NORTH DAKOTA.

FIRST SETTLEMENT.

The fur traders were the first white settlers of the territory of Dakota. As early as 1808 the government established Fort Clark on the Missouri at the mouth of the Knife river—a point about seven miles up the river from where Lewis and Clark had in 1804-5 spent the winter and established what they called Fort Mandan. In 1811 Lord Selkirk built a fort at Pembina on the Red river, a short distance below the international boundary line. Fort Pierre was built in 1829, and the first steamer ascended the Missouri river in 1830. In 1839 Gen. John C. Fremont crossed over the country from the Missouri to the James river, thence across the country to Devils Lake. Catlin, the famous Indian painter, whose collection, the largest in the world, of pictures of noted Indian chiefs—now owned by the government and on exhibit in the National Museum at Washington—traveled over the country in 1841.

Dakota was organized as a territory March 2, 1861, and was divided into two states, viz., North Dakota and South Dakota, on November 2, 1889.

Stretching from the west boundary of Minnesota to the eastern of Montana, the State of North Dakota is in extreme length 210 miles, while its greatest breadth, reaching from the 46th to the 49th degree of north latitude, is 360 miles.

AREA AND POPULATION.

The state has an area of 70,195 square miles, or 44,924,800 acres. The state census of 1905 gave the state a population of 437,070.

SURFACE OF THE COUNTRY.

It is a peculiarity of North Dakota that it is nearly all cultivable. The area of waste lands in the vicinity of the lakes, water courses and hills, in comparison with the entire surface, is insignificant, and even these tracts which may not be plowed are nearly all good pasture lands, or are well adapted for growing timber. The Turtle Mountain country, for instance, near the middle of the north boundary, is a tract of forest. Its surface is rugged, the hills varying from 300 to 700 feet in height, and in some cases the valleys are narrow and deep—are, indeed, ravines. These hills are formed of drift, containing no rocks in places, although there are a great many boulders, some being very large.

Two other hilly formations are the Coteaux ranges. The most easterly of these, called the Coteaux des Prairies, has its beginning in the Turtle Mountain country, and, crossing the state in a southeast direction, passes into South Dakota, from Sargent county. In places, the hills of the Coteaux range are high and well defined, giving the country a sort of miniature mountainous appearance; then, again, the tops are flat, or nearly so, and the high tablelands dotted with lakelets. Formerly the valleys and ravines sustained considerable growth of timber, usually of the soft wood varieties, with occasional oaks and maples. Numerous streams flow down the sides of these hills, forming, in wet seasons, significant water courses, but dwindle in times of drought to mere rivulets, or disappear wholly. The other Coteaux range enters the state from the north, near its northwest corner, having a general direction to the southeast, passes into South Dakota near the middle of the southern boundary. This range is hardly as prominent as that first mentioned, having more the character of an elevated divide several miles wide, with a rolling but only occasionally rugged or hilly summit. It diminishes in altitude toward the south. The lakes, too, are fewer upon the tablelands and the streams generally smaller.

In the extreme western part of the state, near the Montana line the land is quite rough, especially in Billings county. In this county is located the Bad Lands, which have already been so often described that it is scarcely necessary to devote much space to them here. The generally accepted theory is that they are the result of the burning out of strata of coal which formerly underlaid much of this part of the state, and in some places had a depth of many feet. As the coal burned away, the clay, forming the strata above and below, was baked hard, and where metallic ores were mingled with it they were perhaps melted and formed into lava-like scoria. When the coal was consumed the surface soil sank into the cavities, leaving the sides occasionally almost perpendicular, and in places there are isolated buttes standing thirty feet or more above the general level. These interfere somewhat with travel over the country, and cause considerable areas of land to be at least temporarily useless. Generally these lands, even where burned over, are found to be fertile and have abundant growth of native grasses.

This is far from being a description of the entire country on the west side, however, for much the larger portion is rolling prairie, well adapted for farming or pasturage. It may be said of North Dakota that it is divided by three wide valleys, that of the Red river on the east, of James river between the Coteaux ranges, and Missouri valley on the west. The Mouse river crosses the northern boundary from the north, in longitude 101 degrees, 54 minutes, and, after making a loop more than 50 miles in depth, leaves the state near the 101st degree of longitude, having a length of about 165 miles in the state. The valley of this river is remarkable for its fertility. The northern boundary of the state is very nearly on the great divide, which separates the waters flowing north from those flowing south.

SOIL AND NATIVE PRODUCTS.

The prairies of North Dakota are covered with a rich dark drift of alluvial loam, from one to four feet deep, under which is a clay subsoil, which has the property of holding moisture to a wonderful degree, and giving it out as needed for the growing crops. It contains a practically inexhaustible supply of the soil ingredients most valuable for agriculture, namely: soluble silica, lime, potash, phosphoric acid, nitrogen and vegetable humus. There is no better soil in the world for general farming purposes, and none so well adapted for the raising of wheat and other small grains.

A large part of the surface of North Dakota is underlaid with veins of lignite coal, which is cheaply mined, and, while inferior to bituminous coal, makes good domestic fuel, and is of great advantage to the settlers in this country. Along the Missouri river there is considerable good timber in the bottoms, and there are narrow strips of timber along the Little Missouri. In some parts of the state, especially around Devils Lake and in the Turtle Mountains, there are small bodies of oak timber, and in some sections west of the Missouri oak groves are found in the valleys.

RIVERS AND LAKES.

The Red River of the North separates North Dakota from Minnesota—a distance of 200 miles—and drains what is known as the Red River Valley. Its principal tributaries in North Dakota are the Shyenne, Maple, Goose, Park and Pembina rivers. Of these the Shyenne is the most important, running for more than 300 miles through portions of ten counties. The James river flows through six counties, in a southerly course, for about 225 miles. These rivers water the country lying between the Red river and the Missouri river. The Mouse river, which flows into the Assiniboine in Manitoba, makes a long loop in North Dakota, fully 200 miles in length, passing through four counties. The Missouri river traverses the state for a distance of about 350 miles, having a general course from northwest to southeast, and in this distance it has no important tributaries on the east except the James river. The principal North Dakota streams flowing into the Missouri from the west are Little Missouri river, which traverses the western portion of the state for a distance of 250 miles; the Big Knife river, 125 miles in length; the Heart river, 150 miles long, and the Cannon Ball, with its north and south forks, fully 150 miles in extent. These four streams, with a number of important tributaries, water that part of North Dakota lying west of the Missouri river.

A considerable part of the drainage of the North Dakota prairies is into lakes and ponds, many of which have no outlets. Devils Lake, the largest body of water, is fifty miles long, and from two to six miles wide. There are hundreds of smaller lakes, varying in size from an area of a few acres to that of five or six square miles. These lakes give especial facilities to the farmers for water for stock in sections where there are few running streams. The lakes abound in water fowl and fish, and are an attractive feature of the country.

CLIMATE.

The climate of North Dakota is much more pleasant than it is generally thought to be by those who have not experienced it or consulted statistics on the subject. The popular belief that the winters are of arctic severity is not warranted by the meteorological records that have been kept in the state for the past forty years. From these records it is found that the average or mean temperature of the state is 39 degrees, and that the monthly mean temperature ranges from 3 degrees in January to 70 degrees in July. The extreme maximum temperature ranges from 101 to 110 degrees, and the extreme minimum from 34 below zero to 55 below; but it is not to be supposed that such readings are often recorded, or that the extremes are of long duration. From the fact that the humidity or moisture in the air is always low, these periods of extreme heat or cold are not accompanied by the discomfort or distress that is experienced in the seaboard states. The mean annual precipitation is slightly over 17 inches, varying from about 13 inches in the south central portion to 20 in the northern and northeastern, and 26 in the eastern and southeastern. November is the month of least precipitation, while June has the greatest, followed next in order by May and July. The time of occurrence of the first killing frost is from August 12th to September 30th, and of the last killing frost in the spring from March 17th to June 8th.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

While the soil and climate conditions in North Dakota are eminently favorable for the growth of all the usual farm products, the leading crop is hard spring wheat, which is so superior to all other varieties, and commands prices so much higher, that it has acquired a distinctive designation in the markets, and the best quality is known as "No. 1 hard." It regularly sells in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Superior for about 10 per cent more per bushel than the best grades of other wheat. From it is made the celebrated Minneapolis flour, and it is largely shipped to millers in the East to mix with the best winter wheat, and thus bring up the standard of their flour. The average yield of wheat per acre ranges from 15 to 30 bushels, but considerably heavier returns are not usual. Hard spring wheat weighs more to the bushel than the softer varieties, the wheat usually ranging from 61 to 65 pounds to the bushel. It must not be understood from the foregoing that North Dakota is exclusively a wheat country. Wheat will no doubt always be its chief crop, but the country is well adapted to general farming. The production of flax has become a leading feature in North Dakota, and in importance stands next to wheat, the yield per acre ranging from 8 to 25 bushels. Oats yield largely, ranging from 49 to 70 bushels per acre; barley is a paying crop, yielding from 35 to 45 bushels per acre; rye yields from 35 to 50 bushels to the acre. Corn is a good crop, especially in the counties adjacent to and those west of the Missouri river. Potatoes and all kinds of garden vegetables grow in abundance.

The conditions are favorable for successful dairying in North Dakota. Extensive open grazing ranges, covered with rich grasses, an abundance of good water, and ready markets, enable the farmer to realize a good annual income from dairy products. Creameries and cheese factories are being established at many points.

Stock raisers have already established a considerable number of successful stock ranches, but there are wide expanses of unoccupied grazing ranges in the state, both east and west of the Missouri river, waiting to be taken up by stockmen.

SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES.

North Dakota enjoys excellent educational and religious advantages. Each community is supplied with a well regulated system of public schools, and the various religious denominations are well represented by churches and places of public worship, and by denominational schools and colleges. The public schools of the state are in a flourishing condition. The general government appropriated over 3,068,000 acres of the public lands for school purposes. When admitted to the Union the state came into possession of its school lands, and it is provided that they cannot be sold for less than $10 per acre. This insures the state a magnificent permanent school fund.

WEALTH OF THE STATE.

The wealth of the state at present is computed to be over $500,000,000, and yet there are no very rich men in the state. These figures take into consideration but a small portion of the vast lignite coal deposits in the western half of the state, whose actual extent and value it is as yet impossible to estimate.

There are about 2,500,000 acres of common school land, worth at the minimum price fixed by law $25,000,000; also, 670,000 acres of well selected land held in trust for the higher educational and charitable institutions of the state, worth at a minimum price $6,700,000, held as a permanent fund, the interest on which is to go toward supporting and equipping them.

The assessed valuation of real and personal property in the state is $173,551,077. This is said to be about 25 per cent of the actual.

There are 52,801 farms under cultivation in the state, embracing 9,156,804 acres.

The dairying interests are increasing very rapidly, and the revenue from this industry for 1905 was more than $4,100,000.

NORTH DAKOTA COLLECTION LAWS.

Acknowledgments—No person shall take or receive proof or acknowledgment or affidavit or certify to the same if he be a party to the instrument, or a member of any partnership which partnership shall be a party to such instrument, nor if the husband or wife of such person or officer shall be a party to such instrument. Acknowledgments without the state may be taken before a judge or clerk of any court of record of the United States, or of any state, notary public, or any other officer of the state or territory where the acknowledgment is made, authorized by its laws to take acknowledgments. Commissioner appointed by the governor.

Assignment and Insolvent Laws.—The debtor may make an assignment in good faith for the benefit of his creditors. The assignment is subject to the provisions of code relating to trusts. A debtor may make an assignment without the consent of his creditors, but such assignment will operate as a discharge from his indebtedness only to the extent that the debts are actually paid by the assignee.

Attachments may issue in actions when defended has absconded or concealed himself or disposed of his property, or is about to, with intent to defraud his creditors. Plaintiff must furnish bond in not less than $250 in district court, or twice the amount of claim in justice court. Attachment may issue when a debtor is about to remove to another county, when he refuses to secure claim. Real and personal property of any description may be attached.

Corporations organized outside of the state must file copy of charter with Secretary of State and comply with certain other provisions of law before transacting business in the state.

Chattel Mortgages.—A mortgage of personal property can be created, or renewed only by a writing subscribed by the mortgagor. A mortgage of personal property is void as against creditors of the mortgagor and subsequent purchasers and incumbrances of the property in good faith and for value, unless it is filed by depositing the original, or an unauthenticated copy thereof, in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the property mortgaged, or any part thereof, is at such time situated; and it ceases to be valid, as against creditors of the mortgagor and subsequent purchasers or incumbrances in good faith, after the expiration of three years from the filing thereof, unless within ninety days next preceding the expiration of such term a copy of the mortgage and a statement of the amount of the existing debt, sworn to and subscribed by the mortgagor, are filed anew; this renews for three years more. A mortgage on personal property must be signed by the mortgagor in the presence of two persons, who must sign the same as witnesses thereto, or acknowledge the execution of the same, before some officer qualified to take acknowledgments. Pledged or mortgaged property may be levied on. When property is pledged or mortgaged or subject to a lien for the payment of money or the performance of any obligation, the right and interest of the execution debtor therein may be sold on execution without taking possession of or removing the property to the place of sale, but the entire right and interest of such debtor in all the property separately pledged or covered by each separate mortgage or lien shall be sold together as a distinct parcel or thing, and the purchaser at such sale shall acquire all the right and interest of such debtor therein. Contracts reserving title in the vendor as security for purchase money must be in writing and filed and indexed as a chattel mortgage.

Deeds.—Conveyance can be made by husband to wife, or wife to husband. All rights of dower or courtesy are abolished. Husband and wife need not join in deed of the other's land, except in homesteads. A written instrument is presumptive evidence of consideration. Witness or seals are not necessary to the validity of a deed or other instrument affecting title of real property, except wills. Conveyances may be acknowledged within the state before a justice or clerk of the supreme court, notary public, mayor of a city, judge or clerk of a court of record, justice of the peace, register of deeds, United States circuit or district court commissioner; without the state, by any officer of the state or territory where the acknowledgment is taken, who is authorized by its laws to take such proof or acknowledgment.

Executions.—Executions issued of course at any time within five years after judgment. After five years, leave of the court must be obtained, unless an execution issued within the five years has been returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, in which event another execution can be issued without leave. Land levied upon need not be appraised. Execution must be returned within sixty days from the date thereof. Lands sold on execution may be redeemed at any time within one year from time of sale.

Exemptions.—Personal and miscellaneous property to the value of $1,500 to be selected by the debtor. The homestead, not exceeding 160 acres, or two acres if in a town, with buildings thereon not to exceed $5,000 in value. Real or personal property not exempt from execution on judgment in bastardy proceeding, nor for laborers' or mechanics' wages, nor for physicians' bills in certain cases (except household and kitchen furniture, including stoves, to an amount not exceeding $400), nor for purchase money.

A partnership can claim but one exemption of $1,500. The part selected by each partner shall constitute part of his exemption.

Interest.—Legal rate, 7 per cent. By contract, 12 per cent.

Usury.—If taken or contracted for above 12 per cent, interest forfeited.

Judgments.—A judgment of a court of record or of a justice's court, is a lien on real estate of the defendant, except the homestead, for ten years from the time such judgment is docketed in the clerk's office of the district court of the county where the land is situated. Judgments recovered in other states and territories are proved by exemplification of the records, attested by the clerk, and the seal of the court annexed, if there be a seal, together with the certificate of the judge, chief justice or presiding magistrate, the attestation is in due form. Judgments may be obtained within thirty days after service of summons and complaint in actions in a court of record, and within four days after service of summons in actions in justice's court, if there be no defense interposed. Judgments may be renewed for ten years by filing an affidavit, showing the amount due on same, in the clerk's office within 90 days prior to the expiration of the ten-year limitation.

Justice's jurisdiction, $200.

Limitations.—Actions for recovery of real estate must be brought within twenty years. Upon a judgment or decree of any court of the United States, or contract contained in conveyance mortgage or instrument affecting title to real property, ten years. Upon contracts, express or implied, six years. In actions for a balance due upon a mutual open and current account, six years; in the time shall be computed from the date of the last item proved in the account on either side.

Limitation Two Years.—Actions for libel, slander, assault, battery or false imprisonment. Actions upon statute for a forfeiture or penalty to the people of this state. Actions for the recovery of damages for malpractice. (Laws 1886)

The payment of interest or principal will revive a debt or claim.

A married woman may own, in her exclusive right and benefit, real or personal property, and may manage, sell and convey the same in the same manner as though unmarried. She may make contracts and incur liabilities, and the same may be enforced by or against her the same as if unmarried. Neither husband nor wife has any interest in the property of the other. Neither is responsible for the acts of the other.

Mortgages.—A mortgage of real property can be created, renewed or extended only by writing, with the formalities required in the case of grant of real estate. The wife need join only in mortgage of homestead. Mortgages containing power of sale may be foreclosed by advertisement. Mortgages may be foreclosed by action, and a personal decree obtained in the same action against the mortgagor for any deficiency from the debt and cost arising on sale of the mortgaged premises. The mortgagee is entitled to rents and profits, but not to possession of the premises during the year of redemption after sale. A mortgage of a homestead shall be of no validity unless the husband and wife, if the owner is married, and both husband and wife are residents of this state, concur in and sign the same joint instrument. The same right of redemption exists as in the case of sale under execution.

Attorney must have power of attorney to foreclose and file same in register's office.

Proof of claim sent for collection may be made by deposition or by oral examination in court. Persons sending claims to Dakota for collection should be careful to furnish their attorney with the "full name," Christian and surname, and residence of the party in whose name the suit is to be brought. If the claim belongs to a partnership, the full name, Christian and surname, and residence of each member of the firm should be furnished. The attorney should be furnished with the names of the witness or witnesses, by whom the claim can be established, and the sale and delivery of goods proved. The affidavit of the party is not admissible evidence to prove the value, sale and delivery of goods. If the claim is disputed, it must be proved and established by the testimony of witnesses, taken upon deposition after notice, or by oral examination of witnesses in court.

Records.—Every conveyance of real property, other than a lease for a term not exceeding one year, is void, as against any subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer, including an assignee of a mortgage, lease, or other conditional sale of the same property, or any part thereof, in good faith and for a valuable consideration, whose conveyance is first duly recorded. All instruments of conveyance of real property must be recorded with the register of deeds of the county in which the real property affected thereby is situated.

Redemption.—Real property may be redeemed within one year after sale, with additional 12 per cent interest, together with the taxes and accrued expenses thereon.

Revivor.—An acknowledgment in writing or payment of part of principal or interest will revive a debt or claim.

Stay of Execution.—There are no stay laws; but an execution may be stayed by order of the court for irregularity, or by injunction, or by appeal, with security given.

Witness.—Party in interest may be.

R. L. POLK & CO.'S NORTH DAKOTA STATE GAZETTEER.

AND

FOR

In the following section of the work the cities, villages and postoffices of North Dakota are arranged in alphabetical order, and a description is given of each place, with an alphabetical list of all persons doing business therein. In all the larger places the names have been procured by personal canvas, but in the smaller places where there are less than a half dozen stores they have been furnished by postmasters. Great care has been taken to insure correctness as well as completeness.

BISBEE. Richland county. A station, on the H & D div of the C M & St P Ry. Name changed to Enloe, which see.

BISMARCK. Pop. 5,960. Burleigh county. The capital of the state of North Dakota, and the judicial seat of the county, is an incorporated city, located within 49 miles of the actual center of the state, on the e bank of the Missouri river, the N P Ry and the Bismarck branch and Washburn extension of the "Soo Line." In addition to the transportation facilities afforded by the railroads there is a boat line via the Missouri river plying between this point, Mannheim and Fort Yates. The N P Ry has a fine stone depot costing $60,000. Fort Lincoln, a military post, is located 3 miles s of the city and has a garrison of 300 men. The buildings of the post, when completed, will accommodate a regiment and the total cost is estimated at $1,200,000. The government has also located at Bismarck an Indian manual training school for the education of Indian youth and for which an appropriation of $50,000 has already been made. The U S land office, the U S Surveyor General and the Weather Bureau are located here also. The city has reservoir water works, with 40 public hydrants, a first-class fire department, an electric light plant, lodges of all the prominent secret organizations and a local telephone system, and an electric street car line from the business portion to the State Capitol. The city has several wholesale and jobbing houses and the extension of railroads makes this a growing point for wholesale business. It also contains churches of the Baptist, Catholic, Episcopal, Methodist, Presbyterian and Swedish Lutheran denominations, high and graded schools, 3 banks, good hotels, a grain elevator and an opera house. The St Alexius Hospital, a modern brick structure, in charge of the Order of St Benedict Society, and the state penitentiary are located here. A modern eight-room brick school building has just been completed, and a new marble state capitol building is about to be erected at an estimated cost of $1,000,000. Three newspapers, the Tribune (daily and weekly), the Palladium (semi-weekly) and the Settler (weekly), are published. The nature of land in the vicinity is a black loam, clay subsoil, very deep and productive; and extensive beds of coal underlie a large area of the surrounding country. Improved land in the vicinity is worth from $10 to $10 per acre, and wild land from $3 to $10. Grain, hides, furs, wool and coal are shipped. Stages to Forts Berthold and Yates. Exp. DEVILS LAKE Pop. 3,500. Ramsey county. A prosperous and important incorporated city, located on the n shore of Devils Lake, in the s portion of the county, of which it is the judicial seat. It is a division station of the G N Ry, 89 miles w of Grand Forks, and 405 n w of St Paul. The Farmers' Grain & Shipping Co Ry, owned by the farmers, was originally built between this point and Starkweather, but now extends to Hansboro, a distance of 66 miles, and is the outlet for 31 inland elevators, giving the farmers on this line extra facilities for shipping their products. Devils Lake was established in 1883, organized as a village in 1884, and incorporated as a city in October, 1887. Is governed by a mayor and board of aldermen. Contains Methodist, Baptist, Catholic, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Lutheran and Christian Science churches, graded public and high schools, with an attendance of over 550, a public library, with over 1,000 volumes, 2 banks, 6 hotels, 5 elevators, a well equipped feed mill, machine shops, soda water factory, brick yard and a full complement of special and general mercantile houses. The city is supplied with water works, a local and long distance telephone system and an electric light plant. The city is represented in the North Dakota National Guards by Company D, The Devils Lake Chautauqua Association and the Devils Lake State Military Encampment grounds are picturesquely situated on the n shore of Devils Lake. The Chautauqua Association holds its assembly from 2 to 4 weeks each summer. A well equipped standard gauge railroad furnishes good transportation service between the city and Chautauqua grounds. The Ramsey county court house at Devils Lake is one of the finest in the state. Two live weekly newspapers, the Inter-Ocean and the Journal, are published. It is also the location of a U S land office and the North Dakota school for the deaf, whose inmates publish a paper, the Banner, and the seat of one of the four sub-districts of the U S district court of North Dakota. It is the receiving and distributing point for a rich agricultural and stock raising district, the distributing point for the Fort Totten Indian reservation, and is the financial and commercial center of the Devils Lake land district, which embraces several counties. In 1904 a superb new hospital was erected at a cost of $50,000, and is in charge of the "Sisters of Mercy." Land is worth from $20 to $35 per acre, and rapidly increasing in value, owing to the fact that all available government land in Ramsey county is filed on. It has an artesian well 1,500 feet in depth, with a flow of about 2,500 barrels per day, and a good fire department. Ships wheat, flax, hay, oats, flour and vegetables. Has daily steamboat connection with Fort Totten and Minnewaukon. Local and long distance telephone service. Exp, G N. Tel, W U. Mail, daily. Richard Dacley, P M.

Fargo NORTH DAKOTA STATE GAZETTEER Fargo 1899

FARGO. Pop. 15,000. Cass county. This enterprising, prosperous and important city, the commercial metropolis of the state, is located in the extreme eastern part of the county, of which it is the judicial seat, on the Red River of the North, and on the N P, the C M & St P, the F & S W and the G N Rys, and is, via the latter road, 242 miles n w of St Paul. It was first settled in 1872, and was a mere hamlet until 1875, from which time its growth commenced, and continued until June, 1893, when the entire business portion of the city was burned, entailing a loss of $4,000,000. In less than one year the burned district was rebuilt with substantial brick blocks and fine public buildings, and 15 miles of streets are paved. It is now a live, bustling city, the receiving and distributing center of the vast wheat region of the Red River Valley, a granary unsurpassed on the face of the globe. It was incorporated as a city in 1875, is governed by a mayor and board of aldermen, is well laid out and substantially built, and contains many fine business blocks and handsome residences. The principal architectural features are the court house and jail, costing $130,000, with additions made in 1905, amounting to $25,000, a magnificent government building, costing $100,000; city hall, elegant opera house, 2 iron bridges, besides 2 railroad bridges across the river, connecting the city with Moorhead, Minn., 8 handsome school buildings, 5 fine brick bank buildings and a number of hotels, the leading ones being the Waldorf, Metropole, the Elliott, the Webster and the Prescott. Fargo is the headquarters for the Northwest of all the great farm machinery firms who, since the great fire, have built elegant brick and stone warehouses, adding several hundred thousand dollars to the wealth of the city. As a distributing point for agricultural implements Fargo occupies one of the foremost positions in the United States; in the number of threshers and binders it stands in the first place. The city is lighted by gas and electricity, has 14 miles of electric street railway, has efficient fire and police forces, an excellent system of sewerage, uses the Holly system of water works, and, in fact, possesses all the appointments and facilities of a thoroughly progressive commercial center. The manufacturing and jobbing enterprises are assuming more importance day by day, and the future outlook is all that could be desired. Fargo is well located in every particular, admirably adapted for manufacturing and business of all kinds, is the natural market of a great territory, which is still in the infancy of its development, has exceptional railroad facilities, and can offer to the business man every advantage, to the homeseeker a pleasant and healthful location, with all the social, educational and religious advantages to be desired. The city contains 24 churches, representing the Baptist, Congregational, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Lutheran, Scandinavian Baptist, Catholic and Unitarian denominations. Nearly all these churches have built new and elegant structures since the fire. It is the

This flourishing and important city was first settled in 1871, incorporated February, 1881, is governed by a mayor and a board of aldermen, and is located in the extreme e part of the county, of which it is the judicial seat, and on the Red River of the North at its junction with Red Lake river, both of which are navigable at this point. It is an important station on the G N Ry, and on the P br of the N P Ry, 89 miles e of Devils Lake, 26 w of Crookston, Minn, 79 n of Fargo, 80 s of the international boundary line, and 320 n w of St Paul. Its exceptionally favorable location and unsurpassed transportation facilities, coupled with the energy and enterprise of its citizens, have made it largely a supply and distributing point for the counties north and west, and there is no city in the state with a greater extent of rich and rapidly-growing country surrounding it, as there is no city with more natural advantages and so few disadvantages. The city contains 2 national banks, 2 state banks, a flouring mill, a woolen mill, an opera house, KANDIOTTA. Sargent county. A discontinued p o, 6 miles n e of Forman, the county seat. Perry, on the "Soo Line," is the station and p o name, which see.

KARLOPOLIS. Stutsman county. A discontinued p o, 30 miles from Jamestown, the county seat, and usual banking point, and 16 from Courtney, the shipping station, on the "Soo Line," to which place send mail.

KASSEL. McIntosh county. A discontinued p o, 16 miles w of Ashley, the county seat, and 10 n e of Zealand, on the C M & St P Ry, the shipping point. Stage to Ashley, to which place send mail.

KATHRYN. Population 250. Barnes county. This is a prosperous village, in Oakville township, located on the Casselton branch of the Northern Pacific Railway, 20 miles south of Valley City, the county seat. Kathryn was first settled in the year 1900. It is situated in the center of a prosperous farming region, and is inhabited by a thrifty, energetic, ambitious class of people, who are all interested in the welfare, the growth and prosperity of Kathryn, and the place is showing the effects of this energetic community, and is destined to be the most important place in this locality. Kathryn already has one bank, two general stores, three elevators and a creamery. A well conducted and ably edited weekly newspaper, "The Star," is published. Clay deposits are found near the town that are suitable for the best quality of brick, and the clay is also highly suitable for pottery purposes, and there is a great opportunity here for some live competent pottery manufacturer. There is probably no spot on the North American Continent where a pottery could be established to so good an advantage, for there are no potteries in this part of the country, and there is a great market for the ware in North Dakota, Montana and Northern Minnesota. The soil throughout this region is very fertile and agriculture is carried on extensively, but not commensurate with the opportunities. Land in this vicinity is selling from $15.00 to KENMARE. Pop. 1,200. Ward county. A flourishing town, on the main line and the Kenmare-Thief River Falls extension of the "Soo Line," 51 1/2 miles from St Paul, and 51 n w of Minot, the county seat. This town is beautifully located on the Des Lacs lakes, which are 28 miles in length. The Kenmare Dry Coal Co mines produce lignite coal of the best quality, which can be mined and delivered on board cars for $1.50 per ton. Settlement commenced in the spring of 1897. The town bids fair to become one of the best known places in North Dakota, and has everything in its favor to tempt manufacturing industries, because of the cheapness of coal and immense water supply. The adjacent country is government land, and is open for homesteads. It has 2 banks, 2 weekly newspapers, the News and Journal. Catholic, Lutheran and Methodist societies are maintained, a modern school, enrolling about 300 pupils, 4 hotels, a public hall, 2 flour mills and 7 elevators. This place is fast becoming popular as a summer resort. Famous sport can be had with the gun. Telephone connection. Exp. Western. Tel. N A. Mail, daily. E C Tolley, P M. Anderson Samuel, pool hall. Barnett Henry G, restaurant. Bell Daniel H, phys. Bertelson Peter, gen store. Bock John E, real est. Bye Peter J, clothing. Cargill & Robb, Gordon & Stratton agts, grain elevator.

LISBON, Pop. 1,600. Ransom county. The judicial seat of the county, is an enterprising, incorporated city, advantageously located on the Shesenne river and on the F & S W br of the N P Ry, 56 miles s w of Fargo. It was settled in 1879, incorporated as a city in 1882, is governed by a mayor and a board of aldermen. It has Baptist, Catholic, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, flour and feed mills, a creamery, 3 banks, 4 grain elevators, 2 hotels, a tannery, an armory, an opera house, and a light artillery battery of the N D National Guard. Two newspapers, the Gazette and Free Press, are published weekly; the Westland Educator and the Rotary, ably engineered educational levers, and the North Dakota Farmer, an agricultural paper, are issued monthly. Here is located the North Dakota Soldiers' Home and one of the best high schools in the state. Other representative features are its $15,000 water plant supplied by artesian wells and an acetylene gas plant, both owned by the city. The shipments, which are extensive, comprise wheat, flour, and produce. It is the second largest stock shipping station in the state. Land is worth from $18 to $40 per acre. Telephone service. Exp. # LAW---LANDS---LOANS

Ward County, is as large as Delaware, Rhode Island and the District of Columbia combined, population 35,000 which is 400 per cent larger than 5 years ago.

We want good live agents in every town in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois to bring buyers of land which can still be had in the "Empire of Ward" at from $12.00 to $20.00 per acre.

CORN matures here.

Money invested in lands for non-residents under agreement that I am to receive nothing for my services unless your investment nets you 8 per cent and me to receive one-half above that amount.

Crops last year:

Wheat 20 to 38, Flax 18, Oats 50 to 80, Speltz 70, Barley 45 to 65.

Butter is selling in Minot at 30 cents, eggs at 35 cents, live hogs 5½ cts.

First class 1st mortgages for sale netting investor 7 per cent. Interest collected without charge.

MINOT has 5,000 people.

F. B. LAMBERT, Lawyer and Landman, MINOT, N. D.

Practice in all courts and before U. S. Land Office. Special attention given to litigated cases and law effecting land titles.

REMEMBER THAT THE LAND IN THE
MOUSE RIVER LOOP

IN NORTH DAKOTA IS THE Garden of Prosperity

My specialty is buying and selling improved and unimproved farm land and negotiating farm mortgages. I own and control more land in Ward, Bottineau and McHenry Counties than any other real estate firm. These are the Banner Counties of North Dakota. They are blessed with a soil and climatic conditions which have never failed to produce good crops of small grains, grasses and corn: the growing of the latter being no longer an experiment, but forming a goodly per cent. of the crops now grown.

Prices Range from $10 to $20 per Acre and are Steadily Advancing.

I will exchange land for stock or merchandise of all kinds, town property or other real estate. If you wish to buy or sell any land in the Mouse River Loop, or exchange for stock or merchandise, I would kindly ask you to write me for further information, price lists, maps, etc., which I shall be glad to furnish you free of charge.

Agents Wanted You can make from $5,000 to $10,000 a year by sending me a few buyers. Be sure and write me when you read this ad. I advertise in order to get acquainted with you and I know we can do business together.

house, a thorough representation of all the learned professions and of the minor branches of commerce. Five ably edited and progressive newspapers, the Ward County Reporter (daily and weekly); the Minor Optic (daily and weekly); and the Independent are published. It also has a well equipped fire department and an electric light plant, installed at a cost of $25,000. The United States land office for the Minot land district, which contains 11,500 square miles, is located here. Ward county has the distinction of being the largest county in North Dakota, and contains over three million acres of as fine grazing and farming land as there is in the world. It is the headquarters for a large number of extensive ranchmen. Lignite coal, of which there is an abundance, is tributary to Minot, and is shipped extensively. A superior article of brick clay is here found, which accounts for the number of substantial brick edifices. The water works system of Minot is not surpassed by any town in the West. Land in the vicinity is worth from $10 to $20 per acre for unimproved, and $25 to $40. per acre for improved. Ships grain, produce, live stock and coal. Telephone office. Exp. G. N. and Western. Ry, being a passenger and a freight division point, and on the Missouri river, 121 miles w of Minot. It is surrounded by vast lignite coal beds and considerable timber is found near the shores of the Missouri river. While not booming it is enjoying healthy growth and promises to be one of the leading and substantial towns of the Northwest. The U S Reclamation Service, a branch of the United States Government, has completed surveys of large tracts of land near Williston, and will rapidly push the actual work of irrigation to completion. This will mean that the already large crops of grain and vegetables grown in this section will be more than doubled. Land in the immediate vicinity is especially adapted for farming and grazing purposes, as the soil has a deep and rich top, and the sub-soil is clay. There is considerable homestead land to be had, but is being taken up rapidly. Uncultivated land averages $10 per acre, while cultivated land brings from $15 to $25. The city has 2 banks, 3 hotels, 2 brick yards, an opera house, seating more than 500, a graded and a high school, Methodist, Congregational and Catholic churches, railroad shops, a roundhouse and numerous well-stocked stores. Two enterprising weekly newspapers, the Herald and Graphic, are published. A U S signal station is also located here. Stages weekly to Wilbur, semi-weekly to Squires, tri-weekly to Stroud, Banks, Schafer, Baqual, Truax, Nesson, Hofflund, Grinnell, Marmon, Zahl and Ruder. Exp. G N. Tel. W U. Mail, daily. Good Farms for Sale at from $10.00 to $25.00 per Acre.

If any of the following facts about our County interest you and you want more definite information, let us know about it. We want your business.

WILLIAMS COUNTY NORTH DAKOTA.

Contains about 4,000 square miles.

It is going at the rate of 5,000 acres every month, mostly upland with numberless beautiful flats watered with countless streams.

Its population is increasing 80 per cent every year, on the basis of the 1900 census.

Its climate is milder and more healthful than that of central or eastern Dakota.

Its rainfall of over two inches per month during the growing season produces

It contains vast deposits of No. 1 Lignite coal.

It contains an abundance of timber, both for building and firewood, along the Missouri river, which borders the county for one hundred miles.

Government irrigation projects covering 100,000 acres are contemplated in the county. This will be the first irrigated land west of St. Paul.

The Great Northern Railway divides the county east and west. New surveys have been made by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo.

There are at the present time 14 towns—21 postoffices—24 rural delivery routes—6 rural telephone lines covering 126 miles of territory—58 schools with 1,447 pupils enrolled, drawing their portion of state tuition fund.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

November 2, 1889, what was previously the Territory of Dakota, extending from the Canadian boundary on the north to the north line of Nebraska on the south was divided into two nearly equal parts, and admitted to the Union as South and North Dakota. The former contains an area of about 76,850 square miles, or 54,000,000 acres and 401,570 inhabitants, according to the government census of 1900; it is bounded on the north by North Dakota, on the east by Minnesota and Iowa, on the south by Nebraska, and on the west by Wyoming and Montana. It is a peculiar region and has an interesting history. More than two centuries ago French adventurers penetrated hither, and found it abounding with fur-bearing animals. Black bears, wolves, wolverines, foxes and coyotes constantly inhabited its extensive plains, and mink, otter, beaver and muskrats were plentiful along its streams and about its lakelets. There were besides these myriads of rabbits, buffaloes, skunks, prairie dogs, ground squirrels, gophers and other small animals. Antelope, red deer and elk were plentiful in every locality, while in the western portion it was not an uncommon occurrence to meet with a cinnamon or grizzly bear, mountain lion or flock of mountain sheep. Immense herds of buffaloes made regular tours through the country, in the course of their annual wanderings from the confines of Mexico to the valley of the Peace river in the distant north.

Dakota was, indeed, the paradise of the trapper and hunter, whether Indian or French adventurer, or the more recent English and American Indian trader. The seasons of failure to secure a large return from their efforts were exceedingly rare, as the waters yielded bountiful supplies of fish, turtles, etc. It was not uncommon for the Indians to grow considerable crops of corn, which, with wild artichokes, afforded them variety in their diet. The whites also cultivated corn and potatoes at their trading posts, and imported flour, salt and a few other necessities, bringing them by water to the head of Lake Superior, or up the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and their tributary streams, and packing them thence long distances across the country. It is not to be wondered at that the Indians were unwilling to give up a country so well adapted to their occupation and methods of living, and that the white traders and hunters put into circulation such doleful stories about the inclemency of its climate and sterility of its soil as were likely to deter enterprising agricultural immigrants from the Atlantic states from venturing hither to establish new homes. But it was a futile effort, and could, at most, only temporarily delay the occupancy of the land by persons anxious to own the farms they tilled.

THE SOIL OF SOUTH DAKOTA.

South Dakota presents a variety of agricultural characteristics rarely found in a single state. On the east it rivals in fertility the adjacent state of Iowa, which is one of the richest in the Mississippi valley; while on the west it presents all the characteristics of the Rocky Mountain region. Of moisture it has ample supply for agricultural purposes at the east and west. Its surface outside of the Black Hills is rarely too rough for farming; though narrow strips near the larger streams and about the more conspicuous buttes are not level enough for agriculture. It slopes from less than 1,000 feet above the sea near Big Stone lake upward and westward to 3,500 about the Black Hills, in which the surface is rough and rocky, rising into mountainous altitudes from 7,000 to 8,000 feet in height, traversed by valleys and canons. The mineral production of the Black Hills is one of the wonders of the world the district being famed as the "richest hundred miles square on earth." The famous "Homestake" mines are situated here. In production of gold, silver and other metals the Black Hills district is indeed one of the richest in the world. The soils have not been carefully studied, but a few general statements derived from the experimental results of farming and from a knowledge of the geological formations underlying, will set forth their essential characteristics. Outside the Black Hills the soils are either loamy or clay, except in a few narrow areas, where they may be characterized as stony.

THE BLACK HILLS REGION.

The Black Hills are strangely contrasted with the rest of the state in several particulars. First, large portions are too rocky for agricultural purposes. Second, the soil varies greatly within short distances, owing to the great variety of the underlying geological formations and the broken surface of the country. Moreover, the region is not subjected to the long dry seasons of late summer, therefore the growing season is much longer. In the spring of 1905 the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company began the construction of a railroad bridge across the Missouri River at Chamberlain in South Dakota and extended a line of railroad westward toward the Black Hills.

In the fall of 1905 the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company began bridge construction and extension of its line westward from Pierre. The construction of these lines gives direct railroad connections for the first time between the eastern and western parts of South Dakota and opens up a heavy traffic in exchange of commodities produced within the borders of the state.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

South Dakota produces abundant crops of all of the standard cereals, and has recently developed wonderfully as a dairying state. The gold output of 1903 was about $25,000,000.

South Dakota is emphatically a stock country. The prairies furnish feed the year around for cattle, which require only a small quantity of hay to get them through the winter. Nutritious grasses, cheap hay, good water, a climate perfectly adapted to cattle, and good shipping facilities, make the business of cattle raising a most profitable one. Many farmers have fine herds of blooded cattle, and the character of the stock is constantly improving. What is true of cattle is true of horses. Every farmer raises a few horses, while there are a few large ranches, where fine blooded stock, both for work and speed, is raised. Having plenty of corn, the South Dakota farmer also has plenty of hogs. Hog cholera and other diseases which bring frequent disaster in the East are practically unknown here. The conditions are also favorable to sheep growing, and this industry has made rapid advancement in the state.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

There are about 3,721 public schools in the state, employing 4,286 teachers, and the total enrollment of pupils is 98,013. In a few years South Dakota will have a school fund which will be sufficient to meet all the expenses incident to the common school system of the state. Aside from two special gifts to the different state institutions, the state inherited from the general government the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections of every township. If sold at the minimum price this land would bring $27,000,000, and at 6 per cent this will annually yield a fund of $1,600,000. Hence it will appear that before many years the state will have an excellent system of common schools without any school tax.

The state maintains the state university at Vermillion, a state agricultural college at Brookings, and normal schools at Madison, Spearfish, Springfield, and Aberdeen; school of mines at Rapid City, school for blind at Gary and feeble-minded at Redfield. There are sectarian colleges at Yankton, Redfield, Mitchell, Hot Springs, Huron, Sioux Falls, Canton and Pierre.

THE CLIMATE.

The climate is identical with that of Southern Minnesota and Northern Iowa. The atmosphere is dry and invigorating and is particularly healthful. The average temperature for January is 13 degrees and for July is 74 degrees. The people are intelligent, progressive and temperate, and evince a pride in their young state which evidences the fact that it is, and is to be, one of America's greatest commonwealths.

SOUTH DAKOTA COLLECTION LAWS.

Acknowledgments and Affidavits.—Acknowledgments may be taken by and affidavits made before any judge or clerk of the United States or state courts, court commissioners, justices or notaries public.

Assignment and insolvency Law.—Assignments must be in writing, witnessed and acknowledged and filed for record with register of deeds of county where assignor resides, if non-resident, where business or property is situated. Verified inventory must be filed by assignor within twenty days. Bond of assignee in double the amount of the value of the property. Sureties to be approved by the judge of the circuit court. No preference of creditors allowed. Assignment does not discharge assignor without consent of all the creditors. Prior liens under execution, attachment or garnishment, not affected by assignment.

Attachment.—Warrant allowed upon affidavit of plaintiff, his agent or attorney, having knowledge of the facts, specifying amount and grounds of claim, and that defendant is either a foreign corporation, non-resident, departed with intent to defraud the creditors or to avoid service of summons, conceals himself with like intent, that debt was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses, that defendant has removed or is about to remove property from the state, has disposed of or secreted or is about to dispose of or secrete property with like intent. Bond must be given in not less than $250 and equal to the amount of claim. Sureties to be approved by the clerk of the court, attachment may issue before claim is due, when debtor has or is about to dispose of or remove his property with intent to defraud his creditors, or when debt was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses.

Chattel Mortgages.—Must be in writing and as against creditors and subsequent purchaser incumbrancers in good faith and for value, the original, or certified copy must be filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the property or some part thereof is situated and ceases to be valid as against such person after the expiration of three years from the filing thereof unless renewed by filing, within thirty days next preceding the expiration of such term, a copy of the mortgage and a statement sworn to by the mortgagee, his agent or attorney, stating the amount unpaid and claim as lien, when the lien will be renewed for three years more. The execution of the mortgage must be witnessed by two persons who must sign as such. No chattel mortgage shall be received and filed or filed for record unless it appears upon the mortgage instrument over the signature of the mortgagor that a copy thereof has been delivered to and received by mortgagor. (Chapter 95, 1897.) No acknowledgment necessary. Creditors attaching mortgaged property must pay or tender to the mortgagee the amount of the mortgage debt or deposit it with the county treasurer for mortgagee.

Corporations are formed under general laws, or a special law for a particular corporation, by filing certificate and doing certain other acts. Each stockholder is individually and personally liable for the debt of the corporation to the extent of the amount that is unpaid upon the stock that is held by him. Foreign corporations must file copy of its articles of incorporation and appoint a resident agent, upon whom process may be served. Law relating to (against) commercial agencies repealed. (Laws of 1895)

Deeds.—Conveyance can be made by husband to wife, or wife to husband; all rights of dower or courtesy are abolished. Husband and wife need not join in deed of the other's land, except in homesteads. A written instrument is presumptive evidence of consideration. Witnesses or seals are not necessary to the validity of a deed or other instrument affecting title of real property, except wills. Conveyances may be acknowledged within the state before justice or clerk of the supreme court, notary public, mayor of the city, judge or clerk of a court of record, justice of the peace, register of deeds, United States circuit or district court commissioner; without the state, by any officer of the state or territory where the acknowledgment is taken, who is authorized by its laws to take such proof or acknowledgment.

Executions.—Executions issued of course at any time within five years after judgment. After five years, leave of the court must be obtained, unless an execution issued within the five years has been returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, in which event another execution can be issued without leave. Land levied upon need not be appraised. Execution must be returned within sixty days from its receipt by officer. Lands sold on execution may be redeemed at any time within one year from time of sale. (See "Redemption.")

Exemptions.—To Head of Family: Homesteads, 160 acres if without, one acre if within, city or village, with buildings thereon not to exceed $5,000 in value. To all persons (absolute exemptions): Family pictures, a pew, a lot or lots in burial ground, family library to the extent of $200, wearing apparel, provisions and fuel for one year; and, $750 worth of goods chattels, merchandise, personal, property or money to head of family and $300 worth of such property to a single person. To head of family, instead of $750 worth of property, debtor may select miscellaneous books and musical instruments, $200; household furniture, $200; two cows, five swine, two yoke of oxen or a span of horses or mules, 25 sheep and their lambs under six months of age, wool of same and cloth and yarn manufactured therefrom. One year's feed for such animals, provided or growing; wagon, sleigh, two plows, a harrow and farming machinery and utensils $1,250; tools and implements of any mechanic and $200 stock in trade; library and instruments of a professional person, $300; all money received by widow and children for insurance upon life of the head of the family. No exemption from execution for purchase money of the same property.

Interest.—Legal rate, 7 per cent; by contract, 12 per cent. Taking a greater amount than 12 per cent forfeits interest. Exacting usurious rate is a misdemeanor.

Judgments.—A judgment of a court of record or of a justice's court is a lien on real estate of the defendant, except the homestead, for ten years from the time such judgment is docketed in the clerk's office of the district court of the county where the land is situated. Judgments recovered in other states and territories are proved by exemplification of the record, attested by the clerk, and the seal of the court annexed, if there be a seal, together with the certificate of the judge, chief justice or presiding magistrate, that the attestation is in due form. Judgments may be obtained within thirty days after service of summons and complaint in actions in a court of record, and within four days after service of summons in action in justice's court, if there be no defense interposed. May be renewed for ten years more by issuing execution every five years.

Justice's jurisdiction, $100.

Limitation of Actions.—To recover real property, upon sealed instrument or judgment of this state, twenty years; upon judgment of another state, ten years; upon contracts, liabilities created by statute other than penalty, trespass, replevin, criminal conversation, injury to person or rights not arising on contracts not hereafter mentioned, relief on grounds of fraud, six years; against sheriff, coroner or constable, to recover penalty when action is given to party aggrieved, three years; slander, libel, assault, false imprisonment, two years. A payment of principal or interest or acknowledgment in writing signed by party to be charged will revive a debt or claim.

A married woman may own in her exclusive right and benefit, real or personal property, and may manage, sell and convey the same in the same manner as though unmarried. She may make contracts and incur liabilities, and the same may be enforced by or against her the same as if unmarried. Neither husband nor wife has any interest in the property of the other. Neither is responsible for the acts of the other. Husband and wife must join in conveyance of homestead.

Mortgages.—Must be in writing and executed as deeds. Containing power of sale, may be foreclosed by advertisement or action. Mortgagor entitled to possession of premises until redemption expires. Husband and wife need not join in the other's mortgage, except upon homestead, when they must. Redemption may be made at any time within one year after sale. Postoffice address of mortgagee must appear in mortgage. Assignee must, within thirty days after purchase of mortgage, file with register of deeds a statement giving page and volume of record of mortgage and his address. Unless assignee files this statement he cannot collect interest. (Chapter 96, 1897.) Attorney's fees ten dollars in foreclosure by advertisement; twenty-five dollars foreclosure by action. Copy of chattel mortgages must be delivered to mortgagor, and the mortgagor must sign receipt for copy in original.

Proof of claim sent for collection may be made by deposition or oral examination in court. Persons sending claims to Dakota for collection should be careful to furnish their attorney with the "full name," Christian and surname and residence of the party in whose name the suit is to be brought. If the claim belongs to a partnership, the full name, Christian and surname and residence of each member of the firm should be furnished. The attorney should be furnished with the names of the witness or witnesses, by whom the claim can be established, and the sale and delivery of goods proved. The affidavit of the party is not admissible evidence to prove the value and delivery of goods. If the claim is disputed it must be proved and established by the testimony of witnesses, taken upon deposition after notice, or by oral examination of witnesses in court.

Records.—Every conveyance of real property, other than a lease for a term not exceeding one year, is void as against any subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer, including an assignee of a mortgage, lease, or other conditional sale of the same property, or any part thereof in good faith and for a valuable consideration whose conveyance is first duly recorded. All instruments of conveyance of real property must be recorded with the register of deeds of the county in which the real property affected thereby is situated.

Redemption.—Real property may be redeemed from the sale on execution or foreclosure of mortgage by judgment debtor or mortgagor or successor in interest or lien holder within one year after sale, by paying amount of purchase, taxes and assignments paid by purchaser after purchase, and interest at the rate of 7 per cent on such amount. Time to redeem may be extended one year by payment of taxes and interest due and interest for one year in advance. (Chapter 140, 1893.)

Revivor.—An acknowledgment in writing or payment of part of principal or interest thereon. (Chapter 160, Laws 1899.)

Stay of Execution.—There are no stay laws, but an execution may be stayed by order of the court for irregularity, or by injunction, or by appeal, with security given.

Judgment debtor or redemptioner may redeem from purchaser within one year after sale, on paying the purchaser the amount of his purchase with 7 per cent interest thereon. (Chapter 160, Laws 1899.)

Usury.—See interest.

Wills.—May be made by any person of sound mind over eighteen years of age.

If entirely written, dated and signed by the hand of the testator himself, it need not be witnessed. Every other will must be subscribed in the presence of two witnesses and testator must declare to the witnesses that the instrument he has executed is his will. Witnesses must sign at testator's request and in his presence and in the presence of each other. Place of residence of witness must be given. A will executed by an unmarried person is revoked by a subsequent marriage, unless in case of husband, provision has been made by marriage contract or in the will.

Witness.—Party in interest may be.

GAME AND FISH LAWS.

Non-resident must obtain license from county treasurer on payment of ten dollars.

Unlawful to kill buffalo, elk, deer, or mountain sheep before November 15th or after December 15th in each year.

Unlawful to sell or for common carrier to transport out of the state, any carcasses or parts of carcasses of any such animals. (Chapter 91, 1899.)

Unlawful to take, kill or have in possession any trout, bass, carp, shad or croppies in October, November, December, January, February, March and April.

Unlawful to sell or offer for sale at any time any trout or other food fish taken or killed at any time, or transport same out of state. Act applies to trout in month of September in addition to above mentioned months.

Hunting or killing antelope before January 1st, 1911, prohibited.

Flour Mill and Grain Directory

OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA

NUMEROUS inquiries for a complete and reliable Directory of Flour Mills and Grain Dealers of the United States and Canada have induced us to utilize our unequalled facilities in the compilation of the work. Among the more important features are

- List of all Mills, U. S. and Canada—capacity of each.
- Kind of Power Used.
- List of Cereal Mills—Buckwheat, Rye, Barley, Etc.
- Grain Elevators.
- Grain Brokers and Commission.
- Grain Buyers and Shippers.
- Flour Exporters.
- European Flour Importers.
- Wholesale Flour Merchants, U. S. and Europe.
- Wholesale Bakeries.
- Mill Supplies.
- Mill Machinery Manufacturers.

It is replete with information valuable and of interest to the Practical Miller, the Grain Dealer, the Machinery Manufacturer and to all either directly or indirectly interested in milling, grain or allied trades.

 STATE GAZETTEER.
 AND
 FOR

In the following section of the work the cities, villages and postoffices of South Dakota are arranged in alphabetical order, and a description is given of each place, with an alphabetical list of all persons doing business therein. In all the larger places the names have been procured by personal canvas, but in the smaller places where there are less than a half dozen stores they have been furnished by postmasters. Great care has been taken to insure correctness as well as completeness.

ABERDEEN. Pop, 8,000. Brown county. An important city, located at the junction of the H & D and the James River divs of the C M & St P Ry, with the H & O br of the D C div of the C & N W Ry, and is the terminus of the Aberdeen line of the G N Ry. It is governed by a mayor and board of aldermen, and is a busy, increasing industrial and commercial center, located in the midst of a rich agricultural portion of this productive state, and with its natural advantages, commanding position, and the energy and enterprise of its citizens will continue to develop more rapidly in the future than in the past, and is destined to be one of the largest cities in the state. Thirteen passenger trains arrive and depart daily, giving large transportation facilities. It was first settled in 1881, and has Baptist, Catholic, Christian, Congregational, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian church organizations, graded public schools, 2 good business colleges, an opera house, good hotels, 4 banks, flour and feed mills, a creamery, 2 hospitals, several grain elevators, gas works, machine shops and a brickyard. One daily, 3 weekly, 1 semi-monthly and 1 monthly newspapers are published. It has numerous handsome and commodious business blocks and elegant residences, a free library building donated by Andrew Carnegie, to be known as the Alexander Mitchell Library. A new normal school built at a cost of $100,000, also a new court house $125,000, and a government building $175,000, are amongst the modern improvements. The inducements for investing capital are of the most generous nature, and any legitimate enterprise locating here will receive a warm welcome and generous support. Exp. U S. Am and G N. Tel. W U. BLACK HILLS. The tract of country known as the Black Hills is about as large as the state of Connecticut. It is located in the extreme south-western portion of South Dakota, included between the meridian 25 deg 30 min. and 28 deg. longitude west of Washington, and between 45 deg 20 min. and 44 deg. 45 min. north latitude. The boundary line between South Dakota and Wyoming is on the 27th meridian west of Washington, so that two-thirds of the Black Hills are located in Wyoming.

The entire Hills area contains an aggregation of mineral wealth, agricultural resources, and unique and picturesque scenery, united with a superb climate, unrivalled by any equalled area.

Up to 1874, this country was known only as a mineral region. Since then it has become widely known both as a mineral, agricultural and stock raising country. Farming and live stock have both developed wonderfully in the valleys throughout the entire Hills, during the past two years. The soil is rich, and all kinds of farming products are raised abundantly and marketed at good prices.

BIJOU HILLS. Pop. 50. Brule county. A village in Eagle township, 30 miles s e of Chamberlain, the county seat, and 20 s of Pukawana, the shipping point, on the C M & St P Ry. Contains a bank, a hotel and a creamery. Telephone service. Stage daily to Chamberlain, Platte and Eagle, fare $1.50 and 50c respectively. R W Thwing, P M.

IRRIGATION.
The Government appropriation of $2,500,000 for the development of the irrigation, has proved of infinite value to the Black Hills. The canal extends the whole width of the Hills, thereby opening about 4,000,000 acres for farming purposes. Grazing for cattle, sheep and horses is the very best.

LARGEST GOLD MINES.
Some of the largest gold mines in the world are located in the Black Hills. Over $12,000,000 of the yellow metal was shipped during the year 1905. The "Homestake" alone produced nearly $8,000,000.

OTHER MINERALS.
These broken hills and towering mountains also contain in large quantities such other minerals as antimony, asbestos, barytes, building stone, cement, coal, copper, fire-clay, galena, gold, granite, graphite, grindstone, gypsum, iron, lead, limestone, manganese, marble, mica, nickel, ochre, oil, placers of gold and tin, roofing slate, silver, salt, tin, talc, uranium, tellurium, vanadium, zinc, mineral paint, selenite, rubies, garnets, agates, apatite, bismuth, kaoline, lithograph stone, lipidolite, spodumene, arsenic, fullers earth and wolframite, and is believed by experienced miners and mineralogists to be one of the richest mineral regions in the world.

SCENERY.

nificent mass of mountains, covering a country almost as large as the state of Vermont, for years loomed up in silent majesty, attractive and unknown; their very name, "Black Hills," being to the frontiersman the dark embodiment of his fullest idea of the mysterious. Today the home of many thousands, the Black Hills are still mysterious and but little known. It is impossible to give in detail an idea of the topography and scenery, for there can scarcely be a region where they are more varied, unique and picturesque. From the top of a lofty crag one gazes in wonder at the infinite variety below and around. Grand mountains, frowning crags, massive precipices, gloomy abysses, dense forests, pine perfumed peaks, intricate jungles, alternative with lovely parks, smooth lawns and gentle slopes; while in the distance lie the gentle rolling plains, with their browsing herds, meandering streams and fields of ripening grain; all varied as the figures of a kaleidoscope, each view a gem, each picture perfect in every detail. Beyond still, appears ridge after ridge, mountain upon mountain, until the grand, dark mass blends with the blue of the sky. None except those who have revelled in the beauties of the "Coves" of the Carolinas can appreciate the mountain parks which dot the course of every stream. Shut in at each end by the canyons, and defended on all sides by massive walls of rocks, these parks of from 300 to 1,000 acres present slopes long and gentle, covered with grass green as emerald, and decked with flowers.

PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

The principal towns of the Hills are Deadwood, Rapid City, Sturgis, Central City, Lead, Terry, Hot Springs, Custer City, Spearfish, Belle Fourche, White-wood, Buffalo Gap, Hill City, Hermosa, Edgemont, and Keystone, which see for list of names. The Black Hills contain the largest gold mines known to the world. Around Lead, Terraville and Central City are gold ore bodies 200, 300 and even over 600 feet in width that have been tested all the way from Lead to Central City, a distance of 2 miles. In order to properly work these mines and supply the mills with fuel one company has in operation a railroad 47 miles long, while its water ditches and flumes measure over 75 miles. The magnitude of the work in this district can only be appreciated by a visit, as no adequate idea can be formed from the mere statement that over 1,200 stamps are ever dropping and never stopping, except for repairs; or that over 4,000 tons, or 36,000 cubic feet, of rock per day are crushed by one company alone.

THE FUTURE.

That the resources will become a source of revenue is only a question of short time. The development is now taking place, and the army of working men and miners that will obtain employment, in addition to the thousands already here, will greatly stimulate the agricultural and stock raising interests by affording a large market for supplies. Irrigation has within the last few years opened up large tracts of lands formerly barren, but now yielding excellent crops of grain and other cereals, vegetables and fruits. Surveying is going on for an irrigation government canal which will open up for cultivation some 200,000 acres in the neighborhood of Belle Fourche. The most important agency in the development of these resources is the cheap transportation offered by the railroads. With the C & N W Ry encircling the Hills on the east, the Burlington Route on the west, and the construction of the lines already located penetrating the interior in every direction from Deadwood, there can be no question as to the permanent and rapid growth of the entire region in wealth and prosperity.

WELL WOODED.

The entire area of the Hills proper is well wooded. The density of the pine forests covering the mountain sides have from their somber hues suggested the name of this region to the Indian, who called it the Pah-Ha-Sap-Pa, "The Black Hills, The Home of the Gods." The heavy pine is the most abundant and valuable; black and white spruce cover the valleys of the central and northern portion; burr oak (Quercus Marco-carpa), in small groves, grows on the eastern slope of the range; white elm (Ulmus Americana), is found along the valleys of the eastern side; aspen, white birch, ash, mulberry, box elder, ironwood and juniper grow sparingly in many localities.

RAILROADS.

The railroads are the Chicago & Northwestern and the Burlington & Missouri River. The C M & St P Ry is extending its line from Chamberlain to the Hills.

PERMANENT GROWTH

A new era of permanent growth and prosperity seems to have developed in the Black Hills. Manufacturing plants are being installed in every locality. Mining, irrigation, and agricultural industries seem to be very prosperous and profitable.

CLIMATIC CONDITIONS.

The climatic conditions of the Black Hills are now becoming well known, and this country is attracting much attention as a health and pleasure resort. Numerous mineral springs have been located and developed and the health-giving qualities, with the most beautiful scenery in the world is attracting those who seek health and pleasure from all portions of the world.

BOWDLE, - - - SOUTH DAK.

Land in the Blue-Blanket country, Central and Western Walworth Co.,

Where the crop record has been equal to almost any part of the State, for fifteen years last past. I have land for sale either as owner or agent for owner and in my control in Walworth, Edmunds, Campbell, McPherson, Faulk, in South Dakota and in Emmons County, North Dakota.

I know the grade from personal inspection of nearly every quarter section in the above counties, know its market value, and am always ready to make loans on land up to fifty per cent of its cash value at as low a rate of interest as can be had. Land in the Blue-Blanket is as good as gold. A first mortgage on same as good as a government bond.

DR. A. G. NOID'S ANTISEPTIC DANDRUFF CURE.

THE CLEANEST HAIR TONIC. UP TO DATE

DR. A. G. NOID:—I cheerfully recommend Dr. Noid's Antiseptic Dandruff Cure. A very few applications I found sufficient to cure a troublesome case of dandruff.
