Glendale Avenue Sewer Trunk Line May Be Put In Parking

COUNCIL AND ENGINEERS AGREE TO CHANGE

Property Owners Will Decide Location of Pipe, Is Officials' Verdict

The report made by Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilman Sam Davis to the members of the Glendale Advancement Association, at today's luncheon, describing the plan to place sewers in the parking on Glendale avenue, and stating that the city administration expected to follow that plan, was received with approval by the association.

Following the discussion, the association passed a motion to withdraw all efforts to hold up paving on Glendale avenue and to hasten the paving as much as possible.

The difficult situation which has confronted the city for some time regarding the laying of the trunk line of Glendale's new sewer system on Glendale avenue was relieved this morning when the City Council informed a committee from the Glendale Avenue Improvement Association that if it was the wish of the residents on that street, the main trunk line and the lateral would be placed in the parking, instead of the center of the paving, which is now being laid.

Peter L. Ferry, contractor, who appeared as spokesman for the committee, and who is doing the paving work on Glendale avenue, stated that the two lines could be laid in the parking as cheap as one in the center of the street, due to the fact that it would not be necessary to lay them at so great a depth, and it would avoid the expense of excavating and replacing the new pavement to make the individual connections.

Company Approves
W. H. Reeves, city manager, was instructed to get in touch with Chester A. Smith, engineer for the Burns & McDonnell company, Glendale's sewer engineers, and he reported that Mr. Smith stated that while the company did not approve of all sewers being laid in the parking, in this case they would give the proposition their approval.

Mr. Ferry was given to understand that the council did not wish to take the initiative in the matter, but if the association and a majority of the property holders on Glendale avenue wished to lay the sewer in the parking, and if met with the approval of the sewer engineers, the council would cooperate in the matter. Work was started on the paving this morning, Mr. Ferry informed the council, and if it was decided not to lay the trunk line and lateral in the parking, it would necessitate either tearing up the paving or halting the work for a considerable length of time until the sewer could be placed in the center of the street.

The matter will be taken up by the association with the under-

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 24.—Courtland S. Dines' "lapse of memory" when his testimony was taken at the Good Samaritan hospital recently in the preliminary hearing of Horace A. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, who shot him on New Year's night, was the result of Dines' often-expressed desire to protect his two "playmates," Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, it was charged at the district attorney's office today. The prosecution attorneys asserted Dines is extremely anxious

PASSENGERS ARE SAVED IN CRASH

G. & M. Motorman Shows Rare Presence of Mind as Cars Collide

Presence of mind on the part of Motorman Joseph G. Hington of the Glendale and Montrose railway line this morning saved nine passengers of car No. 10 from possible injury in a crash with a box car which got loose from a Union Pacific work train at 10:45 a. m.

According to Preston L. Hatch, general manager of the Montrose lines, with offices at 121 North Glendale avenue, $300 damage was done the new car while the freight car suffered but little. It had gathered little momentum in its two block runaway down Glendale avenue toward Wilson avenue at the junction of the Eagle Rock line, where the wreck occurred.

Warns Passengers
Hington saw the approaching danger and threw on the emergency air brakes, which automatically open all four doors on the safety car. He cried out to the passengers to evacuate their rather unsafe positions. They did.

BIG CROWDS SEE LENINE IN DEATH

Thousands Pay Tribute as Red Chieftain's Body Lies In State

By WILLIAM J. RESWICK For International News Service. MOSCOW, Jan. 24.—Thousands of people passed today before the red dais holding the body of Nicolai Lenine and gazed for the last time upon his countenance.

The world's greatest revolutionary leader—the man "who shook the world"—rested in state in the Trade Union palace. The snow-covered streets were filled all day with fur clad humanity. For the most part, those seeking entrance were workers and peasants.

So great was the crowd outside that the infantry and cavalry on guard were hard-pressed. The military guard of honor was changed every ten minutes.

Children Pay Tribute
There was a constant stream of soviet supporters passing before the bier. Despite the suffering undergone before his death, Lenine's face was calm. It was actually life-like.

Some Murmur Prayers
With wondering eyes they trudged past the dais, looking for the last time upon the man whom they had come to regard as their playmate. Although the government which Lenine headed made a fight against religion, some of the Russians who passed before his body today murmured prayers.

Trotsky Says Lenine's Policies To Be Followed

TIFLIS, Sov. of Georgia, Jan. 24.—Leon Trotsky, commissar for war in the Russian cabinet, and colleague of Lenine, declared today that the death of Lenine is a "terrible blow," but will not stop the execution of the communist policies inaugurated by the late leader.

Trotsky was compelled to come to southern Russia by ill health. It was here he received news of Lenine's death.

"Lenine is no more," exclaimed Trotsky after receiving a telegram from Moscow. "Medicine proved unable to accomplish what millions of hearts passionately demanded."

NEW SYSTEM FOR AID OF VETERANS

Special Senate Committee In Favor of Revision For Relief Laws

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON For International News Service. WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Slashing "red tape" from the care of America's disabled world war veterans, by a complete revision of all relief laws, will be recommended to Congress by the special Senate committee which investigated the United States veterans bureau, International News Service learned today.

The new code will practically re-organize the present system of awarding relief. It was prepared by Senators David A. Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania; David I. Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, and Tasker L. Oddie, Republican of Nevada, all experienced lawyers.

Agrees On Changes
One—Elimination of all "red tape" from the hospitalization of veterans by authorizing the admission to veterans' bureau hospitals of all veterans suffering from wounds or sickness.

Two—Shifting the burden of proof from the veteran to the government on practically all claims for compensation.

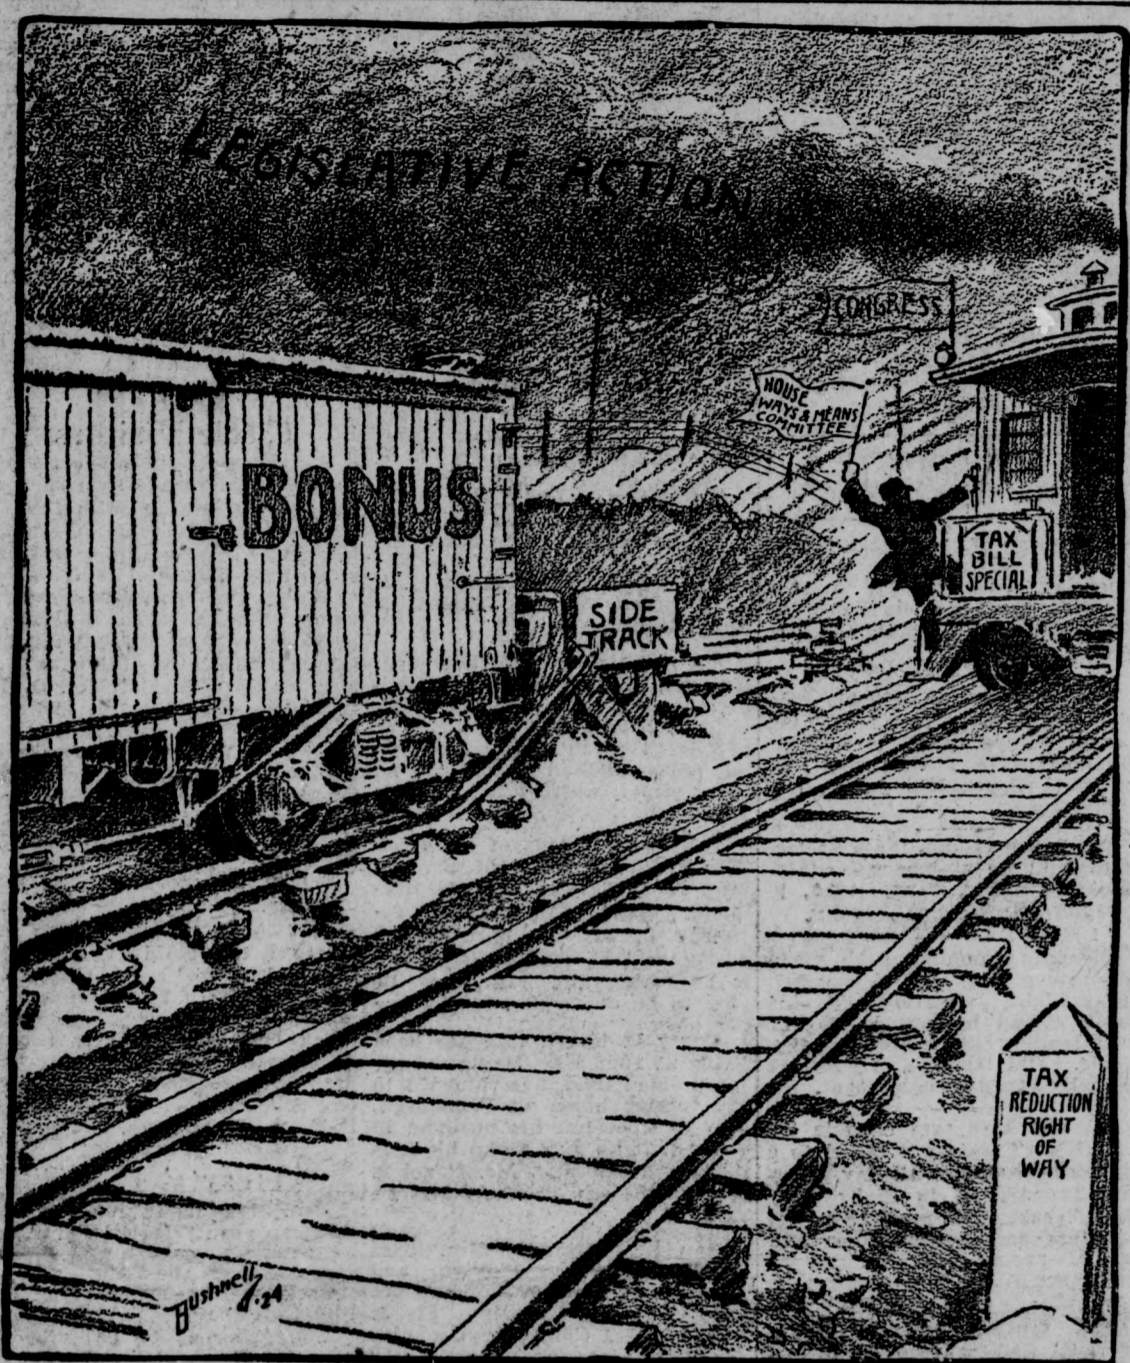

Three—Authorizing "contact" officers to safeguard the rights of veterans who claim compensation.

Supreme Court Will Review I. W. W. Ruling

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Acquittal of three I. W. W. by a jury in superior court here last night after four hours' deliberations will result in plans being rushed to have the supreme court review the recent ruling of the court of appeals, holding it must be known as I. W. W. joined the organization knowing its lawless character before he can be convicted, it was announced by state attorneys today.

The verdict was a distinct surprise, it being the first time in the history of this county that all defendants in an I. W. W. case have been acquitted.

RADICALS BEATEN IN MINERS' MEET

Lewis and His Aides Reject Alleged Red Demands On Every Count

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 24.—John L. Lewis, president, and his supporters held the reins tightly today in the convention of United Mine Workers of America, with apparently small chance of the radical labor leaders making any headway with their demands.

The so-called reds were downed on recognition of soviet Russia; reinstatement of the Nova Scotia district, where communist activities were said to be rife; establishment of a new labor party. A resolution calling in plain terms for Congress to recognize Russia was replaced by one which stated that, while the principles of self-determination of peoples and non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries were adhered to, the recognition of Russia was favored only when that country met its "honorable obligations."

Limitations Statute Halts Federal Probe

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—Following receipt of advices from Attorney-General Daugherty, to whom the matter had been referred, stating the statute of limitations precluded any criminal action, investigation of the alleged fraudulent cashing of naval allotment checks by Jack Geller, a former motion picture director, was today dropped by federal authorities here. Geller caused a sensation by claiming to be the husband of Belle Bennett, well known screen and stage star. She denied his claim.

DEVELOP METHOD TO IMPROVE GAS

New Invention Will Reduce Gasoline Prices, Say U. S. Scientists

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—America's gasoline supply will be increased heavily, and prices probably reduced by the discovery at the United States bureau of standards of a method to improve low fluidity "gas," it was announced today.

Experts have developed an inexpensive refining method that will produce thirty per cent more gasoline out of a given quantity of crude oil than heretofore, officials said. The new "gas" government tests revealed, will give as great mileage as the better qualities of commercial gasoline, comparing favorably in starting and acceleration properties.

Co-operating with the American Petroleum Institute and the Society of Automotive Engineers, government engineers attacked the problem of reducing a low volatile gasoline that would, under all conditions, show the same results as higher volatile fuel. Experts pointed out that the low volatile "gas" may be produced in greater quantities from a given quantity of crude oil, and that the distillation cost is considerably lower.

The bureau of standards has established four grades for the new gasoline. It was expected that these grades will eventually become the standard.

FEDERALS CHASE FLEEING REBELS

Land, Sea Attack Against Salina Cruz Defeated By Obregon's Men

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 24.—Mexican federals who captured Guadalajara from the rebels yesterday are advancing beyond that city in an effort to round up the rebel raiding bands, according to advices received here today. The city, second largest in Mexico, was taken without firing a shot.

Federals are still in possession of the port of Salina Cruz, despite combined land and sea attacks by the rebels. The port was saved by the timely arrivals of reinforcements from Santa Lucretia. None of the American residents were injured in the fighting.

Police are searching for a man, dressed like a laborer, who assassinated Senator Francisco Jurado as he was entering his home. Jurado was a member of the minority group in the senate that opposed ratification of the United States claims convention.

J. Ray Thorpe, In Battle With Bandit, Gets Gun, Black Eye and Big Bump

In a hand-to-hand encounter with a bandit early today near Devil's Gate dam, between La Canada valley and Altadena, a lone, unarmed citizen of Montrose worsted his assailant and antagonist.

J. Ray Thorpe, proprietor of the Oakmont saddle stables and the Thorpe Engraving company, was returning from a business trip to San Bernardino. He was the intended victim of the hold-up.

The bandit succeeded in stopping Thorpe's car, but when the pair were on the ground things began to occur, according to Mr. Thorpe. He took the highwayman's gun, and hit him. But he didn't hit hard enough.

OIL MAGNATE TAKES NOTE IN RETURN FOR AID

Tells Senate 'Inside Story' Of 'Mystery Money' In Teapot Dome Probe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Edward L. Doheny, of Los Angeles, Cal., multi-millionaire oil magnate, testified on the witness stand before the senate public lands committee this afternoon that he had lent ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall the sum of $100,000.

This statement was made in explanation of the mysterious $100,000 loan, which has figured so prominently in the Teapot Dome investigation and which led senatorial accusers of Fall to charge that it formed a part of the "corrupt consideration," which they alleged Fall received as a result of leasing Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair.

Gets Promissory Note
Doheny declared this afternoon that he made the loan to Fall on November 30, 1921, and that he received a promissory note for the amount.

Doheny arrived several minutes early and was forced to push his way through the crowd. He took a seat at the side of the room and awaited the committee. Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah, was the first member to appear. He greeted Doheny warmly and chatted for a few minutes.

Rush Holland, assistant attorney general, assigned by order of President Coolidge to watch the Teapot Dome developments, was given a seat near the committee table back of Chairman Lenroot.

Makes Statement
Doheny's statement to the committee, in part, follows: "I wish to inform the committee that on the 30th day of November, 1921, I loaned to Albert B. Fall $100,000 upon his promissory note to enable him to purchase a ranch in New Mexico. This sum was loaned to Mr. Fall by me personally. It was my own money, and did not belong in whole or in part to any oil company with which I am or have been connected. In connection with this loan there was no discussion between Mr. Fall and myself as to any contract. This loan had no relation to any of the subsequent transactions. The transactions themselves, in the order in which they occurred, dispose of any contention that they were informed by my making a personal loan to a life-long friend."

Long Time Friends
"The reason for my making and Mr. Fall's accepting the loan was that we had been friends for more than thirty years. He had invested his savings for these years in his home ranch in New Mexico, which I understood was all that remained to him after the failure of mining investments in Mexico, and nine years of public service in Washington, during which he could not properly attend to the management of his ranch."

"His troubles had been increased in 1918 by the death of his daughter and his son, who up to then had taken his place in the management of the ranch. In our frequent talks it was clear that acquisition of a neighboring property was his only hope."

Wedding Ceremony
A very quiet wedding ceremony was solemnized last night, Wednesday, January 23, 1924, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hall, 336 West California avenue, when Miss Gladys E. Lundy, daughter of John Lundy of Normal, Ill., and Clyde Huff of Los Angeles were united in marriage. Rev. C. H. Chrisman, pastor of the Christian Missionary Alliance church was the officiant, reading the wedding service before a company of twenty friends at 8 o'clock. The single ring ceremony was used.
Miss Lundy was charming in a white silk crepe remain wedding gown. She wore a veil, caught with lilies of the valley and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas.
She was attended as maid of honor by Miss Miriam Hall, who wore a peach colored silk frock, simply made.
R. C. Houghton of Los Angeles attended Mr. Huff as best man.
Mrs. Huff arrived here Thursday morning from Normal, Ill., with her father, John Lundy and aunt, Mrs. Emma Thatcher of Chicago. Mrs. Huff and her father are old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hall, having been neighbors when all residents of Normal. Before coming to Glendale, Mrs. Huff was head of the Domestic Science department in the University of Illinois.
Mr. Huff has been a resident of Los Angeles for a number of years, and has a host of friends here. Both Mr. and Mrs. Huff are graduates of the University of Illinois, where they first became acquainted.
Immediately after the wedding ceremony a reception was held after which Mr. and Mrs. Huff left on a motor trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Los Angeles where Mr. Huff is in business.

Howard Elliott Elected Student Body President

STAFF CHOSEN TO DIRECT AFFAIRS

Students Cast Ballots For Nominees; Football Star Receives Big Honor

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.

Glendale Union High school students yesterday afternoon acclaimed Howard "Breezy" Elliott student body president by a total of 713 votes, thus expressing in a concrete way their appreciation of his distinguished work on the gridiron last fall.

"Breezy's" nearest competitor was Arden Gingery, with 506 votes. Young Elliott will now have the unique honor of piloting the G. U. H. S. through its first semester in the great new plant on East Broadway. He will bring to this task a happy combination of sterling character, brains, executive ability and athletic prowess, with the student body solidly behind him.

Another popular student honored by yesterday's election is Dante La Franchi, who became secretary of assemblies by a vote of 735 to 288 of his nearest rival, "Frenchy" is also a football star, and is in addition vice-president of the senior class and senior representative on the cabinet.

In New School

His task will be to handle the first assemblies in the new school, and in addition to preside over all student gatherings. It will be up to him to please the varied tastes of the student body in the matter of entertainment. Those who know "Frenchy" intimately look forward with pleasure to the time when he will take up the reins of his position.

By a vote of 772 to 424 accorded Donas Sample, Mary Jo Phillips became secretary of publications, which means that next semester she will edit the "Explosion." Mary Jo is just completing a successful term as secretary of girls' athletics and has earned the confidence and good will of the entire student body. She brings to her new task, moreover, real journalistic talent.

So greatly has Paul Cunningham distinguished himself and the G. U. H. S. by his oratory that he was re-elected secretary of debating. He has represented his school in three winning debates and participated in the junior-senior contest. The duties of the office include planning of interscholastic debating contests, handling of all correspondence and telephone communications pertaining to the subject, making arrangements for judges and presiding over all debates as chairman.

To Paul Cunningham will come the honor this spring of presiding over the first oratorical contest held in the new auditorium, and those who know his abilities may rest assured that it will prove a success in every way.

Chosen Secretary

Aldeane Gillies is the newly elected secretary of state and to her will go the important task of keeping official minutes of all cabinet meetings. She is well qualified to do this, being a capable stenographer and typist, with a record on the machine of sixty words a minute. In the past year she has participated in contests with Los Angeles and Long Beach high schools, showing up to good advantage in each.

Spencer Jewell, the student body choice for secretary of finance, comes from the commercial department highly recommended as a bookkeeper and typist. Not only has he stood high in his courses but he has won the good will of the entire school and his many friends are glad to see him receive this new honor.

Ervin Jensen, as newly elected secretary of boys' athletics, will continue the high standards set by Nadine King, elected secretary of girls' athletics, will likewise have much to do with the field prowess of her schoolmates. Among other things she plans to set up an athletic league, emulating the example set by the boys.

Makes Statement

Having put over many big projects and set some new precedents, the retiring cabinet willingly turns over its duties to the newly elected officers. Says Ronald West, retiring student body president:

"We faced and solved several vital problems and are happy to be able to pass things on in good shape. The growth of the school made increased demands on the budget. It was for this reason we raised the price of tickets, which turned out to be a very good move.

"Starting with but $25 in the treasury, the cabinet stands to date with a balance on hand of $3,384.97, showing careful planning on the part of everyone to make the money go as far as possible. Other things we have done include the Charity Show, successfully financing the annual football banquet, setting aside $10 as an inducement for students to use better English, and arranging for the big cabinet banquet to come the night of February 1."

Girls' Election

Girls' League elections will be held next Monday, January 28, with Gwen Warner and Emma Laura Cooper running for president. Boys' League elections will be held next Tuesday, January 29, with Ronald West, "Bub" Carver, Glenn Roberts and Leslie Lavelle as presidential candidates.

On Monday, February 4, a great and long-anticipated event in G. U. H. S. history will take place—the entire student body, with the exception of the "lowly freshmen," will move to the new and magnificent plant on East Broadway, now fully completed, and representing an investment of over $600,000.

The freshman class, or ninth grade, will remain behind in the old building on decision of the School Trustees, following their meeting of last Thursday night, and this class will doubtless form the nucleus of a Junior High school in Glendale.

CITY DUMP ON FIRE

The city dump at the end of Colorado street caught fire last night at 9 o'clock, and it required the services of the fire department to extinguish the blaze. No damage resulted.

LATE DANCING IN CITY—FOR 'COPS'

Blue Law Not to Trouble Blue Coats on Night of Big Association Ball

Lieutenant W. J. Royle, president of the Firemen's and Policemen's Relief association, states that fine support is being given the second annual dance which that organization will give on February 15.

"The tickets are going very well, and we expect even a larger crowd than that of last year. The merchants are, in many cases, making a lump sum contribution to the fund. We are not asking for charity, however, and expect to give full value for every dollar received.

Let Dance Go On!

"There are no 'blue' dancing laws in Glendale, and if the crowd want to dance some more when midnight arrives, they can go on until 2 o'clock if they see fit. We have a committee on refreshments working on the 'eat' now, and are planning to make this one of the greatest events in Glendale's history. Several novel stunts will be introduced during the evening."

All money realized from this event goes to the relief of firemen and policemen who are disabled in the line of duty, or are over-taken by sickness. The association has functioned very splendidly in the past, although it has been in existence but a very short time.

OHIO SOCIETY OF GLENDALE MEETS

Pleasant Program Is Given At Gathering Here of Friends, Neighbors

Buckeyes numbering 150 rallied to the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse for the regular meeting of the Ohio society of Glendale. C. N. Wilder, president, was master of ceremonies, and the evening proved most pleasant, featured by the meeting of old friends and neighbors.

Entertainment was furnished by Mrs. W. Q. Widworsky, who led a group of games; Miss Elsie Whitney, who gave humorous readings; Mr. Stoll violinist, and Miss Marie Backman, pianist.

Of special interest was a sketch by Mrs. Fry, "Why Ohio Was Called the Buckeye State."

A. Van Wormer is the treasurer of the society and is glad to receive memberships from any former Ohioans.

Mrs. Ramsey is in charge of the serving of refreshments.

Mexican Securities Bear Close Scrutiny

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Warning that all offers of stocks and securities emanating from Mexico should be closely scrutinized, was issued by State Corporation Commissioner Edwin M. Daugherty.

Fake stock dealers have been practically driven from California, according to Daugherty, because of the campaign waged by federal and state authorities. They have sought safety in Mexico and are forwarding "their alluring literature" to Californians whose names are on what is commonly known as the "sucker list."

Residents of San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles, in particular, have recently received circulars from Freeman Berns, whose address in Mexico is given as Apartado No. 139, Bix. Mexico. Berns "guarantees" 2000 per cent profit on a thirty day investment. The postal authorities have directed that all mail sent from the United States to Berns be stopped at El Paso and returned to the senders.

RADIO COURSES IN ALL SCHOOLS

Illinois State Teachers to Foster Class Work on 'Air' Every Day

By HAROLD D. ROBINSON
For International News Service.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 24.—Three hundred thousand school children in one class that will be achieved in Illinois if plans of the Illinois State Teachers' Association, made at the recent annual meeting here, materialize. The organization plans to bring all of the public school pupils of the state into one class two or three times a week. Radio is to do the job.

Through arrangements to be made with a powerful broadcasting station, probably in Chicago, a period during school hours on certain days of the week will be set aside as "school time." A prominent educator or some other outstanding personage will lecture through the radio at this hour, and receiving sets in schools throughout the state will be tuned in to receive the lesson.

Appropriate $10,000

The association appropriated $10,000 at its meeting to establish a central office, part of the duties of which will be to arrange for the radio lessons. Numbers of schools in the state already have radio equipment, and others are expected to obtain sets when the lectures begin to go out regularly.

Through the broadcasting plan the world's great men will speak directly to the entire body of Illinois pupils, according to its advocates. Statesmen, authors, artists, scholars and engineers visiting Illinois will be asked to talk to the state's children. Sitting at their desks in widely scattered schools, the pupils will receive advice and instruction from the world's best brains. They will feel the force of the personalities that are doing the world's big jobs.

Best For All

The voices of premiers and presidents will sound in country consolidated schools when the plan becomes operative. Its promoters explained. Presidents of great universities will instruct in rural high schools. The inspiration of men of achievement will pulse through every school building.

Educators attending the Illinois meeting expressed the opinion that radio receiving sets would soon become part of the equipment of first-class schools of the state. Even the smaller schools will have them, they predicted. Where school boards do not feel able to purchase the outfits school fairs and entertainments will provide the money, as already has been done for the purchase of motion picture machines in many instances.

The teachers were enthusiastic over the proposed new method of instruction.

"Education must claim its hour in the air," was the consensus of opinion.

COLLEGE MEN DO PART-TIME JOBS

Youths Eager For Schooling; Hundreds Working To Earn Own Way

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—"Root, hog, or die!" Not much of culture or refinement in that, but it expresses accurately the problem that faces hundreds of college men in New York City each year. They must either get out and hustle for money or give up their education.

For instance, one student at Columbia University arrived in New York last fall from a summer in the West with just $3.50 in his pockets. He paid $1.75 to have his trunk delivered, 50 cents to send a telegram, and so had $1.25 to start the year on, with a scholarship that covered his tuition.

Room On Credit

He first went to a landlady and obtained a room without paying in advance, after arguing for some hours; then he went out and found a job as cashier in a restaurant. He works seven hours a day and is paid $18 a week, receiving his meals free, in addition.

A mere list of the widely varying activities of college men in the city stirs the imagination. There are ushers, detectives, proctors, postoffice clerks, tutors, stenographers, librarians, settlement workers, boys' club directors, waiters, companions, camp counselors, Pullman car conductors, salesmen, manual laborers, book agents, teachers, actors, athletic directors, bank clerks, bell-boys, canvassers, caretakers, chauffeurs, draftsmen, elevator operators, farm workers, guides, hospital superintendents, janitors, lawyers, life guards, messengers, ministers, musicians, paymasters, surveyors, ticket agents and watchmen at the polls.

Hundreds Employed

At least 2,500 men and 1,000 women at Columbia University are doing part-time work of one sort or another. During the last school year 1,550 such jobs were given to men students, and 777 were obtained by women students through the school employment agency. Others found positions on their own initiative.

Tutoring gave work to 152 men last winter. The next largest number, seventy-five, waited on table or worked in cafeterias.

"Tutoring" in some cases meant teaching advanced mathematics and classical languages to graduate students; in other cases it meant teaching grammar, spelling or algebra to delinquent grade or high school pupils; but more often than all it meant teaching English—reading, writing and sometimes conversation—on one more or less prosperous immigrants.

Professions Easiest

Students in the professional courses have the best opportunities of earning money. Journalism students have full or part-time jobs working on newspapers. One man spends three days a week editing a monthly trade journal, receiving $25 a week. Others work for nominal pay for the sake of the experience. Ministers, law students, medical students and accountants all find profitable employment.

At the present time several students are taking small parts in "The Miracle," a Broadway production. They are paid $2 for each performance. The novelty of the work and the opportunity of meeting stage people are added inducements.

Interviews with dozens of student workers show that while most of them do their work cheerfully enough and do not complain of its necessity, they all feel that they miss some very important parts of college life because of it.

BULGARIA WOULD WELCOME U. S. AID

American Firm Preparing to Develop Utilities In Several Cities

SOFIA, Jan. 24.—American cooperation in the development of Bulgaria's industrial and natural resources will be warmly welcomed by the Bulgarian government, according to M. Kalkoff, foreign minister in the Tsankoff cabinet.

Kalkoff's declaration was made during a conference he held with Thomas Shepperd and Addison Ruan, officials of the Ulen company of New York. This company is negotiating with officials of Sofia and other Bulgarian cities for concessions to mine, develop and develop the public utilities of the leading municipalities of the country.

After welcoming Shepperd and Ruan in the name of the government, Kalkoff said:

Praise U. S. Support

"The relations between America and Bulgaria have always been amicable and sincere. We owe very much to the moral support given by America to the legitimate interests of this country. Bulgaria is glad to see the establishment of closer economic and industrial contact between the two countries. This is why you are doubly welcome as pioneers in the effort to develop our public utilities. I promise you my cooperation in the successful fulfillment of your mission. We need American capital and American guidance in the development of this country's rich resources."

Kalkoff told Shepperd and Ruan that a few days before he received them he had held a conference with Mr. Wilson, the American minister to Bulgaria, at which an agreement regulating naturalization was signed. This agreement, in principle, assumes that a wife acquired her husband's citizenship upon marriage, but that wives of naturalized citizens of both countries do not acquire the husband's citizenship. An agreement to facilitate the handling of postal money orders between the United States and Bulgaria also was recently signed.

STATE GUARDS AUGMENTED BY 16 COMPANIES IN NEAR FUTURE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Four battalions of infantry, comprising sixteen companies, are planned as additions to the California National Guard by Adjutant General Richard T. Mittelstaedt.

These companies will be organized in the following towns: Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange, Calexico, El Centro, Holtville, Brawley, Marysville, Chico, Oroville, San Jose, San Leandro, San Mateo, Palo Alto and Hayward.

Batteries and field artillery are contemplated for San Jose, Stockton and Oakland, with headquarters in Oakland.

Legionnaire in Charge

Captain Seth Millington of Colusa, former state commander of the American Legion, will have charge of the organization work. Major Clarence Mitchell of San Jose and Colonel Walter P. Story, commander of the 16th Infantry, Los Angeles, will assist in the work.

During 1924 it is planned to increase the personnel of the National Guard by 1,600 members. In accordance with the program of the war department a maximum of 9,000 is the final objective.

Five new artillery companies will be organized in San Francisco before the plans are completed.

TEACHERS' PAY FUND

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—The Public School Teachers Retirement Salary Fund, according to the annual accounting, has a surplus of $1,708,561.50. Payments made to retired teachers during 1923 totaled $103,192.49.

TAKE INSURANCE ON ALL WORKERS

Glendale Creamery Co. Will Cover Employes Through Gatell Agency

In line with its policy of improving both personnel and equipment by adoption of modern methods, the Glendale Creamery company has purchased approximately $100,000 worth of life insurance thoroughly covering every employe on the company's payroll. The insurance was obtained through the agency of Pedro Gatell, who said that leading employers all over the country are recognizing the benefits of such insurance, which raises the morale of the working force in any institution, he declared, and, by freeing employes of worry and fear for the welfare of their families, improves their ability to produce.

Mr. Gatell said that he would be glad to furnish information relative to the cost of such insurance to any interested employer. The address of his agency is 352 Salem street.

Evolutionist Speaks Before Modesto Club

MODESTO, Jan. 24.—Declaring that man can trace his ascent in the evolutionary scale from non-human ancestors, Rev. H. S. Brewster, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, aligned himself with the modernist school of theologians.

"As a Christian minister," the clergyman said in addressing the Exchange club, "I am forced to take cognizance of the theory of evolution, because the theory is accepted as fact by all the colleges and universities of importance in the country.

"The result is that youths not aware of the theory before they leave their sheltered homes are apt to lose their religious faith when suddenly confronted with scientific truths that seem to conflict with the Bible."

Brewster is the author of "The Simple Gospel," restaurant in an eastern city is capable of washing 12,000 dishes an hour.

Harrower to Outline Advance of Science

Dr. Henry K. Harrower, founder of the Harrower Laboratory on East Broadway, will tonight outline recent developments in endocrinology before a gathering of seventy physicians of Glendale and the San Fernando valley, who will be his guests at a dinner in the Egyptian Village, 133 North Brand boulevard.

The doctors will assemble at 7 o'clock, and after breaking bread with their host will listen to his account of advanced medical science as practiced in Europe, where Dr. Harrower recently spent a year in study and research, conferring with many of the most eminent experts in England and on the continent.

Stork Smuggles 5250 Japanese Into State

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—A total of 5,250 Japanese came into California during 1923 without passports, but their right to remain here will not be questioned by state officials. The increase in the Japanese population is explained by the fact that it is recorded in the birth column.

L. S. Ross, chief of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics states that the 5,250 births reported represent an increase of 184 over the preceding year.

Four hundred and fifty rivets in eight hours is the record of work of a power tunnel at Niagara Falls.

It is a common thing for people to be that way, but it is mighty seldom that they get advertised to the world. We wrote an advertisement with a heading

GIRL DARES GOLD TO STAKE MINE

Pretty School Teacher Joins in Rush for Platinum Field Riches

LARAMIE, Wyo., Jan. 24.—A story rivaling in drama the fiction of the frozen northland, was revealed here in the announcement that Rose Chrisman, a pretty school teacher in the little rural school at Centennial, 30 miles west of here, had "staked out a claim" near Platinum Fork, where a vein of valuable platinum was recently reported discovered.

Excitement here over the platinum discovery and tales of the prospective wealth to follow fired the imagination of a pretty school teacher, formerly of Okmulgee, Okla., and she set out alone on a trip that hardened prospectors, inured to Arctic temperatures of the Wyoming mountains and expert in the use of snowshoes and skis, have hesitated to undertake.

Goes on Snowshoes

Miss Chrisman's feat was accomplished by snowshoeing from Centennial, in the face of a threatening blizzard, to the Alpine region four miles beyond, where a veteran prospector found a sample of ore that assayed fabulously rich in platinum and palladium. The young girl made the trip over the protests of several grizzled prospectors, who insisted they could "smell" snow in the air; and the snow they referred to was not the ten to fifteen feet of dust-dry ice particles previously fallen, but impending snow, that might swoop down on the wings of a blizzard. It was the blizzard they feared, not the 1500-foot climb on snowshoes to the potential platinum field, four miles distant.

And a blizzard 10,000 feet above sea level is a thing to be feared. A strong man is frequently lost and frozen before he even realizes his danger.

Defied Danger

But Miss Chrisman had made up her mind to stake out a platinum claim. The recent visit of the state geologist, his promise to return with the going out of the winter snows, and the straggling in of prospectors had fired her fancied dreams of wealth and fixed her purpose. She started out in the morning, with the dreaded blizzard aborning, but the weather suddenly cleared, and by night she was back in the little mountain hamlet, having staked out her claim in the Platinum Fork and suffered no serious ill effects from the exposure.

It was a bitter cold and dangerous trip however. Not so difficult in the thick pine woods, but in the open spaces the wind raged, and the air was filled with stinging snow, and perhaps Miss Chrisman might have fared worse, despite her pluck and the fine determination that refused to concede anything to feminine frailty, had it not been for the chivalrous impulse of one of those same grizzled prospectors who had sought unsuccessfully to dissuade her from the perilous journey.

"Old Timer" Aids

"I'm danged if I ain't going to look after that little lady!" he announced as he thrust himself away from the improvised card table beside the barrel stove. "If it comes a bad blizzard we'll both

LONDON PEERESS WILL 'KEEP SHOP'

Lady Pleasance McKenna, Who Married Humble Radio Man, Facing Work

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Daughter of an earl, Lady Pleasance McKenna, wife of Owen McKenna, Marconi operator, is planning to open a shop.

The father of Lady Pleasance, the Earl of Stradbroke, is Governor of Victoria, Australia, one of the greatest offices in the gift of the British Government. It will be recalled that she met her husband when returning from Australia, she the rich, admired belle of the ship and he the humble wireless operator.

They fell in love, and, after she had stayed for some weeks in the little four-room cottage of her husband's parents in Lanarkshire—the father-in-law is a Scotch coal miner—They got married.

That was last July. But now the family is expecting an increase and McKenna and Lady Pleasance, living in a tiny apartment near Oxford street, London, are finding that his small salary is not quite sufficient for three, although two manage to struggle along upon it.

Was Social Queen

Hence the Earl's daughter, formerly a queen of London's most aloof and fashionable world, is going to work to support her child. She is an excellent needlewoman, and she is going to open an embroidery shop in the West End of London. There, with the aid of several skilled assistants, she hopes to make a living for the expected little stranger.

"It is a struggle for us to make both ends meet," she says. "I want to do my best for my home and any children of the marriage that may be," she said, in her pretty, quiet way, while her hands were busy at work at which she is so proficient.

PRELATE IS BETTER

OAKLAND, Jan. 24.—Archbishop Alexander Christie of the diocese of Oregon City, who has been critically ill at the Providence hospital here, was reported improved today.

Pea-seeds have been found in Egyptian tombs.

Maybe need looking after, but—

And he grunted and followed Miss Chrisman.

It was this ancient "mountain rat" who piloted the young woman back to camp through the thick fog of blowing snow that required a sixth sense for direction rather than keen eyesight.

"But she sure got a fine location," stated the old prospector upon his return, "his fingers stiff with cold." "picked it out like an old-timer."

And so it transpires that a pretty, young rural school ma'am has filed in this new ore field—the first woman to locate a claim.

It should bring her wealth, if that first sample taken out and assayed here is an accurate index to the richness of the field.

SYRACUSE HONORS SPORTS MENTORS

Ten Eyck, Rowing Godfather, and Keane, Track Coach, Awarded Letters

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 24.—James A. Ten Eyck, Syracuse's grand old man of rowing, and Thomas F. Keane, Syracuse's stellar track coach, today wear the Syracuse coach "S," in spite of the fact that neither attended the Orange institution or is a college graduate.

The Athletic Governing Board of Syracuse today announced the bestowal of block letters on the two mentors in recognition of their long services to the Orange. Both Ten Eyck and Keane were great professionals in their respective sports, crew and track, in the closing years of the nineteenth century.

His Skill Uncanny

Ten Eyck, then very slight, defeated the best single scullers in the country. Brawny opponents of 200 pounds and more meant nothing to him, and he won race after race by an uncanny technical skill combined with worlds of wiry power.

Keane still keeps a tiny bit of gold leaf indicative of the world's sprint championship, won in England many years ago.

More than 20 years of service for Syracuse lies behind these two. Both came here at about the same time and have served unceasingly ever since, except for a brief period during the war, when college athletics were suspended.

Always Triumphant

Championship after championship has been brought to Syracuse through the efforts of Keane and Ten Eyck. In 1908, in 1913, 1916 and in 1920 the varsity swept the Hudson and gathered up the intercollegiate championship.

Almost every year has seen a triumph in some one of the events of the Foughtkeeps program.

Keane has developed athletes of international fame. Among them are Allen Woodring and Charlie Reidpath, both Olympic winners. There has always been a grist of intercollegiate championships in various track and field events from Tom Keane's mill each year, in addition to various dual triumphs.

Arkansas Governor in Appeal for Aerodromes

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 24.—Declaring that lack of "prepared aerodromes" prominently and plainly marked for easy discernment from flying heights, is one of the great drawbacks to air traffic and one of the greatest sources of hazard to aviators," Governor Thomas C. McRae of Arkansas recently issued a proclamation appealing to municipal officials, officers and men of the Arkansas National Guard and civic organizations to co-operate in a program which will locate and land fields, properly arranged and equipped, at many of the cities and towns of Arkansas.

"Progress in the science of practical aviation fully warrants governmental support for the sake of the future," stated the governor.

Some sections of the Sahara desert rise from 5,000 to 8,000 feet.

SCIENCE BETTERS RUBBER PROCESS

Spray System Supplants Old Paddle Method for Coagulating Sap

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Discovery of a scientific process of manufacturing crude rubber, supplanting the primitive methods practiced by the natives in the tropics, was announced here recently through the American Chemical Society.

The new method, described in a detailed report of experiments conducted in the New York laboratories of a large rubber company, to the society by Ernest Hopkinson of New York, says that after three years of testing it has been found possible to make rubber by spraying the latex, or sap, of the rubber tree. A disk spray is substituted for the stick, or paddle, of the native, which coagulated the fluid, the modern process resembling that used in making powdered milk.

The product, known as sprayed rubber, is said to be both cheaper and better than that of the natives and may increase the world's rubber supply. An experimental tower for manufacture has been erected in New Durham, N. J., shiploads of the sap, which looks like milk, being brought in tanks from Sumatra, where other plants are being built.

"Curiously enough," says the report "fine Para, which has generally been considered one of the best crude rubbers, is obtained by a very elemental method. The natives accomplish this by turning a stick, or paddle, which has been dipped in latex over a smoky fire until coagulation and evaporation take place, producing a film of rubber on the stick on which successive layers are added until the mass is of such size as to become unwieldy when it is removed from the stick and sent to the market. Some of the non-rubber constituents of the latex are lost.

"The study of the possibility of utilizing materials which, if of value, should very appreciably increase the world's rubber supply led to an investigation in plantations of Sumatra and in laboratories of New York. Results of these researches established the fact that when prepared by certain methods rubber containing constituents not usually obtained by the coagulation methods, possesses qualities superior to the usual rubbers.

"The apparatus used is known as the disk spray. In this process the latex is allowed to flow on to a rapidly revolving, horizontally mounted disk, from which it is thrown in an umbrella-shaped spray or mist into a heated current of air or inert gas.

GREAT BELLS FOR CHICAGO TOWER

Height of Belfry Exceeded Only by Metropolitan Tower in N. Y.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—The mellow peal of cathedral chimes will sound the "Cambridge Quarters" in the tower of the Straus building, now nearing completion in the heart of the Loop district here.

Four large bells will be installed at the base of the dome of the building and, with one exception, will be the "highest above ground of any bells in the world. The Metropolitan tower bells in New York City, of which the bells here will be an exact counterpart, are higher than the Straus bells will be.

Neither historic European cathedral towers nor the Houses of Parliament in London has belfries that will reach the height of the Straus tower.

The principal bell of the group will weigh about three and a half tons, and the others will have weights of relative proportions.

Electrically Operated
The "Quarters" will be chimed by an electrically operated mechanical device, located directly beneath the bells, which, in addition to playing a few bars of the famous Handel melody every fifteen minutes, will ring loudly at the passing of each hour on the largest bell.

While the potency of these bells will be sufficient to make them heard for miles under favorable atmospheric conditions, the tone will be so soft that they may be listened to with pleasure by persons standing nearby.

Arrangements are being made for enormous crowds of those who it is expected, may wish to hear the tolling of the bells.

Salt-air will destroy steel ma boxes within 26 months, while those made of brass will never rust, it is claimed.

STOCK COMPANY'S PLAY IS PLEASING

'When a Man Marries' Well Staged at Tuesday Club By Royal Players

"When a Man Marries" was well received last night at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, Central avenue and Lexington drive. Written by Herbert Bashford and successfully offered in New York and other eastern cities, its initial performance last night by the Royal Stock company marks the first time it has been seen in Southern California.

Essentially a comedy-drama, the piece appears to have been fitted to the stage by an expert tailor. And in the hands of Charles E. Royal's corps it unfolded without hitch, to the great delectability of everyone present.

Star Wins Approval
Written, like "Some Baby," for laughing purposes, "When a Man Marries" nevertheless conveys a serious thought here and there, and its dramatic moments are real and intense.

Elythe Elliott once more proved her versatility last night, taking the role of Mrs. Jack Harding with grace and charm. Another member of the cast who deserves great credit for her capable work is Myrtle Pepin, who showed to advantage as Mrs. Bainbridge. Rodney Hildebrand did good work as Jules Marsden. Mr. Hildebrand also directed "When a Man Marries."

The play will be given tonight, Friday and Saturday nights, at 8:20 o'clock, with a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee.

New Song About Glendale, By Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly Gains Advertising for Community

Glendale has a new song that bids fair to advertise the city afar. Words and music are both by Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly, 342 El Bonita avenue, who has been a composer of music for many years and has written numerous attractive melodies.

The new song was rendered last week before the local Federated Parent-Teacher Association meeting by Miss Doris Hornung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Hornung, 1615 Gardena avenue, who also sang the number at Tuesday night's annual banquet of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, held in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

Over Radio Soon
This number will be heard next week in Los Angeles by over 500 club women, and is shortly to be put on the air over the radio. It featured the annual banquet of the Glendale Realty Board held the night of January 15, and no one is more proud of it and its talented author than S. S. Gilhuly, her husband and a prominent realtor of this city.

Mrs. Gilhuly accompanies Miss Hornung on the piano whenever the number is rendered, as she has not yet written down the music. As soon as she does, the number will probably be brought out by a Los Angeles song publisher, as it is understood one is already negotiating for the world rights.

This will mean that the song will have national publication and may easily become as popular as many songs that in the past have boosted city and state, numbers such as "Little Old New York," "Mobile Bay," "Michigan," "Moonlight On the Wabash" and a long list of melodies the country has learned to love.

Great Advertising
The immense advertising value to Glendale of a good song is evident to any one, and competent music critics have acclaimed Mrs. Gilhuly's song as offering everything needed for a popular hit. The words follow:

GLENDALE
(Words and music written by Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly)

I
The sun, the moon, the stars of old
Are watching from the sky
A pulsing town, all bright with life,
With banners flying high.
This wonder California town
A nation's trophy won
As the fastest growing city
The world has ever known.

Glendale, Glendale, our hats are off to you
As the fastest growing city of today
With your charm of woods and hills,
How your wondrous beauty thrills
All those who pass your portals day by day.
You have pep, you have speed
You give you fame and glory and renown.
So well give three rousing cheers,
Keeping faith throughout the years
For Glendale, our own home town.

II
The pride of all who dwell within
This lovely fairy place
Reflects the happiness and love
That shine on every face.
We'll welcome you, praisers far and near,
So all the world may find
The welcome Glendale offers all
To share her joys sublime.

With the Chamber of Commerce, Realty Board, Federated Parent-Teacher Association and other local organizations already backing this song, great things may be expected from it in the coming months.

CITIZENSHIP, AIM OF LEGION DRIVE

Executive Committee Solidly Behind Collins' Plan In Big Campaign

Members of the state executive committee of the American Legion have given their unanimous stamp of approval to State Commander James F. Collins' plan for the citizenship drive which the executive committee's organization is ready to launch in every section of the state.

The executive committee went to San Francisco from almost every county in the state and heard Commander Collins present his plan which contemplates the most ambitious and extensive drive for a better citizenship through a campaign of education which has ever been attempted by any organization.

The leaders of the Legion heard all the details of the plan, which involves a state-wide speaking bureau with between 1500 and 2000 participants.

State Is Districted
The state has been divided into forty districts which will be supervised by a district commander, reporting to Commander Collins. The state executive committee members have voted themselves supervisors to act in such capacity in each of the 11 congressional districts of California.

In addition to the plea of Commander Collins that the duty of the citizens to register and vote be especially stressed during this campaign of education, the executive committee has asked that particular emphasis be placed on the obligation which every citizen owes to his community, state and nation.

Weekly Bulletin
Besides the sales letter which it is contemplated to send to every American Legion post in the state, the executive committee approved the plan of State Adjutant Morgan Keaton to send out a weekly bulletin to all fraternal, labor, civic, church, chamber of commerce organizations, women's clubs and the like.

The weekly bulletin will serve as an additional source of information to those active in the educational campaign and citizenship drive.

The state committee also wishes it made clear that the present citizenship drive is intended for those who are American citizens and is not aimed at alien residents alone.

London gives little encouragement to writers of cantatas, but the provincial centers offer inducements to produce music of such dimensions.

CLASS PRESENTS VARIED PROGRAM

Wilson Ave. Students Stage Dramatic and Musical Entertainment

Variety typified the entertainment given by the graduating class of the Wilson Intermediate school Wednesday afternoon and evening. The program included numbers prepared by the three sections of the class under the direction of Mrs. Fern Fairy Lytle, Miss Edith Tyler and Miss Margaret Sharpe. The Wilson Avenue orchestra opened the program.

The A-8 I class was represented by Tom Sawyer, who read "The Bald-headed Man," Edmund Sawyer, who read "Aunt Shaw's Pet Jug," and the Japanese lovers, Doris Boynton, pianist, and Doris Cole who sang "La Paloma."

The A-8 III class offered as their share of the program Donald Morrow, Stanley Eckert and George Hall in a clever black face skit entitled "Chicken-Lover." The two scenes were arranged and directed by Robert Burns, who was unable to take part, due to his sudden illness. Two young roosters, furnished by Frank Galbraith, were the other actors in the comedy.

A quintette, consisting of Stanley Eckert, Donald Morrow, Donald Cole, George Hall and Wilmer King, was well received.

Present Pantomime
"In Old Japan," a Japanese pantomime, was presented by the A-8 III girls with Mae McAteer at the piano. Maurine Strong, Wilma Stevens, Margaret Anderson, Mildred Moody, the Japanese lovers, Dorothy Leslie, Martha Sberrell and Ruth Lane represented Chinamen, and Genevieve Lund, the Japanese fairy.

The A-8 II class presented the most difficult part of the program, a four scene comedy entitled "How the Story Grew." The cast of characters was as follows:

Mrs. Brownley, who starts the story, Margaret Thompson.
Mrs. Roberts, young matron, Marcia Cleveland.
Virginia, daughter, Virginia Cookinham.
Mrs. Lawrence, bride, Barbara Sawyer.
Lillian Fitzgerald, a Boston friend, Mildred Randolph.
Mrs. Collins, Margaret Anderson.
Roy, brother of Mrs. Lawrence, Harold Hill.
Mrs. Gifford, a buxom matron, Chloe Solaner.
Bobby and Betty Gifford, Zorra Glassey, and Lawrence McIntyre.
Mrs. White, president of the club, Julia White.
Mr. Nicholson, an Englishman, John Kettles.
Club members, Garnet Lord, Evelyn Nash, Dorothy Hosking, Winnifred Lay, La Verne Shaw, Esther Haines, Edith Pentecost, Verma Krus.

The man who finished the story, Walter Stavert.

White's Report Outlines Rules for Attendance at Schools As Term Begins

Superintendent Richardson D. White, of the Glendale city schools, has issued the following report regarding the opening of the city schools for the second term, with the suggestion that the parents of all students carefully study the rules that will govern the attendance and the studies of their children.

The second term of school will open on Monday, February 4, 1924. It is very important that every child should enter school on the first day and should thereafter be regular and punctual in his attendance. Any absence may be a serious menace to the child's standing in his classes.

Special Permits
All permits issued at the opening of the first term are good until the end of the year. Children who have been required to go out of their own district because of late entrance may return to their own schools without permits. Permits good only until February 1 are hereby revoked. If their renewal is desired application must be made at the superintendent's office during the week preceding the opening of the second term. No new permits will be issued until the second day of the school term at which time it will be possible to determine what conditions are. Parents are requested therefore, even though they have applied for a permit, to send their children for the first two days of the term to the school in whose district they reside.

School Age
The legal age for entering school is 6 years. However, an allowance of 3 months is made. This means that in order to enter the first grade a child would have to be 6 on or before May 4, 1924. No beginner will be admitted after Friday, February 29, 1924.

Kindergartens
The law states the kindergarten age to be from 4 1/2 to 6 years. This law is interpreted to mean that the child's fourth birthday must have occurred at least three months before the opening of the term, i. e. in this case, on or before November 4, 1923. No allowance is made for over age. Any child who is 6 years old or older on the day the term begins will not be admitted to the kindergarten. Such child, of course, enter school if the parents so desire. In order that the parents may have a choice between the kindergarten and the school, the child must be between 5 years and 9 months, and 6 years old on the day the term begins.

Parents are advised not to send their children to kindergarten until they are at least 4 years and 9 months old for the following reasons: First, we have a kindergarten course of only one year and if a child finished that before he has attained to school age he will either have to drop out for a half year or take the same work over again in the kindergarten; second, a child of 5 will get much more out of the kindergarten work than a child of 4 1/2.

Superintendent's Office Hours
For any further information call up the superintendent's office between the hours of 9 and 5, except on Saturdays and Sundays. On Saturday call between 9 and 12. Telephone, Glendale 593.

Districts
Parents are urged to study the district lines as given below and to send their children to the school in whose district they reside, on the first day of the term. Please note carefully also the grades that each school will enjoin. These district lines are subject to change either for a whole school or for separate grades if the first day's enrollment shows such a change to be necessary.

The district of this school is that part of the Glendale City School District lying north of the following described line: Starting at the intersection of the center line of Colorado street, with the western boundary of the Glendale City School District the line runs east on said center line to its intersection with the eastern boundary line of the Glendale City School District.

ORGANIST PLANS TO GIVE RECITAL

Miss Lilla Litch to Present Varied Program at Church Friday

Glendaleans, who recall the recent delightful organ recital by Miss Lilla Litch at the First Congregational church, will be pleased with the announcement that Miss Litch is to give another program at 8 o'clock Friday night at the church, corner of North Central and East Wilson avenues. She will be assisted by Fred Turney, cornetist.

These programs are free and open to the public and the program for Friday night will be: "Concert Piece in E Flat" (Parker); "Liebeslied" (Henselt); "Verset" (Salome); "Folk Song" (Torjussen); cornet solo, "In the Garden of My Heart" (Ball); "Sonata No. 4" (Guilmant); cornet solo, "Sing Me to Sleep" (Greene); "Intermezzo" from "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni); "Fantasia" (for pedals alone, (Dunham); "Gavotte Modern" (Lomare); "March" from "Tannhauser" (Wagner).

Effort on the part of Randall J. Litch, attorney for the defense, to introduce as evidence the signed statement of J. M. Barnett, made at the Glendale hospital shortly after the shooting last Thanksgiving, met with strenuous objection by Herbert S. G. McCarty, deputy district attorney, at the preliminary hearing of Wallace W. Brown, 721 West California street, who is charged with the shooting, yesterday afternoon before Judge Harry W. Chase.

The prosecuting attorney insisted that it was not proper evidence, after hearing arguments, Judge Chase allowed the defense counsel to read it and it was entered in the court record. The statement was given to Detective Sergeant Blake and Officers J. J. Claxton and W. W. Hedrick when Barnett's life was hanging in the balance as the result of the bullet wound inflicted.

The hearing was then adjourned until Wednesday, January 30. Brown had not been called to the stand, and it is not probable that he will testify in his own behalf at the preliminary hearing. The state charges that he shot Barnett during a quarrel which resulted from the continued honking of Barnett's automobile horn shortly after midnight last Thanksgiving.

Cutting ice at the speed made by eight horses and six men has been accomplished in New York state by the use of a machine consisting of two circular saws driven by a gasoline engine.

Girl Scout Council In Quarterly Meet

The first quarterly meeting of the Glendale Girl Scout council was held Monday night in the music room of the old High school. Mrs. F. A. Beach, commissioner, presided, and all officers were present, as well as a representative number of the council members. Various important topics came up for discussion, and suggestions were received regarding the proposed summer camp. Appointments are to be made shortly of three members each, these to be chosen from the council, and one committee to be assigned to each troop, to assist in troop activities. The next quarterly meeting will be held in April.

Love for Model Ship Gets Boy in Trouble

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Fred Van Doekenhausen, 18, as his name suggests, is a descendant of those eminent ancient Dutch who made the Seven Seas their playground. When he day-dreams he sees spars and full-bellied white sails and flecks of foam and a thousand strange countries.

So interested was he in a ship-model he saw in the offices of the David Fork company, that he packed it off under his arm. He was arrested and arraigned in Boys' Court all because the legacy of his ancestors is a love for the sea and its toys.

Policemen's Salaries Depend on Arrests

SANTA ROSA, Jan. 24.—Santa Rosa's police force is to receive a raise in wages if:

The cops turn in a sufficient number of arrests and fines following conviction to meet the raise.

The City Manager and Council met their request for a $20 a month increase with the offer to pay it if their activities put the necessary cash in the city treasury.

Hence the police force is unusually active, and people generally are "watching their step." Especially the "step" on the gas.

CLUBS MUST PAY ADMISSION TAXES

Goodcell Explains Ruling On Entertainments Given by Organizations

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell received a ruling yesterday from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in regard to tax on admissions sold by the Lions' Rotary, Kiwanis and other similar clubs, to dances and other entertainments. The Commissioner holds that such clubs must collect tax on all admissions sold by them, the proceeds of which inure to the clubs. He further holds that such clubs must also collect tax on initiation fees and dues, if they maintain club quarters and make social features a material purpose of their organization.

"Speaking of tax on admissions," said Collector Goodcell, "there are probably more clubs, lodges, state societies and other similar organizations unintentionally violating this section of the revenue law than any other class of taxpayers. Such organizations assume that they do not have to collect tax on admissions, either because they do not have to collect tax on dues, or because the proceeds of admissions are to be expended by them for charity. Neither of them would entitle these organizations to exemption. Such societies lay themselves liable to a penalty of $1,000, each time they fail to collect tax."

"Other such organizations," continued Collector Goodcell, "print tickets showing the price of admission, either with no mention of tax, or with the words 'including tax.' Either method is illegal and will subject such societies to a penalty of $1,000 for failure to collect tax, or a penalty of $100 for each ticket sold which does not comply with the law."

"Every person or organization," said Collector Goodcell, "who or which sells admissions, must collect tax, regardless of any right to exemption, unless they first secure an exemption certificate or their incur the penalties imposed by law."

One hundred pounds of oranges or leman peel will yield about ten ounces of citrus oil.

VALLEY NEWS
ROUTE TO AVOID
GRADE CROSSING

Cahuenga Pass Plans Call for Bridge Across Canyon To Cost $50,000

Plans for the improvement of Cahuenga pass call for a bridge across the canyon at the high point, leading from the present road to a new road to be built on the other side, thus avoiding the dangerous grade crossing at Cahuenga and Highland avenues, which for years has menaced motorists.

The proposed bridge will be about 150 feet long and 30 feet high and will cost approximately $50,000, according to plans now being prepared to submit to C. E. Toberman, owner of the property which must be decided for the right-of-way.

The new road will cut farther west from Highland avenue, thus eliminating the present curve and meeting the summit on a gradual grade. An appropriation of $100,000 has already been made by Los Angeles for the work. This will cover the grading. The fills it is understood will be allowed to settle a year before paving is laid on the new part, and an appropriation for that work will be made later.

Inasmuch as the board of county supervisors has agreed to allow the city all funds received from automobile licenses, Los Angeles should receive about $400,000 from this source, which should be sufficient for road construction. Efforts are being made, however, to get an additional appropriation for road work on the Cahuenga pass.

The old road will be kept open while construction work is under way, so that there need be no cessation of traffic on this important thoroughfare to and from the San Fernando valley to Los Angeles and points north and south.

Complete Bean Pool
Agreements have been reached with 82 per cent of farmers of San Fernando valley bean lands to form a pool for marketing this product. It is announced by the Van Nuys and Owensmouth Bean Growers' association, who were highly instrumental in effecting the combine.

This means that the marketing of the 1924 crops of large and baby limas is assured. And, according to Secretary John H. Walters of the association, a total of 10,800 acres is included in the pool, which assures a big crop.

Mr. Walters also announces an important forward step in the grading of beans, stating that the California Bean Growers' association proposes the use of special grading attachments on all regular bean cleaners in the association's warehouses this year, ensuring separation into seaside and choice cleaned grades with but one run through the machine and at no appreciable loss of weight.

Blast Valley Exchange Hopes
The aspiration of the entire San Fernando valley to unite under one telephone exchange was dashed to earth by a communication from the State Railroad commission, read at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce held last week at Mission Acres. The letter stated that such a plan was entirely impractical. So the valley must continue to pay tolls for the inter-town calls, as in the past.

The deficiency of winter rainfall is creating critical soil conditions in many parts of the San Fernando valley, and growers are warned from the office of the farm adviser to make sure that subsoil moisture supplies are maintained, it being pointed out that a dry subsoil at the beginning of the season is a handicap in many cases impossible to overcome after the hot weather sets in.

Glendale Man Held On Kern Co. Warrant

The mystery of the disappearance of E. J. Eubank, who resided in a tent house in Sycamore canyon, was solved last night, when the local police were informed by Sheriff William Traeger of Los Angeles that he had been arrested on a warrant from the Kern county sheriff.

Eubank was missing two days ago and, as his tools were scattered around the premises, neighbors were worried as to what had become of him. His personal property was taken care of by friends last night.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE
"St. Elmo," the William Fox film drama adapted from the novel of Augusta Evans and directed by Jerome Storm, shows at the Glendale Theatre for the last times today. The cast includes Barbara La Marr, Bessie Love, Lydia Knott, Nigel De Brulier, Warner Baxter and John Gilbert. St. Elmo Thornton loved a girl and was as happy as only a man in love can be. The girl, he thought, was equally so. She was, but not because of his love, but because of his money. One day he found her in the arms of a man he thought was his best friend. He became a different man. No woman was worthy even of his respect, no man or child worthy of his friendship. In fact, he hated all the world, including himself.

COOLIDGE URGES AID TO FARMERS

Submits Five Proposals to Congress For Relief Of Agriculture

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Alarmed by the distressing economic conditions prevailing among farmers in the northwest, President Coolidge yesterday sent to congress five proposals for immediate temporary relief.

In an unexpected and special message to congress the president suggested:

First—Refunding of the pressing past due indebtedness of the farmer in the territories most seriously affected.

Second—Financial assistance through a federal agency to enable wheat farmers to make the change from a single crop system to diversified farming.

Third—The restoration—wherever it would be helpful—of the impaired capital of banking institutions in the distressed sections.

Fourth—The creation by private capital of a substantial financial corporation to assist in the plan of reorganization.

Fifth—Extension of the time during which the war finance corporation can make loans.

Lauding the numerous bills which have been introduced in congress for the aid of the farmer, President Coolidge declared, however, that these measures "do not and will not compass the entire problem."

Farmers in Jeopardy

"Many of the farmers are in such jeopardy from their creditors," he said, "that even with such assistance there is no assurance that they would have sufficient period in which to work out the necessary conversion of their methods and it would be useless to give to this group such governmental assistance if it is to be only for purposes of immediate seizure by the creditors."

"Such legislation, therefore, will be of little avail unless arrangements have been effected between the farmer and his creditors, by the funding of past due indebtedness and interest or by similar means, so that loans will inure to the benefit of the farmer himself, instead of merely to the benefit of his creditors."

"If such arrangements can be made the farmer can be given the opportunity to work his way out of his present difficulty. If they are not made, it is difficult to see how he can benefit from the plan."

Soviet Rules Are Scored by Baroness

Declaring herself as 100 per cent American and bitterly opposed to the soviet government of Russia, Baroness Otilly de Ropp of 520 South Brand boulevard, spoke yesterday morning to the travel section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, meeting at the clubhouse.

She spoke of the recent death of Lenine and declared that he was "gambling away all Russia."

The baroness was introduced by Mrs. Charles Turck, who presided over the meeting in the absence of the curator, Mrs. Mabel Franklyn Ocker. Her subject was "Monte Carlo and the Riviera" and she pictured that beauty spot of the world in beautiful language.

She compared that part of the world with Southern California, saying that had she seen Southern California first, the beauty in southern France would have been far overshadowed.

COOLIDGE FACES WAR ON TAX CUT

Democrats Plan to Challenge President to Veto Reduction Bill

By GEORGE R. HOLMES For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Quietly conscious of their own strength, the Democrats, in the Sixty-eighth Congress, apparently plan to challenge President Coolidge to veto a tax-reduction bill for which a nation-wide sentiment has been built up.

This bit of strategy emerged today from a solid week of jockeying behind the closed doors of the ways and means committee room, in which the Republican leaders have been inviting a compromise on the Mellon bill, and the Democrats have been coyly resisting.

President Coolidge let it be known Tuesday that he was unalterably opposed to a surtax in excess of 25 per cent and plainly hinted that he would feel constrained to veto a bill containing a surtax appreciably higher.

Republican leaders in the House took the hint Wednesday, and made an offer to the Democrats

D. A. R. Delegates to Be Entertained Here

The California Daughters of the American Revolution convention in Pasadena, March 13, 14 and 15, is going to be featured by a big reciprocity tea given by the General Richard Gridley chapter of Glendale, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse the afternoon of March 15.

Mrs. C. W. Houston, regent of General Richard Gridley chapter, states that the tea will honor the incoming state officers and will be attended by over 200 Daughters.

which amounted virtually to this: Leave the 25 per cent surtax alone and we will meet you half-way with regard to the other taxes.

Today Democratic leaders of the House announced that under no circumstances will the Democrats compromise with the Republicans on the surtax rate and that they plan to stick out to the end for a surtax of 44 per cent, as written in their own plan.

The challenge to the White House apparently is unescapable. The Democrats will first wage their fight in committee, where the division of strength is close. And, if defeated there, it was stated by Representative Garrett, the Democratic leader, they will carry it to the floor, where they are supremely confident of their superiority.

SEELIG TO OPEN 4TH STORE HERE

New Establishment on North Pacific Is No. 201 In Company's Chain

Sam Seelig company's fourth store will open in Glendale at 925 North Pacific avenue Saturday, January 26. It will be the company's store No. 201.

Glendale's rapid growth is attested by the increase in Seelig stores here. The first store of the chain here was the Brand boulevard market. Last summer a similar establishment was opened on East Colorado and in December a store was launched at Glendale and Seneca. It is the plan of the company to open three or four more stores here this year.

The North Pacific avenue store will be under the management of Frank C. Kearne. It will have the same prices as all the Seelig stores, and will be operated under the Seelig policy of a "Money-Back Guarantee."

Deer are reported to be driven to cities of some northern states by lack of food caused by deep snows in the forests.

New Village Springs Up Inside Glendale

A new subdivision, amounting already to a village in itself, has sprung up within the boundaries of Glendale, without any of the preliminary blast of trumpets that usually heralds anything of this nature. Homes have been erected, a blacksmith shop is in full blast, an automobile repair shop is also working, motor boats chase one another over the bosom of a placid lake, chickens, ducks and geese wander through the streets of the village, a cow and a bunch of woolly lambs are among those present, and, in the outskirts, the tractors are busy tearing up the globe.

This village, which is known as Smithville, has been built by Claire D'Arge in one of the wind-downs of the Jesse E. Smith Company's Ford agency on West Colorado street, and the signboards that are such an inevitable part of the surroundings of any American community today loudly proclaim the merits of the Ford Weekly Purchase plan.

LEAGUE EXCITED OVER MARANVILLE

Pirate Shortstop's Ultimate Destination Puzzle to Baseball Fans

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—More or less immediate developments in the strange case of "Rabbit" Maranville, the non-refillable shortstop with whom the Pirates' fan would part, are being anticipated by those who keep an index finger on the pulse of major league affairs. It is said that Maranville may be sent to Boston within a few days and passed on to the St. Louis Cardinals in the deal virtually closed by the respective heads of the Cardinals and Braves last week.

This is supposed to be the National league's answer to the report from Detroit that Maranville would be waived out of the Heydler circuit, claimed by the Tigers, placed on second base, help the club win its first pennant since 1909, and live ever happily thereafter. It is a commendably ambitious plan but several National league clubs are not in accord with it.

May Go to Cardinals

For one thing, it is reported that the success of the Braves-Cardinal deal rests on the ability of the Boston club to turn Maranville over to St. Louis. Failing in this, it is altogether likely that the Cardinals would claim the player in the event of waivers being asked.

But, even if the Rabbit did escape from the National league, which is highly improbable, the New York Yankees would not see him go to Detroit without a counter-effort to land the young man. The Yankees apparently realize that with Maranville on second base, the Tigers would form one of the most dangerous combinations in baseball and are prepared to act accordingly.

Two things are regarded as certainties, however. One of them is that Maranville will not remain in Pittsburgh. The other that he will not come to the Giants.

CALLARD LEADING WITH STICK WORK

Sacramento Pitcher at Top of White Sox Heap; 'Doc' Crandall Strong

Of The Evening News Staff.
By AL DIX
"Hap" Callard, San Joaquin valley star, Sacramento hurler who will attempt to make the grade with Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers this spring, leads the White Sox regulars with the stick since the opening of the Triple A league, with a percentage of .333.

Callard, in addition to taking his regular turn in the box, cavorts between flinging jobs in center field, as his prowess with the bat makes him too valuable a man to let stay idle on the bench. The only two names to appear ahead of Callard, strange to say, are a veteran and a youngster. Stradley, Los Angeles Telephone league product, in his two appearances here has hit .500, and Mike Donlin, former Giant slugger, has connected for six safe blows, out of fifteen times at bat in four games, for a mark of .400.

Includes Exhibitions

The percentages include the four exhibition games which have been played against the St. Louis Giants, made necessary by the withdrawal of Anaheim and Wilmington from the Triple A ranks. Outside of Callard, "Doc" Crandall, another old-timer, battling the clean-up position all season, has hit .324. The percentages of the men playing in White Sox uniform the early part of the season were boosted by the massacre at Anaheim in the second league game, when the pale hose beat the Orange county crew by a score of 18-0. Every man of the team fattened his batting average that day. Since that day the slugging has not been so smooth.

Callard and Crandall are tied for the largest number of hits—twelve each—while the former again leads with total bases, nineteen. He also leads in the number of triples, having gathered two during the season. Doran, with five, leads the two-base hitters, while Herman, Doran and Perry O'Brien are the only ones to connect for homers.

In Every Contest

Doran has played in every game, thereby beating Doc Crandall, who was out of last Sunday's game on account of his ankle, injured in Saturday's appearance against the Giants. In all, twenty-five men have played with the White Sox this season, the reason

Owner of Senators Refuses Cash Offer

OAKLAND, Jan. 24.—Lewis Moreing, president of the Sacramento baseball club, has turned down an offer of $175,000 made for his club. for the passing of most of them being very apparent by a glance at the statistical table. Seven of them failed to get a hit in one or more appearances.

The batting average of the ten regulars on the team now, counting Callard and Arnold Crandall as alternate pitchers, is .254, which is not so impressive as batting averages go. The Sox have been playing an in and out game all season as far as hitting goes. In one game they look like a million dollars and the next game paw the air all afternoon.

Chicken Hawks with 172 is far below where he should be. The former Vernon and Yankee player can hit far better than this, but has been off all winter.

BROWNS HUNTING THIRD BASEMAN

Thus Far Efforts Have Been Futile, Unless Ezzell Is the Man

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—One of these fine days the St. Louis Browns are going to reach into the player grab-bag and come up with an infielder who can play third base with speed, grace and permanence and the status of the ball club will be elevated accordingly. The late Sir Galahad's quest of the Holy Grail was no more persistent than has been the Browns' fruitless search for a third baseman of major league standard. They haven't been favored with this particular species of modern biped since James Austin became too elderly to indulge in the daily frolic.

Many and varied have been the unsuccessful candidates, even the great Sisler being given his fling at the position soon after he came up to the major leagues from Michigan University. Having the left-handed complex, Sisler was only an innovation at the position. There was greater scope for his talent elsewhere.

Bronkie Gets Trial

Herman Bronkie received the first real trial at third base after Austin began to fade. Herman wouldn't do, however, and lost no time proving it. Earl Smith, a reformed outfielder, was next in line. He was a semi-failure and soon was wuffed away on a trade wind that brought on Frank Ellerbe from Washington. The latter got by for a season, then injuries claimed him. He seems to be out of baseball permanently now.

Ellerbe passed on white the Browns were in a head and head race with the Yankees for the 1922 pennant. They couldn't afford to look a gift horse out of contention and picked up Eddie Foster from the Red Sox at the waiver price. Just to prove that time cannot age nor custom stale, Edward stepped high and handsome through the remaining weeks of the season, but his efforts were merely a flash.

Ezzell on Job

Eddie was all over and done with when the 1923 season began and opening day found Homer Ezzell, Texas leaguer recruit, occupying the position, Homer being deemed a better investment than Gene Robertson, a young

PEACE REIGNS IN TENNIS CIRCLES

Net Association and Tilden Bury Gory Hatchet at Amicable Dinner

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Indications today were that the differences between the United States Lawn Tennis association and William T. Tilden II, national singles champion, have been settled amicably as the result of a strictly private, corporation dinner, given by the Davis cup committee last night. Just where the affair was held, at what hour and to what purpose, could not be learned, but it is understood that all members of Davis cup teams since 1920 were invited to be present.

The mystery surrounding the entire proceedings has been preserved to the point that it could not be learned whether or not Tilden accepted the invitation. It is understood, however, that he did, and quite a jocular little evening was had by all.

Harold H. Hackett, of the Davis cup committee, with whom Tilden engaged in acrimonious debate some months ago on the subject of doubles play, was there in official capacity, and the report is that the belligerents were calmed with due formality.

The association's executive committee, which has acted favorably upon the recommendation that Tilden, among others, be curbed from writing tennis articles after January 1, next, was also represented.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

This is what grammarians call a coincidence. Glendale White Sox are drubbed (again) by the Colored Giants, score 9 to 0, or even less than that, but still the hosiery addicts chalk up a 9 to 0 win in the triple A league standings on the strength of the default of Wilmington, thereby maintaining a percentage of .500 and rooting in fourth place. Now if some more teams will default maybe the soxsters can win this pennant chase yet. Let us hope that none of the Angel bosses were out there watching Crandall delivering base hits to the brunette gents from St. Louis, if they were the chances are that said Angel bosses are looking at Arnold's name on the payroll and calling loudly for the ink eraser.

The spring training exhibition games as announced are as follows: March 8, 9—Los Angeles and Chicago Cubs at Los Angeles. March 14, 15, 16—Los Angeles and Chicago Cubs at Los Angeles. March 21, 22—Vernon and Chicago Cubs at Los Angeles. March 23—Chicago Cubs and Los Angeles at Los Angeles. March 25, 26—Kansas City and Vernon at Los Angeles. March 28, 29—Open, with Los Angeles in possession of Washington Park. March 30—Pittsburg Pirates and Los Angeles at Los Angeles. March 31—Pittsburg Pirates and Chicago Cubs at Los Angeles.

Willie Hoppe Still Holds Billiard Crown

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Willie Hoppe, upon whose slick blonde head the billiard crown rests as easily as an old fedora, still wore that trinket today, with no disarrangement apparent from his match with Jake Schaefer, challenger.

Entering the final block of the 1500-point match with a lead of 261 points last night, he increased that margin to win handily, 1500 to 1196. Pickle weather again marred the action of the balls, and, though the champion was able to score but 55 in the first eight innings of the final block, the challenger could do no better.

TODAY: U. S.-Bulgarian Interests Greek-Rumanian Dispute

By CONSTANTINE STEPHAN- OVE

For International News Service. SOFIA, Jan. 24.—American capital is showing renewed interest in the commercial possibilities of Bulgaria. Indications are that numerous development projects in Sofia and other Bulgarian cities will be launched, with active co-operation, financial and technical, of American industrial interests.

Thomas Sheppard, vice-president of the Ulen company, of New York and Addison, Ruan, engineer of the same company, are now in Sofia negotiating with national and municipal authorities. They are discussing plan for the reconstruction and modernization of the city's public utilities. The scheme includes the water system, street railway system, paving, sewerage and other utilities, including the construction of adequate electric power houses.

If the negotiations are successful it is expected the Ulen company will soon begin the work of rebuilding the city's water supply. Successful completion of this will be followed by development of other utilities.

Greece's attempt to solve her "refugees" problem by colonizing them in her Macedonian districts has caused much dissatisfaction and unrest among Russians and other nationalities which now inhabit the districts to which the refugees are sent. The Rumanians, Macedonians and others declare the influx of refugees is crowding out the original inhabitants and causing great hardship among them.

It is openly charged by the residents of the districts to which refugees are flocking that the Greek colonization scheme is a deliberate attempt to persecute and harass the Rumanian people. Greece, it is alleged, has instituted a reign of terror designed to exterminate the Rumanian element in the colonized regions.

This policy of the Greek government has resulted in strong protests from Rumanian nationalists. One of the latest protests came from the Macedonian students of Bucharest and other universities, and was sent to the League of Nations. This protest said:

"The Macedonian-Rumanian Student Association has been the recipient of repeated appeals from our much oppressed brethren in Macedonia in which it is stated that the Greek authorities, after they had closed all Rumanian schools and other institutions, after they had driven away the entire Rumanian intelligentsia and after they had imprisoned, maltreated or killed a large number of the wealthier class of the Rumanian inhabitants in those regions—in a word, after the Greek authorities had done all possible to stifle and destroy every vestige of Rumanian race feeling by the introduction of a veritable reign of terror, the aim of which was to exterminate the Rumanian element there, now the Greek government has resorted to another equally disastrous measure, namely, the settlement of thousands of Greek refugees in the districts and homes of the Rumanian population, thus crowding out, plundering, dispossessing and murdering the original inhabitants. We, representatives of four Rumanian universities, raise our voice and protest against this inhuman and

Gathering in Ancient Temple Sounds Recall For Greek Statesman

Gathering of pro-Venizelos Greeks in the ruins of the Temple of Jupiter in Athens

The beginning of the end for King George II of Greece, now in exile, was sounded by modern "Demostheneses" who harangued a gigantic gathering of Greeks in the ruins of the ancient Temple of Jupiter in Athens. The meeting was enthusiastically in favor of the recall of Venizelos from exile to guide the ship of state. Now Greece is waiting his return.

A Scot visited Nice at carnival time, and of course all the hotels were full. He met a friendly English chauffeur. This chap, not being averse to earning an honest penny, offered him shelter for the night.

"My dignities are modest," said the chauffeur, "but I've a good bed for you at your service, sir."

The Scot accepted the chauffeur's hospitality and they set off for the flat so as to be in time for dinner.

Next day the Scot succeeded in finding a hotel, packed his valise and told the chauffeur he'd be going.

"Good-bye, mon," and he held out his hand. "Hoots, ye've been verra kind."

The chauffeur gave him an inquiring look. "But I've a good bed for you at your service, sir?"

"Well, then," said the chauffeur, blushing, "how about 25 francs?"

"Mon," said the Scot, "it would be a goshend!"

It was proposed to establish the honor system in a large eastern penitentiary. The matter was put up to the prisoners themselves, it being figured that they would know better than anyone whether they could play the game honorably. It was put to a vote.

"Sure, kid, four times."

In this we know the entire Rumanian people, 17,000,000 strong, is one with us in our appeal to the great Powers to interest themselves in the sad plight of our co-nationals there. A stop should be put to the systematic persecution of our brethren by the Greek authorities in Macedonia, and their rights, property and lives guaranteed against any unbridled administration directed from Athens."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BILLIE'S HORNS

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping across the fields, twinkling his pink nose and wondering what adventure he might have, all of a sudden Uncle Wiggily heard a sad voice saying:

"Oh, dear! They don't want me to play with them! They made me go away!"

"Oh, ho!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he hid behind a bush. "I think this must be the bad Bob Cat. I guess the Bob Cat wanted to play with the animal children and they wouldn't let him because they were afraid he would scratch them. And, very likely, he would."

Uncle Wiggily peered out from behind the bush, but he didn't see the Bob Cat. The rabbit gentleman only saw Billie Wagtail, the goat boy, who once had the toothache.

"Where is he, Billie?" asked the bunny.

"Where is who?" inquired Billie, sadly and sorrowfully.

"The Bob Cat," replied Uncle Wiggily.

"There isn't any Bob Cat here," bleated the goat boy.

"I thought there was," went on Mr. Longears. "I heard some one saying they couldn't play and—"

"Oh, I said that!" bleated Billie, asking Uncle Wiggily's pardon for interrupting him. "The other animal boys and girls won't let me play with them. I'm so lonesome, too!"

"Why won't they let you play with them, Billie?"

"Cause they say my horns are so sharp that I tickle them and they have to laugh. Then they can't play tag and other games. Oh, dear, I wish I didn't have any horns!" And the little goat boy stamped his hoof on the ground.

"Tut! Tut!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "It is perfectly right and proper for a goat boy to have horns. Indeed, you would look odd without them."

"But as long as I have them the other children won't let me play," complained Billie. "I can't have fun all by myself. The animal boys and girls didn't use to be this way. They never minded playing with me until lately."

"That is because you are getting older and stronger and your horns are growing sharper, I suppose," said Uncle Wiggily. "But I think I know a way, Billie, so everything will be all right."

"Oh, how, Uncle Wiggily? How?" eagerly bleated the goat boy.

"We'll just put a large cork on each of your horns," said the rabbit gentleman. "The cork is soft, and even if you do happen to hit one of the animal boys or girls in the ribs with your horns after the corks are on no harm will come."

"Oh, please put some corks on my horns!" begged Billie.

"I will," promised Uncle Wiggily.

So the rabbit gentleman hopped to Dr. Pussan's drug store and there he bought two large, round cork balls, such as children sometimes play with in the bathtub.

"Stick one on each of the sharp ends of your horns, Billie," said the rabbit gentleman.

"So the little goat boy did this. Now we'll go back to where the children are playing and I'm sure they will welcome you," said Uncle Wiggily.

But when Sammie and Susie Littletail, Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow and the other boys and girls saw Billie coming they called:

"Oh, Billie, please go away and play by yourself! We love you, Billie, but your sharp horns tickle us and make us laugh when we don't want to!"

"No more of that!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "No more of that! Billie has corks on his horns now and he can't hurt a mosquito!"

And when the animal children saw the corks on Billie's horns they laughed without being tickled and said:

"Oh, all right! Now you may play with us!" And the little goat boy did, and if his horns happened to touch any one they didn't scratch or tickle, because of the soft corks.

But, all of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was watching the animal children at play, all of a quickness out of the bushes jumped the bad Bob Cat.

"I'm going to nibble ears," he howled.

"Not Uncle Wiggily's!" bleated Billie. "You shan't nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears!"

"Who will stop me?" asked the Bob Cat.

"I will!" cried the goat boy. "Pooh! I'm not afraid of you!" howled the Bob Cat. "You haven't sharp horns any more. The ends of your horns are big and round and soft! I'm not afraid of you! Pooh!"

"I'll show you how soft my horns are!" bleated Billie. Then, quickly taking the cork balls off his horns, the goat boy lunged at the Bob Cat. Into the bad chap's soft and tender ribs the goat boy thrust his horns.

"Oh, ho! Ha! Ha! Ha! He! He! Hi! Hi! Ho! Hum!" laughed the Bob Cat. "Oh, how tickled I am!" And he was so tickled that he flipped a somersault and away he ran.

"Good, Billie, you saved my ears!" cried Uncle Wiggily. Then the goat boy put the corks back on his horns and played tag.

And if the cork of soap doesn't try to slide down the cellar door and stub its toe on the keyhole, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bobby's splashes.

"I'm not afraid of you!" howled the Bob Cat.

Dinner Stories

It is said that Chief Justice Marshall used to narrate with great glee the following correspondence on a point of honor between Governor Giles of Virginia and Patrick Henry:

"Sir," wrote the governor. "I understand that you have called me a botball politician. I wish to know if it is true, and if true, your meaning.—W. R. Giles."

Patrick Henry's reply came promptly:

"Sir, I do not recall calling you a botball politician at any time, but I think it probable that I have. I can't say what I did mean; but if you will tell me what you think I meant, I will tell whether you are correct or not."

There was no further correspondence.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

YOU CAN GAIN

Yesterday I told you that if you are underweight, in 99 cases out of 100 you have not been eating enough for your activities. I told you how someone you know is less (?) than you do and that fat on it, but in this matter the amount we eat each one of us is a law unto himself. We do not compare ourselves to anyone else. We may have more physical work, or we may be older and younger, and there may be other factors that have to do with nutrition.

You who are thin are undoubtedly eating too little. If you will eat the caloric value of your food, you will find it comes far short of your needs. And if you are going to gain, you must have more than you need in order to bring up a balance in the form of fat.

You will have to learn to count calories, the same as the F. F.'s (our friendly fat fraternities). It is a necessary part of your training. There are so many culinary portions of food that are a C. per portion that it is not at all difficult. I know you can memorize a lot of figures. Just everybody hates 'em. But you won't have to do that. And you won't have to know the caloric values accurately. You could, even if you needed to, unless you were having your food accurately weighed and analyzed the ingredients of them.

But knowing approximately will do the work just as well as it does the overweight. We have a list of 100 C. portions of food at the office, and if you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, through the paper, we will send it to you. I'll give you a list to start on.

An ordinary slice of bread one inch thick, five ounces of a pat of butter, a very large slice of a large orange or apple or a two ounces of lean meat, five ounces of lean fish, all are 100 C. each. And the watery vegetables, lettuce, tomatoes, cabbage, etc., are over a pound to 100 C.

When you eat a lot of these things, you see, you are getting a little caloric value. While they are necessary for vitamins and salts and roughage, they are good fattening foods, only in as far as they help to keep you fat.

My rule you can remember is that food that is full of fat is full of fattening value. The caloric value of food is equivalent to one-fourth pound of fat. Now, if you want to gain this amount of fat daily, you must gradually increase the number of calories you are taking un-

TABLET MAY SOLVE MYSTERY

Seek Birthplace Of First White U. S. Child

The leaden tablet and the hole from which it was dug.

By JOHN T. LEWING, JR.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—It is just a leaden tablet, but it may solve a mystery that has defied the best efforts of American historians.

Virginia Dare was the granddaughter of Governor John White and was born one month after the colony on Roanoke island, now in North Carolina, was founded in 1587.

Whether they were massacred by Indians or moved somewhere else and survived has been one of the mysteries of American history. The discovery of the plate may go far in solving the mystery of the "lost colony." It seems to indicate that Virginia Dare was captured by Indians before the disappearance of the colony.

Authorities of the Smithsonian Institution will resume investigation of the mystery with the plate as a lead.

Virgin Dare Died Here, Capt. Pombohan, 1590. Charles R.

This inscription, revealed on the plate after a waxen substance had been removed from it by experts at the Smithsonian Institution, is believed to refer to Virginia Dare, the first white child born on the American continent after the landing of the first colonists in Virginia.

The plate was found by Russell Kaufmann while digging a hole in his yard to plant a holly tree. Im-

BEAUTY CHATS

MIDWINTER HINTS

If a long series of winter-time colds result in cold sores or fever blisters, try the following lotion. Mix together equal parts of sweet spirits of nitre and spirits of camphor, dab this on the affected parts freely every few hours. This is a good old-fashioned remedy easy to make at home and inexpensive, which should be known to everybody.

Chapped hands and chapped skin are another discomfort at this time of the year. A lotion made from one ounce of spirits of camphor, one ounce glycerin and four ounces of witch hazel is an excellent remedy. It can be used either on the face or hands and will keep the skin soft and white. If the chapping is very bad I would suggest washing the hands with hot water and soap, smearing them thickly with lard or melted cocoa butter, then pulling on a large pair of old gloves.

If the gloves take up the oil remove them and coat the hands again, the gloves being already saturated with oil will not take up so much this time. If you can sleep with these "cosmetic gloves" on so much the better, for your hands will be all right in the morning. One woman wrote me that the following formula has kept her hands soft and smooth through many winters of the bitterest weather. The formula is: rose water two and a half ounces, glycerin two and one half ounces, carbolic acid ten drops. I would advise you to have your druggist make this up for you if you decide to use it.

If the skin chaps easily protect it with cold cream. Never wash the face without first rubbing it with cleansing cream, or if you haven't any, plain white lard. This not only cleanses the skin more thoroughly than does soap and water, it also feeds the skin with the oils that the cold weather has taken out and keeps the hot water and soap from drying out still more oil. Soap and water does this in cold weather.

Mac:—Evidently you are in need of a tonic which will supply some deficiency in your system, as this is shown by your nails being so soft. Your doctor will know just what is the extra plenty of buffing, will also do much to improve the circulation under the nails so that they will become healthier and stronger. As they improve the stains will disappear, so do not bleach them now while they are so thin, as they will only stain more. Work for improvement that will be permanent.

Virginia:—Basket ball, bowling or any of the other sports will do much to relieve you of the extra weight. If there is a pool in the gym take up swimming also, but do not try to be too zealous at first and overdo it.

Interested Reader:—Consult the doctor about the eye that is watery, as it is possible that the little tear duct which carries off the moisture is stopped up. This is easily corrected, but should not be allowed to go on as it will lead to worse troubles.

Tomorrow—Home-made Powders.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in due time. However, your considerable time, however owing to the great number received, so that a quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Who's Who in the Day's News

"FRIENDSHIP OF NATIONS" STILL AN EMPTY PHRASE, SAYS WAR SECRETARY

Secretary of War John W. Weeks, in an appeal for support of the country's military policy, made public recently, warns that the friendship of nations "is yet a mere phrase."

When the War Department asks the people of the country to continue to support the present military policy of the United States to the utmost of their endeavors, it is performing a patriotic duty and a government function in full conformity with the historic tradition and democratic principles of this nation. The law under which our army functions is not militaristic. Its principles and operations are essentially democratic.

"We have not nor do we desire a huge military establishment. We want merely the organization and the trained leaders to enable us, in times of grave emergency, to raise a great citizen army. Under our present law the army depends more upon the people than ever before; it works among the people and asks the assistance of the people. So long as this democratic law is on our statute books and our armed forces comprise less than one-seventh hundredths of our population, there is no danger of militarism in America."

"In this way the government of the United States, acting by the will of Congress and through the War Department, has determined that preparation must be made for the efficient defense of this country. This decision has been taken because it is realized that the world is still a warlike world, and nations continue to depend upon war, or the threat of war, as a means of attaining their ambitions. Universal peace is desirable, but universal and permanent peace has not yet come. Until it comes the United States cannot upon no one but herself for her own security."

"WORLD WITHOUT ADEQUATE LEADERSHIP," SAYS DR. BUTLER, COLUMBIA PRESIDENT

"Never in history were so many men and women instructed in the elements of learning, and never before in history were so many men and women walking the streets with starvation and want staring them in the face," President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University declared recently.

President Butler declared that the world was without adequate leadership, that governments have lost touch with the people, and that men in their helplessness, were turning to the old instrument of dictatorship. He praised the great captains of the mind and soul in the age of Victoria, and deplored the absence in this generation of a great voice to point the way to a solution of the world's problems.

In his address, Dr. Butler said:

one of the strongest impressions we gain upon entering a house for the first time, is the effect of good taste—or poor taste—produced by the carpet on the front stairs. Therefore it behooves the housekeeper to choose wisely when carpeting, or recarpeting the staircase.

A dark red stair carpet is generally used for houses of Colonial or Spanish style. In such a house, the stairwork is generally white, and a deep red carpet looks particularly well with it. A dark gray carpet is effective in a hall where the floor and stairs are of light wood painted sand-color or white. Carpeting with a small, over figure in dark colors goes well with mahogany woodwork and hardwood floors. A dark brown note is used on hall floor and the wood of the staircase, a dark blue carpet makes a rich combination.

You will note that the word "dark" precedes every color have mentioned. This is because the stair carpet must, above all, be inconspicuous. A stair carpet which "jumps out and lifts the eye" (as we so often hear people say) is not in good taste. We want subdued tones on hall floor and stairs.

A good way to test the effect of certain colors on our stairs, is to use samples of any kind of materials which we happen to have in hand. Place the sample on the lowest step, then go out onto the porch and re-enter the hall. If the color on the stairs is not particularly noticeable, then it is safe to buy that shade in Wilton, Brussels, Axminster—or whatever kind of carpeting you have in mind.

There are people who like a polished, uncarpeted staircase. But to my mind bare stairs, no matter how fine the wood, lack that warm, cozy look which a carpeted staircase has. Softly-padded stair carpeting invites our tired feet. But tired feet shrink from resilient wood. Then, too, an uncarpeted staircase is frequently slippery—especially to the old or the young. This fact alone should have weight in our decision to carpet our stairs.

If you have already chosen a rather bright-colored stair carpet, which you have grown to dislike

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

AMOUR FIDE: Don't encourage yourself to think you have a case on the older girl. It is foolish to give your mind and heart to another girl, because she will neither desire it nor be any value to you as a friend as long as you think of her in terms of adoration. Try to realize that she is only a human being and not a goddess, and force yourself to speak. You will find it not really a difficult matter after you have made the effort. Do not let her girl know that you worship her, because such a confession would be more likely to turn her from you than endear you to her.

IMPOSED ON BY FRIENDS: Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I am a wife of one year and love my husband very dearly. I have a friend who was married before I was, and she was not happy with her husband. They had a little boy and after that her husband treated her so meanly that she got a divorce. Now she is living with her parents. She also has two sisters at home.

One day she asked me what my husband and I did on Sunday afternoon. I told her that almost always we stayed at home and he read out loud. Then she asked if I would take care of her baby the following Sunday. I did it for her because I didn't want to be disobliging, but having the baby around spoiled the restful day for my husband. Since that time she has asked me to take care of the baby twice, and I have done it for her. This makes me very angry, because I should think some one in her own family could do it or else she could hire some one to do it for her.

What would you advise me to do? Am I just mean and selfish because I want my Sundays for my husband? TROUBLED.

Your friend is imposing on you decidedly when she asks you to take care of her baby. To oblige her once was all right, but you have no reason to feel that you must give up Sunday after Sunday to the care of your friend's child. She is probably having a good time at your expense. It seems to me that if she can get no one in her own family to stay with the child, she ought to hire some one to take care of him or stay home with him herself. The next time she asks the favor of you, tell her that you do not want to do it, because you and your husband need your restful Sundays together.

BAD TASTE: Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I have a

"It is a troubled and a broken world upon which we look out, and we cannot conceal from ourselves the extent and variety of its difficulties and its worries. It is easy to close one's eyes in indifference and to hasten on, but this is unwise and unfair and unjust."

"Only the other day we were celebrating in the university the anniversaries of Pascal and Renan, two great Frenchmen, two great humanists, two great teachers of mankind, who struggled, each in his own way, at a distance of 200 years apart, with the problems of his time. If they were able to look upon the world of 1923, they would find new and unfamiliar happenings, but old, old problems and difficulties of the mind and of the spirit."

"The German people are being punished in ways that no one could have foreseen for the awful happenings nine years ago. The great men, who had been part of the intellectual life and progress of the world, are this moment standing in bread lines, hoping that it may be possible for them to obtain sufficient food from a public hand to keep them alive. And women who have done no harm to anyone in the world are carrying a heavy load today, waiting for something to happen which

EAGLE ROCK

SET-BACK LINES ARE ESTABLISHED

Fair Park, Norwalk, Laverna Avenues Affected; Other Local News Notes

Set-back lines have been established on Fair Park avenue from Eagle Rock boulevard to Maywood avenue, on Norwalk avenue from Eagle Rock boulevard to Ellenwood drive and from Ellenwood drive to College View avenue, on Laverna avenue from Ellenwood drive to College View avenue and from Eagle Rock boulevard to Ellenwood drive.

It is suggested by Donnell G. Montgomery, deputy city clerk, that property owners with vacant lots in their block get together and petition the Los Angeles city council for a set-back line in order to protect their investment.

Prof. Clelland Talks
Prof. Clelland, Cleveland, filling the chair of Spanish-American history at Occidental college, vividly described conditions in the Latin countries to the south, at the Chamber of Commerce banquet last week.

Ask any intelligent, educated Mexican or Central American what he knows about St. Louis, Chicago, Los Angeles or New York, said Professor Clelland, "and he will surprise you with the accuracy and detail of his answer. Ask an American, on the other hand, what he knows of Mexico City, Vera Cruz or San Juan de Sur, and the answer is apt to be hazy in the extreme."

Professor Clelland has recently returned from Central America where he was on a year's leave of absence, studying conditions there at first hand.

In Case of Fire
The following announcement comes from Engine Company No. 42, the Eagle Rock branch of the Los Angeles fire department, and tells what to do in case of fire: "Immediately on discovering a blaze, telephone Main 3375 and report the location of the fire. Or, if you cannot remember this number and the front page is torn off your telephone directory, where the number is given on the upper right hand corner, simply call the operator. I wish to report a fire, and she will immediately make the proper connection. Remember, seconds count, so please speak distinctly." If there are any firms or individuals in this community who can utilize the services of school boys a half-day, daily, Principal C. W. Preston of the Eagle Rock school would like to get in touch with them, as he has several boys who should be receiving manual training. If such an arrangement can be made, these boys will be released from school for a part of each day and given credit for the work on their report cards, in addition to earning some money and getting an insight into a business or trade they will follow later.

MONTROSE

BUSINESS GROWS AT POST OFFICE

Advancement to Third Class Predicted as Result of Big Increase

Business has so increased at the Montrose post office that it is expected to be soon advanced from fourth to third class. Mrs. Frances W. Brown, postmaster, recently received a request from postal authorities for a statement of receipts and business. Advancement from fourth class would provide better pay for the postmaster, a larger allowance for rent and other facilities of distinct benefit to the community. The postmaster of a fourth class office is paid on a percentage of the cancelled stamps of that office.

If plans of C. G. Stewart of Montrose materialize Montrose will soon have a directory. Blanks will be furnished and the residents asked to fill in the required information. Mr. Stewart is proprietor of the Chevrolet agency that will be located at Montrose and Honoluli avenues. Mr. Eyre, salesmanager of the agency, will have charge of the canvassing for the directory.

H. A. Ewer and L. R. Snyder have purchased the Community market of Montrose and plan improvements.

Entertain Friends
Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Shaw, of 120 Hermosa street recently entertained several friends with a dinner and mah jong party.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Patrosso, Mr. and Mrs. W. Otto of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Craft of Montrose.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Carter of Fullerton, California, and W. Z. Mitchell of Sloan Springs, Arkansas, have been visiting T. G. Leach of Montrose.

C. G. Howard recently made a hunting trip to Buena Vista lake, near Taft, in search of ducks.

William F. Quin, of Portland, brother of Mrs. Eugene Killion of Montrose, and Mr. Able recently arrived in Montrose and expect to make their homes there.

Keith Boyd Young, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Young, has entered the Page Military Academy in Los Angeles.

BURBANK

BUILDING PUSHED IN NEIGHBOR CITY

New Construction First of Year Will House Many New Business Firms

Numerous recent turnovers of Burbank business property and buildings, either nearing completion or soon to rise, attest the vigorous activity with which 1924 has been ushered in.

The business block being constructed for J. Neville at the southeast corner of San Fernando and Fourth street is nearing completion and will presently be occupied in part by the Seelig company, while the corner will house a drug store.

Within a few days a new business block will rise next to the southeast corner of San Fernando and Magnolia avenue, to be built by Harry Varney, who recently purchased the property from O. C. Lane. It will be a three-unit market, the grocery department of which Mr. Varney himself will conduct.

Three-Story Structure
Still another recent deal of magnitude is the purchase of the southeast corner of San Fernando and Magnolia avenue by William J. Strain of Hollywood, from J. S. Wheelless of Sierra Madre. The new owner proposes to improve the property at once, a three-story building being in prospect. The consideration for the deal being handled through the Burbank Realty company.

As for private dwellings, seven new bungalows have been started on the Santa Rosa property. It is reported Mrs. Clarke, the owner, plans to build a total of twenty-six bungalows here, and perhaps more.

Reports from other parts of the city indicate that the above examples are typical of the extraordinary growth being enjoyed by Burbank, as the year 1924 begins to unfold.

Plans Important Bridge
It has been suggested by Henry W. Wright, county supervisor, that Burbank appeal to Los Angeles for appropriation of one-half the $25,000 it has been estimated will be the cost of the proposed bridge at the junction of Sonora avenue and Crescent street.

Mr. Wright has agreed to recommend that the county put up the other half, if this is done. As it is at this point that Victory highway will join Riverside drive, residents of Burbank who are in touch with developments are much interested in Mr. Wright's suggestion and agreement.

The county supervisors, states Mr. Wright, will receive $600,000 of state money for road purposes during 1924, of which $400,000 will have to be turned over to Los Angeles, the remaining $200,000 being distributed among the forty-one communities in the county. He figures there will be about $12,500 of this sum available for contributing with Los Angeles to the building of such a bridge.

Earliest human remains found in this country are about 3000 years old.

COMMENT

That's All

Co-operation Necessary. Another Great Scandal. Abnormal Desire for Wealth What Is "Enough Riches?"
—By Gil A. Cowan

Continued co-operation of the civic interests in Glendale which are building this city greater was the keynote of addresses at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night. President W. E. Hewitt spoke truly when he said that Glendale had many things yet to do in the way of development.

In other words, the citizens of "the fastest growing city in America" cannot rest on their laurels. They must be ever watchful that nothing is left undone to make each day, each week, each month, each year record accomplishments greater than those which have gone before.

The Chamber of Commerce has accepted a large duty in essaying civic leadership, but with the able backing of the Glendale Realty Board, the service clubs, the sectional and school organizations, as well as the individual business and professional interests and the public in general, it is bound to succeed.

As years go by and Glendale becomes more populous, the Chamber of Commerce has a greater mission to perform. It is the guiding light for industrial development, it is the clearing house for publicity, it is an important factor in moulding public sentiment.

The calculating mind of President Hewitt, the enthusiasm of Secretary Sanders and the confidence of the community in the organization bode well for the immediate future of Glendale.

From those who claim to know whereof they are speaking the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve lease to the Sinclair interests will be one of the greatest American scandals. Investigation of this deal involves the highest officials in the nation, pointing directly to Albert B. Fall, for industry of the interior, until recently.

President Coolidge has ordered nothing left undone to sift the mass of evidence and learn the truth. The senate also has heard the cry of "treason" and there is bound to be an embargo which will be more or less unsavory. Certainly, it will not strengthen the public's belief in political honesty. Precipitated into a political year, the investigation will give foundation for attack on the administration, which is regrettable. At the same time, President Coolidge can capitalize the situation by urging that full measure of justice is meted out.

There is no question but what leads many great men astray. Of course, money talks, but what does it mean after all is said and done? The Santa Ana Register comments on the man who "Retired On 'Enough Riches'" in the following editorial:

"A Wall Street curb-broker reaches many other day under unique circumstances. He turned his business over to three young employees. He intends to spend the rest of his days looking after his personal affairs, running a small town newspaper, enjoying the companionship of his growing son and daughter, traveling and playing golf."

"Because there are to be no pockets in his shroud, this man came to the conclusion that enough money will be all he needed. In his case 'enough' is a couple of million dollars. Many Americans, in recent years, have begun to wish that they were beginning to the wealth they wished to amass."

"This retiring broker has provided for his immediate relatives and has made certain investments more than sufficient to supply his needs and grant his wishes for the rest of his life. He will leave some money to his two children, but not so much as he would leave if he went on with his business, he would rather spend more time with them now than leave them after his death, 'enough money' make fools out of them."

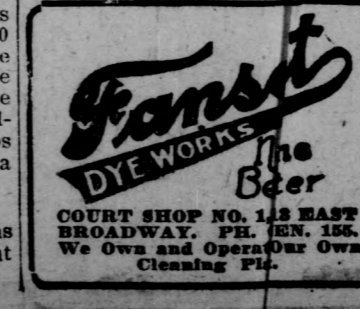

"Some persons will sigh and wish they had had this man's good luck. Others will smile and admire his good sense. Justifying up dollars is no occupation for a sane and healthy human being. Making money to turn to constructive purposes, making it for the purpose of security, using that leisure to his best advantage is justifiable."

"Enough" would vary in amount for different individuals. For most of us this man's $2,000,000 would be far more than enough. But every person who shows an understanding of the rightful place of money in human life and progress—not and in itself but only one means to an end—sets his fellowmen an example of living."

TUJUNGA

BOND ISSUE FOR SCHOOLS SOUGHT

Trustees to Call Election to Vote $10,500 For More Buildings

owing to the rapid increase in attendance which has maintained a steady pace since the last school term opened, trustees of the Tujunga school district have decided to call an election for the purpose of voting bonds for $10,500 to provide needed rooms for the pupils. Two extra teachers will also be engaged, beginning the new term February 4.

The sum stated is the amount that can be voted in last year's assessment. This will be sufficient to add two classrooms of the type and standard embodied in the two units of the school plant which have just been completed. The trustees hope to have the bonds voted before March 1 in order to have the funds available for furnishing the rooms for use this coming fall. The new assessment on the district will be made March 1 and would increase the bonding capacity of the district, but would not give time to use the money for immediate construction.

The rapid increase in population in Tujunga makes necessary a continuous building program if the school is to keep pace with requirements. It is expected that it will soon be necessary to build on the district's property in the west end of Tujunga and separate the attendance.

One of the new teachers will be assigned to intermediate work to relieve the crowded condition in that department. The other teacher will take charge of a beginners' class to care for the youngsters who are ready to leave the kindergarten.

About three-quarters of a ton of newspapers and 300 pounds of magazines, have been collected by the pupils of the Tujunga school. This old paper will be sold to help purchase tables and other equipment for the cafeteria that will serve hot lunches at noon. The teachers have estimated that it will require two tons of paper to bring the required sum.

Directors Must Attend
An amendment proposed at the last meeting of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce would make absence of directors from two regular consecutive meetings sufficient cause for demoting the absentees to the status of ordinary members, if it is approved at the second regular meeting next month.

Rev. Zurbuchen, pastor of the German Methodist church of Los Angeles, addressed the members of the Men's Brotherhood of the Tujunga Community church and their friends who attended the regular monthly dinner this month. The subject of his talk was "Fundamentals," and he made a plea for help in relieving the condition among German children, who are said to be starving.

Mrs. Snow of Sunland and Dr. Kreck of Tujunga contributed vocal solos to the program and Mrs. W. D. Wright gave a reading and Miss Cynthia Kreck a piano solo. The exhibition of paintings held at the Fine Arts Guild studio by Mrs. Nellie M. Horne was well attended and most interest displayed in her work. Among the work done by this artist are paintings of Secretary John D. Lou William Dean Howells, May J. Mervin, Verne Bunker and Bunker, soldiers, Mrs. Beach, Mrs. Kantz, Captain Kantz, Baby Henderson, Mrs. Horne's children, W. D. Tennesse artist master, and others. A announcement has been made by Mrs. Laura Lee Sweet that the artists of Tujunga will give an exhibition in the Glendale library some time in February. Mr. Horne is a member of the Glendale Artists' association. Mrs. Juanita Causey will give an exhibition of pen and ink drawing, brush work and sculpture. March. Several new members have been added to the art club of Tujunga in the last few weeks.

DRINK WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTH

Take a Tablespoonful of Salt if Back Pains or Bladder is Irritated
Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, a take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells that too much rich food for kidneys will strain their efforts to excrete it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue coated, and when the weather bad you have rheumatic twinges.
