ESHOE5 IN INNY

Introduction: This column, as you will note, is called Schoes--and an echo, is just the reflection of any spoken word--so I will echo the trivial trings that reach my ears, and hope that some of them will make pleasant reading.

"father" as fine and distinguished as Charlie Chan is indeed a great loss. "owever, you will probably have your daddy replaced shortly by M.G.M., and everything will again be "O.K.". Warner Oland's characterization of Charlie Chan, though not acceptable to many old timers as an accurate pertrayal of a fellow countryman, was a fine one and many Chinese friends join you in mourning the loss of your "pop".

All it takes is a very shiny badge, and a new uniform and our more prominent citizen David Soo Hoo walks off with every pretty girl within a mile. Utina wite was his big moment—and although he was a little tired after polishing his badge every night for a week, he still was able to stand & direct traffic.

A new field-you men that wear trousers and have long suspected that you were mice, now have your chance to prove to the world that you are men. Latest Cancer experiments now make use of men, and not mice. You can send me your applications—I'll keep your secret.

Another echo that has reached your listening friend. The Chinese Army now offers 500.00 reward for the capture of an enemy general-- f my mathematics serves me right, the capture of a lieutenant would cost the hero $10.00 fine.

Speaking about "Open Door" Japan should hire a One-Eyed Connolly to help crash the gates of Chinese cities.

Ed: "How much do you get out of your new car?"

Harry: "Oh, about fifty miles to a fender".

all, those who made the event possible was an army of approximately 500 workers--real workers-headed by consul T. K. Chang.

It was the cooperation of the staff of workers, and the unity of the entire Chinese population in this city that made China Nite a successful and memorable event. Hany days and nights before the spectacle, leaders of the whinese colony had mapped out at the consolidated benevolent Association, the complicated details for this trementals task.

his office, spent the major part of his time advising officials in planning for the pageant. Gee ShewYuen, president of the Chinese Fatrictic Society, was Chinatown's busiest man from the moment when China Nite was first conceived to the time that he delivered 'is "thank you" speech at 2 2.m. on the Forning of August 8.

The Tederation of Chinese Clubs was commended for its fine showing and cooperation. The young people who deserve special mention are: Eleanor Soo Hoo, Chairman of Hostess Committee; Tom Jock Young. Chairman of Publicity; Harry Low, Chairman of Art Committee: Frank Tang. Decoration Committee. Emphasis should be given to the hard working "twins", Harry Lew and Frank Tang. These two worked an average of 16 hours for a complete week and did the work of five men to make their assignment a success. Other young people who cooperated with various committees were Gilbert Leung, Milton Quon, Vincent Lowe, Donald de Book Henry Lowe and Paul Chew.

The combined tennis teams of Portland and Seattle which made visits to various cities in California were defeated in Los Angeles August 21, with a score of 7-3. The Northerners were headed by the wellknown Edgar Lee who played No. 1 singles and doubles The visitors previously defeated Uakland with a score of 6-4, and Fresno, 10-0, but failed to register the majority winnings in Los Angeles. However, they did show much competition for the Los Angeles boys. Chinn Sunn and Bo Ming Yee, the Honolulul Champions, played an exhibition game against the Los Angeles top players, Hamilton Gee and Jack Lee. The score was 6-3 6-4 in favor of sumn and ree. INDEPENDENTS DEFEAT LOWAS IN Tasting defeat for the first time, the highly touted Lowa team finally lost to the Independents. T. Ung pitched a nice game but lacked support from his teammates who made numerous errors through overconfidence and sloppy ball handling. In losing the game the Lowas are now tied for first place with the Independent team.

See you at the Jederation Picnic Sept. 11th

Jack Lee defeated harding wong for the Los Angeles championship. After getting off to a slow start, Jack Lee managed to overcome the fighting efforts of Harding Wong to win the Men's Single Championship in the closed tournament. The scores were 7-5, 7-9, 7-5. Harding played such a strenuous game that he was forced to call time-out five times because of cramps. However, Jack lead all the way through.

CHINESE PARTICIPATE IN MATIONAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

grounds rennis Tournament in Los Angeles was held from August 15th to 21 and was one of the outstanding events in our Los Angeles recreation department. Hundreds of stars from cities all over the United States participated. Los Angeles was proud and happy to be the host city to other municipal groups. In this annual tournament, the Chinese of Honolulu have been represented for the last three years. In 1940, in all probability, Honolulu will act as host for this tournament. Andrew Jue and Donald de Bock of the Los Angeles Chinese Tennis Club served on the Committee for the city.

The managers of the teams in the Federation League assembled and selected the following team as the official "All rederation" Team on August 15th.

HONOLULU STARS ENTER PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS

The Honolulu Tennis Champs, Chin Sunn and Bo Ming Yee, were defeated by Norman suck, Alhambra Champ, and Milton Silverwood, niverside, respectively in the National Public Parks and Playgrounds Tennis Tournament held August 18. Mr. Sunn played five sets. The scores were 6-4,4-6,6-4, 1-6,6-1. Mr, Yee played four sets, the scores of which were 3-6,6-4,6-4,6-4. Both of these men put up a stiff fight to defend their titles of tennis supremacy. The Honolulu players did not seem to be able to adjust themselves to the fast courts and the glare of the Los Angeles sun. They were also defeated in the double match by Willis Anderson and Albert Lewis, No. 1 players in the men's double division. The score was 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

on August 21, in their first intracity softball game the rederation All Stars swamped the San Diego All Stars under an avalanche of runs. When the smoke of battle cleared, the local boys emerged ahead with the score, 20 to 3.

it was a struggle between "David and Goliath", except Goliath was the victor in this case. The small San Diego boys fought valiantly but hopelessly against the tall L. A. boys. In face of over-whelming odds, the San Diegans were able to score three runs with the aid of a homer, ents throughout the game, in which many substitutions and changes were made. Ed awong lead the batting with two home runs.

San Diego Subs -- J. Leong, J. Hom

Smarting under the only defeat by the Independents and determined to win the Championship the Lowas pour out their best combination of players to crush the Independents by scores of 13 to 1 and 6 to 1. Clarence ung pitched air-tight ball in the first game, famning 21 batters and allowing but one hit.

In the second game, Ted Ung allowed Independents 3 hits and one run while his his teammates made 6 runs. By virtue of winning these games, the Lowas are now the champions of the Chinese Softball League sponsored by the Los Angeles Federation of Chinese Clubs.

PLAY BALL AT THE FEDERATION PICHIC ... SEPT. 11.

SPORTS AT A GRANCE . BY Oz Broke

SOFTBALL - - The Los Angeles rederation of Softball League series ended last month. The Lowa boys took the title by defeating the Independents in a double header. An All-Star team of Los Angeles will represent the rederation in the Inter City play.

In last month's issue Yours Truly stated that we were trying to arrange a game with the San Francisco Chinatown Mer chants Softball Team It is still being arranged and the date will be released later The San Francisco players seem to be very anxious to come down here, however, I believe our boys deserve a trip to San Francisco after a hard season at home TENNIS . Jack Lee defeated Harding Wong for the Los Angeles men s singles champion ship by displaying his usual game -- slow and long volleys back to the base line He secured his title by keeping Harding in the back court and stroked his way through the three long sets Harding displayed his usual fighting spirit by keeping the ball in play all the way through. Maybe it was not the best tenus we have ever seen in this section, but it was one of the longest and hardest fought tennis games in the history of this club for the men's singles championship. Jack is No 1 men's tennis player for this year.

Mamie and June will play their final match in the women s singles division when June returns from her vacation Mamie has shown much improvement in her game this year. I am sure this will be an interesting match due to the fact that June was former top

HONOLULU VISITING STARS - - Chin Sunn and Bo Ming Jee, the Honolulu champs, displayed great ability in their matches in the National Public Parks and Playgrounds Tournament. This is their third trip to the United States. They went to New York in 1936 and to P_ttsburgh in 1937, both times representing the Honolulu Public Playgrounds. Mr. Sum uses a western grip in his style of play, while Mr. ee uses a continental. It is interesting to note that Chin Sum was the only one that used the western grip in the whole tournament. He displayed a style similar to Bill Johnson's, the oldtime "Red Comet" of California HERE AND THERE - The Portland Girls' Tennis champ of 1938 is Jennie Lew. She de-

THE JAPANESE CANCELLATION OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES by

of raw materials arising from the invasion of China and conservatives' dislike of "internationalism", are the reasons given by the Japanese militarist for the cancellation of the world Olympics which was to be held on Japanese soil in 1940. The sporting world which hitherto has regarded the Japanese sporting spirit as the ideal of good sportmanship is aghast at such lack of good faith on the part of the Japanese government which bid so hard for the games.

fully disregarded the "official statements" from the fascist militarist government, the cancellation of the Games reveals the extent to which the warmakers go to keep the Japanese people ignorant of the true state of affairs and to keep them chained to the war machine.

The chatter about monetary and mater ial difficulties may be partly a matter of truth, but very slight when one is reminded that the cost of carrying on the war is $5,000,000 a day and that a normal series of games need not cost over a couple of millions. What the Japanese wardogs are primarily concerned about is the fear that the Japanese people may hear about the defeat at Taierchwang, about the alarming list of Japanese casualties, about the proud imperial army foundering in the mud, about the worldwide resentment against the invasion, about the continued unity of the Chinese people, and the prospect of a long drawn war which will send to new depths the already low living standards borne by the Japanese common people. The millions who flock to the Olympics would have been her alds of these facts. The millions who make their ab ence conspicuous will create a loud silence.

No wonder the invaders have to give up their plans to imitate Hitler in his describable exploitational abuse of the Olympics. Yet their anxious and frenzied cancellation of the games will merely serve as part of a short postponement of the final day of reckoning which is inevitable.

THE LAW OF CHINA

by

BENJAMIN J. SCHEINMAN

Judge of the Superior Court,

Les Angeles

In the history of the law, the Chinese legal system is one of the most ancient having its beginnings before 2500 B. C. It also has the distinction of being the only one of the old legal systems which has survived to this date.

One cannot discuss the law of China without referring to Confucius, who was a statesman, a philosopher and a judge, and who is regarded as one of the wisest men that the world has ever produced. He lived some 500 years before the Christian era. One of his statements is of particular interest to me, wherein he says, "As a judge I decide disputes, for that is my duty; but the best thing that could happen would be to eliminate the causes for litigation!"

of the Chinese people and of their legal system is the strong family structure, and the respect for ancestral oustoms.

been to arrive at a golden mean, a compromise or adjustment between the differing contentions. The magistrate, for the Chinese, has been a friendly arbitrator rather than a dominating authority bound to declare the law and secure its respect.

As Confucius said: "When a prince loves what the people love and hates what the people hate, then he is what is called the parent of the people."

Before the Republic in 1912 there were the codes of the various dynasties. In 1923 came a new constitution creating the Republic of China. There also came a new formulation of law drafted upon the European plan. The Supreme Court was recorganized, and its building, equipment and law books became thoroughly modern. There is no doubt, however, that the interpretation of the Chinese law of today still seeks to reconcile the laws of the past with the laws of the present time.

One cannot but pay tribute to this heritage of China, a legal system over 4500 years old, that is still available to a great nation of more than four hundred million citizens.

HUMANITY RULES ON "CHINA NITE" or Edwin Line

On August 6 and 7 Los Angeles' old Chinatown wrote on its 70-year history a memorable page.

During these two days close to 80,000 Chinese and their American friends jammed two blocks of space on North Los Angeles Steet, on the east side of the Plaza to join action on one humane cause—to gather funds for China's untold millions of suffering civilians who are now lying within the reach of disaster's fatal fingers.

Such relief projects have been held in mem than 600 cities throughout the United States in the forms of Rice Bowl parties, Humanity Day fetes, and China Nites. But whatever they are called and whenever the cry for help is heard, there is always a whole-hearted response from the American people.

erosity that made Los Angeles' China Nite of August 6 and 7 a grand success and a memorable event in the annals of the Chinese colony of this city. Not since 1929 when the Chinese won first prize in the parade celebrating the opening of the Los Angeles city hall had Chinatown done something with such a sense of satisfaction.

Practically every square foot of space from Arcadia to Marchessault Streets on North Los Angeles Street and from Sanchez to Alameda Streets on Ferguson Alley was overflowed with crowds. Each night from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. the pageant ran its way in nice order; yet it was a rousing celebration. But as they celebrated they never seemed to forget China's starving and suffering multitude, for whose benefit the event was held.

Coins, all kinds of them, were poured into the coffers of humanity like rain in an April shower. How magnificent was the American response to the Chinese call for aid could be seen by the fact that the entire stock of red-buttoned mandarin caps was seld out in the first evening of the pageant, and 1000 cases of sodas were sold in those two nights. By the end of the festival the total funds collected amounted to more than $20,000.00.

antry, easily and unquestionably stealing the show was the work of the dragon, who for 57 years has been forgotten in this city. In four performances, two on each Angeles a ceremonious one. Each time this grotesque animal whirled his way through the streets, he captured the attention and the delight of every one present.

Sharing honors with the dragon were,
-the opera, the lion, and the "open house"
held by fraternal halls and sacred clubs.
These three features combined to provide enough pleasure to the spectators during the time when the dragon was not parading.

Sun Lang Chow, Chinese actor and patriot, came from San Francisco to thrill the thousands with his voice. What he sang might seem senseless to many Americans. To Chinese ears, however, Sun's two operatic songs, one on each evening, depicted the desperate struggle China is now waging for her existence.

Seven fraternal halls opened their doors for the public. And when the spectators filled their narrow stairways each evening, it marked the first time in Los Angeles that American feet had passed their portals.

ablishments were decorated with red and orange paper, on which were written proverbs, couplets, or slogans. Most of these were concerned with the relief project. The three main entrance gates were beautifully constructed and were named the Arch of humanity, Arch of Yin Oy, and the Arch of Gee Yu.

came out with their long robes and other forms of native attire. Beautiful girls donned their most scintillating gowns and mingled with the thousands of spectators to present a kaleidoscopic panorama in the setting.

The children-more than a hundred of them-served the pageant well. Each carried a coin box and was dressed in a green gown and orange jacket. These grammar school students were prominent in all coners of of the festival grounds. It is hard for the American sympathizers to keep their hearts closed and their pockets tight when these children were in sight. They begged for those of their same age in China who are motherless, fatherless, or homeless.

Playing no small part in the carnival were the concession workers, flower girls, opera players, boxers, and the dragon and lion dancers. They kept the crowd enteritained throughout both evenings. But above

WORLD CONGRESS OF YOUTH OPENS

NEW YORK, Aug. 16-Under a starlit sky 500 delegates representing organizations claiming a membership of 40,000,000 young people in fifty-five nations staged an elaborate program of folk dances, songs, and pageantry last night as the Second World Youth Congress formally opened in the municipal stadium at Randalls Island, before a throng estimated at 22,000 persons.

Occupying the spotlight is the Chinese delegation numbering almost twenty splendid representatives of the Chinese Youth. Continuous thundering cheers and greetings indicated the sympathy for the Chinese cause, which is the cause of peace. Among the Chinese delegation, is Miss Lao Tze, "Joan of Arc" of China and Yang Hui-min, a heroine of the fighting in Shanghai last November. Miss Hui-min, a 21 year old Girl Guide daringly took a Chinese flag to the "doomed battalion" in Chapei as it was beseiged by Japanese.

Mayor La Guardia of New York greeted the delegates at the Summer City Hall in the New York City Building at the World's Fair with the following message:

"It is most interesting to see these young people from different countries speaking different languages happy and in agreement together. If the same number of people from the same countries but taken from the diplomatic corps, had been together I am sure there would be quarreling. I don't know what the conference will accomplish less than a disarmament conference.

"This is the answer of the peace-loving people of the World, and I am glad I saw the answer, to the great maneuvres that start in Europe today.

"If the youth of the World does not want war, then there won't be war. Let our slogan be, "Let there be peace"?

CHINESE NATIONAL PROPLE'S POLITICAL COUNCIL

JAPAN S WAR LOSS

JULY 6- Close to two hundred delegates from all parts of China, including Mongolia, Tibet, and Overseas convened in Hankow on July 6 at the formal opening of the Chinese National People s Political Council Addressing this Inaugural meeting were Gener. alissimo Chiang Kai Shek Dep Director-General of the Kuomintang Wang Ching Wei, Dr. Chang Po Ling and Chang 1, Ling

Wang Ching Wei was named by the cen tral executive committee of the Kuomintang to be the chairman of the Political Council and Dr. Chang Fo Ling, president of the Nankai University, vice chairman The object of the council and its functions, Mr. Wang declared are for "the mobilization of the talents of the nation and the cen tralization of views and learning so as to expedite the formulation and execution of national policy "

"The supreme endeavor of the Council", Mr. Weng continued "is to assume the discharge the urgent mission. Our people should be organized during the period of armed resistance so that our fighting cap acities will steadily increase "

It was the view of the Kuomintang Con. gress that it would not be feasable to convoke a national people's assembly for the adoption and promulgation of a constitution, when China was being invaded by a foreign foe and it was decided that a national political council be formed for the emer gency. During the period of China s armed resistance against Japan, the government is required to present all its administrative policies to the Council for decision. These decisions going to and passing the Supreme National Defense Council will be enforced. The folitical council has a right to obtain reports from the government or to question it. It also has the right to submit proposals to the government. However in case of emergency and extraordinary situation, the chairman of the Supreme National Defense Council may issue ordinances without restrictions from the National People's Political Council

The Kuomintang also considers it im possible to hold any popular elections under the war Thus the membership of the council were first nominated by various provincial, municipal governments, overseas Chinese Affairs Commission and Muomintang branches. Then the names were referred to a spe cial committee of the central Executive Commit-doubt that this will further strengthen the HANKOW, July 11 -- According to an estimate by Chinese military authorities, Japan's material losses during the first ten months of her undeclared war in China were 85 ar. moured cars, 40 artillery pieces, 101 trench mortars, 1,237 machine-guns and 21,401 rifles captured; 246 armoured cars 149 ar tillery pieces, 381 trench mortars, and 2,727 military trucks destroyed. In addition, she lost 570 airplanes and 35 war ships. Japanese casualties were 299 728 men wounded and 105,239 killed. Besides. 1,345 soldiers officers and airmen were taken captives.

Japan s war expenditures amounted to 5,300,000 000 yen while her losses in . trade and property in China were enormous. The rate of her production at home has decreased by 20 per cent as a result of war. the total output from her industries during 1936 being valued at $16,200,000,000.

JAPAN S GOLD RESERVE DEMINISHING

SHANGHAI Aug. 15 A cautious Tokyo press release gave the news that in the last fifteen months Japan exported to United States alone $346,000,000 in gold. In March 1937, Tokyo's official gold reserve was $456,000,000. This has been built up so that the remaining reserve is now said to be $261 000 000. But trade also has decreased steadily, and gold and exports are the nation's only means of obtaining war supplies.

tee of the Kuomintang. Upon the findings of this committee the C.E.C. Kuomintang made the final choice.

Although by its formation and composition the Council is not yet the truly representative organ of the people's will, it nevertheless shows by its prestige and role it plays in uniting all forces for armed resistance against the enemy that China's political life is developing effectively toward democracy.

And the inclusion of the Communist delegates who declared their ready participation in the Council to collaborate with the Kuomintang and other parties and groups to apply the proposals and concrete measures necessary for final victory in the national war of liberation, will have great repercussions on Chinese political circles. No national anti Japanese front.

The publishers of the "Federation News" must of necessity adopt a very flexible policy in regards to the publication's content and scope. For the most part, the determining factor concerning its size and content lies in the source of our actual support; at present the publication is greatly dependant upon the financial support of advertisers whose purchase of space can be called indirect donations. To date, most advertisement and donations came from the elder Chinese who realize the importance of this publication.

The federation of clubs who authorizes the publication to be its official organ gives full support, but at present not in a position to completely subsidize the publication

Consequently, the publishers consider justified the endeavor to widen the scope of the rederation wews to the point where it can be sent to every local Chinese home and business establishment as a monthly journal interesting to old and young alike.

Within its covers will be the full coverage of club news to maintain the publication: a name and justify the continued support of the Federation. The war news as usual shall be paramount in importance. The chinese news shall be the coordinating force for sponsoring better mutual understanding between first and second generation.

At this hour the common denominator of all Chinese activities is unity. The publishers feel sincerely that centering of diverse news interest is a means of cultivating further unity.

Such a course calls for continued hard work on the part of those connected with the publication and whose services are completely voluntary and without monetary compensation. It also calls for urgent financial bolstering and the "Federation news" asks now for subscriptions.
