“Sonatina in D Minor” (2014) is a composition made specifically for the Hack the Bells competition, but can be played on the piano as well as the carillon. After listening to samples of carillon pieces, I realized there was a certain connection between the piano and carillon that would allow me to create such a piece that would fit with the timbre of both instruments. Many carillonneurs play fast giges as well as slow ballads, which allowed me to implement the Sonatina such that it can played for both instruments.
