Mr. Toji Yato
#802, Seta-machi, Tamagawa, Setagaya-ku, Tokyo 矢藤藤治

On 12 October 1945, a P-38 plane crashed in to Yato's garden and damaged his 4-tsubo warehouse. The plane was picked up by MPs immediately but two engines and 1/3 of the body are still left underground of his garden.

On 13 January 1951 and again on 28 January 1951, 1 MP, 1 Air Corps Officer and an interpreter came to his house and ordered Yato to leave the engines and parts as they are.

In order to get rid of the engines and parts, Yato visited PMO who referred him to FEAF. He appeared at FEAF and they referred him to Kanto CAR.

Yato wants to file a claim in order to get compensation for the damages if such procedure is allowed for Japanese. He wants to get rid of the engines as soon as possible.

To; Kanto CAR

From; Yoshimatsu Sato, 2-123, Setagaya, Setagaya-ku, Tohyo

We are grateful for your endeavors you have been making for the Japanese. I will be very much obliged if you kindly take some action on the following matter.

Enclosed is the printed matter disseminated to each house in the Setagaya Ward. An influential person in our section visited houses asking for contributions for the construction of the Setagaya Health Center.

What I do not like is his attitude of forcing the contribution on us. The contribution ranged from 100 yen to 300 yen. As stated in the printed matter, 5 million yen is to be subsidized by the Tokyo-to Government. They are going to collect 3.5 million yen more to have a real good health center. I understand how necessary it is to have an ideal health center constructed. But the people in general are having finabcial difficulties and it is hard for us to give contribution. Is it not desiarable, for the time being, to have a health center built within the expenditure of 5 million yen of the Government subsidy ? Forced contribution is not desirable.

Tokyo
#263

According to the latest statistics, the population in the Setagaya Ward is 418, 220, the biggest in Tokyo. It has 105, 314 households. If each household gives 100 yen of contribution, 10,531,400 yen, twice as much as the Government subsidy, will be collected. We do not know how this great deal of money will be used.

Please give a piece of good advice to them with regard to this matter.

Outline of the printed matter:

1. The present condition of the Setagaya Health Center does not meet the desirable standard.

2. It is of great necessity to have an ideal health center constructed.

3. New one will be an A-class health center.

4. The construction will be over in the middle of January in 1951.

5. 5 million yen will be subsidized by the Tokyo-to Government.

6. In any wards, a certain per cent of the cost of such construction is borne by interested inhabitants.

7. The goal of the contribution is 3,350,000 yen.

A rumor has it that the Shinagawa-ku Assembly passed a bill to give at least 400,000 yen each to its members who have been in the service of the assembly for three years or more when they retire from office. If this is true, almost all of the assembly men will be given the money because their term is four years. It is regrettable that our representatives are trying to enrich them-selves putting aside the things they should do in behalf of people. I am opposed to such a decision made by the assembly.

There are many schools around there, and on that account, the residents raised a vigorous objection against the project, but the "Bosses" lording it over in this area will not hear of any objection, saying that the quarters would be made available to the Occupation. MEMORANDUM THRU: Kanto Liaison and Coordination Office

FOR: The Governor

SUBJECT: Election Funds

1. The following is an extract from a communication received at this headquarters:

#73 Tokyo

"1. For the purpose of raising funds required by those running for re-election to be held in June, 1951, of members of the Tokyo Metropolitan Assembly (Quorum 120) and 23 Special Ward Assemblies (Quorum 931), the payments of the following amounts are under consideration on the pretext of giving official commendation to all the assemblymen.

Yen 79,200,000 for 120 members of the Metropolitan Assembly.
Yen 204,820,000 for 931 members of the Ward Assemblies.

Total Yen 284,000,000

2. The Itabashi Ward Assembly has it under contemplation to appropriate Yen 10,000,000 in the budget for payment for 45 assemblymen. All other ward assemblies of the Metropolis will act in concert with them, and each member will be paid Yen 220,000. The presidents of assemblies are reported to get twice and the vice-president one and a half as much as the sum for ordinary members.

3. Compulsory collection of such a large amount of money is said to be made during next two or three months as municipal and ward taxes and to be distributed among assemblymen at the latest by September this year. It is further reported that the Daito Ward and a few other ward assemblies passed resolutions and fixed the matter.

4. If an official reward is necessary for these assemblymen, they are more properly to be commended by newly-elected members after the election next year. It is much more of honor for them such commendation with monetary rewards specially arranged by them for their own benefits during their remaining term of office for more than one year should be withdrawn. Such a case, I am sure, will never be known in the United States.

5. How could they give an explanation against the charge that the collection of such huge amount of tax by the members themselves for the simple reason that they are members, is for the purpose of raising funds for the next year's election? I am inclined to consider that the matter is nothing but a buying-off policy in the evasion of law devised by Governor Yasui and headmen of each ward for their being re-elected in the next election and for this purpose they intend to gain gratitude of those members by awarding their material gifts through making use of tax for insuring their successful re-election.

6. Now Japan is on the way to economic stabilization. As an inevitable result, money is tight at this transition period. Medium and small dealers and industrialists are making desperate efforts to tide over the situation. Farmers, due to the price reduction in farm produce with the favorable turn of food situation are in dire distress. At this juncture, those assemblymen who were elected under pledge that they could serve the nation as public servants intend to plunder tax through their own decision in utter defiance of outcry of the people groaning under heavy tax. As I cannot sit idle looking on this imminent situation, I take the liberty of submitting the present petition with the earnest desire for your decisive steps.

7. I have heard that the scheme of similar nature are being laid through the country. But all political parties, large or small, are in no position to stave off such illicit means since their party men are in most cases involved in the matter.

8. I believe that the power to hold such acts in check rests upon no party except SCAP. Hence this petition."

2. One 20 February 1950, after a thorough investigation by the Japanese Procurator's office the case was dropped because it was revealed that my brother Yoshiuki MANABE, who had lived in Seattle, Washington for more than thirty years, returned to Japan in November 1941, brought me two large trunks filled with clothing, toilet articles, cigars, etc., for my personal use. The articles seized were a very small part of the material and personal property which were brought by him in 1941. Most of it had been worn or used and was not seized. The cloth, two shirts, and two sheets were new and had never been used; all other articles had been used. The two cigars were the remaining two of a box of cigars - they were natually very old.

3. Promptly upon being notified that charges against me had been dropped and that no indictment would be returned, I asked for my property, money and papers and was told that they had been confiscated by the Deputy Contraband Tribunal by a vesting order under date of 9 September 1949, after advertisement in the Nippon Times. I never see the Nippon Times and had no opportunity to make a claim for the property. I have been advised by the Provost Marshal, the Provost Court and the Contraband Tribunal that they could do nothing as the property had been turned over Public Health and Welfare Section and that the money had been forfeited to the Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers.

4. I am of the Orthodox Catholic faith and the loss of the money and property means considerable to me under present economic conditions. I respectfully pray that some steps will be taken to return to me the money and my property.

agent and two Japanese policemen. There was seized from me the following items: 1 canteen, 1 Electric pocket heater, 1 lb. of woolen thread, 1 lb. of laxative, 2 hats, 1 overcoat, 1 tablecloth and Japanese money ¥43,600,00. The case was referred to the Japanese Court for disposition.

2. One 20 February 1950, after a thorough investigation by the Japanese Procurator's office the case was dropped because it was revealed that my brother Yoshiuki MANABE, who had lived in Seattle, Washington for more than thirty years, returned to Japan in November 1941, brought me two large trunks filled with clothing, toilet articles, cigars, etc., for my personal use. The articles seized were a very small part of the material and personal property which were brought by him in 1941. Most of it had been worn or used and was not seized. The cloth, two shirts, and two sheets were new and had never been used; all other articles had been used. The two cigars were the remaining two of a box of cigars - they were natually very old.

3. Promptly upon being notified that charges against me had been dropped and that no indictment would be returned, I asked for my property, money and papers and was told that they had been confiscated by the Deputy Contraband Tribunal by a vesting order under date of 9 September 1949, after advertisement in the Nippon Times. I never see the Nippon Times and had no opportunity to make a claim for the property. I have been advised by the Provost Marshal, the Provost Court and the Contraband Tribunal that they could do nothing as the property had been turned over Public Health and Welfare Section and that the money had been forfeited to the Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers.

4. I am of the Orthodox Catholic faith and the loss of the money and property means considerable to me under present economic conditions. I respectfully pray that some steps will be taken to return to me the money and my property.

APO 500

1. On 14 May 1948 various items of American manufacture together with ¥43,600 were impounded by a C.I.D. agent and two Japanese policemen. It was supposed at the time that Riju Manabe was illegally in possession of these items. Later the case was turned over to the Japanese authorities, who upon investigation determined that Manabe was entitled to the above. (See Incl #2)

2. In due time the Japanese authorities dropped the case and Manabe set out to have his property and money returned to him. It appears that the impounded items were disposed of in the manner prescribed in GHQ, SCAP Circular 23, 13 September 1949.

3. As the procedure of publication as per GHQ, SCAP Circular 23 was expedited through the English Edition of the Nippon Times the rightful owner Mr. Manabe was unaware that failure to petition the return of the goods within 60 days would be construed as a voluntary forfeiture of the impounded items, hence his petition to this headquarters.

4. Forwarded for necessary action.
