sculls novices championship for the Mallandaine Cup.
4. Double scull dinghy race.
5. Single scull canoe race.
6. Tandem canoe race.
7. Tandem canoe race—mixed.
8. Tandem canoe race—open.
9. Four paddle canoe race.
10. Crab race.
11. Unset canoe race.

The entry lists are posted in the club house and oarsmen are invited to enter their names as soon as possible. This will facilitate greatly the work of the Boating Committee in choosing the crews.

Crews Will Be Picked.

It will not be possible for crews to enter in the canoe races. Only single entries will be considered and the Boating Committee will match the men. In this manner the committee hopes to eliminate the possibility of strong crews getting together and making the contests uneven. Strong paddlers will be paired with weak ones and this will make the result of the events an uncertainty.

A lot of husky boys have returned from the front and the Bays hope to have a heavy roster of oarsmen before the season finishes and will get into every regatta with a view to establishing its supremacy of pre-war days. By next year the club will be in splendid shape and be setting the pace for all the rowing clubs on the Coast.

SIX PLAYERS FIGHT FOR MEN'S SINGLES

Fine Games Being Played in Canadian Tennis Championship at Toronto

Toronto, July 10.—A large gallery attended the third day's play in the lawn tennis tournament for the Dominion championship. Some excellent tennis was seen and good progress was made in the draw.

In the ladies' open singles, all events have been placed except the final, and in this event, which will be played to-day, Mrs. Bickle, of Toronto, will meet Miss Sinderstein, of Boston. Good progress was made in the doubles events, but the finals will not be called until the latter part of the week.

In the men's open singles yesterday Rennie put out Stephenson in straight sets. Fred Anderson proved too much for Veasey. Richey put up a strong fight but lost to Westbrook in straight sets.

Donaldson started well against Kashio, but later he fell down on his game and Kashio won rather more easily than was expected.

Well-Known Players Win. All the well-known players won in the doubles. Grant and Foley, however, made the Anderson brothers play three sets before the latter could score a win.

In the ladies' open doubles, Mrs. Bourque and Miss Mathews defeated Miss Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Martin, 7-9, 1-2, 6-4. In the ladies' handicaps, "A" Miss Mathews defeated Miss Walked, 6-2, 8-6.

In the mixed doubles, Mrs. Bourque and Holmes defeated Miss Brock and Chipman 6-3, 6-1. Miss Mathews and Bennett defeated Miss Follinsbee and Ardene, 6-3, 6-4.

BALL PLAYER DEAD

New York, July 10.—Alexander Smith, famous as a professional baseball catcher until four years ago, and a former player on the New York Nationals, died suddenly at his home here last night. Athletic heart was given as the cause of his death.

COLLIERIES BOOTED AWAY THEIR CHANCE

Looked Very Bad Against Foundations and Lost Out 16 Runs to 2

Canadian Collieres stepped on to the diamond at the Royal Athletic Park last evening to try and pluck a feather from the wings of the Foundation team, but it was quite evident after the first inning had slipped by that the Collieres had left everything they knew about the game at home. It was a woeful exhibition. It is true that the shipyard players hit hard and often, but the way the Collieres' infield kicked the ball around brought tears to their supporters' eyes. The result was that the shipbuilders left the grounds with a 16-2 victory under their arms.

Two Copas boys went on the mound for the Collieres. Harry got by the first inning without trouble, but in the second Green got a hit and Pringle shoved him along with a fine drive and Walt Gravin chased the two of them home with a hit to the fence and scored himself when the Collieres started throwing wildly. In the next inning Roy Copas was called upon and while he pitched the ball he could not get anywhere. The team behind him had made up their minds that they could not win, so they tumbled all over themselves and altogether booted nine chances.

Pitched Fine Game. McMahon, a youth with plenty of action, did the flogging for Foundations and kept the hits well locked up. He was given fine support. Walt Gravin handled twelve chances at shortstop without a slip. He was grabbing drives from all over the diamond and completed his evening's work by lacing out three hits, one of which went for a double.

Everyone was out pulling for the Collieres to put over a win, but they soon realized that such a thing was an impossibility. The boys have the ability to put up better ball, but just got out to their wrong end. Harry has broken into the game and is holding down the keystone sack, while Haley Jackson, a veteran from France, is playing first. Harry took a hit, not only fields well but is a mighty dangerous man with the club. Towles is catching good ball and is a tower of strength to the team. The outfield is weak.

The Box Score. The box score is as follows: Foundations. A. B. R. H. P. O. A. E. Moran, 3 b. 6 1 2 4 3 1 Brown, 1 b. 4 1 1 1 1 1 P. Word was received from the Vancouver Swimming Club this morning stating that the matter of sending a representative team would be taken up at the meeting of their executive committee to be held at the latter part of this week.

Improving Grounds. The V. I. A. A. House Committee, headed by J. T. Braden, its energetic chairman, is working overtime getting the beautiful grounds at Curtis Point in first-class condition for the gala day. Special electric wiring has been installed. A cinder tennis court is now nearing completion and will greatly add to the attractiveness of the Club quarters. An open basketball court is now in use and has been quite an acquisition to the training of the club athletes.

Strenuous training is in progress every night from 8:30 till 10 o'clock at the Club quarters, and Supt. W. H. Davies, who has charge of the training of the athletes, is open to receive applications for membership from any swimmers or year athletes wishing to avail themselves of the facilities offered.

LADY HAS ENTERED IN BISLEY SHOOT

First Time There Has Been Woman Competitor; Canadians in Good Form

London, July 10.—Bisley opened yesterday in good weather. The prospects are generally fairly encouraging, although the attendance for the early competitions is much below pre-war days. The King's Prize is now open to all who have served in the King's forces in any capacity, the entries numbering 833 or seven more than in 1914.

One lady, Mrs. Gertrude Preston, who served in the Royal Medicals has entered. General Seely Shooting. General Seely, under-secretary of the air ministry and formerly commander of the Canadian cavalry, also has entered.

The introduction of the short magazine rifle with open sights without wind gauge or sights, has aroused considerable discussion. The change means that the final stage of the King's Prize will be at six hundred yards.

The Canadians are in good form, and will have had the benefit of several weeks of practice at Bisley when they begin the shoot on Saturday in matches at the Stock Exchange, Graphic and Telegraph.

First Match Decided. The Bass match at 900 and 1,000 yards was won yesterday by Lieut. Martin, son of Armourer Sergeant Martin, of Glasgow, after a tie with Maurice Brood, the famous Stock Exchange marksman.

Oakland, Cal., July 9.—Willie McEachan, light heavyweight, was awarded a decision over Jack Thompson, a negro heavyweight from the middle west, after four rounds of tame fighting here last night. Critics said Thompson did not seem to extend himself and that McEachan took the initiative.

WHITE SOCKS RIGHT ON YANKEES' HEELS

Grand Race for Bunting in American League; Cleveland Is Coming Strong

While Cincinnati and New York are having a grand old battle for the bunting in the National League, New York and Chicago are fighting every inch of the way to the pennant in the American League. As a result of the White Sox winning a double header yesterday while the Yanks were taking a wallop from Cleveland, Chicago climbed to within eight points of New York. Right behind Chicago, Cleveland is pawing away and is fancied by some as a winner.

Yesterday Shawkey was sent in to pitch the Yanks to victory, but the Indians put their claws into him. Shawkey had previously won ten straight and was looked upon as a good bet, but Clevelaskie twirled a fine game and had his team-mates hitting opportunely. Peckinpaugh, the fast-traveling Yankee shotstop, got another hit yesterday, which means that he has hit safely in twenty-nine consecutive games. He is right out after Cobb.

Faber Wins Victories. Faber starred in the double-header at Chicago and was given credit for both wins over Philadelphia. In the first game Faber singled in the eighth inning with the bases full and two out and chased in two runs. He pitched a second game and let down the Athletics with six hits.

The two leagues are providing the most sensational finishes of many years. In each league three teams are morning about within easy reach of the top and it is hard to pick a winner. They are all playing rattling good ball, and the fans are getting a little fun out of it.

LEAGUE BASEBALL

Old Slim Salee kicked through with a win for Cincinnati yesterday and brought the Reds to within a few points of New York. While Salee had the Boston Braves eating out of his hand, the St. Louis Cardinals were walloping the Giants' pitchers all over the lot. The Cardinals collected fifteen hits of four of the Giants' best bats. Every fan would like to see old "Cincy" come through with the goods this year.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

Con Jones is Putting the Wind Up.

The announcement from Montreal a few days ago that Con Jones planned to put a team in the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, provided he could obtain a franchise, fell like a bombshell amongst the Eastern magnates. When Con made his sensational raid some years ago and grabbed some of the finest hockey players in the East, the clubs nearly threw their necks out in horror. They could not compete with Con as he was passing out tempting offers to all the stars. This time he plans to raid Eastern hockey circles and the magnates are up in the air once more. Lalonde, Hyland and Cameron are among the players whom Con is dickering for. He says he is prepared to go the limit in paying for his players, and if anything gets the Eastern managers' goats it is to find that they have to loosen up on their purse-strings. Competition with Con Jones, they know, is bad business, as he appears to have a real bank behind him whenever he goes out on a raid.

What a Wonderful Time For Compliments. Whenever a new champion comes on to the horizon the old-timers always hurl around a bunch of bouquets at one another. Right after Dempsey had made Willard's face look like an Irish stew, Jim Corbett breezed through with a bunch of flowers for Jeffries, claiming that Jeff was the greatest of them all. Then Jeff turned around and shot a line at Dempsey, whom he said was the ideal champion. Someone else thought Fitzsimmons made them all look like a bunch of ninepins and another veteran, who remembered Sullivan, said that John could have trimmed any of these stars. And so they talk. No one has just about as sleek a piece of fighting machinery that the heaviest ever produced.

Are Sore on the Weak Babies. A lot of dissatisfaction is being heard in the American League just now over the failure of the Washington and Philadelphia clubs to break away from their bush-league-playing. The Athletics have been going bad for a couple of years and this season have only won seventeen games. Connie Mack had his boys winning championships five years ago, but then he decided to break up his wonderful infield and show the world that he could build up another team. He's been trying for a long time and can't make it stick. Connie hasn't got the head a lot of them credited him with. It was the playing of Collins, Baker and a bunch of thoroughbred lads that kept the Quakers on top. If it wasn't for Walter Johnson the Washington club would hardly have a chance these days. For years they have just been ball clubs bound nowhere in particular, touring the route from May to September much as a ham actor playing a big time circuit and getting by through the sufferance of his audiences.

Complain of Drains.—A deputation of Methoon farmers waited on Premier Oliver yesterday and represented that drainage into Glen Lake had been authorized by the Water Rights Department which if carried out would be detrimental to other landowners in the district. The Government will look into the matter, Premier Oliver promised.

Adjourned Meeting.—Appointments to the staff of the Victoria High School will be considered at an adjourned meeting of the School Board a week from Monday. Last night's meeting was adjourned on the advice of Municipal Inspector Paul, who pointed out that it would not be advisable to make appointments to the faculty until a decision is reached on the proposed two-year university course. If the course were established, he observed, it might be necessary to secure the services of particular strong teachers to teach the students studying college work.

Refuse to Alter Stand.—A protest against the removal of D. J. Thomas from the principalship of Quadra Street School was received by the School Board last night from the Victoria and District Teachers' Association. The protest declared that the reasons advanced by the Trustees for their move were "inadequate and unjustifiable." The teachers asked that all promotions and appointments made by the Board in the absence of a teacher be reconsidered in the light of the claims of all concerned. "That would be quite unconstitutional and opposed to the School Act," observed Trustee George Jay. "If the Board adopted such a course, some fifty appointments would be upset." The Board finally decided to ignore the request, and to stand by its decision regarding the position of Mr. Thomas.

Fined.—For discharging firearms within the city limits, William E. Hipwood was fined $2 by Magistrate Jay in the Police Court this morning.

NOVEL APPLICATION OF SCIENTIFIC DATA

Principle Enunciated by Famous Botanist, Born Here, Tried in Okanagan

A practical application of the modern principle of introducing suitable crops to combine with native flora, and thereby obtaining a cultivated flora which will give the best results is contemplated in the Southern Okanagan. The situation was explained by R. C. Treherne, of the Dominion Entomological Department, to the Times last evening. Mr. Treherne is now in the city conducting classes at the Summer School, and checking up field demonstration work carried on at Gordon Head for the Department. The subject to which Mr. Treherne referred has been extensively dealt with in recent scientific publications in the United States, and is an effort to establish a connection with land settlement and the town of Oreville, Washington. It has been ascertained already that the line of corresponding vegetation rises from the Lake up to 1,500 feet gradually as the route runs south from the lake, and the whole of the data has been assembled it will be possible to tell the grower exactly what plants to cultivate at any given altitude, and the best varieties to plant from the experience with corresponding crops and trees elsewhere in the district. The possibilities of these life zones in connection with land settlement and re-vegetation schemes can be readily seen not only by practical agriculturists, but also by returned men who are about to take up land for settlement in the valleys and other sections of the Province where horticulture and agriculture have already been conducted successfully.

Of course the data so far gathered is in a preliminary stage, but it affords information which will be of great value when the principle underlying it has been fully appreciated and applied to local conditions. Curiously enough the scientist who has rendered this form of botany applicable to farming is a Vancouver Island man by birth, Charles V. Piper, of Washington, D. C., who was born in Victoria in 1867, and whose works dealing with the flora of the Western States are the standard authorities on life zone systems.

Bank Clearings.—The bank clearings for the week ending to-day were $3,456,648, as compared with $2,787,761 in the corresponding week of 1918.

Beach Fire.—For nearly four hours the Fire Department struggled with a beach fire at the corner of Government Street and Dallas Road yesterday afternoon, before the blaze could be extinguished.

Intermediate Baseball League.—The results of Tuesday night's intermediate baseball league games were as follows: Gorge 24, Beacon Hill 22; Reliablies 3, Beavers 7; North Ward 18, Civil Service 3; Victoria West 10; Crusaders 8. The next games will take place to-night between the Reliablies and the Gorge at the Foundation grounds, the Crusaders and the Beavers at Central Park, the Oak Bays and the North Wards at Central Park, and the Victoria Wests and the Civil Service at Beacon Hill.

To Ward Off Summer Complexion Ills

To keep the face smooth, white and beautiful all summer, there's nothing quite so good as ordinary mercurized wax. Discolored or freckled skin, so common at this season, is gently radiantly whitered by the wax and replaced by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, which is applied at bedtime and washed off mornings. Greasy creams, powders and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear more conspicuous than usual these days of excessive perspiration. Just get an ounce of mercurized wax at any drug store and use it like cold cream. This will help any skin at once and in a week or so the complexion will look remarkably clear, young and healthy.

Navy League Appeals for Linen for Use at Esquimalt Home

A linen shower, to help replenish the depleted stock of bed and house-linen is to be held at the Sailors' Club, Royal Naval Institute, Esquimalt, to-morrow afternoon from 3 till 6, under the auspices of the Navy League. The stock of towels, bath towels and large-sized pillow-cases is very low and it is hoped that the women of Victoria will respond generously to this appeal on behalf of the gallant sailors who visit these shores from time to time, to ensure them comfort and cleanliness during their stay at the Home. Tea will be served throughout the afternoon and a musical programme is to be given under the direction of Mrs. Shaw, of Esquimalt.

PROTESTANT HOME

Children at Orphanage Had Many Treats During Month; Cash Donations Large

The Ladies' Committee of the Protestant Orphanage met at the home on Monday. The President, Mrs. McArthur, in the chair and the following members attending: Mesdames McCulloch, W. R. Higgins, D. Miller, E. H. Hiscocks, W. G. Cameron, C. F. Todd, Lewthwaite, Baird, Walker, Sewcrott, Andrews, Strickland, Hayward, J. W. Spencer, Hammond, McGregor, and Miss Braik. A letter of appreciation to the matron was read from Dr. Davick, now in Norway for the training and motherly care given his children when in the home. A number of applications for the services of girls and boys in houses or on farms were dealt with in order.

The House Committee for the month reported one child received and a total of sixty-five children. Mr. Buller had admitted the children to the Dog and Pony Show and Mrs. Jack Ribbet had provided reserved seats and a further generous treat of ice cream, popcorn and candy, also a tallyho transportation. Dominion Day was in the morning and Mrs. S. R. Newton and her friends, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Newton, who gave the children one of the happiest days of the year. Motors arrived at the Home early in the morning and conveyed the merry party to the beach where games of all sorts, boating and plentiful meals were indulged in until the evening hours when with three rousing cheers they bade farewell to their kind host and hostess. The Pound Party was a huge success, $511.65 being donated in addition to the various pounds.

Another pleasure was the invitation received from Rev. E. Miller to attend a Garden Party given by St. Barnabas Church where a pretty fairy tale was enacted under the summer sky. Votes of thanks were passed to the Painters' Union, to Mr. Jenkins, to Mr. Turner and the Foundation Band, Mrs. Jack Ribbet, Mrs. James Mansueto, Mrs. S. R. Newton, Mrs. and Mr. Buller. Bills amounting to $330.65 were passed and Mrs. W. G. Cameron and Miss Braik were appointed visitors for the month.

The following donations are gratefully acknowledged: Flour and Cereals—Mrs. Foote, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Shandley, Mrs. Maynard, Mrs. White, Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. N. WEDDING: MOORE-TURNER.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of Our Lord by the Rev. A. deB. Owen on Wednesday, July 9, at 1.30 p. m., when Mabel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Turner, became the bride of Norman Moore, only son of Mrs. and the late J. W. Moore of Armitage, Staffordshire, England. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in her simple gown of white georgette crepe with conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and white carnations. Her bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Florence Turner, who wore a dainty dress of mauve and carried a bouquet of mauve sweet peas, and Miss Lillian Martin, daintily gowned in green and carrying a bouquet of pink sweet peas. The bridegroom was supported by G. A. Grove. During the signing of the register, the solo, "O Perfect Love," was delightfully sung by Miss L. Martin. The church was very prettily decorated by friends of the bride. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, 616 Avallon Road, where numerous friends gathered to extend best wishes to the young couple. Amongst the many gifts was a handsome case of silver presented by friends from James Island. The happy couple left by motor to Cowichan for their honeymoon. On their return they will make their home at James Island.

PARKVILLE INSTITUTE

Mrs. Irene Moody of Vancouver to Address Members' Meetings. Adjourn to September.

The regular monthly meeting of the Parkville Women's Institute took place July 2 with an attendance of eleven, and the president in the chair. The card received from the Provincial Department, setting out the aims and objects of the Women's Institute, was read in union by the members present. The flower show report was read, also a letter from Mrs. Irene Moody, and it was decided to ask her to address the Institute in three weeks' time. Mrs. Middleton's resignation as convener of the social committee was received, and Mrs. Greig appointed in her place. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Boys' Athletic Club for their kind donation of cups and success. At the invitation of the Institute the district inspector paid a visit to Parkville, inspected the dangerous crossings and corners, and promised they should be attended to. It was decided to close the Institute meetings until September.

FRENCH CABINET CHANGES CERTAIN

Even If Clemenceau Stays His Ministry Must Have Early Overhauling

With the signing of the peace treaty assured, there is growing interest and curiosity on the part of the French as to what Clemenceau proposes to do next, writes the Paris correspondent of a New York Exchange. The Premier himself is doing nothing to satisfy this curiosity, remarking merely that "I'm a boy old enough to keep my own counsel and choose my course without asking everybody's advice."

At the time of the armistice Clemenceau said: "If I should die now France would give me a great funeral. If I live six months there is no telling what will happen." But now, at the end of the six months, the aged Premier would be justified in making the same remark. That is, he has been retained in power till a peace has been obtained that is really satisfactory to France in general, despite many criticisms in particular. He has weathered several dangerous labor crises and now comes to the beginning of the second phase of the after-the-war period without showing any sign that he is willing to relinquish power. The period of this second phase is from the signing of the treaty to the election of a new Parliament next fall.

The admirers of Clemenceau say that the safe, selfish thing for him to do is to retire now, sure of lasting fame as the victor of the "after-the-war" period. France through the hardest part of the war and the still more difficult half-year of peace-making. But these same admirers say that the patriotic, and selfish thing for Clemenceau to do is to stay in power, risking every personal honor he has gained, in the dangerous and difficult task of guiding the country through the next four months to the election.

These admirers—many thousands throughout France—say, however, that Clemenceau cannot hold his power through the summer without changes in his ministry which the country will begin to insist upon as soon as peace has been signed and the Premier may be fairly expected to devote his attention to internal affairs. There is a general demand that Klotz, the Minister of the Interior, be dropped immediately. Loucheur, the Minister of Reconstruction, and Clementel, the Minister of Commerce, are almost as unpopular as the first two.

In the case of Clemenceau's retirement there is only one other Frenchman talked of now, as at the time when Clemenceau was shot. That is Briand, who is now looked upon as a moderate Liberal, although two decades ago he was considered as a sensational radical. As Louquet is now Briand is supposed to be the only man who as Premier could get along at all with the present Parliament.

In the case of Clemenceau's remaining in power and reforming his Government, speculation now is chiefly as to the selection of a successor to Klotz. Senator Ribot, who was Premier for a brief period early in the war, and Raoul Peret, Chairman of the Chamber's Finance Commission, are the only two men considered as possible successors for the Finance portfolio. The chief feature of Ribot's policy of international finance, as is well known, would be to pool all expenses of the war from the beginning and have the United States share in them as from August, 1914, regardless of the fact that America did not enter the war till April, 1917. This policy, which Ribot has frequently put forth, is considered absurd and impossible by Thomas W. Lamont, Oscar Crosby, Bernard M. Baruch and all the other American financiers now in Paris.

HE GOT BY BORROWING, SO LONG AS HE DID NOT TRY TO GET FUNDS BY INCREASED TAXATION.

The result of getting practically everything by borrowing and very little from taxes is now showing itself in a rate of exchange adverse to France. So France is being criticized for not having got her war funds, as England did, largely by war taxes. But how could she? From the very beginning of August, 1914, practically every man up to 48 years of age was mobilized, taken from productive industry, and either put into the trenches or into the manufacture of shells and guns. One-third of her territory was lost for four years—the richest third, industrially, of the entire country.

So there were two reasons given why France did not finance the war by taxation—one, that nobody could pay the taxes, the other that an attempt at taxation would have endangered the morale of the nation. So the dissatisfaction with the Ministry of Finance is not due to its war policy of borrowing, but to the action of Klotz, Clementel, and Loucheur since the armistice. These men have failed to formulate a policy which would give business a fresh start. They have been responsible for a policy barring all imports from France on the theory that home industry would be swamped if the policy were abandoned.

It is only within the last two days that they have realized that home industry cannot even start till it has machinery and material to work with, and now imports are to be allowed, but the change does not rehabilitate Klotz and his associates in the Ministry in public opinion. They have been too slow in waking up to the needs of commerce and manufacturing, and too many other problems they have not attempted to solve at all. Hence the general conviction that whether Clemenceau goes or stays these will be an early overhauling of his government.

WHAT HE WAS.

"This prisoner refuses to give his occupation, sir," remarked the police officer to the magistrate.

"Why don't you say what you are?" asked the magistrate to the individual in the dock.

"Oh, it's superfluous, ain't it?" was the grinning reply.

"I do not understand you," elevated the magistrate, with dignity.

"No?" said the prisoner, with elevated eyebrows. "Then you're as bad as the police themselves, if you'll excuse me sayin' so, sir. May I ask what the charge against me is?"

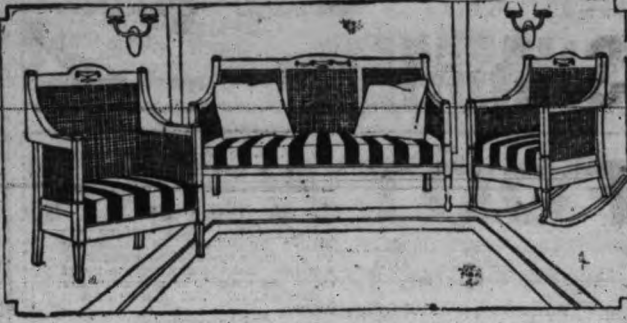

"You are charged with stealing a table and two chairs," said the magistrate.

"Then there yer are," grinned the cheerful gentleman in the dock. "I'm a furniture remover, ain't I?"

INFLAMED GUMS—THE CAUSE OF TOOTH-BASE DECAY

Just as the strength of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so are healthy teeth dependent upon healthy gums.

Permit the gums to become inflamed or tender and you weaken the foundation of the teeth. This condition is called Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Loosening of teeth is a direct result. And spongy, receding gums invite painful tooth base decay. They act, too, as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—inflicting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) attacks four out of five people who are over forty. And many under that age, also. Its first symptom is tender gums. So you should look to your gums! Use Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. It also scientifically cleans the gum—keeps them white and clean. Brush your teeth with it.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for dental 25c and 50c tubes. All Druggists.

BURGULARS' SUPERSTITIONS

Seldom will a burglar proceed to "crack a crib" without a mascot of some sort in his possession.

Some burglars will not break into a house which bears a number they dislike—it is generally that of the policeman who effected their arrest on a previous occasion. Others will not undertake a midnight job if there is a new moon, this has been regarded as a bad omen, but a halo round a full moon gladdens the heart of Bill Sikes. Pickpockets, too, are highly superstitious. The light-fingered fraternity seldom pick the pockets of a cross-eyed or a club-footed person. To do so would mean courting disaster. Finding a twisted coin among the contents of a stolen purse will often induce a pickpocket to throw the purse away. The keeping of it is supposed to signify early arrest.

Before commencing their nefarious work, some pickpockets look about for the first policeman in sight. Should the broad back of the man in blue be turned towards them, a profitable day is assured; if he faces them, the majority will plump for an early closing day.—TIC-ETTS.

GOOD REPUTATION OF CANADIAN WHEAT

Leading Authority in Dominion Speaks of Reasons for Popularity

"Canadian wheat enjoys an excellent reputation in the English market," says Dr. Charles E. Saunders, the Dominion Cerealist. "This reputation is due partly to the natural superiority of our wheats, owing to being grown under very favorable climatic conditions for the production of hard grain and also to the fact that Canada perhaps leads all other countries in the uniformity of the wheat that is exported. This uniformity is partly due to the excellent grading system directed by the Canadian Government, yet a great deal of it may be accredited to the wise policy of the Department of Agriculture in that they have recognized only varieties of high baking strength and have endeavored to educate new settlers to the importance of growing varieties of grain of which would be popular for export purposes. "Color, hardness and baking strength are the principal factors that commend Canadian wheats to the English millers. Such being the case, it behooves the grain grower to consider these essentials most carefully before he discards an old, established variety for a new, unknown sort, which lacks the commendation of the various cereal investigation stations of Canada. With the hope of assisting those who are uncertain as to the qualities required in a popular export variety, it is proposed to deal briefly with these three requisites, namely, color, hardness and baking strength, and endeavor to remove any obscurity that may exist as to their real importance and relation to the maintenance of our export trade. "When one speaks of the popular color of Canadian wheat, it is generally understood that red is the color referred to. The English miller distrusts a white wheat from Canada, and refuses to pay as much for it. This prejudice is based on the fact that frequently, but not always, softness and low baking strength accompany a pale color, and the English miller will take no chances. While in certain respects the contention is wrong, particularly in the case of the White Fife and Bobs varieties, yet as we have red wheats which are superior in yield and equally good in their milling and baking qualities, there is no reason why we should continue the growing of white wheats, and receive a lower price. "The hardness of Canadian wheat appeals to the English miller as he has associated it with baking strength for so long a time that he is most dubious as to the purchase of a soft wheat from Canada. Again, as we have wheats that possess both hardness and high baking strength (our best wheats are very hard) there is no reason why we should prejudice our reputation by what is known as soft wheats, which have naturally soft kernels. The supposition, however, that a soft wheat is necessarily low in baking strength is not always correct. There are soft varieties that are very good in this respect, but they are not superior to the present commercial, hard sorts and consequently, they have never been recommended to the public. "The baking strength of Canadian wheat is what commends it the most to the English trade. The weak wheats of England require mixing with strong wheats of Canada, in order that the flour may make the most desirable and attractive loaf. As long as we can produce wheat that will answer this purpose, just so long will our wheat be popular with the English miller. There is only one way in which we could weaken our reputation for the production of wheat of high baking strength and that is by the introduction of soft wheats. It is therefore, a matter of great importance that the attention of the grower be directed to the recommended and well known varieties of Canadian wheat to unknown sorts which have not been thoroughly tested and their high baking strength established. Fortunately, wheat 80 per cent of our exportable surplus. "As has been shown, the future of our export trade is largely in the hands of the grower. He has a valuable guide in a short pamphlet just issued by the experimental farms on the best varieties of grain. The varieties of wheat that are recommended therein are those that will sustain or enhance our reputation for the production of wheat of the highest quality."

WHY NEW ZEALAND STAYED WET

Soldiers' Vote Overcame Civilian Dry Majority in That British Island.

The soldiers' vote has saved the liquor trade—for the time being, at any rate—in the most exciting liquor vs. prohibition contest that the Dominion has seen. The civilian vote gave a majority of 13,570 for prohibition, but the polling among the soldiers was very heavily against prohibition, and at the time of writing, with some soldiers' votes still to come, there is in the aggregate a soldier majority for continuance of 22,558 and the issue is beyond doubt. Details of the voting are as under:

Civilian Vote.	231,985
For continuance	245,555
For prohibition	13,570
Soldiers' Vote.	29,862
For continuance	7,394
For prohibition	22,468
Majority for continuance.	22,558
Total Civilian and Soldiers' Votes.	261,847
For continuance	252,959
For prohibition	8,888
Majority for continuance.	8,888

It should be explained that under the earliest referendum law in New Zealand there was no national prohibition issue. There was local prohibition and women in every Parliamentary district had the right to say every three years whether liquor licenses should be abolished in the district, or whether the number should be continued. A three-fifths majority of votes recorded was necessary to carry prohibition. There was no compensation for houses closed under reduction or prohibition. Some years ago the law was altered to provide for a vote being taken on national prohibition, as well as on the question of local licenses, and the reduction issue was eliminated. The law provided that national prohibition had to get three-fifths of the number of votes recorded before it became law, and that four years were to elapse before it came into effect. Again, there was no compensation. At the first national prohibition poll there was a majority of 50,000 for prohibition, but it was not sufficient to carry the proposal. At the second, which was held a few months after the war started, there was a majority of more than 10,000 against prohibition. During the war the evils of the liquor trade were much discussed. As a war measure drinking places were closed at 6 o'clock in the evening instead of being allowed, as had always been the custom, to remain open till 10 or 11 at night. Bars were closed by the order of the military authorities on the day that vessels with returning troops on board arrived. Treating was made illegal. A strong movement, running parallel to the old prohibition movement, was started with the object of carrying prohibition on the ground of efficiency. The Government had appointed as a body to advise it on matters connected with the war an Efficiency Board, composed of some of the leading business men in the Dominion. This board recommended that the liquor trade be bought out for £4,500,000, which the board considered would be fair compensation. The Prohibition Party had always opposed compensation, but agreed to accept it now, so as to get a chance of abolishing the liquor business at once. Both sides put their cases before the Government, and as a result a new liquor act was passed at the end of 1918. This provided that in April of this year a special national poll should be taken on the issues of national prohibition, with £4,500,000 compensation, and continuance. The bare majority was to decide. If prohibition was carried it would operate from July 1 of this year. If it was not carried, there would be another poll at the next Parliamentary election. The issues taken would be prohibition without compensation, State control of the liquor traffic, continuance, and the holding of a referendum in which each side thought it had the advantage and in which the interests of the moderates were hardly considered. The campaign was a warm one. The prohibitionists enlisted the help of many business men and doctors who had never before taken an active part in the movement, every economic and scientific argument that could be used was brought out and emphasized. Prohibition lecturers were imported from other countries. "Efficiency" meetings were the order of the day. The "trade" contented itself for the most part with advertisements. Never had so much interest been taken in a prohibition poll. When the numbers went up on the night of the poll, there was a majority for prohibition of 13,570. The soldiers' votes, both abroad and in New Zealand, were being counted separately. The general opinion was that the soldiers would upset the verdict of the civilians, and so it proved. THE PUBLIC MARKET.

To the Editor.—I have noticed recently, in the press and elsewhere, evidences of dissatisfaction with the state of things existing in the market, and on Saturday my wife had a little experience which is instructive. She had bought rack currants at a Port Street store for which she paid 20 cents per pound—by weight. Later in the day, happening to see some in the market, she thought a few more would be serviceable, and asked the price. "Twenty-five cents a basket," was the reply. Asked if there was a pound in the basket, the stall-attendant replied that there was "about" a pound. On reaching home my wife weighed them carefully, and there was nearly, but not quite, half a pound! This brought the price to more than 50 cents a pound! The berries, too, were not equal in quality to those first bought. Is it a wonder that so many good housewives refuse to buy in the market now? A CITIZEN.

"After all," said the football referee to himself, as the police escorted him to the railway station, "I've not done so badly. Its true they've torn nearly all my clothes off and most of my hair out, and that I'm pretty nearly all bruises. But I've got my return ticket."

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief for Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probability the result of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion. Gas distends the stomach and causes that flat, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid. To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acidity, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use. An antacid, such as bisulphated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestives. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisulphated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

Britain and ships at sea, showed large majorities for continuance. Why have the soldiers voted in this way? New Zealand training camps were "dry," and liquor was not permitted on transports. Many of the men, of course, voted against prohibition for the reasons that civilian men did so. (The taking of the soldiers' vote separately was valuable because, for the first time, it gave some indication of the proportion of men in the community who vote one way and the other. The figures for the civilian voting in liquor referenda do not enable one to say how the sexes voted.) But the soldiers resented the holding of the referendum while they were away. They felt that they should have been here to take part in the campaign. It is curious that the majority against prohibition was not so high among the soldiers who had returned as it was among the soldiers abroad. The inference is that some of the men who had returned were influenced by the prohibitionists' arguments. Opponents of prohibition argue that the soldiers' vote is to some extent the result of travel and life in communities where prohibition is never dreamed of and people drink alcoholic liquor rationally, just as the New Zealander drinks tea. The question now is, How will these soldiers vote at the next referendum which cannot be long delayed? Will they, too, be influenced by prohibition argument?

BIBLICAL AUTHORITY.

(From the Westminster Gazette.) The question as to whether ministers of religion should smoke or not, raised at the Primitive Methodist Conference, recalls the story of the old lady who, greatly concerned at Mr. Spurgeon's fondness for a pipe, asked him whether he found justification for the habit in the Bible. "Oh, yes," he replied, with a merry twinkle "in the Book of Psalms there is an interesting reference to the Valley of Baca."

INVESTIGATION PROMISED BY MORRISON. Manitoba Premier Considers Reinstatement of Telephone Employees Who Struck

Winnipeg, July 10.—Investigation of the entire question of reinstatement of the telephone employees here who went on strike has been promised by Premier Morrison, according to a statement made by R. A. Riggs, western organizer of The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress. Following representations made by a committee of six international union officers headed by Mr. Riggs, the Premier agreed to take up the matter of reinstatement and charges of unfair discrimination with the Telephone Commission, Mr. Riggs declared.

Winnipeg, July 10.—At a meeting held in Market Square here last night in condemnation of the Immigration Act as amended at the recent session of the Dominion Parliament, George Armstrong declared that the only way in which the workers could obtain political power was by getting control of industry. How this was to be secured he did not say, but he stated that after investigating conditions they could select their own methods. J. Clancy, who presided, admitting that the strike had been lost, said they were going to change their methods and seek to secure power in the civic government, the Provincial Legislature and the Parliament of Canada.

Ottawa, July 10.—William Lodge, secretary of the Ottawa Trades and Labor Council, received a telegram yesterday signed by E. Bray and A. A. Heaps, asking that an open-air mass meeting of workers and returned soldiers be arranged to hear their protest against the deportation of the men still held under the Immigration Act by Federal authorities at Winnipeg and to boost the fund for their defence. The same message was sent to J. Wilson, secretary of the Metal Trades Council.

Toronto, July 10.—Rev. J. A. Morrison, a Presbyterian minister, died here last night from blood poisoning. All the relatives, including the widow and daughter, live in the West. Interment arrangements are being deferred pending instructions from Mr. Morrison's daughter, who is believed to be in the teacher in Rouleau, Sask. Three brothers of the late minister are believed to reside in British Columbia.

Port Elgin, Ont., July 10.—Twenty-five delegates of the United Farmers of this section of the country met at Underwood yesterday and decided to name a candidate to contest West Bruce for the Legislature. West Bruce is now represented by Mr. Bowman, who has announced that he will resign.

Port Arthur, Ont., July 10.—Alexander W. McNivins, of Rainy River, and Miss Lettie Young, a teacher of the same place, whose home was at Paisley, Ont., were to have been married yesterday. Instead of taking a honeymoon trip to Rainy River, they went to Port Arthur to-day accompanied by the body of the young woman to her former home for interment. She was drowned in the Rainy River when a launch in which she and two other persons were on a sunken log and overturned. When McNivins rose to the surface he was tangled in the branches of a tree and unable to extricate himself in time to aid his companion.

Regina, July 10.—That the present season is as bad as 1918, which held the record of being the worst hay year in the province, is the statement made by a leading adjuster here. He says that the claims already outnumber all those of 1918, but that this may not mean the damage is so extensive. WINNIPEG, July 10.—Arthur Hodgkinson, charged with theft of fruit from two cars on June 22, was fined $50 and costs in the police court here yesterday. The defence put up by Hodgkinson was that an inspector had condemned the fruit and everybody had been invited to help himself.

to be created—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary itself. No part of ancient Poland had ever in a true sense become a part of Germany, or of Austria, or of Russia. Bohemia was lost in every thought and hope to the monarchy of which she had so long been an artificial part, and the uneasy partnership between Austria and Hungary was broken rather of interest than one of kinship or sympathy. The Slavs whom Austria had chosen to force into her empire on the north were kept to their obedience by nothing but the bayonets of her warriors with their kinsmen in the Balkans. These were all arrangements of power, not arrangements of natural union or association. A New Order. "It was the imperative task of those who would make peace, at once, to intelligently, to establish a new order which would rest upon the free choice of people rather than upon the arbitrary will of a few rulers at any time. More than that, great populations would in sympathy and actual kin to Romanians were also linked against their will to the consanguine Austrian-Hungarian monarchy or to other alien sovereignties and it was part of the task of peace to make a new Roumania, as well as a new Slavic state clustering about Serbia. "And no national frontiers could be found to these new fields of adjustment and redemption. It was necessary to look constantly forward to other related tasks. The German Colonies. "The German colonies were to be disposed of. They had not been governed; they had been exploited merely, without thought of the interest or even the ordinary human rights of their inhabitants. Turkey. "The Turkish Empire, moreover, had fallen apart, as the Austro-Hungarian had. It never had any real unity. It had been held together only by a pitiless, inhuman force. Its people cried out for freedom, for a successor from unpeopled deserts, for all that the new day of hope seemed at last to bring within its dawn. Peoples hitherto in utter darkness were to be led out into the same light and given at last a helping hand. Undeveloped peoples and peoples ready for recognition, but not yet ready to assume the full responsibilities of statehood were to be given adequate guarantees of friendly protection, guidance and assistance. New Opportunities. "And out of the execution of these great enterprises of liberty sprang opportunities to obtain what statement had never found the world—a nation and an opportunity to throw safeguards about the rights of racial, national and religious minorities by solemn international covenant; an opportunity to recognize the full responsibilities of statehood where they were most likely to be mischievous; an opportunity to effect a complete and systematic internationalization of waterways and railroads, and to address the economic life of many nations and to clear many of the normal channels of commerce of unfair obstructions of law or of privilege, and the very welcome opportunity to secure for the future the protection of principle and practice."

Winnipeg, July 10.—Search parties are scouring the bush seven miles from Stonevale to-day searching for the three-year-old daughter of A. E. Chumney, who strayed away from her parents yesterday afternoon while they were picking berries. It is feared that the child's vitality is not sufficiently rugged to withstand the rigors of her experience.

Winnipeg, July 10.—In the past week a quarter of a million dollars worth of gold bullion has flowed into the Dominion, and the evidence that the season in the gold producing territories has opened up after the usual quiet winter period. Nearly all this gold has come from the Yukon, but very soon now the Northern British Columbia, Atlin and Cariboo districts will be sending down their treasure. With the opening of the season, those in touch with the industry are looking forward to a productive year.

Winnipeg, July 10.—At a largely attended meeting of the Labor Party here last night, over which S. J. Farmer presided, it was decided to nominate candidates for every seat in Winnipeg and the territory immediately surrounding the city for the House of Commons and the Provincial Legislature, and to nominate candidates for the Municipality, every seat on the City Council and on the Public School Board. A convention is being arranged for August.

Winnipeg, July 10.—A popular Vancouver man, Lieut. Samuel Yardley of the 72nd Battalion, holding a commission as Colonel, was killed in an effort to save the lives of some others who had got beyond their depth. The late Mr. Cook was a metallurgical chemist by profession and went away with the 72nd Battalion, holding the rank of sergeant. He was through all the stiff fighting with that unit, finally receiving wounds and being slightly gassed. His commission was in the field. Lieut. Yardley had been engaged in staff work, pending his restoration to health, and so had remained overseas instead of returning lately with the 72nd. His widow survives. She was with Mr. Cook at the time.

Montreal, July 10.—The Montreal Gazette says to-day: "The transfer of the head office of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada from Toronto to Montreal, which shareholders of the enterprise will be asked to approve of at a special meeting in the former city a week from to-morrow, is a move long expected here. Canadian Pacific Railway interest is largely in control of the big mining enterprise, the road owning 177,025 shares of the outstanding capital stock of the company, carried, by the way, on its books at a par value of $25 a share. "The removal of the chief executive offices to Montreal therefore is a logical step toward a closer contact between the two concerns."

Humboldt, Sask., July 10.—Liberals in convention here last night appointed the following delegates to the National Convention at Ottawa: F. R. Hauser, Humboldt, with Dr. D. B. Neely, alternate; G. A. Calbert, Lanigan, T. A. Hart, Leslie, alternate; A. R. Fraser, of Alton, and A. P. Patterson, Dundurn, alternate. ALIENS RELEASED. Washington, July 10.—Signing of the peace treaty with Germany has resulted in a decision by the Department of Justice that the great majority of German and Austrian enemy aliens in the United States now at large on parole may safely be released from all parole obligations.

REVENUE MEN NOT ADVISED BY TROLL. Civil Re-Establishment Representatives Advise Men to Fish With Nets

Vancouver, July 10.—The Vancouver Sun says: "That returned men have never been encouraged by the Information and Service Branch in British Columbia of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment to try the fishing on the west coast of Vancouver Island was a statement of the officials of the Department yesterday, prompted by a telegraphic report from Victoria to the effect that returned men had been sent to those fishing grounds. "If any returned men went to the west coast to fish they did so entirely on their own initiative and without any encouragement from this Department," said a prominent official yesterday. "We have consistently warned men against the west coast salmon fishing because it consists of no trolling, which is a very precarious way of living. At any time over 200 veterans were sent by the Department to Rivers Inlet to fish with gill nets, and they were all sent in order to get the necessary instructions from experienced men before the sockeye run started. This type of salmon fishing is the only method of getting a living at the moment to go into, and the results, in the opinion of the Department, have perfectly justified the administration."

Prairie River, Sask., July 10.—The Saskatchewan Government has commenced work on the Porcupine Road for the soldier settlers. Engineer Dill, with three other provincial engineers, arrived here yesterday to begin construction of the road from Prairie River to the Coopers, the road work being in charge of Engineer Gray. The steel for the bridge is reported to be on the way here, and road gangs are being started immediately.

Winnipeg, July 10.—On the local cash market to-day there was an excellent demand for grades of grain exchange members was held this afternoon to discuss the general situation of the market and the question of adjusting the machinery of the Exchange to handle the new crop. Oats closed 1/2 cent higher for July, unchanged for October and 2 1/2 cents higher for December. Barley closed 1/2 cent lower for July, unchanged for October and 2 1/2 cents higher for December. Flax closed 1/2 cent higher for July and 1 cent higher for October.

"Captain Kidd, Jr." Mary Pickford plays another almost-grown-up-lady role and the well-known comedy provides her with one of most delightful characterizations has every chosen for presentation the screen. The screen version of the Johnson Young's play was made Frances Marion, a clever scenarist who has written the scenarios for all Miss Pickford's recent successes. The direction was by William D. Taylor and it was his second photoplay with Miss Pickford as star. "Captain Kidd, Jr." will be shown at the Dominion Theatre all week, and recording business is assured. William D. Taylor, who directed by Pickford in "Captain Kidd, Jr.," a thorough artist in his field. His "Mary Pickford picture" was "How did You, Jean?" and the success of photoplay amply evidenced his superior ability as director. In his latest direction, his skill is amply and enterprisingly evidenced.

AMUSEMENTS TO-DAY

The Stage. Royal Victoria—Harvey's Greater Minstrels. Pantages—Vaudeville. The Screen. Dominion—Mary Pickford in "Captain Kidd, Jr." Variety—Alice Joyce and Harry Morey in "Within the Law." Columbia—Priscilla Dean in "The Wildcat of Paris" and "The Lure of the Circus." Romano—Louise Huff in "Heart of Gold."

VARIETY

Metropolitan police methods of enforcing confessions, when confessions whether false or true appear to be necessary, are portrayed in Vitagraph's screen version of "Within the Law," now playing at the Variety, in a manner so true to life that the heads of the New York City Police Department have made strenuous objection to the portrayal. Eugene O'Rourke, who takes the part of Inspector Burke, is the third-degree artist of the police force. He is confronted with the solution of the murder of "English Eddie," killed while burglarizing a house. Five persons may have been guilty of the murder, three accomplices of "English Eddie," the son of the wealthy merchant in whose home the murder took place, and his wife who was acquainted with the burglar. It is the duty of Inspector Burke to force a confession. Not only is the physical brutality of the third degree shown but the mental torture is portrayed. This is vividly shown through the questioning of the young wife, who is informed that her husband is accused of the murder.

COLUMBIA

Priscilla Dean is starred on the Columbia screen to-day and for the balance of the week in the sensational photo-dramatic feature de luxe, "The Wildcat of Paris," also "The Geeser of Berlin," a travesty on "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin." As another special added attraction, Manager Clark is showing the eighth episode of the Universal serial "The Lure of the Circus," featuring Eddie Polo, the daring circus performer.

ROMANO

Dainty Louise Huff is starred in the new feature, "The Heart of Gold," which will be shown on the Romano screen for the remainder of the week, beginning this afternoon. A Harold Lloyd comedy and another thrilling chapter of the serial, "The Hand of Vengeance," are added attractions on the new picture programme at the Romano.

PANTAGES

The Empire Comedy Four—Joe Jenny's famous quartette and, this continent's funniest comedians, present a new edition of the songs and comedy that have made them world renowned, during their engagement at the Pantages theatre this week. Words can hardly convey proper appreciation of this aggregation of funsters who constitute the personnel of "The Empire Comedy Four," with the undisputed reputation of having thrived in vaudeville for sixteen successive and successful years. It is the oldest singing organization in the history of the variety on this continent. Its successes have been scored in all the principal cities of the world. It has made four European tours, retaining the original characters of "straight," "old legit," and "Joe Jenny's eccentric 'Dutch' character, they introduce a line of comedy which is always novel with them. It never fails to tickle the ribbles of the audience, a constant test was held for the original gnomes, the Empire Comedy Four would win it easily. Their comicallities are all on a par with their singing and that is perfect in every department of voice, technique, tone, and quality. They sing in solo and unison. Each of the four offers a specialty, and the entertainment is equally good. Miss Lela Shay and her company, offer an attraction on the current bill. It is a dramatic farce in which Miss Shaw, with all her lovely, luxurious blonde charm, makes merry and waxes dramatic in turn.

HARVEY'S MINSTRELS HEARD AT ROYAL

Merry Troupe of Comedy Entertainers Pleas a Large Audience

Black faces, colorful costumes, songs, jokes and above all rapid action—these are the ingredients that for a generation or two past have made up the form of theatrical entertainment known as the minstrel show, and they were all to be found at the Royal Victoria Theatre last evening when Harvey's Greater Minstrels played the first night of a two-night engagement. An interloper occupied the centre of the semi-circle and there were the prank-loving end men—six of them, with faces so black that they would put to shame a native of mid-Ethiopia, and labourers and "bones" and many jokes. Also there was a band of musicians in the rear of the semi-circle, red-coated and adept. And in addition to these features, there was a departure from the traditional composition of a minstrel show in the presence of half a dozen or so young women, whose voices in the choruses and in solos added a feminine note to the performance.

The first half of the show included numerous solos, among them: being "Bunshine of Your Smile," by Irvy Richardson, the interloper, a tenor; "Alexander's Rag-Time Band in France," by Charlie Beechum; "I Shall Meet You," by Will Merritt; "A Good Man is Hard to Find," by Miss John-nella Gay, and "The Big Bass Viol," sung by Emmett Moss, a basso, whose resonant voice so pleased the audience that he was called upon for an encore. The concentrated humor of the comedy soft-shoe dancing by Fred Mays.

vaudeville turns. Frank Kirk greatly diverted the audience with several well extended numbers on a series of musical instruments invented and made by himself. Besides being musical Kirk is a comedian of resource. Alonzo Moore did some rapid-fire sleight-of-hand feats, and Clarence Powell and Frank Kirk put on a drunk scene, the concentrated humor of which had the audience rocking with laughter.

In the latter part the Creole Chorus appeared again, singing several numbers. That the minstrel show still appeals in these days of musical comedy, reviews and "follies" and movies as it did when Primrose, Dockstader and the other great lights of the black-face stage were at their zenith was attested by the size of the audience, which filled the theatre, and attested also by the frequent and hilarious laughter which greeted the numerous sallies of the comedians. The company, composed throughout of colored men and women, is to repeat the show this evening.

REASONABLE.

A Boston street car has the front sign reading "Dorchester," and the side signs, "Ashmont and Milton." "Does this car go to Dorchester?" "Yes, lady; get right on." "Are you sure it does?" "Yes, lady; get right on." "But it says 'Ashmont and Milton' on the side." "We ain't going sideways, lady. Get right on."

OTIS SKINNER TO PLAY AT ROYAL

One of America's Stage Leaders Will Be Here for One Night

Otis Skinner, who comes to the Royal Victoria theatre on July 16 in a revival of his greatest acting success, "The Honor of the Family," adapted from the French of Emile Fabre by Paul M. Potter, may be justly regarded as one of the most eminent leaders of the American stage. He has given his public a long series of character studies, in each case approaching perfection. None will live longer, nor will be better remembered than that of Colonel Philippe Bridau in "The Honor of the Family." Those who have seen Mr. Skinner in any of his past successes must have experienced a vivid, absorbing pleasure, and while many of his successes have illustrated the fact that he is essentially a romantic and poetic interpreter of the drama in its noblest phases, he is also possessed very largely of the modern sense of human interpretation. In short, he understands human nature, and is able to interpret it with real power and inspiration.

An actor's personality off stage is always equally as interesting as when he is beyond the footlights. The following pen picture by Mr. Skinner's advance man is graphic. "He always strikes me as eminently content with his profession, his success, and with life in general. Unless I mistake him, he infinitely prefers an afternoon of hard rehearsal at the theatre, with a brief respite afterwards at the Players' Club, to any 'function' under heavens. As a matter of fact, I have never known a man with less 'side,' with less of pardonable vanity of a stage idol. A well-knit, well-built man, with a striking profile and penetrating eyes, a man obviously artistic and easily impressionable. Otis Skinner belongs to the best type of his class, a warm-hearted gentleman, an admirable actor, and a writer of literary grace and distinction. In 'The Honor of the Family' he will be welcomed with open arms by an admiring and loving public."

THE LAST STRAW.

A young lawyer whose love of flowers and all things green caused him to settle down in a distant suburb invited his old friend to spend the week-end with him. Brown was received with appropriate honor, and all the attraction were displayed to his polite but not over-keen gaze.

At each meal he listened courteously to eulogies of "our own make" viands. He bore patiently "our own milk," "lettuce from that frame you saw," "peas from the vegetable garden," and so on. But at last it got to this: "Harry, I can recommend this chicken especially. I raised it myself." Then the victim turned—after the first mouthful of chicken, and with a sad smile remarked: "No, Will, I can't believe that. You've only been here a little over two years." "Fit-Bits."

WILLIAMS BOYS WHOSE FATHERS DIED AT FRONT WILL BE ADVISED BY ROTARIANS

Youths Whose Fathers Died at Front Will Be Advised By Rotarians

An unique plan whereby boys whose fathers were killed in the war will receive the counsel and help of a successful business man was put into motion by the Victoria Rotary Club to-day.

Members of the club volunteered to take under their care one of these fatherless boys, and afford them their advice with regard to their future careers. In this way, it is hoped, many boys will be saved the numerous vicissitudes which will not prove profitable or suited.

The club officers have the names of a number of boys who will be glad to receive the guidance of men who have made good. If the scheme is successful, it is confidently expected, its scope will be enlarged as time goes on.

Convention Plans for the 1920 convention of Northwest Rotary Clubs, to be held in Victoria, were made to-day, when the various committees to manage the big meeting were struck.

REACH NO DECISION ON ONE BIG UNION Labor Men Hear Speakers, But Adopt No Stand Toward Scheme

No decision regarding its stand on the question of the One Big Union was reached by a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last night.

Various speakers addressed the gathering which comprised not only the Trades and Labor Council, but the various unions generally.

Under the terms of legislation passed at this year's session of the Provincial Legislature, the Factory Inspector, R. J. Stewart, is now examining applicants who wish to obtain positions as lift operators.

Under the amended Factory Act, legislation sponsored by the Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, it is the intention to obtain efficiency of this branch of labor as well as a greater measure of safety for the public.

Examinations will commence in Victoria to-morrow and employers have been circulated to this effect. The Factory Inspector will conduct the tests, and he has taken up his temporary quarters at the Parliament Buildings.

OBITUARY RECORDS At 3:30 this afternoon the funeral took place from the Sands Funeral Chapel, of David Pirrie Barrie, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barrie, of 3180 Quadra Street.

Seven million pounds was given as the cost of this visitation. One hundred thousand people were driven from their homes, thousands of cattle and sheep were drowned and more than fifty bridges destroyed.

The great Paris flood of 1910, again did damage to the amount of $60,000,000; but the worst disaster of the kind on record occurred in China in 1887, when the Yellow River overflowed, drowning 5,000,000 people and destroying more than 1,500 towns and villages.

The funeral of the late Chas. Hayward will be held from the family residence, 1003 Vancouver Street, at 2:30 on Friday afternoon, proceeding to the funeral home at the Sands Funeral Chapel, Rev. G. H. Andrews conducted the services. Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of James Brimble-Chrymes, the eighth son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chrymes, of 1117 Chapman Street, who passed away on June 29, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. G. H. Andrews conducted the services. Interment was made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

"JIM" BROWN'S NOW CROSSING CONTINENT

Native Son Who Has Longest War Record in Country at Last on His Way Home

There was a saying in France after the armistice was signed and the draftees were being rushed back to Canada, that "the first shall be last and the last shall be first." This held true in a good many cases and it is particularly significant of the case of "Jim" Brown, son of Captain and Mrs. Thomas Brown, of 517 Selkirk Avenue, who has at last arrived in Canada.

"Jim," whose official rank is staff Quartermaster-Sergeant, is one of the "originals." He has been away from Victoria for four years and eleven months, which just about constitutes a record for service in the Great War.

Mr. Carvell will resign in regard to the Canadian trade. Mr. Doherty, Minister of Justice, and Hon. Martin Burrell, Secretary of State, the possibility of whose retirement has been mentioned in the House.

ACTION EXPECTED ON HOUSING SCHEME Anticipated City Will Act, Following Mr. Pattullo's Announcement

Some definite action on the Dominion Housing scheme is expected from the City Council meeting at 7 o'clock to-day.

Meeting Postponed—The City Council meeting set for Friday afternoon has been postponed until the evening, in order that the aldermen may attend the funeral of the late Charles Hayward.

Strawberry Festival—The annual strawberry festival given at the Agri-Mora's Home by the First Congregational Church was held last evening and thoroughly enjoyed by the inmates of the institution.

RECORD FLOODS. Though considerable inconvenience and loss has been caused by the recent floods in the Thames Valley, the destruction cannot be compared with that wrought in East Anglia in the autumn of 1912.

Twenty-Three Wars Going On at One Time

Andrew Bonar Law, speaking in the British House of Commons before the signing of peace, quoted the Chief of the British Staff as authority for the assertion that twenty-three wars were still in progress.

1. Great War: Allied Powers versus Central Powers. Peace conditions already accepted by Germany and have been presented to Austria. The conditions for Turkey, Bulgaria, and Hungary are in course of preparation by the representatives of the Allied Powers.

2. Jugoslavia versus Austria. Cause: Dispute over the future boundary between Austria and the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes. The Austro-Hungarian army has been driven from the Drava and follows this river to the Hungarian border.

3. Rumania versus Hungary and Bolsheviks. Causes: (a) The refusal of Hungary to accept the decision of the Peace Conference as to the boundary of Rumania. (b) The Hungarian Bolshevik menace. The battle line extends along the Tisza River from Csap in the north to the vicinity of Szegedin in the south.

4. Poland versus Ukraine. Ukraine, including Galicia, was a part of a former Polish State. Now the Poles claim that part of its territory which they regard as theirs. They have occupied the Province of Galicia by force.

5. Letts and Balts versus Bolsheviks. The Letts and Balts wish to form a separate republic. The Bolsheviks at first tried to persuade them to join Soviet Russia, but failing in this, have tried to take the provinces of Livonia and Courland by force.

6. Estonians versus Bolsheviks. The Estonians wish to form a separate republic with their own Government. The Soviet Government failing to persuade them to join a United Soviet Russia, is trying to conquer the country by force of arms.

7. Denkin versus Bolsheviks. General Denkin, a leader in the old Russian regime, formed an army of Russian soldiers and opposed Bolshevism in the south of Russia. At present his forces have been greatly increased by volunteers and are known as "The Volunteer Army." He occupies the territory including the valleys of the Don and Donetz Rivers, and has made considerable advances in this territory.

8. Finns versus Russian Bolsheviks. The war between Finland and Bolshevik Russia was caused by the fact that the Bolsheviks persecuted the Finnish inhabitants of Karelia. A volunteer army of 10,000 men was raised in Finland and sent to assist the Karelians. This army was quite successful, but has recently been suffering reverses, being greatly outnumbered by the Bolshevik forces.

9. Allies versus Bolsheviks. The allied troops were sent to Northern Russia to protect supplies sent there by them to be used by the Russian forces against the Germans. The Russians were not able to protect these stores, and there was danger of the Germans gaining the port of Archangel through Finland and procuring the equipment.

10. Kolchak versus Bolsheviks. Forces under Admiral Kolchak are the representatives of a conservative element. His officers include some of the best Russian army. He is fighting against the Bolsheviks for a united Russia and Siberia.

11. Persia versus Kurds. The Kurds on both sides of the Turkish-Persian border, from Diarbekir to Tabriz, are fighting for independence.

12. Germans versus Bolsheviks. Under the terms of the armistice of November 11, 1918, several German divisions under the command of von der Goltz remained in occupation of the Baltic provinces to prevent the westward spread of Bolshevism. The line extended last week approximately from Riga to Kovno and thence southwest to the East Prussian border.

13. Cossacks versus Bolsheviks. The Cossack forces are derived from the Don and Ural. They oppose Bolshevism in their own regions.

URGES THE NEED OF IRISH SOLUTION London Times Appeals for Immediate Action

A London dispatch to the New York Times says: The Times in an editorial on the Irish problem suggests that Lloyd George and the delegates of the Peace Treaty at Versailles to-day might well turn their thoughts to another settlement that is scarcely less urgent, the settlement of the Irish question.

Though primarily and necessarily a British concern, says the Times, it is international in the sense that it affects the relationship between the English and the Irish nations, and also the relationship between the various communities of the British Commonwealth with each other.

The settlement must be based upon the determination that the framework of the British Commonwealth Ireland shall be her own mistress. We believe in the possibility not only of promoting Irish welfare, but of forming a system of Irish self-government, but also in the possibility of fostering reciprocal comprehension and good feeling between the English and Irish peoples.

Agent of Marine Is Transferred to Ottawa

Capt. G. E. L. Robertson, for Eight Years in Charge of Lighthouse Service on Coast, Appointed Superintendent of Dominion Pilotage

Capt. George E. L. Robertson, who for the past eight years has held the post of Agent of Marine for British Columbia, has been promoted in the Government service and will shortly leave for Ottawa to become superintendent of pilotage.

In his new office Capt. Robertson will have control over the various pilotage districts on the two seaboard of Canada. It is significant that the new appointment comes at the period of the proposed amalgamation of the pilotage districts of Victoria, Vancouver, Nanaimo and New Westminster, as recommended by the Robb Royal Commission.

Succeeded Capt. Gaudin. Capt. Robertson succeeded the late Capt. James Gaudin as Agent of Marine in Victoria in 1911, and he has performed the duties falling to his office in a most capable and efficient manner. He has always been a firm believer in the future of Victoria as a port the progress of which he has always been closely in touch. In Capt. Robertson, Victoria will have a strong booster in Ottawa.

For many years Capt. Robertson was an officer in the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Pacific steamship services, and during his career as a navigator has commanded a number of boats under the houseflag of these companies.

Commanded Prince George. Capt. Robertson was the first master assigned to the G. T. P. steamship Prince George when that vessel arrived on the British Columbia coast from the builders yards in the United Kingdom. Few skippers know the British Columbia coastline more thoroughly than Capt. Robertson, and as the direct result of his recommendations a number of excellent aids to navigation have been installed at vital points along the coast in the interests of shipping.

The appointment of Capt. Robertson as Superintendent of Dominion Pilotage was confirmed yesterday in a telegram from Ottawa.

He expects to leave shortly to take up his new duties at Ottawa.

LARGE JAPANESE FLEET TO EUROPE

Forty-Four Vessels, Totaling Over 320,000 Tons, to Carry Foodstuffs

Forty-four Japanese vessels, totaling over 320,000 tons, have been detailed to the shipment of foodstuffs from the Orient to Europe. It is reported that the demand for tonnage was withheld for some time in the hope of a decline in charter and freight rates. In fact, there was a fall, and it seemed certain that there would be a big drop, as over 300,000 tons of Japanese ocean-going vessels would be released from old charter contracts, flooding the market in Japan, whereas there was no particular demand for tonnage. At this psychological moment the European orders were let loose all at once and the vessels open for new contracts were chartered for the European shipments. The goods to be carried are principally rice, sugar, flour, beans, bean oil and copra. As the greater portion of the European consignments are to be carried by Japanese vessels, it is said that there will be a further demand on Japan's shipping.

Quite a number of this large fleet have already been dispatched from Japan to Europe.

SIX HUNDRED NOW AWAIT SAILING OF LINER NIAGARA

NO DREDGING WILL BE UNDERTAKEN HERE

Hon. F. B. Carvell writes Premier Oliver to This Effect

Any hope that may have existed leading to the belief that the Dominion Government would undertake further dredging work in Victoria's Inner Harbor was dispelled by the Hon. F. B. Carvell, Federal Minister of Public Works, in a letter to Premier Oliver this morning.

In his communication the Dominion Minister quotes the letter of Thomas C. Sorby, secretary of the Inner Harbor Association, in which the latter speaks of the dangers of a gradual formation of banks and shoals by silting. Mr. Sorby pointed out that there was a gradually growing unseen danger which might eventually result in disaster to the swiftly moving craft entering and leaving the harbor. He deprecated such delay in removing any possible lurking dangers as might result in damaging the reputation of the Inner Harbor.

Supposition? Hon. Mr. Carvell writes that no other communication save that of Mr. Sorby has been received by the Department citing the possible obstructions and its equally possible consequences. He goes on to say, however, that the Department has made a comparison of engineers' soundings for the years 1917 and 1918 and he finds that in the intervening twelve months in which these soundings were taken that the bed of the harbor had not changed and no silting had taken place. Mr. Carvell, therefore, presumes that Mr. Sorby's statements were made on supposition only and not on fact.

The Minister expresses the regret that the good reputation of Victoria harbor which has been created by the Department should "suffer by such unfounded statements by people who are supposed to have some knowledge of the harbor, but which statements apparently are put forward through desire to have the Department dredges put to work.

PROMOTED TO GOVERNMENT SERVICE

CAPT. G. E. L. ROBERTSON

NEARLY PUT HIM OUT OF BUSINESS, MERCHANT STATES

So Run-Down He was Forced to Close Store; He Gains Twelve Pounds By Taking Tanlac

"When I say that Tanlac is the best medicine I have ever seen, I know just what I am talking about, for since taking it all my troubles have been overcome, and I have gained exactly twelve pounds," said M. K. Tatary, a well-known merchant who lives at 12306-123rd Street, West Edmonton, a few days ago.

"I had a bad spell of influenza about four months ago," he continued, "and it didn't lack very much of putting me out of business altogether. I pulled through, however, but it certainly left my entire system in a badly run-down condition. My stomach was in such bad fix that everything I ate would sour and cause me to be terribly bloated up with gas. Then, at times, what I ate would give me the worst sort of cramping pains right in the pit of my stomach. I was so nervous that the least noise would startle me, and I would go to bed at night without getting as much as an hour's sleep. I finally got so weak and run-down that I was not able to do any work, and had to keep my store closed up for a long time. To tell you the truth, I didn't have any idea that I would ever be a well man again.

"This Tanlac seemed to be doing so many things so much good, so I finally decided that if others got so much benefit from it, it ought to help me, too, and I bought a bottle and commenced taking it. I have taken three bottles of Tanlac so far, and it certainly has done me a world of good. My appetite came back before I had finished my first bottle, and now I eat just anything I want, and I never suffer a particle from it afterwards. I am never bloated from gas, and those awful pains I used to have in the pit of my stomach have left me entirely. My nerves are as steady as they ever were, and I go to bed now, and sleep just like a boy all night long. I am as strong and well as I ever was in my life, and can attend to my business as well as ever. I have gained a lot in weight, and just feel fine and dandy all the time. That is what Tanlac did for me, and if you find anybody who doubts this statement just send them to my store, and I will soon convince them that every word of it is true, and that Tanlac is the best medicine on earth to build a man up who is all run-down like I was."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas-Adv.

LYALL YARD NOW COMPLETING SHIPS

Last Vessel of Contract Will Be Put Into the Water Within Few Days

Vancouver, July 10.—The last of the Lyall ships is expected to take the water in about a week. So far as can be ascertained, no further vessels are on order. With the completion of the last hull the Lyall yards will have completed 37,500 tons of wooden shipping, much of which is on the high seas giving good service while the last few vessels are waiting at the outfitting plant of the yard, receiving the machinery and final touches before trials.

The yard during the past eighteen months has launched six ships of 2,500 deadweight tons for the Imperial Munitions Board. They are the War Puffin, War Crane, War Cayuse, War Atlin, War Nicola and War Squash. These ships are all in European or Mediterranean waters on commercial freighting.

Six clipper-built auxiliary schooners completed last fall, originally for Belgian interests, but later taken over by Lyall's and chartered to lumber companies are carrying lumber to distant ports.

Construction of eight wooden steamers of 1,500 tons each for the French Government was commenced some months ago and with the launching next week the last of them will be in the water.

The time used in Pacific Standard for the 120th meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blank occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lowest water.

Remarks.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry-dock at any tide, add 15.0 feet to the height of high water as above given.

WANT SPECIAL COURSE FOR RETURNED BOYS

School Board Looking Into Proposal Regarding Tuition of Soldier Students

A proposed matriculation course for returned High School boys was brought to the attention of the School Board last night by Principal A. G. Smith.

Mr. Smith stated that he had been approached by representatives of the Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment Commission with a view to having a course established. Most of the boys who would utilize the course were over the ordinary school age, and would require special intensive tuition along certain lines.

"I consider," wrote Mr. Smith, "it would be advisable to have a special class with a special teacher who could handle the majority of the subjects required. I had an interview with Mr. Glolma a short time ago who informed me that the Government proposed to give a special grant to such cases and also to pay a fee for tuition. They have twelve applicants already in view and if such a course can be put on, undoubtedly the number would be greatly increased. I consider the object is worthy of support.

The matter was referred to Municipal Inspector Paul for report.

PICTURES OF SCENES ON WESTERN FRONT

Fine Collection Is Now on View in Local Store; Guarantee of Authenticity

Opportunity is afforded to the people of Victoria to see a historic collection of photographs now on display at the premises of the Victoria Book and Stationery Company, Government Street.

Many of these pictures will be of special interest. They were taken by a Belgian photographer under the direct supervision of Major J. B. Bailey, D.S.O., 54th Canadian Infantry Battalion, and are actual pictures of memorable points on most of the battle areas fought over by the Canadian Corps in France and Belgium. Lt.-Col. A. B. Carey, C.M.G., D.S.O., commanding officer of the 54th battalion arranged that these pictures be taken in the hope that they would illustrate to the public at home the places so often mentioned in the papers and letters from those at the front, and that they would assist in keeping fresh in the minds of those who have returned memories and incidents of the many battles they have survived. Col. Carey, who has personal knowledge of every point photographed, will be available to give an interview to anyone who has personal interest in and desires information of any of the scenes shown.

With this collection is also exhibited the sign plate of the village of Beaucourt in France, which was captured by the 54th Canadian Infantry Battalion in the Battle of Amiens on August 8 last year, during which action this battalion was on the extreme right of the British forces fighting side by side with the French. To all overseas members of the Canadian Corps many pictures will portray points of personal interest, comprising as they do scenes from the battlefields of Vimy Ridge, Lens, Amiens, Arras, the Somme, Cambrai, Valenciennes and so forth. Special effort was made to include in these photos military cemeteries where the heroic dead of Canada now rest. In order that the relatives of those killed may be able to recognize the cemetery in which their fallen lie, should the inscription on the headstone be unreadable the official map location is given them by the military authorities in each case inscribed on the photograph.

TO STUDY FURTHER AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY

One of the most popular teachers on the faculty of the Victoria High School

Ira Dilworth will not resume his duties after the summer vacation. A request from Mr. Dilworth for a year's leave of absence was granted by the School Board last night. Mr. Dilworth informed the Trustees that he desired to take up post graduate work at Harvard University, and that he would be obliged to leave the High School for a year. "It is with great regret that I hear of Mr. Dilworth's departure," observed Trustee Perry, "for he has certainly proved himself one of the most successful and popular members of the teaching staff."

She: "Would you be very miserable if I went away for a long holiday?" He: "No, darling, certainly not." She: "Oh, you wouldn't, would you? Well, then, I won't go."
