DEPUTY GOVERNOR PROROGUES HOUSE

Formal Ceremony at Ottawa
by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick
at 4 o'clock To-day

REFERENCE TO WORK DURING THE SESSION

Satisfaction Expressed That Many Beneficial Measures
Passed Parliament

LONGEST SITTING OF THE HOUSE SINCE 1904

Ottawa, Ont., June 6.—The most strenuous and probably the most interesting session of parliament since Confederation came to a close this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, deputy governor-general formally prorogated the House. There were the usual ceremonies, though the crowd in the senate chamber was not as large or as brilliant socially as it was at the Duke of Connaught had been present.

The session which has just closed was the longest session since 1904. The House having been actually sitting 111 days. It was the session which witnessed the bitterest struggle between the parties since 1867. For the first time in history of Canada also had a state prisoner, R. C. Miller, who refuses to tell the public accounts committee what he did with the $41,000 which he said it cost him to procure government business for the Diamond Light Co.

Mr. Miller was summoned to the bar of the House, and refused to talk, and was then incarcerated in the county Carleton jail, where he has been languishing for the past three months, when the guns boomed from Nepean point this afternoon announcing the prorogation of parliament. Miller walked out of the prison a free man.

The speech from the throne was as follows:
To Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate,
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In relieving you from further attendance in parliament after a protracted session, during which you have devoted yourselves to the important subjects that have been submitted for your consideration, it is satisfactory to note that your labors have resulted in many beneficial measures. The act granting aid for the advancement of agricultural instruction should ensure the co-operation of the provinces within the Dominion in securing for the people a more thorough and comprehensive knowledge of improved methods by which this great industry may be carried on with greater advantage to the producer, but to the community at large.

In renewing the charters of the banks for another period of three years, the Bank Act has received careful and thorough consideration, and important amendments have been adopted providing more efficient safeguards for the protection of both depositors and shareholders.

The admission of Canada to the treaty of commerce and navigation between the United Kingdom and the Empire of Japan has been accomplished under conditions which should tend to promote friendly relations and increase commercial intercourse between the two countries.

Provision has been made for the establishment of a parcel post, the need for which has long been felt, and it cannot be doubted that the facilities thus afforded will be greatly appreciated throughout the Dominion.

The trade agreement between Canada and certain of the West Indies colonies has now been brought into force, and it is confidently expected that trade and intercourse between these portions of the Empire will be thereby stimulated and promoted.

The amendments made to the criminal code should materially aid the necessary efforts to stamp out evils against which legislation has been recently directed in many countries.

In wise recognition of the importance of transportation aid has been granted which should ensure the speedy completion of the transcontinental railways now under construction.

The increasing volume of production and commerce is already taxing the capacity of existing transportation lines in all parts of Canada. Among other subjects which are receiving well merited attention are the provision of further terminal elevators in the western provinces.

The equipment of national ports on both the Atlantic and the Pacific and the construction of drydocks of sufficient size to accommodate the largest ocean-going steamships; the arrangement which shall be consummated for a more speedier and more frequent mail service from Canadian ports to those of the United Kingdom has doubtless commended itself to our approval and will be held with satisfaction by the people.

You will be glad that the trade of Canada during the fiscal year just completed has largely surpassed that of a year previous. Return to your homes you will find abundant evidence that the coming harvest will be bountiful, thus assuring for another year the prosperity which Canada happily enjoys.

CHURCH UNION NOW BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Small Minority Determined to Fight Proposals to the Last

DR. CLARK PRESENTS COMMITTEE REPORT

Moderator Rules Against Dr.
Campbell, Who Refuses to Obey the Order

MONTREAL MINISTER INSISTS ON HEARING

Toronto, Ont., June 6.—In the presence of almost every delegate and commissioner to the assembly in the city, the general assembly this morning plunged into the discussion of the important matter of church union. While the great majority of the delegates are known to be favorable to the consummation of union, there is still a small minority determined to fight to the last and there is every probability of a strenuous and bitter debate.

Dr. W. J. Clark, the gifted minister of Westmount Presbyterian church, Montreal, presented the report of the union committee and made an address of considerable length, he referred to the action of the general assembly in Edmonton, and said it was the desire of the majority in that assembly to take much more advanced action, and that this could readily have been done. The majority had, however, expressed a willingness to wait in the hopes that in time a large part of the section opposed to union might be won over. This effort had to a large extent succeeded.

Dr. Clark then gave a history of the proceedings of the year, referring to the close co-operation in the colleges in Vancouver, Edmonton and Winnipeg; there having been an attempt to work the theological colleges of the three churches in union.

In Montreal this had been done to a large extent and the students of the Presbyterian, Anglican, Congregational, and Methodist churches had been taught by the same teachers.

Dr. Clark also referred to the action taken by congregations at various points in the west to unite. A number of union churches had actually been formed in the west and were under a committee representing the three co-operating churches.

A dramatic scene occurred during the morning when the venerable elder of the assembly, Rev. Dr. Campbell of Montreal, rose to challenge a statement of Dr. Clark. The moderator ruled that Dr. Campbell was out of order, but the latter refused to resume his seat, claiming that the ruling of the chairman was not in accordance with the blue book. The audience called loudly for order and Dr. Campbell asserted that he would hold the floor until he was heard.

The moderator again ruled Dr. Campbell out of order. He took the ground taken by his predecessor, in Edmonton, Rev. Dr. McQueen, that he was not going to tie up the proceedings of the assembly by a reference to red tape. Rules were made for men, not men for rules," declared the moderator in stentorian tones, and he was greeted with applause.

From the tone of the audience to-day it appears that the large majority in favor of union in the assembly might at any time take the bit in its teeth and carry through a much more decided statement than that contained in the report of the union committee. It will go through without much change. The only item of interest will centre on the number of commissioners the minority can secure to vote against the proposal.

REWARD FOR AMUNDSEN.

Christiania, Norway, June 6.—The Storting have unanimously voted 6,000 kroner annually to Roald Amundsen as a rational reward. The question of a reward for his crew will be considered in connection with the approaching expedition to the North Pole.

STORMS IN GERMANY.

Cassel, Germany, June 6.—Reports from the districts swept by the heavy storms Wednesday say that five persons have been drowned and seven killed by lightning. Severe damage has resulted from the storms.

In abundant measure, the revenue continues to extend, and there is satisfactory evidence of development and progress in all parts of the Dominion.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons: I thank you for the liberal provision which you have made for the increasing needs of the public service.

Honorable gentlemen of the Senate, gentlemen of the House of Commons: I trust that on your return to your homes you will find abundant evidence that the coming harvest will be bountiful, thus assuring for another year the prosperity which Canada happily enjoys.

EMPRESS OF RUSSIA, BREAKING ALL RECORDS ACROSS THE PACIFIC, ARRIVES TO-MORROW MORNING

PANAMA TOLLS WILL BE LONG UNSETTLED

Ships of All Nations May Pass
Before Exemption Matter
Decided

HOUSE COMMITTEE IS READY FOR BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., June 6.—Ships of all nations will be sailing through the Panama canal long before the question of tolls is settled, or if not the new House will likely repeal the clause granting exemption to United States coastwise shipping. The matter may be settled diplomatically, or it may be settled by the House of Representatives and Senate getting together and deciding to repeal the clause in the act which provides for exemption, but either settlement will take a long time. Diplomacy is necessarily a slow and cautious method, and the best information about the capitol seem to think the difference of opinion between the Senate and the House cannot be settled without a tussle.

Mr. Adamson, of the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce, has his committee in working shape now. He is unalterably opposed to free tolls, and believes that when the matter of no exemption comes before the House this session it will pass through. It was beaten last session by only sixteen votes, and the no-exemption supporters say there have been many defections from the free tolls supporters.

Some day in the near future some member of the House interstate and foreign commerce committee will introduce a resolution giving President Wilson power to suspend the exemption clause in the Panama Canal bill. This has been decided on for strategic reasons. The committee wishes to get something of the sort before congress to test out the sentiment of new members. Whether or not the president will take kindly to this method is not known by the members of the committee, as it is understood he has been careful not to discuss the matter with them.

A resolution by Representative Simms of Tennessee to repeal the exemption clause is now before the committee, along with several others, all aimed at making American ships pay tolls through the canal. Sooner or later Mr. Simms' resolution, which is really the crucial point of the whole controversy, will be taken up, and will be sent to Mr. Garrison, secretary of war, and his opinion will be sought. When he gives his opinion, the public will know what the administration's attitude is on the Panama Canal tolls situation.

MILLWORKERS STRIKE.

Duluth, Minn., June 6.—With more than 1500 men on strike and taking the first steps in the organization of a local millworkers' union, the five lumber mills in West Duluth and West End are still shut down to-day awaiting a compromise with the strikers' executive committee, which was instructed last night at a meeting to strike for a raise of ten per cent. in the wages of all millworkers.

ANOTHER NAVAL BILL PLANNED AT OTTAWA

Premier Borden Says Legislation Will Be Advanced for Three Battleships

REPETITION OF BILL AMENDED IN SENATE

Ottawa, June 6.—That the government intends at a later date to bring down legislation providing for the carrying out of the Naval Bill provision for acquiring, or construction of three first-class battleships, was the declaration of Premier Borden in the House this morning. The statement came in answer to a query of Sir Wilfrid Laurier regarding the future policy of the government.

In view of the fact that our proposals were made on the basis of information supplied to us by the British Admiralty, said the premier, "it may yet be possible to make right that which has been made wrong. Press dispatches state that three ships which Canada was to have constructed will be built by the British taxpayers. It is impossible for us to make any advances to that, and because mechanically the bill has been defeated by parliament, though really only by a few parties who do not represent the real desires of the Canadian people.

"As the three ships that will now be built by the Admiralty are to be of the same type as those we proposed, and are to be used for the same purpose, I do say that it is the intention of this government, if it remains in power as it undoubtedly will, to bring down at a later date a proposal for the acquiring or construction of three battleships as was proposed by the Naval Aid Bill of 1912, and we hope in that way before the completion of these ships, that we will be able to do that which a majority in the senate prevented us from doing. We shall take over and pay for those ships for the use of His Majesty for the common defence of the Empire."

The government, said Mr. Borden, had obtained the assent of the Lower House representing the people of Canada in carrying out their naval proposals, but the government did not obtain the assent of certain honorable gentlemen in the senate.

CARNEGIE STARTS ON JOURNEY TO BERLIN

Will Present Address to Emperor on Twenty-fifth Year of Reign

London, June 6.—Andrew Carnegie starts for Berlin to-night. Emperor William has fixed the morning of June 1 to receive him and his associates, Robert S. Brookings, of St. Louis, and Jacob C. Schindtapp, of Cincinnati, who are to present congratulatory addresses signed by many prominent Americans.

In communicating to Andrew Carnegie the date of the audience, Emperor William remarked that it would be the anniversary of the first morning he rose as Emperor twenty-five years ago. Mr. Carnegie considers the selection of the date a great honor to the United States and to the German elements there.

Militant demonstration on failure to maintain peace in England.

London, June 6.—Militant suffragettes to-day almost succeeded in interrupting the deliberations of the peace conference between the delegates of the Balkan allies and Turkey by organizing a demonstration outside St. James' Palace during the session. The women's freedom league called a meeting to protest against the government's supposition that it was able to secure peace abroad while unable to maintain peace at home.

The police warned the organizers that the meeting was illegal. A large crowd of hostile persons pulled the speakers from the wagon they were using as a platform and finally the police arrested three of the speakers.

CANADIAN BANKS DRAW BALANCES FROM ABROAD

New York, June 6.—The Journal of Commerce says: "Bank officials at this centre are more than usually concerned at reports that Canadian banks have withdrawn their balances at New York down to unusually low point and they also have small supplies of free funds in London. This movement on the part of banks is considered precautionary as an indication that the unbridled boom that Canada has been enjoying during the last few years is coming to its natural close."

HOME RULE BILL MONDAY.

London, June 5.—The Home Rule bill will come up in the Commons on Monday with a division on Tuesday.

EMPRESS OF RUSSIA BERTHS IN MORNING

Captain Beetham Heard From
by Wireless Four Hundred
Odd Miles Out

INSPECTION WILL BE AT THE OUTER WHARF

Record Steaming Time Across
Pacific Will Be Made By Her Arrival

CONFLICTING RUMORS REGARDING CALL HERE

At 6 o'clock to-morrow the Empress of Russia will show up at William Head quarantine station. Such is the purport of a wireless message received from Captain Beetham, commander of the new Empress on her maiden trip. This will result in the liner cutting down the period for which the Empress of Japan holds the blue ribbon of the Pacific from ten days, ten hours, to just over nine days. As far as is known the inspection by the immigration officials will be made at the outer wharf, as most of the passengers routed here are Chinese immigrants, and Dr. Milne does not figure on following the course adopted in the case of the Canadian-Australian liner Niagara, when the officials conducted the inspection on route from William Head.

She has been using her speed pretty generally throughout the trip to have cut down the record to this total. The weather, however, has been satisfactory across the Pacific, and troubles of this class have not arisen in the present instance. There are a great many invitations out for the arrival of the vessel, and a number of officials are in town to-day awaiting her arrival. Among those who are over are H. W. Brodie, general passenger agent, Vancouver, and Captain Archibald.

When it was discovered that the Empress of Russia could not visit port this afternoon, as had been announced, there were many disappointments, but the visitors have to wait till she shows up to-morrow to obtain a glimpse of the big palatial appointed steamer. Only those with tickets will be admitted to see the vessel, as both docks are now fenced in at the outer wharf. It is improbable they will keep her longer than is absolutely necessary on account of the reception which will take place in Vancouver for the welcome of the liner which has tentatively been set for 4 o'clock.

Many conflicting rumors were in the air to-day as to the arrangements for the berthing of the Empress of Russia. As the captain would not know of the dredging carried out by the Mastodon outside the outer docks, the local officials were uncertain whether he would make a landing, or berth in the stream, and it was decided to get in touch with the steamer to-morrow at William Head quarantine station to explain the situation. Since last he brought an Empress into Victoria harbor, there have been added another four feet to the depth, and now all large vessels can dock here with 33 feet at low tide.

The acting manager of the B. C. coast service is holding the Princess Royal in case it is necessary to go off for the Victoria passengers. No definite order can be given till the intentions of Capt. Beetham are known.

The cause of the mistake in the telegram published with regard to the arrival of the Empress arose from the fact that the Triangle Island wireless station reported the Empress 740 miles from Vancouver at 3 a.m. yesterday morning, which would bring the vessel to quarantine at 3 p.m. to-day. This morning's wireless message at the same hour gives her position as 460 miles from Vancouver, which is a misunderstanding or mistake in the former figures.

HOME RULE BILL MONDAY.

London, June 5.—The Home Rule bill will come up in the Commons on Monday with a division on Tuesday.

St. Petersburg, June 5.—Russia is openly siding with Servia in the Bulgarian quarrel over the division of territory won from Turkey. The belief is strong that unless an understanding is reached within two weeks, war will result between Servia and Bulgaria. Constantinople reports say that forces of Bulgarians are concentrating north and east of Salonica, in southern Macedonia. Bulgarian troops stationed at Bulair have left for Salonica, which also indicates that Bulgaria is actually preparing for a conflict with Greece.

SOLD AT AUCTION

Art Dealer Pays £6,550 for Correspondence Between Poet and Wife

London, June 6.—One of those sales, which even the most hardened collector rather deprecates, has been held at Sotheby's, the love-letters of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning passing into the hands of Mr. Sabin, the well known art dealer, for the enormous sum of £6,550.

Those who revel in statistics will be interested to know that there were in all 571 letters and, therefore, the price per letter works out at £11 9s. There were 284 letters from Robert Browning and 287 from Elizabeth Barrett Browning, and they were sold in the original cases in which they were always kept until they were sent for publication. They were the only letters ever written to each other by the Brownings as, after their marriage, they were never separated even for a day.

The sale of the Browning letters attracted an exceptionally large crowd, mainly ladies. The sale of the letters, however, was over in about a minute. Mr. Sabin started with a bid of £600 on which Mr. Quartich made an advance of £50, and the deal between the two continued until, as stated, the letters fell to Mr. Sabin for £6,550. Mr. Quartich, however, secured two lots of autograph letters and original manuscripts for £1130 and £930 respectively, including Mrs. E. Barrett Browning's autograph manuscript of "Sonnets from the Portuguese" and the original of "Aurora Leigh." Mr. Sabin secured for £520 the "Caterina to Camoens" manuscript.

EARTHLY COURT NOT FOR MODERN BUDDHA

Brahmin Youth Declares Himself Superior to Ruling of Any Tribunal

London, June 6.—Krishnamurtha, the Brahmin youth who is claimed by Mrs. Annie Besant and the Theosophists to be a reincarnation of Buddha, now declares himself superior to all earthly decrees or tribunals and refuses to obey the order of a Madras supreme court to return to his father.

The father, G. Narayan Iyer, claims improper conduct on the part of a noted Theosophist named Leadbeater, to whom Mrs. Besant originally gave the care of Iyer's two sons. The judge decided that the accusation of impropriety was not proved against Leadbeater, but pronounced him an immoral person, unfit to have charge of the youth.

The boys are now in the care of Miss Bright, daughter of a famous British statesman, John Bright. She is a woman of the highest character, who is preserving the youths not only from improper but, as far as possible, from worldly influences.

The boys have, nevertheless, directed that both boys be returned to their father, against which order an appeal has been taken. Meanwhile, Krishnamurtha and his brother are living quietly in Sussex.

Theosophists believe that handing the boys back to their father would be an act of desecration, and if the decree of the court is upheld on appeal it is probable that the reincarnated Buddha will not easily be located. Krishnamurtha was discovered by Mrs. Besant two years ago. He is now sixteen, and it is proposed to educate him at Oxford University, where he will be specially prepared for his career as a prophet and teacher to humanity. He is supposed to be one of the great spirits like Confucius, Mahomet and Christ, who periodically visit the earth with new messages and revelations. There are thousands of cultured people who recognize the boy as the new Messiah, and several titled ladies are numbered among the disciples of the young Brahmin.

The father of these two boys, who at first gave Mrs. Besant his consent to bring them to England, now wishes to recover control of them, claiming that he was the first to discover the "divinity" of his elder boy and to instruct him in esoteric doctrine.

SAYS MEASURE FOR BENEFIT OF GROWERS

Ottawa, June 6.—In the senate on a bill to amend the inspection and sales act Senator Davis said it was a measure introduced by Hon. Martin Burrell for the benefit of British Columbia fruit growers. The bill was given second reading and stands for committee consideration.

Calcutta, June 6.—A society organized for the purpose of waging war on British rule in India, with widespread ramifications, has been discovered. Documents found in the house contained proposals for corrupting the Sepoys in the military centres, plans for wholesale massacres, instead of isolated murder as at present, and also a list of names of the members of the society.

BERNE CONFERENCE AGAINST JINGOISM

French and German Delegates Pass Resolution to Prevent Misunderstandings

Berne, Switzerland, June 6.—In spite of the fact that the Berne conference limited itself to broad lines of discussion on the problem of the promotion of a better understanding between France and Germany, the fact that such a conference was held is itself a victory.

In the great hall of the university there were 234 French and German delegates. Of these 29 were German and 185 French. These figures will not seem so disproportionate when it is remembered that the French Chamber and the Senate contain a total of 900 members and the Reichstag less than 400.

A resolution was drawn up and assented to by the delegates of both countries declaring strongly against the campaign of jingoism and the guilty speculations which endangered the peace of the two nations, and affirmed that the vast majority of the people of both countries were in favor of peace.

It is resolved that the members of the conference should take all possible steps to prevent misunderstandings and conflicts, and sincerely thanked the representatives of Alsace-Lorraine for having facilitated the rapprochement between the two countries. The resolution finally declared its approval of the proposal made by Mr. Bryan, United States secretary of state, with regard to arbitration on treaties.

It also appointed a committee of the members of the conference with powers to call a similar meeting periodically.

WOODEN LEGGED DOG IS REGIMENT MASCOT

Intelligent Pointer Goes to Red Cross Hospital When Leg Is Severed

Chicago, June 6.—Nux Vomica is a pointer dog with an extraordinary brain and soon will be sporting a wooden leg. He is the self-appointed mascot of the Seventh Regiment, Illinois National Guard.

The dog with the medical name was a flood refuge at Cairo. He had been washed in from nobody knows where, and was chased around the streets like every one else, trying to find food and clean drinking water, when a train ran over his right foreleg and cut it off just above the first joint. Then the pointer demonstrated thinking ability. Dr. Thomas J. Sullivan, major-surgeon of the Seventh, tells the story thus:

"That dog saw the Red Cross sign of our hospital corps and came hobbling on to the barge we had transformed into a temporary hospital. Of course, we dressed the injured leg and then tried to discharge the patient, but couldn't. Every time anybody drove the dog away it came back whining to be taken in."

"From the moment we first dressed the injured leg the animal was near the camp. He got to know us by our uniforms. He wouldn't leave, so we brought him back to Chicago with us. When I had changed to civilian dress at the armory the dog left me. Couldn't get him into my automobile until Col. Moriarity had called one of the soldiers in uniform. The dog followed him into the machine and I brought him home."

"Why Nux Vomica? Well, when the Seventh was called out in 1898 a little fox terrier came to our camp. It was the life and ringer of the hospital corps. It was the necessary stimulant to make everybody good natured. We named it Nux Vomica. Later the dog was killed accidentally. This one is his namesake."

Major Sullivan took Nux Vomica to a manufacturer of artificial limbs. A little wooden leg with a rubber socket is being made.

MILITANTS' IMPUDENT WAYS HURTING CAUSE

Paris, June 6.—Mme. Jules Zigrif, wife of a former French cabinet minister and president of the French National Association of Women is strongly opposed to the tactics adopted by the militant suffragettes.

"Many of the delegates to the international congress of women in Paris look upon such manifestations with intense disapproval," said Mme. Zigrif. "The militant suffragettes are behaving as though they were insane. Their impudent and dangerous demonstrations hurt the cause of woman-kind."

AUSTRALIAN ELECTION HAVING CLOSE FINISH

Melbourne, June 6.—Labor has still a chance to secure a majority in the federal election, although it is probable that the state of the parties will be Liberal, 33; Labor, 27. There are two seats still in doubt, and both might go to the Labor party, giving them a majority of one. The counting is not nearly completed yet, and the absent voting has been heavy. Neither of the party leaders will make any statements, which fact indicates that the result is still in doubt.

PARLIAMENT CLOSING SESSION VOTES FUNDS AT RATE OF MILLIONS PER HOUR

Highway Bill Killed When Government Refuses to Concur in Amendments Made by Senate to Divide Money on Basis of Provincial Population

Ottawa, Ont., June 5.—Between 8 and 9 o'clock last night the House settled down to the task of putting through the twenty-three millions of supplementary estimates, in order that the morning might be devoted to concurrence and to the clearing up of a few rag ends of legislation. This meant that the money had to be voted at the rate of several million dollars an hour. The result was that there was no discussion at all on the majority of the items, while speeches were made brief.

The prolonged debate of the day occurred on the highways bill. Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways, moved that the amendments made by the Senate be not concurred in. The motion was opposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberals, who contended that the Senate was quite right in providing that the money should be divided amongst the various provinces on the basis of population, as well as in striking out the clause of the bill authorizing the minister of railways to construct roads anywhere in the Dominion. They argued that the proposed grant of $1,500,000 should be divided among the various provinces.

It was maintained by Premier Borden and the Conservatives who spoke that the money in the subsidies to be submitted to the House is divided amongst the provinces on the basis of population, but that the federal government was entitled to keep control over the money it was proposed to vote.

The debate was marked by rather a heated quarrel between R. B. Bennett, Calgary; Hon. R. Rogers and Hon. Frank Oliver, in which references were made to happenings in connection with elections in Alberta and Manitoba. The language used was so warm that the Speaker intervened on a number of occasions and demanded retractions.

The motion not to concur in the Senate amendments was carried, which means that for a second time the highways bill has been killed owing to the failure of two Houses to agree as to the terms of the bill. The House declined to agree to certain amendments made in the I. C. R. branch lines bill, and if the Senate does not yield a conference will be held to-morrow between the representatives of the two Houses.

Probably the last division of the session occurred after 1 o'clock in connection with the consideration of the item of $1,500,000 for Dominion highways, which it was proposed to spend under the highways bill.

F. B. Carvell explained that as the two Houses could not agree as to the terms of the bill, the minister of railways should vote the money to the various provinces as a straight subsidy. He said it would prove to be an interesting experiment and would result in good.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane, having declined to agree to the request, Mr. Carvell moved an amendment striking out the reference to the highways bill, thereby making the vote a straight subsidy proposition.

W. F. Nickle, Kingston, who was presiding over the committee, ruled this amendment out of order on the ground that it changed to direction of the vote. Mr. Carvell appealed from the ruling, the Speaker was summoned and the House divided. The ruling of the chair was sustained by a division of 42 to 21, a government majority of 21.

Debate on Highways Bills.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in opening the debate on Hon. F. Cochrane's motion that the House should not concur in Senate amendments to the highways bill, said it was regrettable that there should be a difference of opinion between the House of Commons and the Senate on this bill. He read to the House the bill as passed and reviewed the amendments which had been made in the upper chamber. He could not, he said, see why the government declined to put in the wording of the bill that which they insisted they put in practice—namely, that the division of the appropriation for good roads should be on a basis of population.

The same question arose last year, he said, and there was the same difference of opinion. It was a question: Should the Commons give way to the Senate? No doubt that question would become an issue in an election, and the people would decide it. In this case, he thought the Commons should certainly give way to the Senate, because reason was with the Upper House and not the Commons. Sir Wilfrid dealt with the question of the division of the appropriation among the provinces on population basis. He said that previous had been put upon the government from some quarters that the distribution be not by population.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane: That is not true. Sir Wilfrid held that such a demand had come from British Columbia, on the ground that roads were more difficult to build there than in other provinces. He said that although the appropriation might be divided on the population basis this year, it might be made in quite another way next year. It had been said that it would be more convenient to have the appropriation provided for in the supply bill, but he would point out that the Senate cannot amend the supply bill, and if the supply bill of next year should provide for an appropriation on a basis different from that of this year, it would be impossible of amendment by the Upper House. The whole supply bill would be thrown out.

Section 6 of the bill had been rejected by the Senate. Apparently, said Sir Wilfrid, this section contemplated that Canada intended going into highway building in the provinces.

Jurisdiction of Province.
Without imputing any motives, what reason was there why the government should undertake highway construction anywhere? That was a matter under the jurisdiction of the provinces. The legislature of Saskatchewan expressed its opinion, as had the premier of Quebec, who, in an interview of May 3, said that the principle was encroached upon provincial rights, and, if carried out, the provinces would have to barter their rights and prerogatives, or go without. He had pointed out that the Dominion government might do the same thing with regard to schools, and perhaps at that dictate the course of study, etc.

Sir Wilfrid said that there had been two measures this session to give aid to the provinces. The one providing aid for agriculture called for a division among the provinces on the basis of their population. He could not see why the same principle was not observed in the highway bill.

PORTLAND TO GOVERN ON COMMISSION PLAN

New Order Commences July 1 With Insurance Man at Head of Civic Affairs

Portland, Or., June 6.—Beginning July 1 Portland will operate under the recently adopted city charter with H. R. Albee, an insurance man, as the first mayor under the new law. He will serve for four years. With him as associates in the management of the city's business will be R. G. Dieck and Will Daly as commissioners for four years, and C. A. Bigelow and William L. Brewster as commissioners for two years.

Dieck is an engineer and his much to do with the establishment of sanitary conditions in Manila under the commission form of government there. Brewster is an attorney of considerable local prominence. Bigelow is a merchant and Daly is a printer by trade and a leader in local unionism. The four commissioners each will draw an annual stipend of $5,000, while the people voted $5,000 yearly for the mayor.

Two women candidates for commissionerships made poor showings in the count of the ballots.

CALL ON TURKEY TO MODIFY HER DEMAND

Balkan Premiers Will Meet at Salonica Sunday for Discussion on Situation

London, June 6.—Unless Turkey modifies her pretensions demands for peace delegates may hold no further meetings here after to-day. Briefly, Turkey refuse to satisfy the Greek claims to the re-enactment of the privileges enjoyed before the war by Hellenic subjects residing in Turkish territory. While refusing this Turkey demands from the Allies still greater privileges for Turkish subjects. The gulf is so wide at a continuation of the meeting in St. James' Palace seems useless.

The delegates attempt to reconcile the claims of Turkey and Greece on the basis of arrangements made at the time of the Berlin treaty, but there is little hope this will succeed. If Turkey continues obdurate it is probable that the delegates will leave London at an early date.

The Daily Telegraph's Belgrade correspondent says that the meeting of the Balkan premier has been arranged to take place at Salonica on Sunday. A touch of humor has been added to the Greek-Bulgarian dispute by the Bulgarian request that Greece provide a ship for the transportation of the Bulgarian forces from Thessaly to Kavala. To this Greece replied that all her ships were busy ferrying troops between Piraeus and Salonica.

MISS DAVIDSON WORSE.

Epsom, June 6.—The condition of Miss Emily Wilding Davidson, the militant suffragette who was so severely injured while interfering with the King's horse in the Derby on Wednesday, became much worse to-day. She passed a restless night and the doctors consider the symptoms grave. An operation probably will be necessary.

NEW QUEEN OF THE PACIFIC.

The breaking of records on the Pacific ocean is not a frequent occurrence, but when a cut is made it is one worthy of special consideration. It is not a matter of hours or minutes, as on the Atlantic, but one of days. For purposes of comparison the performances of vessels sailing from southern ports on this continent may be passed over without comment, because physical conditions effectually prevent them from attempting to compete with their more fortunately situated rivals in the north. One consequence of this feature is that the C. P. R.—that supreme Canadian institution whose name is now almost as familiar in the mouths of Europeans as it is in the minds of Canadians with pride of proprietorship—has established a monopoly in record-breaking. Why the railway lines operating across the southern side of the continent impudently admit the supremacy of the Canadian institution in this matter is possibly one of the mysteries of transportation. But so it is. This condition of affairs is the finest possible tribute to the genius of the men who guide the destinies of the C. P. R. It was a Canadian Pacific boat, the old Parthia, a tiny thing compared with the newest record-breaker, that made the first mark of any consequence on the Pacific. The Empress of Japan eclipsed the record of the Parthia by two days. Now in turn the C. P. R. steamer Empress of Russia establishes herself beyond dispute as the Empress of the Pacific. But it is not only in point of speed that this new monarch of the seas lays claim to pride of position. In all her appointments she is worthy of her regal position. Victoria, bearing a royal name, delights in paying homage to this queen of the seas.

When we think of the progress in marine architecture on this part of the Pacific during the last twenty years, we are constrained to speculate upon the possible developments of the succeeding twenty years, with Canada progressing at the rate she is doing. But it is not only in ocean transportation that the C. P. R. is leading the way. Consider what is taking place in coastwise shipping. Compare the Princess Charlotte with the old Charmer, or even with the Islander, once the particular pride of Victorians. And the Princess Charlotte within a short time will be compelled to lower her flag to still faster, bigger and more luxuriant sisters of the Princess breed. Whatever more timid spirits may think as to what the future has in store for this part of Canada, there is large faith in the breasts of Bosworth and Troup, who control the respective destinies of the ocean and coastwise shipping of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

EXIT CONTRIBUTION POLICY

We are now informed that in consequence of the action of the Senate in regard to the naval bill, the admiralty proposes to lay down three dreadnoughts immediately instead of next March, as was originally intended. More particulars than those contained in the dispatches, perhaps, would be desirable, because the Canadian press of late has been in receipt of a generous supply of "announcements" inspired by that industrious coterie of centralizers in London and designed purely to influence public sentiment in this country—announcements such as those contained in the Churchill letter reflecting upon the capacity and enterprise of the Canadian people.

Why did Mr. Borden ask parliament to vote $35,000,000 as a contribution to the admiralty? Because, he said, the admiralty informed him that Great Britain was threatened in the North Sea. The German menace, he declared, had become so potent that Old England himself was in danger. At the same time on three occasions in the British House of Commons Mr. Churchill stated definitely that the proposed Canadian ships would be "in addition" to the measures regarded as necessary for the protection of British interests in home waters. Following these assurances came the announcement of Admiral von Tirpitz that the sixteen to ten margin of British superiority was conceded by Germany, an announcement which paved the way for the friendly interchanges now in progress between the two great powers which promise to bear fruit in the restoration of the old time amity.

The Canadian and Malay ships, however, were excluded from the margin conceded by Germany and accepted by Mr. Churchill, so it was decided by the Admiralty to organize them into a new world squadron to be stationed at Gibraltar. This new fleet, as Mr. Churchill said, would make periodical cruises around the world, and in fine would be an empire service squadron. But mark how the emergency had disappeared! We were told that it was because of the German menace in home waters that we should make our contribution, and then Mr. Churchill announced that our ships were not to be devoted to this purpose at all, but were to form part of a round-the-world fleet based on Gibraltar. Then the contributionists in this country shifted their ground. It was no longer the German menace in the North Sea that alarmed them. The three ships were declared to be an "Imperial necessity," in other words, to be available for some possible menace not now in sight but which might arise some time in the future.

When it was clearly shown that there was no emergency which required immediate aid from Canada, the excuse for sending $35,000,000 to the admiralty ceased to exist and the fact that notwithstanding this Mr. Borden, encouraged by the admiralty, persisted in his contributory proposal proves that an attempt was made to tie Canada up to a system of permanent contributions, which every thinking man knows would have inevitably ended in disaster. And in this connection we would point out that the admiralty's present action shows how impossible it would have been for Canada to have escaped the contributory system once she made that contribution to the world service squadron at Gibraltar.

Canada's duty in the situation has been made abundantly clear. It certainly is not to adopt the permanent contributory system. It assuredly is not to protect the Mediterranean and leave her own coasts and trade routes unprotected. She should begin at once in the organization of a naval service, just as she organized her militia service, on the Australian model. Thus far her immense interests, just as important to her as the Mediterranean interests are to the Old Country, are absolutely unprotected. The Naval Service Act of 1909 is still on the statute books though Mr. Borden says he will repeal it. Let him proceed under it at once. It will enable him to have dreadnoughts built in Britain while Canadian yards can turn out the smaller cruisers. His contributory proposal is dead and cannot be resurrected, because it is opposed to the genius of Canadian development and aspirations. Let him show that Canada can do what every other nation of any importance in the world is doing.

A few days ago our contemporary, in showing the necessity for the stationing of the proposed Canadian and Malay ships at Gibraltar, pointed out how essential it was that British interests in the Mediterranean should be amply protected. That is precisely what we have been saying all along. It is quite natural for the admiralty to consider first and foremost the strategic situation in the Mediterranean, but what about the defenceless condition of the Pacific coast? What might be a good proposition for the admiralty might be a bad one for British Columbia. When Australia abandoned the contributory policy in favor of an Australian navy this was one of the points her statesmen emphasized in regard to her own situation.

Japan has almost completed a 30,000-ton dreadnought and has ordered three more, all to be constructed in Japanese yards. These will be among the largest, if not the largest, battleships afloat. It was but a few years ago that Japan launched her first ironclad. Canada, we are informed, could not learn to build ships like that. We have no trained riveters; no solid ground for a heavy plant; no specially constructed steel furnaces and travelling cranes, at least so Mr. Churchill says, while Mr. Borden points out that oil tanks, etc., are more in our line. Well, the contributory scheme is dead, and if Mr. Borden does not want to let Canadians show what they can do, he had better get out and let somebody in who will.

Political arena again by the alliance of Mr. Borden with the Quebec Nationalists, who stumped their province against the Laurier bill and against a naval policy of any kind. The Colonist knows this, but it appears to be constitutionally incapable of telling the truth, or, as we have said, of sincerity or honesty.

Premier Borden says he has not made up his mind as to the course of action of the government as a consequence of the amendment by the Senate of the naval bill. That is characteristic of the Premier. He will probably go to England again and consult the Admiralty. Then he will make up his mind. He will come back to Canada and consult "Bob" Rogers and the Nationalists respecting his consultations with the Admiralty—and probably unmake his mind once more. We do not know that any Premier ever presented a more undignified figure. And it is all a consequence of his alliance with the anti-British Nationalists.

It is reported that Mr. Borden will hold another conference with the admiralty regarding defence. How would it do to discuss the question of a Canadian naval organization and the protection of British interests on the Pacific for a change? Gibraltar may be a fine strategic base from the admiralty point of view, but what about the point of view of the Canadian on this coast?

The trusts of the United States have already been reduced to a position of abject submission to the will of the people as a result of the late elections. All the braggadocio has been knocked out of them. The trusts of Canada, rule the roost and crow lustily, secure in their more limited sphere than the trusts of the United States ever were, in the absolute ownership of the Borden government.

Senator Riley says Mr. Borden will not go to the country on his contributory policy, because he knows the people of Canada do not approve of it. The Premier would be only too glad to take a chance if he thought the people were behind him.

The London Advertiser pertinently says an Imperial conference on Pacific defence is to be held in the autumn. What right has Canada to be represented? Her government has forsaken the cause of naval defence in the Pacific, and is sinking $35,000,000 in the Mediterranean.

The Hill Climbing Contest for the 'Spectator' Trophy, held on Victoria Day, under the auspices of the Hamilton Automobile Club, attracted thousands of people to the course, including many from Montreal, Toronto and other points. The contest comprised three classes. Cars rated over 35 h.p., between 26 and 35 h.p., and 26 h.p. or under. The R.A.C. rating was used, in which the bore and stroke of the engine formed the basis of the horse power. The course from the John Street hay market to the summit of the Strongman Road served as an excellent test by reason of the sharp, or hair-pin turns in the course up the mountainside. These turns had to be negotiated slowly, and tested to the fullest extent the flexibility and power of the motor. The Russell-Knight '26,' driven by Mr. W. R. Bennett, won in class No. 2, and clearly demonstrated its superiority over the other cars entered. This excellent motor had no difficulty in negotiating the steep hill or series of hills, including the sharp turns, faster than any of the others. The time for this distance was 2:53. THOS. BOX SOCIAL HELD.

Junior W. C. T. U. Holds Auction of Refreshments and Adds $5.00 to Funds.

Last evening the Young People's branch of the W. C. T. U. held a very enjoyable box social at the residence of Mrs. Williscroft, the ladies' daintily prepared baskets of sandwiches and cakes being auctioned off to the gentlemen of the party, and the sum of $5.00 being realized as a result of the sale. The evening was pleasantly passed by the members in listening to a delightful informal musical programme, those taking part in this being Mrs. Woods, Miss Fletcher, Miss Renfree, Mr. Richards, who sang; and Miss Oates and Miss Romney-Jubb, who gave recitations. Mr. Alexander acted as emcee during the evening the guests passed the time pleasantly with games and other pastimes. At the conclusion of the entertainment a vote of thanks was passed to the hostess for her hospitality, followed by the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

ELK LAKE VERY LOW.

No Emergency Now, However, Because of Esquimalt Water Supply.

Engineer Rust paid a visit to Elk Lake yesterday afternoon and stated this morning that the water is as low now as it was at the end of the summer last year. This is a striking proof of the growth of the city's population and the districts surrounding which the city supplies with water.

Little former year, the lowness of the lake does not imply any scarcity of water, however, Mr. Rust says, as the Esquimalt supply will more than meet the shortage. More and more water will have to be taken from the Goldstream supply as the lake goes lower, but fortunately there is plenty to keep the city well supplied.

ALBIONS WON.

Albion B team defeated the Saanich cricketers on Tuesday in a splendid exhibition of batting on the Saanich grounds. The locals made 255 in their first innings and this proved more than the Saanich bats could do in their two innings, the locals winning easily.

Lloyd, Kirkham, Smith and Ashby were high bats, while Hallam was Saanich's best scorer. The work of Beale, the Albions' wicket keeper, was a feature of the match, Cuthbert and Foster doing some excellent bowling on a fast wicket.

The local eleven were afterwards the guests of the Saanich club at luncheon, while the ladies dispensed tea during the afternoon.

BLANCHE BATES COMING.

"The Witness for the Defence," a new play by A. E. W. Mason, will serve as a medium to introduce Blanche Bates again to local theatre-goers at the Victoria theatre, Friday, June 13. Miss Bates will portray the role of a young woman living in India, who kills her brutal husband in self-defence and, subsequently, in England, falls in love, and through pressure of circumstances is forced into revealing her past.

SCHOOL BOYS GO TO SIDNEY CADET CAMP

Boy Scouts and Boys' Brigades Will Also Be Allowed to Participate This Year

The cadet camp which is to be held at Sidney for all cadet corps from the 21st to 26th July will be open for this year only to all schools, boys' brigades, and boy scouts as well.

It is desired that the principal of each school should inform Major A. B. Snow, organizing inspector of cadets, Victoria, as soon as possible of the number of boys intending to take advantage of the camp.

All teachers in possession of cadet instructors' certificates and all those taking an interest in the cadet movement are heartily invited to attend.

All those attending will be issued their transport to and from camp and rations during the six days of training.

QUESTIONS LEGALITY OF A SUNDAY AGREEMENT

Novel Point is Raised by the Defence in Suit Over Land at Claycoquet

The legality of an agreement drawn up on a Sunday is the point raised by the defence in a realty action brought on before Mr. Justice Morrison in the Supreme Court yesterday.

This action is taken by William Simpson and Walter T. Dawley, of Claycoquet, against Edmund Proestler, of the same place, to compel delivery of lands at Long Bay in accordance with an agreement for sale of acreage and for an order declaring the contract valid and subsisting.

Mr. Proestler raises the novel point in his defence that the contract is not legal, having been entered into on a Sunday—June 9, 1912—and he also alleges that the plaintiffs knew at the time that he was the holder of a pre-emptor's record only.

YOU WHO CAMP

Have you ever considered how much good music would add to the pleasure you derive from life in the open?

Do you realize that THE COLUMBIA can fill the places of a hundred highly cultivated artists around your camp fire? No need to entertain it; it is never "put out"; never grumpy; it is always ready to sing a song, tell a story, or give an instrumental selection.

The cost is very small. We have Columbias priced at $20, $26, $32.50, $45, $65 and as high as $250. They are in various sizes and styles, but all 100 per cent satisfactory.

We do not ask you to pay for your instrument when you take it. Just give us a few dollars down and you can have the instrument to enjoy from that moment. All we ask is a small monthly payment until the instrument is wholly paid for. You will hardly notice the money going out.

A Demonstration Interesting to Women Is Now Going On In Our Store on the Subject of Pond's Tampons

Pond's Tampons constitute a form of treatment which has been universally employed and endorsed by leading physicians. For over six years the medical profession has demonstrated the power of this simple common-sense form of treatment to relieve and, in many cases completely cure, those distressing headaches, backaches and general nervous breakdowns peculiar to women.

The time has come when the originators of POND'S TAMPONS feel absolutely justified in their decision to place this wonderful system within the reach of every wife, mother and daughter. They believe that when modest women realize how much of unnecessary suffering can be prevented, how many cases of terror-inspiring surgical operations can be avoided, and how many women can be restored and kept in a glorious, vibrant, beauty-bringing condition of health by this simple, inexpensive, painless home treatment, that a supply of Pond's Tampons will be kept in every home in the land.

Do not fail to visit this demonstration. It lasts all this week. If you cannot visit us during the demonstration, ask some one in our Drug Department to give you a booklet of interesting information about Pond's Tampons.

Demonstration on first floor, near elevator.

Shipping News from Day to Day

BRITISH SHIPS ARE CARRIERS FOR FLEET

American Pacific Squadron Obtains Supplies from West Virginia in Foreign Bottoms

It is not surprising that mutterings should be heard in the newspapers of the American side against the large number of British ships which have received charters for loading coal from Norfolk and other Virginia ports for the Pacific fleet, which is burning Pocahontas coal from West Virginia. These British bottoms arrive on the coast of the North Pacific at a time when they come into competition with American ships in the open charter market. While the Pacific ships are busy in the Alaska trade these vessels bring coal round the Horn, making several thousand dollars on the business, and then in seeking a charter, they come into direct competition with American shipping at a slack time.

The United States government burns a quarter of a million tons of Virginian coal a year on the Pacific coast, while the Alaska fields are not developed, hence it has to come round the Horn in chartered vessels.

There are some 26 British ships so chartered, and of these six will go to Honolulu. Then a large quantity of coal is taken from Newcastle, N. S. W., to Alaska for the government revenue cutters, while the coal deposits of the north are not worked. Now that British Columbia coal exports are checked by the strike fuel will cost more to the Alaskans than ever, and large consumers are joining the chorus of protest.

CAPTAIN E. BEETHAM, R. N. R.

The commander of the Empress of Russia is commodore of the C. P. R. Pacific fleet and has been in the service 22 years. For the last twelve years he has been captain and has command of the Tartar and other steamers, being now promoted from the Empress of India to the new liner.

CAPTAIN TROUP STATES DIMENSION OF VESSELS

In an interview in Montreal, Captain Troup, manager of the B. C. coast service, gives the first information about the dimensions, speed, and accommodation of the two turbine Princesses which are to be built at the yards of Denny Brothers at Dumbarton.

The vessels will be approximately 5000 tons register, and 375 feet long between perpendiculars, 35 feet overall, 50 foot beam, and 29 feet deep. They will have cruiser sterns, and be driven by oil burning turbine engines of 13,000 horse power, and have a contract speed of 22 1/2 knots. There will be accommodation for 450 first class and about 50 second class passengers. The steamers will rival any of the coastal boats plying around Great Britain.

Captain Troup is now on his way west, after an absence of some months from the city.

TEES IS DELAYED ONE DAY ON SCHEDULE

Although the amended schedule called for the departure of the Tees yesterday for the long trip to Holberg, the large amount of freight taken north on the recent run delayed the vessel, and she did not berth till 6 o'clock last evening. As coal and freight have to be loaded it is not expected that the steamer will leave for the West Coast till this evening.

Officers did not see much of the whaling industry at Sechart on this occasion, but will probably call in to bring down products of the mammoth on the present run. Fishing is brisk in the canneries, and some of the fishermen report good catches. The weather was very good, and the Tees enjoyed as smooth a passage as can be expected on the exposed littoral of the West Coast.

KEEMUN BERTHS AT NOON FROM ORIENT

Holt Liner Brings Rich Cargo of Silk, and Large Tonnage for Local Ports

TAKES PLACE OF TEUCER FROM LIVERPOOL

Toyo Kisen Company Will Call at Hawaiian Port en Route to South America

With some 1,600 tons of freight for this port, and a valuable silk cargo, the Holt liner Keemun berthed at the outer docks this afternoon, soon after noon.

The Blue Funnel liner has about 222 passengers for British Columbian destinations, divided between Vancouver and this port. For Vancouver there is about 5,000 tons of general cargo. The Keemun, which is the last of the China Mutual Steam Navigation Company's vessels now in the Oriental service of Alfred Holt & Co., left Yokohama on May 24 for the run across the Pacific ocean. She takes the scheduled sailing of the Teucer, which was listed to leave Liverpool at the end of March. Captain R. Conrad brings the Keemun to this coast, and most of the officers are well known here.

The captain told the Times that he had had delightful weather, and had made a good run. He is 70 days out from Liverpool, which was left on March 23. He said that the cargo for British Columbia and Puget Sound ports was divided as follows: Victoria, 1,804; Vancouver, 5,222; Seattle, 1,565, and Tacoma, 2,226 tons, a total of 10,357 tons for North Pacific ports.

In connection with the silk cargo, of which there were 200 bales, valued at over half a million dollars, it appears that the export of waste silk from Kobe is increasing steadily, and has been for the past three years. The value last year of wastes exported was over 700,000 yen. At the end of this month the export of the new season's waste silk will commence.

News is brought by the Keemun that it is the intention of the Toyo Kisen line to send those steamers running on the South American line to Hiro, a port of Hawaii. The Anyo Maru will be the first steamer to call at Hiro, where the first visit will be paid in the first week of July. She will be followed by the Buyo and Kiyu Maru in succession. Part of nitrate shipped from Chile is to be landed at Hawaii to be converted into fertilizer for the sugar plantations, while some will be brought to Japan for match making.

The Keemun will be followed by the Ajax, now loading in the Far East. The Holt liner will get away for the Sound late this afternoon.

MARKLAND LEAVES FOR SOUTH TO-MORROW

Captain Cameron Will Take Former Sealer to San Francisco

To-morrow the sealing schooner Markland will leave to report to her new owners, W. Loiza & Co., of San Francisco. Captain Oscar Cameron will take the schooner south, and a crew is being signed for the trip. The old sealer will be operated in an inter-port trade on the Mexican route. Since the sale was completed a week ago the vessel has been overhauled. Power will be installed at the Golden Gate before she resumes her new engagement. The Markland is one of the best known of the sealers which formerly belonged to the Victoria sealing fleet.

The director of the company, Frank Adams, who has negotiated the sales since the auction last summer, states that other sealers may be disposed of in the near future, as there are still some of the pick of the fleet which have not found purchasers.

STEEL TWO HUNDRED MILES FROM RUPERT

Rail Head is Now at Boulder Creek, Where Bridge is Under Construction

The local agents of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway are informed that steel has been laid to mile 199, or 18 miles beyond New Hazelton, the present rail head being Boulder Creek, where a steel bridge is almost completed. After this bridge has been finished steel will be rushed eastward.

West of Tete Jaune Cache the railway has been constructed to McBride, near Goat River, and a further advance is expected at an early date.

CANNOT GIVE DATE OF SAILING AS YET

Cheslakee's Oil Burners Have Yet to Be Tested—Under New Name

Although the manager of the Union Steamship Company, E. H. Bealey, has been in the city conferring with the local agent, J. Barnsley, in connection with the Cheslakee, he had to return without obtaining any definite information from the B. C. Marine railways with regard to the date when the Cheslakee will be available.

The repairs and transformation to an oil burner have taken some time, and as there does not happen at the present time to be an inspector in the city to give a certificate, it would not be possible to take the vessel out till that certificate had been issued. Therefore it may be some days before the steamer passes into the hands of her owners again. Meanwhile other boats are covering her run among the logging camps and settlements.

It is stated that she will be renamed the Cheska, as soon as the necessary permission has been obtained from the department of marine at Ottawa.

HEADLIGHTS

A convincing answer to those who doubt the possibility of establishing shipbuilding industries on the Pacific coast is found in the latest contract awarded the Seattle Construction and Dry Dock Company by the United States Government, of the contract for building the giant steel naval submarine tender Bushnell, which will cost $337,000. The Bushnell will be 400 feet long and have a displacement of 3500 tons. She will be driven by turbine engines of high power, and the contract will call for delivery in 21 months. She is to be a floating submarine repair shop attached to the Pacific fleet.

The small seine fishing craft on Puget Sound, which during the winter and spring have been fishing for halibut with from one to four dories are obtaining such rich returns for the fish they bring in from the Cape Flattery and Vancouver island banks, now that a strike is on, that they have not begun to prepare for the salmon season, and may continue halibut fishing for some time yet.

After the Sanuki Maru had been forced stern across the wharf here on Wednesday by the wind, it was thought desirable to send a diver down, and make an examination of her bows. He ascertained that no damage had been sustained. The Sanuki will make another voyage to this port before being sent back on the Kobe-Bombay route.

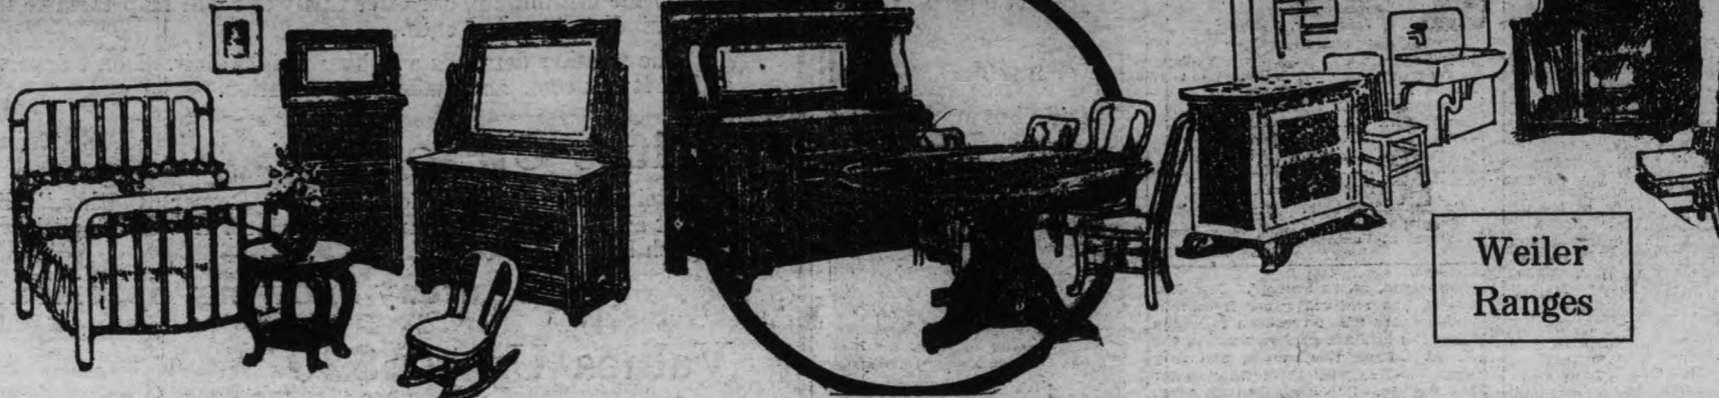

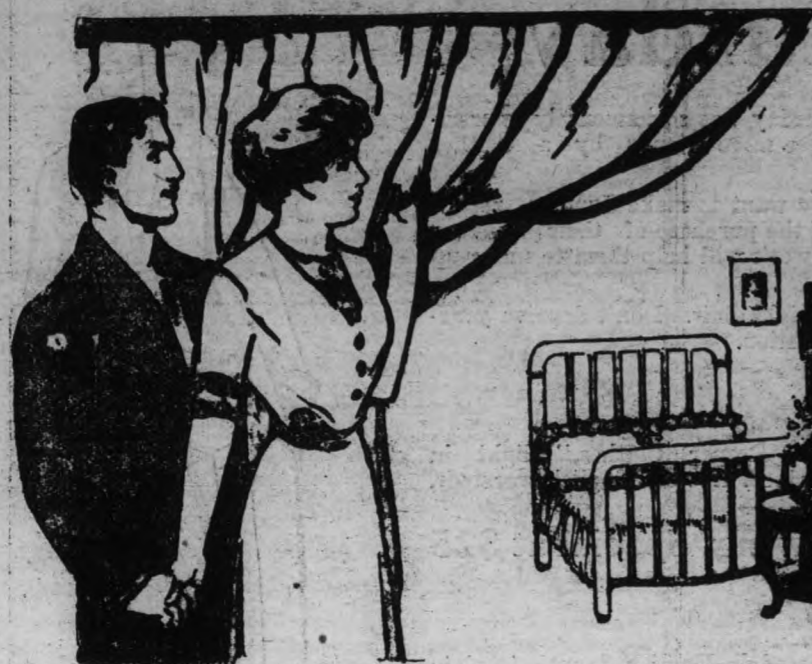

Information is to hand that the Saxonia, the second vessel operated by the Hamburg-America line, left Kobe on Thursday week, and should have left Yokohama on Thursday for this port, where she is expected June 20.

The steamer Edith, which operates between Seattle and British Columbia, passed in to Seattle yesterday in tow of the Wildwood, being in a disabled condition. The nature of the breakdown is unknown.

When You Furnish, Take the Drudgery Out of House Work

Looking Into The Future

We need wait no longer. It seems like a dream, but it is a fact that we can have a beautiful and comfortable home and pay for it as we can

Weiler Ranges

The "Acme" Washer Does the Hard Work, You Direct It

The weight of the tub rests on 16 steel balls, the slightest push starts the machine and powerful springs keep it moving.

When the tub revolves, the clothes don't move but the water dashes like a mill-race through and through the threads forcing out the dirt.

No rubbing. That means that even the most delicate lace curtains or linens may be washed without fear of tearing.

Positively, this machine will save its cost in laundry bills within a few months. Your clothes will wear longer, less buttons to re sew and all this without real hard work.

Price Only $10

10 per cent less for cash, or easy terms arranged if you desire them.

Do You Experience Any Trouble With Your Cooking?

"Weiler" Ranges Will Cut Out the Trouble and Save You Cost in Fuel

This is not an idle boast but a fact we are ready to demonstrate. Before taking these ranges into stock, we tested them thoroughly and have an absolute guarantee from the manufacturers.

Gas Ranges costing only a slight increase over the ordinary range, but offering a saving of from 10 to 40 per cent on your gas bills, to say nothing of your cleaning. White enamel oven as easily cleaned as dishes, double the life of the range, and perfect baking, or cooking, conditions at all times.

Connections free. Easy terms arranged to meet your convenience.

Soft Coal and Wood Ranges, second to none on the market, are now being shown in a variety of sizes. There's lots to tell about them and if you will visit the store we shall be pleased to show to you why we claim they are the best.

PORTLAND EVENING GAME

EASTLEY COPS MOUND BATTLE

Locals Could Not Hit in the Pinches—Two Games for Saturday

Portland went ahead on the series at the Ball Park last night when Eastley won a twirlers' duel over Narveson, the Pippins' mound artist being tighter in the pinches, while the walks which the local gunner handed out were fatal to Victoria's chances for a win. In addition to this a boot allowed the Portland club to jam their second run across, while they belted another over the pan in the seventh with three successive singles. It was the best exhibition of baseball during the present series, and a firm of the lack would have switched the victory to the locals. Hits were not forthcoming when they were needed, and the visitors walked off with their third win of the week.

Good Twirling.

Narveson, after the first inning, pitched nice ball, plenty good enough to win, but Eastley, who opposed him, was also going at top speed, and the fans were shown some real pitching. The Portlander had better support, and the game with proved rather costly. Victoria's clouting brigade, with the exception of Meek, who soaked out three safeties, failed to hit in the pinches and in the eighth, with only one down, Victoria failed to score more than one run, an infeld out accounting for that tally. A good healthy swing would have broken up the game at this stage, but Eastley tightened up and allowed but seven hits off his delivery. Felts fanned three times, Eastley, apparently having the goat of our flaxen haired outer gardener, Lou Nordyke also pulled a costly bone in right field that cost a run, while a misplay by Lamb cost another. A couple of smart double plays helped atone for these boots, but the Bees did not have their batting clothes on and the Pippins three runs proved as good as a thousand.

Two Games To-Morrow.

To-day's game will be played at 4 o'clock, while there will be two combats staged at the ball park to-morrow, the first at 2:30 and the second at 6:10. Mike Lynch will work Kanteleher, and probably Fitzgerald, should the Sacramento slab artist arrive in time. Bert Delmas may also get back into the game to-morrow, which will allow Swain to go into right field. Should Fitzgerald deliver the goods, and the University twirler also prove up to the mark, Alberta will be played in the outfield permanently.

Want Kippert.

That Ed Kippert, Vancouver's star outfielder, will go up to the big league

This season, seems assured. President Brown has received offers from four club owners who have been following Kippert's brilliant performances in the N. W. League this season, and they want to close with the local club for his services. Bob has taken all offers under consideration, and a deal may go through this week. Kippert is right up at the top in N. W. League batting averages this season, and his fielding has been a feature of all games.

LUTHER McCARTY.

Springfield, Mo., June 6.—Application to be appointed administrator of the estate of Luther McCarty, heavy-weight fighter killed in a bout with Arthur Pelky, was filed in the probate court here to-day by Otto Ippman, representing the dead champion's widow. Ippman managed the bouts here in which McCarty first attracted attention. The McCarty estate consists of $2800 on deposit in a Los Angeles bank, four lots on a beach near Boston and other possessions totalling $11,000. McCarty left no will. His widow and two-year-old daughter are his only heirs.

JOHNSON WILL NOT GIVE UP FREEDOM

Chicago, June 6.—Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion pugilist, was sentenced to one year and one day in the state prison, and in addition, fined $1000. Sentence was pronounced on Johnson after Federal Judge Carpenter had denied a motion for a new trial made by counsel for the negro. Johnson obtained two weeks' time in which to prepare a writ of error and the bonds for $50,000, on which he has been at liberty since his conviction, was allowed to stand. Johnson left the court room declaring that he would not give up his fight for liberty, and that if the writ of error was denied he would make further appeals.

PLAY AT SEATTLE

Seattle, June 6.—Some of the middle west's expert golfers will play a series of matches with the local welders of the sticks on the links of the Seattle Golf and Country Club next week. The party is on the way from Chicago for a tour of the northwest.

Panama Hats.—Regular $5, $3.55 at The Commonwealth.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Portland Surely Copped all the Breaks. We don't mind losing a game when it is fought on the merits of the play, such as last night's contest, but even Eastley had to secure the luck of baseball before he could down the fighting Bees. The latter, with a crippled team and a pitching staff that is worked to death, have been hanging on to fourth place and giving the best of them a real battle for the past two weeks, and even now are able to go out and put up as good an exhibition as any club in the league. Portland was hitting in the pinches yesterday and were handed a couple of runs on clear boots. The Pippins have been hitting over their heads since they struck the Capital, but even at that Nick Williams' clan have been extended to the limit in every game. Yesterday Eastley twirled nice ball but a couple of decidedly lucky stops, when the Bees had men on the sacks, was all that saved his bacon. Shifts Certain for the Seattle Series.

Tesley Raymond and his 1912 champions will make their first appearance of the year at the Royal Athletic park next week for the first three days, and it is up to the Bees to take at least two out of three from the flying leaders. The Bees gave the Tillikums a grand argument when these clubs met earlier in the year and Lynch figures that if he can get any kind of twirling that the locals will about sweep the series. Seattle is weak against left-handers, and if it comes to the pinch, Lynch can send Kanteleher into the box on Monday and again on Wednesday. Delmas will be back at second, which will allow Swain to go into the outfield, replacing Nordyke, while Alberts will probably play left field to add hitting strength to the club. The Bees will need all their clouters in line, for Raymond possesses the classiest hurling staff in the league, one that can hold an opposing club to three and four hits. A short centre field fence ought to help the Bees, for the locals have a bunch of home-run artists in Swain, Meek, Lynch, Nordyke, Lamb and Alberts, with Kany good for an occasional belt over the fence.

Note Our Specials For Saturday

Our Big Clothes Special last Saturday was so immensely appreciated that we have decided to make some more friends by a Clothes Special for this Saturday.

One reason for doing so is that we want to make June a record month and so many men have put off the purchase of their Summer Suit to the last minute, our offer this week will help them to make up their minds to invest at once.

The weather demands a lighter weight Suit. Don't deprive yourself of it but come and make your selection.

P. N. A. TRACK MEET

Portland, Ore., June 6.—The Pacific Northwest Association track meet will be held here June 14. Reports from college circles indicates that all northwest colleges will be well represented. The entries will close on June 7. Seattle, Vancouver, Victoria, Pacific University and the Young Men's Christian Associations, Chemawa, Indians, Willamette University and the Multnomah Club will compete. Hal Beasley is working out daily and may take part in this meet.

WANT JOHNNY REIFF RULED OFF

London, June 5.—The incident of the disqualification of Craganour, who was first past the winning post in yesterday's race, has created a strong feeling in racing circles and among the general public. It is almost unprecedented that such a scandal should attach to one of the big classic races, although similar occurrences are common in the smaller events. A motion has been put down for discussion at the annual meeting of the Jockey Club on June 16, proposing new rules inflicting more severe penalties on jockeys for fouling such as characterized yesterday's race. The public feeling is that the stewards of the Jockey Club, who are meeting to-day to discuss the matter, should take strong action in regard to Johnny Reiff's tactics. The stewards yesterday suspended the jockey, Huxley, who was responsible for the accident in the race following the Derby yesterday, when the horse Felizardo was killed. Trout Fishing.—Good fishing can now be had at Koksilah, the Koksilah hotel will give you good accommodation. Come and fill your creel.

LADY GOLFERS WERE WINNERS

Tacoma and Seattle Team Beaten on Oak Bay Links Yesterday

Victoria's lady golfers achieved a brilliant victory over the combined Tacoma-Seattle golf squad at the Oak Bay links yesterday, winning the first of the series for the Henry trophy by three points. Victoria won eleven of the twenty games played, halving one contest with Tacoma. The matches were over an eighteen hole course, and excellent golf was witnessed during the day. Some of the contests were very keen, and the win of the locals gives the Victoria Club an excellent chance of adding the Henry trophy to their already long list of trophies.

The scores: Complete results: Mrs. Ricardo, Victoria, beat Mrs. Hilton, Tacoma, 5 up and 4 to play; Mrs. Langley, Victoria, beat Mrs. Curran, Tacoma, 7 up and 6 to play; Miss Combe, Victoria, beat Mrs. Jones, Tacoma, 8 up and 6 to play; Mrs. Wilson, Seattle, beat Mrs. Combe, Victoria, 4 up and 3 to play; Mrs. Mills, Victoria, beat Mrs. Bailey, Tacoma, 4 up and 2 to play; Mrs. Elliot, Victoria, beat Mrs. Keene, Seattle, 4 up and 3 to play; Mrs. Dean, Tacoma, beat Mrs. Baird, Victoria, 1 up; Miss Mara, Victoria, beat Mrs. Moss, Seattle, 2 up; Mrs. Graham, Victoria, beat Mrs. Eddie, Seattle, 2 up; Mrs. Charles Gore, Victoria, beat Mrs. Rosecamp, Tacoma, 5 up and 2 to play; Mrs. Talbot, Victoria, beat Mrs. Blake, Seattle, 6 up and 4 to play; Mrs. Burns, Victoria, beat Miss Temple, Tacoma, 1 up; Mrs. Colburne, Victoria, beat Miss Kirk, Seattle, 3 up and 2 to play; Mrs. Kirk, Victoria, halved with Mrs. Dempsey, Tacoma; Mrs. Edwards, Seattle, beat Mrs. Melin, Victoria, 1 up; Mrs. Heller, Tacoma, beat Mrs. C. F. Gore, Victoria, 3 up; Miss Collinn, Seattle, beat Miss Butchart, Victoria, 3 up and 2 to play; Mrs. Carmen, Tacoma, beat Miss M. Pitts, Victoria, 1 up; Miss Turner, Seattle, beat Mrs. W. Todd, Victoria, 1 up; Mrs. Thorne, Tacoma, beat Miss Sayward, Victoria, 1 up.

TROPHY PRESENTED.

San Francisco, June 6.—Inaugurating an annual event, the Hatheway handicap motor boat race from Seattle to Victoria, B. C., a trophy in the form of a silver punch set was presented in the name of San Francisco to the city of Victoria at a luncheon held here yesterday. The race is named after the donor of the trophy, W. L. Hatheway. The presentation follows a visit made some months ago by a committee of San Francisco to the Canadian city during which the suggestion was made by Hatheway that the race be held in connection with Victoria's annual August carnival.

THOUSANDS PERFORM.

New York, June 6.—Ten thousand boys gathered in Central Park to-day to show 700,000 New York school children and their parents the benefits of physical training and encourage the use of the park playgrounds. The demonstration was arranged by the public schools athletic league.

SIDNEY COULD NOT GO ROUTE

Oak Bay Captures Intermediate Lacrosse Fixture—Score 6 to 2

Sidney failed to stand the pace against Oak Bay last night, and the intermediate champions romped home winners in the first league fixture this season, the final score being 6 to 2. The visiting twelve were plainly out of condition, and wilted badly in the latter periods of the game after playing grand lacrosse for the first quarter, when they held the Oak Bay team to an even score. It was a splendid exhibition of lacrosse, and the spectators were given a treat in the line of clean lacrosse. Referee McGregor and Taylor had little to do, the teams playing the ball instead of the man.

All the scoring was done in the first half, the teams getting two goals apiece in the first quarter, while the Oak Bay home played grand ball in the second stanza, and scored four goals, while they held the Sidney attack helpless. Beasley got a couple of goals on pretty combination runs, while H. Bedford was the pick of the visiting twelve. The teams: Oak Bay—Goal, Clarke; point, McDonald; cover, Redgrave; first defence, Knox; second defence, Martin; third defence, Nobbs; centre, Beasley; third home, Taylor; second home, Lane; first home, Williams; outside, Dempster; inside, Tuohy. Sidney—Simpson, goal; R. D. Munroe, point; T. Humber, cover point (capt.); P. N. Tester, first defence; Sid Humber, second defence; W. Munroe, third defence; Bob Johnson, centre; D. Robertson, third home; J. Forrester, second home; M. Morton, first home; F. W. Anderson, outside; H. Bedford, inside. Summary: First quarter, Redgrave, Williams (Oak Bay), and Bedford, Robertson (Sidney). Second quarter—Beasley (2), Dempster and Nobbs (Oak Bay). The next league game will witness a clash between the Oak Bay and Lathams next Thursday evening.

LOCAL OFFICIALS FOR PRO. MATCH

If President Percy Quinn of the D. L. A. can spare the time away from work he will come West to Winnipeg next week and help Harry Cowan in the organization of a lacrosse commission, according to a dispatch from Toronto.

President A. D. Kelington of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association, will select his referees to-day for Saturday's pro. fixture in the Royal City. Lester Patrick and Bob Dewar will probably be the choice. It is now said that Tommy Gifford, the sturdy defence player who retired from active playing this season to assume the management of the team, will climb back into a uniform for next Saturday's game at New Westminster.

The outfield at the Royal Athletic park is a bit rough and this accounts for the number of times that the outfielders misjudge the bounces on singles.

AS SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

Have to get an even break on the series.

There are yet three games to be played.

Here's hoping Kanty is right for tomorrow.

Fitzgerald will work in one of the Saturday games.

Lou Nordyke as a field will hardly do, but he is batting better than at the start of the season.

Harry Meek, if he keeps up his present gait, will bat .425 for the season.

Narveson would have won yesterday's combat had the Bees been hitting in their regular form.

Felts stole a base yesterday, but he also struck out on three occasions.

Danny Shea pulled a good bluff in the first innings when he caught Bancroft off third and run him down.

Nick Williams certainly has a grand infield, but they have not shaped up as good as the Bees when it comes to hitting.

Bobby Coltrin is pretty much of a crab, but at that he is a sweet ball player, and if he can improve his striking will surely go to the big circuit.

It's a good thing that there were no big league scouts in the stand when Kanty started on Wednesday, his performance was anything but inspiring.

Seattle appears to have the edge on Vancouver when it comes down to trimming second division clubs.

All that the Bees now want is a good right hander and the return of Charlie Brooks to first base, then we'll start after the leaders.

McGinnity was invincible in the pinches and Tacoma won from the Beavers by a score of 5 to 2.

Less than 2,000 fans saw the Cubs and Cardinals play in Chicago last Sunday. It is admitted that the day was cold and gloomy, but Chicago newspaper critics do not attempt to excuse the fact that it was not weather alone that killed the interest in the Cubs, one writer remarking that on days just as drear ten times 2,000 had seen the Cubs play in other seasons.

A Pittsburg writer who loves the Federal league better than he does the National, intimates that the Pirate players have not been trying to play ball because they are sore over not being given a split in the receipts of the exhibition game played recently in Cleveland. Another Pittsburg writer, who used to boost Artie Butler, says it looks like "taps" for this youngster.

A fan of Homer, Neb., furnishes a line on George Johnson's pedigree. The Winnebago Indian pitcher, he says, is a grandson of Alexander Payne, whose father was a gentleman from France. According to Warner's history of Dakota county, Neb., Alexander Payne was born in Milwaukee in 1820 and joined the Winnebago some years later, being a half-breed. Payne was a captain of police and United States interpreter for a number of years.

SPOKANE TOURNEY.

Spokane, June 6.—A galaxy of mitt artists, the class of which has never been seen in Spokane before, appearing here June 18 and 19, for a two days' boxing carnival, is the expectation of Cisco Bullivant, of the S. A. A. C., which has charge of the event. Al Davies may box at this tourney.

AUSTRALIANS PLAY AT GOTHAM TO-DAY

New York, June 6.—The line-up of the Australian and American lawn tennis teams for the preliminary match for the Davis international cup was announced last night by George T. Adee, of the International Committee. Stanley M. Doust, captain of the Australian force, named himself and Horace Rice for the singles, and Doust and A. B. Jones for the doubles.

The American team will play Maurice McLoughlin, the national champion, and H. R. Norris-Williams in the singles, and McLoughlin with Harold H. Hackett, captain of the team, in the doubles.

The first of the singles matches at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon will engage McLoughlin, the American, and Rice, the Australian, and at the finish of this contest Williams will take the court against Doust.

The doubles match will begin Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, McLoughlin and Hackett meeting Doust and Jones. On Monday, McLoughlin will face Doust in the singles and Williams will play against Rice.

Captain Doust declares that the English rules must be observed in the matches as the cup is held in the British Isles. The foot-fault rule and the rest limited to three minutes, after the third set, instead of seven minutes as in the American rules, will be observed.

Win or lose, the Australians will sail for London next Wednesday.

Equal Heat In Every Part of The Gurney-Oxford Oven

Every woman well knows the bad results from constantly opening the oven door to move a cake to another shelf or turn a pan of biscuits. Often the shifting or the cold air striking in proves utterly disastrous to her baking.

The Divided Flue on the Gurney-Oxford range equally distributes the heat to all parts of the oven which is regulated to the exact temperature required by means of the Economizer.

This wonderful time-labor-and-money-saving device controls the heat of the whole range.

It is worked by a small handle which moves around a series of six notches. The housewife soon learns that by moving the handle to No. 1 she has a very hot oven, to No. 3 a moderate oven, and that No. 6 checks the fire so as to burn scarcely any coal while she goes out shopping. On her return she simply moves the handle to the number that gives the required heat and the result is prompt.

Of inestimable value also is the Broiler Attachment and the Special Grate.

But a most delightful feature about the Gurney-Oxford is its constant bright and shining appearance.

It has a smooth polished top that never requires black lead and is thoroughly sanitary.

For years stove experts have been working out woman's problem in the kitchen and the Gurney-Oxford range is the solution.

ADAMS-TUNNICLIFFE NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED

Pretty Home Wedding Took Place Last Evening at 1923 Quadra Street

Last evening, at the residence of the bride's parents, 1923 Quadra street, in the presence of a number of intimate friends of the happy pair, Rev. Dr. Campbell celebrated the marriage of Mr. Joseph Turner Tunnicliffe and Miss Jean Adams, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Florence.

The bride, who entered the drawing-room leaning on the arm of her father, looked very handsome in a graceful gown of pink satin with lace yardage, a wreath of orange blossoms encircling her hair, and her bouquet being of pink roses. Miss Madge Florence, the bride's sister, made a pretty bridesmaid in a frock of light blue satin with beaded overdress, and carrying a bouquet of white roses.

The best man was Mr. Herbert John Tunnicliffe, a brother of the bridegroom. The ceremony took place in the drawing-room, which was artistically decorated for the occasion, the bride and bridegroom standing under a floral bell. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played during the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Tunnicliffe left by the evening boat for a tour of the South coast, and on their return will take up their residence in Victoria.

POPULAR VICTORIANS

MARRIED YESTERDAY

Miss Sarah Mae Jennings and Mr. John Clifford Roach Tie Nuptial Knot

Yesterday afternoon, at the residence of the bride's parents, 627 Garbally road, Rev. Thomas Keyworth officiated at a charming home wedding when Sarah Mae, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kester Jennings, became the bride of Mr. John Clifford Roach, son of Mrs. A. Roach, of the "Corona" of this city. The ceremony took place in the drawing-room, the bridal party standing beneath the alcove of asparagus fern and bell of white marguerites, among the guests being the more intimate friends and relatives of the happy pair.

The bride wore a very becoming gown of sage blue crepe de chine trimmed with old gold embroidery. She was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Jennings, the groom being attended by Mr. Dennis T. Pennock. Immediately after the ceremony the party adjourned to the dining-room, where a delicious wedding-breakfast was served, the room looking very pretty with its decorations of sweet peas and carnations. From 2 o'clock until four a reception was held, when their numerous friends showered congratulations and good wishes on the happy pair.

Mr. and Mrs. Roach, both of whom are well known in the city, were the recipients of many useful and handsome gifts, conspicuous among which was a beautiful silver tea and coffee service with oak tray, together with tea, coffee and sugar spoons to match, these being from the partners and employees of the Best Motor Company, with which firm the bride was stenographer until a short time before her marriage. Those assisting at the tables were Mrs. P. Lawson, Mrs. Dixon, the Misses Sparks, Casey, Roach, Monteith and Tallis.

CITY SUES MAJOR DUPONT

Asks Damages for Removal of Figures from House in Stadacona Park

The city is commencing a Supreme Court action against Major Dupont for damages for the removal from the house in Stadacona park of a marble mantel piece and other valuable ornamental fixtures.

The city purchased this house from Major Dupont along with the park, and intends to sell it, and claims that the removal of these fixtures, which it alleges properly belong to the house and were included in the sale price, seriously damages the city as to the price it can get in re-selling the property.

BUSY MEETING TO-NIGHT

Songhes Plans and Other Important Matters Before City Council.

To-night's council meeting promises to be an interesting one. The Songhes Reserve plans are to be discussed, in committee, and whatever suggestions the alderman and civic officials have to make will be put into resolutions and taken before the government together.

The resolutions regarding selling local improvement bonds in $100 lots will be considered by the council, and Mayor Morley's suggestion regarding the appointment of a weights and measures inspector will come before the board in the shape of a report.

CIVILIAN RIFLE LEAGUE

The second shoot of the Canadian Rifle League series will take place tomorrow afternoon, commencing at 1.30 sharp. A special match will be shot concurrently with the league match between six married and six single men of the Civilian Rifle Association. PHOTOGRAPHY REVOLUTIONIZED BY NEW INVENTION

Films, Plates and Dark Room Made Un-necessary

New Camera Takes Finished Pictures in Two Minutes

Mr. Edmond F. Stratton, of New York City, has invented a camera that takes and completes pictures ready to see in two minutes. It does away with the expense of buying films or plates and the trouble, expense and delay of having them developed and pictures printed by a photographer.

This camera, which is called the Gordon Camera, is being manufactured by the Gordon Camera Corporation, New York. As they are desirous of making it known in every locality, they are making a special offer to our readers. For a limited time they will sell models B, C, H and J at half price. The regular price of Model B, which takes pictures 3 1/4 x 5 1/2 inches, is $10, but it will cost our readers only $5.00. Model C (regular price, $15), which takes pictures 3 1/4 x 5 1/2, also 2 1/4 x 3 1/4 inches, will cost $7.50. Model H (regular price, $2), which takes pictures 3 1/4 x 5 1/2 inches, will cost $1.00. Model J (regular price, $10), which takes all three of the above sizes, will cost only $5.00. Whichever one you order, enclose 90 cents additional to cover express charges, sensitized cards and developing powder.

The sensitized cards are wrapped for daylight loading, and the powders make the developing solution to be put into the developing tank, which is inside the camera. Model H is 5 1/2 x 3 1/4 x 10 inches in size and weighs 3 lbs. 7 oz. Models B, C and J are 6 1/2 x 9 x 10 1/2 inches and weigh about 4 lbs.

The cost of taking pictures with the Gordon camera is almost nothing in comparison to all other cameras. Extra sensitized cards (3 1/4 x 5 1/2) can be bought for 1 1/2 cents each (3 1/4 x 5 1/2 for 2 1/2 cents and 3 1/4 x 5 1/2 for 3 cents), and 10 cents worth of developer will develop over 40 pictures. The Gordon Corporation sells flash-light lamps for 80 cents, which will enable you to take pictures at night in your own parlor, or out of doors.

The operation of this new camera is so simple that any person of ordinary intelligence can easily take pictures with it after reading the directions sent with each one. There is no customs duty to be paid as the Gordon Corporation will ship to you from their Canadian branch which is near Toronto. All orders and letters, however, must be sent to their office, which is at 1807 Stuyvesant Building, New York, N. Y. When ordering a camera under this special offer be sure to mention that you are a reader of the Victoria Times.

GET MARRIED

By GEORGE MATHEY ADAMS

It takes a bigger and a better man to build a good home than it does to build a business—no matter what the business. Any man with brains can build a business. It takes brains, a heart and a character to build a home.

Get Married.

The shrewd business man selects married men for his important positions. He knows that for that is worth while. He knows that such a man is steadier and quicker to assume responsibility. He is sure of such men in emergencies because they have an anchorage sure to keep them firm, cool and courageous.

Get Married.

First make yourself worthy of a good woman. The more worthy you make yourself of her the quicker you will find her. Also, remember this—Forms and Faces change and fade—but Minds and Hearts and Characters grow in Lustre and Capacity with the coming of years. So the big thing to be sure of is the Character and the Capacity. When you find a woman with these qualities—then and there—Get Married.

And this is what will be revealed to you—the marvelous Mystery of Success. For in it lies the Love of a Good Woman interwoven around her inexpressible Inspiration, her constant desire for your highest Achievement and her Pride in everything you do.

Get Married.

FIRST THINGS

The first European settler in Brooklyn was George Jansen de Rapelle, who established his home at Waalhoog, now Wallabout, during the directorship of Peter Minuet. His daughter, Sarah Rapelle, was born there 288 years ago to-day, and was the first white child born in Brooklyn or Long Island. The Indians celebrated the arrival of that first paleface papoose by conveying to the young lady a large parcel of land near the Wallabout—land now worth many millions. Governor Minuet, of New Amsterdam, promised the mother of the infant a cow as soon as the ship came from Holland; and the promise was fulfilled, the cow being the first to be brought to Long Island. The father of Sarah was followed to America, and to Brooklyn—or Bruckelen, as it was called by the Dutch—by two brothers, who received patents for land near Gravesend. In 1657 Governor Stuyvesant granted a general patent to the town, and this patent was confirmed by subsequent governors in consideration of an annual quit-rent of twenty bushels of wheat. This quit-rent continued to be paid by the town as late as 1788. Brooklyn, now famed as the "city of churches," was without a house of worship for 35 years after its settlement. Even after a church was built the people complained to the governor that their minister was inattentive to his duties, officiating only once a fortnight, and then only praying for a quarter of an hour, instead of preaching a sermon.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By RUTH CAMERON

Are you a snob? Before you give an emphatic "No" to that, please let me explain what I mean by it. Are you absolutely and entirely democratic? Do you never make class distinctions in your mind, if not in your speech? Do you never find yourself in awe of some new acquaintance, because you have been told that he has a great deal of money? Are you never ashamed when one of your more fashionable friends sees you on the street with some shabbily dressed acquaintance? Do you never look down on people for the kind of work they do? Do you never try to make yourself out richer than you are? Do you never boast about your family connection?

If you can honestly answer "No" to all these you may emphatically answer "No" to that first question. But can you? I am afraid not. I am afraid the man who hasn't a single drop of snobbish blood in his veins would be far harder to find than Diogenes' honest man.

Maud Radford Warren tells the story of a young girl of a refined and educated family, who was suddenly thrown on her own resources by death and financial loss. The only way for her to earn her living seemed to be for her to go behind the counter. She lived in a small town which is supposed to be the most democratic place on earth, and yet "it had been a little shock to think of being a clerk in a store," she says. "For all the democracy of our town, there were some distinctions. I didn't want to do it. I guess most of us at heart are snobs, born with an instinct to climb. We are only qualified democrats, the best of us. I had always supposed I looked on a certain friend of my mother's who worked in a shop as quite as good as anyone else; now, however, I found that I had really pitied her."

I suspect that most of us have experiences like that when we realize suddenly that we have been entertaining some such feelings of superiority. I know I have. I love democracy. There is nothing that I desire of myself more ardently than that I may be absolutely and consistently democratic, and yet again and again I am ashamed to find myself entertaining snobbish feelings.

Not that I have anything to be snobbish about, but that's the queer part of it. One doesn't need to have in the play "Kismet" the beggar who has just been exiled by the Calif vents his unhappiness upon a beggar of a lower order. As he lords it over the miserable creature, he moralizes to himself, "To the Calif I am dirt, but to the dirt I am Calif."

So we all must be Calif to somebody, in the kingdom of our own fancies. Democracy of government is hard to win; but infinitely more difficult to bring about is that greater democracy, the democracy of the heart.

I wonder if it will ever come.

POLLARD OPERA COMPANY.

For the last engagement in more than a year the Pollard opera company, always favorites, will be seen again at the Victoria theatre this evening and to-morrow in "The Toy Maker," which is all the more delightful as presented by these artists from across the seas. Since August last the Pollards have been appearing with unprecedented success throughout the length and breadth of Canada and the principal points in the New England states, and everywhere their popularity has been on the increase until in most of the larger cities return engagements were arranged as in the case of Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and Quebec. All of the Pollard favorites are appearing at each performance during the engagement. There will be a special matinee on Saturday.

WILL PEACE BRING DOMESTIC CRISIS?

IN THE AFFAIRS OF OTTOMAN EMPIRE?

Threatened Outburst Against Young Turks, Whose Policy is Charged with Responsibility for Disaster

(Special Correspondence.)
 London, May 25.—Nowhere is the conclusion of peace more keenly awaited than in official circles in Constantinople. This is not merely or even principally due to the hope of some relief from the tension entailed by a state of war, but by the consciousness which is common to everyone that the long expected internal cataclysm is impending. Revolutionary movements in Turkey are usually short-lived, but they are nearly always very sanguinary, and the one which is imminent—and it is childish to dispute it—may well be no exception from the rule.

The present disastrous war has not been fought without producing a very powerful effect on public opinion. In most countries popular resentment expresses itself during the progress of hostilities in a more or less unmistakable fashion—by the change of form of government or by the overthrow of the ministry held to be responsible for the national disasters. In Turkey it is different. In the face of the foe there is silence; the outburst comes at the end of the campaign, and it is all the more impressive by reason of the long months of repression. It will be so now.

No one supposes that even had peace been signed two months or more ago the national discomfiture would have ended without serious after effects, but at that period all was not irretrievably lost. Adrianople might have fallen into Bulgarian hands, and how much would have been saved, many thousands of men would not have surrendered, fortresses would have been left and not a little territory now irrevocably ceded would have been retained. It is not, however, still more, honor would have been left intact. Who can say that this is now the case? And the Ottoman nation knows it and intends to express its opinion in the only way it prefers—revenge.

This is why in Constantinople the Committee of Union and Progress feels that the moment is at hand—it is only a matter of a few weeks, if as long—when it will have to fight desperately for its very life, not fight in figurative terms with the weapons of diplomacy and chicanery, but in sober earnest with the arms of precision which alone decide modern battles. The outburst will come with the disbandment of the troops at Techataldja, some 180,000 in number. At present all the energies of the ruling Young Turks are concentrated on endeavoring to prevent these men from passing through the capital. The government officers are armed to the teeth with machine-guns and even with heavy artillery. The guarding soldiers are paid on a scale lavish for an army, let alone the Turkish. They are chosen with especial care for their supposed loyalty. "Let can they be relied on?"

What is the intention of the army as a whole? It is to sweep away the existing ministerial regime root and branch. It may not be an easy task for a brief interlude of civil war is certain, but this will not last long, since out of the 180,000 troops only 25,000 at the most are expected to stand for the powers that be, and there is no hostility among the rank and file. The hostility is against the leaders of the movement—against the men who have allowed affairs to come to their present lamentable position, against those who are held to have exploited the country to their interest. For them the handwriting is on the wall, and they know it.

There is no doubt that for a brief period there will be a sort of military dictatorship, but then politics will revert on constitutional lines to the old policy which was shaping so well, despite the disadvantageous circumstances, when the Young Turk uprising killed Nazim Pasha and drove Kiamil Pasha into exile. Kiamil is now a very old man, but if asked he would come back to the grand Viceroyship, and those who look ahead are confidently counting on seeing him there. His regime would introduce an era of real reform. Without it, the Turkish Empire is doomed, for it will break up with the certainty of immediate foreign intervention. Indeed it is common knowledge that certain Powers have actually proposed during the war the partition of the Turkish Empire, but this failed to meet with any general approval. Never were reforms so insistently demanded in the Ottoman Empire. The agitation in Asia Minor is rapidly taking shape, whilst Syria has put forward a demand for local autonomy which has already frightened the authorities by the seriousness and thoroughness of its enunciation.

The movement against the Young Turks is therefore a reform movement, but those who are at the back of it realize that a clean sweep is needed of all those at the head of affairs, and that is why they are perfectly prepared for the inevitable bloodshed which is to come. The only uncertainty seems to be whether the victims will be only men at the head of affairs, or whether there will be civil war which will take the form of a pitched battle.

The men who are organizing this movement are not merely visionaries. They have a clearly defined scheme before them. Many of them have been recently in Egypt, and have seen the success of a stable and quiet government which, while it may not tend to the personal advantage of the very few, is of incalculable value to the happiness and prosperity of the great bulk of the community. Their policy, in addition to being one of reform, is undoubtedly one of development of the resources and potentialities of Turkey in Asia. And what is more remarkable they seem to have behind them men of all races and creeds, and the unanimity with which they are putting forward their demands should have inspired the present administration of Turkey with the feeling that here is a movement which must be reckoned with. The lesson is, however, thrown away.

At the same time no one need think that this policy, although eminently in the interests of Turkey, is likely to satisfy all the Powers. I already notice warnings in the French papers that "England and Germany are preparing the liquidation of Turkey in Asia." This is quite a fiction. The one Power which is most suspicious of all development work in Syria and the adjoining country is France, and I would not be surprised to see the French government display a not-too-sympathetic attitude to the new movement.

MUCH HEAT FOLLOWED BY FORTY POINT DROP

Winnipeg, June 6.—From somewhere around eighty in the shade yesterday mid-afternoon, the stifling heat being occasionally relieved by violent thunderstorms, the thermometer fell no less than forty degrees within the space of a very few hours backed by a cold north gale. Apparently this district escaped frost, but light frosts are reported from the northern part of the province, and as much as three degrees in some parts of Central Saskatchewan and Alberta, which will cut down light garden stuff. To-day it is more like early April than June, but warm weather is promised.

SEVENTY WOUNDED IN GERMAN STRIKE

Police and Men in Conflict Near Frauendorf After Non-Striker's Death

Stettin, Germany, June 6.—A battle between police and strikers in which seventy persons were severely wounded was fought last night in the suburb of Frauendorf as the sequel to the killing of a striker by a non-striker.

The workers in a chiseling factory went on strike some time ago. Last evening one of them molested a man who had continued at work, and in the fight which ensued the striker was stabbed and killed. The strikers' comrades later gathered in a great crowd in front of the factory and demanded that the non-striker be handed over to them. Their request was refused and they threatened to demolish the factory.

The local police were unable to cope with the situation and reinforcements were called for from Stettin. Shortly after a body of 300 armed policemen arrived in automobiles and a battle occurred. The police freely used their sabres and revolvers. The strikers repelled with pistol shots, but were soon overcome by the disciplined force. They were finally dispersed, leaving many of their number wounded on the ground.

The casualties were in some cases of

VICTORIA FLOAT AT PORTLAND FESTIVAL

F. M. Kelly, of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, has left for Portland, where he will represent Victoria at the Portland Regatta next week.

Mr. Kelly will arrange for a City of Victoria float in the Carnival parade to take place on Wednesday, and will boost the Summer Carnival which Victoria will hold this August.

Mr. Kelly will take a prominent part in the festival parade and have charge of the float. This will be in the form of a yacht and will draw attention to the facilities for water sports here.

TERRIBLE GREEK IS CONFIDENT

Buzukos, the terrible Greek, who claims the lightweight wrestling championship of the world, is rapidly rounding into shape for his match on Tuesday with Charlie Kelly, the Canadian title holder. Yesterday he wrestled for over an hour with Jack Tait, the J. B. A. welterweight, and also took on Jene Fata, another local grappler. Buzukos was surprised at the form displayed by Tait, and says that the latter with a little more experience is good enough to enter the pro game.

Kelly, the challenger, weighs but 137½ pounds and will have no trouble getting down to the lightweight limit. The Celt is confident that he can defeat Buzukos, and looks for a couple of quick falls in his favor. The pair have many supporters about the city, and the Greeks are going behind their man, hook, line and sinker. The match will start about nine o'clock.

with two preliminaries staged previous to the main bout.

Physical Instructor Joe Raymond will referee the bouts, and membership cards may now be had from the secretary or any officers of the Victoria Athletic Club, under whose auspices the bout is being held.

London, June 5.—Marie Corelli to-day secured an injunction against George Grey, a vaudeville artist, to prevent him from presenting the sketch, "People's King," which it is claimed is plagiarism of her novel, "Temporal Power."

Corns of 1913

Call for Modern Treatment

It is time to stop the old-time treatments, "such as mother used to know."

Modern chemistry has found out how to terminate a corn.

Apply a little Blue-jay plaster, and the pain stops instantly.

Then a wonderful wax—the B & B wax—gently undermines the corn. In 48 hours the whole corn loosens and comes out, without any pain or soreness.

This way is so gentle, so final, so efficient that nothing else is ever used by folks who know this way.

Every month a million corns are now removed by Blue-jay.

Don't pamper corns—pare them, dab them or protect them.

The 1913 way is Blue-jay. And that ends the corn.

A in the picture is the soft B & B wax. It loosens the corn. B stops the pain and keeps the wax from spreading. C wraps around the toe. It is narrowed to be comfortable. D is rubber adhesive to fasten the plaster on.

Blue-jay Corn Plasters

Sold by Druggists—15c and 25c per package. Sample Mailed Free. Also Blue-jay Bunion Fasteners.

The Strongest Investment--The Finest Home Location--The Best "Buy" on the Market

Mount Baker Park meets every requirement, fulfills every demand. It is incomparable either for homesite or investment purposes; it is easily the best "buy" on the market at this time.

Development that insures the rapid increase of values in this property is not merely "promised" or "likely"; it is immediately at hand. The signal for the first train over the Saanich Suburban line will be given almost any day. Only a few last touches remain to be given, and then the splendid line that has been so carefully built will resound with the echo of the first car. And from that moment lots in Mount Baker Park will be worth more money than they are worth to-day.

The buying public is prone to disregard the average admonition to "make haste" in the purchase of real estate; but, no matter what may have been the facts in the past, the necessity for immediate action is very real in this instance. Those who buy now will surely benefit materially.

This property is located on Bazan Bay and Haro Strait. To those who are familiar with the variegated charm of the Saanich Peninsula this will be sufficient to intimate the exceptional advantage of this Park's location. The prospect, viewed from any part of the property, is one of unusual loveliness. The brilliant blue of the water studded with wooded islands, the striking background formed by the far-distant mountains, among which Mount Baker stands out as a monarch—these are dominant features of a view that has few equals in the whole of North America. And, because the property has a natural slope towards the water and because the plan of subdivision has been cleverly studied out, every lot in the property enjoys the full benefit of this view.

The Carline Opens Soon--BEFORE It Opens Is the Time to Buy

It has always been the man who gets in first that makes the money. It will be so in this case. You can buy lots in Mount Baker Park for prices to-day that would not be sufficient to make the first payment on the same lots to-morrow. You need look no further than the nearest big city to learn what suburban electric carlines do to property values. The average man, or woman, prefers to live in the healthy open country, where there is plenty of space, where desired seclusion is assured and where one may have ample property without being overtaxed. The reason more people have not gone to lovely Saanich to live has been the lack of quick, reliable transportation. Now that this feature is imminent, the rush for desirable property will begin. Don't doubt it; you can count on that just as much as you can count on day following night. Therefore, take our advice and buy NOW, BEFORE the carline opens.

There is no limit to the possibilities of lots in Mount Baker Park. See this property, choose your lot from the property itself and then make your plans for a real home. No property on Vancouver Island more readily lends itself to ideal conceptions of homesites.

Besides the electric line Mount Baker Park will be served by two steam lines. Grading on the C. N. R. line will begin shortly, and the Victoria & Sidney line, which is being reorganized, is already in operation. Both roads have stations located close to Mount Baker Park. A station on the electric line also is within a few steps of the property. For the motorist the East Saanich Road, which cuts across the rear of the Park, offers charms second to none. This road is to be asphalt-paved from Victoria to Sidney.

Lots in Mount Baker Park have been laid out with the greatest of care, according to an excellent and carefully proved plan. The general improvements on the property insure the best effect and the greatest amount of efficiency. Waterfront lots are all 74 feet wide, with a depth of from 200 to 300 feet. A graded and graveled road has been run at the rear of this tier of lots. The balance of the property has been subdivided into lots of from 2 to 5 acres each. All streets on the property have been completed in a manner similar to main roads on the Peninsula, and these are famous for their condition.

Drawn from a photograph showing how one view from the property would appear from a window of your own home.

PACIFIC GREYHOUND MAKES FIRST PORT

Some Features of Empress of Russia, Palatial New Liner

CRUISER STERN IS NEW CHARACTERISTIC

Magnificent Quarters are Provided for Passengers

Twenty-two years is a long period in the growth of a new country, and the span between the arrival of the Empress of India in 1891 and the Empress of Russia covers a period of development unparalleled in this Dominion. Just as the residents of Victoria welcomed the first white liner, so will the citizens of a brighter, larger, and more cosmopolitan city see for the first time to-day the huge vessel which heralds the greater future in transportation. While the Empress of Russia has from her initiation to her departure on the long tour aroused the greatest interest, the progress of that passage through the great ports of the Mediterranean and the Orient has been a continued triumph. Her passengers have seen the solid fabric of the Occident fade in the radiant glory of the eternal East, and in the kaleidoscopic shiftings of Indian, Chinese and Japanese ports they have observed a life which changes little, though tempered and softened by the universal associations of all harbors. The step from the taxicab to the jinrikisha, from the dull grey skies of the Old Country cities to the subtle atmosphere of the Far East is great, yet in the changing scenes of this tour the travellers have seen all to be supplemented by the grandeur of the Rockies, the rolling vastness of the prairies, and the long roll of the Atlantic billows before they complete the world-encircling tour.

of the same company, and by that company's steamers with the old world. Shipping is the bond of a great empire, weaving in the loom of imperialism that unity of purpose which is the hope of an international destiny. The checkered red and white flag became a possibility on the completion of the transcontinental railway, and travel by the Dominion, and across the Pacific took its place in competition with the older routes which had pursued the wake of Portuguese and Dutch navigators. Competition has of course the Empress of Asia, and in the two Allan liners, Albatross and Calgarian. It is familiar here on the Prince George and Prince Rupert. The vessel was built by the Fairfield Shipbuilding & Engineering Company, of Glasgow, and is 570.5 feet Lloyd's length, 68.2 feet broad, 42 feet deep and of about 15,000 tons gross. The new liner is propelled by four screws, driven by four sets of Parsons turbines. Steam is supplied by an installation of ten boilers, working under Howden's system of forced draught at a steam pressure of 190 numerous watertight bulkheads, closely spaced, one effect of which will be that any four compartments can be open to the sea, or flooded, and the vessel remain afloat. The two sister vessels were constructed under the supervision of Lloyd's register, and classed 100 A1, three deck and shelter deck, with freeboard restricted to conform to the bulkhead spacing. The vessel has accommodation for 200 first-class, 100 second-class Asiatic and for 800 third-class Asiatic passengers, and

A great railway has been opened across Siberia, knitting the world circle together, and the day of larger things is at hand, of better accommodation and greater despatch.

HOUSEHUNTERS, NOTE: If You'll Buy a Lot We'll Build You a Bungalow

That's one of the big features of the sale of "Upper Gorge Park," the best and cheapest residential property on the Gorge. There are no "whereases" nor "aforesaid" connected with this arrangement. It is the same plan that has been utilized heretofore only in connection with very expensive properties—something the same as that now in force in "Uplands."

You buy a lot in "Upper Gorge Park" and complete a reasonable percentage of your total payment and then, if you desire to build a bungalow, you just go ahead and select your plans. We'll build the bungalow according to your own plans and we'll see that you get a first class job throughout. Moreover, we will see that you get the very utmost for your money. You need not put up a single cent extra; you pay us off month by month in instalments that will be equal to fair rent. By this plan you need not wait for years to get together enough to build that bungalow you have been longing for.

You can have it NOW, on one of the finest lots in all Canada, on the beautiful Gorge; you can live in it and OWN it to all intents and purposes while you are paying for it, and the payments won't be any harder than the rent payments you have to make now.

And, besides all this, your property will be increasing in value every day.

Remember this is an opportunity to own a home that you have not had before, and one that you are not likely to have again for many a long year. NOW is the time to clinch it; not to-morrow—"to-morrow's sun, for you, may never rise."

The Gorge is the only expanse of inland water in the vicinity of Victoria. Its shores are famous for their quiet charm; these facts make certain of the future of this property. It will ALWAYS be in keen demand because it has no duplicate. Until this year it was not possible to secure a single lot on the Upper Gorge. The Lower Gorge was sold out at good prices long since, and many lots have been re-sold again and again, always at good increases. Two things held back the opening up of the Upper Gorge: First, owners of large tracts there were not anxious to sell or subdivide; second, there was no immediate promise of the transportation necessary to insure quick and easy access. Greater Victoria, Limited, has removed the first obstacle by acquiring a large area of the very finest of the waterfront property; the Canadian Northern Railway has removed the second by locating its line—which will be electrified to a point beyond our property—directly through this section. A station will stand right on the property, affording excellent and quick transit to and from the heart of the city.

Naturally, if you waited until this line was built and running, you would hardly expect to buy for as little as $500 a lot; $50 down and $10 a month. Therefore, if you want a homesite on the Gorge, buy now, from us; don't wait and have to buy from the man who buys from us now.

Every lot in the property is a big, view lot. No one who buys now at the prices we are asking can make a mistake in investing in this splendid property. Whether you want to build a home or not, you should think twice before you let this opportunity slip.

Another View in "Upper Gorge Park" Property

"UPPER GORGE PARK"

Both waterfront and non-waterfront lots are excellently located. In fact, as there is to be a public landing, giving equal access to all owners, it may be said reasonably that there ARE NO WATERFRONT LOTS. Every lot is an extra large lot—50 feet wide and varying from 125 to 191 feet in depth. There are all varieties of lots to suit all tastes. No matter what type of homesite you like best you will find it in "Upper Gorge Park." All underbrush has been cut away and the large trees alone have been left to be disposed of as purchasers see fit. We are now putting streets through and laying sidewalks.

Development will be carried out in the very best manner, and there is one big scheme in hand which we will explain to purchasers only; in confidence, for the present.

Don't put it off till to-morrow—you can and SHOULD see "Upper Gorge Park" TO-DAY. Our large ground floor office in the new Winch Building, next to The Times, makes it easy to drop in and talk things over with us. Our firm is made up mostly of men well and favorably known in Victoria for years. COME IN TO-DAY. Office is open evenings, too.

Miss Nellie May Becomes the Bride of Mr. W. S. Barton of Victoria

A wedding which was watched with interest by a great number of Cowichan residents took place there on Tuesday last when Nellie, one of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. May, of that place, was united in marriage to W. S. Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Barton, "Gled Holt," Victoria. The ceremony took place in St. Andrew's church, Cowichan, the Very Rev. the Dean of Columbia officiating, assisted by the vicar of the parish, Rev. Canon Leakey.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a girlish and graceful dress of liberty satin, trimmed with shadow lace and pearls. She was attended by a maid of honor, her sister, Miss Evelyn May, who was prettily gowned in turquoise blue crepe de chine, and wore a hat of tassel straw with blue and white plumes. Her bouquet was of pink carnations. Two bridesmaids also attended the bride, these being the Misses Lena May and Bessie Stewart, who wore tulip pink crepe de chine with picture hats to match. The little flower girls were quaintly charming in Kate Greenaway frocks of pale pink and pink bonnets to match, their baskets being filled with pink roses.

Another picturesque feature of the scene was found in the two small Jack Tar train-bearers—Masters Teddy May and Jack Hose. The best man was Walter S. Barton, while Messrs. T. Buss, Charles Price, Dansterville and Swanson acted as ushers. Mr. A. Dobson, of Victoria, presided at the organ, and the choir sang "Oh, Perfect Love," and "Love Divine," during the services.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception was held, the wedding breakfast being served in a big marquee on the lawn, and the health of the happy pair being proposed by the Dean of Columbia.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Barton left for a motor trip to the south, which will terminate at Pasadena, California. The bride wore a going-away suit of tan cloth, with Bulgarian toque. At Pasadena the happy pair will spend the remainder of their holiday at the residence of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hose, who have lent their house for the honeymoon.

The bridegroom's presents were, to the bride, a diamond and ruby ring; to the maid of honor, pearl and topaz earrings; to the bridesmaids, pearl brooches, and to the four ushers, silver pencils. The bride gave the bridegroom a signet ring.

persons have been fitted up for second-class passengers. Forward of these on the same side are a number of rooms for first-class passengers. The upper deck forward is taken for the accommodation of seamen and petty officers. On the shelter deck just forward of amidships is situated the first-class reception room and cafe, measuring 44 feet by 64 feet, with large embarking gangways on either side of the ship. Access to all the first-class accommodation and public rooms is gained from this reception room. Immediately forward on this deck are large staterooms for two and three persons. Adjoining the cafe on the aft side is the main saloon, 74 feet long and 64 feet wide, lit from the side by a number of beautifully designed windows nearly five feet wide, and from above by a large well 26 feet by 16 feet wide.

The Staterooms.

The hospital, laundry and other offices are at the aft end of the ship on the shelter deck. The first-class staterooms are magnificently equipped, and two staterooms can be converted into one suite, with dressing room adjoining. Surrounding the deckhouse is one of the first-class promenades; on either side of the house on the straight this promenade is no less than 50 feet long, with a minimum width of 8 feet. At the aft end for 100 feet long it extends from side to side of the ship. Encircling the promenade at the forward end of the deckhouse a screen is erected at the ship's side and across the ship 8 feet in front of the house, with large observation windows, which will give a sheltered promenade 240 feet long.

A Gymnasium.

On the promenade deck are staterooms, lounge, 48 feet by 36 feet broad; writing room, smoke room and veranda cafe. The gymnasium is conveniently situated to this deck. Special attention has been given to heating, lighting and ventilation. The electric generating plant, consisting of five independent sets of engines and dynamos, provides a complete system of electric lights, radiators and power for the large stokehold fans, also for the ventilating fans throughout the ship, and the rapid working cranes and winches for the handling of cargo. Signaling at sea can be carried on by a semaphore on the bridge of the type used in the British Admiralty for short distances, while her equipment includes a long-range Marconi system.

The Turbines.

The four turbines are situated on one watertight compartment and in a separate compartment immediately aft the two condensers are placed, together with the circulating pumps, dual type wet and dry air pumps, evaporators and distillers. The circulating pumps and air pumps form two distinct and separate sets, each set working in conjunction with one condenser, and independent of the other, but are also arranged with suitable cross connections so that either set of pumps can, in case of emergency, work

In conjunction with both condensers. The installation of auxiliary machinery is exceptionally large and, as in the case of the turbine installation, has been designed with a view to securing the greatest economy in fuel consumption and convenience in working. Steam is generated in six large double ended boilers, and four single ended boilers, working under the Howden system of forced draft, the air supply being maintained by an installation of electrically driven fans fitted in duplicate, and situated on the main deck.

Her Speed.

On a mean draught of 26 feet 8 inches, carrying over 7,000 tons deadweight, a speed of 21.14 knots was realized on the measured mile, against a contract speed of 20.1-2 knots, revolutions and power being easily obtained at all speeds. During a sea run of 610 miles at sea, the speed realized was 20.1-2 knots, or half a knot in excess of the contract stipulation. There was no vibration during the trials, which were made on a 600 mile test.

The Officers.

Captain Beetham, who is in command of the Empress of Russia, is the commodore of the C. P. R. trans-Pacific fleet. He is a Royal Naval Reserve officer, as also is A. J. Hosker, the chief officer. Chief Engineer J. Adamson has been with the fleet since the first Empresses came out, and other members of the complement who have been with the company for many years are Purser S. C. Binn and Chief Steward D. C. Bissett. Mrs. H. Wyndham Beaulier, daughter of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, christened the Empress of Russia at Govan. The vessel was launched on August 28 last, and for the first time represents the adoption of the turbine system of propulsion by the Canadian Pacific railway.

"MOVIES" FOR ROYAL FAMILY.

London, June 6.—A moving picture theatre is being installed in Buckingham Palace for the benefit of the young members of the royal family and their friends. The King and Queen regard cinematograph entertainments as of great educational value. The theatre will not be ready until Their Majesties return from Cowes.

Bees Strengthen Hurling Staff. Six o'Clock Games Twice a Week

Pitcher Fitzgerald arrived in town this morning and will work to-morrow afternoon against Portland. Fitzgerald looks in the best of shape and on Sunday last pitched a three-hit game against the Marysville, Cal. team, shutting them out. He is a veteran and has pitched several notable contests in the Coast League. Bert Delmas will be back in the game to-morrow, which will enable Swain to go in to left field, Alberts going to right. The club is dickering for another California outfielder who is a sure .300 bitter and as fast as a bullet; Lynch entertains high hopes of getting him. The pitching staff will be strengthened next week by the addition of a college star, who has signed with the Bees. In the future all Tuesday and Friday games at the Royal Athletic park will be called at 6:30 p. m., the management being desirous of giving those who work in the afternoon an opportunity of seeing the Bees perform. There were twelve hundred paid admissions to last night's game. Mays, the Portland pitcher who engaged in that thirteen-inning tussle with Seattle last week, has been released by Nick Williams. It is just possible that Victoria will sign him up. He is now at Tacoma having his arm treated.

An Aggravating Remark—"Sometimes," remarked Methusalem to his favorite grandchild, "sometimes I wish I had died young—say in my sixth or seventh century." "Why, grandpop?" Well, it is peculiarly annoying to me to hear my ninety-fourth wife say, "You are certainly old enough to know better."

HOLIDAY BOUT NOW CERTAIN

San Francisco, Cal., June 6.—Whether Willie Ritchie defends his title of lightweight champion on July 6 against Jose Rivers or not, there is no question but that he will defend it. Telegrams received here yesterday from Leach Cross, in New York; Bud Anderson, in Medford, Ore.; Freddie Welsh, in Vancouver, B. C., and Ad Weigast in Los Angeles, bring word that the senders will all be only too glad for a match. Rivers' and Ritchie's managers are still deadlocked on the question of weights. Rivers wants Ritchie to do 134 ringside, but is willing to concede 134 ringside, or 132 two hours before the fight. Ritchie insists on 134 pounds at 9 o'clock in the morning. There will be further conferences.

SHIP'S HUSBAND OF C. P. R. IS A WITNESS

Assistant Physician Declares Sanitary Arrangements at Station are Bad

Commissioner H. W. R. Moore, who is conducting the inquiry into quarantine affairs at the William Head station, held another session in the courthouse this morning, and called two witnesses in the persons of Captain Rupert Archibald, ship's husband for the C. P. R. at Vancouver, and Dr. Walker, who was from July, 1909, to November, 1911, assistant medical officer and bacteriologist at the station. The evidence mainly consisted of descriptions of the appointments at the station, the nature of the plant for fumigating and the science of ventilation.

Captain Archibald was the first witness to take the stand, and after recounting his qualifications and experience in quarantine work he stated that the last time he had been in command of a ship which had actually been quarantined was in 1897, when the Empress of China was detained. He was thereupon questioned by the commissioner on the incident: "How many first class passengers did you carry on that occasion?" "I think there were 132." "What was amiss?" "We had one or two cases of small pox on board, and were quarantined twelve days."

"Did you land the passengers?" "We landed the Chinese people only, and not the Europeans." "And why did you not land the Europeans?" "I did not think the accommodation ashore was good enough."

"But the accommodation now is practically the same as then, is it not?" "With the exception of a few improvements, yes." Stripping the vessel.

Captain Archibald explained that he would not allow the European passengers to disembark because such a course would have meant stripping the ship to provide the necessary facilities for the passengers while on the station, for the quarantine station, he said, was bare of all crockery and everything that was necessary for the provision of passengers.

On being asked to give an opinion as to the existing arrangements between the transportation companies and the government over quarantine matters, Captain Archibald said that from his point of view the arrangement was bad. It meant that every time a ship was detained at quarantine she had to take out all her gear. He was of the opinion that the government themselves should equip the stations with all the necessary facilities and not depend upon the ships that came in. The companies would supply the food, but he thought it only fair the government should provide the other things.

Complaints Overdrawn. Asked as to the amount of mails carried by the large trans-Pacific boats, the captain answered that he had seen as many as two thousand packages; the average per trip was usually about one thousand. Further questioned he replied that if a ship were detained the company would have to look after the mail and passengers and if possible find them an outward-bound ship. He stated that there would be, of course, a slight delay in the sending off of mail, and pressed for an answer, admitted that it might amount to as much as a week. He stated that the C. P. R. had never charged passengers for the expense of provision during quarantine time.

Capt. Archibald thought that the complaints of the passengers of the Montezuma were somewhat overdrawn. He thought from his own personal experience that Dr. Watt would do all that he could both for passengers and crew. The only thing was that he had not got a place good enough in which to accommodate them. People coming off the palatial ships of to-day required something more luxurious in the matter of accommodation than the station at William Head provided. His own relations with Dr. Watt and the other quarantine officials had always been most friendly, and the doctor had always been willing to assist in every possible way.

Time of Inspection. By the regulations now in vogue the time of quarantine inspection for vessels was between dawn and dusk. He thought that a point might be stretched in cases where vessels could show that there were no sufferers from any disease aboard and no persons had died during the voyage. In the cases where there had been disease or death aboard, he admitted that it was only right to examine in daylight, but the Japanese quarantine officers always examined passengers at any hour of the day or night that a vessel happened to arrive, and he had never heard of anything getting past them.

Dr. Watt: "The difficulty is to get the passengers to turn out." Capt. Archibald: "I have never found any great difficulty. I have gone down myself on occasions and called them out of their room. The steerage passengers never give any trouble in this respect, for they always turn out promptly."

Valuable Cargoes. Asked as to whether the trans-Pacific ships carried valuable cargoes, the captain replied to the effect that silk and tea were the most valuable products shipped. Asked as to the numbers of the various classes of passengers on board, the captain gave particulars as follows of the passenger list on the steamer Niagara, which came in last week, and the Empress of Russia, which arrives to-morrow: Niagara, first-class, 225; second-class, 191; third-class, 220. Empress of Russia, first-class passengers, 209; second and third, 802 Chinese.

The captain hazarded the opinion that in view of the increasing trans-Pacific service, which in future would be a fortnightly one, and the consequent greater chances of being held at quarantine, more accommodation was wanted at William Head.

"What special defects did you notice the last time you were at the quarantine station?" asked counsel for the crown of the captain. "The great defect was that the place was absolutely empty except for the bare boards, a few chairs and cooking stoves. Everything had to be supplied by the ship. Also the sanitation accommodation was too small."

This concluded the captain's evidence. O. C. Bass stated at this point that he appeared as counsel for Dr. Hunter, who wished to make it plain that he was not in the position of accuser. Mr. Bass was at the inquiry merely to represent the doctor in the inquiry as his name had been brought into it.

Sanitation Absolutely Bad. After recounting his list of diplomas and qualifications, Dr. Walker, the young practitioner who acted for two and a half years as assistant to Dr. Watt, said that from a sanitary point of view the station, as he knew it, was absolutely bad. In his opinion, based not on existing theories but on facts that had been experimentally established, every passenger should have an air space of 1,000 cubic feet. Reckoning the space occupied by the beds, passengers' trunks and other articles in the cubicles, the air space in them amounted, he estimated, to about 203 cubic feet. Now it had been experimentally proved that each should get 1,000 feet and that the air cannot be changed more than three times in a confined space without causing a harmful draught. Therefore he contended that the cubical contents of the cubicles were totally inadequate for the purposes for which they were intended. Citizenes Buildings. As to the buildings, he averred that not only were they out of date, but the plans for them should never have been passed. He launched into a comparison of the space provided in soldiers' barracks to that provided in the quarantine station, a comparison which was all to the disadvantage of the quarantine station.

Taking his experiences on the station at which the Montezuma had been held twice during his tenure of office and the Empress of India once, Dr. Walker gave it as his impression that the average passenger looked upon detention in quarantine in the nature of a new experience, a sort of camp holiday. On the previous arrival of the Montezuma at the station a certain Mr. Elliott had made complaints, and there were other minor ones which were usually about the plentiful lack of hot water. Dr. Walker added that the Chinaman would generally be using the hot water for washing dishes.

"How was the fumigating done?" he was asked. "Steam and formaldehyde," was the answer. "Do you consider the system of fumigation satisfactory?" "Certainly."

A Suggestion. Dr. Walker made a suggestion to the effect that the pumping in of sulphur dioxide from the plant should be done from a barge instead of from the wharf and also averred that carbon monoxide was better for the purpose than was the sulphur dioxide now in use.

Dr. Walker made several complaints against the manner in which Dr. Watt had treated him over certain matters, these amounting largely to cases in which he has not been consulted about certain things on which he thought the director of the station should have asked his opinion. He mentioned one or two specific instances, such as the case in which two stowaways who had been placed in the cells by Dr. Walker were released by Dr. Watt without the latter attempting to consult his assistant in the matter at all. In the running of the launch, he stated that Dr. Watt used it more for his own convenience than for the convenience of the station. After Dr. Walker had given his evidence the inquiry was adjourned. The next session will be held at the Quarantine station.

BALMORAL HOTEL SOLD.

Corners of Property Are To Be Used For Business—New Hotel in Centre of Block.

An important real estate transaction was completed last night when Alvo von Alvensleben, head of the German-Canadian Trust Co., Ltd., acquired the large and central business property now occupied by the Balmoral hotel, the purchase price approximating half a million dollars. The property was owned by the North Coast Land Company, Ltd., and is one of the most valuable sites in town.

The lease of the hotel company will be modified to permit of the sale of the corners at Douglas and View streets, and Douglas and Fort streets, one of which is to be leased by a bank, and the other by a financial institution.

The property has a frontage of 322 feet on Douglas street, and 90 feet on the other streets. It is probable that the Balmoral Hotel Company will rebuild the central portion of the property, facing on Douglas street, as a modern six-story hotel.

TRIP OF INSPECTION.

B. C. Electric Railway Officials To-day Went Over Saanich Line on Baggage Car. A trip of inspection has been made over the newly-completed Saanich interurban line to-day by A. T. Goward, local manager of the B. C. Electric Railway Company; G. R. G. Conway, chief engineer, and F. R. Glover, of the Vancouver service. The party travelled over the freshly-made track on a baggage car and inspected the whole road from Victoria to Deep Bay. No actual day has yet been announced for the formal opening, but it is expected to take place within the next week or so.

FACE POLAR TRIP WITH CONFIDENCE

Three More Members of Stefansson's Party Arrive on Coast

The prospect of spending three years in the polar regions has no terrors for G. S. Mooloch, K. G. Chipman and J. Cox, members of the Stefansson expedition, which will sail shortly from Esquimalt for the north.

The visitors reached Vancouver this morning. They came direct from Ottawa, having been detached from the usual routine of the Dominion geological survey work to accompany the expedition organized by the Dominion government.

Mr. Malloch will devote himself to studying the geology of the polar regions, and the collection of fossils. He is hopeful that he may locate the coal seams in those lonely places, as coal has frequently been washed up on the beach near the estuary of the Mackenzie river.

His colleagues will accompany another sub-party of the expedition that will be detached to make a topographical survey of the mainland as far south as Great Bear lake, as well as of Victoria Land, an island in the Arctic. Native copper deposits will be examined and reported on in connection with their prospective commercial possibilities. That they exist in large quantities is asserted by the Eskimos, who utilize the metal in making implements of the chase.

The topographers will be joined at Esquimalt by W. McNeill, a geologist, who is now en route from Ottawa. Mr. McNeill has been assigned to the task of making all the geological observations with the southern expedition.

CAN A WORKINGMAN BE A CONSERVATIVE?

To the Editor:—In discussing the above heading, it is necessary for me to first ask (a) What is a Conservative? (b) And what does it mean to be a Conservative?

Take first query A—What is a Conservative? If you will turn to any standard dictionary, there you will find the meaning of "conservative" to be: "To preserve," "to conserve," "abhorrent to progress," "a preference to maintain inherent from progressiveness."

How do these explanations and derivations conform to the progressive strides made by the working class, in every day phase of their materialistic gain in influencing the councils of nations, as compared with the former downtrodden, bare existence of our forefathers, who had no voice whatever expressive of popular feelings, but rather were perforce compelled to submit to tyrannical methods of governmental control?

Thanks to the derivative benefits we have received from the principles of Liberalism, we are to-day enabled to play a most important part in the councils of our country and province. And though pro tem. we may have in power a government totally abhorrent to the principles upon which our anticipation from a state of semi-slavery to a high and commanding position in the destinies of nations has been established, and whose every aim, act, and authority have been to retrograde us to that position wherein our forefathers were so unfortunately placed, and whose most elusive, deceitful, underhanded, cowardly methods, through the mouthpieces of their paid underlings, is quite contrary to the recognized principles of representative government, and therefore antagonistic to the vital interests and welfare of every working man, who has the least spark of manhood and courage left in him.

With my loudest voice to all my fellow men I would proclaim: "It is impossible in this twentieth century for a working man with honor and duty to himself and his family considered to be a Conservative."

What do the present Borden and McBride Conservative governments represent? For whom do they legislate? Whose concern is theirs, mostly? Not in one single instance can any one truthfully answer in the affirmative that they are in any instance the working man's friend. If this be so, and I defy contradiction "truthful" then working men—you who have worked up to such a pitch of enthusiasm by their tactics, to give them your votes—is it not time for you, who are absolute masters of the situation, when election day does come round, to once and for all time return men to our legislature who will represent the principles which most affect you and your family's most vital interests, both in theory and in practice.

In the present Borden-McBride governments you have assisted to send—I was going to say men—those whose mouths have been so filled with sweet promises, when they were before you for your votes, of what they would do for you when they once got on the floor of the House, but when they did get there, your concern, your welfare, your interests and your family's destiny; well, these were the very last thoughts that came to their minds.

In theory, a jolly good fellow; in practice, a good "jolly fellow" on the "floor" of the House.

"'Tis the first sanction Nature gave to man, Each other to assist in what they can."

Hence my desire to assist in every possible manner I can to enlighten my fellow workers to the dangers ahead, unless they heed the warning and be governed accordingly.

What does it mean to be a Conservative? In regard to a working man, it means that he most assuredly shall support in and out of season the most tyrannical, despotic, systems of class government that ever held sway within the boundaries of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans; it means also that the sufferings undergone by our forefathers as martyrs fighting for the freedom, liberty and equality of the worker from the tolls and clutches of the greedy land-grabber, and all that its resultant misery, inevitably means to the worker are, and will be, sacrificed all made in vain, if you so readily, so thoughtlessly, for a mess of pottage, throw away that birthright that has thus so sacredly been bequeathed to you and yours—the power of your vote.

The power, my fellow workers, that we possess is of such magnitude that we can say that we will demand, respect thereof. Hence therefore it is with us to utilize to the highest interests this sacred power, and as a sacred duty do not for one moment allow yourselves to be dragged into giving that power of a vote away on promises which vanish with the air we breathe. Assuredly it is more shame for a man to lose that which he holdeth than to fall in getting that which he never had. So be it with us, my fellow men. Use the vote you have as a sacred trust reposed in you, to use to the best possible material and social alleviation of the sufferings of humanity, to the uplifting of mankind, and to the well-being of yourselves and your families for generations yet unborn.

What one sees with his own eyes he can as a rule believe in the truth thereof or vice versa as his conscience dictates. When you therefore find a government as we have over James Bay to-day deliberately using the powers you workingmen have most assuredly given them by placing them in power in initiating a system of class legislation which would be appropriate to the latter part of the seventeenth century instead of this enlightened age; it is high time for you workingmen to decide and demand they hand in their resignations.

McBride, Borden and Company, notwithstanding everything to the contrary, are capable of any acrobatic feat at any moment suitable to their respective interests, and the capacity of their energy and tenacity for clinging to office, as in my knowledge I have recollection of.

1. McBride a few months back was tooth and nail for a Canadian navy, with a fleet unit on the Atlantic and one on the Pacific coast. Now he is totally opposed to anything of the kind, but would rather we tax ourselves to the extent of $35,000,000 to send to the Old Land, to make work there instead of right here, in British Columbia.

2. Borden distinctly stated that unless the naval aid bill, granting $35,000,000 to out-of-work and capitalists in the Old Land, was passed by the federal parliament, he would immediately dissolve the government and appeal to the people.

Yet with all the tenacity of a leech he is clinging to office and power, because he knows full well his days of power are doomed. The people of this Dominion from east to west will assuredly repudiate his claims to any further lease of office.

He, like McBride, has no longer the confidence of the people, and their retention of office is the act of the drowning man who grasps a straw for his self-deliverance.

Let me therefore urge my fellow-workingmen to keep clear heads, and with courage face the fight soon to be fought at the polls. Lift up the banner of liberty and Liberalism, and we will win outright, whilst the Conservatives will be like the words of that great poet, Cowper:

"They trust in armies and their courage dies,
In wisdom, wealth, in fortune and in lies,
But all their trust it withers as it must
When He commands in whom they put no trust."

A BRITISHER'S OPINION.

To the Editor.—It is most interesting to sit down on an evening and read the newspapers and of the sayings and doings of public men. We hear a lot about politics just now, and that burning question "Harden's navy" (not the people's navy). Our King the other day, in the capital of the German empire, said it was his fervid wish, as it was of his father before him, that the peace of the world may be preserved, and yet we have two Canadian premiers, returning from the capital of the British empire, after being honored and feted by lords and dukes and big ship makers, telling us Canadian people that England is in danger, that the German ships are already at her gates. They tell us we have to send $25,000,000 over at once to build ships to fight them, as we can't build them ourselves, because we are only in the canoe stage yet. The two premiers have only been speaking from their own point of view, as subsequent events have proved, and not for the Canadian people. There are now hundreds of native-born British Columbian, and would the sending of $25,000,000 to England ever benefit one of them a five cent piece? I think not. It would rather increase their burden of taxation in years to come. There are hundreds of native sons now on the voters' list for the first time, and I firmly believe that 99 out of every hundred of them will say: "We can build our own ships and give employment to our own people, and every self-reliant workman and mechanic will say the same."

CHRISTIANITY AND PROGRESS.

To the Editor.—Very many of the world's greatest writers to-day are dealing with the problem of unrest. But a majority of them are either treating only distinctive phases of it or approaching it with the thought that it can be remedied by legislation, the triumph of their special theory or the betterment of the condition of men, without much thought of the betterment of the man himself. Unrest may rightly be termed a world disease. It has enveloped every order of society, whether industrial, purely social, or religious, of every continent. As a cure-all we have with us a thousand alleged remedies advanced by professors more or less sincere and learned in their beliefs and generally ardent and courageous in their advocacy of them. I think that it will be well to admit in the very beginning that unrest is due to an awakened sense among men of the value of their own manhood, and as a direct result of this a demand that they may have the right to say how they shall be governed and who shall govern them, with an enlightened desire to wipe away the social diseases which are destroying their opportunities for moral, spiritual and material advancement. Labor unions have worked miracles on behalf of humanity. Outside of the church, they are the greatest force existent in the world for the good of the workers of the world. But have we any reason to believe that, supreme, they would be inclined to benefit those classes which could not benefit them directly in return? Like all other organizations unspiritual in their aim, they are ingrowing rather than outgrowing. Looking backwards, we cannot find any instance that benevolence toward other than their members will be their great object. Examining the present, we find that for the benefit of the large proportion of the masses there is no promise or propaganda of hope outside of Christianity. And unionism has succeeded only because of the presence of many Christians within its ranks, because also the demands it has made have received the backing of an aroused public opinion in their favor. And Christianity alone has made possible for them that aroused public opinion. Christianity alone is working for the uplift of the working classes. What will any other belief but Christianity do for the prostitute, the thief, the degenerate, or any other of the parasites upon our social system.

Birthday To Be Observed in London To-Day

English geographers and explorers will hold a meeting to-day to commemorate the birthday of Capt. Scott, the intrepid explorer who lost his life on the return trip from the South Pole. It has been said that Scott Day is annually observed by the Royal Geographical Society, and it is likely that the plan will be adopted. In any event, the name and fame of Scott will not soon vanish from the memories of men, for few tragedies in all history have made so deep an impression as the death of the heroic Scott and his brave companions.

Robert Falcon Scott was born at Oxtunda, Devonport, a naval station on the southern coast of England, forty-five years ago to-day—June 6, 1868. His career as an Antarctic explorer began in 1901 when he headed the English expedition that sailed on the cruise wooden whaler Discovery and established a "furthest south" record. A born leader of men, a physical and mental stalwart, fearless yet never rash, determined but always sympathetic, Capt. Scott was the ideal figure of an explorer. The long roll of modern martyrs to science begins with the heroic Bruno, mute and defiant in his pyre of flames, and ends gloriously with the ice-enshrouded Scott.

Canada and Australia, as well as the United Kingdom, has joined in bestowing honors and more substantial appreciations on the families of Capt. Scott and others who lost their lives in the Antarctic tragedy. The widow of the great explorer is now Lady Scott, with the same rank, style and precedence as if her husband had been created a Knight Commander of the Bath, as he would have been if he had lived.

The King's prerogative of bestowing a title upon a woman is rarely exercised. The last noteworthy instance of this kind was in 1891, when the widow of Sir John Alexander Macdonald, the great Canadian statesman, was made a peeress, becoming Baroness Macdonald of Arncliffe. The distinguished Prime Minister died in Ottawa just twenty-two years ago to-day. In the same year the widow of the Rt. Hon. W. H. Smith, leader in the Commons, was created Viscountess Hambleden.

Perhaps the first notable case of the conferring of a title upon the widow of a great man was in 1801, when the widow of Sir Ralph Abercromby, killed in the battle of Alexandria, was made a baroness. The bestowal of titles on women whose husbands were living has been of rare occurrence, but there have been several such cases. One of the most noteworthy was the conferring of the title of viscountess on Mrs. Disraeli some eight years before her husband, the eminent statesman, was elevated to the peerage as Earl of Beaconsfield.

One hundred and one years ago to-day, June 6, 1812, a United States vesper called the British ship Lord Nelson on the Great Lakes. War was not declared until nearly two weeks later, and a United States court declared the seizure illegal, and awarded $5,000 to the Canadian owners of the Lord Nelson. A United States court clerk absconded with most of the $5,000, and for a century the claim has gone unsettled. Now it is before the International Joint Commission, and the present Canadian claimant, Henry James Bethune, will probably be awarded not only the original $5,000, but interest at 6 per cent. from June 6, 1812, making a total of over $25,000.

BIRTHDAY CALENDAR

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY
 Life will run smoothly and tranquilly for all those dear to you, and you will have a prosperous year, forming some new and valued friendships.
 Those born to-day will have admirable qualities and will steadily progress, succeeding as a matter of course. Like all born under the influence of Mars, they should be taught to control their feelings.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

After having lived for a few years under English law, at the time of the passing of the Quebec Act, the French-Canadians, though eager for the restoration of their old civil law, were by no means desirous to return to the former way of dealing with criminals. During the French regime, the accused person was not tried by a jury, but was solely at the mercy of the judge; and criminals were liable to almost incredibly barbarous punishments. For instance, when in the year 1752 a man named Belisle was convicted of murdering an old couple, who had kept a small herd of money in their lonely little farm-house on "the King's Highway," (now Dorchester Street in Montreal) he was condemned to the frightful punishment, not only of "torture, ordinary and extraordinary, but of being "broken alive" and left to die on the rack with his face turned to the sky. At noon, on June 6, 1752, the sentence was carried out, on a scaffold erected on what is now Custom House square, and afterwards the miserable wretch's body was buried by the executioner, in the roadway between the houses where he and his victims had lived.

One hundred years ago to-day was a Sunday, and the good people of Halifax were quietly venturing their way to church, when the news "spread like wildfire" that the British ship Shannon and her prize, the Chesapeake, were approaching the harbor. The Shannon's victory, after a long string of British defeats, naturally aroused the patriotic enthusiasm of the people of Halifax, and the clergymen preached that morning to all but empty pews. Wildly excited crowds rushed to the waterside to welcome the ships, and cheer after cheer went up as the canoes and captured the decks resembling the gallant Lawrence, commander of the Chesapeake, for the people of Halifax, intensely loyal, could yet appreciate the bravery of a foe. The American prisoners shackled in the vessels before Halifax was repaired, and in consequence the decks resembled charnels rather than clean-scrubbed and spick-and-span men-of-war.

Sir John Alexander Macdonald, the distinguished statesman, died in Ottawa twenty-two years ago to-day. The passing of the greatest of the builders of the Empire" caused universal mourning, and the state funeral was a manifestation of a nation's grief. The centenary of Sir John's birth will be celebrated a year from next January.

Many buildings, including Jesuits' College, the church, and the prison, were destroyed by a conflagration that swept over a part of Montreal 110 years ago to-day.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

How to keep my figure? That is the question that is agitating millions of women the world over, in these days when slenderness is the supreme feminine virtue, and fatness, or even plumpness, is little short of criminal. And here is the answer, as supplied by Mme. Rejane, the great French actress, who, although she passes her fifty-third milestone to-day, still retains the slender and beautiful lines of her youth. A meatless diet, a purely vegetable regimen, saved the peerless Rejane when she found herself growing too plump to play the roles in which she has won fame the world over. It was hard—oh, blue blazes, it was most difficult—for Madame to forego the pleasures of frog limbs, and poulet, and pate de foie gras, for Madame is fond of good living, but in the end she triumphed over her appetite and made the great renunciation. Immediately the folds of fat began to disappear, and now Rejane, on her fifty-sixth birthday, finds herself young and beautiful as ever, with every likelihood of equaling the record for parental youthfulness established by her sister vegetarian, the divine Sarah.

Madame Rejane, whose real name was Gabrielle Rejo, was born in Paris on June 6, 1847, and made her stage debut at the Vaudeville theatre thirty-eight years ago. She speedily won a place among the foremost of Parisian actresses, and in 1895 made a tour of America that was immediately successful. Rejane was for some years the wife of M. Porel, director of the Vaudeville, but they were divorced in 1906.

"The pseudo-charitableness of the man of the world, who speaks no evil of any one because he knows that even a small insect can bite, is sheer cowardice."

"People have no right to love the sinner unless they hate the sin. The punishment of the sinner ought to be the vengeance of outraged society."

"The soul of the adulterer may have good qualities known only to God, but the man we are invited to meet at dinner is not the soul we are leaving to God."

These epigrams are specimens of the caustic utterances of Dean Inge, of St. Paul's, London, who is a clergyman who does not hesitate to speak what is in his heart. The dean of the world's most noteworthy cathedral was born in Yorkshire fifty-three years ago to-day, and his father was a clergyman and his mother a clergyman's daughter, while his wife also came of a family long prominent in the Church of England.

James Augustine McFaul, the distinguished Catholic bishop of Trenton, N. J., was born in County Antrim sixty-three years ago to-day. Although enjoying excellent health, the Bishop recently selected his grave and ordered a Celtic cross tombstone to be placed over it. Bishop McFaul began his priesthood over thirty-six years ago, and has had been head of the Trenton diocese since October, 1894. In addition to his religious work he has long been prominent in movements for the welfare of society, especially the prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

May Sumner City.—Fire Chief Davis has served notice on the janitor of the city hall that unless the amount between the police station and the treasurer's office is cleaned up immediately a summons will be issued under the fire-prevention law. A lot of thin planks and boxes of paper and other rubbish have accumulated in this place in the last few days, so that it is almost impassable. The police also ordered this cleaned up this morning.

BORDEN MINISTRY GLUED TO BENCHES

No Prospect of it Appealing to the People for Mandate on Navy Issue

HIGHWAY ACT CHANGE WORRYING IT MORE

Senator Riley Tells of Tory Resentment Over Defeat of a Sinister Scheme

"There is no prospect of an election on the naval issue. The last thing Mr. Borden will do is to appeal to the people on his proposal. When he introduced the closure in the House of Commons he showed clearly that he knew he did not have the people behind him, and convinced the senate majority of the necessity of making the amendment submitted by Sir George Ross."

Hon. George Riley who, with Mrs. Riley, has just returned from the federal capital, thus sums up the political outlook. The government, he said, was glued to the treasury benches, and it would require a derrick to lift it out of office.

"The Liberals in the Senate were practically unanimous," Senator Riley added, "in the belief that the government should obtain a mandate from the people before it embarked upon so radical a departure with their money as the contribution proposal of Mr. Borden. The threat of what would happen to the senate if the bill was not passed strengthened the conviction of the majority that the people should be consulted on the question."

"However, I have reason to believe that the government is more annoyed at the amendment of the highways bill than at the fate of the navy proposal. Everybody at Ottawa was aware of the sinister purpose behind the highways bill. Conservative senators very unwisely let the cat out of the bag. One of them put it this way: 'The Tories now are in possession of the cities. If we pass this highways bill and get authority to spend money on road construction we can break into the rural districts where the Liberals are strong. See how successful the roadmaking machine has been in British Columbia. If this bill passes we can do just as effective political work in federal elections.'"

"That was the whole scheme," Senator Riley continued, "and it furnishes the reason why the government insisted on spending the money itself instead of handing it over to the various provinces for expenditure under provincial direction, which is the proper constitutional procedure." We amended the bill to enable this to be done, and the government dropped it."

SPEAKER TELLS OF JAPAN AND RUSSIA

Miss Pownoll Wright, of Vancouver, Gives Talk to Women's Institutes

The chief feature of this morning's session of the Conference of Women's Institutes was the talk given by Miss Pownoll Wright, late professor of English in the Women's University of Tokio, Japan, and at present of the Colonial Intelligence League. Miss Pownoll Wright, who spoke in a very entertaining manner, talked about her experiences as a traveller and teacher in Russia and Japan, and described some of the customs of the people of those countries. The customs of the women were more particularly dwelt upon, the speaker giving some amusing and interesting accounts of marriages she had witnessed, and her observations in the educational customs of the countries.

Referring more particularly to the wealthier classes of both countries, among whom she had made most of her observations, Miss Pownoll Wright said that there was a very low standard of morality for the men in Japan, and for both men and women in Russia. In the former country almost the entire educational progress had been effected through the Christian missionaries, and to-day the Japanese as a nation made a special point of the study of the Bible apart from the religious truths contained therein, and as a study of history and literature.

Flower Shows.

There was a good deal of interesting discussion during the morning on the various subjects introduced. Flower shows were among the first things to be discussed, and it was decided that the various institutes would continue holding these, as they had proved such a splendid institution. Club rooms were also considered an asset to the life of the institutes, and further discussion on this subject was left to the individual institutes to debate among themselves. Mrs. Neild, of Metchoin, gave a very interesting talk on "The Institute as a Social Centre," which condensed something of what had taken place in the discussion on club rooms.

A supplementary talk, which was substituted for the papers on "Fair Work" and "Home Making," was given by Mrs. Hanington, who spoke on the subject of children as farmers of the future, in which she emphasized the importance of educating the children on the farms to be farmers, rather than sending them to the congested civic centres, where the endless struggle for place went on continually. There was too little encouragement given to them to stay on the farms.

MEETINGS

Social Service Commission.—A meeting of the social service commission will be held on Monday afternoon at half-past two o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Saanich Ratepayers to Meet.—The regular monthly meeting of the ratepayers of Ward 4 will be held in Colquhoun hall on Monday. The school question is demanding earnest attention, and the recent action of the council in limiting the tenders for road paving to bitulithic patents, together with the Garden City water question, will be up for discussion. It is proposed to have a debating society in connection with the association to discuss the Oriental question and similar topics.

Cadet Band to Play.—To-morrow afternoon at 2.30 the Victoria High School Cadets' band, under Bandmaster Plowright, will play in the North Ward Park. A feature of the programme will be the "Anvil Chorus" from Il Trovatore.

St. Andrew's Ladies' Auxiliary.—The Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Andrew's Society will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Foresters' hall on Monday evening next. All members and friends are invited to attend to discuss the annual picnic. After the initiation of candidates, which will be held during the evening, a social time will be held.

Gonzales Chapter.—Members of the Gonzales Chapter will meet at the Alexander Club to-morrow forenoon at 11.30 to settle the business of the chapter in connection with the kermess.

St. John's Senior Guild.—The ladies of St. John's Senior Guild will hold a splendid institution. Club rooms were also considered an asset to the life of the institutes, and further discussion on this subject was left to the individual institutes to debate among themselves. Mrs. Neild, of Metchoin, gave a very interesting talk on "The Institute as a Social Centre," which condensed something of what had taken place in the discussion on club rooms.

Daughters of Scotland.—The Daughters of Scotland will meet this evening at the Foresters' hall, Broad street, at 8 o'clock, and all members and friends are requested to be present to participate in the arrangements for the annual picnic which is to take place on July 1. After the business meeting a dance will be held, for which Miss Angus' orchestra will supply the music. Ladies are asked to bring refreshments.

LOCAL NEWS

Tried to Bribe Officer.—Wah, the keeper of an opium joint at 557 Flisguard street, was given the option by Magistrate Jay this morning of paying a fine of $50 and costs or going to jail for two months. One of the frequenters who tried to bribe one of the detectives who made the raid was given two months, without the option of a fine, and the other three frequenters were given the usual fines of $25.

Must Observe Signal.—While the police of Victoria are not London "bobbies" Magistrate Jay impressed upon an express driver this morning that when a traffic officer's hand is raised the signal is meant to be obeyed. James Donaldson, driver for the Dominion Express Company, was fined $5 for not stopping his horse when Constable Gates, at Government and Fort street, signalled him to do so.

TORNADO AT REDDING SNAPPED ALL WIRES

Shasta Limited Slows Down Because of Intense Dust Storm

Redding, Cal., June 6.—An intense, but purely local, tornado snapped off a mile and a half of telegraph poles three miles south of here late yesterday, uprooting fruit trees, scattering hay cocks, shattering window panes, and unroofed many lightly-built barns and sheds.

Such clouds of flying sand and even sizable gravel followed the funnel-shaped cloud, the northbound Shasta Limited, which was lashed by the tail of the storm, had to slow down because the engineer's cab was filled with dust and he could not see ahead. A heavy downpour of rain succeeded the wind, scouring the gulches until they were impassable for teams, yet at Redding itself there was not a drop of rain and scarcely a gust of wind. Telephone and telegraph poles on one side of the railroad were mowed down while those on the other side were untouched.

Another Steamer Strikes Levant Mine

Athens, June 6.—The Belgian steamer Kurland, from Antwerp, struck a mine near the island of Phleba, in the Gulf of Athens, this morning. She was seriously damaged, and had to be towed to Phaleron and beached.

DETECTIVE BUREAU OF NEW YORK IS SLATED

Partnership Alleged Between Detectives and Criminals by Curran Report

New York, June 6.—Seathing arraignment of the detective bureau of the New York police department and a charge that a partnership exists between some detectives and criminals are contained in the Curran reports on conditions.

"Benjamin Levy," says the report, "had never been convicted of a crime, testified that at the request of officials in the detective bureau, he had often induced criminals to commit burglaries in order that they might be arrested. He was strongly corroborated by reputable citizens, including one of an insurance company, a merchant and others."

Levy testified that in one case Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, in charge of the detective bureau, gave him $25 with which to purchase burglar's tools, and after he succeeded in burglary, paid him $75 for his services. City vouchers for these amounts in Levy's favor were found, according to the committee's report, which adds that the bureau is hopelessly insufficient, and should be reorganized along drastic lines.

Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Christensen and Miss Bertha Brekke, Seattle, are visiting at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler at Shawnigan lake.

Two Large Buildings.—Building permits have been taken out by S. and H. Martin to erect a two-story frame building containing twenty-five rooms, for stores and apartments, to cost $25,000, at Menzies and Toronto streets, and by Hip Hoy and Yee Park, for a store and loft costing $9,000, to be erected in a lane off Flisguard street.

VARIOUS BRANCHES

OF WORK DISCUSSED

Women's Institute Listens to Several Able Papers on Domestic Science, Etc.

TRUSTEES OBJECT TO SCHOOL GARDENS

Practical Demonstrations as Valuable Attraction at Institute Meetings

At the afternoon session of the conference of Women's Institute Workers of Vancouver island, Mrs. A. T. Watt took the chair, two of the subjects left over from the morning session were dealt with before the afternoon programme was commenced.

Mrs. Thom, of Lake Hill Institute, expressed the opinion that practical demonstrations attracted people almost better than anything else to the spring and fall meetings, and, speaking on the same theme, "How to Make the Meetings Attractive and Get Best Results" Mrs. Blackford, of Colwood, said that they had found it of great advantage to have their programme brought out before the season commenced.

Mrs. Dier also endorsed the idea of practical demonstrations as being one of the leading attractions, and another delegate suggested that these should be in such simple things as millinery, pastry-making, etc. It was also beneficial for the various institutes to exchange demonstrators and lecturers, as there would be found in nearly every institute some member who was particularly proficient in some branch of work.

In reply to Mrs. Watt's suggestion that the programmes should be printed earlier Mrs. Neill, of Metchois, said that they had tried this, but had found it inadvisable owing to the number of disappointments which they had when they were printed too far in advance of the meetings. Mrs. Van De-car, of Royal Oak, said that more publicity work should be done, and press notices of meetings published. Mrs. Stewart recommended offering prizes for the best essays in marketing, flower shows, etc., and suggested that the government could judge these.

Mrs. Thom read an excellent paper on "The Needs of Lecturers and Demonstrators," in which she called attention to the necessity of freer exchange of these between the various institutes, and emphasized the value of the work done through them. The discussion which followed was led by the chairman and Mesdames Gilchrist and Hutchison.

Co-Operation Between Institutes. In discussing the question of "Co-Operation between the Institutes," Mrs. Aitkins, of Gordon Head, said that she did not think that the women realized how important it was for them to stand together, and pointed out the value of visiting other institutes than their own wherever possible. Many little suggestions could be gleaned from the members of the visited institute quite apart from the lecturer, and it might be advisable also to hold joint meetings. It would also be of advantage for the institutes to combine where it was wished to obtain some improvements, as the department might listen to several institutes where one would carry little weight. If several institutes would make appeals to obdurate boards it might be more effective than isolated appeals.

Mrs. Aitkins also suggested that it might be arranged that members of one institute removing to another district should become members of the institute in their new neighborhood. Co-operative picnics would be good for bringing members of various institutes together, and co-operation might also be tried in sending exhibits to Vancouver rather than for each institute to send separately.

School Gardens. That the trustees of the schools did not always sympathize with the idea of the Women's Institute to form school gardens formed the basis of the remarks made by Mrs. Hutchison in Royal Oak district, said the speaker, she thought the trustees had rather objected to the forming of gardens at the schools; consequently the subject had been dropped. So far as she could learn they were quite entitled to refuse permission if they wished. Mrs. Campbell, of Comox, gave a short paper on the same subject, which offered several suggestions for the laying out and working of such gardens, and naming some of the benefits accruing to such a system where children were concerned.

Sanitation in Schools. It was impossible to have sanitation without water, said Mrs. Watson of Gordon Head, in discussing "Sanitation in Rural Schools." Twenty years ago they had been promised water in the school there, but they were still waiting. Mrs. Goodall, of Colwood, said that sanitarly things at the school in their district were in a dreadful state; there was but one bucket for water, with one cup, and sometimes the children even put back the water which they did not drink into the pail. Miss Hadwen asked if Dr. Robinson could not be asked to have some special inspection of the schools made.

Domestic Science. Mrs. Watt, discussing the question of Domestic Science in Country Schools, referred to the value of the system adopted in many schools whereby pupils were provided with some hot dish at luncheon. A resolution to the effect that a recommendation be made to the Department providing in some way for means of getting this in all rural schools was responsible for the appointment of a committee of three, consisting of Mrs. Hall (convener), Mrs. Macguire, and Mrs. Campbell to deal with the matter.

School Luncheons. Miss Juniper, supervisor of domestic science in the Victoria schools, gave a very instructive and helpful talk on School Luncheons, and told of the work which is being done in the Victoria public schools in this direction. Girls and boys alike were instructed as to the value of foods and the proportion of each which should appear in the different meals. The girls and boys were instructed in the preparation of luncheon boxes, and daintiness was a point only secondary to the food itself in importance. The children were all instructed to wrap the luncheon wherever possible in white table oilcloth, which could afterwards be used for a tablecloth, and a paper table napkin and cup should be included in each box.

The speaker mentioned that in the new Normal school course cookery was not going to be taught in such a way that the teachers could teach the subject themselves, although the course in needlework would make the teachers efficient to instruct in this subject.

She also pointed out the value of the fireless cooker and gave a long list of dainty and nourishing dishes which could be prepared at the school at little cost so that the children might have some hot food for their luncheons: Bread and milk, cocoa, Irish stew (which, she said, should not cost more than three cents per head), beef stew, potato soup, bean soup, baked beans and pork, and other nourishing dishes, none of which should cost more than ten or twelve cents to each child. Miss Juniper added that she noticed that men as a rule took more interest in meals than women, and seemed to have a greater appreciation of what was meant by nourishing food.

In addition to cooking, however, there were many other things which should be emphasized in the course of Domestic Science in the schools. Cleaning the homes, for example, was very important, also sewing, home-making, and housekeeping generally. Too often cooking, to the elimination of every other branch of housekeeping, was emphasized in any course of housekeeping. The Women's Institute libraries should have several other books on the subject in addition to the inevitable cook-book. A vote of thanks to the speaker from the chair concluded the afternoon session.
