

Since the establishment of Wiki Fan Club and Wiki Hubs in 2017 by Wikimedia User Group Nigeria, Wiki fan Club has successfully grown the popularity of Wikipedia among Nigerian tertiary institutions through engagement of Nigerian students in Wikipedia related projects. 5 Universities among them are University of Ibadan, University of Ilorin, Lagos state University, Nigerian Institute of Journalist and Ekiti state University, while other notable institutions are in the pipeline to join the family.

Due to this development Wikimedia User Group Nigeria has decided to create a working group that will manage the administration of this project in Nigeria.

The role of the working will include but not limited to the following:

1. Identify Nigerian institution that shares the same objective with our movement.
2. Manage correspondence and meetings among the indentified institutions.
3. Handle paper work for the registration of the clubs.

4. Identify with the help of student union in the identified institution the pioneer members of the club.
5. Organize launching of such club after registration.
6. Organize on and off wiki training for pioneer members.
7. And any other functions that will be assigned to the group in the course of registration

We therefore call for interested volunteers within and outside our community that are willing and ready to contribute minimum of 3hrs weekly for this project.

Applications are open until 31st August 2018. Click google form for submission of your interest.
