ATHLETICS.

The athletic season of 1895 is chiefly memorable for a revival of interest in track and field games. This is partially due to the interest infused into the sport by the meeting of the representative champions of the London (Eng.) A. C. and the New York A. C. The meeting referred to, which took place at Manhattan Field, New York, on Saturday, September 21, was attended by 20,000 spectators, something unparalleled in the history of athletic sports in America. The victory of the American team was of a most sensational and encouraging character. Eleven events were contested, and the visitors from abroad failed in every instance to carry off the honors.

The meeting referred to was conspicuous for the elevation of B. J. Wefers to the position of champion, which has never been satisfactorily filled since the retirement of L. E. Myers from the cinder path. Wefers' running in the London-New York games was most sensational, as was his entree into the athletic world. Previous to the past summer he was a comparatively unknown sprinter. When the New York Athletic Club succeeded in arranging the great international match with the London Athletic Club, Mike Murphy, the well-known trainer, was instructed to gather such talent as would bring the Winged Foot to the front and uphold America's supremacy. Murphy is in touch with all professional sprinters, and it came to his ears that a New England amateur was running very fast. So it was not long before Wefers was comfortably installed at Travers Island, and the trainer was soon convinced that he had a world-beater in charge. Stories were soon afloat that the newcomer was breaking watches in his trials at the New York Athletic Club's summer home.

The public first got a taste of Wefers's quality at the championship meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union, September 14, at Manhattan Field. He won the 100-yard and 220-yard runs in hollow style, beating Crum and other representative sprinters of the country. The official time for the shorter distance was returned as 10 seconds, although Robert Stoll and C. C. Hughes, two of the most expert timekeepers in America, each clocked the champion in 9 4-5 seconds, world's record time. In the 220-yard event, the official time was returned as 21 4-5 seconds, which equalled the world's record for the distance, although Stoll again differed with his associates, showing 21 3-5 seconds. However; as there was a slight wind with the runners in this race, all time was invalidated.

A week later, at the New York A. C.-London A. C. match, Wefers's performances upheld Stoll's timing, and marked the New England lad as the fastest amateur runner in the world. He defeated Bradley, the English champion, and Crum in the 100-yard dash with ease in the world's record time of 9 4-5 seconds, and in the 220-yard run breasted the tape in the remarkable time of 21 3-5 seconds. There was not a breath of air stirring when the race was decided.

The following week Wefers further astonished the athletic world by running 300 yards in 31 1-5 seconds. This broke the long-standing world's record of the great Lon Myers, 31 3-8 seconds made in 1881. Wefers's performance was made at the New York Athletic Club's games at Travers Island, there being two turns to the distance. The flyer was conceding handicaps to eleven fast men, and was compelled to run on the outside of his field all the way. Near the finish he mistook the line and slightly shortened his stride, then got into his running again. It was a marvellous feat, and stamped him the fastest sprinter in the world.

In addition to the remarkable performances by Wefers, five American athletes distinguished themselves by creating new world's records. Charles J. Kilpatrick covered a half mile in 1m. 53 2-5s; Thomas P. Conneff placed the one mile figures at 4m. 15 3-5s.; Steven Chase hurdled ten 3 foot 6 inch obstructions over a 100-yard course in 15 2-5s; J. L. Bremer negotiated ten 2 foot 6 in. hurdles, and 220 yards in 24 3-5s., while Michael F. Sweeney cleared 6 feet 5 5-8 inches in a running high jump.

FEATS OF STRENGTH.

Lifting Heavy Weights—Hands only: 1,571¼ lbs. solid iron, by Jefferson, at Boston, Mass., December 11, 1890; 1,442 lbs. by D. L. Dowd, at Springfield, Mass., March 21, 1883. In harness: 3,239 lbs. (1 ton 8 cwt. 3 qrs. 19 lbs.), by W. B. Curtis, New York, December 20, 1868; at Montreal, Canada, on October 1, 1888, Louis Cyr lifted 3,500 lbs on his back without any artificial means; 1,000-lb. dumb-bell was lifted three inches from the ground, without artificial means, by J. Kennedy, N. Y., January, 1890.

Louis Cyr lifted 3,641 lbs. in his great back lift at the South London Music Hall, November, 1891. On November 14, also at the South London Music Hall, he held out horizontally at arm's length, 104 lbs.; lifted 242 lbs. with right hand, utilizing his thigh and shoulder in raising the weight, and then held it at arm's length. He also, with a swing, raised 470 lbs. with his right hand.

The following feats were performed by Louis Cyr at the Royal Aquarium: Pair of bells, 72½ lbs. and 103¾ lbs., smaller bell in left hand and larger in right hand; the latter bell was raised four times. He next elevated with right hand twice 228 lbs., using his thigh and shoulder, and then elevating above the head a 268-lb. bell with both hands; 174 lbs. was elevated above the head sixteen times; 156-lb. bell, with one sweep, from ground with both left and right hands; 273¼ lbs. from thigh to shoulder, and then right hand above the head—February 13, 1892; 174½ lbs. right hand, with one sweep, to above head—February 19, 1892.

C. A. Sampson's Harness Lift—Sampson, with assistance of a collar and yoke, raised 3,809 lbs., at the Royal Aquarium, Westminster, November 24, 1891.

One Finger Lifting—Louis Cyr lifted 545 lbs. with one finger, Montreal, Canada. Schmidt-Mitchell lifted (with an iron ring) 560 lbs., Athletic Institute, Wilton Place, S. W., December 12, 1891.

AQUATICS.

The aquatic season of 1895 will go down upon the pages of history as notable for the failure of a representative American college crew to acquire a victory in British waters. Cornell University's success in intercollegiate races at New London and elsewhere, had suggested the advisability of a crew going abroad to try for the eight-oared championship of Great Britain at Henley. After an enthusiastic departure from America with hopes and ambitions high, they reached England in due time and went into training for the Thames Royal Regatta, under the supervision of Charles E. Courtney. The preparation for the race was not satisfactory, too short a time was allowed the oarsmen to become acclimated, and the result was, that they trained off, and were obviously beaten before they entered the race. In the first heat the Americans drew with the famous Leander crew, and an unfortunate circumstance occurred at the start. The two crews got the word together, but something happened to the crew of the English boat, and the recall signal was given. The Americans did not understand this, and rowing over the course claimed the victory. Public opinion favored the declaration of the empty honors. But Cornell was awarded, and severe criticism was bestowed upon the crew for acting in an unsportsmanlike manner in refusing to row the race again. In the final heat for the cup, Trinity Hall beat Cornell by seven lengths.

Austin, Texas, was later the scene of a professional sculling regatta that facilitated the making of two new world's records, besides being conspicuous for several notable performances. England's representatives in this regatta were the Ex-Champion Sculler George Bubear, W. Barry, W. Haines and Jack Wingate; opposed to them were such famous American and Canadian watermen as Jake Gaudaur, Hanlan, Durnan, Gaudaur, Rogers and Teemer. During the regatta which was held on November 4, 5, 6 and 7, Teemer beat J. Gaudaur for the sprinting championship half a mile. In the final heat of the single scull race for the American championship and POLICE GAZETTE trophy, J. Gaudaur was the winner, Rogers being second. The event of the regatta, however, was the four-oared sculling race for the championship of the world. The British crew, comprising Bubear, Barry, Haines and Wingate, were the victors, beating Teemer, Rogers and the two Gaudaurs. The time 17 minutes 21½ seconds, forms a new world's record for three miles with a turn. In the final heat of the double scull event for the championship of the world, Bubear and Barry defeated Teemer and Rogers. The time, 17 minutes 40 seconds, also forming a new world's record for three miles with a turn.

While the professional oarsmen continue making fast improvement in speed, the amateurs seem to have reached the limits of their capabilities. That the latter is evident can be demonstrated by the fact that the season of 1895 was not characterized by a single reduction in the records of the amateur performers.

The past rowing season has been conspicuous for its numerous amateur regattas held all over the country, which afforded the amateur performer opportunities to demonstrate his speeding qualities, and although some of the most prominent and noted men competed in the individual events, they have met with no great success in regard to speed.

The records which were apparent at the opening of the past season still remain untouched, and it is predicted that they will remain so for seasons to come.

The year 1896 holds out with promises for a successful rowing season, both in England and America. "Wag" Harding, who defeated Sullivan, on September 21, for the championship of England, has been matched against James Stansbury, of Australia, for the single scull championship of the world. This race will probably take place in June, and J. Gaudaur, the American champion, has signified his intention of challenging the winner to race in American waters.

There is also a strong probability of Yale sending an eight-oared crew to England to race the winner of the Oxford-Cambridge annual race, with an agreement for a return match in America in 1897.

YACHTING.

It is unfortunate that the international contest for 1895 for the America's cup ended so unsatisfactorily; not so from a racing standpoint for Defender proved herself to be a vastly superior boat to Valkyrie III., the challenger, but for Lord Dunraven's reflective utterances regarding the treatment he received during his sojourn, statements which, by the way, he has been called upon by the New York Yacht Club to explain, forming the nucleus for an investigation which is now pending,

The racing resulted in a fiasco, Dunraven declining to finish the series under the flimsiest of flimsy pretexts. His ostensible reason was that the America Cup Committee had failed to make a written reply to a letter submitted on the day previous in which he had expressed his opinion that Valkyrie III. had not had a fair course for the two previous races, due to the crowding of excursion steamers, and asking that the course for the third race be changed, suggesting Marblehead, Newport, etc.. etc.

As above stated the committee's omission to reply to this communication promptly, resulted in Dunraven's withdrawing Valkyrie III. immediately after a start in the proposed third race of the series had been effected.

Dunraven's action in the above matter was probably induced by the Cup Committee allowing the claim of foul instituted by Mr. Iselin, who represented the American syndicate, and awarding the second race to Defender. This decision was eminently a just one, for while it may not have been the intention of the Valkyrie's sailing master to foul the American boat, precautionary care and the usual regard for sailing conditions might have averted, a mishap, which certainly prevented Defender's winning.

There was therefore but one race (on September 7), for the cup, the course being fifteen miles to windward and return. In this the official times are as follows:

START.

Defender.....	12.20.50
Valkyrie.....	12.20.46

TURN.

Defender.....	3.36.29
Valkyrie.....	3.39.52

FINISH.

Defender.....	5.21.14
Valkyrie.....	5.29.30

ELAPSED TIME.

Defender.....	5.00.24
Valkyrie.....	5.08.44

CORRECTED TIME.

Defender.....	4.59.55
Valkyrie....	5.08.44

Defender won by eight minutes and forty-nine seconds.

The course for the second race, September 10, was an equilateral triangle, ten miles to each leg.

The British yacht fouled the Defender before the starting line was crossed, and Valkyrie III. won by forty-seven seconds, corrected time. This mishap resulted in springing the topmast of the Yankee boat, an injury that compelled her to sail two-thirds of the course seriously handicapped by want of a proper spread of canvas and one-third of the course handicapped by such a paucity of sail as was never seen in a race of the kind before.

Official time is as follows:

YACHTING—Continued.

THE START.

Valkyrie.....	11.00.13
Defender.....	11.01.15

FIRST TURN.

Valkyrie.....	12.57.43
Defender.....	1.01.35

SECOND TURN.

Valkyrie.....	2.01.45
Defender.....	1.58.10

THE FINISH.

Valkyrie.....	2.55.22
Defender.....	2.57.40

ELAPSED TIME.]

Valkyrie.....	3.55.09
Defender.....	3.56.25

CORRECTED TIME.

Valkyrie.....	3.55.00
Defender.....	3.55.56

The third race was scheduled for September 12. Valkyrie III. and Defender both crossed the starting line, but immediately after, Dunraven's boat withdrew, and headed for her anchorage at Bay Ridge, L. I., while Defender continued on her journey over the course alone.

BASEBALL.

Baltimore enjoys the distinction of flying the National League pennant for 1895. This honor was acquired after one of the most sensational series of battles that ever took place in the history of the national game. Cleveland, fighting hard for the coveted championship, pressed the champions hard right up to the end. The small margin of 19 per cent. which separated them, indicates the quality of the two teams. That Cleveland was justified in being regarded a principal factor in the disposition of the pennant was shown by the result of the Supplementary or Temple Cup series, as it was called. Five games were played under neutral conditions, Cleveland winning four and losing one. Baltimore's success in winning the League pennant was due as much to the able management of Ed. Hanlon as to any other. His long experience as a player has enabled him to acquire a knowledge of the practical requirements of a club. He is an excellent judge of a player's qualities and a strict disciplinarian.

The first regular baseball championship schedule was played in the year 1876, and was won by the Chicago Club, who also won the championship in '80, '81, '82, '85 and '86. In 1877 the Bostons captured the championship, and also won it in the years '78 and '83. The Providence Club carried off the honors in '74 and '84.

The American Association was organized in '81 and entered the field as a competitor of the major league and in opposition to the National League.

The Union Association was started in '84, ostensibly for the purpose of opposing the reserve rule in the National League and American Association. It was in existence but one season, St. Louis winning the pennant.

The Players' National League was organized in the fall of '89 as the outcome of the Brotherhood of Baseball Players. They labored under difficulties from the start, and the venture proved a financial failure. Boston won the pennant with a percentage of .628, Brooklyn being second, and New York third. Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cleveland and Buffalo finished in the order named. Their expenses exceeded the gate receipts, owing to the exorbitant salaries offered the players, and the capitalists were obliged to make good the deficit, in order to satisfy the players. At the close of the season of '90, a joint meeting was held by representatives of the Players' National League and the American Association, which resulted in a compromise. New York, Brooklyn, Pittsburg and Cleveland could not support two clubs, and the clubs of the Players' League in those cities were therefore consolidated with the National League by means of deals and purchases, while the Chicago Club of the Players' League was bought out. The Boston and Philadelphia Clubs of the Players' League joined the American Association. A new national agreement between the clubs of the National League, American Association and Western Association was drawn up and signed, only to be broken a few days later by the American Association, because of the action of the National Board in awarding the services of the star players of the Association to the League. The Association went through the season of '91 on an independent basis. This resulted in increasing the salaries of players, there being sharp competition to secure the services of the stars.

CYCLING.

A glance through the following pages containing the existing bicycle records up to date will show the year of 1895 to have been a remarkable one for fast pedaling on track and road. Particularly is this so in the line of competition, the amount of high class work in actual contests having been remarkable. The multiplicity of records is an objectionable feature of the sport, for they now have paced, unpaced, standing start, flying start, and a half dozen other styles.

For the benefit of those who desire to follow up the records, but do not know the meaning of the different classes, and the terms paced, unpaced, standing and flying start, the following explanation is given:

A "Class A amateur" is one who has not pawned, sold or exchanged for merchandise, or in any way realized cash for a prize won, or who has not received anything in the way of expenses from anyone for riding a wheel, and has raced for a prize valued at not more than $50 within 200 miles of his legal residence.

A "Class B amateur" is one who has salary and expenses paid, either by an individual or manufacturer, although he must not race for a prize valued at over $150 and cannot realize cash on any prize won. He can race wherever he chooses.

A professional is one who races for cash.

The riders in one class cannot compete with those of another unless special sanction is obtained from the Racing Board. All races must be run under the sanction of the L. A. W.

Paced records are made with the aid of pacemakers, and a standing start is made by the rider being started at the report of a pistol. A flying start is when the time of the rider is taken at the report of a pistol while passing in motion at a given point.

Sport of All Sorts.

Sporting men who were directly or indirectly concerned in the athletic campaign of 1895 are looking back in amazement at the scene of havoc created among records, which had been considered good for another decade. The season was not only without precedent in the annals of track and field sport, but it promises to stand out in bold relief as the opening of a fresh epoch in athletics, and the American athlete now occupies a unique position in amateur sport.

Even if the records had escaped during the contests between the chosen brawn and sinew of Great Britain and America, the two big meetings held at Manhattan Field, in New York, would be fully entitled to the wide-spread attention they attracted. But as things turned out, even level-headed statisticians have been carried off their feet, until the ground over which the new crop of record-breakers passed has been likened to "the path of a cyclone." During this memorable season the records from 100 to 200 yards were equalled, the furlong and 300 yard records smashed, the quarter of a mile record equalled, and all the old marks for standard distances, from 440 yards up to a mile and a half, buried in oblivion. All preconceived ideas regarding the possibilities of high jumping and hurdle racing were also revolutionized, and the climax capped by a walking phenomenon, J. W. Sturgess, of London, who lowered British records for $2\frac{1}{2}$ and 3 miles, and all amateur records from the latter distance up to 8 miles and on to the full hour.

Although the British had little advantage in the matter of climate early in the year, a few of them reached their speed while the American cracks were still revelling in the repose of the off season. The first sprinter to attract attention was A. R. Downer, the Edinburgh amateur, who has since been known as the "Flying Scotchman." He startled the Londoners as early as May 4 by running 100 yards in 10 sec., and equalling the British record. A week later he furnished another sensation by covering 200 yards in 19 4-5 sec., a performance which equalled the world's record feat accomplished by E. H. Peiling, at London Sept. 15, 1889. The merit of Downer's achievement was enhanced by the fact that he had won two heats in the 120 yard run earlier in the afternoon, his time in each being equal to the world's record of 11 4-8 sec. Downer continued to monopolize the honors until several weeks later, when England's champion, C. A. Bradley, got fit. Then some brilliant struggles ensued between the pair, and although Bradley got slightly the better of the argument by winning the sprint championship, there was little to choose between them at the end of their home campaign, their last struggles for supremacy over 100 yards resulting in two dead heats, each of which was tied in 9 4-5 sec. Bradley has since expressed doubt as to the time, but judging by the speed he showed here it seems probable that the timers were right.

FISTIANA.

Legislative antagonism has long furnished the opponents of pugilism with reason to believe the so-called "Decadence of the Ring" to be only a question of months. The year just past has been conspicuous for enough legal opposition to justify that belief, too, but despite the fact that many States have closed their doors to the fistic fraternity; that governors, in wrathful might, have ordained that the sport must cease; that courts have decreed that fighting is illegal; that moralists have declared pugilism to be brutal and menacing to the morals of the community, and have used their utmost endeavors to arouse hostile public feeling, the sport flourishes and will continue to flourish to the end of time.

In recalling the events which transpired during the year of 1895 the failure of Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons to meet in the ring on October 31 merits consideration in these pages. After a year of anxious expectancy, aggravated by instances of accidental meetings of the two men, when the proceedings were enlivened by nose-pulling and an exchange of hostile sentiment, it was generally supposed that there was enough enmity between the two men to justify a desire to meet under any circumstances that would afford an opportunity to end their troubles; but as the time drew near for the awful encounter, it developed that neither of the two evinced any great eagerness to engage in it. In justice to Corbett, however, it is only right to say that Fitzsimmons was the greater transgressor.

It was a combination of unfortunate circumstances which prevented the meeting. Dallas, Texas, was first chosen as the battle ground, but Governor Culberson evinced sanguinary tendencies and issued a proclamation against the proposed affair. Continued opposition to his wishes urged him to adopt extreme measures. He issued a call for a special session of the Texas Legislature, during which a law was enacted making prize fighting and glove contests a felony punishable by a term of imprisonment.

The threatened arrest of the principals for compounding a felony by their presence in the State of Texas necessitated a change of base. A favorable offer from the Hot Springs (Ark.) Athletic Club was accepted, and it was decided to hold the fight under its auspices.

A new opposing element, however, manifested itself in the person of Gov. Clarke. He issued a proclamation against the proposed fight and ordered the arrest of Corbett and Fitzsimmons, placing them under a restraining bond with the penalty of imprisonment if they entered a ring to fight. Despite this, Corbett, with a reckless disregard for consequences, was in Hot Springs on the day appointed for the battle, ready to go into the ring. Fitzsimmons, with courageous regard for his personal safety, had himself arrested by the representatives of Governor Clarke and remained in their custody in Little Rock, Ark., until after the eventful 31st of October had passed. Overtures were made to him to go elsewhere and fight, but he steadfastly refused. The affair was therefore abandoned.

Corbett, on Nov. 6, formally announced his retirement from the ring, and tendered the title to Peter Maher, who had just succeeded in vanquishing Steve O'Donnell, of Australia. Maher declined the title, and declared his willingness to fight any man in the world, Fitzsimmons preferred. Dan A. Stuart, of Dallas, Tex., on Dec. 13 arranged a fight between Fitzsimmons and Maher for a $10,000 purse and the "Police Gazette" belt, emblematic of the championship of the world, fight to take place near El Paso, Texas, on Feb. 14, 1896.

Other events of importance took place during the year, notably the defeat of Billy Plimmer by Pedlar Palmer. This affair took place in London on Nov. 25. The result was a surprise to ring followers, and can only be accounted for by the fact that Plimmer, when he fought, was not within twenty pounds of the form he showed in America.

The pugilistic honors for the year are deservedly awarded to George (Kid) Lavigne, of Saginaw, Mich. His performances in the ring surprised even his most enthusiastic admirers, and he is generally believed to be the best lightweight boxer in the world. His victory over the colored pugilistic puzzle, Joe Walcott, on Dec. 2, was a notable one. To be sure, the white lad had only to stay fifteen rounds to get the decision, but he stayed with a vengeance, and would probably have put the remarkable negro to sleep in a few more rounds.

Lavigne, in a contest for scientific points lasting twenty rounds, stood off Young Griffo, the cleverest boxer of the times. This was a setback for the Australian and a feather in Lavigne's cap. Lavigne made short work of a very promising boxer, Jim Handler, a pupil of Bob Fitzsimmons. Great things were expected of Handler, but he fell by the wayside, to the disappointment of the Newark, N. J., sports who backed him.

Early in the year, when Griffo threw up a fifteen-round engagement with the Saginaw boxer, Jack Everhardt, a Southern lightweight of some note, came up North in search of dollars and fame. He was readily induced to take Griffo's place against Lavigne, and he took with it about as severe a thrashing as any lightweight ever got, with the possible exception of the punching Walcott and Lavigne exchanged more recently.

Lavigne has not claimed the lightweight championship, which Jack McAuliffe still holds. He is willing to fight the holder or any man in the world for that title and a side wager of $5,000 or $10,000 to add interest to the encounter.

Marquis of Queensberry Rules.

RULE 1—To be a fair stand-up boxing match in a twenty-four foot ring or as near that size as practicable.

RULE 2—No wrestling or hugging allowed.

RULE 3—The rounds to be of three minutes' duration, and one minute time between rounds.

RULE 4—If either man fall, through weakness or otherwise, he must get up unassisted, ten seconds to be allowed him to do so, the other man meanwhile to return to his corner, and when the fallen man is on his legs the round is to be resumed and continued until the three minutes have expired. If one man fails to come to the scratch in the ten seconds allowed, it shall be in the power of the referee to give his award in favor of the other man.

RULE 5—A man hanging on the ropes in a helpless state, with his toes off the ground, shall be considered down.

RULE 6—No seconds or any other person to be allowed in the ring during the rounds.

RULE 7—Should the contest be stopped by any unavoidable interference, the referee to name time and place, as soon as possible, for finishing the contest; so that the match must be won and lost, unless the backers of both men agree to draw the stakes.

RULE 8—The gloves to be fair-sized boxing gloves of the best quality and new.

RULE 9—Should a glove burst, or come off, it must be replaced to the referee's satisfaction.

RULE 10—A man on one knee is considered down, and if struck is entitled to the stakes.

RULE 11—No shoes or boots with springs allowed.

RULE 12—The contest in all other respects to be governed by the revised rules of the London Prize Ring.

London Prize Ring Rules.

RULE 1—The ring shall be made on turf, and shall be four-and-twenty feet square, formed of eight stakes and ropes, the latter extending in double-lines, the uppermost line being four feet from the ground, and the lower two feet from the ground. In the centre of the ring a mark be formed, to be termed a scratch.

RULE 2—Each man shall be attended to the ring by two seconds and a bottle-holder. The combatants, on shaking hands, shall retire until the seconds of each have tossed for choice of position, which adjusted, the winner shall choose his corner according to the state of the wind or sun, and conduct his man thereto; the loser taking the opposite diagonal corner.

RULE 3—Each man shall be provided with a handkerchief of a color suitable to his own fancy, and the seconds shall entwine these handkerchiefs at the upper end of one of the centre stakes. These handkerchiefs shall be called "Colors," and the winner of the battle at its conclusion shall be entitled to their possession as the trophy of victory.

RULE 4—The two umpires shall be chosen by the seconds or backers to watch the progress of the battle, and take exception to any breach of the rules hereinafter stated. A referee shall be chosen by the umpires, unless otherwise agreed on, to whom all disputes shall be referred; and the decision of this referee, whatever it may be, shall be final and strictly binding on all parties, whether as to the matter in dispute or the issue of the battle. The referee shall be provided with a watch for the purpose of calling time; the call of that referee only to be attended to, and no other person whatever shall interfere in calling time. The referee shall withhold all opinion till appeal'd by the umpires, and the umpires strictly abide by his decision without dispute.

RULE 5—On the men being stripped it shall be the duty of the seconds to examine their drawers, and if any objection arises as to insertion of improper substances therein, they shall appeal to their umpires, who, with the concurrence of the referee, shall direct what alterations shall be made.

RULE 6—The spikes in the fighting boots shall be confined to three in number, which shall not exceed three-eighths of an inch from the sole of the boot, and shall not be less than one-eighth of an inch broad at the point; two to be placed in the broadest part of the sole and one in the heel; and in the event of a man wearing any other spikes, either in toes or elsewhere, he shall be compelled either to remove them or provide other boots properly spiked, the penalty for refusal to be a loss of the stakes.

RULE 7—Both men being ready, each shall be conducted to that side of the scratch next his corner previously chosen; and the second on the one side and the men on the other, having shaken hands the former shall immediately leave the ring, and there remain until the round be finished, on no pretense whatever approaching their principals during the round, without permission from the referee. The penalty to be the loss of the battle to the offending parties.

RULE 8—At the conclusion of the round when one or both of the men shall be down, the second shall step into the ring and carry or conduct their principal to his corner there affording him the necessary assistance, and no person whatever be permitted to interfere in his duty.

RULE 9—On the expiration of thirty seconds the referee appointed shall cry "Time," upon which each man shall rise from the knee of his second and walk to his own side of the scratch unaided; the seconds immediately leaving the ring. The penalty for either of them remaining eight seconds after the call of time to be the loss of the battle to his principal; and either man failing to be at the scratch within eight seconds shall be deemed to have lost the battle.

RULE 10—On no consideration whatever shall any person except the seconds and the referee be permitted to enter the ring during the battle; nor till it shall have been concluded; and in the event of such unfair practice, or the ropes or stakes being disturbed or removed, it shall be in the power of the referee to award the victory to that man, who, in his honest opinion, shall have the best of the contest.

RULE 11—The seconds shall not interfere, advise or direct the adversary of their principal, and shall refrain from all offensive and irritating expressions, in all respects conducting themselves with order and decorum, and confine themselves to the diligent and careful discharge of their duties to their principals.

RULE 12—In picking up their men, should the second willfully injure the antagonist of their principal, the latter shall be deemed to have forfeited the battle on the decision of the referee.

RULE 13—It shall be a fair "stand-up fight," and if either man shall willfully throw himself down without receiving a blow, whether blows shall have been previously exchanged or not, he shall be deemed to have lost the battle; but this rule shall not apply to a man who in a close slips down from the grasp of his opponent to avoid punishment, or from obvious accident or weakness.

RULE 14—Butting with the head shall be deemed foul, and the party resorting to this practice shall be deemed to have lost the battle.

RULE 15—A blow struck when a man is thrown or down shall be deemed foul. A man with one knee and one hand on the ground, or with both knees on the ground, shall be deemed down; and a blow given in either of these positions shall be considered foul, providing always that, when in such position, the man so down shall not himself strike, or attempt to strike.

RULE 16—A blow struck below the waistband shall be deemed foul, and in a close, seizing an antagonist below the waist, by the thigh or otherwise, shall be deemed foul.

RULE 17—All attempts to inflict injury by gouging, or tearing the flesh with the fingers or nails, and biting shall be deemed foul.

RULE 18—Kicking, or deliberately falling on an antagonist with the knees or otherwise when down, shall be deemed foul.

RULE 19—All bets shall be paid as the battle money after a fight is awarded.

RULE 20—The referee and umpires shall take their positions in front of the centre stake, outside the ropes.

RULE 21—Due notice shall be given by the stakeholder of the day and place where the battle money is to be given up, and be exonerated from all responsibility upon obeying the direction of the referee; all parties be strictly bound by these rules; and in future, all articles of agreement for a contest be entered into with a strict and willing adherence to the letter and spirit of these rules.

RULE 22—In the event of magisterial or other interference, or in case of darkness coming on, the referee (or stakeholder in case no referee has been chosen) shall have the power to name the time and place for the next meeting, if possible on the same day, or as soon after as may be. In naming the second or third place the nearest spot shall be selected to the original place of fighting where there is a chance of its being fought out.

RULE 23—Should the fight not be decided on the day all bets shall be drawn, unless the fight shall be resumed the same week, between Sunday and Sunday, in which case the referee's duties shall continue and the bets shall stand and be decided by the event. The battle money shall remain in the hands of the stakeholder until fairly won or lost by a fight, unless a draw be mutually agreed upon, or, in case of a postponement, one of the principals shall be absent, when the man in the ring shall be awarded the stakes.

RULE 24—Any pugilist voluntarily quitting the ring previous to the deliberate judgment of the referee being obtained shall be deemed to have lost the fight.

RULE 25—On an objection being made by the seconds or umpire the men shall retire to their corners, and there remain until the decision of the appointed authorities shall be obtained: if pronounced "foul" the battle shall be at an end, but if "fair," "time" shall be called by the party appointed, and the man absent from the scratch in eight seconds after shall be deemed to have lost the fight. The decision in all cases to be given promptly and irrevocably, for which purpose the umpires and the referee should be invariably close together.

RULE 26—If a man leaves the ring, either to escape punishment or for any other purpose without the permission of the referee, unless he is involuntarily forced out, shall forfeit the battle.

RULE 27—The use of hard substances, such as stones or sticks, or of resin in the hand during the battle shall be deemed foul, and on the requisition of the seconds of either man, the accused shall open his hands for the examination of the referee.

RULE 28—Hugging on the ropes shall be deemed foul. A man held by the neck against the stakes or upon or against the ropes shall be considered down, and all interference with him in that position shall be foul. If a man in any way makes use of the ropes or stakes to aid him in squeezing his adversary he shall be deemed the loser of the battle, and if a man in a close reaches the ground with his knees, his adversary shall immediately loose him or lose the battle.

RULE 29—All glove or room fights be as nearly as possible in conformity with the foregoing rules.

"Police Gazette" Revised Queensberry Rules.

RULE 1—The weights for all pugilists who contend in glove contests, according to the POLICE GAZETTE boxing rules, shall be as follows:—For heavyweights, over 158 lbs.; middle, under 158 lbs. and over 140 lbs.; light, under 140 lbs.

RULE 2—All contests to be decided in a twenty-four foot ring, which must be erected on the ground or stage.

RULE 3—No wrestling or hugging allowed. The rounds to be of three minutes duration and one minute time.

RULE 4—Each contestant shall select an umpire, and they shall appoint a referee.

RULE 5—In all contests two time-keepers shall be appointed, and the referee, under no circumstances, shall keep time.

RULE 6—During the contest, if either man fall, through weakness or otherwise, he must get up unassisted, ten seconds being allowed him to do so, the other man meanwhile to retire to his corner; and when the fallen man is on his legs the round is to be resumed and continued until the three minutes have expired; and if one man fails to come to the scratch in the ten seconds allowed, it shall be in the power of the referee to give his award in favor of the other man.

RULE 7—A contestant hanging on the ropes in a helpless state, with his toes off the ground, shall be considered down. No seconds, or any other person but the referee, to be allowed in the ring.

RULE 8—Should the contest be stopped by any unavoidable interference, the referee, if appointed, or else the stakeholder, shall name the next time and place for finishing the contest, as soon as possible, so that the match must be either won or lost.

RULE 9—When either pugilist is knocked down within the allotted three minutes, he shall be allowed ten seconds to get on his feet again unassisted, except when this occurs in the last ten seconds.

RULE 10—One minute's rest shall be allowed between each round; and no wrestling, roughing or struggling on the ropes shall be permitted.

RULE 11—The gloves to be fair-sized boxing gloves, of the best quality and new. Should a glove burst or come off, it must be replaced to the referee's satisfaction. A man on one knee is considered down, and if struck, is entitled to the stakes. No shoes or boots with spikes allowed.

RULE 12—In all matches the stakes not to be given up until won or lost by a fight. That if a man leaves the ring, either to escape punishment or for any other purpose, without the permission of the referee, unless he is involuntarily forced out, shall forfeit the battle.

RULE 13—That any pugilist voluntarily quitting the ring, previous to the deliberate judgment of the referee being obtained, shall be deemed to have lost the fight.

RULE 14—That the seconds shall not interfere, advise or direct the adversary of their principal, and shall refrain from all offensive and irritating expressions, in all respects conducting themselves with order and decorum, and confine themselves to the diligent and careful discharge of their duties to their principals.

RULE 15—If either man shall willfully throw himself down without receiving a blow, whether blows shall have been previously exchanged or not, he shall be deemed to have lost the battle; but that this rule shall not apply to a man who, in a close, slips down from the grasp of an opponent to avoid punishment or from obvious accident or weakness. The battle-money shall remain in the hands of the stakeholder until fairly won or lost by a fight, unless a draw be mutually agreed upon, or in case of a postponement one of the principals shall be absent, when the man in the ring shall be awarded the stakes.

RULE 16—In contests in which contestants agree to box four, six or a stipulated number of rounds, the referee shall have full power to order the men to continue, if it has not been decided during the four, six or number of rounds stipulated by one or the other of the pugilists stopping, losing by a foul or being beaten.

Rules Governing the "Police Gazette" Diamond Belt Emblematic of the Heavyweight Championship of the World.

RULE 1—All contests for the POLICE GAZETTE Diamond Belt shall be fought according to the new rules of the London Prize Ring.

RULE 2—The holder of the trophy shall be the recognized champion pugilist of the world, and will be required to defend the trophy against all comers.

RULE 3—All matches for the belt shall be for no less a sum than $1,000 a side or upward at the option of the holder and the challenger.

RULE 4—The belt shall be subject to challenges from any pugilist in the world, but no challenges will be accepted unless a deposit of $250 is posted with a responsible person.

RULE 5—Challenges shall date from the date of their receipt by the stakeholder, and the holder of the belt will be in duty bound to arrange a match with the first challenger.

RULE 6—All contests shall take place within four months from the date of the receipt of challenge by the stakeholder.

RULE 7—The holder of the belt must contend for the belt every four months if challenged, and not more than three times in twelve months.

RULE 8—All contests for the belt must be fought in the United States or Canada, not otherwise unless with the consent of the donor, and the holder of the trophy will have no power to select the fighting ground, but will mutually agree with the challenger upon the selection of the place.

RULE 9—If the holder of the belt and the challenger cannot agree upon the place of meeting, the stakeholder will select the fighting ground.

RULE 10—The belt shall become the personal property of any pugilist who wins it three times in succession or holds it three years against all comers.

RULE 11—The winner or holder of the belt must deposit satisfactory security, in money, with Richard K. Fox for the safekeeping of the same, and be prompt to return it to the stakeholder when called for.

RULE 12—The belt must be delivered to the stakeholder thirty days prior to a contest, and the holder refusing any challenge will forfeit all claims and rights to the trophy.

RULE 13—In all contests for the belt the final stakeholder shall act as or select the referee, with the mutual consent of the contracting parties.

Amateur Athletic Union Rules for Boxing and Fighting.

RULE 1—In all open competitions the ring shall not be less than 16 feet or more than 24 feet square, and shall be formed of 8 stakes and ropes, the latter extending in double lines, the uppermost line four feet from the floor and the lower line two feet from the floor.

RULE 2—Competitors to box in regulation athletic costume, in shoes without spikes, or in socks, and to use boxing gloves of not more than 8 ounces in weight.

RULE 3—Weights to be; Bantam, 105 lbs. and under; feather, 115 lbs. and under; light, 135 lbs. and under; middle, 158 lbs. and under; heavyweight, 158 lbs. and over.

RULE 4—Any athlete who weighs in and then fails to compete, without an excuse satisfactory to the Games Committee, shall be suspended for six months.

—Continued.

RULE 5—In all open competitions the result shall be decided by two judges with a referee. A time-keeper shall be appointed.

RULE 6—In all competitions the number of rounds to be contested shall be three. The duration of rounds in the trial bout shall be limited to three minutes each. In the "finals," the first two rounds will be three minutes each, and the final round four minutes. The interval between each round shall be one minute.

RULE 7—In all competitions, any competitor failing to come up when time is called shall lose the bout.

RULE 8—Immediately before the competition each competitor shall draw his number and compete as follows: To have a preliminary round of as many contests as the total number of contestants exceeds 2, 4, 8, 16 or 32, and drop the losers. This leaves in 2, 4, 8, 16 or 32 contestants, and the rounds then proceed regularly with no byes or uneven contests.

RULE 9—Each competitor shall be entitled to the assistance of one second only, and no advice or coaching, shall be given to any competitor by his second, or by any other person during the progress of any round.

RULE 10—The manner of judging shall be as follows: The two judges and referee shall be stationed apart. At the end of each bout, each judge shall write the name of the competitor who in his opinion has won, and shall hand the same to the announcer (or master of ceremonies). In case the judges agree, the master of ceremonies shall announce the name of the winner, but in cases where the judges disagree, the master of ceremonies shall so inform the referee, who shall thereupon himself decide.

RULE 11—The referee shall have power to give his casting vote when the judges disagree to caution or disqualify a competitor for infringing rules, or to stop a round in the event of either man being knocked down, providing that the stopping of either of the first two rounds shall not disqualify any competitor from competing in the final round to decide the competition in the event of either man showing so marked a superiority over the other that a continuation of the contest would serve only to show the loser's ability to take punishment. And the referee can order a further round, limited to two minutes, in the event of the judges disagreeing.

RULE 12—The decision of the judges or referee, as the case may be, shall be final.

RULE 13. In all competitions the decision shall be given in favor of the competitor who displays the best style, and obtains the greatest number of points. The points shall be: For attack, direct clean hits with the knuckles of either hand, on any part of the front or sides of the head, or body above the belt; defense, guarding, slipping, ducking, counter-hitting or getting away. Where points are otherwise equal, consideration to be given the man who does most of the leading off.

RULE 14—The referee may disqualify a competitor who is boxing unfairly, by flicking or hitting with the open glove, by hitting with the inside or butt of the hand, the wrist or elbow, hitting or catching hold below the waist, or hitting when down (one knee and one hand or both knees on the floor), butting with the head or shoulder, wrestling or roughing at the ropes, using offensive or scurrilous language, or not obeying the orders of the referee.

RULE 15—All competitors who have been beaten by the winner shall be entitled to compete for second place, and all who have been beaten by the winners of either first or second place shall be entitled to compete for third place.

RULE 16—Any athlete who competes in a boxing contest of more than four rounds shall be suspended for such stated period as may be determined by the Board of Managers of the association of the A. A. U. in whose territory the offense was committed.

RULE 17—In the event of any question arising not provided for in these rules, the referee to have full power to decide such question or interpretation of rule.

TROTTING.

That the limitation of speed in the trotting horse has been almost reached is evidenced by the fact that the year of 1895 was not characterized by any reductions in the records of the major performers. The trotting and pacing champions showed no improvement, but several of the minor records were changed in the most unexpected manner.

The confident dream of the trotting enthusiast is that the record will go to 2:00, and loud were the predictions that the result would be achieved last year. But the season was still young when it was clear to all good judges that the champion would not reduce her record, and that there was no other performer on the trotting turf who had any good claims for the championship. As the hopes of the friends of Alix went down to zero, the admirers of the big gelding, Azote, steadily rose, and for a time it looked possible that he might be the first gelding of the decade to win the championship. How near he came to the race championship is proved by the fact that he took a record of 2:05½ in a winning race at the Fleetwood Park's Grand Circuit meeting last year, while the race championship is jointly held by Directum and Alix at 2:05¼.

The latter made her record at Terra Haute, Ind., and the former at Nashville, Tenn., and both tracks are certainly two seconds faster than Fleetwood Park, New York. In a match against time later on at Galesburg, Ill., Azote trotted in 2:04¾, thus reducing the gelding championship by three seconds, and getting within one of the all-aged honor. Expectation then ran high that he would make the grand coup, but at the critical moment he went off, and the season closed without a reduction of the trotting record.

While there was some little doubts as to the trotting record, even conservative judges were confident that Robert J.'s pacing record of 2:01½ would be passed, and that the pacing brigade would place on their banners the much coveted mark of 2:00. The many admirers of Robert J., his owner included, declared that he could do the trick and that before the season was over it would be his record. But the months rolled by from June to December, and although he made a most brilliant campaign, and proved that he was still the champion, he failed to either reduce his race record of 2:02½, or his time record of 2:01½.

Singularly enough, the stallion championships also remained undisturbed. The marvelous Directum, 2:05¼, who made his record in 1893; and John R. Gentry, 2:03¾, who made his record in 1894, are still the stallion champions of the trotting and pacing gaits. No trotter appeared last year who could do better than get within two seconds of the record, but the pacers were dangerously close all the time. Joe Patchen, 2:04; Fidol, 2:04¼; Strathbery 2:04½ and Star Pointer, 2:04¾, were all within striking distance, yet they could not quite get there, and John R. Gentry retired to his Southern home the other day the monarch of the pacing turf.

Notwithstanding that neither the extreme trotting or pacing records were disturbed during the year, a review of the extreme speed performances will reveal the fact that the past season was one of the most sensational of all the racing years. The increase in the number of 2.10 performers among both the trotters and pacers during 1895 is the greatest yet known, while the number of miles both trotted and paced in 2.10 or better in races by far surpass that of any previous year.

While each succeeding year since 1890 has shown an appreciative increase over the preceding one in the number of 2.10 performers, it remained for 1895 to furnish the greatest increase. The new Year Book will show thirteen new 2.10 trotters, an increase of 30 per cent., and fifty new pacers, an increase of over 200 per cent.

The average time of the new members is: Trotters, 2.08 49-52; pacers, 2.08 55 74. Of the former members of the 2.10 list only one trotter made a new record in 1895—Azote, 2.04¾—while of the fifty-eight pacers only seven succeeded in taking faster records: They are Strathberry, 2.04¼; Fidol, 2.04½; Paul, 2.07¼; Rubinstein, 2.06½; Directly, 2.07¼; Moonstone, 2.09, and Coleridge, 2.05¼.

The statistician of the Chicago Horseman has made a most thorough recapitulation of the trotting and pacing records up to the close of 1895.

THOROUGHBRED RACING.

Little as the improvement in the records that characterized the trotting and pacing division the season of 1895 showed, less may be said about the thoroughbreds in the same connection. Only two records were lowered and they were at minor distances and by horses which claim no particular renown for the excellency of their work under varying conditions.

The season just ended was conspicuous more for the reforms put into operation and which will have a bearing upon the sport which future generations of turfmen will have reason to be thankful for. The season of 1894 ended with the famous prohibitory amendment which had for the time paralyzed the energies of turfmen, and the outlook was verily as murky as the predictions that were indulged in concerning it. Few even of the most sanguine dared to prophesy a successful outcome, but as things have turned out few will now deny that it was not for the best that the prohibitory amendment was adopted, even though its adoption was brought about in a manner not altogether justified by the strict code of honor. When the proper time came, the right men went quietly but vigorously to work and the legislature passed, after a hard struggle, what is now known as the Percy-Gray law. This measure has put racing in New York on much the same footing as that on which it stands in England, and the bookmaker is no longer the most important individual at the metropolitan tracks.

The turf has prospered and a new order of things has been established that will endure for all time. It is very doubtful if it was possible to return to the older order, if the Jockey Club would sanction any such proceeding, for now that the horse is first, racing is quickly taking on a new prosperity.

The exodus to England, as it has been called, has given rise to many misapprehensions. Those who are taking horses across the ocean are not doing so because things have changed so materially here, but because they can afford it and desire to try international conclusions. The system of betting on racing in England is substantially the same as it is here nowadays, so little might be gained in that direction. That great good will come of the invasions undertaken no one doubts, and every one hopes that the American horses will win their share of the races in which they start.

TABLE OF WINNING SIRES.

The table following gives the records of America's leading sires each year since 1870, twenty-six years. It will be observed that without furnishing the season's Futurity or Realization winner, Hanover's showing is well up in the list, considering 1895 was a season of reduced values of stakes and purses, and, owing to obnoxious laws, a year marked by a great curtailing of turf sports:

1870	Lexington	20	35	82	$120,360
1871	Lexington	21	40	102	109,095
1872	Lexington	22	28	82	71,575
1873	Lexington	23	23	71	71,565
1874	Lexington	24	23	70	51,889
1875	Leamington (imp.)	22	18	32	64,518
1876	Lexington	26	12	34	90,570

Horses marked thus (*) won the St. Leger, (†) the Oaks, ‡, the Two Thousand Guineas, (§) ran a dead-heat (||), after a dead heat with The Colonel, and (a), Grand Prix de Paris.

EARNINGS OF TWO-YEAR-OLDS.

Although Requitall has the best average for the year's work of the two-year-olds, it does not prove that he is the best colt of the season. His earnings were considerably swelled by his victory in the Futurity. Ben Brush has barely earned one-third of the money following the name of Requitall, yet his work, in the opinion of many, is quite as good as Requitall's. Next year this pair will no doubt meet on even terms, and the event will be watched with interest. Following is the list of earnings of the two-year-olds last season:

"You cannot fool all the people all the time."

This note of warning to those who are selling imitations of our OLD CROW RYE.

All articles of real merit are counterfeited in season and out of season. The safe plan is, buy only the goods that are put up and guaranteed by old reliable houses; use the same precautions as against taking counterfeit money—that is, examine the label carefully. The genuine has the word RYE on label and case, and our firm name on the label, case, cork, and capsule.
