PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 118th CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION

Vol. 169

WASHINGTON, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 2023

No. 159

House of Representatives

The House met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker.

PRAYER

Head Granthi Giani Jaswinder Singh, Gurdwara Pine Hill, Pine Hill, New Jersey, offered the following prayer:

"Ik Onkar Satguru Prasad." "One universal creator God, by the grace of the true guru."

Almighty God, Waheguru, we call You by many names but You are one. Keep Your divine hand over the Members of this House as they help steer the future of our great Nation. Keep truth on our tongues, love in our hearts, and sound judgment in our minds. Remind us of our purpose: to love and serve one another and create a more peaceful world.

We ask for blessings unto all leaders as they work for the common good. Give all who govern this land humanity, courage, integrity, and compassion. Release each one of us from ego so that we may serve selflessly. Help us remember that we belong to one family.

Recognize the entire human race as one.

We ask of the Almighty to also keep watch over our Nation's protectors, who work tirelessly day and night to ensure our safety and our freedom.

You are everywhere, all are Yours. Whatever is seen, O God, is Your form. My Lord, You are but one.

In the name of Nanak, find everlasting optimism; with Your will, Almighty God, may there be grace for the entire humanity.

"Smoooh Shaheedan Nu Kot Kot Parnam." "My homage to all martyrs in the world."

"Waheguru Ji Ka Khalsa," "Khalsa belong to the glorious God."

"Waheguru Ji Kee Fateh," "Victory to the glorious God."

Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House the approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to clause 1, rule I, I demand a vote on agreeing to the Speaker's approval of the Journal.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the Speaker's approval of the Journal.

The question was taken; and the Speaker announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to clause 8, rule XX, further proceedings on this question will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. THOMPSON) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

WELCOMING HEAD GRANTHI GIANI JASWINDER SINGH

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. NORCROSS) is recognized for 1 minute.

There was no objection.

Mr. NORCROSS. Mr. Speaker, it is my honor today to welcome guest chaplain, Head Granthi Giani Jaswinder Singh, who made history today as the first Sikh to serve as guest chaplain in the United States House of Representatives.

Giani Singh proudly serves the people of South Jersey at the Gurdwara in Pine Hill in my district. His spiritual leadership has helped foster a vibrant Sikh community.

The history made today by Giani Singh is a reminder that the United States welcomes and values all and will remain committed to free expression of religion.

Giani Singh has made South Jersey proud today, and it is an honor to be a part of this moment with him. I thank him for leading the prayer and for the work he does in our community each and every day.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Ms. LEE of Florida). The Chair will entertain up to five requests for 1-minute speeches on each side of the aisle.

HONORING COACH TOM IRWIN

(Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize former Bishop Guilfoyle High School football coach Tom Irwin.

Over his four decades on the sidelines and in the classroom, Coach Irwin taught thousands of young men to be team players, to work together for the common good, to sacrifice for one another, and to be men of character both on the field and off of the field.

As one of Coach Irwin's former players, I personally am grateful for his leadership.

Through his words and his deeds, Coach Irwin taught his students what it meant to be an individual of faith, what it meant to pray, and to seek God's guidance during both victory and defeat.

Leading teams of young men onto the football field, Coach Irwin prepared his students not only to confront the conflict of crossing the goal line, but to prepare for the trials that each man would face later throughout their lives.

As a coach, as a teacher, as a mentor, and a counselor, Tom Irwin has impacted the hearts and the souls of countless young students, both those who wore football pads and those who did not.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate by Ms Byrd, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate has passed without amendment a bill of the House of the following title:

H.R. 5110. An act to amend the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 to clarify that the prohibition on the use of Federal education funds for certain weapons does not apply to the use of such weapons for training in archery, hunting, or other shooting sports.

CELEBRATING THE LIFE OF MURRAY SAVAR

(Ms. HOULAHAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. HOULAHAN. Madam Speaker, I rise for the indefatigable, musical, mystical, magical Mr. Murray Savar.

Murray, you have been the pied piper for more than 40 years—two generations—for our community's young women and girls. Students have been entranced by you and have literally found their voice and their agency under your spell.

You are priceless. Your life is an exemplar of the impact that one person, one teacher, can have on hundreds and thousands of lives, an impact that you have had by joyfully meeting the mundane world where we are with a song every single day. Southeastern Pennsylvania is so lucky that you have called it home for so many years.

I am here—just one person—standing in on behalf of more than four decades of parents and students in our community.

To quote a song that you taught generations to love, I say, "Thank you for the music, for giving it to me."

Murray, your community loves you and wishes you Godspeed.

REMEMBERING THE LIFE OF CORPORAL FRANCIS JAMES JURY

(Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise today to remember the life of Corporal Francis James Jury of Clearfield, Pennsylvania.

Corporal Francis Jury was reported missing on December 2, 1950, at 23 years old. Corporal Jury was deemed missing during the battle with enemy forces near the Chosin Reservoir in North Korea.

On July 27, 2018, following the summit between President Donald Trump and North Korean Leader Kim Jong-un, North Korea returned the remains of 55 American servicemembers killed during the Korean war. Following DNA testing, Corporal Jury was identified as one of those 55 members.

Madam Speaker, we still feel the pain of those missing from conflicts fought generations ago, and we are forever indebted to their service.

My prayers are with Corporal Jury's family during this solemn time.

It is my hope with his return his family is able to find peace and solace in knowing their loved one died a hero in service to the Nation.

CONSEQUENCES OF A GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN

(Mr. MCGARVEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MCGARVEY. Madam Speaker, I rise today because I am frustrated. I came here to work—to work across the aisle and get things done. Rightwing extremists are preventing us from doing our most important job, passing a budget. It is catastrophic for our country, our community, and our economy if extremist Republicans shut down our government.

Let me be clear. Kentuckians cannot afford a shutdown. There are 119,884 Kentucky moms and babies who will lose access to vital nutrition assistance. Nearly 556,000 SNAP recipients will lose access to their benefits in a prolonged shutdown, and 10,672 Federal civilian workers in my district could be furloughed or have to work without pay. These are real consequences to Republicans' harmful actions.

Pass a spending bill. It is our job. When you are done playing political games, we are ready to work together to avoid a disastrous shutdown.

HONORING DR. BETH PELZ

(Mr. NEHLS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. NEHLS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Dr. Beth Pelz, a criminal justice professor at the University of Houston-Downtown.

For over 30 years she helped countless criminal justice students and her community, and now she is enjoying a well-deserved retirement.

Throughout her career she helped students access scholarship funds to pursue higher education, with some of those funds extending to the University of Houston-Downtown Police Academy.

She also established the Robert S. Brown Memorial Scholarship fund to help criminal justice students. Dr. Pelz helped and assisted law enforcement in both Houston County and Harris County, related to street and prison gang issues. She is an expert.

In fact, Dr. Pelz played a very important role as one of my professors while I attended the school for my master's degree. Dr. Pelz helped shape and mold countless public servants and law enforcement officers throughout her dedicated career. I thank her for mentoring me and helping prepare me to serve my community during my time as the sheriff of Fort Bend County, Texas.

Madam Speaker, I wish her the most well-deserved retirement after her tireless dedication to every student at the University of Houston, and those she helped in the community.

Beth, you truly mean the world to me. I love you.

CONSEQUENCES OF A GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN

(Mr. VASQUEZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VASQUEZ. Madam Speaker, I rise today to deliver a message on behalf of Native American youth.

As the Representative of New Mexico's Second District with seven sovereign nations, I have heard from leaders from the Center for Native American Youth who are deeply troubled about their future. They are asking for Congress to be good relatives.

Failing to pass an agreement means that over 30,000 Native parents and caregivers who are Federal workers are at risk of being unable to provide for their families.

It means over 70,000 Native students in Head Start, BIE schools, and Tribal colleges and universities are at risk of a disruption in their education, harm to their mental health, and food security.

I proudly represent Zuni, Acoma, Isleta, and Laguna Pueblos, and the Mescalero, Fort Sill Apache, and Navajo Nations.

A government shutdown is a failure to uphold the Federal trust responsibility with real-life consequences that disproportionately impact Native youth and their families.

Native youth from across the country are asking Congress to do what is right. Find an agreement. Be good relatives, not just in New Mexico, but across the country.

STAFF SERGEANT EARL JACOBS NAMED TENNESSEE SECOND DISTRICT'S VETERAN OF THE MONTH

(Mr. BURCHETT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BURCHETT. Madam Speaker, before I get started, I would like to say how sorry I was to hear about Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN passing this morning. I didn't agree with her on anything, but she was very kind to me every time I saw her, and I miss that up here.

Madam Speaker, I rise to honor Staff Sergeant Earl Jacobs, who honorably served this great Nation for 34 years.

Staff Sergeant Jacobs was born and raised in Clinton, North Carolina. He moved to Washington, D.C., after high school and entered the Army in 1953. He worked as a combat medic during the Korean war, where he served briefly in Korea and then in Germany. He spent his time in the helicopter transportation unit, where he provided care for patients during transportation to the hospital. Staff Sergeant Jacobs received an honorable discharge in March of 1955.

He joined the Army National Guard in Washington, D.C., before moving to Loudon County, Tennessee, where he served in the 278th Armored Cavalry Regiment in Lenoir City. He was a medical noncommissioned officer, where he was a radiological monitor and a flight medical aidman. Staff Sergeant Jacobs retired from the Tennessee Army National Guard in 1992, Madam Speaker.

Our country's heroes are the men and women of our Armed Forces like Earl Jacobs, the ones who chose to wear our country's uniform. We seem to always honor those who dribble a basketball or throw a football or catch a baseball, but these are our real heroes who served and sacrificed for our freedom. It is my honor to recognize Staff Sergeant Earl Jacobs as the Tennessee Second District's September 2023 Veteran of the Month.

CONGRATULATING JUDGE RICHARD VARA ON HIS RETIREMENT

(Ms. GARCIA of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. GARCIA of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the 44½ years of service and dedication of Houston's own Judge Richard Vara. A trailblazer in 1974, when he was appointed judge, he was 23 years old. At the time, that made him the youngest person to be appointed as justice of the peace. He was just 23 years old.

Judge Vara grew up in the historic east end of Houston, graduating from Austin High School, the University of Houston, and the South Texas College of Law.

The judge got his first encounter with politics and people and fighting for all of us by going to meetings of LULAC with his parents. This sense of service to the Latino community remained with him throughout his service.

Both in the courtroom and in the community, Judge Vara has exemplified public service and commitment by bettering his community. He has created and volunteered for countless organizations in Houston, all aimed at improving the lives of people around him.

Please join me in congratulating Judge Richard Vara for his many years of service. Enjoy your retirement, Judge. You have earned it. Thank you and God bless.

WHITE FLAG OF SURRENDER

(Mr. GAETZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GAETZ. Madam Speaker, the continuing resolution being offered today is a bad deal for Republicans. The entire premise of this continuing resolution is that if Republicans surrender on every single issue except the border that it will be good politics because we will force the Democrats to defend bad border policy.

However, Madam Speaker, surrender has been a virus that has afflicted my fellow Republicans for far too long. To prove the point, just look at the border policies that we are supposedly fighting for. The border policies that Republicans will argue for this morning represent a retreat from the border policies we took last night.

Last night, we said we wouldn't fund DHS unless E-Verify was passed because they had to take up H.R. 2. Now we are saying we will give Mayorkas and the Biden administration more money even if they don't pass E-Verify. Overnight, in the last 11 hours, the Republican border position has gotten weaker through this continuing resolution. That is why I am voting against it.

We cannot be serious about border security without E-Verify. I will fight for E-Verify. Eleven hours ago, the Republicans fought for E-Verify, and now the white flag of surrender.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO ROSALINE COHEN'S DECADES OF SERVICE TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

(Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a valued member of my staff, Rosaline Cohen, who is retiring after more than two decades of exceptional service to the United States House of Representatives.

Since 2007, Rosaline has been the chief Democratic counsel for the Committee on Homeland Security, where she has had an enviable track record of legislative accomplishments and a reputation for reaching bipartisan agreement.

Rosaline has been a steadfast and strategic partner of mine since I was named ranking member of the committee in 2005, and her service has spanned some two decades. We are so privileged to have had her.

Rosaline was working for former Congressman Ken Bentsen of Texas on September 11, 2001. When her office was evacuated, Rosaline sheltered most of her colleagues in her basement apartment on Capitol Hill.

Little did she know that 6 years later, in her first year as chief counsel of the Homeland Security Committee, Rosaline would spearhead House-Senate conference negotiations over legislation I introduced on behalf of the Democratic majority to fully implement the recommendations of the 9/11 Commission. It was called H.R. 1, and we thank her for that.

I know Rosaline's many accomplishments are a source of pride for her family. On behalf of the Homeland Security Committee members, past and present, the entire committee staff, I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating Rosaline on her retirement and wishing her all the best in the future.

PROVIDING FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 5525, CONTINUING APPROPRIATIONS AND BORDER SECURITY ENHANCEMENT ACT, 2024

Mr. RESCENTIALER. Madam Speaker, by direction of the Committee on Rules, I call up House Resolution 741 and ask for its immediate consideration.

H. RES. 741

Resolved, That upon adoption of this resolution it shall be in order to consider in the House the bill (H.R. 5525) making continuing appropriations for fiscal year 2024, and for other purposes. All points of order against consideration of the bill are waived. The amendments printed in the report of the Committee on Rules accompanying this resolution shall be considered as adopted.

The bill, as amended, shall be considered as read. All points of order against provisions in the bill, as amended, are waived. The previous question shall be considered as ordered on the bill, as amended, and on any further amendment thereto to final passage without intervening motion except: (1) one hour of debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations or their respective designees; and (2) one motion to recommit.

SEC. 2. Upon passage of H.R. 5525 the title of such bill is amended to read as follows: "Reducing spending, securing the border, and for other purposes."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Pennsylvania is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. RESCENTIALER. Madam Speaker, for the purpose of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MCGOVERN), my good friend, pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. RESCENTIALER. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Pennsylvania?

There was no objection.

Mr. RESCHENTHALER. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of this rule and in support of the underlying legislation. House Resolution 741 provides for consideration of H.R. 5525, the Spending Reduction and Border Security Act, under a closed rule, with 1 hour of debate equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations or their respective designees, and provides one motion to recommit.

Madam Speaker, I rise today to support the underlying legislation, which fully funds programs for our Nation's veterans, servicemembers, and the Department of Homeland Security while reducing other discretionary spending.

Additionally, H.R. 5525 secures our southern border by resuming construction of the wall, increases the number of Border Patrol agents, and reforms our asylum laws to disincentivize mass illegal immigration.

Under the President's disastrous immigration policies, over 7 million illegal immigrants have entered our country, while nearly 50,000 pounds of fentanyl have flooded across our border. That is enough to kill every single person on the entire planet. This crisis must end. It will only end through efforts of House Republicans.

Finally, this legislation includes an important provision authorized by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. HUIZENGA), which establishes a bipartisan fiscal commission that addresses our out-of-control debt. While the Senate figures out what type of clothes to wear, House Republicans have put forth a plan which averts a government shutdown, restores fiscal responsibility, and addresses the Biden border crisis.

Madam Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this rule, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Pennsylvania, my good friend, for yielding me the customary 30 minutes, and I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I will just take a moment first to recognize the loss of our dear colleague and historic trailblazer, DIANNE FEINSTEIN. The longest serving woman in the United States Senate, Senator FEINSTEIN was a political giant.

She fought hard for her constituents in California, passionately defended American civil liberties, and was a strong voice for national security as chair of the Senate Intelligence Committee.

She broke more glass ceilings in her career than most thought was possible, and she will be missed. She left behind an incredible legacy. May she rest in peace.

Now, Madam Speaker, I have the unfortunate task of turning to the business before us, a CR that the Republicans have brought forward.

Again, I mentioned legacy with regard to Senator FEINSTEIN. I ask my friends, is this their legacy? Is this what they want people to remember their service by? This bill, that was just dropped on us a few hours ago, really is a piece of garbage, and that is putting it nicely.

Madam Speaker, the clock is ticking; less than 40 hours from a total MAGA Republican government shutdown. Less than 40 hours, and today we are here to consider the Republicans' latest continuing resolution that has absolutely no chance of becoming law. This version of the CR we are considering won't pass the Senate. It just won't. We all know that. Hell, I don't even think it is going to pass the House, it is so bad; and it will not be signed into law by President Biden. We all know that.

We got this text late last night, and thanks to the quick work of Democratic Rules and Appropriations staff, we have some preliminary analysis about what this CR means for the American people. Let me tell you, the cuts in this bill are even worse than what was proposed before. They are going in the wrong direction.

House Republicans' earliest CR slashed essential programs by 8 percent, an 8 percent across-the-board mindless cut. This new version now has across-the-board cuts by 30 percent or more; by 30 percent or more. It is effectively a partial shutdown bill.

They slash investments in cancer research. They eliminate public education by cutting funding for Head Start. They fail to support communities recovering from natural disasters. It cuts money for wildfire suppression by 50 percent. Haven't they been paying attention? The wildfires in Maui and in the western part of the Country. I mean, communities are desperate for help, and my friends propose a bill that would cut money for wildfire suppression by 57 percent. What planet are my friends living on?

They cut loans and grants for farmers in rural communities. They defund law enforcement. Republicans want to talk about fentanyl? They cut money from the DEA.

What are they thinking? You can't make this stuff up, Madam Speaker.

We estimate that if Republicans get their way, if this thing were ever to become law, up to 1 million seniors will be kicked off of Meals on Wheels.

My friend from Pennsylvania talks about, oh, we are upholding our obligation to protect our national security. I will remind the gentleman and my friends on the other side of the aisle that national security means more than the number of bombs we have in our arsenal. It means the quality of life for our people. It means whether or not our senior citizens have security in their retirement years. It means whether they have access to food. It means whether or not people have jobs and whether or not people can have a decent living in this country. That has to be part of the discussion on national security, and this bill just blows all that up.

We expect WIC to get at least a 30 percent cut. Women, infants, and children will go hungry because of Republicans' misplaced priorities. Talk about cruelty.

In the Rules Committee just not too long ago this morning, I asked my friends, who claim that they were well-versed in all the details of this bill, is the 30 percent cut in WIC accurate? Is that correct? There was silence. How many women, infants, and children will be cut off from the benefit if this were to pass? There was silence. No one knows.

We do know, thanks to the work of the staff, that there is a 30 percent cut and a 74 percent cut in LIHEAP, a program that keeps Americans warm during the winter. I come from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. We have cold winters. The gentleman comes from Pennsylvania. It gets cold in Pennsylvania, too. Winter is coming. Everybody represents constituencies that rely on this program to heat their homes, and my friends cut it by 74 percent.

What are my friends thinking? Give me a goddamn break. This is wrong.

What are you doing? When it comes to keeping seniors warm or providing pregnant mothers and their babies food, Republicans have a problem, but the sky is the limit if it is a defense contract—cost overruns be damned. They have no problem with tax cuts for corporations or for millionaires or billionaires, no problem with heaping more subsidy giveaways to the fossil fuel industry.

Let me just say, we do not share the same values, and this is proof of that, Madam Speaker. This is proof of that.

This majority is a failure. The day Speaker MCCARTHY handed his gavel over to the MAGA/QAnon fringe, this was the inevitable outcome. The government will shut down tomorrow. Let me repeat that: The government will shut down tomorrow.

Let me say to my Republican friends: You own this. You did this, and this is just plain stupid. Stop wasting time and work with us to get this done in a bipartisan way.

Madam Speaker, I urge my colleagues on the other side of the aisle to join us in defeating this rule. I mean, we are wasting time today. This is a total waste of time. Let's defeat this rule and force the Rules Committee to go back up and come up with a rule that will allow a bipartisan bill to come before the floor. Let's end this clown show once and for all.

The American people are watching. They are frustrated by all of this, and I hope that my friends on the other side of the aisle, my moderate friends on the other side of the aisle, will join us in defeating this rule. We appreciate the statements that have been made, calling out the incompetence of the Republican leadership, but now I think it is time to put your votes where your quotes are.

We have to stop this. Now is the time to send that message, and I reserve the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to refrain from the use of profanity.

Mr. RESCENTIALER. Madam Speaker, if my friend from Massachusetts is worried about energy prices in Boston, there is an easy solution. You can import liquefied natural gas from Pennsylvania, which is cheap and abundant.

Unfortunately, Democrats in New England and New York have refused to build the Constitution Pipeline, which would actually bring LNG into New England. Instead, people in Boston are paying higher prices for the petroleum that is coming in from tankers from—guess where—Russia. Again, just complete circular logic from my friends across the aisle.

Now, let's talk about not only the high energy prices that the middle and working class have to pay because of Democratic policies but also how real wages are down.

Inflation-adjusted average hourly wages were $11.39 when Biden took office. They are now at $11.04, meaning that Americans have seen a 3.1 percent pay cut under Biden. You might think that it is only 3.1 percent, but let's talk about inflation.

Prices have risen 17.4 percent since President Biden took office. That is roughly a 20 percent cut, so who is really working for the middle class and looking out for the working class? It is not President Biden.

You also have another crisis, which is totally ignored, and that is the immigration crisis. Before I yield to my good friend from New York, let's just talk about New York.

In New York, the immigration crisis has led to over 100,000 migrant arrivals in 2022, which the mayor says is destroying the city. New York City Mayor Eric Adams said: "We are about to experience a financial tsunami that I don't think the city has ever experienced."

The mayor also said: "The national government has turned its back on New York City."

Well, Mayor, it is not the national government that turned its back on you. It is the Democratic President and the Democrats in Congress.

Madam Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAWLER).

Mr. LAWLER. Madam Speaker, 75 percent of Americans believe we are headed in the wrong direction, according to nearly every single national poll.

NBC News recently had a poll that showed Republicans outperform Democrats by 21 points on the question of who is better equipped to handle the economy. Why? Because Bidenomics has been an absolute disaster.

There is record inflation, skyrocketing energy prices, higher grocery bills. People are struggling. This administration has increased spending by over $5 trillion in new spending in just 2 years.

The American people elected a House Republican majority to serve as a check and balance on this administration and on the Senate, but also to govern.

There are real challenges in this country, starting with our economy: our reckless out-of-control spending; the cost of living; our long-term debt crossing $33 trillion; the fact that if we do nothing, Social Security and Medicare will both go broke within the next decade; and then, of course, immigration and the crisis at our southern border.

Since Joe Biden took office, 6 million migrants have crossed our southern border, many of them illegally. Asylum cases are taking 2 to 3 years at a minimum to be heard. This administration has failed to combat the malign influence of the cartels trafficking women and children, trafficking drugs, and fentanyl pouring into our communities, killing 70,000 Americans just last year.

It is shameful, yet what do the American people see? They see a government on the precipice of a shutdown.

My colleagues across the aisle will pin it squarely on the Republicans, but let's be clear: Through this appropriations process, we have now passed four appropriations bills through the House. Senator SCHUMER and Senate Democrats have passed exactly zero appropriations bills through the Senate.

Our fiscal year ends tomorrow, so Congress has not done its work to pass these appropriations bills, either through the House or the Senate, by the September 30 deadline.

I agree with my colleagues in the House Republican majority that we need to pass single-subject appropriations bills. The committee has been doing that work. It is important work, but it takes time. It takes time to go line by line and break the way this place has operated for three decades, and we need time to complete that work.

Shutting down the government will serve no purpose whatsoever, and in fact, it will tank an already fragile economy because of the Biden administration's policies.

Our veterans, our seniors, our Active-Duty military, all the employees within the Federal Government will be hurt by a shutdown. Our stock market and our 401(k)'s will be impacted.

There is absolutely no reason for a shutdown, and it is imperative that we, in the House, lead, govern, and pass a continuing resolution to keep the government funded short-term while we finish our work.

People can blame leadership. People can say that we should have done this back in July. I would remind some of those very people that they refused to move rules. They refused to move some of these bills because they wanted more cuts, and that is fine. That is democracy.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. RESCENTIALER. Madam Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. LAWLER. Madam Speaker, unlike the previous Speaker, this Speaker has allowed this place to actually function as a democracy. He is not ruling it with an iron fist. So many people complained about the way that it was previously run, and now they kind of want it run like that again. It is not the way we should operate.

We need to pass a CR. Any CR in a divided government ultimately will be bipartisan. We all know that. There is no partisan CR that is going to become law in a divided government, but we have to negotiate and have to get to that point.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman's commentary and his critique of Republican leadership, but what I didn't hear is how he was going to vote on this rule or how he is going to vote on the underlying bill.

The bottom line is, quotes are fine, but votes are better. Votes are more important here.

By the way, this bill that we are talking about guts things like LIHEAP, cuts it by 74 percent, which will impact people in New York, which will impact people in Pennsylvania and all over this country.

The bottom line, Madam Speaker, is that if we want to get rid of the nonsense and get to the business of funding government in a bipartisan way, then we need to stop this now. We need to sit in a room in a bipartisan way and figure this out.

That is what the United States Senate is doing. My Republican friends have never once talked to the Democratic leadership here about trying to come up with a compromise. Republicans never once talked to our ranking members about how we come to a middle ground. It has always been their way or the highway.

By the way, it is not just their way. It is their far-rightwing way, going way, way in the wrong direction.

Madam Speaker, the CR we are considering in this rule is not just shameful. It is a partisan measure. It is also, as I have said, a complete waste of time, time we do not have.

Tomorrow, the government shuts down. This will not keep the government open. It will not keep it functioning for the American people. It does the opposite. It ensures a shutdown will occur, and if anybody is opposed to a shutdown, then stand with us right now and say no to this nonsense.

Madam Speaker, I am urging that we defeat the previous question, and if we do, I will offer an amendment to the rule for swift consideration of the Senate's bipartisan continuing resolution to fund the government after they send it to the House.

Once we receive the Senate CR, the chair and/or ranking member of the Appropriations Committee can call it up as a privileged question without further action from the Rules Committee.

There will be 1 hour of debate, and the House will have an up or down vote on keeping the government running while full-year funding is being negotiated. We can send the bill straight to the President's desk.

During the 2013 shutdown, a Senate CR was privileged under the House rules until the Republican majority turned that off.

We aren't even at the procedural stage yet because House Republicans have failed to advance any real plan to fund the government.

□ 1045

They would rather fight with one another than negotiate with the Senate.

Some have even openly called for a government shutdown, and we have been through those quotes of Republican after Republican saying they relish a government shutdown.

We can fix this right now. If anything deserves to be privileged for consideration on this floor, it is a bill to keep the government open. That is so vitally important, Madam Speaker.

Clearly, it is time for the adults in the room to step up to the plate. We need to give Congress more time.

Again, I ask my moderate friends on the other side of the aisle not to follow the fringe of their party down this path. It is my hope that some reasonable Republicans who are interested in governing will join with us in this effort.

So reject this insanity of cheering on a government shutdown and abandon the sinking ship that is MAGA extremism. Moderates have a chance to say enough is enough. A bipartisan CR would be temporary, but it is better than nothing. We need the time to work all this stuff out.

Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert the text of my amendment into the RECORD along with any extraneous materials immediately prior to the vote on the previous question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. NEGUSE), to discuss our proposal.

Mr. NEGUSE. Madam Speaker, I thank the ranking member for yielding.

I would simply say to my colleague from New York, if you don't want a shutdown, if you are trying to prevent a shutdown, prove it.

There is a simple way to prove it, Madam Speaker. Defeat the previous question so we can consider a simple amendment, an amendment that does one thing, that let's this body take an up or down vote on the bipartisan Republican and Democratic Senate continuing resolution that is being negotiated as we speak. That is it. It gives that resolution privilege so that this House can consider it, can take that up or down vote and ensure that the government stays funded, Madam Speaker.

If you are not prepared to do that, if my colleagues aren't prepared to do that, then please spare us these supposed concerns for a government shutdown that you have engineered from the start.

You want to talk about blame, Madam Speaker, here is a quote, and this is not my quote.

This is not conservatism. This is stupidity. The idea that we are going to shut the government down when we don't control the Senate, when we don't control the White House. These people can't define a win. They don't know how to take yes for an answer. It is a clown show. You keep running lunatics, this is what you are going to have.

These are not my words, Madam Speaker. These are the words of the gentleman from New York. If he doesn't want to be a part of this clown show—I don't disagree with him, by the way. I don't think the American people disagree with him either.

Clearly, the House Republican Caucus is in dysfunction and chaos, but there is an easy way for him to leave this clown show and govern with Republican Senators, Democratic Senators, with your colleagues on this side of the aisle, defeat the previous question and support the amendment and let's have the debate on a bipartisan CR that keeps our government funded.

I don't know how a Member can vote for the previous question and deprive this body of an opportunity to vote on that bipartisan CR. I don't know how you go back and tell the tens of thousands, hundreds of thousands of troops and law enforcement officers and Border Patrol agents who will be forced to work without pay that you decided that this body shouldn't vote on a stop-gap measure to keep the government running. I don't know how you do that.

I can tell you this: The American people well understand the Republican plan that they have brought to the floor. You do not get to have it both ways. You don't get to say that you support law enforcement and fentanyl interdiction and then put a bill on the floor that cuts the DEA, that cuts the FBI, that will harm State and local law enforcement officers.

You do not get to say you care about public safety and then put a bill on the floor that cuts, by more than 50 percent, wildland fire suppression in States like Colorado, the State that I happen to be honored to represent in the United States Congress. You do not get to have it both ways.

The time for political games is over.

We have 24 hours to go, Madam Speaker. Let's defeat the previous question and let's pass this amendment to keep the government up and running.

Mr. RESCENTIALER. Madam Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. LAWLER), for the purpose of rebuttal.

Mr. LAWLER. Madam Speaker, it is always great to listen to DCCC talking points. At a very time when Leader JEFFRIES said that he would not politicize this potential shutdown in a meeting of the Problem Solvers Caucus, that very day the DCCC and House Majority Forward announced million-dollar ad campaigns—mail, TV—attacking individuals like me on the issue of a shutdown, despite me saying very clearly that I oppose a shutdown.

So we know that on the other side they actually want a shutdown. They relish it because they think it will benefit them politically.

Here is what you never hear from them: They don't want to deal with the border, they don't want to shut down the border. They don't want to deal with spending cuts. They want to increase spending. They don't want to deal with our long-term debt. They want to blow it through the roof.

We have real challenges in this country, and, yes, we need to work in a bipartisan manner.

When Eric Adams, the mayor of New York City, is saying the migrant crisis is destroying New York City, that it is going to cost them more than $12 billion; when Kathy Hochul, the Governor of New York says there is no more room at the inn, despite sanctuary city policies, right to shelter, the use of taxpayer money to give free housing, healthcare, education, clothing, and food to illegal immigrants, and a refusal to cooperate with ICE and law enforcement, spare me your righteous indignation.

None of you are willing to actually tackle the challenges. You are looking to use this as a vehicle to win back the majority. That is it.

I am actually willing to work across the aisle. I signed on to the Problem Solvers CR. Join us in that. Not a single one of you have.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to direct their remarks to the Chair.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I wonder whether the DCCC writes the gentleman's speeches because what the gentleman from Colorado quoted was his words in a speech. Talk is cheap around here. Votes are the currency of the realm in this place.

The choice is clear, and the gentleman has made clear where he stands.

Madam Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Pennsylvania (Ms. SCANLON), a distinguished member of the Rules Committee.

Ms. SCANLON. Madam Speaker, I thank the ranking member for yielding.

We are 37 hours, 6 minutes and 25 seconds away from a shutdown, an unnecessary and devastating government shutdown after wasting weeks on right-wing messaging points and bills.

Here, the majority has brought to this floor not a responsible short-term funding bill, but more of the same posturing, dangerous, and unrealistic games to placate the most extreme factions in their party. It is well past time for the chaos caucus to get serious about governing.

Funding the Federal Government is Congress' most basic duty and this colossal failure of the Speaker and House Republicans to keep the lights on across this country will cause real harm to our economy and to hard-working families.

These aren't just numbers. These are real people whose lives will be upended. This shutdown means senior citizens won't be able to heat their homes because this CR cuts 74 percent from the LIHEAP budget. That is a $137 million cut to LIHEAP in Pennsylvania alone. That is over 342,000 families who are counting on this program and who will be left in the cold in October. Just a few hours from now are when those funds should start to become available.

This shutdown means that mothers and babies in my district will go hungry because their WIC benefits will be cut. It means that teachers will be kicked out of their classrooms that need them most because of draconian cuts to the IDEA and Title 1. Cuts to Title 1 and IDEA equates to nearly 150,000 teachers and service providers being cut from our public schools where they need help the most.

Approximately 275,000 children will lose access to Head Start, undermining early education for them and their futures, and harming their parents' ability to go to work.

My district is home to the Philadelphia airport. TSA workers and travelers alike will be affected by delays.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Pennsylvania.

Ms. SCANLON. Madam Speaker, the last time the Republicans shut down the government in 2018–2019, we had to run food drives to feed TSA workers who were required to show up but were not paid. Some of them lost their jobs when they lost their cars, doubling down on the harm.

Look, a Republican government shutdown is going to hurt working families, interrupt vital services, damage our economy, endanger our national security, force millions of our troops and government employees to work without pay, all because Speaker MCCARTHY has turned over the House of Representatives to the most extreme Members of his caucus.

Meanwhile, House Democrats, bipartisan Senate leadership, and President Biden are working together to keep the lights on.

Mr. RESCHENTHALER. Madam Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Indiana (Mrs. SPARTZ), my good friend.

Mrs. SPARTZ. Madam Chair, unfortunately, muscle memory is very strong in Washington, D.C.

Unfortunately, Wall Street and K Street are very powerful in Washington, D.C.

Fortunately, we have people on the Republican side that are willing to stand up for Main Street, willing to challenge their own leadership to deliver on issues of national security.

This institution went through tougher times. We deliberated a lot of issues, but we used to be able to come together on issues of national security and our border security. Our destructive debt situation is destroying American lives.

I hope the other side will join Republicans to win this battle for the American people. It shouldn't be a political issue, politicized. If this government cannot deliver maybe it is worth it to shut it down. What is it for then? If we cannot come together on this, then we are not worthwhile to represent the American people.

So I hope that the other side stops being sheep and starts to actually not be afraid to challenge their own leadership and do something for this country because American people are sick and tired of us being worthless. We need to protect this country because if we don't save this Republic, no one else around the world will be able to defeat a lot of enemies, foreign and domestic.

I will tell you one thing, there is nothing unreasonable or extreme to serve the people, to secure the border, and deal with our debt.

I would appreciate it if the other side wakes up and supports Republicans.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I would just say to the gentlewoman, we are not here to support Republicans. We are here to support our constituents.

Madam Speaker, if the President were presented with H.R. 5525, he would veto it, so this is a complete waste of time.

Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to include in a RECORD a Statement of Administration Policy on this underlying bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

STATEMENT OF ADMINISTRATION POLICY
H.R. 5525—SPENDING REDUCTION AND BORDER SECURITY ACT, 2024—(REP. DONALDS, R-FL)

The Administration strongly opposes House passage of H.R. 5525, making continuing appropriations for fiscal year 2024, and for other purposes. Hours before a Government shutdown, House Republicans are playing partisan games instead of working in a bipartisan manner to fund the Government and address emergency needs.

In a blatant violation of the funding agreement the Speaker and the President reached just a few months ago, the bill endangers the vital programs Americans rely on by making reckless cuts to programs, regardless of the consequences for critical services from education to food safety to law enforcement to housing to public health. It also fails to address key emergency funding needs where lives are at stake, ignoring the Administration's request for resources to combat the fentanyl crisis and effectively manage the border, support the people of Ukraine as they defend their homeland from Russia's illegal war, and stand with communities across America as they recover from natural disasters.

In addition, H.R. 5525 fails to provide the resources needed to avoid severe disruptions to Government services—risking unnecessary delays for travelers by underfunding the Federal Aviation Administration; loss of access to nutritious food for pregnant and postpartum women and children by underfunding the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children; and deterioration in service for the over 71 million Americans who rely on the income support Social Security programs provide.

The bill also includes harmful, partisan border legislation that would further exacerbate the challenges at the border. It would cut off most access to humanitarian protections in ways that are inconsistent with the Nation's values and international obligations. In addition, the bill would make processing less efficient by prohibiting the use of the CBP One mobile application to process noncitizens and restricting the Department of Homeland Security's parole authority, such that successful programs, like "Uniting for Ukraine," would be prohibited. House Republicans propose these harmful policies while providing none of the supplemental funding needed to manage the border; we need real actions to secure the border.

The Administration urges House Republicans to follow the Senate's lead and engage in a bipartisan appropriations process that funds the Federal Government in a responsible manner, consistent with the bipartisan agreement earlier this year.

If the President were presented with H.R. 5525, he would veto it.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from New Mexico (Ms. LEGER FERNANDEZ).

Ms. LEGER FERNANDEZ. Madam Speaker, this extreme Republican bill reveals their mean-spirited values more than any words they utter. Those values are to kick 275,000 young, 4-year-old children out of Head Start.

Republicans hypocritically talk about fentanyl but then defund the law enforcement officers who seize this deadly drug. This bill deprives that brother, sister, daughter, a friend of yours that you might have who is battling mental health or addiction, of the funds they use.

Don't talk about fentanyl. Don't talk about addiction if you are not going to fund the law enforcement and the health resources we need to truly tackle that.

Madam Speaker, then they slash BAA funding by 30 percent, including slashing the Tribal law enforcement officers who are out there also interdicting and protecting us from criminal activity.

□ 1100

The CR really reveals who extreme Republicans are—"sin verguenza," "without shame" about hurting those most vulnerable, cutting programs for our world communities by 30 percent.

I stand for rural America—this bill does not, and it puts down our ranchers and farmers.

If they don't get their way, what will they do? They will shut the government down.

Let's remind everybody, every time we have a government shutdown of any note, it is because Republicans did it under their leadership, and they hurt everybody in the process. And why? To protect the rich and the wealthy.

To protect the rich and the wealthy, the extreme Republicans will cut Social Security. They have said it. We have the words. They will do it. They will slash public school funding horribly—horribly—for those schools that most need it. They will criminalize abortion. Over and over again they have told us what they intend to do in their appropriation bills. They are going to make it hard for women to get access to the healthcare they need and they deserve everywhere.

I say that this bill is "sin verguenza," "without shame."

Mr. RESCHENTHALER. Madam Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. HUIZENGA), my good friend.

Mr. HUIZENGA. Madam Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman yielding.

The short-term stop-gap government funding measure we are debating here today not only keeps our government open, which is very important, it responsibly reduces spending, makes critical reforms to secure the border, and, importantly, contains the text of my bipartisan bill to establish a fiscal debt commission.

The Fiscal Commission Act of 2023 now included in this bill will create a commission that proposes recommendations to finally tackle our Nation's unsustainable debt trajectory in the medium and the long term.

Furthermore, both Chambers of Congress will be required, Madam Chair, to take a vote on the commission's proposal.

With this key provision, Congress can no longer kick the can down the road on the rapidly growing threat of our national debt.

Given the bipartisan support of this legislation upon introduction, it is clear that both Republicans and Democrats understand that time is running out.

The Federal Government is already spending more on interest on the national debt than it spends on children—something that my colleagues I know are very concerned about because they talk about it. The interest is already nearly more than what we spend on defense, and we are rapidly approaching a point where interest on the debt will be more than Social Security and Medicare.

In building the Fiscal Commission Act of 2023, we learned from past commission mistakes and gave this legislation real teeth, practicality, urgency, and clear goals for Congress to come face-to-face with this massive challenge.

Specifically, the commission is made up of 16 commissioners that include 12 Members of Congress, as well as 4 private-sector experts that are selected by leaders of both the House and the Senate.

The commission is tasked with identifying policies to improve our fiscal situation in the medium term and to achieve a sustainable debt-to-GDP ratio in the long term.

Importantly, it will put forward solutions to ensure the solvency of our 20-plus trust funds for decades to come. The commission will also propose recommendations designed to balance the budget at the earliest reasonable date, including at minimum stabilizing the debt-to-GDP ratio at or below 100 percent within 10 years—all while addressing growth of direct spending and the gap between revenues and expenditures.

The proposal will then come to Congress in the days shortly after the 2024 election where the House and Senate must take an up-or-down vote on the recommendations without amendment and without delay.

I am proud to say that joining me in the introduction of the Fiscal Commission Act of 2023 there were an even number of Republicans and Democrats.

With this inclusion in the continuing resolution before us today, I urge all my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to keep our government open this week and secure our Nation's fiscal future for generations to come.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Madam Speaker, I remind the gentleman from Michigan that if the Republicans' shutdown moves forward, he has 5,607 people in his district who are Federal employees who will lose their paycheck.

In the Rules Committee today, Madam Speaker, Democrats offered an amendment saying, yeah, we are happy to talk about how to keep Social Security and Medicare solvent, but we want to guarantee that we are not going to cut people's benefits, and the Republicans rejected that.

We know what this is about. This is about going after Social Security and trying to make it solvent by cutting people's benefits, and Democrats are against that unequivocally.

Madam Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, the people of America are suffering. We have repeatedly told them that they are our priority, but the people of America are suffering while my colleagues insist on a government shutdown, which is what they are doing.

Blatantly they have violated the very agreement that Speaker MCCARTHY and the President of the United States—two people holding the greatest trust—agreed to to be able to go forward on a funding scheme that would save the American people.

Yet, we stand here today where my very constituents in Houston, Texas, are going to have the soldiers that served in our Nation's military not paid. It is going to have $2 billion in loans to small businesses not given. It is going to stop nearly 800,000 children from getting nutrition. It is going to stop 456 million people from getting housing, and yet, we are standing here stating that we are patriots?

I don't want a government shutdown. Food safety will be, in essence, in jeopardy. Law enforcement will not be paid. These are the people who say we are pro-law enforcement, but, yet, they will not be paid.

What goes on with the Senate? It is a bipartisan resolution that if we vote on it today as it comes across, the government will stay open.

I support the previous question because the people of America are suffering, and I don't expect this draconian cutting of everything, losing salaries for the military, cutting out food benefits, cutting Social Security payments, cutting Medicare payments, Medicaid payments, to be our definition of individuals who are standing here working for the American people and fellow Houstonians.

My commitment is to be here to insist that the government not close. I don't know why a commonsense continuing resolution cannot be passed.

I do want to say that as this has been offered into the RECORD, the President's statement, how can we run government if a deal that Speaker MCCARTHY made with the President of the United States on behalf of the people of this Nation cannot be kept?

As I stand here today, I want to say that people are suffering. Let us stop their suffering and keep the government open.

Mr. RESCHENTHALER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. GAETZ).

Mr. GAETZ. Mr. Speaker, the House of Representatives has passed funding bills to fund our veterans, our troops, our Border Patrol, our State and foreign ops.

These are the core functions of government. The Senate should take up and pass those bills to make sure those folks are paid, and they should do it today.

The rule we are on now advances a continuing resolution that weakens the Republican position on strong border policies.

Just last night, we passed a Department of Homeland Security appropriations bill that was lashed to policy requirements at the Department of Homeland Security. They had to do certain things to fix the border to get the money, and one of those things was E-Verify.

Last night, we stood together and we demanded that E-Verify be included if Mayorkas wanted the money, and this continuing resolution that the rule we are on now would facilitate strips E-Verify and takes it out. Why would Republicans just overnight back away from such a strong and necessary provision as E-Verify?

I will be voting against this continuing resolution because I want House Republicans to have the strongest position on the border. The American people will come with us on that. We have just got to have the courage to lead and not surrender.

I know big businesses don't want E-Verify, but we should want it anyway for the American worker.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I will point out to the gentleman who just spoke that the Senate can't even take up the Homeland Security appropriations bill because the way the Republicans wrote the rule was that they are not going to send it over until the Senate passes H.R. 2 without changing a comma and the President signs it into law.

Lots of luck with that.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RESCHENTHALER. Mr. Speaker, just remember that the Senate has passed zero appropriations bills.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Arizona (Mrs. LESKO).

Mrs. LESKO. Mr. Speaker, I am in support of funding the government so our military, Border Patrol officers, and other dedicated employees that are protecting our Nation can continue with their job and get paid while they are doing it.

I am also in support of House Republicans pushing and demanding that the Senate secure our border by including the bill that we have already passed out of this House, H.R. 2.

One of the biggest crises in our Nation right now is a result of this administration's disastrous border policies.

President Biden's policies have allowed 233,000 border crossings in just August of this year compared to 50,000 just 3 years ago under President Trump.

Biden has invited 211,000 additional migrants to fly directly into the United States from their home foreign country.

Biden has accepted 263,000 additional more migrants to apply for asylum via his new CBP One app.

Biden has allowed 151 migrants to enter our country that are on the terrorist watch list—and that is just who we have caught.

Biden has allowed migrant women and children to get raped by cartels. His policies have allowed young migrant children to be sold into sex slavery. His policies have allowed fentanyl to flood our border and kill our citizens.

This has got to stop, and Republicans are here to stop it and protect our Nation.

House Republicans have already passed a bill to secure our border that is now sitting over in the Senate waiting to be heard. Schumer won't even bring it up for a vote.

It is time for the Democrat-controlled Senate to pass our border security bill. It is time for the insanity at our southern border to end. It is time to pass this bill and pressure the Democrats in the Senate to secure the border.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. NEGUSE), a distinguished member of the Rules Committee.

Mr. NEGUSE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the ranking member for his indulgence, and I would be remiss to come back to the floor to simply say only in Washington can you have Members who claim they want to avoid a shutdown while they take every step to shut down the government.

Only in Washington can you have Members who claim to support law enforcement while they promote a bill that cuts funding for law enforcement.

Only in Washington can you claim that you want to secure the border while engineering a shutdown that will force Border Patrol agents to work without pay.

Only in Washington can you claim that this so-called debt commission that they have designed will not harm programs like Social Security months after rolling out a plan—the Republican Study Committee in June—rolling out a plan that guts Social Security.

My colleague from Pennsylvania is a member of that group. The gentleman from Michigan who spoke earlier, who apparently has proposed this amendment, is a member of that group. Why don't they be honest with the American people about their plans? Because they know the plan to cut Social Security is deeply unpopular, and, yet, they soldier on.

Mr. Speaker, 24 hours, that is how much time we have. Defeat the previous question. Let's support the amendment to give an up-or-down vote on the bipartisan deal that Republicans and Senate Democrats have been working on. Let's keep the government up and running. Let's avert this extreme Republican government shutdown.

Mr. RESCHENTHALER. Mr. Speaker, I am prepared to close, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire as to the time remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. LALOTA). The gentleman from Massachusetts has 3½ minutes remaining.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, it is an absolute joke that we are here today dealing with this, as I said at the beginning of my remarks, piece of garbage. That is what it is. This is not a serious attempt at legislating. This is a MAGA Republican press release at best, and it is a lousy press release.

All the priorities that are in this bill represent deep cuts to things that matter to Democrats. When we talk about national security, we don't only talk about the size of our military and the number of bombs we have. We talk about whether or not people in this country have access to jobs, whether they have food, whether or not we have good schools, whether or not people have access to healthcare and retirement security. We talk about things like the purity of our environment.

My Republican friends talk about bombs and about tax cuts for the rich and for big corporations. They don't care about the people who are at the heart and soul of our concerns on the Democratic side. If they did, they wouldn't cut and slash programs like WIC, the women, infants, and children program, providing basic nutrition for low-income, pregnant moms and newborn babies. They wouldn't cut LIHEAP, a program that provides vulnerable people with help to be able to heat their homes in winter. They wouldn't cut it by 74 percent.

Who does that? Who thinks like that? Who would come to the floor and defend that kind of garbage?

The bottom line is, we don't share the same values. It is that simple.

I want to tell you, we are going to fight as hard as we can against all the things that you claim you value in this book because this is not what America is about. Basically, this is about turning our back on people. This is essentially a government shutdown in and of itself.

Let me just close with a couple of comments to our moderate friends who go on MSNBC and give all these quotes about how they want a balance and how they want this. They criticize their leadership, and then they come to the floor and vote with the majority. Enough of that. It is votes, not quotes, that matter. It is votes, not quotes.

If you really want to avoid a government shutdown, to the so-called moderates on the other side of the aisle, vote with us. Vote "no" on the previous question so we can guarantee that the Senate-passed bill will have a vote here in the House. Vote "no" on the rule so we don't have to waste all this time today arguing over this nonsense, this headline, rightwing garbage that guts the heart and soul of our social safety net. We can do so much better.

At the end of the day, we have to come together, Democrats and Republicans, and come up with a bill. My friends keep on going in the wrong direction. They keep on going further and further to the right. That is a road to nowhere.

The Senate, to their credit, Democrats and Republicans, are talking. You guys can't even talk with yourselves. You are fighting amongst yourselves.

This is a radical idea: Maybe sit down and try to negotiate a bipartisan solution here because you control one-half of one branch of government—and barely. You would never know it when you see this kind of stuff come to the floor.

Enough of the nonsense. People send us here, at a minimum, to keep the lights on. You have to do that. Work with us. Stop this nonsense.

Again, vote “no” on the previous question, vote “no” on this garbage.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. RESCHENTHALER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Last week, our national debt reached a record high of—wait for it—$33 trillion. This is a result of the White House and a result of the previous Democrat-controlled Congress spending trillions of dollars outside the appropriations process.

Let’s remember, under Democratic control, we saw the highest inflation in over 40 years, the highest interest rates in over 20 years, and a 17 percent increase in consumer prices. That is why this underlying legislation establishes a bipartisan fiscal commission to get our Nation on the right course.

This is just one of the many manufactured crises caused by Democrats’ far-left policies. Look at our southern border. At the southern border, President Biden’s immigration policies caused a flood of illegal immigrants into our Nation and illicit fentanyl into our communities.

Just last week, our Nation set an all-time record for illegal crossings in a single year. Over 25,000 pounds of fentanyl have also been trafficked across our southern border this year. To put that into perspective, this is enough to kill every single American citizen.

Sadly, too many towns across my home State of Pennsylvania have felt the consequences of the Democrats’ pro-open border agenda. In Pennsylvania alone, there were over 5,000 reported overdose deaths in 2022. Not only is the White House doing nothing to address this crisis, but the Democrats’ pro-crime agenda actually encourages it.

If you doubt me on that, let’s just take a look at what happened in Pittsburgh recently. In Pittsburgh, law enforcement caught a drug trafficker with $2 million worth of fentanyl. To put that into perspective, that is enough to kill 35 percent of the population in Pennsylvania. Then, to make matters worse, a far-left, radical judge released that criminal on the streets the very next day, and he has since fled the State.

This is absolutely ridiculous. House Republicans are the only leaders in Washington willing to do something about this. Thanks to Republicans and our Commitment to America, the underlying legislation will reduce our exploding national debt, avert a government shutdown, and secure our southern border.

For those reasons, I urge my colleagues to vote “yes” on the previous question and “yes” on the rule.

The material previously referred to by Mr. MCGOVERN is as follows:

AN AMENDMENT TO H. RES. 741 OFFERED BY MR. MCGOVERN OF MASSACHUSETTS

At the end of the resolution, add the following:

SEC. 3. Upon receipt of a message from the Senate transmitting H.R. 3935 with a Senate Amendment or amendments thereto, a single motion that the House concur in the Senate amendment or amendments may be called up as a privileged question, without intervention of any point of order, by the chair or ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations or their respective designees. The Senate amendment or amendments and the motion shall be considered as read. The motion shall be debatable for one hour equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations or their respective designees. MOMENT OF SILENCE IN REMEMBRANCE OF SENATOR DIANNE FEINSTEIN

(Ms. PELOSI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I rise for the purpose of speaking with great sadness and emotion about the loss of our great Senator, our senior Senator from California, Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

I do so, as I say, personally, as a friend, neighbor, and fellow San Franciscan. All of us do so with great pride as the great Senator she has been to our State, and the longest serving woman Senator from California.

She came here with Barbara Boxer, she stayed on, and she left on her own terms. She was the first woman mayor of San Francisco, coming into office under sad circumstances but leading us with great dignity, with great effectiveness, and with great leadership.

Much more will be said about it. We will have so much time to talk and brag about DIANNE FEINSTEIN. Her legacy will be a long one that we will all be inspired by. However, today, at this time, just hours since her passing, rather than talk about her, let us just pray that she rests in peace.

In that regard, Mr. Speaker, I ask that all present in the Chamber, as well as Members and staff throughout the Capitol, please rise for a moment of silence and in remembrance of the late Honorable Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

“(H) past or present persecutory activity or association; or

“(I) status as an alien returning from the United States.

“(2) POLITICAL OPINION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may not determine that an alien holds a political opinion with respect to which the alien is subject to persecution if the political opinion is constituted solely by generalized disapproval of, disagreement with, or opposition to criminal, terrorist, gang, guerilla, or other non-state organizations and does not include expressive behavior in furtherance of a cause against such organizations related to efforts by the State to control such organizations or behavior that is antithetical to or otherwise opposes the ruling legal entity of the State or a unit thereof.

“(3) PERSECUTION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may not determine that an alien has been subject to persecution or has a well-founded fear of persecution based only on—

“(A) the existence of laws or government policies that are unenforced or infrequently enforced, unless there is credible evidence that such a law or policy has been or would be applied to the applicant personally; or

“(B) the conduct of rogue foreign government officials acting outside the scope of their official capacity.

“(4) DISCRETIONARY DETERMINATION.—

“(A) ADVERSE DISCRETIONARY FACTORS.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may only grant asylum to an alien if the alien establishes that he or she warrants a favorable exercise of discretion. In making such a determination, the Attorney General or Secretary of Homeland Security shall consider, if applicable, an alien's use of fraudulent documents to enter the United States, unless the alien arrived in the United States by air, sea, or land directly from the applicant's home country without transiting through any other country.

“(B) FAVORABLE EXERCISE OF DISCRETION NOT PERMITTED.—Except as provided in subparagraph (C), the Attorney General or Secretary of Homeland Security shall not favorably exercise discretion under this section for any alien who—

“(i) has accrued more than one year of unlawful presence in the United States, as defined in sections 212(a)(9)(B)(ii) and (iii), prior to filing an application for asylum;

“(ii) at the time the asylum application is filed with the immigration court or is referred from the Department of Homeland Security, has—

“(I) failed to timely file (or timely file a request for an extension of time to file) any required Federal, State, or local income tax returns;

“(II) failed to satisfy any outstanding Federal, State, or local tax obligations; or

“(III) income that would result in tax liability under section 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and that was not reported to the Internal Revenue Service;

“(iii) has had two or more prior asylum applications denied for any reason;

“(iv) has withdrawn a prior asylum application with prejudice or been found to have abandoned a prior asylum application;

“(v) failed to attend an interview regarding his or her asylum application with the Department of Homeland Security, unless the alien shows by a preponderance of the evidence that—

“(I) exceptional circumstances prevented the alien from attending the interview; or

“(II) the interview notice was not mailed to the last address provided by the alien or the alien's representative and neither the alien nor the alien's representative received notice of the interview; or

“(vi) was subject to a final order of removal, deportation, or exclusion and did not file a motion to reopen to seek asylum based on changed country conditions within one year of the change in country conditions.

“(C) EXCEPTIONS.—If one or more of the adverse discretionary factors set forth in subparagraph (B) are present, the Attorney General or the Secretary, may, notwithstanding such subparagraph (B), favorably exercise discretion under section 208—

“(i) in extraordinary circumstances, such as those involving national security or foreign policy considerations; or

“(ii) if the alien, by clear and convincing evidence, demonstrates that the denial of the application for asylum would result in exceptional and extremely unusual hardship to the alien.

“(5) LIMITATION.—If the Secretary or the Attorney General determines that an alien fails to satisfy the requirement under paragraph (1), the alien may not be granted asylum based on membership in a particular social group, and may not appeal the determination of the Secretary or Attorney General, as applicable. A determination under this paragraph shall not serve as the basis for any motion to reopen or reconsider an application for asylum or withholding of removal for any reason, including a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel, unless the alien complies with the procedural requirements for such a motion and demonstrates that counsel's failure to define, or provide a basis for defining, a formulation of a particular social group was both not a strategic choice and constituted egregious conduct.

“(6) STEREOTYPES.—Evidence offered in support of an application for asylum that promotes cultural stereotypes about a country, its inhabitants, or an alleged persecutor, including stereotypes based on race, religion, nationality, or gender, shall not be admissible in adjudicating that application, except that evidence that an alleged persecutor holds stereotypical views of the applicant shall be admissible.

“(7) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

“(A) The term ‘membership in a particular social group’ means membership in a group that is—

“(i) composed of members who share a common immutable characteristic;

“(ii) defined with particularity; and

“(iii) socially distinct within the society in question.

“(B) The term ‘political opinion’ means an ideal or conviction in support of the furtherance of a discrete cause related to political control of a state or a unit thereof.

“(C) the alien is a citizen of a country other than the country in which the alien alleges a fear of persecution, or was a citizen of such a country in the case of an alien who renounces such citizenship, and the alien was present in that country after departing his country of nationality or last habitual residence and prior to arrival in or entry into the United States.

“(2) BURDEN OF PROOF.—If an immigration judge determines that an alien has firmly resettled in another country under paragraph (1), the alien shall bear the burden of proving the bar does not apply.

“(3) FIRM RESETTLEMENT OF PARENT.—An alien shall be presumed to have been firmly resettled in another country if the alien's parent was firmly resettled in another country, the parent's resettlement occurred before the alien turned 18 years of age, and the alien resided with such parent at the time of the firm resettlement, unless the alien establishes that he or she could not have derived any permanent legal immigration status or any non-permanent but indefinitely renewable legal immigration status (including asylum, refugee, or similar status, but excluding status of a tourist) from the alien's parent.”.

(2) the Government of Mexico authorize and accept both the rapid entrance into Mexico of all nationals of countries other than Mexico who are ineligible for asylum in Mexico and wish to apply for asylum in the United States, whether or not at a port of entry, and the continued presence of such nationals in Mexico while they wait for the adjudication of their asylum claims to conclude in the United States;

SEC. 401. CLARIFICATION OF STANDARDS FOR FAMILY DETENTION.

“(j) CONSTRUCTION.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, judicial determination, consent decree, or settlement agreement, the detention of any alien child who is not an unaccompanied alien child shall be governed by sections 217, 235, 236, and 241 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1187, 1225, 1226, and 1231). There is no presumption that an alien child who is not an unaccompanied alien child should not be detained.

“(2) FAMILY DETENTION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security shall—

“(A) maintain the care and custody of an alien, during the period during which the charges described in clause (i) are pending, who—

“(i) is charged only with a misdemeanor offense under section 275(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1325(a)); and

“(ii) entered the United States with the alien’s child who has not attained 18 years of age; and

“(B) detain the alien with the alien’s child.”.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the amendments in this section to section 235 of the William Wilberforce Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 (8 U.S.C. 1232) are intended to satisfy the requirements of the Settlement Agreement in Flores v. Meese, No. 85–4544 (C.D. Cal.), as approved by the court on January 28, 1997, with respect to its interpretation in Flores v. Johnson, 212 F. Supp. 3d 864 (C.D. Cal. 2015), that the agreement applies to accompanied minors.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act and shall apply to all actions that occur before, on, or after such date.

(d) PREEMPTION OF STATE LICENSING REQUIREMENTS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, judicial determination, consent decree, or settlement agreement, no State may require that an immigration detention facility used to detain children who have not attained 18 years of age, or families consisting of one or more of such children and the parents or legal guardians of such children, that is located in that State, be licensed by the State or any political subdivision thereof.

TITLE V—PROTECTION OF CHILDREN

SEC. 501. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Implementation of the provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 that govern unaccompanied alien children has incentivized multiple surges of unaccompanied alien children arriving at the southwest border in the years since the bill’s enactment.

(2) The provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 that govern unaccompanied alien children treat unaccompanied alien children from countries that are contiguous to the United States disparately by swiftly returning them to their home country absent indications of trafficking or a credible fear of return, but allowing for the release of unaccompanied alien children from noncontiguous countries into the interior of the United States, often to those individuals who paid to smuggle them into the country in the first place.

(3) The provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 governing unaccompanied alien children have enriched the cartels, who profit hundreds of millions of dollars each year by smuggling unaccompanied alien children to the southwest border, exploiting and sexually abusing many such unaccompanied alien children on the perilous journey.

(4) Prior to 2008, the number of unaccompanied alien children encountered at the southwest border never exceeded 1,000 in a single year.

(5) The United States is currently in the midst of the worst crisis of unaccompanied alien children in our nation’s history, with over 350,000 such unaccompanied alien children encountered at the southwest border since Joe Biden became President.

(6) In 2022, during the Biden Administration, 152,057 unaccompanied alien children were encountered, the most ever in a single year and an over 400 percent increase compared to the last full fiscal year of the Trump Administration in which 33,239 unaccompanied alien children were encountered.

(7) The Biden Administration has lost contact with at least 85,000 unaccompanied alien children who entered the United States since Joe Biden took office.

(8) The Biden Administration dismantled effective safeguards put in place by the Trump Administration that protected unaccompanied alien children from being abused by criminals or exploited for illegal and dangerous child labor.

(9) A recent New York Times investigation found that unaccompanied alien children are being exploited in the labor market and “are ending up in some of the most punishing jobs in the country.”.

(10) The Times investigation found unaccompanied alien children, “under intense pressure to earn money” in order to “send cash back to their families while often being in debt to their sponsors for smuggling fees, rent, and living expenses,” feared “that they had become trapped in circumstances they never could have imagined.”.

(11) The Biden Administration’s Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Xavier Becerra compared placing unaccompanied alien children with sponsors, to widgets in an assembly line, stating that, “If Henry Ford had seen this in his plant, he would have never become famous and rich. This is not the way you do an assembly line.”.

(12) Department of Health and Human Services employees working under Secretary Xavier Becerra’s leadership penned a July 2021 memorandum expressing serious concern that “labor trafficking was increasing” and that the agency had become “one that rewards individuals for making quick releases, and not one that rewards individuals for preventing unsafe releases.”.

(13) Despite this, Secretary Xavier Becerra pressured then-Director of the Office of Refugee Resettlement Cindy Huang to prioritize releases of unaccompanied alien children over ensuring their safety, telling her “if she could not increase the number of discharges he would find someone who could” and then-Director Huang resigned one month later.

(14) In June 2014, the Obama-Biden Administration requested legal authority to exercise discretion in returning and removing unaccompanied alien children from non-contiguous countries back to their home countries.

(15) In August 2014, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 5320, which included the Protection of Children Act.

(16) This title ends the disparate policies of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 by ensuring the swift return of all unaccompanied alien children to their country of origin if they are not victims of trafficking and do not have a fear of return.

TITLE VII—IMMIGRATION PAROLE REFORM

SEC. 701. IMMIGRATION PAROLE REFORM.

Section 212(d)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(d)(5)) is amended to read as follows:

“(5)(A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) and section 214(f), the Secretary of Homeland Security, in the discretion of the Secretary, may temporarily parole into the United States any alien applying for admission to the United States who is not present in the United States, under such conditions as the Secretary may prescribe, on a case-by-case basis, and not according to eligibility criteria describing an entire class of potential parole recipients, for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit. Parole granted under this subparagraph may not be regarded as an admission of the alien. When the purposes of such parole have been served in the opinion of the Secretary, the alien shall immediately return or be returned to the custody from which the alien was paroled. After such return, the case of the alien shall be dealt with in the same manner as the case of any other applicant for admission to the United States.

“(B) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to any alien who—

“(i) is present in the United States without lawful immigration status;

“(ii) is the beneficiary of an approved petition under section 203(a);

“(iii) is not otherwise inadmissible or removable; and

“(iv) is the spouse or child of a member of the Armed Forces serving on active duty.

“(C) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to any alien—

“(i) who is a national of the Republic of Cuba and is living in the Republic of Cuba;

“(ii) who is the beneficiary of an approved petition under section 203(a);

“(iii) for whom an immigrant visa is not immediately available;

“(iv) who meets all eligibility requirements for an immigrant visa;

“(v) who is not otherwise inadmissible; and

“(vi) who is receiving a grant of parole in furtherance of the commitment of the United States to the minimum level of annual legal migration of Cuban nationals to the United States specified in the U.S.-Cuba Joint Communiqué on Migration, done at New York September 9, 1994, and reaffirmed in the Cuba-United States: Joint Statement on Normalization of Migration, Building on the Agreement of September 9, 1994, done at New York May 2, 1995.

“(D) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to an alien who is returned to a contiguous country under section 235(b)(3) to allow the alien to attend the alien’s immigration hearing. The grant of parole shall not exceed the time required for the alien to be escorted to, and attend, the alien’s immigration hearing scheduled on the same calendar day as the grant, and to immediately thereafter be escorted back to the contiguous country. A grant of parole under this subparagraph shall not be considered for purposes of determining whether the alien is inadmissible under this Act.

“(E) For purposes of determining an alien’s eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), an urgent humanitarian reason shall be limited to circumstances in which the alien establishes that—

“(i)(I) the alien has a medical emergency; and

“(II)(aa) the alien cannot obtain necessary treatment in the foreign state in which the alien is residing; or

“(bb) the medical emergency is life-threatening and there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(ii) the alien is the parent or legal guardian of an alien described in clause (i) and the alien described in clause (i) is a minor;

“(iii) the alien is needed in the United States in order to donate an organ or other tissue for transplant and there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(iv) the alien has a close family member in the United States whose death is imminent and the alien could not arrive in the United States in time to see such family member alive if the alien were to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(v) the alien is seeking to attend the funeral of a close family member and the alien could not arrive in the United States in time to attend such funeral if the alien were to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(vi) the alien is an adopted child with an urgent medical condition who is in the legal custody of the petitioner for a final adoption-related visa and whose medical treatment is required before the expected award of a final adoption-related visa; or

“(vii) the alien is a lawful applicant for adjustment of status under section 245 and is returning to the United States after temporary travel abroad.

“(F) For purposes of determining an alien’s eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), a significant public benefit may be determined to result from the parole of an alien only if—

“(i) the alien has assisted (or will assist, whether knowingly or not) the United States Government in a law enforcement matter;

“(ii) the alien’s presence is required by the Government in furtherance of such law enforcement matter; and

“(iii) the alien is inadmissible, does not satisfy the eligibility requirements for admission as a nonimmigrant, or there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process.

“(G) For purposes of determining an alien’s eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), the term ‘case-by-case basis’ means that the facts in each individual case are considered and parole is not granted based on membership in a defined class of aliens to be granted parole. The fact that aliens are considered for or granted parole one-by-one and not as a group is not sufficient to establish that the parole decision is made on a ‘case-by-case basis’.

“(H) The Secretary of Homeland Security may not use the parole authority under this paragraph to parole an alien into the United States for any reason or purpose other than those described in subparagraphs (B), (C), (D), (E), and (F).

“(I) An alien granted parole may not accept employment, except that an alien granted parole pursuant to subparagraph (B) or (C) is authorized to accept employment for the duration of the parole, as evidenced by an employment authorization document issued by the Secretary of Homeland Security.

“(J) Parole granted after a departure from the United States shall not be regarded as an admission of the alien. An alien granted parole, whether as an initial grant of parole or parole upon reentry into the United States, is not eligible to adjust status to lawful permanent residence or for any other immigration benefit if the immigration status the alien had at the time of departure did not authorize the alien to adjust status or to be eligible for such benefit.

“(K)(i) Except as provided in clauses (ii) and (iii), parole shall be granted to an alien under this paragraph for the shorter of—

“(I) a period of sufficient length to accomplish the activity described in subparagraph (D), (E), or (F) for which the alien was granted parole; or

“(II) 1 year.

“(ii) Grants of parole pursuant to subparagraph (A) may be extended once, in the discretion of the Secretary, for an additional period that is the shorter of—

“(I) the period that is necessary to accomplish the activity described in subparagraph (E) or (F) for which the alien was granted parole; or

“(II) 1 year.

“(iii) Aliens who have a pending application to adjust status to permanent residence under section 245 may request extensions of parole under this paragraph, in 1-year increments, until the application for adjustment has been adjudicated. Such parole shall terminate immediately upon the denial of such adjustment application.

“(L) Not later than 90 days after the last day of each fiscal year, the Secretary of Homeland Security shall submit to the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate and the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives and make available to the public, a report—

“(i) identifying the total number of aliens paroled into the United States under this paragraph during the previous fiscal year; and

“(ii) containing information and data regarding all aliens paroled during such fiscal year, including—

“(I) the duration of parole;

“(II) the type of parole; and

“(III) the current status of the aliens so paroled.”

(3) Aliens who were paroled into the United States pursuant to section 212(d)(5)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(d)(5)(A)) before January 1, 2023, shall continue to be subject to the terms of parole that were in effect on the date on which their respective parole was approved.

Any person, State, or local government that experiences financial harm in excess of $1,000 due to a failure of the Federal Government to lawfully apply the provisions of this title or the amendments made by this title shall have standing to bring a civil action against the Federal Government in an appropriate district court of the United States for appropriate relief.

If any provision of this title or any amendment by this title, or the application of such provision or amendment to any person or circumstance, is held to be unconstitutional, the remainder of this title and the application of such provision or amendment to any other person or circumstance shall not be affected.

(2) COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION.—A Fiscal Commission bill introduced in the Senate under paragraph (1) shall be jointly referred to the committee or committees of jurisdiction, which committees shall report the Fiscal Commission bill without any revision and with a favorable recommendation, an unfavorable recommendation, or without recommendation, not later than 5 session days after the date on which the Fiscal Commission bill was so referred. If any committee to which a Fiscal Commission bill is referred fails to report the Fiscal Commission bill within that period, that committee shall be automatically discharged from consideration of the Fiscal Commission bill, and the Fiscal Commission bill shall be placed on the appropriate calendar.

(3) PROCEEDING.—Notwithstanding rule XXII of the Standing Rules of the Senate, it is in order, not later than 2 days of session after the date on which a Fiscal Commission bill is reported or discharged from all committees to which the Fiscal Commission bill was referred, for the majority leader of the Senate or the designee of the majority leader to move to proceed to the consideration of the Fiscal Commission bill. It shall also be in order for any Member of the Senate to move to proceed to the consideration of the Fiscal Commission bill at any time after the conclusion of such 2-day period. A motion to proceed is in order even though a previous motion to the same effect has been disagreed to. All points of order against the motion to proceed to the Fiscal Commission bill are waived. The motion to proceed is not debatable. The motion is not subject to a motion to postpone. A motion to reconsider the vote by which the motion is agreed to or disagreed to shall not be in order. If a motion to proceed to the consideration of the Fiscal Commission bill is agreed to, the Fiscal Commission bill shall remain the unfinished business until disposed of. All points of order against a Fiscal Commission bill and against consideration of the Fiscal Commission bill are waived.

(4) NO AMENDMENTS.—An amendment to a Fiscal Commission bill, or a motion to postpone, or a motion to proceed to the consideration of other business, or a motion to recommit the Fiscal Commission bill, is not in order.

(5) RULINGS OF THE CHAIR ON PROCEDURE.—Appeals from the decisions of the Chair relating to the application of the rules of the Senate, as the case may be, to the procedure relating to a Fiscal Commission bill shall be decided without debate.

(d) AMENDMENT.—A Fiscal Commission bill shall not be subject to amendment in either the Senate or the House of Representatives.

(e) CONSIDERATION BY THE OTHER HOUSE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If, before passing a Fiscal Commission bill, a House receives from the other House a Fiscal Commission bill consisting of legislative language approved by the same Fiscal Commission as the Fiscal Commission bill in the receiving House—

(A) the Fiscal Commission bill of the other House shall not be referred to a committee; and

(B) the procedure in the receiving House shall be the same as if no Fiscal Commission bill had been received from the other House until the vote on passage, when the Fiscal Commission bill received from the other House shall supplant the Fiscal Commission bill of the receiving House.

(2) REVENUE MEASURES.—This subsection shall not apply to the House of Representatives if a Fiscal Commission bill received from the Senate is a revenue measure.

(f) RULES TO COORDINATE ACTION WITH OTHER HOUSE.—

(1) TREATMENT OF FISCAL COMMISSION BILL OF OTHER HOUSE.—If a Fiscal Commission bill is not introduced in the Senate or the Senate fails to consider a Fiscal Commission bill under this section, the Fiscal Commission bill of the House of Representatives consisting of legislative language approved by the same Fiscal Commission as the Fiscal Commission bill in the Senate shall be entitled to expedited floor procedures under this section.

(2) TREATMENT OF COMPANION MEASURES IN THE SENATE.—If, following passage of a Fiscal Commission bill in the Senate, the Senate then receives from the House of Representatives a Fiscal Commission bill approved by the same Fiscal Commission and consisting of the same legislative language as the Senate-passed Fiscal Commission bill, the House-passed Fiscal Commission bill shall not be debatable. The vote on passage of the Fiscal Commission bill in the Senate shall be considered to be the vote on passage of the Fiscal Commission bill received from the House of Representatives.

(3) VETOES.—If the President vetoes a Fiscal Commission bill, consideration of a veto message in the Senate under this paragraph shall be 10 hours equally divided between the majority and minority leaders of the Senate or the designees of the majority and minority leaders of the Senate.

SEC. 805. FUNDING.

Funding for the Fiscal Commission shall be derived in equal portions from—

(1) the contingent fund of the Senate from the appropriations account “Miscellaneous Items”, subject to the rules and regulations of the Senate; and

(2) the applicable accounts of the House of Representatives.

SEC. 806. RULEMAKING.

The provisions of this division are enacted by Congress—

(1) as an exercise of the rulemaking power of the Senate and the House of Representatives, respectively, and, as such, the provisions—

(A) shall be considered as part of the rules of each House, respectively, or of that House to which they specifically apply; and

(B) shall supersede other rules only to the extent that they are inconsistent therewith; and

(2) with full recognition of the constitutional right of either House to change such rules (so far as relating to such House) at any time, in the same manner, and to the same extent as in the case of any other rule of such House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill shall be debatable for 1 hour equally divided and controlled by the chair and ranking minority member of the Committee on Appropriations or their respective designees.

The gentleman from Florida (Mr. DIAZ-BALART) and the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO) each will control 30 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Florida.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the measure under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to speak on the Spending Reduction and Border Security Act of 2024.

As we all know, the most basic duty that Congress has and must complete every year is that constitutional power of Congress to fund the Federal Government. This bill, Mr. Speaker, will provide funding to keep our government open until October 31. Unless we act now, the government will shut down at midnight on Saturday.

Let's be very clear, Mr. Speaker. The House has already passed four appropriations bills, which constitute the majority of funding for our government. Now, unfortunately, the Senate continues to sit on its hands and has failed to pass any of them, any of them thus far. Unfortunately, it is something that we have seen time and time again from our friends across this building.

Mr. Speaker, the country is nearly $32.9 trillion in debt—that is trillion with a t, Mr. Speaker—and our deficit this year is $1.9 trillion. The Biden administration has gone on a crazy, irresponsible spending binge with money that we do not have to spend, money that is borrowed mostly from Communist China. It is time. It is time. It is time that we slow this out-of-control, unsustainable spending to a level that is sustainable.

Yesterday, Mr. Speaker, I was proud that the House of Representatives passed the State and Foreign Operations appropriations bill, one that I was pleased and honored to lead that cut wasteful spending while making crucial investments in our national security, all while the total cost of that bill passed last night is way below fiscal year 2015 spending levels. That bill that we passed will slow our spending by really taking discretionary spending back to fiscal year 2022 overall.

Now, excluded from those reductions in this bill are any reductions from defense, veterans, homeland security, and disaster relief. It is a very important start and well overdue to fund our priorities, the American people's priorities, but doing so in a responsible way that does not bankrupt the American taxpayer.

Mr. Speaker, in addition, this bill provides flexibility to the Department of Defense for new starts, but this bill does more than just deal with our out-of-control spending, which it must. It will also help the just inhumane tide at our southern border.

Mr. Speaker, our southern border is out of control. The Biden administration has failed to even do the bare minimum to secure our border. As I have said before, Mr. Speaker, the irresponsible attitude of the Biden administration when it comes to the southern border is beyond negligence and incompetence. It also has fatal consequences.

In just the last few days, we have seen a surge at the border with an average of over 9,000 apprehensions each and every day. This is unsustainable. It is unthinkable, and I would add it is immoral.

Mr. Speaker, our border is out of control. Actually, no, let me correct myself right here on the floor of the House, Mr. Speaker. No, it is controlled now 100 percent by the narco-terrorist cartels on the Mexican side of the border. That is who the administration has ceded control of the southern border to. This crisis is only going to continue to get worse and worse unless we act.

Earlier this year, the House approved the bill that I was honored to lead, H.R. 2, the Border Security Act of 2023. As you know, Mr. Speaker, this bill would make changes to our immigration policies that would help reclaim control of the southern border.

I am proud to say that the Spending Reduction and Border Security Act of 2024, which I am speaking about today, includes the Border Security Act of 2023 already passed by this House.

This bill provides a solution. This bill that we are discussing now provides a solution to keep the government open. This bill keeps the government open and restrains the growth of government while giving us an opportunity to continue negotiations on the appropriations bills.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to do the responsible thing. Support this bill so that we can send it to the Senate and keep the Federal Government open. That is what we are dealing with. That is what the vote is about.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to do the right thing and vote "yes" on this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this continuing resolution. If you cannot agree to the funding levels for 2024 in order to keep government open, you must pass a continuing resolution. A 30 percent slashing of the Federal Government only continues the majority's inability and unwillingness to govern responsibly.

I would argue that you cannot call it a conservative resolution, either. There is nothing conservative about the indiscriminate destruction of public investments in America's families.

Regardless of what it is called, this bill inflicts serious consequences on the American people, whether it is signed into law, which it never will be, or because of the costly shutdown it triggers.

We are less than 48 hours from a government shutdown, and what do we have to show for it?

The American people are tired of the doublespeak coming from the majority. There are House Republicans who have repeatedly assured the public that nobody wants a shutdown, and there are others who tell us they think a shutdown would be a good thing for the country. Maybe they are not worried about a shutdown because they know that Members of Congress will not miss a paycheck.

I can speak for every Democrat in the Congress when I say we oppose this Republican shutdown, a shutdown that will be devastating for our country.

What have the Republicans offered as their effort to avoid a government shutdown? What would this bill do? This bill would slash investments in cancer research, leave communities recovering from natural disasters out to dry, and undercut allies with a $1 billion cut to Israel and further cuts to our support of Ukraine. It defunds law enforcement by 30 percent and makes our communities less safe. It takes food out of the mouths of millions.

This bill raises costs for American families at a time when the cost of living is already too high.

It cuts title I education funding, the bedrock of American public education, to the effect of 150,000 teachers being pulled out of classrooms. Mr. Speaker, 275,000 children would lose access to Head Start, undermining early education and making it harder for parents to work.

In an unprecedented move, the House Republican bill cuts the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program, LIHEAP, funding by roughly 74 percent. More than 5 million households will lose their home heating or cooling benefits or have their benefits cut by hundreds of dollars, threatening their ability to heat their homes in winter or cool their homes in summer.

House Republicans are threatening public health by cutting the Food Safety and Inspection Service by 30 percent. Without adequate inspection staff in our meat and poultry plants, these plants will be required to close or reduce their hours. It hurts workers' paychecks, reduces the meat and poultry supply, raises the cost of food for American families, and risks the consumption of contaminated food.

With the cuts in this bill, 400,000 fewer small businesses would be assisted by the Small Business Administration's entrepreneurial development programs. This would have a significant impact on small business owners, especially among veterans, women, and Native American entrepreneurs.

This bill has no future. At best, it is dead on arrival in the Senate and would never be signed by the President of the United States.

Everyone in this room knows that keeping the government operating and passing bills to fully fund the next fiscal year will require bipartisan cooperation. You need the House and the Senate, Democrats and Republicans, to pass appropriations bills. Yet, House

Republicans are refusing to work with and negotiate with Democrats.

This is a pointless charade with grave consequences for the American people. House Democrats are ready to work. We were ready in the spring. We were ready last week. We are ready this weekend. We are ready today, tomorrow, and every day to work in good faith with our colleagues on the other side of the aisle to meet the needs of the American people.

Let's get to work, serious work.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, let's be very clear. We are going to know shortly who wants to shut down the government and who wants to keep it open because we are going to have a vote. In front of us today is this resolution to keep the government open. I know there is going to be a lot of talk, but we are going to have a vote. If you vote for this resolution, it keeps the government open, and if you vote against it, government shuts down Saturday night.

That is not too complicated. The American people are smart. They get that. Out of all the talk we are going to hear, we will know on that vote. If you vote for this resolution, you are voting to keep the government open. If you vote against it, well, you are voting to shut it down.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. WESTERMAN), the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Natural Resources.

Mr. WESTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we have all heard that life is about making choices. Serving in Congress requires making big choices on a big stage that are forever chronicled in our votes. Take out all the rhetoric and all the policy disagreements and, at the end of this debate, every Member of the House will have a choice to make and a vote to cast.

Making choices is about setting priorities. House Republicans have made it clear that cutting spending, securing the border, and keeping the government open while we finish the yearlong spending bills are our priorities.

It is no secret, based on previous actions, that my friends across the aisle prioritize out-of-control spending and an open border. I anticipate their priorities will outweigh their desire to keep the government open. That is their choice.

Since President Biden took office, our debt has skyrocketed, inflation is strangling our citizens, and thousands of pounds of fentanyl and millions of illegal immigrants, including more than 150 on the terrorist watch list, have poured over our southern border and into our communities. This immigration crisis is so bad that the Biden administration has resorted to building migrant shelters in our national parks and waiving environmental laws to do it.

This has to stop. The choices are clear. The conservative solution will avoid a government shutdown, secure our borders, and keep us on track to restore fiscal sanity. Let me be clear that a vote against this bill is a vote to continue down the path of out-of-control spending, to keep our borders open, and to shut down the government.

Mr. Speaker, I have made my choice to vote “yes,” and I encourage others to do the same.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I will just take a second to tell the gentleman from Arkansas that, with this bill, you will cut 1,460 teachers from your district and almost 46,000 households will have their low-income energy assistance benefits terminated.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ), the distinguished ranking member of the Military Construction, Veterans Affairs, and Related Agencies Subcommittee.

Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this so-called CR, which is a MAGA gift basket to far-right extremists.

Let’s first address the reality. The gutting cuts in this bill do not continue current funding like we have historically done in continuing resolutions. Instead, this so-called CR slashes cancer and Alzheimer’s research, defunds the police, and undercuts allies like Israel and Ukraine.

Republicans claim to care about our borders, but this invites more immigration problems. Instead of giving migrants a path to work and pay taxes, it leaves them to languish in substandard private prisons.

This grab bag of budgetary garbage stands no chance of becoming law and just slingshots into a shutdown in 36 hours, a shutdown that harms everyone, from seniors and servicemembers to this Nation’s most vulnerable and its very security. It snarls small-business loans and trade, delays home loans, and could force Federal contractors into layoffs.

It is a MAGA recipe for more chaos and inflation, and my home State of Florida will feel it first. The longer it drags on, the deeper the airport lines will get as TSA agents and air traffic controllers go without pay and passport processing slows down.

Worse, it actually makes our military serve without pay. Don’t forget, in the 2019 GOP shutdown, they forced Coast Guard members into food banks. That does not make America stronger.

Instead of making communities less safe and handcuffing FEMA’s recovery responsiveness, which this CR does, why don’t Republicans join Democrats to fight Big Pharma and keep lowering drug prices like insulin?

Instead of a shutdown that closes Social Security field offices, which this CR does, and takes food from the mouths of children, why won’t Republicans join Democrats to bolster education, healthcare, and climate investments like Americans want? Why? Because MAGA extremists don’t want to make life better for all Americans. They want to inflict pain on their own leadership, on our government, and on the American people. Why? Because it covers up their lack of an agenda, excites their base, and throws gas on their bonfires of distraction and chaos.

America deserves better than that and so does this institution.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARRINGTON), the chairman of the Committee on the Budget.

Mr. ARRINGTON. Mr. Speaker, policies have consequences. Over the last 2 years, we have seen a string of self-inflicted crises because of the policies of my Democratic colleagues and this President.

Let me give you examples: $11 trillion over 2 years from my Democratic colleagues, $6 trillion of which went to the national debt, all of which lit the fuse on this inflation firestorm, this cost-of-living crisis that is punishing working families from coast to coast. We have to stop the spending that is bankrupting this great country of ours.

This President’s dereliction of duty to uphold the laws of the land, his failure to provide for a common defense, to defend our sovereign borders, and to put the safety and security of the American people first has created an unmitigated and unprecedented crisis at the border, where we are being flooded with criminal activity and drugs that are killing people—300 a day, the leading cause of death in the United States.

We have a plan, and my Democratic colleagues are going to have to respond to that. We are going to fund the government and keep it open, but we are going to give you measures to secure the border and prioritize the safety of the American people and reduce spending. We are going to save this country and our children’s future while we are at it because that is the responsible thing to do not only for our country and the citizens of our country but for future generations of Americans who will inherit the whirlwind if we don’t start reining in this wasteful Washington spending.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the Republican funding bill, and I ask my colleagues to do the same.

□ 1230

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I want to take a few seconds here to let the gentleman from Texas know that the State of Texas will lose almost 14,000 teachers. That is going to be really tough to explain that to families when their children do not have a teacher in the classroom.

In addition to that, almost 77,000 Texans will lose their low-income energy assistance benefits or have those benefits cut. It is going to be a tough time for folks, come the cooler months or the warmer months, to take advantage of this.

I think people need to be mindful of the consequences of a 30 percent cut, or in the case of LIHEAP, a 74 percent cut, that they are proposing today.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mrs. RAMIREZ).

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, I thank the ranking member for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot believe that I am standing here again having to remind my colleagues that we are a nation of immigrants. I am going to come to this podium each time my Republican colleagues have amnesia about where their families came from or try to scapegoat the immigrant community.

Introducing a continuing resolution that cuts services and deports unaccompanied children, ending asylum, and jailing families betrays a truth about my colleagues.

They are more willing to scapegoat and sacrifice the well-being of immigrants, children—that they say they care so much about—babies—that they say they care so much about—veterans, the elderly and people experiencing poverty than they are to do the hard work of owning up to their failures, their hypocrisy, their ineffective leadership.

It is hypocritical to target immigrants when many of the people in this Chamber have reaped the benefits of immigrant labor and have become wealthy on the backs of immigrant sacrifice.

Let me tell you what my mother tells me about her journey. It takes courage to cross a border, to seek a job, or to pursue an opportunity to raise their children in safety.

The courage of our people stands in stark contrast to the cowardice of my colleagues. There is nothing people-centered about this Republican CR. There is nothing noble or redeeming about it. It is time for a clean CR that does not scapegoat the people this Nation has been built on, and let’s stop indulging the cowardice of my colleagues.

For this reason, Mr. Speaker, at the appropriate time I will offer a motion to recommit this bill back to committee. If the House rules permitted, I would have offered the motion with an important amendment to my bill. That amendment would strike the section that makes 30 percent cuts across the board.

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to include the text of my amendment in the RECORD immediately prior to the vote on the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I would remind my colleagues in the House and the American people that last year, 900 immigrants died trying to cross the border. That is not humane. That is insane, and that we are not willing to look away and tolerate in the name of what? No. That is what is intolerable.

I will not be lectured, Mr. Speaker, when 900 migrants died trying to get to the United States, and when there are thousands of children who are now missing that were supposed to be taken care of by the United States Federal Government.

You don't hear about that. That is not humane. This legislation puts an end to that insanity.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. JORDAN), the chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. JORDAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, the fiscal year ends in 36 hours. This bill funds the government. We have a $2 trillion deficit, $33 trillion debt. This bill cuts spending.

We have a border that is wide open. This bill secures the border.

Those are three simple commonsense things, but the most important of those three is the one that Mr. DIAZ-BALART was just talking about, the border situation.

Mr. Speaker, 2021 was the highest number on record for illegal migrants entering the country, the highest year on record until 2022, and that was the highest year on record until this year. That is how bad this is.

Here is the important point: It is not just conservatives, it is not just Republicans talking about securing the border, the mayor of New York said the migrant crisis will "destroy New York City."

Everyone in the country knows what needs to be done. This bill does it and does it in a commonsense way. Reasonable cuts in spending to deal with the huge deficit we have, but most importantly it addresses the most pressing issue we have.

The most pressing issue in the country today is the border situation. Everyone in the country knows it, it seems, except Democrats in the United States Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a "yes" vote.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I would take a second to tell the gentleman from Ohio that 232,000 people in Ohio will be without low-income energy assistance benefits.

Further, there will be 5,500 teachers who will be pulled out of classrooms, and the families in both instances will suffer while the gentleman talks about issues that are not truly affecting what is happening in the everyday lives of the people that he represents.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, let me take a moment to offer my deepest sympathy to the people of California, her family, and the people of this Nation on the passing of Senator FEINSTEIN.

Mr. Speaker, this is a serious moment in history. This is a serious moment for patriots and persons courageous enough to do the right thing.

I started out this morning by saying it will be the American people that will suffer, but it will be my neighbors in Houston and my fellow Texans.

We have a solution, and I think it should be very clearly stated. What my friends on the other side of the aisle are arguing is chaos and confusion. They are arguing no solution. They are shouting from the top of their lungs to be heard and to generate excitement for social media, but we have a very calm situation.

The Senate has voted 77–19 to put forward a reasoned extension, keeping the funding as it is, making sure our military is being paid, not cutting off women and children from supplemental nutrition—these are infants we are talking about—and taking care of communities, like the firefighters in the West who are suffering after fighting fires and other natural disasters.

They have a CR. It will come here. It has a privileged status. That status will allow us to vote. The government will be open, and then the engagement on issues that are in disagreement or agreement could be worked out.

If we continue this shrill talk and don't reasonably act courageously as patriots to be able to stop the suffering of the American people, we will have 50,000 pounds of cocaine here because we won't have Customs and Border officers.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentlewoman from Texas.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding additional time.

Mr. Speaker, we will have 110,000 children—where their parents are going to work—that will have no Head Start slots; 65,000 will not have access to childcare; 60,000 seniors will be robbed of nutrition programs. Then we will have 2.3 million women, infants, and children, as I said, without WIC. No educational dollars, fewer teachers, 4,000 fewer safety inspections, and we will be undermining law enforcement.

So if everyone wants to be shrill, here is a solution. Bring the temperature down, pass the Senate CR, open the doors, and stop these draconian cuts because you are hurting the American people and my fellow Houstonians.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in opposition to H.R. 5525 Continuing Appropriations and Border Security Enhancement Act, 2024.

The reckless funding proposal included in this bill would painfully impact the lives of millions of Americans by making disastrous cuts to programs that workers and families count on every day.

Mr. Speaker, my colleagues on the other side of the aisle are more focused on introducing unpopular and dangerous funding bills that cut virtually all non-defense discretionary funding by 8 percent than working on a bipartisan solution that could be enacted.

The Republican funding bill is a short-term radical solution and would only keep the government open until October 31, 2023.

This deadline guarantees Congress will need to pass another Continuing Resolution

(CR) and means either House Republicans will slash critical resources again at the end of October or the dangerous cuts in this extreme bill will be in place until Congress is able to pass all 12 full-year bills.

In exchange for keeping the government open, House Republicans are:

Slashing investments in the National Institutes of Health (NIH). Medical research into treatments and cures for diseases like cancer, Alzheimer's, and heart disease would be cut with the reduction of 2,000 research grants.

Furthering their goal of eliminating public education by cutting funding for Title I, IDEA, and Head Start. Cuts to Title I and IDEA would be the equivalent of removing more than 40,000 teachers and service providers from classrooms serving low-income students and students with disabilities. And approximately 100,000 children would lose access to Head Start, undermining early education for children in low-income communities and parents' ability to go to work.

Failing to support communities recovering from natural disasters. In the midst of hurricane season and with several response and recovery efforts to major disasters underway, this bill harms FEMA's readiness by failing to address the urgent need for additional Disaster Relief Funds to address existing shortfalls and respond to future unknown disasters.

Cutting border security funding. Despite claims that this bill prioritizes border security, it does the opposite by cutting funding critical to those operations. The bill would ensure disruption and chaos at the border, harm our economy, empower transnational criminal organizations, endanger communities, and put our agents' and officers' lives at risk.

Neglecting our water infrastructure by cutting funds to the Army Corps of Engineers. House Republicans are cutting funds to the Army Corps of Engineers Construction activities by 21 percent. With $444 million slashed from the Corps of Engineers' Construction activities, projects critical to waterway navigation of supply chains, reducing flood and storm damage, or providing ecosystem restoration would freeze.

Taking food out of the mouths of children, families, and seniors. House Republicans are threatening food safety, raising the costs of food, and killing jobs in rural communities by slashing the Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) by 11 percent (or $124 million).

Turning their backs on America's small businesses. The Small Business Administration (SBA), Entrepreneurial Development Programs would be cut by 8.1 percent. This means approximately 107,000 fewer small businesses would be assisted. This would have a significant impact on underserved communities such as Veterans, Women, and Native American entrepreneurs.

Slashing resources for the 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline and Opioid Use Disorder treatment. The Republican CR cuts funding for the 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline by 18 percent. Nearly 1 million people facing a suicidal or mental health crisis would be unable to access support services through the 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline, and thousands of individuals would be denied admission to opioid use disorder treatment, denying them a potentially life-saving path to recovery.

Mr. Speaker, their unrealistic proposals almost guarantee that our government will shut down tomorrow at midnight.

A Republican government shutdown would hurt hard working families in Texas:

172,877 active duty and reserve personnel serving our nation's armed forces in Texas would be forced to go without the pay they earn during a shutdown.

The Small Business Administration would stop processing small business loans, halting a program that provides $2,742,702,800 in funding to small businesses in Texas every year.

176,276 people flying through Texas airports every day would face potential delays and safety concerns due to staffing impacts on TSA agents and air traffic controllers.

786,686 people in Texas would soon lose access to Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) benefits.

168,413 federal workers in Texas would be furloughed or forced to work without pay, in addition to the many employees of businesses with government contracts who could be laid off, furloughed, or see their hours cut.

Workers at the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) would be sidelined, risking interruptions and delays to the 892 food safety, pharmaceutical manufacturing, and other inspections conducted in Texas last year.

The Department of Agriculture would be forced to stop processing housing loans, which provide $456,125,359 in funding to help 2,742 families in rural Texas communities buy homes every year.

The Department of Agriculture would be forced to stop processing farm loans which provide $209,391,000 in funding for farmers in Texas every year.

3,291,584 Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) beneficiaries in Texas would lose access to benefits in a prolonged shutdown.

5,413,161 people who visit national parks in Texas every year would be turned away or unable to fully access parks, monuments, and museums.

State governments would be forced to pay for federal services like the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program, potentially risking benefits for the 20,846 TANF beneficiaries in Texas.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to oppose H.R. 5525 as its passage would be detrimental to lives of millions of Americans.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I will remind everyone what we are talking about today.

This keeps the government open. It secures the border, and it, frankly, reduces wasteful spending. That is what we are dealing with here.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ROY).

Mr. ROY. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from Florida for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation, strongly in support of this legislation.

This is legislation that will make sure our troops are paid. It will make sure that our military can continue to do its job. It will make sure that our border is secured, and it will simply return funding of the Federal bureaucracy to pre-COVID levels. That is what we are talking about here. That is what my colleagues on the other side of the aisle are so up in arms about, that we must have a bureaucracy, bloated with massive expenditures in a post-COVID universe, or your life, as you know it, is going to end.

When the Declaration of Independence was written, when our unalienable rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness were drafted, those rights did not emanate from this floor.

That pursuit of happiness did not come from this floor or anywhere in this building because this building didn't exist. It didn't come from Congress because Congress didn't exist.

The fact is that no matter what happens heading into this weekend, whatever the result, there are 50 State governments that are continuing to operate. There are 3,000 counties, county governments operating. There are 20,000 city and municipalities with governments operating; 12,000 independent school districts, because we have a Federal system of government and we are supposed to take care of ourselves and our families and our communities. We are not supposed to bankrupt our country and devalue the dollar and drive up inflation such that the American people can no longer afford to live.

That is what my colleagues on the other side of the aisle are doing with blank checks, with more borrowing, more taxing, more spending, destroying the future of this country. That stops now. We stand up on this side of the aisle for sanity and a secure border.

Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I find it hard to believe that the gentleman from Texas believes that wasteful spending is on teachers who really teach our youngsters, and 14,000 of them will be gone in the State of Texas.

I find it hard to believe that it is wasteful spending to deal with 77,000 people who will lose their LIHEAP benefits. Is that wasteful spending, for people to have heat or be cooled or kids being taught in school?

Let's talk about wasteful spending and the tax cuts my colleagues on the other side of the aisle are willing to give the richest one-tenth of 1 percent of the people in this country and the richest corporations, and tax cheats, I might add, as well.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. ESPAILLAT), the distinguished ranking member of the Legislative Branch Subcommittee.

Mr. ESPAILLAT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong opposition to H.R. 5525, the so-called spending reduction and border security act.

You want border security, Mr. Speaker, let's do comprehensive immigration reform. Let's do it the way Ronald Reagan did it back in the day: He looked at everybody, all the families, and allowed the men to work and contribute to our economy.

This is a reprehensible and irascible spending bill that slashes critical resources from working-class families.

House Republicans are defunding law enforcement. The so-called party of public safety is now defunding law enforcement. So if something is happening in your district or your neighborhood and you call the police and they are late, law enforcement should blame it on these cuts. The response time will be impacted dramatically.

Social Security offices will be closing. Yes, I have seen the lines going around the block with seniors as early as 6 o'clock in the morning.

Guess what? They will be closing.

This bill is taking food out of children's mouths, and the mouths of families, impacting Title 1 schools with poverty levels—never seen before poverty levels, and Title 3 students, English language learners, and taking thousands upon thousands of teachers out of the classroom. Is this the way to avoid a shutdown?

□ 1245

This is a way to hurt families—working-class families, middle-class families—that depend on these vital programs, Mr. Speaker, to survive and move forward.

Nearly 150,000 teachers and service providers will be removed from the classroom serving low-income students and students with disabilities.

In addition to that, approximately 275,000 kids will lose access to Head Start—Head Start, the only surviving program from the sixties that gives a head start to children will be cut.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Florida (Mr. DONALDS), a friend and neighbor of my district.

Mr. DONALDS. Mr. Speaker, $2 trillion deficit, $33 trillion in debt, and Washington just wants to continue to grow.

Mr. Speaker, 20 percent inflation year over year is crippling every family in our country, and 8 percent mortgage rates are squeezing our real estate market, and Washington just wants to grow and grow.

Our cities are overrun with migrants because of the reckless policies of the President of the United States. Fentanyl is killing 85,000 Americans year over year, and congressional Democrats refuse to secure the border.

Mr. Speaker, enough is enough. This bill does one very important thing—really two very important things.

Number one, it returns our government back to pre-COVID spending levels of 2019. COVID-19 is over. Why can't our government live within its means? Our people have to live within their means; our government should, as well.

I remember when there was a baby formula shortage and mothers couldn't get food for their infants. Joe Biden was nowhere. Congressional Democrats were nowhere. All they said was spend more money while the problems persisted.

They are building shelters in parks in New York City to house migrants, and congressional Democrats say there is no issue at the border even though everybody sees the problems that exist.

This is the time to secure the border of our Nation and to cut wasteful spending in our government. If we are going to have a society and a government worthy of the people that we serve, Washington has to do something that Washington never seems to want to do: restrain itself.

We have a fundamental obligation to secure this Nation and to secure the people that we all serve.

Coming out here talking about what is going to happen with WIC is not going to solve the problem. Talking about the fiscal health of this Nation is going to solve the problem.

Our national debt has been downgraded twice now. The Democrats want to spend more money. Support this measure.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, to both of the gentlemen from Florida, 8,500 teachers, gone. Think about the kids who are going to school and there is no teacher for them. Think about folks who need to heat or cool their homes. We are looking at 36,000 households that will be without those benefits.

Do they really care about those folks? Probably not.

As a Democrat, I took the lead on the infant formula crisis—I don't know where my colleague was during that crisis—and called to attention a company that knowingly sold tainted product and wound up killing three or four people. I don't know where he was during that. I know where I was, and I know where the administration was.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. THOMPSON), the distinguished ranking member of the Homeland Security Committee.

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from Connecticut for yielding.

I rise today in strong opposition to H.R. 5525, a bill more designed to appease the extreme MAGA wing of the Republican Party than to stave off a government shutdown.

With just hours remaining before our Nation is thrust into an unnecessary shutdown, the House is being forced to waste time on a measure that would impose draconian cuts to vital Federal programs and compel the enactment of H.R. 2, the child deportation act.

When we considered H.R. 2 in May, I called it a cruel, extreme, unworkable immigration and border security measure.

Time has not been kind to the bill.

It still would wreck our economy, cripple our ports of entry, destroy the asylum system, criminalize visa overstays, force unaccompanied children into dangerous situations, jail families and children indefinitely, and on top of all that, worsen conditions at the border.

The child deportation act would upend CBP's ability to process migrants at ports of entry and bar funding to humanitarian organizations that provide shelter, transportation, and legal assistance to children and families fleeing horrific conditions.

Moreover, it does nothing to stem the deadly flow of fentanyl into the United States.

The Senate will not take up H.R. 5525, and it will never go to the President's desk. The House must come together today and stop coddling extreme MAGA members looking to get former President Trump's failed illegal and immoral policies enacted into law. I urge my colleagues to join me in defeating H.R. 5525 and call upon the Speaker to have the House consider the Senate's bipartisan continuing resolution.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. CISCOMANI), a Member whose life story symbolizes what the American Dream is all about, and a member of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. CISCOMANI. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for yielding. We are living in a border crisis, the worst one that we have ever seen. The numbers show what used to be bi-annual numbers are now monthly and even weekly numbers. There is no denying where we are.

The Tucson sector, which is where I live, has seen the worst of this, Mr. Speaker. We are at home seeing street releases now, just last week allowing 11,000 apprehensions and during this month about 40,000. These are, again, annual numbers in the past, and now they are what we consider almost on a weekly basis.

Now, I live in a county that is on the border, and we are seeing it firsthand. I know exactly how life is there. As MARIO DIAZ-BALART, my good friend from Florida mentioned, I am an immigrant myself. I know the journey. I became a U.S. citizen in 2006 and became a U.S. Congressman in 2022, 16 years later.

I know this country is the country of opportunity. I get why people want to come here. However, this administration has allowed the cartels to run amuck and handle the border and abuse people as they are trying to do so.

Our local communities are suffering because of that. They are the ones carrying the burden. We have cries from help from both sides of the aisle. I hear from mayors that are Democrats, mayors that are Republicans. It doesn't matter the party, they are all being impacted the same way.

This administration has not prioritized this crisis.

I will tell you, living on the border I understand what I call the three buckets. We can talk about immigration, we can talk about trade and commerce, and we can talk about security, and all three are suffering right now because of the lack of attention on this issue.

It is also a humanitarian problem when this administration has lost track of 85,000 minors. This is nothing short of a humanitarian crisis, as well.

Not even that will make the President wake up to this.

This is the worst time to be on the verge of a shutdown in less than 48 hours. We cannot shut down. We have to do what we can to protect our border and keep our government funded.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire how much time is remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Florida has 10 minutes remaining. The gentlewoman from Connecticut has 10½ minutes remaining.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I remind the gentleman from Arizona that there will be 63,000 households in Arizona that will be without the low-income energy assistance benefits. These are not just numbers. These are people, and we are making their lives more difficult at a time when there is serious inflation and when there is, in fact, a high cost of living.

My colleagues on the other side of the aisle are only adding and increasing to that high cost of living.

I might also remind the gentleman from Arizona that we are looking at about 2,800 teachers.

Now, again, these are not just numbers. Children go to school. If there is no teacher to teach them, what is the result? What happens to parents when they find out that their child's teacher is gone? If there was a teaching shortage before, this will make it even worse. That is the result of the cuts that my colleagues on the other side of the aisle want to make. It is there. It is in black and white. You can't make up the numbers.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. TLAIB).

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, there are human beings behind every single number that we talk about. Folks want to debate policy and different kinds of extremist agenda items when they are in charge. They can have committee hearings and deal with it separately, but right now we are literally hours away from direct impact on children and families and even the Federal workers, many of whom are living paycheck-to-paycheck.

A government shutdown will harm the American people. That should be at the center of the urgency that needs to be met in this Chamber as we move forward.

I know in Michigan I am going to see 207,000 women and children lose the WIC program that provides nutrition assistance, and literally 120,000 of them are children.

I still remember, Mr. Speaker, in 2019 there was a shutdown for 35 days. Colleagues were wondering why the Federal workers were in food bank lines. Why can't they get loans, one of them said. What are you talking about? These are Federal workers who are living—like a majority of Americans—paycheck-to-paycheck, and you are expecting them to pay their rent, get food on the table, all the utilities which continue to go up, but let's go ahead and cut LIHEAP by 75 percent.

Republicans' priorities in this Chamber are clear: starve, evict families living in poverty, and cut people from essential services. They don't care. You don't care because they are going to continue to get paid. You all are going to continue to get paid while your residents are being impacted. If I hear you lying one more time to the American people and saying that Federal employees are going to get paid, they are not. They are going to be forced to work with no pay, especially those on military bases, especially those that, again, are on the front lines that cannot just sit at home while you all fight amongst each other.

It is time for Republicans to stop playing these games with the American people's lives. They know this is an extremist bill; many of them know. It is not going to go anywhere.

The American people, Mr. Speaker, deserve better.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to direct their remarks to the Chair.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. PFLUGER).

Mr. PFLUGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of House Republicans' plan to cut spending to keep government open and to shut down the border. The President has failed Americans. He has failed Texans. He has failed us by not securing our border.

Mr. Speaker, 7½ million illegal immigrants, 150 people just this year who matched the terror watch list, 13,000 criminals, 100,000-plus fentanyl poisoning deaths is unacceptable. Enough is enough.

This plan, which would also include H.R. 2, the most secure border act in decades, puts the President on notice.

Now is the time.

This is the most important border security vote in 20 years. This vote right here not only cuts spending, but it shuts down the border and the disaster, the chaos, and the unacceptable level of death that our President has caused.

This bill deserves our attention. I urge my colleagues to cut the spending, to keep the government open, and to shut down the border.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I remind the gentleman from Texas that the eyes of the people of Texas are upon you when you are thinking about really 77,000 seniors and kids without any benefits from the low-income energy assistance program and also 14,000 teachers will be gone from Texas schools.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. CLARKE).

□ 1300

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. CLARKE).

Ms. CLARKE of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise on this day in opposition to the continuing resolution, which includes the Republican extreme and restrictive immigration and border security legislation, H.R. 2.

This cruel legislation would force draconian restrictions and punishments on migrants and asylum seekers and set America's immigration priorities back decades. This bill would damage the asylum system, a process millions upon millions of vulnerable and desperate people and families have long depended on for their safety and future.

Instead of putting forth legislation that can pass the Senate and avert a government shutdown, extreme Republicans would rather hold the economy and border security hostage, throwing millions of lives into a tailspin.

Let's be clear. Any bill that would allow vulnerable migrant children to be inhumanely detained by Border Patrol for up to a month, to be ripped from their families and locked up from the world, is unacceptable. It is fundamentally un-American.

To treat innocent people who are looking for a better life in our Nation with such contempt, such vitriol, such callousness, while also making American families vulnerable in putting food on their tables, that is not leadership. It is called cowardice.

Every American, no matter how long their families have called this country their own, should be outraged at the GOP embracing the Trump administration's failed and immoral border policies to keep the government open.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from South Dakota (Mr. JOHNSON), an author of this bill.

Mr. JOHNSON of South Dakota. Mr. Speaker, so often around here, we vote on half measures, narrow bills that, at best, address one issue in only a modest way. This is not that bill. This is an opportunity in one vote to shut the border, to keep the government open, and to reduce spending.

The five conservative leaders who, with me, crafted this proposal knew that bold action was needed.

Crisis one: We are $33 trillion in debt. That is pushing us toward insolvency. That number has grown by 50 percent in just the last 4 years. This bill puts us back on the right track and cuts billions of spending, even just in the next month.

Two, a shutdown accomplishes nothing. It does not save a nickel. In fact, it costs the American taxpayers billions. This stopgap funding measure makes sure our government stays open.

Three, 1.8 million illegal crossings at our southern border is unacceptable. This bill puts into place the policies that we know work to secure our border.

Mr. Speaker, I will admit to not understanding fully those who oppose this bill. I do not understand why anyone would choose open borders over an open government.

Mr. Speaker, we are here to solve problems. Chaos is not a legislative strategy. In a few moments, I will vote to keep the government open, to cut spending, and to secure our border. I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

It is almost laughable to think about chaos. I think the majority has demonstrated overwhelmingly in the last several days, the last several months, an unwillingness to govern, an inability to govern, and chaos, general chaos, here.

It is interesting. The gentleman is from South Dakota, where, last I understood, a little bit like the Northeast, in New England, it gets cold. It gets cold in the wintertime in South Dakota. The gentleman is happy to see 24,000 individuals not get energy assistance, low-income heating assistance. We may be taking up a collection of hats and coats and gloves, et cetera, because they are not going to get their LIHEAP benefits in a cold climate.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. GROTHMAN).

Mr. GROTHMAN. Mr. Speaker, we are here today because we think the government is going to shut down on Sunday. That is because there are supposed to be 12 separate bills that comprise our budget that were supposed to be passed by now. We have passed the four most important. Unfortunately, the Senate has not passed any, so we have to move forward from here.

We don't know what the shutdown means. I hope the press is on the ball and pays careful attention if anything is shut down that President Trump did not shut down a few years ago. There is a lot of flexibility for Presidents to show if they are compassionate or not. If there is anything shut down that President Trump didn't shut down, it is something we have to talk about.

Let's look at the problems we have in this country right now, two big problems. The first is what is going on at the border. We used to have about 10,000 cross the border. We are now over 200,000. We are addressing it. The American public is tired of paying more taxes and spending money and seeing an open border every night.

That is one of the reasons why we have to pass the bill. The other reason is we have to make a little bit of a dent in the out-of-control spending.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote "yes" on H.R. 5525.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I want to let the gentleman from Wisconsin know that 195,000 households are beneficiaries of the LIHEAP program. They will be jettisoned from that program. If you think it is cold in this Chamber, head to Wisconsin and you will know how cold it is in the wintertime. Think twice about whether or not you will vote to cut 195,000 people's benefits.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Chair, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. AUSTIN SCOTT).

Mr. AUSTIN SCOTT of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I thought I would go ahead and respond because I know as soon as I sit down, the gentlewoman from Connecticut is going to talk about the schoolteachers in Georgia, and my sister is one of them. She gets her check from the county, in case you didn't know it. It kind of bothers me that you seem to think that they get a check from the Federal Government. They actually get paid by the county, as do our sheriff's deputies.

How did we get here? I have heard the left talk about the chaos caucus that we have, candidly, as Republicans and what gives them the power. It only takes five of them to create a disruption. How do five get the power? The five in our party get the power because the 212 of you on the Democratic side are going to vote with them to shut down the government.

Now, a continuing resolution is a 30-day piece of legislation that I will admit is not perfect, but it is better than a shutdown or the chaos that comes with a shutdown.

The idea that we as Republicans and the American citizens have to eat a $2 trillion deficit or else you are going to shut down the government is absolutely ridiculous.

We are not at war. We are not in a recession. We are in no health emergency. Show a little responsibility.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. LAWLER). Members are reminded to direct their remarks to the Chair.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. MALLIOTAKIS).

Ms. MALLIOTAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I hope the American people are listening right now. The Democrats would rather shut down the government than end an unsustainable and unsafe border crisis that has flooded our streets with fentanyl, an unsustainable flow of illegal immigrants destroying New York City, as Mayor Adams says, and only enriching the drug cartels.

This bill is common sense, and everyone should support it. It does three things that the American people want. It avoids a shutdown; it cuts excessive, wasteful spending that has led us to a $33 trillion debt; and it secures our border. It stops an unsustainable and unsafe crisis.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to put taxpaying, hardworking American citizens and their safety first.

I heard my colleague from New York City say that it was cruel that we want to secure our borders. Do you know what is cruel? In New York City yesterday, at one of the migrant shelters, a 7-year-old girl was sexually abused. Do you know what is cruel? Somebody was stabbed at the Roosevelt shelter in Manhattan. The fact is, there are dozens of crimes being committed, and our mayor and you guys are doing nothing about it.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire as to how much time is remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Florida has 4¼ minutes remaining. The gentlewoman from Connecticut has 3½ minutes remaining.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I find it unbelievable that the gentlewoman from New York would support a bill that cuts $1 billion from our ally in the Middle East—that is, from Israel.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. HILL).

Mr. HILL. Mr. Speaker, this is an important day. This Congress needs to come together to go back and get our spending under control and also get our border under control.

Both are of concern to the American people. We hear about it in our offices every day. The spending is unsustainable, but 200,000 people a month coming across the border and living in this country illegally is also unsustainable.

This bill is a product of hard work for weeks to give us time to complete our appropriations work, to negotiate with the Senate while at the same time reducing spending, which has been an avalanche of out-of-control spending for the last 2 years, and to secure our border.

Mr. Speaker, I stand in support of it, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. MOLINARO).

Mr. MOLINARO. Mr. Speaker, after pouring trillions of dollars into the American economy, after ignoring the crisis at our southern border, after closing schools and forcing kids to learn from home, after denying life-affirming services to young people with disabilities, we have been lectured about how great these last 2 years have been for the American people.

We have, in this very moment, the ability to avert a government shutdown and, at the same time, finally take some responsibility for reckless, wasteful Federal spending.

There is no excuse to pick the pockets of hardworking American families who are already overburdened because of inflation, the high cost of gas, the high cost of groceries, the inability to access or find a job, and running up their credit cards.

We have the ability now to avert a government shutdown, control Federal spending, and secure the border, an open border that is taking too many American children's lives because of fentanyl and destroying communities all across this country.

The mayor of New York is saying the President has ignored his call and that inaction at the border is destroying the city of New York. We have, in this very moment, the ability to avert a shutdown, respect American taxpayers, and secure the American borders.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

What we are looking at here is a piece of legislation that makes a 30 percent cut in programs that have a serious effect on the lives of the people in this country.

Let me just lay out some of them because these have not been talked about so far.

The National Institutes of Health will be cut. There would be a reduction of 7,000 research grants.

□ 1315

I think we have people in this Chamber on both sides of the aisle who have had a loved one with a cancer diagnosis or Alzheimer's or heart disease, but there is a willingness to cut the National Institutes of Health and thereby cut 7,000 research grants.

Let's take a look at our allies. We speak about Israel and Ukraine. Israel will receive a $1 billion cut in the funds that the U.S. provides. We talk about Israel as being our closest ally in the Middle East.

People should understand what is in this bill. We defund—not we—my Republican colleagues defund law enforcement, reduce drug enforcement administration agents, Federal law enforcement officers, eliminate hundreds of State and local law enforcement.

They talk about crime, and they talk about law and order, but there is a willingness to cut the funds in order for us to make our communities safe.

Social Security offices, the field offices, would be forced to close down, reducing access to in-person services.

People applying for disability benefits will wait additional months for the processing of claims. That is what is in store with this bill if you support it.

Wildfire suppression efforts will be hindered, 57 percent cuts, and we know what devastation wildfires have had all over our country. Look at what happened in Maui.

Unbelievable that they would talk about a bill, extol a bill that has such devastating repercussions on the people of this country.

They slashed the resources for the 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline. Opioid use disorder. They are worried and talk about an opioid crisis, but let's cut off the avenue where people can get treatment and help and potentially save their lives.

Education. It is an abomination, what they will do to education because they are on a march to eliminate public education in the United States of America; that opportunity that all of our families have said: Go to school, get an education so that you can succeed.

Rural America? Let's care about rural America, not cutting the loans and grants for farmers and rural communities.

They will make it harder for farmers to access loans and grants, making home farm ownership more difficult. They cut rural housing, rural utility, broadband to keep people in touch, and they eliminate health services for rural and underserved families.

Mr. Speaker, 2 million vulnerable individuals and families will lose access to healthcare services. They take food out of the mouths of children, families, and seniors.

Mr. Speaker, there needs to be a “no” vote on this irresponsible continuing resolution. I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Mr. Speaker, oh, so many words. Allow me, Mr. Speaker, to cut to the chase. We have a choice right now.

Vote “yes” to keep the Federal Government open, to control inflation-causing overspending, and to secure the southern border. That is a “yes” vote, or vote “no” to shut down the Federal Government, to keep the narco cartels in control of the southern border.

This is pretty simple. Government likes to complicate things. As politicians, we like to try to obfuscate reality.

This is very simple. We have a choice. I ask our colleagues to do the responsible thing; secure the border, stop out-of-control, inflation-causing spending, and, yes, keep the government open by voting “yes.”

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. MCCOLLUM. Mr. Speaker, in just over 24 hours, if we cannot come to an honest, responsible, and bipartisan solution on a continuing resolution to fund federal agencies, we will be forced into a government shutdown.

Our constituents are relying on us to work together to fulfill our constitutional responsibility to fund their government. Failing to do so will harm this nation’s children and families, our service members and veterans, our seniors and our next generation, and all those who depend on the services and investments our government provides.

Let me be clear: This is a completely avoidable, politically-manufactured crisis, but it will have real consequences for the American people.

The looming shutdown is the result of a failure to govern by the House Republican Majority, who have allowed this body’s legislative work to be undermined by an extreme MAGA faction that controls GOP leadership. Democrats in the House, President Biden, and a bipartisan Senate have been working for a solution to prevent a shutdown. This included compromising to meet Republican demands to cap spending levels for the next two years under the Fiscal Responsibility Act, which passed both the House and the Senate with bipartisan support and was signed into law by President Biden less than four months ago. But that wasn’t enough for these GOP extremists.

Instead of doing the serious work of moving bipartisan bills at those agreed upon levels, this Republican Majority has chosen chaos. They have chosen to waste months pursuing devastating cuts to the services the American people rely on, slashing investments in keeping people and our planet healthy—all while loading up their appropriations bills with toxic culture war provisions that are discriminating and harmful to our families and our communities.

And the Continuing Resolution they have brought to the floor today is nothing more than a continuation of their denial of the serious work that needs to be done. It does nothing to avoid a shutdown.

Instead, Republicans are holding the American people hostage with a demand for a 30 percent cut across the board to federal agencies.

This would result in a 74 percent cut to our federal investments in the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), literally leaving families in the cold that is already settling in back home in Minnesota.

They are proposing to cut nutrition support for Women, Infants, and Children by 30 percent, taking away a lifeline for hungry families and pregnant women.

They want to see investments in the health of our communities gutted:

Their bill would mean the loss of thousands of research grants to cure Alzheimer’s disease, cancers, and heart disease;

Thousands of my constituents would lose access to care at their Community Health Centers, as would millions more rural and underserved families nationwide;

Millions more who are struggling with opioid addiction or mental health crises would be denied life-saving support services.

There is no end to the harm and hurt that this extreme Republican Continuing Resolution would cause to our families, our economy, and our communities if passed into law. But Speaker MCCARTHY knows that there is no chance that this bill will become law because Democrats in the House, a bipartisan majority of Senators, and President Biden would never support this betrayal of our responsibilities to our fellow Americans.

Until the House Republican Majority stops catering to the bullies in their caucus, we cannot move forward on funding the federal government.

So I invite my colleagues on the other side of the aisle to stop the chaos.

Join us in doing the serious work of funding our government and meeting the needs of our constituents. With just five reasonable Republican votes, we can force Speaker MCCARTHY to take up a vote on a bipartisan solution.

America deserves better leadership than what the Chaos Caucus has to offer.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to House Resolution 741, the previous question is ordered on the bill.

The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and was read the third time.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, I have a motion to recommit at the desk.

REMEMBERING THE HONORABLE DIANNE FEINSTEIN

(Mr. PAYNE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the late U.S. Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

As a Senator, she served the people of California for 31 years, and she was the longest-serving female Senator in American history.

Senator FEINSTEIN was a true trailblazer. She was the first woman elected to the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. She was the first woman elected to serve as San Francisco's mayor. As a Senator, she was the first woman to chair the powerful Senate Rules and Senate Intelligence Committees.

Senator FEINSTEIN leaves a legacy of incredible accomplishment. She wrote the popular assault weapons ban in 1994, a ban that we need to reintroduce today. She helped create the nationwide AMBER Alert system to help communities find abducted children. She helped reauthorize the Violence Against Women Act.

She was a strong advocate for women and the betterment of all Americans, and she will truly be missed in the Senate and California.

REFLECTING ON CHILDHOOD CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

(Mr. D'ESPOSITO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. D'ESPOSITO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in honor of Childhood Cancer Awareness Month, which is being observed through the end of September.

During this period of reflection, Americans from coast to coast honor our Nation's youngest warriors in their battle against pediatric cancer and recommit themselves to finding a cure for such a terrible disease.

One of those young warriors is a 1-year-old, Cooper Graham, of Oceanside, New York, who is fighting the good fight at such a young age.

Cooper is a tough little guy, always with a smile. I know that all Long Islanders are standing in solidarity with him in his fight right alongside Cooper's parents, Michael and Rachel, as well as his big sister, Rylie.

During Cancer Awareness Month, we are all Coop's troops, and we are going to stand with Cooper and all pediatric cancer warriors through thick and thin.

Cooper, if you are listening back home, we all remain Coop strong.

WHY THE GOVERNMENT IS SHUTTING DOWN

(Mr. CARBAJAL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. CARBAJAL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to ask why.

Why are we, with hours to go before a government shutdown, wasting precious time debating bills that are so extreme, so backward, that they clearly have no chance of becoming law?

Why, this week, have we spent more time voting to defund individual salaries of public servants than passing a bill that would prevent millions from going unpaid?

Why are we focused on the baseless and bogus impeachment inquiry than the fact that if we do not prevent a shutdown, we will be asking members of our military, our law enforcement officers, our TSA agents, and our traffic controllers all to come to work to protect our Nation without a paycheck?

The livelihoods of thousands of families in my district are being put at risk, as well as the benefits of millions more—nutrition benefits, SBA loans, taxpayer assistance, and Social Security services.

Mr. Speaker, I ask why, but I also ask when. When will this Chamber get back to governing, get off this fantasy island of budgeting and actually govern?

REMEMBERING WILLIAM W. "BUCK" CROSBY, SR.

(Mr. CARTER of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in remembrance of William "Buck" Crosby. He served as an educator of chemistry and biology for 40 years at Risley High School and retired as the interim superintendent of Glynn County Schools.

He was a member of the YWCA Foundation Board, where he held the position as first vice president of the Golden Isles Arts and Humanities Association.

He was the recipient of many awards in his community, including being inducted into the Benedict College Class of 2023 Athletic Hall of Fame. He was also the first and only African-American chairman of the Hospital Authority, and he was the first African American to receive the 10th Bishop of the Diocese of Georgia Bishop's Award.

He will be remembered as a teacher, an administrator, a friend to all, and an example for all of us to live up to.

I extend my deepest sympathies to his family.

DEFER STUDENT LOANS FOR SURVIVORS OF SEXUAL HARASSMENT AND ASSAULT

(Ms. DEAN of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. DEAN of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, LaQuisha Anthony, a Philadelphia native, was an undergraduate track star at Kutztown University in my district. Horrifically, in her freshman year, she was sexually assaulted.

LaQuisha was forced to withdraw from her studies to focus on her recovery. She faced crushing student loan debt, and when repayments began, she ultimately defaulted.

Heartbreakingly, LaQuisha's story is not uncommon. Many survivors are not afforded enough time, space, or peace to heal. That is why I am reintroducing the Student Loan Deferment for Sex-Based Harassment Survivors Act to provide a compassionate, sensible exception to the student loan repayment policy.

This bill would allow survivors of sexual harassment, stalking, and assault to pause student loan payments for up to 3 years so they can focus on their mental and physical well-being. This pause is practical. Without it, many like LaQuisha are unable to return to school because of outstanding loans, but with time to heal, survivors can get a fresh start.

Today, LaQuisha is a dedicated advocate in preventing sexual assault and supporting survivors, including her support of this bill.

Let her work be our light. Let us pass this legislation.

REMEMBERING NICK MACY

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize a dear friend, an aviator, a northern California agriculture community leader, and an American, Nick Macy.

Tragically, Nick received his heavenly wings recently at the final Reno Air Races, where my son and I were in attendance. This loss will be felt deeply throughout my district, the Klamath Basin, Siskiyou and Modoc Counties, and most especially in Tulelake. I feel his pain deeply myself.

Nick was a friend to myself and my office, as we worked closely with him for over a decade to try to resolve a silly bureaucratic issue in his airport.

A soft-spoken leader, Nick was a preeminent figure in his community. He valued his hometown, his family's history in aviation and the agricultural industries, and the rural roots that brought him up.

Nick is the son of a World War II B-24 instructor. He grew to become an expert in many areas of farming, water, crop dusting, fighting fires throughout the basin, and aviation as a six-time national champion in the T-6 Gold Class in the Six-Cat Air Racing Team.

Nick and Macy's Flying Service were incredibly important to the people in both Siskiyou and Modoc Counties. He truly loved his community, family, and friends, and he would do everything within his ability to ensure their prosperity. Nick was a cornerstone of the agriculture community up there.

Nick was devoted to his family and neighbors. One could always count on Nick.

My prayers are for his lovely wife, Beth, and his children and grandchildren. To all of his family and friends—so many who were gathered at the air race—may they feel God's presence in this moment of terrible loss.

Nick, Godspeed to you. Thank you for all you were to us. Your legacy will live on in Tulelake and our hearts. We won't forget you.

HELPING SERVICEMEMBERS AND FAMILIES DURING A GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN

(Mrs. SYKES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. SYKES. Mr. Speaker, while extremists threaten to shut down the government if they don't receive reckless cuts to vital programs that families in Ohio's 13th Congressional District rely on, like Social Security, K-12 education, and nutrition assistance, I am committed to funding the government and keeping these critical services running.

My constituents are worried about how they will pay their bills or put food on the table if the government shuts down. That is why I introduced two bills last week, the Pay Our Military Act and the Feed Our Families Act. Both put people over politics to protect Americans' livelihoods in the case of a government shutdown.

The bipartisan Pay Our Military Act would ensure our servicemembers, people who sacrifice every day to keep our country safe, aren't forced to serve without pay.

The Feed Our Families Act would ensure no family who relies on SNAP benefits goes hungry throughout the shutdown.

House Republicans can easily prevent a government shutdown by simply upholding their end of the bipartisan budget agreement, but if they won't, I remain committed to Ohio's 13th Congressional District and our country.

It is time to stop the political games. Put the American people first and fund our government. In the event that extremists won't—which it seems like they won't, based on the shenanigans and utter foolishness of today—I encourage my colleagues to support and bring to the floor the Pay Our Military Act and the Feed Our Families Act.

LACKING CONVICTION TO STOP SHUTDOWN

(Mr. CASTEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. CASTEN. Mr. Speaker, with the failure of that last vote, we are now less than 2 days away from shutting down the United States Government, not because we don't have a path forward, but because the party of Lincoln has been captured by the spirit of Yeats: The best of you lack all conviction, and the worst are filled with passionate intensity.

Extreme Republicans with passionate intensity are choosing to destroy all that makes America great while their moderate enablers sit meekly, lacking the conviction to oppose.

My question is, do any of you have a plan to land this plane? It seems weird that you skipped that part of flight school.

Less than 2 days from now, every single American is going to feel the pain of this crash, every soldier who wants to get paid, every woman who wants food assistance for her child, everybody who needs housing support, everybody who is wondering if the train they are riding on has been inspected.

We don't have to be here, Mr. Speaker, but we need some of you, any of you, to stand up.

SPIRALING TOWARD A SHUTDOWN

(Mrs. TORRES of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mrs. TORRES of California. Mr. Speaker, we are less than 34 hours from a Republican government shutdown. This is not the time for political theater or political grievances. We are spiraling toward a shutdown that would devastate thousands of working families that I represent throughout California's Inland Empire.

If extremist Republicans are allowed to continue their theatrics, over 4,000 Federal employees in my district—mothers, fathers, caretakers among them—could miss their next paycheck. TSA agents at Ontario International Airport will have to work without pay. Over 25,000 women and children who rely on Federal food assistance could miss their next meal.

It is beyond hypocritical that Republicans want to cut benefits for hard-working families while making it easier for billionaires to cheat on their taxes.

My Republican colleagues need to get serious about governing or get out of the way.

REPUBLICANS MUST DO THE RIGHT THING

(Ms. ROSS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. ROSS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to condemn the impending government shutdown and House Republicans' refusal to set politics aside for the good of the American people.

Rather than working across the aisle with Democrats to fund the government like the Senate, my Republican colleagues are threatening a catastrophic shutdown unless their extreme demands are met.

Make no mistake, a government shutdown is entirely preventable. Extreme Republicans in the House are choosing to put politics over the American people.

A government shutdown threatens the lives and livelihoods of our servicemembers, small business owners, children, and families who rely on Head Start and WIC, and so much more.

Mr. Speaker, with only 1 day left until the government funding runs out, House Democrats are willing to work across the aisle to keep government open.

It is time for Republicans to do the same for the American people.

RECOGNIZING PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER ON HIS 99th BIRTHDAY

(Ms. WILLIAMS of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. WILLIAMS of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate America's longest living President and one of Georgia's finest, President Jimmy Carter, who is turning 99 years young.

On Sunday October 1, I had plans to be home in Georgia for this birthday celebration, but the looming Republican government shutdown has me here in D.C. doing the work for the people.

President Carter has led a distinguished life, winning a Nobel Peace Prize, eradicating diseases, and uplifting the lives of millions of marginalized people.

He would probably say that his most important accomplishments are his Christian faith as a member of Maranatha Baptist Church; marrying his beloved wife, Rosalynn; raising a strong family; building houses with Habitat for Humanity; and being one of the best peanut farmers in the land.

For me, President Carter is an inspiration. My husband, Leslie, and I even named our son Carter after this great President. I strive every day to make sure that my Carter Cakes has the same humility and commitment to service as his namesake.

The best birthday gift that President Carter could receive from us would be us all working together to make the world a better place for the most marginalized, and we can do that by following President Carter's example and building on his legacy—starting with keeping the government open for the American people.

Mr. Speaker, I wish President Carter a happy 99th birthday.

DON'T SHUT DOWN

(Ms. JACKSON LEE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I, too, want to acknowledge our great President Jimmy Carter and thank him for his life and service.

It is becoming that we stand on the floor today to be able to speak in contrast to the generosity of the Carters to where we are today because we are supposed to be saving America.

Frankly, we now have a challenge where the Republican leadership cannot even find a way to stop the government from shutting down. I think if the American people knew what their plan was, you might ask the question: Is it possible to lead in this way?

Attacking the National Institutes of Health, that is what they are doing.

They are cutting education and dollars for disabled children and taking money away from 150,000 teachers who

I will be engaging with in my hometown by phone.

Of course, they are not recognizing the needs of energy support for those low-income families and not helping those communities that are suffering every day from natural disasters. We know the West has suffered from fires. We in the southwest have suffered from floods.

Of course, they are disrespecting the needs of Israel and Ukraine.

This is not the American way, and now we are gone because the bill they put up could not even get the Republican votes.

Let's do what is right for the American people. Don't shut down. Stand up for the American people.

RECOGNIZING TOMMY CONWAY

(Ms. KAPTUR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to share my deepest condolences upon the passing of United Steelworkers' president, Tommy Conway, who passed away this past weekend at 71 years old.

The steelworkers of the United States, the labor movement, and our Nation have lost a true hero who helped to revitalize and reinvest in the U.S. steel industry.

As someone who spent much of my career working to save industrial America, including in Ohio and across our country, I can say that there was no greater advocate to save this lodestar, vital U.S. industry than Tommy Conway.

Tommy understood to his core what America makes and grows makes and grows America and he was absolutely committed to making things in America and making sure, as president of the United Steelworkers, that he fought every single day to protect workers, make sure they had good pay, retirement security, and safety on the job.

Tommy was dedicated to the idea that all working people should be able to live a good middle-class way of life. Something we both understood growing up in union households was what unions truly mean to workers and families—moving into the middle class.

Conway will be missed by many but never forgotten, and I hope Tommy's longtime partner, Carol, his three sons, and six grandchildren are comforted in knowing how much good he has done for so many and what a great man Tommy Conway was.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ZINKE). The Chair will recognize Members for Special Order speeches without prejudice to the possible resumption of legislative business.

THE MATH

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 9, 2023, the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. SCHWEIKERT) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. GROTHMAN) for a memorial.

Mr. GROTHMAN. Mr. Speaker, this week I introduced legislation to rename the post office in Kiel, Wisconsin, after Wisconsin State trooper, Trevor Casper.

Now, I know many in this body may not have heard of Trevor, but back in Wisconsin he is not just the son of our State, he is a shining example of dedication and service. Trevor Casper was born in Sheboygan on May 21, 1993, to parents Kevin and Deborah.

He graduated from Kiel High School with the class of 2011 where he was active in wrestling, soccer, and coaching youth sports.

After high school, Trevor pursued a degree in criminal justice at Lakeshore Technical College, graduating in May of 2014.

During Trevor's time there, he was active in color guard and served as president of the LTC student government.

It was clear that Trevor was not just interested in a career but passionate about making a difference in his entire community.

Trevor's dream was to continue his education at the State Patrol Academy, which he did, successfully graduating on December 18, 2014.

Following his graduation, Trooper Casper was stationed at the State trooper base in Fond du Lac where he continued to serve his community with honor and dedication.

Tragically, on his first assignment, he made the ultimate sacrifice. On March 24, 2015, he was shot in Fond du Lac while apprehending a bank robbery and murder suspect. Though mortally wounded, Trooper Casper returned fire on the suspect, killing him, and protecting those in the nearby vicinity.

Trevor Casper was the youngest law enforcement officer to ever make the ultimate sacrifice in the State of Wisconsin. His bravery in the face of danger, his commitment to upholding the law, and his willingness to protect our community were unwavering.

Trooper Casper is a true hero, and he deserves to be remembered and honored for his selfless sacrifice. Renaming the Kiel Post Office in his honor is a small but meaningful gesture and will ensure that future generations see the name Trevor Casper and will hear about his great sacrifice and what a great human being he was.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Mr. Speaker, I apologize to everyone as we are sort of organizing the slides here.

Mr. Speaker and anyone that is listening, okay, so the House is in a fairly cantankerous spot right now. Part of my frustration and part of the reason for actually grabbing this hour is—what is a more elegant way to use the words “I need to stop the lying.” Actually, I don't think we are supposed to say that on the floor—the people just making crap up.

Let's actually have an educational discussion here. If you don't like math, please just turn off your television and stop watching because this is becoming a math-free zone around here.

Why is there fighting here on the House floor? What is the fussing? You do understand every dime a Member of Congress votes on now is all borrowed money. There is a very good chance—we will know actually next week when the final Treasury data is posted that for this fiscal year, the 2023 fiscal year which ends this weekend, we will borrow—and I am sorry, but this is how you need to think about it—we will borrow, functionally, 9 percent of GDP.

So 9 percent of the entire economy will be just the borrowed money. Not the spent money, the borrowed money. We are hitting numbers that should be terrifying. I don't know why they are not terrifying to the folks on the left. You just saw it. They just came to the microphones saying we want more money. Where does it come from?

Let's actually walk through some basic facts. This isn't Republican or Democrat math, it is just math. My family motto is “math will always win.” It may take a while, but the math will always win.

The reason for this chart, Mr. Speaker, is—one more time try to visualize—this is the 2023 budget. In that 2023 budget here is what we call discretionary spending. This is defense and nondefense.

We have 1.7 on this chart. It is actually closer to $1.8 trillion. This wedge over here is actually—let's just call it Medicare. Social Security still has its own trust fund, which is out in 9 years. When you hear Democrats saying, well, we don't borrow anything for Social Security, you shouldn't be talking about it. Well, the trust fund is gone in 9 years, and the recapitalization of it is brutal.

Once again, my brothers and sisters on the left don't want to actually deal with the math because it is such a great campaign hit on anyone that actually cares about not doubling senior poverty in 9 years.

Back to this chart. When you look at this, you have to understand, this blue wedge is all we get to vote on. All the red, the 72 percent of spending we call mandatory is on autopilot. You get that benefit because you worked your 40 quarters. You earned your Social Security benefit. You worked a certain amount. You have paid into your Medicare. You turned 65. You get that benefit when you hit a certain age. That is the vast majority of the spending, and it is also—if you go from today through the next 30 years, it is 100 percent of the future debt.

It is demographics. I say this over and over and over and over. The idiot class around here who wants to say, no, it is Republicans not willing to tax people more, stop it.

I am going to walk you through all the Democrat tax proposals and show you how little of GDP it creates even at tax maximization. There is this concept of at this rate you maximize tax receipts without rolling over the economy and rolling over the fall of receiving less tax receipts.

I am going to show you the math on maximizing. It is nowhere near what the Democrats keep telling you, and it is really crappy economics.

One more time, this board is incredibly important. You want to know why there is fussing around here? It is all borrowed now. And what has happened in the last couple of months interest rate-wise? Think of this as just a thought experiment. August 1 until today, the movement in interest rates—just that movement in interest rates is about $50 billion of interest next year.

We are borrowing over $6 billion a day. That is functionally—let's take a look here. If you take a look at our borrowing over the last 12 months, it is $72,932 a second. $72,000 a second. That is why the idiocy here of people who say, well, I am going to save a million dollars here. That is real money, great. But let's see, if you're borrowing $72,000 a second, that is how many seconds did you just cover?

The $300 million that was stripped out of one of the bills, okay, fine, but it is 57 minutes of borrowing over an entire year. There is this delusion—every dime, I believe, of foreign aid is—I used to say 12 days of borrowing. Someone pointed out it is actually closer to 9 days of borrowing.

For us in the political class, math is hard. Our audience often doesn't want to hear it because it doesn't satiate the feelings. We make public policy now by feelings, not a calculator. So you have a world now where you get up and say, hey, it is demographics.

We got old. Healthcare costs are the primary driver of debt, and they look at you and say, no, it is waste and fraud and foreign aid. You show them the little chart that says, okay, I can get maybe a couple weeks of borrowing eliminated, what would you like to do with the rest of the year, and people look at you with daggers.

Then you have the left who just makes crap up. I don't think it is meant to be evil. I think it is just that you get something in your head and you repeat it over and over and over, and the math is delusional.

I am going to walk through some boards here. When we get to them, some of these are really complex, but I am going to do my best so they make sense.

How do you save this republic if you have a bunch of people who can't even agree on the most baseline? This was on the CBO, Joint Tax, basically their datasets. No one reads their reports.

The Joint Economic Committee, which I chair the Republican side, we did a brilliant report 2 months ago. We gave actually options where you could save this country. It is crazy stuff. If you could actually eliminate, moderate, take on, do the moral thing with our brothers and sisters and talk about diabetes and obesity, it is a few trillion dollars over 10 years. It would require complex policies and decisions to do things that are difficult.

The only reason I hold that board up, this board is from 3 weeks ago and it is already out of date. What does this board say? It basically says next year, interest will pretty much equal the defense budget. Interest will equal the defense budget. The reason it is out of date is just the movement of interest rates in the last 3 weeks. On the U.S. 10-year sovereign, interest will be more than the entire defense budget next year. If it continues, if the trend line continues, there is a very good chance that interest isn't going to be $800 billion, $830 billion; it could be starting to approach a trillion dollars next year.

Why is that a big deal? Well, let's do something else interesting. For people who have never really thought about it, how does the United States finance itself? Remember, 30 cents out of every dollar we spend is borrowed. Where does that 30 cents come from? We issue bonds. Every couple weeks, like 3 days ago, Treasury issued $30-plus billion of 5-year instruments. It went out at the very top of the range price-wise.

You sit there and have to calculate. Coverage was a little disturbing. It was only like 2½ coverage. I know that doesn't mean anything. It basically means the huge lines to buy U.S. bonds weren't there. The line is getting shorter and shorter, interest to buy our debt, which often means the interest rates are going to go up.

What happens to bonds that were sold in previous years? Because the last three Treasury Secretaries, Republicans and Democrats, did something stupid and we couldn't get them to change it because it benefited them politically that week, is they went very short-term on the bonds. I am going issue 1 year, 2 years, 3 years, when interest rates were almost basically free.

Guess where we are at right now? Those bonds are coming due. In the next fiscal year, if we bring $2 trillion of new virgin issue—that is the borrowing for next fiscal year. Remember, this year we are going to borrow 2.3, 2.4, but let's just pretend next year is about 2. We have a little problem. There is about $9.6 trillion of borrowing coming either as virgin issues or refinance next year, and it is all at these higher interest rates.

Your government is functionally an insurance company with an army and a budget problem. What do we look like at the end of 2024 when we have just refinanced a little bit under $10 trillion at these higher interest rates?

It basically means that dystopian number you use to go into the 2025 budget cycle of a trillion dollars interest coverage, if you are into the military, interest buys you how many new weapons? If you are into a social justice agenda, interest buys you what? This is what we are doing to ourselves, and it is the reality, and the interest rates keep moving away from us.

Let's continue on some of the more difficult stuff. Just simple math. We are going to spend some time talking about how do you fix things when you can't even get the other side that you need—we have to do this together. It is complex. It is hard. It is politically brutal because this place has functionally lied to the public for decades.

Let's use the most optimistic—and I believe at least one side of these numbers is absolutely wrong. It is basically saying next year, the projection months ago was the 2024 budget year was only going to borrow about $1.7 trillion. I think that is wrong. I think we are going to 2, but let's say it is 1.7.

Let's say we did the most confiscatory tax ever. We basically took every American, if you make $500,000, every dime you make above that, we take all of it. Every dime belongs to the government and people keep working. The basketball player, the scientist, the entrepreneur just keeps working. They say, well, I made my $500,000; the government is going to take every other dime; I am just going to keep working and paying it all into the government, which is a fantasy. That is not how economics work. Just for a math experiment, let's say we are going to confiscate every dime of people over $500,000. You raise about $1½ trillion.

Did I mention the borrowing from CBO months ago was projected to be $1.7 trillion? You can't even cover the deficit if you had a fantasy number of taking every dime of those high-income earners.

Yet, I will show slides like this at certain townhalls where I have a number of Democrat activists, and they look at you and go, well, that is Republican math. No, actually, I think this one came from Cato, but I have some that are from OMB, CBO, progressive budget priorities. It is all the same. We are living in a mathematical fantasy world.

I am going to go out of sequence here, because I am angry that I saw a California Member on CNN a little while ago basically holding a little white board and completely lying to the press, because it is such good politics: Republicans shouldn't talk about Social Security. It doesn't add anything to the deficit. Absolutely true, because there is a trust fund that has cash in it for 9 more years.

What happens in 9 years? Here is the reason we want to talk about it, to save it. In 9 years, the average couple on Social Security gets a $17,400 cut. You double the poverty of seniors in America in 9 years. It is absolutely immoral. The recapitalization of this is going to be complex, because that first year—so 9 years from now, the first year shortfall is $616 billion. Okay. Do this with me. You don't have to be good at math for this. This isn't that hard. Nine years from now, boom, the trust fund is gone. You have got a $616 billion shortfall in 2033. Okay. Big deal. You don't care. It is 9 years from now.

Here is the Democrats' policy. We are just going to raise taxes on those who make $400,000 and up. The Democrats' piece of legislation is $400,000 and up, you are going to pay the 12.4 percent FICA tax, all of it. Great, okay. Raise the taxes, every dime, you get no benefit from it.

Let me slow down and let me explain. Today, you pay your FICA tax up to, what is it, $160,200, and then it stops. You don't pay the Social Security tax above that because you don't get any benefit for it.

You create this doughnut hole under Democrat policy and then you start paying the tax again when you hit $400,000. That produces $86.3 billion in 2033, 2034. Let's use 2033, because that is the year that Social Security is gone.

Can anyone do the math with me? $86 billion of new taxes, $616 billion shortfall. Anyone notice a math problem? You are covering one-seventh of the shortfall. That is the Democrat solution.

Let's actually do the grander one. I will get people who say: Well, DAVID, we will be just fine. Just eliminate that cap and make people pay the full 12.4 percent Social Security tax on every dime. If a person makes a billion dollars, they pay it on that. They get no benefit, no benefit for those higher taxes. People say that solves the problem.

Then you show them this. Remember, the first year is a $616 billion shortfall. Eliminating the Social Security cap produces 164,700. You are basically covering 20 percent of the shortfall. This is the Democrats' grand solution.

This is why, for those who own a calculator around here and have a soul of not wanting to double senior poverty, we are willing to get the crap kicked out of us by the activist left saying: But you are talking about social security; you are not allowed to do that.

We are trying to save it. We are trying to save it, because you have people manipulating you and lying to you about the math. This is immoral. In 9 years, you double senior poverty in America, and their solution only covers one-seventh or 20 percent. This is what you have been given.

Then you wonder why there is friction. What if you have friction because some people want to tell great stories and some people would actually like to save the country?

Let's walk through a few more of these.

MIKE KELLY, Congressman from Pennsylvania, is my senior so he sits to my left in the Ways and Means Committee, which annoys me. I need to explain part of the inside joke. In Congress, there is only one committee that is solely by seniority. It is called the Ways and Means Committee. When people to your left retire, quit, go away, you move up. If they are on this side, that makes no difference to your life. He is senior to me. MIKE KELLY also chairs the Tax Subcommittee.

No one else has been willing to do this math. Our brothers and sisters on the left keep saying we will tax our way out of the crisis.

The first chart, I was trying to be somewhat brutal, saying, okay, tax revenues versus expected deficits under different wealth models. Here is actually the deficit. This is the baseline deficit number. Here is what you got. The Sanders wealth tax, I understand, is probably unconstitutional. This is where they would come in and say, even though this isn't your income, we are confiscating some of your wealth. The big one they are pushing right now is the oligarch tax, where they are going to come in and say if you are really rich, we can come in and every year take 8 percent of your wealth.

The problem is, I have got $1.8 trillion, and this thing is basically covering what? $230 billion of shortfall? It also blows up the economy, and it doesn't get you anywhere.

I am not here to defend really, really rich people. I am here to defend math.

Mr. KELLY has a personality. I am like a walking calculator. Tell me, why am I failing to communicate the reality that the proposals we are getting are absurd? They only cover a fraction of the shortfalls.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KELLY) for a colloquy.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, there is no reason for any of you to know me. My whole life has been spent in the private sector, and I have really come to believe that nobody should serve in the public sector unless they first have been in the private sector.

□ 1445

My whole life has been about making sure that on the 6th of each month and the 21st of each month—they are special days for me because those were days that the people who worked with me every day got paid.

We use something called kitchen table economics. I sit beside DAVID, and I talk to him all the time. I am more of a person who says: Do you know what? Let's use kitchen table economics.

Now, I am told that Army manuals are written on a sixth-grade level so that people can understand them. I want to show you something. I reduced this down to a $1 bill because when you hear our friends talking about: Oh, no, you can cut spending. You can do this.

I want you to think not as a Member of Congress who can spend whatever he or she wants because it is not coming completely out of your pocket but of the American people, hardworking American taxpayers.

We took a dollar bill and said: Let's look at this dollar bill. Mandatory spending is money that has to be spent out of every dollar we collect from a taxpayer, $0.63. Look at this. What do you mean by that? Well, we are talking about Social Security. We are talking about Medicare. We are talking about Medicaid.

As all of you know, any loan you ever had, you are actually charged interest on it, $0.10 of every dollar. This year, that represents $663 billion just to pay for the interest on our debt. That leaves us a whopping $0.27 out of every single dollar we collect from you.

This is the important thing. I am so fed up with elected officials talking about what they have done for you. They do nothing for you. Every single thing we do in this country is paid for by a taxpayer or a debt that you co-signed that you didn't know about.

Now, I told you a bit of my history. I am an automobile dealer. Most people, 97 percent of the people that we sell a car or truck to, borrow money to pay for that car or truck. They sign their name to a contract. We take great time to explain to them exactly what is expected of them.

I told you this $0.63 goes for Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid, and 10 percent, $0.10 on each dollar, just to pay our debt down—$663 billion.

That is why I wanted to reduce it down to kitchen table economics. This is what is happening to your dollar.

We have $0.27 that we can spend any way we want. What does that mean? Well, that includes transportation, education, defense, and other programs. Let's take a look at the $0.27 of our budget, of our revenues, that we have left to spend.

Of the $0.27 of each dollar, spending for defense, $0.13. We don't ever want to walk away from that. In the world we live in now, are you kidding me? We are going to stop that?

That leaves us, my friends, with $0.14 that we can actually control. Every single dollar out of your pocket is reduced down to this.

When people say that you have to learn how to cut spending, I say: You gave me a dollar bill? I can adjust $0.14.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. It is worth pointing out, for everyone looking at that, you see that chart of defense and let's call it nondefense.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Yes.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. It is all borrowed. Every dime of that today is on borrowed money.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Yes.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Plus another $400 billion of the mandatory.

So many of our brothers and sisters around the country don't understand. It is so out of whack now because all—look. The number one growth is healthcare cost, but that is sort of on autopilot because every time we try to fix it, the lobbyists, the Democrats, lose their minds. We are just trying to save the country.

We end up having the fights that are going on right now over that $0.14.

There is waste, fraud, and things that we need to fix, but it is a fraction of the budget, and it is all on borrowed money, which adds the additional stress of there is a morality of squeezing everything we can out of it.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, Mr. SCHWEIKERT and I sit beside each other every day, and we keep—honestly, these are things that keep me up at night.

In another month, my wife and I will be celebrating our 50th anniversary. I don't know what she was thinking. All I did was ask, and she said yes. Then, for half a century, we have been going at this.

We have 10 grandchildren, and I am constantly asked by people: How can you be so responsible when it comes to spending our tax dollars?

We don't want to be irresponsible. DAVID and I sit there, and I have to tell you, sitting beside him is hard because he has so much going on in his head at one time. He is like a calculator, and I keep going back just to the basics.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. In other words, you are telling people the truth: I drive you nuts.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Social services, natural resources, science, space, technology, and other programs, we are down to $0.14 of a dollar. This is a dollar that you paid, by the way. This is out of your taxes.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. They are paying the interest on it now.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. The interest is $663 billion of what we owe.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. $800 billion next year.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. It keeps growing and growing and growing. No responsible person would ever sit back and work this model.

The greatest nation the world has ever known, the wealthiest nation the world has ever known, has been totally irresponsible in the way she spent her money, and it wasn't done by her.

This incredible group of people that sit down here—remember, I said this to begin with. I don't believe anybody should serve in public office until they have been in the private sector. I, myself, have been in situations on the 6th of the month and the 21st of the month where I made sure every person that worked at the dealership got paid. There were many times I did not pay myself because I didn't have enough money to do it.

The point I think we keep trying to make is: When are we going to wake up to what is going on? This is a Titanic moment for our country.

The reason I say that is because the Titanic went full speed ahead into an iceberg. What did the captain of the Titanic see? Just a small part of the iceberg. They didn't see what was hidden.

My friends, right now the hidden part of what it is that we are spending—I would just ask you to please think with us as we go through this.

Reduce it down to where it makes sense and understand what is happening right now on the floor of this Congress. We represent you. We do not represent ourselves alone. We represent you.

If we talk about this, and this is where we are—I would just think at some point, we would sit back and say I cannot watch this and allow this to happen to hardworking American taxpayers.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. I think in some ways you just described why the fussing over the budget documents is going on.

We put together some interesting slides here that we have never presented before. We took these from a researcher at Manhattan and a couple of other places. Then Joint Economics, some of my economists, did some math here. We set this for 2033. We actually had a year that is 10 budget years from now. We did not put in the fact that the Social Security trust fund is gone, and there is $616 billion that needs to somehow be recapitalized. That is actually not in this deficit number.

We also rolled the number. The baseline for anyone that is really geeky out there, we ran this to the standard debt-to-GDP number.

There is a new update on what debt will be 9 years from now that is now $3.1 trillion. If interest rates stay as high as they are spiking right now, it could be as high as 3.7. We are going to use the $2.5 trillion.

The reason this board exists is we took—and I have a bunch of slides we are going to walk through, but I need to set up the pitch first.

If we took every tax that our Democrat colleagues talk about in the Ways and Means Committee and did what they call a revenue-maximizing rate, there is a rate that you can charge that the economists—this is economic modeling where you maximize tax collections before it rolls over and people change their behavior and the tax collections go down.

We actually added it up—maximize estate taxes, maximize income taxes, maximize corporate taxes, maximize capital gains taxes. We maximized everything, and then we also came back and said, all right, here is the maximum number taxing the rich. This is the top 2 percent. If you make $400,000 or higher, you are part of the top 2 percent of income in America. You have to understand that.

Then we also did if you did the economic effect, what they call the dynamic score, which is always the real number we get.

So here is our $2.5 trillion borrowing. If you did the full max on Democrats and got every dime, you get about $700 billion.

If you actually do the real number where the dynamic score comes in about $450 billion, you have just maximized all taxes. It gets you a fraction of the talking points.

My reason for going through these boards—how do I say this politely without sounding like a jerk? Our brothers and sisters have to decide. They may actually believe these numbers, but they are not real.

How do you make public policy that saves this country when half of your brothers and sisters here say: No, we just tax people over $400,000. We will be fine.

You show the slide, and it is nowhere near that. It is the unwillingness to deal with the reality of the math.

This is one you and I have talked about a couple of times where if you basically look at our history—go back to 1950 because, actually, what is fascinating is from 1950 until recently, you actually have history where sometimes we have had really, really high marginal tax rates, 90 percent for the top income earners.

After tax reform, you are lower, but you took away a bunch of the deductions. You took half of society and removed them from the tax rolls. They don't pay income taxes.

We actually built lots of charts that sort of show, during times of high tax rates, you get pretty much the same part of the size of the economy in taxes. Low marginal tax rates, you get the same part of the economy in taxes.

There is this concept that it always goes back to the mean, so the way you get more tax receipts to government is growth in the economy. That is the magic. That is how you get more tax receipts. It is growth.

When we have really high marginal rates, chart after chart shows you get the mean. When you have had very low, you get the mean, but it is a bigger pie because the economy starts growing again.

You show this to our Democrat brothers and sisters, and they will often say: I have seen that, but my voters don't like that because it doesn't satiate the feeling of punishing.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. When we have talked about this, because we have time when we are in meetings to talk about this—I want you all to try and just bear with me a little bit. I know that at some point, you say, I don't know if I like this dog-and-pony show.

In my district, PA-16, the average income for a family of four—mom, dad, two children—is $54,000. This is where it really starts to make sense.

Federal revenues this year will be the highest we have ever gotten. They are projected to be $5 trillion. That is a lot of money. I mean, it is almost incomprehensible.

What we are projected to spend is $6.9 trillion. You say, okay, well, that is only—that is not that far apart. It is only $1.9 trillion. Here is what it means. This is where it starts to sink in. That means a family that I represent in western Pennsylvania earning about $50,000 a year is spending $69,000 a year.

You see what we are getting to. Because when we reduce the numbers down, first of all, the high numbers are just so high, it is unimaginable. It is also unimaginable that we can ever pay the debt down.

I would just say this to you. If we continue on the path we are going, if we disregard the basic math that stands there, and the way we do it—I can tell you that most of the time that I pay monthly bills, it is at our kitchen table. I open my checkbook, and I start doing the subtract, subtract, subtract, subtract. I am just trying to understand how we can be so reckless.

None of you would do this because you have too much respect for your children and grandchildren's future, and you also have too much respect for yourselves. Nobody would consciously do this. That is the problem.

One of my favorite movies—I just want to make a point.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. You are not going to do movie reviews, are you?

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. The movie I love is called "A Few Good Men." Have you seen this movie?

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Yes.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Jack Nicholson is in it, and he is being cross-examined in a military trial.

They keep asking him questions, and at the end, he becomes so frustrated, he said: "You can't handle the truth."

In our lives, the people who raised us—our moms, our dads, our grandparents—would never have done to us what is happening right now and what we are doing to our own grandchildren.

□ 1500

We have to handle the truth. We have to face the truth—this path that we are on, this mission that we are on, and this idea that somehow we have to get the message out to our hardworking American taxpayers that our future is being destroyed because of irresponsible spending.

Now, just to be sure on this, your Social Security will never be touched. Medicare and Medicaid are not going to be touched. The banks are never going to forgive the interest on our loans. That is the reality of it.

When you understand it that way, it becomes, oh, my gosh, what are we going to do? So, we sit there and try to figure out what it is that we can do to save the future for our children, and I looked at pictures yesterday with your two children. What are we doing to these kids? What are we doing to them?

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Mr. Speaker, in some ways, Mr. KELLY and I are the yin and yang of districts. I have a very highly educated district, a fairly prosperous district. I represent Scottsdale, Phoenix. I am blessed to have grown up there. I have to accept that the economic experience that a lot of my people have is going to be very different than his, but we are all in the same boat.

Let's get back to trying to help people understand the reality. I do need to amend something Mr. KELLY is saying, though. We used to talk here that this debt is an existential risk to our grandkids. I am sorry. It is a risk to your retirement. There is the reality and the math. If you are retiring anytime now and in the near future, you have to understand that we are heading toward the time when we are going to have to turn the printing presses on. When we turn on those printing presses, we wipe out your savings.

Besides the misery we create for the devaluing of the dollar, devaluing of every bit of your savings, making it so our kids can never afford—high interest rates out to the future, but it is not a crash. It is actually an extension of potentially decades of misery.

Folks don't think this way. I keep coming back to trying to make the tax collection argument. Let's talk about why this is so important.

Here is the 1950s, when we had a 90.5 percent tax on the top income earners. Here is a deep secret: The tax code today is more progressive than it was back then because they had the lower middle class pay income taxes back then. Today, they are off the tax rolls.

Back then, 7.2 percent of the economy came in in income taxes, even though we had 90 percent. You go over all the years there has been tax reform, so 2020, let's do that year, we functionally had a mean tax of 37 percent, not 90 percent as that high part of the marginal tax rate, but we are getting 9.2 percent of the economy.

Most people have no idea what I am talking about, but here is the economy, and here is a really high marginal tax rate. We have a history of this, and repeatedly, you are only getting about 7 percent of the economy in taxes. We lowered the marginal tax rate for these top brackets, and now we are getting over 9 percent. We get dramatically more because the economy got bigger.

Show this to our brothers and sisters on the left, and they will often say, yes, I know, but it doesn't feel like I am punishing people. The amazing irony is that the highest income Americans vote for Democrats, not Republicans. It is the bizarreness.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to Mr. KELLY to ask how many billionaires he thinks are in his district.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. I don't think there are many. The people I represent are either in ag or in the fields, in the mines, in the mills, on the rails. They are blue-collar people who are living an incredibly strong life because those families, the nuclear family, the mom and dad raising children, are the key to our success going forward, and an education. Based on the very foundations of what we know is true, is accurate, has been proven over the ages, the gift that America gave all of its citizens was the gift of education.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT and I can talk all day. I wish the gallery was full. I really wish the gallery was full. It is not a message of anger. It is a message of hope. We have to change our spending. We cannot sustain this irresponsible trajectory.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Mr. Speaker, there is a path where this works, and I want to double down on something. I want to make it perfectly clear: We are not defending rich people, not defending poor people, not defending the middle class. We are just trying to tell the truth.

This is how it works. This is about a society that prospers. Prosperity is moral, and we first need to shut down the excuses for not actually doing anything, saying oh, don't worry.

Democrats do it. They had all sorts of chances to do it before this session. They knew the math was a fraud, but it makes for great talking points because then they can get on MSNBC or CNN and say we should just do this and we will be fine. It is not true.

There doesn't seem to be a reporter in this city who owns a calculator. This is one Mr. KELLY and I have actually touched on. What happens when you have really high capital gains rates or really low capital gains rates? It turns out, when you raise capital gains rates really high, like some of our Democrat proposals, you actually get less revenues. We have charts of this going back to '54 when we started to play with some of those rates.

I am going to show some numbers here when we get ready to close that if everything was at revenue maximizing, whether it be capital gains, estate, income, even corporate, take a look and you are only going to get about 1½ percent of the economy in additional revenues, additional receipts.

This year, we are borrowing 9 percent of the entire economy, and there is the elegance of really good pro-growth tax policy.

I have been on this floor dozens of times, and Mr. KELLY and I have talked about this for a couple of years now. There are things you can do to crash the price of healthcare—the adoption of technology and taking on something that is very uncomfortable, obesity and diabetes. We need to take on things that are killing our brothers and sisters.

Remember, in the last 4 years, life expectancy in America has gone down. Next decade, we have more deaths than births in America. How do you help people understand? It is beyond just those of us who are math and budget geeks. The morality is what Mr. KELLY talked about, which is why I asked him to come share this time with me.

I need someone like him who is able to talk to people's hearts because sometimes I don't think I do it well. I sound like an accountant on steroids.

The morality of opportunity, the morality of prosperity, the morality of our brothers and sisters—and I don't care if you are one of my Tribal communities, your rural communities, an urban community, take a look at the statistics of our brothers and sisters who are dying of diabetes and other diseases when we actually can have incredible impact of having them be healthy.

How do you get this body to see that, sometimes, great math is also great morality?

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. I would pose this for those of you who have been watching: Are we making sense? If we are making sense, can you please raise your hand? Does this make sense to you about what we are talking about or what we are doing with your dollars? No, it doesn't make sense.

We can't have the interaction with the gallery.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. They are not allowed to actually see them react to you.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. This is their House. We just happen to represent them. This is your House. Everything that goes on in this House is being done by people who are voted in to represent you, not represent themselves, but represent you. If it is not making sense, we need to know because, I have to tell you, it makes no sense to me at all what we are doing, not only to our future, but to our present.

If we can't grasp what is happening right now—that is why I talk about kitchen table economics. If I can reduce this down to a $1 bill that I would hand you and say, oh, by the way, that first 73 cents, give it back to me. You can keep the 27 cents, but then I am going to take another 13 cents.

When you really get down to it, it is so small what it is that we can control. In your own lives, you know if you have a mortgage payment come due, if you have a car payment come due, if you have healthcare costs come due, you can't walk away from that. At some time or other, a lender is going to say to you: Do you know what? We would love to help you, but we can't. The math doesn't work. It is not good for you.

When we talked about this the other day, the real challenge is to make sure that we understand the path that we are on and not try to sugarcoat it for you.

I know for myself the hardest lessons in life to learn are the days that you lost something. I wish I could go back and sit across from my mother and father and thank them for what they did for us, sit across from my grandparents and thank them for what they did for us. I can't thank them enough for what they did for us.

I am just so disappointed that we haven't performed as well as they have and made it possible for us to enjoy the most incredible country the world has ever known, a nation of people that is so diverse. There is no place else in the world. None of us are thinking about leaving to go someplace else, but it is our responsibility to make sure that it is a sustainable business model.

If I am not connecting with you, I apologize for that, but only because we have to understand the dilemma that we are in. This is not a scare tactic, by the way. This is a wake-up moment that we have to be aware of what is happening right now to each of us every day in every way.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. I am sorry you have to hear it all the time sitting next to me, but the math will win. The math will always eventually win.

Mr. Speaker, may I inquire as to the time remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Arizona has 9 minutes remaining.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Mr. Speaker, I am going to run through a couple of boards real quick. It is going to be a little thick. I am going to do them quick, and we will put these up on the website. If anyone really wants to dive into this, I believe Brian Reedle about 2 weeks ago published a fairly substantive—with amazing footnotes, so if you actually care about the subject, get it, read it, pull out your calculator. You will see it proves out.

I am going to blow through this real quick to sort of help people understand why some idiot on the floor of the House is walking people through maximum sustainable revenue calculations. I am trying to make a point that there isn't an easy fix here.

If we do a deficit commission or something of that nature, it turns out it is going to be complex. You are going to have to deal with things that don't seem interrelated but are. You are going to have to talk about immigration, technology, maybe AI, maybe a tax code that promotes growth. You are going to have to talk about changing the way we finance parts of healthcare. You have to do it all at the same time. You have seen this place. We are having trouble walking and chewing gum at the same time.

Let's blow through this real quick. Part of the studies out there, and this is from CBO, OMB, and also the Tax Policy Center and the U.S. Treasury have all confirmed these numbers. If you did a maximum sustainable revenue from taxing the rich—let's first do individual income taxes.

If you took the rich and said you are the top 2 percent income earners—this is functionally anyone over $400,000—we are going to put a tax rate that maximizes receipts before the calculations say revenues would roll over. For some of those, that is like adding another 10 points on top of it. Then you actually tax some other parts of estate, put a bunch of money into enforcement. You do all the things.

These are all the Democrat proposals added up. You are picking up another half a point of GDP or so. I have a board where I add it all.

Then we added in maximizing corporate taxes. Looks like we can get up to about another 0.8 percent of GDP if you maximize taxes because we have a little problem in the United States. You go up to like the 28 percent corporate tax rate, the next increment, and you see a bleed saying: Well, screw it. We are just going to recharter the headquarters in Ireland.

You hit this point where you start to roll over. This is in the liberal models, conservative models, people that just do models. You walk through everything, from the corporate tax hikes that Biden has been promoting, even the new international tax that Secretary Yellen has been pushing, do the additional corporate savings by IRS enforcement mechanism, add that all up, and what do you get from that?

Then, you go in and actually add in investment taxes. We are going to raise capital gains up to like 39.6 percent, which we know at that point you hit a wall and actually get less money in the taxes.

You close all the loopholes. You actually remove the ability to roll over certain assets—1031 exchanges, in kind. You take those all away. You basically say we have done everything to start to maximize income taxes from the rich. It is a lot of money.

You actually take a look—sorry, we had very little time, we took these directly from the report. You can get up to—if you do what they call static—no economic effects, that is about 2 percent of the economy in new taxes.

Then when you do the actual, okay, people, stop working, it changes investment and people basically hunker down. So the economic models, you actually get about 1.1 to 2 percent, so a mean of 1½ percent. That is a lot of money. That is 1½ percent of the economy in new taxes.

Did I mention we are borrowing 9 percent of the economy just this year?

The utopian tax, everything of that $400,000 and up, you have maximized every single tax. We are borrowing 9 percent of the economy just this year and every tax proposal will get you another point and a half.

Does anyone see a little problem?

We are living in this fantasy world.

God knows, I love my charts and I sometimes feel guilty for all—but this one is actually really important, particularly if you are one of my progressive left acquaintances and you care about income inequality and progressivity and all those kinds of things.

Today's income tax code is the most progressive in U.S. history. The top percent of income earners now pay more of the Federal income tax than at any time in U.S. history. This is after our tax reform that Mr. KELLY and I worked on.

Yet, I promise you today and tomorrow someone will come to that microphone and say, well, the Republicans give it away to rich people. Except we are taxing them more as a percentage of the tax collections because we removed so many of our brothers and sisters, the 50 percent of folks in the—economic term—lower quartiles who don't pay income taxes now.

Here is the problem, it grew the economy right up to the time of the pandemic, then we started spending money like crazy on corporate subsidies—Democrat proposals. It is fascinating.

They accuse us of liking Big Business, yet they are the ones giving hundreds and hundreds of billions of dollars out as subsidies to corporate America. At the same time, our tax receipts are falling when they are doing it.

It is the weirdest economy you have ever seen. It basically shows monetary policy, their Keynesian economics, have fallen flat on their face.

Last board. Even when you start to do the adjustments for what they call income inequality—you normalize those. We have a more progressive tax system today than we ever had before. When a Member of Congress looks at you in the eyes, and says: Well, we are just going to tax people over $400,000, that solves the problem.

I showed you the boards, it doesn't come close to solving the problem of saving Social Security in 9 years. It is only 1½ percent of GDP when we are borrowing 9 percent.

Mr. KELLY, you have been here longer than I have. Do we have anyone we work with that owns a calculator that is willing to save this country?

I will let you do the close.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Arizona for the chance to work with you, and all our friends in the gallery.

This is called the people's House because it is truly your House. Anybody that is here was elected, they didn't just walk in and sit down. They take an oath of office to do things in your best interest.

What we have been trying to go through—and we have looked at all the different charts. All of you probably have a $1 bill somewhere in your wallet or your purse. I want you to imagine, taking this $1 dollar bill, and this is what you actually can control when it comes to the spending.

So when I hear this thing about: Well, you just have to cut spending, you just have to cut spending. That is fine. Could you please give me a road map of what you want us to cut?

That is not accepted because that is not what is being fed to you. I am going to tell you; we are here because of you. We are here for you. I thought the dollar bill was the easiest way to show it because we are all used to that.

Mr. Speaker, I have 10 grandchildren—and maybe you can all relate to this. When our kids were growing up they liked to go skiing in the winter-time because I am from Pennsylvania. They came to me one time, and said, Dad, can we go skiing? I said, No, I don't have the money to go this weekend. They said, Sure you do. They went under the bed and picked out my checkbook that has three checks to a page. My son said, Here, you have all kinds of money. I said, Well, you have to put the money in before you can write the check to take it out.

That was a concept that a child didn't understand, and unfortunately, there are too many children representing you here right now that don't understand what is taking place in every American home and with every one of our hardworking American taxpayers.

We are here for you. I don't care if you are Republican, Democrat, Libertarian, or say, I wish you people would stay the heck out of our lives, we are here representing you. I would ask you to please communicate with the people who represent you to let them know that you are concerned about the way the country is going and the future, not only for our grandchildren and children, but also for us.

I hope we get through, and if we didn't, please contact us. We are here every day for you. There is no other reason for us to be here other than for you.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

DISGUSTED WITH GOVERNMENT SPENDING

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 9, 2023, the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. BURCHETT) for 30 minutes.

Mr. BURCHETT. Mr. Speaker, I want you folks to know that I won't be as eloquent as my friend, and I won't be as long either. You all will be able to get out of here if you are waiting for a break. If you need to get up and go, you go, you are not hurting my feelings one bit.

Mr. Speaker, I am absolutely disgusted with the way our government spends money and where it puts its priorities. We spent over $114 billion on Ukraine. Don't get me wrong, Putin is a thug and I wish the Lord would take him out. Russia's GDP is somewhere between that of France and Canada.

We have given Afghan refugees over $2,200 a month and we only sent the Maui residents one single $700 payment when they lost everything. Illegal aliens cost the Texas taxpayers somewhere around $850 million.

Folks, we are over $33 trillion in debt. Fitch, which is a rating agency, recently downgraded the United States' credit rating because of the general government deficit, which it anticipates will be 6.3 percent of gross domestic product in 2023, when it was only 3.7 percent in 2022. That is a huge jump for 1 year. Folks, that has almost doubled.

Another reason they gave was leadership, and that has been over the last 20 years. That cuts both ways. That is both parties. The United States spends approximately $300 billion each month. That is nearly $7 million each minute. It only takes our government 2 hours and 22 minutes to spend a billion dollars if you can imagine that.

We are all on the verge of a government shutdown, which none of my colleagues want—contrary to popular belief. Some of us conservative folks aren't sitting in a room hoping for this because we don't want our constituents to suffer undue pain because of our lack of work.

However, this out-of-control spending needs to change. Many of my Republican colleagues and I, we are going to fight for that change to happen today—not in 30 days or 3 months or right before Christmas because that has pretty much been the plan.

We pass a continuing resolution for 30 days, and then they say: We need another one for 30 days. Guess what? We are backed up to the Christmas holiday. Then they say: We need to pass an omnibus.

Basically, an omnibus is just a large continuing resolution. In my opinion, it is chock full of goodies for powerful Members of this body. It is also chock full of goodies for lobbyists and their specialist interests that we continue to grease.

Mr. Speaker, there are several solutions we can bring to the table. My colleague, JODEY ARRINGTON from Texas, chairs the Budget Committee. I was on that committee and I asked to be taken off of it. If you know anything about our history in the last 30 years, we have not passed a dadgum budget, we haven't even attempted to because we don't want to.

The people in power in both parties—if we pass a budget, there would be a lot more accountability and you all would know what was going into it. You would probably get disgusted and send a few of us home.

My friend, JODEY ARRINGTON, chairs that committee now, and he has a plan that would balance our budget in the next 10 years.

Mr. Speaker, if we just went back to pre-COVID spending levels, we could balance this budget.

Now, I dare say there is probably very few Americans that could tell me something that has been added to their plate since COVID from the Federal Government that they could not do without. Yet, we continue on this spending spree.

As I have stated many times with these continuing resolutions, they tell us to pass a continuing resolution so we don't have to pass another continuing resolution. Well, that line of thinking is like telling a crackhead that I am going to give you more crack to get you off of crack. The truth is we are just addicted to money, and now we are addicted to our great grandchildren's money.

We need to make some serious cuts to our bloated government in areas where we don't need it. We have way too many bureaucrats. Yesterday, I brought several amendments to the floor, literally, due to the Holman rule which allows us to line-out certain individual people's pay. They were caught doing something illegal in the past administration and they were fired, yet this administration seemed like they should bring them back. They brought the people back that helped them get back. That is your Federal Government.

Mr. Speaker, my daddy fought in the Second World War in the Marine Corps in the 1st Marine Division all the way across the Pacific. My mamma's brothers all went to the war. My dad's brother went to the war. My mamma actually flew an airplane during the war because her eldest brother, Roy, had gotten killed.

I tell you all that to tell you this: our Pentagon is a bloated disaster. I prefer to call them the war pimps because that is exactly what they are. Every year we pass a bigger and more bloated budget for the Pentagon. This year, I believe it was $30 billion more than the year prior to the last budget—I believe that is correct—more than even President Joe Biden had asked us to put in.

Yet, when folks like myself question it, people question our patriotism.

Mr. Speaker, I am not offended by much up here, but that is the cherry on top. We should stop focusing so much on passing a bill that will be totally fine in the Senate. As we said during the debt ceiling debate, we should put our stake down. Now we don't want to put our stake down. We want to send a bill over there, at one time, that would just cut the rate of growth, which is Washington speak for not cutting anything.

We are not Senate Democrats; we can't pass a budget that looks like theirs. The art of compromise should be in there.

When I was in the State legislature in Tennessee, I was the House sponsor of a bill to raise the speed limit. I asked for 85, knowing that I would get 70. Oddly enough, my Senate colleague was STEVE COHEN, who is now my colleague here in the United States Congress. We compromised, but we knew what we needed.

Mr. Speaker, truth be known, I brought Peyton Manning to the floor of the House the week before. I probably could have gotten 100 miles an hour and maybe even gotten Communism, I am not sure, or I might have been anointed as king at that point because Peyton was, and still is, that popular. That was a different time.

We have got to make some serious changes now or we are going to lose our dadgum country.

I always remember my daddy, who was a World War II veteran. We were at our house in West Knoxville, 8220 Bennington Drive—I no longer live there. We were in the dining room, I remember, one of the few times it was cleaned out. We always cleaned it out for Thanksgiving and Christmas, but most of the time it was for storage.

We were in there, and we had this little color TV that was over there. We were watching the election results that were coming in that night, and they were not going very well.

I remember my daddy said the blessing. It was just me and him, and we had a Mr. Gatti's pizza, or, as I like to say, we were having a traditional Italian meal. Don't send me any letters, I realize that is not very traditional.

Anyway, daddy said the prayer, he said the blessing. Really all he said was: Lord, please do not let us lose our country.

I guess that is what drives me now because, dadgummit, I am afraid we are going to lose our country. Continuing down this road of reckless spending is going to be the quickest way to get us there. We need to stop spending the American people's hard-earned money like we are a kid in a candy store.

One of the areas where we could be doing some cuts, in my opinion, I think we should close down our Department of Education. Now, I have a degree in education. My mama was a school-teacher for her whole life. My sister has a degree in education. My daddy was a dean at the University of Tennessee.

I didn't mean defund education, but if we would just send that money to the States and stop Washington, D.C., from taking its cut off the top, I think we could go a long ways.

There is not one bureaucrat in Washington, D.C., in the Department of Education who ever taught a little kid how to read at Sarah Moore Greene Elementary School in Knoxville, Tennessee, and I daresay there never will be. However, they are going to be taking their cut off the top, just like the mob does, and that needs to stop.

We need to allow the States the responsibility that they deserve, to be responsible stewards of our money, and send it to them and let them decide. What works in Washington, D.C., sure as heck doesn't work in Claiborne County in east Tennessee.

We have got to stop spending the American people's hard-earned money like we are a kid in a candy store with a credit card with no limit because that limit is coming due.

We do not need a continuing resolution. We don't need to play any more games. We just need clean bills with real cuts to get our country back on track.

Mr. Speaker, I thank you for your time, and I appreciate the folks in the audience's indulgence. I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded to refrain from referencing occupants in the gallery.

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 118th CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION

Vol. 169

WASHINGTON, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 2023

No. 159

Senate

(Legislative day of Friday, September 22, 2023)

The Senate met at 10 a.m., on the expiration of the recess, and was called to order by the President pro tempore (Mrs. MURRAY).

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

God of our weary years and silent tears, we continue to believe in Your sovereignty.

As we edge closer to a government shutdown, we choose to believe that You are still in charge. We continue to believe that the hearts of our lawmakers are in Your hands and You turn their plans as You desire. We continue to believe that in everything You are working for the good of those who love You and that Your purposes will prevail.

Lord, we pause to thank You for the life and legacy of Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN. May her death teach us to number our days, that we may have hearts of wisdom.

Have Your way, Lord—have Your way. You are the potter. We are the clay.

We pray in Your loving Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The President pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority leader is recognized.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President, I ask that the Senate observe a moment of silence in honor of Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

(Moment of silence.)

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority leader.

Mr. SCHUMER. Madam President—the first woman President pro tempore of the U.S. Senate—earlier this morning, we lost a giant in the Senate.

Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN was one of the most amazing people whoever graced the Senate, whoever graced the country. She had so many amazing, wonderful qualities wrapped up in one incredible human being. She was smart. She was strong. She was brave. She was compassionate.

But maybe the trait that stood out most of all was her amazing integrity. Her integrity was a diamond. Her integrity shone like a beacon across the Senate and across the country for all to see and, hopefully, emulate.

DIANNE FEINSTEIN would typically say, when you asked her how was she voting on something: Let me study this issue before taking a position. Let me go home and read on it. And when she came back, if she believed the cause or the vote was right and vital to any issue she cared about, she not only voted for it, there was no stopping her in getting it done.

She would take on any force, any special interest, any opponent with relentless integrity and would wear those opponents down until she succeeded. Again, her integrity just shown through them. And she won and she won and she won and each time made the country a better place.

I saw this up close when she passed the assault weapons ban, a passion of hers after what happened to her in California. The NRA was a relentless, often mean-spirited and chauvinistic foe. They oozed vitriol against her. But they didn't scare her. They didn't stop her. And they failed against her. Like most of her opponents, they failed against her. Her perseverance, her strength, and most of all her integrity shown through.

I was privileged to carry the bill in the House after she had passed it in the Senate. She guided me every step of the way, and her strength and her integrity strengthened all of us who were fighting that uphill fight.

As we went through that bill, it became clear to me, DIANNE FEINSTEIN is not like the others. She is in a class of her own.

Of course, it wasn't just the assault weapons ban she fought her. Her accomplishments also included championing the Violence Against Women Act, protecting oversight authority during the investigation into U.S. torture, fighting for climate justice, fighting for marriage equality, fighting for reproductive justice—the list goes on and on.

As chair of the Intelligence Committee, DIANNE fought for what was right. Even if it was hard and difficult and took months and years to dig in and find out what actually went wrong, she never stopped.

She took on the CIA and inserted Congress's oversight authority during the investigation into the United States' use of torture.

Through all of her accomplishments—this one and all the others—she always displayed quintessential grace and strength. None of these “sons of guns” against her ever rattled her.

I remember a few years back, when a particularly nasty Senator tried to put Senator FEINSTEIN down in a condescending—many would say—chauvinistic way. She reacted not defensively but with strength and poise and integrity. And within 3 minutes, she put this colleague in his place. By the end of it, everyone in the room, on both sides of the aisle, was smiling. That was DIANNE to a tee—powerful, prepared, unflappable.

She had to be. Whenever she did something, she was often the first to do it. She was elected as the first woman president of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, the first woman to serve as mayor of San Francisco, the first woman to serve as U.S. Senator for California, the first woman to chair both the Senate Rules and Intelligence Committees, the first woman member of the Senate Judiciary Committee. The list goes on and on and on and on.

Our Nation will be forever thankful to Senator FEINSTEIN for the accomplishments she fought for.

I, too, am personally indebted to DIANNE, not just as a colleague—which, of course, I am in so many ways as a colleague—but as a friend and as a father of two daughters.

DIANNE's work extended far beyond the U.S. Senate floor, as she gave a voice, a platform, and a leader to women throughout the country for decades.

DIANNE didn't just push down doors that were closed for women, she held them open for generations of women after her to follow her.

She gave a voice, a platform, and a model for women across the country who aspire to roles in leadership in public service who want to leave their own mark on the world, who want to make this country a better place for others.

Today, there are 25 women serving in this Chamber, and every one of them will admit they stand on DIANNE's shoulders.

So DIANNE's impact extended far beyond the Senate floor and far beyond politics itself.

Today, we grieve. We look at that desk, and we know what we have lost. But we also give thanks—thanks to someone so rarefied, so brave, so graceful a presence that someone like that served in this Chamber for so many years.

In closing, let me just say this: The sign of a leader is someone who dedicates the whole of their spirit for a cause greater than themselves; the sign of a hero is someone who fights for others, who endures for others no matter the cost, no matter the odds; and the sign of a friend is someone who stands by your side to fight the good fight on good days and on the bad.

DIANNE FEINSTEIN was all of this and more, a friend, a hero for so many, a leader who changed the nature of the Senate and who changed the fabric of the Nation—America—for the better.

As the Nation mourns this tremendous loss, we are comforted in knowing how many mountains DIANNE moved, how many lives she impacted, how many glass ceilings she shattered along the way. America—America—is a better place because of Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

Today, I join with my colleagues in mourning our beloved friend and colleague.

I yield the floor.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SCHATZ). The Republican leader is recognized.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, you know how we always refer to each other as "my friend" from whatever State it is. Honestly, frequently, that is not true.

But Elaine and I were actual friends of Dick and DIANNE. Elaine served on a corporate board with Dick for a number of years. When they were in town together, we would frequently have dinner together.

Elaine and I got married shortly after the 1992 election, and I remembered that DIANNE gave us a small depiction of the Capitol. I looked at it this morning because it is still on the wall and remembered our dear colleague as a truly remarkable individual.

As the majority leader has pointed out, she was an incredibly effective person at every line, at level, and she was at all of those levels on the way to the Senate.

Those of us who were fortunate to call DIANNE our colleague can say we served alongside the longest serving female Senator in American history.

DIANNE was a trailblazer in her beloved home State of California, and our entire Nation is better for her dogged advocacy and diligent service.

Over the past three decades, the senior Senator from California was also the steady hand leading sensitive and consequential work as head of the Intelligence Committee and the Judiciary Committee. Her name became synonymous with advocacy for women and with issues from water infrastructure to counterdrug efforts.

Of course, as the first woman to lead her hometown board of supervisors and then govern as mayor, she was making history and making a difference long before she came to the Senate.

And as much as this institution and the American people will remember DIANNE's devoted public service, as I indicated earlier, Elaine and I will also remember and cherish the friendship of 30 years we were fortunate to share with DIANNE and Dick.

So, today, I know the entire Senate family is gathering around Senator FEINSTEIN's loyal staff. Our thoughts and prayers are with DIANNE's daughter Katherine, her granddaughter Eileen, the entire Feinstein family, and with all who mourn our dear colleague and friend.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, before I yield to the President pro tempore, I would like to acknowledge DIANNE's daughter Katherine with Speaker PELOSI in the Gallery.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The President pro tempore.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, yesterday, the senior Senator from California came onto the floor through those doors to do her job. She voted. She voted to make sure that our country would continue to move forward and not shut down. That was DIANNE. She did her job every day. She cared about her country. She cared about her State. She cared about doing a job, no matter how tough it is, for the future of America, and she did it with dignity and respect every single minute.

Today, you will hear accolades from across the country, lists of legislative accomplishments from her early days, all the way through her career. What I just want to say today: It is a true loss to America. It is a loss to her family.

My heart is with you.

It is a loss to her colleagues from California who have served with her and know her as I do—as a tower of strength—to our colleagues on the floor who have worked with her on a laundry list of legislation that you will hear about and is way too long to list today.

But, to her constituents, you need to know we depended on her just as you did, and she was here every day to fight for you, no matter what. She fought for women. She fought for those who were victims of gun violence. She fought for foreign policy that was remote to most people, but she knew every detail. And when DIANNE spoke, the rest of us stopped and we listened.

Mr. President, she was a friend. I was sworn into office just a few weeks after she was, and she was always there for us, in matters big and small, in matters of our country, in matters of policy, and always as a friend.

To those of you who don't know, she was the most generous Senator I have ever known. I remember one time when I noticed that her purse was really nice, and I said: DIANNE, that purse is beautiful.

Two days later, I got one delivered to my door. That was DIANNE. She saw people. She knew people. She saw that she could be someone whom we all needed, and she saw that she could be there when she was needed—and she was there.

I will have more to say about my friend of more than 30 years over the next few days, and I am sure we will hear so much today. But I am so sorry I didn't hug her when she went back out that door yesterday.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The senior Senator from Maine.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, I rise with great sadness today to honor my friend and our colleague Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN. She was a pioneer and a strong and dignified leader.

DIANNE, who was the longest serving woman in Senate history, had a career marked by many firsts: the first woman to serve as mayor of San Francisco, the first woman Senator to represent California, the first woman to serve as the chair of the Senate Intelligence Committee, and the first woman to serve on the Senate Judiciary Committee.

DIANNE was such a strong presence in the Senate. She was a determined and tenacious advocate. Many of us worked closely with her on the Intelligence Committee, where she was such an excellent chairman. She was always fair, respectful, informed, and strong. We worked together on the Appropriations Committee as well, where she chaired the Energy and Water Subcommittee. Many of us were her allies on the Violence Against Women Act and the Respect for Marriage Act.

The Senate and the country have lost a model Senator—elegant, graceful, kind, compassionate, strong, informed, intelligent.

I have also lost a dear friend. I put up this watercolor painting that DIANNE did and gave me so many years ago. It has hung in my office ever since, and it will have a place of honor there always. Every time I would pass by, I would look at it and think about how talented DIANNE was in so many different areas. I treasure this painting.

When I became engaged 11 years ago, it was DIANNE who sponsored a reception for me and my now-husband Tom Daffron in her home in Washington. My story is very similar to that of the Republican leader.

I was also reminded when I heard Senator MURRAY talk about DIANNE's generosity. At one point one year, she bought seersucker suits for every woman who was serving in the Senate so that we could all participate in Seersucker Thursday. That was DIANNE. She paid attention to the smallest details and to the largest issues that affected not only our country but the world.

Most of all, DIANNE was such a role model for girls and women. She was a role model for us who came to the Senate, after she began her storied tenure here. I will miss DIANNE terribly. My heart goes out to her family, and may she rest in peace.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority whip.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, today, we mourn the death of a trailblazer, my colleague and friend Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

I have been privileged to have known DIANNE throughout her entire career in this Chamber and my entire time as well. She was my friend and seatmate on the Senate Judiciary Committee for over 20 years. When you are that close to someone politically—day in, day out, week in, week out—you pick up on the things that mean the most to her. Certainly, her family was the highest priority to her, over all things, but her life experience created what we know as the legacy of DIANNE. How many times she told the story of serving on the pardon and parole board for the State of California—the cases that she remembered in detail that had occurred decades ago stuck with her and inspired her when it came to her service on the Senate Judiciary Committee.

I think that situation also inspired her when it came to legislation, where she was looking for fairness. We certainly all know her efforts in dealing with the Violence Against Women Act. That was an extraordinary effort by her, on a bipartisan basis with Senator MURKOWSKI, Senator COLLINS, Senator ERNST, Senator PATTY MURRAY, and so many others.

In addition to that, she recounted many, many times that terrible, unimaginable tragedy when the mayor of San Francisco was killed along with Harvey Milk, a commissioner. She was there at the bloody scene afterward. She recounted that so many times in the midst of her debates over an assault weapons ban.

Think about that assault weapons ban. It was almost the holy grail in politics. So many people said that is the one thing we absolutely have to do; it has to be done. She did it. She, along with Senator SCHUMER, who was then a House Member, put together the bill that established an assault weapons ban and reduced the number of deaths in America by gunfire. They did it, and she was the leader, inspired by that terrible tragedy with Mayor Moscone.

I can also remember, there was a time, years ago, when we engaged in debate in this Chamber on stem cell science and biology. It was a complicated debate. Many of us liberal arts lawyers were lost as they went into the detail. DIANNE not only led that debate; she had mastered the subject. And time and again in the caucus, when we would discuss it, she would be the one to stand up and straighten everyone out on the basics. She was a gifted person in that regard.

But I do want to say that there is one thing that Senator COLLINS noted that I noted many times. Members of the Senate, in the committee hearings, were given a notepad in front of them—the Senate Judiciary Committee was no exception—and a pencil nearby to make notes in the course of our business. Sitting next to DIANNE all those years, I can't tell you how many flowers I saw her draw on those notepads. I asked her for one, one time. She signed it, and I have kept it. But it is an indication of the sweetness and the elegance in her life; that, on the one hand, she could be arguing the most serious life-and-death issues in the committee but, on the other hand, show that kind of dignity and determination to bring the human side to the debate.

She was one of the best, and I was honored to call her a friend.

There were many times that she made the rollcall in the Senate Judiciary Committee, the last year or 2, when I know it was an extraordinary sacrifice. She was going to show up because that was her responsibility. I respected her so much for that. And the committee divided 11 to 10, I needed her. She knew it, and she was there. She answered the call.

She served California with such distinction. She often talked about her beloved Golden State, but we all know that she was also a treasure to the Nation.

DIANNE FEINSTEIN inspired many, particularly many women, to public service. She served California well, and she served our Nation, and it was my honor to serve with her.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The senior Senator from Alaska.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, there will be many opportunities in the next few days and in the weeks following to reflect on the life and the contributions of Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN and, as has been noted, the significant legislation that she advanced over three decades here, what that meant to her State, to her constituents, really, to her country, but also to us.

And as I think about the work that we all take on here, we know that we are capable of much, but we are made even more capable by extraordinary staff. And one of the things that I have noted over the years is the extremely loyal staff that Senator FEINSTEIN had built around her. I know that they are grieving today, as is DIANNE's family and so many friends. But I think we acknowledge them at the same time of this very significant loss of not only a colleague but of a friend.

And I think it is important that people understand that, here in the U.S. Senate, a place that can be so divisive at times, true friendships actually exist. And whether it is the Republican leader and his wife over the years dining together or, as Senator COLLINS has stated, just the very generous nature of Senator FEINSTEIN sharing—sharing her works, sharing her art, sharing a purse—I still have that seersucker suit.

I still have that seersucker suit. When we all engage in the annual ritual of donning the seersucker suit—mine is now 20 years old; I think yours is, too—our reality is, it is a direct reminder of the spontaneous generosity of a woman.

DIANNE FEINSTEIN was generous. She was gracious. She was thoughtful. She was kind. There were many times when we were looking into a weekend when we were going to be here, and she, being from California, and I, being from Alaska—recognizing that probably neither one of us was going to be making it to that other coast, she would say: “LISA, let’s go to dinner.” Sometimes, we would just spontaneously make that happen, and other times, we would just make the plans. But that was that outreach to do so.

What she did as one of the female leaders in our women Senators group was she made sure that the dinners we have engaged in over the years, that those continued. She would come and say, “Isn’t it about time we have another dinner?” And she would be right, and we would organize it. It was, again, a reminder of what it means to come together as colleagues, yes, but really the more that we can do to build those relationships that make a hard job just a little bit easier. DIANNE was able to focus on that in a giving and, again, a very generous—generous—way.

I think it pained us all—it certainly pained me—in just these past months to see what I believed to be grossly unfair attacks on a woman who was in failing health. And I think for some who would focus on that, they would fail to appreciate what this extraordinary woman, what this extraordinary leader had contributed not only to the Senate but, again, to her State and to her country.

So as we speak of the beauty of DIANNE FEINSTEIN and all that she gave to this country, I hope we reflect on the words that Senator MURRAY shared with us—that her commitment to this job, her commitment to the people was so much that she would put her physical health, how she was feeling—some days, we just don’t feel like coming in, you know? Senator FEINSTEIN was here. Senator FEINSTEIN was with an institution that she cared about. She cared deeply about it. She wanted to make sure that we were the best of the best and we reflected that.

I think she would actually be really pleased with the resolution about dress. I don’t need to go into that on the floor. But Senator FEINSTEIN was a woman who was put together—put together in her presence and in her bearing. I think she wanted to see the Senate in a dignified and a respectful manner at all times.

As I walked in this morning, I thought she probably wouldn’t approve of my shoes, and I am sorry, DIANNE. But I share this because I think it demonstrates again where the commitment of this woman was. It was to the people she served, but it was also to an institution that she loved and she dignified with everything she did right until the end.

We have lost an extraordinary woman, and we have lost a friend. But they never leave. They will always be with us, as will DIANNE.

I yield the floor.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mr. PADILLA. Mr. President, before I begin, I also want to acknowledge others who are here in the Chamber to be part of this tribute, part of this moment—the first of many over the coming days and weeks, no doubt.

Senator SCHUMER acknowledged Speaker PELOSI, Speaker Emerita PELOSI, and Katherine in the Gallery here. We do have a good amount of the California congressional delegation here as well paying their respects—the dean, Representative LOFGREN, and so many friends from the north to the south to the east and the west of the Golden State. Up in the Gallery also is Team Feinstein, so many of the staff members who make sure the office is always performing at peak capacity, just the way DIANNE insisted. I know that personally, and I will tell you why in a minute.

But I think I speak on behalf of all of us when I say that it is with profound sadness that we bid farewell to my dear friend, colleague, and outright champion for the State of California, Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

As we have been hearing today, she was a towering figure. Let me be clear. She was a towering figure not just in modern California history but in the history of our State and our Nation. Yes, she broke barriers throughout her career. You heard about that from Leader SCHUMER, how many firsts. Her leadership, though, as the city of San Francisco’s first female mayor in the aftermath of the tragic assassination of Mayor George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk showcases her unique ability to lead with grace and strength in the face of adversity. And it wouldn’t be her last time.

Following her election to the Senate more than three decades ago, DIANNE’s commitment to bipartisan collaboration made her a deeply respected figure on both sides of the aisle. So my heart is full to hear the words of Senator COLLINS and Senator MURKOWSKI and others.

She understood the importance of working together to find common ground and to get things done for California, for the country, and most importantly, for the American people. Her ability to bridge divides and find that consensus, especially on the thorniest of issues, was a testament to her dedication to the principles of our democracy and the many attributes you are hearing about her today. That is the one I have admired most and have worked my damndest to try to emulate throughout my career and especially here in the Senate.

Now, long before being able to serve together here in the Senate, DIANNE gave me one of my first jobs in politics in her Los Angeles office at a time early in my career when I was looking to make a difference for my community and for our State. It is in part thanks to her groundbreaking career that a Latino son of immigrants could one day not just work for her but work alongside her to keep up the fight for the American dream.

As we mourn Senator FEINSTEIN’s passing, we must also celebrate her incredible legacy, her contributions to our Nation—from gun safety and environmental conservation to national security and healthcare reform and so much more—just as a reminder not just of the power of her example but the power of public service.

For Californians, so much of our public lands have been preserved thanks to her singular drive and leadership—from the redwoods of the Headwaters and the San Francisco Bay to Lake Tahoe, to the Southern California desert.

We can go on and on, but it is clearly—clearly—a tremendous impact she has had. She leaves behind a legacy of service, of leadership, and a deep love of our country and our democratic ideals. Senators have mentioned her grace, how she worked, how she carried herself—an example for us to follow.

I would be remiss if I didn’t say there was an exception to that, and that is if you were one of her staff members who came into a meeting with her unprepared. You did not want to not have the answer to her question.

She was classy, absolutely. We won’t get into the debate about the dress code. As Senator MURRAY said, she was absolutely generous. Now, I did not receive a seersucker suit. I was not here at the time. But for the decades of the relationship that we had, every time I came to Washington, I made it a point to reach out—at a minimum, a call; a lot of times, a quick meeting in her office—and I always came away with something. More often than not, it was a book. She has quite a library, her collection. Once upon a time, it was a Senate tie. There was always something.

I, too, Senator COLLINS, have a watercolor. It is hanging at home in Los Angeles—my wife’s favorite—so I don’t have it here to display. What I do have, though, is a photo, as she said, from “back in the day” that she sent me just a year ago—periodically going through her files, her archives—a picture from the San Francisco AIDS walk in 1987 but personalized—no autopen here; a personal note from Senator FEINSTEIN.

The last story I will share, which I do think is unique. Another example of her generosity is the day I was sworn in to the Senate in 2021 under the most trying of circumstances: COVID prevaccine; 2 weeks after January 6; 40,000 National Guard women and men on the perimeter of a fenced-off Capitol Complex. She honored me by escorting me down the center aisle to the rostrum and stood behind me as I was sworn in. Big day for me. Tough day not having Angela and my boys by my side.

As soon as the votes were over, the session was over, she grabbed me by the hand and said: Come with me. I am not sorry to say I had interviews lined up. We marched right past reporters to her hideaway.

She immediately wanted to continue the dialogue of, How can I help you? How can I help you? I mustered up a little bit of courage and said: DIANNE, I love you, but I want to call my wife. I have just been sworn in to the Senate.

So I called my wife. Angela answers. We immediately started FaceTiming each other. We were by the window so we could make sure the signal doesn't drop. And my boys were there. DIANNE says: Give me the phone. I have just been sworn in to the U.S. Senate, and I am watching Senator FEINSTEIN FaceTime with my kids. "So proud of your dad. When are you coming to Washington? I will buy you lunch."

That was DIANNE FEINSTEIN. May she rest in peace, and may her legacy continue to inspire us all.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Washington.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Ms. CANTWELL. Mr. President, I follow my colleague from California, and I believe he said it correctly—the legacy of DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

Our colleagues are in shock today, even though we knew DIANNE was ill, even though we knew she was 90 years old, even though we knew she was the longest-serving woman Senator. The fortitude that she showed and demonstrated was constant. Sitting here just a few months ago in all-night vote-arama sessions, when the youngest of us wanted to crawl into our hideaways and sip coffee at 2 a.m., DIANNE was at her desk voting.

At 90, she had the fortitude, as Senator MURRAY said, to vote just yesterday. I don't know if it was the steel that was cemented into her at that moment of the mayor's assassination or the tragedy and cost of serving and knowing that you still had to move forward. No matter how disastrous the situation was, DIANNE moved forward.

I am so blessed to have served with her. But I want people to know the Nation has lost a legislative giant, women have lost a hero, and the Senate has lost a true colleague. Those of us who are out here today know when we say the word "true colleague," we mean like a true collegial colleague. Sometimes we say the word with a little more disdain, like our "frustrating colleague," or as Senator MCCONNELL said, our "good friend," when maybe in reality, it is hard to get those words out.

But DIANNE was the epitome of what the Senate is losing. Let's just face it. DIANNE, one of her most famous phrases was "I have to go home and read tonight." I bet you her family or her staff heard her say that because she meant it. She meant: I don't know enough about this subject to go just spur off. I am literally going to study and analyze and find out what it actually is all about.

How many times did DIANNE stand up in caucus and say: I have been reading a lot about this subject, but I think we need to know a lot more? And she would communicate what she knew and, as many of my colleagues know, she was always asking questions.

For me, as a young Member coming here more than 20 years ago, I was amazed and astounded at what I might call the polite pushiness of DIANNE FEINSTEIN. I don't know how she did it, but serving on the Judiciary Committee with her—and DIANNE will observe—when DIANNE's time ran out and somebody tried to cut in and debate her, DIANNE had this way of saying: Mr. Chairman, this is a really important point and I just need to make this point. And the chairman would let DIANNE go on for another 5 minutes. And I thought, How does she pull this off? Well, I will tell you how she pulled it off: because people knew she was serious about legislating. She was serious about working across the aisle.

And probably in my early days here, she forged the greatest impression of what working across the aisle was really all about. There were times, probably, when I didn't even agree with her, but she had the cache of a Senator who could put a deal together with both sides.

I saw her great work on the California Desert Protection Act, landmark legislation protecting California. I saw it on the 2007 energy bill where we raised CAFE standards for the first time in 25 years. DIANNE had a provision called Ten-in-Ten. She just evangelized every minute of the day about why we needed higher fuel efficiency standards. She thought we could improve it 10 miles in 10 years and she was right, and it became the basis of what that bill was. She never let anybody off the hook during those negotiations. She made sure that we got that done.

I saw her work tirelessly as my colleague Senator MURKOWSKI—she may not have been here yet—but she worked with Jon Kyl on water legislation until the cows came home, because Arizona and California had real water issues and DIANNE was forever adamant about trying to address this issue for the western part of the United States.

So for me, I want to thank her family for your sacrifices, for sharing DIANNE with us, letting us have her as long as she was willing to serve and for making it the dedication of her life.

Yes, that personal side of her was also so sweet. Most of us doodle, but DIANNE doodled in masterpieces. And she was always inviting people to dinner, always doing those kind little things for us, which means that you really made the Senate a more human place. That is what she really did. She just made this a more human place by just giving a little time and attention to some of the needs of your colleagues. But what sweet blessings; what sweet stories.

I want to honor DIANNE by remembering her great legacy and thanking all of those who were part of her life because, for women, we didn't really know how to get all of this done here—how hard you push, how loud you can be, how much you can just get in here and grind away sometimes. DIANNE showed us that, yes, we can be trailblazers and do it and that the results really, really, really, really matter for people.

I hope that people will remember that legacy of hers and the kindness that went along with it and realize that this institution really does need to return to the ways of DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

And if you are from California, you should be damn proud that your Senator is going to go in the history books as a forerunner for so many other women and for policies and behavior that we should be amplifying.

I thank the President.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Minnesota.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Ms. KLOBUCHAR. Mr. President, I first saw DIANNE—and I see people like the Speaker Emerita and so many of her friends and family that knew her long before Senator PADILLA—but 1992, the Year of the Woman, the national convention—my first national convention, a young lawyer—and there she was on the stage with Senator Boxer in that groundbreaking year.

When I think of DIANNE, as I have heard from my colleagues, I think about the dignity she brought to this place; about how she would dig into every single issue, the independent thought, the trailblazing.

She came into politics as a mayor and in the most tragic of circumstances. She was a city council member. There was an assassination, and there she is thrust on the national stage. As Senator PADILLA talked about, she always put California first.

I remember, at one point when we were debating and speaking out on a national election and someone said something about another candidate having been the mayor of a tough town. I remember DIANNE saying: You don't know what a tough town is until you are mayor of San Francisco.

The way she would dig into the issues was probably my most memorable moment. She invited me to stay overnight at her house after an event; and I got up early in the morning and she called me, summoned me into her room. She was sitting straight up with these big fuzzy slippers on, on a Saturday morning, reading a 200-page bill, the Patent Reform Act, and she started quizzing me—we were both on the Judiciary Committee at the time, the only women on the Judiciary Committee—on the details about the bill. That was DIANNE. She did her homework.

She came into politics at a time when there weren't many women leaders. The way she achieved her goals and passed bills and did what she wants was not because she was just—they were just going to accept her as she was at that moment in time. It was the hard work. It was the relationships. It was the leaderships.

When I heard about the seersucker suit, I had the same experience. I am brandnew in the Senate. I don't have much resources. And DIANNE calls to get my measurements. That actually happened. And she got me one of those suits as well.

When I talk to young women about them getting involved in politics these days, a lot of them shy away from it. We still aren't where we are supposed to be with the numbers. One of the reasons they give is the attacks; they can't handle the negativity. When I think of DIANNE, she just kept her head high. I literally think of her posture. She kept her head high. She walked through every storm. Things would fall on the side, but she had a mission and her mission would be whatever was her responsibility of that day. Whether it was the Patent Reform Act, whether it was getting her groundbreaking report done on torture, whether it was the work she did in leading the historic legislation on the assault weapons ban, she kept her head up high and she led. That was her instinct. No matter what happened in this place, no matter what clothes changed, no matter who changed, she always led. And we will miss her today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Rhode Island.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. President, I served beside Senator FEINSTEIN on the Judiciary Committee my entire time here, and I worked closely with her on the Intelligence Committee during the time we overlapped there.

I am honored to join my colleagues in participating in this remembrance to her. It has been said, I think, over and over again, of her elegance, as Senator COLLINS said; of how put together she was, as Senator MURKOWSKI said; of how gracious she was, as pretty much everyone has said. Her preparedness was another standout virtue in this body.

I have heard her say "I am going home to read tonight." Serving with her on those committees, I saw over and over again the amount of work that she put herself and her staff through to make sure that she was well-prepared. I never saw a Member of this body better prepared than Senator FEINSTEIN.

But the characteristic that I most associate with her is bravery—whether it was the bravery of throwing herself into California politics as a young woman at a time when not many women were doing that or the way she bravely handled the murders at city hall and her response to that or whether she was willing to come here, when women were few, and break glass ceiling after glass ceiling after glass ceiling.

But the place where I saw her bravery most was when we worked together on the Senate Intelligence Committee torture report. I was kind of Robin to her Batman in that effort. And I still remember her, right about where Senator MURRAY now is, delivering her legendary speech that blew the cover off the CRA torture report. To get there, she had to get through massive counterattacks from the CIA on her and on our Intelligence Committee staff. She had to oppose the Bush administration that was pushing back against her from the very highest levels.

And when the administration changed, she had to show the same bravery and the same resistance against pretty much equal pressure from the Obama administration to shut up and go away. Well, shut up and go away were not things that Senator FEINSTEIN was willing to hear, and the moment that she spent on the Senate floor delivering that report was one of the moments that I am proudest of in the time that I have been here at the Senate.

Let me close by talking about her last weeks here because I think you have to see those last weeks here in the context of her preparation, her determined effort to be as perfect as she could be, and her bravery because it was not easy for her to come and do the work that she did in those last weeks.

But she knew that we needed her. She knew that despite how difficult it was, despite the difficulty she would have in meeting her own standards of perfection, it would have been easy just to go, but she knew that we needed her. We would have lost our majority in the Judiciary Committee without her, and I view her last months and weeks in this body as the last episode of her long career of bravery.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Hawaii.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Ms. HIRONO. Mr. President, over the next days and weeks and months, we are going to hear a lot about our dear friend DIANNE FEINSTEIN, and I am so glad that some of her friends from California and the Speaker—former Speaker—NANCY PELOSI and her family are here to just be with us in these first moments of our learning of her passing.

And we all have stories to tell about DIANNE, but when I joined, for example, the Intel Committee, and she was chairing it, she said: MAZIE, this is not a committee that you can just parachute in and not spend the time really learning about our intelligence community and all that—and I really took that to heart. I spent many, many hours on that committee, even though we could never talk about it. And then at one of the earlier hearings of the Judiciary Committee—and I really marveled at this. It was a hearing that had to do with guns, and I always associate, of course, DIANNE with her courageous fight to ban assault weapons. And one of the newer members of the Judiciary Committee, as I was, chose that hearing to lecture DIANNE FEINSTEIN about her efficacy on guns, and I thought this was so untoward against someone who had spent so much of her time fighting for gun safety. But she just said: I have not spent all these years on this committee to be lectured by you, which I thought was really quite tactful.

But later she said to me—she took me aside, and she said: Do you think I was too mean? Do you think I should apologize? And all I could think of was, Are you kidding? That was DIANNE FEINSTEIN. She was old school. She was very kind. And I am wearing a scarf that she gave to me. And you have heard some of my other colleagues talk about, if we admired something of hers, she would give it to us. Well, this scarf she was wearing at that moment, and I said: Oh, that is such a lovely scarf, and she just took it off and gave it to me.

I wear this scarf often. In fact, we had to be careful about admiring anything DIANNE had because she would likely take it off and give it to us. But this is one of the things that I will always remember about DIANNE FEINSTEIN, her courage, her integrity, her commitment to public service, literally, until the very, very end.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. VAN HOLLEN). The Senator from New Hampshire is recognized.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Ms. HASSAN. Mr. President, I want to offer my condolences to DIANNE's family, to her colleagues in California, to the Speaker Emerita, to my colleague Senator PADILLA, and to so many of our friends and colleagues who are watching today. I wanted to rise just because I am one of the newer women in the U.S. Senate, and I wanted to acknowledge the difference that DIANNE FEINSTEIN's example and work has made for me, for my constituents, for our daughters, and our granddaughters.

When I came to the Senate, the bipartisan women's dinners were long-established. I didn't have to think about how I would get to know my women colleagues and share experiences and learn the ropes from them because DIANNE FEINSTEIN and her other colleagues who were early pioneers in the Senate had already done some of that work for us. I didn't have to think about whether there was going to be a women's bathroom right off the floor that I could use just the way the men use their bathroom in quick moments because DIANNE FEINSTEIN and others had paved the way.

I didn't have to think about whether I would be accepted in the same way that DIANNE FEINSTEIN had to because she had already done that really difficult work of being that much better than everybody else to make sure that she never let women down and that she never let her constituents down.

This morning, after Senator MURRAY called us and said that we are all going to be on the floor, I was rushing to get ready, and to Senator MURKOWSKI's point, I put on different shoes than I was planning to. They were shoes that DIANNE had admired. She had the same pair, and she told me they were good ones to wear.

I wore a scarf—it is not one DIANNE gave me but because I thought DIANNE would think it would add a little something to my presence today. In the last few months of her service, DIANNE graced us with her dignity and with her friendship. She had a way of sitting down next to me in caucus lunch and checking in. She knew I had had some particular caregiving challenges at home, and she would always say to me: Who is with Ben right now? Ben is our son. How are things with the family? I am not sure people really understand that women still have family responsibilities that aren't easily transferable.

She wanted me always to know that we had made a lot of progress but that there was still progress to make. And in her way of nudging us and being an example for us, she was reminding us that we still have work to do and she was counting on us to do it.

The last meeting that my senior Senator and I had with DIANNE about an issue that was really important to our State and we needed a vote on, she had been home in California recuperating, and she had just made it back to the Senate. And we went to meet with her in her hideaway, and I, frankly, didn't know what to expect. I didn't know how her health would be. She had a memo—it wasn't a short one—that laid out the entire issue that we were there to talk to her about. She went through that memo, several places, and said: Well, I read here that this is the case, and I read there that that is the case, and you both are telling me that you think I should vote in a particular way.

We went back and forth about a couple of issues. We reinforced our arguments, our belief in why she should vote to support our position. She asked us questions. She knew her stuff. She had read the memo. And she said for a number of reasons—and she laid them out—that she would vote with us.

She had muscle memory that pulled her up to her full height. She had the intellectual discipline and memory to understand how to cut to the chase and make sure she understood the essence of the issue we were dealing with. And she was reminding us of what you are supposed to do to serve your constituents, your State, and your country as a U.S. Senator.

May her memory be a blessing.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New York.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mrs. GILLIBRAND. Mr. President, I want to thank Senator PATTY MURRAY for bringing us all together today. It is a privilege to be on the floor of the U.S. Senate; it is a privilege to serve in the Senate; and it was a privilege to serve with someone as extraordinary as Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN. People know me as a Senator who cares deeply about women's rights, about LGBT equality, about children, family, safety. And anything that I have ever cared about, DIANNE was fighting for, long before I was ever in public service.

When we talk about public servants who leave legacies and when we talk about the giants on whose shoulders we stand, for me, that is DIANNE. She was unlike any Senator I met when I first got here in 2009. She had a really incredible combination of elegance, brilliance, stature, certainty, toughness, and kindness.

When I first got to the U.S. Senate, I didn't know anything. I was appointed. I hadn't just run a long election where I was telling the constituents of New York why I wanted to serve and what my vision for the State was. I was really, really new. I had been a House Member for 2 years. DIANNE asked me to lunch. She said: How can I help you, KIRSTEN? What would be most useful, for you, for me to do for you?

And I said: Well, could you just tell me a little bit about what is it like to be a Senator for a State of 60 million people. I have a State of 20 million people, so it is a lot, but I would love to hear how you have navigated this enormous job that you have.

And she just went through it. She took me step-by-step, everything that she did to manage her office. She would get a memo every week from her staff about where her legislation sat, what was happening, who were her bipartisan cosponsors.

She had a memo about how many calls her office had received, what the calls were about, what people wanted to talk to her about, what their concerns were. And that was extremely meaningful to me because she said: I have a copy of this memo, and I will give it to you. It is very confidential. It is just for me from my staff, but perhaps you can use it to model what you need from your staff every week to know if your office is working well, to make sure all the things you need your staff to be doing are happening.

It was just a small thing, but it was such a big thing to me at that time in my Senate career. And every step of the way, DIANNE always reached out. She always said—just as you said, MAGGIE—how are you doing? How are those boys of yours? Tell me how your struggle is. I never had to raise children while being a Senator. Tell me how that is.

She always cared. She always bothered. She always stopped. I have had many dinners with DIANNE. We had dinners together with our spouses. She would take me to her favorite restaurant in Georgetown. She would introduce me to her other favorite women who are public servants. And she always had something meaningful to talk about, a challenge, an issue, a crisis. At the first dinner, she wanted to talk about how the military was using nuclear weapons in a much more strategic way and changing the entire framework of what nuclear defense meant. She had that conversation with me and the then-chairwoman of Armed Services, of one of the key subcommittees in the House.

She always asked: What do you think? How are you going to challenge that problem?

Our most recent meeting was a glass of wine in her hideaway a week ago. We talked about what issues could we work on together. We agreed two of the biggest issues facing her State and my State were homelessness and affordable housing, and we decided we would start working on legislation together.

She didn't stop working when she was here just because she had health issues. She never stopped being insightful in the Intelligence Committee, asking the right question at the right time.

DIANNE's legacy is extraordinary. She is an icon for women's politics—the first female Mayor of San Francisco; first of the two women ever elected to the Senate in California.

There will be a lot of speeches about her, and so I am not going to talk about just her bio. But one of the areas where she really was a role model for me was in LGBTQ rights. She became a champion in the '60s. Sadly, she found Harvey Milk's body after he was assassinated. But she channeled that tragedy into her public service and made sure that while she was mayor of San Francisco that she made a difference for that community in her city and in her State.

During the AIDS epidemic, she helped create the global standard for AIDS health in San Francisco. When she ran for California Governor and became the first woman in her State to win a major party's gubernatorial nomination, despite losing that race, she went on to run for Senate to win. And we have seen her champion all those issues for same-sex marriage; reproductive rights; she helped pass the first assault weapons ban to keep our communities safe. These are all issues that I have always cared about and built on her record. If she didn't fight for those things, we wouldn't have been able to repeal don't ask, don't tell. We wouldn't have been able to make sure transgender servicemembers could still serve in the U.S. military. Without her hard work, we would not have been able to guarantee marriage equality at the U.S. Supreme Court.

This body is less because DIANNE's not here—that grace, that courage, that keen intelligence. She will be missed by me and by all our colleagues.

I brought the last gift DIANNE gave to me, a beautiful pencil drawing; again, just part of her kindness. And I am wearing DIANNE FEINSTEIN's famous red lipstick.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nevada is recognized.

Ms. CORTEZ MASTO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I be able to display this poster on the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Ms. CORTEZ MASTO. Mr. President, like so many this morning, I rise to mourn the loss of a true champion in the U.S. Senate.

DIANNE was one of the kindest, most thoughtful people that I had the pleasure to know. When I first got to the Senate—and I have heard some of my colleagues this morning talk about as new Senators—she was so gracious. As a new Senator, she would invite me to dinner with colleagues, and she was such a lady and so professional and so elegant. Every time you went to dinner with DIANNE, you can be guaranteed that she would have a little set of flowers for you at your place at the restaurant. And then she would have a little parting gift for you, whether it was a little coin purse or something to show just truly who she was. And I heard this morning from my colleagues, similarly, the stories of DIANNE's kindness and her respect for others.

She was a fighter her whole life, leading on so many important issues. In the coming days and weeks and months and years, as people around the world really honor DIANNE's memory, many will speak to her leadership—and rightfully so—on women's rights and foreign affairs.

But I want to take the time to highlight a place where DIANNE did so much. And most people don't know, unless you are a part of Team Tahoe, DIANNE loved Lake Tahoe. Lake Tahoe is a beautiful, pristine Alpine lake that both Nevada and California share. In 1997, DIANNE and then-Senator Harry Reid got together and passed legislation to protect this pristine lake.

And since that time, once a year, DIANNE has been instrumental in bringing people around the lake together to address the needs for Lake Tahoe. That was all DIANNE.

So when I first got to the Senate in 1997, one of the first things we talked about, she pulled me aside and said: We are going to have the Tahoe Summit this year. I hope you are there, and I hope you will be there always to support Tahoe.

And I said: DIANNE, I grew up around this lake. The first time I was there was when I was 18 years old. My mother grew up around this lake. We love Lake Tahoe in Nevada, and you can guarantee that I will always be there for it.

And if you sat and talked to DIANNE, the first thing you will hear her talk about in Lake Tahoe are her memories—her memories of riding her bike as a young girl around the lake. Her memories of times when she was there with her family, having the opportunity to enjoy incredible Lake Tahoe.

So I couldn't pass this day without recognizing, of course, all the incredible things DIANNE has done; but what most people don't know, unless you are a part of Nevada and California, is the hard work that she has done around this lake for the people who live there, for the people who cherish this lake, for the tourists that come here every single day. And it is not just the work that she has done here in the Senate. This was 2017. This was the first opportunity that I had as a young Senator to join DIANNE. And as you can see, DIANNE was hosting it that summer, the Lake Tahoe Summit.

But DIANNE had this ability not only to have this summit once a year to talk about how we protect this lake, but she brought together incredible stakeholders and experts around the lake—people who live there, people who worked in our State—to address not just the quality of the lake and the pristineness to protect it, but everything else around it from the transportation side to the wildfires that were happening to the environment. And she had a luncheon, a regular luncheon after the Tahoe Summit to talk about how we continue that work together.

And because of DIANNE's prestige, she had the ability to bring incredible speakers to the Tahoe Summit once a year. First, President Clinton; then one time, President Obama; and just recently, we had our former Speaker, Speaker Emerita NANCY PELOSI speaking. We had one of our incredible Senators, chairwoman of Energy and Natural Resources at the time, LISA MURKOWSKI. It was about how we work across party lines to really focus on protecting, for everyone who wants to enjoy this, Lake Tahoe.

She was a true champion, and she will be missed. On behalf of Team Tahoe, which is what she coined it—Dianne never took credit for anything she did around this lake. Even though people wanted to recognize her and show that support, she never took the credit. She said: This is about a team. This is Team Tahoe. This is what we do together. This is how we work together.

This is the legacy of her work in the U.S. Senate, carried forward right here in Lake Tahoe.

So, to DIANNE, to her family—her incredible family—and to everyone on Team Tahoe, we will miss DIANNE FEINSTEIN. She will always be a part of the work we do. Her legacy will live on not just around Tahoe but in so many other areas as we have talked about today.

I am going to miss her. I am going to miss the opportunity to sit with her at lunch and talk about what we still need to do to fight to protect this incredible, pristine lake.

Thank you, DIANNE, for your service. With that, I yield the floor.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. President, I join my colleagues on the floor this morning to pay tribute to Senator FEINSTEIN and to remember her warmth, her generosity, her kindness, and the way she really loved to elevate women. It didn't matter what your party was; it didn't matter where you came from; when you achieved, she loved to recognize that.

As I came to the Senate from the House and in being the first female from Tennessee to serve in the U.S. Senate, she talked about the likeness of that experience for her as breaking barriers and being the first female mayor of San Francisco and being the first woman from California to hold a seat in the U.S. Senate. So I always appreciated that she pushed forward with elevating women and encouraging women.

Of course, as we all know, she loved to gather the women of the Senate together for dinner or for a photo to make certain that we recorded our gains here in the Senate and that we had a place to share our stories of what we were experiencing, because we all know there were times that she had incurred different unkind words from people who thought that she should not be in that position. So we appreciated that of her.

I really enjoyed the opportunity to work with her on the Senate Judiciary Committee. She and I spent quite a bit of time working on issues that pertained to our Nation's creative community. This was a community that she truly celebrated. She loved the fact that people could create a song out of a thought or a few words that they heard.

We worked together to protect those rights, the entertainers, and to make certain that, as we worked on the HITS Act, as we worked on intellectual property issues, that our innovators and our creators were going to have that constitutional right protected to benefit from those creations.

We all know—and I know many of my colleagues have mentioned today—of her fondness for the Senate and for the institution. We will remember that as we wish her family well and wish them protection during this time of loss and sadness.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. COONS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. COONS. Mr. President, I come to the floor this morning to reflect on and remember a dear friend and colleague, someone who served this Nation in this body for 30 years, someone who has already been remembered by many others as a trailblazer, someone who left a lasting one on this Senate, on her State of California, on our Nation.

When I first came to this Senate, now 13 years ago, Senator FEINSTEIN was someone whose career I had long followed and long admired. She was elected to this body when I was a law student, in the Year of the Woman, when, following a contentious hearing, there was a concerted effort made to recruit some of the strongest, most capable potential candidates to join this body, and Senator FEINSTEIN was certainly among those incredible leaders.

I had the honor, the blessing, of being in small rooms in negotiations with her within my first few years, and I saw behind the scenes what anyone who followed her publicly got to know about Senator FEINSTEIN. She was tough. She was fierce. She was determined. She was prepared. She had always done the reading. She studied the details of every bill, every piece of legislation, everything we voted on.

When I had the chance to join the Appropriations Committee, and I approached her once here on the floor to ask her consent to amend the Energy and Water Appropriations Subcommittee bill she was floor managing, she turned, stopped, and said: Are you asking my permission to file an amendment to my bill?

And somewhat haltingly, being still a very junior Senator, I said: Yes, ma'am, that is exactly what I am doing.

She smiled and laughed and said: Oh, aren't you nice.

I said: Doesn't every Senator ask your permission before they attempt to amend your bill?

She goes: No, they no longer do. But they should.

She was always dressed to the nines. She was always gracious and dignified. She exuded a quiet power that in critical moments in the history of this institution and our Nation, our country and world got to see: the chair of the Intelligence Committee, determined to make public a tectonic struggle between this body and its role and the history of interrogation techniques that she and many of us concluded were inappropriate and broke the boundaries, determined to defend the prerogatives of the Senate, even in a very difficult and charged environment.

Given her early experience in San Francisco and the tragedy that brought her from council president to mayor, she was a focused, persistent, and effective advocate for gun safety.

My friend and predecessor in this seat—now our President—President Joe Biden, served alongside Senator FEINSTEIN for many, many years. Together, they worked hard to advance the Violence Against Women Act, the assault weapons ban, and dozens of other pieces of important legislation to help make our country more equitable, more inclusive, safer, and more just.

I was reflecting this morning, when I got the hard news about DIANNE's passing last night, on the very first time I met her. I was a young man. I was just a year out of law school. I was living and working in New York City for the I Have A Dream Foundation, and I happened to have a car. A friend, who I think was working for Mayor Dinkins, called and asked if I would drive out to Teterboro Airport and pick up Senator FEINSTEIN of California. I couldn't believe my luck, as a young man in his early twenties, to get a chance to speak for even a moment or two to a U.S. Senator.

I drove out there and was sure to be on time and waited diligently. I had been told by some of the campaign staff to not expect that she would even speak to me.

She insisted on sitting in the front seat next to me, and we chatted for almost an hour and a half as we made our way back into downtown Manhattan in heavy traffic. I had the chance to listen to then-new Senator FEINSTEIN talk about her experience as mayor, make observations about how the city of New York was being run and what the issues were, and then to ask her a few questions about public service, about what motivated her, about why she worked so hard. As a very young man, that experience, that conversation stayed with me for years.

When I first came to this body and had a chance to sit near her on this floor and to serve down the dais from her on Judiciary, I approached her and repeated that story.

She said: Young man, what I want you to remember is that every time you have a chance—whether with a page or an intern, with a campaign volunteer—you also have the opportunity and the obligation to remind them whom we serve and why we serve.

Senator FEINSTEIN was a giant here. She showed what public service means. She was determined. She was capable. She was dedicated.

Her last vote was yesterday. I cannot imagine the loss that her family and staff are feeling, the enormous gap this will leave for the State of California and for this institution today and into the future as we mark, as we mourn the passing of this incredible trailblazer and as we prayerfully reflect on her incredible legacy.

Thank you, DIANNE, for your decades of loyal and loving service to this, our great Nation.

With that, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The bill clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BLUMENTHAL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BLUMENTHAL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I be permitted to complete my remarks prior to the scheduled vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BLUMENTHAL. Mr. President, I join my colleagues in mourning the passing of a great and good colleague, someone we knew not only as a fellow worker here and a colleague but also as a friend.

Every one of us had a personal connection to DIANNE FEINSTEIN. She had no enemies. She had adversaries, she differed, but she could differ and disagree without being disagreeable, as the saying goes. She established personal connections with all of us over her many years of service.

I have listened to my colleagues on the floor this morning, and coming through to me is not only a sense of pain in her passing but also joy in knowing her.

What strikes me is that she leaves a legacy—yes, a legacy—in legislation, in good works in California that impacted people's lives there, but her real legacy is people. Her legacy is the people who regard her as a role model, the people who were inspired to follow her into public service, the people who stood up and spoke out—and often it was truth to power as she did—because she was there. She blazed the trail. She showed how to do it.

I first became aware of DIANNE FEINSTEIN in the early 1990s as a newly elected State attorney general, advocating for an assault weapons ban in the State of Connecticut—the early 1990s, and she was doing it at the Federal level. Connecticut and the Congress did it together.

Then I defended our Connecticut law in the Connecticut courts with many of the same arguments that we used to challenge Federal law.

She stood alone in those days as an advocate and a champion of gun violence prevention, and she modeled the curve that has led to the modern movement of gun violence prevention. And it is a movement now because she knew it would require the American people to be as outraged as she was and saddened by the death that she personally witnessed in San Francisco. And she would often recall it in very personal terms.

For her, all of these causes were personal. Her service and her helping people that service and results, accomplishments, required that we be bipartisan, that we work across the aisle, that we work with people who disagreed with us and try to find common ground. That is what she did relentlessly and tirelessly.

So her service, her grace, her generosity, her sensitivity, her caring will continue in the people that are her legacy, in the people who will and should, always, preserve her memory as a motivation for continued service.

I am proud to have been her friend as well as her colleague, and I will always treasure the great and good model and mentorship that she provided for so many of us, as we go through these next days of grief and pain but also joy in knowing her.

I yield the floor.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 2835

Mr. SULLIVAN. Mr. President, I am on the floor again with my colleague from Texas, Senator CRUZ, trying once again to pass our Pay Our Military Act.

I am not going to spend a lot of time explaining what we are trying to do here since 48 hours ago we tried to do the same thing. We are, in our conference, right now trying to get to a compromise, working through things to make sure we don't have a government shutdown. It may or may not happen. It is looking more likely, though.

As we get closer to that moment, the idea that we would leave the men and women who protect this country uncertain about whether they are going to get paid even though they are still going to deploy, they are still going to be fighting all over the world, protecting this Nation—so we are going to leave them out hanging, right?

So all we are trying to do is the most commonsense thing you could do if you cared one bit about the troops of the United States, and that is to say: Hey, we know you are worried. We know you are probably deployed. We know your wife or spouse is back home worried about whether you are going to get paid next week. You have a dangerous mission you are going on tonight somewhere in the world. So we are going to take that worry away from you because we care about you.

Now, granted, my colleagues might say: Well, what about the IRS worker? What about the Department of the Interior worker?

No offense—there is a little bit of a difference, OK. There is a little bit of a difference. We all know it. We should know it.

So as we get closer, this is the bipartisan solution that we all need to undertake.

Here is the thing: As I said last week, when we had the identical situation in 2013, 10 years ago—identical: a Democrat-controlled Senate, a Republican-controlled House, a Democrat-controlled White House—it was looking like there was going to be a shutdown. What did everybody unanimously agree to? Hey, let's take the troops out of this. Let's make sure the men and women who serve in our military are not worried. Let's unanimously pass the Pay Our Military Act.

So, 10 years ago, we did that. I wasn't here, but I applaud everybody who did that. Simple. Identical. Identical. So what has changed? I have no idea what has changed.

It looks like my Democratic colleague is going to come down and object and make some gobbledygook argument about appropriations or "Let's keep trying." The government is going to shut down tomorrow evening. We are going to keep trying. But let's take one group of Americans and say: Hey, we know you sacrifice more than anybody. We are going to take that worry away from you. We did it 10 years ago in a bipartisan way, so we are going to do it again.

The Presiding Officer knows. I guarantee you the Presiding Officer agrees with this bill, as a veteran of almost 30 years, a naval aviator. The Presiding Officer knows what it is like.

There are guys on aircraft carriers right now and women on aircraft carriers flying F-18s, and their spouses back home are going: Hey, honey, guess what. I don't think I am going to have money to buy groceries next week.

That guy is getting ready to take off on some carrier in the INDOPACOM region, and he has to worry about that? He has to worry about that? She has to worry about that?

We can fix that right now—right now. We have done it before, and I can't imagine my Democratic colleagues are going to come up and object to this bill. I am starting to get mad. We don't want a government shutdown, but we can protect certain people, for goodness' sake. If we are not going to protect our troops and their families, I don't know whom we should protect.

So maybe my colleagues are on the floor getting ready to say: You know what, gee, Senator SULLIVAN, Senator CRUZ, we relent. These are good ideas. And you know why we know these are good ideas? Because we all did this 10 years ago.

I have no idea why we didn't do it now.

I yield the floor and recognize my colleague from Texas.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Texas.

Mr. CRUZ. Mr. President, unless something significant changes, 35 hours from now, the Federal Government will shut down. At 12:01 a.m. on Sunday, the paychecks will stop for every soldier, every sailor, every airman, every marine, every member of the Space Force, and every coast-guardspman. That is not right.

The good news is, we can prevent it. We can prevent it right now. The bill Senator SULLIVAN and I are trying to pass says that at 12:01 a.m., our Active-Duty military will be paid; that if Washington is dysfunctional, if politicians will bicker throughout the night, that is not their fault, and we are not going to hold them hostage to the partisan demands of politicians.

Right now at home, there are people watching this debate on C-SPAN, and they may be wondering: When did the Senate get this dysfunctional? Did this institution ever operate?

Senator SULLIVAN pointed to a time when it at least operated a little better than it does now.

In 2013, this identical legislation was before the Senate. There was a Democrat majority. Harry Reid was the majority leader. This identical legislation passed 100 to nothing, and it passed unanimously in the House.

In 2013, Senate Democrats realized: Fine, we will have a fight, but we are not holding our Active-Duty military hostage.

In 2013, Senator DURBIN, who is sitting on the floor, voted yes to fund our military. In 2013, Senator WHITEHOUSE, who is sitting on the floor, voted yes to fund our military. In 2013, Senator MURRAY, who I believe is getting ready to stand up and block this bill, in 2013, she voted yes to fund our military. Have we really gone that far in a decade that Democrats now are perfectly happy to take away the paychecks from the young men and women who are risking their lives to keep us safe?

The Presiding Officer spent years in the Active-Duty military. The Presiding Officer is a proud Navy veteran. The Presiding Officer knows men and women who are serving right now in Active Duty, and I feel quite confident the Presiding Officer doesn't want to go home and look them in the eyes and say: It was my party, the Democratic Party, that took your paycheck away.

Well, it doesn't have to happen.

Everyone at home, I want you to listen to what is going to happen in a moment, because there are two magic words. If you hear two magic words from the Senator from Washington—"I object"—if you hear those words, understand what will have happened. It is the same thing that happened just a couple of days ago, which is that Democrat leadership said to our Active-Duty military: We don't give a damn about you, and we are going to cut off your paycheck Sunday at 12:01 a.m.

That doesn't have to happen.

By the way, I would point out not only is it the fault of every Democrat—and I am sorry, Mr. President—it is the fault of every Democrat because there are no Democrats here supporting us. The Presiding Officer, in his heart, knows we are right, so I am going to invite the Presiding Officer, when we do this again—because we are going to keep doing it and keep doing it. I would invite the Presiding Officer to come join us because the Presiding Officer knows this is the right thing to do. And there are more of your colleagues on the Democrat side who know this is the right thing to do.

Some 19-year-old marine right now in the DMZ facing North Korean machine-guns is being told that the U.S. Senate doesn't care enough about his or her service to pay them. That is just wrong. It is stupid.

And this body used to know enough to say: Hey, we have political disagreements here, but we support our troops.

I guarantee you, every Democrat Senator in this Chamber goes home and tells your constituents: I support the troops.

You know what? Talk is cheap. If you support the troops, stand up next to us and say: Let's pay the troops.

And by the way, if you support the troops, go to your leadership and say: Stop this garbage.

Was Harry Reid a rightwing kook? Because Harry Reid signed off on paying the troops. And I will tell you why today's Democrat leadership believes they can get away with it—because in 2013, we had something of a functioning media. They actually reported on what was happening. If you look up in the Gallery, there are a total of zero reporters there. There is not one.

The corrupt corporate media doesn't intend to tell the citizens of Washington State or the citizens of Illinois or the citizens of Rhode Island or the citizens of Arizona—they don't intend to tell them: Your Democrat Senator is why Active-Duty military isn't being paid.

So every reporter yesterday—I had reporters running after me, going: Oh, isn't this Republican shutdown terrible?

And I said: Those are great talking points. Have you written a single story about the fact that the reason our military is not going to be paid is because Democrat leadership is objecting?

No. Because none of them have written that story. Every one of you knows what the right thing to do is. And so my hope is there is a tiny, still voice inside of some Democrat Senators that will stand up and go to your leadership and say: We can fight all day long on partisan issues, but we are not going to take our troops hostage.

That is the right thing to do, and every Member of this body knows it.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alaska.

Mr. SULLIVAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Appropriations be discharged from further consideration of S. 2835 and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration; I further ask that the bill be considered read a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Washington.

Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, as I have said, I share my colleague's concern with making sure that our servicemembers do not miss a paycheck because of a potential government shutdown. In fact, I do not want any of our Federal workers to miss a paycheck, whether they are cancer researchers whose work saves our lives or brave firefighters who risk their lives for us, and I don't want any programs families rely on to be undermined: counseling and transition assistance for new veterans adjusting to civilian life, nutrition assistance for 7 million moms and kids who need a hand up. And that includes our servicemembers' families.

Several years ago, I worked to save a WIC clinic which was going to be kicked off a Navy base in my home State of Washington that hundreds of military families counted on. None of those paychecks for any of these workers and none of those programs should shutter because of a completely unnecessary shutdown, which is why I am working around the clock with the majority of our colleagues to make sure that we do pass a bipartisan CR, which we released this week, because that is the only serious solution here. That is the only way that we will make sure everyone is able to keep doing the work that the American people count on and getting that paycheck that they do deserve.

If the Senator from Alaska or the Senator from Texas are serious about making sure our servicemembers get paid, I hope they will get serious in a way that matters the most, and that is their votes. I hope they will work with us to keep the government open. And I hope they will reconsider their recent votes against the CR to fund the government in a bipartisan and timely way.

Let's be real. You cannot grandstand about wanting to make sure that servicemembers get paid during a shutdown and then vote against the very bipartisan bill that prevented a shutdown.

I also hope the Senators will understand that our servicemembers will see the harm of a government shutdown in so many other ways. Permanent change-in-station moves will be significantly curtailed, meaning that some of our families could be left without a place to live if they have already sold their house or broken their lease or they could be forced to pay for two homes at once. For the Army alone, this means approximately 2,100 moves every week. And if you do not work with us to keep the entire government open, servicemembers' elective surgeries and procedures at DOD medical and dental facilities would have to be postponed. And, by the way, an elective surgery could be anything from removing a kidney stone to a mastectomy for breast cancer.

Essentially, post and base services will be closed or severely limited. That is everything from our commissary statewide to childcare our military families count on.

So not only do I want to make sure that our servicemembers don't miss a paycheck, I want to make sure that our servicemembers don't miss out on any critical services they rely on every day.

The Senators should also understand that their focus and support of the military cannot end with those who are currently in uniform. And they should remember, 47 percent of Department of Defense civilians are veterans. And for that matter, one in every four employees across the entire Federal Government are veterans. We can't leave anyone behind.

So I will say it again for my colleagues who raise their voices here on the Senate floor but have not cast their votes to prevent a shutdown: There are a lot of programs I care about, a lot of programs we all care about that would be hurt by a shutdown. But we are not going to solve this problem one by one, carve-out by carve-out. The best solution is to stop a shutdown in the first place. That is something we can do. And I bet we could do it a lot more quickly if the Senators from Alaska and Texas would earnestly work with us.

This isn't complicated. We have a straightforward, bipartisan CR package that will avoid that shutdown, keep our military paid. So let's get our jobs done and get that passed. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Senator from Alaska.

Mr. SULLIVAN. Mr. President, I am going to try to keep this short because the issues that we are debating here are not that complicated.

I agree with my colleague from Washington State. We are working around the clock. We are in our conference right now trying to get an amendment to bolster border security, that the whole country, by the way, wants—Democrats, Republicans—the whole country wants that. So we are working around the clock too.

And my colleague did misstate something. I actually voted to get on this bill. I voted to get on this bill. So her statement about my vote, she needs to check my vote the other day.

But be that as it may, once again, she says there is only one serious solution. Well, this body has done this before. The Senator from Washington State has done this before. On the eve of a shutdown in 2013, the Senator from Washington State voted for this bill. Every Senator voted for this bill.

So when she keeps saying, "Let's get real," I agree, let's get real. Go look at your vote from 2013. You voted for this on the eve of a shutdown.

I will remind my colleague from Washington State, in 2019, when there was a partial government shutdown, focused on the Coast Guard which wasn't getting paid and the Democrats blocked my bill to pay the Coast Guard, she actually stated:

It is absolutely unacceptable that our Coast Guard families went without their paychecks during the shutdown. We need to make sure President Trump doesn't put them through this again.

Well, I am going to put the Senator from Washington State's words back at her: It is absolutely unacceptable that Coast Guard and other family members went without paychecks during the shutdown. We need to make sure it doesn't happen again. So vote for our bill.

Every time they object, the arguments of why they are objecting to something they already agreed to 10 years ago get more tangled up. We are all working to avoid a shutdown, but if it doesn't happen, let's make sure the men and women who are risking their lives for our country and their families know that they are going to get paid. That is all we are asking. That is all we are asking.

And everybody in this body 10 years ago did this, including the Senator from Washington State. And it is just beyond comprehension that they are coming up with arguments now to not do this.

This isn't about politics. This is about supporting our troops at the moment they really need it. And they are not doing it.

I yield the floor to my colleague from Texas.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. MURPHY). The Senator from Texas.

Mr. CRUZ. Mr. President, at the opening of her remarks, the Senator from Washington said: I agree with the objective of this bill; I agree with what Senator SULLIVAN and Senator CRUZ are trying to accomplish. Then she talked for a while, and then she blocked the entirety of the bill. Everything in between, saying, “I agree with this bill,” and the two magic words at the end of her remarks, “I object.” I have to admit brought me back to Saturday morning cartoons and watching “Peanuts” and the teacher going: “Wah wah wah wah” because they were words, but they didn’t mean anything.

This is a binary choice. At 12:01 a.m. on Sunday, are soldiers going to get paid, yes or no? Are sailors going to get paid, yes or no? Are airmen going to get paid, yes or no? Are marines going to get paid, yes or no? Are members of the Space Force going to get paid, yes or no? Are coastguardsmen going to get paid, yes or no?

A decade ago, every Member of this body voted to pay them. Since this debate began, the Presiding Officer had been Senator KELLY and has now been replaced by Senator MURPHY from Connecticut. I would point out, Senator MURPHY voted yes to pay our Active-Duty military in 2013. And yet now the Democrats are blocking those paychecks.

The Senator from Washington said: Well, gosh, the Democrats had a CR that you could have voted for. The Senator from Washington knows fully well that the bill drafted by Democrat leadership is not going to pass the House of Representatives. She knows that. The result is going to be a shutdown. And what has changed from 2013 to now? From 2013 to now, the Democrat leadership is perfectly willing to hold a young man or woman in the military—to hold their paychecks hostage.

Well, something interesting is going to happen at 12:01 a.m., 35 hours from now. Paychecks of every Federal employee will stop. The paychecks of the stenographer who is recording my words will stop. The paychecks of the clerks sitting down front will stop.

But, you know what, Mr. President? There are 535 people whose paychecks will not stop. Under the Constitution, Members of this body, Senators and Members of the House, their paychecks can’t stop even during a shutdown, which means at 12:01 a.m. on Sunday, every Democrat Senator will keep drawing their paycheck, while the people risking their lives to defend us will not.

Well, I will tell you, I have in writing instructed the Senate that I will not accept a paycheck so long as our Active-Duty military is not being paid.

It is wrong. Senators are paid $174,000 a year, by law. The Democrat leadership, who stands up and says, “I object,” is telling a 19-year-old woman in a nuclear sub right now, defending our Nation, that her paycheck doesn’t matter anymore.

There is, right now, a mom in tennis shoes serving in the military who is discovering that her mortgage payment—she doesn’t know how to pay.

And so I am going to suggest to the reporters who aren’t here and aren’t covering this that so long as Democrat leadership keeps blocking what has been bipartisan and unanimous legislation previously, that every Democrat Senator ought to be asked: Are you taking a paycheck come 12:01 a.m. on Sunday? They are the ones objecting. They are the ones stopping. Every soldier needs to understand: Why are you not being paid? Because the Democrat objected. Every sailor needs to understand: Because the Democrats objected. Every airman, marine, coastguardsman, every member of the Space Force, when your paycheck goes away 35 hours from now, it is because of two magic words the Democrat leadership has said. Let’s be clear, it is not just the Senator from Washington. She is doing it on instruction from the Democrat leadership. They could change it like that.

I can tell you this. Senator SULLIVAN and I are going to keep coming back over and over again because there is not a Member of this body who wants to go home to your State—even a State like Connecticut. You don’t want to be at home looking at Active-Duty military and saying: Yes, my party took away your paycheck. That is too cynical even for this body. I pray that common sense comes back.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mr. KENNEDY. Senator FEINSTEIN, Godspeed.

I had the pleasure of serving with Senator FEINSTEIN on the Judiciary Committee. I also served with DIANNE on the Appropriations Committee. In fact, we served on the Energy and Water Development Subcommittee. DIANNE was the chair and I was the ranking member.

DIANNE, you died with your boots on, and I think that was one of the things she most wanted to do.

Senator FEINSTEIN and I didn’t agree on much, but she was a delight to work with. She understood politics and government, especially today. It takes a big heart and a lot of wind and a thick skin, and that is especially true today.

There are some people in this city who didn’t want DIANNE to finish her term for political reasons. They tried to chew her up and tried to spit her out, and they tried to step on her. But they couldn’t do it because DIANNE was tough as a boot, and she wanted to die with her boots on, as a Member of this august body. And I am going to miss her.

Godspeed, Senator FEINSTEIN.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 2968

Mr. President, I am here today to try to extend the National Flood Insurance Program. It appears to me—I hope I am wrong, and I know, Mr. President, you agree with me—that we are headed toward a shutdown. If that happens, that means that the National Flood Insurance Program will come to a halt.

I don’t want people to worry too much. If you already have national flood insurance, the program will continue to pay claims. But as long as government is shut down, you will not be able to buy new insurance. That is important because flood insurance is a huge part of the commerce of our real estate markets in America.

For most Americans, the purchase of a home is their biggest single financial decision they will ever make. In many areas—not just coastal States but many other States—you cannot purchase a home, if you have to borrow money, without flood insurance. So if we allow the National Flood Insurance Program to expire, it is going to shut down home sales where the entity loaning the money requires flood insurance. It is just going to shut it down. The real estate industry, for a variety of reasons—in part because of President Biden’s inflation—is already having a tough time, and this will make it worse.

My bill would take the current flood insurance program and just extend it “as is” until December 31, 2023. If we don’t do this—I want to make this clear, as well. Some of my fellow citizens may be saying: What is the big deal? Just don’t buy it from the Federal Government.

You can’t buy it from anybody else. The Federal program, imperfect as it is, is the only game in town. So if you are ready to buy a home and close on a home and you go to a mortgage lender and say, “I need to borrow the money,” and they say you have to buy flood insurance to get the loan, the Federal Government is the only entity you can go to. You cannot buy, for all practical purposes, private flood insurance in America today.

I mentioned that the NFIP was imperfect. I understate it. As I said yesterday on the floor, the National Flood Insurance Program, as administered by FEMA, is a mess. As I said yesterday, it looks like someone knocked over a urine sample.

FEMA made the program even worse a year or so ago with its Risk Rating 2.0. It went out and hired a consultant to design a new algorithm that made changes in the program without telling policy holders the basis for those changes. I met with FEMA a number of times. I said: Can I see your algorithm? They said: If we show you, we have to kill you—and I am in Congress. We are in litigation with FEMA right now.

Let me say it again. Risk Rating 2.0 made it even worse than it already was.

Ever since I have been in the U.S. Senate, I have been working with, I don’t know, 20 different Senators and probably 50 to 100 House members who are involved to try to fix the flood insurance program, and it has been very difficult. We haven’t been able to do it, but we will continue to try.

But in the meantime, the only thing worse than a bad flood insurance program is no flood insurance because, as imperfect as it may be, FEMA’s National Flood Insurance Program is the only game in town. And if we allow this program to expire, it is going to really, really, really hurt the American people. It is going to really, really hurt the real estate industry. It is going to really, really hurt folks out there who have saved money, and they are ready to buy a home, but they can't do it because they can't purchase flood insurance.

For that reason, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs be discharged from further consideration of S. 2968—that is my bill that would just extend the current program for flood insurance, imperfect as it may be, until December 31, 2023. I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration. I further ask that the bill be considered read a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. PAUL. Reserving the right to object, once again, we are asked to extend the flood program without any reforms to protect the taxpayers. Like many Federal programs, this Federal program is well-intentioned, but it may very well be the best real-life example of moral hazard.

We are told that the program is funded through insurance premiums, but the premiums are below the market rate, and so the program is eternally and consistently short of money.

A 2014 report by the Government Accountability Office found the flood program collected $17 billion less than the market would have required. For all practical purposes, the flood program is insolvent.

Just a few years ago, the flood program owed $30 billion to the taxpayers. Congress later cancelled $16 billion of that debt, but the flood program has not made any progress in repaying the taxpayers. The total now stands that the flood program owes $20 billion to the taxpayers with no way of repaying that money.

Perhaps the greatest insult to the taxpayers, though, is the lack of true limits on this delinquent program. There are no limits on how many claims can be filed or how much money can be received for a policyholder. So it isn't that I have a $3 million flood policy. You could have a $3 trillion policy. There are no limits. There are also no limits on how big your house could be. You could have a $10 million house, a $20 million house, a $50 million house, and the taxpayers subsidize your house.

Rather than encourage people to leave flood-prone areas, this program encourages people to stay and rebuild time and time again. In thousands of instances, the program encourages people to rebuild and rebuild and rebuild.

According to the Pew Charitable Trusts, over 150,000 properties have been rebuilt over and over again. In fact, 25 to 30 percent of flood program claims are made by the policyholders whose properties have flooded time and time again. Over 2,000 properties have flooded more than 10 times. One home in Batchelor, LA, flooded 40 times and received a total of $428,000 of flood insurance payments—40 times. No one should keep rebuilding in a house that floods 40 times. But the record, if you can believe it, isn't Batchelor, LA. It is Virginia, where one home flooded 41 times and received payments of over $600,000, all subsidized by the taxpayer.

Adding insult to injury, the Congressional Budget Office found that the flood program tends to benefit the wealthy and that 23 percent of the subsidized coastal properties were not even policyholders' primary residences.

Realize what this program is doing. It is subsidizing insurance for the rich and famous for their beach houses. There are no limits. It subsidizes people who have $10 million homes to get subsidized government insurance. It is true. The government forces the taxpayers to pay and rebuild the summer homes of the rich. In fact, sometimes it seems that the flood program caters directly to the wealthy. Nearly 80 percent of the National Flood Insurance Program policies are located in counties that rank within the top 20 percent of income.

Enough is enough. It is an insult to rob the taxpayers to give to the rich. This is why I offer an amendment that, if we could come to an agreement today, would require that the Federal program not insure your second house, not insure your beach house. If you live there—it is your only house—it will be included. If it is your second house, your beach house, it is not going to be included.

And we would set a cap on the amount. Who in their right mind thinks we should be subsidizing insurance for $10 million mansions? It is crazy that anybody would think that is what we should do.

I offer a compromise today. Extend the program. Let's keep the program. We will keep the program open. We won't miss a beat. But we will set some limits on the houses.

So what I would like to start with would be a cap of $250,000. Those houses below 250 would be subsidized, would get subsidized insurance. Up to 250, you buy your own.

Also my proposal would not allow you to use the insurance if this is your vacation home—if this is your secondary home.

So, Mr. President, I ask the Senator to modify his request so that the Paul amendment at the desk be considered and agreed to, the bill as amended be considered read a third time and passed, and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator so modify his request?

Mr. KENNEDY. Reserving the right to modify or not modify.

Senator PAUL, as usual, makes some very good points. I agree with him wholeheartedly that the National Flood Insurance Program is a mess. It needs to be fixed.

I want to make the record clear that in Louisiana, my people are working people. My coast is a working coast. My people aren't wealthy millionaires who have three or four homes on the beach. These are ordinary people who get up every day, go to work, obey the law, pay their taxes, and try to do the right thing by their kids.

They can barely afford one home. It is not only the coast that we are talking about. In 2016, in the middle of my State—again, not mansions, just working-class people—we had 24 inches of rainfall in about a day and a half.

The homes that flooded—and many of them did—were not anywhere near a body of water. If you get 24 inches of rain in a day and a half, your home is going to flood. I don't care if you are living on Pike's Peak. So this program is meant to help those people as well.

But in pointing that out, I don't want to take anything away from Senator PAUL's excellent points. He is, however, mistaken in one critical respect: When you buy flood insurance through the Federal National Flood Insurance Program, the most you can collect on your home as a result of one flood is $250,000. It is not accurate to say that a million-dollar home can collect a million dollars in damages from a flood. That is just not true. If there is a flood and you own a million-dollar home and you own a $250,000 home and the owners of those two homes both have national flood insurance, the most under the policy they can collect is $250,000.

So why do you want to tell a person who owns a million-dollar home that they can't insure their home? You are just telling them they can't buy flood insurance, so the flood insurance program has less money to cash flow. It makes no sense.

Now, Senator PAUL is correct, and it is one of the things we are trying to fix, that there has been abuse in terms of some homes. Senator PAUL mentioned the example of Louisiana; but there are other States, many others, where homes have flooded three or four times, and they keep getting flood insurance.

If I can say anything good about the current National Flood Insurance Program today, I would say that FEMA has taken steps to try to prevent that from happening so that if you flood a certain number of times, you have to move. And I know the Senator didn't—I don't think I am disagreeing with him on that. I think we are in agreement.

But let me tell you the second and main reason I can't accept Senator PAUL's change. For me, it has to do with what is right. There are probably 20 different Senators—well, there are a hundred Senators who care about flood insurance, but there are about 20 different Senators who want to be involved in any changes made to this program. And I dare say there are 50 to 100 members of the House.

Now, as the Presiding Officer knows, when we bring a bill to the floor for unanimous consent, we don't just walk down here one day and do it.

We let all of our Senators—fellow colleagues, our fellow Senators—know what we are about to do. So if they want to come down and object, they can do that. And that is what I did with my bill, which just keeps the current program and extends it until December 31, so we will get past the shutdown and we won't keep people from buying homes.

But Senator PAUL's changes have not been sent to all members of the Senate. It is called a hotline. And I anticipate that the Senator will have other changes, and that is fine.

The easy thing for me to do today would be to agree with one of his changes. I am not sure it makes that much difference because the amount of damages you can claim on a flood is $250,000, but the easiest thing for me to do today would be to agree to one of Senator PAUL's changes, but that would be stabbing my colleagues in the back.

Because I can assure you, knowing how many of my colleagues feel about the National Flood Insurance Program, they would want to be here today to weigh in. And I just can't do that to them, even though it would allow me to get this passed.

I also think that if we make changes to the National Flood Insurance Program, those 50 to 100 House members that I am talking about are likely—some of them are likely not to allow the changes, and that is why they would object to it. And that is why my objective has been—and I need to stand behind it—to just take the current program and extend it to December 31.

So for that reason, I don't agree to the modification.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator has not agreed to the modification. Is there objection to the original request?

The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. PAUL. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, the process is similar to what has been described but not exactly as has been described. The bill is sent out, everybody gets a chance to object. People who choose to object can come, that is also announced.

The objections are announced, and we come to the floor. If the Senator wanted to work together on this, this could be modified today and someone else would have to come to object, and that is announced to all 100 Senators and often works that way. But, today, what we have is a situation where I am offering an amendment to reform taxpayer-subsidized insurance, and it is being rejected by one Senator, not by all Senators, not in place of all Senators. They have a chance to come, it has been announced, they can come and object to this if they wanted.

But here is the thing, what I am trying to do is modify a program so that the average ordinary taxpayer does not have to pay for rich people's flood insurance for their beach houses.

About half of the houses that are insured in this program that loses billions of dollars every year, that is $20 billion in the hole, about half the homes are worth $500,000 or more.

Do you know any regular working folk that have $500,000 homes on the beach? No. If you have a $500,000 house on the beach, buy your own damn insurance. The taxpayer should not have to buy your insurance.

So I would ask the Senator—we can do this today; there are other Senators on the floor; they can come running from hither and yon, and they can object to this—but I would ask the Senator, let's modify the program so rich people don't get their houses insured by the government and subsidized by the taxpayer. We can change the limits to $500,000. That would cut out half of the homes in the United States, half of the beach houses, half of the rich people in our country who are getting subsidized insurance.

Make the limit $500,000. If we make it $500,000, the program will be half as big, and it will lose half as much money. Let's modify this program. So I would ask the Senator to modify his proposal with my amendment, and my amendment would say: You can't use the insurance for your second home, only your primary residence, and if you have a half-a-million-dollar mansion on the beach, guess what? You get to buy your own insurance. That is my modification, and I would ask the Senator to accept the Paul amendment that is at the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator agree to the modification?

Mr. KENNEDY. Reserving the right to accept or not accept. Again, Senator PAUL—I understand his points, and they are very good ones. I would point out that his proposal—we have about 84.7 million owned or occupied homes in the United States. Let's call it 85 million homes in the United States.

Senator PAUL's amendment would exclude 52.5 million of them. Five hundred thousand dollars on a home is a lot of money, but I think in places like California and Connecticut and New York, where we have seen cost of living different from my State, there are plenty of ordinary Americans, middle-class Americans, who have scrimped and saved to put together the money to borrow $500,000, and I don't want to hurt them.

But the second and the main reason I can't agree to Senator PAUL's proposal: I am just not going to stab my fellow Senators in the back. They do not know about these changes that are being proposed. They may be good changes, and I like the way Senator PAUL is thinking. But let me say it again, I know of at least 20 Senators, some of whom are not in Washington who care about flood insurance. And if I started agreeing to changes for the short-term satisfaction of getting to pass a bill, it is just not worth it to me.

And I am not going to stab them in the back. They have the right to be here and participate in these changes, and they are not here because they don't know about it. So for that reason, I do not concur in Senator PAUL's amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The objection to the modification is heard. Is there objection to the underlying original motion?

The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. PAUL. Reserving the right to object. What I am trying to find here, is there a compromise? Is there some level of rich person that maybe the taxpayer could say: Enough is enough; they ought to pay their own way? Is there some level of rich person's mansion that maybe the average, ordinary taxpayer should not have to subsidize their insurance?

So we have tried a half a million, which is about half the homes the ordinary working class people in our country have to insure, why don't we try—if we can't do a half a million, let's try mansions of $750,000. You would say, well, how many are there? Twenty-five percent of the national Federal subsidized insurance are homes of $750,000 a year. We are not talking about ordinary people now, we are talking about rich, rich, very rich people getting subsidized insurance from a program that loses billions of dollars and has to be bailed out every year. We have a government with a $1.7 trillion deficit. It goes on year after year. Nobody does anything. Just reauthorize it. Today we can make a compromise. So I offer the Senator a compromise: If $500,000 is too cheap and you want to insure half-a-million-dollar mansions, will you, at least, modify it to exclude mansions of $750,000 or more? I think that is the least we can do.

And I would ask unanimous consent to accept the Paul motion at the desk that indicates $750,000 as the limit for the insurance.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, reserving the right to object. I fear I am not being clear, and I am sorry for that. Let me say it again. If you own a $250,000 home and you own a $750,000 home, neither one of you can buy more than $250,000 worth of insurance, because the maximum amount of insurance that you can buy through the National Flood Insurance Program is $250,000.

So what is the point of excluding someone who owns a $750,000 home? I realize it is in vogue to denigrate rich people, but they can't buy any more insurance. It would be different if someone could buy $750,000 worth of flood insurance who owned a $750,000 home, but they can't. It is capped at $250,000.

So I have to respectfully disagree with my friend on that. And, No. 2—I don't want to belabor this—I am not going to stab my fellow Senators in the back. The 20-plus Senators with whom I have spoken to try to negotiate a new and better Flood Insurance Program do not know about these changes.

And I would like to agree to Senator PAUL's suggestions, but if I do, I am stabbing my fellow Senators in the back, and it is just not worth it to me because they don't know about any of this.

For that reason, I respectfully object to Senator PAUL's amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator objected to the modification.

Is there objection to the underlying request?

The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. PAUL. Mr. President, reserving the right to object. It is certainly not my intention to denigrate rich people. I aspire to be one someday. But I don't aspire to ask for free stuff from the government if I ever become a rich person.

Why would we subsidize insurance of rich people? Is there no limit—is there no limit—is there no possibility of compromise on some mansion that is too large to be in this program?

What about $10 million? We have tried $250,000. That was too little. You know, the insistence is we must insure these homes. We tried a half million. But the insistence is, no, everybody should get it.

I don't think rich people need subsidized insurance. The program loses billions of dollars every year. We have tried 750,000, but apparently there still is this need and this desire to insure rich people's beach houses.

Why don't we try one last time. We will try something that I think anybody could compromise to and anybody would accept, and certainly I wouldn't want to be the one justifying a program that gives people who have $10 million mansions insurance. Why not accept it and make someone on the other side support such a ridiculous policy?

So my final proposal today will be to ask unanimous consent that the Paul amendment at the desk would exclude $10 million mansions from government-subsidized insurance.

I think that is the least we can do. If we can get that compromise, it would bring at least some sense of sanity to this crazy program.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the Senator's request to modify?

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, if I own a $10 million home—and I assure you I do not—and my neighbor's home is $250,000, that is its value, which is more like it in Louisiana. And we both go to an insurance agent, and we say: We want to buy national flood insurance because we can't get a mortgage without it. Then the insurance agent is going to say: OK. Neighbor whose home is worth $250,000, I can write you a policy, maximum $250,000.

And then they are just going to turn to me with my $10 million home—which I can assure you is fictitious—and the agent is going to say, I can only sell you $250,000.

The suggestion that somebody with a $10 million home is being insured for $10 million is just not accurate. It is just not accurate.

So what good is it going to do to tell someone in a $10 million home who wants to buy $250,000 worth of flood insurance—the same amount as his neighbor—what good is it going to do to exclude him?

Some can beat themselves on the chest and say, boy, we stuck it to those rich people. But they are not getting any more insurance. And what it is going to mean to the program is there is going to be fewer and less premiums coming into the program, which will make it insolvent.

You can see the difficulty in trying to reach agreement on the forms.

That is why I am going to say it again. And I have proposed a clean, if you will, proposal that will just extend the current program, imperfect as it may be, until December 31.

If we don't do this, it is going to really, really hurt. It is not going to hurt the rich folks. It is going to hurt the ordinary, middle-class Americans who are trying to buy a home.

And the second and final reason, if it were, or the third and final reason, frankly, if it were up to me to get this passed—because I am really worried about it, as you can tell—I would probably agree to Rand's proposal, but I am just not going to stab my colleagues in the back.

They don't know about this proposal, and I think that of the 20 or so of my colleagues whom I have met with about changing the Flood Insurance Program, I know they would like to have their say. And if I agree to the Senator's proposal today—because they don't know about his proposal—I would be stabbing them in the back, and I just can't do it, Mr. President. It is just not worth it to me.

For that reason, I respectfully object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is objection to the request to modify.

Is there objection to the Senator's original motion?

The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. PAUL. Mr. President, reserving the right to object. Let the record show from this discussion today that the Senator has objected to any limits on taxpayer-subsidized flood insurance, any limits: 250,000; 500,000; 750,000, even 10 million.

This is a program that loses billions of dollars every year. This is a program that can't work for the poor people because we have got so many rich people in it.

Half of the homes in the program cost over a half million dollars. So this is a problem. This is a program that loses money every year, and the Senator is unwilling to accept any limits on this.

There is this argument that somehow he is defending all the Democrat Senators who can't come here, but he could easily have said: I am not willing to object to this because these are reasonable proposals and force the Democrats to object to this.

But he has taken this upon himself to defend the status quo, to defend the inclusion of $10 million mansions in this program.

So I do object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, you are getting tired of my saying this, I know. This rich $10 million American that Senator PAUL keeps talking about can't buy any more insurance than the American who owns the $250,000 home. He just can't.

And I am going to try again. I will be back tomorrow, and like the terminator, "I'll be back."

Because in trying to punish the rich, when they can't buy any more insurance than the ordinary American, Mr. President, like you and me—250,000, that is the limit for the rich American and the middle-class American—this is going to put the entire real estate industry in jeopardy. And it is also going to put a lot of ordinary, middle-class Americans out there who have scrimped and saved, and they have got the money for the downpayment, and they are ready to buy a home, but they are not going to be able to buy it because they can't get flood insurance, and their mortgage lender requires it.

And by the time government opens back up—I hope it is a short period of time, but we don't know—those interest rates instead of 7.5 percent could be 8 percent.

And look, I get the politics of beating up on the rich, but the rich have nothing to do with this. This is about ordinary Americans.

But I appreciate, Mr. President, your patience in listening to me today. And with that, I think I need to yield the floor, do I not, Mr. President?

To whom should I yield it?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator can simply yield the floor.

Mr. KENNEDY. Senator HIRONO from the great State of Hawaii or Senator SCHUMER?

Are you seeking recognition, or are you just wavering at each other?

Mr. SCHUMER. I always wave with friendship and affection to my friend, the Senator from Louisiana.

I was going to speak for a few minutes; is that OK?

Mr. KENNEDY. Of course. I just work here. I am not management.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader.

NEW YORK

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I am going to speak on two topics; first, what is happening in my hometown of New York and then, second, what is going on over there in the House of Representatives.

As we speak, my hometown of New York is experiencing some of the most frightening rainfall and flooding we have seen since Hurricane Sandy. About a month's worth of rain has inundated Brooklyn in just a matter of hours, and some parts of the city have experienced up to 5 inches of rain. Flash floods remain in effect from Manhattan to Queens to Brooklyn.

And we are not through the danger yet. Another powerful storm is expected over the next day, and the situation remains dangerous.

I will continue closely monitoring the otherworldly flooding we are seeing in New York.

A little while ago, I spoke to the Governor to tell her that I will do everything on the Federal level to get New York the help it needs.

Earlier today, I sent a letter to FEMA and a few minutes ago spoke to the FEMA Administrator, telling her New York needs help.

FEMA has promised me two things; one, to deal with the immediate effects of the flood, any equipment and other types of resources they need; and, second, later, to provide resources New Yorkers will need to rebuild and recover.

And here in the Senate, I will work to secure any Federal assistance possible to fund relief efforts and aid those who need to rebuild from the flood damage.

Again, I cannot stress enough that we are not through these storms just yet. Everyone please follow emergency guidance and stay safe.

CONTINUING RESOLUTION

Mr. President, now on the CR and the shutdown, we stand now at the precipice of an unnecessary, reckless, and entirely Republican-manufactured shutdown.

In less than 48 hours, funding that pays the salaries of our troops for border enforcement, for TSA operations, nutrition programs, food inspections, all—all—will come to a halt.

As I have said for months, Congress has only one option to avoid a shutdown, bipartisanship. We needed bipartisanship yesterday. We need it today. We will need it tomorrow. It was true yesterday, today, and tomorrow.

But in the House, sadly, unlike the Senate, we have not seen bipartisanship. We have only seen chaos. We have only seen paralysis.

A few hours ago, Speaker MCCARTHY held a vote on a truly radical CR proposal everyone knew never stood a chance of passing the Senate.

And now, the House Republicans' CR has failed to even pass the House by an unexpectedly large and decisive margin, 34 votes—much more than most expected.

The Speaker has spent weeks catering to the hard right, and now he finds himself in the exact same position he has been in since the beginning: no plan forward, no closer to passing something that avoids a shutdown.

The Speaker needs to abandon his doomed mission of trying to please MAGA extremists, and, instead, he needs to work across the aisle to keep the government open.

Things seem to be getting worse for the Speaker rather than better, and it is time for him to try bipartisanship.

Here in the Senate, bipartisanship is precisely what we are pursuing by working on our CR.

Just yesterday, I am proud to say, 76 Senators voted in favor of proceeding to the CR.

I salute not only Chairman MURRAY, but Ranking Member COLLINS, and Leader MCCONNELL, and the so many others on the other side of the aisle who joined us in moving forward.

We will continue working on the CR over the course of today and see if we can find some agreement to pass it quickly.

I note that these 76 Senators are voting in favor of proceeding to the CR even as we work through debates about the final content of the bill. That is what bipartisanship means—not that we agree on everything but that disagreements do not paralyze the process.

When the Senate finishes its work, it is imperative the House move on the Senate-passed, bipartisan CR. It will be our last chance to ensuring that a shutdown is avoided. Any more time the Speaker spends trying to cobble together hard-right wish lists that can't even pass the House would be a grievous mistake.

So to Speaker MCCARTHY, let me be clear. If you don't want our troops to go without pay, work in a bipartisan way. If you don't want to see border funding endangered, work in a bipartisan way. If you don't want to see seniors lose access to Meals on Wheels or cuts to nutrition for women, infants, and children or holds on small business loans, work in a bipartisan way.

At the end of the day, these MAGA extremists who are the ones responsible for bringing us to the brink fundamentally do not care about funding the government. Some of them are actually gleeful about a shutdown. Codding the hard right is as futile as trying to nail Jell-O to a wall, and the harder the Speaker tries, the bigger mess he makes. And that mess is going to hurt the American people the most.

I hope the Speaker snaps out of the vice grip he has put himself in and stops succumbing to the 30 or so extremists who are running the show in the House.

Mr. Speaker, time has almost run out.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Texas.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I know there are others who are waiting to speak, and I will yield to them momentarily, but I think it is important that the majority leader explain the entire story of where we find ourselves here today on the verge of a shutdown.

The truth is, the Senate has not passed a single appropriations bill that passed out of the Senate Appropriations Committee by bipartisan support. Some of them were passed unanimously. The first bill, I believe, that passed out of the Senate Appropriations Committee passed out some 80 days ago. Now, it may have taken until the end of July before we could get a House bill to then amend, which is a necessary procedural prerequisite, but the fact of the matter is, the majority leader, who is the only person who can schedule a vote on any of these pieces of legislation, has failed to bring any of these bills to the floor and successfully passed in the U.S. Senate.

So 18 days before the end of the fiscal year, which is the shutdown unless we pass another funding bill, the majority leader puts a so-called minibus, or a combination of three appropriations bills, on the floor. That was the first time the majority leader decided to actually schedule a vote on anything.

My point is that the majority leader likes to blame the House—and particularly because it is a majority of Republicans—so he acts like this is all their fault. Everything is just hunky-dory and bipartisan in the Senate. That is false. The majority leader has contributed dramatically to this shutdown because of the Senate's failure under his leadership to pass any appropriations bills whatsoever. And, yes, it is no surprise to anybody that here we are needing to find some way forward on a continuing resolution—in other words, to keep the lights on—while we continue to work out other differences.

I think shutdowns are a mistake. Shutdowns are a mistake because they don't solve the underlying problem. They disrupt all sorts of people, and he mentioned some of the people they disrupt, including pay to our military. Our own staff aren't going to get paid. People aren't going to be able to get passports through the passport office. If they have immigration problems, if veterans are worried about getting compensation or other benefits, they are not going to be responded to because of this government shutdown. Completely, completely predictable and completely, completely unnecessary.

So I think if you are going to talk about who contributed to where we are today, the majority leader—I say this respectfully—this is in large part a Schumer shutdown because the Senate hasn't done its job. This is not governing. This is not responsible. Again, the only way we can consider legislation in the U.S. Senate is if he schedules something on the floor. That is his prerogative as the majority leader.

But people ought to be held accountable. People ought to be responsible for their own actions. And the majority leader has simply failed to let the Senate do its work even though the Senate Appropriations Committee, which is chaired by a Democrat, Senator PATTY MURRAY, and ranking member, Senator SUSAN COLLINS. They did magnificent work. They did what they were supposed to do. But because the majority leader failed to bring any of those bills to the floor, we haven't passed a single appropriations bill, and we are looking at a deadline of midnight Saturday, where the government ceases to function because of the failure to do our job here in the Senate.

The House has its own problems, but we ought to take care of business here first, and we haven't done that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Hawaii.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Ms. HIRONO. Mr. President, thank you for your patience.

I want to begin today by reiterating my sadness about the passing of our friend Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN.

Senator FEINSTEIN's death strikes at the heart of so many of us committed to public service, as she was. A courageous trailblazer, she stood up to powerful interest groups on behalf of her constituents and the rest of us. She was a fierce legislator, fighting to ban assault weapons, defend survivors of domestic violence, protect our Nation, and much more. But she was also a thoughtful friend.

Just last week, she wrote me a letter expressing her happiness that the banyan tree in Lahaina, badly burned by the wildfires, is starting to show signs of renewed life. She wrote:

I hope that the beloved tree continues to recover and serve as a source of hope and a symbol of resilience for the entire community.

I, too, share her hope.

MAUI WILDFIRES

Mr. President, it has now been 6 weeks since the fires tore through the town of Lahaina on Maui as well as several upcountry Maui communities. As the whole world has seen now, those fires were devastating, claiming nearly 100 lives and destroying close to 3,000 structures, most of them residences. Our hearts break for all those impacted by this tragedy.

Within hours of those fires, though, the Federal Government was on the ground, providing assistance and relief. In the weeks since, well over 1,000 Federal personnel have traveled to Maui to aid in the recovery efforts, and more than $125 million in individual relief has been distributed. Additionally, President Biden requested $4 billion in disaster relief funding following the fires on top of the $12 billion he had previously requested.

As I said at the time, disaster relief has always had broad bipartisan support, and there is no reason the Maui disaster should be treated any differently.

In fact, Speaker MCCARTHY agreed. When he visited Lahaina less than 4 weeks ago, he said:

We want to get the resources to individuals that could rebuild their life. We've got to focus on the children for the schools, get them back into the education so they don't miss out.

I couldn't agree more.

This funding is essential to our ongoing recovery efforts, but now Speaker MCCARTHY, in refusing to stand up to the most radical faction in his caucus—I call them the chaos caucus—is endangering these resources for Maui and other communities impacted by disasters across the country. We just heard from our majority leader what is happening in New York City even as we speak.

So, again, as we speak, the Senate is working to advance a bipartisan continuing resolution to keep government open, which includes $6 billion in disaster relief. While clearly not everything we need, it is a critical downpayment that will allow the Federal Government to continue its important work on Maui and in other communities impacted by disasters across the country. It will allow FEMA, the SBA, and the other critical Federal Agencies to continue their disaster relief work as we work to pass a longer term funding agreement. But if radical House Republicans shut down the government, that funding will be held up indefinitely.

My colleague, Representative JILL TOKUDA of Hawaii, summed it up well just yesterday in her testimony before the House Energy and Commerce Committee. She said that the people of Maui "have gone through enough, the wheels of government must keep turning to provide support and resources, so they focus on recovery and rebuilding."

By forcing a government shutdown, Speaker MCCARTHY will be abandoning the people of Maui—the very same people he vowed to help just weeks ago when he visited Maui.

We are less than 48 hours from Republicans shutting down our government, and they have yet to even put forward a funding bill that they can pass. It is unconscionable.

While these remarks are focused on the impact of a shutdown on disaster aid, make no mistake—a Republican government shutdown will have negative consequences for millions of Americans not just in disaster relief but on every aspect of their lives all across our country. This is not a game. We all want to know what it is going to take for House Republicans to grow up and realize that the chaos they are sowing is going to have real impacts on real people's lives all across the country.

Meanwhile, the Hawaii delegation, as well as the bipartisan Senate, will continue doing everything we can to keep government open by passing the continuing resolution that we have on deck in the Senate and secure the funding for our communities—funding that is so urgently needed.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUESTS—EXECUTIVE CALENDAR

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I rise today to speak about the Senate's need to swiftly confirm any U.S. attorney nominees.

Two days ago, I came to the floor to request unanimous consent for the Senate to take up and confirm four pending U.S. attorney nominations that were being held up by one U.S.

Senator, the junior Senator from Ohio, Senator VANCE.

Two days ago, he said:

My position is we should have a full Senate vote on each one of these . . . Justice Department nominations.

He also said:

[I]f it's so important to confirm these folks, bring them to the floor for a vote.

But now that is exactly what he is attempting to prevent today.

For decades, the Senate confirmed U.S. attorney nominees of both political parties by voice vote or what is called unanimous consent in the Senate after they had been reported by the Judiciary Committee. Before the beginning of the Biden administration, the Senate had not required a rollcall vote on the confirmation of a U.S. attorney since 1975—almost 50 years. In fact, during the Trump administration, Senate Democrats allowed every one of Trump's U.S. attorney nominees—all 85—to move through the committee and be confirmed by voice vote, unanimous consent.

Let me tell you, as a Democrat in those days, I knew what I was getting with these U.S. attorneys working for Jeff Sessions, former Attorney General Jeff Sessions, and William Barr. I knew what was going to happen, but I respected the tradition of the Senate.

Now Senate Republicans have decided to change the rules and are blocking the confirmation of these critical law enforcement officers.

I have faced this before. Republicans had said they were going to object to U.S. attorneys but fortunately had better thoughts on the subject as time progressed.

Now, this year, the Senator from Ohio has proudly announced that he will—I will quote him, in fact: "I will hold all [DOJ] nominations. . . . We will grind [the Justice Department] to a halt."

Grind the Justice Department to a halt.

U.S. attorneys are too important to be used as political pawns in a national debate. They lead our Nation's effort to prosecute violent criminals.

Don't tell me that you are for law and order, but you want to stop criminal prosecutors from being appointed to the job. They lead our Nation's effort to protect our communities from drug trafficking.

I quoted some numbers the other day about drug trafficking and fentanyl deaths in the State of Ohio, the State where one of these U.S. attorneys would be going to work, in the Cleveland area. Ohio runs fourth in the Nation in narcotics deaths, and for the Senate to respond by having one Senator from Ohio stopping the appointment of a criminal prosecutor to go after these cartels or drug gangs is not explainable.

So I offered Senator VANCE the opportunity to allow us to schedule confirmation votes on all pending U.S. attorneys. I want to read exactly what he said from the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, which, of course, is the permanent record of the Senate and will be read by future generations.

This was on September 27, 2 days ago. Here is what Senator VANCE said:

I am the new guy, and I recognize that I am a little naive when it comes to matters of the procedures in the U.S. Senate. But I have had a lot of jobs in my life; and yesterday we passed one vote and today we have passed zero votes. The time that we have spent debating whether we should have unanimous consent over these nominations, we could actually use to vote on these nominations and end this charade and call it out for what it is. If we believe that these nominees must go forward, let's just have a vote on it. Allow me to scrutinize them. Allow my colleagues to vote them up or down. That is a totally reasonable thing to ask of this Chamber and to ask of this leadership; and because of that, I object.

Well, I accepted his challenge. I took his words to be heartfelt and truthful, that he wanted votes. So today we had two votes on two of the U.S. attorneys, considered by the Senate, which is exactly what the Senator from Ohio asked for.

But there are two more on the calendar that he held up initially. He said on the floor during our debate that these weren't people he was necessarily objecting to but that somebody else in the Senate might be objecting to. I didn't know what that meant, but I wanted to give him the time to find out who that might be. It turns out there is no one else—he is the only objector—even though he said on the record, in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, that all he wanted was a rollcall vote on these nominees.

Well, he is going to get the chance to keep his word that he put in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, and he is going to get a chance to have the vote he asked for. It is only fair. If we did it for the first two, we will do it for the others.

Let me repeat it again. Senator VANCE did not only refuse to move these nominees by voice vote, as the Senate has done for decades, he is now backtracking on his own words from 2 days ago and is refusing even to allow rollcalls on these nominees.

This kind of obstructionism is becoming commonplace, I am afraid. If you take a look at this Executive Calendar that we have here, there are pages and pages of military officers who have served this country nobly and honorably who are asking for a simple promotion they are entitled to. They are being held up by another Republican Senator who doesn't want to move forward on this, holding them for 6 months from promotion. Is this the new way of doing business under a MAGA regime? I hope not.

Rebecca Lutzko is nominated to be U.S. attorney for the Northern District of Ohio. She is a longtime Federal prosecutor who has served as assistant U.S. attorney in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Northern District of Ohio for nearly 18 years. As a Federal prosecutor, she handles cases involving prescription drug trafficking, gun crimes, and corruption. Important? You bet it is.

April Perry is nominated to be U.S. attorney for the Northern District of Illinois. She has significant experience in the private sector and as a Federal prosecutor. She served in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Northern District of Illinois for over a decade, where she handled narcotics, gang violence, public corruption, and fraud. Important? You bet it is. Ms. Perry specialized in child exploitation prosecutions and spent 6 years as the office's Project Safe Childhood coordinator.

Are you concerned, as I am, about the exploitation of children, the trafficking of children, the terrible sexual abuse that is taking place on the internet? Do you think we ought to have the Department of Justice on that case? Of course we should.

One week ago, Senator VANCE was quoted as saying, "My objection is not to the specific qualifications of these particular individuals who have been nominated."

So, here, he is not complaining about any of their resumes or their capacity to do the job and do it effectively. His concern—and he said it publicly, so I think I am going to accurately quote him—his concern is that the former President of the United States was indicted, and he is very concerned about a Department of Justice that would even let that happen.

For goodness' sake, things happened in the Department of Justice's activities during the administration of Donald Trump that I objected to, but I didn't stop the appointments of U.S. attorneys under Trump. I didn't stop the people in law enforcement, who are keeping us safe in our communities.

These are ably qualified individuals. I am asking Senator VANCE: In good faith, keep your word. What you said in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD is a matter of record, and you should stand by your word.

For that reason, I make the following motion: I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to executive session to consider the following nominations en bloc: Calendar Nos. 314 and 315; that the Senate vote on the nominations en bloc without intervening action or debate; that if confirmed, the motions to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table and the President be immediately notified of the Senate's action; and that the Senate resume legislative session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. HIRONO). Is there objection?

The Senator from Ohio.

Mr. VANCE. Madam President, in reserving the right to object, let me address a few of my distinguished colleague from Illinois' comments.

First of all, while it is true that my hold policy regarding the Department of Justice is not focused on any particular nominee, I do think this particular nominee is particularly troublesome, and let me just talk about why.

Ms. Perry is a figure who served as the chief ethics officer in the Cook County State's Attorney's Office during the Jussie Smollett hate crime hoax. You may remember that from a few years ago. This is when a person accused people of engaging in a false hate crime, took a ton of State resources to investigate it, and it turned out the entire thing was fraudulent and meant to gin up publicity for Mr. Smollett.

Everyone pretty much agrees that Ms. FOXX, who was the State's attorney at the time, engaged in some pretty unethical behavior, and Ms. Perry effectively rubberstamped it. Is she the sort of person who could be entrusted to impartially administer justice in the Biden-Garland Department of Justice? I don't think she is. So I will be voting against her nomination. I also object to giving a streamlined confirmation process for her.

Now, the Senator from Illinois is apparently hell-bent on coming before the Chamber every single week to litigate what I think and believe is a corrupt and politicized Department of Justice. He makes much—and he makes much every single time we engage in this exercise—about the fact that the Department of Justice has never had this kind of hold policy placed on it before. I agree. This is a new and unique circumstance.

What is much different about the Trump administration Department of Justice and the Merrick Garland-Joe Biden Department of Justice is that Donald Trump never tried to throw his political opponents in prison. This is crazy, banana republic stuff, and I will not stand for it.

I will continue to hold these nominations, and I will continue to push back against the politicization of justice.

Finally, let me just say that what I have asked for and what I will continue to ask for is that these nominees go through regular order. The Senator knows well what everybody else knows, which is that, as one Senator, I cannot prevent the confirmation of these nominees however much I might like to. What I can do is force us to go through regular order.

I asked for a vote, Senator DURBIN. You can invoke cloture. We can vote on cloture. We can then do a recorded vote. That is what we have done with many, many nominees, and because of the corruption of Merrick Garland's Department of Justice, it is what I ask with this nominee and with any in the future.

Because of that, Madam President, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, it is interesting that we have got a new argument.

Previously, he said: I have no objection to these nominees. I just don't like the process. I want a vote.

I said: Fine. You can have a vote.

Now when we ask for a vote on the two remaining nominees for U.S. attorney, he is finding fault with those individuals.

I hope he will take the time—and I know he is a fair person—to read the record about what Ms. Perry did when she worked for the State's attorney, Kim Foxx. It is true there was a controversial case before her office and that she was the chief ethics officer in the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. She served in that office at the time the Jussie Smollett matter was being investigated, but Ms. Perry's role as chief ethics officer was limited to recommending that State's Attorney Foxx recuse herself and that the office seek the appointment of a special prosecutor.

Notably, Ms. Perry resigned from that office a few weeks after the prosecutors initially agreed to drop the charges against Mr. Smollett. She has never been implicated, and to throw her name into this situation is unfair. I am sure the Senator from Ohio doesn't want to do that.

So listen to what he suggests—and I am glad Senator REED is on the floor, the chairman of the Armed Services Committee.

Does it sound familiar?

We have a group of people—of nominees—who have come before us who have been considered throughout history in a routine, unanimous consent way, and now the Senator from Ohio says we have to go one by one and have a cloture motion on each one of them. You and I both know, having been here a few years, what that means. It is physically impossible, whether we are talking about officers in the military or U.S. attorney nominees, to say we will just stack them up on the calendar and go through cloture votes, and it is unnecessary.

If we didn't single out a single U.S. attorney nominee in the Trump administration but gave voice votes to all 85, it is an indication of an effort of good will and bipartisanship even when we are suspicious of what the political agenda may be of that Department.

To hold some of these people—the U.S. attorney for his own home State, the city of Cleveland—to hold this person to this kind of scrutiny that goes way beyond anything we usually have been involved in is unfair to her, and it is unfair to the process and the system.

I am going to return to the floor. The Senator from Ohio and I are going to be pretty familiar fixtures on this floor because if you say something in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, as he did—that all he wants is a rollcall, and we offered a rollcall, just as I did, and he denies it over and over—he has some explaining to do.

If he thinks that standing up for the MAGA process here is something the American people admire, I beg to differ with him.

We understand that the Department of Justice has an important job to do to keep us safe in our communities, and for someone to say—for a Senator from the U.S. Senate to say, "I will hold all [DOJ] nominations. . . . We will grind [the Justice Department] to a halt," really? That is your agenda? That is why you came to the Senate?

If the Department of Defense is being ground to a halt because of the promotions of officers and to do the same thing at the Department of Justice, and we are facing a government shutdown because of MAGA Members of the House of Representatives, the American people have a good picture, a good photograph, of the future if we go down one particular path in terms of the future of politics in America.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Rhode Island.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mr. REED. Madam President, I rise to pay tribute to our colleague DIANNE FEINSTEIN, who passed away, as we all know, this morning.

As California's senior Senator and the longest serving woman Senator ever, Senator FEINSTEIN was a trailblazer. Everyone has made that point, and it is a true, accurate, and compelling point.

In representing the country's most populous State for over three decades, she occupied the national stage as well, and for many people inside and outside this Chamber, she became the archetypal Senator: prepared, professional, pragmatic, and unfailingly civil. Californians rewarded her hard work by voting for her by wider and wider margins.

She fought hard for the things she believed in and very often succeeded, but she never bullied or belittled those who took a contrary position. Her achievements are many: the enactment of the Federal assault weapons ban in 1994, the 6-year review of the CIA's Detention and Interrogation Program, which prompted significant reforms in the intelligence community. She was the leader in the reauthorization of the Violence Against Women Act. She delivered for the people of California, enacting laws to protect public lands and national treasures and doing the hard work to bring stakeholders together to resolve thorny issues and complex environmental challenges in her home State. She led on national environmental issues, including legislation to improve the fuel economy of automobiles.

I had the privilege and the pleasure to get to know her. We were both members of the Aspen study group. This is an organization sponsored by the Aspen Institute of both right and left, thoughtful national security policy people. I was very honored to be asked, and DIANNE was a long-term member. To listen to her insights, to listen to her analysis, along with other very thoughtful people, was incredibly helpful to me, particularly as a more junior Member of the Senate, and, of course, her hospitality, her friendship, and her decency just was so apparent there as it was here on the floor in the U.S. Senate.

In fact, as we look back, there is a very simple fact here that DIANNE FEINSTEIN influenced, in some way, every major policy challenge that this body and this Nation has faced over the last 31 years with her voice, with her vote, with her counsel, with her wisdom, with her unfailing commitment to the people of California and the people of the United States. She literally never gave up. She never stopped.

She is someone that will be remembered, truly, as one of the greatest U.S. Senators in the history of this country. It was a privilege to serve with her. On this day, I wish her family and all her loved ones the comfort of knowing what an extraordinary woman and what an extraordinary Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN was.

With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Washington.

H.R. 3935

Mrs. MURRAY. Madam President, Americans across the country are watching us now, as we near the brink of an entirely pointless and absolutely devastating government shutdown and wondering: How in the world did we get here? It is a great question and an infuriating one.

So I want to take a few minutes to walk through exactly how we did get here, because the plain truth I want the American people to recognize is, it did not have to be this way. But a number of House Republicans, who have been working from day one of this Congress to hold our government hostage, pushed the most extreme partisan agenda imaginable and set us on a collision course for a government shutdown.

You don't have to take my word for it. Just listen to what some of them have been saying:

If a shutdown occurs, then so be it.

We should not fear a government shutdown.

It is "not the worst thing that could happen."

And this quote:

[M]ay be what it takes.

Last week, of course, former President Trump—the same guy responsible for the longest shutdown in history—called for Republicans to shut down the government again.

Unfortunately, it sure seems like these are the sorts of people Speaker MCCARTHY has been listening to—the most extreme, fringed voices in his party—when he should be listening to the overwhelming majority of people in our country who do not want a shutdown, because, let's be clear, most Members of Congress—like most Americans—on both sides of the aisle here, in both Chambers of Congress, do not want a government shutdown. They do want to see us working together to get our jobs done.

This is something I have heard from so many of our colleagues when I became chair of the Senate Appropriations Committee at the beginning of this year: We need to get back to regular order. No more omnibuses. No more chaos. No more government shutdowns. I heard it from across both parties here in the Senate.

So I have been working with the senior Senator from Maine to deliver on just that: to make our appropriations process work better, to get our bills done, and to ensure that all Members do have a say in the process.

We have made some concrete progress; but over and over, extreme Republicans in the House have put up roadblocks and done everything they can to prevent Congress from getting even the most basic things done.

The vice chair of the Appropriations Committee and I held nearly 50 hearings this past spring to evaluate what resources our communities need in the year ahead. But, then, instead of being able to get right to work and negotiate top-line spending numbers and writing those bills as we finished those hearings this spring, we had to press pause to contend with extreme Republicans who were then holding our Nation's credit hostage and threatening a devastating default if they did not get their way with unrealistic, draconian cuts to programs that this entire country relies on.

It was a full-blown crisis. It was created by extreme House Republicans who ground Congress and almost our economy to a halt.

Finally, after their dangerous brinksmanship caused so much unnecessary drama and delay, President Biden and Speaker MCCARTHY struck a deal on spending levels that rejected the deepest, most damaging cuts. Now, it was not a deal I would have written myself—absolutely not—but a deal is a deal.

The Speaker and the President shook hands. We all voted on it. It was signed into law. We had an agreement so we here in the Senate could finally get to work writing our bipartisan spending bills.

And in the Senate, that is exactly what we did. The senior Senator from Maine and I said: Okay, let's get things back on track. Let's get back to regular order. Let's write serious bills that can actually be signed into law.

We agreed to work off that Biden-McCarthy deal in a bipartisan way to avoid partisan poison pills and give all of our colleagues input on those bills. We held televised, bipartisan markups with amendments, with debate. And, for the first time in 5 years, we passed all 12 bills out of the committee, and those bills passed overwhelmingly with bipartisan support. We then got a resounding 91 votes to start work on three appropriations bills that passed unanimously out of committee on the Senate floor.

As we know, a few holdouts slowed things down. But I want you to know we are going to keep working together to return to regular order so Members can debate appropriations bills and offer amendments, and we can get them passed.

Now, compare that to the House. Did they work to produce serious, bipartisan appropriations bills that can be signed into law? Nope. They wrote extreme partisan bills—extreme—that are not going anywhere.

Did they keep out provisions that they knew would be nonstarters? Absolutely not. Their appropriations bills are a far-right wish list chock full of extreme policies that would undermine our response to the climate crisis, embolden bigotry against the LGBTQ community, weaken commonsense gun safety regulations, and, of course—of course—impose extreme abortion restrictions.

I mean, the list of extreme far-right policies that were slapped onto the government spending bills in the House is astounding. If you want to get something done for your constituents, you need to get serious, and those bills are not serious.

Did House Republicans, at least, stick to the bipartisan top lines that President Biden and Speaker MCCARTHY agreed to and we all voted on? Not even in the slightest. Before the ink was dry on that deal that he shook hands on, Speaker MCCARTHY caved to demands from the far right to ignore those agreed-upon spending levels and take a hatchet to programs that our families rely on.

In those spending bills, House Republicans want to cut 80 percent—8-0—80 percent, that is $14.7 billion from title I funding our public schools rely on. It supports nearly 90 percent of our Nation's school districts. That includes rescinding funding that Congress provided last year that schools have worked into their budgets and are using for this school year.

They want to cut grants that keep our drinking water safe by more than half.

They want to slash nearly $4 billion from lifesaving research at the NIH.

In the middle of a childcare crisis, they want to cut Head Start by $750 million and eliminate funding to help our States expand preschool programs.

I am just getting started. I can go on all day with the devastating cuts House Republicans have jammed into their partisan spending bills with utter disregard for that agreement that we all passed a few months ago and, more importantly, for how harmful those cuts would be for those back home.

Those cuts would hollow out Federal programs and Agencies to a point where basic government services that people expect to get done—whether it is food safety inspectors or air traffic controllers—would almost certainly break down.

I don't say all of this to score political points. I am laying the facts out to make them plain to the American people, who I am sure are just as frustrated as I am, about how pointless it would be to shut down and how ridiculous it is that we are even at this point today.

So here we are, days from a government shutdown, and it is clear the only way Congress can keep the lights on and avoid a terrible shutdown is the bipartisan bill to continue funding and keep things open short-term while we work on those full-year bills.

The House isn't even trying to put forward a serious proposal to do that.

Here in the Senate, the senior Senator from Maine and I have a simple, bipartisan bill that keeps the government funded so we can continue to work on our full-year appropriations bills. It includes absolutely essential, time-sensitive reauthorizations for the FAA and other Agencies, and it extends urgently needed funding for disaster relief and our allies in Ukraine. It is a truly reasonable, bipartisan bill carefully negotiated.

We are working at this very moment with our colleagues to get this bill over to the House as soon as possible. But so far, Speaker MCCARTHY seems to be more focused on indulging a few Members by writing bills with massive, cartoon-villain level cuts instead of listening to the American people and avoiding this shutdown.

After wasting all of our time on his partisan bills, which will never become law, he tried to jam through a truly extreme CR that would have cut agencies by 30 percent—30 percent—as if a 30-percent shutdown isn't devastating to our families and the economy.

They need to get real. If it were to become law, that extreme proposal would have been devastating for families and for our country. Whether it is the Social Security Administration that is working to get seniors signed up for new benefits; the Department of Education that is working to process Pell Grants and financial aid for students—those Agencies and so many others—would have had to figure out this Monday how to implement a 30-percent, across-the-board cut if their bill had passed. This Monday.

Their bill would grind basic government services to a halt. It would create chaos and almost certainly make the odds of a recession likely.

As we just saw a while ago, that bill, fortunately, went down in the House in flames because it was not bipartisan, and it was not a serious effort to get our communities the funding they need.

So the lesson here should be obvious: Partisanship is not how we get through crisis—any of them—especially in a divided government. It is not how we prevent shutdowns. We prevent shutdowns by rolling up our sleeves, doing the hard work of talking to each other, listening to each other, and hammering out a bipartisan agreement to keep the lights on.

Fortunately, that is what we have actually done here in the Senate. We have a bipartisan agreement. We are on our way to sending it to the House as soon as possible.

The good news: It is not too late for Speaker MCCARTHY to learn his lesson and do the right thing. So I hope instead of listening to the likes of former President Trump or the extreme right and continuing to push a bill like he just did that failed so badly, the Speaker needs to listen to all of the people who will be hurt by this shutdown, who will miss their paychecks, who will be cut off from healthcare and childcare and support they rely on. And then I hope he will commit to bringing up our commonsense CR bills to the floor as soon as possible.

Let us get our jobs done. Let's keep the government open. And then, instead of retreating back to partisan extreme, I urge Speaker MCCARTHY to do what so many of our Members on both sides of the aisle here in the Senate have called for and work together with our colleagues to find common ground and produce serious proposals that will make people's lives better.

Politics isn't a game. Sometimes you just choose to do the right thing because you know quite clearly what the right thing is to do. Shutting down the government is not the right thing. Refusing to work in a bipartisan way and forcing us into a showdown to show certain Members of the House Republican majority that you will fight Democrats, that is the wrong thing.

The American people don't want to see you fight the other party. They want to see you work with your colleagues across the aisle. That is what we have done in the Senate with our 12 bipartisan funding bills, and the sooner we take the shutdown off the table, the sooner we can get back to work to pass those 12 bills that fund everything from cancer research to grants for our farmers, to top-notch medical care for our veterans, and so much more.

So, as I have said so many times, let's help people and solve problems. Let's work together, not against one another.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

IRAN

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam President, on June 27, 2014, an email was sent to an individual who works with Iran's Foreign Ministry. The sender of that email was seeking advice on whether she should attend a workshop on Iran's nuclear program hosted by Ben-Gurion University in Israel.

The sender wrote:

I am not interested in going, but then I thought maybe it would be better that I go and talk, rather than an Israeli like Emily Landau who goes and disseminates disinformation. I would like to ask your opinion, too, and see if you think I should accept the invitation and go.

In a normal world, we would chalk this up to an academic seeking politically charged advice from a mentor.

But I became concerned when I learned that this individual who wrote that email, who was actively seeking guidance from individuals within the Iranian Foreign Ministry, now has a U.S. Government Top Secret clearance and works within our Defense Department as the Chief of Staff for the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low-Intensity Conflict.

Just to be sure we are following this, this is a U.S. citizen who wrote to someone inside Iran's Foreign Ministry to seek advice on going to a conference in Israel and speaking at that so that they would speak instead of someone who was pro-Israel. They were asking their advice.

Well, this individual is Miss Ariane Tabatabai, and that email was not the last one that she sent to her friend who was there in Iran's Foreign Ministry. She also wrote him a few weeks later, on July 10, 2014, to let him know that she was offering testimony to Congress on the Iran nuclear deal and needed some advice on how to handle it.

To be sure that we are continuing to follow this, she is going to be speaking to Congress, and she is asking the advice of someone inside Iran's Foreign Ministry on how she should handle her testimony before the U.S. Congress.

Now, some of my colleagues may have seen the Semafor article detailing these communications and the extent of Iranian influence operations against the United States. It contained details about the Iran Experts Initiative, referred to often as the IEI, which was a brainchild of the Rouhani administration.

It tasked a handful of second-generation Iranians with planting pro-nuclear Iran ideology in Western think tanks and writing propaganda demanding compromise with Tehran.

So the IEI is a part of Iran's soft propaganda. It is very intentional. We know that they were using this to push pro-Iran stories. It wasn't a casual operation. The Iranian Foreign Minister and his nuclear negotiating team were involved in creating this group—creating this group—there to support pushing the nuclear complex, the nuclear buildup in Iran.

Well, Miss Tabatabai was a part of the core group of the IEI, as it was referred to—that tight-knit core group. Remember, this is the Iran Experts Initiative. And from what we can gather, by all accounts, she was very good at her job. We know this because we have now seen emails between the Iranian officials in charge of this propaganda mill boasting about the success of their propaganda mill.

And just a few years after Tabatabai made a name for herself, pushing propaganda for Iran, the Biden administration invited her to take a seat at the table as part of Robert Malley's Iran nuclear negotiating team.

You remember Robert Malley. He was the lead negotiator on the 2015 JCPOA—or, as we commonly call it, the Iran nuclear deal. And then, in 2021, Biden named him the U.S. Special Envoy for Iran. It was his job to bring the United States and Iran into compliance with the failed nuclear deal.

Now, this is a tweet from June of that year sent by a high-ranking Russian diplomat whose job it was to help reimplement this deal. It shows the U.S. delegation at the negotiating table, hammering out the details with the Iranians.

And that is Ms. Tabatabai on the end in the pink blazer. She was not a background player. She was someone who had a seat at the negotiating table.

For almost 3 years now, I have come to the floor to implore President Biden and his advisers to just pay attention to the blatant information warfare against our country that is being carried out every single day by the new "axis of evil"—Russia, China, Iran, North Korea.

Now, we have seen this take many forms. We see it with the remaining Confucius Institutes that are still in our country. We see it on TikTok. But for the most part, Biden has chosen to ignore the risk these influence operations pose to our country.

Now, we know his administration found a willing participant in an Iranian-influenced operation. He hired her. He gave her a U.S. Government top-secret security clearance and sent her to negotiate with the very officials that once she worked for.

Remember, she was a part of the Iran Experts Initiative. This is beyond poor judgment. This is dangerous. It is also rather unthinkable.

I would also remind my colleagues that earlier this year, her former boss and colleague, Robert Malley, was placed on leave after the State Department suspended his security clearance. They had reason to believe he was mishandling classified material.

Yesterday, we learned that the Pentagon is going to review Tabatabai's links to Tehran. But that is not sufficient. I want to know how it could be possible that the Biden administration found nothing of concern when they vetted her.

That is why I have sent this letter over to the Pentagon demanding answers to these questions. The American people deserve to know. How in the world someone who had worked for the Iranian Experts Initiative had been a part of what was called the core group—how could they possibly get a security clearance?

But, you know, considering the links to which this administration has gone to appease Iran, I imagine their response will be just as satisfying as the other that some of my colleagues and I have received in our attempts to exercise oversight over some of these foreign policy and national security issues. The American people deserve answers.

I ask unanimous consent that my letter to the Secretary of Defense regarding the foreign contacts of Ariane Tabatabai be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

SEPTEMBER 28, 2023.

Hon. LLOYD J. AUSTIN III,
Secretary of Defense,
Washington, DC.

DEAR SECRETARY AUSTIN: I am writing to express my concern over the actions taken by Ariane Tabatabai, the current Chief of Staff for Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low Intensity Conflict (ASD/SOLIC). Iran is an evil, violent regime that supports terrorism and seeks to annihilate freedom loving countries across the globe. Under the Obama-Biden administration, your boss helped make it easier for Iran to develop a nuclear weapon—showing regimes across the world that the United States will reward them for abusing human rights. Last year, the Iranian government murdered a woman for not wearing a head scarf. There is no other way to put it: Iran is a barbaric country.

This administration has gone to great lengths to appease Iran—taking the Iran-backed Houthis in Yemen off the Foreign Terrorist Organization list and ending U.S. support for Saudi Arabia and the UAE's war against the group. And just this month, on the anniversary of 9/11, President Biden incentivized Iran's terrorist activities and conceded our nation's future security as he handed over a $6 billion payout to Iran.

Given your administration's intentional appeasement of the Iranian regime, it is unfortunately not surprising that you are allowing those with close ties to Iran to serve in a senior role. It is vital to the security of our nation to thoroughly evaluate all individuals with links to the regime that wish to operate within the Department of Defense. It is imperative that no one with direct affiliations to the Iranian regime have access to sensitive information or influence over United States foreign policy.

According to a report, on June 27, 2014, Ms. Tabatabai consulted with an individual within Iran's Foreign Ministry over attending a workshop regarding the Iran's nuclear program at Ben-Gurion University in Israel. To quote Ms. Tabatabai, "I am not interested in going, but then I thought maybe it would be better that I go and talk, rather than an Israeli like Emily Landau who goes and disseminates disinformation. I would like to ask your opinion too and see if you think I should accept the invitation and go." She also wrote to that same individual that she was to give testimony before the U.S. Congress on the nuclear deal.

Ms. Tabatabai's relationship with Iranian government representatives, along with her malicious comments regarding our ally, Israel, as a representative of the U.S. Department of Defense is undeniably unacceptable. Ms. Tabatabai's ties to the Iranian regime are dangerous and raise questions about potential foreign adversarial influence within the Department of Defense. Additionally, these reports call into question whether Ms. Tabatabai should be permitted to a security clearance with access to classified materials.

I ask a response to the following questions no later than October 6th, 2023:

1. What level clearance does Ms. Tabatabai currently possess?
2. How long has she held this clearance level?
3. Was her affiliation with the Iran Experts Initiative (IEI) discussed during the processing of her security clearance?
4. Has the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency (DCSA) reviewed Ms. Tabatabai's SF-86 for consistency since the release of this information?

5. Is it a standard Department of Defense policy to clear speaking engagements with a foreign leader prior to finalizing the decision?

6. Does the Department of Defense plan to question Ms. Tabatabai on if there is additional information she has leaked to foreign governments?

7. Has Ms. Tabatabai ever been in the position to make impacts that directly impact the country of Israel?

8. Did Ms. Tabatabai have access to classified documents related to the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action?

Sincerely,

MARSHA BLACKBURN,
U.S. Senator.

Mrs. BLACKBURN. I yield the floor. The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. ROSEN). The Republican leader is recognized.

GOVERNMENT FUNDING

Mr. MCCONNELL. Madam President, Congress has until tomorrow night to pass a straight-forward short-term funding extension and avoid a government shutdown.

All this week, and every time we have found ourselves in this situation before, I have offered my colleagues the same warning: Shutting down the government doesn't help anybody politically; it doesn't make any meaningful progress on policy; and it heaps unnecessary hardships on the American people as well as the brave men and women who keep us safe.

Right now, I am encouraged that many of my colleagues who share our concerns are working hard on amendments to strengthen the pending legislation and avert the disastrous effects of a shutdown.

Congress has an opportunity right now to pay our servicemembers, border security personnel, and other essential workers; to keep important government functions running; and to keep the lights on so the important discussions we are having right now about dealing with Democrats' border crisis, delivering disaster relief, supporting Ukraine, and reining in reckless spending can continue. And I would urge our colleagues to take that opportunity.

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Madam President, now, on an entirely different matter, today, I join my alma mater, the University of Louisville, in celebrating the inauguration of its new president, Dr. Kim Schatzel.

As many alum will tell you, UofL is a special place. For me, it was the first place in Kentucky where I felt completely at home. And it is somewhere I continue to find fulfillment in my personal and public life.

As a young man, it is where I met the first professor who challenged me to think for myself, where I tested my talents in my first art class, and where I was lucky enough to take part in UofL's congressional internship program. And that turned out a lot better than my artistic pursuits.

These days, UofL continues to be an important part of my life, whether I am tailgating football games with friends, advocating on behalf of the university in Washington, or observing the success of the McConnell Center scholars.

As President Schatzel steps into her new role, I hope she will find the immense opportunity and access afforded to myself and every UofL student, staff, faculty, and alum who walks this campus.

Throughout its 225-year history, UofL has hosted a long list of visionary leaders who shaped its success, and today I am proud to welcome President Schatzel to though those ranks. Her wealth of experience in both academics and business make her a valuable addition to the UofL family.

Before joining the University of Louisville, she led a successful career in corporate America. In just two decades, she rose from foreman on a Ford Pinto assembly line to heading up a multinational manufacturing enterprise.

She would eventually pivot to an equally impressive career in academia, taking her marketing genius to higher education. As President of Towson University, she bolstered graduation rates and broke records in capital investment on campus.

These are high priorities for our university as well, and I look forward to partnering with her to bring similar success to the UofL and broader communities.

The city of Louisville, the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and the entire Nation rely on the University of Louisville for its research and innovations in medicine, engineering, agriculture, the arts, and so much more.

Leading a major metropolitan university like UofL is a big job, but I think I speak for the entire Louisville community when I say: President Schatzel, keep up the great work. From one Cardinal to another, I wish her the best of luck and congratulations this momentous day.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oregon.

REMEMBERING DIANNE FEINSTEIN

Mr. MERKLEY. Madam President, I am standing here at the desk next to the desk of our fallen colleague, Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN. It seems enormously strange that instead of being able to sit here and have her next to me, her desk is covered with a black cloth and a crystal bowl of white roses.

We come from the west coast where our States sit side by side, so perhaps it was fitting that we sat side by side here on the floor of the U.S. Senate.

One thing, in particular, that Senator FEINSTEIN liked to do was share with me pictures of her dog Kirby, whom she absolutely loved. And she had a lot of pictures on her phone to show Kirby in different moments of delight. And I must say, for me, this was kind of a powerful, personal connection because I enjoyed showing her pictures of my dogs, Roxy and Lila, whom I love dearly.

So even as we work on the great issues of international affairs or the big challenges of America, sometimes it is just the personal connections, simple connections in life that can bond people to each other.

Very few people's lives are as full of as much history and consequence as Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN's: the first woman to serve as mayor of San Francisco; the first woman to serve as a Senator from California; the longest serving Senator not only from California, the longest serving woman in the Senate ever at just over 30 years.

In 2009, during my first year in the Senate, she made a point to invite me as a freshman Senator to meet her friend the Dalai Lama. I had a chance to previously meet the Dalai Lama when I was head of the World Affairs Council in Oregon, and I had invited him to speak to the people of Oregon. But this was in a different context of the connection, the foreign relations, in which we were striving to elevate concerns about the treatment of the Tibetan people. She was a passionate supporter of Tibetan people.

She had met him 30 years before in India. She had welcomed him on his first visit to the United States, as the mayor of San Francisco. She never let up on the importance of that challenge and her concerns about the mistreatment of the Tibetan people.

In fact, I also had the opportunity to work with her on the Congressional-Executive Commission on China, which strived to shine a light on many human rights issues, but one of which, certainly, was defending the Tibetan people's human rights and culture from the repression of the Chinese Government.

She was also a powerful partner as we worked together to pass the Employment Non-Discrimination Act here on the Senate floor, which we did in 2013, and then to strive to elevate the Equality Act, the gold standard for ending discrimination against our LGBTQ community—an act that we have not yet passed on this Senate floor but absolutely should. I hope someday we will have the votes to do that.

She just believed that nobody should face discrimination, everybody should have an equal opportunity to thrive here in the United States of America.

We also served together for many years on the Appropriations Committee and the Rules Committee. She was a persistent voice in this last couple of years, time and time again, calling for better pay for our Federal wildland firefighters. Now, that particular issue is so essential because of the fires we are facing in the West, and no one raised it as often or as passionately as she did. As a result, we won that pay raise. I know that she would be insisting, if she was here today, to make sure that pay raise is sustained in any continuing resolution that we might pass in the next couple of days.

She knew how essential that was out West, that we have wildland firefighters who can work year-round and be paid decently so we are actually there on the job.

I was proud to cosponsor her legislation this year, the West Coast Ocean Protection Act, to prohibit the exploration, development, and production of oil off the west coast, a mutual concern of those of the west coast that our coast and our multiple fisheries—our crabbing, our whiting, our shrimp, our salmon, our groundfish—are not damaged by oil, that our shoreline is not damaged by oil.

It was essential, she felt, that we preserve the health of our oceans against the potential damage of drilling off the coast. In fact, she was a strong voice in this modern conversation about climate change. She understood climate chaos and how the changing temperatures are affecting us in so many different ways.

At one point when we were serving on the Appropriations Committee together, I had a simple amendment that supported our international obligation to help fund an intergovernmental panel on climate change, and we had a deal between legislators on both sides of the aisle that we would simply hold a voice vote because legislators across the aisle felt it should be passed. But they knew anything that related to climate was so controversial, and they didn't want to bring that controversy into the discussion about honoring a treaty obligation. So the agreement was to pass it by voice vote.

When I proposed the amendment, Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN spoke up—I hadn't filled her in on the background—and she said: This issue is about climate. It is so important we should hold a recorded vote.

I probably went a little bit pale because I wasn't sure that, as a recorded vote, we could vote to honor our international agreement. But, fortunately, and just by a single vote, we did. It worked out. But it just shows her commitment to having a public discussion, public votes, public accountability to take on this incredibly significant challenge that we have faced with the changing climate.

Senator FEINSTEIN helped open the doors of the Senate to so many other women legislators. She took weapons off the street. She believed torture was un-American and unacceptable, and those who are responsible must be held accountable.

She raised vehicle emissions standards and protected so many of California's and America's beautiful outdoor spaces for future generations, including the interest she had in protecting Lake Tahoe.

Yesterday, Senator FEINSTEIN, who did so much to open this government to so many, cast her final vote in the U.S. Senate. It was a vote to keep this government open, keep the American Government serving the American people.

She lived an exceptional life—a life dedicated to public service. She has left behind an enormous public legacy—a legacy of tenacity, a legacy of and willingness to build bridges across the aisle to solve problems. I hope that many of us can just hope to do as well.

My thoughts are with her daughter Katherine and her granddaughter Eileen. It was an honor and privilege to serve with Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN here in the U.S. Senate.

Thank you.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Ms. LUMMIS. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Ms. LUMMIS. Madam President, I am honored to have had my first term in the U.S. Senate coincide with DIANNE FEINSTEIN's time here in this Senate.

When I learned this morning that she had passed away—the longest serving woman in the U.S. Senate—two words came to my mind: patience and kindness. The Bible says that love is patient and kind.

Senator FEINSTEIN and I disagreed on policy much of the time, but never regarding patience and kindness. DIANNE FEINSTEIN was unfailingly kind. She was particularly kind to other women Senators. She was the first to invite other women Senators to dinner, to lead our gatherings, and to focus our attention on things that are good for all Americans, without regard to political ideology.

As someone who arrived in the Senate the same week as January 6, that day set the tone for many of my first months in the U.S. Senate. But that day never set the tone for my relationship with Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN. My conversations with her, from beginning to end, were unfailingly cordial and kind.

Particularly poignant were my observations of the relationship between Senator FEINSTEIN and her colleague from California, Senator ALEX PADILLA. The conversations I enjoyed with Senator FEINSTEIN and Senator PADILLA displayed his admiration and respect for his senior Senate colleague, based on a yearslong working relationship going back to his internship for her. And his importance to her is on display in the beautiful artwork she created for him. That was a beautiful California duo. I know that Senator PADILLA will do her honor in becoming California's senior Senator.

So I conclude with positive memories of DIANNE FEINSTEIN—Senator, colleague, and hopefully for both of us, friend. That is a lovely way to set the tone for political opposites going forward.

If patience and kindness is what love is, then that is also what Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN is. Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN is love. I salute her service.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wisconsin.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST

Mr. JOHNSON. Madam President, I am very glad that you have taken the chair to preside because I want to talk about something I think is kind of near and dear to your heart. This is something that I passed in the Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee in the Senate back in 2019, and this was passed with bipartisan support. I am talking about a bill called the Prevent Government Shutdowns Act.

Following passage, I wrote an article in the Wall Street Journal. I just want to read the first two paragraphs of that column, published on September 22, 2019:

If the Legislature in my home state of Wisconsin fails to pass the next year's appropriation bills, we don't shut government agencies down. We fund them at the previous year's appropriation levels. Doesn't that make sense?

That common-sense approach should apply in Washington, but it doesn't. By the time I arrived in 2011, Congress's appropriations process was completely broken.

It still is.

The United States has since had—

Again, this is as of September 2019.

—the United States has since had three government shutdowns, passed 34 continuing resolutions to avoid shutdowns, raised or suspended the debt ceiling nine times and—

Again, this was just 4 years ago.

—increased the federal debt $8.5 trillion.

So here we are, a couple days before the end of the fiscal year, 4 years later—our debt, by the way, has more than doubled; it stands at $33 trillion now—and we are facing a shutdown.

Isn't this ridiculous? There is no reason for this.

Again, back in June of 2019, I tasked up my committee members. I said: OK. I want to pass a bill that will end all government shutdowns forever. Take it off the table.

Now, there have been a number of bills designed to do that offered in both Chambers, both the House and the Senate.

I have three members of the committee—four members of the committee have their own bills.

The bill I selected to debate, mark up, and pass was one offered by Senators JAMES LANKFORD and MAGGIE HASSAN.

I chose that bill because—one bill actually increased spending; one bill decreased spending. But the Hassan-Lankford bill did what we do in Wisconsin: You don't shut an agency down; you don't shut the government down; you just keep spending at last year's level until the legislature can get its act together and appropriate the funds.

So that bill that I chose that we passed—by the way, on a bipartisan basis. I believe every Democratic Senator on the committee voted for it because Senator HASSAN, Senator LANKFORD did a good job of coming together in a bipartisan fashion. They put some disciplines in there.

But what it does, it just creates rolling 14-day CRs. With those disciplines, Members can't travel back on the government dime. You only have a 24-hour shutdown, I believe. There are other disciplines there that put pressure on the process to get our act together and start appropriating bills.

If you don't get it done in the first 14 days, you have another 14-day CR, you do another 14-day CR, until we complete the appropriations process.

Again, not an efficient way of doing things. I think the reason most Members say that they don't want to shut down the government is we realize it is a very inefficient process, and it hurts people. It hurts people.

So why haven't we passed this in the last 4 years? Why haven't some of these other preventing government shutdowns acts passed in the past? Why not? It is ridiculous we haven't done it yet.

The result, by the way, has been what this chart demonstrates. Again, I already mentioned we are at $33 trillion in debt. It is very important to recognize how out of control spending is here in Washington, DC.

When we were debating the omnibus last year, I asked my Republican colleagues at the Senate lunch: Does anybody know how much the Federal Government is going to spend this year?

I didn't get any answers. Maybe somebody knew, but they didn't volunteer to answer.

I went out and asked the Washington press corps, the folks who are supposed to be reporting on this to our constituents and to the American public: Does anybody know how much the government spent last year?

Well, it is over $1 trillion. Well, that is true in terms of discretionary spending—less than 30 percent of the budget.

By the way, I granted them immediate absolution. I said: I wouldn't expect you to know how much the Federal Government spends in total because we never talk about it.

Think of it. The Federal Government is the largest financial entity in the world, and, in December of 2022, the people I was asking—the people who should have known this—had no idea what in total the Federal Government spent. Well, the answer was about $6.2 trillion.

Let me put that in context. That is what this chart shows. The numbers are pretty small. So I will describe them. This column is fiscal year 2019 spending. This is the fiscal year before the pandemic and the pandemic recession.

This column is this fiscal year, fiscal year 2023 estimated spending. We don't have hard figures yet, but we have a pretty good idea of what we are going to be spending.

Just 4 years ago, in just the year 2019, total Federal Government spending was $4.446 trillion—$4.4 trillion. Let me put that in perspective. In 2002, it was the first time we passed the Rubicon of spending over $2 trillion in total. Seventeen years later—it took us 17 years to more than double that to $4.4 trillion.

This fiscal year that we are closing out in a couple of days, we will spend over $6.3 trillion. We are spending $1.9 trillion more this year than we spent just 4 years ago. This is completely out of control.

By the way, if you put us on a baseline, based on just population growth and inflation—in other words, take out the massive out-of-control spending during the pandemic and just put us on a reasonable baseline—last year, we spent a little more than $5 trillion.

But in the debt ceiling deal—which, by the way, didn't raise the debt ceiling by a given amount—but House conservatives basically gave the Speaker to negotiate $1.5 trillion. We have done one of these Washington games, which is suspending debt. It will probably result in a debt ceiling of $4 trillion, which will accommodate this massive—massive—deficit spending.

So again, just to repeat: 4 years ago, $4.4 trillion; 4 years later, $6.3, almost $6.4 trillion. That is an increase of more than $1.9 trillion. And the deficit this year will be somewhere between $1.7 and $2 trillion. We need to get this under control.

But I want to make an important point here. As dysfunctional as Washington, DC, is—it is grotesquely dysfunctional. I come from the private sector. This would not happen in the private sector. You wouldn't take 72 or 73 percent of what you spend in your private sector budget and say: That is on automatic pilot. We are never going to look at that. We are only going to look at 27 percent of the budget and try to control that. That is basically what we are doing here with discretionary spending this year. Twenty-seven percent, we will focus on that, and we will ignore 73 percent and let it grow out of control.

But again, this is a well-honed process. This isn't—it is dysfunctional, but the process is in place, and it is a well-honed process to mortgage our children's future, and we are witnessing that process.

Again, this is my 13th year. I think every year, at least, a shutdown has been threatened, as we are threatening this one—again, disquieting people, worrying people, because if a shutdown does occur, people will be hurt. We can avoid it.

But this well-honed process is playing out as it has ever since I have arrived here. Basically, you don't do appropriation bills without the House, without the Senate. You might start. You might start the charade, like we did this year, and start passing them in this Chamber, in September, a few weeks before the fiscal year. Obviously, you don't have enough time to pass all of them. So then you threaten a government shutdown.

You predict calamity, and then you load onto a continuing resolution spending that may or may not be controversial. It is not where you increase spending. It is not where you put supplemental spending. But that is what we do. So it becomes controversial, and, all of a sudden, here you are threatening shutdown.

Now the proposal on the table right now in the Senate is: Let's do a CR with some controversial spending, and we will have that CR end the day before the Thanksgiving recess—a little pressure on our Members, just in case we can get our act together to come up with a couple of massive minibuses or just one massive omnibus to drop on everybody's desk. And if they want to go home for recess, you had better pass that now.

Now, my guess is we probably won't be able to get that done in time, and so we will end up with another CR. This one will probably be scheduled to expire—oh, I don't know, pick a date. My guess would be December 23 and December 24—the same process. That is what happened last year.

Then we get it, again, dropped on our desk—about a 2,000-plus page bill. Nobody has time to read it, other than the people who wrote it. And you get the Hobson's choice—vote yes or no. The problem with that, in addition to just the grotesque dysfunction of it, is the individual appropriation bills do not get the scrutiny that they deserve.

If you bring up every appropriations bill—12—you have got to start somewhere around May. You bring up each individual appropriation bill. Now you can actually scrutinize it. The public can see it. We can offer amendments.

Again, it is not a panacea. I am not going to say it is going to completely stop this runaway spending train, but it will be some constraint. It restores some function to this very dysfunctional place.

So what I have been pushing for, for 4 years—and it is one of the reasons I withheld my consent on the omnibus. And I appreciate the fact that the chairman and the ranking member of the Appropriations Committee were willing to work with me and offer me an amendment on the omnibus to try and get a vote to maybe pass the Preventing Government Shutdown Act, but other people are objecting, and we haven't got that vote yet.

So here we are, a couple days before a shutdown, and we need to do something. The House is having, obviously, a difficult time coming up with a solution. The Senate may pass something that really has no chance of passing in the House. I think we have to be honest about that.

So, again, in order to prevent a government shutdown, what we ought to do is do something that people agree on. You know, rather than trying to use this moment to jam something through that people don't all agree with, let's try and pass something people agree with, which is a bill that will prevent a government shutdown.

Now, I chose a 14-day clean CR—because that is pretty much the structure of the Prevent Government Shutdowns Act, rolling 14-day CRs, giving both Chambers the time to act to start passing these bills with a little bit more scrutiny than what minibuses or an omnibus would afford. It is a very commonsense approach. It is something we all ought to agree on. It would prevent a shutdown. It would prevent pain to real people. And all we have to do is agree to do what we all say we want to do, to avoid what we all say we want to avoid—a government shutdown.

So, Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of my bill, which is at the desk. I further ask that the bill be considered read a third time and passed, and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Ms. HASSAN). Is there objection?

The Senator from Washington.

Mrs. MURRAY. Madam President, reserving the right to object, we can't be back here in the same situation in 2 weeks. We need a CR that gives us the actual time to get through our bipartisan spending bills. Believe me, I would love to say we could get this done in 2 weeks. But we know that is not realistic, because even the three that passed unanimously out of my committee have run into delays, as the Senator from Wisconsin knows all too well.

And, just as importantly, this bill does nothing to reauthorize time-sensitive programs. It does not reauthorize the FAA, which means chaos for air travelers. It doesn't reauthorize our community health centers and other critical primary care programs, which means patients in our underserved areas will lose access to programs they need.

And it doesn't protect our wildland firefighters from a drastic pay cut. It doesn't extend disaster relief funding or Ukraine's aid.

We have before this body a carefully negotiated bipartisan CR that does include all of those absolutely essential policies, that has already garnered more than enough support to pass here in the Senate, and that I am confident will pass the House as soon as Speaker MCCARTHY actually puts it to a vote.

That is where our attention needs to be, not on a slapdash bill that puts us back here in 2 weeks and completely leaves air travel, health care providers, firefighters, and so much more in a lurch.

I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Mrs. MURRAY. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mrs. MURRAY. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

MORNING BUSINESS

VOTE EXPLANATION

Mr. HAWLEY. Mr. President, had there been a recorded vote, I would have voted “no” on the confirmation of Executive Calendar No. 324, Thomas G. Day, of Virginia, to be a Commissioner of the Postal Regulatory Commission for a term expiring October 14, 2028.

HOPEWELL CEREMONIAL EARTHWORKS

Mr. BROWN. Madam President, I rise today to congratulate the Ohio History Connection, National Parks Service, and local Tribal communities on their historic achievement of earning Ohio's first World Heritage designation.

The Hopewell Ceremonial Earthworks join the Yellowstone National Park, the Grand Canyon, the Statue of Liberty, and 21 others as U.S.-designated World Heritage sites. The designation is reserved for the places on earth that are of “Outstanding Universal Value” to humanity and will support the protection of the site for future generations.

The Hopewell Ceremonial Earthworks are a series of eight ancient monuments built in the middle of the Woodland period, between 1,600 and 2,000 years ago by people we now refer to as the Hopewell Culture. The Earthworks embody the artistry, spirituality, and architecture of the Hopewell peoples. They also reflect the commitment to preservation and collaboration that archaeologists and Tribal nations have maintained over the years.

This designation would not be possible without the collaboration of the Ohio History Connection, the National Parks Service, and local Tribal communities. May the celebration and preservation of the Hopewell Earthworks tell the story of Ohio history for generations to come. Congratulations.

TITLE V—REINS ENHANCEMENT ACT OF 2023

SEC. 2501. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the “Regulations from the Executive in Need of Scrutiny Enhancement Act of 2023” or the “REINS Enhancement Act of 2023”.

SEC. 2502. PURPOSE.

The purpose of this title is to increase accountability for and transparency in the Federal regulatory process. Section 1 of article I of the United States Constitution grants all legislative powers to Congress. Over time, Congress has excessively delegated its constitutional charge while failing to conduct appropriate oversight and retain accountability for the content of the laws it passes. By requiring a vote in Congress, the REINS Act will result in more carefully drafted and detailed legislation, an improved regulatory process, and a legislative branch that is truly accountable to the American people for the laws imposed upon them.

If such determination concludes a rule to be a major rule, such rule shall not take effect (or continue) unless Congress enacts a joint resolution of approval described under Section 802.

“For purposes of this section, a determination under this subparagraph shall be deemed to be a report under subparagraph (A).

“(2)(A) The Comptroller General shall provide a report on each major rule to the committees of jurisdiction by the end of 15 calendar days after the submission or publication date. “(c)(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section (except subject to paragraph (3)), a major rule may take effect for one 90-calendar-day period if the President makes a determination under paragraph (2) and submits written notice of such determination to the Congress.

“(2) Paragraph (1) applies to a determination made by the President by Executive order that the major rule should take effect because such rule is—

“(2) After a House of Congress receives a report classifying a rule as major pursuant to section 801(a)(1)(A)(iii), the majority leader of that House (or his or her respective designee) shall introduce (by request, if appropriate) a joint resolution described in paragraph (1)—

“(A) in the case of the House of Representatives, within 3 legislative days; and “(B) in the case of the Senate, within 3 session days.

“(3) A joint resolution described in paragraph (1) shall not be subject to amendment at any stage of proceeding.

“(b) A joint resolution described in subsection (a) shall be referred in each House of Congress to the committees having jurisdiction over the provision of law under which the rule is issued.

“(c) In the Senate, if the committee or committees to which a joint resolution described in subsection (a) has been referred have not reported it at the end of 15 session days after its introduction, such committee or committees shall be automatically discharged from further consideration of the resolution and it shall be placed on the calendar. The motion is not subject to amendment, or to a motion to postpone, or to a motion to proceed to the consideration of other business. A motion to reconsider the vote by which the motion is agreed to or disagreed to shall not be in order. If a motion to proceed to the consideration of the joint resolution is agreed to, the joint resolution shall remain the unfinished business of the Senate until disposed of.

“(2) In the Senate, debate on the joint resolution, and on all debatable motions and appeals in connection therewith, shall be limited to not more than 2 hours, which shall be divided equally between those favoring and those opposing the joint resolution. On the second and fourth Thursdays of each month it shall be in order at any time for the Speaker to recognize a Member who favors passage of a joint resolution that has appeared on the calendar for at least 5 legislative days to call up that joint resolution for immediate consideration in the House without intervention of any point of order. When so called up a joint resolution shall be considered as read and shall be debatable for 1 hour equally divided and controlled by the proponent and an opponent, and the previous question shall be considered as ordered to its passage without intervening motion. It shall not be in order to reconsider the vote on passage. If a vote on final passage of the joint resolution has not been taken by the third Thursday on which the Speaker may recognize a Member under this subsection, such vote shall be taken on that day.

“(f)(1) If, before passing a joint resolution described in subsection (a), one House receives from the other a joint resolution having the same text, then—

“(A) the joint resolution of the other House shall not be referred to a committee; and “(b) A joint resolution described in subsection (a) shall be referred to the committees in each House of Congress with jurisdiction.

“(c) In the Senate, if the committee to which is referred a joint resolution described in subsection (a) has not reported such joint resolution (or an identical joint resolution) at the end of 15 session days after the date of introduction of the joint resolution, such committee may be discharged from further consideration of such joint resolution upon a petition supported in writing by 30 Members of the Senate, and such joint resolution shall be placed on the calendar.

“(d)(1) In the Senate, when the committee to which a joint resolution is referred has reported, or when a committee is discharged (under subsection (c)) from further consideration of a joint resolution described in subsection (a), it is at any time thereafter in order (even though a previous motion to the same effect has been disagreed to) for a motion to proceed to the consideration of the joint resolution, and all points of order against the joint resolution (and against consideration of the joint resolution) are waived. The motion is not subject to amendment, or to a motion to postpone, or to a motion to proceed to the consideration of other business. A motion to reconsider the vote by which the motion is agreed to or disagreed to shall not be in order. If a motion to proceed to the consideration of the joint resolution is agreed to, the joint resolution shall remain the unfinished business of the Senate until disposed of.

“(2) In the Senate, debate on the joint resolution, and on all debatable motions and appeals in connection therewith, shall be limited to not more than 10 hours, which shall be divided equally between those favoring and those opposing the joint resolution. A motion to further limit debate is in order and not debatable. An amendment to, or a motion to postpone, or a motion to proceed to the consideration of other business, or a motion to recommit the joint resolution is not in order.

“(3) In the Senate, immediately following the conclusion of the debate on a joint resolution described in subsection (a), and a single quorum call at the conclusion of the debate if requested in accordance with the rules of the Senate, the vote on final passage of the joint resolution shall occur.

“(4) Appeals from the decisions of the Chair relating to the application of the rules of the Senate to the procedure relating to a joint resolution described in subsection (a) shall be decided without debate.

“(e) In the Senate, the procedure specified in subsection (c) or (d) shall not apply to the consideration of a joint resolution respecting a nonmajor rule—

“(f) If, before the passage by one House of a joint resolution of that House described in subsection (a), that House receives from the other House a joint resolution described in subsection (a), then the following procedures shall apply:

“(1) The joint resolution of the other House shall not be referred to a committee.

“(2) With respect to a joint resolution described in subsection (a) of the House receiving the joint resolution—

Section 208 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1158) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(f) RULES FOR DETERMINING ASYLUM ELIGIBILITY.—In making a determination under subsection (b)(1)(A) with respect to whether an alien is a refugee within the meaning of section 101(a)(42)(A), the following shall apply:

“(1) PARTICULAR SOCIAL GROUP.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General shall not determine that an alien is a member of a particular social group unless the alien articulates on the record, or provides a basis on the record for determining, the definition and boundaries of the alleged particular social group, establishes that the particular social group exists independently from the alleged persecution, and establishes that the alien’s claim of membership in a particular social group does not involve—

“(A) past or present criminal activity or association (including gang membership);

“(B) presence in a country with generalized violence or a high crime rate;

“(C) being the subject of a recruitment effort by criminal, terrorist, or persecutory groups;

“(D) the targeting of the applicant for criminal activity for financial gain based on perceptions of wealth or affluence;

“(E) interpersonal disputes of which governmental authorities in the relevant society or region were unaware or uninvolved;

“(F) private criminal acts of which governmental authorities in the relevant society or region were unaware or uninvolved;

“(G) past or present terrorist activity or association;

“(H) past or present persecutory activity or association; or

“(I) status as an alien returning from the United States.

“(2) POLITICAL OPINION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may not determine that an alien holds a political opinion with respect to which the alien is subject to persecution if the political opinion is constituted solely by generalized disapproval of, disagreement with, or opposition to criminal, terrorist, gang, guerilla, or other non-state organizations and does not include expressive behavior in furtherance of a cause against such organizations related to efforts by the State to control such organizations or behavior that is antithetical to or otherwise opposes the ruling legal entity of the State or a unit thereof.

“(3) PERSECUTION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may not determine that an alien has been subject to persecution or has a well-founded fear of persecution based only on—

“(A) the existence of laws or government policies that are unenforced or infrequently enforced, unless there is credible evidence that such a law or policy has been or would be applied to the applicant personally; or

“(B) the conduct of rogue foreign government officials acting outside the scope of their official capacity.

“(4) DISCRETIONARY DETERMINATION.—

“(A) ADVERSE DISCRETIONARY FACTORS.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may only grant asylum to an alien if the alien establishes that he or she warrants a favorable exercise of discretion. In making such a determination, the Attorney General or Secretary of Homeland Security shall consider, if applicable, an alien’s use of fraudulent documents to enter the United States, unless the alien arrived in the United States by air, sea, or land directly from the applicant’s home country without transiting through any other country.

“(B) FAVORABLE EXERCISE OF DISCRETION NOT PERMITTED.—Except as provided in subparagraph (C), the Attorney General or Secretary of Homeland Security shall not favorably exercise discretion under this section for any alien who—

“(i) has accrued more than one year of unlawful presence in the United States, as defined in sections 212(a)(9)(B)(ii) and (iii), prior to filing an application for asylum;

“(ii) at the time the asylum application is filed with the immigration court or is referred from the Department of Homeland Security, has—required Federal, State, or local income tax returns;

“(II) failed to satisfy any outstanding Federal, State, or local tax obligations; or

“(III) income that would result in tax liability under section 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and that was not reported to the Internal Revenue Service;

“(iii) has had two or more prior asylum applications denied for any reason;

“(iv) has withdrawn a prior asylum application with prejudice or been found to have abandoned a prior asylum application;

“(v) failed to attend an interview regarding his or her asylum application with the Department of Homeland Security, unless the alien shows by a preponderance of the evidence that—

“(I) exceptional circumstances prevented the alien from attending the interview; or

“(II) the interview notice was not mailed to the last address provided by the alien or the alien’s representative and neither the alien nor the alien’s representative received notice of the interview; or

“(vi) was subject to a final order of removal, deportation, or exclusion and did not file a motion to reopen to seek asylum based on changed country conditions within one year of the change in country conditions.

“(C) EXCEPTIONS.—If one or more of the adverse discretionary factors set forth in subparagraph (B) are present, the Attorney General or the Secretary, may, notwithstanding such subparagraph (B), favorably exercise discretion under section 208—

“(i) in extraordinary circumstances, such as those involving national security or foreign policy considerations; or

“(ii) if the alien, by clear and convincing evidence, demonstrates that the denial of the application for asylum would result in exceptional and extremely unusual hardship to the alien.

“(5) LIMITATION.—If the Secretary or the Attorney General determines that an alien fails to satisfy the requirement under paragraph (1), the alien may not be granted asylum based on membership in a particular social group, and may not appeal the determination of the Secretary or Attorney General, as applicable. A determination under this paragraph shall not serve as the basis for any motion to reopen or reconsider an application for asylum or withholding of removal for any reason, including a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel, unless the alien complies with the procedural requirements for such a motion and demonstrates that counsel’s failure to define, or provide a basis for defining, a formulation of a particular social group was both not a strategic choice and constituted egregious conduct.

“(6) STEREOTYPES.—Evidence offered in support of an application for asylum that promotes cultural stereotypes about a country, its inhabitants, or an alleged persecutor, including stereotypes based on race, religion, nationality, or gender, shall not be admissible in adjudicating that application, except that evidence that an alleged persecutor holds stereotypical views of the applicant shall be admissible.

“(7) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

“(A) The term ‘membership in a particular social group’ means membership in a group that is—

“(i) composed of members who share a common immutable characteristic;

“(ii) defined with particularity; and

“(iii) socially distinct within the society in question.

“(B) The term ‘political opinion’ means an ideal or conviction in support of the furtherance of a discrete cause related to political control of a state or a unit thereof.

“(C) the alien is a citizen of a country other than the country in which the alien alleges a fear of persecution, or was a citizen of such a country in the case of an alien who renounces such citizenship, and the alien was present in that country after departing his country of nationality or last habitual residence and prior to arrival in or entry into the United States.

“(2) BURDEN OF PROOF.—If an immigration judge determines that an alien has firmly resettled in another country under paragraph (1), the alien shall bear the burden of proving the bar does not apply.

“(3) FIRM RESETTLEMENT OF PARENT.—An alien shall be presumed to have been firmly resettled in another country if the alien’s parent was firmly resettled in another country, the parent’s resettlement occurred before the alien turned 18 years of age, and the alien resided with such parent at the time of the firm resettlement, unless the alien establishes that he or she could not have derived any permanent legal immigration status or any non-permanent but indefinitely renewable legal immigration status (including asylum, refugee, or similar status, but excluding status of a tourist) from the alien’s parent.”

“(j) CONSTRUCTION.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, judicial determination, consent decree, or settlement agreement, the detention of any alien child who is not an unaccompanied alien child shall be governed by sections 217, 235, 236, and 241 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1187, 1225, 1226, and 1231). There is no presumption that an alien child who is not an unaccompanied alien child should not be detained.

“(2) FAMILY DETENTION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security shall—

“(A) maintain the care and custody of an alien, during the period during which the charges described in clause (i) are pending, who—

“(i) is charged only with a misdemeanor offense under section 275(a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1325(a)); and

“(ii) entered the United States with the alien’s child who has not attained 18 years of age; and

“(B) detain the alien with the alien’s child.”.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the amendments in this section to section 235 of the William Wilberforce Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 (8 U.S.C. 1232) are intended to satisfy the requirements of the Settlement Agreement in Flores v. Meese, No. 85–4544 (C.D. Cal.), as approved by the court on January 28, 1997, with respect to its interpretation in Flores v. Johnson, 212 F. Supp. 3d 864 (C.D. Cal. 2015), that the agreement applies to accompanied minors.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act and shall apply to all actions that occur before, on, or after such date.

(d) PREEMPTION OF STATE LICENSING REQUIREMENTS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, judicial determination, consent decree, or settlement agreement, no State may require that an immigration detention facility used to detain children who have not attained 18 years of age, or families consisting of one or more of such children and the parents or legal guardians of such children, that is located in that State, be licensed by the State or any political subdivision thereof.

TITLE V—PROTECTION OF CHILDREN

SEC. 501. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Implementation of the provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 that govern unaccompanied alien children has incentivized multiple surges of unaccompanied alien children arriving at the southwest border in the years since the bill’s enactment.

(2) The provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 that govern unaccompanied alien children treat unaccompanied alien children from countries that are contiguous to the United States disparately by swiftly returning them to their home country absent indications of trafficking or a credible fear of return, but allowing for the release of unaccompanied alien children from noncontiguous countries into the interior of the United States, often to those individuals who paid to smuggle them into the country in the first place.

(3) The provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 governing unaccompanied alien children have enriched the cartels, who profit hundreds of millions of dollars each year by smuggling unaccompanied alien children to the southwest border, exploiting and sexually abusing many such unaccompanied alien children on the perilous journey.

(4) Prior to 2008, the number of unaccompanied alien children encountered at the southwest border never exceeded 1,000 in a single year.

(5) The United States is currently in the midst of the worst crisis of unaccompanied alien children in our nation’s history, with over 350,000 such unaccompanied alien children encountered at the southwest border since Joe Biden became President.

(6) In 2022, during the Biden Administration, 152,057 unaccompanied alien children were encountered, the most ever in a single year and an over 400 percent increase compared to the last full fiscal year of the Trump Administration in which 33,239 unaccompanied alien children were encountered.

(7) The Biden Administration has lost contact with at least 85,000 unaccompanied alien children who entered the United States since Joe Biden took office.

(8) The Biden Administration dismantled effective safeguards put in place by the Trump Administration that protected unaccompanied alien children from being abused by criminals or exploited for illegal and dangerous child labor.

(9) A recent New York Times investigation found that unaccompanied alien children are being exploited in the labor market and “are ending up in some of the most punishing jobs in the country.”.

(10) The Times investigation found unaccompanied alien children, “under intense pressure to earn money” in order to “send cash back to their families while often being in debt to their sponsors for smuggling fees, rent, and living expenses,” feared “that they had become trapped in circumstances they never could have imagined.”.

(11) The Biden Administration’s Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Xavier Becerra compared placing unaccompanied alien children with sponsors, to widgets in an assembly line, stating that, “If Henry Ford had seen this in his plant, he would have never become famous and rich. This is not the way you do an assembly line.”.

(12) Department of Health and Human Services employees working under Secretary Xavier Becerra’s leadership penned a July 2021 memorandum expressing serious concern that “labor trafficking was increasing” and that the agency had become “one that rewards individuals for making quick releases, and not one that rewards individuals for preventing unsafe releases.”.

(13) Despite this, Secretary Xavier Becerra pressured then-Director of the Office of Refugee Resettlement Cindy Huang to prioritize releases of unaccompanied alien children over ensuring their safety, telling her “if she could not increase the number of discharges he would find someone who could” and then-Director Huang resigned one month later.

(14) In June 2014, the Obama-Biden Administration requested legal authority to exercise discretion in returning and removing unaccompanied alien children from non-contiguous countries back to their home countries.

(15) In August 2014, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 5320, which included the Protection of Children Act.

(16) This title ends the disparate policies of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 by ensuring the swift return of all unaccompanied alien children to their country of origin if they are not victims of trafficking and do not have a fear of return.

TITLE VII—IMMIGRATION PAROLE REFORM

SEC. 701. IMMIGRATION PAROLE REFORM.

Section 212(d)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(d)(5)) is amended to read as follows:

“(5)(A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) and section 214(f), the Secretary of Homeland Security, in the discretion of the Secretary, may temporarily parole into the United States any alien applying for admission to the United States who is not present in the United States, under such conditions as the Secretary may prescribe, on a case-by-case basis, and not according to eligibility criteria describing an entire class of potential parole recipients, for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit. Parole granted under this subparagraph may not be regarded as an admission of the alien. When the purposes of such parole have been served in the opinion of the Secretary, the alien shall immediately return or be returned to the custody from which the alien was paroled. After such return, the case of the alien shall be dealt with in the same manner as the case of any other applicant for admission to the United States.

“(B) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to any alien who—

“(i) is present in the United States without lawful immigration status;

“(ii) is the beneficiary of an approved petition under section 203(a);

“(iii) is not otherwise inadmissible or removable; and

“(iv) is the spouse or child of a member of the Armed Forces serving on active duty.

“(C) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to any alien—

“(i) who is a national of the Republic of Cuba and is living in the Republic of Cuba;

“(ii) who is the beneficiary of an approved petition under section 203(a);

“(iii) for whom an immigrant visa is not immediately available;

“(iv) who meets all eligibility requirements for an immigrant visa;

“(v) who is not otherwise inadmissible; and

“(vi) who is receiving a grant of parole in furtherance of the commitment of the United States to the minimum level of annual legal migration of Cuban nationals to the United States specified in the U.S.-Cuba Joint Communiqué on Migration, Building on the Agreement of September 9, 1994, done at New York September 9, 1994, and reaffirmed in the Cuba-United States: Joint Statement on Normalization of Migration, Building on the Agreement of September 9, 1994, done at New York May 2, 1995.

“(D) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to an alien who is returned to a contiguous country under section 235(b)(3) to allow the alien to attend the alien’s immigration hearing. The grant of parole shall not exceed the time required for the alien to be escorted to, and attend, the alien’s immigration hearing scheduled on the same calendar day as the grant, and to immediately thereafter be escorted back to the contiguous country. A grant of parole under this subparagraph shall not be considered for purposes of determining whether the alien is inadmissible under this Act.

“(E) For purposes of determining an alien’s eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), an urgent humanitarian reason shall be limited to circumstances in which the alien establishes that—

“(i)(I) the alien has a medical emergency; and

“(II)(aa) the alien cannot obtain necessary treatment in the foreign state in which the alien is residing; or

“(bb) the medical emergency is life-threatening and there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(ii) the alien is the parent or legal guardian of an alien described in clause (i) and the alien described in clause (i) is a minor;

“(iii) the alien is needed in the United States in order to donate an organ or other tissue for transplant and there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(iv) the alien has a close family member in the United States whose death is imminent and the alien could not arrive in the United States in time to see such family member alive if the alien were to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(v) the alien is seeking to attend the funeral of a close family member and the alien could not arrive in the United States in time to attend such funeral if the alien were to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(vi) the alien is an adopted child with an urgent medical condition who is in the legal custody of the petitioner for a final adoption-related visa and whose medical treatment is required before the expected award of a final adoption-related visa; or

“(vii) the alien is a lawful applicant for adjustment of status under section 245 and is returning to the United States after temporary travel abroad.

“(F) For purposes of determining an alien’s eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), a significant public benefit may be determined to result from the parole of an alien only if—

“(i) the alien has assisted (or will assist, whether knowingly or not) the United States Government in a law enforcement matter;

“(ii) the alien’s presence is required by the Government in furtherance of such law enforcement matter; and

“(iii) the alien is inadmissible, does not satisfy the eligibility requirements for admission as a nonimmigrant, or there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process.

“(G) For purposes of determining an alien’s eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), the term ‘case-by-case basis’ means that the facts in each individual case are considered and parole is not granted based on membership in a defined class of aliens to be granted parole. The fact that aliens are considered for or granted parole one-by-one and not as a group is not sufficient to establish that the parole decision is made on a ‘case-by-case basis’.

“(H) The Secretary of Homeland Security may not use the parole authority under this paragraph to parole an alien into the United States for any reason or purpose other than those described in subparagraphs (B), (C), (D), (E), and (F).

“(I) An alien granted parole may not accept employment, except that an alien granted parole pursuant to subparagraph (B) or (C) is authorized to accept employment for the duration of the parole, as evidenced by an employment authorization document issued by the Secretary of Homeland Security.

“(J) Parole granted after a departure from the United States shall not be regarded as an admission of the alien. An alien granted parole, whether as an initial grant of parole or parole upon reentry into the United States, is not eligible to adjust status to lawful permanent residence or for any other immigration benefit if the immigration status the alien had at the time of departure did not authorize the alien to adjust status or to be eligible for such benefit.

“(K)(i) Except as provided in clauses (ii) and (iii), parole shall be granted to an alien under this paragraph for the shorter of—

“(I) a period of sufficient length to accomplish the activity described in subparagraph (D), (E), or (F) for which the alien was granted parole; or

“(II) 1 year.

“(ii) Grants of parole pursuant to subparagraph (A) may be extended once, in the discretion of the Secretary, for an additional period that is the shorter of—

“(I) the period that is necessary to accomplish the activity described in subparagraph (E) or (F) for which the alien was granted parole; or

“(II) 1 year.

“(iii) Aliens who have a pending application to adjust status to permanent residence under section 245 may request extensions of parole under this paragraph, in 1-year increments, until the application for adjustment has been adjudicated. Such parole shall terminate immediately upon the denial of such adjustment application.

“(L) Not later than 90 days after the last day of each fiscal year, the Secretary of Homeland Security shall submit to the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate and the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives and make available to the public, a report—

“(i) identifying the total number of aliens paroled into the United States under this paragraph during the previous fiscal year; and

“(ii) containing information and data regarding all aliens paroled during such fiscal year, including—

“(I) the duration of parole;

“(II) the type of parole; and

“(III) the current status of the aliens so paroled.”.

(2) Section 212(d)(5)(J) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as added by section 701 of this title, shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(3) Aliens who were paroled into the United States pursuant to section 212(d)(5)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(d)(5)(A)) before January 1, 2023, shall continue to be subject to the terms of parole that were in effect on the date on which their respective parole was approved.

SEC. 703. CAUSE OF ACTION.

Any person, State, or local government that experiences financial harm in excess of $1,000 due to a failure of the Federal Government to lawfully apply the provisions of this title or the amendments made by this title shall have standing to bring a civil action against the Federal Government in an appropriate district court of the United States for appropriate relief.

SEC. 704. SEVERABILITY.

If any provision of this title or any amendment by this title, or the application of such provision or amendment to any person or circumstance, is held to be unconstitutional, the remainder of this title and the application of such provision or amendment to any other person or circumstance shall not be affected.

SEC. 107. RULES FOR DETERMINING ASYLUM ELIGIBILITY.

Section 208 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1158) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(f) RULES FOR DETERMINING ASYLUM ELIGIBILITY.—In making a determination under subsection (b)(1)(A) with respect to whether an alien is a refugee within the meaning of section 101(a)(42)(A), the following shall apply:

“(1) PARTICULAR SOCIAL GROUP.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General shall not determine that an alien is a member of a particular social group unless the alien articulates on the record, or provides a basis on the record for determining, the definition and boundaries of the alleged particular social group, establishes that the particular social group exists independently from the alleged persecution, and establishes that the alien’s claim of membership in a particular social group does not involve—

“(A) past or present criminal activity or association (including gang membership);

“(B) presence in a country with generalized violence or a high crime rate;

“(C) being the subject of a recruitment effort by criminal, terrorist, or persecutory groups;

“(D) the targeting of the applicant for criminal activity for financial gain based on perceptions of wealth or affluence;

“(E) interpersonal disputes of which governmental authorities in the relevant society or region were unaware or uninvolved;

“(F) private criminal acts of which governmental authorities in the relevant society or region were unaware or uninvolved;

“(G) past or present terrorist activity or association;

“(H) past or present persecutory activity or association; or

“(I) status as an alien returning from the United States.

“(2) POLITICAL OPINION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may not determine that an alien holds a political opinion with respect to which the alien is subject to persecution if the political opinion is constituted solely by generalized disapproval of, disagreement with, or opposition to criminal, terrorist, gang, guerilla, or other non-state organizations and does not include expressive behavior in furtherance of a cause against such organizations related to efforts by the State to control such organizations or behavior that is antithetical to or otherwise opposes the ruling legal entity of the State or a unit thereof.

“(3) PERSECUTION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may not determine that an alien has been subject to persecution or has a well-founded fear of persecution based only on—

“(A) the existence of laws or government policies that are unenforced or infrequently enforced, unless there is credible evidence that such a law or policy has been or would be applied to the applicant personally; or

“(B) the conduct of rogue foreign government officials acting outside the scope of their official capacity.

“(4) DISCRETIONARY DETERMINATION.—

“(A) ADVERSE DISCRETIONARY FACTORS.—The Secretary of Homeland Security or the Attorney General may only grant asylum to an alien if the alien establishes that he or she warrants a favorable exercise of discretion. In making such a determination, the Attorney General or Secretary of Homeland Security shall consider, if applicable, an alien’s use of fraudulent documents to enter the United States, unless the alien arrived in the United States by air, sea, or land directly from the applicant’s home country without transiting through any other country.

“(B) FAVORABLE EXERCISE OF DISCRETION NOT PERMITTED.—Except as provided in subparagraph (C), the Attorney General or Secretary of Homeland Security shall not favorably exercise discretion under this section for any alien who—

“(i) has accrued more than one year of unlawful presence in the United States, as defined in sections 212(a)(9)(B)(ii) and (iii), prior to filing an application for asylum;

“(ii) at the time the asylum application is filed with the immigration court or is referred from the Department of Homeland Security, has—

“(I) failed to timely file (or timely file a request for an extension of time to file) any required Federal, State, or local income tax returns;

“(II) failed to satisfy any outstanding Federal, State, or local tax obligations; or

“(III) income that would result in tax liability under section 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and that was not reported to the Internal Revenue Service;

“(iii) has had two or more prior asylum applications denied for any reason;

“(iv) has withdrawn a prior asylum application with prejudice or been found to have abandoned a prior asylum application;

“(v) failed to attend an interview regarding his or her asylum application with the Department of Homeland Security, unless the alien shows by a preponderance of the evidence that—

“(I) exceptional circumstances prevented the alien from attending the interview; or

“(II) the interview notice was not mailed to the last address provided by the alien or the alien’s representative and neither the alien nor the alien’s representative received notice of the interview; or

“(vi) was subject to a final order of removal, deportation, or exclusion and did not file a motion to reopen to seek asylum based on changed country conditions within one year of the change in country conditions.

“(C) EXCEPTIONS.—If one or more of the adverse discretionary factors set forth in subparagraph (B) are present, the Attorney General or the Secretary, may, notwithstanding such subparagraph (B), favorably exercise discretion under section 208—

“(i) in extraordinary circumstances, such as those involving national security or foreign policy considerations; or “(ii) if the alien, by clear and convincing evidence, demonstrates that the denial of the application for asylum would result in exceptional and extremely unusual hardship to the alien.

“(5) LIMITATION.—If the Secretary or the Attorney General determines that an alien fails to satisfy the requirement under paragraph (1), the alien may not be granted asylum based on membership in a particular social group, and may not appeal the determination of the Secretary or Attorney General, as applicable. A determination under this paragraph shall not serve as the basis for any motion to reopen or reconsider an application for asylum or withholding of removal for any reason, including a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel, unless the alien complies with the procedural requirements for such a motion and demonstrates that counsel’s failure to define, or provide a basis for defining, a formulation of a particular social group was both not a strategic choice and constituted egregious conduct.

“(6) STEREOTYPES.—Evidence offered in support of an application for asylum that promotes cultural stereotypes about a country, its inhabitants, or an alleged persecutor, including stereotypes based on race, religion, nationality, or gender, shall not be admissible in adjudicating that application, except that evidence that an alleged persecutor holds stereotypical views of the applicant shall be admissible.

“(7) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

“(A) The term ‘membership in a particular social group’ means membership in a group that is—

“(i) composed of members who share a common immutable characteristic;

“(ii) defined with particularity; and

“(B) the alien physically resided voluntarily, and without continuing to suffer persecution or torture, in any one country for one year or more after departing his country of nationality or last habitual residence and prior to arrival in or entry into the United States, except for any time spent in Mexico by an alien who is not a native or citizen of Mexico solely as a direct result of being returned to Mexico pursuant to section 235(b)(3) or of being subject to metering; or

“(C) the alien is a citizen of a country other than the country in which the alien alleges a fear of persecution, or was a citizen of such a country in the case of an alien who renounces such citizenship, and the alien was present in that country after departing his country of nationality or last habitual residence and prior to arrival in or entry into the United States.

“(2) BURDEN OF PROOF.—If an immigration judge determines that an alien has firmly resettled in another country under paragraph (1), the alien shall bear the burden of proving the bar does not apply.

“(3) FIRM RESETTLEMENT OF PARENT.—An alien shall be presumed to have been firmly resettled in another country if the alien’s parent was firmly resettled in another country, the parent’s resettlement occurred before the alien turned 18 years of age, and the alien resided with such parent at the time of the firm resettlement, unless the alien establishes that he or she could not have derived any permanent legal immigration status or any non-permanent but indefinitely renewable legal immigration status (including asylum, refugee, or similar status, but excluding status of a tourist) from the alien’s parent.”

“(ii) entered the United States with the alien’s child who has not attained 18 years of age; and

“(B) detain the alien with the alien’s child.”.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the amendments in this section to section 235 of the William Wilberforce Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 (8 U.S.C. 1232) are intended to satisfy the requirements of the Settlement Agreement in Flores v. Meese, No. 85–4544 (C.D. Cal.), as approved by the court on January 28, 1997, with respect to its interpretation in Flores v. Johnson, 212 F. Supp. 3d 864 (C.D. Cal. 2015), that the agreement applies to accompanied minors.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act and shall apply to all actions that occur before, on, or after such date.

(d) PREEMPTION OF STATE LICENSING REQUIREMENTS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, judicial determination, consent decree, or settlement agreement, no State may require that an immigration detention facility used to detain children who have not attained 18 years of age, or families consisting of one or more of such children and the parents or legal guardians of such children, that is located in that State, be licensed by the State or any political subdivision thereof.

TITLE V—PROTECTION OF CHILDREN

SEC. 501. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Implementation of the provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 that govern unaccompanied alien children has incentivized multiple surges of unaccompanied alien children arriving at the southwest border in the years since the bill’s enactment.

(2) The provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 that govern unaccompanied alien children treat unaccompanied alien children from countries that are contiguous to the United States disparately by swiftly returning them to their home country absent indications of trafficking or a credible fear of return, but allowing for the release of unaccompanied alien children from noncontiguous countries into the interior of the United States, often to those individuals who paid to smuggle them into the country in the first place.

(3) The provisions of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 governing unaccompanied alien children have enriched the cartels, who profit hundreds of millions of dollars each year by smuggling unaccompanied alien children to the southwest border, exploiting and sexually abusing many such unaccompanied alien children on the perilous journey.

(4) Prior to 2008, the number of unaccompanied alien children encountered at the southwest border never exceeded 1,000 in a single year.

(5) The United States is currently in the midst of the worst crisis of unaccompanied alien children in our nation’s history, with over 350,000 such unaccompanied alien children encountered at the southwest border since Joe Biden became President.

(6) In 2022, during the Biden Administration, 152,057 unaccompanied alien children were encountered, the most ever in a single year and an over 400 percent increase compared to the last full fiscal year of the Trump Administration in which 33,239 unaccompanied alien children were encountered.

(7) The Biden Administration has lost contact with at least 85,000 unaccompanied alien children who entered the United States since Joe Biden took office.

(8) The Biden Administration dismantled effective safeguards put in place by the Trump Administration that protected unaccompanied alien children from being abused by criminals or exploited for illegal and dangerous child labor.

(9) A recent New York Times investigation found that unaccompanied alien children are being exploited in the labor market and “are ending up in some of the most punishing jobs in the country.”.

(10) The Times investigation found unaccompanied alien children, “under intense pressure to earn money” in order to “send cash back to their families while often being in debt to their sponsors for smuggling fees, rent, and living expenses,” feared “that they had become trapped in circumstances they never could have imagined.”.

(11) The Biden Administration’s Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Xavier Becerra compared placing unaccompanied alien children with sponsors, to widgets in an assembly line, stating that, “If Henry Ford had seen this in his plant, he would have never become famous and rich. This is not the way you do an assembly line.”.

(12) Department of Health and Human Services employees working under Secretary Xavier Becerra’s leadership penned a July 2021 memorandum expressing serious concern that “labor trafficking was increasing” and that the agency had become “one that rewards individuals for making quick releases, and not one that rewards individuals for preventing unsafe releases.”.

(13) Despite this, Secretary Xavier Becerra pressured then-Director of the Office of Refugee Resettlement Cindy Huang to prioritize releases of unaccompanied alien children over ensuring their safety, telling her “if she could not increase the number of discharges he would find someone who could” and then-Director Huang resigned one month later.

(14) In June 2014, the Obama-Biden Administration requested legal authority to exercise discretion in returning and removing unaccompanied alien children from non-contiguous countries back to their home countries.

(15) In August 2014, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 5320, which included the Protection of Children Act.

(16) This title ends the disparate policies of the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 by ensuring the swift return of all unaccompanied alien children to their country of origin if they are not victims of trafficking and do not have a fear of return.

TITLE VII—IMMIGRATION PAROLE REFORM

SEC. 701. IMMIGRATION PAROLE REFORM.

Section 212(d)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(d)(5)) is amended to read as follows:

“(5)(A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C) and section 214(f), the Secretary of Homeland Security, in the discretion of the Secretary, may temporarily parole into the United States any alien applying for admission to the United States who is not present in the United States, under such conditions as the Secretary may prescribe, on a case-by-case basis, and not according to eligibility criteria describing an entire class of potential parole recipients, for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit. Parole granted under this subparagraph may not be regarded as an admission of the alien. When the purposes of such parole have been served in the opinion of the Secretary, the alien shall immediately return or be returned to the custody from which the alien was paroled. After such return, the case of the alien shall be dealt with in the same manner as the case of any other applicant for admission to the United States.

“(B) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to any alien who—

“(i) is present in the United States without lawful immigration status;

“(ii) is the beneficiary of an approved petition under section 203(a);

“(iii) is not otherwise inadmissible or removable; and

“(iv) is the spouse or child of a member of the Armed Forces serving on active duty.

“(C) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to any alien—

“(i) who is a national of the Republic of Cuba and is living in the Republic of Cuba;

“(ii) who is the beneficiary of an approved petition under section 203(a);

“(iii) for whom an immigrant visa is not immediately available;

“(iv) who meets all eligibility requirements for an immigrant visa;

“(v) who is not otherwise inadmissible; and

“(vi) who is receiving a grant of parole in furtherance of the commitment of the United States to the minimum level of annual legal migration of Cuban nationals to the United States specified in the U.S.-Cuba Joint Communiqué on Migration, done at New York September 9, 1994, and reaffirmed in the Cuba-United States: Joint Statement on Normalization of Migration, Building on the Agreement of September 9, 1994, done at New York May 2, 1995.

“(D) The Secretary of Homeland Security may grant parole to an alien who is returned to a contiguous country under section 235(b)(3) to allow the alien to attend the alien's immigration hearing. The grant of parole shall not exceed the time required for the alien to be escorted to, and attend, the alien's immigration hearing scheduled on the same calendar day as the grant, and to immediately thereafter be escorted back to the contiguous country. A grant of parole under this subparagraph shall not be considered for purposes of determining whether the alien is inadmissible under this Act.

“(E) For purposes of determining an alien's eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), an urgent humanitarian reason shall be limited to circumstances in which the alien establishes that—

“(i)(I) the alien has a medical emergency; and

“(II)(aa) the alien cannot obtain necessary treatment in the foreign state in which the alien is residing; or

“(bb) the medical emergency is life-threatening and there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(ii) the alien is the parent or legal guardian of an alien described in clause (i) and the alien described in clause (i) is a minor;

“(iii) the alien is needed in the United States in order to donate an organ or other tissue for transplant and there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(iv) the alien has a close family member in the United States whose death is imminent and the alien could not arrive in the United States in time to see such family member alive if the alien were to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(v) the alien is seeking to attend the funeral of a close family member and the alien could not arrive in the United States in time to attend such funeral if the alien were to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process;

“(vi) the alien is an adopted child with an urgent medical condition who is in the legal custody of the petitioner for a final adoption-related visa and whose medical treatment is required before the expected award of a final adoption-related visa; or

“(vii) the alien is a lawful applicant for adjustment of status under section 245 and is returning to the United States after temporary travel abroad.

“(F) For purposes of determining an alien's eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), a significant public benefit may be determined to result from the parole of an alien only if—

“(i) the alien has assisted (or will assist, whether knowingly or not) the United States Government in a law enforcement matter;

“(ii) the alien's presence is required by the Government in furtherance of such law enforcement matter; and

“(iii) the alien is inadmissible, does not satisfy the eligibility requirements for admission as a nonimmigrant, or there is insufficient time for the alien to be admitted to the United States through the normal visa process.

“(G) For purposes of determining an alien's eligibility for parole under subparagraph (A), the term ‘case-by-case basis’ means that the facts in each individual case are considered and parole is not granted based on membership in a defined class of aliens to be granted parole. The fact that aliens are considered for or granted parole one-by-one and not as a group is not sufficient to establish that the parole decision is made on a ‘case-by-case basis’.

“(H) The Secretary of Homeland Security may not use the parole authority under this paragraph to parole an alien into the United States for any reason or purpose other than those described in subparagraphs (B), (C), (D), (E), and (F).

“(I) An alien granted parole may not accept employment, except that an alien granted parole pursuant to subparagraph (B) or (C) is authorized to accept employment for the duration of the parole, as evidenced by an employment authorization document issued by the Secretary of Homeland Security.

“(J) Parole granted after a departure from the United States shall not be regarded as an admission of the alien. An alien granted parole, whether as an initial grant of parole or parole upon reentry into the United States, is not eligible to adjust status to lawful permanent residence or for any other immigration benefit if the immigration status the alien had at the time of departure did not authorize the alien to adjust status or to be eligible for such benefit.

“(K)(i) Except as provided in clauses (ii) and (iii), parole shall be granted to an alien under this paragraph for the shorter of—

“(I) a period of sufficient length to accomplish the activity described in subparagraph (D), (E), or (F) for which the alien was granted parole; or

“(II) 1 year.

“(ii) Grants of parole pursuant to subparagraph (A) may be extended once, in the discretion of the Secretary, for an additional period that is the shorter of—

“(I) the period that is necessary to accomplish the activity described in subparagraph (E) or (F) for which the alien was granted parole; or

“(II) 1 year.

“(iii) Aliens who have a pending application to adjust status to permanent residence under section 245 may request extensions of parole under this paragraph, in 1-year increments, until the application for adjustment has been adjudicated. Such parole shall terminate immediately upon the denial of such adjustment application.

“(L) Not later than 90 days after the last day of each fiscal year, the Secretary of Homeland Security shall submit to the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate and the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives and make available to the public, a report—

“(i) identifying the total number of aliens paroled into the United States under this paragraph during the previous fiscal year; and

“(ii) containing information and data regarding all aliens paroled during such fiscal year, including—

“(I) the duration of parole;

“(II) the type of parole; and

“(III) the current status of the aliens so paroled.”.

SEC. 702. IMPLEMENTATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subsection (b), this title and the amendments made by this title shall take effect on the date that is 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(b) EXCEPTIONS.—Notwithstanding subsection (a), each of the following exceptions apply:

(1) Any application for parole or advance parole filed by an alien before the date of the enactment of this Act shall be adjudicated under the law that was in effect on the date on which the application was properly filed and any approved advance parole shall remain valid under the law that was in effect on the date on which the advance parole was approved.

(2) Section 212(d)(5)(J) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as added by section 701 of this title, shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(3) Aliens who were paroled into the United States pursuant to section 212(d)(5)(A) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(d)(5)(A)) before January 1, 2023, shall continue to be subject to the terms of parole that were in effect on the date on which their respective parole was approved.

SEC. 703. CAUSE OF ACTION.

Any person, State, or local government that experiences financial harm in excess of $1,000 due to a failure of the Federal Government to lawfully apply the provisions of this title or the amendments made by this title shall have standing to bring a civil action against the Federal Government in an appropriate district court of the United States for appropriate relief.

SEC. 704. SEVERABILITY.

If any provision of this title or any amendment by this title, or the application of such provision or amendment to any person or circumstance, is held to be unconstitutional, the remainder of this title and the application of such provision or amendment to any other person or circumstance shall not be affected.

SA 1338. (b) None of the funds made available by this Act may be used to—

(1) establish, implement, or enforce any provision of a risk evaluation and mitigation strategy under section 505-1 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 355-1) for mifepristone that is substantially similar to any of the modifications nullified by subsection (a); or

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

RECOGNIZING ARNOLD LOUIS GRAY WITH A CONGRESSIONAL VETERAN COMMENDATION

HON. PETE SESSIONS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to present Arnold Louis Gray of Groesbeck, Texas with a Congressional Veteran Commendation. Today we honor an exemplary citizen whose continued leadership beyond his active duty has cemented him as a pillar of his community.

In 1966, at the age of 24, Arnold joined the Army and began as a recruiter in New York. His resilience was tested in Vietnam. Amid the Tet Offensive, when a critical helicopter crew met a tragic end, he stepped up as a door gunner. Following Vietnam, during Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia, Arnold stood firm as a Team Commander of tanks at the German border. Throughout these times, he was recognized with commendations including the National Defense Service Medal, Army Commendation Medal, and Vietnam Service Medals, among others. He attained the rank of Specialist 5, receiving his honorable discharge in 1969.

Upon returning stateside, he achieved a Bachelor of Business Administration from Sam Houston State University. Arnold and his beloved wife, Penny, reside in Limestone County, raising Brangus cattle. In his community, Arnold's commitment shines through. He's been influential in church activities, notably at the Groesbeck Methodist Church. The duo's dedication to youth is evident in their support for the Limestone County 4H, FFA, and agricultural programs.

A testament to his leadership, Arnold has served organizations ranging from the Limestone County Fair Association to the Groesbeck Masonic Lodge. His service earned him the Golden Trowel award. He's also been active in the American Legion, Tri-County Antique Tractor Club, and has been a driving force behind numerous local boards.

Arnold and Penny's contributions to Limestone County haven't gone unnoticed. They've been hailed as citizens of the year by the Groesbeck Chamber of Commerce, with October 12, 2021, named in their honor. To many, Arnold's wisdom and integrity make him the "Go-To Guy." When questions arise, often the question asked is, "what would Arnold do?"

For his unwavering service to the Nation and continued leadership in his community, I am honored to present the Congressional Veteran Commendation to Arnold L. Gray.

RECOGNIZING BERTHA RAMSEY

HON. RASHIDA TLAIB

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in honor of Bertha Ramsey, a long-time resident of the City of Detroit, as she celebrates 100 years of life.

Born October 2, 1923, Mother Ramsey's loving parents instilled in her the values of patience and hard work, as they raised her and her 12 siblings in rural Laurel, Mississippi. Her compassionate nature shined through in everything she did, and she always held onto faith, especially in trying times.

A move to Detroit in 1942 was pivotal for Mother Ramsey. It wasn't merely a change of address. In Detroit, she witnessed the World War II era, the Detroit race protests of 1943, the milestones of the Civil Rights Movement, the profound impact of the 1967 Detroit Rebellion, Detroit's first Black mayor, and the groundbreaking election of Barack Obama. Detroit was also where Bertha's path crossed with Burnett Ramsey. Together, they raised 4 children in a home full of love. As the family tree expanded to 8 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren, and 6 great-great-grandchildren, Bertha emerged as the spiritual compass, always emphasizing the importance of faith and kinship.

Please join me in wishing Mother Bertha Ramsey a happy 100th birthday as we recognize her contributions to our community in Detroit.

RECOGNIZING DAVID M. BAIRD

HON. CATHY McMORRIS RODGERS

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mrs. RODGERS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize David M. Baird for his selfless dedication and service to the veterans of Eastern Washington. On September 24, 2023, after 13 years of service as Director of the Spokane Veterans Center, David began a new journey as the Senior Social Worker at the Boise VA Medical Center in Idaho.

David is a Navy veteran and therapist with a distinguished record of service. In his role as director, he completely transformed the Spokane Veterans Center from a small, simple office to a much larger and more welcoming facility. As a result, the Vet Center—as it's known to those it serves in our community—is more equipped to keep the promise of supporting veterans than ever.

Under David's leadership, the Vet Center has become a model of best practices. It's home to top-notch social and psychological services, as well as readjustment counseling programs, all of which have received national recognition for the high level of compassion and care they provide. On average, the facility serves more than 15,000 veterans who walk through its doors each year.

These programs offered at the Vet Center have served as a lifeline for veterans suffering from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). They connect veterans with one another in open, non-judgmental settings, removing the stigma that is too often a barrier to seeking help. They have also been crucial for Gold Star families who rely on the Center for bereavement counseling as they cope with the heart-piercing grief of losing a family member on active duty.

Mr. Baird also established new therapeutic practices and facilities, including the "Heroes Garden" on the Spokane Vet Center campus, which offers a safe place for peaceful reflection to veterans and Gold Star family members. Additionally, he created a Native American sweat lodge experience for veterans and family members that takes place four times a year. David accomplished all this while successfully implementing a first-in-the-nation childcare program for veterans seeking readjustment counseling appointments at the facility.

David's dedication and tireless efforts have made him invaluable to our community. He has volunteered countless hours as a mental health professional for the Honor Flight Association, partnered with nonprofit agencies to provide stress-reduction wilderness retreats for veterans, and served as the Veteran Entry Coordinator for Spokane's annual Lilac Festival Torchlight Parade—the largest Armed Forces Day Parade in the Nation.

The number of lives David has changed is too many to count. I am deeply grateful to him for his dedication to our veterans, our community, and the United States of America through the years. Mr. Speaker, as David enters this new and exciting chapter, I ask my colleagues to join me in thanking him for his incredible contributions and wishing him all the best.

AGRICULTURE, RURAL DEVELOPMENT, FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION, AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2024

SPEECH OF

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 26, 2023

Ms. McCOLLUM. Mr. Chair, I rise in opposition to H.R. 4368, the Republican FY24 Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Act.

Less than one week before the government is set to shut down, House Republicans brought forward a slate of funding bills that have no chance of passing the Senate or being signed into law by President Biden. With this bill, Republicans have doubled down on their cuts to the critical rural programs America's farmers rely on. The bill was so extreme

● This "bullet" symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.

Matter set in this typeface indicates words inserted or appended, rather than spoken, by a Member of the House on the floor.

that nearly 30 Republicans voted against it when it failed to pass the House Thursday evening by a vote of 191–237.

In July, Republicans passed out of the Appropriations Committee an Agriculture appropriations bill that provides just $17.2 billion—a funding level so low, it was last seen in 2007—and $9 billion below what was provided in 2023. It slashes loans that provide support for distressed farmers and funds for rural electric cooperatives. It underfunds direct loans for water and waste removal, money that ensures rural Americans have access to clean drinking water, and cuts the cash value voucher in the Women, Infants, and Children Program (WIC), undermining more than 100,000 Minnesotans' access to nutrition assistance.

But Mr. Chair, it seems as though the bill passed out of the Appropriations Committee didn't go far enough. With the passage of the rule on Tuesday, an additional 14.15 percent across-the-board cut was implemented on every program contained within this bill. In addition, another $1.2 billion was cut from the vital Food for Peace Program, a program that ensures people around the world have access to nutritious surplus food grown by America's farmers.

This bill also contains harmful and partisan policy riders meant to appease the most extreme right-wing members of the Republican Caucus. The bill reverses a decision by the FDA to allow mifepristone to be dispensed in certified pharmacies to patients with a certified prescriber, instead of only in hospitals, clinics, and medical offices. Mifepristone has been safely used by more than 5 million women over the last two decades for safe and effective medication abortion. Congress acting to overturn a science-based decision by the Food and Drug Administration is yet another attempt by the majority to limit women's access to reproductive health care.

Mr. Chair, this bill is dead on arrival in the Senate. Instead of using this final week of Fiscal Year 2023 passing bills that will never become law, House Republican leadership should have focused on keeping the government open for the American people.

HONORING WILLIAM (BILL)
EMANUEL BARNABY

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor William (Bill) Emanuel Barnaby's 45 years of service to The Doctors Company, the practice of medicine, California, and his country throughout his lifetime and career.

Mr. Barnaby was born in Ames, Iowa. His father was a contractor for the United States military during World War II, which caused the family to move around the Southern, and then Eastern parts of the country until they landed in Syracuse, New York. When Mr. Barnaby was 10 years old, his family moved to California and he graduated from Sacramento High School in 1954 at only 16 years old.

In 1956, Mr. Barnaby joined the United States Army, completed Army basic training, and spent time stateside before being stationed overseas for active duty. The same year he married his wife, Jean Sanchez, and was stationed near Bordeaux, in the south of France. In late 1957, Mr. Barnaby was transferred from active duty to the United States Army Reserve, California Military District, in which he would serve until his Honorable Discharge in 1963. Upon his transfer from active duty to reserve duty, Mr. Barnaby returned to Sacramento with Jean. While working for the Department of Motor Vehicles and studying at Sacramento Junior College, Mr. Barnaby received an Associate of Arts degree in 1959. He and Jean continued their studies at University of California (UC), Davis, where Mr. Barnaby received a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science in 1961.

While at UC Davis, Mr. Barnaby was bitten by the political bug and founded the Young Democrats on the UC Davis campus for the 1960 presidential campaign. Mr. Barnaby then worked in the U.S. Capitol, first for a U.S. Representative from Sacramento, and then as a Congressional Investigator, where he was granted Top Secret Security Clearance by the U.S. Department of Defense. While in Washington, D.C., the Barnaby's welcomed their first child, William Emanuel Barnaby III, in 1962.

In 1964, Mr. Barnaby returned to Sacramento and was hired to be a Consultant on the Assembly Ways and Means Committee and by KXTV Channel 10 in Sacramento as an election consultant. In 1966, the Barnaby's welcomed their second child, Kenneth Sanchez Barnaby. In 1967, Mr. Barnaby became a Consultant to the Assembly Education Committee. In 1968, Mr. Barnaby was offered a job as Consultant to the Senate Health and Welfare Committee. From 1971 through 74, Mr. Barnaby attended the University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law, graduating with a Juris Doctor degree and was admitted to the California State Bar in 1974.

Mr. Barnaby left state service in 1976, when the chief lobbyist for the California Medical Association (CMA) hired him as CMA's first in-house lobbyist who was also an actively licensed attorney. Mr. Barnaby did not remain a CMA employee for long, as in 1978 he started his own lobbying firm. Mr. Barnaby added several clients in 1978, some of which he still represents to this day. Since Mr. Barnaby started his lobbying firm, he has worked with all his immediate family members, some longer than others. In 2018, the Barnaby lobbying firm merged with a new firm, which is now known today as Resolute.

Mr. Speaker, William (Bill) Emanuel Barnaby is known around the state capitol as a consummate historian of the legislature and for his deep institutional and healthcare policy expertise that are appreciated by all who know him.

CHILDHOOD CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

HON. MAXWELL FROST

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. FROST. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to acknowledge that September is Childhood Cancer Awareness Month. Childhood cancers force the most vulnerable among us to be the most courageous and call upon loved ones to overcome the unimaginable. Luckily, the federal government, universities, hospitals, and nonprofits are driving the research needed to treat and ultimately, cure these diseases.

I'm proud to say that one such non-profit is located in my district: Cannonball Kids Cancer Foundation. Thanks to the efforts of Cannonball Kids' staff, volunteers, and donors, the organization has awarded millions of dollars in research grants to top universities and clinics across the country that are striving to find a cure. Because of their important work, children and their loved ones will one day never have to experience the devastating news of a pediatric cancer diagnosis.

HONORING THE MEMORY OF WOODY KAPLAN

HON. JARED HUFFMAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today, along with my colleague, Rep. JAMIE RASKIN, to honor the memory of Woody Kaplan, a civil rights champion, freethinker, and philanthropist who passed away at the age of 80 on August 3, 2023.

Woody was a prince of a human and a trusted friend. It is impossible to fully capture how much he contributed to our Nation and to furthering the secular movement.

Woody's fierce advocacy for freedom of expression, church-state separation, reproductive freedom, racial justice, LGBTQ+ rights, and other causes spanned decades.

A lifelong atheist who fought for every person's freedom of conscience, Woody co-founded the Secular Coalition for America, the largest coalition of national atheist, humanist, and secular organizations in the United States.

Under Woody's leadership, the Secular Coalition for America went from representing four disparate national organizations to uniting 21 organizations in a formidable political movement. The Secular Coalition for America also established the first full-time lobbyist in Washington, D.C. representing atheist, humanist, and secular Americans.

Woody also served admirably in leadership and advisory roles at organizations including the Defending Dissent Foundation, American Atheists, American Humanist Association, the Foundation for Individual Rights in Education (FIRE), and the Secular Student Alliance. As a former member of the ACLU's National Board of Directors, he helped establish the organization's endowment fund. As a young man, Woody traveled to Mississippi to work on voter registration drives.

Woody is survived by his wife Wendy Kaminer, an author and lawyer who shares Woody's passions and beliefs; his daughters Abigail and Emily; 11 grandchildren; his sister Nancy Fischman and her husband Steve; and many other family members, friends and admirers who he touched with his formidable life.

Mr. Speaker, I respectfully ask that you join my colleagues and me in extending condolences to Woody's family and friends, and in expressing our collective appreciation for his decades of work for the public good.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2024

SPEECH OF

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 27, 2023

Ms. McCOLLUM. Mr. Chair, I rise in opposition to H.R. 4367, the Republican FY24 Department of Homeland Security Act.

This bill is another example of House Republican leadership appeasing the most extreme members of their caucus and is another funding bill that has no path to become law. With the passage of the rule on Tuesday, Republicans decided to hold this bill hostage. For H.R. 4367 to even be sent to the Senate, Republicans are demanding that the Senate pass and the president sign their extreme immigration bill, the Secure the Border Act (H.R. 2). When it passed the House in May, President Biden had already stated he would not sign it.

This week, Republicans continued to add to the chaos when the House Rules Committee met late at night Wednesday and sent another rule to the floor with self-executing provisions that cater to the most extreme Republicans. Members like Representatives GAETZ and BOEBERT demanded significantly reduced H-2B visas that help fill workforce shortages and Republican leadership caved to their demands in order to pass the bill. By continuing to only negotiate with the farthest right members of their conference, House Republican leaders are not serious about preventing a government shutdown.

H.R. 4367 contains misguided investments that double down on failed border policy by redirecting $2.1 billion to border wall construction while divesting from proven, modern detection technology. The bill also contains more extreme rightwing policy riders targeting the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency's ability to defend Americans against disinformation campaigns from foreign adversaries and domestic extremists.

As we continue to feel the effects of a changing climate, Republicans have also cut all climate resiliency funding from the Homeland Security bill—over $748 million in investments to ensure that as the global climate changes, America is prepared for the effects of stronger storms, higher temperatures, and increased migration. The Department of Defense has declared climate change a national security threat, as regions become uninhabitable, and people are forced to move from their homes. By passing this Homeland Security bill, Republicans continue to ignore the fact that climate change is a real and imminent threat to American lives and communities.

I cannot support a partisan Homeland Security bill that does not focus on real solutions to the issues our country faces.

HONORING DR. CAPTANE "CAP" PETER THOMSON

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life and legacy of Dr. Captane "Cap" Peter Thomson. Dr. Thomson grew up in Berkeley, California and lived in Davis, California. He was a beloved husband, father, brother, friend, mentor, public servant, and leader in the field of mental health.

Dr. Thomson was the second generation of his family to attend the University of California (UC), Berkeley and box for their Varsity team. After receiving his M.D. from the University of California, San Francisco (UCSF), interning at Denver General Hospital, and serving four years in the U.S. Public Health Service, Dr. Thomson completed a residency in psychiatry at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. Dr. Thomson then earned an M.S. in Community Mental Health at the Harvard School of Public Health and spent the next year at the University of Edinburgh in Scotland.

After completing his education, Dr. Thomson settled in Davis and became the director and program chief of Yolo County Mental Health Services. He held this post for almost three decades, crafting ground-breaking programs to treat the severely mentally ill and help reintegrate people back into our communities. Dr. Thomson also served as a clinical professor of psychiatry at UC Davis and UCSF, joyfully passing along his wisdom to the next generation of psychiatrists. Always going where he was needed, Dr. Thomson gained his Board Certification in Forensic Psychiatry and served as an expert witness at trials and parole hearings of mentally ill persons caught up in the criminal justice system.

A lifelong adventurer, Dr. Thomson treated the indigenous peoples of Alaska as a U.S. Public Health Service Officer on the Bering Sea Patrol, sailed between Hawaii and Japan on a Coast Guard weather ship, and evaluated aspiring American citizens at the U.S. Consulate in Palermo, Italy. He severed as a doctor at the 1960 Squaw Valley Olympic Games and returned as a member of the Doctor's Ski Patrol at Sugar Bowl for 50 years.

Beyond his work, Dr. Thomson loved traveling with his family, going on adventures around the world, visiting National Parks, and taking his family hiking all over his beloved Sierra Nevada mountains, where as a college student he worked in Yosemite as a fireguard. A lifelong runner and member of the Davis Aquatic Masters, he swam with a team across Lake Tahoe and completed numerous endurance swims, triathlons, and eight marathons, including the Boston Marathon. Dr. Thomson was also the banjo player and back-up vocalist for the popular folk and bluegrass music band, The Putah Creek Crawdads, treasurer of the Yolo County Credit Union, and avid walker of several generations of Cairn Terriers.

Dr. Thomson's unfailingly cheerful spirit, humble demeanor, sage guidance, and unflinching willingness always to stand up and fight for what is right and just, will be sorely missed. He is survived by his wife of 60 years, Helen, his children Morag, Iain, and Mungo, their spouses Kirsten and Kerry, his grandchildren Darian, Eno, Tamsin, and Emit, his brothers Pate and Duncan, and many more loving family members.

Mr. Speaker, Dr. Captane "Cap" Thomson was a dedicated public servant and leader in our community.

HONORING ROSALINE COHEN'S SERVICE TO THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

HON. BENNIE G. THOMPSON

OF MISSISSIPPI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a valued member of my staff, Rosaline Cohen, who is retiring after more than two decades of exceptional service to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Many of you know Rosaline as the chief counsel for the Committee on Homeland Security, a position she has held since 2007. In that capacity, she has earned a reputation as a trusted and dedicated civil servant and an enviable track record for reaching bipartisan agreements. At the same time, she understands, on a deep level, what it takes to be effective as "the loyal opposition"—as some of my colleagues on the other side of the aisle would occasionally lament.

Rosaline has been at my side since I was first named ranking member in 2005 and has been a steadfast and strategic partner during some of the most tumultuous days for this institution and the country.

Rosaline will tell you that her congressional career actually began in the fall of 1990, as an intern in the office of the late Representative Gerry Studds of Massachusetts. She secured the internship—only days into her freshman year at George Washington University—after walking the halls of the House buildings with her first resume in hand, hoping to get an on-the-spot interview with an intern coordinator for a Member from her home State, Massachusetts.

Her next chapter with the House started in February 2000, when—as a newly-minted attorney—Rosaline began working for former Congressman Ken Bentsen, whose district included her law school alma mater, the University of Houston Law Center. About a year and a half later, Rosaline was evacuated from the Capitol during the September 11th terrorist attacks, sheltering most of her office in her basement apartment.

Her next employer, the late Congresswoman Louise M. Slaughter, provided her with an opportunity to get to know the newly created Department of Homeland Security, as a personal office staffer to the then-Select Committee on Homeland Security. In 2005, when the committee was made permanent and I took on the job of serving as the Democratic ranking member, Rosaline was one of my first hires. She started by handling transportation security, appropriations, and management matters.

In 2007, in her first year as chief counsel on the committee, Rosaline spearheaded complex House-Senate conference negotiations over H.R. 1, legislation I introduced on behalf of the new Democratic majority to fully implement the recommendations of the 9/11 Commission. In the years that followed, she has led our legislative efforts on everything from information sharing and emergency management to cyber and border security.

As chief counsel, Rosaline has shepherded 438 bills through the House and 165 measures into law, leaving her mark on nearly every section of the Homeland Security Act of 2002 and other historic legislation. This is an extraordinary record, but more, it is a testament to Rosaline's dedication to our great Nation. Her contributions have undoubtedly made America a better and safer country for us all.

And while serving as my principal legislative advisor—supervising and developing a staff of more than 30 subcommittee directors, professional staff, and executive branch detailees and fellows—Rosaline always made time to mentor the next generation of public servants. You could often find her explaining to interns current proceedings on the House floor and calling staff into her office to stand over her shoulder to draft bills and develop legislative strategies together.

Members of Congress over the years and across the aisle, and staff, both senior and new, have depended on Rosaline's wisdom and capabilities.

Rosaline's contributions to the House of Representatives and our Nation are a source of pride for her husband, Yaneev, son, Zachary, and mother, Cindy. Her work for Congress was also a point of pride for her late father, Ohaliav, a naturalized citizen.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of Members of the Committee on Homeland Security—past and present—and the entire CHS staff, I ask my colleagues in the House to join me in celebrating and congratulating Rosaline on her retirement. I wish her all the best as she explores new ways of sharing her talents.

RECOGNIZING NOAH COUGHLAN'S
FOURTH RUN ACROSS AMERICA

HON. ANDREW OGLES

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. OGLES. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride that I commend Noah Coughlan as he passes through Nashville today on his run across America.

Noah began his 167 day run to honor American soldiers and veterans on Memorial Day in Blaine, Washington and plans to finish on Veterans Day in Miami, Florida. Carrying an American flag that was flown by the 908th Expeditionary Air Refueling Squadron, Noah has made a point of stopping along the way to meet with veteran's organizations, county sheriffs, police officers, and others who have chosen to serve our country. Having previously run across the country in 2011, 2013, 2015 to raise awareness of various diseases, this will be Noah's fourth, and perhaps final, run across America. When he arrives in Miami, Noah will become the 5th person cross the United States on foot four times.

Noah views this as a way to bring unity to the country. Calling veterans the glue that holds the Nation together, Noah praised them for not only the service they do while members of the Armed Forces, but also the continuing service to the country as first responders, law makers, and other essential roles.

I urge my colleagues to join me in wishing Noah the best of luck on the rest of his run to Miami.

RECOGNIZING LIEUTENANT COLONEL
VINCENT J. TOBOLA, JR.
USAF, RETIRED, WITH A CON-GRESSIONAL VETERAN COM-MENDATION

HON. PETE SESSIONS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, it is my privilege to honor retired Lieutenant Colonel Vincent J. Tobola, Jr., United States Air Force, of Waco, Texas with a Congressional Veteran Commendation.

A proud graduate of Texas A&M with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Industrial Engineering, Lieutenant Colonel Tobola embarked on a distinguished 24-year career in the United States Air Force, during which he showcased exceptional leadership and commitment. His postings spanned from Kincheloe Air Force Base in Michigan, Ramstein Air Force Base in Germany, to Griffis Air Force Base in New York, among others. In roles such as Chief of the Contracts Support Division, Director of Base Engineering, and Civil Engineer Squadron Commander, he managed assets worth billions and supervised contracts in the hundreds of millions. His exceptional service earned him numerous accolades, including five Meritorious Service Medals, two Air Force Achievement Medals, two Air Force Commendation Medals, and various others marking his outstanding dedication to duty.

After retiring from the Air Force, Lieutenant Colonel Tobola continued his devotion to public service with the City of Waco, TX. Contributing significantly as the Waco Facilities Program Administrator and subsequently as the Facilities Manager. His leadership played a pivotal role in advancing major upgrades across various city facilities.

His spirit of service didn't end there. Following his retirement from the City of Waco in 2018, he remained deeply involved in the Heart of Texas Military Officers Association of America (MOAA). Not only did he serve as the chapter's president for two years, but he is also the active Treasurer both at the chapter and state levels. Beyond his administrative roles, Lieutenant Colonel Tobola showcases his commitment by organizing MOAA's monthly membership meetings, special events, and the pivotal annual fundraiser. This fundraiser, under his guidance, has provided over $140,000 in educational scholarships and supported Reserve Officer's Training Corps students in both high schools and universities throughout Waco.

For his enduring dedication to his nation, both in military service and beyond, and his embodiment of the MOAA's motto of "Never Stop Serving," it is with great admiration and respect that I present the 2023 Congressional Veteran Commendation to retired United States Air Force Lieutenant Colonel Vincent J. Tobola, Jr.

HONORING THE 75TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE SOLANO IRRIGATION DISTRICT

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Solano Irrigation District on their 75th anniversary of serving our community.

Seventy-five years ago, the Solano Irrigation District (SID) sought to secure irrigation water from the Solano Water Project. This marked the beginning of a journey filled with challenges, achievements, and the steadfast pursuit of excellence. Since then, the district has played a pivotal role in providing vital resources to our community.

Today, the Solano Irrigation District stands as a cornerstone of our region's prosperity, delivering 141,000 acre-feet of irrigation water to over 59,000 acres of irrigable land. Not only does it supply bulk untreated water to a population of more than 300,000, including the cities of Benicia, Vacaville, Fairfield, and Vallejo, but it also treats and delivers drinking water to Suisun City, ensuring the well-being of our residents.

Unlike many other districts, SID does not need to import any water for its customers, thanks to its foresight in securing valuable water rights and access through 'The Solano Project.' This forward-thinking approach has made our district financially stable and well-managed, providing cost-efficient services while maintaining stable water rates.

Furthermore, the innovative spirit of the Solano Irrigation District is exemplified by the hydroelectric power plant at the base of Monticello Dam, a pioneering project that has set a remarkable precedent for local agencies across the United States.

The Solano Irrigation District has not only been a guardian of water resources but also a catalyst for progress and growth in our community. Its tireless efforts have made SID into a beacon of excellence, ensuring a prosperous future for Solano County.

Mr. Speaker, the Solano Irrigation District has been serving our residential and agricultural communities faithfully for 75 years.

TRIBUTE TO DR. ROSE MARIE MCCOY, PASTOR EMERITUS

HON. DANNY K. DAVIS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, today I wish to pay my deepest respect in tribute to a wonderful woman of God, Dr. Rose Marie McCoy, who passed from this earthly realm to her heavenly home on September 13, 2023.

A wife, mother, grandmother, pastor, caregiver, community role model, missionary and counselor, Dr. Rose Marie was born on September 24, 1951, in Robbins, Illinois to parents Samuel Sr. and Jennie Eliza Merle Evans. Having accepted the Lord Jesus Christ in the Spring of 1976, Rose Marie dedicated her life in service and selfless devotion to others throughout the Chicago metropolitan area.

Rose Marie met and married the love of her life Dr. William McCoy, over 57 years ago. Together they shared a love that withstood the test of time and created a strong family that will carry on their unique legacy. Rose Marie was steadfast in her commitment to the Lord, living each day as a living sacrifice that I am certain was holy and acceptable unto God, as her reasonable service.

You may be asking how I know Dr. Rose Marie McCoy so well and in response, I'd say that I've known her and her husband Chief Apostle Dr. William McCoy for decades upon decades. I have worked alongside Drs. Rose and William McCoy throughout Chicago's southside in an effort to improve the lives of our neighbors, friends, children, and other vulnerable populations in our community.

Dr. Rose Marie McCoy's enthusiasm for life and her dedication to others also showed in her work on behalf of the Brothers Keeper Outreach Church, which she co-founded with her husband. Additionally, Rose Marie was instrumental in development of the Brothers Keeper Community Resource Center and the International Pentecostal Assembly Ecumenical Faith and Community Action Network.

Collectively, Rose Marie's efforts and dedication to faith-based community social services has helped change the lives of countless individuals for the better. In fact, I would posit that perhaps all of our lives have been made better off simply by our interaction and association with pastor, Dr. Rose Marie McCoy along life's journey. To know Rose Marie, was to know genuine love, faith and service. May this beautiful soul rest with the Lord in peace.

To her family, including her husband Chief Apostle Dr. William McCoy and her children Victoria McCoy-Salter, Vanessa McCoy-Pulphus, Debracia McCoy Jones, Major Lee McCoy, and Otis McCoy, all of whom she leaves to carry on her works and love, I extend my sincerest condolences on your loved one's transition. I am truly grateful to Dr. Rose Marie McCoy, Pastor Emeritus for her tremendous contributions to so many in Chicago, Illinois, and our Nation. May God bless her, her family, and all of us.

RECOGNIZING THE IMPACT OF THE IMPENDING GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN

HON. NYDIA M. VELÁZQUEZ

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the impact of the impending government shutdown on communities in my district that are experiencing the worst flash flooding since Hurricane Ida, which killed more than 40 people across the state. As we are in the middle of House Republican infighting that is jeopardizing the ability to keep the government open, our federal government's ability to serve the American people is threatened. Essential services from government agencies and employees pay will be affected as many face furlough and uncertainty about retroactive pay. In New York State, the Governor and Mayor have declared a state of emergency, but they cannot look to the federal government at a time when funding is uncertain.

Right now, in New York City, highways are closed, vehicles are stranded, subway trains have stalled, utility infrastructure is flooded and damaged, and many New Yorkers on the way to work and school have had their daily routines severely impacted. At a time like this we look to the federal government for resources, but Congress has not passed legislation to replenish the FEMA disaster relief fund, which is the primary pot of money the agency uses to respond to storms. Republicans refusing to work with Democrats and pass a clean Continuing Resolution are failing to support communities recovering from disasters during hurricane season. The Continuing Resolution Republicans have proposed hurts FEMA's readiness by neglecting the pressing need for additional disaster relief funds to address existing shortfalls and prepare for unforeseen future disasters. Due to climate change, storms have intensified and become more frequent across the country resulting in a record number of billion-dollar disasters to date. The importance of the FEMA disaster relief fund cannot be understated and the ability to deploy resources and funds by keeping the federal government open is even more critical.

Constituents in my district in Brooklyn and Queens living in single family homes and public housing complexes will be dealing with the impact of intense flash flooding for days after the storm passes. My constituents deserve a functioning government, not a shutdown. As communities vulnerable to flooding continue to bear the brunt of climate change, a government shutdown will leave New Yorkers and state and local government without critical assistance. Republican's refusal to fund the government will wreak havoc on New York's ability to recover from these floods in the days and months to come.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, FOREIGN OPERATIONS, AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2024

SPEECH OF

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 28, 2023

Ms. McCOLLUM. Mr. Chair, I rise in strong opposition of H.R. 4665, Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2024.

This bill makes devastating cuts to our foreign assistance and will undo years of progress in the areas of humanitarian aid, bolstering our national security, and combatting the effects of climate change. With this bill, House Republicans have completely abandoned our country's leadership on the global stage and made our country and other countries around the world susceptible to destabilization.

This bill eliminates U.S. support for climate adaptation, sustainable landscapes, and clean energy programming. Climate change is an existential threat to every single one of us—and this bill does nothing but bury our heads in the sand. These divestments will not only be devastating to our environment, but also to our national security. Cuts to climate programs will leave the Department of Defense more vulnerable to the impacts of climate change. Without adequate funding to address the climate crisis, people around the globe will be driven from their homes, unable to feed their families, and will fall deeper into poverty. At a time when a historic number of refugees are fleeing conflict and instability, the United States will turn its back and be unable to respond to and assist our allies.

The majority has authored this bill to satisfy the most extreme among us without considering the real-life consequences for our allies and for the world's most vulnerable populations. This bill zeros out or dramatically cuts several critical peacebuilding funding accounts, which will severely impact the United States' ability to prevent violent conflict, build sustainable peace, and save lives. This bill hurts women and children—codifying the expanded version of the harmful global gag rule, cutting foreign assistance for family planning and reproductive health, and prohibiting funding to the UNFPA, the United Nations reproductive health agency.

Mr. Chair, this bill fails to protect Americans and cedes leadership to our adversaries. With this level of funding, House Republicans are ignoring reality and making it impossible for the United States to engage peacefully and constructively with the international community—all while our adversaries are engaging aggressively. Millions of lives are on the line, and instead of making a serious attempt to address these problems, the majority has injected politics into our foreign policy and have authored a bill that has virtually no chance of passing in the Senate. For all of these reasons, I must vote against H.R. 4665.

RECOGNIZING COLONEL ROBERT SOLENBERGER USA, RETIRED, WITH A CONGRESSIONAL VETERAN COMMENDATION

HON. PETE SESSIONS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, it is my great honor to present retired Colonel Robert I. Solenberger, United States Army, with the 2023 Congressional Veteran Commendation. He is the epitome of the U.S. Army's slogan, "Be All You Can Be."

Robert Solenberger was born in 1943 in Oakland, California, earning a bachelor's degree in engineering chemistry from the University of New Mexico in 1965. In the midst of the Vietnam War, a young twenty-five-year-old patriot commenced thirty years of active military service when he enlisted in 1968. While engaged in infantry training at New Jersey's Fort Dix, Robert incurred extensive lung damage, spending months in what was then the Valley Forge Army Hospital in Pennsylvania.

Medically discharged from the Army in 1972, with access to rehabilitation funding, Robert attended medical school at the University of Maryland, obtaining a Doctor of Medicine in 1974, later training in surgery. Ever the patriot, he then applied for a direct commission as a surgeon in the Army Medical Corps; with his acceptance in 1984, and assignment to Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Robert began his final twenty-six years of active duty.

Some of Robert's deployments included Operation Desert Storm with the longest and largest Mass Casualty (MASCAL) exercise; Bright Star 95, for which he would be commended by the Army of Egypt; Ulchi Focus Lens 99 in Korea; supporting USMC forces in Afghanistan in 2002 with the 555 Forward Surgical Team; as well as Kuwait, Honduras, and Panama. Colonel Solenberger held the post of Chief Surgeon at Fort Cavazos in Killeen, Texas—the world's largest military base. Uniquely, he led the surgical team in delivering Conjoined Twins—and the workup leading to the only successful separation in a DOD hospital.

Among Colonel Solenberger's decorations are a Bronze Star, the Legion of Merit, the Meritorious Service Medal, National Defense Service Ribbon (three stars), Joint Service, Commendation Medal, Joint Service Achievement Medal, Army Commendation Medal, and Army Achievement Medal. He received an Order of Military Medical Merit in 1990; the "A" Designator (academic full professor), with pediatric surgery credentials in 1997, and the Combat Medics Badge.

Since retiring from active duty in 1994, Robert continues to mentor future military surgeons through his work with surgical residents at both the VA hospital system at Waco, Texas and the VA's Temple, Texas facility. Adding to his remarkable career is the also remarkable fact that Robert has performed in active military duty and as a hands-on, teaching surgeon with the Veterans Administration despite more than a sixty percent disability rating. Battlefield tested, Robert brings both empathy and inspiration to the Texas veterans he now serves with dedication and compassion.

For his love of country, tireless service and continuing to "Be All You Can Be" it gives me great pleasure to award retired United States Army Medical Corps Colonel Robert I. Solenberger with the 2023 Congressional Veteran Commendation.

RECOGNIZING JACK WHITE'S INDUCTION TO THE RHODE ISLAND TELEVISION & RADIO HALL OF FAME

HON. WILLIAM R. KEATING

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. KEATING. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the posthumous induction of Jack White to the Rhode Island Television & Radio Hall of Fame.

Residents of Rhode Island and Massachusetts came to rely on Jack's reporting in the Newport Daily News, the Providence Journal, WBZ TV in Boston, the Cape Cod Times, and finally during his time as Chief Investigative Reporter at WPRI TV in Providence.

A native of Pawtucket, Jack was a hard-hitting investigative journalist who never wavered on his principles. During the Watergate scandal, it was Jack's story in the Providence Journal that brought President Nixon's underpayment of federal income tax into national focus and caused the President to respond to a question from Jack's editor with the now infamous five-word phrase: "I am not a crook." That reporting won Jack White a Pulitzer Prize in 1974, cost President Nixon hundreds of thousands of dollars in back taxes, and spurred the practice of Presidents releasing their income tax returns for public inspection. True to his convictions as a journalist, Jack never divulged his source for the Nixon story and even delayed the story by twelve days to stand with striking reporters at the Providence Journal.

After leaving Providence for WBZ in Boston, it was a reporting job at the Cape Cod Times that brought the White family to West Barnstable, and Jack's commitment to his family that kept them on Cape Cod as he commuted back and forth to Providence during his decades at WPRI. His work at WPRI was marked by numerous major investigative stories, multiple Emmy Awards, and earned him the honorary title of "Dean of Rhode Island Journalism."

Sadly, Jack left us suddenly on October 12, 2005, at age 63, leaving behind his wife Beth, daughter Elizabeth, sons John, Patrick, and Timothy, and their families. Jack's son, Tim, followed his father into journalism and can be seen on televisions across Rhode Island and Southeastern Massachusetts each week hosting the same "Newsmakers" program that Jack hosted during his time at WPRI.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to join the Rhode Island Television & Radio Hall of Fame in celebrating the journalistic accomplishments of Jack White, and I ask that my colleagues join me in recognizing Jack's posthumous induction into the Rhode Island Television & Radio Hall of Fame and the impact that his reporting has had on Southern New England and our nation.

MARKING THE 1000TH DAY OF
THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT

HON. JAMIE RASKIN

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. RASKIN. Mr. Speaker, this week marked the one thousandth day of imprisonment of one of Hong Kong's 1,648 political prisoners: Jimmy Lai, a hugely successful businessman, owner of Hong Kong's major newspaper, and a freedom fighter for the people of Hong Kong. His "crimes" that have landed him in a maximum-security prison at age 75? Supporting pro-democracy protests and publishing the truth about the Chinese Communist Party's creeping authoritarian takeover of Hong Kong.

I have begun the process of adopting his case as a "prisoner of conscience" with the Tom Lantos Commission on Human Rights and I urge all colleagues, Democrats and Republicans alike, to adopt a political prisoner, a religious prisoner or some other prisoner of conscience in this time of terrifying global crackdown on human rights and free expression.

Jimmy Lai recognized that a free press that reports the facts is essential to democracy and a free society. He founded one of Hong Kong's most reputable papers in 1991, Apple Daily, in reference to the Garden of Eden's fruit of knowledge. One of the paper's original mottos was "an apple a day keeps the liars away." Jimmy Lai's newspaper continued to report the facts as Hong Kong citizens from all walks of life—led by thousands of courageous young people—demonstrated for their freedom and against Beijing's repressive "National Security Law" in 2019.

It is for this principled defense of truth and common sense in a civil society that Mr. Lai has been unjustly detained by China's authoritarian expansion into the free city of Hong Kong. According to the Hong Kong Democracy Council, a human rights organization, Jimmy Lai is one of 1,648 Hong Kongers who are political prisoners today. This staggering number—reached after just four years—puts the once-free Hong Kong on the same plane as countries like Belarus and Myanmar. Everyday Hong Kongers who dared to dream of a democratic future are instead languishing in detention. They await trial and sentencing before a hyper-politicized judiciary executing a twisted facsimile of Hong Kong's traditionally independent, common law court system.

Jimmy Lai was first arrested in August 2020 as one of the first targets of the repressive "National Security Law" imposed by mainland China. He has since been arrested numerous times, charged with everything from collusion with foreign powers, to so-called "unauthorized assembly," to alleged fraud. Many of his fellow political prisoners in Hong Kong face charges that are similar affronts to a free society.

The reactionary movement against democracy is global, which is why our movement to defend democracy is also global. I salute the courageous activists, like Jimmy Lai, who refuse to bend to the brutal forces of fear and authoritarianism. Whether they live in Washington, D.C. or Hong Kong or Moscow or Kyiv, everyone should have the right to determine their own destiny. I stand here today on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives in solidarity with Jimmy Lai as he marks his one thousand and first day as a political prisoner. Please join me in acting in solidarity with Jimmy Lai and demand his immediate release and freedom from the Chinese government.

RECOGNIZING THE MERITORIOUS
SELFLESS SERVICE BY MID-
SHIPMAN SECOND CLASS MADISON
O'DONNELL

HON. MATT CARTWRIGHT

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. CARTWRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, today I recognize Midshipman Second Class Madison O'Donnell who decisively acted with the valor while saving a gentleman in peril when attending the United States Naval Academy in June 2023.

While driving near Santee Basin Dock, Maryland, Midshipman O'Donnell heard cries for help and halted her vehicle. Upon locating the distressed individual, she quickly ran towards the dock to rescue a gentleman who appeared to be drowning.

Midshipman Madison O'Donnell aptly assessed the situation and proficiently deduced that a severe laceration was impeding the gentleman from pulling himself to safety. Without hesitation, she rescued the drowning man by pulling him out of the basin.

Relieved from the danger of drowning, Midshipman O'Donnell calmed the gentleman and administered first aid treatment. She then drove him home to his family who expressed immense gratitude for her meritorious and selfless assistance.

In recognition of this act of valor, Colonel James P. McDonough, USMC, 89th Commandant of Midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy, awarded Midshipman Second Class Madison O'Donnell the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal for professional achievement in the superior performance of her duties as a midshipman on September 8, 2023.

As the member of the U.S. House representing Midshipman O'Donnell's hometown of Greenfield Township, Pennsylvania, and the Member responsible for nominating her to the United States Naval Academy's Class of 2025, I am proud to celebrate Midshipman O'Donnell's admirable act of heroism.

Midshipman Second Class O'Donnell's actions, dedication to duty and the preservation of life reflect great credit upon herself, our community in Northeast Pennsylvania, the United States Navy, and the nation. I am confident that she will have an exemplary career in service to our Nation, and I look forward to sharing in her successes in the future.

RECOGNIZING SHARON
LEDBETTER

HON. CATHY McMORRIS RODGERS

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mrs. RODGERS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Sharon Ledbetter of Colfax, WA for her selfless service and the incredible impact she has had on the lives of veterans and their families in Eastern Washington.

In 2009, Sharon was instrumental in organizing the Lewis Clark Quilts of Valor, the Eastern Washington region's local branch of the Quilts of Valor Foundation. Her goal was simple and honorable: Award servicemembers and veterans with hand-made quilts that recognize the bravery and sacrifice of our heroes, in the hopes of providing comfort and healing now that they have returned home.

As the wife of a Vietnam-era Air Force veteran, Sharon understood these Quilts of Valor can be lifesaving for veterans. That's why, for the last 14 years, she has organized countless Sew Days, taught quilting classes, and raised financial support from local businesses and veterans' groups. Under her leadership, the group has grown to 60 members and honored more than 3,000 veterans with high-quality quilts to recognize their dedication and sacrifice to our country.

Each Quilt of Valor is dedicated to the veteran it was made for with their name, service branch, and era of service sewed on, making them an incredibly personal gift of recognition and honor. The quilts—many of which Sharon made herself—are then presented at beautiful ceremonies that have been known to move even the most stoic veterans to tears. Thanks to Sharon, these presentations are now conducted by volunteers and members across Eastern Washington and North Central Idaho.

Mr. Speaker, Sharon Ledbetter is a truly remarkable woman who deserves recognition. As she enters her retirement, I ask that my colleagues join me in celebrating her tremendous work and tireless dedication to the veterans in the greater Eastern Washington region. The profound impact she has had on our communities and the veterans in them will not soon be forgotten.

Friday, September 29, 2023

Ms. VAN DUYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize our Texas-24 Hometown Hero, Grapevine-Colleyville ISD's (GCISD) Director of Facility Use, Ryan Martin.

A star athlete at the University of Central Oklahoma (UCO), Ryan Martin brought his talent and dedication to helping others to North Texas when he joined GCISD faculty 25 years ago. Since then, he's taught and coached students across several schools in GCISD, including Vista, Grapevine High School, and Colleyville Middle School, working as a special education teacher, history teacher, principal, interim principal, and head wrestling coach before becoming the Director of Facility Use.

Recently, Ryan had the distinction of being inducted in the University of Central Oklahoma's Athletics Hall of Fame, one of just 172 individuals in school history to earn the honor. Ryan wrestled for UCO from 1989 to 1994, becoming a national champion and two-time All-American. He won 91 matches in his 4-year career, including 30 bonus-point victories, qualified for nationals three times, and was a two-time regional champion.

I'd like to congratulate Ryan on his induction into the University of Central Oklahoma's Athletics Hall of Fame.

RECOGNIZING GOLDIE SIMPSON

HON. RASHIDA TLAI

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Ms. TLAI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the outstanding contributions of Ms. Goldie Simpson, a lifelong Detroit resident and "Rosie the Riveter," as she celebrates 100 years of life.

Born in 1923, Ms. Simpson was a bright student who studied business after she graduated from Detroit's Northeastern High School. After the outbreak of World War II, she directed her energies toward the cause of bolstering our nation's economy and morale by taking on work that had previously been performed by men who had been called up to military service. She was one of the hundreds of "Rosies" who contributed so much during a dark time for our Nation and the world, providing critical labor during a time of need.

Ms. Simpson found true joy in her family. She married the love of her life, Elmore Simpson in 1949, and together they raised 9 children. Ms. Simpson embodies the spirit of generosity. She has continued to be an engaged member of the community, whether as a neighborhood mother who looked out for all of the children in her neighborhood or as an active member of her community in faith. Ms. Goldie Simpson embodies the grace, strength, and resilience of Detroit.

Please join me in wishing Ms. Goldie Simpson, a happy 100th birthday as we recognize her contributions to our country and to our community in Detroit.

RECOGNIZING THE OPENING OF THE NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS OF THE PANCRETAN ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA

HON. CHRIS PAPPAS

OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. PAPPAS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Pancretan Association of America (PAA) on the ribbon cutting ceremony of their first ever National Headquarters in the greater Washington, D.C. region in Bethesda, Maryland. As a proud Greek American and Co-Chair of the Congressional Hellenic Caucus, it is an honor to acknowledge the PAA's work in recognizing and celebrating the rich cultural heritage of the island of Crete around the world.

Founded by descendants from Crete, for over 90 years the Pancretan Association of America has been a cornerstone of the Greek-American community, striving to promote the historical significance of Crete, while honoring the cultural and historically Greek values of philoxenia and philotimo. Through its wide array of programs, the PAA promotes the longstanding Hellenic values of education, philanthropy, civil responsibility, and individual excellence. The PAA reaches out to Cretans of all ages and offers programs that strengthen their understanding and recognition of their culture, allows them to enjoy and preserve their heritage, and share it with others. These programs include many social, cultural, and educational activities that encompass Cretan culture, and scholarships that empower Cretan students to continue their education and become effective and responsible citizens.

The Pancretan Association of America's mission to celebrate Crete's historical place in the Hellenic world is critical now more than ever with the ever-expanding relationship between the United States and Greece. I know that I would not be who I am or where I am today without my upbringing in a Greek family, which was so focused on serving others. Through hard work, determination, and the support of the Greek-American community supporting him, my great-grandfather founded what would become our family restaurant, the Puritan Backroom. 106 years later it remains in our family, and the values that my great-grandfather lived by still guide us today. These shared values bind our two nations and our communities together, and I applaud PAA's role in highlighting and furthering those values for generations to come.

I congratulate the Pancretan Association of America on the opening of their first ever National Headquarters. This event marks a significant milestone in their history and is an important step towards the cultural preservation of Crete's heritage, strengthening the ties between our communities, and further solidifying the relationship between the United States and Greece.

AGRICULTURE, RURAL DEVELOPMENT, FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION, AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS

SPEECH OF

HON. ROBERT C. "BOBBY" SCOTT

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 26, 2023

Mr. SCOTT of Virginia. Mr. Chair, I rise in opposition to H.R. 4368, the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2024. This bill falls woefully short of adequately investing in important programs and policies that support the American people.

The bill's provisions targeting low-income women, infants, and children are especially concerning. The insufficient funding included in H.R. 4368 jeopardizes access to food and critical services for low and moderate income pregnant and postpartum women, infants and children by drastically underfunding the program and undermining science-based WIC food benefits. This is especially concerning as the country continues to face an infant and maternal health crisis.

For over 25 years, there has been a bipartisan commitment to provide sufficient WIC funding to serve all eligible applicants and maintain the longstanding no-waitlist commitment—until now. The House agriculture appropriations bill purports to fund WIC at $6 billion for Fiscal Year (FY) 2024, but the bill also demands a $500 million rescission in a later section. Realistically, the bill only funds WIC at $5.5 billion. This is $800 million below the President's budget request for FY 2024 ($6.3 billion) and $185 million lower than the level of funding made available in FY 2023 ($5.685 billion).

Last month, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) outlined the need for an additional $1.4 billion in Fiscal Year 2024 funding for WIC due to a significant increase in participation this fiscal year with a total of 6.7 million women, children, and infants being served by the program as of June. OMB has warned that without additional funding, participants could see disruptions in benefits. To prevent any disruption to a program crucial to supporting new parents and young children, it is vital that WIC funding be increased to align with projected participation and food costs as the process moves forward. Under the funding levels included in the House agriculture appropriations bill, up to 600,000 eligible new parents and children—including 11,600 Virginians could be turned away from the program.

While WIC participation is increasing, this bill also drastically cuts WIC's increased science-backed fruit and vegetable benefits for roughly 1.5 million pregnant and postpartum participants and 3.5 million children aged one to four. The bill reduces the monthly fruit and vegetable benefit from $25 to $11 for child participants, from $44 to $13 for pregnant and postpartum participants, and from $49 to $15 for breastfeeding participants. Current benefit levels ensure that participating women and children have access to recommended levels of fruits and vegetables, thus improving health outcomes and program retention. Pre-pandemic benefits of $8 for children and $11 for pregnant, postpartum, or breastfeeding participants allowed for less than a one-cup equivalent of fruits and vegetables per day, woefully short of the recommended amounts.

In addition to insufficient funding for WIC, the bill includes other harmful provisions targeting nutrition programs. For example, the bill includes a rider that rejects a pending rule to revise WIC Food Packages. Additional riders reject nutrition standards in both school meals programs as well as the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP). These harmful riders weaken the science-based process that determines nutrition standards and criteria in child nutrition and related programs. A dozen health organization and other stakeholders, including the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the American Heart Association, the American Public Health Association, the National WIC Association, and UnidosUS implored Congress not to include harmful nutrition-related riders and to maintain and respect the current science-based processes.

In addition to the threats to the health and well-being of women and children, this bill would harm farmers as they recover financially from the COVID-19 pandemic. Specifically, this legislation strips funding from Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) programs enacted last Congress. Rescinding the IRA funding will harm farmers as they recover losses suffered during the COVID-19 pandemic. The decision to divest from food security and those who produce the food and fiber we depend on is short sighted. I am also alarmed by amendments to curtail the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) work to advance equity and inclusion. For far too long, farmers of color, female farmers, and farmers who identify as LGBTQI+ have faced discrimination in farm lending. Restricting the USDA's ability to address these failures is detrimental to achieving the USDA's mission and ensuring food security.

For these reasons and many others, I urge my colleagues to oppose the bill.

RECOGNIZING COLONEL JOHN THOMAS WELLS, USA, RETIRED, WITH A CONGRESSIONAL VETERAN COMMENDATION

HON. PETE SESSIONS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, today I rise with great pride to recognize retired Colonel John Thomas Wells, United States Army, of Woodway, Texas, with a Congressional Veteran Commendation.

Colonel Wells began his distinguished journey as a Military Graduate from Eastern Kentucky University in 1964. His early years saw him patrolling the East German and Czechoslovakian borders and later serving valiantly in the 173rd Airborne Brigade during the Vietnam War. Upon returning stateside, his leadership capabilities led him from commanding roles at Fort Knox to significant contributions at the Army Combat Arms Training Board at Fort Benning. Notably, he was instrumental in developing the Army Training and Evaluation Program, a legacy that benefits both active and reserve units today.

His commitment took him to the heart of military planning, serving on the Army General Staff at the Pentagon before command roles in Korea. His final active-duty assignment was Chief, Manpower Division, Resource Management Directorate, U.S. Forces Command at Fort McPherson, Georgia, after which he retired in 1989.

Colonel Wells's awards are a testament to his valor, including the Silver Star, Bronze Star with "V," Purple Heart, and numerous international honors.

His service didn't end in the military. He pursued the Holy Orders, was ordained in 1998, and contributed deeply to parishes in Texas. Throughout retirement, he lent his leadership to various churches, simultaneously earning accolades for his community service in Woodway, Texas. Notably, his two-decade dedication as a volunteer chaplain with the Waco Police Department speaks volumes of his commitment to service beyond uniform.

Educationally, besides his military training, Wells pursued theological studies at the esteemed University of Oxford and holds advanced degrees from Shippensburg University and the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest.

Together with his devoted wife, Su, they have enriched the Woodway community, with Colonel Wells chairing the city's Planning and Zoning Commission. Their legacy continues through their four children and three grandchildren.

In recognition of a lifetime dedicated to service, both in uniform and as a steadfast community pillar, I am honored to present the 2023 Congressional Veterans Commendation to retired Colonel John Thomas Wells, United States Army. His story is a testament to duty, courage, and an unwavering commitment to country and community.

CELEBRATING THE 100TH BIRTHDAY OF TED SILVER

HON. WILEY NICKEL

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. NICKEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the remarkable life and contributions of Mr. Ted B. Silver, who marked his centennial milestone on September 23, 2023. It's a profound honor to recognize a man whose legacy embodies the very essence of service, dedication, and community spirit.

Ted Silver's journey began in Mitchell County, and from there, he embarked on a lifetime of service to his country, community, and fellow citizens. Mr. Silver honorably served in the U.S. Merchant Marine, demonstrating his commitment to safeguarding our nation's interests during a pivotal period in history.

Following his military service, he spent over four decades working for Standard Oil, where he ascended to the role of district manager for the LP gas division before retiring in 1988.

However, it's Mr. Silver's unwavering dedication to the Garner community that truly sets him apart. He served as the first president of the Garner Civitan Club, an organization of volunteer service clubs dedicated to helping people in their communities.

Throughout his years as a Civitan, Ted Silver has been a tireless advocate for the youth of Garner. He championed initiatives supporting organizations such as the Boys and Girls Homes, the Tammy Lynn Center, and the Caswell Center.

Ted Silver's involvement extended to the Civitan Club's Pop Warner Football program, where he volunteered his time and expertise. Additionally, he administered the Civitan scholarship program for students at Garner Senior High, embodying the spirit of giving back to the next generation. He worked hand in hand with the Junior Civitan Club at the high school, imparting wisdom and instilling the values of community service.

Mr. Silver's dedication and selflessness have not gone unnoticed within the Civitan community. He received numerous accolades, including the Garner Civitan of the Year Award in 1977, the Latt Wall Memorial Award in 1986, the Club Honor Key Award in 1991, and the esteemed Life Membership, Civitan's highest honor, in 1998.

Beyond the Civitan Club, Ted Silver has made a meaningful impact on Garner and its residents. He's participated in programs aimed at assisting people with mental and physical disabilities. He also dedicated himself to working with children with developmental disabilities in Garner schools.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my esteemed colleagues to join me in extending our heartfelt congratulations and best wishes to Mr. Ted B. Silver as he celebrates his remarkable 100th birthday. His lifetime of service, dedication, and tireless advocacy for the betterment of Garner and its youth exemplify the very essence of what it means to be a true community leader. May his legacy continue to inspire us all for generations to come.

Happy 100th birthday to Mr. Silver.

CAREER OF MR. ANDY FLICK

HON. DAVID J. TRONE

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. TRONE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the career of Mr. Andy Flick, my former Chief of Staff, as he departs the People's House after 14 years to serve Vice President Harris as her new Director of Legislative Affairs.

When I was elected to Congress in 2018, I had achieved success in business, but I was a novice at operating in the halls of Congress. I had big ideas about what our country needed, and I knew I needed the right team in place to execute and help me be as effective a legislator as I possibly could. It was recommended I speak with Andy, who had significant experience in the House, an impressive professional network, and was brimming with ideas on how to run a Congressional office.

I hired Andy and we were off and running. Andy knew how to both move legislation and manage a team to bring out their potential. Our best conversations revolved around my experience running a business and applying it to management on Capitol Hill. From Andy, I learned from his insights into politics and procedure. As a manager, Andy ran our team with professionalism and empathy, and consistently pushed the team to achieve our shared goals. Andy helped me realize one of my top priorities in Congress when we founded the Freshman Working Group on Addictive—which has since grown into the Bipartisan Mental Health & Substance Use Disorder Task Force, a 140-member group dedicated to overcoming the opioid epidemic. We signed four bills into law my freshman term and chalked up more wins in the 117th Congress.

As a true talent, Andy was eventually offered a position he couldn't refuse—to become Executive Director of the New Democrat Coalition. Over the three years he served in my office, Andy proved himself a consummate leader by hiring and training a team that operated with his same dedication to public service—and so was able to take the new opportunity, knowing he left the office in good hands. Similarly, he leaves the New Democrat Coalition for another opportunity, leaving behind a Coalition that is stronger and more impactful for his leadership.

I will continue to support Andy to achieve all his professional and personal goals. His hard work and innovative thinking have earned my respect, and his commitment to public service has earned my admiration. He will always be my first great advisor in public office, and a true friend.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the staff of my office past and present, I celebrate Andy's 14-year career in the U.S. House of Representatives and wish him nothing but success in his next chapter.

CELEBRATING COMMUNITY CHILD CARE COUNCIL (4CS) OF ALAMEDA COUNTY

HON. ERIC SWALWELL

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. SWALWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise with my colleagues, Representative LEE and Representative KHANNA to recognize the Community Child Care Council of Alameda County, which will celebrate 50 years of serving children and families in Alameda County on Thursday, October 5, 2023.

The Community Childcare Coordinating Council of Alameda County, which later became the "4Cs" of Alameda County, was founded in December of 1972 to offer essential resources to assist families with a network of community services.

4Cs provides access to affordable childcare and family-focused services including childcare referrals, payment assistance, playgroups, free tax preparation assistance, car seat installation checks, and family workshops. 4Cs also supports local childcare providers by offering health and safety trainings, best practices seminars, and ongoing consultation support.

Operating with locations in Hayward, Oakland, and Fremont, 4Cs is governed by a 14-member Board of Directors which employs 75 team members providing services in 18 languages, including English, Spanish, Cantonese, Mandarin, Vietnamese, Tagalog, and Hindi.

As a leading family resource agency, 4Cs has provided over 3,500 personalized referrals, 91 trainings, and over $28 million in payments to cover childcare costs for 1,961 families in Alameda County in 2022.

We join the Community Child Care Council of Alameda County in celebrating its legacy and wish it many more productive years to come.

FILIPINO AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH RESOLUTION

HON. ED CASE

OF HAWAII

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. CASE. Mr. Speaker, each year our country recognizes October as Filipino American History Month, a time for all Americans to celebrate the incredible past, present and future of our fellow citizens whose heritage lies in the great country of the Philippines.

I am especially humbled to do so as the Representative of Hawaii's First Congressional District, where some 190,000 Filipino Americans live, more than any other of our 435 districts throughout the country. With Hawaii's Second Congressional District that has the second largest Filipino Americans population at about 180,000, our Fil-Am community in Hawaii stands at 370,000. In total, fully a quarter of all Hawaii residents are Filipino Americans, by far the largest percentage of any state or territory.

We observe Filipino American History Month in October because the first recorded arrival of Filipinos in the continental United States took place on October 18, 1587, when the “Luzones Indios” came ashore from the Manila-built galleon Nuestra Senora de Esperanza in Morro Bay, California. Today, across the country Filipino Americans have a population of approximately 4,400,000 and are the third largest Asian American and Pacific Islander group in the United States.

Many of the early Filipino immigrants were young men who came to the United States seeking a better life. Most found work in Hawaii, California, Washington and Alaska. This first generation of Filipino immigrants are commonly referred to as the Manong generation (Ilocano for first-born male). They worked mostly physically demanding jobs in tough conditions for very little pay. Over the years, they fought against discrimination, found a way forward and made a better future for themselves and their future generations. They became respected members of communities throughout our nation.

The history of the Fil-Am community in Hawaii is particularly rich and echoes the national story. In 1906, the first 15 sakada contract laborers arrived in Honolulu from the Philippines aboard the SS Doric, marking the first sustained immigration into our country and the humble beginnings of Fil-Ams in Hawaii. These first immigrants, those that followed and the subsequent generations eventually became trailblazers in politics and government, the military, business and entrepreneurship, journalism, popular culture, music and the arts and more.

Domingo Los Banos was Hawaii’s first Filipino American school principal and a loyal veteran of the 1st Filipino Infantry Regiment that fought in the Philippines during World War II.

Carolina Dizon Wong broke a glass ceiling when she obtained an M.D. degree and became the first Filipino American to start a medical practice in Hawaii in 1952.

Peter Aduja became the first Fil-Am elected to public office in the United States when he was elected to the Hawaii Territorial House of Representatives in 1954.

Ines Cayaban was the first Filipino American graduate of the School of Public Health, Nursing and Social Work at the University of Hawaii. She received the prestigious Jefferson Award in 1986 for her service.

In 1994, Ben Cayetano was elected the Governor of Hawaii, becoming the first Filipino American governor of a state in our union.

In 2019, Roy Macaraeg became the first Fil-Am to become a general officer in the history of Hawaii’s citizen soldier ranks.

In Hawaii, we also regularly honor the over 250,000 Filipinos who answered the call to protect and defend America and the Philippines in the Pacific theater. In 2016, President Obama signed into law the Filipino Veterans of World War II Congressional Gold Medal Act to bestow Congress’s highest honor upon those veterans. With my colleagues in the House, I have introduced our Filipino Veterans Family Reunification Act, which seeks to reunite World War II Filipino soldiers with their children, so that we can honor those living in our community who fought to protect the free and open Indo-Pacific that we have today.

Each and all of these lives of achievement are but a small sampling of a broader community that has achieved so much and contributed so much to the rich fabric of our country. And the story of Filipino Americans is still in its early chapters.

This is why it is important that we take the time to recognize groups like Filipino Americans. The story of Filipino Americans, and to an extent, the stories of all of our various ethnic groups, is the story of America. From very humble beginnings, they have risen through hard work, sacrifice, commitment to advancing the next generations and mutual support to achieve so much already. That well describes Filipino Americans overall—embracing the responsibilities and opportunities of America while honoring and treasuring the rich heritage of their ancestral homeland.

All of this is why I joined my friends and colleagues Congresswoman MICHELLE STEEL, Congressman BOBBY SCOTT, Congressman JAMES MOYLAN and others in introducing this bipartisan resolution to express support for the designation of October as Filipino American History Month. We urge our colleagues’ support to promote an ongoing appreciation of the contributions of Filipino Americans to our country and the rich diversity of our nation.

To Fil-Ams everywhere, “Maraming Salamat Po” and “Dios ti Agngina”—congratulations. I truly look forward to partnering with them on their next proud chapters.

HONORING DAVE CORT

HON. JARED HUFFMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in celebration of Dave Cort’s 32 years of service as the San Geronimo Valley Community Center’s Executive Director.

Dave became the Community Center’s first executive director in June of 1991. This part-time job was the first paid position for the organization and came with only three required qualifications: owning a truck, being able to lift 100 pounds, and possessing people skills. His role and the services provided by the Community Center expanded exponentially over the next 3 decades.

Dave ensured the Community Center was a successful resource for the San Geronimo Valley residents. He reformed the local delivery service, partnered with Lagunitas School District to facilitate after-school and daycare programs, and managed the expansion of senior services to include a new Senior Lunch program in the early 2000s. Understanding the need for recreation opportunities to promote community wellness, Dave also worked to build the Community Gym in 2010.

In 2019, Dave rallied community donors to seed the Deepening Roots Endowment with $2 million. A year later, the COVID-19 pandemic underscored the need for financial security for the Center in order to provide critical services to the San Geronimo Valley community emergencies. During the pandemic, Dave assembled the Community Center’s resources to bring vaccines, tests, food, emergency funds, accurate information, and a sense of community to the residents of West Marin.

Today, the San Geronimo Valley Community Center has a staff of 22 people and a comprehensive mission to foster healthy communities within the San Geronimo Valley and Nicasio. Thanks to Dave Cort’s dedication and leadership, the organization has become integral to the quality of life for the community, ensuring local residents have access to quality programs in the arts, youth services, senior services, community events, and more.

Mr. Speaker, Dave Cort exemplifies what it means to be a community-minded public servant. His contributions to the San Geronimo Valley Community Center and the people of West Marin are extraordinary and appreciated. Therefore, please join us in congratulating him for decades of inspiring work.

COMMENDING JOHN SHELL FOR HIS SERVICE TO ALABAMA DISTRICT ONE

HON. JERRY L. CARL

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. CARL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor John Shell for his service to Alabama’s First Congressional District. John Shell initiated the Eagle Reef Project, which involves deploying reef structures to foster marine life. These reefs are installed under docks or wharfs to filter and clean up to 10,000,000 gallons of water annually. They provide homes for many species of fish and crabs. John raised $52,000 for 175 reefs in aims to expand the project to reach 1,000 reefs along the coast of Alabama, and eventually to Mississippi and Florida. He hopes to do a similar project in coastal areas along the Gulf and the Atlantic.

His environmental impact on our waters is remarkable. We wish him all the best in his future endeavors.

HONORING REUNION OF U.S. ARMY NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICER CANDIDATE COURSE

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to hundreds of United States Army veterans who are gathering in and around our nation’s capital the week of September 25, 2023, to join in reunion of their graduation from the Noncommissioned Officers Candidate Course (NCOCC).

The program was established for the training of noncommissioned officers in the U.S. Army. The program operated at Fort Benning, GA, Fort Bliss, TX, Fort Knox, KY, Fort Sill, OK, and Fort Leonard Wood, MO, from 1967 to 1972, during the height of the Vietnam War. As a proud graduate of the program and fellow Vietnam War veteran, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring and saluting these leaders, combat veterans—many of them wounded—and unsung heroes.

As the Vietnam War progressed in the 1960s, the Army was running out of noncommissioned officers in several combat specialties. In order to meet these unprecedented requirements for Noncommissioned Officer

(NCO) leaders, the Army developed a solution based on the proven Officer Candidate Course. If a carefully selected soldier can be given 23 weeks of intensive training that would qualify him to lead a platoon, then others can be trained to lead squads and fire teams in the same amount of time. From this seed, the NCOCC was born.

Army Chief of Staff Gen. Harold K. Johnson approved the concept on June 22, 1967, and on September 5, the first course at Fort Benning (now Fort Moore), Georgia, began with Sgt. Maj. Don Wright serving as the first NCOCC Commandant.

Potential candidates for the course were selected from groups of initial entry soldiers who had a security clearance of confidential, an infantry score of 100 or over, and demonstrated leadership potential. Based on recommendations, the unit commander would select potential NCOs, but all were not volunteers. Those selected to attend NCOCC were immediately made corporals and later promoted to sergeant upon graduation from phase one. The select few who graduated with honors would be promoted to staff sergeant. The outstanding graduate of the first class, Staff Sgt. Melvin C. Leverick, recalled "I think that those who graduated [from the NCOCC] were much better prepared for some of the problems that would arise in Vietnam." The NCO candidate course was designed to maximize the two-year tour of the enlisted draftee.

Though over 300 hours of instruction was given, eighty percent was conducted in the field. The final basic phase was a "dress rehearsal for Vietnam," a full week of patrols, ambush, defensive perimeters, and navigation. Twice daily, the Vietnam-schooled rangers critiqued the candidates, and all training was conducted tactically.

These men, many now of advanced age, served our country with great honor under challenging circumstances. Four were awarded the Medal of Honor. Six are still missing. Many—1,118 in all—never made it home.

Mr. Speaker, it is evident that these outstanding noncommissioned officers and combat veterans were an indispensable part of our armed forces and served our country with bravery, dedication, and honor.

RECOGNIZING DIXIE FERGUSON

HON. CATHY McMORRIS RODGERS

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. RODGERS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize my dear friend, Dixie Ferguson, for her outstanding work and lifelong dedication to serving our men and women in uniform and the veterans of our Eastern Washington community.

Dixie began her service journey in 1966 when she joined the American Red Cross after graduating from the University of California, Davis. She joined the Clubmobile Service and provided support to our combat troops in Vietnam as a "Donut Dolly." Dixie became well-known for her work at USO shows—singing, dancing, and serving food—to the young men fighting for our freedom who were missing home. After returning home in 1968, Dixie served as a social worker at Long Beach Naval Hospital in California, Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Colorado, and the Naval Hospital at Camp Pendleton where she supported those wounded in combat.

Fast forward more than 50 years later, and Dixie is still serving our active duty and retired service members through the American Red Cross Chapter in Walla Walla. In 2016, she earned the Red Cross Volunteer of the Year Award for her work as an outreach and emergency communications caseworker.

Dixie has gone above and beyond volunteering her time through the years. Most recently, she has played an instrumental role in documenting the stories of those who served in World War II and Vietnam through the Library of Congress' Veterans History Project. To date, she has helped record nearly 200 veterans' stories. Additionally, Dixie has helped coordinate flights in the skies of Walla Walla for nearly 700 veterans as part of The Honour Project, while also proudly helping members of the Greatest Generation make their journey to visit the war memorials in Washington, D.C. as a part of the Inland Northwest Honor Flight.

There is truly no task too big or too small for Dixie. Throughout the years, she served on a local committee responsible for bringing the second Gold Star Families Monument to Washington state. In 2021, she established Volunteers Love Serving Veterans, a local non-profit committed to service. Most recently, she organized and planned an annual POW/MIA ceremony event, where she welcomed a Congressional Medal of Honor recipient to be the guest speaker.

One thing is certain: There are very few in our country who have rolled out the red carpet for our veterans like Dixie Ferguson has. Her love of service and dedication to our veterans has brought endless joy to the Walla Walla military and veteran community that continues to grow each year.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that my colleagues join me in recognizing the outstanding service of Dixie Ferguson to our men and women in uniform. Her work on their behalf is awe inspiring, and the profound impact she has had on our Nation's heroes will leave a legacy not soon to be forgotten.

RECOGNIZING OUR LADY OF VICTORY

HON. RASHIDA TLAIB

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, today, I want to recognize the parish of Our Lady of Victory and its founding mother, Anna Bates, as they celebrate eighty years of service in faith to the people of Detroit in Michigan's 12th Congressional District.

Our Lady of Victory's story begins in a store front on Eight Mile Road in 1943. Mother Bates was instrumental in ensuring that the parish had a home in Detroit in spite of segregation and other challenges to a predominantly Black place of worship. In 1941, the city built an eight-foot segregation wall that extended a half-mile long just blocks from the new Our Lady of Victory mission site. As tensions over disparity and racial injustice came to a head, resulting in the 1943 protests, the wall became a symbol for the increasingly unjust living conditions for Black residents.

Spurred by the protest and increasing tension, Mother Bates spent ten years petitioning the archdiocese to create a house of worship for Black residents who were not permitted to enter any of the neighboring white Catholic Churches. Nearby Catholic parishes were adamantly opposed to welcoming Black Catholics. But Mother Bates persevered. Our Lady of Victory was finally recognized as a parish. Though the parish has relocated over the years, we are glad they are now housed in the St. Scholastica campus in Michigan's 12th District.

Please join me in recognizing of Our Lady of Victory's legacy in the fight against racial injustice, as they celebrate eighty years of service and fellowship in faith.

RECOGNIZING JAMES MANUEL VILLA WITH A CONGRESSIONAL VETERAN COMMENDATION

HON. PETE SESSIONS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 29, 2023

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. Speaker, it is my honor to present James Manuel Villa of Waco, Texas with a Congressional Veteran Commendation.

James Villa's dedication is evident from his three combat deployments in Iraq with the Marines First Division, Second Battalion, 5th Regiment. Joining the Marines in 2002, his initial engagement in 2003 saw participation in the Battle of Al Faw, capturing pivotal regions around the Rumaila Oil Field, and ensuring security and stability in Samawah, Iraq. His subsequent deployment in 2004 to Ramadi earned him the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal with combat distinguished service, a testament to his leadership as a fire team leader.

Even after fulfilling his enlistment and intending to pursue education at Baylor University, duty called him back. His third deployment brought more accolades for distinguished service in Fallujah, coupled with the significant responsibility of training 70 Iraqi police recruits. He attained the rank of Sergeant, receiving his honorable discharge in 2009.

Following his service with the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton in 2009, James transitioned to education. He achieved his Bachelor of Arts from Rockhurst University in 2011 and later a Master of Education from Tarleton State University. Besides his academic achievements, James's impact in the community of Waco is profound. As an eighth-grade science teacher, he was celebrated as the 2017 Waco ISD Secondary Teacher of the Year. Today, he stands as a beacon of leadership and hope as the principal of La Vega High School, holding a deep-seated belief in the potential of every student and their ability to effect change in their community.

James, alongside his wife Ivy, are the proud parents of five daughters and three sons, reflecting his commitment both to family and nation.

For his relentless dedication to his country, and now his community, it is with deep respect that I present the Congressional Veteran Commendation to James M. Villa.
