HEARING IS SET BY CITY TRUSTEES FOR MAPLE AVENUE PROTESTANTS AT CITY HALL ON NEXT THURSDAY

Oliver O. Clark Read Recommendations, Which Included the Items of Enlargement of School Grounds and Building of Another Intermediate School

One of the first matters of business taken up by city trustees at their meeting Thursday evening, was the adoption of a resolution setting a hearing for the protests filed by Mr. Haycock, J. F. McClish, and others to assessments for the Maple avenue street improvement for April 14 at 8 p. m.

Water Service in Park Tract

Mr. McClish also addressed the board relative to a contract for water service to the Park Avenue tract just outside the city limits which was entered into years ago with the Tropico Water Distributing Company, since acquired by the city of Glendale, urging the obligation of the city to carry out that contract, and threatening to take the matter to the railroad commission unless relief is voluntarily given. President Stephenson informed him the city manager had been instructed to take the matter up with officials of the city of Los Angeles within whose territory the tract lies, and see if some reciprocal arrangement cannot be entered into whereby Los Angeles will be responsible for cost of pipe extensions. He promised that definite action would be taken at the next meeting of the board.

Palms on Brand

The application of Mattison B. Jones for permit to remove palms in parkway on Brand near Wilson, was granted, the city manager stating that they would be taken by the city and replanted in Keilworth park.

Garfield Drive

A petition to accept the dedication of Garfield drive and extensions thereof, known as Lots A and B, was referred to city manager for investigation and report. The same action was taken with regard to Dorothy drive.

Wrought Iron Work Shop

The application of Robert Goudie & Son for a permit to establish a shop for the manufacture of wrought iron, ornamental work at 514 East Broadway, was referred to city manager for investigation and report.

Railroad Commission Hearing

The city attorney reported the hearing of the case of the Verdugo Improvement Association vs. the Pacific Electric railroad had been set for April 29 and he was instructed to protect any interests the city have in the matter.

The application of John W. Henderson for permit to do street work was granted. Report of city treasurer was accepted and ordered filed.

Little Stock Ranch Claimed Of

The city marshal reported an investigation of the premises of one Joe Schneider who has been keeping cow, horse, goat and chickens in conditions complained of by his neighbors. He stated they were in reasonably sanitary condition.

SOLD LIQUOR TO MINORS IS CHARGE

Laurence Collino, dubbed "Count" by his associates, appeared before Judge Lowe yesterday, on the charge of selling liquor to minors and the case was dismissed for want of jurisdiction, as the alleged offense was actually committed in or near Burbank. It was testified by two boys to whom he sold the liquor, as alleged, that he was merely the agent of Mr. Pastroni, who keeps a fruit stand by the side of San Fernando road, near Burbank, with a well-stocked wine cellar in the rear. Collino would ingratiate himself with boys and young men, it was charged, take their order for wine and then conduct them to Pastroni's, where the order was filled. Upon the dismissal of the case by Judge Lowe, warrants were immediately sworn out for both Collino and Pastroni, charging them with supplying minors with liquor and they were cited to appear before Judge Miller, as it was a township, not a city, case. Collino was arrested and Judge Miller released him on $200 bail. Pastroni has not been apprehended. The county and federal authorities may also take cognizance of the charges, it is stated.

MISS ELEANOR KINYON IS PROSPECTIVE BRIDE

A wedding of great interest to the contracting parties and their friends here will be celebrated Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Kinyon at 347 Ivy street, when their daughter, Miss Eleanor Kinyon will become the bride of Dr. Henry Blong. The doctor arrived a week ago Sunday to claim his bride and he is considering locating in California. Mr. and Mrs. Kinyon came here a year ago last June and were joined by their daughter in December. Since the mid-winter term opened she has filled a position as extra teacher for the A. 1 grade at the Broadway school, where she is popular with her fellow teachers.

NEW TAILOR SHOP FOR EAST BROADWAY

Frank Conforti of Los Angeles has opened a new shop which he will call "French Tailor Shop" at 624 1/2 East Broadway. Mr. Conforti is also prepared to do all kinds of pressing and repairing. He is at present living in the city, but is trying to secure a residence in Glendale to move his family here.

GLENDALE THE CHOICEST SPOT IN "THE LAND OF HEART'S DESIRE"

City Manager Thomas W. Watson Presides at the Forum
Luncheon Yesterday—Plans to Establish a Retail
Merchants' Credit Association Here

T. W. Watson, city manager, presided at the forum luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Talks on the advisability of establishing a retail merchants' credit association in Glendale, were made by J. H. Van De Water, general manager of the retail merchants' association of Los Angeles, and W. W. Welir, president of the association. Both speakers emphasized the thought that with the increased growth of Glendale a credit association was necessary; Mr. Van De Water also explained the workings of such an organization and its benefits to the merchant and also to his patrons.

E. F. Sanders, former sales director of the Parrett Tractor company of Chicago, was a speaker along a different line. He told that he had visited every state in the union and every city of any size or note, and that he had decided that California was the only state in which a man ought to live; then, after a careful survey of this state "from the burning sands of the desert lands to the shadows of Mt. Shasta," he decided that beautiful, artistic, symmetrical, progressive Glendale was the choicest spot in "The Land of Heart's Desire."

INTERESTING REALTY RUMORS

J. J. Nesom, who established the first drug store in Glendale and conducted it for about ten years on Brand boulevard at the present site of the Glendale Groceria, is said to have purchased a lot at about 221 South Glendale, adjoining the Belden Sheet Metal Works, for $10,000. He has not stated what use he expects to make of it.

Well-posted realty operators say that, notwithstanding the reported withdrawal of the would-be purchaser, the sale of the lot owned by the Misses Baldwin at the southwest corner of Brand and Wilson avenue has been consummated for $45,000.

Another rumor from reliable sources states that the northeast corner of Harvard and Brand has been sold to a local syndicate for about $25,000. The dimensions of the lot are 51x130. Oma Fish has been mentioned as one of the group of purchasers.

A 50-foot lot 100 feet north of the Jewel City Undertaking Company on North Brand has been sold by John W. Lawson, it is reported, for a consideration of $5500.

Fish & Tarr are said to have bought 50 feet on West Broadway, now occupied by the Horseshoe-Club, for $5500.

The southeast corner of Jackson and Broadway, belonging to Mrs. Hill of Boston, has recently been sold for $5500, if hearsay is to be trusted.

James B. Cohn is said to be planning to erect on the lot he owns at 135 South Brand a building which will be divided into three stores.

About ten acres at Broadway and San Fernando, formerly the Sanderson ranch, have been purchased by a syndicate of Glendale men for $1500 an acre.

Rumor was also busy with a reputed offer of $60,000 for the corner of Brand and Broadway, now occupied by the Pacific Electric station, but realtors declare there is nothing to the story; that the property cannot be bought for any such figure.

D. A. R. CELEBRATE LEXINGTON DAY

Of exceptional enjoyment and largely attended was the meeting of General Richard Gridley Chapter, D. A. R., held Thursday, at the home of the regent, Mrs. J. H. Braly.

Because April 19 is the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington when the first shots of the revolutionary war were fired, this month is specially observed by all D. A. R. organizations. Thursday was therefore Lexington Day for the Glendale chapter. Mrs. Wells, sister of the hostess, was the speaker and gave a most interesting account of a visit which she and Mrs. Braly made to Lexington, and told of climbing to the tower of the old North church where Paul Revere arranged for the signal lanterns announcing the approach of the British to be hung.

"One if by land and two if by sea. And I on the opposite shore will be ready to ride and spread the alarm."

Through every Middlesex village and farm
For the country folk to be up and arm.

Mrs. Wells recited the poem and told how important is this anniversary to the D. A. R.s because they always meet this week of the year for their national convention in Washington, where their organization has been given national recognition in the records at the Smithsonian Institute. Said she: "Once a year we ought to review that freedom call and the decision of our ancestors which gave freedom to America."

She also gave a charming description of the visit to the Yosemite which she, Mr. and Mrs. Braly recently made, paying a glowing tribute to the beauty of the park at this season and telling amusing and interesting incidents of the journey.

The collection for the "Mile of Pennies" was received with a provisional check for $50 from Mr. Braly. Guests present were: Miss Florence A. Harsh, Mmes. W. W. Worley, A. M. Williams, G. H. Rowe, and H. C. Humphrey of Burbank. Regular members in attendance were: Mmes. J. H. Braly, T. D. Addison, Elizabeth Ford, R. D. Goss, Gertrude Follansbee, Harriet R. Rathbun, Sarah Thompson, Lizzie M. Pierce, Wayland Chapman, S. A. Butterfield, Albert Pearce (and baby daughter), John G. Peart, J. R. Mitchell, H. A. Strong, J. A. Crawford, Carrie F. Wilson, Mabel F. Ocker, A. B. Purrier, C. E. Stanley, Vivian Wilson, Herbert H. Mann, Miss Sophie Goff and Miss Ida Myers.

MASS MEETING AT INTERMEDIATE TO HEAR REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO RELIEVE SCHOOL CONGESTION

John F. McClish Appeals to Board for Carrying Out of the Contract With Park Avenue Tract for Water Service
Inherited from Tropico Water Company

Citizens representative of every section of Glendale were present at the mass meeting at the Intermediate school last evening to hear the report of a committee appointed at a previous meeting on March 3, to consider ways and means of relieving the congestion in the city schools.

The meeting was called to order by David Black, chairman elected at the first meeting, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary.

Oliver O. Clark read the recommendations which were submitted by unanimous action of the committee of which he was chairman. The report covers the items of enlargement of school grounds, additions to present buildings, changes in boundary lines and the building of another intermediate school. It advises the purchase of 2.2 acres of land as an addition to the grounds of the Acacia avenue school; the lot on Elk avenue 80x145 feet, adjacent to the Colorado street school grounds; five or six lots on Millford as an addition to the Columbus avenue; and two acres adjacent to the Doran street school grounds.

Additions to present buildings were recommended as follows: Acacia school, four class rooms and an administrative building; Colorado street school, two rooms; Doran street school, three rooms; Pacific avenue school, two rooms; Columbus avenue school, four rooms; Central avenue school, two rooms, by putting floors in the so-called basement rooms, and the building of a two-room unit in the Verdugo district. The recommendation advises uniformity of interior construction, but outside flexibility of design to conform with that of present buildings.

The report recommends the purchase of the three acres known as the Turk property on Glendale avenue between Park and Acacia avenues, and certain lots adjoining, making approximately four acres, as a site for an intermediate school to accommodate children of the southern half of the city and to relieve the congestion at the present Intermediate. It was recommended that the architecture of this building conform to that of the Broadway school.

The shifting of certain district lines after these additions to present buildings are made, to relieve crowded conditions in other buildings, was another recommendation.

The report of the committee was adopted by a unanimous vote, and will be submitted to the school trustees as representing the best thought of the people of Glendale on the problem of relief for congested conditions in the schools. It will carry also the request of the people that an election for a bond issue of $215,000 to cover this school improvement program be called.

Report of the Advisory Committee Appointed at March Mass Meeting

At the mass meeting held in the auditorium of the Intermediate school, Thursday, April 7, 1921, the following report was submitted by Oliver O. Clark, chairman of the committee appointed at the previous meeting:

"Your committee recommends the calling of an election for the purpose of voting on a bond issue of $215,000 and that if this bond issue is favorably voted upon that the proceeds be used for the following purposes:

(1) To acquire three or more acres on Glendale avenue between Park and Acacia and build thereon an intermediate school to contain eight class-rooms, an auditorium, a sewing room, a cooking room, a manual training

TAKES OUT A PERMIT

Harold Swenson took out a permit this morning for a four-room residence and a garage at 529 Pioneer, $2000, and A. E. Harmon one for four rooms, 630 East Maple, $700.

BIG ENTERPRISE TO GO AHEAD

W. O. Bruess, who some day ago was reported as having closed the option to 88 acres of land west of Glendale lying along the Southern Pacific tracks south of Broadway, was in town this morning making arrangements to go ahead with the big enterprise which he has described to men of our city with whom he has talked as an $8,000,000 factory center.

Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce officials have been greatly interested in his plans as they naturally would be, inasmuch as the site is within the Los Angeles territory. They were even more enthusiastic over the prospects when he stated that his plans include the sale of small plots to factories who will be glad to avail themselves of his equipment. He is said to have arranged with the Southern Pacific for a mile of spur trackage, and has announced an intention to develop the water that will be needed for big industrial plants, and to contract for electrical power and gas to be redistributed by him to any plants that may be associated with him as purchasers of sites.

When this was mentioned the Los Angeles chamber secretary said there would be no trouble about finding factories glad to avail themselves of such an opportunity, for applications are coming to them daily from manufacturers seeking just such locations. Should this plan, as outlined by Mr. Bruess materialize, and he says he is going ahead with it, it would mean a tremendously big industrial center at the gates of Glendale.

Mr. Bruess has stated that the first unit he will establish will be a tire plant to employ about 2500 expert workmen, some of whom will be housed in homes built by his company. His second project is a cotton mill to manufacture the cotton webbing needed for the tires. His third objective is a rubber reclamation plant for the manufacture of hard rubber articles from the waste of worn-out tires.

FIRE DESTROYS THE W. C. HARVEY HOME

Family Barely Escapes and Lose Treasures in Antique
Furniture and Art

The rustic home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harvey Jr., at 215 West Los Feliz road, which was unique in its kind and where they spent many pleasant years, was completely destroyed with all its contents, by fire this morning about 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Harvey barely escaped in negligence. Mr. Harvey, who rose first, lighted a burner in a gas stove and then retired to the bath room to shave. He heard the crackling of flames and rushed to the scene, but it was then too late as the cottage was of California construction, very dry, and went like tinder.

It is a great blow to Mrs. Harvey, as her home held the accumulated treasures of a lifetime, rugs, pictures, curios gathered in foreign lands, furniture that had descended to her from a long line of distinguished ancestors and with which she would not have willingly parted for any monetary consideration.

The Harveys returned to the place a few months ago after a year spent in Middletown, Ohio, where they also have a home to which they expect to return, this one having been kept for use when they wanted to winter in California. They expected to go east the first of July but their return will probably be hastened by this disaster.

Mrs. Harvey is the mother of Mrs. Oliver Merrill and of Clay Seaman of this city. She and Mr. Harvey are now at the home of Mrs. Harvey's sister, Mrs. Sellers of Pasadena.

"THE SLACKER" AT GLENDALE THEATER

The masterful portrayal of the unregenerate clergyman in "The Slackers," William Christy Cabane's powerful human document, a Robertson-Cole super-special which opened at the Glendale theater yesterday for a run of three days, is the work of William H. Tookere, an actor of distinction.

His interpretation of the leading role which has attracted such widespread attention is due, he says, to the fact that he was able actually to live the part.

And live it he did, according to the critics. His performance has been likened to the Sermon on the Mount in pictures.

The picture has not only a dramatic story but many great and spectacular scenes.

EFFORT TO BOOST MIDWAY'S GAS RATE

Los Angeles Will Oppose Any Increase at Hearing Before
Railroad Commission

At the meeting of the city trustees Thursday evening, City Attorney Shaw stated that the Midway Gas company had made application to the railroad commission for permission to raise its rates to the municipal corporations and others, including the Southern California Gas company, by which Glendale is served, and that notices of this application had been sent to him as Glendale's attorney. He added that Los Angeles is preparing to fight the proposed increase, knowing that if granted it will necessitate increasing the rates to private consumers. In view of this attitude on the part of Los Angeles, President Stephenson said he thought it might be well for little Glendale to fight tight and let Los Angeles fight her battles for once.

"The Woman in His House," the feature picture at the Palace Grand today, is a wonderful drama with a theme similar to that of "The Miracle Man."

This noteworthy Louis V. Mayer production ran three weeks continuously at a Los Angeles theater at prices from 50 cents to $1.50. It is offered to Palace Grand patrons at regular prices. It is on the program for today only.

The musical program by the Palace Grand orchestra, Nils Gilliam, director, includes: "Overture," "Festival," "Lautner," "County Kerry Mary," "Pretty Kitty Kelly," "Dream Girl."

The performance is continuous, shows starting at 3, 5, 7 and 9 o'clock.

ENTERTAIN P. E. O. WITH A LUNCHEON

Mrs. Andrew Stephenson was hostess on Tuesday at a pretty appointed luncheon at her home, 1241 South Central avenue, entertaining Chapter A.H. P.E.O.

The regular business meeting was held in the afternoon, with the vice-president, Mrs. Lucile Eames, in charge. Plans for the state convention to be held in Burbank on April 13, 14 and 15, were discussed. Current events were given by Mrs. Mildred Kimball.

DANGER LURKS IN PERCOLATED WATER

Tests Show Increase in Bacteria After Water Stands in Percolators

One of the important communications from the city manager to the board of city trustees at its meeting last night, reviewed the purity of the water supply as shown by bacteriological tests, and the canvass of the city which is being made by agents for a water percolator. Mr. Watson showed that tests for bacteria before and after the water had stood for a time in the percolator revealed a large increase in the bacterial count and showed that these filters are really breeding places for germs and are a menace rather than a benefit. His communication in full was as follows: "It has been called to our attention that parties soliciting for the sale or rental of water percolators are at least inadvertently creating an impression in the minds of some of the people of Glendale that the water supply is not pure and that it is unfit for human consumption as it is taken from the tap for domestic purposes, and that by the use of percolators the water may be made pure and wholesome. These impressions are erroneous.

"The water by sterilization is brought to a high degree of purity far beyond that which is required by either the United States government or the California state board of health before it enters the distributing system. This is substantiated by reports of the bacterial count of water samples taken daily before and after sterilization.

"We have also caused samples to be taken of water drawn from the distributing system and placed in certain of these water percolators also samples from the same percolators several days later, and in all instances we find that the bacterial count has been multiplied many times in the short period that the water had been confined in these percolators, demonstrating clearly that the percolators only enhance any danger to health that might exist on account of disease-producing bacteria in the water supply. "Owing to a certain vegetable growth that enters the distributing system from the surface waters of Verdugo canyon, and also the growth of pipe moss in the distributing system, we have many complaints this time of the year as to the condition of the water supply. Experience of the last three years in handling this matter and the knowledge gained from bacterial examination of samples taken from locations from which these complaints come, has taught us that the remedy for this difficulty is the complete flushing out of the water system. This is now being done.

"Owing to conditions in Verdugo canyon, it has been necessary to sterilize the supply from that source and because of the presence of a large percentage of iron in the water derived from the wells at the main pumping plants, facilitating the growth of pipe moss, this water is being treated with a small amount of copper sulphate. The fact that this is being done has led many people to assume that the trouble they find with the water supply at their particular premise, is due to chemicals placed in the water for the above mentioned purposes. This is not the fact. Whatever trouble there is, it is the result of the presence in the water system of vegetable growth and sediment as stated above.

"We believe that the people of Glendale should know the facts set forth above and should be acquainted in detail with the actual condition of the water supply and the means and caution taken to insure its purity. We would therefore request authority to prepare, with the assistance of Health Officer J. E. Eckles, and Dr. Carl Wilson, a comprehensive report setting forth in detail these matters and to distribute such statements to the water consumers of Glendale.

MALNUTRITION IS A GREAT PHYSICAL EVIL.

Of special interest to every mother and teacher of children is the bulletin by Lydia Roberts, entitled, "What is Malnutrition?" published by the Children's Bureau, United States department of agriculture. This bulletin is Bureau Publication No. 59, Children's Year Follow-up Series No. 1. The signs and symptoms of malnutrition, a disease rapidly increasing, together with the causes both specific and underlying, are given in the pamphlet. "Insufficient or unsuitable food and drink, such as tea and coffee instead of milk, is generally conceded to be the chief cause of undernutrition," the bulletin states. "Insufficient sleep, fatigue, and disease are also causes. Poverty and ignorance, lack of parental care, are stated to be the underlying reasons for this condition, unfortunately so prevalent among children.

When speaking of the effects of malnutrition the bulletin quotes an English authority who says, "Malnutrition is one of the greatest evils of its (the child's) physique. The undernourished child tends to become disabled and unemployable, incapable of resisting diseases or withstanding its onset and process." Mrs. Roberts suggests that the first step in the treatment of malnutrition is "to find the cause, then of course remove it." This, she says, "means a careful inquiry into the child's whole method of living as well as a thorough standardized physical examination."

If it must be relieved, if there be a lack of knowledge of what is meant by "adequate food" and "healthful living," then help must be given in these directions.

The school lunch, fresh-air schools, and nutrition clinics are all named as potent agencies in overcoming the increasing malnutrition among our children.

STRANGEST SECRET SOCIETY ON RECORD

By NEWTON C. PARKE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 8.—The strangest secret society on record—an organization to teach women past middle age how to hold the love of their husbands—has just been launched in Paris. Its sponsor is the Countess Andrée de Tavernay. She admits that she is 41 years old, but not a one of her male admirers will believe her. She has grouped about her, she says, some of the best known women in French society, whose names are as secret as the by-laws and advice issued by the organization.

The new society is known as the "French Charm Club." It has just begun issuing a mysterious book whose chapters come out serially. It is never to reach the eyes of man until years after the death of every member.

"I have taken a hint from the American correspondence schools," says the countess. "To make sure that no part of the book falls into the hands of a man I mail out one chapter for members of the society to read and when they finish with that they send it back to me by registered mail and I send the next chapter. Each time a member sends back her copy she renews her solemn pledge never to let the book out of her possession."

Only the introduction to the mysterious love book is public property. It is written by the countess herself, though members of the society will contribute several chapters.

Hang On to Charm, is Advice. "Women of 40 or over," says the preface, "you must learn how to charm your husbands if you are to keep them. Nothing is easier. All you remember that it is the woman ways which with experience in love, if 40, ripe often awakens the affections of youth when love comes to youth intuitively. Retain your charm and you have nothing to fear from frivolous young girls."

The love book will have chapters on the care of the complexion and the hair, how to dress attractively and how to retain a youthful figure. One chapter, the countess announces, will deal with "the best loved man in Paris," a figure in real life, and will recount the experiences of many women, both under and over 40, who tried to capture his heart.

IMMEDIATE REPEAL OF EXCESS PROFITS TAX

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—Immediate repeal of the excess profits tax will be formally recommended to congress on Monday by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, the secretary announced today.

Secretary Mellon stated that his tax revision program is not yet completed but that he will have it ready to forward to congress on Monday. The question of funding the floating indebtedness of the United States is under consideration but will probably be deferred until after the tax revision program is under way, the secretary said.

HOW DOES YOUR GAS FLAME BURN?

It seems like a simple question, but do you know when the burner of your gas stove is adjusted properly, when the flame is doing its best work? Perhaps the flame is yellow or smoking, thus depositing soot on the cooking utensils. Perhaps the flame is striking back, with a disagreeable noise, to say the least, or it may be burning properly. At any rate, it is worth your while to find out.

Your gas-burner is merely what is known as a "Bunsen" burner. It has a disc called the mixing disc, near the handle used for turning the gas on and off. This disc, if properly adjusted, makes a mixture of gas and air in the right proportion, so that when lighted the gas burns blue flame on the outside, and with a paler blue or green inner flame. When the gas is burning in this way it is hottest, and hence most efficient as combustion is complete.

When the flame burns yellow, as it often does, insufficient air is being mixed with the gas, and the disc should be regulated by turning to admit more air. A dull, smoky flame, disastrous to cooking dishes, may also result from lack of air.

If too much air is entering through the mixing disc, there will be a roaring noise and the flame may "flash back" and burn at the orifice-near the air inlet where the gas enters. This is dangerous because a poisonous gas is given off. If either one of these conditions occurs, the gas should be turned off and not relighted until the mixer or ventilator has been adjusted so that less air enters it. Allowing the gas to flow into the burner for a second or two before lighting will sometimes remedy the trouble.

Because of the likelihood of explosions, and because the burners do not always light at first, the oven of the gas-stove should always be left open while lighting the burner.

It is very easy for the burners to clog because of food boiling over. This means a poor flame and uneven heating. Sometimes a brushing will clean the burner, but it is often necessary to remove the burner and cover with a strong solution of washing soda and water. Let the water come to the boiling point and continue until the grease and other dirt is removed. The burners should then be taken out of the soda water, wiped and rinsed with hot water. An easy way of drying is to attach to stove and light the gas.

If these apparently unimportant details are carefully attended to, many gas-stove troubles will be eliminated and your cooking utensils will require much less scouring.

WILL PERSHING BE MADE A DIPLOMAT?

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Secretary Weeks' statement that he would shortly announce a detail of duty for General Pershing commensurate with his rank has caused considerable interest and speculation in the war department. Several possible assignments for the general, whose rank places him above any routine detail, have been discussed by officials, it was said today.

It has been rumored he would retire to accept a diplomatic post, probably that of ambassador to Japan to succeed Roland Morris, whose resignation President Harding accepted. It is understood this would be the most acceptable diplomatic post General Pershing could be offered. His services there years ago as military attache would tend to qualify him for the position, it has been pointed out.

Another diplomatic post mentioned is Paris, but it is believed he would prefer Tokio.

On the other hand many army officers believe Pershing will either be made chief of staff to succeed Major-General Peyton C. March, or that Secretary Weeks will seek legislation placing the army on a field basis with him as general of the army at the head of the organization.

Another assignment frequently mentioned is that of governor-general of the Philippines, but it is not believed such a detail would be acceptable to him. A tour of the world as an envoy extraordinary similar to the tours made by allied leaders after the war also has been mentioned.

General Pershing has never broached the subject of retirement to the new administration as far as can be learned. More than a year ago in a letter to Secretary Baker he indicated his desire to go on the retired list when he had completed important duties on which he was engaged. Most of those duties are completed.

Under the law the general may retire at any time with full pay and allowances of his rank amounting to about $21,000 a year.

ELWELL STORY IS DOUBTED BY SISTER

(By International News Service)

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., April 8.—Miss Grace Elwell, sister of Joseph B. Elwell, the murdered bridge whist king, said today that she does not believe there is anything in the story Roy Harris told the Buffalo police.

"I never heard of any Mrs. Fairchild and I do not know of any Roy Harris. I think the man is lying," she said.

Miss Elwell denied a recent statement credited to her to the effect that she believed the authorities knew the identity of her brother's slayer and were shielding the suspected person.

Mrs. Helen Derby Elwell, divorced wife of Elwell, said she had little faith in the confession.

LONDON, April 8.—All negotiations between the striking coal miners representatives and the government were broken off after a conference at No. 10 Downing street, today.

Premier Lloyd George was unable to obtain from the executive committee of the miners union the guarantee that, pending joint negotiations between miners, mine owners and the government the miners would send the pumping crews back to the mines to prevent further flooding.

BIG FIRE RENDERS MANY HOMELESS

(By International News Service)

TOKIO, April 8.—Thousands are homeless today as a result of the biggest fire here in eight years which yesterday burned 1600 houses in the poorer section of the city bordering the Yoshiwara district. The fire threatened the famous Asakusa temple. The property damage was estimated today at 4,000,000 yen ($2,000,000).

STARVING CHILDREN MAKE HOOVER WEEP

Written by an American Red Cross Nurse for International News Service

PRAGUE, April 7.—I first met Miss Alice Masaryk, oldest daughter of Thomas Garrigut Masaryk, life president of the republic of Czechoslovakia. This meeting occurred on a European express just as we were pulling out of Prague late one evening. There were three of us in the party. We were bound for an orphanage in Ruthenia, which no less a person than Miss Masaryk herself had begged the Junior Red Cross of America to adopt as its own temporarily.

It was a hot summer evening and we were as tired as long hours of heat and perspiring toil could make us. Our one thought was to find a good night's rest and that as soon as possible. Suddenly our little Czech interpreter burst in upon us.

"Guess who is on the train?" she said, her eyes shining with excitement.

"Give it up," we replied yawningly.

"Furthermore we don't care a continental," drawled listlessly our New England companion.

"Oh, but you will when you know! It is Miss Masaryk, the president's daughter, and she is planning to sit up all night."

"Sit up all night," we echoed faintly. "Whatever is the matter with her?"

"She didn't decide to make the trip until too late to engage a wagonette, came the answer.

"Well if that isn't democracy for you I'll eat my hat," sang out a voice of New England. "I doubt if we could match it even in our America. She's a woman after my own heart."

And what's more, she isn't going to approve her equal rights and no privileges a minute longer. I'm going to bunk with you, Sally Jane, whether you like it or not, and she shall sleep as fine as silk in the soft white berth that is mine."

And without another word or waiting a reply she darted off, returning before we had time to get our thoughts and belongings properly arranged to receive the honored guest.

Father a Coachman

The president's daughter proved to be a sweet serious-faced woman with a very great deal of that indefinable thing we call "personal charm." We liked her at once. We were impressed with her sincerity and quiet grace. She spoke English perfectly. Afterwards, when we knew her better, we learned that her mother was an American, a member of the Garrigue family of Shakespearean fame. Her father, Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, the president, was the son of a coachman. He had climbed all of the proverbial rounds of the poor boy's ladder, having been in turn a locksmith, a blacksmith and a schoolteacher. It was the last calling that brought him to the top and made his name known throughout England and America.

Miss Masaryk, like her father, is a student. She spent two years at Hull House under Jane Addams and was one of the few women students at the University of Prague, where she specialized in medicine, history and sociology.

During the war she was imprisoned in Vienna and held as hostage for her father whom the Austrian government could not get within its grasp.

Miss Masaryk told us that the prison period was the greatest school of her life. Here, crowded in a small cell, with 12 other prisoners; her brother slain; her father an exile; her mother in feeble health—she proved the stuff of which heroes and martyrs are made. The letters she wrote while in prison to her mother give rare glimpses into the soul and heart of a great woman.

Put's House in Order

Dr. Masaryk, on being called to the presidency of the newly-created republic, found himself in somewhat of a large family might who suddenly had been forced to move into a very old and very much out of repair house. To make it a habitable and safe place in which to dwell, it had of necessity to be overhauled from cellar to attic.

The Austrian Red Cross had withdrawn at the birth of the republic. Theirs was a crying need for a similar organization. The president, with keen vision, appointed Miss Masaryk to organize and head this work. In other words, the questions relating to health and happiness of the household were turned over to her. Her previous medical training, her special work and her great understanding of and sympathy for the people, made her the one person in Czechoslovakia able to carry the task through to a successful end.

Miss Masaryk, on assuming the headship of the Czech Red Cross, did not need to look about to find out the condition of the country. It was already written on her heart. All too well she knew that the children's cupboards and porridge bowls were empty. Their cries for help were heard everywhere.

Hoover Weeps

The newly-organized house had little to run on. It must get help from outside until it could get itself in order. So it was that Miss Masaryk went to Mr. Hoover in Paris and told him her story.

"I, myself," Miss Masaryk told us, "had seen so much misery that I was hardened. I had only one thought, that of obtaining help. I told my tale simply. It was with surprise that I saw tears rolling down Mr. Hoover's face."

And Mr. Hoover did help. He took over the children's cupboard in needy households. Meals of the correct number of calories were served, and are still being served throughout Czechoslovakia by the American Relief Association.

But the health of the children had been so greatly impaired by the war years of undernourishment and privations that it took more than food to make it normal. A remedy must be found and applied at once, unless epidemics of the worst kind should sweep the land. Again Miss Masaryk went outside for help, and this time

The Juniors, like Mr. Hoover, answered Miss Masaryk's call at once. Trained workers were sent to Czechoslovakia to solve the health problem of the children. The result was that there started in the spring of 1920 a game whose popularity vies with our national game of baseball. Throughout the new republic it became known as the "Fight for Health." The children in the public schools of the four largest cities—Prague, Pilsen, Bratislava and Bruno—are now, so to speak, soaked up to their ears in it. Tooth brushes, soap and a card with seven simple health rules take the places of bats, balls and score cards in the Czech national game.

The Scrubbing Legion

Scrub! Scrub! Scrub! There was never such a scrubbing in the history of these old-time cities. Play in the open, correct standing and sitting postures, windows open at night—who in Czechoslovakia had ever heard of these strange customs before?

"I wonder," said one of the Junior Red Cross workers one day as she stood addressing a roomful of children, "if anyone can tell me why it is you are all working so hard to win in the 'Fight for Health'?"

A legion of hands shot into space. A small boy in the corner was given the honor of replying.

"We wish to win because Miss Masaryk, our president's daughter, wishes us to grow into strong and useful men and women."

A woman who can create that sort of feeling throughout a nation is a woman who has the needs of her people constantly in mind; a woman who lets not a detail of her large household escape her, cannot fail in her task of converting a very old and very much out of repair house into a healthy, happy home for its children. Such a woman as Miss Masaryk well deserves the name that is hers, a "great daughter of a great president."

TOO GREAT TO BE OSTENTATIOUS

To the average newspaper reader, to whom the names of Pershing, Hoover and Harding are household words, the name of Dr. William Williams Keen is unknown—and Dr. Keen is one of America's most useful citizens. That he is unknown to the rank and file of people is perhaps not to be wondered at, for the great surgeon has always shunned publicity. The one thing he has ever done in a useful life, extending over 84 years, which even remotely approaches the sensational, was the publication of a magazine article several years ago revealing that, nearly 20 years before, he had placed the President of the United States, Grover Cleveland, on a yacht, taken him out to sea, and deftly removed a growth from his throat. The fact of Dr. Keen's having successfully kept this secret until after the ex-President's death is proof conclusive that he possesses no real gift for publicity. Those whose memories reach back to the exciting political period of 1893 can picture the disturbance that this news would have caused at that time.

Yet even the saving of the life of such a great President as Grover Cleveland, at a time when his life was of almost inestimable value to his country, does not compare with the great worth of Dr. Keen's other services to mankind. Not even the shelfful of great books he has written on surgery can be called the monument to his undying fame; his greatest achievement, the one for which mankind owes him the greatest debt of gratitude, was his introduction into this country of antiseptic surgery. This was in the 'seventies. At that time Lister, the great English surgeon, has begun his far-reaching and important work on the cause and prevention of septic infection of wounds and his use of antiseptics in all surgical operations. He needed friends badly; in his own country he was ridiculed and anathematized; his earliest recognition was received in countries other than his native land.

At a time when it was almost fatal to a surgeon's reputation to take such an unpopular stand, Dr. Keen championed Lister's cause in the United States. Having served as a surgeon all through the Civil War, he knew the frightful mortality from blood poisoning following hospital operations. It was largely owing to his battles for Listerism that this system finally became the orthodox practice in America.

This achievement is enough to cause a man's name to go down to posterity in grateful memory; but this ripe scholar, now 84 years old, is using the same zest which he put into the campaign for antiseptic surgery years ago into other campaigns for the benefit of the race. Just now his shafts are directed against those enemies of animal experimentation who, in his opinion, regard the life of a guinea pig as of greater importance than that of a baby choking to death with diphtheria or a rabbit as a being more to be considered than a human being suffering the agonies of tetanus.

Dr. Keen was recently honored by a dinner given in admiring recognition of his work by several hundred men famous in American science. Scientists do well to honor Dr. William Williams Keen. He should be known and honored by his countrymen at large, also. Not all the heroic deeds of the world are done by soldiers and warriors on the field of battle. Peace, too, has her heroes, and Dr. Keen, waging war against disease, the enemy of man, quietly and unostentatiously, is a noble and inspiring example of unselfish devotion to a cause.

These are the days when we hear very little about self-made men. Most of them prefer to keep their early obscurity under cover.

Why do some people stand in deadly fear of being struck by lightning? It never hits the same person twice.

Don't get the mistaken idea that you know it all. You never know what your neighbor really thinks of you.

ONE GOOD TURN DESERVES ANOTHER

(By International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 8.—The lure of baseball softened the iron heart of justice here in the city court.

Roy St. John, who played in several Pacific coast leagues, appeared before the judge on a disorderly charge.

"I told you several days ago that you had better be using some of that alcohol externally for spring training, instead of internally," Judge Herrod told St. John.

"You must stop it, but I don't want to be hard on you because of the many thrills you gave me on the baseball field. I'll fine you $10 and give you a stay of execution if you will promise to get out of town."

St. John promised.

EX-EMPEROR CHARLES DENIES ANY PLOT

(By International News Service)
LUCERNE, April 8.—From his hotel suite overlooking the lake of Four Cantons, where he remains in seclusion with Frau Zita, his wife, ex-emperor Charles of Austria today sent formal denial to the Swiss government that his throne seeking adventure had resulted from a plot in which former members of the Hungarian nobility and foreigners were alleged to have participated.

"I acted solely upon my own responsibility," Charles declared. "Only my wife and a very few of my friends knew of my plans."

It may be better to give than to receive, but few of us are in a position to keep it up indefinitely.

BEGGED PERMISSION TO ATTEND FUNERAL

(By International News Service)
SEATTLE, Wash., April 8.—Mrs. Gladys Primeau, 21, will go to the penitentiary today without attending the funeral of her 14-months-old baby, unless Judge W. D. Askren of the superior court in Tacoma grants her special permission in answer to her frantic appeals. The baby drank poison which he found when his mother left him with two brothers, locked in their home.

Mrs. Primeau had been free under a suspended sentence of one to fifteen years, for burglary in Tacoma. With the death of her baby she was taken back to jail and will be sent to the state penitentiary to serve her term. A charge of manslaughter against her husband is dismissed.

FIRST GOAT TO DIE FROM INDIGESTION

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 8.—Billy was only a whiskered goat of questionable antecedents, but his name will go down in history as Billy, the first goat known to succumb to indigestion.

Billy wandered away from the home of his master, J. Porter. Several hours later he returned, dying. An orgy of handbills, tomato cans and old shoes had proven too much.

GREAT VESUVIUS VOLCANO IN ACTION

(By International News Service)
ROME, April 8.—The great Vesuvius volcano is in action again today, huge volumes of flame and smoke leaping skyward. Tomorrow is the fifteenth anniversary of the volcano's terrific eruption.

MICKIE SAYS:

PRESERVATION FUND A REALITY

Believing that the old Spanish missions in California are of the utmost value to the state from a commercial and historical, to say nothing of a spiritual point of view, knowing that they are a priceless treasure, impossible to duplicate, and realizing that unless immediate action is taken they will crumble and totter into irreparable decay, John Steven McGroarty, author of the mission play, with the cooperation of the mission play, and the able assistance and support of E. K. Hoak, has organized the mission preservation fund.

It is a plan so simple and direct, so absolutely devoid of the evils of red tape, and the complexities of differing interests, that it carries the conviction of success at once. With the artistic, consistent and perpetual preservation of the California missions as its object, it asks the cooperation of every Californian, either by birth or adoption, to become a member of the mission preservation fund. The annual dues are one dollar—less than two cents a week. If there is a man, woman or child in California who can't afford to give that much for the preservation of the most significant historical monument in the country?

Virginia has made Mt. Vernon, one of the most beautiful and interesting places in America; Massachusetts has immortalized Plymouth Rock; Pennsylvania has carefully guarded and preserved Independence Hall—what will California do for her missions? It is an individual question. From a commercial angle, the drawing power of the missions is of interest to everyone. Thousands of tourists come to California to visit them, and shudder at their pitiful condition, and wonder at the apathy of the people who could preserve them.

So, you are asked to help. Those interested in organizing the fund, did so out of sheer love for the missions. No salaries will be paid to executives, there are no overhead or underhand expenses to be met, merely incidentals of stationery and postage, as the offices and clerical staff of the mission play will be utilized to handle the business of the mission preservation fund.

When John Steven McGroarty, he of the loyal California heart, wrote the mission play, it was with the idea of awakening people's minds and hearts to the importance of the missions, and with the hope of their ultimate preservation.

In the new mission playhouse there will be a suite of offices for the mission preservation fund. The two interests are linked in purpose, and the first hundred dollars of the fund were subscribed by the mission players. It is the aim of the organization to have 100,000 Californians as members within the next 60 days.

As the mission preservation fund grows, representative men in the various localities of the state will be asked to take charge of their districts, but the actual expenditure of the money will be under the direction of a capable committee, and all building and restoration plans will be supervised by Arthur Benton, the national authority on mission architecture, whose Glenwood Mission Inn and new mission playhouse at San Gabriel are two of the most distinctive examples of Spanish mission buildings in the country.

John Steven McGroarty is director general and E. K. Hoak business manager of the fund.

THE FRIEND WE NEVER SEE

Around the corner I have a friend, in the great city that has no end. Yet days go by and weeks rush on, and before I know it a year is gone.

And I never see my old friends face, for life is a swift and terrible race. He knows I like him just as well as in the days when I rang his bell. And he rang mine. We were younger then. And now we are busier, tired men—

Tired with playing a foolish game, tired with trying to make a name. "Tomorrow," I say, "I will call on Jim, just to show that I'm thinking of him."

But tomorrow comes and tomorrow goes and the distance between it grows and grows. Around the corner—yet miles away. "Here's a telegram, sir." "Jim died today!"

And that's what we get and deserve in the end— Around the corner a vanished friend. —Anonymous.

"DOMESTIC BLUES"
CAUSE OF TROUBLE

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 8.—Jack Harrell wrote snappy songs and Mrs. Harrell set them to very gingery jazz music.
Together they sang the songs in cabarets. It was a fine combination.
But the combination is broken now.
Harrell is in jail on charges of non-support, and Mrs. Harrell says there will be a divorce suit when he gets out. Their last song seems to have been "Domestic Blues."
Mrs. Harrell, known professionally as "Babe" Thompson, was the inspiration for her song-writing husband.
In order to be properly inspired to write a "blue," Mrs. Harrell says, her husband seemed to feel it was necessary to make a "blue" out of her.
"He was a caveman," she said.
"Why I couldn't wear a georgette crepe waist any more, I was that black and blue."
"Maybe I was a little rough," Harrell admitted, "but it was because I loved the woman."

TO OPEN CITIZEN CAMPS IN JULY

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—The war department is about to launch a campaign to interest the young men of the United States in the Citizens' Military Training Camps, which will open in July, and August in each of the various corps areas. Though courses of instruction will be available for persons between the ages of 16 and 45, efforts will be concentrated upon the recruiting of youths from 16 to 19 years of age, who will be eligible for training in the so-called "Red" camps, and eventual service in the organized "reserve" of the American forces.

The training camps will be located as follows:

First corps area—Camp Devens, Massachusetts.

Second corps area—Camp Dix, New Jersey, or Plattsburg, N. Y., or both.

Third corps area—Camp Meade, Maryland.

Fourth corps area—Camp Jackson, South Carolina.

Fifth corps area—Camp Knox, Kentucky, or Camp Sherman, Ohio, or both.

Sixth corps area—Camp Grant, Illinois, or Fort Sheridan, Illinois, or both.

Seventh corps area—Fort Snelling, Minnesota, and Camp Pike, Arkansas.

Eighth corps area—Fort Logan, Colorado, and Camp Travis, Texas, or Camp Stanley, Texas.

Ninth corps area—Presidio, San Francisco, Cal., and Camp Lewis, Washington.

Under plans worked out by the general staff, the courses of instruction will be divided into three classes, to be known as the Red, White and Blue classes.

Physically fit male citizens between the ages of 16 and 45 of average general intelligence and good moral character, are eligible for the Red course. Those accepted will be given elementary training, which will include the duties of the private, small arms rifle practice, guard duty, camping and marching, individual cooking, personal hygiene, physical development, discipline and morale.

The object of the Red course is to bring together young men of all types, both native and foreign born, to develop closer national and social unity, to teach the privileges, duties and responsibilities of American citizenship, and to stimulate the interest of the youth of the country in the importance of military training as a benefit to the individual, taking such training and as an asset vital in the problem of national defense.

Any physically fit enlisted man of the organized reserves who has passed his 19th birthday and is not over 45 years of age is eligible for admission to the White course. The object of this course is to qualify selected privates of the organized reserves as non-commissioned officers, so that they will be capable of training recruits in the duties of privates and in leading them in active service. Graduates of the White course will be eligible to compete for commission in the officers' reserve corps. The course is also intended to provide further military training for civilians who have had the Red course or its equivalent.

To the Blue course will be admitted civilians, warrant or non-commissioned officers of the regular army, national guard or enlisted reserve corps who will attain the age of 21 years before graduation and who have the required educational qualifications. All candidates must have completed the training prescribed for the Red course and the White course, or the equivalent thereof.

The government will pay all charges for transportation and subsistence, clothing, equipment, laundry and medical attention, and members of the national guard, regular army or reserve corps ordered to the camps will receive pay at the rate authorized by law. Civilians authorized to attend camps will not receive pay.

WHEN JEFFERSON TOOK OATH OF OFFICE

The first Jefferson inauguration had more drama about it than its three predecessors. The President-elect was received upon the portico of the newly completed north wing of the capitol by Aaron Burr, whom Jefferson cordially distrusted. And the oath of office was administered by one of his bitterest enemies, Chief Justice Marshall, who had been appointed to office by Adams in the closing days of the administration, an act which Jefferson regarded as not only an impropriety but a personal affront. Jefferson's feelings toward Burr and Marshall were well known.

Then the new President was escorted to the senate chamber, where he delivered his inaugural address, one of the most notable of all such speeches. He was afterward escorted to his boarding house, where he received the congratulations of the foreign diplomats and of the leaders of the popular party, who rejoiced over the defeat of the federalists.

MEXICO OFFERS TO SUBSIDIZE FARMERS

(By International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, April 8.—In order to encourage the colonization of desirable farmers in Mexico, the government has decided to grant subsidies to foreigners who wish to come here and cultivate land. Free transportation, it is announced, will be provided from the frontier to the place where the settlers locate, and a reduction of 50 per cent will be given for baggage, household effects and machinery. Customs duties will be waived. Each colonist will be given a subsidy of one peso a day for the first fifteen days, to be repaid to the government later. A subsidy of 30 pesos a month for six months will be granted to each of the first fifty families settling in one colony, this money to be returned within three years.

GOOD MEN SHY AT GOVERNMENT JOBS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Republican senators engaged in sounding out members of President Harding's cabinet on "patronage plums" are being informed that the administration is encountering considerable difficulty in finding the right kind of men for the places it is seeking to fill.

In the scramble of job-hunters, it was stated, there is a plenitude of $1000 a year men looking for $5000 a year jobs, but a deplorable scarcity of $10,000 or $5000 a year men willing to take $5000 jobs.

The high cost of living and rents have not been conducive to the "dollar-a-year" men who served here during the war returning for further service under the new administration, such as certain cabinet officers and bureau chiefs would like to persuade some of them to do.

The department of commerce is but one where Secretary Hoover and his chiefs are finding it a difficult problem to find the right kind of men for jobs which require office holders of ability and experience in the kind of work that must be performed in the right kind of way if the government machinery is not to become clogged with incompetency and ignorance.

In another department two senators, both from a certain western state, sought recently to place a man in a $5000 job who proved to be worthy of nothing better than $1000 one. They are still trying to persuade the head of that department that he would be an ideal man for the job.

Men of real business ability and unusual attainments are not flocking to Washington for jobs any more, it was further explained. In the first place, the army of war workers now returned to their homes took back with them clear ideas as to the undesirability of over-crowded and profiteering living conditions at the national capital. In the second place, apartments are scarce and high, and even a $5000 job is hardly sufficient to meet the high cost of bare necessities, not to mention the "flivver" and other perquisites enjoyed "back home."

HAPSBURGS ARE NOT WELCOMED

(By International News Service)

BUDAPEST, April 8.—Count Apponyi, head of the Hungarian delegation at the peace conference, declared today that the people are not vitally interested in the return of the Hapsburgs to the Hungarian throne.

"The question of the restoration of Charles is not a burning one," said the count. "Sentiment is lukewarm. In fact, it can hardly be called a question at all."

Discussing the Bolshevik outlook, the count said:

"Unless there is a real internal counter revolution in Russia, I believe that the Russian Soviet forces will attempt to drive through Roumania and Poland soon. The border states will be unable to repel any attack unless Hungary is included in the arrangements."

"Despite peace treaties and despite many things that have been amiss in the past and that are still amiss in the present, it can be said that Hungary represents the only force of stability in this part of Europe."

"We are approaching reconstruction on the basis of the Treaty of Trianon, but the present mutilation of the state presents the enormous difficulty. We have no idea of taking an adventurous course or of using violence to recover lost territory, but I am absolutely confident that the Hungarian state will eventually be restored through the conviction of all civilized peoples and through the working out of irrevocable laws."

"The question of the restoration of Charles is not a serious one. All people have agreed to let it rest until the international atmosphere has cleared. We know of the measures of opposition on the part of the Entente, but we know also that people are capable of changing their minds."

"I believe that if he were invited, Charles would return on the basis of an independent Hungary."

"In internal affairs I am a most radical advocate of the restoration of civil rights. Whoever would judge Hungary fairly must admit that excesses have been committed in the suppression of real or imagined dangers, but, at the same time, he must also comprehend the complete desolation and disorganization that existed at the commencement of the present regime."

"We are progressing toward a more liberal policy. I am confident that financial restoration is nearer here than elsewhere in Central Europe."

"In conclusion, I must say that Hungary's debt to America must be recognized and acknowledged, for that country alone brought real relief to the suffering population."

SCHOOLBOYS ASSIST IN NEEDED REFORM

(By International News Service)

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 8.—Those who have enlisted in the campaign against abbreviated skirts and other garments worn by high school girls have received unexpected encouragement from an unsuspected source.

The boys of the high school, rendering their aid, according to complaints lodged with instructors by a number of high school girls. They say the unruly lads have made it impossible for them to discard their winter woolen stockings and softer and thinner materials, or silk stockings, because of a practice of shooting pins at them—um—ankles with miniature sling shots.

This indoor sport has spread outrageously, one fair co-ed complained, who declared that she and several of her chums have had their ankles marked and swollen from wounds by the pins.

MEXICO FACES OIL SHORTAGE IN 1922

(By International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, April 8.—The oil wells of Mexico will be exhausted by 1922 unless new supplies are discovered, according to a report just filed with the secretary of commerce and industry, by Ralph Arnold, a noted geologist of the United States. It is asserted that in the United States the production has decreased to an alarming extent and that last year there was a deficit of 13,000 barrels despite the fact that very little oil was exported.
