PLENTY OF THRILLS.

Since the siege of the central empires began every sort of they have made has been full of thrills for on-lookers in the allied countries, and inspiration for lamentations by professional pessimists.

This so far the situation is vividly tinged with Teutonic coloring, but what of the future? Both Great Britain and France are rushing troops to Salonica as rapidly as possible and the French Premier has declared that this will not involve any weakening of the western front.

It will be in the secondary stages of this new development that the full strength of the allies will be exhibited, and when that comes we may expect Roumanian and Greek action regardless of the attitude of Constantinople or what pro-German influence may exist in Roumania.

Russia, which not only has made the most gratifying progress in Galicia but is forcing von Hindenburg back from the line before Dvinsk. In this connection it is declared that the munition situation now favors the Russians, a significant rumor indeed, which if true proves that the Teutonic arsenals are unable to keep the three battlefronts adequately supplied.

Persistent reports from Rotterdam say that the Germans are making desperate attempts to recapture the important strategic positions taken from them by the allies a fortnight ago and that preparations for retreat should their efforts be unsuccessful are in evidence at the various concentration depots in Belgium and Northern France.

Harsh measures necessary. The geographical situation and vast dimensions of London are such that notwithstanding all precautions Zeppelins are able to pay it a visit and kill and wound several hundred people whenever the weather conditions are favorable. It is improbable that London can be made impregnable to attack from the air.

Preserving the beaches. The movement for the preservation and improvement of beaches for the use of the public is deserving of the best support. Nor is it being launched any too soon.

Should be represented. Sir Robert Borden has called a conference of federal and provincial government representatives for next Monday at Ottawa to consider the organization of a co-operative movement in regard to employment for soldiers when they return from the front.

One dispatch explains the non-representation of British Columbia by the fact that the province is too remote from the capital for a delegate to arrive in time. But it happened that the Hon. W. J. Bowser, attorney-general, was in Ottawa yesterday and had been there for several days. Moreover, we are advised that he received a message from Sir Richard McBride requesting him to attend the conference as the representative of this province, but that he found it impossible to do so.

One weapon shattered. There is now abundant evidence that it was not expostulatory notes from Washington that compelled Germany to modify her methods of submarine warfare. It was stern necessity.

Into the young life of Jim Brown, son of Capt. Thomas Brown, have fallen crowded more thrills than have fallen to the lot of a whole company of Balintyne or Henty heroes. He left here with the 56th Gordon Highlanders and was a trooper in the first Canadian contingent that was sent to the front.

If it is true that Bulgaria has cut the Salonica-Nish railway it will not be long before Greek intervention will be absolutely necessary or Greece will be at the mercy of her neighbor, who has sworn to regain Thrace as soon as he takes Macedonia from Serbia.

And calm and patient Nature keeps Her ancient promise well, Though ever her bloom and greenness sweeps The battle's breath of hell.

And still she walks in golden hours Through harvest-happy farms, And still she wears her fruit and flowers, Like jewels on her arms.

What mean the gladness of the plain, This joy of eve and morn, The mirth that shakes the beard of grain, And yellow locks of corn?

Oh! eyes may well be full of tears, And hearts with love are hot; But even-paced come round the years, And Nature changes not.

Still, in the cannon's pause, we hear Her sweet thanksgiving psalm; Too near to God for doubt or fear, She shares the eternal calm.

Oh, give to us, in times like these, The vision of her eyes; And make her fields and fruited trees Our golden prophecies!

Oh, give to us her finger ear! Above this stormy din, We, too, would hear the bells of cheer, Ring peace, and freedom in.

German Statement. Berlin, Oct. 14.—An official report given out to-day by the admiralty regarding the Zeppelin raid on London says that in addition to dropping bombs on the British capital, the waterworks at Hampton and the town of Woolwich, where there is a great arsenal, were bombarded heavily.

"Several attacks were made especially on the city of London, and Woolwich also were bombarded heavily with incendiary bombs. "At all the places attacked important explosions and great fires were observed. "All the airships returned safely although they were attacked vigorously on passing over the English coast."

Seamen and Officers Too Weak to Work Ship; Seventy-Four Days From Callao

Port Townsend, Wash., Oct. 14.—Reporting one member of the crew dead at sea and the others so weakened by beri beri that they would not even take in the sails while she was being towed up the strait, the Peruvian barquentine Stella, a floating pest-house, seventy-four days from Callao, was brought into port last night by the United States coast guard cutter Snohomish and the tug Prosper.

RUPERT'S DRYDOCK HAS OFFICIAL TEST

Huge Floating Craft Now Ready to Receive Work; is Finest Dock on Coast

Prince Rupert's capacious and splendid floating drydock is now ready to care for any disabled shipping. The official tests were carried out last week in the presence of Engineer Armstrong, who represented the Dominion government; W. T. Donnelly, of New York, designer of the huge craft; and representatives of the contractors.

This winter Prince Rupert will secure a large share of the overhaul work which has formerly been executed in Victoria and Vancouver, and probably a fraction of the Seattle business. It would not be surprising if the stranded steamer Mariposa, was taken to the northern port for survey and repairs. She is only 158 miles south of Rupert, whereas the distance from the scene of her stranding to Seattle is over 300 miles.

The new dock is 604 feet in length, and is capable of lifting the Great Northern liner Minnesota, the largest vessel which has ever sailed the Pacific. It is built in three sections and for the official tests the parts were joined and the great pontoons sunk to a depth of 26 feet below the keel blocks, which gave a total depth from the pontoons to the surface of 30 feet. The dock sunk without any difficulty, and forty-five minutes after the pumps had been started the craft had reached its normal position.

CALCHAS IS EXPECTED TO FLOAT TO-MORROW

Blue Funnel Liner is Being Lightered; One Bulkhead Gave Way

Latest news from Port Townsend, Wash., expresses the hope that the Blue Funnel liner Calchas will be floated off the rocks off Point Wilson tomorrow. She will be taken to a sheltered beach where further patches will be put on so that she can make the trip to a shipyard without danger of sinking.

The work of discharging the ship's cargo was retarded yesterday through the breaking of one of the forward bulkheads. No. 2 hold had been practically pumped out, and the longshoremen were making fine progress with the freight. The pressure on the bulkhead became too great and it gave way, refilling No. 2 hold.

Longshoremen commenced yesterday to discharge the bunker coal. This was found necessary after making soundings in order to get the big craft into deep water and to avoid getting in contact with other pinnacles of rock. The diver is having a big job patching up the ship, and is constantly finding new leaks. Through the discharge of the cargo and coal the ship has become a little stiffer, and pontoons have been placed on one side to guard against further damage.

GRAY MAY BE SOLD TO UNION COMPANY

Whaling Tender Will Replace Lost Steamer Capilano; Will Be Chartered First

There is a report current in shipping circles that the whaling tender Gray will be purchased by the Union Steamship Company, of Vancouver. When she has completed her work of removing whaling products from Kyuquot and Naden Harbor, it is understood that she will be chartered by the Union company, and a short time later the papers for her sale will be made out.

The Union company is anxious to have a good freighter in its fleet. Since the loss of the Capilano it has had to depend almost solely on its passenger vessels to handle the freight offerings. Huge shipments of canned salmon are now coming south from the canneries, and a vessel of the type of the Gray would do a fine business. Although the steamer will only be put under charter for a few months, it is understood that she will be purchased by the company ultimately.

The Gray was brought to this coast from Scotland to operate in the Prince Rupert trade with the Cotriana. At that time she was known as the Petriana. The Canadian North Pacific Fisheries Ltd. went casting about for a freighter to act as a tender to the whaling stations about three and a half years ago, and purchased the Gray.

CLEARING AWAY EARTH MAY CAUSE NEW SLIDE

Maj-Gen. Goethals Forwards Report on Conditions at Panama Canal.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—A detailed account of the landslides which have caused the Panama canal to be closed indefinitely to commerce, was cabled to the war department yesterday by Major-Gen. Goethals, governor of the canal. The dispatch said: "Mass of material involved in the break of Oct. 14, 1914, which has been sliding gradually into the prism moved precipitately. This, combined with a similar movement from the break which occurred just opposite on the western bank in August, caused present conditions."

"Length of channel involved, 1,300 feet, of which 200 feet has present width of 25 feet and depth of three to 15 feet. "For week ending Oct. 9, 209,000 cubic yards of material were dredged, but as the movement continued, the result has been to maintain only what slides left in the first instance. Canal is therefore physically closed, temporarily.

"On the east side of the bank, is upward of 200 feet above the canal level on the west side varies from 300 to 400 feet above. Material is settling and moving, creating earth waves with deep depressions behind those being from 500 to 700 feet from the canal prism, with elevations of 60 to 80 feet above water surface. These would undoubtedly counterbalance weight of broken mass on either side, and when removed may cause another similar movement, hence impossibility of making any prediction as to date of reopening until after waves, which now block the canal, have been removed and action of remaining material determined. Heavy rains materially affect movement.

ANOTHER LARGE GOLD CARGO FROM SYDNEY

Liner Ventura Reaches San Francisco With $5,575,000 in English Gold

San Francisco, Oct. 14.—On her trip from Australia, which ended yesterday, the ocean liner Ventura was a veritable treasure ship, for she had in her treasure tanks $5,575,000 in English gold brought here from Australia. The money is consigned to local banks to pay for vast quantities of supplies bought on this coast for the southern continent.

The Ventura brought a general cargo of 2,002 tons, consisting of wool and hides from Australia, together with island products from Hawaii. Passengers on board totaled 133. The Danish motorship Paistria, which arrived yesterday from Nikolaisk, Siberia, for the purpose of proceeding to Europe via the Straits of Magellan. The Paistria has a full cargo of Siberian beans.

For the first time in the recent history of the Alaska Packers' association one of their windjammers is to go into service outside of the regular trip to the canneries in the spring and returning in the fall. The Star of Holland, one of the crack ships of the fleet, left today for Tacoma, where lumber will be taken for Australia. High charter rates now prevailing in the lumber and grain trades will probably result in others of these former clipper ships going into charter during the winter months.

The crew was rescued by the tug Pioneer, of the Puget Sound Towboat company, which was towing the barge north. AT THE THEATRES

COLUMBIA THEATRE.

An exciting drama of primitive life in the logging camps of the north woods is "The Man Trail," the six-act (The Four (V. L. S. E.) special feature which is being presented at the Columbia for the balance of the week. The story is a thrilling one, filled with life and action, and is adapted from the late sensational novel by Henry Owen, which was one of the best sellers of the past year. Reduced at the Essanay studios and in the lumber camps of the north, where the greatest care has been given to the minutest detail in its production. This picture is claimed to be one of the sensations of the season.

ROYAL VICTORIA THEATRE.

In presenting "Kilmenny" with Lenore Ulrich, star of "The Bird of Paradise" in the title role, the Royal Victoria has secured a strong attraction that should result in good business tonight, and the balance of the week. Miss Ulrich has been seen on two occasions in Victoria, and both times she was the means of filling the theatre at prices ranging from 25c to $2.00. She also packed theatre after theatre over the continent and the actual business, reckoned in dollars and cents, was the greatest done by any road attraction in the last ten years. As a success of personality Lenore Ulrich's achievement was nothing short of amazing. Other stars might have made "Kilmenny" adorable, too, but it took the powers of this fine little actress to grasp all those cunning mannerisms and blend them into a whole which epitomized a girl who lives twelve of her most important years in woods and trails. Supporting Lenore Ulrich are William Desmond, one of the finest leading men in the Marousca companies, Myrtle Steadman, more beautiful than ever, Herbert Standing, Victor Bateman, and a score of others.

COUNTESS AT PANTAGES.

There is a real countess at Pantages this week, appearing prominently on the bill of vaudeville. Her name is Countess Doormaine, and although she is an American by birth, she is as much a member of the Society of Belgium, as though she were born there. The countess is a protégée of the world-famous, Tetraxini, considered one of the world's greatest sopranos. The life story of the countess is a very interesting and romantic one, her career practically began while she was studying music in the city of Buffalo, New York. The countess is one of a family of fourteen and, although all are talented musically, the father of the flock decided that Marion was to follow singing for her life's work. When Madame Tetraxini, was in Buffalo, she chanced to visit a friend

Being across the street from the present countess, and heard her running through the vocal scales. That evening the young singer received a note from the great diva, enclosing tickets for the opera and requesting an interview the following morning. As a result the young singer was sent to Europe by Tetraxini, and eventually graduated from the Milanese College of Music, and through the influence of the great soprano, obtained a position to sing in the opera. Afterward she travelled all the largest cities in Europe, and shortly before the war, sang in the city of Antwerp, where she met Count Paul Doormaine and married him. The count is in the government employ and was ordered on a secret mission, and as the count did not deem it safe for his young wife to make the trip under present unsettled conditions. Alexander Pantages heard the countess sing in Venice previous to her marriage, and had placed her with a standing offer to play his circuit in Canada, and the States. When the count left on his secret mission, the countess obtained his consent to accept Mr. Pantages' offer, and as a result opened on his circuit seven weeks ago, in Winnipeg. "After my tour is ended I shall go back to Belgium," said the countess yesterday, "and there await the return of my husband from his government mission. While appearing at Pantages circuit the countess is being assisted by two lady harpists and a gentleman trombone soloist, who also conducts the orchestra.

LENORE ULRICH IN "Kilmenny"

What the Victoria Times of Dec. 8, had to say about Lenore Ulrich when she appeared as the star in "The Bird of Paradise":

Miss Lenore Ulrich, still a slip of a girl, has broadened in her interpretation of Luana, the "bird of paradise," with the months, and plays it with a surer touch and a clearer vision of the mental process of the girl. She was equally convincing as the elemental woman wooing the mate she had chosen with frank naivette and unshamed, as the jealous wife and as the self-sacrificing woman, giving up love and life at once for the unworthy object of her affection and for her people.

HUEY IS CHAMPION AT THREE CUSHIONS

Alfredo De Oro Issues Challenge to New Titleholder; Hoppe to Meet Yamada

"Fighting Bill" Huey of Chicago, surprised the wisecracks of the billiard world last week when in his match with George Moore at New York, he won the world's three cushion championship emblem. When Moore had led Huey, fifty to forty, at the end of the first night's play, even the Chicago expert's closest friends gave up hope, but true to his name "Fighting Bill" Huey went after Moore hammer and tongs on the second night's play, and not only made up his lost ground, but actually gained ten points more on the champion. Moore worked like a demon on the third and closing night to save his title and midway in the battle actually caught and passed Huey, but the westerner knocked off a run of eight and followed this with a display of billiards that netted him twenty-three points in the last fifteen innings, putting the little champion utterly to rout.

Huey, the new champion and Alfredo De Oro, challenger, who has held the title more times than any other player, will clash for the emblem in Chicago, late in November, the exact dates to be set later. August Kieckhefer, the young Chicago lefthander, formerly of Milwaukee and first champion of the International League, has challenged the victor.

Willis Hoppe, holder of all the billiard titles, and Koji Yamada, the Japanese, will meet the first week of this month at Boston in a fifteen hundred point match for Hoppe's 14-1 crown. They will play three nights, five hundred points each night. Yamada has been going wonderfully well in practice around New York, and while the little Oriental must be conceded a chance with the great Hoppe, whom he once beat in tournament play, few believe he will lift the championship from Sir William.

SCORELESS DRAW FAILS TO REVEAL BRILLIANT SOCCER

The new restricted straight rail game has made a hit in at least two cities. First, Chicago, staged a match between those young stars of the billiard firmament, Jake Schaefer and Welker Cochran. Both players were handicapped in that they were forced to make a three-cushion carom at the fifthth count of every long run. Schaefer won, scoring 1,188 points in four nights to Cochran's 987. The game proved a revelation to the fans and was voted a success. The veteran room-keeper, William Masey, was so pleased with the experiment that he proposed to stage a tournament in the future. George Sutton and Percy Collins also played a restricted straight rail match for the benefit of Indianapolis fans who turned out en masse and were delighted with the revivification of the good old game, plus the handicap.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Cobb and 100 Steals. In the old days it was considered no mighty achievement to pilfer 100 bases. Stovey, Hamilton, Lange and others romped around at their will. But evidently the old days and baseball after 1900 are not exactly one and the same. Any sprinter who can steal from sixty to seventy bases can lead the National League any year he cares to start. And only a few in the American League have gone above seventy bases—Milan, Cobb, Maisel and Collins being the answer. So when Milan stole eighty-eight bases, five beyond Cobb's best year, the record looked to be sealed and closed. For Milan was beyond the range of any catcher that season. And now Cobb is at it again. He had never quite gotten it out of his head that Milan had wrested away his old mark. And now Cobb, with over 30 steals and a new record to his credit, is out to close the books again with record in runs and hits made in a single season—1911—and now he has the record in steals. Not so bad for one lone human system. Maxims of the 19th Hole. My son, there is one thing thy mind can mark well—that he that taketh much time over his shots, and standeth rigidly above his ball in a duffer, was a duffer, and always will be a duffer, though he play for 800 years. He that fusteth over his shots is an abominable and a scourge, and it were better for all concerned that a millstone were tied around his neck and he were dropped fathoms deep in the nearest water hazard. The will of John Condon, who was blind for 15 years before his death and was the owner of several race tracks, has been filed for probate in Chicago. He leaves his entire estate, valued at $466,000, to his widow and two children. While freak golf stories are going the rounds, we might as well add this one to the list. Robert McKee was playing hole No. 15 on the Grand View course, Iowa. The distance to the cup was 100 yards, and as is the custom for the short drive, McKee let loose with the mashie. As is likewise the custom, a lad was paddling about in a boat on the lake to recover the balls that fell short. This particular pellet that McKee hit, sailed along for about 75 yards over the deep blue, then stumbled and fell into the boat, only to bounce again and continue on its way across the lake, and came to a stop within about seven feet of the hole. McKee took two more to gain the cup, but he made a three, equalling bogey.

SPURTS OF STRENGTH FOLLOWED BY SALES

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
 Chicago, Oct. 14.—Early reports showed unsettled weather conditions over the grain belt. Cash premiums at all markets show that the demand, if not urgent, is present, and an accumulation of stocks is still far from starting off. The Price Current says: "Breathing of winter wheat continues to reveal the poor quality of the grain. Winnipeg wired that there was a heavy buying of its futures by exporters. There was considerable fluctuation in the Chicago market. One or two spurts of strength were met by selling to-day, which eventually gave the reaction in price. Underlying firmness reflected support on easy spots. The Price Current grain reporter says: 'The frosty weather of last week stopped all further grain of corn. While it would not be safe to say now that the damage is yet with acreage abandonment on account of floods, it probably is safe to say the total commercial corn crop will not exceed 2,750 million bushels.'"

MONTEGRO ARMY HAS BEEN REORGANIZED
 (By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
 Montreal, Oct. 14.—The local market was influenced by the weakness in New York today, except in the case of Dominion Bridge, in which the bulk of the trading centred. The stock opened up two points and gained four more immediately, after which there was some rolling. The steel and iron stocks did not act well to-day. Steel of Canada and Dominion Iron being decidedly weak. Lauréville held its own on small sales, while Montreal Power was up a point and showed a firm undertone on light trading. On a better tone in New York the leaders in the Montreal market undoubtedly will go higher.

Coronation Gold Went to 9 Cents Bid Compared With 8 1/2

Coronation Gold straightened up well and closed at nine cents bid, as compared with 8 1/2 cents yesterday, and there was not much offering in this instance. The bid generally held fast at old levels, lack of initiative on the bull side of prices, and, on the other hand, absence of pressure, giving the unchanged appearance.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—A wild market, strongly bullish until 12:45 and strongly bearish until 1:15, sums up the market conditions in Winnipeg to-day. The close showed the fluctuations for Winnipeg Oct. 14 to have been 3 1/2, with a decline of 1/2 for the day of 14 to 16 other months 2 to 2 1/2 lower. The cash situation was very strong up to within half-an-hour of the close. Every grade was taken and premiums on No. 1 held at 2 cents straight. Close was in less active demand. The break at the close was attributed to Armour selling in Chicago, but probably was due to a good many causes. The inspections were an undoubted factor in the day's business. Winnipeg had 1,811 bags of wheat, of which 69 were No. 1 northern, 18 smutty and 18 other off grades. A large percentage of no grade cars were badly sprouted, as well as tough.
