Meghan Trainor, singer

Title is the debut extended play (EP) by American singer-songwriter Meghan Trainor (pictured). Trainor wrote all of its songs with its producer, Kevin Kadish. The two conceived the EP shortly after Trainor signed with Epic Records in 2014. The label released it on September 9, 2014. Inspired by doo-wop from the 1950s, Title comprises songs that lie between modern R&B and melodic pop. The EP has a lyrical theme of commitment and staying true to oneself, which Trainor hoped would empower women. It includes Trainor's debut single, "All About That Bass", which reached number one in 58 countries with worldwide sales of 11 million units. Title garnered mixed reviews from critics, who thought its

What is a scholarship?   [edit]

It is a financial support given to an individual to cover the costs associated with attending a conference. The purpose of women camp scholarships is to create equal opportunities for women to participate in camp activities and benefit from the unique experiences, learning, and personal development opportunities that camp can provide.

Categories   [edit]

With an intention to ensure effective implementation and maximize program impact, the program of the Women camp is split into two cohorts- Strategy and Capacity Building.

The two themes, strategy and capacity building, will allow for a focused and comprehensive approach. The strategy theme will emphasize on vision, planning, and stakeholder engagement, while the capacity building theme will focus on enhancing skills, resources, and sustainability.

The scholarship seats are also split into two sections, following the same approach where 25 seats are reserved for strategy while 35 for capacity building cohort.

Overall, 45 seats are reserved for international and 15 are reserved for regional participants.

#WWC2023

WikiWomenCamp 2023 will be bringing together women from different countries of the Wikimedia movement, leaders of their respective communities and with strong experience and proven engagement in the gendergap topic. (#wikiwomencamp)

The proposal was presented during Wikimania-Stockholm in 2019. The initial proposal was designed and grant request was submitted in 2020. The event could not be organized because of the Covid pandemic. This event is re-initiation of the same proposal with fresh review of current status, challenges, and needs.

Goals of the camp   [edit]

We intend to provide an enriching experience and quality information, ideas and collaboration for participants to explore in the future. We are committed to bringing women from diverse backgrounds to join the three day program encompassing keynotes, presentations, workshops and discussions, focused on the roles and future of women in the movement along with a primary focus to bridge the gender gap. As gender gap is one of the identified priorities, this platform will help us plan the necessary actions and support required to expand the ongoing initiatives.

We hope to have a broad representation from around the world, with many experiences to be shared. As the mentorship really had a positive impact on Indian Women Wikimedians post "Wiki Women for Women Wellbeing" and "Women Train the Trainer" program, we wish to facilitate connections and mentorship opportunities for collaboration between the movement leaders with similar or complementary programs across the globe. This is expected to create a strong network of women across the globe and will also help in designing more impactful, mutually beneficial and multifaceted

From Wikimedia Commons, the free media repository

Wiki Loves Monuments is a photography contest in which the participants upload images of cultural heritage on Wikimedia Commons, so that they can be subsequently used in Wikipedia's articles. The first edition took place in 2010 and was organized by the Netherlands. The contest became international in 2011.

Croatia joined the contest for the first time in 2017. The local contest is held between September 1– September 30, 2023. In September, you may upload as many pictures as you want of monuments that you have visited. Pictures don't have to be taken in September, but must be uploaded during that month to be considered. Provide your photo with {{Wiki Loves Monuments 2023|hr}} template. At the end of the month, the contest jury will begin evaluating the photographs and will choose the best 10 pictures of the monuments in Croatia, and ultimately in the world.

Timeline

- Start date: September 1, 2023
- End date: September 30, 2023
- Decision of local results: October 2023
- Deadline for the international results: November, 2023

Wiki Loves Monuments is a photography contest in which the participants upload images of items of cultural heritage at Wikimedia Commons, so that they can be subsequently used in Wikipedia's articles. The first edition took place in 2010 in the Netherlands, and became international the following year.

Moldova participated in 2021 and 2022, and participates again in 2023.

The goal of Wiki Loves Monuments Moldova contest is to keep gathering as much quality images as possible featuring cultural heritage of Moldova. By having an extensive collection of photos, it becomes possible to illustrate lists and articles on the country's historical, architectural, and archaeological monuments.

How to enter [edit | quick edit]

Iran has 33,000+ registered monuments, let's get to work documenting them with beautiful photos!

- Find the monuments you want to upload photo(s) for and their corresponding unique IDs. To do this, you can use one of the following ways:
  - Eligible monuments for the competition along with their unique IDs are organized in lists based on their geographic area (province and city). At the moment, these pages are only available in Persian. You can click here for a province-based portal into the tables of the monuments. If you cannot read in Persian, please read on.
  - Try using cross-language links from your local wiki to find the unique ID of the monument you are interested in
  - Ask questions via this page's Discussion page (sign your name with ~~~~). We do our best to help you as much as we can.
- Upload (upload button below). Note that if you do not have a Wikimedia Commons account you will need to create one (very easy, only takes a few minutes.) Make sure to register with a valid email address so

Wiki Loves Monuments is an international photographic competition to promote historic sites around the World through Wikimedia projects (mainly Wikipedia and Wikimedia Commons). Participation is absolutely free so everybody can participate. You are encouraged to submit any photos of monuments in Malaysia between 1st to 30th of September 2023. This is your chance to show the great monuments and heritage sites present in Malaysia and by submitting your photos to the competition, you would be sharing your heritage with the rest of the world. You can take pictures from any camera and upload them to the WLM Malaysia page at Wikipedia. You can even participate with your previously taken photographs as well but you have to submit them between the competition time period i.e. 1st to 30th of September 2023. An WIKI LOVES MONUMENTS nehmen alle Denkmalfotos teil, die zwischen dem 1. bis 30. September 2023 mit den richtigen Angaben hochgeladen werden und unseren Regeln entsprechen.

Bitte lade ausschließlich Fotos hoch, die Du selbst erstellt hast. Freie Bilder fremder Urheberinnen oder Urheber sind in unserem Medienarchiv Wikimedia Commons zwar auch willkommen, nehmen aber nicht am Wettbewerb teil.

Zum Hochladen der Fotos kannst Du entweder unseren Online-Hochladeassistenten nutzen oder eine spezielle Software verwenden. Für beides benötigst Du ein Wikimedia-Benutzerkonto. Wenn dabei mal ein Fehler passiert, ist das nicht schlimm, sollte aber so bald wie möglich korrigiert werden. Bei Fragen und Problemen kannst Du Dich gerne an unseren Support wenden.

Central Notice banners: general explanation

Banner campaigns: banner design

- text: what do you want from the reader when they click?
- image: simple and clear
- Banner in multiple languages? Translate the landing page also!

After the campaign goes live:

- expect engagement coming in through your landing page. Email, but also the talkpage.

What does a CN admin need to create my banner?

- 1 or 2 lines of text, max 50-70 characters
- one image, not too much details! Because displayed at 55-65px.
- The link to you landing page

Difference banner/campaign

- campaign = technical backend (countries, languages, projects)
- banner = the visual presentation

Creating your own banner

Possible, but be aware!

- Test on different devices, browsers and operating systems
- Not in wikicode: HTML, CSS and Javascript combination
- Not in an image!! (does not scale on mobile devices and tables)

That said, CN admins are happy to work with your code (if kindly asked in time), create the banner (without it going live) and share a preview link with you so you can work on and test your code in multiple ways.

Alternatives

- Sitenotice!! local admin access
- Geonotice or Watchlist Summary
- Massmessage (opt-in Mediawiki feature)
- NEW meta:Events: namespace for event registration - now live on Meta, but namespaces can be activated per request on every wiki (affiliate wiki's, language wiki's etc)
