The cases brought up in the justice court the past week leaves the county in debt to something over fifty dollars. This means the tax payers have to pay for foolishness from some source. Either the accused or the accuser should be made to foot the bill instead of the burden being placed on the shoulders of innocent and law abiding citizens.

Effects of the Frost.

The damage from frost, if all reports are true, is very serious in most sections of the valley. Some orchardists claim that their entire crop has been destroyed. The damage to the grape crop is estimated at thousands of dollars. The immediate vicinity of Campbell has not suffered as greatly as other sections but the crop even here will probably be way below the average.

The Cambrian Literary and Social Club met at the usual hour on Saturday evening with a good attendance. President Jas. K. Wells occupied the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. On motion it was decided to have a club picnic on May 1st, near Alma. It was voted that in the future visitors will be admitted only on invitation from the social committee. A musical and literary program consisting of the following numbers was given: Vocal Duet. Miss Gertrude Ayers and Archie Betts; Guitar Solo, Anonymous; Impromptu Speeches: "The Moon," Enos Bohnett; "My Ideal," Dan Evans; Vocal Quartette, Messrs. Loyd Buffington, Howard Buffington, Tom Gardner and Worthin Williams. This was the first appearance of the Campbell Male Quartette and they fairly took the house "by storm," being called upon to respond to two enchores. It is safe to predict that the quartett will draw a large house at its next appearance.

No Lottery Tickets.

L. Hyman wishes us to state to the public that he is not dealing in lottery tickets and that no one need apply hereafter at his place for any thing of that nature. M. Campbell who will hereafter conduct the same. Mr. Campbell is a thorough workman and all work sent out from the shop will in the future as in the past be finished in the most satisfactory manner. Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. ### Court Notes.

Two misdemeanor cases resulting from the disturbances in the east end of town on Sunday last were tried in Justice Campbell's court on Tuesday and Wednesday and the defendants acquitted. Four other arrests were made on the same charge but the cases were dismissed without trial on Wednesday there not appearing to be sufficient evidence to warrant a trial. One of the young men arrested for fighting on Monday plead guilty and paid a fine of $5.00. The trial of the other came off yesterday afternoon and resulted in an acquittal.

Three arrests were made in connection with the above difficulty. A brother of one of the participants in the encounter was arrested charged with striking the other combatant. The trial which came up yesterday afternoon resulted in his acquittal also.

Do We Want a Saloon?

The supporters of the liquor business, of whom there are a very small number in our community, we believe, have had an opportunity to secure some good arguments in its favor (?) not very far from home during the past week. Three of the strongest we have noticed are as follows: The crowd of drunken hoodlums which passed through Campbell in returning from Sunset Park on Sunday totally wrecked a saloon at Newark and badly injured the saloon keeper's wife by throwing rocks through a window in the building. A tramp was terribly mangled by a railway train in San Jose while drunk the first of the week. The difficulty which took place Sunday afternoon near Campbell resulting in several arrests and considerable expense to the county in the trials following was, no doubt, caused entirely by the drunken condition of the participants.

THE VISITOR AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

That the VISITOR has great value as an advertising medium will not be questioned by those who know the class of people among whom it circulates. The citizens of Campbell and the country tributary thereto are very widely known as the most prosperous and enterprising people of the banner county of the State. They are a thrifty people, not given to extravagance, but as a rule able to buy and pay for what they need. The merchants who secure their trade get their best customers. The VISITOR, being the only local paper, is by far the best means of reaching and securing their trade and no where will your advertising bring you better returns for the money invested. Write for rates to the CAMPBELL WEEKLY VISITOR, Campbell, Cal.

WE have heard no complaints of dry weather this week.

THE fruit is well thinned out by the late frosts but it may make up in quality and size what it fails to make in numbers.

THE week just ending has been an unusually stormy one and particularly so in Campbell. Verily these are stormy times.

THE rain storm set in on Tuesday morning and the April showers have followed each other in rapid succession accompanied by heavy winds. A good deal of fruit has blown from the trees and a large number of trees have blown over.

THE crowd of hoodlums on the last Sunday excursion trains were the most reckless that have ever been through Campbell. The depredations committed by these lawless Sunday excursionists should be paid for by the Southern Pacific Company, since it is their greed that sends them over the line.

THE San Jose Mercury advocates changing the day of the Carnival parade from the first to the second day. This, it is argued, would give people a better chance to get ready for it and many visitors who cannot arrive before noon the first day would thus be given an opportunity to witness this important and beautiful feature of the Carnival.

NON-PARTIZAN VIEWS.

[By E. Janes.]

THE VENEZUELAN TROUBLE.

The news seemed to be pretty well confirmed, that the British government has made such concessions to Venezuela as will practically remove all cause for dispute. Extreme partizans and "jingoos" will, I suppose, seek for unworthy motives in these concessions. But right-thinking people, the world over, will rejoice at such a triumph of common-sense and good feeling. "Salisbury is insincere," some will say. So much the better! If he has been driven by public opinion to a course in this matter which he does not really approve, that shows that the English people are saner, more liberal-minded, more reasonable in regard to such matters, than some of us have been willing to believe.

Wise statesmanship will be yielding in trifling matters and contagious in great things. The possession of a few swamps or rocks in South or Central America can be of no importance to England or the United States. There has been no real cause of complaint, except the somewhat rude and bullying tone of President Cleveland's message to Congress and the eagerness of both political parties to gain partizan advantage. These things were well adapted to arouse the hasty and aggressive passions of thoughtless people on both sides of the Atlantic. But it is far wiser, nobler and more statesmanlike in the British government to ignore them, as being matters which, however disagreeable and irritating, were strictly internal to the United States government, and did not really concern our foreign relations. National honor has too often been made to mean a willingness to precipitate all the horrors and crimes of war in a dispute about nothing. It is high time that nations calling themselves civilized should be less excitable and more reasonable, should adopt a more civilized code of manners toward each other. All honor to a nation which has made so conspicuous an advance toward a loftier kind of statesmanship.

Americans are quite too apt, at times of excited feeling, to look upon England as the hereditary enemy of the United States. They dwell too much on all the causes of hatred which are recorded on the pages of history—the oppressions of colonial days, the incidents of war, the rivalries of trade, the arrogance of statesmen. They forget that the government of England is carried on by political parties very much like our own. Even the oppressions of the old colonial days were strictly party measures, and were vehemently opposed by a strong political party in England, and a party which contained the greatest men of the time. We remember the obstinate king George III, the dull lord North, the foolish Townshend, the violent Shelburne,—we forget the powerful advocacy of Edmund Burke, the noble efforts of Lord Chatham, the eloquence of Barre. We remember the coldness of Gladstone and forget the friendship and admiration of John Bright, the greatest of recent English orators. We remember the Alabama but forget the magnanimity which owned the wrong, and paid heavy damages for that unfriendly and mistaken act. Now that the first burst of excitement on both sides is over, and common sense asserts itself once more, it is to be hoped that good feeling and civilized manners will resume their sway. But, if such motives cannot at once gain complete ascendancy, there are other considerations of extreme importance, which should not be forgotten. It would be supreme folly for our government to indulge in threats and blustering, or to perform actions leading directly to war, while our coasts are mostly unprotected, our great seaboard cities almost at the mercy of a hostile fleet, our navy still in its infancy, the efficiency of our new war-ships practically an unknown quantity, our army a mere skeleton.

If the "jingoos" insist upon a belligerent tone, an uncivil demeanor, a meddlesome interference, in our official intercourse with other nations, let them first signify their own willingness and prove the ability of the nation to pay taxes enough to fortify our immense frontier, to build a great modern navy, to raise and support an immense army. It is a common saying that "cash talks." It certainly was never more true than in modern warfare. Now, more than ever before, a government which enters upon a course of action leading towards war, without first counting the cost and providing the means, is unworthy the name of government.

A Spirit of Discord Abroad.

There has been a series of rows and disturbances in our usually quite village the past week and a great deal of trouble and unpleasantness resulting therefrom. The first of the series occurred on last Sunday morning as one of the excursion trains from San Francisco enroute for Sunset Park stopped at Campbell for water. The train had hardly stopped when the large crowd of hoodlums poured out of the cars looking for something or anything to make trouble. Some of the citizens were out to watch the park so as to prevent them destroying the young trees. Most of the crowd occupied their time in looking for a saloon, (which they failed to find) quarreling among themselves or pulling apricots off the trees in an orchard near by. While a gang were in the latter place Ed Gilman who has charge of the orchard fired off a gun and they left in something of a hurry. The presence of the force to watch the park probably prevented any serious damage being done to other property. If the railroad company insists on carrying loads of toughs over its lines on these Sunday excursions they should be compelled to employ officers to control them.

The second difficulty occurred a short distance west of the Los Gatos bridge on Sunday afternoon. The participants in this instance were not, however, residents of some distant city but were mostly young men who are said to belong to Campbell. It seems that an orchardist west of town had ordered thirteen or fourteen men who had been working for him to San Jose Sunday to get their wages. They drove down with a four horse team and carryall in the morning and returned early in the afternoon most of them considerably the worse for liquor. The trouble began when the owner of one of the teams on the carryall, who lives on the Rucker tract, stopped the crowd opposite his place and demanded his horses. He took the horses by the bridle and pulled them out of the road into the orchard but in so doing aroused a "hornet's nest" and was soon seen running for his house with the crowd after him. After this occurred a general row took place—a sort of "free for all" fight which, to say the least, was a most disgraceful affair. A number of arrests were made the following day but for want of sufficient evidence against those arrested they were discharged.

The "Spirit of Discord" was not content with this, however, but brought about another row on Tuesday when two prominent young men of the town engaged in a pugilistic encounter on Campbell avenue near the Farmers Union. A constable appeared on the scene during the fight and arrested both the participants.

Ft. Worth, Texas, Oct. 10, 1895.
 Acme Cycle Co., Elkhart Ind.

Dear Sirs:—My Acme Light Roadster arrived yesterday morning and not only myself, but everyone that has seen it pronounces it a strictly first-class wheel and a beauty. I am very well pleased with the same, and will do all I can to get a great many more to buy your wheel.

Yours truly,
 C. H. CHEATHAM.

Alliance, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1895.
 Acme Cycle Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Dear Sirs:—Having given my wheel a good trial, am ready to say I am exceedingly well pleased and thank you very kindly for the favor and privilege you have given me. I showed the wheel to one of our prominent bicycle agents, who did his best to sell me a wheel, and he said after taking a short ride on it that it was a fine wheel; and I know if the material is as good as the finish, I will never regret my bargain.

Yours truly
 SEHT BARTON.

How to Yawn.

Did you ever watch a dog gape? For thoroughness and entire absence of affectation and mock shamefacedness there is nothing like it. When a dog gapes, he doesn't screw his face into all sorts of unnatural shapes in an endeavor to keep his mouth shut with his jaws wide open.

Neither does he put his paw up to his face in an apologetic way, while gaping in ambush, as it were. No; when he gapes he is perfectly willing that the whole world shall come to the show. He braces himself firmly on his fore feet, stretches out his neck, depresses his head, and his jaws open with graceful moderation.

At first it is but an exaggerated grin, but when the gape is apparently accomplished the dog turns out his elbows, open his jaws another 45 degrees, swallows an imaginary bone by a sudden and convulsive movement, curls up his tongue like the petal of a tiger lily and shuts his jaws together with a snap.

Then he assumes a grave and contented visage, as is eminently becoming to one who has performed a duty successfully and conscientiously.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Competent Witness.

A little girl was in the witness box, and, as usual, before she was allowed to be sworn, she was examined by the presiding judge, Mr. Judge Maule, as to her understanding the nature of an oath and her belief in a future state.

"Do you know what an oath is, my child?" asked the judge.

"Yes, sir; I am obliged to tell the truth."

"If you always tell the truth, where will you go when you die?"

"Up to heaven, sir?"

"And what will become of you if you tell lies?"

"I shall go to the naughty place, sir."

"Are you quite sure of that?"

"Yes, sir; quite sure."

"Let her be sworn," said Maule. "It is quite clear she knows a great deal more than I do."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Crooked Railroad.

An engineer who formerly ran on the Decorah division, known among the railroad boys as the "pea vine" on account of its many curves, tells of a remarkable occurrence that happened near Brainard, where the railroad is said to be as crooked as anything to be found in the state. A freight train was being followed close by the passenger, both being off time on account of a washout. A headlight was placed on the rear of the caboose as a warning to the passenger train which followed. Suddenly the train came to a halt. The engine was reversed, and the engineer and fireman were seen to jump. The train was on a part of the road that was so crooked that the engine had turned around, and seeing the headlight on the rear end of the caboose they thought they were going to have a head end collision.—Mason City Globe-Gazette.

A Land Without Domestic Animals.

Japan is a land, says The Popular Science News, without the domestic animals. It is this lack which strikes the stranger so forcibly in looking upon Japanese landscapes. There are no cows—the Japanese neither drinks milk nor eats meat. There are but few horses, and these are imported mainly for the use of the foreigner. The freight cars in the city streets are pulled and pushed by coolies, and the pleasure carriages are drawn by men. There are but few dogs, and these are neither used as watchdogs, beasts of burden nor in hunting except by foreigners.

There are no sheep in Japan, and wool is not used in clothing, silk and cotton being the staples. There are no pigs—pork is an unknown article of diet, and lard is not used in cooking. There are no goats or mules or donkeys. Wild animals there are, however, and in particular bears of an enormous size. One of these that Mr. Finck saw stuffed, in a museum, he describes as "big as an ox."

Canary Birds.

A Chicago bird dealer, one of the most extensive in the country, says of canaries: "The idea is prevalent that canary birds either come from the Canary islands or are born in captivity. Of course some are received from the Canary islands, and a great many of them are raised from tame birds that have never been at liberty, or cage birds, as they are called. Still, many of the very best canaries are captured wild in the United States. Southern California is full of wild canaries, and there are no better singers in the world. In some sections the air seems to be filled with melody. They are so plentiful that the boys kill them in great numbers with sling shots, and they are little more thought of than sparrows. I prefer the American canaries to the imported, and there does not seem to be any danger that the supply will ever run short."

Watched Him Digest.

The science of digestion received an important impetus from the knowledge gained by the case of Alexis St. Martin. He was a young Canadian who received a gunshot wound in the stomach. The wound healed, but left an open fistula, through which the process of digestion could be watched and ascertained from time to time. Through experiments made in his case the time of digestion was ascertained with some degree of correctness—that is, so far as his stomach was concerned.

The famous savage clubs of Borneo were modeled after a thorny fruit which grows wild in that island.

A Double Life.

The scorcher whizzed around the corner, and Ferry escaped getting run over only by an undignified dodge.

"I wonder who that idiot was?" he said.

"He's the walking gentleman in De Hamme Mactor's company," said Hargreaves.

"Well, he may be a walking gentleman, but he's an unmitigated hog when he's riding."—Cincinnati Enquirer.
