CRIME INSURANCE ADVOCATED BY JUDGE WEYL

Juvenile Authority, Speaker Before Kiwanis Club, Tells of Court Work

"The most important asset of our nation today is the child," Judge Bertin A. Weyl of Los Angeles, judge of the juvenile court, made this statement yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn, 637 East Broadway, at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club.

"You can talk of our gold and silver, oil and cotton," he continued, "but unless our childhood is of the right character, our nation is in danger."

According to Judge Weyl, the big problem in juvenile work in southern California is how to care for the 800 moron boys of low intelligence who need close personal supervision and scientific treatment and with whom no state institution is prepared to cope at the present time. He said that a movement was on foot to get the financial backing of the county board of supervisors, but that, if this attempt failed, the matter would be taken directly to public spirited citizens such as are to be found in the Kiwanis clubs and they are to be asked to subscribe "crime insurance."

"The subject of the juvenile problem is something like a long spool of yarn," declared Judge Weyl. "It has taken years to wind it up and it is going to take years to unwind it."

"The problem is so deep, in the opinion of the speaker, that there is no hope of settling it in this generation or even in the next generation. He disagreed with a recent authority, who said that perfect children should have the privilege of picking their parents 200 years back. The judge declared that this choice should extend back to Adam and Eve.

"The percentage of crime and the percentage of delinquent children in very small areas," Judge Weyl said. "About 2 per cent of the people are criminally inclined and that 2 per cent ratio has remained very nearly stationary for generations. Just as long as we have had statistics on the subject we have had that 2 per cent. That was so in Continental Europe when there were 130 offenses punishable by death and it is true today when only two crimes, murder and treason, are punishable by death."

Present System No Cure
Judge Weyl commented on the fact that there are 530 more (Continued on Page 12)

DRIVE FOR 1000 IN MUSIC CLUB

Officers and Directors of Organization Seek to Strengthen Personnel

The officers and directors of the Glendale Music club are actively engaged in their campaign for members, their aim being for 1000. At the close of a very successful club year in June the membership of the senior class, not including the junior or juvenile auxiliaries, was over 600.

Those actively engaged in the membership drive include Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president; Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, first vice-president; Mrs. Dora Gibson, second vice-president; Mrs. Calvin Whitling, recording secretary; Mrs. Helen I. Campbell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Warren Roberts, treasurer; Miss Gertrude Champain, financial secretary; Mrs. Percy Prieau, auditor; Mrs. C. L. Marlenee, Mrs. E. W. Kinney and Mrs. Frank Arnold, directors.

At a recent meeting of the club it was voted to change the regular meetings of the club from Friday to the first Thursday of each month in order to give a larger number of residents of this city who are members of the club an opportunity of attending the concerts. It was also voted to make the dues $4 a year, payable semi-annually, beginning September 1. The initiation fee of $2 is also being kept open until October 1, when it will be raised to $4.

The club aims to make Glendale a musical city and a music center. Last year such artists as Alice Kettle, Olga Steeb, Charles Wakefield Cadman, Calmon Lubovisky, Sol Cohen, Margaret Messer Morris, Freda Peycke, Gertrude Ross, Brahm Vandenberg, Catherine Shank, Mr. and Mrs. J. Spencer Kelly and many others, were heard by the club members. This year the officers state that no one will be admitted to the concerts without membership or guest coupons. Each member will be allowed four guest coupons during the year and no coupons will be sold.

$12,000 HOME PLANNED

Contractor S. S. Beran of 305 South Brand boulevard has completed plans for a modern roomy $12,000 home at 1529 East Broadway, combining the Swiss chalet and Spanish types, which he has reason to believe will be the most unique in Glendale.

Fire Razes Tampico

TAMPICO, Mex., Aug. 26.—Fire wiped out a large section of Tampico today doing damage estimated at about $2,500,000. Twenty-six buildings were destroyed. Three persons were killed and many injured. An entire block of business buildings were among the structures consumed.

Five Die In Wreck

PRINCETON, Ind., Aug. 26.—Five persons were instantly killed and another probably fatally injured early today at Haubstadt, twelve miles south of here, when the north bound New Orleans-Chicago flyer on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad struck the automobile in which they were riding. Members of the party were returning to their homes in Henderson, Ky., from a visit in St. Louis.

Battleship Sinks

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The 24,000 ton French battleship France was sunk in Quiberon bay with the loss of three lives early today. The warship, which was returning from naval maneuvers, was trying to enter Quiberon harbor in a gale when the wind drove her upon submerged rocks. The ministry of marine reported that there were twenty-five officers and 900 men on board at the time of the disaster. The ship was driven ashore at 10 o'clock Friday night. Her hull was pierced but she did not sink until 4 o'clock this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindley Anniversary Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lindley of 362 West Lomita avenue were hosts last evening at an informal social affair celebrating the ninth anniversary of their wedding.

Yellow and white was the color combination used by Mrs. Lindley in decorating for the affair. Large bouquets of yellow dahlias and white carnations decorated the living and dining rooms, while yellow and white was also used in the appointments for the buffet supper served late in the evening. The supper was featured by a large wedding cake. The company included Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neil, Mr. and Mrs. L. Delaurentis, Mr. and Mrs. Lander Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Potter, Mrs. Don Kierman and Mr. and Mrs. Lindley of Glendale; and Mr. and Mrs. George Nelheisel, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. A. Masson, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bever, Mrs. Bertha Metcalfe and Miss Elizabeth Fisher of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindley, who have been residents of Glendale for three years, formerly lived in Los Angeles.

Two Speeders Enjoy Warm Days In Jail

The doors of the county jail yawned yesterday.

However, it was not on account of the warmth of the Southern California sunshine. They opened to receive as guests of the institution Volney A. Enoch of 1513-A South San Fernando road, who was given a fine of $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail in addition for recklessness driving Thursday night down South Glendale avenue while intoxicated, and Harry Speck of 618 North Howard street, who was fined $5 and given ten days in jail for speeding about 45 miles an hour Monday on North Central avenue.

ADMITS LAW IS WEAK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Secretary of Labor Davis declared today in a letter to Mrs. Edith Tate Thompson of Fresno, Cal., that the present 3 per cent restrictive immigration was not satisfactory in solving American immigration problems. Davis suggested the stationing of United States inspectors at European ports to examine immigrants bound for this country before they go aboard ship.

LEGION LEARNS OF ARMY STATUS AND PLANS

Lieut. Col. H. Hervy Speaks on U. S. Military Affairs; Dances Announced

Lieut. Col. H. Hervy of the California National Guard was the principal speaker last night at the regular weekly meeting of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion. The colonel, who is one of the commanding officers over Glendale's two companies of the guardsmen, gave a brief explanation of the interpretation of the present status of the militaristic status of the United States. He told of the present army strength, both actual and potential, and gave a general description of the various branches of the service. His remarks were highly appreciated by the legionnaires, as was evidenced by their enthusiastic applause.

Ralph H. Thurber, who leaves Glendale within the next few days for Colorado, was initiated into the legion last night, the informal ritual being used.

Delegates Chosen

The following members were announced as being chosen as delegates to the annual state convention of the organization, which is to be held at San Jose on September 5, 6, 7 and 8: James F. McBryde, Dwight Stephenson, W. B. Kelly, Ray Morrow, Gordon Clayton and Robert Rowley. The delegates were instructed to bring several questions before the state body.

An announcement was made during the meeting to the effect that on Friday, September 1, the usual meeting of the county inter-legion council will give way to a pre-convention meeting of representatives from the Ninth and Tenth congressional districts of the California department of the American Legion. At that time a thorough discussion of the measures to be presented by Southern California legionnaires at the convention will be held.

Dances Start Tonight

Prior to adjournment it was announced that the legion hall had been turned over to Eddie Molot's orchestra every Saturday evening for the purpose of staging American legion dances, the first of which will be conducted this evening. The public is cordially invited to attend the dance and enjoy themselves for a few hours to the strains of the "Jazz Hounds."

BARBER DELIGHTS CUSTOMER WITH AUTO TRIP STORY

Pierson Hanning Talks of Deer White Shearing Reporter's Locks

Mr. and Mrs. Pierson Hanning and their two sons of 235 North Orange street returned yesterday evening from a two weeks' motor and camping trip through Ventura county, and up to San Francisco. Today Mr. Hanning is back at work in his barber shop at 112 North Brand, telling of his experiences while he wields his shears and razor.

"Tell me about it," said an Evening News reporter as he climbed into the chair. "Well, we left here two weeks ago and drove up to Ventura county. We got a cabin near Matilija and stayed there a week, hiking, hunting and fishing."

"Miss that warty over the left ear. What did you hunt?" "Deer."

"What did you get?" "Rabbit Chippers all around?" "Yeah, but try cutting 'em off instead of pulling 'em out."

"The more I pull out the less I have to cut. We did some fishing, too, but it was a little too late for that. I got only one little trout, although some fellows away down the stream caught a few good ones. The kids had a good time climbing around over the mountains."

DISCUSS CANDIDATES

At the meeting of the Glendale chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marie Yeoman, 113 North Orange street, with Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, in charge, the time was given over to the discussion of the candidates for the primary election. The meeting proved to be a very lively one, each candidate's qualifications being taken into consideration and discussed.

Today's World News in Brief By International News Service Leased Wire

PASSENGERS TELL OF BOMBS STOPPING TRAIN

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—Several passengers on a Chicago & Alton local were marooned at Roodhouse, Ill., last night when a fireman walked from the cab of his train, according to stories told by persons arriving by automobile here today. The fireman quit his post, because, he said, it was dangerous to travel on the road since the bombings at Roodhouse Thursday night.

TOW BOAT CO. RESTRAINED FROM BOOZE RUNNING

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 26.—The Aiken Tow Boat and Transportation company and every employe of two ocean-going tugs and seven barges today were placed under a temporary restraining order by the United States district court here forbidding them to bring liquor into the United States from other countries. The hearing was set for September 5.

ALL FREIGHT TRAFFIC ON CHICAGO & ALTON STOPS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 26.—All freight traffic on the Chicago & Alton railroad between here and Roodhouse, division terminal, was at a standstill today. Trainmen refused to work because of "unsatisfactory working conditions." Additional United States marshals have been sent to Roodhouse to prevent a repetition of Thursday night's bombings.

MILLIONAIRE INDIANAPOLIS NEWS PUBLISHER DIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Delavan Smith, 61, millionaire philanthropist and publisher of the Indianapolis News, was dead today at his Lake Forest summer home near here. Acute anaemia caused death last night after five blood transfusions had failed to benefit his condition. He was a cousin of the late Charles Warren Fairbanks, vice president of the United States under the McKinley administration.

PRISONERS' DYNAMITE DELIVERY IS FRUSTRATED

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 26.—A plot by three prisoners to dynamite the front gate of the federal prison here this afternoon and shoot their way to freedom was revealed today to Warden W. I. Biddle by a "go-between." The "go-between" said that John W. Blair, serving a twenty-five-year sentence for robbery, and two other prisoners had planned the break for liberty immediately following the week-end ball game.

PICTURE ACTOR DIES IN SENSATIONAL TRAGEDY

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—John Bergen, a handsome picture actor, lies dead today, the victim of a tragedy with all the thrills and sensations of a film drama. He was reported to have refused to participate in a duel with the husband of a woman he was rumored to have wronged. As he lay dying Bergen drew from his pocket a slip of paper on which were the scrawled words: "George Kline killed me." Kline was arrested and today was a prisoner in the Hackensack, N. J., jail charged with the murder.

RAILROADS FEELING PINCH OF COAL SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Railroad systems of the country are beginning to feel the pinch of coal shortage, it was indicated today by an announcement from the federal fuel distributor that "large tonnage" has been awarded the New York, New Haven & Hartford; the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; the Pere Marquette, and the Grand Trunk of Canada. Officials refused to state the actual amounts involved. A production of 6,000,000 tons of bituminous coal is assured for the present week and additional tonnage may raise the total to 6,250,000 tons, the geological survey announced today.

CIVIL WAR IN IRELAND GROWS MORE FIERCE

DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—While hundreds of mourners were passing before the bier of Michael Collins in the city hall, a battle between irregulars and free state troops broke out here today. The attack was opened by irregulars in the vicinity of the city hall. Firing continued several hours. Free state troops in Limerick have arrested seven irregular leaders. One of them was later killed while trying to escape. Two free state soldiers were killed in an ambush attack near Tralee. All the roads leading in and out of Dublin were under military patrol. News was received from the south and west that followers of De Valera were cutting telephone and telegraph wires and were burning whole editions of newspapers to prevent news of Collins' death from reaching the people in the interior.

FORD PLANT TO CLOSE SEPT. 16. FOR LACK OF COAL

(Copyright, 1922, By International News Service)
DETROIT, Aug. 26.—Henry Ford's plants in and around Detroit will shut down on September 16 because of the lack of coal. The closing of the great automobile manufacturing establishments will throw 60,000 men out of work right here in Detroit. The ultimate result of the shut-down will be to place 2,000,000 men throughout the United States in the position of seeking jobs. The Highland Park plant has been made over for oil burners and could continue to operate indefinitely on that basis, but the very important work of keeping the fires going in the great forges cannot be done except with coal. Back of the work that is done in the forges are the many industries, employing hundreds of thousands of men throughout the country.

HARDING PREPARES TO USE "BIG STICK" IN STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Confronted at every turn with the failure of efforts to peacefully settle the railroad strike, President Harding today fell back on his original plan for dealing with the national menace. It is this: The railroads will be given every opportunity to demonstrate their ability to maintain efficient service without the unionized shopmen, and if they fail, then the president will ask congress for specific authority to take over those roads unable to fulfill their obligations to the public. Senator Cummins, Republican, Iowa, the father of the railroad labor board, had a bill in his pocket today granting the president this power. It will be introduced in the senate and house whenever it becomes apparent that the government must abandon its pacific attitude and haul out the dusty "big stick" to protect the public from the suffering of transportation and coal famine.

RED LEADER PREPARES FOR ANOTHER CONVENTION

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—While police and government agents continued their search for fifty alleged "reds" believed to have attended the international convention of communists in the "house in the woods" near Bridgman, Mich., which was raided and where seventeen arrests were made, a convention of the "trades union educational league" was scheduled to meet here today. Headquarters of the league, presided over by William J. Foster, were in readiness for the delegates in spite of the fact that they were raided early in the week and many records and files taken. Foster, out on bail, waiting extradition papers from Michigan and alleged to have attended the "red" meeting in the woods, was to preside at the convention. The hearing of the seventeen alleged communists arrested in Michigan and who are held in the jail at St. Joseph, Mich., is expected to be held Monday afternoon.

RACES MINGLING IN HAWAII, SAYS FAIR VISITOR

Miss Elsie Koehler Returns From Honolulu With Very Interesting Report

Miss Elsie Koehler has returned to her home at 822 East Wilson avenue after a vacation trip to the Hawaiian Islands, crowded with sightseeing, and interesting experiences.

The round trip was made on the steamship Wilhelmina of the Matson line and was most pleasant both ways. Miss Koehler positively refused to get sea sick and enjoyed the voyage immensely. The boat left San Francisco on Wednesday morning and arrived in the harbor of Honolulu late in the afternoon of the following Tuesday. According to custom, it was met at the dock by the Hawaiian band and the newcomers were given a noisy welcome.

"What impressed me most of all in Honolulu was the way the white people and Orientals intermingled," remarked Miss Koehler upon her return. She stated that white girls readily accompanied Chinamen on motoring trips.

Natives Are Lazy

The Hawaiians did not make a very favorable impression on Miss Koehler. She reports that it is necessary to import Filipinos to do the work on the plantations because the natives are so lazy they only work long enough to get money enough for food.

Liquid sunshine, which is the trade-mark name on "The Islands" for common ordinary rain of the moist variety, took the starch out of Miss Koehler's dress the second day after her arrival. Thereafter she was careful to follow the tourist custom and carry a Japanese parasol which was treated with shellac to make it water proof. "The rain comes down fast but it doesn't last long. The rainbows are beautiful," she remarked.

The aquarium at Waikiki, which is said to contain the rarest and most beautiful fish in the world, was visited with much interest. Its inhabitants are odd in shape and display all the hues of the rainbow with the tints laid on as if by a futuristic artist's brush.

Other Places Visited

The fish market of Honolulu was visited also. It was interesting. (Continued on Page 12)

ARMED TO TEETH FOR BEAR, NOW SAFE IN GLENDALE

Coghlin Family Motors Here From Worcester, Mass., to Avoid Cold Winters

A new member has joined the Chamber of Commerce, a new business establishment has started, five new residents have come to Glendale to stay, and a new home will soon be built for them—all since lunch-time yesterday.

C. C. Coghlin, formerly of Worcester, Mass., is the nucleus of the entire tale. He had a farm near Worcester which he lived on last winter. When his brain thawed out this spring he found that his coal had cost him $500 for the winter—and he had been cold all the time.

"What's the answer?" asked Mrs. Coghlin, the wife of the small Coghlin looked on and wondered what worried daddy and mama now that the springtime had come again.

"California!" the head of the house answered promptly. "I'll sell the car and buy our tickets right away."

"Poor stuff," the other half criticized. "Let the railway keep its tickets, and we'll go to the Sunny State a-touring."

The California subject had been long dreamed upon, and Glendale had long since been the site selected. June 1 the Coghlin started overland, armed to the teeth to resist highway pirates en route, including bears, snakes, etcetera. They met one tame bear in Yellowstone National park, and saw a dead snake when crossing the desert.

Yesterday Mr. Coghlin took a four-year lease on the shop at 310 East Broadway, where he will conduct a general electrical contracting business, sell fixtures, and make electric installations of all kinds. Yesterday he rented a temporary home. This morning he took out membership in the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and this afternoon he is out looking at some lots on which he anticipates building himself a permanent home.

Rev. and Mrs. Ford Soon Will Be Home

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Ford, who were called to Kalamazoo, Mich., by the serious illness and death of Mrs. Ford's brother, are to leave shortly for home. Mrs. Ford received a telegram two weeks ago telling of her brother's illness just as she and Rev. Ford were preparing to leave for their mountain cabin. They immediately secured traveling accommodations and left for Kalamazoo, arriving but a short time before her brother's death.

Come, Climb Over Mail Box Barrier, Carriers Insist

"Come out and let's get acquainted again!" That is the invitation extended the people of Glendale by the letter carriers of the city, who, since the universal installation of letter boxes, have more or less lost personal contact with their old acquaintances on their respective routes.

Beginning at 2 o'clock this afternoon the carriers are entertaining the other postal employes and the general public at the first annual picnic of the Glendale letter carriers. Everyone is invited to go out to the new city park on Verluero road and participate in the celebration from 2 o'clock until midnight.

There are lots of things to celebrate, too, the postmen say. There is the new postoffice with its increased facilities for handling the mail. There is the appointment of Captain D. Ripley Jackson as postmaster. And there is the Saturday holiday period for the carriers, and perks which have been put into effect by the new regime.

WOMAN'S SCREAM ROUPTS BURGLAR, SEARCH FUTILE

Another Glendale Home Is Robbed of Watch, Ring, Cash by Screen Artist

The screams of Mrs. C. M. Sparr last night frightened a burglar from her home at 234 South Jackson street and he left hurriedly without taking the jewelry to leave his card.

Mrs. Sparr was awakened by a strange noise. She awoke to find an unknown man in her room.

There was a scream—and the man was gone. He bolted for the front door of the bungalow and left most unceremoniously. An investigation by Officer A. Kerns, who was sent to the scene immediately, revealed the fact that entry had been gained by removing a screen from a window.

The whole neighborhood was searched, but no trace of the "first-story-man" was found. About an hour later a phone call came in to the desk sergeant that a man of doubtful profession was "snooping" around 410 North Jackson boulevard. It proved to be a representative of the Glendale Patrol and Fire Dispatch who was flashing his spot light on the premises in lieu of calling "Threety and all's well."

Earlier in the evening, however, the home of W. E. Wixson at 811 South Columbus avenue, was entered by a man, who removed a window screen, and a gold watch and gold ring and $4 or $5 in cash were stolen.

Scouts to Rescue of Chamber Secretary

Five thousand circulars boosting the three municipal bond issues, and no way to distribute them!

That's the box Secretary James M. Rhoades of the Glendale chamber of commerce found himself in this morning. But at the crucial moment, stepped into Mr. Rhoades' office and offered the services of the Scouts. "We'll have those circulars out for you in a jiffy," he declared. "And the accommodation is given entirely free," Mr. Rhoades insists upon adding every time he tells about it today.

MISS COOKMAN TO WED

The wedding of Miss Anne Cookman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Cookman of North Louise street, and Ed. J. Thomson, noted athlete and Olympic champion high hurdler, will take place tonight at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

MAIL LOOTING AND FORGERY CHARGE FILED HERE

J. L. Grear, Ex-Carrier, Is In County Jail For Alleged Robberies

J. L. Grear, of 147 South Belmont street, was arrested yesterday afternoon in Lankershim by Officers L. C. Stein and W. J. Royle of the local police department on charges of forgery and robbing the United States mails, it is stated by postoffice officials. He is now in the county jail.

According to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, young Grear, who is 22 years of age, was a substitute carrier on probation at the local postoffice between March 17 and July 11, 1922. During this time he was suspected of tampering with the mails from the various local banks, but no definite information was obtained and he was permitted to resign. Developments since his resignation have led to his arrest. The case is still under investigation.

Allege Check Thefts

Checks ranging in amounts from $5 to $90 were stolen from letters, it is alleged, although the total amount taken is not known. Names of the payees of these checks were forged on the back and young Grear then made the checks payable to himself, according to the investigators. The crudeness of this procedure is proof in the opinion of Postmaster Jackson that the ex-carrier was an amateur in crime. A conference in regard to the case will be held Monday by Postmaster Jackson and a representative of the United States district attorney in this district. A number of details will be ascertained, it is expected, at the hearing Monday before U. S. Commissioner Stephen G. Long in Los Angeles.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS GOOD MUSIC STAFF

Final Work for Students Going to College Will Be Given Here

The music department of Glendale Union High school is now organized for the coming school term. Mrs. Dora Gibson, head of the music department, will conduct the final work of students who expect to go to college and will also have classes in harmony and history of music, as well as have charge of the orchestra.

Mrs. Florence Parker, director of the Madrigal club, will have the voice work and will direct the glee clubs and also conduct classes in voice and diction. Mrs. Parker has had exceptional training for this work. Among her voice teachers were Richard Gaines of the Boston Conservatory and also the celebrated tenor, William Lavin of Detroit. Mrs. Parker was soloist in the Jefferson Avenue church and was a member of a quartette of professional singers in Detroit for several years. In addition to this she has had experience in opera productions, in the conducting of large choruses and in conducting of community singing.

Miss Elsie Maennel will teach piano classes, sight singing and appreciation. She holds public school music diplomas from Oberlin university and Northwestern university. Miss Maennel is a graduate of E. R. Kroeger's master class in piano instruction and an authorized teacher of the progressive piano course edited by Leopold Godowsky. She has had eleven years' experience as public school music teacher.

A director for the band is yet to be selected. Mrs. Dora Gibson states that the sixty-minute school period and having all music classes five days a week will greatly strengthen the music work and the teachers in this department are enthusiastic over the prospects of conducting their classes under such conditions. Continuing, Mrs. Gibson says, "Boys and girls in the orchestra and glee clubs will be trained in conducting and will be allowed at times to lead their organization. Part of the work of the piano classes will be devoted to the development of accompanists, as there is quite a demand for people so trained."

BAKERY CASHIER ROBBED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Miss Winifred Gibbons, cashier of the People's bakery, was held up by auto bandits yesterday afternoon while en route to a bank and robbed of $11,000 by two auto bandits who escaped. A driver was with Miss Gibbons.

HELD ON CHECK CHARGE

J. L. Grear of 147 South Belmont street, was arrested yesterday in Lankershim by Sergeants L. C. Stein and W. J. Royle of the local police department. Mr. Grear is charged with having passed worthless checks.

'MIDNIGHT' IN FILM AND VAUDEVILLE AT GLENDALE

Big Week Bill Will Be Followed by Six Brown Brothers on Monday

Tears one minute—a smile, laugh and a few new dance steps the next. In a few words that's the formula of Constance Binney for the successful accomplishment of emotional scenes such as she is required to do in "Midnight," Harvey Thew's entertainingly dramatic story which is now at the Glendale Theatre.

"The Vore and Worth presenting "All Hands on Deck" will be included among the new acts that comprise the big vaudeville bill today. This is a decidedly humorous turn and one that has been a great favorite all along the circuit. Dumont & La Triska will present "The Mechanical Doll," a genuine novelty.

Hurst & De Vars offer "Millinery Nonsense" for which they carry special scenery. It is a clever bit of foolery. Edwards and Kell entitle their clever skit "He Got Vamped." Marco & Louise offer "Something Different" and it more than lives up to the title.

William Farnum's new picture, "A Stage Romance," produced by William Fox, contains what Herbert Brenon, the director, declared to be the most intense dramatic surprise he ever had seen in a story or a play. This latest Farnum success, at the Glendale theatre, Sunday, is based on a play by Alexandre Dumas. Monday will be a gala day for music lovers with the Six Brown Brothers saxophone sextet as an added feature attraction.

Disabled Veteran In Odd Campaign for Treasurership

Jack T. Millan—at present treasurer and tax collector of San Diego and a candidate for state treasurer—is completing one of the most unusual campaigns in the history of state politics.

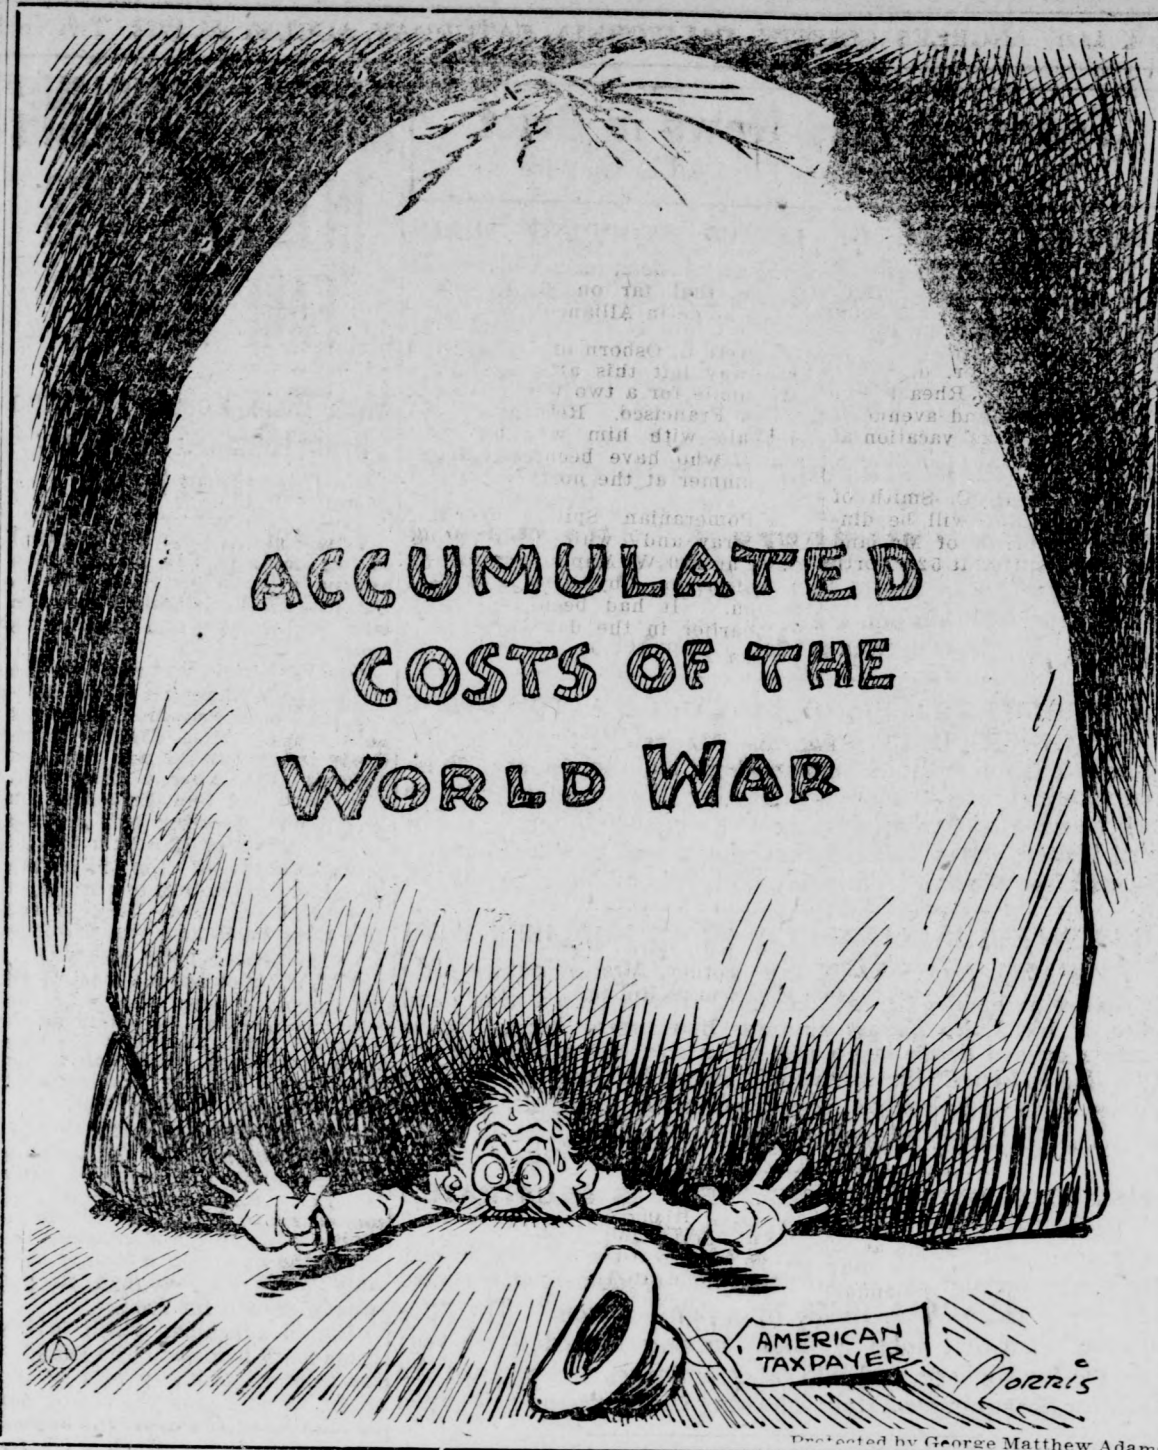

In a specially built auto which permits him to ride in comfort, Millan, a permanently disabled former service man who is compelled to use crutches, has travelled over 12,000 miles and has personally canvassed every county in the state but six.

Credited with a brilliant record as the financial head of the municipal government at San Diego—and with the saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the taxpayers—Millan is submitting his candidacy to the voters entirely upon his achievements as an experienced and successful financier. In speaking of his candidacy, recently, C. G. Selie, prominent southern California official, had this to say about Millan:

"The people cannot afford to experiment with as vital and significant position as the office of state treasurer. And, with all due respect to his opponents, Mr. Millan is the only candidate aspiring for this office who has had any practical, successful financial experience. As treasurer and tax collector of San Diego, he has handled millions; and at the last general election, as the result of his splendid accomplishments, Millan was unanimously re-elected to his present position. And no finer recommendation could be asked than the unanimous approval of a community in which a public official has lived, served and made his reputation. Jack T. Millan is clean, able and deserving. As a public official he has made good—and merits promotion."

WHAT THE CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBTS MEANS By MORRIS

Skate Is Staged by Delta Kappa Nu Frat

The Delta Kappa Nu Fraternity of Glendale started the social ball of the fall season rolling last night by staging a "skate" in the Walhalla pavilion at Alhambra. Thirty young people skated to the tune of the Shrine club orchestra. Later in the evening a spot light was played on the insignia of the "frat," a life-size dragon. The room was decorated in gold and red, the colors of the club.

President Earl P. Hammond was in charge of the general arrangements. The committee consisted of Gail Kennedy, Sabin Buck, Roy Mason, Orvin Barnes and Clair Staley. D. T. Foster accompanied the orchestra were A. M. Kelly, Carl Floyd, Michael Kaufman and Roy Mason.

GLENDALE'S FAME BROADCASTED TO ENTIRE WORLD

Local Resident Writes From London Asking for Guide to Show Him Home

The fame of Glendale and the glory of the southland has been disseminated over a large part of the civilized world during the past ten months by one man—E. Dunkinfield Jones of 129 Fairview avenue.

Last October, Mr. Jones, a retired civil engineer of high repute, started from Glendale on a tour which took him to places in South America, Europe, and the British Isles. He has been a great Chamber of Commerce booster, although not actively engaged in business, and promised Assistant Secretary E. J. Sanders to boost Glendale everywhere and render written reports on his travels.

In a letter just received by Mr. Sanders from Mr. Jones, the latter says he has boosted Glendale from Valparaiso, Chile, to Buenos Aires, from Timbuctoo to the North Cape, and in the highways and byways of the British Isles, where he now is. He longs for Glendale, and has booked passage for "home" via Montreal, leaving England October 5 and arriving in Los Angeles October 18.

He wants to know if the chamber has seened the 2000 members it ought to have in Glendale, or if half the should-be members are still on the outside looking in. He asks that a guide be reserved to show him about Glendale and discover his home here for him when he gets back, for everywhere he hears of the city's remarkable growth.

"This climate is the limit," Mr. Jones writes, in speaking of London, "with rain, chill, gales, wind, thunder, hail and fog more like winter than summer." He states that he is reminded of the Yankee who approached a Britisher in London and said: "Your summer season came on Tuesday last year; I presume it comes on Wednesday this season."

Dr. John Anderson Back From Fishing Trip In Adirondacks

Dr. John Anderson has returned to 102 West California following a six weeks' trip east. While in Chicago he had the privilege of doing clinics, post-graduate work under Dr. Truman Brophy, world renowned specialist, on the cleft palate and harelip. In New York city he also came in contact with important men in the medical profession.

Dr. Anderson paused in Salt Lake City where he formerly practiced, both going and coming to perform several operations. He visited friends in Chicago and relatives in Troy, New York, and went fishing in the upper Hudson river near the Adirondack mountains. Considerable warmth and moisture were encountered on the trip. As a matter of fact, it rained about 25 days during July in the state of New York.

Spanish grapes are apt to be very plentiful in this country this fall and winter, according to indication received at the Department of Commerce from Consul Kemp at Cadiz.

Tujungua Water Rate Case Is Decided

Declaring the system overbuilt for present uses, and serving in partly settled areas, the railroad commission held in a decision today that Haines Canyon Water company of Tujungua, could not expect rates to yield a full return upon its investment. The company was authorized to put into effect the following schedule of rates, beginning August 31:

Monthly Minimum Charges
5-8 inch meter, $1.25; 3-4 inch meter, $1.50; 1 inch meter, $2.00; 1 1/2 inch meter, $2.50; 2 inch meter, $3.00; 3 inch meter, $4.00; 4 inch meter, $5.00.

From 0 to 400 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, $0.3125; from 400 to 1000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 25c; from 1000 to 5000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 20c; from 5000 to 10,000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 12c; all in excess of 10,000 cubic feet, per 100 cubic feet, 6c.

Stray Cat East Self Out of Happy Home

LAWRENCE.—A stray cat ate herself out of a happy home in the Lawrence postoffice when she failed to confine herself to the milk and cream furnished by the kindly-inclined postal employees who brought her in out of the cold, cruel world. Puss conducted a foraging party into the parcel room and devoured a chicken being shipped through the mail. Exit puss.

MANY MOTOR TRUCKS

There are more motor trucks used on the farms in the West North Central states than in any other part of the country. Minnesota, the Dakotas, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska have 33,000 trucks on farms.

'Bonnie Laddie' In 'One Clear Call' at T. D. & L. Today

Glendale has a particular interest in "One Clear Call" now being shown at the T. D. & L. theatre, for "Bonnie Laddie," the great shepherd dog of Glendale, known to thousands of movie fans, is one of the stars. An added attraction of the showing of the film in Glendale is that "Bonnie Laddie" is to be presented on the local stage by Mrs. F. J. Bonness and will perform some of his clever tricks for the kiddies.

In addition to "Bonnie Laddie" the cast of the picture includes Milton Sills, Claire Windsor, Henry Walthall, Irene Rich, Doris Fawn and Shannon Day. Another entertaining part of the program will be Avo White and Singing Jimmie in "A Blind Flirtation," ten minutes of song, patter and chatter. Jack Holt in "The Man Unconquerable," a tale of the South Seas, has been announced for Sunday by Manager Ralph Allan.

W. H. Reeves Attends Farewell Reception

A farewell reception to officers of the United Spanish War Veterans attending the national convention, which was given last night at the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, was attended by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reeves of 500 East Maple street, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Dickson of 216 East Wilson avenue, who represented Glendale.

A most forceful and magnetic talk on Americanism was delivered by Oscar B. Carlstrom of Illinois, retiring commander-in-chief. He served not only in the Spanish-American war, but was a captain in the last war also.

J. T. MILLAN FOR State Treasurer

A PUBLIC OFFICIAL WHO HAS MADE GOOD

Mr. Millan is now treasurer and tax collector of San Diego. He has handled millions of the people's money and has actually saved the taxpayers many thousands of dollars. Although a permanently disabled ex-service man, Millan seeks election solely on his record as an experienced, successful financier.

A Partnership
 It has been well said that marriage is a partnership. The husband uses his brains, energy and ability for the means to properly care for his family. The wife is the conservator. She makes the home the beautiful place it is, and cares for the physical and spiritual well being of the husband and children.
 What happens when the financial member of the partnership dies, is disabled or infirm? Unless the future income of the family has been provided for, the result is family bankruptcy.
 Endowment Insurance makes the estate solvent—pays the family debts and provides a continuing income.

Candidate for Supervisor of 5th District Los Angeles County
 Biographical—
 Born in Pennsylvania in 1861. For 34 years a resident and taxpayer in Los Angeles county. On national issues, a Republican; on local, independent; religion, Orthodox. A successful business man, always progressive. We have traveled in America and abroad, giving me, I believe, a broader vision of men and affairs.
 I fully realize that the management of a corporation with a capital of Fifty Million Dollars, is a sacred trust and a great undertaking. It is too sacred to become a political football. My first effort will be to have all election officers appointed by the Registrar of Voters instead of the Supervisors, thus crushing a political machine.
 I will apply business methods to every problem, giving special attention to further Flood Control, more and better Highways, Consolidation of City and County government, saving tax-payers tremendous sums of money now uselessly wasted, and increasing school facilities in both quantity and quality.
 More than three hundred of the leading business men of Burbank, Glendale and San Fernando, sponsored my nomination. If you work and vote for your own best interest, Fawkes will be elected at the Primaries. Pass this down the line.

The Riddle of the Frozen Flame

By M.E. & T.W. HANSEW

CHAPTER XIV
The Spin of the Wheel
Merriton stood at the study window, looking out, and pulling at his cigar with an air of profound meditation. Upon the hearth-rug Doctor Bartholomew, clad in baggy tweeds, stood tugging at his beard and watching the man's back with kindly, troubled eyes.

"Don't like it, Nigel, my boy; don't like it at all!" he ejaculated, suddenly, in his clipped fashion. "These detectives are the very devil to pay. Get 'em in one's house and they're like doctors—including, of course, my humble self—difficult to get out. Part of the profession, my boy. But a beastly nuisance. Seems to me I'd rather have the mystery than the men. Simpler, anyway. And fees, you know, are heavy."

Merriton swung round upon his heel suddenly, his brows like a thunder cloud.

"I don't care a damn about that," he broke out angrily. "Let 'em take every penny I've got, so long as they solve the thing! But I can't get away from it—I just can't. Hangs over me night and day like the sword of Damocles! Until the mystery of Wynne's disappearance is cleared up, I tell you 'Toinette and I can't marry. She feels the same. And—and—we've the house all ready, you know, everything fixed and in order, except this. When poor old Collins disappeared, too, I found I'd reached my limit. So here these detectives are, and, on the whole, jolly decent chaps I find 'em."

Doctor Bartholomew shrugged his shoulders as if to say, "Have it your own way, my boy." But what he really did say was: "What are their names?" "Young chap's Headland—George or John Headland, I don't remember quite which. Other one's Lake—Gregory Lake."

"H'm. Good name that, Nigel. Ought to be some brains behind it. But I never did pin my faith on policemen, you know, boy. Scotland Yard's made so many mistakes that if it hadn't been for that chap Cleek, they'd have ruined themselves altogether. Now, he's a man, if you like! Pity you couldn't get him while you're at it."

The impulse to tell who "George Headland" really was to this firm friend who had been more than a father to him, even in the old days, and who had made a point of dropping down upon him, informally, ever since the trouble over Dacre Wynne's disappearance, took hold of Nigel. But he shook it off. He had given his word. And if he could not tell 'Toinette, then no other soul in the universe should know. So he simply tossed his shoulders, and, going back to the window, looked out of it, to hide the something of triumph which had stolen into his face.

Truth to tell, he was obsessed with a feeling that something was going to happen, and happen soon. The premonition, to one who was not used to such things, carried all the more conviction. With Cleek on the track anything might happen. Cleek was a man for whom things never stood still, and his amazing brain was concentrated upon this problem as it had been concentrated—successfully—upon others. Merriton had a feeling that it was only a matter of time.

Then, just as he was standing there, humming something softly beneath his breath, the cavalcade, headed by Cleek and Mr. Narkom, rather grim and silent, reached the gateway. Behind them—Merriton gave a sudden cry which brought the doctor to his side—behind them three men were carrying something—something bulky and large and wrapped in a black oilskin tarpaulin. And one of the men was Headland's servant, Dollops! He recognized that even as his inner consciousness told him that his "something" was about to happen now.

"Gad! they've found the body," he exclaimed, in a hoarse, excited voice, fairly running to the front door and throwing it open with a crash that rang through the old house from floor to rafters, and brought Borkins scuttling up the kitchen stairs at a pace that was ill-befitting his age and dignity. Merriton gave him a curt order.

"Have the morning-room door thrown open and the sofa pulled out from against the wall. My friends have been for a walk across the Fens, and have found something. You can see them coming up the drive. What d'you make of it?"

"Gawd! a haccident, Sir Nigel," said Borkins, in a shaky voice. "Ar'n't I better tell Mrs. Mummery to put the blue bedroom in order and 'ave plenty of 'ot water?"

"No," Merriton was running down the front steps and flung the answer back over his shoulder. "Can't you use your eyes? It's a body, you fool—a body!"

Borkins gasped a moment, and then stood still, his thin lips sucked in, his face unpleasant to see. He was alone in the hallway, for Doctor Bartholomew's fat figure was waddling in Merriton's wake.

He put up his fist and shook it in their direction. "Pity it ain't your body, young upstart that you are!" he muttered beneath his breath, and turned toward the morning room.

Meanwhile Merriton reached the solemn little party and, his face chalky, the pupils of his eyes a trifle dilated with excitement. "Found 'em? Found 'em both, you say, Mr. Headland?" he kept on repeating over and over again, as they mounted the steps together. "Good God! What a strange—that a peculiar thing! I'll swear there was no sight nor sign of them when I've tramped over the Fens dozens of times. I don't know what to make of it, I don't indeed!"

"Oh, we'll make something of it all right," returned Cleek, with a sharp look at him, for there was one thing he wanted to find out, and he meant to do that as soon as possible. "Two and two, you know, put together properly, always make four. It's only the fools of the world that add wrong. If you'd had as much practice as I've had in dealing with humanity, you'd find it was an ever-increasing astonishment to see the way things worked in Who's the b' the way?"

He jerked his head in the direction of the doctor, who had stopped at the foot of the steps and waited for them to come up to him.

"Oh, a very old friend of mine, Mr. Headland. Doctor Bartholomew. Has a very big practice in town, but a trifle eccentric, as you can see at first glance."

Cleek sent his keen eyes over the odd-looking figure in the worn tweeds.

"I see. Then can you tell me how he finds time to run down here at leisure and visit you? Seems to me a man with a big practice never has enough time to work it in. At least, that has been my experience of doctors."

Merriton flushed angrily at the tone. He whipped his head round and met Cleek's cool gaze hotly. "I know you're down here to investigate the case, but I don't think there's any reason for you to start suspecting my friends," he retorted, his eyes flashing.

"Doctor Bartholomew has a partner, if you want to know. And also he's supposed to be retired. But he carries on for the love of the thing. Best man ever drew breath—remember that!"

Cleek smiled to himself at the sudden onslaught. The young pepper-pot! Yet he liked him for the loyal defense of his friend, nevertheless. There were all too few creatures in the world who found it impossible to suspect those whom they cared for, and who cared for them.

"Sorry to have given any offense, I'm sure," he said, smoothly. "None was meant, right enough, Sir Nigel. But a policeman has an unpleasant duty, you know. He's got to keep his eyes and his ears open. So if you find mine open too far, any time, just tip me the wink and I'll shut 'em up again."

"Oh, that's all right," said Merriton, mollified, and a trifle ashamed at the outburst. Then, with an effort to turn the conversation: "But think of findin' 'em both, Mr.—er—Headland! Were they—very awful?"

Continued Monday.

CHINESE MAIDEN ADEPT STUDENT IN TEXAN'S CLASS IN AVIATION

SHE HAS NARROW ESCAPE IN CHINA

Girl Foils Soldiers Who Loot Her Home During Canton Fighting

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
For International News Service.
CANTON—Miss Muphia Jue, daughter of Jue Kiyih-man, director of aviation for the Southern Government and of the Canton arsenal, who is a daring aviatrix, had a remarkable escape from Canton at the time of the capture of the city by General Chan Chung-ming's forces.

Jue, who has been a loyal Sun Yat Sen man for many years, having been abroad with Dr. Sun, put up a stiff fight against the soldiers when they attacked the arsenal. His guard was outnumbered, however, and he was finally forced to flee.

Declare Vengeance
Declaring vengeance upon Jue, the soldiers are reported to have looted the Jue home and grave fears were entertained by the foreign community and many of the Chinese as to the safety of Miss Jue.

A rescue party, headed by Alfred J. Croft, instructor of aviation in Canton and former instructor at San Antonio, Texas, during the war with Germany, waited until night, when there was a lull in the firing, then entered the inner city.

Hurrying through the narrow streets, deserted except for the soldiers on guard, they finally reached the Jue home.

Soldiers Had Been There
The soldiers had been there, but no member of the family could be found. From neighbors and servants, however, Croft learned that while the soldiers battered down the front door and looted the first floor of the home Miss Jue—who is afraid of nothing from looping the loop to doing tail spins—escaped from an upper story of the house by climbing down a rope.

She landed in a court yard in the rear of the house and managed to escape to the home of friends. She took the first boat for Hongkong and is now in that city.

Miss Jue is a very remarkable young woman, according to Croft. She took to flying the way a duck takes to water and learned to fly in less than a month. She had only ten hours' instruction—last November—but mastered many spectacular stunts.

She loops the loop, goes the difficult Immelman turns, the falling leaf and tail spins with the same ease and pleasure as a New York girl foxtrots.

Every day for several months Miss Jue has been out to the Canton aviation grounds. She takes a keen delight in flying and is more steady and reliable than many of the young officers.

While Miss Jue has never been

to America, having been educated at a girls' school in Shanghai, her father is a United States citizen.

She is twenty-three years of age and a believer in the advancement of the Chinese woman.

Croft, her instructor, began flying in 1914 in San Diego. Later he flew in many of the Atlantic coast fields and during the war was instructor at Brookfield, San Antonio, Texas. Following the war he came out to the Philippines with the Curtis Aviation Co., later becoming instructor for the Philippine government.

Southern Government Instructor
Last year he came to Canton as instructor for the Southern Government and has been training a large number of officers. According to Croft these "boys" can fly and—regardless of the side on which they are fighting—can do effective work.

Croft had a narrow escape on the day the Chen Chung-ming forces captured Canton. The military coup d'etat was accomplished so quickly and was such a surprise that he didn't know anything about it. He had an early breakfast and left Shamen Island where the foreign community live and which was undisturbed during the night, and arrived at the aviation plant as usual.

He noticed an unusual number of soldiers in the streets but didn't worry, as soldiers in China are as plentiful as real estate offices in southern California.

Finds Things in Tumult
Arriving at his office he found everything in disorder. Further investigation showed that the planes were damaged, the gasoline gone, all equipment vanished. Seeing three men who looked like coolies prowling around he put them out forcibly.

Then he was amazed to discover that they wore guns in their belts. More and more "soldiers" arrived, some in uniform, threatening and menacing. Without stopping to investigate the unusual circumstances or discussing matters, Croft departed in haste.

Upon reaching his home he learned of the capture of Canton and the flight of President Sun Yat Sen, and then he began to worry about what might have happened.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

It is unwise to overload a vacuum tube as its period of usefulness will be greatly reduced. It is a much better plan and more economical to operate two tubes in parallel than to force one tube to deliver an overload; in fact, great economy will result from burning tubes slightly below normal brightness. Experiments by the engineering staff of the manufacturers of the "Radiotron" tube demonstrate, for instance, that to double the filament emission will reduce the operating life of the tube to one-fourth, whereas, by operating the filament at 95 per cent of its rated voltage the life will be doubled.

When first testing the circuit, or when the set has not been operated for some time, it is wise to cut down all voltages to one-third of the normal voltage. This will greatly reduce the possibility of burning out the tube through a wrong connection which has been overlooked, as the fault will be then detected before the damage is done.

In a radio telephone transmitting circuit of the usual type a modulator tube is employed and a buzzer is substituted for a microphone when it is desired to send out interrupted continuous waves. This imposes voltage strains on the oscillation tube and if an over-voltage is also applied to the plate the voltage between grid and filament may be excessive. The safety gaps described in the previous installment of these articles will act as a safeguard against a breakdown due to the excessive voltage.

Another aid to longevity of power tubes is that their filaments be energized by alternating current, which adds a factor of safety and prolongs the filament life. If tungsten filaments are operated at constant voltage rather than constant current it will increase their life in the ratio of three to one. Thus the experimenter should employ a voltmeter

NEW PAPER MONEY
Brand-new money. That's what the government plans to give all of us—one of these days—provided we earn it. The Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing says that the government has decided to put out new designs for United States notes, silver certificates and federal reserve notes. Only preliminary plans have so far been considered. It will take much time for making the die, which will be the master for all the plates from which the country money will be made.

It's a Fact
GOD, CUBA AND CROWDER
General Crowder has been in Cuba as the confidential representative of President Harding and the State Department, since the beginning of the present administration. Reports from Havana indicate that he is becoming exasperated by the persistent passive resistance of President Zayas and Congress to the reforms outlined in his various notes, and threatens to retire from Cuba.

The Havana press without distinction as to party, asks him to remain and finish his work, the burden of the refrain being "God help Cuban independence if General Crowder goes."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PUNCTURED TIRE
Uncle Wiggily had finished digging the well into which Kittie Kat fell. Nurse Jane had drawn up an old moss-covered bucket full of water from the well and was quite happy. The bunny gentleman was sitting on the front porch of his hollow stump bungalow, thoughtfully twinkling his pink nose, when, all at once, his muskrat lady housekeeper called:

"Oh, I have just thought of something!"
"What is it?" asked Uncle Wiggily, feeling of the place where his rheumatism sometimes pained him. "If you want another well dug, Nurse Jane, I think you had better wait a day or two."

"Oh, it isn't that," laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "But now that I can draw such fresh, cold water from my well I think I ought to make some molasses candy for you and the animal children."

"That would be very nice," agreed Uncle Wiggily, "but what has water from the well to do with molasses candy?"
"Well, eating molasses candy always makes me very thirsty," explained Nurse Jane, "and when I'm thirsty from eating molasses candy I can drink water from my new well. So if you'll go to the store for some molasses, Uncle Wiggily, I'll make the candy."

"Indeed, I shall be most happy to get you some molasses," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "And, since it is not far enough to the molasses store to go in my airship, I'll use my automobile."

"I hope you get no punctures in your tires," wished Nurse Jane. "If you get a hole in a tire you'll have to mend it."

"That isn't the worst," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "If I get a puncture I can mend the hole easily enough. But the hardest work is to pump new air back into the tire. However, we shall not worry about that. Ho! for the molasses candy," he sang in jolly fashion.

Then he gave his automobile a little drink of gasoline and away he rode to the molasses store. It did not take long to fill the jug with the sweet, sticky stuff that Nurse Jane intended to use in the making of molasses candy.

Uncle Wiggily was on his way home, bouncing along in his auto, when, all of a sudden, there was a hissing noise and the car seemed to settle down on one side.

"A puncture," cried the rabbit gentleman. And, surely enough, it was a hole in his tire. All the air came leaking out with a hiss.

"Well, nothing to do but mend the hole, pump new air in my tire and then ride on," said Uncle Wiggily, after a bit. I haven't a spare tire, worse luck. However, pumping up a tire will be good exercise for me. I'll be so hungry for molasses candy that I will enjoy it very much."

Taking off his coat, Uncle Wiggily got down beside the road, after removing the punctured tire, and began to mend the inner tube. He put on a patch, put the tube back in the tire, slipped it on the rim and then began to pump in the air.

Up and down, up and down, up and down, boomed Uncle Wiggily, working the handle of the foot air pump. All of a sudden there was a rustling in the bushes, and a voice cried:

"To whom are you bowing so much? If you are making those up and down bobbing bows to me, you are looking the wrong way. I'm here behind you!"

Turning, Uncle Wiggily saw the big Bushy Bear.

"Oh, I wasn't bowing to you, if you please, good Mr. Bear, said the bunny.

"I'm not Good Mr. Bear! I'm Bad Mr. Bear," was the growling reply. "And if you aren't bowing what are you doing?"

"I'm putting air in my auto tire," answered Mr. Longears. "But I fear I am not strong enough to pump in as much as I need. It takes a very strong animal to pump up an auto tire with a foot pump," said the bunny. "I am not strong enough. I don't believe even you, bad Mr. Bear, would be strong enough to pump up this tire," said Uncle Wiggily with a sly twinkle of his pink nose. For he was getting ready to play a trick on that Bear, the bunny was.

"Poo! The idea! Me not strong enough to pump up a tire! I'll show you!" growled the Bear. "Here, give me that pump! I'll pump up the tire for you, and then I'll nibble your ears."

"Maybe you will and maybe you will not," thought the bunny as he gave the pump to the Bear. The big savage creature began to pump, up and down, harder and harder and faster and faster.

"Is there air enough in the tire now?" asked the Bear.

"No, it needs more," said Uncle Wiggily, feeling of the tire. And, as he did so, he loosened the rubber hose that was fast to the wheel of his auto. "You'll have to pump a lot harder, Bad Mr. Bear," said the bunny.

"Oh, I can pump three times as hard!" boasted the Bear, and he did so. But just then Uncle Wiggily took off the hose, and as the Bear pumped his hardest the bunny pointed the end of the hose straight at the Bear. Out rushed the air, and there was so much of it that it blew the Bear right up off the ground, over the trees and far away.

"Oh, wow!" howled the Bear, who had pumped and blown himself away. "Oh, wow!" but that did him no good. He was so far off that he could not nibble the bunny's ears. Then Uncle Wiggily finished pumping up the tire himself, home he rode with the molasses, and the candy that Nurse Jane made was most delicious.

And if the puppy dog doesn't take the orange pie to fasten on his express wagon for a new wheel, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's shaving soap.

BROWN TUNER AND DICTATOR TUBE COMBINED

A tuner and detector (tube) combined, designed primarily for the camp or home and having but two adjustments to tune and operate is described. Overall dimensions 5 1-4 by 8 1-4 by 5 inches. Panel is high rubbed bakelite and cabinet is genuine Honduras mahogany. Receiver consists of a single circuit type, non-regenerative, and is used in combination with the standard vacuum tube. Four binding posts are incorporated on the panel in front, two for antennae and ground, and two for the telephone. Battery connections are taken off in the rear. Tuning is of the simplest to operate that we have yet seen.

They Say That

President Albee of the Keith theatres circuit issued an order against "prohibition jokes" on the vaudeville stage. This is due to the fact that the spirit of the stage has been to treat the prohibition amendment as a subject for amused chatter. The actors assume that nobody sympathizes with prohibition and that everybody violates the statute at every opportunity.

The Washington Herald in commenting on this phase of the stage propaganda, says: "The theatre, unworthy though its performance of the duty may be at times, should be a true mirror of

INDIANA REQUIRES SIGNS AT GRADE CROSSINGS

State Is Aided by Counties In Enforcement of Law to Reduce Mishaps

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 23.—Standard, uniform grade-crossing signs will be placed at every grade-crossing approach in Indiana by the Pennsylvania and other railroads co-operating with the commissioners of the respective counties, under a recent act of the general assembly. An active effort is to be made to reduce the number of crossing accidents. The signs will all be installed this summer.

The railroads have promised to transport and install the signs, while the future maintenance will be up to the commissioners in each county. The signs are being made in the state penitentiary at Michigan City.

These new signs are to be placed first along the Lincoln Highway in northern Indiana and the installation is expected to start at once. The signs will be located 300 feet from the railway tracks on each side and raised white letters on a black background will read:

"Railroad Crossing—Danger!"

In an investigation conducted recently by the Pennsylvania Railroad at main crossings of the Lincoln Highway in Pennsylvania, it was found that, on an average, one out of every three automobiles and motorcycles approaches a railroad crossing at a reckless speed. At one crossing on the Lincoln Highway an observation was made between 12:50 and 3 p. m., and out of ninety-nine cars crossing the tracks only thirty-four were driven at a speed which enabled the observers to take down their license numbers. The average speed of these thirty-four cars was twenty-five miles an hour, while three were traveling at thirty miles an hour or better. The lowest speed at which any of the cars crossed the rails was nineteen miles an hour.

BIG TIRE DEMAND

With approximately 11,000,000 automobiles in the United States it is now estimated that the tire manufacturing companies will be called upon to supply no fewer than 43,000,000 tires during the next year. The consumption for the present year is estimated at 33,000,000 tires.

Motor Vehicle Department Now Gaining Revenue

During the fiscal year ending June 30, receipts of the Division of Motor Vehicles of California were $8,185,074.43, or $1,417,424.79 more than for the corresponding period of 1920-21, according to Charles J. Chenu, director. Expenditures amounted to $723,941.21 against $696,306.04 the previous year, due principally to the establishment of new offices at San Diego, Sacramento, San Francisco and Oakland. Auto licenses furnished $6,910,933.56 of the total receipts.

PREDICTS CAMPS IN EVERY CITY

Municipalities Begin Now to Recognize Necessity of Accommodations

"The time is not far distant when every city in the country will have a municipal motor camp."

"The fact that 300 cities now have municipal motor camp sites constitutes one of the greatest tributes to the automobile as a factor in helping American citizens see their country first."

Thus C. J. Nephler, general sales manager of a motor car company, sums up the benefit of the automobile as a means of trans-continental travel as well as the shorter summer trip, which have grown in vogue tremendously in the United States.

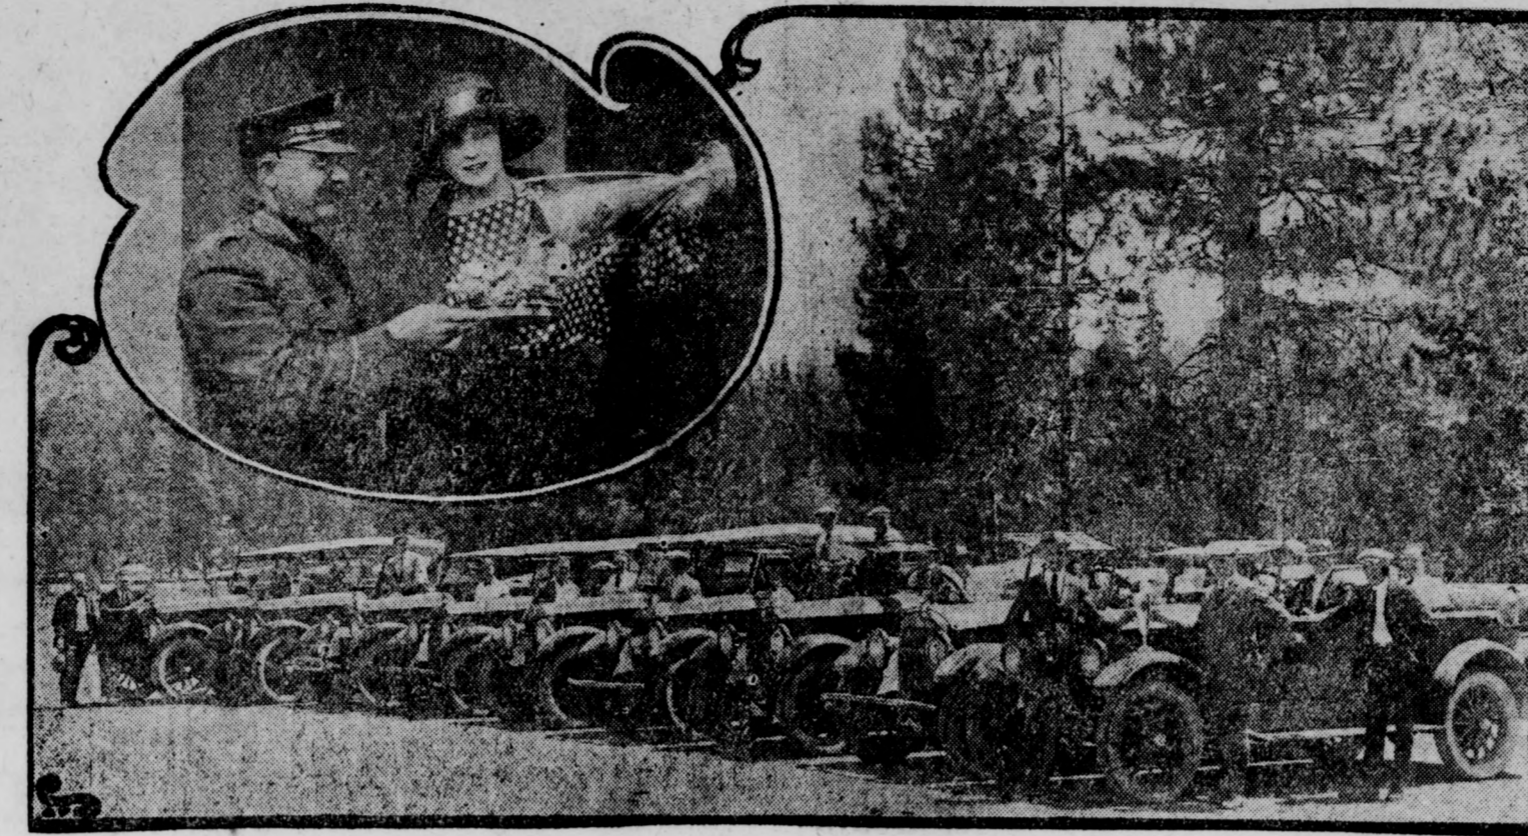

"The 300 cities having municipal motor camp sites are performing a service for transcontinental motorists, and for those taking shorter automobile trips, that was hardly thought of 10 years ago. In addition to these 300 cities, dozens more are planning camps for the 1922 season."

"Hundreds of additional camp sites are supplied on national and state forest reserves and on privately owned grounds. Official figures show that 598,000 campers used these municipal sites in 1921, whereas hundreds of thousands more camped in the state and national reservations."

BIG SIX STUDEBAKER SCORES 19 MILES PER GALLON ON RECORD ECONOMY RUN TO LAKE ARROWHEAD

Florence Vidor, cinema star, pours flood of loose change into tambourine held by Captain McClellan of the Salvation Army. You also see line-up of Studebaker Big Six cars in front of Arrowhead village. George L. Murphy, driving for Packer Auto Company, San Fernando valley distributors, drove the first machine from right. He is seen standing at extreme right.

Railway Strike Is Handicapping the Local Dealers

The railway strike has put local car and accessories distributors into a bad position. The pinch of the situation has begun to be seriously felt by some. With prices on 1922 models cut as much as several hundred dollars, few if any 1923 or 1922 cars were arriving, with the result that salesrooms are almost bare of cars.

Even manufacturers having factory branches for assembling plants in Los Angeles or about Oakland were affected, because of their dependence upon materials. But of course they were not hit as were the dealers themselves distributing cars that had to be shipped all or most of the way across the continent.

SHORT LIVED

The average life of an automobile in the United States is estimated at five years.

Local Economist Sets Pace Without Burning Up Any Oil While Traveling All Sorts of Roads Into San Bernardino Mountains

More than nineteen miles per gallon of gasoline was the record made in the Studebaker Big Six economy run which was held last Tuesday, covering the distance from Los Angeles to Lake Arrowhead and return.

The winner of the run was Glen Thomas of Long Beach. Fourteen Big Sixes, entered by various Studebaker dealers in southern California, were in the competition. George L. Murphy drove for the Packer Auto company, Studebaker dealers at 245 South Brand, and made by far the fastest time, averaging 16 miles to the gallon of gas.

Accompanied by Harold Sawyer of Pasadena as judge, Murphy drove his Big Six out from the corner of Pio and Figueroa streets, Los Angeles, at 7:27 Tuesday morning. His actual driving time to Lake Arrowhead was 3 hours and 13 minutes. His was the fourth car out of Los Angeles and the first into control at San Bernardino; third out of San Bernardino and the first into Arrowhead; third out of Arrowhead and the first into Los Angeles.

Rules Curtail Tricks

According to the rules, drivers were not allowed to coast, except when approaching crossings, to turn off the switch except to stop, nor to change the equipment of the car. The Big Sixes were filled with gasoline, oil and water at the start, and on their return were filled again and the amount used noted.

The drivers reached Lake Arrowhead about 11 o'clock, and were entertained at lunch in the clubhouse there. At 2:30 they checked out at the lake and started on the return trip to Los Angeles, checking in there about 7 o'clock in the evening.

Although Murphy did not win the economy run, he startled the officials of the run in another way. When he checked in in the evening, it was found that no oil had been burned. The next day the same car was used for the same trip to the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association meeting at Lake Arrowhead, and still no oil had been added and the crankcase is full. It is the intention of the Packer company to keep a check on the mileage of the car and see how long it will run before it uses the oil.

"One of the funniest incidents that occurred on the trip," says Murphy, "was when one of the drivers lost his way after leaving San Bernardino, and drove to Patton where the insane asylum is located. Some one came along and found him asking directions from a couple of the 'nuts.'"

Shows Small Cost

When the returns were checked up at the finish it was found that the cost of fuel and oil used by the winner amounted to $2.27 for the round trip of 178 miles. The average cost for the nine cars was only $2.59 and this included an arbitrary assessment for one pint of oil though the oil gauges showed no perceptible lowering of their levels.

The economy shown on this run upset the theory that so many motorists have held to, that mountain climbing with a motor car is far more expensive than travel on the boulevards. When a high-powered seven-passenger car like the Studebaker Big Six can make 178 miles, climb up the well known Waterman canyon grade to an elevation of 6100 feet and never coast a bit of the way with an average close to 20 miles per gallon, then it is certain that mountain work can be accomplished for little if any more cost than ordinary touring.

Tribute to Economy

Every driver who took part in the contest declared that he could have made a much better showing if the rules had permitted him to coast on the hills where compression was not really essential for safety. They also stated that the time limit forced them to drive faster than they should for maximum economy. It was admitted by them that the showing of 19.77 miles per gallon was surprising and a tribute to the inherent economy of Big Six engineering.

At the finish of the run the $5 notes which had been pasted on the windshield of each car were removed to pay for the gasoline and oil used during the trip. All of the loose change was thrown into the prize winner's cup and later given to the Salvation Army. The presentation being made by Florence Vidor, well known cinema star while Captain McClellan held his tambourine to have the flood of one dollar bills poured into it.

Rev. L. A. Tinning Satisfied With His New Nash Touring

"I am certainly pleased with my new Nash," says Rev. Louis A. Tinning, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church. "It is the first Nash I have ever owned, and in the short time I have been driving it, I have become convinced that it is a very economical car to operate."

Rev. Mr. Tinning last Wednesday received his new car from the Glendale Nash Agency, 112 South Maryland. It is a Nash Four, of the five-passenger touring model. The longer he drives it, says Rev. Tinning, the more convinced he becomes that he has bought the right car.

"The feature which had the greatest influence in attracting me to the Nash," he says, "was its easy and comfortable riding qualities, combined with plenty of power which makes it easy to drive under any ordinary conditions. In the few days I have had it, it has given complete satisfaction."

MOTOR CHAPEL LATEST
Rev. Branford Clarke of New York City has a motor chapel, from which he preaches to crowds on the streets. The car, which represents a miniature church, houses an organ, and its steeple folds down to allow the vehicle to go into a garage.

Physical Fitness Required of Auto

"In securing topnotch efficiency, man and motor car are alike. Both rely solely upon physical fitness," declares I. E. Doty, manager for the I. G. Cooley Motors Co., local dealers in Durant four and six-cylinder models.

"An automobile, like the human body, can be depended upon to work long and faithfully only when every part of its mechanical anatomy is functioning properly. Each part depends vitally upon the other for its working efficiency."

"Certain units of a motor car must be made from unusual metal. Again, there are others that must possess extraordinary strength. To know that each unit has the necessary qualities; that it will withstand severe use and that it will bear up splendidly under unusual strain is a problem that Durant engineers have successfully coped with since the beginning of the automotive industry."

"Their long scientific researching and experimenting has produced the tubular backbone with which every Durant car is equipped."

The first horseless carriage went so slowly windshields were not necessary.

State Making Great Record In Automobile Sales

During July there were 16,696 automobiles sold throughout the state of California, a fifty-three per cent increase over the sales of July a year ago. There were 16,008 cars sold in June of 1922.

Fresno county led in percentage increase by selling 110 per cent more cars than it did in the same month of last year. San Diego was next in volume gain, going ahead 90 per cent. Kern county jumped 85 per cent; Santa Barbara, 77 per cent; San Joaquin, 63 per cent; Alameda county, 61 per cent; and Orange county, 60 per cent.

Los Angeles county maintained the remarkable stride it has maintained all year by advancing 56 per cent, going from 3978 to 4863. San Francisco county increased 17 per cent in attaining a total of 1250.

SOUTHLAND NOW TOURING MECCA FOR MOTORISTS

Automobile Club's Shipping Department Shows Flow Of Travel Westward

"There is a great and unusual stir of motor car travel throughout America at this time and southern California is largely the center of activity."

This report is just issued by the shipping department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, which keeps an accurate check on the movement of motor vehicles all over the United States.

Although thousands of motorists, more than ever before, are traveling across the continent in their own machines, other thousands are taking long distance jumps by rail—but shipping their own cars with them, particularly for touring in southern California.

Department Aids Owners

The shipping department of the Auto club is operated for the purpose of transporting automobiles for motorists at the lowest possible rates and at the least possible trouble. Groups of motorists who wish to ship their cars to California or to other lands are organized by the club through this department so that freight rates may be secured as low as possible and to the greatest advantage of the motorists.

By tabulating the movement of these motoring groups, the club is thus able to keep a finger on the pulse of motoring activity, and it is declared by its officials that the actual use of automobiles is in a great state of flux (mobility) at this time, due in a large sense, to the attraction of southern California as a touring field.

Many Go Abroad

Motorists in the central and southern counties are shipping cars in large numbers to Hawaii, South America, India, and even to Japan. Shipments are also being made at this time to practically every eastern state for short tours. But the heaviest noted travel is toward this part of California.

AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION

Figures received by the Department of Commerce show a further increase in the June production of passenger automobiles and trucks. The total production of passenger cars in June, so far reported, amounted to 261,963, compared with 231,724 in April. This is an increase of over 11 per cent for the month.

The total truck production in June was 25,912 machines, compared with the revised figures of 23,803 in May.

COAST ROAD NEAR COMPLETION NOW

The Gaps at Points Between San Francisco and Mexico Finished

Motorists throughout southern and central California will welcome the news just issued by the Automobile Club of Southern California that the coast route, famous the world over, is rapidly nearing completion from Mexico to San Francisco.

The latest stretch to be finished and thrown open to the public is that between Zaca and Buellton. This eliminates what has been a very unpleasant detour, and assures smooth going for the entire distance between Los Angeles and San Luis Obispo.

Work is also progressing on the strip of road between Tustin and Irvine and near La Jolla on the San Diego section.

Only Eight Miles

There is only eight miles of dirt road remaining on the entire 444 miles between San Francisco and Los Angeles. This is found on two detours, one over the old Cuesta grade and the other from San Juan to Sargent near Gilroy. Thousands of motorists will attend a celebration to be held at Buellton Sunday, which will mark the opening of the new road. A barbecue will be held, to which the touring public is invited, according to the Auto club representative at Santa Maria. Touring parties from all southern California counties are planning to trek to the "big feed" at this time, and to investigate the road for themselves.

Pasadena judge says you may sponoon while motoring, but watch the speed.

Studebaker
Now $1275
Special-Six Touring

SAVINGS resulting from capacity manufacture are now offered to the buyer of the Studebaker Special-Six. The new price of $1275 is $200 under its former price.

Studebaker reductions became effective August 1st after Studebaker had completed the biggest seven months in its 70 years' history. And at a time when Studebaker had 15,000 unfilled orders on hand! It is a Studebaker policy of long standing to share manufacturing savings with the customer.

The performance, durability, comfort and quality of the Special-Six are recognized everywhere. And here's new proof of its endurance: Studebaker's sales of repair parts, covering accidents as well as service, for the first seven months of 1922 were less than they were for the first seven months of 1919, in spite of the fact that 186,000 new cars were sold and put into operation since January 1, 1920.

The Special-Six at $1275 represents a new standard of value—the greatest value Studebaker has ever offered, and that means a value that is positively unapproached anywhere in the industry.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Three Local Bond Issues
S. S. Gilhuly, Glendale
Read Good Literature
Enjoy City's Pleasures

By Gil A. Cowan

WHILE the politicians are busy electioneering, the good people of Glendale should not forget there are three municipal bond issues to be voted upon next Tuesday.

There seems to be an absolute necessity that $25,000 be spent for a public comfort station in this city. The News has advocated this improvement for years. In order to pave streets adjoining school sites it will be necessary to vote $35,000 bonds because neither the city nor the school district has the funds with which to do the work. That is a civic necessity.

Another issue of $40,000 is asked for an annex to the present city hall and it is admitted that the present quarters are cramped in a building which was planned to serve a populace of 10,000 people instead of 35,000 and more.

It is urgent that every person favoring the bonds ballot on these issues as a two-third vote is necessary and there are always those who delight in voting down any municipal issue.

In naming over the various candidates worthy of your support, the writer has inadvertently overlooked the name of a fellow townsman, Sidney S. Gilhuly, who is seeking the nomination in the fourth district as a member of the state board of equalization. Glendale will do well to register a 100 per cent vote for Mr. Gilhuly. Let the Republicans here at least be unanimous on one candidate and put him over big.

Gilhuly ought to be an easy name to remember.

Los Angeles took fifth place in July building among the cities of the United States. That is coming down a notch or two and the Angel City will face further loss of position unless it votes the $12,000,000 outfall sewer bonds coming before the people in conjunction with the primary election next Tuesday.

Surrounding communities cannot solve sewer problems as long as Los Angeles lags. That means just one thing. The metropolis must vote the bonds or development in all directions will be curtailed.

If you have friends across the line urge them to aid southern California's prosperity by caring for the greatest menace ever faced by a city of the size.

A cricket goes climbing along the wall. It makes me remember something about a hearthstone story of the type which no one reads nowadays—at least few do. Reading good literature is one of the most profitable pastimes man, woman or child can engage in. While there are many other factors in modern life which must not be overlooked, a broad mind, developed by reading the so-called "heavy" books, which were in reality the lighter minutes of yesterday, gives one a mastery of almost any situation.

A good reader is a good listener. The latter is a thinker. And he who thinks rightly is a valuable asset to any community. Tomorrow being Sunday, try a chapter of the Bible. Whether you are a professed Christian or not, it will be most refreshing.

For the Bible is nothing more nor less than the chronicle of the lives of great men. It has been edited by inspired men. It is used in part or in its entirety by Jew, Catholic and Protestant. It is the one outstanding book of the ages.

Also, tomorrow being Sunday you might enjoy a few minutes of the municipal plunge or have a picnic lunch at the city's new park.

Last Sunday afternoon the writer had the pleasure of seeing the youth of Glendale—and some of the older folks as well—having a happy time in the water out Patterson avenue way. It is too bad the pool is not three times the size!

Dirt is deleterious to the fine finish of a motorcar. "Keep the body clean." (Not copyrighted).

INDUSTRIES GET LOCAL FIRM TO BUILD

Kent Co. Has Several Large Warehouse Structures to Erect Here

The office of Roy L. Kent Co., at 130 South Brand boulevard, contains a volume of information that indicates greater progress for Glendale during the latter half of 1922 than was experienced in any previous twelve months.

The one development perhaps not thoroughly realized by Glendaleans themselves is the rapid development of the city as a future industrial center. Mr. Kent today showed a representative of The Glendale Evening News the preliminary and completed plans for several important industrial enterprises which have either definitely decided to enter Glendale or which are seriously considering doing so.

One of the buildings which the Kent company will erect is a fire-proof warehouse for the Fred L. Meneley company at Western avenue and San Fernando road in Glendale. The structure will be of tile and steel and will cost in the neighborhood of $6,000. It will be one story in height.

Other Plans Made

The contractors have also just completed the plans for a two-story store building for the Security Land company, to cost $25,000, at San Fernando road in Glendale. The building is in another city, a Glendale contractor has the contract—Roy L. Kent Co.

At San Fernando road and Colorado avenue the California Implement & Machine works will erect a factory building 50 by 200 feet, for which the plans are now being finished.

Several other projects are in their preliminary stages, but Mr. Kent is not quite ready to give the details, as it is not yet assured that they will be handled by his concern, which, however, is exerting every effort to direct industries to Glendale.

OVERLAND STILL HOLDS YOSEMITE ECONOMY TITLE

Banner Week Reported by George T. Smith, Local Wyllis Dealer

The sixth annual Yosemite valley economy run from Los Angeles, California to Camp Curry, a distance of 364 miles, held May 19, 20, is considered by automobile men as the last word in economy and endurance tests.

The record for the event was made by an Overland Four touring car in 1920—60.74 ton miles. Ten miles equals the product weight of the car, multiplied by mileage, divided by gallons of gasoline consumed.

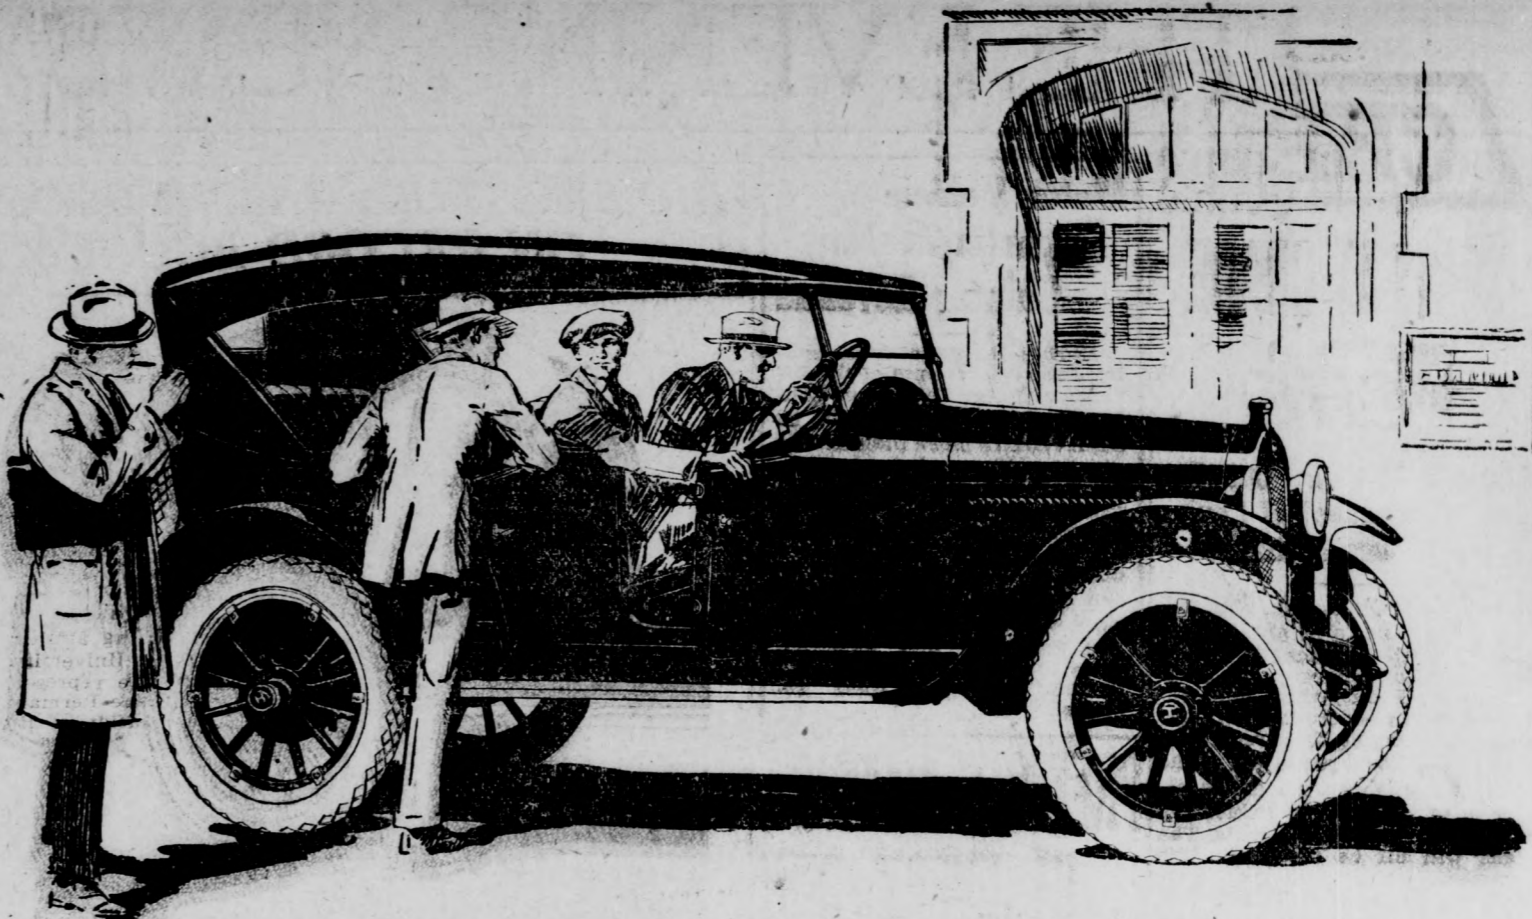

This year's winner averaged 51.30 ton miles, the second best record in the six contests held to date. Overland did not compete in this year's event, being content to rest on laurels won in 1920. "Last week," says Geo. T. Smith, local dealer, 228 So Brand, "was a banner week on both Wyllis-Knights and Overlands."

He Makes Capital Out of Wife's Suit

HAVERILL, Mass. — Charles Rosengard believes in making capital out of his wife's suit for divorce, on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment, and non-support. His advertisement in the Haverhill Evening Gazette follows:

"Notice to the public! Now is the time to buy your safes from me, as I need $10,000 to pay my wife what she has sued me for (if she wins.) I will sell very reasonable and have a large variety. Charles Rosengard. Tel. 3617, 801 Main street."

Hupmobile Engineers Command Large Manufacturing Facilities

It is fortunate for Hupmobile owners that our engineers have large manufacturing facilities at their exclusive command.

The wonderful Hupmobile dependability, its unique freedom from expense and adjustment and repair, is due to the Hupmobile way of building a motor car.

In the Hupmobile's own plants, its motor and transmission, clutch and axles and other essential parts are built to Hupmobile design and specifications, for the exclusive use of the Hupmobile.

No compromise of good designing or fine manufacturing is ever forced upon our engineers. They are entirely free from the limitations they might meet if they were dependent, for some vital parts on outside manufacturing sources.

This may explain Hupmobile performance and economy records that stand almost alone, among cars of higher and lower price alike; and such a length of life that it seems a Hupmobile has no wear-out point.

Hupmobile Built 'Right' Throughout, Says Lanier Bartlett

"Many times when a person buys an automobile, he looks for one particular quality in it and buys the car which displays that one quality most prominently, overlooking other details which may be just as important," says Lanier Bartlett of Bartlett & French, Hupmobile dealers at 107 Colorado boulevard.

"One man, for instance," continues Mr. Bartlett, "looks for nothing so much as power in an automobile. If the motor is powerful, and will pull the car up steep grades in high, or take it faster along the road than any one would ever want to travel, he considers nothing else. He buys the car which excels in that respect without stopping to find out whether the other construction is strong enough to live up to the motor."

"Or perhaps some one, and this is very often a woman, looks only for beauty in a car. Some one else may only consider the mileage per gallon of gas or the tire mileage, without considering the necessary factors which would make it easy riding, long-lived, and powerful enough so that it will go 'there and back'."

"The Hupmobile is built right throughout. The frames and body are constructed to live up to the motor, and vice versa. It has always enjoyed a reputation for economy, power, long life, ease of operation and appearance. The years of reliable, low cost service for which the Hupmobile is so well known form the real basis for judging its value."

"But if any one thing makes a man say, 'It pays to own a Hupmobile,' we believe it is the uncommon way it stays fit, with the least of expert tuning and tinkering—and the way it lasts."

AIR PRESSURE OF TIRES
An overloaded or an under-inflated tire heats more rapidly than a properly loaded or properly inflated tire. Experimental tests have shown that to blow out a new first-class tire by additional air pressure, it is necessary to exert a force of over thirty times the regular recommended pressure.

Many Motor From East to Live Here,
Says Lyman Clark

Great numbers of motor cars are arriving in Southern California from the east and other parts of the country daily. The coal strike, which has resulted in a great shortage of coal all over the east, is going to send thousands of other motor cars with their owners and families to California this winter.

There has been a great many of the new series Maxwell cars come through from the east recently and the reports made by some of the owners have been astonishing. Some of the Maxwell owners have claimed an average gasoline mileage of twenty-seven miles to the gallon on the entire trip and from 1,000 to 1,500 miles to the gallon of oil. Some of the cars that have been driven through from the east have shown an average tire mileage of 18,000 miles per tire.

Those who were skeptical when this new model Maxwell was put on the market last year are now convinced that it's not only standing up and giving service beyond anything anticipated, but are showing their enthusiasm for the car with their orders with the result that all dealers are behind with their deliveries.

"This condition is being relieved at once by train load shipments from the factory," said Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car company, Maxwell dealers.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY IS IDEAL ROUTE OF WORLD

Delegates to International Congress Will Hear About United States Roads

DETROIT, Aug. 26.—Austin F. Bement, vice president and secretary of the Lincoln Highway association, has been appointed as one of the United States reporters to the Fourth International Road Congress, to be held in Seville, Spain, in the spring of 1923, by Arthur H. Blanchard, professor of highway engineering and highway transport of the University of Michigan, who is the representative in America of the Permanent International Association of Road Congresses, whose headquarters are in Paris.

Professor Blanchard is a member of the Technical Committee appointed by the Lincoln Highway association to determine upon specifications for the ideal section of the Lincoln Highway which that organization will build this summer as an object lesson to America. He is anxious that the design features of the section which reflect the best judgment of America's foremost highway engineers be laid before the convention of international highway authorities which will convene in Spain.

Objects Are Told
The object of the Permanent International Association of Road Congresses is to promote and record progress in the improvement of highways and the efficient development of highway transport throughout the world. Over fifty nations are represented at the road congresses held every three years by the association and the delegates, appointed from each nation comprise the foremost authorities on highway engineering and highway transport in the world, each government being limited to not more than fifteen representatives.

Three previous International Road Congresses have been held, the last one being in London in 1913. There will be seven questions discussed at the congress in Seville next spring, four relating to highway transport and traffic. Each question has several subdivisions which will be considered by different reporters.

Cantilever Spring Is Highly Developed

A distinctive development in cantilever rear spring construction which is one of the many improvements on the 1923 Buick six-cylinder models makes them the easiest riding cars on the market today, according to Ray L. Galvin, sales manager for Tanner & Hall, Buick dealers at 237 South Brand boulevard.

The easy riding qualities of the new Buicks are commented upon by everyone who rides in them, says Mr. Galvin, who attributes the riding comfort to the new principle which has been employed by the Buick engineers in the rear spring construction. An improved type of cantilever spring, with the body scientifically hung on it, has been developed and installed.

However, the springs are only one of a number of improvements in the new Buick, contends Mr. Galvin. For instance, the transmission control is equipped with a lock, which, with other features gives the car a low insurance rating. Even the Buick valve-in-head motor shows important changes with a higher cylinder block, larger connecting rods and pistons, larger crank shaft, and a pressure feed to the main bearings.

Many prospective buyers remark on the appointments of the car. Upholstery and trimming are of fine quality. The instrument board is equipped with richly finished instruments, the control lever at fingers' end, the cowl ventilator control and windshield wiper are within easy reach.

The hood is higher, the lines more racy. Full crown fenders, drum type head and cowl lights, and a low, khaki-lined top are all part of the new equipment. Altogether, says Mr. Galvin, the new Buick six is creating a sensation in the automobile world.

JUDGE EMERY HAS BRAND NEW DODGE

Drove One In Belgium When 'Twas Not Pleasure As Here In Southland

Judge Owen C. Emery, justice of the peace of this township is now the proud owner of a new Dodge Brothers' touring car, which was delivered to him Wednesday by the George E. Clayton company, Dodge dealers at 145 South Brand.

For a long time, it is understood, the judge has had his eye on the new Dodges, and this week he took the plunge.

"There are only three cars on the market for me," says Judge Emery, "and the Dodge is the one of the three which is in my buying class right now."

"This isn't any experiment for me, however. During the war I drove a Dodge sedan in Belgium. My company was scattered all over the country, and I had no officers, so I had to make flying trips between the different sections. In this work I used a Dodge sedan, one of the army machines.

"At night, when I did most of my driving, I used to thread my way through city streets black as pitch. The only way one could tell whether he was on the street or not was by criss-crossing and touching the curbs. Occasionally, I took a chance and switched on the lights to get my bearings. Only for a few seconds, though, for a Heine flying overhead might tag me with a bomb."

New Jewett Owner
Waxes Enthusiastic
Over Its Climbing

"After watching practically every make of automobile pass my house on hill-climbing tests up Ellenwood drive, Eagle Kock, and after riding in the larger part of them, I decided to buy a Jewett," said A. Banderob, who lives at Ellenwood drive and Colorado boulevard.

"I wasn't in any particular hurry to buy a car," he continued, "so I had every opportunity to have practically every make of car demonstrated for me. Also, from my house, I could see the different cars, come up and attempt the Ellenwood drive hill. It is considered the hardest hill in the vicinity on which to demonstrate an automobile, and it takes a good car to properly perform on it."

"The reason I decided on a Jewett was the fact that I wanted a car with power, poe, getaway and stability at a minimum cost. I consider it without a doubt the most phenomenal piece of machinery on wheels. It is the only car which, to my knowledge at least, from a stand with the front wheels in the middle of Hill avenue on Ellenwood drive, will start out in high gear and climb in high gear to the turntable at the upper end of the drive. Having made the trip in many cars, and having watched a good many more attempt the climb in high gear, I am in a position to make this statement."

C. J. Ruskauft of the Sunset Motor company, 208 East Colorado, distributors of Jewett, Paige and Dort cars, who sold Mr. Banderob his Jewett states that enthusiasm such as the latter's is an everyday affair among Jewett owners.

The scenic wonderland of Southern California is only 5 minutes from the business center of Glendale — America's fastest-growing city. Because of the exclusive residential advantages—big trees, living streams, hills, canyons, elevation, ideal foothill climate, mountain vistas, bridle paths, scenic drives, etc.—this property should quadruple in value. There's nothing like it in the Southland. Fortunes have been expended here by residents in beautification of streams, waterfalls, sunken gardens, etc. Yet, you can buy beautiful green-wooded sites today as low as $950 on terms. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of public and private improvements are sending values skyward. Verdugo Woodlands is today the talk of Southern California. It is the most visited residence district suburban to Los Angeles.

Don't let alert investors get ahead of you. Why pay a heavy premium for this exclusive type of property in a year or two? Don't be among those who will say "Back in 1922 I could have bought a homesite in Verdugo Woodlands for as little as $950 on terms—and now those same lots are selling for $3000 to $5000." To Can

the Easy Lorain Way

String and grade. Put in cheese cloth bak and scald from 5 to 10 minutes in boiling water. Cold-dip. Pack whole, to 1-4 inch from top of jar. Add boiling water, and 1 teaspoon salt (for quart jar). Adjust scalded rubbers, put jars in oven. Set Lorain regulator at 250 degrees, leave the hot kitchen for 2 hours and forget your canning. When alarm clock rings at the end of that time, remove jars from oven and seal tightly.

To Can
Tomatoes

the Easy Lorain Way

Select solid ones, scald long enough to loosen skins. Dip in cold water, core and peel. Pack whole, to within 1-2 inch from top of jar. Add no water. Add 1 teaspoon salt (for quart). Place scalded rubbers in position. Adjust lid loosely. Put jars in oven. Set Lorain wheel at 250 degrees. Forget them for one hour, while you rest. Remove jars from oven and seal tightly when alarm clock rings. That's all.

To Can
Beets

the Easy Lorain Way

Clean well, scald about 5 minutes. Cold-dip. Remove skins. Pack whole, sliced or cubed. Fill jar with boiling water, adding 1 teaspoon salt for quart jar. Put scalded rubbers in place, leave lids loose. Set Lorain regulator at 250 degrees, and cook in oven for 1-2 hours, unwatched. Meanwhile, you rest where it is cool. Remove jars and seal them when alarm clock rings. Isn't that easy?

How to keep cool while canning

The famous Lorain Oven Heat Regulator has changed home canning methods—made it easy and always successful. Read the recipes. Isn't that an improvement over the old way?

No more standing over steaming kettles on a scorching stove, while the kitchen heat rises far above the temperatures of a July day. Lorain canning means resting on your cool veranda while Lorain watches the job.

No need any longer to stay for weary hours in the hot kitchen to watch steaming kettles. Any woman who cooks with gas can do her canning with far less time and work! Thousands of women praise this Lorain oven method.

With a Lorain equipped Clark Jewel, all canning is very simple and easy, as you'll see from the above recipes.

You don't have to stay in the kitchen, after preparing the vegetable or fruit and putting the jars in the oven! While Lorain watches the canning you are free to do other things.

You will find, too, that fruits and vegetables done the Lorain way keep their firmness, color, and fresh-from-the-garden taste perfectly. There are many advantages of oven canning by measured time and temperature. Let us demonstrate them to you now, and give you the free illustrated booklet, "Lorain Oven Canning."

LORAIN - OVEN HEAT REGULATOR

The Lorain Oven Heat Regulator is an attachment on Clark Jewel gas ovens. It automatically keeps your oven at any one of 44 different temperatures. Simply set the "red wheel" for any heat you want. Changes in gas pressure, etc., do not affect the oven temperature.

CLARK JEWEL GAS RANGES

The baked-on finish of these ranges gives them a lustrous, durable surface that is as easy to keep clean as it is good to look at. All-steel construction prevents breakage. A variety of pleasing styles and convenient sizes to choose from.

PLANS NO. 1586-1587

Does the home you are now housing your loved ones in reflect comfort, light and cheerfulness, with sanitary conveniences and properly arranged for entertainment, etc., or are they putting up with just anything, a rented house in which you are merely existing?

Here is a charming little home in which simplicity, dignity, individuality and attractiveness are all incorporated in both the exterior and interior.

The alternate floor plans show careful study in arrangement and incorporate all modern and time-saving features.

Yes, they're married and back from the honeymoon. And they're sitting in the twilight on a chilly evening, gazing into the cheery fire and seeing visions of the future—together. His arm is around her and that gives them both the idea of protection—and then it's only a step further to the thought of a real home. For, after all, while his arm around her is a protection, a real home is the best safety for both of them.

As they sit and see it grow before their minds' eyes, they visualize the cutest little bungalow, with cozy portico, broad windows, smooth grassy lawn and gravel or concrete walks. Oh, it's just the place which would make any wife "squeal" with delight! And it's just the kind of place which any husband would delight to come home to after his exacting day's work.

Then, if there are little ones in the home, what a wonderful time they could have! And how they would delight to invite their young friends to spend awhile at their "home." Really, the vision is so powerful that each draws a long breath and involuntarily glances at the other. Then she blushes and he laughs and she hides her head on his shoulder and he murmurs, "Darling, what were you thinking of?" She shyly replies, "Just what you were." "Then let's do it," he exclaims and both jump up and he clasps her around the waist and they just can't help but dance with pleasure over the anticipated pleasure. For they have both decided to MAKE THE VISION REALITY by owning their home in the near future.

And now, strong Mr. Man or loving Mrs. Wife, having read the story of the picture, what about making the story your own? You have heretofore, for a month, or a year, or ten years, lived in a rented house or apartment. You have not yet made a real start in life. Why not make it NOW? It takes no more practically than it will to go on accumulating rent receipts, which hold no value whatever. A rented house can never be a real home for you or your children. You are at the mercy of landlords and untoward circumstances of all kinds.

Why not change all this at once? You can not change the past—it's gone, but you can change the future by starting today to buy your lot, if you do not already own one. Then, having the lot, it is a comparatively easy matter to start building. Progressive business men are anxious to help you just as soon as you start in to help yourself.

The plan suggested here is but one of thousands which are at your disposal through the home building experts available for your consultation through this weekly service, which has been contracted for by your friends in this city, who wish to see you join the owning class.

Here are the names of some enterprising firms and individuals in your city who are so interested in you that they are paying the expense of putting this page before you. They advise you to make the attempt at home owning and being your own landlord at once. They have also retained the services of competent home designers who will gladly give you valuable advice in making your plans. Address inquiries to "Home Building Editor," care this paper.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHAT HELP ARE YOU MISSING?

About once in so often I have a certain experience. I wonder if other people have it, too.

No, that's not true. I don't wonder. There never was an experience which any one person had all to himself. Whatever you think, whatever you feel, whatever reactions to life you experience, you may be sure of one thing—that others have been there long before.

This is the kind of experience I mean. I have never had time to take a long nap in the day time, and having about half the strength I need eveningtime often finds me very tired. Lately I have discovered that if I will lie down immediately after lunch, in that short spell of drowsiness that comes at noon, I can usually drop off for just a few minutes and will wake infinitely refreshed, infinitely better able to handle the tasks and pleasures of the rest of the day, than if I had not lain down. Yet the whole process has only taken me a half or at the most three-quarters of an hour.

A Recipe for a Nap

Now some years ago I knew a woman who did just exactly this thing. She lived at an Inn where I was spending a few weeks and she always disappeared directly after lunch. "If I don't go right off," she would say, "I lose the sleepy feeling and then it takes me a long while to get to sleep and spoils my whole afternoon. It would do you a lot of good. I wish you would try it."

"Oh, it always takes me a long time to get to sleep in the day time," I would answer, "and besides, I can't spare the time."

"But you would feel so much better, it would pay in the end," she would insist.

She Didn't Understand
And I would smile and shake my head and think that she didn't understand my case, that I was different.

But I wasn't different. And everything she told me was true. Only I had to wait to have experience teach me the lesson. Now so often when I lie down for my little nap I think of that woman and say: "How foolish I was not to have formed the habit when she advised it. I know now I should be better off today if I had."

And then I wonder: Am I doing the same thing today? Am I turning deaf ears to counsel that might make me far happier and more efficient? Shall I learn its value some day by experience and look back and say: "How I wish—" and so on.

We Might Suspect
I suppose I shall. We all do. But it does seem as if after we had had experiences like this a few times we should begin to suspect that some of the things people say to us are worth listening to, and trying.

I wonder if you remember that some years ago I advertised in this column for a favorite poem I had lost track of? Several of my readers sent me copies of the poem I wanted. I have it in my files now and I think it fits in here:

"When I was one-and-twenty,
I heard a wise man say
Give crowns and pounds and guineas
But not your heart away.
Give pearls and rubies
But keep your fancy free.
But I was one-and-twenty,
No use to talk to me.

When I was one-and-twenty
I heard him say again,
The heart of the bodom
Was never given in vain.
'Tis paid with sighs a plenty,
And sold for endless rue.
And I am two-and-twenty,
And oh, 'tis true, 'tis true."
—A. E. Housman.

BEAUTY CHATS

THE FRIVOLOUS FROCKS

"Wasn't it funny?" asked Mary. "The old beat acted as if she were stealing a party for poor little Fredaline."

"Yes," her companion agreed, and then added, "the worst of it is, not one of those men will ever remember their obligations. Tomorrow or next day they will call up Mrs. B. and ask her out to dinner or the theatre. But the real thing she desires—that Fredaline be included—will never enter their heads." I wonder why?

"I wish we could help her alone," suggested Mary. "She is an intelligent girl and really a good comrade once you know her well." They walked along in silence. "I believe I have it," she continued. "She is the type of girl who should wear a frivolous evening frock. Those stiff silks that have been so painstakingly made at her home make her look staid and old-maidish. The boys are repelled. She needs soft frilly things, and she would be a picture over the teaups in sheer white cottons or silk with a touch of some color, possibly baby blue. Her hair could easily be softened, and each dimple turned into an asset, if only they knew it."

And so it happened when Mrs. B. and Fredaline were asked out to tea one afternoon, with the joy that only women can get out of pretty clothes they were all soon decking themselves out with the other person's garments. Fredaline donned a sheer white net, that veiled her plump arms and made her dimpled elbows alluring. Her fluffed hair and the lowered neck-line made her face appear many years younger. One of the girls was being a blue ribbon through strands of her hair. "Just for color and some coquetry," she explained as she tied the ribbon at one side and pulled out the loops into a saucy bow.

Mrs. B. looked at her niece approvingly. Fredaline, delighted with her own transformation, could now easily pass for 20. That was the beginning of a collection of dainty and fluffy, although inexpensive little frocks. It was also the end of Mrs. B.'s problem.

Numerous invitations, plus the fact that Fredaline changed from Miss to Mrs. not so many months later, should reflect a good bit of credit on that little frivolous frock which first brought to light the girl's latent possibilities.

Ellen—Let the peroxide part of the hair alone and the natural color will come back of itself.

B. C. H.—Lemon juice is best for removing stains. Rub cream into your nails at night to keep them from becoming brittle.

Mary T.—Massage with cold cream, and then rub with ice. This is a good way to smooth out the wrinkles.

C. T. M.—Why use powder at all if it irritates the skin? After washing and drying the face use a soft cloth to remove the shine.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number of letters. If a personal or quicker reply is desired, stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

COLORADO EDUCATOR FAVORS FLAPPERISM AMONG TEACHERS

NO OBJECTIONS TO MODERN IN DRESS

Common-Sense Is Greatest Factor, Says State Superintendent

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service.
DENVER, Aug. 25.—"I would rather a teacher would enter the school room with progressive ideas and present-day customs and dress than one who is as wise as Solomon, as patient as Job and as strong and persistent as Caesar."

Thus Miss Katherine L. Craig, superintendent of public instruction in Colorado, answered the question: "Do you endorse flapperism among school teachers?" Miss Craig expressed the belief that the early criticism of "flapperism" and the objections to "flapper" mannerisms were changing and that approval of bobbed hair, short dresses and a gay personality is becoming widespread.

She declared that the "up-to-date teacher, modern in thought, modern in accomplishments and modern in dress" was best fitted for the duty of influencing the child mind.

Miss Craig's statement, given to the International News Service, said:

"Do I endorse 'flapperism' among teachers?
Question of General Concern
"Your question is one that is of general concern to the public at large, because of the word 'flapperism,' which has been coined in recent years, carrying with it the opprobrium of reproach, mingled with contempt, and reflecting upon the morals of the individual who adopted a form of dress, short hair and an attitude of free thinking and gay personality.

"This idea, as connected with the dress of the present age, is fast assuming a different attitude toward the first opinions. Short dresses, short sleeves, low-cut necks and bobbed hair should not carry the same wrong impression or convey wrong ideas as in the beginning of the adoption of new form of dress and custom, but now, if not carried to the extreme, it should be regarded as sensible, reasonable and comfortable, because it lends grace, daintiness and does not destroy dignity.

"As for teachers adopting the new styles or fads, I take the premise that teachers are human beings, and being human beings, they are liable to all the frailties of other human beings and have the same desires, ambitions and inclinations as other human beings.

"This being the case, there is no reason why a teacher should not adopt a present up-to-date dress and present up-to-date style of wearing her hair and the custom of using cosmetics, rouge etcetera, provided, however, that with it all is combined good judgment, common sense and limitation. I would rather a teacher would enter the schoolroom with progressive ideas and present-day custom and dress than one who is as wise as Solomon, as patient as Job and as strong and persistent as Caesar. —The up-to-date teacher you will have a better influence upon the child mind and the thinking public than one who is ancient in customs, ancient in dress and ancient in ideas.

"Give me the up-to-date teacher—progressive, one who lives in the present age, one who can see through the public eye, one who can distinguish between extremes, good and bad habits and accepts reasonableness in styles and customs.

"Young people are prone to go beyond reason, therefore the need of curb, but the trained individual who announces to the world that she is qualified to determine all things within reason need make no mistake along the line of dress.

"Give me the up-to-date teacher, modern in dress, modern in thought, modern in accomplishments and modern in doing the things as required in the teaching world. Give me the teacher with a pleasing personality, one who desires admiration from pupils and patrons alike and she will exert a lasting influence upon the coming generation for the good of civilization, morally, intellectually, socially and religiously."

GRAPE JUICE
I am having so many calls for grape juice recipes I am sure the following paragraphs on the home manufacture and value of grape juice, based on information furnished by the government will be very acceptable at this time.

Government Method—Use only clean, sound, well-ripened but not overripe grapes. If an ordinary cider mill is at hand, it may be used for crushing and pressing, or the grapes may be crushed with the hands. If a light colored juice is desired, put the crushed grapes in a cleanly washed sack or cloth and tie it up. Then either hang up securely and twist it or let two persons take hold, one on each end of the sack, and twist until the greater part of the juice is extracted. Then gradually heat the juice in a double boiler or a large stone jar in a pan of hot water, so that the juice does not come in direct contact with the fire, at a temperature of 180 F. to 200 F., never above 200 F. It is best to use a thermometer, but if there is none at hand heat the juice until it steams, but do not allow it to boil. Put in a glass or enameled vessel to settle for twenty-four hours; carefully drain the juice from the sediment, and run it through several thicknesses of clean flannel, or a conic filter made from woolen cloth or felt matting. This filter is fixed to a hoop of iron which can be suspended wherever necessary. After this pour into clean bottles. Do not fill entirely, but leave room for the liquid to expand when again heated. Fit a thin board over the top of the ordinary wash boiler, set the filled bottles (ordinary glass fruit jars are just as good) in it, fill it with water around the bottles to within about an inch of the tops, and gradually heat until it is about to simmer. Then take the bottles out and cork or seal immediately. It is a good idea to take the bottles out and to take the further precaution of sealing the corks with sealing wax or paraffin to prevent mold germs from entering through the corks. Should it be desired to make a felt juice, heat the crushed grapes to not above 200 F., strain through a clean cloth or drip bag (no pressure should be used), set away to cool and settle, and process the same as with light colored juice. Many people reheat and seal at once, simply setting the vessels away in cool places in an upright position where they will be undisturbed. The juice is thus allowed to settle, and when wanted for use the clear juice is simply taken off the sediment.

Unfermented grape juice properly made and bottled will keep indefinitely, if it is not exposed to the atmosphere or mold germs; but when a bottle is once opened, it should, like canned goods, be used as soon as possible, to keep it from spoiling.

Diet and Health

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

I was just about to send out a call to the F. T. T.'s (Too-Too Thin's) to send in reports on their gaining when the reports began to come in.

I hope those of you who have benefited by the advice on gaining will be as generous in letting us know about it as the F. F. F.'s (Friendly Fat Fraternity) have been in letting us know about their losing. Because there is nothing that stimulates interest or encourages others so much as reading the testimonials of help from others.

We did not realize at the office that there would be such a tremendous interest in the subject of weight regulation as there is, and the pamphlets that I had prepared were all too soon exhausted. We will have a new supply very shortly and so those of you who have sent in the self-addressed envelopes with four cents in stamps for them will receive them very soon now. Please don't think we are neglecting you.

"Dear Dr. Peters:
"A rag, a bone and a hank of hair described me all my life up to now. And now Hurrah, Hooray! I have gained 30 pounds! Thirty pounds, Doctor dear! All this I have done by following your instructions. I really began before your series was released in the newspapers. I began when I read an article you wrote in a recent magazine on weight regulation.

"I counted my Calories. I found, just as you said I would, that I was eating way under what I needed. I began gradually to increase my Calories and stretched my tummy so that it could hold more food. Many times it protested, but now it is quite docile. I began by drinking milk instead of tea and coffee, and by taking a little more butter than I had done previously, and at each meal I ate a little more than I had done previously, and at each meal I ate a little more than I had been used to eating.

"From 1800 C's a day I gradually worked up to 3000 C's a day and the result has been a gain of 30 pounds in four months. I find that I feel very much better, have much more energy, am less nervous and sleep better.

"You must know that I am eternally grateful and I thank you most heartily and sincerely—Mrs. A. M."

This is certainly gratifying, isn't it? I wish you had told us a little more in detail what you did and how much exercise you took and if you added some rest periods during the day. Perhaps you will write again.

"Dear Dr. Peters:
"I will write you for some advice, as I have been following your advice on how to gain and have gained ten pounds so far. I am still about five pounds underweight, but I know that I will get there yet. I wish all the underweighters would try your method—I am sure they would gain. Will you please give me some advice on how to keep from taking colds? I usually have one when I set up in the morning. I sleep by the window which is open all the time.

Thanking you much for the good you have done. Please do not print my full name in the paper.—Mrs. H."

If you will notice, Mrs. H., we never use the full name. We like to have you sign your full name, but we do not use it.

I am glad that you have had such a happy result in gaining. As far as your colds are concerned, try wearing a nightcap or pinning a towel around your head at night. I have found from personal experience that if the wind blows on my head for a long period at night, I take cold, and I have found that many of my patients have had similar experience.

It has been the custom in recent years to say that it is superstitious to think that draughts can cause a cold, because colds ordinarily are due to infections. But I think we have gone too far in this, for it does seem that under some circumstances the prolonged exposure to a draught does lower the resistance of the mucous membrane so that it is more susceptible.

Try what I have suggested and let me know about it.

Sport High Spots

Allowing Los Angeles but three safe blows and keeping the situation well in hand from start to finish "Specs" Shea, Sacramento's goggle-eyed hurler, outpitched old Doc Crandall yesterday in a real 1 to 0 baseball game. Crandall was almost as good as his younger adversary, letting the pesky Solons down with a measly five hits, all of which accounted for the lone run of the game, which was scored in the second inning.

With Vernon cuffing Portland around in Los Angeles and San Francisco doing the hurdle act over the Mormons up at Salt Lake City, Wade Killefer's pennant hopes were given a severe setback through the Angels' defeat yesterday. The Seals are now nine games in advance of Los Angeles, while the Seraphs are four and a half games to the rear of the Bengals. The more the teams play the more it appears as though the season will end with the eight squads in the same relative positions in the percentage column. Only seven more weeks remain after Sunday for either the Angels or the Tigers to catch up with Dot Miller's flying San Franciscans.

Red Smith of Vernon and Armus Griggs of Los Angeles are still holding up the Southland's honors in the Pacific Coast league batting averages, which were released yesterday by the league's official statistician in Los Angeles. Smith is fourth in the list with a mark of .361, while trailing him in fifth place comes Griggs with an average of .352. If either of these players were playing their home games in one of the other ball parks in the circuit it's a cinch that they would be on the top of the heap. The Los Angeles playing field is the largest and most difficult for the batters in the circuit.

After home runs by Hornsby, Mann and Ainsmith had given the Cardinals a three-run bulge the Giants climbed aboard Haines in the late innings and pulled out a 4 to 3 decision. Meusel's single scored the winning run in the ninth. The victory placed the Giants five and one-half games beyond the field. Hornsby's homer was his thirteenth of the season.

The Cubs and Phils perpetrated a terrible thing on the public when the home club won by the score of 26 to 23, breaking two records and equating two more. The total of forty-nine hits, all existing marks, so did total of fifty-one hits. The Cubs scored 14 runs in the fourth. That equaled a record. Callaghan came to bat three times in one inning. That equaled another.

Tagging All Bases The Browns clung to their half game lead by pulling out an even break in the first two games of the big series with the Yanks. They won the first game, 3 to 1, behind Shocker's pitching and after Davis' wildness had staked the Yanks to a five-run lead in the second they all but won that one also. Williams' hitting streak through twenty-seven games was interrupted in the first game but Sisler carried his to twenty-four by hitting safely in both. After home runs by Hornsby, Mann and Ainsmith had given the Cardinals a three-run bulge the Giants climbed aboard Haines in the late innings and pulled out a 4 to 3 decision. Meusel's single scored the winning run in the ninth. The victory placed the Giants five and one-half games beyond the field. Hornsby's homer was his thirteenth of the season. Those who claim to be "in the know" point to this game as evidence of the outstanding contest of the ten games which will be played by teams in the Greater Southern California Baseball association tomorrow. In fact, it's getting to the point where each week the game in which Cobb's Merchants are one of the accomplices is pointed out as the game of the day. Cobb has spent the past two weeks tuning his warriors up for the contest, and promises that they will play a tight and fast game. A high-grade brand of ball can be expected from the Pirrone squad also. Glendale's battery will be Aagson and King, although the entire pitching staff is being keyed up for the game. Pirrone's battery has not been announced.

The World Over By FRANKLIN B. MORSE. PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE. Headline reads: "Sportsmen men's chances for the pennant. Undoubtedly it has somewhat weakened the pitching staff from a physical point of view, but there are those who contend that from the angle of morale, there possibly will be a gain. Douglas was not a sincere trainer at any time. At one man puts it: "Just give him the smell of a cork, and he'd be off an one of his periodicals." At the last unofficial averages given out of the five leading men in each of the major leagues it was found that the average of the five men in the American league was .376 per cent, while the five leading National league batsmen were hitting for an average of .265. Under ordinary circumstances, there would not be a raffle of interest in the proposed match between Harry Wills and Tut Jackson in Brooklyn, August 29. With Dempsay gradually being forced to meet Wills, it will be of interest to see what Harry does to Tut. A poor showing will kill all talk of a Wills-Dempsey affair.

Pirrone All Stars Clash With Local Ball Team Sunday In what is generally expected to be the feature semi-professional baseball game of Southern California for the day, the Glendale Merchants tomorrow afternoon will play Joe Pirrone's All-Stars on the Glendale diamond.  ing but not so pleasant. The cleaner shops were kept by Japanese. Every kind of sea food imaginable is kept in stock.
 An automobile trip around the island of Oahu was taken by Miss Koehler. She found the roads in fairly good condition and she was informed that they had been installed under the supervision of the United States.
 Sugar cane, pineapple, rice and coconut plantations were observed with much interest on this automobile ride. Miss Koehler was taken through the canning plant in the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, Ltd., where 30,000 cases are filled with cans of pineapple during the canning season. She observed many children at work but was told that they were only employed during the vacation season. She was told that they earn $3 or $4 a week but are given their lunches for five or six cents in the immense company cafeteria. The women there wear white aprons and white caps and rubber gloves. Before leaving the plant the visitors are served fresh pineapple which is cut lengthwise instead of crosswise in the usual manner.
 "Pot Not Relished"
 As a souvenir a coconut shell was brought back. All fruit taken out of Hawaii is carefully inspected by agents of the department of agriculture. Pot, one of the native staple articles of food, was not relished by Miss Koehler. She failed to register appreciation of the flavor which is similar to cornstarch.
 Although one-piece bathing suits are worn on the beach at Waikiki and grass skirts are worn by some of the dancers at functions which are gotten up especially for tourists, Miss Koehler found that the prevailing fashion for native women is a long "wrapper" which extends from the neck to the ankles of the shoes much in the manner of the nightgown.
 The flowers and vegetation on the islands are most beautiful and Miss Koehler was told that there are 2000 varieties of the Hibiscus flower which grows in bush form, trees and also hedges in many places.
 Although she had a very interesting trip, Miss Koehler was glad to return home and agrees with most tourists that the United States is the best after all.

Glendale's New Park
 The Glendale Shriners' basket picnic will be held at the new Glendale-Verdugo city park next Wednesday afternoon and evening, August 30. The Pez-wearers promise it will be an event in Southern's shrinedom, and all Shriners are urged by local Secretary Charles Helm to bring their families and help make a success of the outing.
 Pasadena Shriners have promised to come in strength as guests, in response to an invitation issued to them. The sports committee has arranged a tug-of-war and other attractions. The picnic proper will start at 2 p. m. and continue until midnight without a blank in the program.
 Worthy Noble Poppy Jones is in charge of the refreshments. Baseball in the afternoon and dancing in the evening are included in the list of events and entertainment.

MUST BE OVER 70
to Attend Picnic
 If you're past 70 you're right in line for a big day Saturday, September 2, when the annual old folks' picnic of Southern California will be held in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.
 It's going to be an all-day, old-fashioned picnic outing with a basket dinner and informal program. In addition to being past 70, all one needs to qualify as a member of the picnic party is a basket lunch and cup and spoon.
 Having a special interest in Glendale's old folks The Evening News is boosting for the affair and hopes that all members of The News Sunset club, the informal organization of Glendale's past 90, will turn out in a crowd just to prove that one can be young at ninety, in Glendale.

 prisoners in the two California penitentiaries the first of this month than there were August 1 last year. He said that this was significant because a number more have come and gone in the interim, but said that this number would not affect the 2 per cent ratio.
 "That is proof in my mind," he remarked, "that the treatment of our criminal element is not curing the trouble. That it is neither a punishment nor a deterrent. Crime is going along just the same."
 The hardened criminal of mature years is now being superseded by the youngster in his teens according to Judge Weyl. He said that Sheriff W. L. Traylor had recently taken a quartet to San Quentin all of whom were under age, except one, who was 27 years of age and he was going to prison for the third time.
 Calls Crime Heritage
 "It is generally conceded that heredity and environment are the causes of crime," he said. "Parentage has caused more crime than anything else that history tells about. You can't make a silk purse out of a hog's ear and, likewise, you can't make a good potential citizen out of your young boy if you are not right yourself or if your grandfather wasn't right, too. It behooves us to see that while we are here on earth, we behave in such a way that we will turn over to posterity something that is worth while."
 "If I had the time, I could give you innumerable examples where that theory has been proved. There isn't any doubt about it."
 "In our court we don't treat the child as a criminal at all. We treat him as a victim of society, which he is." We try to treat that boy so that he can go back into society so that he will be an asset, not as an anti-social creature. If we have a boy of average intelligence, it is not hard to set him right. You would be surprised, or rather you would be amazed, at the number of boys who have no conception of the Golden Rule," concluded the judge.
 The attendance prize for the luncheon was a large can of rice olives furnished from Harry MacBain's grocery at 634 East Broadway and which was won by P. J. Hayselden. Guess what the silent boost was? Powder puffs furnished by C. A. Stuart of the Glendale Pharmacy, 638 East Broadway.
 Lyman P. Clark, presided, while Don H. Webb was on the job as secretary and Allan N. Fairchild was in action as master-at-arms. Guests were Frank C. Weller, John L. Richardson, Howell W. Richardson, Bert Bertheau and James F. Fisher.

"The deference shown Glendale in civic-progress circles of the Southland is emphasized almost daily in various ways, not least among which are the invitations which Mr. E. F. Sanders and I receive to address established and embryonic chambers of commerce in other communities," stated Secretary J. M. Rhoades of the Glendale chamber today. "Other cities want to learn the secret of our rapid strides to greatness in Glendale, and they look to the chamber of commerce—to which they give credit for the good work—for the desired information."

San Gabriel Awakens
 Secretary Rhoades and Assistant Secretary Sanders are invited to attend a meeting of San Gabriel boosters in that town Monday night to advance in the perfection of the chamber of commerce organization there. Mr. Rhoades and Mr. Sanders take advantage of many of these opportunities to boost Glendale while encouraging the other fellow and thereby establishing a feeling of friendly interest in Glendale, which frequently results in material benefits. Both gentlemen talk on Glendale and its progress and future.

Montrose Enthusiastic
 Following a recent chamber of commerce organization meeting in Montrose at which Messrs. Rhoades and Sanders were the principal speakers, that community organized with 100 members to start. Information now comes that the newly organized chamber has been donated a fine lot for its own building, has been donated most of the materials to construct the building, and many members of construction experience and ability have proffered their mental and manual labor for the construction of the building, without labor cost, in their spare time and on holidays.

Judge V. R. M'Lucas Visits In Glendale
 Judge Victor R. M'Lucas, presiding in the Los Angeles county superior court, was a visitor in Glendale yesterday to tell the voters why he is a candidate for re-election. Judge M'Lucas gained high legal repute as city attorney for Santa Monica. Last year the governor made three judgeship appointments under a legislative act increasing the number of judges in Los Angeles district. A vote taken by the county bar association on candidates was the basis for appointment. Judge M'Lucas received second-highest vote.

 Thus says Montrose W. Hayes, head of the St. Louis Weather Bureau, in denying that the city ranks high in humidity. Hayes says St. Louisians are fortunate that the city ranks low in humidity and is not subject to hot winds. All of which is hard to believe in these sweltering days.
