LOAN IS OVER-SUBSCRIBED EASILY THROUGHOUT DOMINION; WESTERN PROVINCES RESPOND GENEROUSLY

BRITISH COLUMBIA GOES FIFTY PER CENT OVER QUOTA; PRAIRIE PROVINCES ALSO DID WELL IN SPITE OF EPIDEMIC; MANY CITIES WIN CROWNS TO HONOR FLAGS

Toronto, Nov. 18. It is expected when all returns are to hand, the Victory Loan objective of $500,000,000 will be exceeded from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Vancouver, Nov. 18.—Although official figures will not be obtainable until late to-day, Chairman W. H. Malkin, of the British Columbia Victory Loan executive, last night made the statement that this province, according to known results in hand and from telegraphic advices would show contributions to the Victory Loan of an amount exceeding $35,000,000.

The quota for this province was $22,000,000. Of the amount raised, Vancouver subscribed $15,200,000. Nearly one hundred points in British Columbia won honor flags. Available figures show that one in five subscribers, and that the per capita subscription was $199.

It will be two or three days before the totals for such outlying districts as Dawson City and White Horse and points in the Cariboo and along the Grand Trunk are in, but it was stated to-day that the $35,000,000 will easily be reached, judging by telegrams already received and careful estimates made.

Loan Over Subscribed. Toronto, Nov. 18.—While no official figures have been given out of the closing day of the Victory Loan campaign and none will be given out until the big meeting to be held here this evening, every one connected with the central organization declare early to-day that the loan will prove to have been over-subscribed by a considerable sum, probably between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000.

The Ontario organization is particularly sanguine of the showing made by this province. Commenting on the campaign on Saturday, G. H. Wood, chairman of Ontario, said: "Saturday was such a busy day throughout our organization that no unit was able to send complete returns, but the report that a sacrificial battle was intended spread like wildfire and a general mutiny followed."

"This," says The Vorwaerts, "was the real spark which kindled the revolution." The number of persons killed in Berlin since the revolution broke out was said to be about 190.

Fourteen more units wired that they had gone over the top and won their flags, bringing the total number up to fifty-one out of a total of fifty-eight units. The units who won their flags on Saturday were: City of Ottawa, Brant, North Waterloo, South Waterloo, Frontenac, Westworth, Perth, Grey, Elgin, Hastings, Bruce, Norfolk, Prince Edward, Nipissing.

"When the final returns are in we expect practically every city and county in Ontario will have raised its quota and won its flag."

Manitoba's Contribution. Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—Approximately 30,000 Manitobans have subscribed between $42,000,000 and $43,000,000 to the second Victory Loan, in the opinion of officials. Following are conservative estimated amounts, in round figures, secured by the various chief divisions of the campaign:

Table of Manitoba contributions: General committee $18,000,000, Business and industrial 5,500,000, Women's residence 1,500,000, City banks 2,000,000, Provincial 2,000,000, Applications held up because of errors 1,000,000. Total $43,000,000.

Last year 78,625 Manitobans subscribed $22,294,450, an average of $55 per capita, won a minimum this year.

The German admiral was "piped" aboard the flagship's quarter-deck, where he and the other Germans were received by Commodore Hubert Brand and escorted to Admiral Beatty's cabin, where the conference lasted until the early hours of Saturday morning.

Admiral Meurer sat opposite Admiral Beatty, who had fronting him a model of the battleship Lion, a memento of his famous flagship, while on the cabin wall at his back was a fine picture of Nelson. The German civilian delegates remained aboard the Koenigsberg.

The King's answer read:

"It was with feelings of gratitude and sincere pleasure that I received the letter you addressed to me in the name of the American sailors and soldiers who are assembled this evening under the auspices of the British Committee for Entertainment of American Forces. In the unity of our cause and our memories, fostered by comradeship in arms, I see the realization of my fondest hopes that the American and British peoples, united by ties of closest friendship, will ever advance together along the path of progress and civilization."

GERMAN TROOPS LEFT BRUSSELS YESTERDAY

To Get Money They Sold Articles They Owned or Had Stolen

Paris, Nov. 18.—The last German troops left Brussels yesterday, according to a dispatch from the Havas correspondent on the Belgian front. Extraordinary scenes were witnessed around the North Station, from which most of the enemy soldiers departed. Wishing to have money to take home with them, they sold everything they owned or had stolen. Some laid out objects on the sidewalk and cried their wares in loud voices. Among the articles offered for sale were blankets, clothing and shoes, as well as wool and copper goods taken from the inhabitants of the city.

A dispatch from London yesterday said confirmation had been received of the reports that the German soldiers at the Belgian capital had pillaged the suburbs.

MULHAUSEN PEOPLE WELCOMED TROOPS

Wild Joy Displayed When French Marched into Alsatian City

Mulhausen, Nov. 18.—No words can picture the triumphal entry of French troops into this city nor express the wild joy of the people who crowded the streets to applaud their liberators. Flowers, tobacco and cakes were thrown to the soldiers as they marched along. Men and women rushed forward and pliously kissed the folds of the flag borne by the 344th Infantry. The cheers of the populace grew until the troops arrived at the City Hall, where the city authorities welcomed General Hirschauer and his staff.

Basel, Nov. 17, via London, Nov. 18.—French troops on Saturday entered Colmar and Mulhausen, two of the great fortresses in Alsace, according to a dispatch received here. There was no trouble in either place.

OTTAWA CONSIDERS ARMY DEFAULTERS

Government Has No Intention of Permitting Men to Escape Punishment

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Defaulters are to be punished. "The Government," declares an official statement issued last night, "has no intention of permitting these defaulters who refused to come to the help of their country in the hour of their country's need, to escape all punishment or penalty."

The statement reads: "The impression that the Government has decided finally to abandon all prosecutions of defaulters under the Military Service Act and to let them go free is without any foundation. No such decision has been reached by the Government. The whole question of how these defaulters should be dealt with is now engaging the serious attention of the Government in connection with other plans for demobilization. On the other hand the very heavy expense of maintaining a large force of military police over a long period to secure the apprehension of all defaulters must be considered. The military police have met with the greatest difficulty in ascertaining the whereabouts of these defaulters."

"Various alternative suggestions have been made as to how these men should be dealt with. Among others is that they should be disfranchised for a definite period. The Government has no intention of permitting these defaulters who refused to come to the help of their country in the hour of their country's need, to escape all punishment or penalty."

ALSACE-LORRAINE CELEBRATION IN PARIS

200,000 Civilians Paraded Yesterday While 10,000 Soldiers Looked On

Paris, Nov. 18.—Yesterday was Alsace-Lorraine Day in Paris. The day was celebrated not by victorious troops marching through the city, but by countless processions of civilians on parade before 10,000 troops scattered along the route from the Arc de Triomphe to the Place de la Concorde, and then past the monuments of Joan of Arc, Gambetta and Lafayette. It is estimated that 200,000 members of every social organization in the city marched in the procession, and it seemed as if the remainder of Paris, taking advantage of the clear cold weather, lined the route.

CONFUSION GROWS AMONG THE GERMANS

Division of Authority Among Councils and Committees Causing Chaos

Amsterdam, Nov. 17.—Via London, Nov. 18.—Berlin newspapers and dispatches reaching here indicate that there is great confusion in Germany over the powers to be given the various Councils, committees and officers. The dispatches indicate that there is chaos in Government affairs, owing to the formation by the Spartacus group of a new political party, which has reduced the strength of the Independent Socialists. How strong this new party will become is not known.

The so-called Executive Council of the Workmen and Soldiers' Council has followed the Berlin garrison's demand by "temporarily" rescinding its order for the formation of a civilian red guard. There is reason to believe that the Executive Council, despite the fact that Captain von Berfeld was forced to leave it because he was considered too radical, is still more Socialistic and radical than the larger Council, from which it has its committee powers.

That the bulk of the soldiers themselves refuse to countenance Bolshevik methods again was demonstrated at a meeting in the Reichstag building of delegates from all the Soldiers' Councils in Berlin and delegates of similar Councils elsewhere. The Berlin soldiers are united firmly against Dr. Liebknecht. They declare he was thrown out of the barracks owing to his repeated efforts to deliver inciteive speeches.

Premier Ebert in addressing the meeting declared that a vast majority of the people supported the Government. The Government had nothing to fear from the troops at the front, but many men from rear positions who were hurrying home were causing disorder in Baden and Wurttemberg.

MESSAGE SENT BY BALFOUR TO POLES

It is a great pleasure for me to beg of you on behalf of His Majesty's Government to convey to the Polish people a message of our sincere congratulations."

A HOUSING SCHEME FOR THE DOMINION

Suggestion Made Such a Branch of Activity Be Included in Reconstruction

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—A national housing scheme, along the lines of measures proposed in the United Kingdom, is mooted as a possible phase of the reconstruction policy in Canada. It is suggested that a plan might be drafted in which the Dominion, Provincial and municipal authorities would be interested.

A report before the British Ministry of Reconstruction recommended that the state should provide the whole cost of the building and should own the houses for, say, five years, at the end of which period prices might be expected to have attained a normal level. At the end of that period ownership of the houses would be transferred to local authorities at a figure to be arrived at by deducting from the original cost such a percentage as would represent the fall in price of material and labor, with a fair allowance for depreciation.

OVERSUBSCRIBED.

Although definite figures will not be available until to-night, it is estimated at headquarters in Toronto that the Victory Loan has been oversubscribed by an amount between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000. This is a remarkable achievement and a fitting climax to the Dominion's fine record in the war.

It is true the terms of the loan were exceptionally attractive, in rate of interest, the exemption of bonds from taxation and other conditions, but, on the other hand, it should be remembered that Canada already had raised $750,000,000 in four domestic war issues, the country was struggling with a formidable epidemic which seriously handicapped operations, and the armistice on the battlefield developed in the middle of the campaign.

The whole story cannot be told, however, until we know the number of subscribers. This, more than any other circumstance, is the real test of success. Last year more than 800,000 people purchased Victory Loan bonds, or one in 9.77 of the population. We are confident it will be found when all the returns are available that this proportion will be largely bettered, thus affording a striking demonstration of the unwearied determination of the Canadian people to meet every demand of the war situation and of the difficult period of transition from war to peace.

The present loan was issued for $300,000,000 with an objective of $500,000,000. The loan in November last year was issued for $150,000,000 with an objective of $250,000,000 and about $420,000,000 were subscribed. The loan in March, 1917, was for $150,000,000. In 1916 it was for $100,000,000, and in 1915 it was for $50,000,000. All of these loans were oversubscribed, the number of subscribers increasing from 24,862 in 1915 to more than 810,000 last year. After these Canada's feat in raising nearly $600,000,000 cannot fail to impress the outside world still more highly with her financial strength and the patriotism of her people.

BRITISH COLUMBIA IN THE VAN.

According to the estimate of W. H. Malkin, chairman of the Victory Loan Committee for British Columbia, this Province has subscribed $35,000,000, or $10,000,000 more than its objective and $13,000,000 over its quota. This amounts to a little less than an average of $100 per head of the population and the proportion of subscribers in Mr. Malkin's estimate is one in every five.

British Columbia therefore is a long way above the Dominion average in the amount subscribed per head of the population and in the proportion of subscribers. We doubt if any other Province in the Dominion has equalled this showing, a showing which is made all the more striking by the fact that British Columbia has felt the industrial stimulus created by war expenditures less than any of the other larger provinces.

British Columbia's allotment of the loan was the same as that of Saskatchewan and $7,000,000 more than the allotment of Alberta. No doubt the relative failure of the crop this year was responsible for the comparatively modest allowance made for the grain-growing provinces, but on the other hand the crop last year was a great success, while the price of wheat which was fixed at more than $2.21 per bushel was raised still higher this year.

Last year British Columbia's quota was $15,000,000 and this was oversubscribed by several millions, the number of subscribers being about 46,000, or one-eighth of the population. This year, according to Mr. Malkin's estimate, the Province has subscribed twice as much as it subscribed last year, passing its quota by $13,000,000 and averaging one subscriber for every five of its population. Nearly one hundred districts won honor flags. British Columbia well may be proud of its contribution to Canada's last big financial effort of the war.

GREATER VICTORIA AND THE ISLAND.

Greater Victoria, which includes this city, the surrounding district and the islands close by, smashed its objective in the Victory Loan and surged far into the trenches beyond it. Although at the time of this writing the totals had not been tabulated the returns on hand show that this district oversubscribed its allotment of $4,000,000 by fifty per cent, and raised a million more than its objective, excluding the subscription of the Provincial Government. The Island, outside of Victoria District, has oversubscribed its allotment by probably a similar percentage, so it is estimated that the contribution of the whole of Vancouver Island and the contiguous islands to Canada's great achievement will be at least $7,500,000, not counting the Provincial Government investment, or $2, 500,000 over the allotment. Bearing in mind the limited population of this part of British Columbia the feat we think will be found to be a record-breaker. Every centre won an Honor Flag.

This is a splendid showing and the people of Vancouver Island and its Gulf neighbors whose contributions to their country's cause in human and material treasure already had been unsurpassed anywhere else in the Dominion, can contemplate it with the highest satisfaction. Apart from the bearing their response will have upon the war and the solution of the problems arising from it, they have done a most useful work in impressing upon the "wise men of the east" the fact that there is such a place as Vancouver Island and that it has the means and the will to do more than its share in every case at the call of the nation at large.

Nobody will begrudge the elation felt by R. F. Taylor, Chairman of the Vancouver Island Executive Committee, and G. H. Dawson, organizer for the Island, and their corps of assistants over the result of the campaign in Greater Victoria District and up the Island. Although handicapped by the embargo on public meetings they conducted a campaign of rare energy and resourcefulness, turning every untoward development and interruption into an advantage. Special credit, too, is due the fine co-operation shown by the military in originating and conducting the "Dug-out" in this city, where more than $1,250,000 were subscribed. We doubt if anywhere else in Canada has the Victory Loan campaign been facilitated by a more arresting device. As a means of reaching the heart of the public it was a strategical masterpiece.

"DER TAG."

The Vorwaerts says the spark which set Germany ablaze with revolution was an order to the navy to go out and fight. The order was camouflaged as an order for a "cruise of manoeuvre" which, however, was interpreted by the navy as a command to it to sacrifice itself. Sacrificing itself in an effort to win the war evidently was not in the programme of the High Seas Fleet, although it is the first navy in history of which this can be said. Probably its experience at the Battle of Jutland—the full details of which we soon should have, now—convinced it that there would have to be a radical modification of the meaning of the toast "Der Tag," which every German sailor had been drinking for fifteen years. Thus, the German High Seas Fleet, whose submarine auxiliary made war on women and children, never ventured to the high seas and broke into a revolution rather than try to perform the function for which it was created. William Hohenzollern, who inspired the creation of the navy, is in Holland, and von Tirpitz, the creator and chief "baby killer," skipped to Switzerland. So much for "Der Tag" and the late Kaiser's vaunt that "Germany's future lies upon the water."

THE OLD DOPE.

Von Hindenburg says starvation, not the defeat of the German army, caused the surrender of Germany. The purpose of the Prussian Field-Marshal in saying this, of course, is to save for himself sufficient prestige as a military leader to justify his continuance as the head of the German military forces. But von Hindenburg's dope has been worked out.

The memory of the German people, and particularly the German army, was never so keen as it is now and it will be much keener under suffering and stress. And the German mind under the same stimulus will begin to reason things out for itself. Von Hindenburg's predictions of an early "German peace," with Paris in German hands, uttered just six months ago, his bombastic boasts of what was going to happen to the Allies, and his frequent assertions that Germany could not be starved into surrender, are being remembered by his former dupes. Already the grotesque wooden statue of him has been thrown down and burned and his picture has been taken from shop windows and trampled upon.

He will not remain at the head of the German armies very long. The revolution has not yet reached its inevitable climax and will not reach it until after the terms of the armistice have been carried out. When that time has come there will be no more announcements from von Hindenburg or any other relic of the old, discredited Prussian regime.

As we predicted it would, Nanaimo made a grand finish, subscribing more than $500,000, against its allotment of $450,000. Nanaimo was seriously handicapped by the influenza epidemic which for many days weighed like lead upon those in charge of its campaign, but in the last three days it gathered itself together magnificently, determined that influenza or no influenza, it would go "over the top." We congratulate our Island sister on its splendid showing in the face of a distracting disability; also Alberni which, although similarly handicapped, won an Honor Flag.

The money has been raised. The Canadian people have done their part. Now it is for the Dominion Government to see that the proceeds of the Victory Loan are wisely expended. If it shows as much zeal and efficiency in this most important function as those in charge of the campaign and the public showed in raising the money, Canada will be doubly satisfied.

Year of $43,000,000 from 90,000 shareholders, being more than $77 for every man, woman and child in the Province. On the basis of $47,000,000 contributed throughout the Province every person, on an average, invested $84 in the loan.

Saskatchewan Total. Regina, Sask., Nov. 18.—Saskatchewan has come across. In a mighty effort during the last two days to overcome the handicap caused by demoralization of the organization from influenza, Saskatchewan has attained its objective of $22,000,000 and far exceeding its official allotment of $15,000,000. Subscriptions officially reported as in the hands of divisional offices amounted Saturday night to almost $18,000,000 with estimates of business in the hands of the several hundred of local district organizations of close to $5,000,000. By the time all these outlying districts have reported, the $22,000,000 objective will have been exceeded. The banner city of the Province in Regina with more than $2,000,000, and the banner division Regina with more than $7,000,000.

Saskatoon and Elsewhere. Saskatoon, Nov. 18.—The allotment of $4,500,000 for the Saskatoon district is practically certain to be passed when the full figures are known. The district up to close of business on Saturday night had subscribed $3,396,300, while the city subscription had reached $1,951,750, but there are several districts yet to be reported. North Battleford district reports $8,000,000; the city's figures being $20,000. Prince Albert has subscribed $442,000.

Alberta's Help. Edmonton, Nov. 18.—The total subscriptions for the province of Alberta to the Victory Loan was in round numbers, $18,100,000, being $3,500,000 in excess of its objective of $15,000,000. The year's contributions totalled $17,000,000.

The report for Northern Alberta is more than $4,700,000. It is expected that returns from far outlying districts will show that the $5,000,000 objective has been raised. The city of Edmonton's total Victory Loan subscription was $2,500,000, being $109,999 in excess of its objective and entitling the city to a flag and two crowns.

The city and northern part of the province has been hampered in its Victory Loan campaign by the influenza epidemic, which has been and is of peculiar virulence, "with a very large percentage of fatal cases. This makes the reaching of the objectives all the more gratifying.

Southern Alberta. Calgary, Nov. 18.—Southern Alberta has overshot its Victory Loan allotment by approximately $7,000,000. The seven cities which comprise the three cities will be increased when canvassers who are out in the country report Monday. Up to a late hour today the amount subscribed outside of these cities was $5,544,450. To this must be added Calgary, $5,547,200, which entitles it to flag and five crowns; Lethbridge, $1,140,550, flag and six crowns; Medicine Hat, $1,075,000, flag and seven crowns; making a grand total of $13,407,200. This, with the final figures to be reported from outside points, will run the final figures to well over $13,500,000.

The success of the campaign is demonstrated by the fact that the objective set was $8,500,000, and considerable doubt was entertained whether that could be attained. Business men, farmers, local miners and all other classes of workers subscribed. Calgary benefited by large subscribers, of more than $25,000, including one more than $1,500,000, with one of $500,000. The Victory Loan of 1917 brought out $12,065,750 from Southern Alberta, and it, therefore, speaks volumes for the thrift and prosperity of Southern Alberta, that this figure should be exceeded this year.

Fort William. Fort William, Nov. 18.—Fort William's contribution to the Victory Loan passed the $2,000,000 mark Saturday at 5:30 o'clock, being $30,000 above her objective. The second crown to her honor flag was attached on Saturday morning, when 50 per cent more than the objective was reached.

WOMEN WAR-WORKERS IN UNITED STATES

Washington, Nov. 18.—Women employed in war industries in the United States must be protected during the period of industrial transformation from unemployment, a release to the lower wage standards and unsuitable kind of employment, says a statement issued to-day by Mary Van Kleeck, Director of the Woman Industry Service of the Department of Labor. The women who are to be displaced by the returning soldiers should be given the opportunity to find other gainful employment, she says, before their income is cut off.

CANADIAN DEMOBILIZATION STARTS WITH TROOPS NOW ON DUTY IN THE DOMINION

ments in connection with the actual demobilization of the troops rest with the Department of Militia and Defence. After demobilization has been accomplished, all problems dealing with the re-establishment of the ex-soldiers in civil life and reconstruction generally will be dealt with by other Departments of the Government.

In order to bring about necessary co-ordination, a special committee of the Cabinet has been appointed under the chairmanship of Hon. J. A. Calder. The first step will be a drastic reduction of all military establishments in Canada, bringing these down to absolute requirements for the operation of demobilization, the care of soldiers in hospitals and aid for the civil powers. For demobilization there is a considerable force will be required at militia headquarters, at the headquarters of the military districts and the district depots which have been organized for the express purpose of carrying out demobilization. In addition there will be the personnel required in connection with the medical services and dental services.

By Classes. Subject to the foregoing and to the maintenance of a moderate force to aid the civil forces, the demobilization of the troops in Canada will be carried out as rapidly as possible by reference to the following classes:

Returned soldiers who can be spared who are desirous of discharge. Married men who can be spared and who are desirous of discharge. Men in the lower categories who have been held for various duties in Canada, and who can now be spared. Men who can be spared, whose occupations are such as to make them urgently required in civil life for economic reasons.

A BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and the Feather Duster

Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Dear me! Such a dusty bungalow as this!" cried Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she looked, one day, around the hollow stump bungalow she lived with Uncle Wiggly Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Dusty? Oh, I don't see that it is so very bad," spoke Mr. Longears, as he took his shiny, silk, Sunday-go-to-meeting hat down off the mantel and brushed it with his pink, twinkling nose.

"It is very dusty," said Nurse Jane, "and the worst of it is that I can't clean out hollow stump bungalow until I get a new feather duster."

"Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggly. "Because," answered Nurse Jane, "Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the two squirrel brothers, came a little while ago and borrowed my old duster. I'm sure there will be nothing left of it when they get through."

"What are they going to do with it?" asked Uncle Wiggly, curious-like. "They said they wanted to play Indian," answered Nurse Jane. "You know, stick some of the feathers on their heads the way the Indians used to do."

"Well, I guess if they do that, there won't be much left of your old feather duster," laughed the bunny uncle. "Pulling feathers out of its tail isn't good for any duster."

"But I know what I can do. I'll go to the five and six cent store and get you a new duster. Then you can dust the hollow stump bungalow as much as you please," spoke the bunny.

"That will be nice," said Nurse Jane. "I've been wanting a new feather duster for some time." So Uncle Wiggly, giving his pink nose an extra twinkling, until it was as shiny as a new pair of shoes, hopped off over the fields and through the woods.

The bunny rabbit gentleman was thinking what a good housekeeper the muskrat lady Nurse Jane was, and how nicely she kept the hollow stump bungalow, and he was wondering how soon he would come to the three and four cent store, where he could buy a feather duster, when, all of a sudden, he saw, in-between some bushes, a bunch of feathers.

"Ha! There's a duster now!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly. "Perhaps that's the seven and eight cent store, which has moved nearer my bungalow. Anyhow, it's a feather duster sticking up, and I'll get it for Nurse Jane. It looks like a nice, strong one."

So Uncle Wiggly gave a hop, a skip and a jump closer to what he thought was a feather duster, but, to his surprise, the duster hopped too. Or, if it didn't hop it ran, for it kept getting farther and farther away from him.

"That's queer!" thought the bunny uncle. "The feather duster is going away from me. I must catch up to it!"

So he hopped faster, but the feather duster, as he could see through the bushes, still went on ahead of him, and he couldn't seem to get any nearer.

"I wonder if that can be Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrel boys, with Nurse Jane's old duster, fooling me?" thought the bunny. But when he looked at the feathers in the duster he saw they were new and fresh, and not old and worn.

"I must get this new duster for Nurse Jane," cried the bunny. "The duster hopped faster, and, all of a sudden the feather duster, which also hopped on, came to a stop, and a sad voice said:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly! I didn't think you, too, would chase me. I thought you were a friend of mine!"

"What's that? A feather duster talking! How can that be? Who are you and what does this mean?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"I am not a feather duster at all," was the answer. "It must have been my tail you were looking at, and chasing me and just then, out from behind a bush, all fired from running, came a big turkey gobbler."

"Oh!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly. "Is that you?"

"Yes," said the turkey. "It is. You see I'm hiding in the woods because Thanksgiving is so near, and when I saw you chase after me—well, I didn't like it at all."

"I don't blame you a bit!" laughed the bunny. "But I chased after you because I thought your spread-out tail, sticking up over the bushes, was a feather duster. Pray excuse me."

"I'll tell," said the turkey, "and please don't will any one I'm hiding here. They might want me for Thanksgiving."

"I'll not tell," said the bunny. Then he hurried on to the eleven and twelve cent store, and bought Nurse Jane a real feather duster, and not a turkey's tail, and she made the hollow stump bungalow very clean, and the turkey stayed in the woods a long time.

And if the grapevine doesn't try to climb upstairs and get in the cat's cradle with the puppy dog, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and the starch.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Marpole, of Vancouver, spent the week-end in the city visiting friends.

Harrison Whitehead, of Victoria, has gone up to Nanaimo, where he is visiting his daughter, Mrs. George Brown.

Mrs. Rutan, of Winnipeg, is spending two weeks in Vancouver before coming to Victoria to spend the winter months.

Miss Bernice Ellis, of the Vancouver General Hospital Nursing Staff, has been spending a few days with Miss Gladys Johnson, Oak Bay.

The many friends of Mrs. D. M. Chafe, of 2615 Blanshard Street, will be pleased to hear that she is making favorable progress from a serious attack of pneumonia, following Spanish influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shepherd, whose marriage took place at Marpole near Vancouver, on November 12, have been spending their honeymoon in this city. The bride was formerly Miss Beatrice Delville-Eliot, daughter of Mrs. F. Delville-Eliot, the well-known dog-fancier of Vancouver. The groom has recently returned from overseas service with the 21st Battalion.

Local friends of the bride-elect will be interested in the announcement made in Vancouver of the engagement of Miss Frances Lee Neth, daughter of Mrs. Frances L. Neth, of the Abbotsford Hotel, Vancouver, to William Roy Elliott, of Vancouver. The marriage will take place shortly. Mrs. Neth was in the city for some months last year in connection with Dr. Olyer's evangelistic mission.

Lieut. W. J. Cochrane, C.A.M.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrane, of this city, left on Saturday afternoon for Montreal to report for duty. Lieut. Cochrane was granted thirty days leave to recuperate after having recovered from an attack of influenza, contracted while in charge of these cases at the military camp at St. John's, Quebec, and took of the opportunity to make a visit home.

GAVE FINE SERVICE DURING EPIDEMIC

Lady Douglas Chapter Contributes Many Comforts for Soldier-Patients

Always to the fore in working for the welfare of the soldiers at home or overseas, the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.G.E., through the medium of the Hospital's Committee of which Mrs. J. D. Gordon is the convener, has accomplished much splendid service for the many soldiers who have fallen victims to the scourge of Spanish influenza. In addition to its customary donation for the purchase of fruit and delicacies, the Chapter contributed among other things, six dozen sheets and pillowcases, help out in the emergency caused by the abnormal number of sick cases among the soldiers stationed here.

Further Appeal on Behalf of Convalescent Soldiers for Magazines; May Be Left at Supermarkets.

Although the number of new cases of influenza among the soldiers is decreasing with marked rapidity, there are still a large number of the men who have not yet completely recovered from the scourge, but are in the trying period of convalescence. These men, owing to their weakened state, are denied the pleasure of active recreation and almost their only solace in the long weary hours of convalescence is that furnished by reading.

Magazines, books of adventure and other light literature are eagerly read by the men when they can obtain such reading matter, but in spite of the donations which have been sent to the camps and hospitals from time to time the supply is altogether inadequate. A further appeal is made for magazines and books of fiction and for the convenience of would-be donors, arrangements have been made whereby reading matter may be left at "super-fluties" in the Belmont Building, from where it will be distributed among the convalescent men.

CEILING AS MOVIE SCREENS.

In the wards of several American hospitals in France, where the wounded men are forced to remain in bed owing to the nature of their wounds, an arrangement has been devised, by means of portable apparatus, whereby cinema films are projected on to the ceiling. ## WOMEN SHOULD SHARE IN PEACE CONFERENCE

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt Urges Their Right to Participate

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, and also of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, has just issued an appeal to the needs of all national women's organizations, urging joint action in an effort to ensure that women be given adequate representation on the peace commission. She says, in part:

"It is not only desirable, it is inherently necessary that the personnel of the peace commission shall include women.

Shared in War. There have been wars before this, but never a war which has been so much in partnership between men and women all the world around. Women have not in this war, as in former wars, served merely as inspirers of men, but have performed the actual war service, as well on the battle line as in the war industries.

Men have paid the price of this war. And women have paid it. And always there has been in the consciousness of women the realization that they have had to pay without ever having had a voice in the making of the governments that make and unmake war. Always there has been the realization that this war has been, in all its ferocity and atrocity, a man-made war, imposed, or accepted, by men-made governments.

WELL-KNOWN NURSE BACK FROM OVERSEAS

Nursing-Sister Gladys Carvolth, Former Member of Jubilee Hospital Staff

Nursing-Sister Gladys Carvolth, a former Victoria nurse, has recently returned from service overseas and is now attached to the staff at Shaughnessy Heights Military Hospital, Vancouver. Miss Carvolth is one of the many former members of the Jubilee Hospital staff who have given long and distinguished service in the great cause. For nearly two years prior to the outbreak of war she was among the nurses at the local hospital, latterly in charge of the women's ward, and Miss MacKenzie, the lady superintendent, speaks in glowing terms of her splendid capabilities. On August 10, 1914, Miss Carvolth volunteered for overseas service and left later with the British Columbia unit of No. 5 Base Hospital.

Exciting Experiences. While in Egypt and Salonica she had many exciting experiences. She was on a ship which was torpedoed in the Mediterranean, and twice in crossing the Atlantic, the ship on which she was journeying was attacked by submarines, but succeeded in escaping.

In France she served with the No. 1 Canadian General Hospital at Etaples until April, 1918, when she returned on two weeks' leave. From April she was stationed in England until her return to British Columbia.

One of her two brothers, S. Carvolth, is serving with the motor transport in the United States. The other, Pte. John Carvolth, who enlisted from Langley Prairie with the 21st Battalion, was killed in action. Her mother, Mrs. J. C. Carvolth, who resides in Chilliwack, will remove shortly to Vancouver.

WOMEN CLERKS IN WHITEHALL OFFICES

Humorous Aspect of Problem Created by War Conditions in England

The Government girl of London, England, was a war-time creation, and her official home was in Whitehall, and the dingy little official buildings thereabouts, where war-work has been done in a hurry, says Arnold Goldsworthy in The Bystander. In answer to her country's call, or something of that sort, she has flung herself eagerly into the dull routine of a Government office, very properly resolved to do her bit in the great cause. And now some horridly plain-spoken man comes forward to say all sorts of unkind things about her. In effect, this dreadful person alleges that "Government girls are being scandalously overpaid for the little they do, and, furthermore, that they are appointed offhand without any previous business training, so that they are really quite unqualified for their jobs."

Equal Chances

This seems to me to be hardly chivalrous. After all, the Government girl is only replacing the Government man of yore, and I don't remember anybody writing to the papers before the war to say that he was an overpaid and incompetent chap. In my callow youth I spent a few years myself in the Civil Service, but I do not think I was tremendously impressed by the abilities of the officials with whom I was associated. As a matter of fact, most Government clerks are overpaid for the work they do, and it doesn't seem quite sporty to drag the fact into the limelight just because they happen to be girls. Why should the feminine occupant of what the French call the "red de cul" be expected to give better value for the money than the male species. When the plain-spoken person, however, deprecates the fact that the Government girl has had no previous business training, I for one can readily appreciate his subtle humor. The idea that business methods would be of any use in Whitehall is distinctly funny. A few years ago a dreadfully energetic man of business was appointed to the presidency of an important Government department. He learned that the office hours were from 10 till 4, and in his simple and homely way he turned up punctually at 10 o'clock in the morning to take up his duties. When the clock arrived about half an hour later, he took the liberty of suggesting to them that, as they were being paid for six hours' work, they ought to put that much in. The staff went away with the settled conviction that the new president was a straightforwardly ill-bred person.

Willing to Learn

As to the charge that the Government girl is engaged at random without any proper inquiry, as to her fitness for the job, is not that strictly according to precedent? In the old days, when the Government wanted a clerk they set him a few trick questions in history and geography, and the three R's, and if he answered them correctly he got his job for a permanent. Perhaps they would have done much better if they had selected their man at random. After all, the best place in which to learn about the business of an office is in the office itself. If the Government girl will "ing-to-bearn," as no doubt she is, it does not seem to me that it matters at all if she should be unable to say off-hand what is the capital of Mongolia, or what was the name of Henry VIII's Service once told me that though he understood that Brindisi was a fairly important place, he had been unable to find it marked on his map of France. I should have been surprised if it had been marked there; but, of course, on such occasions, one sympathizes politely with one's chief.

MAY LIFT BAN FROM BURNARD PENINSULA

Vancouver and New Westminster Ask Removal of Regulations To-day

DR. YOUNG TO REPORT ON WHOLE SITUATION

That the Spanish influenza epidemic shows substantial signs of abatement in the whole of the Vancouver District is evidenced by the fact that Dr. Underhill's report reaching the Provincial Board of Health this morning gives the number of new cases on Saturday as nine, and Sunday as eleven. The majority of these are described as outside cases, and not attributable to conditions in the city proper. In view of the more hopeful outlook Vancouver's Medical Health officer has requested the Provincial Board to cancel the regulations affecting public assemblies of all kinds as from noon to-day.

Depends Upon Report.
In consultation with Acting-Premier Farris this morning Dr. Young pointed out that it would be a good deal more practical—if circumstances warrant—to raise the ban on the whole of the Burrard Peninsula, the organization of which is already in progress for the removal of the health restrictions from New Westminster and Burnaby. To meet Dr. Underhill and to gauge up the situation on the lower coast Mainland Dr. Young will go to Vancouver this evening, and upon his report to the Department will depend whether or not Vancouver's request of this morning—applying equally in the section mentioned—may be granted. That Dr. Young, for instance, has had no new cases during the past four days, while the ban was lifted this morning from both Chilliwack and Golden.

In response to an appeal for the services of a medical man reaching Dr. Young from Police Coupe, the Medical Health officer at Edmonton has been asked by the Provincial Board to send a doctor to the district and a wire this morning indicates that arrangements have been so made. Reports from the neighborhood of the 150 post say the epidemic is spreading, and that a nurse and medical supplies are urgently required. Dr. Hopkins, of Ashcroft, proceeded northwards on Saturday night, and with the intention of doing all that is possible in this section. Forty-four deaths are reported to date from Anxox, with no fatalities from any other cause. From nearly all other reports reports indicate steady improvement.

Co-operation Achieves Success.
Before leaving for the Mainland yesterday R. F. Taylor, Loan Chairman for Vancouver Island, said: "The campaign has been a wonderful success. We little imagined that the city would do so well, and the Island as a whole has far exceeded our expectations. While handicapped by many obstacles, we have, I think, made a remarkable showing, and it is because of those obstacles, rather than in spite of them, that the results are so surprisingly good."

"The Victory Loan campaign has given Vancouver Island its first real opportunity to pull together as a single unit, and the fact that we mean far more towards strengthening a community spirit among the Island cities than we can easily realize at the present time. Last year's campaign was waged with the island divided into several districts. Unity of action among the Island centres was impossible then. It was not sought. This year, however, the whole Island was organized as a whole under centralized control in Victoria, and the results speak for themselves. This is the biggest task that the Island has ever shouldered, and it has unquestionably made good. Compare the 18th figures with those of this year. There is no comparison at all."

The Reasons Why.
The same gratification was expressed by Joshua Kingham, Chairman of the Victoria executive, who to-day pointed with pride to the fact that never had Victoria undergone such a test, and never had she achieved such magnificent success.

"The success of the Loan," said Mr. Kingham this morning has the local official figures were being compiled, "was, in my estimation, due to three distinct factors: the patriotism, the make-Victoria-win sentiment and common business sense. The people of the Dominion knew that Canada was in greater need of money than she has ever been; that the coming of peace only added to the financial stringency, and that the Loan would bring the boys home. To Victoria, which has given such a large proportion of her young men this was a particularly powerful influence. Again, Victorians were determined to maintain the glorious record of their city and keep it well above all rivals. Lastly, the people of Canada felt that the coming of peace would preclude the possibility of another loan being floated which would be so profitable to every investor. They felt that they would never again have such a good investment for their money, for in all probability, if there were any other loan, the terms would not be so profitable to them. These three influences, I believe, resulted in an overwhelming contribution to the Loan all over the Island. People took money from their savings accounts in order to subscribe, knowing that they would be paid at a rate

After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused by that weakness are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JAS. of interest almost double that given by the banks."

Should Invest Through Victoria.
Mr. Kingham expressed the opinion that firms which operated branches in Victoria as well as on the Mainland, should have put a part of their investment through the organization of this city, instead of confining it all to Vancouver. It was to be regretted, said Mr. Kingham, that a large number of firms had adopted the policy of making their total investment through the Terminal City instead of allowing the Loan in proper proportion, both to the Mainland and the Island. It would have been to their advantage, purely as a matter of business, to take this course.

Praises Returned Men.
A high compliment was paid by the Victoria Chairman to the returned soldiers at the "Dugout" which contributed so largely to Victoria's total. Mr. Kingham was also loud in his praises of the other returned men, one of whom formed a part of every canvassing team.

All Win Ever Flags.

flag, by passing its quota. It was feared for a time that Ladysmith, Nanaimo and Alberni would not be able to achieve this result, and it was only late Saturday night that the officials here were informed, that the latter city had at last raised its quota. Nanaimo and Ladysmith climbed up to the top of the Victory ladder during the last days of the week, while every other centre at the end of the drive added to its already oversubscribed total.

Tremendous Advance.
Having his calculations upon results telephoned in to him, Mr. Dawson estimated the total subscription of the Island at $1,426,000, though the objective of all points combined had been $1,000,000. Last year the Island subscribed $981,475. Thus there was an advance of about $450,000, or nearly one-half.

Response Astounding.
"Though I was certain from the beginning that the Island would not fall in the test," said Mr. Dawson to a Times representative, "the response actually accorded the Loan was astounding. I consider that the work of the Island was the most magnificent achievement in its history. Not one centre fell down in the crisis. Some districts were badly disorganized by the epidemic, but the spirit of the people everywhere made failure impossible from the start. The work of each and every executive is worthy of the highest praise, and the response of the people themselves reflected a wide-spread and practical patriotism and a true appreciation of the financial conditions of the Dominion."

In Spite of Obstacles.
The subscription of the Island, said Mr. Dawson, had been particularly remarkable in view of the small and scattered population. Along the West Coast he pointed out where the camps and mines were miles apart, and where communication except by steamer was almost impossible, the inhabitants had raised an incredible sum of money. In the farms of the Cowichan district there had been no lack of funds, and the miners further north had amazed the officials from the outset with their generous investments.

"I am astonished by your splendid showing; I never imagined you could do so well," said W. H. Malkin in a telegram to Victoria on Saturday night.

CHRISTMAS DINNER FOR LONDON WAIFS

Children of B. C. Will Help Work of Ragged-School Union

Guildhall, London, will be a merry scene again this Christmas for the youngsters who annually attend the dinner given there by the Shaftesbury Society and Ragged-School Union. During the past four years the Christmas festivities have not been so bright owing to the restrictions of war, but the society saw to it that the ragged little waifs had as good a time as it was possible to have under the circumstances.

The children of Canada who have not been called upon to undergo such hardships and the sacrifices endured by the little children of the Mother Land have come to the rescue in the only way they could, namely, by helping to pay for the dinner given the poorer and more unfortunate ones.

There are quite a number of members of the society in Victoria, where a branch has been formed with R. S. Day as Hon. Treasurer and J. T. Deaville as Hon. Secretary. Miss Edith Bell, who was associated with Sir John Kirk for a long time in the Ragged-School Union work in London, is at present a resident of Victoria and has intimated that she will be pleased at any time to give addresses in any of

COURSES OF STUDY

Hon. J. D. McLean, Minister of Education, Indicates Intended Revision.

In answer to a letter addressed to him by the Victoria Principals' Association, suggesting that the standard for the High School entrance classes should be simplified in literature, history and geography, the present requirements being considered too severe, Hon. J. D. MacLeah, Minister of Education, writes the Association as follows:

"I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of November 11, and to say in reply that the Department intends to revise in a short time the course of study for our public schools. I hope to see a beginning made on this work before the end of December. The changes you suggest in the requirements for literature, history and geography for High School entrance classes will receive earnest consideration at that time."

Chest Colds, Bronchitis Can't Be Cured By Cough Syrups

For the Simple Reason That Cough Syrups Go Straight to the Stomach Which Isn't Affected.

The Direct-Breathing Cure "Catarrhazone" Which Instantly Reaches All Affected Parts is Best Remedy.

The vapor of Catarrhazone when inhaled covers all the breathing organs in the nose, throat and lungs—that is why Catarrhazone always cures—it gets where the trouble really is.

"I can speak of the wonder Catarrhazone did for me," writes J. P. Fernandez, an important figure in mercantile life in Georgetown. "I had all the distressing symptoms of catarrh—head was stuffed up—had a profuse discharge from the nose—I hawked and gagged and had a weak throat. My ears buzzed and I had constant pain over the eyes. Catarrhazone cleared my head, strengthened my throat, took away that rank breath and soreness in the nose."

If you have any form of catarrh of throat trouble, cut out all experiments—use Catarrhazone—it's reputation is world-wide. A complete outfit with sufficient medication for last two months and an indestructible hand rubber inhaler costs $1.00; smaller sizes with glass inhaler, 25c and 50c. All druggists and storekeepers, or post paid from the Catarrhazone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

LIABILITY INCURRED RELIEVING DISTRESS

With a more natural concern occasioned by the fearful toll of human life exacted by the ravages of the Spanish influenza epidemic, it may have escaped the casual observer that, added to the sense of personal loss to the people of British Columbia, is an actual monetary loss to the Province of not a cent less than $50,000.

The death occurred yesterday at the Isolation Hospital of Beatrice Ann Dorr, wife of Frederick E. Dorr, aged twenty-five years. HIGHWAY IS MOST SUITABLE MEMORIAL

Mayor Todd Thinks Thomas Walker's Suggestion Good One; Other Schemes

The suggestion of Thomas Walker, made in The Times of a Highway Memorial has aroused a good deal of favorable comment as being a most useful and appropriate means of commemorating the brave deeds and great sacrifices of the men of Vancouver Island in the war. Mayor Todd expressed himself in sympathy with the suggestion, and he considered it a most sensible idea. "I think Mr. Walker's suggestion of a boulevard to Mount Douglas Park is fine, and I would very much like to see the scheme carried through," he said.

Paralleling Mr. Walker's suggestion is one that will be read to the City Council at to-night's meeting which comes from Harry Dunnell, who intimates that Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich should get together and create a memorial that will commemorate for all time the glorious part taken in the great war by changing the name of Mount Toimie to that of Currie Park, which would be approached by a highway called Victory Road, starting from Oak Bay Avenue.

Another suggestion was brought forward this morning in connection with the statue of the late Queen Victoria which was made in the Old Country to be erected in the Parliament Buildings grounds, and which has been delayed owing to the risk of shipping it to this country during the war.

In connection with this statue it has been proposed that on the base should be inscribed all the heroes from British Columbia who have made the supreme sacrifice in defence of the Empire.

SPANISH INFLUENZA

Three Doctors Report Thirty New Cases Up to Noon To-day.

Dr. A. G. Price, Medical Health Officer, is confined to his home to-day, but not with Spanish influenza. It is reported that he will be again on duty to-morrow struggling with the epidemic, which he has been fighting so hard to control for the past six weeks.

It was announced to-day that though the janitor at the Emergency Hospital was suffering from a bad attack of the disease and had a high fever, he refused to leave his duties until someone could be found to take his place.

Up to noon to-day three doctors had reported a total of thirty new cases and it was expected, therefore, that to-day's total would be somewhat higher than that of the past few days, though there is no explanation offered for a heavy increase at this time.

VETERANS EXTEND THANKS FOR HELP GIVEN TO DUGOUT

Grateful for Support Given in Their Effort for Victory Loan

A rush of business until 11.30 Saturday night kept the wounded soldiers working at the Veterans' Dugout continually busy as a large percentage of the bonds sold were those of the smaller denomination contributed by patriotic citizens doing their best to help as far as possible in the big issue. With the soldiers working their hardest to register a big total in the final day of the drive $74,900 worth of bonds were received, sending the total to $1,196,400.

CONNAUGHT SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE IS BUSY

Sailors and Dependents Are Well Looked After by Local Institution

Much good work has been accomplished during the past three months in the various branches coming under the supervision of the Connaught Seamen's Institute, according to a report just submitted by F. Wright Hill, the port missionary.

After detailing the work that has been carried on, which includes the spiritual as well as the bodily welfare of the sailor and his dependents, Mr. Hill states that he is anxious that a branch of the Sailors' Christian Brotherhood should be formed among the boys. Rev. G. F. Dempster, Missionary Superintendent, British and Foreign Sailors' Society, London, England, has forwarded forms, buttons and particulars of the International and Interdenominational Sailors' Brotherhood movement. During the first year many branches have been established with a membership of over 300, scattered throughout the world, and covering many nationalities, as well as all ranks and ratings. Its objects are threefold: (1) To read a portion of God's Word every day; (2) To live a clean and manly life; (3) To help your fellowman.

Mr. Hill visited the West Coast of Vancouver Island recently with the idea of selecting a location for the opening up of a branch of the Institute for the welfare of fishermen engaged in the great West Coast industry. Uchelet has been selected conditionally on the Dominion Government encouraging the idea. Rev. A. Stackhouse, West Coast Anglican Missionary, is helping in the matter and the men are looking forward to the establishment of such an institution.

Sick sailors have been looked after and assisted in every possible way. Crews of ships arriving in port have been entertained, and the Institute has been the centre of entertainment and amusement for the crews for the L. M. B. ships from the time they arrive here from England until the time of sailing arrives.

DYSPEPSIA MAN'S GREATEST ENEMY

Is Most Prevalent of All Present-Day Diseases, Declares L. T. Cooper—Victims Are Whimsical and Melancholy and Suffer Great Mental Depression—Disease Can Be Cured, He Says.

Explaining the record-breaking purchase of Tanlac by D. E. Campbell, the National Drug and Chemical Co., of Canada, Ltd., and the leading wholesale and retail druggists throughout the country, Mr. E. C. Harris, representing G. F. Willis, the International Distributor of Tanlac, states that the hundreds of questions now being asked all over Victoria, make it imperative that some explanation be made to satisfy public interest.

"Speaking of Tanlac, he said: 'Thousands of the most prominent people in fact, people representing all walks of life—in the larger cities of the country, where the celebrated such remarkable results, even more enthusiastic over Tanlac than Mr. Cooper himself.'

"In explanation of this, it should be stated that Tanlac is believed to be the most frequent cause of dyspepsia for catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membranes and the complications which follow them.

"Catarrh of the stomach is one of the most frequent causes of dyspepsia and catarrhal inflammation of the nose and throat leads to inevitable complications, such as kidney and liver affections, rheumatism, etc.

"Show me a man whose eyes are inflamed, whose sense of smell and hearing is affected, and I will show you a man who is suffering from catarrh. Frequently the lungs become involved by the extension of the catarrhal inflammation or germs to the lung substance. Specialists concede this, but it has remained for Tanlac, the new formula, to provide the remedy, as has been so conclusively and convincingly proven by the hundreds of thousands who have been relieved by its use.

"At this point Mr. Harris quoted from one of Mr. Cooper's recent lectures, in which he said: 'Of all the distressing conditions that afflict humanity, catarrh of the stomach, or what is more commonly known as chronic dyspepsia, is probably the most prevalent. This most universal malady has baffled the medical profession for years, and the most skilled specialists have been unable to cope with it successfully.'

"Hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and physical, of the sufferers of chronic dyspepsia and their failure to heretofore get relief. A morbid, unwell, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind, aside from the nervousness and physical suffering, is the usual condition of the average dyspeptic and life seems scarcely worth the living.

"Dyspepsia, or indigestion, as the case may be, is caused by the taking of too much food, or unsuitable food, and the mucous membrane of the stomach becomes irritated, and there is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. Next, it enables a weak, worn-out stomach to thoroughly digest the food, promoting the assimilation of the nourishing products to be converted into blood, bone and muscle. Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell. (Adv.)

PLANK FLEW UP AND STRUCK PEDESTRIAN

Action Results in County Court for Damages Against Municipality

The trial of Hopcroft vs. The Corporation of Saanich was begun in the County Court to-day before Judge Lammman, the action being one for damages for injuries sustained as the result of alleged negligence on the part of the corporation.

Hopcroft, in giving evidence, explained that last April he and a friend were walking along the board sidewalk in the vicinity of Tolmie School when the former stepped on the end of a loose plank just as Hopcroft was astride of it. The plank flew up and tripped plaintiff, who sustained injuries to his wrist. He states that it is still necessary for him to wear a wrist-band, and for some time after the accident it was impossible for him properly to attend to his work. He is a R. C. Electric Railway motorman.

Hopcroft stated that following the accident he and his friend replaced the plank, which was not fastened down in any way, and found that there was a water meter underneath it. Just recently he had examined the place, and the plank was still unfastened.

J. A. Aikman is appearing for the plaintiff, and G. H. Barnard, K. C., for the defendant corporation. Hopcroft is claiming for $400.

RETURNED MEN WANT M'INNES TO RESIGN

Ask Acting-Premier to Take Necessary Steps and Advise for Official

Arising out of the recently announced appointment of W. H. McInnes to be Civil Service Commissioner for British Columbia, the objections lodged with the Government by Victoria Returned Service Men's organizations in relation thereto, and the reply explanatory of the circumstances sent to the secretary of the local branch of the Returned Soldiers' Association by Acting-Premier Farris on behalf of the Government, the following communication received by Secretary Heinekey and received by Mr. Farris this morning marks another step in the matter.

"I beg to acknowledge your letter of the 14th inst. in answer to the deputation from the Great War Veterans and Comrades of the Great War organizations re the appointment of W. H. McInnes to the post of Civil Service Commissioner. In reply, I was instructed to write and desire that you take immediate steps for the resignation of Mr. McInnes from the position of Civil Service Commissioner, that the Returned Soldiers' Association advertised in the press calling for applications, giving a returned soldier the preference as the Civil Service Act calls for. Failing this request from the Returned Soldiers' Association, further immediate actions will have to be taken. A copy of this letter is also being sent to the Lieutenant-Governor for his actions."

To Decide Action.

As well as in the case of the Acting-Premier a similar letter has been addressed to each Minister in the Cabinet. And according to an announcement made by the Secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association this morning a special meeting of the executive of the local branch will meet to-night for the purpose of deciding as to what means shall be taken to redress what the service men's bodies allege to be a breach of the spirit and intent of the Civil Service Act. Mr. Farris' observations on this point notwithstanding.

It is expected that reply from the Government will be in Secretary Heinekey's hands during the latter part of the day, from which the G. W. V. A. and the Comrades will be in a position to learn how far the Government finds itself able to meet the latest request.

To the Cabinet.

Referring to this morning's letter, the Acting-Premier declared that he had nothing to say on the subject for the moment. In view of the nature of the communication, however, he stated that the matter would again go before the other members of the Cabinet, and until there had been a discussion, at least, there would be no pronouncement to make.

ASSISTED IN "DRY" CAMPAIGN IN SOUTH

H. J. Knott Returns From Nine Months' Sojourn in California

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Knott returned to Victoria on Saturday from California, where they have been making an extended stay since February last. Mr. Knott went to the Southern State at the request of the California Anti-Saloon League to assist in the big campaign for the ratification of the National Prohibition amendment.

Campaign Successful.

The campaign proved an overwhelming success, declared Mr. Knott to a Times representative this morning, in spite of the difficulties occasioned by the introduction into the fight of two other measures. One known as the Rominger Bill sought to eliminate all saloons and public drinking places, to take effect on July 1, 1919, while the other measure, known as the Prohibition Party and had for its object the making of a bone-dry California, dating from January 1, 1919.

While the latter measure would seem the desirable one, Mr. Knott pointed out that it somewhat clouded the real issue, which was the ratification of a nation-wide prohibition measure—the goal of the Anti-Saloon Party, for which Mr. Knott was working. Both of these measures were defeated, owing to lack of support by the united "dry" forces who had concentrated all their effort on the bigger issue.

As a result of the campaign in which Mr. Knott played a leading part, the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of California, together with the majority of the Legislature of the State, have pledged themselves to the ratification of the national measure, which it is expected will be passed as soon as Congress meets.

"Dry" Senators Elected.

Until August last Mr. Knott made his headquarters at Fresno City, having charge of the campaign in Fresno County. He was supported in California by such a splendid committee that at the "primaries" they had succeeded in nominating a "dry" force for both the Houses from that county. Later he took charge of the work covering eight counties with headquarters at Modesto and after a strenuous fight between a "wet" and "dry" Senator, had the satisfaction of seeing the latter elected with a majority of over 1,500 votes.

Mr. Knott was very active in the British Columbia campaign, in which he held the post of organizer for Vancouver Island, while in 1916 he took a leading part in the prohibition campaign in Fresno, his success in which led to his being again sent for by the Anti-Saloon League to assist in the later campaign.

Because of this the Sonora has a richness, an expression, a magnificence of tone that merits its consideration on the same plane with the musical instruments, the violin, the cello, the piano and the organ, which have worn the crown of the world's approval for many years.

J. H. PRICE LAUNCHES FIRST BALLARD SHIP

Motor Schooner Snetind Completed at Yard Controlled by Former Victoria Shipbuilder

The motor schooner Snetind, which was launched from the Ballard yard at the J. H. Price Company on Saturday, as the first vessel to be launched by J. H. Price since he relinquished his interests in the local shipbuilding industry.

J. H. Price, who is one of the best known wooden shipbuilders on the Pacific coast, as General Manager of the Cameron-Genoa Mills Shipbuilders, Ltd., built at the Point Ellice yard here six auxiliary schooners for the Canada West Coast Navigation Company and four wooden steamships of 2,500 tons register for the Imperial Munitions Board. Prior to the completion of the latter contract he again became identified with shipbuilding across the border, organizing the J. H. Price & Co. shipyard at North Ballard. The plant had previously been operated by S. Sandstrom and associates, but financial difficulties entered into the project and delayed the construction programme at a most crucial point a year ago. The yard was closed down for a period, and J. H. Price then commenced rejuvenating the old Sandstrom plant. He, assisted by J. P. Ridd, present general manager of the shipyard, and J. L. McLean, vice-president and treasurer of the concern, brought order out of chaos and to-day the company has a plant that compares favorably with any wooden yard on the coast.

The J. H. Price plant at Ballard has four shipways in operation and two awaiting the laying of keels. The Snetind, the first vessel to be launched under the new management, has been completed for the American Motor Schooner Company, of New York. She is a wooden vessel 250 feet long, 44 ft beam and 21 ft deep. When fully loaded she will have a capacity of 2,400 deadweight tons. She will be powered with two 240-horse-power Skandia oil engines.

When completed the Snetind will go on berth at a Pacific coast port for the Far East. The vessel, for the greater part, has been constructed under the supervision of General Manager Ridd and surveyors for Lloyd's in Seattle, J. H. Price, head of the concern, is recovering from an attack of Spanish influenza.

Mr. Price is also interested in wooden shipbuilding at Portland, being associated with the Kern & Kierman yard.

ALIEN FISHERMEN IN WASHINGTON STATE

Legislature Will Be Asked to Restrict Commercial Fishing Rights

Seattle, Nov. 17.—Through the activity of State Fish Commissioner L. H. Darwin a bill will be introduced in the coming session of the Legislature restricting commercial fishing rights in the state of Washington to American citizens. The proposed legislation will also provide that no license shall be issued to any corporation not authorized to do business in the state of Washington and whose stockholders are not all American citizens.

At the request of the State Fish Commissioner, Attorney-General W. V. Tanner has drawn up such a bill and a number of members of the coming session have offered to introduce and sponsor it.

The movement, Mr. Darwin says, is along the line of Americanization. The present law permits aliens who have taken out their first papers to obtain licenses, while the native born citizen cannot obtain a license until he has resided in the state for a year. Many of those who declared their intentions had resided in this country for many years without taking any steps towards citizenship and within the past few months not a few of them were shown their first papers in order to escape military draft.

Mr. Darwin believes that the same restrictions as to individuals should apply to corporations, and that aliens should be prevented from starting canneries or other fishery enterprises by organizing corporations and employing American managers.

STEFANSSON AGAIN IS VISITING HERE

Famous Canadian-Arctic Explorer Returns to Pay Off Polar Bear's Complement.

SCIENTIFIC RESULTS ARE BEING PUBLISHED

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Canadian Arctic explorer, who returned to Victoria on September 17 last after five years in the "frozen north," is again back in the city, this time from the less frigid region of Ottawa. Stefansson, who is making his headquarters at the Empress Hotel, informed a Times representative this morning that he was back in Victoria to pay off the crew of the Polar Bear. The members of the Polar Bear crew in charge of Capt. Hadley reached here recently from Nome.

Stefansson denies the report given wide publicity to the effect that the Polar Bear was built in aid of Red Cross funds. The Polar Bear, he says, is on the way to St. Michael undergoing repairs, and the explorer is of the opinion that the vessel will, upon the completion of necessary repairs, be brought to Esquimaut and offered for sale.

Since he was last in this city, Vilhjalmur Stefansson visited his aged mother in Manitoba, whom he had not seen for five and a half years, afterwards visiting Ottawa, Toronto, New York and other points in the Eastern States. He has delivered four lectures to date at Toronto, New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia. After a stay of a few days here he proposes to return to Ottawa and will later inaugurate a continental lecture tour in aid of the Red Cross.

Results Being Published. "The scientific results of the expedition are already being published," declared Mr. Stefansson to-day. The Government has made a preliminary appropriation of $50,000 for the publication of the works. This appropriation, says Stefansson, will only cover part of the biological works embracing seven volumes of 500 pages each. The other volumes are now on the press.

The expedition lasted five and a half years, but it will probably take longer than that to publish the complete scientific results. "From a geographical point of view, our trip was a complete success," he went on, "but we took two years longer than we expected, and our scientific work had to be somewhat curtailed." The Canadian Arctic expedition, which Mr. Stefansson headed, was perhaps better fitted for scientific purposes than any similar venture. With the party were eight scientists, each a specialist in his own branch.

Leaves It to Science. Stefansson leaves it to science and commerce to make practical use of the million square miles or so of new territory he has discovered.

"People who talk carelessly about the North Pole think it is the most difficult place to get at, but that is not a fact," declared the famous explorer. "On account of the configuration of the earth there are points several hundred miles away from the Pole, which are harder to reach than the Pole itself. The climate of the discovered new land is described as 'excellent,' and quite fit for habitation. The summer season lasts about six or eight weeks. The explorer takes the view that there is no such thing as worthless land, and nobody at the present time can realize what the scientific and commercial development will be."

Varied Career. Stefansson, at different periods of his career has been school teacher, life insurance agent, organizer of labor societies, public lecturer, reporter, editor and university professor. He has practically revolutionized the method of carrying on explorations in the Arctic. He believes that the adage that "necessity is the mother of invention," for it was after the loss of the Karuk, his most important ship, that Stefansson demonstrated that it was not necessary to transport great stocks of provisions, dogs and sledges, that good food and plenty of it could be got out of the land and sea itself.

Stefansson, strange to say, brings no thrilling tales of adventures, narrow escapes or of grueling hardships. In fact he rambled over the frozen seas in comparative ease and security, suffered neither from cold or hunger, and hardly knew what illness was till he returned to northern civilization.

NEARLY 3,000 SHIPS BUILT IN THE STATES DURING WAR PERIOD

Nearly 3,000 merchant vessels were built in United States shipyards between April 6, 1917, the date of the declaration of war by the United States, and November 11, 1918, the date of the armistice. The actual number of vessels constructed was 2,985, of 3,021,635 gross tons, of which 596, aggregating 2,056,414 tons gross, were ocean-going steel steamers. Ocean-going wooden vessels numbered 491, of 73,156 gross tons, and coastwise vessels to the number of 2,078, with a gross tonnage of 281,752.

GALIANO SANK IN DEEP WATER

Master of Whaling Tender Gray Scouts Theory That Naval Craft Struck Hidden Rock

That the naval patrol steamer Galiano foundered about twenty miles east of Danger Rocks off the Queen Charlotte Islands is the opinion of Capt. Billington, master of the Consolidated Whaling Company's whaling tender Gray, which arrived in port to-day from Rose Harbor.

The captain scouts the theory advanced that the Galiano might have struck a reef off Cape St. James before going down with all on board. On the night of October 29 the Gray steamer gave practically the same course as the Galiano, the latter vessel having left Triangle Island at 4:45 p. m. shortly before the Gray got aboard of that point on her way from Kyuquot to the Queen Charlottes.

According to Capt. Billington the weather off Triangle when the Galiano left was fair and clear but about three hours later a strong southeaster broke and whipped up a terrific sea in Queen Charlotte Sound.

Veritable Typhoon. "It was a veritable typhoon," said Capt. Billington in referring to the storm which engulfed the Galiano. As the fury of the gale increased, Capt. Billington decided that it would be impossible to run before the storm and brought his ship about with her head to the wind the tender remaining hove-to until the gale had spent itself. The captain himself was sick with the "flu" and he turned to his leaving explicit instructions with the mate to keep the ship backing into the weather. The next morning the mate reported having sighted the Galiano's lights, and he turned to the search for the wreck. This was at 11 o'clock on the night of October 29 and at the time it was not known aboard the Gray that the lights belonged to the Galiano.

Blown Off Course. Blown out of their course by the storm, instead of making a landfall at Barkley Sound, they were driven to the entrance of Clayoquot Sound. Their hands almost frozen and battered by the burning oil, assistance was forthcoming at the camp of the Tidewater Copper Company, at the Clayoquot mine, the miners generously giving them clothes and they were fed at the camp at Sidney Inlet.

From Sidney Inlet they proceeded to Clayoquot, and there found accommodation pending the arrival of the steamer.

Lost Everything. Captain Johnson lost everything, the boat representing the savings of a lifetime, being valued at $12,000, and not long ago he had invested $4,000 in equipping new engines and they were lost.

The men with him, who arrived to-day to report to the American Consul were: Albert Jacobson, Manfred Olsen, J. Holde and George Running.

MAQUINNA BRINGS SHIPWRECKED CREW

Master and Four Fishermen of Lief B Had Perilous Time Off West Coast

MEN ESCAPED BY DORY FROM BLAZING VESSEL

Their boat in flames, and thirty miles from the nearest land, a perilous future opened to Captain J. Johnson and four fishermen, all of Seattle, when off the West Coast of Vancouver Island, in the storm on Nov. 7 to 10 when the Renfrew was wrecked off the West Coast with the loss of fifteen lives.

Delayed by the severing of communication by telegraph and telephone with Victoria, the adventure, which occurred on November 8, was not reported until this morning, when the Princess Maquinna arrived from the West Coast with the shipwrecked men.

Lamp Overturned. Thirty miles off Cape Beale at 3 o'clock on the morning of November 8, a coast oil lamp in the gallery of the Lief B overturned, and set the pilot house on fire. The men found themselves unable to combat the flames, and fearing an explosion from the 700 gallons of gasoline on board, they took to a dory in their underclothing, endeavoring to make land. There was no opportunity to secure a supply of food, and a cabbage and some apples was all they were able to provision the dory for the perilous trip.

According to the statement of A. Halkett, of the Marine and Fisheries Department, who met the wrecked men later at Clayoquot Sound, they had been left the blazing boat, it blew up.

Blown Off Course. Blown out of their course by the storm, instead of making a landfall at Barkley Sound, they were driven to the entrance of Clayoquot Sound. Their hands almost frozen and battered by the burning oil, assistance was forthcoming at the camp of the Tidewater Copper Company, at the Clayoquot mine, the miners generously giving them clothes and they were fed at the camp at Sidney Inlet.

From Sidney Inlet they proceeded to Clayoquot, and there found accommodation pending the arrival of the steamer.

UNITED STATES MAY CONVERT FEW WOODEN SHIPS INTO BARGES Seattle, Nov. 18.—With the demand for bottoms relieved somewhat by the signing of the armistice, there are strong indications that the United States Shipping Board may convert some of the wooden steamships under construction in yards of Washington and Oregon into barges, to be towed in the coastwise cargo-carrying trade. Announcements of plans along this line are expected to be made here by district Shipping Board officials, among whom the probabilities of this step has been apparent for the past few days. It is believed that the change would affect only a minor number of the ships under construction, but that is a matter to be decided by the Shipping Board.

There are thirty-two wooden shipbuilding plants in the states of Washington and Oregon, at all of which vessels are under construction, and the majority of these plants have contracts with the Shipping Board. The plan contemplates taking these ships not yet launched and for which orders for the machinery have not been placed, and finishing them as barges, thus making them available at an early date for cargo-carrying. Some of our Allies are converting less efficient shipyards where the construction work has not progressed rapidly enough to satisfy the Shipping Board. By converting the hulls into barges and eliminating the feature of outfitting with machinery and rigging, the shipping board would be able to close these plants at an earlier date.

BONILLA DUE HERE WITH RENFREW DEAD

Witnesses Are Also Expected on Fishing Tender to Give Evidence on Disaster

With eleven or twelve bodies of the men who lost their lives in the Renfrew disaster, the fishing tender Bonilla, Capt. Frasen, sailed from Nitinat at 8:30 o'clock this morning, according to word received to-day by the provincial police. Also traveling on the Bonilla are the witnesses who will be required to give evidence before the commission of investigation here. The Bonilla is expected to reach port about 6 o'clock this evening.

TUG WRECKED IN STORM RAGING ON CALIFORNIA COAST

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—In a storm which was said to be raging from one end of the California Coast to the other, the tug Nata was blown ashore and wrecked at Point Arena, early to-day, the United States weather bureau here reported. The crew was saved.

The storm will continue throughout the day, to-night and to-morrow, the Bureau said.

TIDE TABLE

Table with columns for Time, High, Low, and other tide-related data for November.

The time used in Pacific Standard for the 120th meridian west, it is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height refer to distinguish high water from low water. Where black figures in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

"You'll have to give me a better reason than that."

"I began working for two pounds a week and am now making a thousand a year."

WORLD TRIUMPH OF DEMOCRACY

SIR BERKELEY MOYNIHAN ON ANGLLO-SAXON UNITY. By Harold Begbie in a London Exchange.

He is a man aflame with two idealisms—moral idealism and intellectual idealism. He finds life very good because it contains the love of man and woman, the love of parent and child, and because there are flowers, the stars, ocean and trees. And he finds life very good because the brain is a beautiful instrument not only for conquering the roughest and most obstinate opponents of nature, but for carrying its victory into the invisible kingdom of the human spirit.

Few men have seen more of the hideous havoc wrought by war than this brilliant, surgeon, whose creative achievements have made his city of Leeds famous throughout the world. And yet, in his own culture, a victim of a fiercer and more terrible struggle, no man more rejoices that it has come, no man is more certain of the ultimate good it holds for the human race. He has seen the agony and bloody sweat of Armageddon with eyes which see something very like Millennium beyond the smoke of battle.

To crush Germany, for this idealist, is not to get a dangerous rival out of the way, but to destroy a wholesome disease which for too long has assailed the soul of man. He hates Germany with an implacable disgust of the soul. She is for him everything which a nation should not be—her culture a vulgar, her civilization coarse and vulgar, her manner offensive, her soul odiously and abominably materialistic. To humble her pride in for him a triumph of righteousness, to destroy her power a vindication of life's essential holiness. This for him is sufficient atonement for the anguish and loss of war. But he sees something in the far and infinitely more glorious than the destruction of Prussianism, and it is of this greater blessing, this more majestic glory, that he now speaks as the supreme compensation for our blood and tears.

The New Spirit in Our Midst. "The one thing," he says, "which can make atonement for all the agony and loss of this tremendous struggle is the new spirit in our midst which is just beginning to create the unity of the Anglo-Saxon race. This movement is far and away the greatest political event in the history of the world. Nothing can more dismay the Germans. Nothing should so encourage our Allies and reassure the small nations. It is an event literally of the first importance, and it means the world-triumph of democracy. But there is a danger. The politician must not meddle too materialistically in the matter. He must be told that he is on a mission of peace, not of war. He can ensure from any attempt to base this entente on political or commercial interests. The basis is spiritual.

"No nation is less materially minded than the American. It is a nation of idealism, a nation singing with enthusiasm for the highest and deepest things of life. If Americans love us, it is not for our big Navy or for the extent of geography covered by the Union Jack; it is rather for the moral achievement of our race, for our domestic virtues, and for the contribution we have made to the science, law, literature, art and philanthropy of the world. It is our character which quickens their emotion, our intellect which wins their respect."

He looks to science for the creation of this entente with America. Here there is an absolute community of interests. Science, he says, has no frontiers, less than its boundaries. He would like to see our Entente very largely left, at any rate for the present, to the men of science in both countries.

He looks forward to the day when Parliament will vote the millions necessary to stamp out such diseases as tuberculosis and cancer. He is an ardent champion of housing reform, saying, "It is cheaper to burn a slum than to build a sanatorium." He is sincerely anxious to see a far higher degree of refinement and happiness among our working classes than is possible under present economic conditions. But he asks British democracy to be patient a little longer, and to wait for the full justice which is surely coming to right its wrongs until the supremest thing in our history is accomplished, the unity of our people with the people of the United States.

must not interfere until the Entente has gone much further, much deeper. Let science do its work, and philosophy and literature, and art; let the two peoples get to feel their kinship with an absolute affection; then, but not till then, can the politician consummate this tremendous Entente, which will be the world's most certain guarantee not only of peace but of a democratic civilization which is truly based on righteousness.

Sir Berkeley Moynihan's enthusiasm for America, like his moral and intellectual disgust for Germany, is founded on personal observation. He has paid several visits to America, the latest of which, a few months ago, went far to deepen American faith in our singleness of purpose. His admiration for American scholars goes hand-in-hand with his affection for the greatest of American surgeons.

During his last visit the chairman of a banquet at which he was the guest of honor proposed the health of King George in the middle of the dinner. As he sat down he touched Sir Berkeley's arm and said to him, "Get up and propose the health of the President." This call was unexpected. Sir Berkeley rose and said: "I am asked to propose the toast of one who is prudent, unswerving, wise in action, eloquent in speech, a mar among kings, a king among men—the President of the United States."

He looks forward to the day when Parliament will vote the millions necessary to stamp out such diseases as tuberculosis and cancer. He is an ardent champion of housing reform, saying, "It is cheaper to burn a slum than to build a sanatorium." He is sincerely anxious to see a far higher degree of refinement and happiness among our working classes than is possible under present economic conditions. But he asks British democracy to be patient a little longer, and to wait for the full justice which is surely coming to right its wrongs until the supremest thing in our history is accomplished, the unity of our people with the people of the United States.

VICTORIA THE NORTHWEST THE WORLD

BROTHERHOOD TAKES LEAD IN CITY SOCCER LEAGUE

Fragments, With Same Number of Points, Are One Game Ahead; Three Drawn Games Resulted From Saturday's Encounters

FINALIS IN SOCCER COMPETITION

- Victoria West Brotherhood 2, James Island 1. Lancaster 2, Garrison 2. Yarrow 2, Imperial Munitions Board 2. Fragments 2, Foundation Company 2.

The Victoria West Brotherhood, last year's city champions, jumped ahead of the Fragments from France, the Island champions, as a result of the former registering the only win in Saturday's four games.

Although they had the better of the second half of the game, the Island champions were fortunate to draw with the Foundation eleven, as the soldiers were unable to put the necessary finish to their efforts after they had carried the ball to the front of the shipyard's goal.

Yarrow vs. I. M. B. Yarrow obtained a lead of two goals to nothing over the militia soldiers at Central Park, Roberts and Keeley netting good goals in the first half for Yarrow.

Lancaster vs. Garrison. In one of the fastest and most exciting games this season, and before a crowd estimated at 800, the Garrison eleven came away with a draw from the sailor lads.

Here and there the soldiers' forwards would make a break, and in one of the rushes, just ten minutes before half time, Dale, who replaced Sweeney at centre forward, put in a lob shot which completely baffled the Lancaster goalie.

The Garrison back division played a wonderful defensive game, but the forwards still need a little patting. Encouraged by the success, S. M. Bradley declared he will have his team heading the league before the competition ends.

James Island vs. West Brotherhood. Owing to the Island's ground being under water the game was transferred to Beacon Hill.

The Islanders pressing. The Wests, through lack of condition could not get going at all and tried individual work, with the result the Islanders attacked the man with the ball and generally got it.

Midway through the second half the Wests forced a corner. Thom taking the kick, placed it beautifully. Mulcahy heading through, but the kick was ordered to be retaken, without result.

With the Willows dropping out of the competition, two points are deducted from the Navy and the Fragments.

HARD-HITTING FIGHTERS BUT ARE GOOD FRIENDS

Many life-long friendships have had their origin in a hard fought fight in a school ground, a fact that many who throw around the epithets of "brutal and degrading" when speaking of ring encounters overlook together with the fact that a test of skill between two men well versed in ring-craft requires that coolness and agility that has made this branch of sport one of the most popular with the fans.

PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN EXTENDS HIS THANKS

To Local Organizations Which Helped to Advertise Victory Loan

Deep gratification at the services of many local organizations in advertising the Victory Loan was expressed this morning by E. J. Down, Publicity Chairman, in a statement to The Times. Mr. Down said: "I am extremely grateful, and deeply sensible of the support given the publicity officials of the Loan by all sections of Victoria. I wish to thank the merchants who so generously contributed their advertising space in the papers, and some of whom dressed their windows in such a way as to advertise the Loan. I desire also to thank heartily the returned soldiers at the 'Dugout' for their magnificent achievement in selling bonds, and advertising the Loan. To George Bushby, in charge of the Honor Emblem competition, the publicity committee owes its warmest thanks, for the manner in which he conducted the competition and secured such remarkable results. I wish also to thank the press for the magnificent service rendered, and I doubt if any city in Canada has secured the publicity for the Loan that Victoria has been accorded by the local newspapers. Personally, I consider that they were a great factor in making the drive the splendid success it was. Finally, I wish to thank the Chairmen of the various publicity committees who put in a great deal of time preparing various lectures and demonstrations which, on account of the influenza epidemic, were unavoidably cancelled."

U. S. SUPREME COURT REFUSE TO REVIEW CASE OF MOONEY

Washington, Nov. 18.—The Supreme Court of the United States refused today to review the case of Thomas J. Mooney, labor leader, under sentence to die December 13 for murder in connection with a bomb explosion two years ago in San Francisco. In asking the Supreme Court to review his case, Mooney charged that his conviction had been obtained through fraud on the part of the district attorney, who had made use of perjured testimony. This fraud was not discovered, he claimed, until after his conviction, but efforts to obtain a new trial failed. In acting on Mooney's petition today, the Court merely announced its decision through Chief Justice White, without comment. The case has attracted country-wide attention. In response to appeals for his influence, President Wilson twice has telegraphed the Governor of California suggesting that clemency be considered. San Francisco, Nov. 18.—The last prop is knocked from under Mooney, with the exception of possible action by Governor Stephens, Attorney Edwin Y. McKenzie, of counsel for Thomas J. Mooney, said here today when advised that Mooney's appeal to the United States Supreme Court had been denied.

ASK FOR RECIPROCAL DUTY ON LUMBER IMPORTS

Portland, Ore., Nov. 17.—A resolution declaring for a tariff on Canadian lumber and passed by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association at its meeting last week follows: "Whereas, the imports of lumber and shingles from Canada, duty free, for the first eight months of each of the following years were: Lumber, Shingles. '1916 ..... $14,787,233,717 '1917 ..... 16,708,602,339,648 '1918 ..... 29,882,028,392,087 "Whereas, Canada levies a duty against similar American products, thereby excluding them from that country; and "Whereas, the United States needs money to pay the expenses of the war; be it "Resolved, by the lumbermen of the Northwest, in convention assembled at Portland, Ore., that we request the Congress of the United States immediately to amend our revenue laws by imposing the same duty on Canadian lumber as a reciprocal duty, that Canada imposes on our lumber products. "Resolved, further, that our secretary be instructed to send copies of this resolution to the Tariff Commission and Senators and Representatives of the Northwestern States."

LUXEMBURG PROBABLY WILL BE REPUBLIC

Geneva, Nov. 17.—Via London, Nov. 18.—The Lausanne Gazette says it learns that the people and Parliament of Luxembourg will demand the abdication of the Grand-Duchess of Luxembourg, who is considered the symbol of German intrigues. The members of the Liberal party desire the Grand Duchy be transformed into a republic and attached to France. The paper adds that the Grand Duchess's warning of the general opinion of the people, replied that she was ready to abdicate after a general vote had been taken on the question. Basel, Nov. 18.—Prince Maximilian, the former German Chancellor, in an article in the Prussian Year Book, in which he reveals certain facts about his brief term in the Chancellery, says: "The German people, by the formation of a popular Government, is liberated from the dictatorship of General Ludendorff, and will never tolerate another. "It would be a shame for Germany if her enemies, wishing to talk only with a legally established Government, were themselves obliged to convoke a Constituent Assembly. The Government should not surrender this initiative. If it governs democratically it can be assured of the support of all German animated by liberal ideas in the accomplishment of its gigantic task."

CANADA'S FARMERS HAVE OPPORTUNITY

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—Sir William Goode, of the British Ministry of Food, has cabled the Canada Food Board an after-the-armistice statement of the livestock in the chief European countries, which is of the utmost significance to the Canadian farmers. He says: "There is throughout Europe a serious deterioration in the numbers of livestock. The Allied and neutral home-produced meat supplies cannot improve for several months, and hence an insistent demand for overseas supplies will be inevitable. The meat situation in Germany, and especially in Austria-Hungary, is considerably more difficult than we had anticipated, thus further increasing the call upon exportable surpluses to the limit of our transport capacity. "Owing to the universal reduction of pigs, the world production of bacon, ham, pork and lard at present is unequal to the demand, including that of the United Kingdom, which always has been by far the largest consumer of imported pig products. "The milk yield in general has diminished; in fact, almost to the vanishing point. In Central Europe, Holland, Switzerland and Scandinavia, which are normally large exporters of dairy products, probably will not have any considerable surplus for the United Kingdom, which this will be practically dependent on the imported entirely from the Dominions and the United States. "The following figures show the decreases in most of the countries given in Sir William Goode's telegram: Cattle. France ..... 2,366,000 Italy ..... 956,000 Denmark ..... 346,000 Sweden ..... 589,000 Germany ..... 2,200,000 Austria-Hungary, Considerable. Sheep. France ..... 2,255,000 Italy ..... 138,000 Denmark ..... 47,000 Holland ..... 200,000 Austria-Hungary, Considerable. Pigs. France ..... 2,815,000 Italy ..... 354,000 Denmark ..... 1,873,000 Sweden ..... 342,000 Holland ..... 162,000 Germany ..... 19,306,000 Austria-Hungary, Considerable.

INFLUENZA KILLED MORE AMERICANS THAN BULLETS FROM GERMANS

Washington, Nov. 18.—The recent epidemic of influenza in the United States caused more deaths than occurred among the American expeditionary forces in France from all causes from the time the first units landed in France until hostilities ceased. This announcement by the Census Bureau is based on unofficial estimates of the total casualties among the overseas forces and reports forty-six cities having a combined population of 23,000,000 which showed 42,300 deaths from influenza and pneumonia from September 9 to November 9.

CHINESE REMOVING KETTELER MONUMENT; SLAP FOR GERMANY

Peking, Nov. 17.—The von Ketteler Monument erected under compulsion of the German Government, is being removed. The monument cost approximately $500,000. The von Ketteler Monument consists of a great marble arch, spanning Eata-met Street, one of the chief thoroughfares in the Tartar of Inner City. Baron von Ketteler, German Minister in whose memory it was erected, was killed while trying to mediate with the Chinese before the Boxer outbreak in 1900.

PROPAGANDISTS AT WORK IN STATES

Dyed-in-Wool Germans Trying to Get Leniency for Germany

Washington, Nov. 18.—Government agents see evidences that German propaganda machinery in the United States is being put in working order again to promote a sentiment of leniency toward Germany in the peace terms. Consequently, Department of Justice officials today gave warning that the public should remain watchful against a resumption of organized propaganda by interests formerly actively pro-German, but for the past year passive. Concerted movement is apparent, officials say, in the utterances of many individuals, organizations formerly active for German interests and some newspapers. There is no organized leadership, it is believed, but local interests have taken their cue from officials in plea for leniency. Government agents are combating the German propaganda at this time, it is explained, to forestall any German propagandists whose purpose would be to confound the authorized spokesmen of the nation at the forthcoming peace negotiations. Officials say that during the reconstruction period there may be considerable danger from enemy propagandists working to make the nation

DUGOUT ARGUMENT FOR RETURNED MAN

"Fighting Mac" Also Deals With Canadians' Glorious Record

One of the features to which Sergt. R. M. King, who has had charge of the Veterans' Dugout during the Victory Bond Drive, has frequently called attention, is that the success of the veterans' efforts is perhaps the biggest since the outbreak of war of proving their capabilities to take their part in the big issues of the country after they have put aside their arms, and are ready for the ordinary duties of life. Private Mackenzie, or "Fighting Mac," to give him the title by which he has become known, argues along the same lines.

The Soldier at Business. The beribboned warrior has much to say on the re-establishment of the khaki clad men when they are ready to doff the uniform. "We have proved," he said, "by what we have accomplished at the Dugout, that we can not only fight, but that we can work too, and when attention is being given to the returned soldier problem we want this proof to receive consideration. The man in khaki is not an irresponsible individual fit for nothing but fighting or army life, but a man who can take his part in the business life of the community, and prove his merit while he is alongside any other man. He will make his opportunities in the world, but a leg up for the men who have spent three or four years in the army when they might have been building themselves up in business or advancing along the lines they were working, is only a fair thing to ask. Don't make them suffer for the three or four years they spent fighting when they might be forging ahead in the world."

"There is a lot of talk about granting land and a loan to work it for the returned man and the men to come back," he said to a Times reporter, "but without discussing the merits of that scheme, why not give the same consideration to the men who have never farmed, known nothing about it and have no inclination to farm? There are office men, salesmen, tradesmen and professional men entitled to consideration and why should they not be given the same opportunity as the farmer? They have lost a lot and will come back with their rivals along their various lines of business all a year or two ahead of them."

The Blue Shoulder Strap Men. Mr. Mackenzie made some interesting remarks on the work of the First Contingent men in the course of his championship of the cause of the men in khaki. No greater honor, he claimed, could have been paid to the first men to arrive from England than that of attaching them to the flying division composed of the British Guard regiments. They were moved from one end of the line to the other along with the Guards division where the fighting was heaviest. "Tradition," he said, "is everything in the army, and when the Canadians were placed with the Guards they meant to uphold the confidence placed in them, and did it. When the three brigades were inspected by General French he personally thanked them for saving the situation at the Second Battle of Ypres. "We were so under strength at that time," he added, "that we had to line up with two battalions as one to make the formation. There were times in 1915," he added, "when a frontage of 1,800 yards of trench we could only man 180 rifles where they should have had 1,100. In 'Plug Street' they held the front line for thirty days at a time, with four days in the second line, four days in billets and back again. It was 'cushy' times when the casualties only averaged seven a day and you can bet we were glad when the second contingent came over."

The Cheerful English. As one of the recent arrivals from England he added further to the reports received of the brave efforts of the women of the country in standing behind the men in the field. They were not only in khaki in France but were doing work in England which no Canadian, thousands of miles from the war zone, would ever think of asking a woman to do. He had seen them doing heavy work which before the war no woman would attempt and had even seen them scraping the bottoms of ships. Old men, long past working age, were also helping and they all smiled bravely about it and remarked "Well, the boys are busy fighting."

The Mercantile Marine. One branch to which he was anxious to give credit for their work in the war was the mercantile marine. He had seen men, he declared, who had been torpedoed for the fourth time looking around for a ship the next morning without hesitation and accepting it all as part of the game. To take the gunner of one of a torpedoed boat on a U boat and only release him after they had branded a "U" on his forehead and maltreated him or crippled him for life was a practice of the Hun he declared which the people had not been generally informed of but which he ascertained to be a fact.

SHOULD BE PREPARED FOR RE-CONSTRUCTION

Sir John Willison Urges Greater Attention to Industrial Rehabilitation

"In Great Britain manufacturers are creating a gigantic corporation which will have an annual income of $1,000,000 for the development of export trade," says Sir John Willison, President of the Canadian Reconstruction Association, who was recently on the Coast in connection with propaganda for its objects in an article in The Financial Post. "It will have agents and offices in the great cities of the world and will extend financial facilities to members. A federation of British industries, representing over $12,000,000 of capital, and likely to represent two or three times that amount, has been created to stimulate exports. The British Empire Producers' Organization proposes the establishment of an Imperial Bank of Industry with a capital of $200,000,000 with the object of furthering production and industrial development throughout the British Empire. A British trade corporation has been established under Royal Charter with a capital of $5,000,000 to assist in development of British goods and industries. Amazing bank amalgamations have placed the United Kingdom in a remarkable financial position to meet the trade struggles which will follow the war. The British Empire Producers' Organization is organized under the Whitley plan of industrial councils with a measure of co-operation between employers and employees which gives promise of more efficient industrial machinery and largely increased production.

"In the United States a Commission of Reconstruction is now proposed with an appropriation of half a million dollars to meet initial expenses. Among the questions suggested for consideration are: expansion of foreign trade, development of the merchant marine, readjustment of war industries to a normal production, conservation and development of national resources and supply and distribution of raw materials. A war finance corporation has been established by Congress with a capital of $500,000,000, with power to issue bonds up to six times that amount. It is to provide for the financing of enterprises necessary or contributory to the prosecution of the war. At its annual convention in Chicago, the American Bankers' Association decided to support by every means in its power the development of export trade, to encourage manufacturers to enter upon this field of distribution, and to provide as rapidly as possible adequate facilities for financing export operations that maintain the great merchant marine may be profitably continued after the war. In the great steel industries, the Standard Oil plants in New Jersey and in the packing industries there are significant indications of a progressive change in the relations between employers and workers.

Marketing Raw Materials. "There are vital lessons in all this for Canada. It is essential that there should be organization and co-operation between financial industries and business interests in the Dominion if we are to secure a fairer measure of the world's trade, but in the many problems of the reconstruction period there is danger that sight may be lost of the necessity for wise and adequate preparations for the production of raw materials. First stages of manufacture should be carried to final processes in the Dominion. It has been said that:

"In an average dollar's worth of Canadian produce sold abroad there was, before the munition trade sprang up, probably 80 cents worth of raw material and 20 cents worth of labor, skill and know-how. Now, when the American produce there is probably 10 cents worth of raw material and 90 cents worth of the others, Canada sells rough stone for grindstones at $5 a ton and buys back foreign-made grindstones at $10 a ton, sells wheat at 12 cents a bushel when she could get 25 cents a bushel for it as wheat flour, sells a carload of pulpwood for a six gross carton of American tooth paste, sells a trainload of nickel matte for Sudbury for two cars of medium priced automobiles."

Ships the Finished Goods. "Surely our raw materials can be turned into finished products on a much greater scale than at present, thus giving employment to thousands of workers and materially strengthening our industrial position! Great Britain is making a remarkable effort to establish and maintain basic industries in the United Kingdom. Canada should be equally active in promoting domestic utilization of raw material to the fullest possible extent. We have pulp areas which give us a powerful position in the manufacture of paper.

We have extensive but not inexhaustible timber resources. The British Reconstruction Committee advises an expenditure of $75,000,000 spread over forty years to improve forests and plant new ones. It is essential to our pulp industry, lumbering and associated industries that there should be a comprehensive and adequate reforestation policy for the Dominion. What is more natural than that the Canadian West should be the chief seat of the milling industry on this continent? British Columbia has timber and minerals which are the natural nuclei of great domestic enterprises. Who can estimate the value to the West of the scientific utilization of the vast stores of fuel locked up in the lignites of the two provinces? If the experiment now being carried on by the Advisory Council of Scientific and Industrial Research to demonstrate the commercial feasibility of carbonizing and briquetting them on an industrial scale is successful the by-products which will result from manufacture on a large scale will provide the raw materials for other flourishing industries. From asbestos and other natural assets we get no adequate commercial or national results. We require a more scientific examination of all our natural resources. We should be guided more and more in industrial development by the results of such examinations.

A Constructive Constitution. "The Canadian Reconstruction Association is urging adequate preparations for the development of export trade. It is equally concerned for domestic industrial expansion. It believes that proper facilities should be
