CONVENIENCE

In a certain modern country house, the dressing room of the owner opens out of her bedroom, which is hung with rose-colored draperies and furnished in birdseye maple with brass trimmings. On one side of the dress-ing room wall is a wide cheval glass reaching to the floor and having two adjustable side mirrors, and directly opposite stands its counterpart, so that one may see all sides. To the right of the mirror are shelves holding appliances for waving and curling the hair, brushes, combs and irons. On the left is a cabinet arranged on a long swinging brass toilet accessories.

> Large closets with sliding doors line one wall. These are used for gowns and wraps. Three deep drawers are built into the wall for silk skirts and lingerie; three more are for footwear of all kinds, from ballroom slippers to heavy boots, while one smaller drawer, velvet lined, is intended for gloves.

One closet, at the side of the drawers, is devoted to rough country and automobile togs. On the other side wall there is a rack containing boxes from six to eighteen inches high and from 30 to 45 inches in length. The boxes are covered with pink flowered cretonne, and have brass hinges and handles. These contain shirt waists, dinner dresses and evening gowns. A tag on each handle tells the contents of the box and saves unnecessary searching.

A small white safe, a large brass bound cedar chest, a low shoe chair, medium stoo' to sit on while the gown is buttoned, three low backed chairs and a pink velvet carpet complete the furnishings. The hat case holds 12 hats, and is built on a shelf running above the safe and chest. The bandboxes have drop fronts. Just below the shelf is a long drawer for parasols and umbrellas. The illumination of the room is perfect and so arranged are the bu'bs that any desired light may be had.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. McGinnis, mother of Mrs. L. G. Bramble, 352 N. Columbus avenue, was tendered a surprise birthday party Friday afternoon. Mrs. Mc Ginnis attained her seventy-fifth birthday on that date. While she and her daughter were visiting at the home of Mrs. H. A. Miner, 214 N. Louise street, the friends of Mrs. Bramble had been fixing up the house for the surprise event and when the ladies of the house returned they found the rooms beautifully decorated in lavender and the table set out for a dainty luncheon. Festoons of lavender decorated the table and in the center two large birthday cakes, one of them with seventy-five candles, bore testimony to the occasion. The other cake was brought by Mrs. McGinnis' other daughter, Mrs. Desmond, of Long Appropriate compliments were made to Mrs. McGinnis on this happy occasion. Those present were:

"The minute you are willing to say, 'Goodbye, old habit, goodbye, old sin,' there is not enough power in earth or hell to keep you out of the kingdom of God. There are a lot of hyphenated Christians in the world as well as hyphenated citizens in America. They try to keep one foot in the world and the other in the church of God. God wants the deed to the entire man. You say there is too much excitement. You have had quietude for twenty years and still you are not a Christian. You need excitement, you need a little dynamite to jar you loose from your old quiet perch.

AN ARCTIC EXPLORER'S CHOICE

The Model 83B Overland automobile received another very gratifying mark of endorsement several days ago when Captain Louis Lane, the man who found Vilhijalmar Stefansson, the Arctic explorer last summer, purchased an Overland car of that type, after a thorough investigation of its merits.

Stefansson had been given up for lost when Lane, heading a searching party in a Government vessel, discovered him quartered on Banks' Land, and was the first to bring back news of the explorer's discoveries.

Captain Lane, by reason of his perilous calling, is an expert of mechanics, as well as a daring navigator, and that he should choose an Overland after a rigorous examina- Linoleum LARG tion of its engines, equipment and construction, is good proof of its stability.

INTERNATIONAL FLOWER SHOW

One of the triumphs of peace is the International Flower Show in New York, which opens Wednesday, April 5. Professionals and amateurs from all countries will vie with each other in the gentle warfare, the rewards of which are ribbons and medals. Canada is taking a very prominent part in this affair. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught and their daughter, Princess Patricia, will attend the opening and fifty Canadian hospital lassies will serve in the tea

American florists will show many new flower and shrub creations. Both China and Japan will bring their floral wonders. Australia, South Africa and some South American countries will be among the exhibitors.

Among the special features of the show that should interest Glendale people are the rock garden exhibits. This style of garden is comparatively new in the United States where it is just beginning to excite interest. The rock garden idea can be carried out in many different ways. In whatever way it may be carried out, however, rocks, stones, flagging posts, mossy banks, creviced walls and rugged settings predominate. Such a garden properly planned and planted with the many varieties of flowers adapted to it becomes a great delight, and after about two years has the appearance of age that is so much sought after in the newly-laid-out grounds of Pacific coast gardens.

China in particular is expected to shine in this exhibition. The new Chinese lilies which have been so much sought after recently will be on exhibition with many other new plants and shrubs that have been found suited to the various climates of the United States. These lilies look like Easter lilies. They do splendidly in the Middle Atlantic states and put forth their beautiful blossoms in summer for years after the first planting without attention.

Australia is sending a large number of acacias which will be seen at the show in their best flowering condition. The delicate yellow flower balls or tassels are in many of the varieties delightfully fragrant. One of these acacias, the golden variety, is greatly used in Glendale and is a great addition to the beauty and attractiveness

From South Africa come the various species of amaryllis with flowers of gorgeous hues. Perhaps the greatest display of all will be the roses which are nowhere grown in greater variety and beauty than on the North American continent. From the queenly "American Beauty" to the dainty pink baby roses, the yellow ramblers, the crimson ramblers and the fragrant tea roses they are all there. The rose gardens will each cover 500 square feet of space and the chief prize will be $500 in cash. It is true that Glendale may not be able to rival New York in the number and variety of its flower and plant exhibits, but its coming flower show will do just as much to stimulate a love of flowers and of gardens, which is one of the most civilizing forces in the world.

MINIATURE FLOATING GARDENS

A novel way of growing small bulbs, such as crocuses, has been tried with good success. After securing the bulbs the next thing is to get one or two rather large corks. Through these holes are bored, and the bulbs fitted into the openings in such a way that the under side, from which the roots spring, is near the lower part of the cork. Now obtain a large shallow bowl and fill this with pure water. Float the corks, with the bulbs in place, on the surface, and set the whole thing aside in a rather shady position for two or three weeks. At the end of this time it will be noticed that the roots are growing down into the water; thenceforward a place in a sunny window should be selected. The upper shoots of the bulbs will start to grow rapidly, and at this time it is a good plan to arrange a little moss to hide the upper surface of the corks; or, if preferred, however, grass or some other seed, such as cress may be sown to provide a green covering.

There is nothing to do but to keep the bowl well supplied with water. and change this now and again. Finally the flowers emerge, and then the effect is extremely pretty.

East Gate Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star of Los Angeles, held an old-fashioned spelling match in their temple Tuesday evening and Mrs. Myra C. K. Shuey of Columbus street, one of the members and also past worthy matron, succeeded in spelling down the entire chapter and all visiting members. As a prize for so successfully proving that she can spell and does spell well she received a handsome hand-painted plate.

There will be special services at the Tropico Presbyterian church "Go to Church" Sunday, tomorrow. The topic for Sunday morning will be "Why Should I go to Church " Special music. At the evening service there will be a sacred concert by the Peterson family. The public is cordially invited.

WHY WE SHOULD RE-ELECT OUR PRESENT CITY TREASURER

G. B. Hoffman is a candidate for re-election to the office he now holds and his record should justify the voters of Glendale in retaining his services for a further term. His efficiency is unquestioned as must election, April 10, 1916. be admitted by all who know him. It is argued by some that he has served the city long enough, and some one else ought to have an opportunity to hold the office. LUTHERAN CHURCH

This Sunday is an important occasion in the development of our Lutheran work in this community, as it is the first anniversary of the present pastor, Rev. R. W. Mottern, who for five and a half years previous had been pastor of the English Lutheran church in Riverside. Progress and encouragement have marked the growth of our work here. Both the congregation and the Sunday school have more than doubled in membership during the first year's work. The financial end of the work is also encouraging, as the people have a mind to help. This Sunday morning the pastor will speak on "Possessing Our Possessions.

The evening service will be devoted to temperance when the most telling story forcibly illustrated by the stereopticon will be given, "Buy Your Own Cherries. The great song, "Where is my wandering boy tonight?" will also be sung and beautifully illustrated. Let the parents bring their children and enjoy this special service at 7:30.

EIGTHY-FIVE YOUTHS GIVE DEM-ONSTRATION IN THE CONGRE-GATIONAL CHURCH

The Boy Scouts of the northern suburban district of Los Angeles held a most interesting meeting at the Glendale Congregational church last evening. In all 85 Scouts were present, 22 from San Fernando, 21 from Eagle Rock, 19 from Tropico, 17 from Glendale and five from Garvanza. Tables were assigned to each troop. A committee of boys prepared the supper and a bountiful supper it was. The Glendale boys, through the generosit; of their scout master, Mr. C. B. Guthrie, served hot choo olate to all present.

At the close of the supper, while still at the tables, each troop gave yells. Much good-natured rivalry prevailed. After a brief recess all church where the following interesting program was carried out:

A report from each troop was given showing the lines of work being followed.

A fine silver cup was presented James West of Eagle Rock for efficiency in scout work and faithfulness in attending meetings and Sunday school. Mr. Rollin W. McNit, the popular scout master of Eagle Rock, was the donor of the cup.

Glendale boys gave a fine demonstration of the scout rules and oath. San Fernando gave two splendid exhibitions of signaling with flags.

Tropico put on a litter drill and pyramid building. Mr. D. W. Pollard, the scout executive of Los Angeles county, made a splendid address telling many things which are being done by Boy Scouts.

It is planned to hold a two weeks'

camp at Catalina and one in the mountains, probably the latter part of August. Steps were taken for the organization of this district. The following officers were elected: Norton Wells of Tropico, chairman: Blake Franklin of Glendale, vice chairman; C. W. Young of Eagle Rock, treasurer; L. E. Webster of San Fernando, secretary; R. W. McNit of Eagle Rock, deputy commissioner. Mr. Wells being called upon for a speech responded briefly but to the point. He said the business world demanded men of honesty, integrity, ability and obedience, and these are the qualities which the scout movement developes.

The program closed by a playlet out on by the boys from Eagle Rock The title of the playlet was "A Strenuous Afternoon." Scout life and work was finely shown. All who

At the end of the program troop vells were given. All joined in singing "America." Much of the sucress of the evening was due to the efficient work of Mr. McNit of Eagle Hendale will meet at the home of Rock. As a result of this meeting a Congregational church.

TINY FEATHERS AGAIN

Among the fancies of the moment is a small corsage bouquet of artificial flowers, frilled about with a ruff of paper like an old-fashioned nosegay; about the paper ruff is a narrow frill of tiny pale blue feathers. A new straw toque is trimmed by laying a large feather flat on the crown. It is of a size to cover the crown, and the edges of the feather are tucked in all around the closely

A DECORATIVE CLOTHES HANGER

A very decorative hanger is designed to take the place of the brass costumer, or coat tree, that stands 916 W. Broadway, Glendale. At Hart- on the floor. The hanger is 18 inches long. It swings from an arm attached to a doorjamb and has five turned up hooks. It is made of black wood, painted with gay flowers. The arm is painted to match, and the hanger is fastened to it with a simple hook. The device is pretty, useful and it saves floor space.

THE REMINDER CHATELAINE

"When I dress in the morning," remarked one busy woman, "I attach a tiny tablet and pencil to my belt by a good stout string. Then, as I go about my work, I jot down the things I want to arrange about during the day, just as they occur to Often I found that some small need would be noted as I went about the house, but it could not be attended to at the moment and it had slipped out of mind by the time I got chatelaine,' which hangs at my side, entered. It often shows such notes as these: 'Order laundry soap,' 'Call up plumber,' 'Return library Book,' 'Fix shade in rear bedroom,' 'New toothbrush for Jackie.' My memorandum pad does away with the familiar phrase, 'I meant to do so-andso today, but it entirely escaped my

VALUE OF SPRING DIET

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE SAYS PROPER FOOD IS GUARD AGAINST DISEASE

A faulty or restricted diet at this season of the year is the chief factor in the production of pelagra. ment of the disease should be instiaround to it. Now my 'reminder tuted during the early spring months according to a circular of informais quickly picked up and the item tion issued today by the United States Public Health Service. While the manifestations of pellagra are in most cases not in evidence until June or July, the condition invariably dates from a faulty diet of earlier months. Therefore, if due precautions are exercised by individuals at the present time the havoc wrought by this scourge may be greatly lessened, if not entirely eliminated.

Danger Signals

The report further calls attention to certain danger signals which should be recognized by those who reside in pellagrous districts or those who have had previous attacks of the And the disease. Among such warning symptoms are extreme nervousness or change in mental characteristics of in the "Proceedings" of the Royal the individual. These symptoms do not, of course, necessarily mean the development of pellagra, but taken in connection with the history of a onesided, monotonous diet they serve as a definite warning of the possibili-

Spring Diet

The diet recommended by the health service for the prevention of pellagra will not produce results if followed for a week or ten days only, but if continuously and consistently used, under circumstances similar to its administration in the various institutions where the experimental tests have been performed, it will protect the individual against the development of the disease. Necessarily, a rigid unvaried diet is wholly undesirable and the menu recommended is only to indicate in a general way the character of the food to be prescribed. Frequently the element of poverty, inaccessibility to market supplies, or even personal idiosyncrasy, may require some modification of the diet table, so that strict adherence to its components may not in all respects be practica-The object of the diet as submitted is to minimize the consumption of the carbo-hydrate (starchy and sweet) foods and to increase the amount of fresh animal protein and of fresh legumes (peas and beans) The breakfast, for example, should
