Love in a Printing Office.

I once heard an old jour remark that a printing office was no place for lovmaking, and I have since experienced the truth of the expression; being now perfectly convinced that the flower of love can never bloom in the midst of types, cases and printing ink.

It was my fortune once to sojourn for a few days in the village of —. Directly opposite the office was a pretty, white cottage, with a rose-bush clambering around the casement, and I was not long in making the discovery that the aforesaid cottage with the rose-shaded window contained a fair inmate—a flower whose beauty outshone the roses that clustered around the window. She was the belle of the village. Her name was Mary—sweet, poetic Mary. I have a passion for the name of Mary.

It was a beautiful Summer morning, and I had raised the window to admit the breeze from the flower-decked fields, and it was not long ere I perceived the cottage window was also hoisted, and the sweet little Mary was sitting busily engaged with her needle. I worked but little that morning. My eyes constantly wandered toward the cottage where little Mary sat, and all sorts of strange, fantastic notions whirled through my brain, and I began to think I felt a light touch of what the poets call love, sliding in at one corner of my heart.

A few days passed away, and chance made me acquainted with Mary. Oh! she was a sweet creature; she had a form that would have shamed the famous Venus de Medici—a cheek that outflushed the richest peach, and a lip that would have tempted a bee from its hive on a frosty morning. I thought as I gazed on her in mute admiration that I had never before looked at one so exquisitely beautiful. She seemed the embodiment of everything lovely and bewitching. Well, time passed on, and one day Mary expressed a desire to visit the printing office. "Good," thought I, "what a chance! I'll have a kiss there—yes, there, in the very midst of the implements of mine art—why shouldn't I?" Love in a printing office! Oh! there was something original in that, and I resolved to try at all hazards.

Well, Mary came to the office, and I explained to her the use of various implements of the black art—the press, the roller, the ink, and the stands, and the boxes of the A, B, C's. I took an opportunity to snatch her pretty little white hand; she drew it back, knocking a stickful of matter into pyc.

"I must have a kiss for that, my pretty one," said I, and at it I went. I managed to get my arm around her waist, and in struggling to free herself, she upset a galley of editorial, a long article on the Oregon Question.

Nothing daunted, I made at her again. This time I was more successful, for I obtained a kiss. By Saint Paul, it was a sweet one, and that little witch bore it like a martyr; she never screamed once. But as I raised my lips from hers, she raised her delicate little hand and gave me a box on the ears that made me see more stars than was ever viewed by Herschel, through his big telescope. Somewhat nettled, and my cheek smarting with pain, I again seized her waist, and said:

"Well, if you don't like it, just take back the kiss."

She made a desperate struggle, and as she jerked herself from my arms, her foot struck the lye pot, and over it went. Another galley of editorial was sprinkled over the floor, and in trying to reach the door, her foot slipped and she fell; and in her efforts to sustain herself, her hand—her lily-white hand—the same little hand that came in contact with my ears—oh, horrible!—was stuck up to the elbow in ink! Shades of Franklin! She slowly drew it from the keg, dripping with ink, and asked what use I made of that tar. I began to be seriously alarmed and apologized in the best manner I could, and to my surprise she seemed more pleased than angry; but there was a lurking devil in her eye that told me there was mischief afoot. As I stood surveying the black covering of her hand, scarcely able to suppress a laugh at the strange metamorphosis, she quickly raised it on high and brought it down kerslap upon my cheek. Before I could recover from surprise, the same little hand had again descended, and left its inky imprint on my other cheek.

"Why, Mary," I exclaimed, "what are you about?"

"I think you told me you rolled ink on the face of the form," she replied with a loud laugh, and again her hand lit upon me—taking me a broad slap in the middle of my countenance, most wonderfully bedaubing my eyes. With a light step and a merry peal of laughter she skipped through the door. She turned back when beyond my reach, and her roguish face peering through the doorway, shouted:

"I Say, Charley, what kind of a roller does my hand make?"

"Oh," said I, "you take too much ink."

"Ha! ha!" she laughed, "well, good bye, Charley, that's my impression."

I went to the glass and surveyed myself for a moment, and I verily believe that I could have passed for a Guinea nigger, without the slightest difficulty. "And so," said I to myself, "this is love in a printing office. The devil fly away with such love."

The next morning, when the editor came to the office, I rather calculate he found things a little topsy turvy. However, that made no difference to me, for I had mizzled before daylight. I bore the marks of that scene many a day, and now whenever I see a lady entering a printing office, I think of little Mary, and keep my eye on the ink keg.

HOW THE DEVIL LOST.—The following story—we presume it is a story—is too good to be lost. It conveys a moral to those who are ambitious to spread themselves in the newspaper line:

"A young man who ardently desired wealth, was visited by his Satanic Majesty, who tempted him to promise his soul for eternity, if he could be supplied on this earth with all the money he could use. The bargain was concluded—the devil was to supply the money, and was at last to have the soul, unless the young man could spend more money than the devil could furnish. Years passed away; the man married, was extravagant in his living, built palaces, speculated wildly, lost and gave away fortunes, and yet his coffers were always full. He turned politician and bribed his way to power and fame without reducing his pile of gold. He became a filibuster, and fitted out ships and armies, but his banker honored all his drafts. He went 'out West' to live, and paid the usual rates of interest for the money he could borrow, but although the devil made wry faces when he came to pay the bills they were all paid. He even ventured to put up a month at a Chicago hotel. One expedition after another failed; the devil counted the time—only two years—that he must wait for the soul, and mocked the efforts of the despairing man. One more trial was resolved upon; the young man started a newspaper! The devil growled at the end of the first quarter, was savage in six months, melancholy in nine, and broke—'dead broke'—at the end of the year. So the newspaper went down, but the soul was saved."

SALVATION BY IMMERSION.—An old soaker who lives in western Missouri, took it into his head one day that it was necessary for his future welfare to be "born again," and forthwith repaired to the Baptist denomination of the town aforesaid, to obtain light. He was received with urbanity, and forthwith the following dialogue ensued:

Old S.—It's your doctrine, boss, that a feller in order to be saved, must suffer immersion isn't it?

Mr. B.—Yes Mr. S. it is one of the fundamental doctrines of our church, that a man to be regenerated, must repent of his sins, and be immersed.

Old S.—Well, boss, after repentin' of his sins and bein' slid under, if he flashes in the pan, what then?

Mr. B.—Although back-sliding is much to be deplored, still if he sincerely repents of his sins and is again immersed, the church will receive him again.

Old S.—Well, s'pose he ag'in kick out of the traces arter the second time (for we know what critters there are in this world.) What is to pay ag'in?

Mr. B.—Notwithstanding all this, if he will seriously repent, and solemnly promise to amend his future life, the church will again receive him into its bosom, after being immersed.

Old S. (after a few moments of deep reflection) proposes the following interrogatory.—Well, boss' wouldn't it be a blasted good idea to keep such fellers in soak all the time?

Our informant did not say whether Old S. joined the church or not, but we incline to the opinion that he did not.

GOOD ADVICE.—If you wish for a clear mind and strong muscles, and quiet nerves and long life, and power prolonged into old age, permit me to say, although I am not giving a temperance lecture, avoid all drinks but water, and mild infusions of that fluid; shun tobacco, opium and everything else that disturbs the moral state of the system; rely upon nutritious and mild dilutant drinks, of which water is the base, and you will need nothing beyond these things, except rest and due moral regulation of all your powers, to give you long, happy and useful lives and a serene evening at the close.

Wise men are instructed by reason, men of less understanding by experience, the most ignorant by necessity, and brutes by nature.

Modern Financiering.

"I heard something a moment ago," writes a correspondent, "which I will give you the skeleton of. It made me laugh not a little; for it struck me that it discloses a transfer of 'Yankee Tricks' to the other side of the Atlantic. It would appear that a traveler stopped at Brussels, in a postchaise, and, being sharpset, he was anxious to buy a piece of cherry-pie before his vehicle should set out; but he was afraid to leave the public conveyance, least it might drive on and leave him. So, calling a lad to him from the other side of the street, he gave him a piece of money, and requested him to go to a restaurant or confectionery, in the rear vicinity, and purchase the pastry; and then, to 'make assurance doubly sure,' he gave him another piece of money, and told him to buy some for himself at the same time. The lad went off at a run, and in a little while came back, eating a piece of pie, and looking very complacent and happy. Walking up to the window of the postchaise, he said, with the most perfect nonchalance, returning at the same time one of the pieces of money which had been given him by the gentleman—'The restaurateur had only one piece of pie left, and that I bought with my money you gave me!'"

This anecdote, which we are assured is strictly true, is not unlike one equally authentic, which had its origin in an Eastern city. A merchant who had sent a bill for some article to a not very conscientious paymaster in the neighborhood, finding no returns, at length "gave it up as a bad job." A lucky thought, however, struck him one day, as he sat in the door of his shop, and saw a debt collector going by, who was notorious for sticking to a delinquent until some result was obtained. The creditor called the collector, told him the circumstance, handed him the account, and added:

"Now, if you will collect that debt, I'll give you half of it; or, if you don't collect but half of the bill, I'll divide that with you."

The collector took the bill and said, "I guess I can get half of it anyhow. At any rate, if I don't, it shan't be for the want of trying hard enough."

Nothing more was seen of the collector for some five or six months, until one day the creditor thought he saw "the indefatigably" trying to avoid him by turning suddenly down a by street of the town.

"Halloo! Mr.—!" said he; "how about that bill against Mr. Slowpay?—Have you collected it yet?"

"Not the hull on it, I hain't," said the imperturbable collector; "but I collected my half within four weeks a'ter you gi'n me the account, and he hain't paid me nothin' since. I tell him, every time I see him you want the money very bad; but he don't seem to mind it a bit. He is dreadful 'slow pay,' as you said when you gave me the bill. Good-morning!" And off went the collector, "staying no further question."

A WESTERN OBITUARY NOTICE.

Mr. Edatur: Jem bangs, we are sorry to stait, has deseized. He departed this Life last mundy. Jem was generally considered a gud feller. He dide at the age of 23 years old. He went 4th with-out ary struggle; and sich is Life. Tu Da we are as pepper grass—mighty smart; tu Morrer we are cut down like a cucumber of the ground. Jem kept a nice store, which his wife now waits on. His virehews was numerous to behold. Meny is the things we bought at his growery, and we are happy to stait to the admirin world that he never cheeted, speshully in the wate of markrel, which was nice and smelt sweet, and his wife is the same wa. We never knew him to put sand in his sugar, though he had a big sand-bar in front of his hous; nur water in his Lickers, tho the Ohio river runs past his dore. Peece to his remanes! He leaves a wife, 8 children, a cow, 4 horses, a growery store and other quadrupeds to mourn his loss; but in the splendid langwidge ov the pilot, his loss is their eternal gane.

HOME.—A home! It is the bright, blessed, adorable phantom that sits highest on the sunny horizon that girdeth life. When shall it be reached? It is not the house, though that may have it its charms; nor the field carefully tilled and streaked with our own footpaths; nor the trees, though their shadow be to you like that of a "great rock in a weary land;" nor yet is it the fireside with its cozy comfort; nor the loved ones; nor the books; but more than all these, it is the presence. The alter of your confidence is there; and adorning it all, and sending your blood in passionate flow, in the ecstasy of your conviction that there, at least, you are understood; that there your errors will meet with gentle forgiveness; that there you may unburden your soul, fearless of harsh, unsympathizing ears; and there you may be entirely and joyfully yourself.

A Moment of Horror.

From twenty-three years old Jake Wil-lard had cultivated the soil in Baldwin county, and drawing therefrom a support for himself and wife. He is childless. Not long ago, Jake left the house in search of a missing cow. His route led him through an old worn out patch of clay land, of about six acres in extent, in the center of which was a well, twenty-five or thirty feet deep, that, at some time, probably, had furnished the inmates of a dilapidated house near by with water, in passing by this spot an ill wind drifted Jake's "tile" from his head, and maliciously wafted it to the edge of the well, and in it tumbled.

Now Jake had always practiced the virtue of economy, and he immediately set about recovering the lost hat. He ran to the well, and finding it was dry at the bottom, he uncoiled the rope which he had brought for the purpose of capturing the truant cow, and after several attempts to catch the hat with a noose, he concluded to save time by going down into the well himself. To accomplish this, he made fast one end of the rope to a stump hard by, and was soon on his way down the well.

It is a fact, of which Jake was no less oblivious than the reader hereof, that Ned Wells was in the dilapidated building aforesaid, and that an old blind horse with a bell on his neck, who had been turned out to die, was lazily grazing within a short distance of the well.

The devil himself, or some other wicked spirit, put it into Ned's cranium to have a little fun; so he quietly slipped up to the horse, unbuckled the strap, and approached with slow and measured "ting-a-ling" to the edge of the well.

"Dang the old blind horse!" said Jake—"he's a comin' this way, sure, and ain't got no more sense nor to fall in here. Whoa, Ball!"

But the continued approach of the "ting-a-ling" said, just as plainly as words, that Ball wouldn't "whoa." Besides, Jake was at the bottom, resting before trying to "shin" it up the rope.

"Great Jerusalem!" said he, "the old cuss will be a-top o' me 'fore I can say Jack Robinson. Whoa dang you, whoa!"

Just then Ned drew up to the edge of the well; and with his foot kicked a little dirt into it.

"Oh!" exclaimed Jake, falling on his knees at the bottom of the well; "I'm gone now!—Whoa!—Now I lay me down to sleep—Whoa! Ball—I pray the Lord my soul to—Whoa! now—Oh, Lord have mercy on me!"

Ned could hold in no longer, and fearful that Jake might suffer from his fright, he revealed himself.

Probably Ned didn't make tracks with his heels from that well. May be Jake wasn't up to the top of it in short order. I don't know. But I do know that if Jake finds out who sent you this, it will be the last squib you'll get from me.

The Editor of the Glencoe Register tells a very good story pleasantly, thus: By Nape of the Neck—Such were the words of a beautiful croaker, the other day. "If I only had the editor of the Register by the nape of the neck, wouldn't I wring him!" said the amiable lady. Now, dear madam, we have a partiality for ladies taking us by the nape of the neck, and we beg to assure them that we would most cheerfully submit to the wringing from their dear hands. We like it, and would only act upon the offensive to their satisfaction. But what have we done, that the beautiful creature wants to embrace us in such a gentle way? Nothing, only we published some wholesome truths in regard to the climate, soil and fertility of the State, which had a tendency to bring her husband into her midst. She admits what we said was true; but here is the rub: In the East a little stranger made its appearance about once in every four years; here about every year. Just as if we were to blame for that!

"WHAT a censorious liar!" exclaimed old Mrs. Partington, as she read in a certain paper an account of a new counterfeit, which was said to contain three women and a bust of Washington on each end.

"What!" said she, "General Washington on a bust! No such thing!"

And the old lady lifted her specs, and declared she had known the old gentleman for the last thirty years, and she never heard of his being on a bust—much less with three women.

MR. SMITH, I wish to speak to you privately. Permit me to take you apart for a few minutes. Smith, [who is not in the least alarmed]—Certainly, sir, if you will put me together again.

If every word men utter fell to the ground and grew up a blade of grass, most public speeches would be worth ten times as much as they now are.

CONSCIENCE in most men is but the dread of public opinion.

The Weather.

The rain which commenced to fall on Thursday evening, and continued at intervals during the night and a portion of yesterday, was hailed with gladness by all in the valley. Volunteer barley which had been pastured late, as well as late sowed grain, was suffering greatly for want of rain, and could not have made hay even, had it continued dry another week. Should another inch of water fall now within a week, it will insure good crops in the valley, unless we should, immediately after, as is too often the case, have a strong blow from the north.

THE Board of Supervisors will meet at Washington on Monday next.

COUNTY COURT.—On Monday next the County Court will hold its session at Washington.

WOOL.—During the week one hundred bales of wool has arrived here for shipment, and we understand there will be about one hundred more on Monday next.

WHEAT.—During the week large quantities of wheat has arrived here and stored, awaiting for higher prices.

LARGE YIELD OF MILK AND BUTTER.—Milton Dale, of Knight's Landing, has a Durham cow that gives at two milkings eight gallons a day, and from it makes two and a half pounds butter per day. Who can beat that? We return thanks for a package of butter.

SHIPMENT OF WHEAT AND BARLEY.—The Steamer Visalia, Captain Zimmerman, left here on Sunday last with ninety tons Barley and sixty tons Wheat for Sacramento.

BAPTISM.—Two gentlemen, citizens of this place were baptized on Sunday last, in Cache creek, at the town of Cacheville, by Rev. Jas. E. Barnes, Pastor of Grafton Baptist Church. The administration of the ordinance was witnessed by a large number of persons.

HEPHERIAN MAGAZINE.—The March number of this popular magazine is an unusually good one and contains, besides other articles, the initial number of a series of papers upon the North American Indians, by John R. Ridge.

A TELEGRAPHIC dispatch from Adjutant General Thomas, of April 29th, to President Young, by express direction of the President of the United States, to raise, arm and equip a company of cavalry for the protection of the Overland mail and telegraph. It is ordered out for ninety days, unless sooner replaced by United States troops. The call is honored, and the ninety-five men and officers will be in the saddle to-morrow.

THE Bill to allow Negroes to testify in Courts of Law, on an equality with whites, says the San Francisco Spirit of the Times, was defeated in the Senate on Thursday; and a motion to reconsider the vote, whereby it was lost, was indefinitely postponed by a vote of ayes 15, noes 13.

MINING IN AMADOR.—The Ledger, published at Jackson, states that miners in that section of the country are now doing very well. The heavy rains of the past Winter have, in many instances, been of great benefit in washing away immense quantities of "top dirt."

THE Silver Age says that a press and material for a newspaper is on the way to Aurora from Visalia.

ENCOURAGING PROSPECT.—The Indianapolis State Sentinel has a correspondent at Washington, who writes that there is a deficit in the War Department of one hundred and eighty-nine million of dollars, and Frank Blair is given as the author of the statement.

MURDER.—A horrible case of murder and suicide occurred last night at Hanks' Exchange, a way-side tavern, five miles east of Diamond Springs, on the Carson road. Joseph Parmeter, proprietor of the house, and his wife were both found dead this morning in their rooms. The wounds and position of the parties lead to the belief that the husband killed the wife while she was asleep, by a pistol shot in the top of the head, and afterwards blew his own brains out. Their acquaintances say they had not lived happily together for some time, and the wife refused to share the bed of her husband, and on the night of the murder they occupied last separate but adjoining rooms, she making a bed on the floor.

WITH this number commences the Sixth Volume of the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS, under the control of the present editor and proprietor. In reviewing the past two years and a half, from the time we took control of the paper, we have gone through most of the vicissitudes to which papers are subject; yet we have one pleasing remembrance, that, among all our trials, we have several of the same firm friends with which we started on the onset of the newspaper career, while on the other hand, we have made the enemy of a few, and met the political opposition of many. This, however, is the natural result of having opinion, of our own, and adhering to the determination of exposing them whenever the good of our country or of the locality in which we labor, can be promoted thereby. That the News is a fixed institution in Yolo county, is now admitted by all, and although the ultimatum has been difficult to solve and obtain, yet it is with no inconsiderable feeling of pride, that we say its continuance is beyond a peradventure. We have overcome all our worst difficulties, and proved that the resources and intelligence of Yolo are capable of maintaining and supporting a county paper. To our friends who have so nobly stood by us during the past, we tender our grateful acknowledgment; and to those who have seen fit to oppose us, we say, liberty of speech and thought is the prerogative of every American citizen, and you have a right to your opinions, at the same time, while we hold no animosity towards any one, we trust to be able to make our paper the exponent of the views of the people among whom we live, and as no cliques can control us or interested party use our columns for personal advancement, we feel that in the end we will merit, if not the hearty good will, yet the respect of all.

It was announced in the Sacramento Union, of Saturday last, that Mr. Phelps, one of our Representatives in Congress, had introduced a bill, the effect of which was, to allow parties who had purchased land under Mexican Grants which had been confirmed by the Board of Land Commissioners or the District Court, and afterwards rejected by the Supreme Court of the United States, to "pre-empt and enter all they had bought without regard to quantity."

We think it hardly possible that Congress will pass such a law. Most of the Mexican Grants or claims to Grants passed into the hands of other parties long since, and such a law as the one referred to would allow those parties to enter at Government price all they had bought, even if it included the entire Grant. This would be a great hardship to the settlers who had labored and expended their money to defeat the grant. For the legislative authorities of the nation to step in and do that which the judicial authorities upon mature investigation and deliberation could not legally and justly do, would be, to our mind, a dangerous step, and if any law could be passed the execution of which would be resisted by a large and respectable portion of our valley citizens, it would be such an one as it is reported Mr. Phelps has introduced.

STUPENDOUS SWINDLES.—The commission appointed in Washington to investigate frauds in clothing contracts have discovered the most stupendous swindles. The condemned clothing fills four large warehouses fronting on an entire square, and covering almost as much ground as the Pennsylvania Railroad depot. It comprises forty thousand great coats, over fifteen thousand pairs of boots, and almost every other article of clothing, reaching in value about a million of dollars. Nearly all of it was furnished from Philadelphia.

ACCEPTS.—The northern delegation from the Democratic State Convention, called upon Hon. A. E. Wait, at his residence in Oregon City, yesterday, and informed him of his nomination for Congress. He responded in a brief address, accepting the nomination, and stating his intention to immediately resign his judicial duties and enter upon the important canvass. The Judge also reiterated his settled conviction that the safety of our country depended upon the success of the Democratic party.—Portland Advertiser.

The St. Louis correspondent of the Call, says: A paper has been circulated and signed by nearly all the Democratic members of Congress, and by Senator Carlisle, having in view the rallying of the Democratic party, and a convention in Washington at an early day, to give direction to its future movement.

JACOB GREER, found guilty of the murder of F. Weigel, in Butte county, has been sentenced to be hanged on the 30th May.

May-Day Celebration.

Amongst the most interesting gatherings in our neighborhoods, are the May-day celebrations." One year ago the Knight's Landing Sabbath School celebrated May-day, in which they were joined the Yolo Sunday School. This year the Yolo Sunday School celebrated the day, and were joined by the Knight's Landing Sunday School.

When the two schools presented themselves in marching order, it was a scene of more than ordinary interest. Sup. Wm. Hatcher, aided by Martial Webb, conducted the Yolo school, and Sup. T. Stoddard, assisted by Martial S. R. Smith, conducted the Knight's Landing school. The whole was accompanied by the Knight's Landing band, whose services was very essential to the interest of the day. The march was well conducted. When all was returned to the church, the exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. James E. Barnes. The exercises then commenced, which was as follows:

1. Miss E. Rice crowned May Queen in a manner that reflected credit on the little girls, and tast on Mr. J. F. Dinwiddie, who had the management of it. After which the Queen spoke the Gladson Sumner.
2. The Little Tree; John Hatcher.
3. Civil war; L. Friel.
4. New England; Wm. Miller.
5. Burial of Sir John More; P. Bowers.
6. The Question Soldier; Wm. Brown.
7. Dialogue; Miss P. Down and Miss M. More.
8. Duties of the American Citizen; C. W. Hatcher.
9. Dialogue; Miss E. Dinwiddie and James Brown.
10. Upward and Onward; O. Brown.
11. The bad Boy; Taylor Down.

By the request of many, Miss Addie Thomas, of the Knight's Landing Sabbath School, recited the "Pleasures of Memory."

12. The American Flag; R. Friel.
13. ———; Marion Elliot.
14. Denominations; R. Friel and E. Dinwiddie.
15. The Country Girl; John Hatcher.

After which a recess of one hour was given, during which time we were bountifully supplied, in the way of dinner, to the full satisfaction of all present. The arrangement of the table was good, and Mr. Rockhold and others have our hearty thanks for their kindness.

Dinner over, we were again called together in the church, as it had become too cool in the open air, where the remainder of the exercises were gone through, as follows:

1. Mount Taboer; D. Wright.
2. Manardo de Cripo; Geo. Crowder.
3. The Downfall of Poland; J. P. Brown.
4. Hard to Please; A. Miller and Miss P. Down.
5. An Address to the Ladies; A. Miller.

After which Bros. Russel and Barnes were invited to speak, who responded in a few brief remarks. It was very evident that the little ones were getting restless, so the services were closed.

We all feel satisfied with the entertainment, and think that our neighbors of the Yolo school did well. They certainly spared no pains or expense, as the whole arrangement fully showed.

From the southern coast, by the way of Panama, we have the following: By the schooner Susan Chase, in 35 hours from Cartagena to Aspinwall, we have late and important news from Bogota. It appears that after Mosquera left Bogota taking almost his entire force with him for the purpose of invading Popayan, Gen. Canal at the head of two thousand men entered and occupied the capital for three days, but was driven out after a desperate fight.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of April 30th:

FR. MONROE, April 28.—A flag of truce went to Norfolk to-day. No papers were received, and no news from N. O. was obtained. It is stated that the telegraph operators, after leaving the city, attempted to return, and found the Federals had occupied it.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Gen. Wool telegraphed to the War Department to-day that the news of the occupation of New Orleans has been confirmed. No particulars are given.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Advices from the Gulf states that the sloop-of-war Hartford, Richmond, Brooklyn and Iroquois were plaited with heavy chain cable from their ports to below the water line, previous to the attack upon the Mississippi forts.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Dispatches received by the Navy Department from Commodore Farragut, dated 13th April, state: "On the 4th April an expedition en route for Pass Christian, Miss., consisting of three steamers, loaded with troops, were attacked by three rebel steamers. After a fight of thirty minutes, one of our steamers was withdrawn, owing to the crowded state of her decks. The others continued the fight for an hour and forty minutes, when the enemy withdrew, apparently much crippled."

Four rebel vessels loaded with cotton, turpentine and resin, have been captured while attempting to run the blockade. Forts Barrancas and McRae have been evacuated by the rebels.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 28.—The North American, with Liverpool advices to the 18th, has arrived. Armor-plated ships and floating batteries continue prominent topics of discussion abroad.

It is quietly rumored that England has made diplomatic recommendations to France in favor of the withdrawal of the French troops from Rome.

It is questioned if the Emperor Napoleon will go to the London exhibition. It is asserted that if he does it will be strictly incog.

Garibaldi has gone to Bosnia. It is reported that his nomination as Commander-in-Chief of the National Guards has been decided on.

The Hongkong correspondent of the Times, writing in March, reports that a Confederate privateer had been fallen in with on the coast of Borneo. The correspondent adds that this is particularly unfortunate for American shipping, as the Federal Government has not a single war vessel of any description in those waters except the Saguaw, and she is rotten.

A deputation of the British Anti-Slavery Society presented an address on the 16th to Mr. Adams, the American Minister, in which the hope was expressed that the restoration of the Union will be founded on abolition. Slavery, they said, was the cause of the strife. Adams' reply is described as having been satisfactory to the deputation.

FR. MONROE, April 27.—Dispatches received yesterday from Yorktown say the rebels fired on some boats that were passing Wormley's creek, doing no damage. At ten o'clock they opened a brisk fire on our men near York river, but did no damage. Our gunboats shelled the works near Yorktown for an hour. Early yesterday morning one company of the First Massachusetts Regiment carried by assault an advance work defended by two companies of infantry. The latter broke and ran. Our loss was three killed and thirteen wounded. We took twenty four prisoners and destroyed the work.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The French Minister has returned from Richmond, and reports that the rebels are thoroughly confident of success at Yorktown. They still claim the battle of Pittsburg as a great victory for them. It was reported at Richmond that the only defense of New Orleans was the Illinois iron clad steam ram, mounting sixteen guns, with six engines and two propellers. Another like it was on the stocks.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Sunday Mercury states, on authority of the steamer Boston, that Ft. Jackson, six miles below Savannah, is in our possession. Our pickets were within four miles of Savannah.

CAIRO, April 27.—The Memphis Avalanche of the 23d says: On the 11th the Federals took possession of Pocahontas, Tenn. Ten thousand Federal troops are at Doniphan, Mo., building flat boats, with which to descend the Black and White rivers.

The condition of the roads in the vicinity of Corinth will prevent the enemy from advancing on that position for some time.

The Federals still continue to shell Forts Jackson and St. Phillip, below New Orleans, at long range. Every day shells fall around the forts. They have done no damage yet.

A large body of Texans are in Memphis, en route for Corinth.

The steamer Platte Valley, from Pittsburg Landing, arrived to-day. Hallack is pushing forward his force as rapidly as the condition of the roads will permit.

On the 26th Gen. McCook's division made a reconnaissance as far as Monterey on the road to Corinth. The rebels appeared in great numbers but our forces carried everything before them and instantly put the rebels to flight. The rebels were armed with Enfield rifles. The prisoners taken say the Confederates have plenty of provisions and supplies. They also report that they have extensive works at Corinth and a hundred and fifty thousand men. Our advance pickets are now near enough to hear the locomotive's whistle. The term of enlistment of many rebel troops has expired, and they are reported to be re-enlisting, to a man! Recruits are arriving from all parts of the South, for Beauregard's army.

Colonel Turchin's brigade has evacuated Tusculumbia, Ala., and retired to Huntsville, where Gen. Mitchell's division is encamped. Turchin burnt the town before he left.

CHICAGO, April 28.—The reconnaissance of the 24th, at Pittsburg, seem to discredit the statement brought by deserters that Corinth was being evacuated. It is believed that a battle cannot much longer be delayed.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The news from New Orleans, which comes through rebel sources, is deemed of the utmost importance.

CHICAGO, April 28.—There is a report that the Merrimac will be out soon. There were but few troops in the vicinity of Norfolk. The most intense excitement exists there. They have great fears of an attack from Burnside. Nearly all the troops have gone to South Mills, to repel any advance he might make.

NEW YORK, April 28.—A letter from Edisto, S. C., dated 18th, reports a brilliant affair at St. Johns Island—date not given—between sixty Federals and two hundred rebel cavalry. The latter were routed with a loss of fifty killed and wounded. No one killed on the Federal side.

The gunboat Connecticut, from the South coast on the 16th, with the sick and wounded of the gulf squadron, has arrived. When she left, all the ships of the New Orleans expedition were inside the passes. Their decks were sanded and all ready for action.

HARRISONBURG, Va., April 27.—Our advance pickets, eight miles from the Gordonsville road, were attacked yesterday by a large force of Ashby's cavalry and driven back. One of our men was killed. The reserve of the Forty-sixth Pennsylvania and a section of Hampton's battery advanced and repulsed the rebels, who then retreated to the woods, which were shelled by our battery. Several shells burst in their midst, and a wagon was seen gathering up the dead and wounded.

CAIRO, April 28.—Generals Buel and Beauregard have effected an arrangement for an exchange of prisoners.

The Memphis Avalanche of the 23d says: A mutiny has broken out at Nashville in consequence of Lincoln's emancipation message. Nineteen officers resigned, and one Kentucky regiment had a pitched battle with two Indiana regiments. This is most probably a hoax.

Gen. Buel's division has arrived at Pittsburg Landing, and occupied the left. There is nothing of importance from the fleet.

CHICAGO, April 29.—A dispatch from Fort Wright to-night says: Deserters bring the following information regarding New Orleans. The engagement at Fort Jackson was desperate. One vessel was sunk and others badly damaged. It was supposed that the Federal loss was heavy. The rebel loss was sixty killed, and 184 wounded. The Federals took possession of the city on Friday without a struggle, the rebel force having evacuated after destroying the steamers they didn't need. They carried away all their military stores. There was great rejoicing among Union citizens.

WHEELING, Va., April 29.—Scouts report the capture of a Federal foraging party belonging to Gen. Mulroy's command. The wagons were destroyed and some men killed.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The N. O. Delta, of the 16th, places the cotton at that city at 11,200 bales, all of which will probably fall into the hands of the Federals.

On the approach of our fleet to the city, on Friday last, Gen. Lovell the rebel commander, withdrew his troops to Camp Moore, on the Jackson Railroad.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 29.—Our earthworks before Yorktown begin to present a very formidable appearance. All yesterday and last night the enemy kept up a brisk fire, trying to draw us out. The work was not interfered with yesterday. Gen. Hancock, with a portion of his brigade, went to drive the rebels from the woods near our works. Our troops delivered a well directed fire, causing the rebels to retreat, leaving their dead and wounded.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21.—A special dispatch to the Delta, from Fort Jackson yesterday, says: The enemy's fire has much slackened. He has fired, up to this time, 37,000 pounds of powder and over a thousand tons of iron. This bombardment is unprecedented in modern warfare. Our loss, so far, is five killed and ten wounded. The mortar vessels are behind Point Woods, out of sight. We sunk two yesterday, and disabled one steamer.

FR. MONROE, April 30.—The Richmond Dispatch of yesterday says: When the enemy's fleet arrived opposite New Orleans, and demanded the surrender, Gen. Lovell refused, and fell back to Camp Moore, after destroying all the cotton and stores. The iron-clad vessel Mississippi was burnt to prevent her falling into the hands of the enemy.

MOBILE, April 27.—The Yankee Commodore Farragut promised the Mayor of New Orleans, who visited the fleet by a flag of truce, to make a renewed demand for the surrender of the city, but has not done so up to five o'clock. One ship, the McRea, came up from the forts, under a flag of truce, with forty wounded. She communicated with the Federal flag ship, but the result is not known. It is rumored that the Federals promised to let her return. In a conference with some Federal officers, after the correspondence between the Mayor and Commodore Farragut, the officer left, declaring he would shoot down the flag on the City Hall if it was not hauled down. He actually brought his ship within range, but has not fired thus far. It is reported that the French and English men-of-war are below and will enter their protest against shelling the city. It is believed that the Yankee vessels are short of both provisions and ammunition. The city is remarkably orderly, but an exceedingly intense feeling prevails, and the humiliation is deep.

The Southern papers speak in a most dismal strain of the surrender of New Orleans.

The Norfolk Day Book says it is the most serious reverse of the war. It suggests future privations for all classes, and threatens our army supplies.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A dispatch to the War Department from Gen. McClellan, dated yesterday morning, says: "Nothing of interest has transpired during the night. There was no firing on our left, where the work proceeds undisturbed. On our right the enemy fired, hurting no one nor interrupting the work. The weather is improved, and we are making good progress."

CAIRO, April 29.—The steamer De Soto arrived from the fleet this afternoon. She brings no intelligence of importance. There was no change in the movements. The bombardment is still kept up at long intervals by the mortars.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Washington specials state it is rumored that Government is in possession of the information which may possibly lead to a cessation of hostilities, mediation and compromise.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—It is stated a majority of the Committee of the seven, to which was referred all the confiscation bills, favor a strong bill for the confiscation of rebel property.

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) April 18.—The Governor has issued a proclamation convening the State convention on the first Monday in June. The principal reason given is that the State should be re-districted, so as to give Missouri two additional representatives in Congress, to which she is entitled under the late apportionment.

SEVERE ON FREMONT.—Mr. Wadsworth, a Union member from the Maysville District, Kentucky, in a late speech in Congress, makes use of the following language on the restoration of Fremont to his command:

"To-day we have the restoration of J. C. Fremont to his military command, over a portion of Kentucky, too—a State which despises him, recking, as he is, with fraud and corruption, with the death of Lyon—hero of the war—and the capture of Mulligan on his skirts. With these charges against him untried, he is appointed to the command of the 'Mountain Department,' and McClellan restricted to the command of the Potomac, and Buell and Rosecrans, and Garfield and Grant, and all the proven soldiers of the war, ever-slaughtered, as it were. All this thing shows that, this day, that class of men to whom I have alluded, and that political idea to which I have alluded; are and is all-powerful in the administration of the Government, and I, for one, cannot give my confidence to it under these circumstances. I do not wish to vote it, without question and without limitation or inquiry. I am for the war for the Union in all its length and breadth, and the necessary means to support it. I am for the Union from the lakes to the Gulf, and from ocean to ocean."

EMBEZZLEMENT CASES AT VICTORIA. V. I.—Aime Marchand, late Assayer of precious metals at Victoria, V. I., was recently tried for embezzlement, inasmuch as he sold two gold bars valued at $1,264 45, the property of Sporing & Goldstone, which had been deposited with him for a special purpose. There were other similar charges against him. He was found guilty and was to be sentenced on April 25th.

Gordon, late Treasurer of the Colony of Vancouver Island, was also lately tried at Victoria for embezzlement. The jury, after having been locked up all night, could not agree, and were discharged. It was supposed that they stood—11 for conviction of embezzlement and 1 for breach of trust.

THE Puget Sound Herald says that late San Francisco passengers to Victoria have introduced the small pox there, and fears that it may get among the Indians and cause great havoc.

Gov. NYE has returned to Nevada Territory, to look after his rebellious redskins.

PLANTING A WALNUT GROVE.—As near as I can recollect, about twelve years ago I planted a row of these nuts south of my house, in the edge of the ploughed land. I planted in the fall soon after the nuts fell, four feet apart, with a hoe, about two inches deep, as we used to plant corn down east. The next Spring they came up with the other plants. I kept the stock from them for four or five years. The most of them grew rapidly; but they were too thick, and some of them are now dwarf trees, four to six feet high, while those that got the start went right up, and in six or seven years from planting they bore walnuts, and they continued to bear and grow so that this fall I had several bushels of nuts, and have planted a piece of two acres, west of my house, with them. These I put ten or twelve feet apart. I think it would be better to plant as deep as you can before planting. I think it will make little difference whether you plant this Winter, or as the ground opens in the Spring. Keep the weeds down and the stock from them, and there is no danger but you will have a grove far more beautiful than the locust; besides, the advantage of timber and nuts.—Ill. Cor. Prairie Farmer.

MANUFACTURER'S AGENTS, AND DEALERS in Pitt's, Ball's, Russell's, and other popular

Thrashing Machines.

Also, the following Reapers and Mowers, Improved for the harvest of 1862:

Burt's Eagle Combined Machine; New York do.; McCormick's do.; Heath's Eagle do.; Kentucky Harvesting Machine; Haines' (Illinois) do.; Ball's Ohio Reaper and Mower; Manny's Improved Machine.

Esterly's Improved Machine; Rugg's Combined machine; Vermont mowing machine; Buckeye do.; Bay State do.; Molly Stark (Ohio) Mower.

And sole agents for the celebrated Nourse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers,

With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover—cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with Reaper Attachment, at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grain, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the team can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

The Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

McCormick's Reaper and Mower—a very good reaper—intended for four large horses.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower,

(Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter, the driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower, cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haines' Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.
