LETTER FROM COL. CHARLES E. MOSS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15, 1867.

An Editor of the Standard:

As a member of Congress beginning to arrive at the age of seventy, I am not inclined to be very active in the political arena.

The feeling of the last two sessions has been to me very complicated, and I am not inclined to be very active in the political arena.

GEN. GRANT'S POSITION.

From the N. Y. Tribune.

It is not so very long since the popular cry in political contests used to be "Measures, not men." The friends of General Grant are now finding that the great question which divides the country, and the decision of which must shape good or evil for all our course during the next Presidential term.

The friends of Judge Chase urge him as a representative Radical. That he is favorable to universal suffrage is unquestionably true. He has many good deeds in the past to recommend him to Radical men.

It is now quite evident that the intention of his friends is to run him as a conservative favorable to the theory that "this is a white man's government, to be run in the exclusive interest of white men."

THE SOUTH.

From the N. Y. Tribune.

Extract from a letter to the editor of the Tribune dated Liberty, Bedford Co., Va., Nov. 11, 1867. The victory of the North over the South is a great regret to all loyal men here. It places us in a position that before.

The commanding officers of the colored militia companies addressed a note to the Police Commissioners, stating that "the colored people of Baltimore intended celebrating the anniversary of the emancipation of slavery in this State on the 21st of November; that the colored militia had been organized for the purpose, armed and equipped."

An Alabama correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says: "I have been several weeks in Alabama, and have conversed freely with the people, both black and white; and I have made the acquaintance of several colored men of high intelligence."

From the N. Y. Tribune. The great work yet to be accomplished in completing our National reformation is the convincing of the South that the only way to freedom is to accept the principles of the Republican party.

SOUTH CAROLINA 'CONSERVATISM.

From the N. Y. Tribune.

Last week a "Conservative State Convention" was held in Columbia, South Carolina, where the South Carolina Conservative Convention was held in Columbia, South Carolina, where the South Carolina Conservative Convention was held in Columbia, South Carolina.

The Chicago Republican presents as the lesson of the late elections the following: Non are accustomed to speak of the slaveholders' rebellion as ended, but the ideas which gave it birth exist with undiminished vigor.

An immense pressure will be brought upon Congress at the approaching session to invalidate the negro-suffrage feature of its Reconstruction policy. The outspoken Democrats lead off, and the "Conservative" Republicans second the demand.

One might infer from the tone of the congress journal that they suppose the verdict given by so many States has no significance. They pretend it is a mere clerical error, and that the result of the election is a mere clerical error.

Now, if the late elections have not condemned the reconstruction scheme, what does they condemn? That, or the main principle, is the one which they would have us to understand.
