THE VALUE OF MONEY.

THE value of money remains substantially where it was when we last week wrote. It is true that during the last few days an opinion has sprung up that money will not be dearer, and that the Bank rate will soon go down. But the whole state of the market still depends on the action of the German Government, and this there are no substantial grounds for foretelling with accuracy. That a large amount of gold will still be required to enable that Government to complete its coinage plans is quite certain, but we do not know as yet at what date it means to complete them. It may buy rapidly, or it may buy slowly; we cannot say with confidence. But most likely it will buy slowly. It has a strong motive not to perturb this money market, for if it does the effect will react upon its own, and there is already great distress in Germany. The millions poured in from the French indemnity—as is usual with a very large sudden supply of money—produced much speculation, and from this the country has not yet recovered. The Government would be very unpopular if, while industry is there already impeded, it still further impeded it by causing a high value of money. We may therefore feel sure that it will not do so, and that it will confine its purchases of gold here to such amounts as will not so perturb this market as to react on that of Germany. But more than this cannot be predicted upon any solid reasons.

GERMANY AND BAVARIA.

THE constitutional crisis in Bavaria should be a warning to any nation which is in danger of yielding to a cry for Home Rule on the part of its constituent elements, of the very great inconvenience which is apt to arise from a collision between the wishes of the self-governing parts of a great whole, and the very different popular will of that whole itself. Bavaria is now no longer properly a separate kingdom, it is only one element in the German Confederation, with a native prince of its own. Yet, having a separate Parliament and Constitution, the popular body is able to express its restlessness under the dictation of Germany as freely as if it were still, what before the war against Austria it was, an independent State. The majority in the Bavarian House of Commons is bostile in fact to the general policy of Germany, and more in harmony with the general policy of the Pope. This has been made manifest in an address to the Bavarian Crown carried by a bare majority in Parliament, in which the Ministry is sharply attacked, and it is conveyed clearly enough that the policy of the Empire is encroaching rapidly on the institutions of Bavaria, and on the true welfare of that particular fraction of the Empire. Of course, this condition of things is an awkward one. King Louis knows perfectly well that if he is to reign in Bavaria at all, he must so reign as not to come into collision with the powerful Empire to which he and his people have consented to belong. It would have been impossible for him to accept the advice of the Parliamentary majority without challenging the hostility of the Empire; it was, of course, impossible for him to reject that advice without challenging the hostility of the popular party and of a majority in the constituencies. If he had dissolved and appealed to the people, the same advice might have been tendered him again by an even more decisive majority. Of course, King Louis was in a difficulty, but we cannot say that what he actually did was the best course out of that difficulty. He declined to receive the address altogether, though it had been formally voted in a regularly elected Parliament, and of course he declined also to accept the resignation of his defeated Ministry. We are disposed to think that the first refusal was a mistake. Louis might well have hesitated to accept the advice of the address, and so pit himself as King of Bavaria against the grand Council of the Empire. But it is precisely because it is his duty as King of the State to reconcile, as best he can, its provincial constitution and duties with its federal constitution and duties, that, we think, he ought to have received the address, and explained to Parliament in reply, in a speech of his own, the absolute necessity of reconciling the local liberties of Bavaria with the acknowledged obligations of Bavaria as a part of the German Empire. He might very well have told his Parliament that he was no longer a mere constitutional King in the sense that he was absolutely compelled to recognise the decision of a Parliamentary majority as binding on himself. On the contrary, he has a double duty to discharge. He must respect the will of his people where he can; and he must respect the will of the Empire, in which Bavaria is only a unit, in all cases. But he is himself the chief link between the two, and none knows better than he that when the greater goes one way and the less the other, it is the King's duty to draw the less after the greater. Consequently, to our thinking, he ought to have received the address, and then gone down to Parliament and explained frankly and unhesitatingly the impossibility of complying with that address without endangering the future freedom of Bavaria. The big battalions are with Germany, and nothing, therefore, could be more childish than to attempt to set the part against the whole, which a compliance with the spirit of the late Parliamentary address certainly would have done. If now, after such a remonstrance, the Parliament had again repeated its previous mistake, there would have been no choice but to dissolve it; and if after dissolution, there was evidence that the next Parliament would be even worse constituted for co-operation with Germany than the present, then the only way would have been to call in the physical force which is, after all, the final appeal whenever a corner of a kingdom resists the will of the whole. But in all probability this last appeal would not have been necessary. The calm explanation of a King who speaks to his people with full knowledge of the dangers which self-will would impose, is seldom without results. In all probability King Louis would have succeeded at least as well with the Bavarian Parliament as Prince Milan did with his Servian. Against a majority so small, the Royal influence prudently applied, would, in all probability, have turned the scales, and if it had not done so in the Assembly, it would have done so in the country. Bavaria is not really disposed to separate her destinies from those of the German Empire. The people of Bavaria, may now and then, in their temporary irritation, fancy that they would like to adopt that course, but it is not really a popular one. The influence of the Crown thrown upon the side of the national party would have carried the day, and that without risking the great shock to constitutional feelings which so deliberate a disregard of the will of the Parliament as a blank refusal even to receive an address voted by a Parliamentary majority, seems almost certain to bring with it. King Louis seems to us to have done what it was necessary he should do, but to have done it in the most abrupt and jarring, instead of in the most effective and conciliatory way. It was quite essential that he should not forget what he owed to the Empire. But it was not at all necessary that he should slight the wishes of his people more than was absolutely necessary in order to insure the discharge of his debt to the Empire.

However, as we have already said, the chief moral to be drawn from the Bavarian situation is this,—that if ever it should grow intolerable, the Empire would be compelled to take steps for absorbing more completely into its very substance this half digested political element in its composition. And if this be so, should not all States which are threatened with similar difficulties ponder very carefully the example of Bavaria, and refrain from the first concessions which may reintroduce amongst them the difficulties of State rights and State-rebellions? The final answer to the Ultramontane majority in Bavaria, is that Bavaria cannot co-operate with Germany on the principles of that majority; so that every attempt it makes to rule is really only an attempt to precipitate the steps needful for complete annexation and assimilation. Well now, if that be so as regards a State which has got Home Rule in its completest form, and which finds that that Home Rule involves little but danger, is it not the commonest prudence jealously to guard that Imperial unity which would, perhaps, need to be forcibly, and very promptly restored, in case Home Rule ever made good its footing? In all constitutions it is of the first importance to recognise plainly the leading conditions of the case, and never to yield in part, that which would, if yielded in whole, be quite inconsistent with those conditions. If Bavaria had ever been part and parcel of the German Empire, it is very certain that the German Empire would never have yielded to Bavaria that sort of Home Rule which is, just now, becoming so troublesome. Once in possession of the remedy, Germany would never have let the remedy slip out of her hands. It is inevitable that there should be secluded corners in every great Empire, where the popular voice, if separately expressed, would be in favour of a distinct form of Government. In such cases the true safeguard is never to let the popular voice be separately expressed, but to treat these corners as provinces, however unanimous the people may be in demanding a kind of treatment which can only be safely accorded to larger States. We adopted that safeguard in Ireland in the beginning of this century, and it would indeed be a backward step to give it up. Yet, with the difficulties of Bavaria before their eyes, Home Rulers are loudly calling upon us to create such difficulties for ourselves, even though it is now nearly seventy-five years since we felt the full pressure of similar difficulties, and took the only effectual remedy against them.

We are well aware that if Bavaria could claim to be treated with all the respect of an independent State, these arguments would have no weight. In that case true constitutionalism would enjoin giving the Parliamentary majority full right to rule, even though the minority were fully convinced of the dangerous character of the experiment. But as it is. Bavaria is no more entitled to be treated as an independent unit than Ireland herself. Ireland, if we appreciate rightly what Home Rulers are always saying, would not accept absolute independence as a gift. What she wants is only that measure of independence, which, while it renders unity of action impossible, nevertheless throws on Great Britain the whole responsibility of shielding Ireland against foreign foes. But fragments of States in this position have no right to expect to be humoured at the expense of the interest of the whole. Bavaria has elected to be a part of Germany, and as a part of Germany she must accommodate herself to German destinies first, and pursue her own special Bavarian destinies only afterwards. It is the same with Ireland; and it is impossible to conceive a more unstatesmanlike course than any which would attempt to throw back Ireland into all the agonies of the political dilemma from which Bavarian statesmen seem likely to have so much difficulty in extricating, if they do manage to extricate, the Bavarian kingdom.

THE COURSE OF PRICES OF COMMODITIES IN SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER, 1875.

In continuation of former tables we subjoin two more showing the course of prices of the leading wholesale commodities during the last two months, and also a comparison between the prices at the present date and those at the corresponding date a year ago. Only two months have elapsed since we last made a comparison, and there are still no violent changes of the kind which occurred at the beginning of last year. principal remarks which we made when we last wrote are also still applicable. There is little movement in prices, but what movement there is has been mostly downwards. Pig iron, copper, cotton, wool, and chemicals, among raw materials of manufacture, are almost all lower than they were two months ago, having also for the most part touched a slightly lower price meanwhile. Among articles of general consumption, wheat is lower than it seemed likely to be two months since; meat has also come to a lower range of price, notwithstanding the apprehension of high prices which had just been manifest when we wrote; and sugar has likewise farther fallen in value, in addition to the great depreciation of the last few years. As compared with the prices at the corresponding date last year there is generally a lower range of value, wheat being somewhat higher than it was then, though still at a comparatively low level. The prices, therefore, show a continuance of the depression of which complaints have been made for so long, but also the continuance of favourable conditions for profit among the miscellaneous trades of the country.

Among the special changes to notice, the most interesting seem to be those in wheat, cotton, iron, and sugar—principally the change in wheat. Since the end of August the fall in the Gazette average price has been from 52s 9d to 46s 8d per quarter, and this is even more satisfactory than the conclusion which then seemed justified that after the rapid rise in July the price was settling down at about 50s per quarter. The level is, in fact, a few shillings lower, and now that the reports of the harvest throughout the world have been fully collected and compared, this may be considered conclusive as to the range of price for the harvest season, until the prospects of next harvest begin to affect the calculation. The effect of last year's abundance has thus been greater in counterbalancing the deficiency of a single bad harvest than it seemed reasonable at first to assume. The advance brought out stocks from all parts of the world, and after a bad harvest we find a level of price established as low as it has often been after a moderately good harvest. The fact is a most important one for the future of trade, wheat having now been very cheap for nearly fifteen months, with a short interval of high price last June, and being likely to remain cheap for some months to come. The effect of this long period of cheap wheat will be felt, we believe, for the next few years, as a stimulus once given to trade by a cause like this continues long after the cause itself has disappeared.

As regards cotton, the important fact is that there has been a decline, even from the low level of price which seemed to be established about two months ago. On the 9th October raw cotton touched 6½ per lb, a fall of nearly ¾d per lb from the price at the end of August, and a price a good deal below what many authorities thought probable would be the lowest at which the producing regions of North America, without slavery, would be able to send cotton here. This extreme fall did not arise it would seem from any great falling off of consumption, or from a sudden excess of supply over the current demand, but came as the end of a long period of languor, commencing before, but being aggravated by, the Collie failures. At any rate, as our tables show, the fall was instantly followed by a sharp reaction, and the price now is again almost as high as it was two months ago. The rise in the manufactured article does not seem to have been equivalent, the manufacturer's "margin" having become fractionally less, but the whole trade seems brisker, and manufacturers have probably been buying in anticipation of higher prices for their manufactures after a time.

The course of prices in the iron trade has followed very closely the analogy of the early part of the year. At the end of the period dealt with the price is lower than at the beginning, but intermediately there has been a fluctuation upwards. Such temporary fluctuations, as we have often explained, are quite consistent with an increase of production for the year on balance, and a steady downward movement in price. A great deal of capital and labour having lately been attracted into the iron trade, even an increasing demand is unable to raise prices permanently. It causes a temporary movement from time to time when it is in excess of what the works actually in operation can supply, but any serious rise is immediately checked by the amount of possible competition. The tendency on balance this year has apparently been to employ more fully than before the productive capacities of the iron and coal trades, but the excess of capacity is so large that reductions of prices and wages are being constantly submitted to. As there is so much sound trade generally throughout the country, and work for the instrumental trades is therefore certain to increase, it is possible that the present level of prices and wages is about the lowest, or nearly the lowest. Every concession of price, at any rate, is now more likely than it has been for the last two years to tempt orders; and though it is impossible to anticipate with certainty, some improvement in the iron trade, after a short interval, seems not improbable.

The fall in sugar is one of the most remarkable incidents in any trade for a long time, and almost leads to the belief that there is some permanent cause at work. There has been a greatly increased consumption in this country during —which is an increase of more than 12 per cent. There has also been an increase of the imports of refined sugar from 1,875,000 to 2,134,000 cwts, or rather more than 13 per cent. And yet there has been no large increase of stocks or re-export, so that the inference of an increase of consumption seems well founded. But the price, nevertheless, has fallen about 2s to 3s a cwt since last year, though there is at this moment a recovery. It would appear, therefore, to be established that the supply of sugar has increased greatly of late years notwithstanding the fall of price, and this supply more than keeps pace with a greatly increased consumption. The assertion has been made that the price is too low, and that colonial producers will be driven out of the market, while the beet sugar producers of the continent are also very gloomy in their anticipations. It will be very interesting to see how far these complaints are justified by future experience, or whether sugar is permanently producible at such low prices as the present. The greatly increased consumption at the low price, stimulated of course by Mr Lowe's reductions, and finally by the total abolition last year of the sugar duties, implies a change in the habits of the people with regard to this commodity, which is now about as cheap as flour. The trade is also growing very rapidly in magnitude and importance. Twenty years ago the imports of unrefined sugar were only about eight or nine million cwts, and they are now sixteen million cwts annually, so that the trade has doubled itself in that time. If the prolonged disturbance caused by the French bounties can only be brought to an end, as we trust will soon be the case, it appears in every way probable that sugar will become only second in importance to cotton and wool in our import and export

SOUTH AMERICAN POLITICS.

Considering the large amount of South American securities that are held by English investors it is remarkable that so little attention is paid to the real drift, from which may be discerned the natural or possible dangers, of South American politics. From time to time a telegram announcing a new international quarrel or a new domestic revolution in that part of the world gives the European money markets a start, but attention is soon drawn away to other quarters. It is, indeed, impossible to understand or to account for the various minor changes unless we have a clear conception of the general relations of the principal States of South America to one another. An article by M. Emile Daireaux, in the current number of the Revue des Deux Mondes, gives a careful explanation of the difficulties in which the Argentine Confederation has been placed towards the Empire of Brazil on the one side and the Republic of Chili on the other. M. Daireaux's conclusions are, perhaps, tinged with political pessimism, but his narrative of events has all the appearance of an impartial history.

The origin of the silent animosity between Brazil and the States of the Plate, which, according to M. Daireaux, may at any time end in an open rupture, must be first explained. The Spanish and the Portuguese have always been rivals in South America, but for half a century there has been peace between their representative colonies, covering a secret and bitter rivalry. The Spanish colonies which have thrown off the yoke of the mother country, were originally united in policy, but when in 1864 Spain attacked the Republic of Peru on the Pacific seaboard, the States of the Atlantic coast refused to co-operate for defence with Chili, Bolivia, and Ecuador. This defection was not to be forgiven, and when the Paraguayan despot Lopez had drawn the Argentine State and Uruguay, as well as Brazil, into a war, his resistance was aided by the Pacific Republics. It was, however, out of the war with Paraguay that the central difficulty of South American politics took its rise. In 1865, the provocations of Lopez brought about a "triple alliance" between Brazil, the Argentine Republic, and Uruguay, which for the first time united Spaniards and Portuguese in a common political enterprise, and "broke the "historical tradition of the South American continent." The ultimate object of Brazil in this war, as in the whole course of her policy, was, and is, to compress into her Empire the whole of the territory between the valley of the Amazon in the north, and that of the Plate river and its splendid affluent on the south and west. In 1870, on the defeat and death of Lopez, a government of exiled Paraguayans was established at Asuncion y the allies, and a treaty was signed. But Paraguay had been almost trampled out of existence by the war, and Brazil having collected a great force within its borders was not inclined to relax her grasp. The weakness of the Paraguayan Government was a temptation to the Brazilian Ministry, and the Argentine States found in 1872 that Brazil had concluded with the puppets at Asuncion a separate treaty, establishing a practical Protectorate, and guaranteeing for five years "the 'integrity of the Paraguayan territory." The Foreign Minister at Buenos Ayres, provoked by what he considered a breach of faith, sent a rash note to Brazil demanding the abrogation of their "Cotepige treaty," so called after its author, the Baron de Cotepige, who has shown himself always hostile to Argentine interests, and who has lately returned to power. The Argentine State was not, however, prepared for war, and in the mood of returning prudence, General Mitre, the ex-President of the Republic, and one of the successful commanders in the Paraguayan War, was sent to Rio de Janeiro to smooth matters over. His reception was discouraging, and he was only able to obtain some very slight concessions. But the risk of war was at least for the time averted. The Cotepige treaty was recognised, with the reservation of the right of the Argentines to negotiate for themselves with Paraguay. Brazil further promised to withdraw her occupying forces as soon as all the treaties had been definitely concluded. But it soon became apparent that the Paraguayan Government did not desire, -and it was shrewdly suspected that their disinclination was inspired by Brazilian influences,-to come to arrangements with the Argentine State, General Mitre was sent to Asurcion, but he found the Government there impracticable upon the various boundary questions that were raised. The origin of these difficulties was felt to be rooted at Rio de Janeiro, but unfortunately the imprudence of the Government at Buencs Ayres, still dominated by the Minister Tejedor, confounded the Argentine policy. A conference at Rio between M. Tejedor himself and a Paraguayan Envoy, M. Sosa, resulted, to the astonishment of the Brazilian, who believed that they had Paraguay completely in hand, in an agreement as to boundaries-one of the Paraguayan concessions being the surrender of the island of Cerrito, at the confluences of the Parana and the Paraguay

This place was held to be of the highest military importance; it had been wrested from the Argentines, thirty years earlier, by Lopez, and after the close of the Paraguayan war it was garrisoned by Brazil, giving the Empire a point of central predominance over its three republican neighbours. At any cost the Brazilian Government resolved to prevent the execution of this agreement: they delayed the dispatches which MM. Tejedor and Sosa had sent on to Asuncion through the post, and insisted that the Paraguayan Government should refuse its approbation to the arrangement. This Government, being a mere creature of Brazil, complied; the negotiations fell through once more, and the boundary question remaining unsettled, the Brazilian armies held their ground in Paraguay.

The difficulty experienced by the Argentine State in asserting its rights against Brazil is complicated by another standing quarrel with Chili. Both Republics claim the vast barren territory of Patagonis, of which even the frontier has never been settled, and over which certainly neither the Chilian nor the Argentine Governments have ever exercised an effective authority. The former, for a long time, accepted as "the maximum of her right the possibility of occupying one of the mouths of the Straits of Magellan." But in 1872 "the mouths of the Straits of Lagrandian Chilian ambition extended its view, and claimed the whole of the 20,000 square leagues which, according to Chilian properly so-called. The Argengeographers, form Patagonia, properly so-called. tine State, on the other hand, insists upon its rights over the entrance from the side of the Atlantic to the Straits of Magel-The claims of Chili are apparently incompatible with the Constitution of 1866, which defines the territory of the Republic as extending from the Straits of Atacama on the north to Cape Horn, and from the summits of the Andes to the Pacific. But Chili's present claims go far to the East of the Andes, and it has attempted to assert these claims as well by the foundation of colonies in Patagonia beyond the limits of the Constitution of 1836 as by diplomatic means. The Argentine State, according to M. Daireaux, is not actuated by any "earth hunger," and has submitted already to the subtraction of many rich districts from the old vice-royalty of the La Plata for the profit of Uruguay, Paraguay, and Bolivia. But the provocative manner in which Chili has pressed her claims makes concessions on the side of Buenos Ayres impracticable. Such is at least M. Daireaux's opinion. He does not believe that Chili, however aggressive in her language, will proceed to war; and, indeed, war between two countries, which though contiguous on the map, are separated by the great natural barrier of the Cordilleras is not easily conceivable. If, however, the differences with Brazil should result in a breach of the peace, Chili will be able " to turn the question of herneutrality into a question of territory, and by depriving the Argentine of all means of communication with the outer world by the difficult way of the Andes, to bring about the "concessions desired." But is it likely, is it even moderately probable, that war between Brazil and her Republican neighbour will be the fruit of the protracted and futile negotiations that have been pending for five years? We do not wish to take for granted M. Daireaux's discouraging view, but we cannot help seeing that the elements of danger are many, and are, moreover, of a kind not easily removed by pacific methods.

THE AMERICAN BANK LAW AND THE SAN FRANCISCO ORISIS.

SIR,—My attention has been called to a paragraph in your article upon the panic in San Francisco, in your issue of the 4th ultimo, in which you say that "in the case of the Gold "Bank of San Francisco, this collapse was probably accelerated by the provision which requires it to keep 25 per cent. in its "coffers, for its effect is to stop the bank as soon as its reserve falls under the limit, for fear of penalties, whereas it might perhaps have righted itself if it had been allowed to pursue its natural course, and to pay out all it had."

This interpretation of the National Bank Act is not in accordance with the decisions of this office, as will be seen by the following extract from the report of the Comptroller of the Currency for 1873:—

The rule requiring a reserve was adopted by the voluntary action of the Clearing-house Association of the City of New York, revious to the passage of the National Currency Act. At a meeting of bank officers, representing forty-two of the forty-six banks of the City of New York, held at the rooms of the Clearing-house Association in March, 1858, it was agreed "to keep on hand, at all times, an amount of coin equivalent to not less than 20 per cent. of our net deposits of every kind, which shall be made to include certified cheques and other liabilities, except circulating notes, deducting the daily exchanges reseived from the Clearing-house." This resolution was adopted five years previous to the passage of the National Currency Act, and its phraseology is not unlike the provisions of that Act in reference to reserves to be held by the national banks of New York City. The resolution did not provide for a reserve on circulation, for the reason that the circulation of the City banks was, at that time, redeemable at par in coin, so that no action was necessary in respect to the reserve to be held upon circulating notes. From that time to the passage of the National Currency Act the resolution was generally observed; and since the passage of the ing notes. From that time to the passage of the National Currency Act the resolution was generally observed; and since the passage of the Act neither the New York Clearing-house Association, nor the Clearing-house Association of any city, has requested the repeal of such restrictions. On the contrary, the New York Association has repeatedly refused to modify the rule by agreeing that national bank notes, which, by the law, can be used in payment of debts to each other, may be so employed.

The National Currency Act requires that the national banks "shall at all times have on hand" the reserve required in lawful money, and the advocates of a repeal of the reserve laws insist that, under this provision, the national banks are absolutely prohibited from using these reserves at any time. The provision requiring that a reserve shall be kept on hand at all times, was intended to protect the depositor, and to keep the bank in tunds for the purpose of responding at all times to the demands of its creditors. This is evident from the fact that the bank is required, when its reserves becomes deficient, to cease discountbank is required, when its reserves becomes deficient, to cease discounting and making dividends until the amount of the reserve shall be restored. The word "reserve" is used, as has been suggested, in the same sense as it is used in an army, and "the fact that a military commander cannot be definitely instructed when he may employ his reserve force, is not regarded as a reason why that important portion of the army organisation should be abandoned, or be reduced in number or efficiency." To claim that a bank cannot redeem its own notes upon presentation, and cannot pay the cheques of its depositors on demand, if the payment of such debts shall intrench upon its reserves, is equiva-lent to declaring that the National Currency Act was intended to pro-vide for the destruction of the very institutions it had created. From the first organisation of the system to the present time, the uniform decisions have been that the object of the reserve is to enable the bank at all times to pay its debts.

I transmit herewith a pamphlet copy of the report for 1873, containing the entire chapter upon the subject of reserve. I also send you by to-day's mail a bound volume of the Report of the Comptroller of the Currency for 1874.-Very respectlly, JNO. JAY KNOX, Comptroller.

Treasury Department, Office of Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, Oct. 7, 1875.

[There can be no doubt that the intention of the National Currency Act was exactly what our correspondent describes. But we consider experience to have shown that this intention was a mistake. As soon as a bank approaches the pre-appointed limit, panic begins. We believe that the safest course for a bank is to lend freely in an incipient panic, and that this is one of the purposes for which a banking reserve is kept. A law, therefore, which prohibits such a policy is a direct impediment to the proper use of the banking reserve, and increases on that account the likelihood of panics.-ED. Econ. ]

BUSINESS NOTES.

THE PROSPECTS OF EUROPEAN PEACE.—The language of the Imperial Message at the opening of the German Reichstag is so remarkably strong on the subject of the probable maintenance of peace in Europe, that it seems worth while to quote the exact words. We are accustomed to formal assurances of the maintenance of peaceful relations in such messages, but the phraseology now used is emphatic and striking, as if meant to convey something more than the usual formal meaning. The Message says:—"If there is formal meaning. The Message says:—"If there is "stagnation in trade, as is of periodical recurrence, it is "not in the power of the Government to remedy the "evil, which makes itself felt in other lands as well as in "Germany. It certainly is not caused by any want of security "in the political state of affairs or apprehension respecting "the maintenance of peace. Since last year, and at this day, "the continued preservation of peace is, so far as human "judgment can pronounce, more assured than at any time "during the 20 years preceding the establishment of the "German Empire." No language could be stronger than this, and it seems all the more reassuring from the anxiety shown to prove that the Empire fulfils the hopes which the Germans expected from their unity. Their view is, that they required to be united and strong to guarantee their freedom from the divisions and wars which had interrupted for centuries the material progress of Germany. Now they are informed that the Union gives them what they desired—so much so, that peace is more assured than it had been twenty years before. Perhaps the view expressed by the Emperor is based too much on an overweening consciousness of military strength, but the preponderance of Germany perhaps justifies this feeling, which is confirmed, we think, by the evident unwillingness of any other power, including France, to oppose or thwart Germany. Germany also pays a high price for peace in its military organisation but hardly any price for such an object is too high, if it really secures the object, and if it is necessary to pay it.

THE NEW MONETARY REGIME IN GERMANY.—The first paragraph in the speech from the Throne, at the opening of the German Reichstag, relates to the coinage and currency reforms, the prominence thus given being of course a sign of the importance attached to them in Germany. There is still no announcement of the demonstration of the thaler coinage, the last step in detail which remains to be taken, but such a measure is implied as impending in the whole language of the paragraph, which speaks of the complete execution from the 1st of January next of the whole coinage and banking legislation of the last few years. From its importance we give a full translation of the paragraph, which is as follows :--' your last session the legislation on the monetary and banking "affairs of Germany, commenced in 1871, and concluded "at the beginning of this year, has been brought into "nearly complete execution. The fabrication of our new coins, "to an amount beyond expectation, has determined His Majesty, "in agreement with the Federal Council, to fix the 1st of "January of next year as the date of the introduction of the "Imperial valuation. The withdrawal of the Provincial State " paper money, and its replacement by Imperial Treasury "notes proceeds rapidly and regularly. The banknotes of " small denomination are, for the most part, already driven out " of circulation, and they will be completely withdrawn by the close of the year. The private banks are also occupied "in conforming their statutes to the new legislation. "Imperial Bank, to whose establishment all parts of the " Empire have contributed, will, at the beginning of next year, "extend its activity over the whole area of the Empire. It will begin to assume at the same time the management of " the business of the Central Treasury of the Empire.

THE GERMAN MONEY MARKET .- The changes in the last Bank return of the Bank of Prussia, with the exception of a reduction of 806,000l in the circulation, are not generally of magnitude, but like this principal change, they mostly indicate a farther diminution of the recent stringency. Of this diminution there are also other signs, the open market rate in Berlin having again fallen to about 51 per cent.; and concident with this and also with the rise of the Bank rate here last week, there has been a recovery in the exchange between London and Germany. There will probably be some renewal of stringency in Germany towards the end of the year owing to the usual changes, but now that the operation of withdrawing the small notes is about complete, a stringency so severe as what has just been passed through, is, perhaps, hardly to be The operations of the German Government in buying gold to exchange for the silver to be demonstised may indirectly cause a stringency both in Germany and elsewhere, but there is nothing in that direction now arising out of the natural operations of the market, and the German Government appears to press its purchases very little. The returns have now been published of the circulation of the German banks at the end of September, from which it appears that the amount of small notes still in circulation, which was 8,500,000t at the end of August, had been reduced to 5,643,000l at the end of September. Nearly 21,000,000l, of the total of 27,000,000l, circulating last January, had thus been withdrawn. reduction of the circulation in the same period has been from 66,281,000l to 56,688,000l, or 9,593,000l, so that rather more than half the amount withdrawn has been replaced by coin. About two-fifths of the amount still in circulation also consists of notes between 50 and 100 marks in value, which would probably be replaced by larger notes, so that at the end of September little more than three millions of gold probably remained to be given out in exchange for small notes. Statistics have also been published showing the amount of the old coinage withdrawn during the month to have been about 20,000,000 marks, or 1,000,000l, and making the total withdrawn to that date about 15,000,000l. There is still no notice as to the demonetisation and withdrawal of the one and two-thaler pieces.

THE CENSUS OF INDIA .- A detailed report on the Indian Census of 1871-2 has now been published by the India Office, describing the occupations of the people, and other particulars usually contained in Census reports, though the difficulties of enumeration encountered in India have been necessarily great, and, in many respects, only rough estimates have been possible. That so much has been done, however, is certainly highly creditable to the Indian Administration; and the report now supplied will furnish the best evidence of the magnitude of the Empire we hold there, the immense variety of races and tribes under our rule, and the still more varying religious and class divisions among these races. For the present, we only notice, by way of record, the general table of area and population, showing that we directly govern in India 190,563,000 people, besides 48,268,000 living in the feudatory States, or a total of 238,831,000. THE TRANS-CAUCASIAN RAILWAY .- It is reported from Rassia that the Poti-Tiflis Railway Company has now obtained the definitive concession for the Tiflis-Bakou Railway, to connect Tiflis with the port of Bakou on the Caspian, and in effect to join the Black and the Caspian seas by means of the line already constructed and in operation from Tiflis to Poti. The capital for the new construction is fixed at 24,000,000 roubles, about 3,200,000l, the total length of the line being about 300 miles. The work is of some importance both commercially and strategically. The northern provinces of Persia towards the Caspian may be reached from Bakou by a very short sea voyage, and at Bakou when the new line is built there will not only be direct communication with Europe by way of the lines Bakou-Tiflis and Tiflis-Poti and the Black Ses, but very shortly also by way of the southern Russian railways, which are being extended from Rostov, in southern Russia, across the Caucasus to Tiflis. The effect will be to bring northern Persia much nearer to western Europe than it is, and also to bring nearer to us the Russian settlements on the eastern shore of the Caspian, as well as the now remote parts of Central Asia on the banks of the Oxus, if Russia should succeed in any way—as some Russian authorities hope—in bridging over the interval of dreary desert between the Caspian and Khiva. It may be doubted whether for many years the whole trade to be opened up with northern Persia and other parts of Central Asia will be of much importance, but it is interesting to see how it is becoming possible again for the trade with many parts of the East to return to its old routes via the Black Sea and Russia, and across the Caspian. Strategically the advantage to Russia will obviously be a firmer hold than ever upon its Trans-Caucasian province, with some additional facilities in communicating with its settlements on the Caspian. It is also announced that another Trans-Caucasian railway is about to be conceded by the Russian Government, to connect Tiflis with Djulfa on the Persian frontier. This will bring other parts of Northern Persia into direct communication with the European railway system, and if Persia were not so depopulated and misgoverned as it is, we might hope at an early date for an extension to Teheran, if indeed such a hope can now be dismissed as altogether chimerical. A through railway route to India in this direction, passing through Persia and Affghanistan, is already far more feasible and practicable, so far as the distance remaining to be covered and engineering obstacles are concerned, than any other of the competing routes which have been discussed.

THE CONSUMPTION OF COTTON.—The annual reports of M. Ott.-Trumpler, of Zurich, on the quantity of cotton absorbed by European spinners and consumers generally, have been discontinued; but Messrs Ellison and Co., of Liverpool, have come forward with carefully compiled figures which will supply their place. We are thus enabled to continue the comparison of successive years, Messrs Ellison having adopted the Zurich figures, with the exception of adding to the continental consumption the direct imports in Russia and Spain. For the present, and previous four seasons, the deliveries will stand now as follows:—

THE COMPARATIVE WEALTH OF FRANCE AND GERMANY .- A striking testimony to the financial prosperity of France, as compared with the poverty of Germany, has just been given by the Berlin Borsen Zeitung in its comments upon the present flourishing condition of the French revenue, and the great excess of the receipts in 1875 over those of last year, and over the budget estimates. This last result, it states, is well fitted to heighten the astonishment felt at the material wellbeing of France. "In spite of a formidable burden of taxa-"tion, which exceeds the sum of 100,000,000l, this burden, "it would appear, is borne with astonishing ease, and the " national finances continue prospering more and more from "year to year. It is to be observed that in Prussia and its " recently-added provinces, with an aggregate area and popu-"lation two-thirds those of France, the income of the State " is only 34,500,000l, or about a third of the State income in " France. The French people, therefore, bear a burden of "taxation double that of Prussia; and, nevertheless, people in "Prussia seem to find the taxes press more severely than is "the case in France. France is, therefore, in fact, after England, " the richest country in the world, and if we place the German " Empire in the third rank in economic prosperity, the number " of rich and well-doing States is soon exhausted, for besides one or two small States like Holland, Belgium, Denmark, and Switzerland, one can scarcely mention another rich country, whether in the Eastern or Western hemisphere. An exception may be made for the United States, which makes great steps forward in its economic 'consolidation.' Never-"the less the financial circumstances of France throw almost all the other States into the shade." This is a remarkable compliment to be paid to France by a German authority, while the German triumphs in the late contest are still fresh; and the facts which are the subject of the compliment, we may add, are themselves so well known as to go far to soothe the amour propre of Frenchmen on the score of their late defeat. It may be hoped, as time goes on, that Frenchmen will come to regard that defeat as a passing incident in their history, the just retribution of a mistaken policy, and not any-thing requiring to be revenged so as to restore their prestige.

Their rapid recovery from the material consequences of revenge could possibly give.

The advances on bullion have also diminished by one million in Paris. A great part of the increase in the discounts reappears in the private deposits, and marks the preparations for settlement at the end of the month. That operation appears likely to present unusual difficulties. Money is not scarce, but in the uncertainty as to the requirements for the liquidation, the financial houses prefer to increase their available resources rather than expose themselves to having to rediscount at the Bank of France paper taken below the official rate. Discount in the open market is consequently difficult, and the nominal rate of  $3\frac{\pi}{3}$  is the minimum for trade bills. The continued importation of Egyptian and Peruvian securities has produced a further advance in the rate of exchange on London to 25f 23c. German paper is in less demand, and the rate at Berlin and Frankfort on Paris has advanced from 80.45 to 80.60 the 100 francs. The Bank of Commerce at Geneva has raised its rate of discount to 5 per cent., and Swiss paper is sought after at  $\frac{\pi}{3}$  prem., but is rare.

Commerce at Geneva has raised its rate of discount to 5 per cent., and Swiss paper is sought after at ½ prem., but is rare. The market for Rente has been steady during the week, the variations of prices being limited to a few centimes above or below 65f 60c for the threes, and 105f for the fives. Italian rente has been more offered, and at one moment appeared to be on the point of losing the rate of 73f. Turkish fives after dropping to 25f 50c showed great firmness, and yesterday recovered to 27, and the improvement has been maintained to-day. Egyptian bonds have also gained about 20f in the week, those of 1870 closing to-day at 340f, and those of 1873 at 325f. Peruvian sixes recovered to 58.50, after the announcement that the contract with the Société Générale had been signed, but the effers have since predominated, and nearly 2 has been lost. A heavy fall has taken place in the Roumanian five per cent. Ioan of 1875. The Syndicate for placing the bonds has been dissolved, and each of the members having a quantity to take they have been thrown on the market, and the price has receded from 67 to 61. Little business is doing in bank shares, and rates are generally lower. Société Générale, however, gained 7f 50c on the completion of the arrangement with the Peruvian commissioners, although the terms of the contract are not yet announced. The receipts of the six great railway companies show an increase of 420,000f on the same week of last year. The South of Austria section of the Lombard lines has a diminution of 101,000f, but there is a gain of 136,000f on the Italian portion. The reported non-payment of an interim dividend, I mentioned last week, has been since officially announced. The Match Company held a meeting of shareholders this week to vote on a proposal to authorise the conversion of registered shares into shares "to bearer," and the President announced that the situation of the company was improving, but did not enter into details. Shares are at 435f, a rise of 2f 50c on the week. Franco-Hollondaise ban

A sharp rise has taken place in the bonds of the secondary railways belonging to the Philippart network, those of the Lille to Valenciennes line advancing from 208f to 248f during the last week, and the other sections participating more or less in the recovery. Negotiations appear to have been opened with the French Government and with the Northern company for the sale of these lines, or to obtain from the Government a guarantee for the new capital required to complete the network. The Philippart lines receive subventions from the departments through which they run, but only by degrees as the works advance, and these are now almost at a standstill, while doubts exist as to the ability of the companies to continue the payment of the interest on the bonds, the lines having hitherto been worked at a loss. The precise nature of the offers made has not transpired, but it is rumoured that the Northern company is disposed to take over a certain portion of the lines in proximity to its own network; and that the negotiations with the department of Public Works is progressing so satisfactorily that a Bill may be laid before the Assembly in the early part of the Session.

A favourite topic with Protectionists in France is the alleged decline of French shipping, which, it is pretended, is powerless to compete with that of foreign countries, and is gradually disappearing from the ocean. According to an article published by the Gironde of Bordeaux, with the object of combatting such a discouraging perspective, a society formed in that town with the object of protecting the national industry, goes so far as to fix the exact date when France will cease entirely to take part in the carrying trade. The returns of the French customs, however, lead to an opposite conclusion, and if considered alone appear to indicate a steady progress, at least satisfactory, if not as rapid as that of some other countries. Thus, in 1850, the share of France in the general movement of navigation was 1,626,036 tons; in 1855, 2,182,034 tons; in 1860, 3,005,146 tons; in 1865, 3,639,864 tons; and in 1869, 4,260,626 tons. Consequently, between 1850 and 1869, French shipping in the ports of France increased in the proportion of 100 to 257. There was, indeed, a small diminution in 1870 and 1871, for which, however, the events passing in France at that moment are a sufficient explanation. The manner in which the Bordeaux association proves the decline of French shipping in the face of such results, deserves to be quoted for its ingenuity. A table published by it shows that in 1850 the share of French shipping in the general navigation of the French ports was 436-thousandths; in 1869, foreign shipping having increased more rapidly than the French, the proportion was only 378-thousandths. Consequently, if the same retrogression is continued, the result will be that in twenty-seven years France will cease to have any mercantle navy at all. It might be supposed that this calculation is only an arithmetical paradox in which the author is amusing himself at the expense of his readers, but it appears to be put forward quite seriously, and shows to what straits the advocates of protection are reduced to defend an indefen

Numerous facilities in the postal service have been accorded to the public during the administration of M. Léon Say at the Ministry of Finance. The marking of newspapers to call attention to particular articles, which had hitherto been prohibited, has just been authorised; a notice was a few days back issued that in future the public will be permitted to print their own postal cards for the distribution of commercial or other notices, the cards to be franked by affixing adhesive stamps; and a fresh circular now announces that from the 1st November, a collection of letters will be made at all the district offices at half-past four in the morning, so that they may be forwarded by the early mails. Hitherto, the latest hour for posting had been 9.30 on the previous evening, excepting at the central office. Letters by this service will be delivered in London the same evening. I am informed that the English Post Office authorities refuse to accede to the proposed reduction in the tariff of telegraphic messages between France and England on the ground that they cannot afford the loss of revenue the revision of the rates would entail. At present the French inland rate, the submarine rate, and the English rate are each one shiding, consequently the charge for a message should not exceed three shillings, yet the tariff for a message of twenty words to England, London excepted, is six francs, about 4s 10d, or 1s 10d more than the three separate charges combined. As I have before mentioned, the French Government is willing to reduce the through rate provided that a reciprocal reduction is made for messages from England to France. It is scarcely excusable for the English Government, whose finances are so flourishing, to refuse to follow France in removing a well-founded grievance, from which the trade of the manufacturing districts in England suffers most, and the more so that no justification is given for the over-charge.

The City of Paris, like the States, has obtained this year a large increase of income from the gradual development of one of its principal sources of revenue. The octroi duties produce in round numbers about 100 millions of francs annually. Between the 1st January and the 18th October those duties had yielded 17,600,000f more than in the corresponding period of 1874.

That the late rise in the price of Paris gas shares was not without justification is shown by the receipts of that company during the first three quarters of the year. From 25,921,778f in the nine months of 1874 they rose this year 28,328,112f, an augmentation of 9-28 per cent. The price of coal baving at the same time diminished, shareholders count on a large addition to the dividends for 1875.

the end of the third quarter reaches a sum of 69,580,000f. The proportion of the estimates with which the receipts are compared is not exactly three-fourths of the sum for the entire year. It is found by taking the results of a series of years that the fourth quarter is that in which the receipts are the largest, and the estimates for the nine months have been reduced in accordance with the average obtained. The registration dues are calculated in the proportion of 74.22 per cent. of the previsions for the year; stamps, 74·10 per cent.; customs, 72·26 per cent.; indirect taxes, 71·06 per cent.; and Post Office, 69·15 per cent. only. The general estimate is a little over 72 millions. The fourth quarter of the year is therefore counted on to produce nearly 28 per cent. of the year's indirect taxes. That expectation is not always realised, year's indirect taxes. That expectation is not always realised, and it would, perhaps, sometimes spare the Treasury disappointment if each quarter was left to yield an equal share of the taxes. Thus, in 1874, the second quarter left a deficit of 24 millions, the third of 8 millions only, and at that rate of improvement it was supposed that the fourth quarter might leave a small surplus. Instead of so doing it appeared in the official returns with a deficit of 19 millions, although the sum collected had been greater than in the proceeding quarters. collected had been greater than in the preceding quarters. margin would then be left for contingencies, if, as stated, the fourth quarter is so much more productive than the three

Taking the estimates as they stand, it will be seen that the largest increase is again in articles of consumption, potable liquors, customs (principally coffee), and tobacco, and which augmentations indicate a general state of prosperity—liquors and tobacco, both of which may be considered articles of luxury, having together produced 474 millions more than the estimates. having together produced 47½ millions more than the estimates, and nearly 37 millions more than in 1874. The increase of 12 millions in the registration dues is also a testimony of the development of affairs. The general results are still more favourable if compared with the nine months of 1874. Certain new taxes, having been rested at the compared with the new taxes having been voted at the commencement of the present year a deduction of 23 millions has to be made under that head. The taxes which existed in 1874 are then found to The taxes which existed in 1874 are then found to have yielded 1,444 millions, or within a fraction of 100 millions more than in 1874. Compared with that year the only item which has left a deficit of any importance is that of stamps. The tax of three per cent. on interests and dividends, for which a separate return is given, was estimated to yield 31,760,000f in the year; in the nine months produced 26,530,000f. Those previsions will also be no doubt largely exceeded. The direct taxes continue to come in freely; the estimates for the year were 680,892,400f, of which eight-twelfths (the tax being payable from the 1st February only) were due on the 30th September. The sum then received was 500,744,000f, or 46,815,700f more than was due at that date.

AUSTRIA AND GERMANY

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

VIENNA, Oct. 26.

The Austrian money market has receded considerably The Austrian money market has receded considerably during the course of last week, and the quotations on Stock Exchange have sunk a great deal. Silver premium rose by 1 per cent., which completes a rise of 4 per cent. within three months. At the end of July it had fallen so low as per cent., whilst to-day it stands 5 per cent. The private securities of the Austrian National Bank have risen by 12 million gulden within three weeks. We think that the rise of the silver previous mark in some part had us to the countries. the silver premium may in some part be due to the quantities of silver exported from here to Asia lately. The principal cause is, however, the condition of the German market, upon which that of our market very much depends. It is an anomaly that the rate of discount of the Austrian National Bank is maintained at 42 per cent., whilst that of the Prussian Bank has risen to six per cent., when Austria draws a great part of its capital from Germany. Being still under the dominion of forced paper circulation, our condition must of course be felt in the rise of silver premium, so long as the Bank does not restrict its issue.

The communication that Austria will have a deficit of 25 millions in its budget for 1876 has, we are sorry to say, been confirmed. The Minister of Finances, De Pretis, declared as much in his report on next year's budget, read to the Reichsrath. The disagreeable fact did not make as bad an impression as might be supposed, on account of De Pretis having very cleverly explained the causes of the inevitable deficit, and promised effective measures likely to surmount it. One of the Minister's propositions—in itself enough to cause a favourable impression—was a hope he expressed of being able to return by and by to metal currency in lieu of paper money. The last term he allows himself for beginning this warmly-desired measure is the regulation of bank affairs between Austria and Hungary—which is to say as much as two years. Besides this he salemaly declared that he would between Austria and Hungary—which is to say as much as two years. Besides this he solemnly declared that he would never again take the path that leads to debt, and begged the Reichsrath to give full attention to the reform of direct taxes. Great inequality has to be done away with in this direction, which is especially heavy on manufacturers, and renders competition with foreigners very difficult. A part of the deficit is due to extra expenses, which are to be made but once, for instance, the sum laid out in new cannons. Then the sum of 18 millions put down as a subvention for the the sum of 18 millions, put down as a subvention for the guarantee of railways, is scarcely likely to become a lasting burden of this extent. It has never been so high, and is so on account of the depression of business. Passing in review the bugets of the last six years, we see that the expenses for the Army have remained much the same; whilst those of arrical turns instruction, and instice have increased a great agriculture, instruction, and justice have increased a great deal—a fact which speaks for itself. The increase of expense deal—a fact which speaks for itself. The increase of expense in these departments will not fail to show itself in the produce of the country. We must also remark that the outlay for the State's debt is by degrees growing less. The 'consolidated debt, irredeemable, amounts now to 2,189,780,648 gulden. The consolidated debt to be repaid, and the state of the consolidated debt to be repaid, and the consolidated debt to be repaid. The consolidated debt, irredeemable, amounts now to 2,189,780,648 gulden. The consolidated debt to be repaid, amounts to 484,915,151 gulden, which makes a total of 2,674,695,800 gulden. The exchequer bills, &c., amount to 105,777,367, annuities to 14,307,189, making a total of 2,794,784,357 gulden. The Minister of Finances proposes to cover the deficit in the following manner: 1. By a tax on petroleum; 2. By a revision of the rates paid on the transmission of property; 3. By raising the stamp-duty, &c. Besides, there are 11 millions of rente still to be disposed of. Amongst the new taxes the tax on petroleum promises to become the there are 11 millions of rente still to be disposed of. Amongst the new taxes the tax on petroleum promises to become the most profitable, the export of this article having grown from 251,000 hundredweight in 1868 to 649,000 hundredweight in 1870. At present, that is to say in 1874, it amounts to 1,342,392 hundredweight. The balance of the budget of 1876, of both Austria and Hungary, is according to the above-mentioned figures, the following:—Expenses for Austria, 403 millions; for Hungary, 234—total, 637 millions; income for Austria, 378 millions; for Hungary, 2167 millions—total, 5947 millions; deficit 25 millions for Austria, and 177 for Hungary—total, 427, of which 4 millions in Austria and 8 millions in Hungary are to be covered by new taxes, whilst for the rest of gary are to be covered by new taxes, whilst for the rest of 30 millions, credit is to be made use of.

I think I may, as an impartial spectator, touch upon a subject, which is less of Austrian or German interest, but regards chiefly England and France. Whenever the junction of Austrian and Turkish railways will be completed, navigation on the lower Danube will be in great danger of being outdone. The treaties of commerce impose a duty of 7½ per cent. of their value on all goods exported or imported across the boundary of Roumania. In the year 1804, the Government of Roumania granted all the Danube ports the right of imposing another ½ per cent. on the value of all goods unshipped there. The sums thus gained were intended to pay the repair and building of ports. The tax has been regularly paid up to the present moment, although I think I may, as an impartial spectator, touch upon a not always used for the purpose intended. Now since the Austrian railways go through Roumania as well, a part of the goods are being taken by the road of Itzkazy, because goods conveyed by railway do not pay the above mentioned tax. This circumstance gives the port-tax the character of a differential duty not intended by the commercial treaties. However small the duty may be, there are still a great many cases in which merchants prefer getting out of its way. Thus, with cotton texture, it amounts to 10f for 100 kilos, and sometimes to more than the expense due for conveyance by water from Marseilles, or even England, to Galatz. With other goods, such as silks, wools, and so-called Paris and London articles, the differential duty would be higher still. The advantage obtained by the railways at the expense of the Danube navigation would become still greater when the junction with Turkish railways is completed. Should the duty then still be continued it would be all the more unfair, because it is no longer used for the purposes it was intended for, whilst the duty levied by the European Danube Commission for dredging the mouths of the Danube is solely used for the regulation of that river. As a decrease of the navigation of the Danube would be fatal to international commerce, it must be hoped that the Roumanian Government will either do away with the port duty, or else impose an equivalent tax on the railways.

The Vienna "Saldirungsverein" (Clearing-house), in which all the larger banks have a part, cleared 24 million gulden worth of bills and cheques in the first fortnight of October, that is to say, about one million more than within the same space of time last year.

In Germany there is still great depression of business, indeed, almost more than in Austria. A list of prices of the safest railway and bank shares and debentures shows a loss of safest railway and bank shares and depentures shows a loss of more than 18 million pounds sterling since the 1st January. In commercial circles there is again a cry for loan banks, such as were of good service during the time of war, 1870—71. But as these loan banks had the right of issuing notes, there is little hope, or none, that their institution can be granted, the present law forbidding all extra issue of notes.

There has lately existed in Germany a board of agriculturists, which assemblies once a year to discuss the chief interests of agriculture. It is at present assembled at Berlin, and amongst other subjects it has treated the perfection of horse breeding, taxes in general, railways and navigation, the condition of the working-man, breach of contract, &c. Ultimately it resolved upon addressing the German Government in a petition, containing a demand to the contrary of what has been asked by iron-manufacturers, that is to say--that the law of 1873 should be put into force just as it is, and all duty on iron to be done away with from the 1st January, 1877.

The Imperial Chancellor's office has caused an enquête to be made relating to the effects of the Trades' Act, above all to section 108, which contains the institution of arbitrators to section 108, which contains the institution of arbitrators to decide all disputes betweeen master and workman. The result of the enquête shows that the new institution has not become very popular on account of the moderate fees demanded for ordinary law-suits. There are but in 57 towns demanded for ordinary law-suits. arbitration courts all over Germany with executive power, and four without it.

At the Bourse of Frankfort a committee of experts is being elected, which are to act as arbitrators in all differences arising.

The Committee of the Congress of German Chambers of Commerce has resolved to protest against the tax on exchange stocks proposed by the Federal Council, and declare itself for Free-trade, in a petition to the Reichsrath. The Chancellor of the Empire has proposed an increase of Imperial legal tender (Reichskassenscheine) to enable the Governments of the different States to withdraw their paper money more rapidly. The future Reichsbank has already named its several branch offices and agents, and published a list of them. There are to be sixteen principal offices in the capital towns of countries and provinces, and 188 offices besides in smaller

The principal offices will have their seat in Berlin, Königsberg, Stetten, Posen, Breslau, Magdeburg, Hamburg, Hanover, Leipzig, Dortmund, Cologne, Frankfort-on-the-Maine, Mann-heim, Stuttgart, Munich, Strasburg.

The Chancellor of the Empire, on receiving a communication from the Society of German North Pole Navigation, cation from the Society of German North Pole Navigation, has some time ago elected a committee to consult upon the question of sending a German expedition to the North Pole. This committee's report gives exactly the same advice as Captain Weyprecht has done, whose words we repeated a few weeks ago, and which goes so far as to say that the German Empire should limit itself to the establishment of scientific characteries

KING. Illustrated. London: Blackie and Son. SOUTHERN STATES OF NORTH AMERICA.

THE mixture of races, slaves, aborigines, and settlers, the con-THE mixture of races, slaves, aborigines, and settlers, the contact of antagonistic classes, the tradition of civil war, the growth of trade and the opportunities for it, in the Southern States, are rich materials for an ambitious descriptive work, such as that now published here in England. The sketches collected, under the above title, were originally contributed to Scribner's Magazine in America during the years 1873-4, and the ample description so obtained of the interesting country in question is well worthy of republication. The work's great merit is the local colouring. Together with the strong lights and shades brought out, whether in the natural features of the country, or in the political, social, and commercial condition of its various inhabitants, there is a particular tinge given to each its various inhabitants, there is a particular tinge given to each State, sufficient to throw up the characteristics of all, sufficient also to explain the otherwise almost incomprehensible proceedings which are reported in some of the States, when the latent antagonism of races or classes makes them clash, and when political changes sweep down what has been assiduously cultivated and believed in before. The repudiations of public debt by many of these fluctuating State governments, area painful remembrance to many who trusted to their stability or consistency. The pages before us are, therefore, of use in implanting correct views of the accidents to which the life of the Southern States are exposed.

London: Wm. Williams and Co., 29 Moorgate street.
Without reflection on the unimaginative commercial mind, it is yet possible to supply a code of telegrams which will be found useful by those who make large use of telegraphic communication in their business. Mr Ager's compilation must recommend itself by its ingenuity to the growing number of those who do things by telegraph, and have little time to watch the detail of the many messages transmitted. The great desiderata are correctness, saving of time and expense, and sometimes secrecy. All these the code before us secures better than private arrangement could, as a rule, effect. The method of checking messages explained in the introduction is especially good.

The amount of the "other" deposits, as compared with the "other" securities, showed, in 1865, a deficiency of 6,723,705l; in 1872, a deficiency of 2,583,131l; in 1873, a deficiency of 2,013,537l; and in 1874, an excess of 1,976,768l. In 1875, there is an excess of 2,203,557l.

In 1865, the value of money continued high, with little immediate prospect of a return to ease, as the foreign exchanges had an uncertain tendency, and the drain to the East was not completely stopped. Business in the City was was not completely stopped. largely suspended, because of the funeral of Lord Palmerston. Earl Russell and Mr Gladstone were the heads of the new Ministry.

In 1872, the Bank reserve improved but slowly under the influence of a 6 per cent. rate of discount, the trade demand for money being active. Some bullion had arrived from France.

In 1873, the Bank rate did not reach 9 per cent. until the ensuing week, American affairs showing for the moment little change for the worse; but difficulties on the Paris and Vienna Bourses had occurred. The Bank of England had taken money from the market by borrowing on Consols.

In 1874, money was in no great demand, and rates in the open market had eased downwards a little on the subsidence of what had looked like a threatening cotton drain of gold to Egypt; but the continental exchanges were low, especially the Paris rate, and gold had already been taken for export to Brussels. These were causes which prevented the Bank's reserve from becoming strong at the time, and soon after led to a rise of 6 per cent. in its rate of discount

DISCOUNT AND MONEY MARKET .- The symptoms of ease observable when we wrote last, immediately after the advance of the Bank rate to 4 per cent, have since increased. As usual, after an advance which was generally foreseen, it is found that a great many bills have been brought forward for discount a little in anticipation of the requirements of holders. There is consequently a falling off of demand, and as business lately has been otherwise inactive, an immediate excess of money offering is the result. The firmness of the money market seems also to have checked the demands for gold here, which were at no time very pressing, while the German exchanges, after the efflux to Germany which has already occurred, have recovered, and the other continental exchanges have also been firmer, though there is at the last a relapse to night in the Paris exchange to 25.19 1. The minimum discount rate for 3 months' Bank bills has accordingly fallen from 33, at which it stood a week ago to 3 per cent., being little more than nominal also at the latter figure, and there is no demand at t e Bank. The rate for six months' Bank bills is also 1 per cent. lower than last week, being now only 31, or 3 per cent. under Bank rate. The rates for loans on good foreign securities at the settlement, have ranged about  $4\frac{1}{2}$  to 5 per cent., and money on English Government securities at call has been easy at 2 per cent. There is very little business doing.

The changes in the Bank return all show an increase of strength. Notwithstanding the efflux of 144,000l on balance for abroad during the week, and a farther decrease of 27,000l through gold having been taken for the country, there is on balance an increase of 383,000l in the reserve, the sum of 556,000l in notes having been returned from the active circulation. The principal other changes are a decrease of 616,000l in the private securities, and of 2,075,000l in the Government securities, and on the other side a decrease of 152,000l in the public, and of 2,129,000l in the private deposits. A portion of the reduction of the Government securities seems to be due to the repayment by the Government of the advances on deficiency bills which were made to pay the dividends, but apparently also the Bank has continued during the week its operation of borrowing on stock, though without apparent effect.

We subjoin our usual quotations for mercantile paper having various periods to run:—

THE STOCK MARKETS.—There has been almost a complete change in the character of the stock markets this week. Almost all, including Consols, are stronger, in consequence of the easier aspect of the money market, but the special causes of an upward movement are also most important. In the foreign speculative stocks, a speculative reaction, which had just set in when we last wrote, has since been continued and extended—the approach of the settlement concluded to-day, and finally the arrangement at the settlement itself, having shown the existence of extensive engagements for the fall. The result has been a sharp recovery, from which there was a renewed reaction yesterday afternoon; still leaving on balance, however, a considerable improvement for the week. Simultaneously, the upward movement in the home railway markets, which was already very marked, has since reached rather large dimensions, a sharp advance in several stocks taking place this week at the account. Whether there is much reinvestment for the public or not, in consequence of the diversion of money from foreign bonds, the speculative opinion, in reliance upon that diversion and other circumstances favouring upward movement in railways, is very strong. In the other markets, with the exception of American, where Erie descriptions have improved, there is no special feature, and in several of the miscellaneous classes of stocks, telegraphs, and others, the tone has been weak. To-day a reaction in the railway markets, after their sharp advance on Wednesday and Thursday, has made progress, while the foreign market has con-tinued steady; the balance of change for the week is greatly

It may be recorded for the credit of the Stock Exchange, that notwithstanding the great fluctuations since the previous account, the settlement concluded to-day has passed off without a single failure—the failures at the previous settlement, it will be remembered, having also been inconsiderable. Many members of the House have no doubt profited by the fall instead of losing by it, but others must have been "caught" considerable holders for themselves and their clients, and that so few difficulties occur is an evidence of the general prudence with which the business has been conducted.

ENGLISH GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.—The advance in this department is no doubt mainly due to the expectation of a continuance of cheap money, and amounts to about ½ per cent.

COLONIAL GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.—There is much steadiness, without further marked advance in the price of these stocks.

these stocks. FOREIGN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES .- The strong reaction in the speculative stocks in this market has already been referred It has been mainly in Peruvian and Egyptian stocks, the former accompanied by reports as to the signing of the new contract, which were fully confirmed on Tuesday, and the latter accompanied by favourable accounts of the condition of Egyptian finance from a variety of quarters, though inspired for the most part, we should suppose, by the Egyptian Govern-ment itself. The main cause of the improvement is, however, the natural reaction after the recent speculative sales, which are now proved, in Egyptian stocks especially, to have been far in excess of the public selling. The recent history seems, in fact, to have been that the Turkish repudiation provoked in the various stocks some very heavy and precipitate sales by holders, which had all the more effect from the suddenness of Speculators perceiving this the Turkish announcement. immediately began to sell heavily also, and as there were few takers, while most of the sales were made after the first sharp fall, the result was the heavy drop in price of last week. These sales seem also to have been pressed in Egyptian stocks under the impression we referred to last week, that from their higher price there was more room for a fall. Holders, however, at the very lowest prices, have re-frained from selling largely or in proportion to the speculative sales, and hence the sharp reaction witnessed this week, which has been especially manifest in Egyptian stocks. It does not affect the question one way or other as to the ultimate worth and estimate of value of these stocks, but merely indicates the magnitude of the first speculative operations for the fall, and of the counter operations which have been engaged day, in spite of some fluctuations, the generally favourable tone has been maintained, a good impression being also produced by the absence of all difficulties.

A considerable quantity of foreign stocks has again, it is understood, been bought for Paris, and to this the rise in the Paris Exchange is largely due. There is now less apprehension as to the results of the liquidation in Paris during the next few days, the recovery which has occurred facilitating the arrangement of speculative engagements for the rise.

in. Many of the better classes of stocks have also, on the account, recovered partially from last week's depression. To-

With regard to the new Peruvian guano contract, it appears that the terms are (1) a sale of 1,900,000 tons to the Société Générale and associated financial houses—a new company, it is understood, being formed, but without any public issue of shares; (2), the advance to the Government for its own uses of n sum of 800,000l, about the same sum apparently as that referred to in the recent arrangement with the Lima banks; and (3), the appropriation of the surplus produce of the sales by the new company to the service of the debt, the next three coupons being insured by them. The company to have the exclusive sale of the guano in Europe and the Canary Islands up to 1880. It is also stated—though all accounts must be received with qualifications until the exact terms are published—that care has been taken to fix exactly the price at which the company is to account to the Peruvian Government for the guano, and the amount of the various items of deduction, so that no disputes as to expenses, which have been very troublesome in former contracts, can arise. With a sale of 380,000 tons per annum it is calculated the service of the debt will be met, and at the end of the period, as the Peruvian Government only gets 800,000 for itself during five years, the position of the bondholder will be better than now, after difficulties have been created by the Peruvian Government reserving large amounts for itself out of short contracts. The questions will be whether the embarrassments of the Peruvian Government will permit it to carry out the arrangement—whether there will be enough guano of the proper quality—and whether the sale of 380,000 tons annually can be depended upon.

ENGLISH RAILWAYS .- The upward tendency noticeable when we last wrote continued until yesterday without check. A great rise on Wednesday afternoon and yesterday morning has since led to many speculative realisations as well as sales by holders for the sake of receiving the high rates of interest paid by speculative purchasers. The reaction from the best points of the week has thus been from 1 to 2 per cent., and in some cases even 3 and 4 per cent.; but on balance there is still a great improvement since we last wrote, and the tone at the close to-night is steady. As usual, the advance was accompanied by a great many unfounded reports of amalgamations, divisions of stock into A and B, and the like; but the activity has no doubt been the ordinary climax of many causes lately co-operating, and which have at last produced a feverish movement upwards. The improvement was all the more remarkable because the traffics this week have been less favourable than for several weeks past; this unfavourable aspect of the traffics, it is said, is only temporary, being occasioned by the bad weather, but it has been characteristic of the state of the market nevertheless, that the traffics, however explained, seemed to produce no adverse effect.

The chief advance has been in Caledonian, Great Western, Sheffield, Midland, Metropolitan, and Metropolitan District Ordinary; and also in Chatham, though in this last instance the fall from the best point has been most considerable; Chatham Preference, which touched 86 yesterday morning, being now only 82 g.

The following shows the principal changes for the week in the quotations of ordinary stocks, comparing the latest unofficial prices:—

The traffic receipts on eighteen railways of the United Kingdom, of which a list is subjoined (including the principal railways), amounted for the week ending October 23 to 986,105l, being an increase of 6,07ll as compared with the corresponding week of last year. The aggregate receipts for the half-year to date are now 16,812,536l, showing an increase of 422,935l on the corresponding period of last year. The very small increase for the week on most of the lines, and the decrease in others is probably owing to delay and obstruction caused by the heavy rains.

AMERICAN SECURITIES .- Purchases have predominated here, United States Government Bonds sympathising, as usual, with the movement in Consols, while America appears to be steadily improving, both as regards politics and trade. Erie securities have again been bought on the speculation that foreclosure would not be attempted, and that the line will recover without the need of further capital expenditure; but there are not wanting statements to the effect that more money must be spent in order to make it at all profitable; and that then it will only pay the bondholders to the exclusion of dividend on the share capital. The following are the

EPITOME. COMMERCIAL

FRIDAY NIGHT.

The grain trade remains firm, because of the continued dampness of the weather, but inactive and unspeculative because of the ample arrivals of foreign. Demand throughout the country does not appear to be excessive, so far as the indications this season extend at present, but good and the indications this season extend at present, but good and dry qualities are taken readily at the firmer prices of last week. This applies more particularly to wheat, but barley and other corn is strong in the markets for the same reason. The damp weather is, in fact, the one object of solicitude for the moment, among the agricultural interests; the newly threshed grain coming to market in very inferior condition, and useless, while field work is considerably retarded by the floods and rain of the past two or three weeks.

The cotton trade remains in a most steady and satisfactory condition, and although the raw material has given way slightly on reports of larger supplies of new cotton telegraphed from American ports, and speculative purchases of it have been reduced for the same reason, yet consumption is evidently going on rapidly if steadily, and profits in the manufacturing trade are high. It may be considered surprising, but the reports and reality (for there is, no doubt, some substance in the statements) of competition by American and Indian factories, are but further instances of the some substance in the statements) of competition by American and Indian factories, are but further instances of the prosperity which allows of nearly 50 per cent. annual dividend being paid on the capital of joint stock manufacturing companies in Lancashire, for when high profits are made here the way is open for foreign competitors to make small ones. When, on the contrary, profits are low in Manchester, we naturally hear little of competition among foreign manufacturers, for they probably work at a loss if at all. The other characteristic of Manchester trade is an absence of market speculation, more apparent now even than immediately after the Collie scandals, and one effect of it is to limit existing demand to good makes fit for consumption, and not merely to sell. Inquiry on China account is reported good without leading to business, and from India the demand keeps up well. Manufacturers of good makes are deeply under contract in many instances. in many instances

The wool trade, in which some failures occurred last week, with no very extended or lasting effects, has assumed a steadier appearance, holders standing out persistently against a prices. Colonial wool is in fair demand, principally from France, but the approach of the next series of sales, on the sales are already restricting business. No new Australia Margarette and holders standing out persistently against a fall of France, but the approach of the next series of sales, on the 23rd November, is already restricting business. No new Australian wool is expected to arrive, and the supply is also likely to be reduced by the reported loss of 3,151 bales in course of shipment from Australia. These considerations touching supply, and the prospects of a good manufacturing demand, which are based on the low value of the raw material and profitable conditions of manufacturing, are the grounds for expecting a good business throughout the trade. At Bradford, orders are rather scarce amongst spinners and manufacturers. pecting a good business throughout the trade. At Bradford, orders are rather scarce amongst spinners and manufacturers, and there, as well as at Huddersfield, the demand from the United States does not improve so much as expected; at Leeds, great inundations impede business; at Halifax, employment is not on the whole good, but the tone of the market is generally cheerful. Hosiery is a very active branch of manufacture, and Leicester is prosperous.

Since the quarter-day meetings, orders for iron have been given out with a slight appearance of freedom, but the course of prices, for labour as well as fuel, is yet so uncertain, that what demand exists, is held in check to a great extent. Coal is dearer in South Staffordshire, colliers are resisting a reducis dearer in South Staffordshire, colliers are resisting a reduction in South Wales, but only in exceptional cases is the value of iron goods rendered firm in consequence. In the North of England, heavy finished iron is in less request than at any time since the present fall of prices began, and puddlers are finding their way to other districts in search of work. For pig iron, the export demand which lately took up prices, has dwindled, and a dull winter is anticipated in that as in most other branches of iron-making. Some improvement is reported in such minor districts as the West Coast, and North Stafford-Iron shipbuilding is very inactive, and wages have fallen in some of the yards.

The produce markets are losing the stagnant appearance which has long been the feature of the reports, steady business which has long been the feature of the reports, steady business continues, and speculation is extending. Sugar is, on the whole, steadier, and prices have advanced for West India descriptions, to which active business has been almost exclusively confined. Prices in the coffee market are too high to induce further speculative purchases, but the supply being strongly held, there is little pressure of sales. Rice quieter, at late prices. In tea, a better business at full rates is reported, but no tendency to advance is apparent. In the oil trade, prices have been irregular, and business, on the whole, active. Tallow is depressed by continued arrivals from Russia. A fair business is reported in the metal trades, at regular prices.

EXTRACTS FROM TRADE CIRCULARS.
(From Messrs W. Nicol and Co.'s Weekly Overland Circular, dated Bombay, October 2.)—Cotton—Stocks continue very light, and with scanty supplies by rail and sea the position of holders has not been materially weakened. For spot cotton there is a fair inquiry, and were prices 5 rs to 6 rs cheaper a good business might be expected. In new cotton nothing has lately been done but Hinguischit and Abotto are being has lately been done, but Hingunghât and Akote are being quoted at 210 rs and 185 rs per candy respectively, full pressed; prices which only a very decided advance in the home pressed; prices which only a very decided advance. Latest market would bring out without loss. Crop accounts—Latest accounts from Hingunghât are decidedly more cheerful, and with a continuance of the present favourable weather, much if not all of the reported damage will be made good. Berar and Guzerat reports are also very favourable.

(From the Cotton Circular of the Imperial Ottoman Bank, dated October 16.)—From all we learn, there appears every prospect that this season's crop will prove more abundant than that of last season; at present, however, it is too early to form an estimate of the probable success. Owing to the lateness of the crop the arrivals have hitherto been limited, and the cotton received has been soft and wasty, and much mixed with the pickings of last season's plant. During the last few days, however, the arrivals have increased, and a last few days, however, the arrivals have increased, and a better style of cotton is now coming forward; still good sound stapled cotton continues scarce. The favourable news from Liverpool and Manchester has rendered prices somewhat firmer. We do not however anticipate, in face of the favourable news from the continues of the cont able prospects of the crop, any important advance in prices.

(From Messrs Charles Balme and Co.'s Wool Report, dated October 28).—The demand for wool, which has existed since the late auctions closed, has been of the most meagre descriptions, and, with the exception of some few parcels of snow white Capes, nothing worth reporting has changed hands The situation in the manufacturing districts remains unaltered, and there appear to exist no circumstances calculated to exercise any new influence upon the current of our market. The arrivals to date for the next sales, fixed to commence on the 23rd proximo, are 73,390 bales.

(From Messrs Goldsbrough's Monthly Wool Circular, dated Melbourne, September 6.)—Wool—There have been few transactions during the month, the sales being confined chiefly to small odd lots and parcels of scoured. Prices have been fairly maintained, but may be quoted a shade easier since the news of the decline in the August London sales. The new clip is beginning to arrive, and we are advised of several large lots being on the way to our warehouses. The weather has, however, been unsettled; and, owing to the interruption caused by wet days, shearing operations have weather has, however, been unsettled; and, owing to the interruption caused by wet days, shearing operations have not been progressing so rapidly as might have been anticipated. The state of the roads, too, has contributed to delay the arrival of the clip, the plains being in some instances almost impassable, owing to the heavy rains. Altogether, it is evident that the wool will not reach town so early as was at first anticipated. As regards the probable condition of the clip, we are advised that sheep generally are looking well, and that in most instances, sound well-grown fleeces may be expected. The proportion of lambs' wool will no doubt be less than usual, the percentage of increase being under the average over a considerable area of country. The opening sales will probably be held soon after the arrival of next mail.

(From Messrs Schmidt Son and Co.'s Sugar Report, dated Havana, October 7.)—The sugar market, on the whole, remained without life, in consequence of unfavourable advices from abroad, as well as owing to the high pretensions of holders, the greater part of whom continued to keep aloof. The stock here amounts to 196,530 boxes and 3,220 hbds, against 130,540 boxes and 3,469 hbds at same period last year. The weather has continued to be favourable to the crop. The heavy storm which visited our island last month seems to have caused no damage to the cane fields, which are reported to be in excellent condition.

(From the Ceylon Commercial Circular, dated Sept. 28.)—Coffee—Dry weather had for some time interfered with curing operations up country, so that arrivals fell off temporarily last week. Rain, however, has set in now, and ample supplies of garden parchment and early estate parchment may be looked forward to. In the aggregate, the quantities of new coffee received in Colombo far exceed the arrivals at the same time last year, and crop promises to be an early one. A fair amount of business has been done during the fortnight under review, chiefly in garden pachment, with great fluctuations in prices. Demand continues good for all descriptions, but of estate parchment and native there is very little on offer.

(From Messrs Mohr Brothers' Rice Circular, dated Rangoon, September 25.)—Rice: Natsain—Our market has continued as last reported for the entire half of the month under Since then purchasers showed less eagerness to buy, and tried gradually to reduce prices, the consequence of which is that supplies have almost entirely stopped now. Ngakyouk and other inferior kinds have also been in much less demand lately. The exports up to date amount to 371,386 tons, against 440,793 tons in 1874, and 316,945 tons in 1873. The weather continues very seasonable. Some small damage has been done in some districts by the high rise of the river, but it is hoped that all can be remedied by replanting.

—(Bassein, September 20.)—Rice market—Supplies remained quite insignificant during the month. Growing crops —The high floods of our river not having subsided, the circles immediately about the Ngathaingyoung district are still submerged, and it is feared these flooded fields will not produce merged, and it is feared these flooded fields will not produce any grain available for export. On the other hand, it is reported that the area of land brought under cultivation throughout our districts exceeds that of last year to such an extent that it will fully cover the expected deficiency of the above circles. The paddy fields in all other districts are reported to be in a flourishing condition. The weather has contined most favourable for the growing paddy plant, and if nothing unforeseen occurs, still an average crop may be looked for.

Messrs William Moran and Co.'s Indigo Report dated Calcutta, October 1.)—As to the estimated out-turn of the crop of season 1874-5, we have no change to make in the estimate for Lower Bengal, which reaches 33,350 to 33,500 maunds by the addition of the out-turn from Monghyr, which we were unable to give in our particulars of the 7th ultimo. Tirhoot, Chumparun, and Chuprah show an advance of 4,000 maunds over our highest figures of the 7th.
CROP of 1874-5.

Estimated Sept. 7, 1875. Estimated Oct. 1, 1875. maunds. maunds. maunds. maunds. Lower Bengal, including 33,350 to 33,550 to 33,500 Monghyr Tirhoot (35,950) Tirhoot Chumparun Chuprah {excluding Monghyr} 58,450 63,450 (15,000) Benares ..... 20,000 23,000 ..... 16,000

..... 1,24,600 Total ...... 1,11,800 1,20,000 (From Messrs J. Berger Spence and Co.'s Weekly Chemical Report, dated October 23.)—The feeling of confidence noted in our last issue continues, and although prices have not as yet undergone any great improvement, their tendency, with one or two exceptions, is decidedly firmer. Notwithstanding one or two exceptions, is decidedly firmer. Notwithstanding the fact that makers are already heavily booked, a large business might yet be entered, could even slight concessions be obtained. As a rule, however, manufacturers are disinclined to increase their engagements, and either quote prohibitory prices or decline to entertain business altogether, preferring to withhold the balance of their production in the hope of obtaining more remunerative rates for export than those now current in the home trade. The shipping season is now how. current in the home trade. The shipping season is now, how-ever, fast drawing to a close, and still there is but little improvement to report in the demand for foreign account, and we can-not therefore anticipate much relief from this source for some time to come at at rate, and should the works decide upon a continuation of their present rate of production, the temporary firmness which has of late made itself noticeable will, in all probability, lapse into a state of stagnation, only equalled by that which it has been our unpleasant duty to report for many months. The only reliable mode of extrication from the immonths. The only reliable mode of extrication from the impending difficulty is by a discontinuance of the present overproduction; so bringing the supplies more in proportion to the existing demand. A slight falling off may be noticed in the inquiry for bleaching powder for early delivery, but prices remain unchanged. A steady business is doing for delivery over next year at favourable rates, as compared with those lately accepted. Soda ash, though more readily obtainable, fully maintains its value. The slight reduction conceded by makers of caustic soda has stimulated the demand, and rather more animation is noticeable, particularly in cream. Nitrate more animation is noticeable, particularly in cream. Nitrate of soda meets with buyers upon better terms. In sulphate of ammonia there is but little change—if anything, supplies are more plentiful and prices easier. Bichrome is inquired for, and for early delivery holders of stocks obtain an advance upon prices quoted for forward delivery.

THE COTTON TRADE.

LIVERPOOL .- OCTOBER 28.

The cotton market continues quiet, and the quotations of most descriptions have been reduced. For Sca Island there has been an active demand, at full prices. American has been in fair request, but cotton of the new crop being freely offered, quotations have receded \( \frac{1}{16} \) d to \( \frac{1}{3} \) d per lb. In Brazilian the business has been small, and prices have generally given way \( \frac{1}{3} \) d per lb, excepting for Maceio and Maranham, which remain unchanged. Egyptian has been in moderate demand, and, being freely offered, prices are easier. West Indian and African are unchanged. Rough and the higher grades of soft Peruvian continue scarce, but the lower qualities are in less demand and rather easier. East Indian is freely offered, and, with only a moderate demand, prices are The cotton market continues quiet, and the quotations of is freely offered, and, with only a moderate demand, prices are slightly in favour of buyers.

In "futures" there has been a fair amount of business, but after some slight fluctuations, prices have declined about $\frac{1}{6}$d per lb. The sales of the week amount to 61,180 bales, of which 2,420 are on speculation, and 6,470 declared for export, leaving 52,290 bales to the trade. Forwarded this week, 3,520 bales, of which 2,280 are American, 100 Pernam, 530 Egyptian, and 610 bales Surat.

OCTOBER 29TH.—The sales to-day will probably amount to about 12,000 bales with a steady market.

The stock (actual of American and long stapled cotton) in Liverpool, declared this morning, proves to be 31,700 bales more than the estimate, showing an increase of 1,140 Brazil, 29,640 Egyptian, and 5,690 West Indian, and a decrease of 4,450 American and 320 Smyrna.

MARKETS IN THE MANUFACTURING DISTRICTS.

Manchester, Oct. 28.—Influenced by the dulness in the raw material, general quietude has prevailed in this market. Shipping qualities of yarns command less attention, both the Eastern and continental demand being alike inactive. Hometrade descriptions also keep in diminished request, and in case of actual offers buyers have been enabled to operate on slightly better terms. A fair average inquiry has transpired in cloth, especially in staples suitable for Bombay. The better makes of printing cloths likewise maintain their position. Long cloths, domestics, and T cloths have not receded in value, but the demand is of only moderate extent. The market to-day exhibits no improvement, business is carried on a retail scale, and although quotations nominally remain steady, in some quarters a feeling of weakness is more apparent.

Bradford.—No improvement can be reported in the wool market. Spinners act with great caution, and operate only to cover immediate requirements. Prices are, on the whole, well maintained, though in some exceptional cases a slight concession may be obtained. The yarn market is exceedingly languid. Export merchants are doing next to nothing. A steady business continues to be done on home account. Manufacturers complain that machinery is not generally well employed.

LEEDS.—In the cloth halls there has not been much business, and the demand was principally for assortments. The newest designs in tweeds are principally in demand, and manufacturers of these goods are well employed on orders.

ROCHDALE.—There has been but a moderate attendance in the flannel market, and business was not at all animated. Merchants' operations are confined to sorting up, and the demands made upon them by drapers were but small. Both wholesale and retail stocks are light, notwithstanding which manufacturers are only engaged on old orders. There is rather a better demand for Yorkshire woollens, and rates are firm.

Nottingham.—The lace trade is still characterised by excessive languor, with no prospect of improvement as yet. The hosiery trade is by no means active, and heavy goods do not sell so freely as usual at this time of the year.

BIRMINGHAM.—The advance in coal of 1s and 2s per ton, according to quality, which the momentary scarcity of coal, resulting from the serious interference of the floods, has no doubt precipitated, under any circumstances must have occurred before the arrival of the frost. In the usual course iron should rise with fuel, but no decision has yet been come to on this point. Makers of second-class iron, however, who had already reduced prices to a minimum, are compelled to ask an advance of from 5s to 10s per ton. For the present, business both in coal and iron is almost at a standstill.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—There was a dull market, with an apprehensive feeling about the threatened advance in coal. Quotations were strong for all but Cleveland pig. The supply of coal and best sheet iron is diminished through the flood. Ironworkers and colliers are still working irregularly. Puddlers, thrown out in the North, are arriving here, but will not settle down. Light cast-iron goods are reduced from 6d to 2s per cwt. Furnace coal is strong, at 11s per ton, 7s 6d under the maximum of 1872.

DUNDEE.—There has, upon the whole, been rather less depression, and a large amount of business is doing in our local manufactures, but there are great complaints of the difficulty of getting remunerate prices.

Belfast.—The improvement in the linen trade reported last week has continued, and a very good business has been transacted in most branches. Linens—A very good demand for most classes of cloth, both for home and shipping account, and prices are well maintained. Continental demand is improved, although business continues somewhat restricted. American market quiet, but some orders for spring trade are coming forward.

AMERICAN GRAIN AND FLOUR MARKETS. NEW YORK-October 15.

The flour market opened the past week a little depressed. The market has since been steady, though without decided advance. Receipts have been more liberal both here and at the West, and the anxiety of receivers to realise has counteracted the hardening influences that have been at work. The wheat market ruled dull and weak early in the week, but has latterly been advancing, owing to lower ocean freights and more favourable foreign advices, with some revival of speculative confidence. Indian corn has been active for export and home use. The inferior qualities have become comparatively scarce. Receipts at the West show some falling off, and this fact has stimulated speculation.

The following are the closing quotations:—Flour: Superfine State and Western, $3.90 to $5.40; extra State, &c., $5.70 to $5.90; Western spring wheat extras, $5.60 to $5.95; ditto winter wheat X. and XX., $5.75 to $8.25; city shipping extras, $6.00 to $6.40; city trade and family brands, $6.50 to $8.00; Southern bakers' and family brands, $7.25 to $8.25; Southern shipping extras, $6.25 to $7.15; rye flour, superfine, $5.00 to $5.50; corn meal, Western, &c., $3.50 to $3.85 per brl. Grain: Wheat, No. 1 spring, $1.35 to $1.38; white, $1.37 to $1.50. Corn, Western mixed, 69c to 72½c. Rye, 85c to 93c. Oats, mixed, 38c to 48c. Peas, Canada, $1.10 to $1.30 per bushel.

The visible supply of grain, including the stocks in granary at the principal points of accumulation, at lake and seaboard ports, in transit on the lakes, the New York canals, and by rail, October 9. 1875:—

STATE OF THE CORN TRADE FOR THE WEEK.

MARK LANE, FRIDAY EVENING.

The wheat trade during the week has been rather quiet and the tone barely so good. In some of the inland markets the tone barely so good. In some of the inland markets prices have further risen 1s per qr, the supplies of English still being sent forward sparingly, but at the principal ports the tendency has been rather downwards. The imports of wheat into the United Kingdom show a slight falling off as compared with those of the previous week, but into London they continue large. This week's arrivals have chiefly consisted of Russian, and on these descriptions there is a decline of 1s per qr, good Saxonka selling at 46s to 47s, St Petersburg and secondary qualities at 44s to 45s. New Pomeranian wheats have sold at 49s to 50s, and prime old at 52s. Dantzic white is quoted 56s; high mixed, 52s to 53s; ordinary mixed. white is quoted 56s; high mixed, 52s to 53s; ordinary mixed, 50s to 51s. Fine American spring is rather scarce, and still worth 50s to 51s, ordinary grades ranging down to 47s. Canada worth 50s to 51s, ordinary grades ranging down to 4/s. Canada Club wheat is firm, and ranges up to 53s. New Zealand and Australian dull at 51s to 53s. Several parcels of Calcutta are on the market, and worth 40s to '44s. For arrived cargoes at ports of call the trade was dull, and prices rather lower in the early part of the week, but were firmer with a better demand to-day, Ghirka's selling at 47s 9d to 50s, according to quality. There has been a fair demand for old foreign flour, but English remains extramely dull of sale and basely to quality, There has been a fair demand for old foreign flour, but English remains extremely dull of sale, and barely supports late value. The deliveries of barley from home growers have increased, and according to the official returns, are now up to the average of previous years. Imports of foreign into the kingdom have also rather increased, but with a fairly sustained demand. Malting descriptions have, in several markets, risen 1s, and grinding sorts have sold occasionally rather dearer. For coast cargoes also better prices have been obtained, the sales having included Danubian at 26s usual terms. Beans have further tended upwards. The arrivals this week have chiefly comprised Barletta, for which arrivals this week have chiefly comprised Barletta, for which 41s is quoted. Peas continue in steady request, and quite firm. Maize, both on the spot and off coast, brings rather stiffer rates. In the former position, round descriptions are now worth 32s to 32s 6d; flat, 30s 6d to 31s; and in the latter the latest rates are respectively 31s to 31s 6d, and 32s to 32s 6d. Supplies of oats have been moderate, and, with a steady demand, prices have further improved, St Petersburg's selling to-day at 23s 6d to 24s; Swedish, 23s 3d to 24s per 304 lb; and heavy qualities from 26s to 27s per 320 lbs.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PRODUCE MARKETS. TRANSACTIONS OF THE WEEK.

FOR REPORT OF THIS DAY'S MARKETS SEE POSTSCRIPT.

MINGING LANE, FRIDAY MORNING.

Sugar.—The refiners have again taken liberal supplies, and the quantity of West India available is now so much reduced that the importers obtain an advance of 6d per cwt. Other kinds of sugar attract rather more attention, and the week's transactions are of fair extent. Sales of West India in three days amount to 3,118 casks, extent. Sales of West India in three days amount to 3,118 casks, including a large proportion of Barbadoes, the range of the latter being 20s to 23s and of brown to good refining sorts, 18s 6d to 21s 6d. Crystalised Demerara is in limited supply. Trinidad Usine has again been sold at 25s for greyish yellow. A parcel of Trinidad concrete realised 17s 6d. Low brown East India kinds have been in partial demand. Beet sugars are rather firmer. No material change to report in refined. The landings of sugar in the four chief ports of the United Kingdown last week week great and the delivaries laws law in the results of the United Kingdom last week were small, and the deliveries large, leaving the stock about 28,000 tons under the average of the two preceding years at same date. Prices here are generally 1s 6d to 3s per cwt lower.

COFFEE.—59 casks 9 barrels 175 bags plantation Ceylon by auction sold at rather higher rates. 273 packages Mocha were taken in for the sound portion. 381 bags Guatemala sold at 97s to 104s.

PIMENTO.—To-day business done at 3§d per lb.

orange, 7l 5s.

TURMERIC.—A small parcel Bengal taken in at 28s 6d.

TALLOW.—Town was reduced 3s, viz., to 49s 6d. 1,390 casks Australian by auction about two-thirds sold at 6d to 1s decline. Fine beef to 47s 6d; mutton to 48s. 196 pipes South American were chiefly taken in. A few sold at 47s 6d per cwt.

ADDITIONAL NOTICES.

TEA.—The market remains very quiet. During the last few days there has been a demand for fine monings, from 1s 9d to 2s 0 d per lb for export. Medium teas are also in request for home use, at rather higher prices. The dealers abstain from purchasing painted green teas since the subject has again attracted public attention.

GREEN FRUIT.—The report of Messrs Keeling and Hunt states, oranges from St Michaels and Villa Real sold at good rates. Lemons in better demand. Barcelona and Spanish nuts in moderate request. More inquiry for Brazil nuts, French chesuuts realising high prices. Walnuts improved in value. Almeria and Lisbon grapes selling according to condition, which varies considerably. Good Oporto onions in great request. at request.

DRY FRUIT.—Valencia raisins are in large request, and about 1,200 tons have changed hands this week at 1s advance on low, and 2s to 3s on selected sorts. The stock is moderate, and prospective arrivals are very moderate. The requirements for November average 3,000 tons, and so much is being shipped from Denia to America that it is supposed we shall run short of supplies. Currants are selling steadily, and prices are well maintained. There is hardly anything under 29s, so that prices now are nearly the same as they were at the opening of the season. Arrivals are moderate, and cargoes arrive very slowly. Sultanas are dull, and very little change in prices. Turkey figs sell well, and very large sales are making. Muscatels are very good in quality, and the prices are firm. There is very little stock, nor does it appear that much is coming on.

ENGLISH WOOL.—No change to report in fleece wool, though a little lower prices would be accepted. Skin wool of present pull is moving off in small quantities at low figures.

COLONIAL WOOL.—Market quiet; very little doing; quotations unaltered. DRY FRUIT .-- Valencia raisins are in large request, and about 1,200

FLAX.—Market still very quiet.

HEMP.--Russian very quiet, and hardly any business doing. Manila also dull. At the auctions this week, only about 200 bales sold out of 2,200 bales offered.

SEEDS .- There is no alteration in the seed trade, and quotations are

Tobacco.—There is a continuance of the dulness reported last week in our market, and sales effected have been upon a very limited scale, more especially for American growths, for which buyers show no inclination to operate for future requirements, and transactions have been confined to selections from the finest grades, for which high prices have been paid. Export qualities are becoming scarce, especially the superior classes, which are held for full rates. Substitutes continue in active demand; for some growths higher rates are obtainable. Segar tobacco of suitable quality would come to a good market.

LEATHER.—The demand for leather has not increased during the past week, but a moderate business of a general character continues, and prices are fairly maintained. At Leadenhall, on Tuesday, the supply of fresh goods was small, and the trade was again limited. Prime heavy English butts, heavy harness hides, light shoulders, English and foreign bellies, at a low price and unstruck. Horse butts are scarce and in recuest. and in request.

and in request.

METALS.—Transactions have been on a very limited scale this week.
Copper quieter than for three weeks past, and lower prices taken for the small quantity of Chili bars which have been quitted. For other kinds of copper previous rates are maintained, and 16s 9d per unit has been paid for 600 tons ore at Liverpool. Iron is very dull. Tin slightly easier and slow of sale. Spelter well maintained. Lead is 5s per ton lower generally. Tin plates again rather less in request.

The main object of the Company is to provide the public with a perfectly secure yet inexpensive repository for valuables of every description, and relieve them from the harras-sing and wearing strain occasioned by the personal care of such property. The Company take for safe custody all kinds of securities, valuable property, bonds, wills, marringe settlements, and exher documents, and guarantee their value when required; drawn bonds, coupons, &c., collected.

The Company undertake the duties of trustees, receivers, and executors, and act in other confidential capacities.

The great vault is superior to any building in the world intended for similar purposes. The utility of these safes, which are entirely underground, is undeniable, so bankers are not responsible for deposit of valuables. The loss of many kinds of securities is irreparable, the loser having no recourse against the Government or other party issuing them. A constant watch is kept both inside and outside the tuilding. There is a room especially adapted and reserved for ladies.

FINANCIAL RECORD OF THE MONTH.

The great event of the month has been the financial collapse of Turkey. On the 7th inst., a telegram in the second edition of the Times broke the news that the Porte had, on the previous afternoon, decreed the appropriation for a period of five years of one-half of the interest and sinking fund on the entire debt, this deferred moiety to be paid by an issue of 5 per cent. bonds at par. Ever since the outbreak in Herzegovina, it was foreseen, in well informed quarters, that an early rectification of the burden of the Turkish debt was inevitable; but the Porte by its needlessly abrupt and arbitrary action at once completely shattered the remnant of credit it still possessed, and threw the bondholders into such a state of panic and distrust that it will be long before they can bring themselves to believe in any will be long before they can bring themselves to believe in any guarantees the Government may really have to offer. Had Turkey, after laying a true "balance sheet" before the world, called her creditors together to help her, she would have readily obtained what was necessary, for none were more interested in the solvency of the Empire than the bondholders themselves. But instead of this, she went out of her way to make the shock more severe, by setting aside all hypothecations, and by making her creditors believe that as she could no longer borrow from them she would forthwith throw them over altogether. This belief may be unfounded, and it will be well for Turkey if she affords all the explanations in her power to her creditors, and seeks their co-operation as soon as possible. The force of the shock both here and in France may be well understood from the fact that each country holds may be well understood from the fact that each country holds may be well understood from the fact that each country holds something like 60,000,000l of Turkish Government securities, the annual interest and sinking fund upon which to us alone must have reached or exceeded 4,000,000l. Turkey itself is but a small holder of her own stocks, except the general debt and the Roumelian railways debt, and her next largest creditor to ourselves and France is Italy. Egyptian stocks have been thrown down in sympathy with Turkish, although in that case there has been no sign of default; and the entire foreign stock market have suffered to a greater or less extent. Some there has been no sign of default; and the entire foreign stock market have suffered to a greater or less extent. Some recovery, has been apparent during the past few days. South American stocks have all of them fallen in price, owing to the collapse in Uruguay, and the financial difficulties of various States, but Peruvian have now recovered. This state of affairs has produced an opposite effect upon Home investments; and thus, British Railway Stocks have been in request, and some have risen considerably in price. have been in request, and some have risen considerably in price. Colonial Railway undertakings have supported the closing quotations of September, and Canadian have latterly exhibited some recovery. Foreign Railways have been dull; and the American Market has been inanimate, with the usual exception of Erie shares and bonds. Bank Shares were at one time decidedly flat, but home and Indian establishments have since revived. The more miscellaneous descriptions of securities have, as a rule, been sustained in market estimation, and Colonial investments have held their ground well. The rise in the rate of discount only very slightly depreciated the British Funds, although the Chinese difficulty at one time had a noticeable effect. The directors of the Bank of England, on 7th, 14th, and 21st instant, advanced the rate of discount from 2 per cent. respectively, to  $2\frac{1}{2}$ ,  $3\frac{1}{2}$ , and 4 per cent. This upward movement was made to check the withdrawals of gold for movement was made to check the withdrawals of gold for Germany, which had continued steadily from last month; a fortnight ago showed increasing proportions. This withdrawal has been the chief cause of a rather extensive reduction in the coin and bullion. The general supply of bills offering has remained limited, and money for short periods has continued very cheap. Indeed, the German drain having subsided, bills are now being bid for at nearly 1 per cent. below the Bank minimum. There has existed considerable monetary pressure at Berlin and throughout Germany, with which the currency changes have much to do. The Board of Trade Returns for changes have much to do. The Board of Trade Returns for September showed imports to the value of 30,858,909l, as against 31,142,994l in the same month last year, while the exports were 19,853,750l, against 21,463,876l. The new Capital commitments of this month have exhibited some expansion, though they cannot be considered to have reached the average of recent years.

Apart from the Turkish repudiation, the political events of the month have been—in England, the departure of the Prince of Wales on his Indian tour; in Italy, the visit of the Emperor of Germany; in Bavaria, the dead-lock, owing to an Ultramontane majority; in Spain and Turkey, the continuance of their several rebellions; and in China, the removal of the misunderstanding with this country, Mr Wade having at length obtained the guarantees he considered necessary.

The movements in the Money Market are indicated by the following figures:—

Bank of Belgium — 4½ — ...... 4½ — The new capital commitments of October have been 3,950,620*l*, of which 3,858,000*l* was subscribed entirely in Great Britain, and 92,620*l* partly on the Continent. The actual money payments of the month upon these and previous subscriptions have been 4,552,485*l*, of which 2,186,830*l* were provided by Great Britain alone, and 2,365,655*l* partly abroad. During the first ten months of 1875 the subscriptions effected in Great Britain have been 41,114,106*l*, against 75,438,239*l* in the same months of 1874, and those scriptions effected in Great Britain have been 41,114,1064, against 75,438,2391 in the same months of 1874, and those in which foreign countries have participated have been 17,402,0884, against 31,902,5001 in 1874. The money payments during these ten months have been 37,249,6701 by Great Britain alone, against 58,699,1581 in the same months of 1874, and 18,276,3491, against 36,204,4501 provided partly abroad. Owing to the appearance of a number of colonial loans, the new capital commitments of the month have shown increase but they are commitments of the month have shown increase, but they are commitments of the month have shown increase, but they are still considerably below the average of last year. Canada has received subscriptions for a 4 per cent. loan for 2,500,000l, of which 1,500,000l is guaranteed by the home Government; and South Australia has allotted a 4 per cent. issue, and the Cape the balance of some 4½ per cent. debentures. There has been a new Ottawa City Loan, and Massachusetts has placed a further amount of 5 per cent. sterling debentures. There have likewise been brought forward, the French, Belgian, and Dutch Railway Guaranteed Trust, 1875, and some 3 per cent.

have likewise been brought forward, the French, Belgian, and Dutch Railway Guaranteed Trust, 1875, and some 3 per centobligations of the Antwerp, and Rotterdam Railway.

The British Funds further relapsed early in October, a movement but partly accounted for by the rise in the rate of discount. There has, however, been a decided recovery since the news has been received that our differences with China have been amicably arranged. The closing price of Consols last month was recorded at 94½, this month at 94½, the extreme fluctuations being 93½ to 94¾.

This has been the most disastrous month for Foreign Government securities since July 1870. The sudden announcement on the 7th inst., that the Porte had suppressed half the interest and sinking fund on the entire 190,000,000½ of its public debt, fell like a thunder-bolt on the Foreign Stock market; and the anic in Turkish, and then in Egyptian stocks, was very severe. and sinking fund on the entire 190,000,000! of its public debt, fell like a thunder-bolt on the Foreign Stock market; and the anic in Turkish, and then in Egyptian stocks, was very severe. Norhas there until the last few days been any noticeable revival. In the case of Turkey, there are eleven loans which have each their separate special hypothecations, besides which there is the general debt (held, it should be remembered, to the extent of one-half in Turkey itself); and each of these descriptions of creditors bave urged their rights to the revenues assigned, and there is still no general agreement established between them to act in concert, and to surrender what is necessary in fair proportions. Until some sort of order is established amongst the different classes of bondholders, there cannot be any decided recovery in Turkish credit, and not even then until it is found that Turkey can really pay the half in cash which she now promises. The insurrection in Herzegovina remains unsubdued, and Turkey has also made remissions of taxation, which must all tend for the time to further cripple her resources. Egypt has hastened to show by the punctuality of the provisions made for the service of her debt that she is not in the same condition as Turkey, but this has not prevented the panic extending to the Egyptian Government and Daira loans. Peruvian stocks have fluctuated rapidly, as the new guano contract has until this week remained in abeyance, and conflicting rumours have been circulated. Now, however, it would appear, the contract has been completed, and Peruvian have this week recovered. Uruguay, and, in fact, all other South and Central American State loans have fallen in market estimation. The reason for the fall in Uruguay bonds has been the failure of that Government to make their usual remittances to the London and River Plate Bank on account of the next coupon. Russian, Spanish, and Hungarian securities have also lost ground; and Portuguese 3 per Cents., after at one moment advancing above 57, have since relapsed. The only stocks which have been fairly well sustained have been French, Italian, and United States' issues. Colonial Government debentures have, on the other hand, held their place in market estimation, in spite of the new loans brought forward and readily subscribed. The following are the fluctuations in the leading British-Colonial and Foreign stocks:—

The Miscellaneous department has, as a rule, shown a fair amount of strength, as purchases have continued to be made in home investments. Telegraph securities have generally risen in price, and Anglo-American stock has certainly felt the benefit of a return to a 4s per word tariff after the reduction to 1s made last month. The Direct United States Cable would seem to be still out of order. The movement in Steamship property has been small, if we except the rise in Royal Mail shares; while Dock stocks have stood their ground, apart from London and St Katherine. Gas companies have improved in market price, and it is understood that a closer union is to be established between the leading London companies. There is little else of special note to record; but it may be mentioned that while City loans have to some extent been inquired for, Government trusts have done badly—of course, owing to their holding of foreign stocks, now so depreciated.

FINANCIAL RECORD OF THE MONTH.

The great event of the month has been the financial collapse of Turkey. On the 7th inst., a telegram in the second edition of the Times broke the news that the Porte had, on the previous afternoon, decreed the appropriation for a period of five years of one-half of the interest and sinking fund on the entire debt, one-half of the interest and sinking fund on the entire debt, this deferred moiety to be paid by an issue of 5 per cent. bonds at par. Ever since the outbreak in Herzegovina, it was foreseen, in well informed quarters, that an early rectification of the burden of the Turkish debt was inevitable; but the Porte by its needlessly abrupt and arbitrary action at once completely shattered the remnant of credit it still possessed, and threw the bondholders into such a state of panic and distrust that it will be long before they can bring themselves to believe in any will be long before they can bring themselves to believe in any guarantees the Government may really have to offer. Had Turkey, after laying a true "balance sheet" before the world, called her creditors together to help her, she would have readily obtained what was necessary, for none were more interested in the solvency of the Empire than the bondholders themselves. But instead of this, she went out of her way to make the shock more severe by setting saide all hyperthees. make the shock more severe, by setting aside all hypothecations, and by making her creditors believe that as she could no longer borrow from them she would forthwith throw them over altogether. This belief may be unfounded, and it will be well for Turkey if she affords all the explanations in her power to her creditors, and seeks their co-operation as soon as possible. The force of the shock both here and in France as possible. The force of the shock both here and in France may be well understood from the fact that each country holds something like 60,000,000*l* of Turkish Government securities, the annual interest and sinking fund upon which to us alone must have reached or exceeded 4,000,000*l*. Turkey itself is but a small holder of her own stocks, except the general debt but a small holder of her own stocks, except the general debt and the Roumelian railways debt, and her next largest creditor to ourselves and France is Italy. Egyptian stocks have been thrown down in sympathy with Turkish, although in that case there has been no sign of default; and the entire foreign stock market have suffered to a greater or less extent. Some recovery, has been apparent during the past few days. South American stocks have all of them fallen in price, owing to the collapse in Uruguay, and the financial difficulties of various States, but Peruvian have now recovered. This state of affairs has produced an opposite effect upon Home investments; and thus, British Railway Stocks have been in request, and some have risen considerably in price. have been in request, and some have risen considerably in price. Colonial Railway undertakings have supported the closing quotations of September, and Canadian have latterly exhibited some recovery. Foreign Railways have been dull; and the American Market has been inanimate, with the usual exception of Erie shares and bonds. Bank Shares were at one time decidedly flat, but home and Indian establishments have since revived. The more miscellaneous descriptions of securities have, as a rule, been sustained in market estimation, and Colonial investments have held their ground well. The rise in the rate of discount only very slightly depreciated the British Funds, although the Chinese difficulty at one time had British Funds, although the Chinese difficulty at one time had a noticeable effect. The directors of the Bank of England, on 7th, 14th, and 21st instant, advanced the rate of discount from 2 per cent. respectively, to 2½, 3½, and 4 per cent. This upward movement was made to check the withdrawals of gold for Germany, which had continued steadily from last month; a fortnight ago showed increasing proportions. This withdrawal has been the chief cause of a rather extensive reduction in the coin and bullion. The general supply of bills offering has remained limited, and money for short periods has continued very cheap. Indeed, the German drain having subsided, bills are now being bid for at nearly 1 per cent. below the Bank

minimum. There has existed considerable monetary pressure at Berlin and throughout Germany, with which the currency changes have much to do. The Board of Trade Returns for September showed imports to the value of 30,858,909l, as against 31,142,994l in the same month last year, while the exports were 19,853,750l, against 21,463,876l. The new Capital exports and this month have exhibited some export commitments of this month have exhibited some expansion, though they cannot be considered to have reached the average of recent years.

Apart from the Turkish repudiation, the political events of the month have been—in England, the departure of the Prince of Wales on his Indian tour; in Italy, the visit of the Emperor of Germany; in Bavaria, the dead-lock, owing to an Ultramontane majority; in Spain and Turkey, the continuance of their several rebellions; and in China, the removal of the misunderstanding with this country, Mr Wade having at length obtained the guarantees he considered necessary. The movements in the Money Market are indicated by the Bank of Belgium — 4½ — ...... 4½ — The new capital commitments of October have been 3,950,620*l*, of which 3,858,000*l* was subscribed entirely in Great Britain, and 92,620*l* partly on the Continent. The actual money payments of the month upon these and previous subscriptions have been 4,552,485*l*, of which 2,186,830*l* were provided by Great Britain alone, and 2,365,655*l* partly abroad. During the first ten months of 1875 the subscriptions effected in Great Britain have been 41,114,106*l*, against 75,438,239*l* in the same months of 1874 and those scriptions effected in Great Britain have been 41,114,1061, against 75,438,2391 in the same months of 1874, and those in which foreign countries have participated have been 17,402,0881, against 31,902,5001 in 1874. The money payments during these ten months have been 37,249,6701 by Great Britain alone, against 58,699,1581 in the same months of 1874, and 18,276,3491, against 36,204,4501 provided partly abroad. Owing to the appearance of a number of colonial loans, the new capital commitments of the month have shown increase, but they are still considerably below the average of last year. Canada has still considerably below the average of last year. Canada has received subscriptions for a 4 per cent. loan for 2,500,000l, of which 1,500,000l is guaranteed by the home Government; and South Australia has allotted a 4 per cent. issue, and the Cape the balance of some 4½ per cent, debentures. There has been a new Ottawa City Loan, and Massachusetts has placed a further amount of 5 per cent sterling debentures. There have likewise been brought forward, the French, Belgian, and Dutch Beilmer Chromated Trust 1875.

have likewise been brought forward, the French, Belgian, and Dutch Railway Guaranteed Trust, 1875, and some 3 per cent. obligations of the Antwerp, and Rotterdam Railway.

The British Funds further relapsed early in October, a movement but partly accounted for by the rise in the rate of discount. There has, however, been a decided recovery since the news has been received that our differences with China have been amicably arranged. The closing price of Consols last month was recorded at 94½, this month at 94½, the extreme fluctuations being 93½ to 94½.

fluctuations being 93\color to 94\color. This has been the most disastrous month for Foreign Government securities since July 1870. The sudden announcement on the 7th inst., that the Porte had suppressed half the interest and sinking fund on the entire 190,000,000\langle of its public debt, fell like a thunder-bolt on the Foreign Stock market; and the fell like a thunder-bolt on the Foreign Stock market; and the anic in Turkish, and then in Egyptian stocks, was very severe. Nor has there until the last few days been any noticeable revival. In the case of Turkey, there are eleven loans which have each their separate special hypothecations, besides which there is the general debt (held, it should be remembered, to the extent of one-half in Turkey itself); and each of these descriptions of creditors bave urged their rights to the revenues assigned, and there is still no general agreement established between them to act in concert, and to surrender what is necessary in fair proportions. Until some sort of order is established amongst the different classes of bondholders, there cannot be any decided recovery in Turkish credit, and not even then until it is found that Turkey can really pay the half in cash which she now promises. The can really pay the half in cash which she now promises. The insurrection in Herzegovina remains unsubdued, and Turkey has also made remissions of taxation, which must all tend for the time to further cripple her resources. Egypt has hastened to show by the punctuality of the provisions made for the service of her debt that she is not in the same condition as Turkey, but this has not prevented the panic extending to the Egyptian Government and Daira loans. Peruvian stocks have fluctuated residly as the new guern contract her until this fluctuated rapidly, as the new guano contract has until this week remained in abeyance, and conflicting rumours have been circulated. Now, however, it would appear, the contract has been completed, and Peruvian have this week recovered. Uruguay, and, in fact, all other South and Central American State loans have fallen in market estimation. The reason for the fall in Uruguay bonds has been the failure of that Government to make their usual remittances to the London and River Plate Bank on account of the next coupon. Russian, Spanish, and Hungarian securities have also lost ground; and Portuguese 3 per Cents., after at one moment advancing above 57, have since relapsed. The only stocks which have been fairly well sustained have been French, Italian, and United States' issues. Colonial Government debentures have, on the other hand, held their place in market estimation, in spite of the new loans brought forward and readily subscribed. The following are the fluctuations in the leading British-Colonial and Foreign stocks:—

The Miscellaneous department has, as a rule, shown a fair amount of strength, as purchases have continued to be made in home investments. Telegraph securities have generally risen in price, and Anglo-American stock has certainly felt the benefit of a return to a 4s per word tariff after the reduction to 1s made last month. The Direct United States Cable would seem to be still out of order. The movement in Steamship property has been small, if we except the rise in Royal Mail shares; while Dock stocks have stood their ground, apart from London and St Katherine. Gas companies have improved in market price, and it is understood that a closer union is to be established between the leading London companies. There is little else of special note to record; but it may be mentioned that while City loans have to some extent been inquired for, Government trusts have done badly—of course, owing to their holding of foreign stocks, now so depreciated.

Turkish Loans.—At a meeting, called by the Council of Foreign Bondholders, the following resolution was passed:—
That in view of the course taken by the Imperial Ottoman Government with reference to the interest and sinking fund on the loans raised by that Government, it is desirable that the Council of Foreign Bondholders should take such steps as may be deemed advisable for the protection of the bondholders in co-operation with any persons appointed for that purpose, as the representatives of the several classes of bondholders, and that the Council be requested to take action accordingly; but that no agreement should be made with the Ottoman Government except upon the basis of each class of bondholders retaining the full advantage now secured to them under their special guarantee. That the Council be requested, as one of their first measures, to memorialise Her Majesty's Government, and to seek their assistance.

Turkish Finance.—It appears that the Ottoman Government obtained an advance, the proceeds of which were duly applied to the payment of the October coupons. The conditions on which the advance was effected were equivalent to the payment of interest at 18 per cent.

In conclusion, Mr Morris confirms the view of Sir Edward Watkin that the profits should for a time be devoted to pay the company's debts, but he supplements it with a suggestion that a pro rata contribution might be made by the shareholders upon the best security the company could give, without interfering with existing rights and priorities give, without interfering with existing rights and priorities. Capital received 30,632,771l; ditto expended, 30,273,790l, including 299,974l during the half-year. The six months' working has resulted in a decrease of the gross receipte of 106,393l, or 10.64 per cent. as compared with the corresponding half-year in 1874, although there has been at the same time an actual increase in the work done. The causes have been mainly the great depression in trade and depreciation in fraight rates common to the whole of the United States and freight rates, common to the whole of the United States and Canada, the unprecedently severe and unfavourable weather during the first three months of 1875; and increased competition, arising principally from the extension of the Baltimore and Ohio line to Chicago, the construction of the Canada Southern parallel to the Great Western line, and the unfortunate competition by the latter company carried on against the Grand Trunk with great determination and energy during the early part of the half-year. In one week, that of 13th February last, there was an actual loss of traffic receipts of over 14,000t caused almost entirely by the impossibility for a time of keeping certain portions of the line clear of energy time of keeping certain portions of the line clear of snow. Comparing this half-year with the corresponding period of 1874, the passenger receipts showed a decrease of 3,228l, and the freight receipts of 99,068l. During the past half-year the decrease in the gross receipts of the following railways was—Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, 20 per cent.; Great Western of Canada, 20 per cent.; Northern of Canada, 18 per cent.; Michigan Central, 15 per cent.; while the decrease on the Grand Trank was 10.64 per cent. The working expenses for the half-year amounted to 701,460l, against 782,002l for the corresponding half-year of 1874, showing a decrease in expenditure of 80,542l. Of this saving, 50,000l was in the item maintenance and renewals of way, of which 65,990l was charged to revenue in 1875, against 115,880l in 1874. At the same time, 74,709l of renewals was charged to capital, as against 87,329l in 1874. The staff of officials have been reduced by 1,447, or by nearly one-seventh, and large savings are expected in future from one-seventh, and large savings are expected in future from this reduction.

Great North of Scotland.—The revenue for the half-year ended 31st July was 133,602l, and the expenditure 61,655l, leaving a balance of 71,947l, which, added to the sum brought forward and general interest account, makes a total of 73,2394. After payment of all preference charges, a dividend is recommended at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum, carrying forward 797l. This compares with a dividend of 1½ per cent. at this time last year. The revenue for the half-year showed an increase over the corresponding half-year of 12,450l; the increase for the preceding half-year was 4.997l, making the increase for the preceding half-year was 4.997l, making the increase for the preceding half-year was 4.997l. crease for the preceding half-year was 4,997l, making the increase for the whole year 17,447l. Oregon and California.—The committee appointed at the meeting on 15th Sept., have issued a circular to the bond-holders, from which the following is extracted:—

According to a recent statement of the president of the railway, its liabilities were $7,808,026; and he also stated that in 1873 the gross receipts were $869,188, and the net revenue $277,214; while in 1874 the gross receipts were $884,920, the net revenue amounting to $187,813. This appears not to include any receipts from sale of lands, which the committee believe to be valuable. The amount required to pay the annual interest on the first mortgage land grant bonds is $267,085. Up to last January the company met its engagements on its bonded debt with regularity, but default was then made on the first mortgage bonds. The president in March, asked the bondholders to fund the coupons for four years and a-half, to enable him to pay off the floating debt. The committee think some modification of this may prove advisable, but that it would be unwise for the bondholders at present to agree to it. Under the terms of the mortgage it would be necessary for very nearly all the bondholders to concur before such a scheme could be carried into effect. They propose to receive the bonds of such bolders as will co-operate with them, and to issue in exchange negotiable receipts. As holders of the bonds they will be able to act in the United States on behalf of the bondholders. It will be necessary to raise a fund for this purpose, and they ask for a subscription of per cent. on the nominal amount of the bonds deposited—that is, 11 for each 2001 or $1,000 bond—and an engagement to make further contributions, not exceeding an additional 12 per cent., as may be necessary.

Peebles.-The sum available was 3,858l, and a dividend has been declared at the rate of  $7\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. per annum, being an increase of a half per cent., as compared with last year. There remains to be paid to the working company 502l, leaving a halance of 56lbalance of 56l.

Peterborough, Wisbeach, and Sutton.—At the meeting, a dividend was declared on the preferred shares at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum.

Recife and San Francisco.—After the proposed payment of an increased dividend at the rate of 5½ per cent. per annum for the half-year, there is a balance carried forward of 1,267l. The receipts for the year ended 30th June were 90,428l, against 89,189l for the previous year, and the expenditure, exclusive of exchange differences and extra rolling stock, was 50,602l, against 54,144l in 1874. San Paulo, The earnings for the past year were 292,766l, or upwards of 107,000% beyond the guarantee of the Brazilian Government. The available balance for the half-year ended 30th June, after deducting debenture and debenture stock interest, and adding 43,149l, brought from the previous half-year, was 178,767l. Of this sum the Brazilian Government, under the terms of the concession, take 40,383l, leaving 138,383l divisible. The directors propose a dividend at the rate of 12 per cent, per annum, leaving a balance of 18,383l to be carried to re-

Severn and Wye.—The line from Lydney on the Severn, to the Ross and Monmouth Railway on the Wye, has been opened for passenger traffic.

Smyrna and Cassaba.—A loss is shown for the two months to 28th February, of 599l, owing to the cost of repairing damages caused by floods, and to exceptional charges occasioned by the preparation and arrangements for working the line, and the opening of the extention on 1st of March. For the four months, from that date to 30th June, the gross receipts were 34,902l, against 21,214l for the same four months of 1874, or an increase of 13,688l. It is hoped that the anticipations of increased traffic from improved facilities will be realised, the receipts being to the present time equal to about 60 per cent, in excess of those of the same months in the preceding years. There is a balance to 30th June of 8,569l, which, when the amount due from the Imperial Ottoman Government is received, will be applicable to the redemption of capital. The Government agreed to pay the sum of 35,070l in full of all demands to the 28th of February, but the money has not yet been received.

St Andrew's.—The gross receipts for the half-year ended 31st July were 3,079l, being an increase of 300l as compared with the corresponding period of 1874. A dividend is recommended of 9 per cent.

Tasmanian Main Line.—The directors state that considerable delay has been caused in completing the railway by the difficulty of obtaining labour during the harvest and wool clipping seasons, but that the whole of the material has now been landed in the colony, and it is hoped that the line will be completed by the end of this year.

Thetford and Watton.—The directors state that the revenue for the half-year was more favourable than in the corresponding half of 1874. The total amount to their credit was 1,507l, being about 350l more than in the half-year ended 30th June, 1874. This arose chiefly from increased goods traffic and miscellaneous receipts. Capital expended for the half-year 12,5581.

Tottenham and Hampstead Junction.—The receipts for the halfyear were 5,756l, and the sum available was 3,009l, out of which dividends were declared at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum on the No. 1 preference shares, and at the rate of 4 per cent, per annum on the No. 2 preference shares for the half-year, leaving a balance of 88l. Money, and the Mechanism of Exchange. By W. Stanley Jervons, M.A., F.R.S. London: Henry S. King and Co.

In this work Professor Jervons has written a clear and well-arranged historical treatise upon metallic and paper money. While he shows an intimate acquaintance with the depths of his subject, his style is sufficiently light and free from technicalities to attract general readers. Amongst the many opinions which Professor Jervons expresses in this volume may be mentioned that he considers the first step towards the adoption of a really international currency should be taken by adoption of a really international currency should be taken by the United States, which, in returning to specie payments, should slightly lower the value of the dollar to make it inter-changeable with the 5-franc piece, that he endorses the opinion that bankers should increase their cash reserves, or jointly increase their reserve in the Bank of England, as the reserve for the sensitive condition of our master market that he for the sensitive condition of our money market, that he wishes all success to the experiment of the Cheque Bank system, and that he is a supporter of the scape-goat Bank Act of 1844, with perhaps the addition of an "elastic limit" to the issue of banknotes, as granted to the Imperial Bank of Germany.

Barrister-at-Law, Middle Temple;
Author of "Blackstone Economized," &c., &c.

Oxford Chromicle, January 23, 1975.

"Mr Aird, who is already well-known as the author of that admirable work. 'Blackstone Economized,' has undertaken the difficult task of presenting in a readable shape an elaborate summary of the Civil Laws of France, supplemented by explan tory notes illustrative of the analogy between the rules of the Code Napoleon and the leading principle so the Roman law. The author remarks that the clear and comprehensive nature of the Code has been so valued that its leading principles have been largely adopted by several of the European States, as well as by several of our Colonies, as that a knowledge of the French law is almost indispensable to the lead student. The work is divided into three parts,—first, the Civil Law; second, the Law of Property; third, the different Modes of acquiring Property. The first book treats of the enjoyment and privation of civil rights, the registration of births, marriages, and deaths, the typardianship of minors, on marriage and the dissolution of marriage, on fraterwity, of adoption and friendly guardianship, on minority, majority, &c.; the second part deals with property real and personal; and the third book, which is the most important and elaborate option of the work, treats of the various modes of acquiring property,—encossion, gifts, testamentary dispositions, partition, centracts, obligations, agreements, salee, partnerships, leans, hiring of labour and skill, debts, pledging, mortgages, &c. The author has avoided unnecessary technicalities, and taken pains to substitute English equivalents for Freuch idioms. The work will not only be a valuable assistant to the legal student, but may the perused with pleasure and profit by the general reader."
