ANTI-GOUTY ELIXIR

OF

HIPPOLYTE BRIEUGDE,

INVENTOR OF THE ANTI-RHEUMATISM A

Tropical Balm.

THIS now all medical science has had no power over the sure, this terrible disease which has ever made so many victims all over the earth, and still lays daily in many households from their close patients to give them up to the tomb, for lifelessness. It is useless to recall to our minds the symptoms of this disease too well known in its distressful miseries. It suffices to name them to appreciate the value of such a remedy against their ravages. Such is the effect of the Anti-Gouty Elixir, which is the result of the laborious searches of M. Hippolyte Brieugde, already known by the discovery of the anti-rheumatismal Tropical Balm, that has had down to this day no rival a success. The Anti-Gouty Elixir, intrinsically designed for curing the fits of the gout, produced a prompt an real effect, warranted by a long and personal experience of the inventor, and by repeated assays upon its numerous victims.

The Anti-Gouty Elixir is easy to take, and its taste is in no way disagreeable. It can be taken pure or mixed with two or three spoonfuls of tea or coffee in wines are fail either a few hours, whatever may be the intensiveness of the fit, in twelve hours at most the sufferings disappear, and all its symptoms vanish away.
