EARLY LAND GRANT

In the year 1761 the Legislature of Massachusetts passed an act granting to Benjamin Milliken, Moody Bridges, and Thos. Perley, agents for the legal representatives of Capt. John Tyler, and 56 others,—soldiers and officers in the Canada Expedition of 1690, a township of land east of Saco River. They proceeded to lay out a tract adjoining the town of Pickwocket, now Fryeburg, nine miles in length by six and a half miles in width, lying on both sides of Long Pond, and containing 37,440 acres. Their selection was confirmed by the Legislature, June 25, 1765, with the provision that a sixty-fourth part should be set apart for each, the first settled minister, for the support of the ministry, and for Harvard College, and that they settle 30 families, build a house of worship, and settle a learned Protestant preacher within six years. During the next year that part west of Long Pond was surveyed in lots, half a mile long and one hundred rods wide, under the direction of Moody Bridges, Richard Peabody and Col. Thomas Poor. The town was then allotted in 86 equal shares among the 61 proprietors, one each for the ministry, for the minister, for the support of schools, for Harvard College, for the first settler in the township, and the remaining 20, lying east of Long Pond, and now in Harrison, they held undivided.

To encourage settlement they offered 100 acres of this land to each settler who should clear 12 acres of land, erect a house, and settle a family thereon before 1771. In 1767 a road was opened, sufficiently wide for passage on horseback, from Long Pond to Pearsontown Fort, at Standish Corner, and the name of Pondicherry, by which it had been known, was exchanged for that of Bridgton, in honor of Moody Bridges, proprietor's clerk, and a leading spirit in the enterprise.

EARLY SETTLEMENT

The first settler was Capt. Benjamin Kimball, a sailor, who came from Ipswich, Mass., in the spring of 1768, under an agreement with the proprietors to settle in the township by the 10th of June, and build a convenient house for the entertainment of travelers by the 10th of September, to keep a store of goods, and also to build a sailboat of two tons' burden, with which he should hold himself in readiness to carry passengers and goods between the "carrying place" in Pearsonstown and the head of Long Pond for a term of six years. For this service one "right" of land, comprising about 435 acres, was conveyed to him by the first deed drawn by the proprietors, and bearing date: "The sixth day of April, in the eighth year of the reign of Sovereign Lord, George the Third", etc., 1768; and two shillings sixpence a trip for his boat, six shillings a day for himself and five for an assistant. His assistant was Stephen Gates, from Andover, Mass., who afterwards settled on lot 6, range 7.

Mr. Kimball kept an inn and small store of the most needed goods at the head of Long Pond, ran his boat and traded with the Indians until disabled by paralysis, from which he died in 1802.

Timothy Gates, brother to Stephen, came at the same time, living a roving life in the woods until the outbreak of the war, when he enlisted. He was afterwards known as Sergeant Gates.

Jacob Stevens came from Andover with his sons during the summer and built a saw-mill and grist-mill at the outlet of Crotched Pond, receiving from the proprietors five acres of land along that stream, one "right" of land, and lot No. 8 in range 4, with the sole privilege of the stream so long as he should keep the mills in repair. From these mills, which were near the mouth of the stream, it took its name of Stevens' Brook. Mr. Stevens and his boys kept house for themselves, his wife remaining in Andover with her aged mother. In 1777 his daughter Elizabeth, who was but four years old when he left home, came to Bridgton to be their housekeeper.

In 1769, David Kneeland, from Topsfield, Mass., settled on the upper ridge, and planted the first orchard. He was followed, in 1770, by David Clark, who commenced clearing in the northeast corner of the town, near Mr. Kneeland. He left his farm to enter the army in 1776, returning at the end of the war. In 1772, the time for awarding the merited lots was extended to August, 1773, and the amount of cleared land fixed at 6 instead of 12 acres. Enoch and Noah Stiles, stimulated by the brilliant offer made them at their homes in Andover, the headquarters of the proprietors, proceeded at once to Bridgton, where they made permanent settlements, but failed to secure the reward, owing to the heavy growth of timber and the extreme hardships of pioneer life.

In 1772, Asael Foster, father of Asael, Francis, Amos P. and Moody Foster, came from Danvers, and built the first frame house in Bridgton, at what is now Sand Creek Post Office, and William Emerson, from Methuen, settled on the east side of Wood's Pond, near the outlet. They both proved able pioneers, and received "merited" lots of land of 100 acres each.

Mrs. Foster was the first married woman settled in town, Mr. Kimball's housekeeper being his daughter. Her son, Moses Hale, Jr., born June 8, 1772, was the first white child born in the town, and, after some years' delay, received the 100 acres promised.

Reuben Burnham, from Bolton, Mass., the first deacon of the Congregational Church, settled near the center of the town in 1774. He was killed by a falling tree eleven years after. He was the father of Timothy Burnham. The next year, James Flint, of Reading, Mass., and Simeon Burnham, father of Nathaniel and Simeon Burnham, located on the west side of Crotched Pond; and Stephen Johnson settled on the lowlands on the east side of Wood's Pond.

In 1776, Enoch Perley, a young man of twenty-seven, son of Thomas Perley, one of the proprietors, came to Bridgton, and with that business sagacity still inherited by his descendants, saw the untold value in the dense pine forests which covered the land, valueless in itself from the immense wealth with which it was encumbered. To the rare sagacity he possessed, was joined an indifference for hardship and danger equal to that of his uncle, Gen. Israel Putnam. Making his camp alone in the woods, he ranged the forests for deer and bears, read, wrote poetry, and drew charts upon birch-bark; or from the top of Mount Prospect, near his cabin, viewed the surrounding country through his glass, finding time meanwhile to complete a house for the reception of his prospective bride. Such was his energy and skill in business affairs that, in 1777, the proprietors removed their headquarters from Massachusetts to Bridgton, and made him proprietor's clerk, placing all the records in his keeping. He held this important trust until the property having all been disposed of, the corporation ceased to exist.

Mr. Perley abandoned his first house for a better one, in which the records of the company were burned on the night of Oct. 2, 1780, together with many interesting private records of early settlement gathered by Mr. Perley. The old house is still standing though moved from its original site.

In 1779, Theodore Emerson, from Methuen, Isaiah Ingalls, from Andover, (a surveyor), and David Hale, from Templeton, Mass., were added to the colony. At the expiration of the Revolutionary War Robert Andrews located in the south part of the town, near Adam's Pond, living alone.

He became a leading citizen, and at his death left $1000 as a fund for the relief of the industrious poor. Daniel Perley, from Boxford, and John Peabody, from Andover, came in 1780; and, in 1781, Nathaniel, brother of David Hale, and Phineas Ingalls, of Andover. In June, 1782, the merited lots of 100 acres each were awarded to David Kneeland, Wm. Emerson, Asael Foster, Richard Peabody, Stephen Gates, James Flint, David Clark, and Timothy Gates, and to Benjamin Kimball and Jacob Stevens two lots each. Moody Bridges and Stephen Kimball afterwards received one lot each.

These lands are now southeastern Harrison. Fifty acres of land and a house and shop ready built were given to Jesse Knapp, as an inducement to open a blacksmith shop. This was half a mile south of Bridgton village.

In 1781 a joint committee of the surrounding towns removed the most prominent obstructions from the Songo "Ripplings" under the management of Capt. Kimball. A public saw-mill was built at the outlet of Wood's Pond, but in 1785, when nearly completed, was carried away by high water. It was rebuilt in 1786, and the next year sold at public auction, "payable in any kind of produce," the buyer binding himself to receive the same kind of pay for sawing.

Fear of Indians prevented rapid settlement, and sometimes sent families in alarm to Standish. After the close of the war, settlement advanced more rapidly, so that by 1787 the town contained 39 families. Besides those mentioned, this number included Noah Beeman, John Davenport, Moses How, Jesse Knapp, Nathaniel Hale, Samuel, Asa and Richard Kimball, George Mead, John Porter, Thomas Symonds, Ephraim Jewett and William, Nathaniel and Abraham Burnham.

BRIDGTON VILLAGE

In 1789, William Sears, of Beverly, Mass., purchased the two lots on Stevens' Brook, comprising the older part of the village of Bridgton, and erected a grist-mill below the saw-mill at the outlet of Crotched Pond. He also erected the first tavern in the village, on the corner opposite the Bridgton House. A meeting-house was commenced in 1790, and finished in 1798. Ten acres of land were laid out for a burying-ground and training-field in 1792. A militia company was formed the same year, with Isaiah Ingalls, captain; Robert Andrews, lieutenant; and John Kilborn, ensign. This ground was for many years the scene of patriotic training days, and brilliant with the red and blue uniforms and the white cockades of the "Light Infantry" of Bridgton, who were paid 20 cents each in cash, and took the balance of their pay in a hearty enjoyment of the occasion.

A post office was opened in 1800. By 1811

the place had increased to a dozen dwellings

Mr. Merrill kept a stock of goods in one room, and another store was located in one corner of the Sears tavern, afterwards the Pondicherry House, and Mr. Fairbrother was making his famous pumps. The girls of the neighborhood spun and wove for fifty cents a week, the carding and finishing establishment of Rufus Chase near the tannery bridge, or Artemus Brigham just below the grist-mill, preparing the wool for their use.

Sixty years later we find a party of travelers from Plymouth, N. H., (Prof. King's party), alighting from a balloon at the door of the veritable old hotel, in the midst of the most busy and populous village in Northern Cumberland County. At that time the one hundred and forty-three feet of waterfall in the stream passing through at the foot of the hill, supplied the motive power for 13 mills and factories.

In 1879 this number had increased to 23, and a population of 1400, supporting a union high school, newspaper, bank and telegraph-office, and the village had acquired a creditable repute as a manufacturing centre.

INCORPORATION

Bridgton was incorporated as a town Feb. 7, 1794. The first town meeting was held on the 18th of March of the same year. Enoch Perley was chosen moderator; Isaiah Ingalls, town clerk; Phineas Ingalls, treasurer; Robert Andrews, James Flint and Joseph Sears, selectmen; Samuel Farnsworth, Enoch Perley and Joseph Sears, school committee; Samuel Kimball, Ephraim Jewett and David Hale, field drivers; James Flint, Samuel Farnsworth and David Hale, tythingmen; William Oliver and Timothy Gates, deer-reeves; and Reuben Ingalls, Samuel Davis and Asael Foster, hog-reeves. For that year the town raised the sum of £100 for the repair of highways; £30 to defray town charges, and £18 for the support of schools. There were 41 votes cast at this election.

That portion to the east of Long Pond, formerly comprising part of Bridgton, and containing about 8,500 acres, was joined to Harrison in 1805; in 1834 2,500 acres, and in 1856 10 acres of the southeastern part were joined to Naples. A portion of Fryeburg north of the north line, and a part of Denmark, west of the west line then bounding this town, the whole amounting to 3700 acres, were added to the northwest in 1847. This territory is known as "Texas" the name being borrowed from the state newly annexed to the Union. The present area of the town is about 30,000 acres.

The population of this town in 1790 was 329; in 1800, 646; in 1810, 882; in 1820, 1166; in 1830, 1451; in 1840, 1987; in 1850, 2710; in 1860, 2556; in 1870, 2685; in 1880, 2863; in 1890, 2605; and in 1900, 2868. These figures show a gradual increase of population up to 1860, since which time it has varied slightly, but with little material advance or decline. The returns from the last census are the highest ever given, the figures showing five more than those of 1880.

The valuation of real estate in this town during the last half century has shown a remarkable and steady increase; the figures given for 1860 show the estates valued at $697,148; for 1870, $855,197, 1880, $1,102,613; 1890, $1,246,368; and for 1900, $1,345,986.

From the completion of the first church, in 1798, it served the joint purpose of church and town house, until the erection of the new church by the First Parish in 1834, when it was abandoned to the sole use of the town authorities. In March, 1851, Moses Gould, John Kilborn, Luke Brown, Horace Billings, William T. Kilborn, Rensselaer Cram, and John P. Perley were chosen a committee to build the present town house, which was erected on the hill overlooking the lake and village: and was dedicated by a grand mass-meeting of the citizens of Bridgton, held Jan. 8, 1852. Hon. Nathaniel S. Littlefield was made president of the meeting, and an address was delivered by Hon. Marshall Cram, of Bridgton. This building was thoroughly remodeled in 1903, and an addition of 30 feet was made. It is now fitted with a fire-proof vault, is lighted by electricity, and is provided with nice offices.

MILITARY MATTERS

The military history of the town of Bridgton is a source of just pride. If one thing more than another is to be revered and commemorated, impressed upon the mind of the rising generation, that thing is the record of names and deeds of men who faced the dangers of the battlefield for the welfare and safety of their country. Time rolls on and we are apt to forget the value of the service rendered by the soldier in war. Each succeeding generation is more forgetful than its predecessor, unless it is taught to revere and love the memory of the deeds of the soldier. It should be in the heart of each father and each mother to instill into the minds of the youth the significance of the inscription, "Killed at Gettysburg", "Wounded before Vicksburg", or "Died in Libby Prison". No one should lose the opportunity to impress upon the generation to which he belongs, and upon the one which follows, the responsibility which rests upon each man, or the gratitude we owe the memory of these noble patriots.

The military history of this town begins almost with the settlement of the town, for the early pioneers found it necessary to be ever alert for the approach of the hostile Indian. In a few instances the fear of the natives caused the settlers to flee to Standish, the nearest fortified place, but the settlement never suffered any serious assault from this dreaded foe.

Many of the men who took up grants of land in town, either prior to or following the Revolution, fought in the American Army during that trying but successful struggle. Of these men were the following:

Capt. John Kilborn, a minute-man of April 19, 1775, enlisted as corporal, 1776; was at the storming of Stony Point, Ticonderoga; promoted sergeant, Dec. 1, 1777; was captain in 1780; moved to Bridgton 1794; died Sept. 8, 1842.

Capt. Phineas Ingalls, a native of Andover, Mass., served throughout the war; died at Bridgton, January, 1844, aged 86.

Lieut. John Hayward was in the Acton, Mass., Militia, under Capt. Isaac Davis, at Concord, April 19, 1775; took command of the company on the fall of Capt. Davis, and was the first to cross North Bridge, under a heavy fire from the 10th Regulars. He participated in the battles of Bunker Hill, White Plains, Trenton, and Monmouth; removed to Bridgton at the end of the war, and lived with his son until his death, Feb. 13, 1825, aged 84.

Lieut. Robert Andrews, a native of Boxford, Mass., fought in the battles of Bunker and Breed's Hill; died at Bridgton, 1845, aged 92.

Joseph Kimball served through the war under Washington; Ephraim Davenport served in the Northwest expedition; Asa Parker was under arms at the surrender of Burgoyne; Nathan Hale, and Isaac Ingalls also bore arms during the war.

Jacob Hazen enlisted 1776, served three years; kept hotel at North Bridgton previous to 1800. Stephen Gates, sergeant, came to Bridgton from Andover, Mass., in 1768; served through the war, went to Ohio in 1790. David Clark entered the Continental Army in 1776; served through the war; returned to Bridgton, where he died in 1831.

INDUSTRIAL ACCOUNT

The earliest account of any industry of a mechanical nature in Bridgton is that of the saw mill built by Jacob Stevens, according to contract made with the proprietors in 1768. Mr. Stevens was to have the mill ready for operation the following October, to keep it in repair for a term of fifteen years, and to saw lumber at the halves; also to build a corn mill and to keep that in repair for twenty years, to give suitable attendance, and to require no more than lawful tole. In consideration of this he was to receive from the proprietors one right and one lot of land, a tax of $3 upon each valuable right in the township—amounting to $243—also five acres of land on the stream running from Crotched Pond to Long Pond. What was probably the second saw mill in town was established in 1789 by William Sears. Soon a large lumbering industry was in operation, and several new mills sprung up on Bridgton's many water privileges. As the amount of timber in the locality became decreased this important industry has, in a measure, given way to a variety of manufacturing industries, and to the business of entertaining a large number of pleasure seekers, who find rest and vigor in this most delightful and healthful locality. Some of the finest and best kept hotels in the state are located in Bridgton, and the large number in operation during the summer season are sufficient to accommodate many hundreds of guests.

Bridgton is also an agricultural town. Its populace has ever depended upon the fertile fields, their large herds, and the abundance of fruit, all of which have contributed very largely to the wealth of the town.

PRESENT DAY MANUFACTORIES

Pondicherry Woolen Co.—A six-set mill built in 1866 by R. H. & Frederick Storer of Portland and Alvin Davis and F. J. Littlefield of Bridgton, for the manufacture of woolen goods, and employing 50 operatives, was the beginning of this industry, which is today one of the most extensive manufacturing plants in this part of the state. The Pondicherry Company was organized in 1873 with Rufus Gibbs, president; O. B. Gibbs, treasurer; Wm. Iredale, superintendent. The company now operates two mills, the little mill situated on upper Main street and the big mill at the lower end of the village on lower Main street. The company employs 225, operates about 60 looms, and puts out about 18,000 yards of finished cloth weekly. The monthly pay roll is approximately $7,000. These mills were improved and enlarged some six years ago, and are now operated by both steam and water power. Shipments are made mostly through New York. The present officers are; S. M. Milliken, New York, president; Horatio Clark, Portland, treasurer; G. W. Overend, Bridgton, superintendent.

The Bridgton Marble Works were established by Hunt and Jewett, in 1849. In 1866, Howard & Steadman succeeded to the business and operated it twenty years when, in 1886, they sold to Jessie F. Frisbie, the present operator. The works are located on Gage street. They manufacture and sell both foreign and domestic marble and granite for cemetery work.

Jesse Murphy's Sash, Door and Blind Factory was established by I. S. Hopkins in 1859. This was run by Perley & Stiles, and later by Simpson & Dickens. Mr. Murphy began business at the present stand in 1879. This is in a building built by Rufus Gibbs some sixty or seventy years ago. Mouldings and finishings are also made, the entire plant manufacturing between fifteen and twenty-five thousand feet of lumber annually.

The Canning Business was established and built up by J. Winslow Jones. He began in 1865 when the plant was located on Main street. The Winslow Packing Co. succeeded Mr. Jones, and under their direction the factory was removed to Depot street. This next came into the possession of the Bridgton Canning Co., then was owned by A. H. Burnham, from whose heirs it was purchased in 1902 by Burnham & Morrill, of Portland. An annual business of $350,000 is done, employing during the busy season about 100 hands. Geo. Burnham, Pres.; Fred K. Dodge, Mgr.

Hall & Hamblen's grist mill was built by Stevens & Edwards, about 1882. Mr. Edwards sold to Stevens and for a time Mr. Stevens operated the business alone. About 1889 he sold to Webb & Dresser; in 1893 Mr. Webb sold his interest to H. A. Hall; and in 1899 Mr. Dresser sold his interest to G. R. Hamblen. The mill is located near the depot.

W. W. Walker built his present mill and began business in 1895. This is located on Depot street, and manufactures doors, sash moulding, interior and exterior finish, flooring and sheathing. He also has a shop on Mill street.

The Forest Mills Co. was established in 1861 by Taylor & Perry. This business was incorporated in 1879 under the present firm name. One hundred and thirty hands are employed in the manufacture of chevots, cloakings and fancy cashmeres. This company has an annual output of $250,000. William T. Perry is president, Horatio Clark, Portland, treasurer.

J. L. Halkett built his shop on Flint street, and began business about seven years ago. This is devoted to the manufacturing dies and machinery for can making. The product is shipped throughout the U. S. and Canada.

The Highland Creamery, located on Highland Ave., was built during the fall and winter of 1898, and is owned and run by the Portland Creamery Co., of Portland. This plant puts out a daily average of 150 gallons of heavy cream, besides manufacturing large quantities of butter. Byron E. Harnden is manager, assisted by Geo. F. Brooks.

J. B. Corser, on Main St., is doing some business in carriage and sleigh making and repairing. A. B. Pratt, in the same building, also gives some attention to carriage making, aside from his wood working business.

The Present Tannery was built about ten years ago by a stock company, composed of local business men. Pemberton Bros. operated the business for four years, then C. M. Phillips Co. for two years, at the end of which time the present company, A. B. Clark Co., of Peabody, Mass., took charge. They manufacture sheep and kid leather. Shipments are made through Boston, and other markets. From 30 to 50 men are employed during the busy season. In previous years two other tanneries have been located on the same site. The first established by Rufus Gibbs in 1836, was burned in 1854; the following year this was rebuilt, and was operated by Horace Billings at one time. The present works are managed by W. H. Pike.

The Bridgton Lumber Co. was organized in Oct. 1899; composed of the Forest Mills Co., and G. N. & F. H. Burnham. This company manufactures about a million feet of lumber yearly, besides a large amount of spool stock. Two mills are operated, one for long and short lumber, the other for boxes and house finish. Fifteen men are employed. F. H. Burnham is treasurer and manager.

Bridgton Machine Co., iron founders, machinists, and general mill work, was organized in July, 1887, and is composed of the Forest Mills Co., and G. N. & F. H. Burnham. This plant is managed by G. N. Burnham. The product consists of water wheels, shingle machines, shafting, pulleys and hangers. An average of six men are employed.

There are also several manufacturing plants in Bridgton, located outside the village. These include Edward Bennett's Lumber Mill, and J. O. & G. F. Knapp's Box Manufactory at the south village; Seth E. Berry's and Abner Allen's Lumber Mills, and Allen & Sykes Grist Mill, at Sandy Creek; and H. F. Proctor & Son's Saw Mill, and C. R. Thomas' Wood Working Plant at North Bridgton.

CHURCH AFFAIRS

The settlers employed a preacher generally from three to five or six months a year, previous to 1784.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

On the 26th of August, that year, the church was organized by Rev. William Johnson. There were six members, all males; eleven others were immediately added, making a membership of ten males and seven females. In 1788, Rev. Nathan Church, a Dartmouth College graduate, was called to the church by both the proprietors and the organization. Mr. Church was supported by the proprietors until the town was incorporated in 1794, when the inhabitants voted to receive him as their minister.

The first meeting-house was built upon the ministerial lot opposite the present cemetery, and was first occupied in October, 1791. It was not completed until it came into the hands of the town in 1797, after which time it served the two-fold purpose of a church and a town house.

In 1827, Rev. Mr. Church retired from his pulpit ministrations on account of age and infirmity, and was succeeded the same year by Rev. Daniel Newell, who remained until 1830. Rev. Caleb F. Page was installed pastor in October, 1833, remaining until March 26, 1850. In 1834, the old meeting house was given up to the use of the town, and the second house of worship was erected. In this new building was hung the new bell, the gift of Richard Davis. On January 26, 1871, the present church which had been constructed on the site of its predecessors, was dedicated by Rev. E. P. Wilson, then pastor. Aug. 26, 1884, the 100th anniversary of the church was celebrated. In the fall of 1903, the church was thoroughly repaired and renovated at a cost of about $4,500. Five elegant memorial windows have been put in the past year.

The following is a list of the men who have served the church in the capacity of pastor since Rev. Mr. Page, with the dates of their installation and dismissal: Revs. Josiah T. Hawes, 1851-1865;

Franklin E. Fellows, 1866-1868; E. P. Wilson supplied from September, 1869, until ordained, Jan. 26, 1871, serving until July, 1872; John T. Rea, 1873-1876; Henry B. Carpenter, 1876-78; Osgood W. Rogers, now of Oklahoma, November, 1878-83; during his pastorate nearly forty members were received; T. M. Davies, 1883-86; Benj. M. Wright, 1886-87; Charles Harbutt, 1888-1893; during this pastorate over fifty were received into membership; Gainer P. Moore, 1893-94; Geo. M. Woodwell, 1894-Sept., 1900; John B. Saer, the present incumbent, became pastor April, 1901. Since this time 21 members have been added. The present membership, Dec. 1, 1904, consists of 26 males and 89 females. There is quite a flourishing Christian Endeavor Society connected.

BAPTISTS

Attempts were made by the Baptists to be separated from the established church in 1794, but were unsuccessful. Their church was not established until 1807, when Rev. Ebenezer Bray organized a church. The name adopted was "The Harrison and Bridgton Particular Baptist Church." From 1807 to 1812, its membership increased to 30. The church was released from supporting the old church in 1812, and a revival added largely to their numbers, enabling them to erect a house of worship in 1815. In 1832, it was rebuilt and greatly enlarged, and a bell added. In 1827, the Harrison church established separately, and in 1833, another church in Sweden, both by members of this church. In 1838-39, a large number left the parent church to organize on a more liberal basis as Free Baptists. The old members clung to the belief of their fathers, and were enabled to build a new meeting house in 1853, but receiving but little support from the younger people, this society gradually faded into the past and is now but a memory.

SOUTH BRIDGTON PARISH—CONGREGATIONAL

In the year 1825, the citizens of South Bridgton united in building a meeting house which should be free for the use of all ministers in good standing. This stood opposite the new church, and was dedicated Nov. 15, 1826. The church was formed Dec. 30, 1829, by ten members.

A donation of $1,000 each by Enoch Perley and Lieut. Robert Andrews had been previously made to the Bridgton Church to revert to South Bridgton Parish on the settlement of a minister. Thomas Perley of Boxford, Mass., presented $645, and Enoch Perley paid a sufficient sum to make, with the amount bequeathed in his will, a fund of $5,000 for the support of the ministry in this parish.

Rev. J. Fessenden was pastor from 1830 to his death in 1861. He sleeps in the Lakeside Cemetery, surrounded by his followers. Rev. S. G. Narcross remained one year. Rev. B. F. Manwell was installed in 1862; dismissed 1868. The succeeding pastors have been: Rev. Addison Blanchard, 1868-1872; J. W. Brownville, 1873-1877; Holland G. Fry, 1877-1879.

A Gothic building of excellent design was erected by S. F. Perley, John P. Perley, Darwin Ingalls, Edwin Fessenden, and A. J. Murch, committee, at an expense of $10,000, and dedicated July 14, 1871. We have been unable to obtain a complete account of this church to the present time.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The Congregational Church, North Bridgton, was formed Nov. 15, 1832. The original members were thirteen, most of whom took letters of dismission from the First Congregational Church, Bridgton. Rev. Charles Soule was installed first pastor in January, 1833. Meeting house was erected in 1834. The pastors have been Rev. Charles Soule, a graduate of Bowdoin, '21; served from Nov. 15, 1832, to Dec. 31, 1834. Mr. Soule was followed by Rev. Owen Burnham, who began work January, 1835, and died in office at North Bridgton, June 2, 1836, aged 40. Next came Rev. Joseph Searle, who served this church jointly with Harrison from July, 1837, to July, 1841. Rev. Leonard W. Harris preached from September, 1842, to August, 1852, being ordained pastor Nov. 1, 1842. Rev. Horace Wellington, from May, 1853, to October, 1854. Rev. John Dodd came next, serving this Church jointly with the Congregational Church at Harrison, from Jan. 1855 to September 1858. The next joint pastor of the Churches named, was Rev. Edward S. Palmer, from January, 1859, to January, 1861. Rev. Leonard W. Harris returned April, 1861, and continued till Sept. 1866. Rev. Ernest F. Borchers, a native of Berlin, Prussia, followed Mr. Harris, from April 1, 1868 to Oct. 1871. Next came Rev. Nehemiah Lincoln, Oct. 1871, to Nov. 26, 1887. Mr. Lincoln's pastorate was the longest in the history of the church. Rev. Henry A. Freeman served four years, till May 13, 1892, and was succeeded by Rev. Arthur G. Fitz, who began work Oct. 2, 1892, and died in office Mar. 3, 1902. The present pastor is Rev. Fred E. Winn, who began his term April 1, 1903. The church has had the following deacons: Stephen Beeman, Aaron Beeman Jr, Asa Gould, Luke Brown, Edwin A. Cobb, Charles H. Gould and Frank O. Chadbourne; the two last named now filling the office. Since its formation the church has had but three clerks: Dr. Moses Gould, Oliver Barnard, and the present incumbent, Dea. Frank O. Chadbourne. The present membership is 70, of whom 12 are non-residents. The church building, erected in 1834, was in 1896, remodeled and thoroughly repaired, at a cost of some $2,400.

FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH

The records of this church previous to 1848 were destroyed by fire. The first church was erected on the present site at Sandy Creek, in 1834. Rev. Gideon Perkins was the pastor. Revs. Joseph Phinney and Darling Huntress were also pastors previous to 1836. After this date, Revs. Hubbard Chandler, John Pike, N. W. Plummer, John Pinkham, E. C. Willey, Hubbard Chandler, David Libby, Royal McDonald, licentiate; John Pike, E. G. Eaton, John Pinkham, Gideon Perkins, John Pinkham, Joseph Hutchinson, Charles W. Foster.

The church was rebuilt by the Ladies Industrial Society in 1877, and rededicated the same year.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

Of the old Universalist Church of Bridgton there is but little record left save the memory of the old meeting house erected in 1839. The settled pastors who taught there were Rev. James A. Bartlett, Rev. Zenas Thompson, Rev. Edwin T. Quimby, Rev. Reuben M. Byron, and Rev. Costello Weston.

The church was reorganized under the labors of Rev. L. F. McKenney, and, Sept. 1, 1870, their new church was dedicated. On the 22nd, Rev. Mr. McKenney, now of Brooklyn, N. Y., was ordained and installed as pastor. This church was then entering upon a period of great activity. In 1873, Rev. O. A. Rounds succeeded to the pastorate, remaining until 1877. The present pastorate under the Rev. Hannah J. Powell began the first of November, 1903. The society now finds itself on a more solid basis than for some years previous. It is small, but harmonious, its various activities are well organized, and it is set to the pace of a steady advance.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A class was started by Rev. Geo. D. Strout in 1834, but no regular preaching was had for several years after this time.

The first church was built by the society in 1852. During the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Cobb, in 1869, a second building was erected on land purchased by the Ladies Sewing Circle; the money for the building being advanced by W. H. Larrabee.

List of pastors since 1840:— Many years the pulpit was supplied by men not given in the following list. J. Simpson and O. Huse, in 1840; C. Andrews, 1852; S. W. Russell, 1855; each for one year only, then, beginning 1856, Revs. A. B. Lovewell, S. P. Blake, C. Hatch, G. F. Cobb, F. O. Ayer, A. B. Lovewell, G. W. Ballou, G. F. Cobb (1866-68); M. B. H. Roberts, D. B. Holt, C. C. Whidden, Wm. Wood, who came in 1903.

The parsonage was bought during Mr. Merrill's pastorate. Extensive repairs, costing $3,000, have been made on the church, since the arrival of the present pastor, also a fine pipe organ has been given by the Beacon sisters. The present valuation, $11,800. Present membership, including probationers, 201. An Epworth League of 40 members, a Junior League of 25, and an Intermediate League of 20 members are connected with the church. The Sunday School numbers about 150.

ADVENTIST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Late in the year 1869, Elders I. G. Wellecome, E. M. Haggert and J. A. Libby come to Bridgton and began to preach the distinctive doctrines of this church.

In 1876, Elder J. A. Sibly returned accompanied by Elder W. H. Mitchell, and held meetings in Central Hall. Again in December, 1879, Elder Libby returned with Elder Jared Whitman, and several conversions and baptisms resulted.

A mid-week prayer meeting was established in Bennett's hall and a Sunday School organized.

In 1885, it was decided to organize a church and erect a suitable place for public worship. On April 29, of the same year, Elder Whitman organized the First Second Adventist Christian Church of Bridgton, with twenty-four charter members.

A lot was at once purchased and on July 29, they held a public service in their own church.

In the following August, regular preaching was resumed. In 1885, the building was complete, and on Sunday, Nov. 22, was formally dedicated.

In April, 1887, a call was given Dr. A. W. Taylor to take pastoral charge of the church. Following is a list of pastors with their terms of service:

Dr. A. W. Taylor, 1887-89; J. Denton, 1890-91; J. Jefferey, 1894-95; H. H. Tucker, 1895-97; F. N. Johnson, 1898-1900; C. W. Shattuck, 1900-'02; J. A. Nichols, January, 1902.

In the year 1901, during the pastorate of Elder C. W. Shattuck, the church erected a parsonage on Green street near to the church.

The membership and following of this church, under the labors of its founders and its pastors, have grown to considerable proportions.

SCHOOL ITEMS

At the time of its organization the town comprised four school districts, known as the "North-erly, Westerly, and Middle districts, and the South-erly" district, where 27 Ingalls children attended the same school. Eighteen pounds was voted for teachers' wages. Daniel Bridgman, Simeon Burnham, Abner Dodge, and Robert Andrews were made each a committee to build a schoolhouse in his respective district. The Academy was incorporated in 1808. The town was reorganized, forming eleven districts in 1821, under an appropriation of $300, new school houses built, and in 1827, the Academy moved from the Masonic Hall to North Bridgton. By 1852, the number of scholars had increased to 1150, residing in 21 districts, maintained at an expense of $1709, $1500 of which was raised by the town. Various private schools were sustained previous to the opening of the high school in 1873.

In the year 1903, there were 823 scholars in the town of Bridgton, being an increase of 71 over the census taken the preceding year. The largest registration during the school year was during the fall term when 512 were enrolled; of these pupils 347 were in the village schools, and 165 in the rural schools; thus 68 per cent. of the school attendance is at the village schools. 251 of these attended the schools in the building standing on the high school lot, 190 of which were in the high school building. There are 14 school buildings in town. Twenty teachers are employed; 36 weeks of school held at the high school, and 33 at all other schools.

A special teacher is now employed to teach art and music in all the town schools. Most of the teachers employed are graduates of Normal schools, and show a thorough preparation by the excellent work done. The school buildings are all in good repair, and the schools well supplied with modern text books. In 1903, $7600 was expended for supporting the seventeen public schools, of which number five are rural, and twelve village schools.

BRIDGTON HIGH SCHOOL

The high school building, located near the center of the town, was erected in 1872 at an expense of $12,000. It was dedicated Jan. 25, 1873. The first term was opened in December, 1872, with A. G. Bradstreet, principal, assisted by Miss Josie E. Gerry. On the opening of the spring term of 1873, A. F. Richardson, A. M., of Bowdoin College, became principal and retained the position for several years. In July of the same year the school was graded and courses laid out, but the standard first adopted has been gradually advanced keeping the school well abreast of the leading high schools of the state. It is a fitting school whose certificate admits the student to our Maine colleges without examination. The building has been remodeled, and an addition of two rooms made during the past five years, at an expense of $1260. It has a well equipped physical and chemical laboratory. Its average attendance during 1903 was 77. For four years previous to the spring of 1903 Chas. T. Stone was principal; he was then succeeded by George R. Gardiner, the present principal. The other teachers are Grace M. Wyman and Blance Brackell, assistants; Florence C. Wade, music; Dora L. Kirwin, elocution. C. E. Cobb is superintendent.

BRIDGTON ACADEMY

Probably Bridgton is best and most widely known because of its academy, which for nearly a century has been a leading educational factor in western Maine. Its location is in the beautiful village of North Bridgton, on the shore of Long Lake. Its act of incorporation by legislative enactment of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is dated March 6th, 1808. The first meeting of the Trustees was held at North Bridgton, Sept. 1st of that year, and Rev. Nathan Church was elected president. His successors have been: Hon. Nathaniel Howe, Rev. John A. Douglass of Waterford, Rev. Joseph P. Fessenden, Dr. Moses Gould, Hon. George Pierce of Harrison and Hon. Edward Flint Brown of New York City, the present incumbent. The success of Bridgton Academy in no small measure has been due to such principals as Samuel Blood, Hazaleel Cushman, Rev. Valentine Little, Jonas Burnham, Rev. Charles Soule, Rev. Thomas T. Stone, Rev. Jacob Chapman, Moses Soule, William M. Baker, Alfred Owen; Rev. Ebenezer Bean, Charles E. Hilton, John G. Wight. Isaac Bassett Choate, John F. Moody, Llewellyn

Barton, Alvin C. Dresser, George H. Larrabee, C. C. Spratt and the present principal, Islay F. McCormick, A. M., Bowdoin. Associated with Mr. McCormick are Henry G. Porter, Dartmouth; Miss Frances Libby, Wellesley; Miss Putnam, Bates.

Among the Alumni to which this institution points with pride are such names as Seba Smith, Jr., Cyrus Hamlin, D. D., Samuel C. Fessenden, D. D., Hon. John A. Andrews, the eminent war governor of Massachusetts; Hon. Elbridge Gerry, Gen. Rufus Ingalls, Judge Enoch Knight, Judge William Wirt Virgin, Hon. Geo. Pierce Andrews, Hon. Lafayette Grover, Gen. Currier Grover, Gen. Charles Hamlin, Prof. Edward S. Morse of Salem, Hon. Edward F. Brown, Hon. D. H. Ingraham, Hanns W. Gage, ex-Gov. Henry B. Cleaves, Rev. Geo. M. Bodge, Hon. Melville E. Ingalls, Commander Robert E. Peary, Dr. Edwin R. Chadbourne, and a host of others well known in every walk of life. The buildings consist of the main recitation building erected in 1827, and remodeled in 1890 through the generosity of President Edward F. Brown and Hon. Melville E. Ingalls; "Academy Hall," or the chapel, erected in 1879; "Ingalls Hall," the gift of Hon. Melville E. Ingalls, erected in 1892; and the Museum, which contains interesting and valuable natural history collections and curios. In 1900, the Rev. Edward Everett Hale visited this academy and in the September number of his "Lend-a-hand Record" occurs the following over his signature: "Do you know any thoroughly nice boy or girl, say sixteen or seventeen years old, who wants to study and do solid work in an excellent academy where the teachers know how to teach? If you do, send them to (North) Bridgton Academy. For years they have been sending out first-rate men and women, and they are better equipped than ever. Mr. Ingalls, the great railroad man, is one of the graduates. He has been building them an admirable gymnasium, with a refectory and better arrangements for all that. There is a nice working library and a capital reading room. * * * * * Your bright boy or girl will hardly do better than to go there."

He became eminent in his profession, and was a leading citizen until his death in 1817. Dr. Samuel Farnsworth, Jr., his son, and a native of Bridgton, succeeded to his practice, residing in North Bridgton. Dr. Theodore Ingalls began practice in 1817, living with his father, Phineas Ingalls, at South Bridgton. He moved to Bridgton soon after, and continued his practice until 1829. Dr. Jonathan Fessenden came to South Bridgton in 1818, and retired from business in 1839. FACTS OF INTEREST

Bridgton Village Corporation was incorporated March 1, 1854, for the purpose of instigating and maintaining an efficient fire department, employing a night watchman, and lighting the streets.

The first officers were George G. Wight, clerk Augustus Perley, treasurer; and William W. Cross, Benjamin Walker, and Reuben Ball, assessors. The present officers are: F. A. Webb, clerk; W. M. Dunn, treas; and J. G. Hamblen, F. C. Gibbs, and Willis E. Mariner, assessors.

The Bridgton and Harrison Electric Co. was established in the year 1896. In 1901, the Bridgton Water Co. was established, and the following year the two companies consolidated under the present name.

The village is well lighted by this plant, located at the lower village. There are five arcs and 143 incandescent lights to illuminate the streets, and 1248 for use in the mills, stores, shops and residences.

The water system in town consists of a stand pipe, located west of the village, having a capacity of 400,000 gallons; a pumping station taking the water from Highland Lake; and a network of supply pipes to which are attached 56 hydrants, eleven of which are private. The lowest water pressure is 50, and the highest 120 pounds. Auxilliary power to the capacity of 450 horse power is also had. C. A. Bodwell is president; F. C. Knight, treasurer.

The Bridgton Savings Bank was incorporated in 1869, with William W Cross, President; Rufus Gibbs, Treasurer; Geo. W. Wight, Assistant Treasurer. Rufus Gibbs became president three years later. This institution has had a steady increase of business, being patronized by the entire surrounding rural section and is now in a prosperous condition.

The Songo Lake, Songo River, and Bay of Naples Steamboat Co. which operates the well known line so fully described in the name, was established fifty years ago.

During the last five years their business has increased from 3,600 passengers in 1899 to 16,200 in 1904. The old stage coach which has been used in Bridgton to convey passengers from the wharf to the Center will now be set aside, replaced by the more comfortable and modern electric railroad. The Highland Steamboat Company, organized about four years ago, and the Bridgton & Saco River Railroad, the famous "narrow-gauge" which connects with the Maine Central at Bridgton Junction, together with the first named and the new electric line, give to this town excellent facilities for travel and commerce. The three old established lines are all well known to the summer tourist and pleasure seeker, and the charms of Bridgton as a summer resort whose varied scenery and invigorating climate are unexcelled by any locality in Maine are attested to by the ever increasing host who share its hospitality each season.

THE BRIDGTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Located near the center of this village is the Bridgton Public Library. This institution represents the unflinching loyalty of those few citizens who have the best interests of the community at heart and have unselfishly given of their time and means to make possible a source of supply of the best literature.

The present collection of books and the model library building is the result of the modest, yet business like project that was commenced in 1895. In the summer of that year a few citizens formed a corporation, known as the Bridgton Public Library. It was arranged that each member should pay one dollar for membership which also entitled him to the use of the library for one year. These subscriptions are the sole support of the institution.

In February, 1900, five years later, through the untiring energy of Mrs. George W. Newcomb, Miss Clara G. Fogg, who presented the lot on which the edifice stands, and a few other ladies, sufficient funds were raised to erect the present library building. Together with its equipment it represents an expenditure of about $3,000. The Library now possesses a total of 3,000 volumes. In the review of the founding of the Bridgton Public Library injustice would be done were not mentioned the names of Judge A. H. Walker, George W. Newcomb, W. M. Staples, Rev. George M. Woodwell, Mrs. Juliette F. Wardwell, Mrs. Laura Dresser Knowlton, Mrs. Abby Mitchell Nagle, Mrs. Charles Gleason, Mrs. Grace C. Abbott and Mrs. Agnes Haskell. The present officers are Norman H. Libby, President; Frank P. Bennett, Clerk; Dr. E. S. Abbott, Treas.; and Mrs. Grace C. Abbott, Librarian. The Library is open each Tuesday and Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Census, 1904-5.

The population of the town of Bridgton has been arranged in families where that arrangement has been possible. In these families, in addition to the resident living members, the names of the non-resident members are included. It should be borne in mind that this plan does not include the names of all former residents of this town, as the names of non-residents appear only when one or both the parents are still living in the town. After the name of each non-resident will be found the present address, when such address has been given to us. The non-residents are indicated by the (*).

In case a daughter in a family has married, her name taken in marriage will appear after her given name in parentheses (), preceded by a small (m).

Following the names of the population is the occupation. To designate the occupations we have used the more common abbreviations and contractions. Some of these follow: Farmer—far; carpenter—car; railroad service—R R ser; student, a member of an advanced institution of learning—stu; pupil, a member of a lower grade of schools—pl; housework—ho; laborer—lab; physician and surgeon—phy & sur; clergyman—clerg; merchant—mer; teacher—tr; blacksmith—blk; clerk—cl; book-keeper—bk kpr; lawyer—law; mechanic—mech; engineer—eng; insurance—ins; maker—mkr; worker—wkr; work—wk; shoe shop work—s s wk; fisherman—fish; mariner—mar; poultry—plt; mill operative—mill op; electrician—elec; painter—ptr; carriage work—car wk; dress maker—dr mkr; traveling salesman—sales.
