VICTORIAN SAW ZEPPELIN BROUGHT DOWN NEAR SALONICA; A GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF EVENT BY F. DUNN

Thousands of British, French and Greeks Hailed Gunners' Success With Shouts as Big Machine Fell Into Vardar Swamp Near Seashore; Victoria Boy and Companions Visited Wreck; Conditions at Salonica

Frank Dunn, attached to No. 5 Canadian General Hospital, which left Victoria last October and now is stationed with the Anglo-French forces on the Salonica front, saw the flight in which a Zeppelin was brought down near Salonica recently. In the following letter, just received, this well known young Victorian graphically describes the battle and also gives interesting sidelights on the life of the soldiers on the front in Greece:

A few nights ago I was awakened by one of the fellows and dragged outside to see the Zepp. There it was, sure enough, a huge black shadow flying directly over the camp, its engines purring with the noise of a score of motor cars. Just as it reached the harbor the searchlights came on suddenly, illuminating the sky with broad, sword-like shafts of light. One big fellow very quickly sought out the Zepp and simultaneously a terrific cannonading commenced. I heard afterwards that the naval and land batteries had been forewarned of the Zepp's approach and deliberately allowed it to come well within range.

A Greek Way.
A rather funny thing occurred on the way home. When we were half way across the bay it came on to blow quite hard. The two Greeks who were rowing us threw up their hands, and claiming in frightened accents, "Pini, Johnny," (meaning that it was all up) very unreasonably suggested that we should all bundle out into the water and by so doing save their precious skins. We had to threaten to pitch them out before we could get them busy again on the oars.

LLOYD GEORGE AS WAR MINISTER; NEW MUNITIONS MINISTER

London, June 17.—The political correspondent of the Morning Post says: "It has been decided that Mr. Lloyd George is to succeed Earl Kitchener as secretary of state for war. There remains to be settled the relations of the new minister to the munitions department. It is probable that the two offices will not be combined, in which case it will be necessary to appoint another minister of munitions."

REPULSED GERMANS WEST OF THE MEUSE

French Threw Them Back at Avoucourt and West of Hill 304

SUCCESSFUL RAID MADE IN VOSGES

French Airmen Raided Railroad Stations; German Aviators Killed Four Civilians

Paris, June 17.—French troops easily repulsed German attacks made with hand grenades last night on the road at Avoucourt and the advanced French positions west of Hill 304, west of the Meuse, the war office announced this afternoon. The enemy carried out an intense bombardment of the French positions at Deadman's Hill, but made no infantry attack.

A French detachment made a raid at a point in the Vosges, penetrated the German first and second lines and returned with some prisoners. German aeroplanes last night made an unsuccessful raid in the region of Dunkirk. At Bar-le-Duc German aviators killed four civilians and wounded about 15.

A French aeroplane squad visited the railroad stations at Longuyon, Mont Medy and Audun-le-Romain last night, and dropped a number of bombs, some of them of the very large type. The text of the communication follows: "In Belgium last night there was a fairly intense artillery duel in the sector of Lombertzyde.

Easily Repulsed.
"On the left bank of the Meuse, German attacks with hand grenades on the road at Avoucourt and on our advanced positions west of Hill 304 were easily repulsed. There has been an intense bombardment of our positions at Deadman's Hill, but without any infantry attack.

"On the right bank of the river there has been violent artillery fighting in the sector north of Fleury. "In the Vosges, following a violent bombardment on the part of the artillery directed against the German works at Hill 425, west of Thann, a detachment of our infantry penetrated to the first and to the second German lines, which were cleaned up. The French detachment returned without having suffered losses and brought back with it some prisoners.

Aerial Activities.
"During the night of June 16-17 three aeroplanes of the enemy bombarded the region of Dunkirk. There were no victims and the material damage was slight. At about 8 o'clock this same night Bar-le-Duc was bombarded by enemy aeroplanes. Four persons were killed among the population and about 15 were wounded. Later in the evening some bombs were thrown down on Pont-a-Mousson by German aviators, but they did no damage and were changed.

AGRARIANS BLAMED IN LANDTAG FOR WAR

Socialists Declare People of Germany Want Bread and Liberty

Amsterdam, June 17.—Vorwarts, the Berlin Socialist organ, publishes a report of a speech by Herr Hofer, a Socialist, in the Landtag. After severely condemning the organization of food measures, Herr Hofer attacked the agrarians, who, he declared, had robbed the German people for 40 years. He spoke of the "frenzy of war," remarking that afterward the people would understand how much they had suffered from the bad and partial measures of the government.

Tolluivits von Batocki, the food dictator, said Herr Hofer had promised communal feeding of the people and they claimed that promise should be kept. The well to do classes were themselves astonished at the people's patience, but the masses were beginning to be stirred; they were saying that if the Russians had come to Berlin things would not have been worse than they are now.

"You fear that the flames of sedition and revolution might be raised," said Herr Hofer. "You would prevent this, but you are always too late. The people must starve here and be killed abroad for the interests of a small set of capitalists." Herr Hofer concluded: "The people at home and in the trenches claim peace, liberty and bread."

Radziviloff Taken By Russians; Sixty Miles From Lemberg

Petrograd, June 17.—Russian troops have occupied the town of Radziviloff, on the railroad, 60 miles northeast of Lemberg, according to the official statement issued to-day.

Radziviloff is only five miles northeast of Brody, lying in Volhynia only three miles from the border of Galicia. Brody is in Galicia, only two miles from the border. Radziviloff is on the railway which runs from Lemberg northeast to Dubno, Volhynia.

MORE QUESTIONS ON CAMPS IN GERMANY

British Govt. Will Be Asked Again About Treatment of Prisoners

THOSE ARRIVING HOME IN DEPLORABLE STATE

London, June 17.—The treatment of British prisoners in Germany again will be the subject of questions in parliament next week, as the answers previously given on the subject by Baron Newton and H. J. Tennant, parliamentary under-secretary for war, are considered unsatisfactory in the light of the evidence recently obtained.

Abused.
A number of British officers and men who were exchanged early in the month and sent across the Swiss frontier have reached England. A correspondent was informed, on the highest medical authority, that the condition of many of them is deplorable. In some cases the men will have to undergo special operations to enable them sufficiently to recover their strength to undergo operations which are essential to their future existence. One prisoner, a well-known colonel, the publication of whose name is forbidden, is a harrowing wreck of his former self.

Some of the exchanged men say they had personal experiences showing that the good work accomplished by Ambassador Gerard and his assistants at the United States embassy in Berlin was largely minimized by the fact that the German prison authorities usually knew when to expect inspections by the Americans and took elaborate precautions.

Welcomed by Swiss.
The foreign office has issued for publication a dispatch from the British minister at Bern, Evelyn Grant Duff, describing the arrival in Switzerland of a number of British prisoners exchanged.

"Never in my life have I seen such a welcome accorded to anyone," he wrote, "though during the last 23 years I have been present at practically every kind of public function in half the capitals of Europe. It is impossible to avoid the impression that this extraordinary reception of the men was a demonstration in favor of Britain. If William Tell had been reincarnated and had made a triumphal progress through the country I do not see what more could have been done."

EXPECTS CHANGE IN FABRIC OF EMPIRE

London Telegraph Says War Has Emphasized Necessity of Revision

London, June 17.—The Daily Telegraph, in an editorial discussing the refashioning of the fabric of the empire, as indicated in Mr. Asquith's speech to his constituents, says the present insistent demand for reorganization has not originated in British political circles, or it would require to be approached with far greater caution. The old proverbial phrase, "Downing street rule," has fallen into abeyance, the paper says.

"It is our part," the newspaper continues, "to enter the council of empire prepared to discuss far reaching projects which only yesterday were deemed abstract and visionary. "There are still some among us who think along the old lines of free trade or tariff reform, but these old and antiquated trenches have been obliterated for most of us by the high explosives of war. The empire has really begun to think imperially. It has realized how careless and haphazard was the old system, how wasteful and neglectful of imperial resources; how naked and open the empire lay to the economic strategy of the enemy. Laissez faire is no longer a working theory. Those who fly that flag must go down in the strenuous days of peace that will inevitably follow this war."

GOVT. OF GREECE COURTING TROUBLE

Skouloudis and His Ministers in League With German Agents

DEMONSTRATIONS BEFORE ENTENTE LEGATIONS

Dispatch From Paris Indicates Allied Governments Are Watching Events

Paris, June 17.—The news received here from Greece is not at all satisfactory. No attempt is being made by the government of Premier Skouloudis to preserve a prudent and becoming attitude toward the entente.

Demonstrations organized by Pro-German agents with the assent of the police have taken place before the entente legations in Athens. It would seem that the object is not merely to give general annoyance, but to obtain a pretext against the Venizelists, under cover of which leading Venizelists and other leading friends of the allies would be prosecuted. Citizens of the allied nations have been insulted in the streets and offensive films have been shown in the cinematographs, which acts are the product of the German propaganda.

Members of the government do not take the trouble to deny their complicity with the enemy agents. In the chamber yesterday, M. Gounaris, minister of the interior, made a reference to the allies, the impertinence of which he scarcely veiled.

BATOCKI WRESTLING WITH FOOD PROBLEM

German Dictator Planning for Harvest That Will Be Poor One

Berlin, June 17.—There being no doubt now that the arrangements for the distribution of the food supplies will continue to work out satisfactorily until the harvest, the recently organized board of food strategy, headed by Dr. von Batocki, has devoted its main efforts to working out an exhaustive detailed plan for the coming harvest. This plan is complete, and has been submitted to the bundersrath. It was described at a meeting at which Dr. von Batocki, Dr. Hoelcker, minister of the interior, and numerous ministers of minor German states were present.

Despite the statements of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German chancellor, in the Reichstag, and other German officials that the harvest in Germany will be abundant this year, there have been indications in news dispatches from time to time that it will be far below the total of last year. Several causes contribute to this condition.

First, owing to the costly operations the German armies have carried out at various points since last summer, the number of men available for work on the farms is much lower than it was last year, and while the places of the fallen men have been taken to a large extent by women, it has been found that the work of women for various reasons does not produce so great a return from the fields as the labor of experienced men.

Secondly, in several regions of Germany there have been disastrous rains, which have ruined the prospects for large returns from the larger part of the harvest affected. It has been stated that the potato crop will be far below the returns last year. Had it not been for the abundant potato crop last fall the food conditions in Germany, had as they have been for some months past, would have been infinitely worse. A great percentage of the lower classes have been living practically entirely on potatoes, with the addition of such other vegetables as were obtainable.

CAPT. BOELKE, GERMAN AVIATOR WAS KILLED

London, June 17.—Captain Boelke, the champion German aviator, is believed to have been killed in an aerial combat with the French aviator Roger Ribiere. A Boelke of the type known to have been piloted by Boelke was shot down by Ribiere two days ago near Verdun.

NATIONAL MONUMENT TO EARL KITCHENER

London, June 17.—Mr. Asquith next Wednesday will offer in the House of Commons a motion for the erection of a monument to the late Earl Kitchener.

AUSTRIAN POSITIONS CARRIED BY ITALIAN TROOPS; SOME PRISONERS CAPTURED; SIX GUNS, MACHINE GUNS

Official Statement Issued at Rome Tells of Successes at Malaga, Fossetta and Monte Margaria; in Effort to Secure Peace With Italy Austrians Moved Best Units From Eastern Front, Inviting Great Russian Offensive

Rome, June 17.—Italian troops have carried the Austrian positions of Malaga, Fossetta and Monte Margaria, according to a statement given out at the war department to-day. The Italians took 203 prisoners and captured six guns and four machine guns.

Rome, June 17.—An officer who has returned to this city after having been engaged in the operations at the front up to a few days ago, states that the forces which the Austrians used in their offensive against the Italians appeared to be of as high a standard as those facing the Italians for months before the offensive started. It is believed that in preparation for the attempt the Austrians drew away from the fronts in Galicia and Bukovina the finest regiments there, leaving forces against the Russians composed largely of units formed recently of older men, and that many of the men of Austria and Hungary up to the age of 55 were called out some months ago on the understanding that they would be used only along the lines of commutation or in the munitions plants found themselves facing the powerful Russian drive. An indication that the troops operating against the Russians were of inferior quality is contained in the items from Petrograd telling how many regiments surrendered without having offered any substantial resistance. It is the opinion that the cause of this disastrous move by the enemy was the hope of the Austro-Hungarian government that it could secure peace with Italy if an offensive were carried out with success and the Austrian armies penetrated some distance into Italian territory.

RUSSIAN ADVANCE HAS ENCOURAGING EFFECT IN BRITAIN

London, June 17.—The Russian advance has had a remarkably heartening effect here. One important result will be that the Austrians will be deprived of their harvest over a large section of exceedingly fertile country, the crops from which will be almost indispensable to them in the coming winter.

CASUALTIES AMONG OFFICERS NOW 416

Twenty-One on List To-day; Excellent Work of Canadian Gunners

Ottawa, June 17.—A casualty list bearing the names of 21 officers received by the militia department this morning brings the total casualties among officers announced since the heavy fighting began on the Ypres salient on June 2 to 416. With a few exceptions the names reported to-day belong to officers of units of the 1st Division, commanded by Major-Gen. A. W. Currie, C. B., of Victoria, B. C., which recaptured more than 1,500 yards of trenches from the Germans southeast of Zillebeke, on the Ypres salient, last Tuesday.

Gunners' Work.
London, June 17.—A British officer who witnessed the attack made by the Canadians on Tuesday last which resulted in the capture of more than 1,500 yards of trenches on the Ypres salient, and who has returned from the front, states that the feature of the action which impressed him the most was the work of the Canadian artillery. There was no lack of ammunition—the enemy nowadays gets ample repayment for every shell he sends against the British at any point—but even so the gunners wasted none. Their accuracy of fire was convincing proof of the improvement months of service have made in the crews who serve the guns. He declared that the valor of the infantry in charging was hardly less impressive than the excellent work of the guns, the chorus of which was a deafening roar while it lasted.

PLEURISY CAUSE OF ROOSEVELT'S SUFFERING

New York, June 17.—Col. Roosevelt passed a comfortable night, coughing a little but not violently, and to-day his voice was stronger and he hoped to return to Oyster Bay this afternoon. The colonel, his physicians announced last night, has suffered a slight attack of pleurisy. They considered his condition satisfactory.

STRIKER KILLED.

Oakland, June 17.—Louis A. Moroy, aged 23, a lumber handler on strike with employees of the Sunset mills in this city, was killed to-day in a riot when an attempt was made to stop a lumber delivery wagon from the plant. Moroy was shot through the heart when Jack Hampton, a guard on the wagon, fired several shots at the crowd.

FRANCIS JOSEPH IS DEAD, SAYS NEUTRAL

Man Who Has Arrived in London States He Saw Embalmed Body

London, June 17.—The death of Emperor Francis Joseph is reported by a neutral who has just returned from Vienna.

This traveler asserts that the embalmed body of the monarch has been displayed to crowds on patriotic occasions to prevent the people discovering the fact that the aged ruler died some time ago, the crowds on each occasion being kept at a distance. He says he was present when there was a demonstration before the palace, but Francis Joseph did not step out and bow from the balcony as was his custom. Instead a chair was brought out on which reclined the inanimate royal figure. As the demonstrators sang patriotic songs there was no living movement observable on the part of the body.

This neutral states that he has ascertained that the fact that the body of Francis Joseph has been embalmed is widely known in the higher circles in Vienna.

SIR GEO. PAISH AS RAILWAY EXPERT

Believed Ottawa Government Will Appoint Him to Help With Investigation

Montreal, June 17.—Announcement will be made within the next two weeks of the appointment of the commission which will investigate the whole Canadian railway situation, with the possible nationalization of one or more of the railway systems of the country as a result," the Ottawa correspondent of the Gazette says in a dispatch.

"That Sir George Paish, editor of the Statist and one of the leading financial authorities in Great Britain, will be one of the members of the commission now seems practically assured. He will conduct that part of the investigation which will have to do with the financial positions of the various roads. The other members of the commission will be railway men; but according to what was learned to-day, neither has yet been chosen. It is the feeling of the government that men not interested in any way in Canadian railroad affairs should be chosen, but such men possessing the requisite ability are hard to obtain. Either the United States or Great Britain will have to be turned to.

Directors of C. N. R.
"Stories published in the press some time ago that Sir John Eaton, J. E. English and Huxley R. Drummond would be the new government directors on the board of the Canadian Northern Railway are incorrect. It was learned to-day that Messrs. Drummond and English have refused to consider appointment to the position in question. It is understood that Sir John Eaton also is disinclined to accept."

SANAGEN

READ THIS!

From the Daily Mail, July 26, 1915.

"To avoid the necessity of prescribing Sanatogen the medical profession has manifested a desire for a British-owned and British-made preparation, manufactured according to the expired patent of Wulffing—namely a pure milk casein enriched with soluble glycerophosphates by the process covered by Wulffing patent. Sanagen, we are informed, is shown by analysis to be identical with Sanatogen. As a tonic and invigorative nerve restorative, for cases of debility, neurasthenia, and loss of weight, and as a special food for administration under proper medical supervision to invalids and weak children, it is stated that Sanagen can be relied upon as the equivalent of Sanatogen."

MEXICANS MAY ATTACK UNITED STATES FORCE

Washington, June 17.—Maj. General Funston advised the war department to-day that he had been informed by Brig-General Bell, at El Paso, that Brig-General Pershing had been warned by General Trevino, the Carranza commander at Chihuahua, that any movement of the American expeditionary force to the south or east, would be a signal for an attack by the Mexican forces.

Laredo, Tex., June 17.—Phillip C. Hanna, U. S. consul-general at Monterey, and one of the two remaining American consuls in Mexico, accompanied by half a dozen other Americans, arrived here to-day. He was reluctant as to the object of his visit.

San Antonio, Tex., June 17.—The arrival at Laredo to-day of Phillip Hanna, United States consul general at Monterey, developed the fact that the state department had ordered both him and J. C. Silliman, consul at Saltillo, to the American side of the river. The withdrawal of these two consular officers will leave the American government with no consular representatives at interior points in Mexico, except an agent at Mexico City.

TO WRITE ABOUT WAR.

New York, June 17.—When the American liner Philadelphia sailed for Liverpool to-day, Charles Edward Russell, American author and candidate for president on the Socialist ticket in 1912, who quit his party a month ago over the question of preparedness, went aboard. He is accompanied by his wife. He is going over to get material for a series of articles on the war from the French front, and expects to return in September.

Nervous and Almost Crazy With Pains in the Head

Clergyman Certifies to This Cure of Nervous Prostration by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

No ailment is more discouraging than Nervous Prostration. You may feel better for day or two, only to find the next day that you have lost ground and are worse than ever. The headaches are worse, languid feelings are terribly depressing. As you lose strength you lose hope and courage and look to the future with fear and trembling.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest blessing that has ever come to the sufferer from nervous exhaustion. It is not narcotic in its influence. It does not deaden the trembling, irritated nerves, but through the medium of the blood nourishes them back to health as nothing else can.

Mrs. Alonso B. Eisner, Billtown, King's county, N. S., writes:—"I was very low with nervous prostration and was about discouraged, as I could not sleep nights and was almost crazy with the pain in my head. I had tried many doctors, but seemed to get little benefit from their treatments.

"A friend handed me Dr. Chase's Almanac, so that I might read about the Nerve Food. A single box of this treatment convinced me of its value, for I was better. I cannot tell how many boxes I used, but the results were so highly satisfactory that I cannot praise it too much. My health and strength have been restored so that I can do all my own work, and I recommend the Nerve Food to all who suffer from nervous prostration."

"This is to certify that I am acquainted with Mrs. A. B. Eisner and believe her statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to be true and correct."—Rev. Arthur A. Whitman.

Some patience is required in the treatment of nervous prostration, but you will not be using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food long before you begin to find your strength and good cheer returning. You will then be encouraged to continue the use of the food cure until cured; 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

MINES WASHED UP ON DUTCH COASTS

More Than 1,000 Have Been Cast Up Since Beginning of War

The Hague, June 17.—More than 1,000 mines have been washed ashore on the coasts of Holland. These have been classified by the authorities as 535 British, 61 French and 193 German and the others as "origin unknown." A majority of them were cast up by the sea at points in the estuary of the Scheldt river, in the extreme southwestern part of Holland, which is nearest to the vast minefield designed to bar ingress from the North Sea into the English channel. Many mines, however, drift higher up, and some even reach the chain of islands which form the natural sea barrier of Holland's northern coast.

Swift destroyers are constantly on the lookout for mines on the route followed by the Holland-American liners. Only recently visitors to Scheveningen, a fashionable bathing resort, witnessed a battery of machine guns firing from the promenade on a mine floating past the pier head.

"The practice of the Dutch naval authorities is to destroy these cast-aways when and where they are found. Anchored Mines.

"Virtually all the mines that are washed ashore here are anchored mines," said a Dutch naval commander. "These, as their name indicates, are mines that are kept afloat a few feet beneath the surface of the sea by a weight attached to them by half-inch or three-quarter inch cables. They keep stationary for perhaps a couple of months, but after that the action of the sea water causes corrosion of some part of the attaching gear and the next gale breaks them loose from their moorings. So they become drifting mines, and as such, dangers to navigation. They should not be confused with drifting mines proper, which are those which are sown by warships or mine-layers in their own wake when pursued by an enemy. These mines, of an altogether different type, must become ineffective within a few hours as prescribed by the Hague Convention. That is, they sink to the bottom automatically. All those found in Dutch waters were once anchored mines that broke away from their anchorage."

"The great majority of them are harmless if properly handled, and the only trouble is to prevent people who do not know anything about mines from fooling around them. A month or so ago, for instance, a French mine came ashore on the coast of the island of Schouwen, in the province of Zeeland. This mine had the familiar French cable attachment which, when pulled hard, explodes the mine. Five fishermen, observing a bit of cable hanging from the monster, thought it handy for pulling it in. They began to drag it along, and the inevitable happened. A few scraps of clothing were all that was left of the men.

KILLED NINE.

"In the case of a mine washed up near Domburg, in Zeeland, nine on-lookers were killed by a premature explosion and much material damage was done too. Compensation was refused by both the state and local authorities. The government felt it could not establish a precedent. Grants were made unofficially, however, to some poor folks whose homes had been completely ruined."

The sea-faring men of Holland apparently have become accustomed to the new peril of the deep. The old terror of mines has largely disappeared. Sailors coming into port tell with the greatest composure of having sighted "so-and-so many mines" and display little fear at meeting them again. The death roll in this country from mine explosions so far does not exceed a score.

WOMAN-IN SEATTLE WAS FOUND MURDERED

Seattle, June 17.—Mrs. Blanche R. Coleman, 27 years of age, was found dead in her apartment at the Christie hotel, Fourth avenue and Olive street, a few minutes after 4 o'clock this morning. Her throat had been cut with a knife.

John Soudas, whom the police believe to be the slayer, was arrested shortly after 8 o'clock as he was unlocking his place of business on Westlake avenue, between Stewart street and Pine street. Soudas is the proprietor of a small cigar stand.

The cash that $60 worth of jewelry and $10 in money belonging to Mrs. Coleman was found untouched in her room. Soudas was charged with the murder of the woman, although the police are unable to assign any other motive.

ELK RIVER STILL RISING AT FERNIE

Fernie, June 17.—The Elk river still is rising and is a foot higher than last night. The water is spreading over the lower portions of the town, but no serious damage has occurred.

The government bridges over the river are all intact and not much danger is anticipated regarding them. The Elk Lumber Company's bridge in West Fernie, being the lowest of any, will be in danger if the river rises much more. The warm weather, which is continuing, indicates a still further rise.

Capt. Skinner, quartermaster of the 25th Battalion, has all his stores safe, having had a hundred tons removed some time ago to the C. P. R. freight sheds. The remainder was brought up town yesterday. An incineration plant and all other sanitation requisites have been installed at the new camp, and tents have been erected for the soldiers, who seem to welcome the change from the old rink to open air conditions.

Seattle, June 17.—A high note was struck last night at the annual banquet of the Canadian Bar Association. Henry R. T. McFarland, of Washington, delivered an inspiring address.

"Canada," he said, "has become great. Yours is the new life and the new consciousness which mean leadership on this continent. Through the ordeal of fire and blood you are chastened and refined, uplifted and strengthened. We (the United States) as a caustic writer has said, are wallowing in the luxury of imperialism. You have found again that old-fashioned devotion to righteousness. You have spent freely of your manhood and of your money, but you have found your souls."

Dublin, June 17.—The prosecutor in the court-martial trials in Dublin revealed yesterday that three German officers and 23 British soldiers had been captured at Cork when they tried to land from a German gun carrier which accompanied the submarine on which Sir Roger Casement came to Ireland. The men were interned.

A dispatch from London on April 25, the day following the capture of Sir Roger Casement, said that 22 Germans picked men from the German navy had been captured in connection with the filibustering expedition to Ireland. The arrest took place at Tralee, which is 33 miles west-northwest of Cork.

VICTORIAN SAW ZEPPELIN BROUGHT DOWN NEAR SALONICA

I forgot to mention that Capt. Yellowlegs, adjutant of No. 4 General Hospital, lost his life trying to make his way to the Zeppelin on horseback; no one knows exactly how. His body was never recovered.

To-day we reached a total of 1,006 patients, 65 above capacity, and our record to date. We have been taking them in by the hundreds during the last few days, while also sending them out in big batches, and have been hard worked as you can imagine.

The flies are becoming decidedly bothersome, and we are taking regular doses of quinine as a preventive against malaria.

Very Warm.

While you are enjoying country life at home I am doing the same under difficulties in Macedonia, for the country life is the only life here. I was in the city on Sunday, the first time in about a month, and right then and there I swore I never would go there again unless I had to. In the heat (it is roasting hot now) Salonica is absolutely unbearable. The sweltering heat and the stench from the filth with which the streets abound take all the pleasure out of the study of the motley jumble of humanity and the many picturesque sights, which is about the only thing there is to do there. On the other hand I have had several highly enjoyable jaunts in the country districts lately. True, this is warm work, too, but the air is fresh and the people are cleaner. For instance, the other day I "biked" about 15 miles over the first ridge of the Balkan hills. Here I found the loveliest little valley of rich vineyards and grain fields straddled here and there with quaint little villages as ancient almost as the hills themselves, to judge from their appearance. They seemed shut off from the entire world, and one could quite imagine the people knowing nothing about and having no contact with the world that is going on outside the confines of their own particular little sphere.

Landing of Serbians.

One of the most interesting sights to be seen in the vicinity of our camp is the landing of the Serbian army. I have been down to their encampment a number of times. They are a sturdy lot of fellows, much superior physically to the Greeks, and in fact easily a match in that respect for any of the troops to be seen hereabouts. Unkempt and rather the worse for wear generally, they nevertheless appear to be very jolly, and I have found both officers and men delightfully accommodating.

The officers are great dandies, and despite the hardships and exigencies of their recent experiences, most of them are dressed in uniforms of the finest cloth and cut, with beautifully lacquered leggings, and buttons, badges and epaulettes glittering resplendently. The men on the other hand are garbed in motley, the British and French having apparently clubbed together to help them out.

While on my travels in this direction one day I discovered a stork's nest. Mr. and Mrs. Stork were flapping about nearby. I couldn't reach the nest to see whether there were any young in it. I also have a little pet tortoise. In this I am not alone, for the fields swarm with tortoises.

UNITED STATES WILL MAKE WAR ON WAR

Significance Which Alfred G. Gardiner Sees in Talk About Preparedness

London, June 17.—The preparedness issue in the United States means that the greatest power on the face of the globe, now at peace, has come into the world system to secure herself against war and the effects of war," says Alfred G. Gardiner, editor of the Daily News, in a two-column editorial in that newspaper to-day.

"So far as the United States is concerned, the forthcoming presidential election is the most momentous since Lincoln was chosen. So far as the world is concerned, it is incomparably more momentous, because it is to decide what the United States stands for in regard to the future of the world. And with that decision, not the interests of the United States alone, but the interests of Europe and of the whole earth are bound up. The underlying watchword of the preparedness issue which is sweeping the United States, is the idea that the power of the United States should be used to deliver humanity from the ills in which it has been smothered by the past; that it should be the weapon of a new dispensation and that the affairs of men shall henceforth be subject to the arbitration, not of force, but of justice.

"The sword which the United States is forging will be used not to make war, but to make war on war and to lay the foundation of world security. It means that the United States will be the saviour of Europe."

Toronto, June 17.—A high note was struck last night at the annual banquet of the Canadian Bar Association. Henry R. T. McFarland, of Washington, delivered an inspiring address.

"Canada," he said, "has become great. Yours is the new life and the new consciousness which mean leadership on this continent. Through the ordeal of fire and blood you are chastened and refined, uplifted and strengthened. We (the United States) as a caustic writer has said, are wallowing in the luxury of imperialism. You have found again that old-fashioned devotion to righteousness. You have spent freely of your manhood and of your money, but you have found your souls."

FRENCH ARMY READY; ENORMOUS RESOURCES

Associated Press Correspondent Impressed on Visit to Three French Army Corps

London, June 17.—To a correspondent of the Associated Press was accorded the very valuable privilege of visiting the Fifth French Army Corps, lying on the left flank of the army before Verdun, and two other army corps, at the same time as M. Painleve, a member of the cabinet of France, was making a tour of the front. Dating his story from the headquarters of General Houlouin, commander of the Fifth Corps, he describes how that capable leader led the party through the front line trenches, undergoing a bombardment attracted by their presence, and finally into the Argonne Forest, where the ravages of the war were to be seen on all hands in torn earth, wrecked roadways and splintered trees. He continues:

It is no easy thing—this walking through the front trenches. They have tried to floor them, to keep the men raised out of the sticky clay, but the floors are of round saplings, about the thickness of telegraph poles, laid side by side, making a bumpy surface. It is all right for the poilu in his wooden sabots, but for a civilian it is like going over railroad ties. And besides there is the zig-zag, for the trenches turn sharply every twenty feet. And the width apart of these clay walls is no greater than four feet—much like excavations one sees in the street for a sewer or gas main. Every hundred feet the visitor's head strikes one of the heavy timber bridges thrown across the trenches.

"See how this works," said a young officer commanding this section of trench, as he pointed to a chevaux-de-frise balanced above the trench, ready to drop and bar all progress should the Germans break through. The chevaux-de-frise was a stouky frame laced and wound with ugly barbed wire. A long wire ran away to a point of observation.

"Close the trench," shouted the young officer, and the chevaux-de-frise came tumbling down, fitting exactly across the trench, and immovable in its barrier of twisted wire.

Dugouts.

Every few feet the clay wall of the trench showed a large black hole—the entrance to the subterranean pits where the men sleep and eat and live. General Houlouin wanted the party to see everything—the real living conditions of the men—so down one of these black holes the guests went. Soon the daylight disappeared and there was the darkness of a tunnel, and the damp earthy smell of being underground. There was a call for candles, and then suddenly this cavern was brightly illuminated as the electric current was turned on for the general and his party. Now the men could be seen plainly, some in the narrow dugouts, some against the walls, others at a table with a lantern. At the farther end was a small separate hole in the earth—the quarters of the officer commanding the trench. He had put up photographs on the clay sides, one of them a picture of General Joffre, and his little table had several books and letters.

"It is not so bad," he said with pride as he showed his things. "And it is very practical, and even comfortable, when you get used to it."

A telephone stood handy to the commander of the section, and the telephone wires, encased in a wire-bound rubber hose, could be seen leading off to all the ramifications of the trench, permitting the commander to communicate with any part of his section. It was a fighting section, and the commander pointed out his position coming and going to the guns. Two hours is the allotted time for a man to work the guns under fire. Then another man takes his place, and then another, with as much regularity as the force and the urgencies of the fighting permit.

A squad of these men, in a trench battery, were manoeuvring their guns so as to get a good aim. The opening through which the muzzle of the gun projected was only five inches wide, excepting the field cast and west. Steel rails had been utilized for the protective armor, and the muzzle of the gun swung between an upper and lower rail of steel. The pit was low, requiring the men to bend double and increasing the weariness of their task. There were hundreds of these guns at intervals, each giving off its bark and adding to the carnage and devastation ahead.

A Big Gun.

In a heavily wooded ravine stood one of the big guns, inactive for the moment and covered with a tarpaulin. Dense shrubbery in front and above kept the place screened from the observation of enemy field-glasses or over-flying aviators. Nearby in a high tree an encircling ladder ran up to an observation platform, which was all screened in the trick foliage of the tree. The gunners stood about the big gun ready for an attack, and General Houlouin had them take off the tarpaulin and put the huge monster through its courses. The great muzzle poked its nose through the foliage, seeking out this point and that along the German front, stretching off the other side of the ravine.

Then visits were made to the first-aid surgeons in the trenches, posted at handy intervals along the line. There is no effort here to have all the equipment of a hospital; only the bare necessities for urgent action are at hand, when some wound needs heroic treatment at once to staunch the flow of blood from a severed artery until the wounded man can be carried back to the field hospital for fuller treatment.

at one point to explain the details of the rows of barracks rising tier on tier, six stories high, along the side of a steep hill. As he left, one of the officers said:

"That man had a remarkable experience which saved the day at a bloody stage of the fighting some time ago. The struggle had been desperate late into the day, until both sides were utterly exhausted. The men fairly dropped in their tracks, and neither side had the physical energy left to strike the final blow that would be decisive. Colonel Desfontaines realized the situation, and going to the head of his exhausted men, he coolly threw aside his revolver, took out his pipe; lit it, and then, pipe in mouth, called to his men to make a last charge. The audacity of the act at a moment of such exhaustion heartened the worn-out men; they struggled to their feet and made the rush which the crisis needed. It saved the day; the German were swept from the field; and Colonel Desfontaines is wearing the 'Croix de Guerre'."

Returning, the party passed the headquarters of General Humbert, and M. Painleve paused to call on the commander of the Third Army Corps. General Humbert is installed in a vast park, for his reserves are farther back from the fighting front. The general has a student-like face, with spare, thin build. The talk turned on the splendid condition of the men, as M. Painleve had just observed them.

Indomitable.

"Yes," said General Humbert, "let me give you an instance showing the morale of the men. There was an exposed position where it was necessary to send a man. Volunteers were called for, as the place was swept by enemy fire and it meant sure death. A man stepped forward immediately. He pushed forward to the exposed point and was shot dead. Then his companion stepped forward, and he, too, was shot dead. And then a third took his turn and fell; and a fourth; and then a fifth. Yes, five men, one after another, seeking just what had happened and knowing it meant certain death, each took his turn with absolute calmness. That is only a passing instance, but it shows the everlasting purpose of our men."

General Humbert's tribute only confirmed the impression made on every member of the party by this trip of inspection, covering several days, over hundreds of miles, to three army corps with the corps commanders leading the way to the very front looking out on immortal Verdun back to the preparatory works and reserves. Everywhere the French army was ready, abundant in men, ammunition and supplies, and with enormous resources still uncalled upon.

H. STEWART ADDRESSED MEETING AT GRANTHAM

Liberal Candidate in Comox Riding Was Given an Ovation.

Courtenay, June 17.—Hugh Stewart, Liberal candidate for the Comox district, was the chief speaker at a largely attended Liberal meeting at Grantham. Horace M. McKee was in the chair and opened the meeting with a few well-pointed remarks.

Mr. Stewart spoke on the compensation bill, the action instituted by H. C. Brewster, the Liberal leader; civil reform and the evil influence of Mackenzie & Mann and the Canadian Collieries, Ltd., had with the government. The speaker also spoke at some length on the subject of supervision by the government of the flotation of joint stock companies as regards their capitalization, and cited several cases where over capitalization had brought ruin in its wake.

ITALY'S FIGHT.

The fall of the Salandra ministry was not unexpected. It never was numerically dominant in the chamber, but even if it were it probably would have collapsed as the result of Austria's offensive in the Tyrol. Enemy gains always react upon the government of the country which gives ground. Whether those gains are worth the losses the attacking army sustains in making them is of little consequence in their effect upon the fortunes of the ministry. The public does not appraise them on the basis of military value; its point of view is not influenced very much by strategic considerations. What it sees is the enemy sweeping into its territory, laying waste its towns and inflicting hardship upon the civil population. It thereupon loses confidence in the government, which it holds responsible for the situation and readily supports an agitation for a change which finally gains its object. The ministry which held office in France when the war broke out did not survive the German invasion by many days. The substitution of a coalition government for the Asquith ministry was the result of our own reverses. The retirement of the Russian armies last summer not only occasioned a remarkable house-cleaning in the bureaucracy at Petrograd, but profoundly affected the entire administrative system of the Czar's empire. It is noteworthy, however, that the public always remains loyal to the army and the leadership in the field. It is only the government that suffers. The military situation of Italy, however, was sufficiently menacing to undermine the popularity of the strongest ministry. During the first nine months of this phase of the struggle the Italians had driven a number of salients into the Austrian frontier defences toward Trent, between the Adige and Brenns. At the same time they began a formidable campaign along the Isonzo for the conquest of Trieste and with the ultimate object of penetrating into the heart of Austria. Their progress was bound to be very slow owing to the difficult nature of the country and the strategic disadvantages of their position. They first had to secure their line in the Trentino, their northern objective, before they could attempt anything ambitious on the Isonzo front, their eastern theatre, for could enemy break into Italy from the north, capture Vicenza and Treviso, not only would he soon have Venice, but he would be able to take the Italian army in Carpi and on the Isonzo in the rear. He had only to advance some sixty miles to bar the retreat of Italian armies fighting almost a hundred miles to the east. A glance at the map will show the dangers and difficulties of the Italian campaign.

And this southern advance is precisely what the Teutons attempted. They surged against the Italian positions south of Trent, between the river Adige and the Eugana valley on a front of thirty miles. The Italian salients, subjected to a fierce concentration of artillery from several directions, were driven in and finally the Austrian centre, advancing across the border, gained the heights confronting the two Italian bases of Arsiero and Asiago. These places command the approach to Visenza, the present Italian headquarters, only twenty-five miles away, and are but fifty miles from Venice, the ultimate Austrian objective. But while the Austrian centre had made alarming progress and had occupied fifty square miles of Italian territory, its own position had become difficult. Asiago and Arsiero are so situated that they could not be taken by frontal advance without losses that Austria cannot afford, if they could be taken at all. The Austrian flanks were still firmly held in Austrian territory; indeed the Italians were progressing on the west. Moreover, the Austrian centre had no railroad communications, only the flanks being supplied in this way, while the Italians were well equipped with transportation services along the entire front. Thus while the Austrian advance was a serious threat at the very vitals of Italy's military power the enemy also had reached a position of serious danger and difficulty. Evidently Count Cadorna was confident that the enemy's momentum would be checked before Arsiero and Asiago or he would have withdrawn his advanced lines from Carnia and along the Isonzo northeast and east respectively of the scene of Austria's main efforts.

Then came the staggering Russian blow against the Teutonic southern front and the almost immediate reduction of the Austrian pressure in the Tyrol. Brusiloff's stroke was delivered at a perfectly chosen moment. Large Austrian forces were so closely involved in the Italian campaign that it would take many days for them to divert reinforcements to Bukovina and Galicia; the Germans were swilling their casualties beyond the half million mark at Verdun. When the Russians went through the field works of the enemy in Volhynia as if they were built of straw, Austria detached 46,000 from the Tyrol, but before they could reach the east Brusiloff had smashed a gap of a hundred miles in the defending front and had taken Lutsk and Dubno. The Italians then resumed the offensive and in the last few days have recorded substantial gains. Russia thus has killed two birds with one stone and the third bird, the campaign at Verdun, is fluttering with a broken wing.

The developments on the Italian front during the last month have fully vindicated the judgment of Count Cadorna against the criticism directed against him in not only the other entente countries but in his own country. Italy was blamed for not sending an army to the Balkans when Austria struck at Serbia, but from first to last Cadorna stoutly opposed any such expedition. He knew that an Austrian drive southward from the Trentino had to cover but a few miles to give the enemy an overwhelming victory which would compel Italy to sue for terms. He knew also that the shortest route to the heart of Austria lay not through Serbia but across the Isonzo and beyond the Carnic Alps, the road over which Napoleon, fighting precisely the same campaign as that on which the Italians are now engaged, smashed his way to Vienna. And among the possibilities in the lap of the gods is an Italian advance along the path of the Little Corporal to the ancient capital of the Hapsburgs.

A COMMON ABSURDITY.

The extraordinary latitude given to companies incorporated under the Companies Act of this province has long been the subject of criticism. A striking example appears in the current issue of the Provincial Gazette in regard to a company organized ostensibly and essentially for the purpose of constructing and operating ships in connection with the lumber industry. In the certificate of incorporation twenty clauses covering more than a page are devoted to the enumeration of the objects sought by the company. Of these only one refers to shipbuilding or shipping.

The company is empowered to deal in transactions affecting lands, buildings, timber, mining, water records, mortgages, patents, securities, licences, and so on. It may "construct, maintain, alter, make, work and operate canals, trails, aqueducts, tramways, bridges, furnaces, smelters, refining and reduction works and other establishments foreign to shipbuilding. It may acquire tracts of land for the purpose of subdividing and selling them in lots; carry on general business as contractors, wholesale and retail merchants, hotel, restaurant and cafe keepers, licensed victuallers, tobacco sellers and dispensers of "other articles and things." It is empowered to engage in the business of omnibus, coach and van proprietors and to keep a livery stable. It may lend money on real or personal security, and generally carry on business as financiers and investors and among other things it is enabled to conduct the business of a power company to sell heat, light, water power, compressed air, electricity and electric power and any other forms of developed power.

In the foregoing we have set forth only a portion of the powers conferred upon this company. There are, we admit, a few omissions. The long list contains no reference to the running of a bank, a newspaper, a church, a matrimonial agency, a skating rink, an auditor or a baseball park. It also omits the power to inaugurate an aircraft service between the earth and Mars. We are rather surprised, too, that the certificate of incorporation contains no provision for the establishment of a divinity college or a school of technology. This company is capitalized for $25,000. Of course it has no intention of engaging in the bewildering multitude of enterprises for which it is given power under the act. If it had it would have to find about $250,000,000. It is going to be an applicant for aid according to the provisions of the shipping legislation enacted at the recent session. That being the case, the powers conferred upon it should be confined to the construction and operation of ships and the activities directly allied to that industry. The legislature of British Columbia has been generous enough in all conscience in its subsidies in the last few years, but it has not yet undertaken to subsidize hotels, tobacco shops, livery stables, mines, smelters, the real estate business, and so forth. Even the "rubber stamps" would not go that far. The Companies Act needs overhauling in such a way as to restrict the powers conferred upon organizations incorporated under its provisions to the actual industrial objects in view. This would bring the average incorporation certificate within the limits of reason and common sense and strengthen the position of genuine enterprises in the confidence of the public.

MORE FOOD PLANS.

A Berlin dispatch says that the new food dictator has devised a plan which solves the food difficulty until the fall harvest, when everything will be all right. If the German people could digest the numerous announcements on this subject which emanate from their official bluff factory, no doubt they would get along nicely in spite of the blockade, but as they are neither ostrich-like nor goat-like in their appetites, they will find that the plans of the food dictator will work out no more satisfactorily than did the many devices of the late Minister Debruck.

Only through peace can Germany's food problem be solved, and the longer the war lasts the more acute it will become. It is impossible to provide for an equitable distribution of the German food supply and to fix a uniform diet for the people. Months ago we pointed out that the rich and influential would continue to consume most of the food, that the poorer classes would receive less as time went by and that any attempt to fix a uniform diet would wreck the health of a great part of the population. A Berlin professor has just made the discovery that experimenting in diets has disastrous results. What might benefit one class of people might kill another. If Germany is lacking in standard foodstuffs nothing that her well-fed junkies may devise for the common consumers will prevent malnutrition, epidemic, loss of vitality and death. Nor will the situation be much improved by the next harvest. The crop has been injured by storms and the farmers were handicapped in other ways. More than that, Germany is suffering from scarcity of meat, butter, eggs, lard, fats and other commodities of which she always was a large importer, and the supply of which cannot be affected by the harvest.

ENGLAND!

The New York American, a Hearst newspaper with a large circulation (a fact that is the reverse of complimentary to its constituency, as it is about the crudest thing issued from printing presses in any country) is pro-German in its sympathies, and never misses an opportunity of taking a thrust at Britain with its "tickler." Its fibes and jeers and evident disposition to make the worse appear the better cause aroused the indignation of Miss Helen Greybone, one of its readers, beyond the point of passive endurance, and she lady hurled the following verses at the head of the American's editor:

A song of hate is a song of Hell! Some there be that sing it well. Let them sing it loud and long. We lift our hearts in a loftier song; We lift our hearts to Heaven above, Sing the glory of her we love—England!

Glory of thought and glory of deed, Glory of Hampden and Bunyons, Glory of ships that sought far goals, Glory of swords and glory of souls, Glory of songs mounting as birds, Glory immortal of magic words, Glory of Milton, glory of Nelson, Tragical glory of Gordon and Scott; Glory of Shelley, glory of Byron, Glory transcendent that perisheth not, Here is the glory, here be the glory—England!

Shatter her beautiful breast ye may, The spirit of England none can slay, Dash the bomb on the dome of St. Paul's, Dash ye the fane of the admiral's fall; Pry the stone from the chancel floor, Dream ye that Shakespeare shall live no more!

Where is the giant shot that kills Wordworth walking the old green hills? Trample the red rose on the ground, Keats is beauty while earth spins round! Blind her, grind her, burn her with fire, Cast her ashes into the sea, Who shall escape, she shall aspire, She shall arise to make men free; She shall arise in sacred scorn, Lighting the lives that are yet unborn; Spirit supernal, splendour eternal—England!

Truly a poem of inspiration for Englishmen written by one worthy of being an English woman.

In pursuance of her well-known policy of championing the rights, liberties, etc., of all nations, and particularly of small nations, Germany has caused a proclamation to issue in the name of one of her professors—doubtless of religion—that the hour has come for Spain to strike and wrest Gibraltar from the greedy, tyrannical and overbearing British nation. But to accomplish this Alfonso is admonished that he must join his forces with those of the "illustrious and victorious central powers." Bloody Wilhelm would like to play the part of spider with Alfonso as the fly.

A week or so ago Republican newspapers with right good or ill will were flaying Roosevelt. Now they are beseeching him not to think of retiring from public life. They say his services to his country have been boundless, almost beyond price. The Colonel is at least a man with a mind of his own and with sufficient strength and determination to "speak the thing he will." He is the living embodiment of what "Americanism" ought to be.

Life (New York): Scold Great Britain by all means; but, oh, brethren, try to do it with intelligence. "Beaten in this war," is she? You will find, judge, that she is not only unbeaten, but unbeatable. Called upon to be all things to all men and Nemeses to Germany, she has slipped up in some particulars, but she is not only going still, but going strong, and she is today the one unbeatable factor in the allied combination.

According to the stories we publish to-day from our correspondents at Salonica, the people in that region live in an unattractive way in a very interesting country. Some exciting events are recorded in the chronicles and more are likely to occur, if they are not already occurring.

Pleased indeed to hear that the health of Colonel Roosevelt is improving. His country could ill spare the public services of such a man at such a time.

The Italians too are "coming back." Yes, of course, as their chancellor says, the Huns are stronger on all fronts.

THREE LOTTERY RAIDS MADE LAST EVENING

Three Chinese and Six White Men Are Gathered in Police Net

For some time there has been a full in the prosecutions of Chinese lottery haunts, following the discouraging position discovered recently that a Chinese lottery is not a common gaming house, although the paraphernalia may be destroyed when seized.

However, a threefold raid was executed shortly after 9 o'clock last evening, in charge of Inspector Heatley, who had the assistance of Sergt. Fry, Constables Jones, Stark, McLellan, Palmer and Cockburn. They divided themselves into parties of two each, and made a descent on three premises on Government street, 550, 552 and 554 on that street, which had been under suspicion and for which warrants were issued.

At 554 one man was taken, and 550 four civilians and a soldier. The raids were carried out simultaneously, and the alleged keepers in each case, all Chinese, were seized. All the men arrested for being in the premises were white men, Chinese being detained.

In the city police court this morning the charges were read against the three alleged keepers, and they were remanded at the request of counsel till Tuesday. R. C. Lowe is acting on their behalf.

Five of the six white men answered their names, a warrant being ordered to be issued for the sixth man who had obtained bail and did not appear. The five men all denied they had purchased tickets in the lottery. In view of the decision that a Chinese lottery is not a gaming house within the meaning of the statute, the city prosecutor did not proceed with the case against the men, and contented himself with asking for them to be released, which was done. A large amount of paraphernalia, seized by the police on the various premises, is on exhibit for the attention of the court when the case is further examined next week.

Federation Meeting Cancelled.—The Adult Bible Class Federation has cancelled its meeting for this month, but will meet as usual on the third Wednesday in July.

Oak Bay Police Court.—The case of Pte. Julius Moray, the Belgian who had been convicted of assault on a fellow soldier, was finally disposed of in Oak Bay police court this morning, when he was released on suspended sentence in order to join another corps.

Emmanuel Baptist Church.—To-morrow morning Rev. John Craig, of India, will preach at the Emmanuel Baptist church, and the pastor will take charge of the service in the evening, his subject to be "The Hidden Glory of the Soul."

Mrs. Macdonald Fahey to Sing.—Mrs. Macdonald Fahey will sing to-morrow night at the First Baptist church, Dominion theatre. As this will be the last but one appearance of Rev. Mr. Warnicker in the pulpit it is anticipated that a big congregation will be present at the evening service.

Eleventh C. M. R. Church Service.—The 11th C. M. R. will attend special service to-morrow morning at 9.30 at Christ Church cathedral, marching there by Fort and Quadra. The services will conclude at 10 a. m. The battalion will parade on Burdett avenue, and march back by Douglas and Yates.

Congregational Church.—The management of the Congregational church, corner of Quadra and Mason streets, have been fortunate in securing for to-morrow's services Rev. Ralph Woodward, for the morning, and for the evening, Rev. Capt. Campbell, D. D., chaplain of the 59th Gordon Highlanders. There will be a good musical programme, and a hearty welcome will be given all.

Children's Day.—To-morrow will be Children's Day at Wesley Methodist church, the day being the anniversary of the Sunday school. The pastor will speak in the morning on "The Little Foxes That Spoil the Vines." In the afternoon Rev. Robert Hughes, of Esquimalt, and Noah Shakespeare will address an open session of the Sunday school. In the evening the pastor's subject will be "A Splendid Boy." A cordial invitation is extended to all the parents of the children to attend these services.

Serious Assault Case.—For putting open the face of Joseph Lucas, proprietor of the Commercial hotel, with a beer glass James Begg was fined $50 in the police court this morning. The dispute arose from a trifling incident, Begg having offered some American copper in payment for a drink, and Lucas said he could not accept it. Begg started insulting him, and then slapped his face. Lucas had a pitcher of water in his hand which he poured over the man, who thereupon picked up the heavy beer glass, and flung it at him.

Navy League Chapter.—The regular monthly meeting of the Navy League Chapter, I. O. D. E., was held yesterday in the United Service rooms. Mrs. F. Lowie and Mrs. Halley were elected, and Messdames T. A. Brown, Stuart W. Benson, H. H. Foster, and Audain were nominated as members of the chapter. Mrs. Gordon Smith, the chapter's delegate to the Local Council of Women, gave an interesting report of the work of that order. A standing vote of thanks was given to Miss Tobin for the children's entertainment arranged so successfully by her for the benefit of the chapter funds. The meeting then adjourned, and the chapter will not meet again during the summer months.

SUGGESTIONS FOR VACATION WARDROBE

Sport Shirts and Skirts Are Popular; a Few Words on Shoes

New York, June 17.—For true sport, the vacation girl must dress the part, whether her outing be a tramping tour, a camping trip, a mountain climb, or just the conventional round of tennis, golf and boating. Perhaps the most comfortable general outfit for the girl who likes a long cross-country tramp, is the short skirt of corduroy, with heavy tan boots, not too high, well oiled to prevent wetting through, a soft tan flannel shirt, made on the order of a man's, with pockets, and soft roll collar, and a soft felt or Panama hat, which is light of weight and wide enough of brim to keep the face from burning. Dogskin or wash chamolite gloves may be worn if one has the patience for them, and desires to keep the hands smooth and white. These sport shirts are being used generally for even the most conventional sports purposes. They are developed in many suitable materials, ranging from flannel to the elaborately colored, checked and striped silk shirtings and taffetas. The comfortable and practical sport skirts are fashioned of the colored cotton velours and corduroys, the vividly striped linens and various weaves, smart mixtures of Scotch and English chevots and tweeds, soft wool plaids and checks, and for real hard usage the regulation corduroys, and khaki. These skirts are cut short, full enough for comfort, and well supplied with pockets. They usually fit trimly around waist and hips, and combined with a natty sport blouse or shirt, form a smart, becoming costume. Coats and Sweaters. Sweaters, or sweater coats, are decidedly comfortable and practical articles to complete the sport costume. These sweater coats are made of the new striped and plain jersey cloths in wool or silk; of corduroy, in the bright, pretty colorings favored for this purpose of broadcloth, flannel, tweed and similar fabrics. The striped linen suit, with plain coat, is a general daytime wear. The blouse is one of the new middys, effectively trimmed with collar, cuffs and wide, roomy pockets of the striped material used for the skirt. A smart little sport coat of one of the striped silks, glove or jersey, may be appropriately worn with various frocks and on various occasions. For instance it is not out of place to slip on one of these soft silken coats over the dance or afternoon frock, if one is chilly, and there is no danger of crushing the frock; and they are quite the usual thing to wear over the lingerie dress, either for daytime or evening. There are many effective blouses, cut Russian or modified middy fashion, developed in these soft silks, linens, and novelty fabrics, and commonly called sport blouses, but being appropriately worn for the various daytime occasions made from sports. An especially pretty design is shown here, combined with a skirt of white serge. This model slips on over the head, and is made of the new glove silk, in black and white stripes; the blouse is smartly trimmed with collar, cuffs and girdle of the serge. Such a costume is charming and sensible for the girl who plays tennis and indulges in similar sports, and it may be worn quite as appropriately by the girl who merely looks on. Sporting and Walking Shoes. Whether it is the influence of the sports fad, or just a natural reaction from uncomfortable heels and pointed toes, one sees numbers of sensible shoes worn by smartly dressed women these days. Of course there is the distinct sports shoe for tennis, or golf, with rubber sole and heel, and the heavy tramping or hunting boot. But there is another shoe, a typical walking shoe, which is beginning to be seen on the street, worn with the smartly tailored suit of serge or linen; this shoe or tie has a broad heel, a round toe and generally sensible, smart appearance. One of the most charming low shoes of the season, worn for the street, with a tailored suit, is of patent leather with heels which resemble closely the old fashioned spring heels of the child's shoe. These are smart, new, and comfortable. For those who find the backward tilt of the low heel rather uncomfortable at first, there comes an air-

Slip-On Blouse and Linen Skirt.

White buckskin, or plain, are popular for general sports wear, with the white or colored linen suit; the plain black or tan walking boot is favored for rough wear. Silk stockings are seldom worn for sports purposes; a good heavy hose of cotton is preferable. How to Save Your Eyes

Try This Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and strain your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Oto tablets. Drop one tablet in 1/2 glass of water and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it. It is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription. The Valmas Drug Co., of Toronto, will fill the above prescription by mail, if your druggist cannot. A prominent City Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Oto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to me, and I can testify that it is a very good preparation. I have used it myself for regular use almost every family."

TO ROYAL VICTORIA

Corporation Signs Contract to Present Photoplays Exclusively at This Theatre

The announcement is made by the Fox Film Corporation that beginning Monday, June 19, they have signed a contract with the Royal Victoria Theatre Company to present exclusively at this theatre their production of photoplays.

This company is one of the largest manufacturers of high-class photoplays in the world, and have contracts with such well-known stars as William Farnum, Nance O'Neil, Wm. J. Kelly, Theda Bara, Jean Sothorn, Stuart Holmes, William E. Shay, Wilton Lackaye, Claire Whitney, Dorothy Donnelly, Jane Lee and Dorothy Bernard.

The first production to be shown here is "The Two Orphans," Adolphe D'Ennery's immortal drama, featuring the three great dramatic stars Theda Bara, Jean Sothorn and Wm. E. Shay.

Adolphe D'Ennery, the author of the "The Two Orphans," was one of the chief glories of French letters, and was admitted to the Academy of the Immortals at an earlier age than any of his fellow scribes had ever been. His play of "The Two Orphans" is probably more widely known than any other drama ever penned, and has obtained world-wide popularity. The most famous stars of the dramatic stage have appeared in the stage version of it, which differs radically from the picturization as prepared for William Fox by Herbert Brenon.

Like most of the leading lights of the French drama, D'Ennery's early days were passed in poverty. At times he tells us he did not have enough to eat. He found employment as a clerk and worked with indefatigable zeal on his plays, often remaining up an entire night in his order. Recognition was long in coming to him, but after he had scored his first success he never penned a failure in all the two hundred plays he wrote; an unequalled record in the history of dramatic literature.

D'Ennery's genius earned him substantial rewards. He gained many medals and decorations, and was feted and honored everywhere. Monarchs showered favors upon him, and he was the idol of the Parisians and of all France. His fortune, amassed solely by his pen, was in excess of $2,000,000 from royalties on his plays and novels, although he lived lavishly and entertained splendidly both at his chateau in Normandy and in his Parisian mansion.

ALEXANDRA ROSE DAY TO HELP CHARITIES

Committee Report Shows How Proceeds of Collection Are to Be Distributed

On Thursday next every citizen of Victoria, and all visitors and friends, will be asked to "wear a rose" in token that they have in mind, even in war time, the care of the institutions of their cities and homes. Amid the sacrifices and economies which every individual is glad and proud to make, in this hour of the empire's need, these have of necessity suffered, and expect to suffer, temporarily, but surely will not be allowed to fall altogether or experience a too harassing embarrassment. The sick, the orphaned, the homeless, the stranger within the gate. For these the kind and grateful hearts of the people will never close the doors by which they have been bidden enter, even though an extra effort must be made to keep them open. A wide selection has been made by the committee so as to include as many institutions as possible which may benefit by the Alexandra-Day collection, as follows:

The Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, which has had for the present to abandon the long cherished hope of a new and efficient building, and is "carrying on" often with over-crowded wards, and other embarrassments, until happier times. Fortunately it has still been possible to equip a maternity ward, which has become essential to the needs of the city and districts, and which is the special care of the women's auxiliary.

since its establishment, and which has this year, for the first time, balanced slightly on the wrong side. The R. C. Orphanage will also be included in the remembrance of the little ones.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Society has long warned the people of the menace of this dread disease, and still continues to ask help of the public in doing what it can to relieve local cases, and instruct in precautionary measures.

The Victorian Order of Nurses, so necessary to the work of the Friendly Help Society, is an inestimable boon to the community, affording professional services to many a household which would otherwise have been unable to afford them. At the present time the R. A. M. C., the Red Cross, the Voluntary Aid, etc., are much in the public eye, and are gaining well-earned laurels for gallant and courageous service in the field and at the front. There are also many women, talented and courageous, remaining at home to meet the needs of the civil population of the empire, and whose daily round of inconspicuous and dutiful service deserve equally to be remembered and valued.

The Connaught Seaman's Institute, the local home of our stranger seamen, whose path is on the deep, and for whom no solicitude can ever sufficiently repay the debt of the empire to her sailors.

The Day Nursery, which is the kind foster-mother for babies whose own mothers are forced by pressure of circumstance to work out, and who, by this loving provision, enabled to do so with an easier heart.

The Refuge Home, which cares for, and restores to society, and usefulness, unfortunate and delinquent child life. All these will have their share in the day's contributions on the following percentage basis, which has been agreed upon by the committee after most careful consideration of conditions and needs:

	Per Cent.
Prov. Royal Jubilee Hospital.....	25
Anti-tuberculosis Society.....	20
Victorian Order of Nurses.....	15
R. C. Orphanage and Connaught Seaman's Institute (each).....	10

Absent friends, or those unable to come to town on the 22nd, but who desire to subscribe, are asked to send their cheques marked Alexandra Rose Day Fund, and addressed to Mrs. H. A. S. Morley, Treasurer, 733 Fort St., Victoria, B. C., by whom all donations will be most gratefully received and acknowledged.
One thing more. This is the only comedy all through the play, the photography and scenic effects being of the highest standard.

The last chapter of "The Goddess" and a Canadian Gazette finish off a splendid programme.

PANTAGES THEATRE.

Thaleros' animal circus and the "Petticoat Minstrel Maids" will head the new bill that will open with Monday matinee at the Pantages theatre next week. The other acts will be: Charles Curtis, the "personality girl"; Charles Semon, eccentric musician; the three Rianos, comedy acrobats; and Arthur Elwell and Tom Kenyon in a harmony singing act.

Thaleros' troupe comprises trained dogs, monkeys and ponies. For years before they were transferred to the theatrical circuits they were featured as a principal attraction of a large circus. Thaleros declares he has been able to accomplish better results with them in stage work than he was able to achieve in the tented arena.

The "Petticoat Minstrel Maids, nine young women, are heralded as superior entertainers. They are dancers and singers, each member of the company offering individual numbers and the whole troupe unite in special selections. One girl is a violinist.

Miss Curtis formerly was of the team of Curtis and Hibbard, who were featured on several of the eastern big time circuits and who played Pantages' time last year. She is said to possess remarkable personality is a clever comedienne and a good singer.

Semon is touted as the "hit" of the show. He appears in comedy make-up, plays string and reed instruments and intersperses his selections with comedy chatter. The feature of his number is his manipulation of freak instruments of different kinds, and seems to possess the faculty of producing harmony from anything that is capable of emitting sound.

The three Rianos are offering a comedy tumbling and acrobatic sketch, "September Morn in Africa." The act is well staged and mechanically equipped.

Elwell and Kenyon have a splendid musical act in which they introduce a number of song hits.

The new episode of "The Iron Claw" shows a plot to kill the hero and heroine by means of poisoned darts.

DOMINION THEATRE.

It seems almost unbelievable that a great star can go on eclipsing her previous performances upon the screen after time, but Mary Pickford's appearance in the Famous Players-Paramount Picture, "The Eternal Grind," which is the feature at the Dominion the coming week, will unquestionably be pronounced her greatest endeavor by public and critics alike. When Miss Pickford starred in "The Foundling" it was almost universally declared to be her finest impersonation. When she followed that with "Poor Little Peppina" that was hailed as the greatest of all.

But in both these characterizations Miss Pickford appeared as a victim of circumstances—as an immature child whom fate had fastened upon as a sort of football to be kicked about at will. In "The Eternal Grind," Miss Pickford is a very mature young lady prematurely ripened by hard work in the factory—whose indomitable will, fearlessness, resolution, ingenuity and forceful personality compel admiration as well as sympathy. There are big scenes in the film—big in their gripping power and in their dramatic force—which make it absorbingly interesting from start to finish. One of the most powerful is that in which Mary—the role so artfully played by the star—finds that the youth who is making love to her has already betrayed her younger and more frivolous sister, Amy. Suspecting Ernest of duplicity, Amy has followed him to Mary's lodgings armed with a revolver. When Mary realizes the situation, she snatches the gun from her sister and forces Ernest to remain where he is until a minister is found. Then, concealed behind the curtains, she presses the revolver against Ernest's back while he goes through the marriage ceremony with Amy. There is another sister in the story, Jane, an invalid, for whose life Mary sacrifices everything in her power. Ernest has a brother, Owen, a big, clean-living chap whose heart goes out to the courageous young girl and to the people whom she represents. He goes to work in his father's factory as a laborer and is nearly killed when the dilapidated floor of the building caves in, causing a terrible panic among the workers. There are other big and interesting characters in the film, all of whom are enacted by clever players.

Loretta Blake, Dorothy West, John Bowers, Robert Cain and J. Albert Hall are among those who appear in support of Miss Pickford in this Famous Players production which was directed by John O'Brien.

CONCERT PARTY AT GORGE

Season Will Be Opened on Sunday Afternoon; Popular Entertainers Engaged.

The concert season at the Gorge will be opened on Sunday when "The Smart Set" will give a programme of classic and patriotic songs at 3 and 8 p. m.

The company have had a successful engagement at the Imperial theatre, Vancouver, and will appear every afternoon and evening in a bright, versatile vaudeville entertainment, with plenty of variety in the way of songs, sketches and musical items.

Among the artists who will soon establish themselves as popular favorites are: Miss Olga Yardley, a soprano and a dainty dancer and sourette; Miss Florence Hayward, a contralto and a character comedienne of rare refinement and resource; Miss Amanda Redfern a violinist; and Geo. Pritchard, a Scotch comedian, with catchy chorus songs and a style of his own. Marc Dale, an old favorite, will also be here with a stock of new jokes, songs and sketches.

A series of special nights will be arranged for later in the season, consisting of Oriental, Spanish and Dutch nights, when miniature musical comedies will be presented with elaborate costumes and special numbers.

Wife (pouting)—You have ceased to love me. Hub (enjoying cigar and newspaper)—No, my dear, I've only ceased making love to you.

This is the pith of the story of "Mice and Men." There are delightful touches of

HEAD OF INSTITUTE

Chief Mines Inspector Graham is Elected to Important Position in Mining Organization.

Thomas Graham, chief inspector of mines for the province of British Columbia, has been honored by appointment as president of the Mine Inspectors' Institute of America, now in session at Joplin, Mo. Mr. Graham's election to that honor was unanimous, and is at once a tribute to himself and to the mineral importance of this province. In 1914 Mr. Graham was elected third vice-president of this important body, last year he was advanced to the post of first vice-president, and now follows his elevation to the highest office in the gift of the institute.

The institute is the leading organization of its kind on this continent, and its work has been directed to the greater efficiency of mine inspection, protection of life in mines, uniformity of mining laws, health regulations in underground work, and in many other ways has added to the safety of those who work in the mines of both countries.

JOE GORMAN ACTS AS INSTRUCTOR

Says Canada is Well Represented in the Flying Game

Flight Sub-Lieut. Joe Gorman, former sporting editor of the Times, now with the Royal Flying Squadron, writes from Felixstowe, England, as follows:

"Thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know that I am still alive and kicking, though from the way the Germans send out their reports you would think that the entire coast had been wiped off the map. Have been in one scrap, when the Germans raided Yarmouth the first of the month, but outside of submarine patrols and patrols for Zepps, it's very quiet here, though we are less than 50 miles from Zebrugge, where the Germans keep all of their raiding machines.

"Have been on seaplanes ever since I came here, and am now instructing other officers on the big flying boats. Frank McGill, the Canadian swimming champion, is one of my pupils. He came over a year ago, but had a bad crash, and was laid up for months. He is only just now getting over the effects of his tumble. I went to Chingford the other day and met a bunch of Canadians. There are over a hundred Canucks at that flying school, so you see Canada is well represented in the flying game. I believe there are about 250 Canadians in the R. N. A. S.

Chicago Cubs Have Been Hitting the Pill Hard During the Last Week

Chicago, June 17.—Terrific hitting by the Cubs in the last week put them in the lead in club batting in the National League with 265 and gave them three places among the ten batters doing 300 or better. Averages published here to-day, which take in games played last Wednesday, show Jake Daubert still heads the list with 345. Max Carey, of Pittsburgh, has resumed the lead in stolen bases with 18, but in most other departments the Chicago Cubs are ahead. Williams in home runs with 7 and in total bases with 59, Zimmerman in runs scored with 33 and Plack in sacrifice hits with 19. The 300 hitters are: Daubert, Brooklyn, 345; Schultz, Chicago, 328; Doyle, New York, 323; Zimmerman, Chicago, 320; Robertson, New York, 320; Wheat, Brooklyn, 316; Hinchman, Pittsburgh, 313; Williams, Chicago, 306; Wagner, Pittsburgh, 303; Chase, Cincinnati, 301.

The leading pitchers who have taken part in ten or more games are:

Pitcher	W	L	E	R
Preffter, Brooklyn	10	2	1	55
Alexander, Philadelphia	10	3	1	55
Masmanax, Pittsburgh	8	3	1	39

Only seven regulars are hitting better than 300 in the American League, and Burns, of Detroit, has edged into second place. Speaker, Cleveland, still leads with 388, is ahead in total bases with 108, and in runs scored with 43.

The unusual sight of a catcher leading the league in stolen bases is shown by Schank, of Chicago, setting the pace with 14, ahead of Cobb and Slater.

Graney, of Cleveland, leads in home runs with 4 and Grandd, Cleveland, in sacrifice hits with 16. Detroit is ahead in team batting with 256. The 300 hitters, including only those who have played in half the games are: Speaker, Cleveland, 388; Burns, Detroit, 346; Jackson, Chicago, 327; Cobb, Detroit, 321; Heilmann, Detroit, 316; Nune-maker, New York, 308; Smith, Cleveland, 303. M'GINNITY AND BUSH BOTH FINED

Seattle, June 17.—After hours of continuous discussion behind closed doors, the directors of the Northwestern Baseball League settled the dispute between the Butte club and President Robert Blewett over the fining and suspension of Manager Joe McGinnity of Butte by fining McGinnity $25 and administering similar punishment upon Empire Bush for his indiscretion in engaging in controversy with McGinnity during a game at Butte on June 4. President Blewett had upheld Bush by imposing a fine of $100 and indefinite suspension upon McGinnity, but rescinded the fine and suspension when the directors ordered the special meeting of the board at the request of the Butte club to consider the case.

SLUGGER IN SLUMP LIKE ANGRY BEAR

Umpire Bill Brennan Says Stars Are as Bad as Bushers in Grouching

The slugger in a slump is the sore-pawed bear of baseball, says Umpire Bill Brennan. Hans Wagner never was a fellow to bait an umpire. Haps is and was so good that he could hit 'em so far and so often that he didn't have to depend upon the close decisions. But Wagner in a batting slump was just as bad as the next.

Joe Tinker is another who could go along without finding too many faults with an umpire until he got into a batting slump, and then what a terror the shortstop and manager was.

You know a batting slump gets on a ball player's nerves more than anything else in the game. To begin with, there is nothing that happens on the field that gives a fellow so much downright pleasure as a base hit. A great pitcher may "twirl" a "shotout" game, beat his opponents in a contest that means much, but let him get a base hit in that battle, and it's the base hit that he will boast about—not his clever hurling.

Naturally the lack of these hits causes the pendulum to swing the other way. And when once it swings, it's just one afternoon of bad luck after another. The batter hits one a terrific wallop and it goes squarely into the hands of the outfielder.

The slugger meets the ball fairly, starts a vicious drive to the outfield, and some infielder makes a sensational stop and throw and nails the batter by a step. If that doesn't happen, then the batter hits a slow roller, runs with all his might, and the ball barely beats the batter to first base. In this event the batter always places the blame upon the shoulders of the umpire, because he figures the decision could have been made either way.

The greater reputation of the slugger the greater his anger when he loses a base hit during a "batting slump." It is the real test of a ball player's disposition, and I have never yet seen a real batter who could retain control of himself when he is in a batting slump.

A moment ago I spoke of Joe Tinker, and this recalls an incident of the keen eye which this player possesses. It will be remembered that when Tinker was in the National League he was the terror of Christy Mathewson. And as a matter of fact, Joe was about the only batter who could hit the offerings of this great twirler with any degree of constancy. I once asked Joe how he did it, and he told me the secret.

Or maybe it wasn't a secret, since he told his pals on the Cubs team, although they didn't seem to profit by it. Joe said he watched Mathewson carefully and noticed that he pitched his famous fadeaway with a different motion than he did his fast ones.

The difference lay in the sweep of the arm. When Matty started a fast one for the plate he took as free a swing as possible, but when he pitched a fadeaway he tightened just a bit, so that there was a crook at the elbow.

Tinker would let the fast one go by, but when he saw a fadeaway coming he would set himself and take a good, healthy swing. Matty caught on after a while and pitched a side arm curve ball to Tinker and fanned him twice in one game.

But this was effective only while it was new, and when Tinker became able to gauge this he was just as effective with Matty pitching as Matty was when he was twirling to the other batters.

The fans have no idea how closely a batter watches a pitcher, and in addition to the Tinker-Matty duel I want to cite one other illustration. This story was told to me by an American League umpire.

Ed Walsh, of the White Sox and one of the greatest spitball pitchers in the history of the game, suddenly lost his effectiveness when opposed to the Athletics, while he was just as hard to hit when faced by the other clubs.

This was in the days when Walsh was at his height. Of course the Sox jumped to the conclusion that the Philadelphia players were getting their signals, and the Chicago battery men switched, the twirlers gave the signals, then the catcher would give one, only to have it reversed by some motion of the man on the slab. In fact they did everything to bewilder Connie Mack's batters. But it had no effect. And what do you suppose really was the trouble?

This: Some keen-eyed Philadelphia fan noticed that when Walsh really pitched a spitball that his jaws moved as the saliva left his mouth, but that when he merely bluff that there was no movement of the jaws. This fellow slipped his pals, and every man who faced Walsh knew to a certainty whether he was going to pitch a spitball or whether he was merely bluffing.

When the Sox discovered this scheme, working the jaws became just as much a part of the bluff as holding the ball to the mouth when a spitball wasn't contemplated.

LATONIA DERBY TO BE RUN TO-DAY

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 17.—Ten horses were entered to start in the thirty-fourth running of the Latonia Derby at the Latonia race course to-day, but it was considered doubtful whether all of them would go to the post. George Smith ruled favorite in the morning betting on account of his victory in the Kentucky Derby. The distance of the race is a mile and a half.

JAPANESE NET STARS TO INVADE AMERICA

Will Appear in the American Championship Tournament at Forest Hills

New York, June 17.—For the first time in the history of international lawn tennis the Far East will make a bid for premier honors this autumn, when the Japanese racquet stars, K. Kumagai and H. Mikami, appear in the American championship tournament at Forest Hills, L. I., late in August. These two leading tennis players of the Orient are already on their way to this country for a three months' campaign on the United States courts and their invasion will be awaited with great interest by all followers of tennis, since their records indicate that both play as well as they rank in this country.

While the complete itinerary of the Japanese players will not be known until they reach the Pacific coast, it is certain that they will proceed eastward by easy stages, playing at the leading clubs in exhibition and tournament matches as the occasion offers. San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago and Pittsburg and New York will be given an opportunity to see the Japanese in action on the courts before the national championships and after the latter tournament, Kumagai and Mikami return to the Pacific coast by another route, playing occasional matches prior to embarking for Japan.

Apparently this will be the only invasion of foreign athletes during the coming season and because of the prominence and ability of the Japanese should attract far more than usual attention to the leading court tournaments of the summer since both Kumagai and Mikami have several times demonstrated their ability to hold their own across the net with the ranking players of the United States. As far back as 1914 Kumagai, then a student at Kelo University, appeared at the Far Eastern championships and fought his way to the semi-finals, where he was defeated by Ella Fretzell 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, on a match which was carried over into the second day.

Later with a partner he lost to Fretzell and William Johnston, present American champion, in a double match by scores of 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

Some idea of his progress within the past three years can be gained from the fact that last January he returned to Manila and won the championship of the Orient from a field which included Clarence Griffin, number seven in the United States, ranking for last season, and Ward Dawson, who is ranked in the third ten for the same period.

When the semi-final round was reached there remained Kumagai and Mikami, representing Japan and Griffin and Dawson from the United States. Griffin defeated Mikami 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, while Kumagai won from Dawson at 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

When Griffin and Kumagai in the final round the pair proved very evenly matched and while the Japanese expert won in straight sets it was only after a terrific court battle with two sets out of three going to deuce, the scores being 10-8, 6-3, 10-8.

Kumagai and Mikami will play in both the doubles and single at the Forest Hills national championships. Dawson and Griffin defeated them in the final round of the Orient doubles by scores of 6-4, 6-4, 10-8, the Japanese

FINE GRACE SHIP MAKES FIRST CALL

Santa Cruz Discharges South American Cargo Here; Capt. R. Lobez in Command

Making her initial call at this port, the fine W. R. Grace liner Santa Cruz, Captain R. Lobez, F. R. G. S., came alongside the outer docks at 6 o'clock last night to discharge 800 tons of nitrates from Antofagasta, Mollendo and Callao. This steamer was built three years ago at the Cramp shipyards, Philadelphia, being the first of a number of vessels of similar type constructed to the order of the Grace interests for the Panama canal trade between the Pacific and Atlantic.

When the canal was blocked by slides in Gallard cut last September, the Santa Cruz was on the Atlantic coast, but she was subsequently chartered by the San Francisco house of the Grace line and ordered to the Pacific.

In January she came out to this coast via Santos, Brazil, and the Straits of Magellan, and in the meantime has made one round voyage to Chile. Her charter expires after she has made two more trips to South America, when, unless the charter is renewed, she will again come under the control of the New York house of the Grace concern.

Capt. R. Lobez, one of the most genial skippers that ever paced a deck, is making his first trip as master of the Santa Cruz, he having succeeded Capt. Nelson, formerly of the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia, who has been transferred to one of the new ships of the fleet. Capt. Lobez is well known in both Atlantic and Pacific shipping circles. For many years he served with the White Star line, being on such ships as the Baltic, Teutonic, Celtic and many vessels of this famous line. In this service he was last master of the liner Celtic. When the Pacific Mail line purchased the liner Coptic from the White Star line, it was Capt. Lobez who was selected to bring the ship out to the Pacific.

Finding the California climate more to his liking he resigned from the important position of shore superintendent at New York, his last berth with the White Star line, and came out to the Pacific coast. Since that time he has been with the Pacific Mail line and subsequently with the W. R. Grace Co. Prior to taking over the Santa Cruz, Capt. Lobez was master of the Grace liner Solus.

The Santa Cruz is one of the finest ships ever constructed for the South American or Atlantic-Pacific trades, in fact she has better appointments than many of the big trans-Atlantic liners. Cabins de-luxe, cabins en suite, fitted with brass bedsteads and every modern convenience, even down to electric hair-curlers for the lady passengers, are a striking feature of the ship. A well appointed dining-saloon has seating accommodation for 59 people, the vessel having first class cabin accommodation for 54 passengers. All cabins are fitted with bath-rooms, supplied with hot and cold running fresh water, while to get a sea-water bath it is only necessary to turn a lever, by which means shower baths can also be obtained. In fact there are so many levers to be operated in this splendidly appointed ship, that Capt. Lobez says "it is almost necessary for a passenger to hold engineer's papers to manipulate the works."

Another feature of the ship is the ladies' lounge, finished in expensive woods, furnished with luxurious lounges and piano, and the men's smoking room, finished in the mission style. The Santa Cruz brought a number of passengers from South America. Capt. Lobez says he expects to make at least one more trip to Victoria with nitrates. The vessel has a freight carrying capacity of about 5,000 tons. On her present trip she brought 800 tons of nitrate for this port, 500 tons for Vancouver, and 3,000 tons of ore for Tacoma. She left port this afternoon for Vancouver.

ATLANTIC SHIPS DUE.

Agents have been advised that the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services liner Scandinavian, from Liverpool, will reach Quebec to-day, and Montreal tomorrow. The liner Corinthian, of the same fleet, is due at Montreal to-night. The Corinthian's westbound passengers will arrive here on June 22, those from the former vessel's passengers will arrive here June 23.

To-day is Anniversary of Noted Explorer's Departure on Voyage of Discovery.

HAS LOCATED NEW CANADIAN TERRITORY

Was Thought to Have Been Lost for a Year, but Turned up at Bayllie Island

Three years ago to-day Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the great explorer, left Victoria accompanied by a large party of noted scientists, aboard the Karluk in quest of unknown territory in the Arctic Circle. The Canadian explorer was commissioned by the National Geographical Society and the American Museum of Natural History to explore the Beaufort Sea, north of Herschel Island and west of Prince Patrick Land, for the large island continent which, from tidal observations, was supposed to exist there. The Canadian Geological Survey was invited to cooperate, as it had done to the previous Stefansson expedition to the Coppermine River and Victoria Land. The Canadian government decided that the expedition, having for its main object the discovery of new land to the north of known Canadian territory, should preferably be wholly under Canadian control, and the National Geographical Society and the American Museum generously transferred their interests in the expedition, which was placed under the direction of the department of naval affairs. The expedition was divided into two parties, the northern exploration party under Stefansson, and a southern scientific party under Dr. E. M. Anderson, of the Geological Survey.

The former steam whaler, Karluk was secured as a likely vessel for such an expedition, and early in the spring of 1913 was brought to Esquimaux and fitted out for the voyage to the Arctic regions. This vessel left Esquimaux on the evening of June 17, 1913, and the next definite word of the expedition given out to the world was that the Karluk had been caught in the ice early in August of the same year. The Karluk, as is well known, was crushed in the ice at Shipwreck Camp when Stefansson and several members of his party were away on an exploring trip. How a section of the Karluk party under Capt. Bartlett reached Wrangell Island, after traveling some eighty miles over the ice, and how they were rescued by the King and Wingo when aid had been abandoned, was told in a thrilling story by the survivors when they arrived here on the United States revenue cutter Bear on October 25, 1914. The survivors were W. L. McIlwain, meteorologist and magnetician; John Murray, R. J. Williamson, second engineer; J. R. Hadley, ship's carpenter; E. Chafe, cabin boy; F. W. Maurer, fireman; H. Williams, seaman, and Robt. Tempelman, steward.

Among those lost was the famous scientist Dr. James Murray, biologist and oceanographer, and Dr. Forbes Mackay. But for the pluck and endurance shown by Capt. Robt. Bartlett, commander of the Karluk, who "mush" hundreds of miles over the ice wastes to civilization, notifying the world of the plight of the survivors, it is doubtful whether any of the Karluk party would have lived to tell the tale.

On finding that the Karluk had gone, Stefansson was undaunted and decided to continue his work of exploration, with valuable results. For more than a year the explorer was believed to have been lost, but in September of last year the news leaked through from the silent north that Stefansson had been located safe on Bayllie Island, northeast of Behring Strait, and the Canadian government was subsequently notified that the explorer had discovered an important area of land southwest of Prince Patrick's Land, north of Alaska.

Stefansson and five members of his party left Martin Point on March 22, 1914, and on April 7, when the party was at a point known as Camp Separation, Stefansson sent back his secretary, Burt M. McConnell, and two other members of the party. He took with him Storkensen and Anderson, two of the hardest and most experienced men in the party, six of the best dogs, a sled, and 900 pounds of provisions. Stefansson expected to return over the same route, or if that was not feasible, to make for Banks Island. On Stefansson's failure to return to the mainland, whalers were sent to Banks Island, but found no trace of the explorer or his party. The last definite word received of Stefansson was that he had purchased the whaler Polar Bear from Capt. Louis Lana, the well known Arctic navigator, and was continuing his work of exploration.

BARRISTER IS NOW STEAMING UP COAST

Harrison Line Steamer Left Golden Gate for This Port at 6 a. m. To-day

The Harrison Direct Line steamer Barrister left San Francisco at 6 a. m. to-day for Victoria, and is expected to reach port late Monday night or Tuesday morning, according to advices received this morning by Harold S. Cove, local manager for Balfour, Guthrie & Co. The Barrister has been at the Golden Gate port for the past week discharging cargo, part of which she was unable to unload at San Pedro owing to the longshoremen's strike. She has 300 tons of United Kingdom freight for Victoria, including 100 tons of iron water pipe for the Saanich waterworks. It is understood that this winds up the big consignments of water pipe for the neighboring municipality.

The Barrister is on her first voyage to this coast in the Harrison service, she being a comparatively new vessel. The steamer Counselor, which is following the Barrister here under the Harrison house flag, sailed from Liverpool last Wednesday for Victoria by way of the Panama canal and California ports. She is expected here about the end of July.

GRANTED INCREASE IN WAGES.

Seward, Alaska, June 17.—The crew of the U. S. Lighthouse tender Kukuk have won their strike for an increase of pay of $5 a month, to correspond with increases granted to crews on merchant ships along the coast. Seamen, machinists and firemen profit by the increase.

PHANTOM SHIP WAS SOUGHT BY PILOTS

Tank Steamer Luz Blanca Cause of Much Exasperation Among Seafaring Men

Interminable waits by day and loss of sleep by night through the uncertain movements of a steamer, supposed to be due in these particular waters, has had a tendency to ruffle the temper and disturb the customary good nature of the Vancouver pilots. As usual when a ship is due here bound for the mainland one of the genial fellows serving under the Vancouver pilotage board, packs his grip, and boards one of the gulf ferries for this port.

The Vancouver authorities were advised a week or two ago, more or less, that the big tank steamer Luz Blanca would be shortly due at Victoria from the west coast of South Africa. In due course down came one of the Vancouver pilots, under orders to take the ship up the gulf. Time expired, he returned from whence he came, and another arrived charged with the same task as his predecessor. Other pilots came, but the Luz Blanca came not. Some took the matter calmly, passed the time away in picture shows or manipulating a battered deck of paste boards in close proximity to the wharves, with a pair of binoculars alongside, while others became highly exasperated and used language more expressive than polite.

Last week the Norwegian steamer Ellen arrived from New York via the Panama canal, passed up the quarantine station and stood off the outer docks.

In every respect she resembled a tanker, having plenty of length of hull and stack aft. Mistaking this for the Luz Blanca, the pilot went out to her, and it was through this source that the Ellen's skipper learned that he had failed to comply with quarantine regulations. The pilot returned to Vancouver without the Luz Blanca, and others have followed in his wake in the meantime. Now comes the word that the Luz Blanca is bound elsewhere, the tank El Loboz being due instead.

RESTORER TO ANCHOR IN FRESH WATER LAKE

Application Made by Captain; Combe to Moor Cables in Lake Union

Refused permission to anchor his ship, the cable layer Restorer, in Esquimaux harbor, Capt. Basil C. Combe, master of the vessel, has applied to Port Warden A. A. Paysee, of Seattle, for permission to shift her from the anchorage in Elliott bay to a city mooring in Lake Union. The Restorer returned to Seattle three weeks ago, after it had been made known to her commander that the vessel was not desired at Esquimaux unless she flew the British flag. Lake Union, where it is now proposed to moor the Restorer, is a large body of fresh water and a government canal to effect a junction with salt water, will be completed July 1. The Restorer will have the distinction of being the first large vessel to take up moorings in Lake Union, providing the necessary permission is granted. Under provision of a special act of congress the Restorer is entitled to the protection of the Stars and Stripes during the war. She is owned by the Commercial Pacific Cable Company, an American concern, who has always shown a preference for Canadian waters in which to anchor the ship when not engaged in cable operations at sea. The Restorer went to Seattle shortly after the outbreak of the war and was temporarily placed under the American flag.

DEVELOPED BAD LEAK

Schooner Brisbane City Forced to Discharge Coal Cargo at Suva.

The schooner Brisbane City, which put into Suva in distress with a cargo of coal from Newcastle, N. S. W., for San Francisco, leaked so badly that the coal had to be discharged before the leak could be repaired. The vessel was built at Pitt river three years ago and launched under the name of Coquitlam City. She has had nothing but trouble since she left this coast with a cargo of lumber for Brisbane.

The White Star liner Baltic, which sailed from Liverpool June 7 with 90 first and 25 second-class passengers, arrived at New York June 15. The American liner New York, sailing from New York June 10, with 184 first, 147 second and 76 third class passengers, reached Liverpool June 18.

WORLD'S GREATEST BUFFALO HERD is Now in Canada, at WAINWRIGHT PARK, ALBERTA

That the Canadian Government is meeting with signal success in its efforts to preserve the buffalo from the swift extinction which threatened it a few years ago, is demonstrated in a report on the growth of the herd at Wainwright Park, Alberta.

on the 600 unsold head belonging to Messrs. Pablo and Allard, and eventually they were all bought for $250,000. The "round-up" lasted two months, and was carried out by cowboys, horsemen picked for their ability from every part of the great Montana ranges.

The long railway journey of 1,500 miles to Alberta was accomplished with a loss of less than one per cent. Since it became the property of the Canadian Government, this great herd has fared well in the new National Park at Wainwright. The park, which is one of the features on the Grand Trunk Pacific main line between Winnipeg and Edmonton, is becoming a favorite resort of the traveller who is interested in these "living antiquities" of the animal kingdom.

DIOCESAN BOARD HAS MONTHLY MEETING

W. A. to Missions. Disposes of Many Business Matters at Session Yesterday

The usual monthly meeting of the diocesan board of the Woman's Auxiliary to Missions was held on Friday at St. Luke's, Cedar Hill, the beautiful little church, rectory and parish hall being set in a perfect bower of yellow bloom. The session opened with prayers by Mrs. Schofield, and a short talk by the president concerning the forthcoming summer school, which it is hoped will be held in July, also of the diocesan meeting to be held in Nanaimo in October. Miss Goodwin, president of the branch, gave a Bible reading and cordially welcomed the board. It was announced that the two days set apart for intercession will be July 21 and August 13. Three new officers were welcomed: Miss Orwin, organist; Mrs. Watson, ladies' branch; and Mrs. Jones, E. C. D. Mrs. Watson gave a very good report of her work in the Westminster diocese was read by Miss Orwin. Various reports and a number of letters of greeting, etc., were read.

At the noon hour the address was given by Rev. Mackenzie-Naughton from Acts, 5th chap. The literature secretary gave a very satisfactory report and made reference to visits paid to St. Saviour's branch. Mrs. Cramling spoke on the subject of Christmas and begged that the word might have its full significance and not be shortened to Xmas. Mrs. Lauderdale spoke on the Dorcas work as it referred to the Indian schools, and the immense value it is to them, especially when the bales arrive to fill up the oftentimes depleted cupboards and shelves, and spoke of the present needs at Carcross, such as cotton dresses, serge dresses, sweaters, books, etc. The treasurer reported receipts $58.25, expended $2,304.28. The Dorcas secretary reported garments, quilts, etc., to Albert Bay and clothing to Retreat Cove, and the work to be undertaken by the branches during the year.

The following resolution was moved by Mrs. Hiscocks and seconded by Mrs. Vincent: "That whereas this Columbia Woman's Auxiliary has just heard of the passing into the larger sphere of our dear friend and old member, Miss Emily Woods, after 50 years and more of constant witness to the Master's service, this board moves the following resolution: That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to her sisters in their loss and express our great regard for her life and work." This was taken by a standing vote. Mrs. Reese gave current events and Mrs. Walker a short paper on intercessionary prayer. Several items of business were next transacted and notice was given that a fete would be held at St. Jude's on June 28, also that the Juniors of St. John's would hold a garden party on July 7 at Miss Duncan's, Monterey avenue. The session closed with the National Anthem. The ladies of St. Luke's served refreshments.

HON. C. J. DOHERTY NOTIFIED OF CASE

Papers in Brewster v. Bowser Forwarded to Attorney General of Canada

PREMIER APPARENTLY FLOUTING THE COURTS

Has Made No Answer Yet Either to Action or to Plans for Facilitating Hearing

In accordance with the constitutional requirements of the case, copies of the documents in the matter have been forwarded to the Attorney-General of Canada - Hon. Charles J. Doherty, minister of justice - by H. C. Hall, solicitor for H. C. Brewster in the suit which the Liberal leader has instituted against Hon. W. J. Bowser in connection with the admitted breach of trust in the matter of the over-payments to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company and the validity of the legislation passed and assented to after March 14.

Mr. Hall has sent to Hon. Mr. Doherty copies of the writ of mandamus and the statement of claim as served on Attorney-General Bowser in the ordinary manner. This will give the federal government an opportunity to make an appearance in the suit if it sees fit. Mr. Hall also sent to the minister of justice a copy of the letter delivered to Mr. Bowser on June 6, which letter was sent with the object of facilitating the hearing of the case and secure an early determination of the matter. Four methods of securing prompt action were suggested by Mr. Hall in this letter, these being:

1. To agree on a statement of facts compiled from the official records and submit the case on a motion for judgment.

2. To serve a statement of claim and abridge all notices so that the trial could be held within a few days.

3. To agree to a reference of all the questions to the Court of Appeal for determination under the statute for the reference of constitutional questions; or

4. To agree to a reference under the Public Inquiries Act to a board consisting of the chief justice of British Columbia, the chief justice of the Court of Appeal and such other member of the Court of Appeal or of the Supreme Court, bench as Mr. Bowser might select.

It is noticeable that in all the Conservative newspaper references to this matter and their claim that the Liberal leader's action is going to throw everything into chaos there is an implied admission that his suit is going to succeed. In that case, it is difficult to see what case they can make out against the means he has taken to obtain an early and authoritative settlement of the point of the validity of the legislation enacted after March 14, and a resolving of the doubt which even the attorney-general owned to entertaining. If the legislation is invalid, it is of the utmost importance that this should be known at once, and especially that it should be known before there is a new legislature improperly elected upon faulty legislation which would not have power to validate the legislation attacked.

Every effort has been made by Mr. Brewster and his solicitor to hurry along the hearing of the matter, but Mr. Bowser so far seems to have adopted a policy of ignoring it altogether, and he has neither entered any appearance, retained a solicitor nor made any reply to Mr. Hall's overtures for prompt disposition of the case. This does not, of course, mean that there are not ways of obtaining a judgment on the points raised, since Mr. Bowser is not able to flout the courts of the land in the same way as he ignores the legislature and violates the laws which he is sworn to uphold.

FUND TO ESTABLISH NEW HOSPITAL WARD

"Sir Richard McBride Ward" is to Be Inaugurated at Jubilee Hospital

Formal notice of the transfer by the civil servants of British Columbia to the Royal Jubilee hospital of the sum collected for a presentation to Sir Richard McBride when he left the province for London was made to the board of directors last evening. At the time of the presentation of an address the civil servants had wished to present plate, but Sir Richard preferred the money to go to furnish a public ward in the new hospital, and the sum of $1,612.85 was remitted.

It was decided to thank the association, and to ascertain exactly whether the money should be held in trust till the new hospital is ready or spent on furnishings which could be transferred to the new buildings later.

It was also resolved to write to Sir Richard McBride, stating that the fund had been transferred, and that the board wished to express its appreciation of his generous donation. It was also suggested that the donation should go to the hospital, on the suggestion of A. C. Flumerfelt. The chairman of the house committee, William Blakemore, explained that there was nothing to add to the situation with regard to the application for the government grant in aid of the new tubercular ward, and that they would have to wait the action of the executive council. With regard to the executive committee's conference with the civil servants committee for the same purpose, President R. S. Day reported that the committee had not received a formal reply yet, and all they knew was the press statement that $2,500 would be appropriated.

While Mr. Day explained that they had hoped to obtain $5,000, at any rate this was the first recognition of the principle of contribution to the tubercular ward which they had secured from the city.

A. C. Fraser expressed the opinion that the board had been placed in an anomalous position before the public by the grand jury's report on the conditions at the present tubercular ward. That the hospital was overcrowded was a reflection on the public and not the management, as showing a shortage of hospital accommodation in Victoria, which could be only remedied by additional funds.

Mr. Day thought the Times report of the last meeting of the directors had clearly defined the line between these two aspects of the question. While the board had long before the presentation of the grand jury had the subject in hand, unquestionably the jury's report had stiffened public opinion, and would aid the directors in remedying conditions.

The board decided to appoint a committee, to be named by the president, to go into the whole question of medical supervision, and make a report as soon as possible. The matter arose from a report of the special committee on an application for an increase of salary by the pathologist.

It appeared that the directors agree that some reorganization of this service is necessary in the near future, and were reluctant to delay action till the annual meeting.

A long time was occupied with the position of cases in the maternity and children's wards of soldiers' relatives, in view of information as to circumstances elicited by the Patriotic committee of the I. O. D. E., the committee asking the board to define a policy as to the admission of the cases.

Mrs. Rhodes understood that there was a movement to ask the board to set aside a number of beds in the maternity ward, and she deprecated any attempt to dictate to the board the number of beds should be managed.

Mr. Day said the patriotic committee had no sympathy with the suggestion, and merely wanted a policy in order to guide themselves.

The board agreed the best course would be for the cases to be taken on their individual merits and so resolved. Consideration of the annual reports for the subscribers' meeting on Tuesday week was left to the executive.

EMPLOYING INDIANS.

Novelty in Road Labor May Be Seen on East Saanich Road. - The shortage of labor in connection with the Saanich road work, that is to say labor meeting the stringent definition of the party specialists, had no sympathy with the suggestion, and merely wanted a policy in order to guide themselves.

The coming week will witness the inauguration of the actual paving of the new road to Mount Douglas. The work will be laid for the base between the curbs already in, and probably when a sufficient length has been prepared, the surfacing will be proceeded with. Not only has the experimental stage of the oil-crete road been passed by the information gained on the west road last year, but as Shelburne street is a new street, no delays are necessary to divert traffic, and the progress will be much more rapid than would be the case normally.

Lecture on China - All interested are cordially invited to attend the monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Monday at 3 p. m. in the lecture room. Mrs. Longfield will sing and an address on "China" will be given by Mrs. W. F. Macrae.

VOICE CONFIDENCE IN THE CANDIDATES

Liberals Ready for the Coming Election, Solid Behind Leader and Colleagues

FIRST WARD MEETING TO ARRANGE PLANS

Ward Five Will Be Followed by Other Ward Associations Next Week

The enthusiasm which elected the leader of the Liberal party here by an overwhelming majority over the late minister of finance on March 4 still exists, and that the electors are determined to return the leader and three other Liberals at the coming general elections, was plainly shown at the first of the Victoria ward meetings called for the purpose of arranging for the work of the campaign.

This was the meeting of Ward Five Liberal Association, held in the rooms in the Arcade building last evening, and attended by a large and representative gathering of the members of all the wards. Ward Five did its duty in the by-election and for the first time in the history of local politics gave a handsome majority for the Liberal candidate to swell the general result.

The following resolution was passed unanimously by the association: "Resolved, that this association places upon record its profound sense of the great services rendered to the province by H. C. Brewster, leader of the Liberal party, during the session just closed; the statesmanlike attitude taken by him on all public questions; the splendid work done by him at all times for the furtherance of the best interests of the province and the Dominion; the efforts he has always made to expose the shameful extravagance of the government and the exploitation of the magnificent natural resources of British Columbia; the endeavors he has made during the strenuous three months of the late session to promote sane legislation and correct the many faults of legislation hastily and carelessly drafted by the government; and the high standards of public and private life which he sets. This association pledges itself to use every honest effort to secure his re-election at the coming general election, and urges that in every constituency the same effort should be put forward to elect members who will support him."

With equal enthusiasm and unanimity there was passed the following resolution: "Resolved, that this association pledges its active support to the colleagues of the Liberal leader on the Victoria ticket - John Hart, George Bell and H. C. Hall; that each member will do all in their power by every honest means to secure their election in support of a Liberal premier and government; that it thanks them for the fine work they have done for the cause of good and clean government since they were chosen as candidates at an open convention of the party specialists called for that purpose; and that it recognizes that in them, as in all the candidates of the Liberal party chosen throughout the province, have been selected men who are truly representative and whose abilities will assist in ensuring for this province the businesslike administration in the interests of the people which H. C. Brewster is pledged to give it."

Plans for the conduct of the coming campaign so far as the ward is concerned were discussed, and it was found that there will be the same abundance of volunteer assistance in the general election as helped to win the by-election.

All Liberals resident in Ward V. who are not yet members of the ward association are heartily invited to affiliate themselves with it, and the officers and members will gladly hear from any electors of other parties who desire to assist in the election of a Liberal government at the approaching elections. On Monday evening the members of Ward V. Liberal Association are asked to meet in the Arcade building rooms at 8 o'clock. As some of the officers of this, as other ward associations, have gone to the front, it will be necessary to have a meeting of the executive, and for this reason, as well as the importance of organizing for the general election, it is desired that there should be a large attendance of members and of those who wish to join the association.

Following up the statement of A. W. Harvey, a government surveyor, as to the lack of available land for settlers on the Francois Lake and Ootza Lake country, along the line of the G. T. P., reproduced in these columns a few days ago from the Omnica Herald, the following "plain statement of some real facts told to the Omnica Herald by a man who has just returned from a trip through the Francois Lake district," are reproduced from that paper: "There has been many settlers going into the Francois Lake district this season looking for land, but practically none of them remain there. Land that is open is too far from the railway. The settlers now in there are scattered and without money. If they grew any produce they could not get it to market. I saw one rancher who has six cows in there and has to throw his milk away because he had no money to buy pigs."

It is understood that the voters' lists for the city are to be printed early next month. The tedious clerical work which always follows the semi-annual

COURT OF REVISION ADVANCES STEADILY

Officials Expect to Close Work Next Week; Park Band Concerts

The civic court of revision on the assignment roll gives notice that it will hear appellants on Monday morning. It had been hoped to have the appeals closed on that day, but the solicitors for the C. N. F. R. have asked for a hearing on Wednesday. The list will be finished in the week, it is hoped, and then will come the inspection personally. It may be mentioned as showing the extent of the work before the court, that the number of parcels of land dealt with total some 2,500.

The finance committee, at the afternoon session on Monday, will hear a deputation from the I. O. D. E., which seeks the restoration of the park concerts, a course which the city has refused hitherto to all organizations on the ground of economy.

The city council will at its meeting on Monday be asked by Ald. Todd to appoint a committee of three aldermen with the city commissioner, to investigate the possibility of using part of the abandoned Elk Lake watershed for recreation purposes. The matter was up some time ago with regard to the proposed municipal golf-links at Elk Lake.

Whether the city council will be able to spare time to meet the government in regard to the Johnson street bridge question next week is doubtful, as five of the members are likely to be engaged throughout the week with the assessment revision work. A letter is to hand from Vice-President R. Marpole on the matter. The intention of the amendment adopted last Monday appeared to indicate reference to the government before the conference with the officials of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway is held.

The building inspector reports that the alterations recently carried out at the library building are completed.

Attack Must Be on Whole Front, Says Tardieu, French Writer

Paris, June 17.—M. Andre Tardieu, deputy for the Seine-et-Oise department, after brilliant services, first at general headquarters and then at the front, has resumed the pen of a journalist, and his editorials are appearing once more in the Temps, in which paper he has been criticizing President Wilson severely. He has contributed an article to the Petit Parisien on the conditions for an offensive, which has attracted much attention.

"The magnificent resistance of our army at Verdun," he begins, "and the check inflicted on the long prepared effort of the enemy, have raised most justified hopes throughout the land. Everywhere people are saying: 'When will the great offensive be made?' It is generally expected that summer will see the decisive hour, but France has given sufficient proofs of her splendid firmness and she has the right to be told in the language of reason and experience how the question of an offensive should be settled.

Offensive. "Since the war assumed its present form of trench warfare there have been several offensives, not one of which, French, Belgian or German, has been a success. Tactical successes have been won, but no strategic result. All these offensives have had a common characteristic—their narrow localization. The western front is 400 miles long, and no offensive, German or allied, has been on a sector more than 25 miles long. As a result, the defence has always been able to collect sufficient forces in time to stop the attack. This was the case with the Germans in Champagne, and is the case with the French at Verdun.

"Even if successful, a localized attack is still perilous, and yet it is the deadly theory of piercing the lines which has been unfortunately taken up by the public, a theory of 'pierce the lines to-day and envelop the enemy to-morrow.' A narrow neck of a few miles will not give scope for operations. A decisive victory demands a far wider front.

On Wide Front. "Hence one condition which, if not sufficient in itself for success, is at least absolutely necessary to success, must be the extension of the attacking front, the attack comprising two elements, an artillery attack first, then infantry. The first matter, then, to consider is the heavy artillery. The people of France know that at the beginning of the war we hardly had any heavy artillery and that since 1915 we have worked to supply the void.

"Have we all the heavy artillery, long and short range, that we might have? It is not certain. The supply of 75's, an arm essentially defensive, was first taken in hand and heavy artillery, the offensive arm, only came afterward.

More Needed. "The experience of Verdun has shown that our defensive material, supported by the existing heavy artillery and relying on the heroism of our troops, is sufficient, while our offensive material was proved in Artois and Champagne to be inferior to our needs. We have created the plant, here and in Britain, sufficient to produce the needed material, but we have not yet produced it in sufficient quantity. Hence the allies are forced not to hurry; they must repel the enemy where he attacks, but not attack before they are ready, from the point of view of material, to attack everywhere, a thing which the enemy will never be ready to do from want of sufficient infantry effectives.

"No general offensive then should be considered before material has been prepared to an equally general amount. When that has been done we shall be in a position to benefit by the numerical superiority of the allies, a superiority which will be maintained and will increase, but a superiority which cannot be used as long as our material remains insufficient. I say further than this: Superiority would be dangerous if it should induce us to allow our infantry to be killed by the stronger material of the enemy.

The Goal. "We have to-day superiority in numbers, and thanks to Russia and Britain, we shall maintain it, but we have not superiority in material. When we have both together we shall have reached our goal.

"The question then is not whether we shall attack on a fixed date, but when shall we be in a position to attack, and then the plan will be to attack at that moment only. Then will its utility of action on the whole front bear all its fruits.

SHORTER TETHER FOR GREEK GOVT.

Allies Strengthening Pressure as Result of Anti-Entente Demonstrations

Athens, June 15.—The demands of the entente powers on Greece, it was learned here to-day, are being considerably strengthened and extended as a result of the anti-entente demonstrations which broke out in Athens last Monday.

The demands were ready for presentation to the Greek government when the disorders occurred, but the note probably will not be delivered until next week. Meanwhile the entente blockade of Greek ports is being continued in full force.

The anti-demonstrations in Athens last Monday were engineered by German agents with the connivance of the Greek government, headed by Skoufopoulos, which is in league with them, and takes but slight pains to conceal its hostility toward the entente.

FIRST DIVISION RETOOK TRENCHES

Wounded Canadian Officer, Now in London, Describes Successful Attack

London, June 17.—(By F. A. Mackenzie)—The wounded who are slowly arriving in England after the successful engagement southeast of Ypres on Tuesday night last, are jubilant and triumphant. It is impossible to picture their air of conquerors. Wounds, often ghastly wounds, soon are forgotten in the overwhelming result. The Canadians have evened up their score with Fritz.

"It was the First Division's show, do not forget that," a young officer, badly wounded while in the foremost fighting, declared. "Do not forget the old First Division it; first here, first in France, first whenever a lost trench has had to be retaken since it went to France.

"Our men acted splendidly, carrying on after their officers had fallen. It was absolutely great. The whole thing went off like clock-work. It had been raining deluges for three or four days, and was something awful. There were three days of careful preparation, and Fritz evidently thought we were downhearted, and out. We were just making ready. On Monday we maintained a heavy bombardment of the German trenches, every yard being systematically covered. Starting at 6 in the morning, the bombardment continued until 6 in the evening then a lull until 8 to take breath, followed by a half hour of real hot stuff. The Germans now thought we were coming and made ready to receive us.

"Instead, there came another pause. At 10 the Canadians moved into their proper positions, waiting again a quarter of an hour. After midnight our guns started giving the Germans a really violent dose of very hard medicine. It upset their digestion some. You can not picture the terrific nature of this fire. Our shells just rained hard all over the German lines. Their preparations just crumpled up before our machine guns, which smashed companies and wiped them out before our final bombardment began. Early that night 3,000 Boches in Sanctuary Wood alone were waiting to give us a reception in our former lines when shortly before 2 a.m. our artillery lifted and they were eliminated.

MONTREAL STOCKS

(By F. A. Borden & Co.)
Montreal, June 17.—This morning's short session of the local market was very inactive, with practically no interest taken in the trading. While the demand for bonds is good, speculators in stocks seem to be waiting to see the outcome of the threatening situation in Mexico. There was no liquidation, however, and most issues show no change from the previous day's closing prices.

J. J. ASTOR'S WIDOW WILL MARRY AGAIN

New York, June 17.—The Brooklyn Echo announces to-day the engagement of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, widow of Col. J. J. Astor, who lost his life on the steamship Titanic, to William K. Dick, of Brooklyn. The wedding will take place at Bar Harbor, Maine, on June 19. Mr. Dick is a sugar refiner and is understood to be very wealthy.

AUSTRIANS ADMIT PARENZO ATTACKED

Berlin, June 17.—The Austro-Hungarian admiralty reports that three torpedo boats of the entente on the morning of June 12 attacked the Austrian seaport of Parenzo, in Istria, ten miles north of Rovigno. The fire of the torpedo boats was without effect, the statement says, and the vessels were driven off by the Austrian coast batteries and aeroplanes.

TO-DAY'S TRADING ON THE WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, June 17.—Wheat closed 1/2c to 1/4c down; oats, 1/2c to 1/4c lower, and flax, 1/2c lower for July and 1/4c down for October. The market to-day was weak. The only thing that kept it from seeing a big drop was that there is already a fair short interest in the market and no one cared to be heavily committed over the week end. There was very little support to offset the bearish sentiment everywhere. A few good buying orders came in early, said to be from New York houses, but that was about all the straight buying there was. Oats were lower in sympathy with wheat. There is still a fair amount of all-round buying in oats. Flax was weak in sympathy with Duluth. The demand for cash wheat was very good, with premiums at unchanged to 1/2c better. Offerings were very light. Oats were in fair demand, but not so good as on Friday. Offerings in oats were light, but No. 2 C. W. fell off 1/4c. Other grades were unchanged.

MASS OF LIQUIDATION PROVED OVER-TAXING

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, June 17.—The continued decline in freight rates tended further to aggravate the bearish situation, the argument being that it will divert tonnage to the southern hemisphere. Liquidation of long wheat was in volume in anticipation of hedging sales against the new crop, prices going two cents off, and rallies were of a minor order only.

Lingering motives were the rule for prices were at a standstill. Only in one or two places in the list were buyers or sellers disposed to effect changes. In keeping with action in outside markets the supporting power was reduced. Offers of Granby sagged off one point, the pressure first noted yesterday in this issue having a more aggressive appearance.

The Standard Lead Company advises that the ore body on the number seven level has not yet been encountered and that probably another 200 feet will have to be worked to gain the desired end. Trading in the stock is slack at the present writing.

COAST DISASTER IS NOW BEING PROBED

Federal Authorities Holding Investigation Into Wreck of Steamer Bear

San Francisco, June 17.—Federal investigation into the wreck of the steamer Bear, of the San Francisco & Portland S. S. Company, near Eureka Wednesday night, with the subsequent loss of five lives, was started to-day.

All the passengers of the Bear who are here Monday will be summoned to tell their stories of the disaster, and as soon as the officers and members of the crew complete their task of getting the wreckage off the ship and return to this city, they will also be asked to testify.

Most of the survivors of the wreck were brought here yesterday on a special train. Their baggage will be sent here as soon as it is brought ashore.

If calm weather continues, the Bear will be pulled off the rocks intact, according to officials of the company. The forward hold of the ship is filled with water, but the compartment bulkheads kept the water from seeping into the after hold.

Eureka, June 17.—The coroner's jury conducting an inquest into the deaths of five persons who were drowned when the steamer Bear ran on the rocks off the Mendocino coast on Wednesday night, returned an open verdict without fixing the responsibility for the disaster.

PILOTED CRIPPLED SUBMARINE TO PORT

English Newspapers Give Much Space to Capt. B. L. Johnson's Feat in North Sea

For several months past shipping men on the inside have been aware of the great feat performed by Capt. Barney Johnson, formerly master of the G. T. P. steamer Prince Rupert.

Newspapers from England contain an account, passed by the press bureau, of Barney's adventures in his submarine off the German coast. The diver was traveling at a depth of sixty feet when she struck a German mine, which blew off her bow rudder and two tanks.

The outcome of this great feat is that Capt. Johnson is now in command of a much larger craft.

The feat of this submarine is given columns in the English newspapers by permission of the admiralty press bureau, and British Columbians naturally will feel proud of the skill shown by Capt. Barney Johnson.

LIEUT. W. C. WINKEL WOUNDED IN ACTION

Left Here With 1st Canadian Pioneers; Other Victorians Mentioned in Casualty Lists

Lieut. W. C. Winkel, a son of F. Winkel, of North Quadra street, has been wounded while on active service. He is in No. 7 Stationary Hospital, Boulogne.

The young officer, who is thirty-four years of age, was born in London, England, and came to this city when he was only four years of age. He served through the Boer war with the Strathcona Horse, and had two decorations for his services to his country at that time. He was a member of the Campaigners' Association.

At one time Lieut. Winkel was employed as city inspector of the Ross Bay seawall, but when the war broke out he was acting as superintendent of the labor bureau, an office which he resigned to join the 1st Canadian Pioneers. He left Victoria as a corporal with his unit, was promoted quickly to sergeant, then to sergeant-major, and finally, about two months ago, was promoted to lieutenant.

Lieut. Winkel has always borne the reputation of being a courageous soldier, prompt in action, observant, and with plenty of initiative. The 1st Pioneers left Victoria last September in command of Lieut.-Col. Hodgson, and proceeded to England last November, crossing over to France some time in March of this year.

There are besides the father and mother living here at North Quadra street, his wife and three children, living at 218 Simcoe street, and a sister, Mrs. Winkel, his wife, this morning had a cable saying that Lieut. Winkel had been wounded slightly in the right arm.

Pte. James Hight, whose name appears in the latest casualty list, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Hight, of 38 Dallas road. The young soldier is only 18 years of age. He joined the 88th Battalion in July of last year, was transferred to the 62nd, New Westminster, on July 16, and left for England on March 25. He was a native of Wigtownshire, Scotland, and came to Victoria six years ago, for part of the time prior to enlisting being with the Victoria Plumbing Co. After he arrived in England with the 62nd he transferred to the 2nd C. M. R., and left for the front on May 28. He received his wound sometime between June 2 and June 6. A brother, William, and a sister, Mary, are living here with the parents.

The name of Pte. A. N. Clarke, 2556 Victor street, appears among those reported missing. Pioneer William J. Cavin, reported wounded, was admitted to No. 28 General hospital at Etaples, June 7. He sustained a gunshot wound in the back. His parents reside at 422 John street. He is 25 years of age and left here with the 48th Battalion, and later became a member of the 3rd Pioneer Corps.

Pioneer Herbert Vigor, whose name appeared among the wounded in a recent casualty list, came to Victoria 23 years ago with his parents, and his mother at present resides at 1314 Pakington street. He was employed in this city prior to enlisting with the 50th and later was transferred to the 48th. He served with Baden Powell's constabulary during the Boer war, and as a member of that corps was in action several times.

Friends in Victoria will regret to learn that Ernest Victor Ingram, who left here with the Royal Canadian Regiment, has been wounded and is now in the hospital at Camiers, France. His home is in Vancouver, but he attended the collegiate school and has many friends in this city.

CHERNIAVSKYS RESTING

Famous Musical Family Spending Vacation in Victoria Preparatory to Autumn Concert Tour.

It was only to be expected that the Cherniavskys would create a sensation on their debut in California, and that they accomplished this is testified to both by the press and L. E. Beymer, the well-known Pacific coast impresario, who has engaged the Cherniavskys for a number of concerts at a variety of places.

The 11th C. M. R. held a very largely attended dance at the Alexandra Club last evening. The event is probably the last big one of the kind that will take place this season, and in view of the supposed early departure of the unit more than usual interest attached to the affair.

SAMUEL H. REYNOLDS DIES IN CHICAGO

Well-Known Civil Engineer, Former Victoria Resident, Passes Suddenly

A very well-known former citizen of Victoria passed away suddenly in Chicago yesterday in the person of S. H. Reynolds, chief engineer and chairman of the Greater Winnipeg water district commission.

Mr. Reynolds, who left Victoria in October, 1913, to take up the position he held at the time of his death, was visiting his cousin, John Reynolds, when he died from heart failure. He was in Chicago on the way back to Winnipeg after having been to New York on a business trip. The remains will be shipped to St. Catharines, Ont., the old home of the deceased. He was 67 years of age, and is survived by a widow.

Mr. Reynolds held the position of assistant city engineer of Winnipeg for a considerable time, and thus met John Arbutnot when the latter was mayor of Winnipeg. A warm friendship grew up, and shortly after Mr. Arbutnot moved to Victoria to engage in the development of his coal properties, he invited Mr. Reynolds to come to this city. Accordingly he left Winnipeg in 1908, and came to Victoria, where he was appointed engineer and managing director of the Pacific Coast Coal Mines. He continued to hold that position for five years, till he received the responsible position of head of the Greater Winnipeg Water Commission, which has charge of the water supply for the city and district municipalities. Thus it came that he returned to the prairie.

In the profession here, and with old residents of the prairie, he was very popular, and was associated with the Victoria branch of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers. He resided on Fairford road when a resident here, and continued to be a property-holder here.

A. R. Graham, president of the Victoria Fuel Company, is a cousin of the deceased.

AMERICAN TROOPS TO REMAIN IN MEXICO

Will Not Be Withdrawn Because of Warning of Possible Clash

Washington, June 17.—Warning from Mexican commanders that any movement of American troops except in retirement towards the border would precipitate hostilities will not change the purpose of the United States government to keep its expedition in Northern Mexico or prevent Brig.-Gen. Pershing from taking any steps necessary to insure the safety of his own columns and deal with bandits threatening the border. No advance further south is contemplated and it is not believed here the Carranza forces are planning an immediate attack upon the American forces.

The war department to-day was without advice from Brigadier General Pershing regarding the warning said to have been sent him by General Trevino, but Major General Funston reported the substance of a telephone conversation he had with Brigadier General Bell at El Paso, who stated it was a fact that such a warning had been given.

Diplomatic officials were inclined to believe that if General Trevino served a warning it was for home consumption. They thought it might be a political move by General Carranza designed to offset the activities of the anti-American element in Mexico.

San Antonio, June 17.—General Pershing has told General Jacinto Trevino, in reply to the message warning him that any movement of the American troops except towards the border would be regarded as an hostile act, that he could not recognize his authority to govern the movements of the American expedition.

AMERICANS FOUGHT

San Antonio, June 17.—American troops crossed the border below Brownsville this afternoon and immediately were engaged in fighting, according to a report from Brig.-General Parker to Maj.-General Funston. The brief report did not state whether the forces opposed to the Americans were bandits or Mexican troops.

ARGUMENTS CONCLUDED IN WESTHOLME CASE

Court Thanks Counsel on Both Sides for Materially Shortening Proceedings

The arguments in the case of the Westholme Lumber Company and the city of Victoria were concluded in the court of appeal yesterday afternoon, and their lordships reserved judgment. At the request of the court, which has still a great deal of work to do before the end of the month, counsel on both sides condensed their arguments and the hearing of the appeal occupied much less time than was expected.

W. B. A. Ritchie, K. C., concluded his argument for the city respondent soon after the court resumed in the afternoon.

W. J. Taylor, K. C., for the appellant company, rose to points raised by Mr. Ritchie in the course of his argument. He contended that it was just as obligatory on the city to allow the company to go on with the work under the new arrangement as under the old one and to be paid for it quantum meruit.

SEVEN YEARS TORTURE

Nothing Helped Him Until He Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

ALBERT VARNER
Buckingham, Que., May 17, 1915.

For seven years I suffered terribly from severe headache and indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had nausea and vomiting, and had chronic constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston—but without benefit. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives." I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. I am grateful to "Fruit-a-tives," and to everyone who has miserable health with constipation and indigestion and bad stomach I say take "Fruit-a-tives," and you will get well.

SHIPBUILDING FIRM MAY SELL LIQUORS

One of the Many Forms of Activity in Which New Corporation May Engage

With a share capital of $25,000, divided into 250 shares, the Cameron Genoa Mills Shipbuilders, Limited, was incorporated on June 8 under the Provincial Companies Act, as announced in the B. C. Gazette to-day.

The incorporators of the company are R. T. Elliott, James O. Cameron, Donald O. Cameron and Harry T. McDevitt, and the corporation is in a sense an amalgamation of the Cameron lumber mills and the Genoa Bay lumber mills, for the purposes of carrying on a shipbuilding business.

The company may carry on business as suppliers of lumber, loggers, lumbermen, sawmill owners, manufacturers of sash and door, and all articles of wood, real-estate-dealers, sub-dividers of lands into lots for sale, general contractors, general merchants by wholesale and retail, livery stable keepers, hotel, restaurant and cafe keepers, sellers of tobacco, licensed victuallers, steamship owners, wharfingers and dock masters, prospectors, miners, smelters, assayers, general brokers, pulp mill owners, producers of and dealers in power and any other business which the company thinks "capable of being conveniently carried on in connection with the above, or calculated, directly or indirectly, to enhance the value or to render profitable any of the company's property or rights."

"Is your husband an optimist?" "Well," replied the tired-looking woman, "he's an optimist in hoping for the best, but a good deal of a pessimist in working for it."

PROHIBITIONISTS ARE PLANNING CAMPAIGN

Meeting Here Last Night Addressed by Jonathan Rogers and Others

Jonathan Rogers was the principal speaker at a rally of prohibitionists held last night at the Y. M. C. A. under the chairmanship of G. H. Robertson. Mr. Rogers' address, was largely devoted to an emphatic refutation of the charges made by oppositionists that the passing of prohibition measures in various parts of the United States had been a failure.

A letter from the editor of the Spokane Chronicle, written on May 3 this year, was read to the meeting as first evidence that the statements of the opposition in connection with conditions in that city were false. The writer admitted that drinking had not stopped in Spokane, but the passing of the prohibition law had prohibited drink better than the passing of the speeding law for motorists had prohibited speeding. There had been a marked improvement in criminal statistics, 154 drunks from January 1 to May 1, 1916, against 501 during the same period in the previous year; 128 vagrants as compared with 441. Destitution, divorce, burglaries had diminished, and the business of the clothing and other merchants had increased. There was more money in the banks.

Mr. Rogers brought up the question of the Prohibition Act as it is now before the electors of British Columbia for voting upon. There had been some slight disappointment with some people regarding the act, but apart from this it had very general approval among prohibitionists. Mr. Rogers cited the two weaknesses as being the absence of any clause limiting the amount that the private individual might have on his premises, and (2) the absence of any provision for the searching of the records. However, even with these shortcomings the act was better than the Prohibition Acts of Manitoba, Alberta, or even Ontario. The B. C. act was more severe in its penalties for offence against the act, and the prohibitionists should be ready to go ahead and push the thing for all it was worth.

The People's Prohibition Movement would not discuss compensation, the speaker emphatically affirmed, although the question would recur when the government commission was appointed. The provisions in the B. C. act, Mr. Rogers summed up, would do away with two of the outstanding incentives to drink: First, the treating system; second, the abolishing of liquor in clubs, rooming-houses and boarding houses.

Again Mr. Rogers offered arguments refuting the accusation of the anti-its that wage-earners would be affected. It was true that it would throw cigar-makers, bartenders, etc., out of work. But, on the other hand, there would be more compensation in the increased output in other businesses and manufacturers.

Other speakers during the evening were the secretary, H. Beckwith, who had just returned after a week's visit in Portland, where he was pleased with his observations on the working of the Prohibition Act in Oregon. During the whole of the week he had not seen a

TO MEET AT CHILLIWACK

Chosen as Place for Next Gathering of Grand Bodies of I. O. O. F.

Chilliwack has been chosen as the place for the holding of next year's assembly of the grand bodies of British Columbia, I. O. O. F. This was decided at the concluding session of this year's assembly at the Odd Fellows hall, Vancouver.

The newly elected grand lodge officers and the following appointed officers were duly installed in their various chairs: Bro. W. A. Cruz, grand chaplain; Bro. J. C. Davis, grand marshal; Bro. H. Pooks, grand conductor; Bro. J. Peers, grand guardian and Bro. W. Y. C. Tarvis, grand herald.

A committee, composed of Bros. A. Henderson, P. G. M., W. H. Cullen, P. G. M., P. W. Dempster, P. G. M., J. Bell, P. G., and Fred Davey, grand secretary, to be known as the war emergency relief committee, was selected. Its duties will be to consider questions relative to enlisted Odd Fellows.

It was decided to decrease the mileage allowance to representatives to the grand lodge from five to four cents. The mileage and per diem allowance to appointed officers was eliminated.

The funeral aid association reported great gains in membership for the year.

It was reported that 353 members of Odd Fellows' lodges in British Columbia had enlisted up to March 31. Thirty per cent, of Pittko lodge No. 13, Merritt, B. C., have joined the colors. Twenty-one members of Okanagan lodge No. 58 have enlisted.
