MORE EXPLOSIONS ARE INVESTIGATED

STATE WITNESS ASKS PROTECTION

Witnesses Examined Regarding the Transportation of Explosives

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 17.—Three explosions in Wisconsin, alleged to be part of the widespread dynamite conspiracy, were investigated by the federal grand jury. Two men of Portage, Wis., said to be relatives of Artie E. McNamagal, were examined in connection with the transportation of explosives from Chicago to points in Wisconsin. The explosives were at Green Bay, Nov. 21, 1909, Superior, Aug. 2, 1910, and Milwaukee, March 16, 1911.

On his way to do the Milwaukee job, which resulted in damage to an automobile and a steamer near the dock, McNamagal says he carried four quarts of nitro-glycerine in a suitcase from Chicago and found six quarts awaiting him in Milwaukee. As only four quarts were required to destroy the property he left the remainder in Milwaukee for future use. It is alleged the explosive happened to be there awaiting him are supposed to be some of the points inquired into by the grand jury.

Other witnesses were E. C. Braubaker, of Jordan Station, Okla., and J. C. Childers, of Pittsburg, employees of an open-shop construction company which claimed to have suffered heavy losses from explosions all over the country.

Telegrams and letters signed by "Ping" and purporting to contain a code system for giving instructions about viaducts, bridges and railways that were to be blown up were read before the federal grand jury in connection with McNamagal's confession.

This signature, according to McNamagal, was not that of the McNamagal, but was used by another person whom he named. In another letter McNamagal said in response to a telegram from Cleveland and there blew up a viaduct for which he received $125, paid him later by "Ping" in Toledo.

The dynamiter's movements to Pittsburgh and arrangement to have a supply of nitro-glycerine stored in an old shop at Rochester, Pa., also were arranged by this person.

It was because of his belief that "Ping" was receiving $200 for each job and was giving him only $125 that McNamagal says he refused to work with him and later arranged for John J. McNamagal, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, to do "jobs" with the aid of James B. McNamara.

All the indictments against W. J. Burns, the detective, and James Hosick, a special officer from Los Angeles, charging them with kidnapping John J. McNamara last April, have been dismissed by the county criminal court. This action followed the attitude of the federal court, which last week released Burns from answering to the indictment on the ground that the detectives had acted legally in taking McNamara to California.

OTAWA NOTES.

The Proposed Tariff Commission—Mr. Sifton's Influence Felt.

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—"We want our grievances looked into and our legal rights decided by the white men's courts," was the demand of the Indian chiefs from British Columbia, whose case was presented to the Premier by J. M. Clark, K. C., of Toronto. After reviewing the history of the case, Mr. Clark said that in June, 1910, a conference had been held to draw up a series of questions to be decided by the Privy Council. These had been agreed to by myself as representing the Indians and by Mr. Laffleur, K. C., of Montreal, as representing the province of British Columbia, but the provincial government had repudiated that agreement and so nothing had been done. It has never been explained to the satisfaction of the Indians why the provincial government had repudiated the action of its representatives.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster is drawing up the bill dealing with the new Tariff Commission. It will call for the appointment of three commissioners to serve in the capacity of an advisory board. Their duties will be investigation, consultation and suggestion, and the data obtained will be given to the cabinet to be used for future legislation. The commission will necessarily be compelled to travel extensively. It is not considered likely that Mr. Foster will act as chairman. The commission. Among other names mentioned for the commission is that of Mr. John Bain, some time assistant commissioner of customs, but for several years

SENATOR LORIMER TELLS LIFE STORY

Rose From Blacking Boots at Age of 10 to Seat in the United States Senate

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Senator Lorimer, of Illinois, in his testimony before the senate investigating committee, was dramatic in the extreme. He told the story of his life, not quite in the way he held it in his speech in the senate, and with many homely details.

Blacking boots at the age of 10, he supported a widowed mother and five brothers and sisters; then a cash boy, a laborer, wheeling coal; a house painter, a street car conductor and a building contractor were the successive steps he detailed in his progress to his present position as president of a national bank. He traced his way in the United States senate. His voice was unshaken, except when he spoke of his mother—two years dead. Then his eye glistened and his words were a bit hoarse.

The political sensation of the day's testimony came when he declared that the faithlessness of former Mayor House, of Chicago, and former Senator Albert J. Hopkins defeated former Governor Yates in the primary contest with Deneen, the present governor. He said Yates had promised to support Deneen, and pledged a campaign fund of $2,500, which he never paid.

The story of his life was given in response to a question by Senator Jones.

"Did you not go to school?" Senator Gamble asked.

"My father had a theory it was time enough for a child to go to school at the age of ten, but he died just then. I got up so early and worked so late I couldn't go to school at night, but my Sunday school teacher used to help me—send me some books to study at home, and my mother helped me, too."

RUSSIA WILL NOT GRANT REDRESS

Refuses to Compensate Owners of Vessel Seized During War With Japan

London, Jan. 17.—The Russian government has refused to compensate the Manchester and Sanford Shipping Company, the owners of the British steamer Odiamia, and the Standard Oil Company, the consignees of the cargo of that vessel, which was seized during the Russo-Japanese war while on the way to Japan with a cargo of distilled naphtha, which Russia had declared to be contraband. The Standard Oil Company demanded compensation of $500,000.

The Russian government declined any compensation on the ground that the decision of the Russian courts that the cargo was contraband was final.

Sir Edward Grey gets out that, failing the establishment of an international prize court, there is no way of obtaining redress in cases on which the decisions of national prize courts are unsatisfactory.

BLIZZARD SWEEPS QUEBEC.

Quebec, Jan. 17.—The fiercest blizzard which has struck Quebec in many years was experienced Monday, and it held up the town, knocked out the telegraph and played general havoc. The gale blew at the rate of 72 miles an hour, shortly before 7 o'clock. This hour shortly after for about ten minutes when the gale began to subside, but the storm still raged with fury, and all during the night there was little or no abatement.

Members of the assembly were to have met at 3 o'clock, but a general alarm was given strongly to the scene, but the fire was a small one. It broke out in the library of the legislature and when the firemen arrived the electric wires were burning and the parliament buildings were plunged into darkness. The session of the House had to be abandoned.

PROHIBITION BILL.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 17.—The committee in charge of the preparation of the prohibition act reported to the meeting of the temperance federation last night. The report was accepted in full and heartily endorsed. The committee's report will be laid before the provincial government. The new act is remodeled after the one which appealed most strongly to the province—the Nova Scotia act, the Prince Edward Island act and the Canada Temperance act. There are several features which differ from other temperance legislation. Liquor is to be distributed only by commissioners appointed by the provincial government, such commissioners to be under salary. Those resolving it will be the vendors in various counties, and it will only be permitted for medicinal and mechanical purposes.

If the government fails to accept the act it is said they will have candidates at the next election, or possibly ask the opposition to make prohibition their platform.

SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES.

Chehalis, Wash., Jan. 17.—Olona Cochran and Magnolia Moss, colored, each 16 years old, escaped Monday night from the state training school. Becoming tired when four miles south of the city, they lay down near the railroad track and fell asleep. The Moss girl's right arm fell across the rail and a passing train cut it off. The girl also sustained internal injuries which later caused her death. The Cochran girl was only slightly bruised. Both girls were sent to the state school from Seattle.

THE DANCE MAN

The Edmonton Daily Bulletin praises "The Private Secretary," which will appear at the Victoria theatre next Saturday. It says:

The presentation of "The Private Secretary," by C. James Bancroft, the eminent English comedian, and his company, drew a crowded house at the Empire, both at yesterday's matinee and the evening performance. The company is the best of its kind that has visited Edmonton since Edward Terry was here some months ago. The audiences were delighted and nothing but praise was heard.

While the company is well balanced throughout, the parts of Rev. Robert Spaulding, taken by Mr. Bancroft, and that of Mr. Catermole, by Alexander Frank, were par excellence. Mr. Bancroft kept the audience convulsed with laughter in the character of the unsophisticated curate who had got into endless misunderstandings as the result of being persuaded to accept for a time the part of the young nephew of Catermole, with his harum-scarum reputation. The three acts were a series of mix-ups, but in the end all turned out happily.

The presentation will be repeated to-night and to-morrow night, with yesterday's crowded houses will of yesterday's crowded houses will greet this talented company.

Forbes-Robertson.

In connection with Forbes-Robertson's forthcoming visit to the Victoria theatre, Monday and Tuesday nights, January 22 and 23, in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," which ran for over a year in New York and London, the appreciation of a great novelist is interesting.

"Forbes-Robertson," he wrote recently, "has for years been my ideal actor. Many a time in my younger days has he made me shout myself hoarse with enthusiasm. It doesn't matter what he appears in, he always lifts me into a nobler mood. I know of no one on the stage who so perfectly combines high and fascinating personality with sincere and exquisitely sensitive and delicate art. He has

PASSING SHOW

The Empress Theatre.
At the Empress theatre the May Dooley troupe of Metropolitan Minstrels offer the headline attraction. This clever septette of performers are among the best of the juvenile players on the vaudeville stage. The company has been seen here before, making the last visit to the Empress about a year ago, and there has been a marked improvement since then. The children, none of whom weigh more than a hundred pounds, are dainty little artists, and they give a good minstrel show, including songs, dances, merry little quips, the two end men keeping up a run of comedy during the intervals between the solos and duets rendered by the girls. The finale, the song by Miss Dooley, "I'm Afraid of the Big Moon," is a fine number.

Miss Barley's Bulldog Music Hall offers a treat to animal lovers, and especially to the children. The curtain goes up on a bulldog orchestra, showing the leader waving his baton in the approved manner of orchestra leaders, and on a raised stage at the back a trio of bulldogs perform all manner of acts, from "A Chinese Theatre" to "A Cobbler's Shop." The act is very well staged.

Budd and Clare, two comics from the London music halls, present a comedy offering, including songs, dances, and instrumental numbers, playing the harmonica and one-stringed violin. They close with a burlesque, entitled "Scenes at a London Ball."

Merlin, the card manipulator, does some good party magic in a mystifying manner. He is extremely clever as a card expert, and some of the tricks he does, with the assistance of three from the audience standing beside him, are puzzling indeed. Merlin has a good stage presence and keeps up a running flow of comedy while he works.

Todd and Nards, two clever athletes who were featured recently by the Barnum & Bailey show, do some neat acrobatic work.

The mimescope offers some good pictures, notably one showing a large number of Russian military men at a deer hunt and in equestrian feats.

Majestic Theatre.
The usual high class programme will be shown to-day and to-morrow. "In Frontier Days" is a stirring western picture showing the Indians bearing down upon a party of emigrants making their way over the plains in wagons, and a wild dash for safety begins. There is such riding in this film as is seldom seen in a picture. Then comes a lively fight with a thrilling rescue which results in driving the besieging Indians away. "As in a Looking Glass" teaches a lesson. One day after a spree a father saw his little boy playing house and acting the drunken man. It disgusted him and he promised his wife not to do it again. "The House that Jack Built" is the story of a man's life wrecked by a faithless woman and the picture of its saving. "Island of St. Kilda" is a beautiful scenic picture from Scotland. "Hubby's Day at Home" is a roaring farce comedy that will appeal to everybody.

Industries, which Thomas Edison's genius have brought into being employ more than 500,000 men, capitalized at about $1,000,000,000, with yearly earnings more than $1,000,000,000.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION.

The Canadian Highways Association is responsible for the excellent suggestion that the Provincial Government should collect and publish data as to the best kinds of roads for different sections and the methods of construction. There is an immense amount of ignorance prevalent concerning road construction, and if the result of the resolution is to effect an improvement in this respect the Association also decided to urge on the Dominion Government the opening up of the railway belt with good roads—another excellent suggestion.

We confess we do not share the enthusiasm of the association concerning the British Columbia section of the All-Canadian highway as laid out and being constructed. It would, in our opinion, be of vastly greater benefit to the province if a vigorous policy of opening up the interior, by good roads running both north and south and east and west were adopted. The editor of this journal recently spent some time in the Nelson district, and observed that instead of getting into the heart of the country north of the boundary line and opening it up, the proposed All-Canadian highway was hugging the boundary as closely as possible. A good road also connected the country from Ymir south to the road systems of the neighboring States, but there was not a road or even a decent trail connecting that country with the City of Nelson, to which it is arbitrary. Such an instance of public works administration makes one suspicious that the recent display of flag-waving was a piece of cant and humbug, when the manner of laying out public works is designed, in an opposite direction.—B. C. Mining and Engineering Review.

MORE IGNORANCE.

Here's a letter from Tom. He says his ship was caught in a storm, and ran into great jeopardy. I wonder where Great Jeopardy is?

QUICK RELIEF FROM THAT PERSISTENT, HACKING COUGH

We mean the kind of cough it gives one a cold shiver just to hear—the dry, deep-seated hack—hack—hack—it seems as if it were tearing the very vitals. That's the kind of cough that means business.

Fortunately, though, that is also one of the kinds of cough for which Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne is absolutely free from harmful drugs of any kind, and is safe even for children. It is pleasant to take, and acts quickly, relieving the irritation, loosening the phlegm, promoting expectoration, and so stopping the cough. Thousands declare it to be the best cough syrup they have ever tried.

Your Druggist will gladly recommend it, and will supply you with either a 25c. or 50c. bottle. The National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, 116

ABUNDANT FISH IN CANADIAN WATERS

BRITISH COLUMBIA IS NCW IN SECOND PLACE

Value of Sea's Harvest Last Year Third of Million More Than Year Before

In the report of the deputy minister of fisheries on the fisheries of Canada for the year 1910-11 he speaks as follows regarding the extent of Canada's fisheries and the catch as compared with former years:

To say that Canada possesses the most extensive fisheries in the world is no exaggeration; moreover, it is safe to add that the waters in and around Canada contain the principal commercial food fishes in greater abundance than the waters of any other part of the world. The extraordinary fertility of what may be called our own waters is abundantly proved by the fact that, apart from salmon, all the lobsters, herring, mackerel and sardines, nearly all the haddock, and many of the cod, hake, and pollock landed in Canada are taken from within our territorial waters.

The coast line of the Atlantic provinces, from the Bay of Fundy to the Straits of Belle Isle, without taking into account the lesser bays and indentations, measures over 5,000 miles, and along this great stretch are to be found innumerable natural harbors and coves, in many of which valuable fish are taken in considerable quantities with little effort.

On the Pacific coast, the province of British Columbia, owing to its immense number of islands, bays and fjords, which form safe and easily accessible harbors, has a sea-washed shore of 7,500 miles. Along this shore, and within the limits of the territorial waters, there are fish and mammals in greater abundance, probably, than anywhere else in the whole world.

In addition to this immense salt water fishing area, we have in our numerous lakes no less than 220,000 square miles of fresh water, abundantly stocked with many species of excellent food fishes. In this connection, it may be pointed out that the area of the distinctly Canadian waters of what are known as the Great Lakes—Superior, Huron, Erie and Ontario—forms only one-fifth part of the total area of the larger fresh water lakes of Canada.

The fisheries of the Atlantic coast may be divided into two distinct classes—the deep-sea, and the inshore or coastal fisheries. The deep-sea fishery is pursued in vessels of from 40 to 100 tons, carrying crews of from 12 to 20 men. The fishing grounds worked on are the several banks, which lie from 20 to 50 miles off the Canadian coast. The style of fishing is that of "trawling" by hook and line. The bait used is chiefly herring, squid and capelin; and the fish taken are principally cod, haddock, hake, pollock and halibut.

The inshore or coastal fishery is carried on in small boats with crews of from two to three men; also in a class of small vessels with crews of from four to seven men. The means of capture employed by boat fishermen are gill-nets, hooks and lines, both hand-line and trawl; and from the shore are operated trap-nets, haul-seines and seines. The commercial food fishes taken inshore are the cod, hake, haddock, pollock, halibut, herring, mackerel, alewife, shad, smelt, flounder and sardine. The most extensive lobster fishery known is carried on along the whole of the eastern shore of Canada, whilst excellent catches are also made in many parts of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, notably on the north coast of Prince Edward Island, and in the Northumberland Straits.

The salmon fishery is, of course, the predominant one on the Pacific coast, but a very extensive halibut fishery is carried on in the northern waters of British Columbia, in large well-equipped steamers and vessels. The method of capture is by trawl-hauling, dories being used for setting and hauling the lines, as in the Atlantic deep-sea fishery. Herring are in very great abundance on the Pacific coast, and provide a plentiful supply of bait for the halibut fishery.

In the inland lake fisheries, the various means of capture in use are gill-nets, pound-nets, seines, and hook-and-line to a great extent. The principal commercial fishes caught are whitefish, trout, pickerel, pike, turbot and fresh-water herring; the latter in the Great Lakes of Ontario only.

The total market value of all kinds of fish and fish products taken by Canadian fishermen, in both the sea and inland fisheries, during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1911, amounted to $29,965,433. This total is the highest yet reached in any one year in the history of the fisheries of Canada, being $38,263.32 greater than that of the preceding year, which was a record one. To the total, the sea fisheries contributed $26,122,596, and the inland fisheries $3,842,837.

In obtaining these results, there were employed 1,650 vessels and 28,977 boats, the whole being manned by 88,810 men; while 24,978 persons were employed in the various canneries and fish-houses, etc., on shore, in the preparation of the fish for market. From this it will be seen that almost 100,000 people were directly employed in this great industry.

Gasoline engines are being freely used as a means of propulsion for boats in the inshore and inland fisheries. During the year under review, there were 4,585 fishing boats using such engines. The following table shows the value produced by the fisheries of each province, in its respective order of rank, with the increase or decrease as compared with the year 1909-10.

Nova Scotia, $10,119,243, increase $2,038,131; British Columbia, $9,163,235, decrease, $1,151,520; New Brunswick, $4,134,144, decrease $542,171; Ontario (Est.), $2,926,121, decrease $161,692; Quebec, $1,692,375, decrease $115,941; Manitoba, $1,302,779, increase $259,394; Prince Edward Island, $1,153,798, decrease $43,848; Saskatchewan, $172,903, decrease, $677; Yukon, $118,365, increase $4,711; Alberta, $82,460; decrease $102. Totals, $29,965,433. Net increase, $356,263.
Nova Scotia, It will thus be seen, has again taken its place at the head of the list of fish-producing provinces, with a phenomenal increase over the previous year.
The value of the British Columbia fisheries, although it shows quite a large decrease from that of the year before, is yet $2,625,197 ahead of that of the year 1908-9. Unfortunately, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Quebec have again fallen behind.
The following table shows the relative values of the principal commercial fishes returning $100,000 and upwards, in their order of rank, for the year 1910-11, with the amount of increase or decrease when compared with the values for the year 1909-10:
Value. Inc. Dec.
Salmon ..... $7,266,871 ..... $68,653
Cod ..... 3,521,218 ..... $2,088,442
Lobsters ..... 3,284,099 ..... 126,853
Herring ..... 2,278,842 ..... 478,309
Halibut ..... 1,251,829 ..... 11,353
Haddock ..... 1,218,750 ..... 398,206
Whitefish ..... 883,294 ..... 16,382
Trout ..... 825,260 ..... 284,167
Smelts ..... 797,066 ..... 74,776
Sardines ..... 529,227 ..... 12,067
Pickered ..... 508,513 ..... 176,580
Hake and cisco ..... 468,334 ..... 149,919
Pollock ..... 465,925 ..... 89,292
Mackerel ..... 400,182 ..... 547,880
Pike ..... 389,729 ..... 19,627
Clams and quahaugs ..... 383,529 ..... 41,551
Oysters ..... 198,689 ..... 53,215
Alewives ..... 157,278 ..... 37,192
Eels ..... 110,802 ..... 10,087

The foregoing table shows a phenomenal increase in the value of cod, due to the coincidence of high prices with a big catch. It is gratifying to note that there is a substantial increase in the value of lobsters over that of the previous year. The total value, however, is considerably less than that of 1909-10.

Halibut maintains a steady increase from year to year. A very striking falling off in the value of mackerel is recorded; the total value for 1910-11 being not more than half the average annual value of the last twenty years.

The Nova Scotia coast is almost entirely responsible for the big decrease.

It is rather interesting to note in this connection that Prince Edward Island produced a value considerably in excess of that of the previous year.

It is difficult to assign a cause for such a falling off in this fishery, but there can be no doubt that the means of capture in common use had a good deal to do with it. Schools of mackerel are erratic in their movements, occurring into the bays and harbors in the course of some seasons and practically deserting them during others. In the latter event there can be only one result; namely a diminished catch—even though the fish may be plentiful a few miles off shore—owing to the fact that the fishing gear is largely fixed close to the shore.

The increase in the value of oysters which was recorded in last year's report is more than offset by the decrease in the value of lobsters.

During the year 1910-11 there were employed in the actual work of fishing in the whole of Canada 5,521 men on board of vessels and 69,989 in boats. In canneries and fish-houses of various kinds on shore there were employed in the work of cleaning and preparing the fish for market, 24,978 persons, making a grand total of those directly engaged in the work of the fisheries of 88,810. This shows an increase of 590 men in vessels, a decrease of 417 men in boats, and an increase of 3,284 in the number of fishworkers on shore.

In addition to the foregoing, there were many persons employed in connection with the fisheries, in a more indirect way; such as coopers, tent-makers, boat-builders, net and rope-makers, etc., who are not taken into account in making up the returns.

The estimated total capital invested in the fisheries of Canada amounted to $19,019,870. Of this sum, $17,242,469 was invested in connection with the sea fisheries, and $1,777,401 in connection with the inland fisheries. Of the total $5,512,621 represents the value of vessels and boats, while $13,507,249 stands for the value of fishing gear, canneries, fish-houses, and other fixtures necessary to the carrying on of the industry.

LAWS DISREGARDED.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 17.—It became known yesterday that the civil service commission of the grand jury which has been investigating municipal conditions, had returned a report which censured several city officials.

The estimated total capital invested in the fisheries of Canada amounted to $19,019,870. Of this sum, $17,242,469 was invested in connection with the sea fisheries, and $1,777,401 in connection with the inland fisheries. Of the total $5,512,621 represents the value of vessels and boats, while $13,507,249 stands for the value of fishing gear, canneries, fish-houses, and other fixtures necessary to the carrying on of the industry.

The inference we must draw from the testimony is that of deliberate disobedience to the law—a concerted effort by all officials examined to nullify the law.

Mayor James Rolph, Jr., said that charges had been brought against one commissioner, but he declined to give the official's name.

COUNCIL FOR ALASKA.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—A revised bill to extend legislative power to Alaska, subject to congressional approval, was introduced yesterday by Delegate Vickersham of Alaska. The bill would locate the capital of Alaska at Juneau and create a council of eight members and a house of representatives of sixteen members, all to be elected.

NEW Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS.

The new board of directors of the local Y. M. C. A. will have a busy season before them with the developments contemplated. The new president, W. N. Mitchell is in the centre of the lower row, on his left is R. T. Elliott, vice-president, and on his right is the treasurer, W. Scowcroft. On Mr. Scowcroft's left is the recording secretary, E. W. Whittington. The retiring president, R. B. McMicking, is seated on the extreme right of the new president.

In the upper row will be recognized the general secretary, E. M. Thomasson; the boys' work director, R. C. Horne, and the physical director, H. G. Beale.

CARDINAL FARLEY WELCOMED HOME

Receives Enthusiastic Reception on Arrival at New York From Rome

New York, Jan. 17.—John Farley, archbishop of New York, came home a cardinal to a welcome that will mark an epoch in his life. After an absence of two months abroad, he was the first of the Americans, now "prelates of the church," to touch home shores, and, as such, thousands prepared to do him honor. Thousands lined the route of march from the Battery to St. Patrick's cathedral, at Fifth avenue and Fifth street, and thousands more, including a choir of 6,000 parochial school children, gathered at the edifice to note with reverence his return to the episcopal throne. To-day's ceremonies marked only the beginning of receptions—ecclesiastical, public and private—at which Cardinal Farley will be the chief figure during the next few days. To-night the cathedral itself will be embellished with fire bulbs.

MAY CLOSE OPERA HOUSE.
Londoners Fail to Respond to Oscar Hammerstein's Appeal for Subscriptions.

London, Jan. 17.—Oscar Hammerstein announced to-day that if there were no future subscriptions for opera there would be no season. He said that some of the excuses offered why society people did not attend the opera were absurd. One was that the King was away at the Durbar. "Some said they did not like my noise," continued Oscar, "others said they did not like my religion. Some of these excuses were tenable, but they will hold no longer. I have shown my samples and now it is up to the upper classes to come on with their subscriptions or I shall certainly close the house."

In regard to his plans, Hammerstein said: "I invested $1,750,000 in this enterprise. Sightseer (to floor walker)—What's the matter with that woman over there? She's always looking around so. Floor Walker—She has hypnotism. Sightseer—Well, doesn't she take anything for it? Floor Walker—She will in a minute. Just watch her. Parson Jones—Why so sad, Sam? Sam—Well, yuh see, it's dis way. Mah mile, he dropped dead on me dis mornin', an'— Parson Jones (interrupting him)—How did he come to do that? Sam—Ah dunno. He never done it befo'.

SUNSHINE TO ORDER.
Possibility of Scientific Weather Control.

There is a division of opinion among experts as to the possibilities of controlling the weather, but a considerable number of them support the claim, made some time ago by Mr. S. Z. de Ferranti, at the Institution of Electrical Engineers in London, that the time is not far distant when it will be considered no more wonderful to control the weather than we think it now to control water after it has fallen from the clouds. By electrical means it might be possible to disperse clouds which do not allow the sunshine to come to earth, and to set up an electrical defence along our coasts which would cause the moisture in the clouds to fall in the form of rain and so prevent these clouds drifting over the country. In a similar way rain when required inland could be so obtained.

Opponents of this theory have pointed out that it might be possible to control the weather in a small degree locally, but that it would be impossible to do so over large tracts of land, although it is still remembered that Sir Oliver Lodge proposed a scheme for dispersing London fogs. "The truth is," said a well-known electrical expert to a London press representative, "that science has advanced so much of late years that it is difficult to know exactly where we are. Electricity is the predominant factor, and its application has made a revolution in human life. It is not like steam, and the variety of its application is infinite. For heating, lighting, or power it is a much greater force than the world ever knew in the old days, and no one can limit its possibilities. That we are able to control the weather by electricity is not at all improbable, but we have yet to find out a little more before such wonders will be everyday occurrences."

It has long been suggested that the inhabitants of Mars—if there are any—have found out how to store up the summer heat for winter use. The whole aim of science to-day is to increase man's power over Nature, and to do this he must utilize energies which now go to waste. The solid heat, for instance, comes to us without cost and in unlimited measure. It is estimated that the deck of a liner at sea receives enough energy from the sun to drive its engines. Twice every day the attraction of the sun and the moon, combined with the rotation of the earth on its axis, causes an upswelling of the waters of the sea to pass round the earth. The energy here going to waste is almost beyond calculation, and if man could capture it, or even an infinitesimal portion of it, he would have a reservoir of energy which could be utilized in numberless ways. Nobody knows whence comes all this force, but it is the dream of science that somehow, some day, man will tap it, and will have within his grasp the power to make this old world new.

When a man has money to burn some other fellow is always willing to match him for it.

Bert Franklin, Accused of Bribing Jurors, Pleads Not Guilty

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 17.—Settling all rest all rumors that he would throw himself at the mercy of the court, Bert H. Franklin, the former McNamara detective accused of bribing jurors, pleaded not guilty to-day to two charges filed against him. His trial was set for February 23.

The pleas were entered by Franklin after Judge Willis had denied the motions of his attorney, Lecompte Davis, to dismiss the two informations lodged against the detective by W. Joseph Ford, assistant district attorney. Davis urged the court to throw the cases off the calendar on the ground that the justice of the peace who certified the charges to the court, had no right to do so.

THE WATERLOO LEGACY.

Belgium Wants to Commute Payment to Duke of Wellington.

Brussels, Jan. 17.—An attempt is contemplated in Belgium to rid the treasury of its obligations towards the heirs of the Duke of Wellington, in consequence of his victory at Waterloo. After the famous battle, William, King of the Netherlands and afterwards of Belgium, expressed his gratitude to the iron duke by conferring upon him the title of "Prince of Waterloo," transmissible to all his direct heirs, together with a revenue of 20,000 florins, representing at that time the value of a large tract of woodlands situated between Quatre Bras and Nivelles.

It is expected that the jury will be finally completed this afternoon, and the prosecution will outline its case when court opens to-morrow morning.

TO CONNECT WITH TRANSCONTINENTAL

Steamers Will Probably Run From Churchill to Notaway River

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—The proposal made by Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways, in his announcement on the Hudson Bay railway in the House Monday night, that if the Hudson Straits prove impracticable they might run steamers across from Churchill to Notaway river, thence to connect with the transcontinental railway, has created a great deal of interest at Ottawa. Yesterday there was a hurrying for maps and much studying of routes.

The proposal of Mr. Cochrane, it is now explained, was slightly misunderstood. His suggestion was that steamers could be run from Nelson to the mouth of the Notaway river, the branch of the transcontinental, or a private line would be built from the mouth of the Notaway to the transcontinental, thence to run through to the Atlantic. It was thought Mr. Cochrane meant that the steamers should run down the Notaway river.

MINE WORKERS ARE URGED TO UNITE

Union of Coal and Metal Miners Advocated at Indianapolis Convention

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 17.—One great union of coal and metal miners in the United States and Canada must be formed if mine workers are successfully to combat mine owners' corporations, declared Edward Young, of Great Falls, Mont., representing the Western Federation of Miners, in an address before the United Mine Workers of America to-day. He urged that the national coal miners' organization absorb the metal miners' union, and said he believed a merger plan now going forward would be successful within a few years.

A referendum vote is to be taken again by the metal miners of the Western Federation of Miners, and J. A. McKinnon, of Denver, representing them, stated to the convention that indications were that the proposition would be approved by a large majority.

"After we have united in the industrial field, we will unite in the political field, and then the men that daily risk their lives in mining coal and metals will get that which belongs to them," said Mr. McKinnon.

Government ownership of all industries was favored by the United Mine Workers in a resolution adopted to-day. The resolution was presented by a Pennsylvania union. The resolution was backed by the Socialists in the convention, and practically there was no opposition. The result of the vote was greeted with cheers.

BEATRICE IN QUARANTINE. Passenger Aboard Steamer Suffered From Smallpox-Detain Her Short Time. Owing to the fact that she carried a passenger from Prince Rupert to the Queen Charlotte Islands, who developed symptoms of smallpox, the C. P. R. steamer Princess Beatrice, Capt. Locke, is now at the William Head quarantine station. This morning the staff at the station commenced to fumigate the steamer, but owing to telephonic communication between this city and the head being out of order it was impossible to ascertain how long the vessel will be held there. It is, however, expected that her stay there will be a short one. Ten passengers are aboard the steamer.

RALLY IN WHEAT IN CHICAGO PIT

Reports of Unsettled Weather in Argentine-Prices Close Near High Point

Chicago, Jan. 17.-Strength in Liverpool for wheat-futures was consequent on reports of unsettled weather in the Argentine, and this imparted a firmness in Chicago and gave a prompt recovery from the break of yesterday. Traders report that four conditions are giving concern to buyers on all dips. This, with higher foreign markets and only moderate North-west receipts, was most favorable to buyers, and prices made gains of from one-half to three-quarters of a cent, the close being almost at the high point.
