KINDERSLEY SAYS CANADA PROSPEROUS

London, July 31.—(Canadian Associated Press)—"General conditions in Canada, I believe, have seldom been better," said Sir Robert Kindersley, Chairman of the board of the Hudson's Bay Company, at the annual meeting of the company to-day. After alluding to the complete success of the company's anniversary celebrations in Canada, the Governor said: "This country (the United Kingdom) like the rest of the world is suffering from the effects of inflation and from the general labor unrest. In Canada the difficulties are not so pronounced as in many other countries. There is a real evidence of sound prosperity which one encounters there, and there was almost an entire absence of that spirit of boom and speculation which one met in every town before the war. Speculation has given place to productive enterprise and genuine occupation of the land is a general feeling of quiet confidence in the future of the country, and of all the recently belligerent countries I believe Canada to be in the soundest financial and economic position and better able to meet the difficulties of the future."

VALUATION OF LINES

In arriving at the increases the Commission placed the valuation of the railroad properties at $15,900,000,000, as against the $20,516,000,000 estimate of the railroad executives.

SMALL MOTOR

The electric motor was approximately twelve inches in diameter and eighteen inches in length. It had been reconstructed in order to be used with the Hubbard coil.

NO HIDDEN WIRES FOUND

To guard against the possibility of ordinary storage batteries concealed about the boat as a power source, instead of the Hubbard coil, both electric motor and coil were lifted free from their blocks, but no hidden wiring was revealed.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING OF VETERANS HAS PROVED SUCCESSFUL

Deputy Minister Says Staff of S. C. R. Is Being Gradually Reduced

Work of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment is in process of gradual demobilization, according to W. F. Parkinson, Deputy Minister, who arrived yesterday with a party of officials, and is in conference with officials here.

Mr. Parkinson is accompanied to British Columbia by Major E. Flexman, Director of Vocational Training, and administrator of the department; G. H. Dean, Assistant Director, and Dr. A. F. Proctor, the Unit Medical Director for the Province, have accompanied them to Victoria.

Mr. Parkinson informs The Times that the various branches of the work have already been considerably reduced since the "peak load" was reached in March last.

The Treatment Branch has shown the least decrease, the patient strength being only some 2,500 less than in March, 1920.

Training Strength.
The training strength has been reduced from over 28,000 in March to some 13,000 at the present time, this large number having graduated from their courses and to a great extent with the co-operation of the employers and business men, been placed in profitable employment in spite of their disabilities. A great deal of this work, however, remains to be done, and the continued support of the local employers is needed.

Amputation Cases.
The work of supplying artificial limbs to amputation cases is going along most successfully, practically all cases having been supplied with their first limb in the present time. The department's staff throughout Canada has already been reduced from over 3,000 in March to approximately 6,000 at the present time. Similar reduction will be made during the ensuing summer months, says Mr. Parkinson.

In reference to the success of the vocational retraining courses, Mr. Parkinson stated that the latest reports of the follow-up officers showed that only 5.3 per cent. of the men who had graduated from courses were unemployed.

Mr. Parkinson, who is just thirty-one years of age, has had a remarkable rise to his present position, having joined the department in 1918 as assistant to the director of vocational training. He later became director, and when Mr. F. G. Robinson resigned as deputy minister a few months ago he succeeded in that position. He is the youngest deputy minister in the service.

LOCAL AVIATOR INSPECTS CIVIL AIR STATION

Says Jericho Beach Air Harbor Is Finest in the Country

With the arrival of the first instalment of seaplanes for the British Columbia Air Station, flying activities should begin in the course of the next two weeks, it is stated, by W. R. Crockett, secretary of the Local Aerial League.

The station, under the control of Major C. MacLaurin, D.F.C., and Captain Templeton, R.A.F., is now in its first stage towards completion. Provision has been made for the accommodation of twelve of the latest types of water craft, Avro Seaplanes, H. S. 2L and F. 3 Flying Boats.

The slipway has been completed and erection of the Bessoneau Hangars practically completed. There will be two Bessoneau Hangars, and a large steel hangar. The floors of all hangars are to be of heavy timber, and the garages of heavy timber. The station will be equipped with everything calculated to make it one of the finest and most efficient Civil Air Harbors in Canada.

The Air Station personnel are at present busy unloading and assembling the H. S. 2L Flying Boats, preparatory to carrying out the first test flights. It is thought the first flight will be made to the Capital City, where the Pilot and Observer will be received by representatives of the Department of the service here.

The largest Flying Boats will be capable of carrying from two to seventeen passengers and will be used chiefly for long distance forest patrols and surveys. The smaller craft will be used for forest fire patrol, aerial photography and survey, and such other work as will be required by the department.

It is practically certain that substations will be established to work in conjunction with the station at Jericho Beach and provision is made in the plans of the Jericho Beach station so that a hangar and demountable shop may be readily transported.

There will be in all, not less than twelve buildings erected, including three large hangars, garages, machine shops, mess quarters and the various offices, including an up-to-date photographic department.

The value of the flying machines alone, not taking into consideration the cost of tenders, motor boats and other necessary equipment, will be in the neighborhood of some $360,000.

You've got to admit this about mushy love talk: it sounds like common sense to the interested parties.

BECOMES BRIDE OF U. S. NAVAL OFFICER

Nuptials To-day of Miss Annie Wright and Lieut. W. L. de Camp

Miss Sadie Brown Married to Vancouver Man on Wednesday

A war romance between an American naval officer and a Scottish girl who met while the U. S. fleet was engaged in mine-laying operations off the Orkney Islands culminated to-day in a quiet but pretty wedding at the First Presbyterian Church at 9 o'clock, when Miss Annie Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Wright, of "Hopemount," Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, became the bride of Lieut. William L. de Camp, of the U. S. cruiser "Ludlow."

The bride, who is the niece of Col. and Mrs. J. Spitzer, of Nile Avenue, was given in marriage by her uncle. She looked charming in a dainty gown of be-rufted white net over crepe de chine with becoming picture hat of net. Her bridal bouquet was of pink roses. Mrs. A. A. Harvey, cousin of the bride, was the matron-of-honor, wearing a pretty frock of pale pink georgette with hat on side and carrying a bouquet of pale pink and lavender sweet peas. Leander Wright, brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom, who was in naval uniform. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Gibson Innes, who is also a native of the Orkney Islands, in the presence of intimate friends and relatives of the young couple.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of Col. and Mrs. Sclater, Nile Avenue, where a dainty luncheon was served, and the customary toast to the bride and bridegroom proposed. Lieut. de Camp left on the afternoon boat en route for San Diego, where the bridegroom will join his ship, and where the young couple will make their future home. The bride travelled in a smart suit of navy blue gabardine with becoming blue hat and an ermine scarf.

RED CROSS STILL IN MISSION TO AID

Local Organization Held Meeting Yesterday; Summary of Activities

Although to many people the name of the Red Cross conveys but a memory of association with the great and good of the world, the fact is that the organization, carrying on a living but effective way—an important phase of reconstruction work. At the monthly meeting of the Victoria and District Branch held yesterday afternoon, evidence was given of the value and extent of the work now being done by the Red Cross.

The chairman, Mrs. H. Fleming, reported that she had visited Merrillville and that the Red Cross Centre there was doing excellent work. The nurses installed was kept quite busy attending the schools to inspect the children for minor ailments, also dressing wounds and visiting the homes. On the day of Mrs. Fleming's visit there were two accidents, one a bad one cut knee, the other a broken arm, to both of which the nurse attended. The value of the nurse to the community will be understood when it is realized that the nearest doctor is nine miles away. Milk and Allenbury's food is being supplied from the Centre, also layettes to those unable to provide them.

The meeting approved the help being given to the Coburn-Mitchell Health Centre, and it was decided to extend this help for six months with the hope that at the end of that time the Centre would be established on a firm financial basis.

A letter was read from the North Cowichan Branch, extending thanks for the motor car provided for the Duncan Health Centre, and the plans for the Junior Red Cross was progressing favorably and hopes were expressed that it will be well started by the time school opens.

The hospitals have been visited regularly and many comforts supplied. The men have been taken for drives, and the necessary supplies of first aid and necessary drugs are being sent up to the isolated highhouses. Mrs. Gordon, director of the Home Branch of the Soldiers' Settlement Board has been supplied with a first aid kit, also the matron of the Great War Next-of-Kin Association.

To-Night's Garden Fete.—The Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, I. O. D. E., will hold a garden fete this evening from 8 till 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. W. Bland, 545 Dalton Street, Esquimalt. A delightful programme has been arranged by the convener, Miss Beatrice McDonald. Miss Lorraine Wotton will give an exhibition of fancy dancing, and Miss Lillian Jones and Master Arthur Jones will render a few selections on the violin. There will also be a few vocal selections by members of the Chapter. The garden has been prettily decorated with electric lights and tables will be arranged throughout the grounds.

She was corpulent, and having arrived at the seaside entered a draper's emporium to purchase a bathing dress. The assistant by whom she was served, who was a young man, was unable to do the sale. At last the customer exclaimed: "I, a young man, can you not show me something wide and roomy to bathe in?" "Oh, yes," said the assistant, "just this way," and pointing from the door, "there is the Atlantic Ocean. Don't you think that might suit?"

R.S.P.C.A. COMPLAIN ABOUT ANIMAL FILM

Complaints have reached Premier Oliver from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in connection with an alleged nature study which is billed to be shown in this city next week at one of the movie houses.

Mr. Oliver is informed that the film in question depicts brutal treatment of animals, that it is subversive of all morals, and capable of inciting the passions of the young mind to commit acts of cruelty on the strength of example.

In view of the urgency of the representations of the Premier has referred the matter to the Censor of Moving Pictures for British Columbia for a report and appropriate action if considered advisable under the circumstances.

Mayor A. Berry—Following his favorite sport, Mayor Porter left the cares of civic office behind him this morning and journeyed into the country in search of blackberries. Where His Worship is hunting for the luscious fruit is not known because he is reported to have discovered some wonderful blackberry patches about which he is not telling anybody.

CIVIC EMPLOYEES TO HOLD A PICNIC AT THEIR OWN COST

Granted a holiday by the City Council yesterday, the civic employees will hold a picnic, probably at Deep Bay on August 11.

Permission to leave their offices for the day was granted the employees after a long debate among the aldermen. Some members of the Council feared that if the City Hall were closed the public might be seriously inconvenienced, but it was decided finally to allow all employees a holiday except those whose work was essential to the business in hand. Police and firemen on duty will not be given the day off. The Council refused by a slight majority to make a grant of $100 to help to cover the expenses of the picnic.

Bakers Say Lack of Weight Shrinkage Clause Most Unfair to Them

Claiming that the ordinance as it stands at present is unfair to them, a delegation of Victoria bakers asked the City Council yesterday afternoon to insert in the Bread By-law a clause governing the inevitable shrinkage of bread from the time it goes into the oven until the time it reaches the consumer. The Council will consider the matter later when it receives a formal request in writing from the bakers.

READY TO REPORT ON CURFEW SCHEME

Having investigated the matter fully, the Civic Legislative Committee will report to the City Council at its next meeting concerning the cost of installing an electric curfew whistle at the Electric Light Station. While members of the committee are reticent on the subject, it is understood that the cost is considered sufficiently low as to make the installation practicable.

For the last couple of days registration has been slow, only forty or fifty coming in a day.

Registration in the city is carried on until 9 o'clock to-night at the old St. Francis Hotel, Yates Street. The Liberal Association rooms, Arca Block, will be open until 9 o'clock for the belated registrations.

LABOR MEN PROTEST AGAINST IMPORTATION OF LABOR TO PROVINCE

Protest against the proposal to bring to British Columbia 20,000 European laborers to work on railway construction was voiced before the City Council yesterday afternoon by representatives of local labor and soldiers' organizations, headed by E. S. Woodward, Secretary of the Trades and Labor Council.

Mr. Woodward, urging the aldermen to oppose the plan, said that the civic authorities of Vancouver were not in agreement with the project. At the present time, he pointed out, large numbers of unemployed laborers were congregated in the cities. The bringing in of 20,000 more laborers would create a serious unemployment situation, he warned. Labor was needed in the construction of railways, but the British laborers at present jobless in the cities, he stated, did not wish to work for the railway companies because they could not earn sufficient money in this way to keep themselves and their families in reasonable comfort.

"I think," said Mr. Woodward, "that the unemployment situation can be solved by public opinion forcing the C. P. R. to pay wages which will keep a white man in reasonable comfort."

One of the greatest problems which British Columbia will have to face in the future, in Mr. Woodward's opinion, was the assimilation of alien laborers. He thought to be a very serious laborer, he thought to bring in any great number of aliens at the present time. Where British capital and British labor dominated he was confident industrial disputes would be settled peacefully, but where aliens, who did not understand nor appreciate British institutions, formed a big section of the population, such results might not be achieved.

The Council promised consideration of Mr. Woodward's plea concerning the importation of European laborers, and also his views on the construction of the new Johnson Street Bridge, as recorded elsewhere in this issue.

ST. COLUMBA'S GUILD FETE ON THURSDAY

In aid of the Ladies' Guild of St. Columba's, Strawberry Vale, a garden fete was held on Thursday at Oak Lodge, Wilkinson Road, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Joyce. The grounds were decorated with flags and Chinese lanterns and presented a most attractive appearance. Tables were placed under the shade of the trees for the sale of needlework, candy, ice cream, the guessing competitions, fish pond and for serving tea with dainty refreshments, cake, ice cream, togetherness and cream.

Aunt Sally's children proved a great attraction to both young and old and caused a good deal of merriment and good-natured chaff. The strains of music from both piano and gramophone enlivened the occasion. In the evening there was a large attendance, and Mrs. Joyce, the ever gracious and hospitable hostess, kindly threw open her house for a short musical programme and a social dance. The soloists on the programme were Misses Watkins and Ryves, while Mrs. Watkins presided at the piano.

Among the active workers were first and foremost, Mrs. Joyce, to

SHIP INVADER'S BOATS BY LINER

Millionaire's Yacht All Snug For Voyage to California Coast

With everything aboard snug for the seven hundred mile trip the palatial ocean-going schooner-rigged yacht Invader, Captain Cameron, will get away from port to-morrow for San Francisco and San Pedro.

Three of the Invader's lifeboats will be shipped this afternoon to San Francisco on the boat deck of the Admiral liner President. The yacht ordinarily carries four lifeboats in addition to a power cutter.

The Invader will be sailed down the coast and the extra boats are being shipped by the passenger steamship as a precautionary measure against heavy weather.

Captain John Barneson, president of the General Petroleum Company, and owner of the splendid yacht, is leaving this afternoon by the C.P.R. boat for Seattle, en route to San Francisco, accompanied by his wife.

Quit Good Berth, When the Invader was at Nanaimo a number of her crew quit a good berth. The vacancies are being filled here and Captain Douglas Robertson, of this city, is sailing as pilot.

The owner espouses no expense in the operation of his yacht. When in regular commission it is declared that the up-keep of the yacht and its equipment, supplies and wages of its complement, warrants an expenditure in the neighborhood of $10,000.

The millionaire owner entertains on a lavish scale when cruising. He is a died-in-the-wool yachtsman himself and is a stickler for yachting etiquette.

At sundown the colors must be lowered at a signal from the little brass music-looper located on the after-deck. For this simple effort two men were detailed during the recent British Columbia cruise, and it is said that each man entailed

In a few weeks time Captain Barneson will take a party across the Pacific in the Invader to Honolulu.

FLEET OF VESSELS BRING CUBAN SUGAR

Thirteen Thousand Tons Delivered at Vancouver Within the Past Few Days

With the delivery of thirteen thousand tons of raw sugar at the Vancouver refinery there should be no sugar shortage in the immediate future.

The United States Shipping Board's steamship West Kader left Vancouver Wednesday night after discharging 3,000 tons of sugar at the refinery.

The steamship Steel Trader, of the Isthmian Line, is now putting off 5,000 tons of the sweet stuff. When the Steel Trader completes discharging her berth at the refinery wharf will be taken by the French steamship Mount Etna, which passed up the Gulf this week with 5,000 tons.

All the recent sugar shipments are from Cuba.

PRESIDENT TO SAIL

The Admiral liner President will clear from the Outer Docks late this afternoon for San Francisco with a full list of passengers.

HEAVY TRAVEL BY JAPANESE LINERS

Over 500 Passengers on In-bound Arabia Maru and Katori Maru

R. P. Rithet & Co. local agents for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, have been advised that the Japanese liner Arabia Maru, due here from the Orient next Tuesday, has six first class and thirty-two steerage passengers for Victoria and thirty-five first class and ninety steerage for Seattle.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Katori Maru may also put in an appearance on Tuesday, although she is not scheduled to arrive until Wednesday.

W. R. Dale, agent here for the N. Y. K. line, has been notified that the Katori Maru has 305 passengers, including 118 in the saloon, 52 in the second cabin and 135 steerage.

The Katori Maru also carries a capacity cargo. The Fushimi Maru, of the same line, sailed from the Outer Docks last evening, taking out 180 first and second cabin passengers and over 200 in the steerage accommodation.

The Fushimi Maru took over 500 bags of mail, including a considerable shipment left behind by the Empress of Russia.

Vancouver, B. C., July 31.—The general impression of all the large fishing operators in both the canning and fresh fish business of British Columbia is that the international treaty of fishing in waters adjacent to the United States and Canada, which has recently been approved by the commission appointed to investigate the matter, will never pass the United States Senate.

S.S. PRINCE GEORGE TO RESUME TO-MORROW

G. T. P. Boat Will Leave Prince Rupert at Midnight For Victoria

The G. T. P. steamship Prince George is scheduled to sail from Prince Rupert on schedule at midnight to-morrow for Vancouver and Victoria. Repairs to the slight damage sustained while passing through Seymour Narrows on her last north-bound trip have been completed.

The Prince George will arrive here at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning and will sail again at 11 a. m. for Seattle.

She is bringing a capacity list of passengers down from Rupert, and is booked full for the return trip to Stewart. The G. T. P. steamship Prince Rupert will arrive here to-morrow morning from Anyox and Prince Rupert.

She will leave at 11 a. m. for Seattle.

WILLIAM HOUSTON OF VICTORIA MACHINERY DEPOT HAS RETIRED

William Houston has retired from active connection with the Victoria Machinery Depot, Ltd., after being identified with the engineering concern for a quarter of a century.

Mr. Redpath, of the drafting staff, and who assisted in the outfitting of the Imperial Munitions Board steamships at Ogden Point, has been appointed superintendent at the Victoria Machinery Depot.

Mr. Redpath was formerly connected with the Coughlan shipyard at Vancouver.

LURE OF CANADA TOO MUCH FOR BLUEJACKETS

Prior to the departure of the Empress of Russia for the Orient yesterday five naval adventurers were brought over from the mainland in charge of an R. C. M. P. guard and turned over to the commander of the Hongkong station.

The admiral of Canada proved too strong for six of the three hundred bluejackets comprising the contingent from England. One got away at North Bay, two at Winnipeg, two at Portage la Prairie and one at Regina. One is still at liberty. On arrival of the deserters at Hongkong their ill-fortunes will assume the form of ninety days in the "clink" and subsequent dismissal from the service.

ANOTHER BREWERY PLANT TO JAPAN

Beer Manufacturing Equipment From States Dispatched by Fushimi

Forced out of the United States by the dry law, various brewery plants have been dismantled and shipped aboard to be set up again in Japan where the prohibition laws are not so stringent.

The N.Y.K. liner Fushimi Maru, which sailed from Victoria last evening, took out the seventh brewery equipment to be sent overseas from Seattle in the past few months.

The Fushimi is a full ship and carries between 7,000 and 8,000 tons of freight stored beneath her hatches. She has more than 500 passengers in her cabins and steerage accommodations.

The vessel took aboard 1,500 sacks of mail at Seattle and loaded 500 additional sacks here on her way to sea, bound for China, Japan and the Philippines.

ROYAL MAIL SEEKS TRADE ON PACIFIC

Shipping firms have been advised that the Holland-America Line, in association with the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, will inaugurate a service between Rotterdam and San Francisco as soon as sufficient vessels are available, and that the service will later be extended to Puget Sound and British Columbia ports.

The Holland-America boats will connect on this coast with the Java-Pacific Line to the Far East. E. J. M. Nash, of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, at San Francisco, foreclosed this arrangement on a recent visit here.

Prior to the war the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company operated a fleet of fine freight carriers between the United Kingdom and Victoria and Vancouver via the Orient.

SHINGOLEEN A Bapco Product THE MOST EFFICIENT Shingle Finish THE popular demand for a Shingle Finish more durable in quality and more permanent in color is fully met in "SHINGOLEEN." The fact that this high grade BAPCO product is endorsed by the leading architects and painters throughout the West, is sufficient proof of its durability and uniform quality. It penetrates the shingle thoroughly, at the same time leaving a tough oil on the surface, which binds the color pigments, making them permanent and clear. It is equally effective on Shingles, Rustic Siding or Rough Lumber. 14 Colors. BRITISH AMERICA PAINT CO LIMITED VICTORIA CALGARY VANCOUVER EDMONTON

More Heads Opened Up In Lacrosse Battle

Vancouver Wins From Salmonbellies in Rough Encounter; Giffords, Grumpy Spring, McDonald and Lalonde Use Fists and Sticks; Fans Fight Too.

Vancouver, July 31.—In one of the fastest professional matches ever played in Vancouver, a game featured by rough play, erratic passing and wild shooting, the Vancouver Greenshirts won from the champion Salmonbellies at Athletic Park last night to the tune of nine goals to seven.

The innovation of introducing the professional game to an evening crowd "took on," as evidenced by the fact that all available seating capacity in the stand and bleachers was occupied by

Cy Young Pitches Caps Back Into First Place

By Winning Last Evening's Game, While Tacoma Lost to Yakima, Victoria Jumped Back Into Leadership; Talley Pitched Good Game But His Team-Mates Seemed Stagetruck.

Victoria, 3; Seattle, 0.

After weathering a series of hard storms Bill Leard has managed to pilot his crew back into the leadership of the Pacific International League. It has been a pretty hard row for the Capitals and their sprinting pace must be maintained if they wish to hold the lead, as the Tacoma Tigers are only two points behind and Yakima has picked up a winning streak and is rapidly closing up.

To Cy Young fell the honor of pitching Victoria into the lead. Last evening he had everything necessary to take the tail-enders, who lately have taken to baseball seriously and will continue to make things interesting for all the teams they meet until the end of the season.

Talley Went Well. Talley, one of the mainstays of the Giants' pitching staff, was in good form, but his team-mates seemed stagetruck and pulled some funny homehead plays.

In the fourth Carman batted out a double, took third when Cuyler kicked the ball around in the outfield and scored on Dempsey's sacrifice fly.

Two more runners trotted home in the fifth. Land nearly knocked Shannon over with a line drive to short, and Young followed with a neat bunt which Robke fielded, but was out.

The Capitals looked dangerous in the eighth when the bases were filled with two away. Church, who has fallen off lamentably in his hitting of late, failed to solve Talley's shoots and struck out.

Bevy of Stars to Swim in P. N. A. Gala

These swimmers will compete in the numerous events for women at the swimming meet to be held at the Gorge on Saturday, August 14. Reading from left to right they are as follows: Audrey Griffin, V. I. A.; Ann Mayhall, Crystal Swimming Pool, Seattle; Beth Langley, Seattle; Muriel Daniels, Edna Curry and Florie Gates, V. I. A.; and Mollie Langley, Seattle.

enthusiastic fans. So large was the crowd indeed that they overflowed across the south end and on the east side of the short fence down the side.

Rougher Than Usual. The game was marked by more rough play than usual and penalties which were handed out were fairly numerous. Incidentally it may be said that the paid attendance was treated to a fine assortment of fist-cuffs and club swinging and it appeared that the people in the stands were not satisfied with this, for there were several of these, both there and in the bleachers.

Lots of Rests. The Royals did not seem to relish the frequency with which Andy Macdonald was netting the ball in the first period, so at the beginning of the third period in a mixup in front of the New Westminster goal Hughie Gifford took a crack at Andy which opened a crease in the latter's head and it looked for a moment like a free-for-all.

RUTH STARTS TO HIT HOME RUNS ONCE MORE

Punched Out Circuit Blow Against St. Louis; George Sisler Also Took One

At Philadelphia yesterday the Philadelphia Athletics won their first game here as a local player, President Baker of the Philadelphia club announced the purchase of Catcher John Peters of the Birmingham Southern Association team.

At St. Louis, July 31.—Pounding three St. Louis pitchers for twenty-one hits, New York won yesterday's game, 19 to 3. Nine of the visitors' hits were for extra bases, two being home runs.

The locals could do nothing with Mays. Sisler's home run in the eighth inning was the fifth he also his second in two days.

Chicago, July 31.—Amos Strunk, recently obtained by Chicago from Philadelphia, yesterday turned the trick against his former teammates by driving in the run in the tenth which gave the locals a 6 to 5 victory.

Philadelphia, July 31.—The New York Giants made a clean sweep of the series with St. Louis by winning yesterday, 8 to 7, in a ninth-inning rally. McHenry, pinch hitter, put the Cardinals one run to the good in the ninth with a home run that also scored Lavan.

Brooklyn, July 31.—Cincinnati made it three out of four from Brooklyn by winning yesterday, 11 to 0. Eller held the Dodgers to six hits. Mammoux was knocked out of the box in the fourth.

Philadelphia, July 31.—Timely hitting by Wrightstone and Wheat was the feature of yesterday's 7 to 2 Philadelphia victory over Pittsburgh. Hubbell pitched his first game here as a local player.

Rain Spoils English Cricket; at Harrogate 26 Wickets Fell in One Day's Play

London, July 31.—(Canadian Associated Press).—Suffering from the effects of the rain the pitches in the four county cricket matches under review played into the bowlers' hands, this to such an extent that at Harrogate 26 wickets fell in the course of one day's play.

At Southampton the match was drawn, Southampton securing two points for the first time. Leeds scored 86 to Sussex 75. Newman took seven for 25, Cox five for 22.

VANCOUVER SHOTS WIN MORE HONORS

Pte. Caplin Wins Vancouver Match and Col. Keen, Dawson Match

Heat range, Saanich, July 31.—The shooting yesterday was very close and Vancouver, Markings captured most of the honors in the Vancouver match Pte. A. H. Caplin, V.R.A., of Vancouver, won with a score of 46, while Pte. E. Mitchell, Canadian Scottish, Victoria was second with 45.

Col. Keen, of Vancouver, won the Dawson Cup with a score of 49. E. Walker, New Westminster, was second with 35, and A. E. Parley, R.C.G. Victoria, third with 37.

Belmont, Mass., July 31.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, British golf professionals, defeated Francis Guimmet and Jesse Guilford, local amateurs in a best ball match at the Belmont Spring Country Club yesterday four up and two to play.

Greenwich, Conn., July 31.—Walter Hagen of New York, to-day defeated Jim Barnes, of St. Louis 7 to 4, retaining his title of open champion of the Metropolitan Golf Association.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON MAY COME TO CITY

Will Address Canadian Club if He Is Able to Reach Victoria

During a trip to the Pacific Coast, Sir Thomas Lipton, Baronet, the celebrated Irish yachtsman, may visit Victoria and if he does come this far north he will address a meeting of the Canadian Club.

In answer to an invitation to address the Canadian Club, dispatched recently by President John Cochrane, Sir Thomas has replied as follows:

"Very many thanks for your extremely kind telegram. I greatly appreciate the compliment conveyed therein, and nothing would give me greater pleasure than to accept. Engagements in the east, however, are occupying my time here for some weeks, but if it is at all possible later to go across to Victoria, I will be delighted to avail myself of your courteous invitation, and will advise you ahead. With best wishes,

"THOMAS LIPTON."

Ray and Vardon Defeat Quimmet and Guilford in Best Ball Match at Belmont

Belmont, Mass., July 31.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, British golf professionals, defeated Francis Guimmet and Jesse Guilford, local amateurs in a best ball match at the Belmont Spring Country Club yesterday four up and two to play.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Every big business has its parasites and cattle-rustling is the pest of the cattle business of the great South-west, particularly in the border of Texas. Wherever a cattle thief finds cattle straying over the immense stretches of grazing land (this was more common in the days before the use of barbed wire) he will find the most despised of all pilferers in that country, and it is generally considered that even killing is too good for him.

PANTAGES

One of the big matinee features of the current bill of Pantages vaudeville for Saturday audiences will be the presence on it of McKay's Scotch Revue. This is the kind of an act that Victorians seem to especially take delight in, and the other feature act of the present programme presents one of the finest musical offerings in vaudeville, Jan Rubini, assisted by his charming associate, Mile. Diane, of golden voice and nimble wit.

PRINCESS

The play is light and frothy, and the players themselves are decidedly refreshing in their delightful comedy characterizations.

SERVICES IN THE CITY CHURCHES

RAILWAYS, like men, have throats.

Like men, they may be choked.

Here for example is Blankville Junction.

The streams of traffic rumbling through this throat are daily growing heavier.

The local official, anxious to keep up the service in his district, asks for, say, $100,000 to blast out additional yard-room and lay new classification tracks.

"Yes," admits the Head Office visitor, "You ought to have that appropriation . . . I'll consider it."

Back in Head Office he considers five hundred recommended improvements just as necessary as the extension at Blankville. They would cost ten million dollars.

The cost of living for railways has overwhelmed their income accounts.

The disappearing margin between total costs and total revenue makes the problem of far-sighted management increasingly difficult and almost impossible of solution.

The fear of choking at throat points is in danger of becoming a real nightmare to officials and a genuine menace to the prosperity of the Dominion.

This is another reason why increased freight rates are necessary.

This is the fourth of a series of advertisements published under the authority of The Railway Association of Canada formerly the CANADIAN RAILWAY WAR BOARD

REV. J. G. INKSTER WILL HOLIDAY AT PORTLAND

The Rev. J. G. Inkster, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, accompanied by Mrs. Inkster and children, will leave on Wednesday next for Seattle from where they will motor down to Portland, Oregon. They will remain in Portland for five weeks, during which time Mr. Inkster will supply the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church of that city. He has also been invited to give two addresses at the Bible School at Gladstone Park and will return to his own pulpit on the second Sunday in September.

During Mr. Inkster's absence the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church will be occupied by the Rev. Alex. Esler, of the Robson Memorial Church, Vancouver, formerly of Cook's Church, Toronto. Mr. Esler will be accompanied to Victoria by Mrs. Esler and family and during their stay here will reside at the Presbyterian Manse.

REV. F. A. P. CHADWICK RETURNED FROM EAST

After an absence of some weeks in the East, Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick has returned to Victoria and will occupy the pulpit of St. John's Church at to-morrow's services.

Mr. Chadwick, who was accompanied by Mrs. Chadwick and Miss Betty Chadwick, was among the delegates attending the International Rotary Convention at Atlantic City, N. J. While in the East he also paid a visit to his former parish at Windsor, Ontario, and visited his old home at Guelph, Ontario. Mr. Chadwick was greatly impressed by the evidences of prosperity throughout the country, both in Canada and in the United States.

AT CATHEDRAL TO-MORROW

The course of sermons on Old Testament characters being delivered in Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday evenings, during the Summer months, by the Very Rev. C. E. Quinton, Dean of Columbia, will be continued to-morrow, with an address on the Life and Character of Moses, one of the most famous and widely-discussed of the great men of the Bible and the world's early history. The evening service in the Cathedral is now held at 7.30 p.m. At the morning service at eleven o'clock, the Dean will preach on part of "The Sermon on the Mount."

Pastors Exchange Pulpits.—Rev. Dr. H. N. Maclean, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, will preach in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Nanaimo, to-morrow, while Dr. J. K. Unsworth, of Nanaimo, will preach here in St. Paul's Church. Dr. Unsworth, who is Moderator of the Presbytery of Victoria and convenor of the Presbytery's Committee on Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies, is an ardent advocate of practical Christianity.

At Metropolitan Church.—John H. Cowell, Clerk of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta, will conduct the services at the Metropolitan Methodist Church to-morrow evening and will speak on "Progression."

HOME FROM ORIENT.—Dr. Thomas Van Ness, who recently visited Victoria before leaving for an Oriental tour, has now returned. Dr. Van Ness, who is pastor of Second Church, Boston, Mass., went to the Orient in the interests of the League to Enforce Peace.

The establishment of factories, mills and ten houses in the Hankow district and the construction of large new iron and steel works equipped with modern machinery and supervised by Chinese with American education were described by Dr. Van Ness in Seattle. He told of the old mines that are being reopened and operated along modern lines that are now producing more than double their former output.

Dr. Van Ness attributed the extreme confidence that the Chinese have in America and things American to the unselfish work of the missionaries and educators from this country and to the honesty of American merchants and manufacturers.

Second Church, Boston, is associated with the names of Cotton Mather, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Lathrop and others.

The minister delivered a sermon of but ten minutes duration—a most unusual effort for him being delivered. At the conclusion of his remarks he explained: "I regret to inform you, brethren, that my dog this morning playfully ate the portion of my sermon that I have not delivered. Let us pray."

After the services a man who was a member of another church shook the preacher's hand heartily and said: "Doctor, I should like to know whether that dog of yours has any pups. If so, I want to get one to give to our minister."

BRINGING MUSIC CLOSER TO THE MASSES.

Never before has anyone, rich or poor, had so great an opportunity to partake of the joys of music, as today. Everyday busy writers are wondering and working to find a way by which people should be led to know more about music and about all those things which are true and beautiful. Looking about the world we see everywhere the same thing. Each after its own needs and ways has some form or other of music. We know the music of our own land and home, music in the barren north and in countries of wild tribes and many other countries. Everyone sings, dances, and has instruments to play. It is through our highly talented music workers that we do this. As there is music in all places there has been music in all times and the more we study the past we shall see that it is different as it may, really it is very like the present. We find in Bach's work great care displayed in arranging in orderly manner. He sets up for himself models of correct things. If you look through a book of suites written by Bach you will see that he had very precise ideas how the music should be grouped. Music has a language of its own by which one can express feeling better than in any other way. When the melody is done, the song lingers in your memory, elusive as the echo of a dream and every note bearing its message of joy, happiness and sometimes sorrow and loss.

LISZT AND THE CRITIC.

An influential critic on one occasion took advantage of the precarious position of Liszt and offered to write a favorable review of his works if he would, as a form of payment, answer. "I never paid money for music criticism, neither do I seek their praise," Liszt replied. Liszt was not worthy of German appreciation as his preference for the French language is compromising Wagner and Bayreuth. Concerning his marvelous piano playing Helme used to say that "it was the purest expression of love the piano has ever known." His unparalleled charm resulted from the complete mastery over all branches of classical music, the most intimate style to the greatest and most complex forms. Even as he interpreted the works of other masters he was never interested in the music itself and although the greatest piano virtuoso of all times, he rang the death knell to virtuosity. Liszt was not content with straining for effect in piano playing as well as in composition or in his life. He used to say to his pupils, "Do not act like the present day virtuosi, there was an audience of concert pianists that made nervous the most of his pupils. One had to be very quick-witted to be able to give things to play at sight, and even from intricate scores.

THE AIMS OF MUSIC STUDY.

The aims and purposes of public school education have in recent years taken broad strides in a new direction. It seems that present day education is less concerned with the curriculum as a structure in the life of the individual, who is to reap the results of the years spent in school, the boy and the girl who through their training are being made the citizens of to-morrow. We have broadened our view of the methods of teaching, and believe that benefit is derived from other studies than fundamentals. The one large characteristic of the present educational tendency is not so much the intellectual, the physical or the vocational as it is that phases of school room activity which, while not slighting the other aspects of education, are mainly to prepare for good citizenship. This we may call social education, social development. The aims of music study have been rather loosely defined with regard to their value in cultural, vocational and social education. When we know just what music should strive to accomplish for the individual and what methods should be employed to reach this goal, we can formulate our designs for the best practical course of study from the musical viewpoint. While this problem of supreme importance is yet unsolved, we will assume that it is the duty of the teacher to listen to music as it is able to perform with the voice or on an instrument. It is now reported that the great pianist-statesman, Paderewski, has established himself as a private citizen in London. He recently received the honorary degree of D.C.L. from the Oxford University at that great college commemoration. There once stood in Lower Thames Street, Hall, the residence of that learned nobleman, John Tiptoft, Earl of Worcester, and Lord High Treasurer in the time of Edward IV. The Earl of Worcester was the generous patron of Caxton, England's first great printer, and was a great collector of books.

NEW PEAL OF EIGHT BELLS INSTALLED AT LINCOLN CATHEDRAL

The tenor or largest bell shown in the illustration weighs over five tons. The peal was installed by John Taylor & Co., bell founders, of Loughborough, England.

BELLS Their Development, Bell-ringing, Famous Peals.

Part I. By George J. Dyke. The bell is prehistoric in its origin, and the records of nearly all nations show the use of bells in one way or another, but bells have been sadly neglected by antiquaries, and the use of bells for calling religious gatherings is not obtained in antiquity. Small bells rung by hand were used, however, by the early Christians in their religious ceremonies. One reads in Exodus XXVIII: 21 a description of the high priest's dress at the celebration of the high sacrifices. Bells were also used in the early history of Egypt, Palestine, Greece, and by the Romans. But whilst bells were erected in connection with churches as early as the fifth century, the use of large bells suspended in towers did not become general until much later. Even up to the thirteenth century bells were only of small or moderate size and it was not until the fifteenth century that they reached considerable dimensions. Bells were first made in Campania, Italy—hence the science of campanology—between the years 400-500, and their use soon spread through Christendom. Some examples as old as the sixth century are still preserved in the British Isles. They were made of thin plates of hammered iron bent into a four-sided form fastened with rivets and braced or bronzed. A bell supposed to have belonged to St. Patrick is still preserved at Belfast. It is six inches high, three inches broad and four inches deep, and is made of iron. An inscription on the bell shows it was made between the years 1091 and 1105. The real development of bells and bell-ringing is due to the fervor of the church, and art combined of the Middle Ages. In the magnificent ecclesiastical edifices of Europe, but more particularly in the ancient and historic churches dotted about here and there throughout the British Isles, a closer attention was given to the installation of "sets" of bells.

The old Jaquinquin of Paris was cast in 1400 and weighed over seven tons, and the famous bell of Bouen, cast in 1500, weighed eight tons. The largest bell in the world is the bell of Moscow, cast in 1733. It is twenty-one feet high, twenty-one feet in diameter and weighs about 200 tons. The second bell of Moscow weighs 128 tons. The great bell of Burmah, twelve feet high and sixteen feet in diameter, weighs thirteen tons. Peking's great bell weighs over six tons. Those at the Houses of Parliament, London, weigh fifteen tons, and St. Paul's ("Great Paul") weighs over sixteen tons. The bell of "Big Ben" weighs between thirteen and fourteen tons. Cologne's big bell weighs twenty-five tons. St. Peter's, Rome, weighs nine tons; Notre Dame, Paris, fourteen tons, and Montreal Cathedral, over fourteen tons. The largest bell of the four in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Building in New York City weighs over three tons and is tuned to B flat. The "Great Tom" at Lincoln weighs five and a half tons, and his namesake at Oxford weighs thirteen tons. The great Hall big bell weighs over six tons, and the "Peter" of Exeter weighs five tons. The largest bell of the chime of ten of St. Paul's Church, Woodstock, Ontario, weighs over one ton. This chime was presented by a prominent resident of Woodstock. Bells are rung in peal in the British Isles only, with the exception of one or two rings of bells in the Colonies and America. (To be continued)

Handel's organ, on which "Messiah" was composed, has been sold at the sale of the Johnston heirlooms at Kilmore, Co. Arragh, Ireland, for £231. It is of mahogany, carved in the Chippendale style, and formerly belonged to Lord Ely. The music of Poland is strongly associated with pianoforte music, and many of the great pianists have been of Polish origin. The national dances of Poland are the mazurka and polonaise, both of which have been immortalized by Chopin. Poles are susceptible to romanticism and their songs are filled with a fire that in their great freedom of intricate rhythmic melodic intervals are revealed the influence of instrumental expression. Whilst the music of the four divisions of the Slavic race—Russian, Polish, Bohemian and Hungarian—possesses similar characteristics, the Poles, though their constantly being the slaves of other nations, show in their folk music the sad and the mournful.

COMING MUSICAL EVENTS

The forthcoming concert season next Winter promises some excellent attractions. Arrangements are pending regarding the great soprano, Ellen Beach Gray, Vilhaimur Steffanson, the world famed Arctic explorer, will come early in the season, and the American tenor, the "find" of Bonci, Albert Lindquist, with assisting artists, will also appear here. At the beginning of the New Year there is a possibility of the visit of two opera companies, and it is not altogether without hope that the great violinist, Kubelik, and Tebranzi will be engaged.

who made such a striking success last season at Covent Garden, was at one time a choir boy at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh.

The deepest voice in the world is said to be that of the Russian-American basso, Edward Lankow. He has a range from B below the bass staff to F above.

Tokio will have what will be known as the world's Sunday School convention from October 5 to 14 of the present year. The Emperor has given $2,000,000 yen to the fund. Thousands of Japanese adults and young people will take part in pageants, and a specially trained chorus of 1,000 voices will sing such choruses as "Unclasp Ye Portals," "Lynes 'Lift Up Your Heads'" and the "Hallelujah Chorus." In Japan boys and girls do not rehearse together, and children never with adults, so that their rehearsal daily rehearsals of small groups. The service of worship and song prepared for the world's Sunday School convention, October 19, will be translated into many languages for use all over the world on that date.

An anonymous gift of $50,000 has been made by a group of Cleveland, Ohio, people, towards the formation of a permanent music department of the Cleveland Museum of Art. About $50,000 of this money is to be used for the purchase of musical instruments, and the musical activities of the museum have only extended a little over two years, but through co-operation in the work by different musical organizations, concerts and lectures attracted more than 35,000 people in one year, and the people of Cleveland, too, supported the promoters well and with this much to start a city set an example and place itself in the lead of all others and thus, too, is the opportunity of giving more good music to a large number of people.

Werrenrath, who has just returned from a flying trip to Europe, which included two concerts in the Queen's Hall, London, has this much to say of the British concert-goer: "I found there a strong feeling of friendship for American artists and a very keen appreciation of their art—but it must be good and of the very highest standard. Critical judgment is backed by a profound knowledge, and the gentlemen of the English press do not hesitate to damn with fair praise, and more often praise with faint damns, anything even slightly artistic."

It is said that the hotels and restaurants in Paris have dispensed with orchestras and jazz artists owing to the increased taxes.

The Czech-Slovaks are among the most musical people of the world. Every other child can play the violin, and most of them play well. There is a fable to the effect that every male Bohemian is born with the mark of a violin on his right arm.

It must be very gratifying to the music teachers to have their pupils receive such high marks as were obtained by music students at the recent Summer musical examinations held in this city. In no case was there a pupil who did not receive less than sixty marks, and in no case was there a failure to pass.

Muriel Ker, nine years of age, of Regina, Sask., has won a scholarship at the Chicago Musical College. The scholarship is one of three given by Percy Grainger.

Isolde Menges, the well-known English violinist, was married a few weeks ago to Ted Boyd, whom she met during her American tour. Boyd, though a Bohemian, is a musician, has written many successful pieces.

The following epitaph relating to an organist in the fifteenth century named Blitheman, of the Queen's Chapel of St. Nicholas, in the ward of Queenhithe—or Queenhive as it was corruptly called by the Elizabethan dramatists—was preserved from the Great Fire of London (1666):

"Here Blitheman lies, a worthy sight,
Who feared God above;
A friend to all, a foe to none,
When rich and poor did love,
Of Prince's Chapel gentleman,
Unto his dying day,
Whom all took great delight to hear.
Him on the organs play;
Whose passing skill in music's art,
A scholar left behind,
John Bull (by name), his master's reeve,
Expressing in each kind,
But nothing here continues long,
Nor resting place can have;
His soul departed hence to heaven,
His body here is gone."

"He died on Whitsunday, Anno Domini 1597!"
Dame Clara Butt made her debut at Covent Garden in "Orpheus" last June. This opera by Gluck (pronounced Glook) was produced for the first time in Paris in 1774, and is the

HANDEL FESTIVAL AGAIN REVIVED

London, July 31.—The Handel Festival, a Victorian institution which some people professed to believe would not survive the changes brought about by the war, has been revived at the Crystal Palace, and apparently it retains all its old fascination for Londoners. This year the choir has been increased to 4,000, and the effect of this enormous concourse of massed singers is really quite remarkable from a spectacular point of view. The popular enthusiasm for this festival should go far to disprove the charge, so often brought against us, that we are not a musical people, although, on the other hand, there are not lacking those among ourselves who declare that the festival is not so much a matter of music as of athletics. It is, they say, one of the ways in which a section of the population takes its exercise! However that may be, the revival is an unqualified success and the Crystal Palace has come into its own again.

VATICAN CHOIR Will Be Allowed to Come to United States Next Year.

New York, July 31.—Word has been received from James Slevin, the impresario, now in Rome, that by special permission of Pope Benedict XV, the famous Vatican choir will be permitted again to tour the United States.

Last year the Pope for the first time in the history of the Vatican permitted the choir to leave Rome. They had a limited but triumphant tour of the United States, and Cardinal Gibbons and other eminent churchmen and students of higher sacred music urged Mr. Slevin to retain the choir in the United States for additional concerts. This was impossible, as the choir were required in Rome for important functions, including the beatification of Saint Joan of Arc. It is not known at present who will direct the choir. Monsignor Castmira Casimiri directed them last year.

MGR. C. CASIMIRI

MUSICAL NOTES

(By George J. Dyke) A number of prominent theatrical men in the United States have approached Scott Bone, the publicity manager of the Republican party, asking that the party incorporate a measure in the Republican platform to discontinue the luxury tax upon concert and opera tickets. It is said the issue will be included in that party's campaign.

Concert goers, have you not frequently noticed that whenever or wherever a particular soft passage of music is being performed, or a singer has his or her audience unusually attentive to a particularly well-sung portion of the song, some untoward noise mars the occasion? An automobile on the street shrieks its horribly discordant note, or a steamship or tug blurt out three or four blurry blast of their whistles. And we sit back and think only.

A memorial tablet to one of England's well-known composers, Sir William Sterndale Bennett, has been recently erected in the Cathedral Church at Sheffield, the birthplace of the composer, marking the centenary of his birth on April 13, 1816. The tablet, besides an appropriate inscription, bears the first two bars of the well-known chorus, "God is a Spirit," from the composer's cantata, "The Woman of Samaria." only opera in which the hero is a woman. It had to be adapted for contralto voice as the part of "Orpheus" was found too high for tenor voices.

The Gregorian chants were taught, by order of Charlemagne, in all the schools throughout France, and from that great statesman's time until the present day France has occupied an important position in the world's music. Many of the French folk songs belong to the period of the Jongsieus and Troubadours (from 1100), and the influence of the instruments and the music of the Far East brought into France by these people left a definite impression on French folk song. The purest form of the old folk song to be found in Brittany, where to-day the singing of rounds is quite popular. The singing games of the French children are reflected in the dances, which have always been so popular in France. These dances were very simple and belong at first to the people, but were soon copied by the nobility, and afterwards associated with Court life. These dances were invariably introduced into the opera and became the ballet music of the seventeenth century, which still remains one of the most popular forms. Preceding the French Revolution, music played an important part in the life of the Court, and the most popular songs of this period are known as "Berguettes." That most inspiring of all patriotic songs, the "Marseillaise," and many other songs of a national character came into being at the time of the Revolution.

The new Puccini operas—eagerly awaited for a year or more—were included and successfully produced at the recent Covent Garden season. These operas, three in number, are short works, each a study in contrast and each taking us through the same gamut of emotions in various operas. There is the love story with the tragic ending, and finally the comedy (something new for Puccini) to send us away with a laugh. The names of these operas are "Gianni Schicchi," "Il Tabarro" and "Suor Angelica."

TO THE CITY OF VICTORIA, B. C.
Thou land of broom and sunshine,
And quiet, peaceful ways,
I love your sturdy oak trees,
Your breezy "lamb" days,
Your streeless lanes and roadways,
The castle on the hill,
I love your lazy meadows,
And every rock and rill,
The saucy little buttercup
Uplifts its merry face,
To greet the laughing daisy,
Such simple, childlike grace!
The warble of feathered songsters,
Here, there, about is heard,
(And here I saw a secret—one day
"Twice—I saw a blue-bird")
The mountains in the distance,
The lap, lap of the ocean wave,
The marvelous glow of sunset,
Should satisfy king or knave.
Thou quaint piece of "Old Country,"
Of Welsh and English pride,
Ye wee bit of Highland Mary,
And Shamrock green beside,
I sing to you my praises,
I have sung it oft before,
Your sister nation greets you
From Mt. Adams' lustrous shore.

BY CAR AND ON FOOT. TO PEAKS ROUND CITY

Fine Views May Be Secured by Climbs of From 300 to 750 Feet

The position of the motorist and the pedestrian may often run along parallel lines in the opening up of districts to access, though the pedestrian generally precedes the former as his needs are less, but in some places around Victoria the pedestrian can readily be provided with facilities which are not needed by the motorist. Such is the case with Mount Douglas.

In the days before the development of Saanich Hill took place, the necessary road having to precede the construction of the observatory, there was a great outcry for a motor road to the summit of Mount Douglas. Influenced by that definite expression of opinion, the City Council some years ago built a road part of the way up the mountain, which is in fairly constant use by car owners, but it may be stated that the majority prefer still to use the turn out to the south exit and pass out of the park that way.

Now that the motorist can view the scenery of the Saanich peninsula set out as a panorama below from the summit of the observatory hill, there is not the urgent need for a motor road to the top of Mount Douglas, though a trail to the summit by an easier grade than at present is possible would be appreciated. The announcement that the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee contemplates such a trail will be welcomed by all lovers of the outdoor life.

The condition of the Mount Tolmie road has not been one to encourage motorists to leave their cars on the road for a climb up Mount Tolmie, but when the work at present in hand has been finished conditions should undoubtedly be better, and more people should seek the summit.

Few of the other hills of the Saanich peninsula afford the same attractions to motorists, and pedestrian, although one of the minor, monadnocks, Christmas Hill, may be reached from a good road, and commands a fine view over a large valley.

There are twenty-three States in the Union with a registration of more than 100,000 motor vehicles.

The shortage of gasoline and tires makes motoring almost an impossibility in Germany.

Humanity of the Road Often Is Overlooked

Much has been written about the road as an innate thing. Authors have word-painted the beauties of the broad highway. Poets have sung the praises of the open road. Artists have painted the silent mysteries of Nature's wonderful breathing spaces. The geniuses of verbal expression have done a master work in drawing forth an appreciation for the routes of common travel; those great stretches of land with numerous tributaries which are the connecting links between a rural and urban people—binding them, grip-like, into a more sociable family. This fact, no doubt, is responsible for the oft-used term "good roads." If their goodness ended here, their influence would be somewhat limited. As it is, they are cosmic good.

The pleasure-seeking motorist glides over the smooth-surfaced roads with positive contentment and breathes with freedom the freshness of woods and fields. But what is true of life relationships applies equally to the broad highway. One cannot always receive pleasure and not expect to give something in return. The road, being a constant giver of enjoyment, exacts a toll in exchange—an expression of self in an emergency.

This is the personal side of the road—that which invites helpfulness to the distressed and makes the disabled motorist a newly made friend. If the roodly influence of the road were here circumscribed, its righteousness would be restricted in scope. There is another characteristic radiating from the road which makes it in truth a missionary. For here at times birth is given to the highest and noblest qualities of human nature.

A pedestrian may be roaming idly along the highway and he is met by a motorist alone. The walker is asked to ride, the men exchange words and, although strangers, they are made sociable people. Selfishness has been robbed of being.

Then, again, the car may seat several occupants, and the knight of the highway is invited to share an unoccupied place and their society. He reads in the invitation sympathy, kindness, and realizes that there is humanity in every mile of the avenue of mortal wayfarers. All that is needed is the circumstance to call these finer, inherent characteristics into expression.

TRUCK DRIVER LIKE ENGINEER

Should Know All About Machine and Give It Good Care

(By F. C. Horner, Transportation Engineer.)

The driver of a motor truck should be considered in the same class with a locomotive engineer. He should know all about how his truck operates and give it just as good care as an engineer does his locomotive. Both must obey certain rules in order to be experts, and successful in their particular line.

When a driver takes his truck out on a trip he should, before starting, be sure that he has enough gasoline in his tank to bring him home or at least to the next filling station. Suppose he takes a chance and, not having examined the gasoline supply, finds himself in the woods miles away from home or any filling station and out of gasoline. The result of such negligence will probably cost the truck owner the expense of a telephone call, sending out a supply of gasoline, and the loss of time on the truck, and such a finding may also mean the loss of a customer. The driver will probably lose his job, or at least be laid off without pay for a few days. Now which pays—five minutes' time finding out whether there is gas enough in the tank, or the other way?

When starting on a run it is not only a good rule to know there is enough oil in the crank case, but it is also wise always to have a spare can of oil on the truck in case of an emergency. Remember, an engine will not run long without oil. In most cases outside damage can be done to an engine run with even insufficient oil in it, but if run without any oil it may be only good for the scrap pile. A driver should be sure of the oil supply in the transmission and differential, also, but never have any doubt about his engine having sufficient oil. Bear in mind that a good truck driver does not trust the oil gauge on the dash, which shows only oil pressure, but tries the gauge cock on the crank case, just as a locomotive engineer never trusts his water glass, but constantly tries his gauge cock to make sure his boiler has enough water.

Examine the water supply in your radiator at least once a day—when starting out in the morning is the best time. We all know it is generally easy to find water along the road, but if it is discovered that the radiator is almost empty and there is no water within several miles, then what? Better to use your head when starting out in the morning than to use your feet away out on some road. It is a good plan always to carry a pail with which to fill the radiator. A canvas one, not rubber, is the best and takes up little room. To make money a motor truck must be kept moving, therefore the driver should try in every way to avoid delays. Delays for which he is responsible will cost his boss money and may cost the driver his job.

NEW GAS SUBSTITUTE

After a series of trials in motor boats, the British Admiralty has just made a confidential report on the far-reaching possibility of using a new motor fuel—"nattal"—in naval vessels.

This substitute for gasoline, which has been used successfully three years in Natal, South Africa, the fuel manager at a automobile association said recently, is a mixture of alcohol and ether and other things and is made cheaply in South Africa, where there are large tracts of waste vegetation from which power alcohol can be extracted.

It is manufactured in some places as a byproduct of the sugar industry.

The number of motor vehicles increased 373 per cent. in the period from 1911 to January 1, 1920.

TIRE CODE

Keep tires properly inflated. Be sure to repair little cut threads regularly. Prevent blowouts by avoiding severe jolts. Have mud boils cleaned out and resupplied at once. Be careful in placing tubes. Avoid sudden starts, quick stops and skidding. Use talc in castings, but not too much. Keep out of ruts and car tracks. Apply chains properly and take them off as soon as the need for them is gone. Remove grease, oil and acids from your tires at once by using a cloth moistened with gasoline. Examine clincher rims occasionally for irregularities and rust. Carry spare tubes in a bag. Keep spare tires covered.

BATTERY REPAIRING

Is it necessary to take a storage battery to an expert for repairs? A question was recently asked of I. M. Noble, electrical engineer for a large manufacturing concern, who replied:

"Unless a man has made a close detailed study of storage batteries he ought to leave any repairs that may be needed to an expert. He should neither make them himself nor permit a so-called handy man to do them for him."

MANY SQUEAKS IN LIGHT CARS

Most Noises, However, Have a Remedy, Often a Simple One

Nearly every car which costs less than $2,000, has a squeak, groan or rattle, which offends the ears of driver, passenger and pedestrian as well. It may be a tiny squeak where two unlubricated surfaces rub together from vibration, or the rattle of loose brake linkage, or some other loose part, but it goes to make up the chorus of every busy highway. In higher priced cars money has been spent to eliminate the cause of most noise, though occasionally one of the luxury cars will develop a squeak of prodigious proportions.

Not all noise of cheaper cars can be eradicated. But although there may be some such noises which are indigestible, the great majority can be prevented and overcome by intelligent action. Riding in a taxicab a few days ago, an annoying squeak jarred the nerves. I found that the vibration of the car and loose hinges made the door shake. The catch rubbed against the stop and the squeak was the result. A drop or two of oil will end such a noise for a time.

This same vibration might cause body and dash to rub and squeak if not bolted tight, or if no felt strip be interposed to prevent noise. Nearly all light cars vibrate excessively, partly because the frame is so light that it is not perfectly rigid, as are the frames of the heavier cars, and it bends and gives with the unevenness of the highway and jolting over car tracks and other bumps. Where such is the case it is almost impossible to prevent all sorts of noises.

If the body is not bolted tight to the frame it will rattle. It used to be considered good to put in a felt strip to overcome this; a strip of cotton tape is used in most cases today. But be sure to keep the nuts on the fastening bolts tight, with lock washers to keep them from slipping.

USE 300 GALLONS YEAR

Passenger automobiles, it is estimated, use on an average of 300 gallons of gasoline each year, and motor trucks 1,500 gallons.

CANADIAN MOTORS IN FRANCE, SPAIN; TELLS OF TROUBLE

University of Toronto Professor Says Big Wine Casks Ruin Roads

(By Professor N. W. DeWitt, University of Toronto.)

Paris, July 24.—The French speak badly about present conditions and carefully explain that before the war the roads were not neglected. By actual experience one finds that if they say a road is good, you will find it to be extremely good, and if they say it is bad, it may yet seem pretty good to a Canadian.

Around Paris the roads are badly in need of repair, but as we went south they improved and particularly in the mountainous country. For example, one can drive through the mountains between Moulins and Lyons for half a day over the smoothest macadam with superb scenery thrown in and picturesque villages to punctuate the intervals. Around Lyons the roads deteriorate again, but great activity is seen in the work of repair and modern road machinery is also in evidence. We must have passed over the same hundreds of miles of crushed stone in readiness by the wayside.

It might be mentioned, by the way, that a very short section of road is torn up at one time so that the inconvenience to travellers is slight.

Traffic of Heavy Wine Casks.

As you enter Provence, the southernmost part, the roads are slightly better, but the side roads are superb, at least where we made trial of them. West of Marseilles the dust is very heavy on account of the continuous traffic of heavy wine casks drawn by two or three horse-drawn tandems. The enormous weight of these casks on a two-wheeled cart grinds the surface of the road to dust at a rapid rate.

The roads from Toulouse westward toward the Atlantic, which is not a wine country, are the best in France at the present moment, although I am told that the same may be said of the highways out of Bordeaux. Great numbers of cars arrive at the latter place by sea and on certain roads one meets the continuous traffic in transit. On the whole, however, it is surprising that one meets so few cars. We sometimes drove for fifty miles over superb roads without meeting more than one or two cars.

Resort of Late King Edward.

Down towards Biarritz, the favorite resort of the late King Edward, near the Spanish border, one begins to meet tourists more frequently, mostly Spaniards with handsome cars, equipped in many cases with every conceivable accessory. Spain is prosperous, and as one Frenchman said to me, "They are traveling enormously."

The roads in the mountains between France and Spain, as we learn both by report and experience, are splendid. Between San Sebastian and Victoria, the first city on the way to Madrid, we rode for hours over a perfect road, with long easy gradients winding up the mountain valleys and down again.

Motoring in Spain.

This is in the Basque provinces, and from time to time an official with red trousers and a red cap presented himself in the way and demanded five pesetas ($1). This is a tax on motorists, but one pays it with good grace when highways are so well maintained, and one can even overlook the danger in the man's belt.

They are really very kind and courteous when met with courtesy, and give one directions with the greatest pains. In certain places, however, they compel motorists to make a detour around their villages. Although they collected from us 17 pesetas, or about $3.40, and in each instance delivered a receipt.

The roads through the level country as far as Madrid are generally good, with some stretches that deserve higher commendation. Motorists drive from Burgos to Madrid, 240 kilometers, in five hours. In this distance, except for 80 kilometers, the road permits one to drive at any speed.

Hotel Accommodation Good.

French hotels are often good even in small places. As a matter of fact, we never fared better than in a town of 4,000 people, where there was no electric light, and the worst entertainment was experienced in a modern hotel in a frequented place, where there was an elevator not running, and interphones out of order. Many hotels are undergoing after-war repairs—very inconvenient to guests.

The ordinary charge for the night for a car varies from two to five francs in France, which to a Canadian at present rates of exchange means 20 to 50 cents. A large, modern garage in Lyons, for example, charged 5 francs. Country hotels usually have a locked coach house for which 100 or three francs is charged.

In Spain the rates are relatively the same, but actually double, since the peseta is worth nearly 20 cents.

Gasoline Scarce in Cities.

Gasoline, both in France and Spain, is often cheaper outside of the cities on account of a municipal tax, which in Valladolid, Spain, was one peseta on each "bidon" of five litres (slightly more than one gallon). For the same reason gasoline is scarce in cities. For example, in Toulouse, a large city, there was none at all, although we found it in the first place we inquired beyond the city limits. About the supply one hears constantly of, scarcity, but it is usually told where he may find it. Both in France and Spain one may buy it at the drug stores, different here from the pharmacy, as well as at the garages.

SHURFLO OIL VALVE

Insures the Life of Your Ford

Price $7.50. Installed in Your Car.

Ford Owners Can Avoid Repair Bills

How? Well, the thing that generally sends a Ford car to the shops is clogging or partial clogging of the small oil tube leading from the rear to the front end of the motor. The use of the SHURFLO valve will absolutely prevent scoring of cylinders and "burnouts." It is mechanically perfect. It will save you shop expenses that run from $25 to $60, and it will prolong the "Life" of your car.

You cannot afford to drive another day without it.

Prejudice to Blame

That Is the Cause of All the Trouble Between the Jay-Walker and the Man Behind the Steering Wheel; Each Neglects Rights of the Other.

(By L. J. Faulkner)

Everyone is prone to view things through glasses that fit his own eyes and, incidentally, his wishes. Hence, in the traffic question, as far as it relates to causes in accidents, there are two widely divergent viewpoints. The man in the street, rated into auto lingo as "jay walker," and the man in the car, commonly called by pedestrians the "speed maniac," each roundly blames the other. To the unfortunate who does not own a car there is always a feeling of pique and jealousy. To the owners of automobiles, on the contrary, there is a feeling of superiority over the "poor" pedestrian.

A great many drivers seem to think that a person has no business in crossing the street—at least, the attitude of some would convey that impression. They will tear by crossings with a loud snort of their horn if a slow walker does not quickly get out of their way. This is all wrong. The man crossing the street within the specified limits of a street crossing has an ABSOLUTE RIGHT WITHIN THOSE PRECINCTS, no matter what speed he may wish to use in making the crossing. He has so much right that even an auto should come to a standstill before it in any way hurrying him from his rightful position. Many drivers have a habit of tearing around corners in dependent of the fact that at every corner he negotiates there are two crossings which he must pass over and which are reserved for people who desire to cross the street, and while they are crossing the street they have the absolute legal right to be there, and it is for the auto driver to protect them and not for them to protect themselves. This does not mean that the street crosses should absolutely ignore all reasonable care to avoid the unexpected, but there should be consideration shown to him when he is pursuing the path laid down by the city government for his protection. On the other hand, the auto driver is constantly harassed by the man who absolutely ignores crossings and takes the most direct line to his destination by crossing in the middle of the street or diagonally. When they do this they do so at their own risk, because within these precincts the auto has the right of way.

One of the greatest menaces there in connected with the traffic problem is the man who pays no attention when he steps from the curb and crosses out of the beaten paths laid down for his use, neither looks to the right or left, and seems to imagine, in his indifference to danger, that he has a perfect right to make such a crossing. He is ABSOLUTELY IN THE WRONG.

Again, a person will walk from behind a street car, giving no thought or looks to oncoming traffic. Here, again, the walker is at fault, and it is this sudden appearance of a pedestrian from behind a car that is the cause of a great many accidents. It is almost impossible, no matter how careful a driver of a car may be, or how he knows in advance that a person is about to emerge from behind a car and practically in front of his oncoming machine, and when such an event occurs it is almost impossible for the autoist to avoid a collision.

Let there be fairness on both sides; let neither one nor the other ask that which is unreasonable or exact that which is not their due; let pedestrians keep to the paths which have been allotted to them by the city government, still with a cautious eye for the careless autoist, and let the driver remember that as he approaches a crossing he is taking his machine on ground within which he is not privileged to encroach.

If there could be inculcated in both the minds of the walker and the driver these simple rules, a great, great many accidents could be avoided.

city, is not ready to stop instantly and the foot should instinctively go to the brake pedal as the hand goes to the horn.

It is not necessary to blow a horn in passing a vehicle in the city streets unless there is a likelihood that the driver ahead may turn in front of you, and the rule says he shall indicate this purpose by holding out the hand before turning the wheel, so that by watching him you know what he is going to do.

On Country Roads

Driving along a country road it is customary when desiring to pass the car ahead to blow the horn once. The other fellow responds by turning out slightly to let you pass. If he does not he either has not heard or he sees something ahead to prevent his turning out, and a second signal may be given. It is also proper to give a signal before reaching the top of a hill, particularly on a narrow road, to avoid the possibility of a head-on collision; also to sound the horn at cross-roads where there is not a plain view, to make sure that there will be no collision.

In meeting another vehicle there is no need of sounding the horn unless the other fellow seems inclined to crowd you into the ditch, and most always, if he is trying to, you had better go there to avoid danger, because the other driver may be irresponsible, drunk or just a plain road hog who does not care. Get out of the way of such, but take the number and report it to the police.

Try some time on a trip to see just how few times it is really necessary to blow the horn and probably you will be very much surprised. One of the places where you will not need to blow it will be at a railroad crossing when the locomotive is coming. That is one case where you had better mind the other fellow's signal. The only real use for the horn at a railroad crossing might be to wake the watchman to make sure that your passage across is absolutely safe.

HOW MOTOR WHEELS ARE PAINTED NOW

Efficiency in Factory Helps to Cut Price of Automobile

Application of the old-law of gravitation has contributed added efficiency to the producing systems of one of the large automobile manufacturers. This new method in the painting of wheels alone effects a sixty per cent. saving in the time consumed under old methods in the painting of them. And a better job of painting is secured. This saving is typical of the economies throughout the plant which give the public a quality car at reasonable prices.

Under the old plan the wheels, after receiving one coat of priming paint, were inspected and given a second coat of putty. This putty treatment was sanded down and the wheels placed in racks and taken to a small paint booth.

In the paint booths the greatest delays were encountered. Operators using spray paint cups, had to paint

BRAKE LININGS NEED ATTENTION

Car Should Never Be Operated Unless They Are Perfect

You probably have noticed that at times your brakes don't hold. It frequently is the cause of serious accidents, for the brakes are the only safety device on a motor car.

Very likely the brake lining has become coated with oil or grease, which acts as a lubricant. This condition is dangerous, for it may cause the brakes to slip when applied. At the earliest opportunity the lining and the brake drums should be wiped clean with kerosene.

Or the brake lining may have become worn so that insufficient pressure is brought to bear against the revolving metal drum, and the car cannot be stopped quickly. A few adjustments, which any mechanic can make while you wait, will often compensate for the reduced thickness of the worn lining.

If the lining has become worn beyond the margin of safety, it is best to have the brakes relined. In the selection of new brake lining, the motorist should be guided by the experience of the leading automobile engineers, who have made numerous analyses and tests of various kinds of brake lining material.

The wise motorist is satisfied not alone in being able to drive a car, but thankful that he can stop it. He values a smooth, short stop no less than he appreciates a quick, easy getaway. Watch the brakes—enjoy greater comfort and safety.

STARTER EASY TO FIX

When It Fails Cause of Trouble Not Difficult to Find.

When pressure on the starter pedal or button fails to cause the engine to crank the trouble is usually difficult to find, though it may be quite hard to remedy.

The usual cause of such troubles are: Weak battery, poor contact of the cables with the battery, a short circuit caused by cable insulation being worn through, switch trouble, or trouble in the starting motor.

A battery test will quickly tell if the cables of the current are tight. If the battery is up to charge, then the cables should be examined and the terminals cleaned and tightened. Then the cables themselves should be examined.

The starting motor brushes being worn often cause trouble and in much-used starters the commutator may be worn. The starter switch may stick or make such poor contact as to deliver little current.

If in pressing the pedal there is a whirling sound but no cranking, the spring on the starting motor shaft may be broken.

Representatives of the leading organizations of the motor car industry have prepared a uniform anti-theft motor law to protect the 7,500,000 automobile owners in this country. The maximum imprisonment for automobile theft is recommended to be fixed at ten years, with a maximum fine of $5,000.

More than 3,000 motor cars are registered in San Paulo, Brazil. Of these 140 are used for commercial purposes, and the remainder for passenger traffic.

The record broad jump for automobile is sixty-eight feet.

GOOD DRIVER DOES NOT DO TOO MUCH HORN-BLOWING

Constant Tooting a Sign of Poor Control of Vehicle

(By H. C. Brokaw)

The really good driver does not find it necessary to blow his horn except in emergency or actual danger. When I hear some of the tooting being done nowadays I am inclined to wish that Mrs. Isaac Rice and her Anti-Noise Society would get busy once more.

There was a time when the only sort of vehicle which required a noisy signal was the sleigh. On a dark night the sleigh moved along so silently that the bells were necessary to prevent accidents. The fish horn, the junkman's cowbells or the milkman's hand bell were the only other signals warning of the approach of a vehicle.

The silent moving bicycle brought in a new era. It was necessary to warn people of its approach, but the warning was not intended to make people jump or rush violently out of the way. The bicycle rider was on the look-out for pedestrians and he desired only that they should not suddenly step in front of his wheel. The pedestrian had the right of way.

Pedestrians Supreme

When the automobile came into use the bicycle horn or bell served the same purpose. It was understood that the pedestrian had the first right of way in the highway, and the driver must see that this right was preserved. When the car supplanted the horse in large part we began to hear the automobilist talking about his "rights"; he insisted that pedestrians keep off the road, and the horn began its peremptory command to get out of the way or be run over.

There are some autoists who think they have prior rights on the roadway and that pedestrians should keep to the sidewalk, but this is not a fact. It does not matter what ordinances or police regulations there are to the contrary, the pedestrian has the first right of way in any highway. Even the United States Supreme Court has decided this point and no ordinance can take away the right of the pedestrians, according to that authority.

More Courteous Drivers

If all pedestrians are allowed to go as they pleased it would disrupt all automobile traffic, but nevertheless it is the law, whether we like it or not. Nevertheless, suppose a lot of drivers will persist in disregarding those rights and in blowing the horn violently upon every possible occasion, insisting that people get out of the way. In fact, too much horn-blowing indicates the novice and seems to say: "I have not got my car under control, so get out of my way."

But there is coming to be, more and more, a set of drivers who realize that the courtesy of the drawing room or business office can be applied to the highway without discomfort or delay. They have learned that it is not necessary to blow the horn every time they see someone trying to cross the street or they meet another vehicle. A certain amount of signalling is needed in driving, but I am willing to assert that I can drive from Esquimalt to Oak Bay without tooting the horn half a dozen times, and this would be only to warn pedestrians or drivers who were running into unseen danger.

Unnecessary Blowing

It is not necessary to blow the horn if the driver or pedestrian has seen you or if they will be well out of the way before you get to them. If not seen, sound the horn once and be ready to stop. The man or woman who, when driving through the

The Thrift of a

comes from its special steels

Nearly 400,000 owners know well how thrifty a Maxwell really is.

Men in the trade in selling other cars often use the expression "as thrifty as a Maxwell."

Special steels are the underlying cause of Maxwell's thrift.

These are steels made to Maxwell's own formulae, after years of tests, analysis and study, which make possible the ideal construction of great strength and light weight.

They give a Maxwell the ability to stand wear, strain, twists and jolts that other cars much larger and heavier would have difficulty to resist.

But they make a Maxwell light. They eliminate useless weight; they ease the burden of the engine, and thus gas, oil and tires render long mileage results.

Hence, the ever-growing respect and admiration for Maxwell the world over; and its consequent fast growing numbers. Nearly 400,000 in use to-day; a year hence 500,000.

Look at this one! A five-roomed, fully modern semi-bungalow in one of the city's best localities, about 10 minutes walk to school and City Hall. We have been authorized to sacrifice this little home at an extremely low figure. House consists of double entrance hall; butrap and paneled walls; a really beautiful parlor with large bay windows and open fireplace; archway to a good living room, paneled in butrap, also with large open red brick fireplace; pass pantry, fully equipped with sink, cupboard, etc.; nice little kitchen; 3 good sized bedrooms and bathroom upstairs; house has full sized basement, half cemented, and good furnace; lot 12x17, with garage at the rear. This is really a most convenient little home and is in good condition. At the price asked it cannot be beaten. While it lasts,

Warm Weather Meals

BREAD and vegetables are the most healthful hot weather foods. There are many delicious meals based on these—delicious salads of fresh vegetables and fruits with plenty of thin cut, fine white wholesome bread such as SHELLY'S 4-X—always uniformly good. Shelly's 4-X is scientifically mixed and baked, crispy crusted and delicious. You can't eat too much of it these days, as it takes the place—satisfactorily—of higher priced foods. And you will never be afraid of ordering an EXTRA loaf, for there are scores of ways of utilizing it so that there are never any "left-overs." At your grocer's or from the bakery.

POLICE AND SETTLERS HINT-ACCUSED MAN

Look For O. Ogle, Charged With Murder, North of Prince George

Prince George, July 31.—Ranchers and settlers in the North country are joining with the provincial police in a search for Orville Ogle, who was found by a coroner's jury to have been the murderer of Thomas Dodd last Monday.

Indian Trackers. Indian trackers have gone out to aid the provincial police officers. Many believe there is little chance of capturing Ogle, who is a super woodsman of very powerful physique, a wonderful marksman and armed with a revolver and a .22 high-powered rifle.

Boys Testified. The story of two boys, Harry Diamond and Marvin Kaske, proved the murder. These boys were walking on the road and saw a machinist coat. They heard groans over a bank and discovered Dodd's body, by which the murderer was kneeling.

Highly Respected. The deceased was a highly respected pioneer settler of Mud River. The funeral was conducted by the I. O. O. F. yesterday. He was prominent in agricultural societies and was a director in the Central Farmers' Institute of the district.

DEATH OF CHICAGO DIAMOND MERCHANT IS INVESTIGATED

Chicago, July 31.—Miss Ruth Woods, a pretty hotel cashier, who was alone with Samuel T. A. Lottis, head of the diamond firm of Lottis Brothers, when he died suddenly in his luxurious apartment last night, told the police to-day that Lottis crumpled to the floor dead after they had engaged in a "friendly struggle."

Following an autopsy, Dr. James P. Simonds, coroner's physician, said Lottis' death had been caused by a cerebral hemorrhage, produced by external violence. The injury probably was the result of Lottis' fall, the physician said.

EFFORTS TO KILL AND TO UNTANGLE NEW BYLAW FAIL

Alderman Patrick Calls the Council "A Hopeless Bunch"

OVERHEAD FIXTURE LEVIES APPROVED

Last minute attempts by disputing members to bring the new Overhead Fixture Taxation Bylaw back into its original form and, on the other hand, to negative it altogether failed during a warm meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon. All of which caused Alderman Joseph Patrick, one of the sponsors of the ordinance, to exclaim as the debate drew to a close, "I have nothing to say—this is a hopeless bunch!"

When the new bylaw—which provides for the taxation of overhanging signs and gasoline and oil pumps—came up for discussion at yesterday's meeting, Alderman Sargent, its champion, made an eleventh-hour effort to have its original provisions, recently eliminated, re-instated. As it originally stood the bylaw provided for the taxation of signs, awnings, verandahs, porticoes and pumps, but last week the Council eliminated the tax on all but signs and pumps. Alderman Sargent wanted the latter incorporated, and he proceeded to make an emphatic protest against the Council's attitude. At the last meeting he accused the opponents of the bylaw of playing for votes, but yesterday he confined himself to a vigorous plea for the measure.

Ingratitude. "We asked the Provincial Government for assistance in time of distress," he reminded his colleagues, "and we specifically asked it for permission to levy a tax on these overhead fixtures. It is no new thing, as some of the aldermen have intimated, for we thrashed out the whole matter before asking the Government about it. If we don't take advantage of the relief they allowed in this form we ask them for anything else again," he demanded. "If you are going to kill the tax on some of the fixtures throw out all of them. Be fair. If we don't collect from one class of citizen in this matter why collect from any? We are not levying a tax upon people because they happen to own signs and so on, but because they are taking up part of the streets. It is claimed that when the merchants erect awnings and verandahs they are benefiting the public. True, but those fixtures were erected primarily for the benefit to the merchant. The revenue from this bylaw, I admit, will be small, but it will show the people and the Government that we are doing the best we can under the prevailing conditions."

Alderman Andros here remarked that some of the aldermen had been accused at a previous meeting of opposing the bylaw in order to secure votes. He would not say who had made this accusation, nor would he say what he was thinking after listening to Alderman Sargent. The Council, however, could well guess, he observed. Apparently the Council did guess for it laughed heartily.

Petty and Vexatious. "The proposed taxation is petty, vexatious and difficult to collect," declared Alderman Todd. "If you wish to collect more money from the merchants you should increase their license fees instead of taking it indirectly in this way. What we want is the taxation which the Government took away from us, not schemes of this kind. In regard to the proposed tax on signs, I maintain that lighted signs at night are a big attraction in the city and should be encouraged."

This drew forth the strong criticism of Alderman Patrick. "That alderman," said Alderman Patrick, referring to Alderman Todd, "talks about increasing the license fees, and yet he sat in this Council for years and allowed merchant prices to pay $10 a year as a license fee!"

"I must call the alderman to order as I have had to do before for these inaccurate statements," replied Alderman Todd. "It was the first one to urge legislation allowing the increase in license fees."

"Nevertheless, it is a fact," Alderman Patrick went on, "that the license fees were increased to a proper basis during the year when Alderman Todd was not in the Council. If he tried to increase license fees he didn't succeed, anyway."

Alderman Todd claimed that the ultimate increase in license fees had been the result of his previous efforts.

Don't Use Powers. "We asked the Government specifically for power to tax these fixtures mentioned by name," Alderman Patrick claimed. "Now, while complaining of a lack of revenue sources, we refused to use the powers granted us by the Government." The alderman argued in favor of taxing awnings. In some cases, he pointed out, signs were painted on awnings, and the Council proposed to tax signs. What could be done in such circumstances, he asked.

"We should strike all signs out!" answered Alderman Todd.

"Oh, yes, you would strike out everything, I would not expect you to consider anything reasonable."

At all of this Alderman Todd laughed heartily. He proceeded, however, to move the reconsideration and elimination of the tax on awnings with the idea in mind, he intimated, of moving the rejection of the whole bylaw. His motion received the support of Alderman Johns, Polterton and Dewar, and was defeated. As this was a clear test of the Council's view Alderman Todd did not press further his effort to defeat the bylaw, while Alderman Sargent made no attempt to re-instate the tax on awnings and verandahs.

Then, to cap the debate as the bylaw was finally passed with last week's amendments, Alderman Patrick rose and exclaimed, "I have nothing to say—this is a hopeless bunch!"

"You bet," agreed Alderman Todd.

BRIDGE TENDERS ON SCHEDULE AND LUMP-SUM BASIS

Council Decides on Method of Asking New Viaduct Bids

HEAR SOLDIER AND LABOR VIEW

Striking a compromise between conflicting views on the subject, the City Council yesterday afternoon decided to call for tenders for the installation of the substructure of the new Johnson Street Bridge both on a lump-sum and schedule basis.

While promising consideration of the views advanced by a soldier-labor delegation, the Council refused to commit itself to the employment of day labor on the project or to give preference to local workers. The aldermen appeared to agree, in fact, that the bridge be built as cheaply and as quickly as possible, all other matters being subordinated.

The Council's consideration centered around the recommendations of City Engineer F. M. Preston, who favored the calling of tenders on a schedule basis, by which the individual quantities of materials and so forth are specified. Mr. Preston was not very favorable to the lump-sum plan as he felt that contractors would not care to bid on such a basis and if they did they would add large amounts to their tenders to cover possible increases in the price of materials.

Alderman Dewar, labor representative, made a formal motion that day labor be employed in the construction of the bridge. This idea, however, met with little support and was not pressed.

Favors Lump Sum. Alderman Robert Dinklage, himself a contractor, declared that the only satisfactory plan was to call for tenders on the lump-sum basis. In this way the Council would know the exact cost of the bridge, and the viaduct would cost. As for the proposal to use day labor he asserted that the Council should recognize that, especially in construction, one of the most important factors involved. The present, he said, was no time to experiment with unskilled labor.

Alderman Todd was inclined to favor construction on a cost plus basis—a plan of procedure which, however, met with little sympathy from the rest of the Council.

Alderman Cameron, intimating that the Council was not experienced in these matters, urged the aldermen to do as the Engineer advised.

Finally the Council passed a resolution proposed by Alderman Sangster to the effect that tenders be called on a lump-sum and schedule basis.

View of Workers. Before discussing the bridge question itself the Council, while in Streets Committee, listened to observations on the subject by representatives of local labor and soldier organizations. E. S. Woodard, spokesman of the delegation which waited upon the Council, urged the Council to oversee the construction of the bridge to use as much day labor as possible. He asked also that as many local men as practicable should be given employment; he warned the Council that when construction commenced an influx of laborers from other cities could be expected.

James Dakers, President of the Metal Trades Council, recalled that the contract for the present Point Ellice Bridge had been let to an outside firm which naturally had brought in laborers skilled in its methods of construction from the outside. The result was that little of the money spent remained in Victoria. It was highly desirable that this circumstance be avoided in the construction of the Johnson Street Bridge, he felt.

Mr. Dakers was rather alarmed to hear, he said, that the City Council already was in negotiation with certain bridge companies for the construction of the bridge. Chairman Sangster, however, set his mind at rest on this subject by stating that any such negotiations were proceeding.

Fair-Wage Clause. Mr. Dakers requested the Council to see that a fair-wage clause was inserted in the bridge contract when it was let. The aldermen re-assured him also on this point.

In conclusion, Mr. Dakers urged the Council to make provision for and thus avoid a serious unemployment situation here next Winter. In Vancouver, he said, the civic authorities were taking measures in this matter.

"You can depend upon it," Alderman George Sangster told Mr. Dakers, "the Council will take care of the best interest of the citizens. The bridge, however, must be built as cheaply as possible, and in what way it will be built I cannot say. That is for the Council to decide."

In answer to further queries from Mr. Dakers concerning a start on bridge construction, Alderman Sangster said that "something will be done before September."

Mr. Dakers expressed anxiety over a rumor which was being circulated on the streets to the effect that the Council was waiting until after the next election to make a start on the bridge.

Most of the Aldermen laughed at this idea while Alderman Sangster remarked, "that might bother you but it doesn't bother us."

Mr. Dakers appeared satisfied with this explanation.

CITY COUNCIL DOINGS
To put through the license reduction will require some tall hustling. Meantime lots of corn will be tramped on. The corn is "Putnam's," the old reliable corn extractor that has been curing cobs and warts for years. "Putnam's" never fails, 25c. at all dealers.

Coal, feedstuffs, and fertilizers may in future be exported from South Africa only if permit.
