PREFATORY NOTE

In the history of the Continental Congress the year 1781 is of great importance, because it shows the development of the idea that a stronger Federal Government than that which had existed up to that time was necessary.

On March 1 the Maryland delegates signed the Articles of Confederation, thus completing that instrument and making it effective, and at length the United States had a constitution; but, on March 6, Varnum, of Rhode Island, offered a resolution, "that a committee be appointed to digest such additional articles to the Act of Confederation to be exercised during the war as shall be deemed necessary to be proposed to the respective States for their ratification," and, on the same day, Varnum, Duane, and Madison were appointed a committee "to prepare a plan to invest the United States in Congress assembled with full and explicit powers for effectually carrying into execution in the several States all acts or resolutions passed agreeably to the Articles of Confederation." The committee's report was considered on May 2. It proposed that the States be asked for an additional article to the Articles of Confederation, which should confer upon Congress the right to employ the forces of the United States, by land or sea, to compel any delinquent State to fulfil its Federal engagements. The additional article was to be binding when enacted by all the States not in the possession of the enemy. The recommendation was referred to a grand committee, consisting of a member from each State.

On the same day John Mathews, of South Carolina, offered a motion, declaring that, during the war, the Congress ought to have authority to make and execute such laws and ordinances as it should deem necessary for prosecuting the war efficiently, but the motion was postponed. On July 20 the grand committee reported a recommendation that the States be asked to grant the power of laying an embargo in time of war, and to give Congress control of quotas of money, as well as authority to collect the money through its own agents. Randolph, Ellsworth, and Varnum were appointed a committee to consider this motion, and, on August 22, they made numerous recommendations concerning the manner of executing the Articles of Confederation. Among other things, they urged that a general council be provided for; that the power to lay embargoes in time of war be granted; that Federal collectors be empowered to collect Federal requisitions; that Congress be given power to issue letters of marque, coin money, emit bills of credit, and borrow money. On November 2 Congress recommended that each State lay a tax, entirely separate from the levies for State expenses, for the purpose of raising its share of the $8,000,000 required for Federal expenses, and that it be paid to agents of the Superintendent of Finance. In other words, it was to be a Federal levy, paid to Federal officers.

On January 24, 1781, before the Articles of Confederation had been ratified, acting in Committee of the Whole, Congress took the most important action that had been attempted up to that time, in the direction of obtaining Federal funds, when it asked the States to levy an impost duty of 5 per cent on the value of all foreign merchandise imported, and to allow the funds thus collected to be paid into the hands of the agents of Congress. On February 3 it asked the States to vest the power to levy the tax in Congress itself.

On February 7 a plan for executive departments was agreed to—a Superintendent of Finance, Secretary at War, and Secretary of Marine. Already, on January 10, the Department of Foreign Affairs had been established, and, on February 16, the committee to whom the papers of the convention at Hartford had been referred reported that there ought to be an Attorney General of the United States and a court of judicature for trial of all causes relating to offences against the United States. On April 5 the ordinance establishing the Federal courts for trial of piracies was agreed to, the court of appeals in cases of capture being established by the ordinance of July 18. Here, then, were serious efforts to provide executive machinery, to increase the direct power of Congress, and to erect a Federal judiciary.

The great cause of these efforts was the manifest impossibility, under the existing system, of obtaining the money with which to support the military and civil establishments. The circular letter to the States, of January 15, called attention to the failure of previous requisitions and the immediate necessities of the Army, its pay being far in arrears. On February 19 a full statement was made of the debts of the United States, and an estimate of the funds necessary to carry on the Government for a year. On April 18 a further statement of the money borrowed was laid before Congress. The country, it said, had drawn an Army before any currency was provided for maintaining it. Congress had no resources whence to derive funds, except by emitting bills of credit redeemable at a future day. Accordingly, bills of credit had been emitted time after time; then loans and a lottery were resorted to. Recommendations to the States to resort to taxation failed. Money was raised by drafts on our ministers abroad. The Treasurer was ordered to draw upon the treasurers of the States, at 30 days' sight, for their quotas. The request for the 5 per cent impost, to obtain

Federal funds, raised hopes, which were disappointed by the refusal of Rhode Island to agree to the tax. The welcome intelligence was conveyed, on May 28, that the King of France had granted a subsidy of 6,000,000 livres tournois, and had taken steps to enable Franklin to borrow 4,000,000 more. What appeared to be inevitable bankruptcy was thus averted. Fortunately, also, there was a Superintendent of Finance, and, on May 26, the Bank of North America was established.

The evident fact that the war was drawing to a close served to show all the more clearly how feeble the Government would be, when its energies should be relaxed in peace.

On January 17 the battle of the Cowpens was won by Daniel Morgan; other fighting in the Southern Department, during the year, was, in the main, successful to the American forces; the juncture was effected with the French fleet under De Grasse; Cornwallis surrendered October 19.

The peace negotiations became active. On June 11 the mission to France was made a commission, with Franklin, Jay, Adams, Henry Laurens, and Jefferson as members; but Laurens and Jefferson did not serve. The commissioners were instructed, June 15, to require recognition of the independence of the United States by Great Britain, as a condition of any treaty of peace.

These volumes have been belated in coming from the press. They should have appeared last summer; but, although the copy was in the printer's hands in due season, twice the condition of the Library's allotment for printing required the postponement of the publication. The delay has been productive of some benefit, however, since it has encouraged a further revision of the copy, and the proper placing of a few reports which had, at first, eluded identification.

As the work progresses the editorial difficulties do not decrease. The Journal itself becomes meager for the latter part of the year 1781; for some days there are only a few lines of entry; but the collateral papers for these dates are numerous, and their identification requires much painstaking comparison and extensive research. The result, however, is of such unquestionable historic value that it fully repays the time and labor which are expended upon it.

MONDAY, JANUARY 1, 1781

A letter, of December 20, from General Washington, was read:¹

Ordered, That it be referred to a committee of three:

The members, Mr. [John] Sullivan, Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum, Mr. [Theodorick] Bland.

The delegates for Virginia laid before Congress a letter, of 28, from Colonels Mathews and Febiger, which was read; Whereupon,²

On motion of Mr. [James] Madison, seconded by Mr. [John] Sullivan,

Resolved, That in the new arrangement of the army it is the sense of Congress, that the officers of the continental lines, who have been exchanged since the said arrangement, or are now in captivity, ought to be considered and arranged according to their respective ranks, in the same manner with those who have not been prisoners.³

A letter, of 23 December, from the Board of War, was read:⁴

Ordered, That it be referred back to the Board of War.

A letter, of 27 December, from General Washington, and a letter of _____ from the president of the State of New-hampshire, were read.⁵

⁴ This letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 148, I, folio 265.

⁵ Washington's letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 152, IX, folio 421; the New Hampshire letter, dated December 19, 1780, is in No. 64, folio 162.

The report of the committee on Mr. J. Adams' letter of 23 August, was called for, and, after debate, Ordered, That it be recommitted.

A motion was then made by Mr. [James] Madison, seconded by Mr. [Thomas] Bee,

That so much of the letter from Mr. Adams as relates to the probable operations of the enemy against the southern states be transmitted to the Commander in Chief; and that he be informed that it is the desire of Congress that he should immediately make such a distribution of the forces under his command, including those of our allies under the Count de Rochambeau as will most effectually counteract the views of the enemy and support the southern states.

A motion was made by Mr. [William] Sharpe, seconded by Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum, to strike out the latter clause from the word "chief" to the end, and on the question, shall those words stand, the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [Richard] Howly,

New Hampshire,			Virginia,

So it passed in the negative, and the words were struck out.

It was then moved by Mr. [Thomas] Burke, seconded by Mr. [William] Sharpe, to insert, in lieu of the words struck out;

“And that he be desired to give his opinion to Congress on the expediency of ordering the forces of his Most Christian Majesty, now at Newport in Rhode Island, to take post in Virginia.”

Which was agreed to, and on the question,

Ordered, That so much of the letter from Mr. Adams as relates to the probable operations of the enemy against the southern states be transmitted to the Commander in Chief, and that he be desired to give his opinion to Congress on the expediency of ordering the forces of his Most Christian Majesty, now at Newport in Rhode Island, to take post in Virginia.¹

A motion was made by Mr. [John] Sullivan, seconded by Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum,

That Lieutenant Colonel William Smith be continued as sub-inspector with his present rank in the army of the United States, to be employed as the Commander in Chief shall direct;

On which, the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [Theodorick] Bland,

So it was resolved in the affirmative.

¹ All of the proceedings for this day on the letter of Mr. Adams were also entered in the manuscript Secret (Domestic) Journal.

The Committee to whom the Memorial of Col William Peck was referred, beg leave to Report, That there is a Balance due to the said Peck of three thousand five hundred and thirty three dollars and nineteen ninetieths of a dollar, in specie, being the balance for his pay and subsistence while in the service of the United States. Your Committee therefore submit the following Resolution, Viz.—

Resolved, that a warrant issue on Mr Wm Inlay Loan Officer in the State of Connecticut, in favor of Col William Peck for three thousand five hundred and thirty three dollars and nineteen ninetieths of a dollar in bills of the new emission, or other Money equivalent, in full for the balance of his Accounts.¹

The committee appointed to prepare a letter of credence for the hon. J. A[dams] delivered in their several reports.

A report from the Board of Treasury was read; Whereupon,

That a warrant issue on the treasurer in favour of Colonel William Malcolm, for thirteen thousand four hundred dollars old emissions, to defray the expences of four men and five horses in bringing money from Abraham Yates, the loan officer of the State of New York, to the continental treasury, to be destroyed, who employed the said Colonel Malcolm for that purpose and with whom he is to account.²

and destroy the Emissions taken out of circulation—He did not think proper to receive the Money of those Emissions Mr. Brown has brought”—beg leave to offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That John Shee and Andrew Doz, together with the treasurer of loans, be competent to execute the duties heretofore assigned them, in conjunction with Hugh Montgomery and Samuel Downe; and that the said John Shee and Andrew Doz, with the treasurer of loans, proceed to destroy any bills which are or may be transmitted by the commissioners of the loan offices to the treasurer of loans, of the emissions of May 20th, 1777, and April 11th, 1778, called out of circulation.

The Board having taken into consideration the Remonstrance of Jonathan Sturges on the subject of damages done his Farm by the Continental Troops (referred to them by Congress), beg leave to Report—

Resolved, That the consideration of the damages, represented by Jonathan Sturges, to be done his farm by the continental troops, be deferred to the close of the present war, then to be taken up, in common with others of a similar nature, which have been postponed to that period.

The Board further report;

Ordered, That a warrant issue on Abraham Yates, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of New York, in favor of Edward Chinn, one of the late commissioners of accounts at Albany, for five hundred dollars in the bills of credit emitted pursuant to the act of Congress of the 18 of March last, advanced on account of his salary and to enable him to pay the contingent expences of his present office as an itinerant commissioner of the chambers, and for which sum he is to be accountable.

2 of 15,000 do.

The Board of Treasury, to whom was referred the letter from Resolve Smith, report, that, in the opinion of the Board, it is not only inexpedient but highly improper, at this juncture, to dispose of bills of exchange for the purposes pointed out in his letter:²

Resolved, That Congress agree to the said report.

Ordered, That on the application of John Pierce, deputy paymaster general, for money to enable Captain Brown, of Colonel Harrison's regiment of artillery, to join the southern army, the following warrants be issued:

One on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, for twelve thousand three hundred and seventy-five dollars old emissions.

One on Thomas Harwood, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Maryland for two thousand six hundred and thirty-six dollars in the bills of credit emitted pursuant to the act of Congress of the 18 of March last (part of the bills aforesaid subject to the orders of Congress) for which sum the said deputy paymaster general is to be accountable.³

TREASURY OFFICE, December 19, 1780

From the letter from Joseph Clay to the Board of Treasury dated Hillsborough the 20th of November, 1780, the following facts are collected:

That only 15,000 dollars of the 100,000 dollars sent in bills of Exchange for the supply of the Southern Army had been sold, and those at the rate of 60 for one only, and as it is to be understood from the same letter, that no more will be sold for so high a price, that the necessities of the army are such as will compel M^r Clay to sell the bills for any price he may be offered. Upon these facts the Board of Treasury submit the following resolution

Ordered, That a warrant issue on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan-office for the State of Pennsylvania, in favor of the paymaster to the Board of War and Ordnance, for one million dollars, of the old emissions, to be by the said paymaster immediately transmitted to Joseph Clay, deputy paymaster general to the southern department: that the said Joseph Clay be informed, by the Board of Treasury, of the value of bills in this city, and that he be directed to forward what bills may be remaining in his hands unsold by return of the escort who takes to him the money aforesaid, unless it shall appear to the said paymaster for the southern department, absolutely necessary to retain a part of such bills for indispensable supplies for the said department. But at all events the said deputy paymaster shall return to the Board of Treasury thirteen thousand dollars, in bills of exchange, as an equivalent for the million of dollars sent him as aforesaid. That upon the return of the bills aforesaid to the Board of Treasury, should they exceed the equivalent for the million sent, immediate measures be taken for the sale of the said bills, and the money arising from such sale forwarded to the said Joseph Clay, for the use of his department.¹

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

WAR OFFICE Dec^r. 29th, 1780.

SIR,

Enclosed is a letter from Genl KNOX to Mr Hodgdon D. Com^r Gen^l of Military Stores on the subject of a Sword ordered by Congress for Col Meigs. It is sent to shew the light in which the officers view the matters, many similar applications and some more pointed having been made. Three or four years ago Col Flower had some swords made and shewed them to the Board of War for their approbation, but they were conceived to be too badly executed to be presented as a token of National approbation and confidence to the gentlemen Congress meant to honor and were therefore rejected and never paid for by the public as Col Flower informs. It is impossible to gratify the wishes of the gentlemen entitled to swords by Resolutions of Congress under our present embarrassments even if they could be manufactured here with sufficient neatness. It is therefore proposed that eight swords be required in the estimate now going to France. Knowing the delicacy of Congress with respect to asking more in this way than was absolutely essential, it is with some diffidence this proposal is made; but the officers think themselves neglected on the one hand, and it is impracticable on the other to remove their jealousies by domestic purchases. It is therefore proposed that Congress be pleased to direct:

Ordered, That the Board of War add to the estimate of supplies to be imported from Europe, eight plain, but elegant silver mounted small swords.¹

A letter from Colonel Armand was read; Whereupon,²

Resolved, That General Washington be informed, that Congress consent to his permitting Colonel Armand to take from the line of infantry in the army of the United States, when the state and strength thereof will admit, a sufficient number of volunteers to complete his partizan corps for the next campaign, provided he be not allowed to take more than six men from a regiment.³

A representation and memorial of Charles Young was read:

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of Treasury.

A memorial of James Byers was read.⁴

A report from the Board of War, on the letter of J. Laurens, was read; Whereupon,

AT A BOARD OF WAR, January 1, 1781

Present M^r Peters
Gen^l Cornell
M^r Mathews

The board have considered the letter of Lieut Col Laurens on the subject of certain engagements into which he entered with a view of furnishing a Corps of Blacks to the Southward, and beg leave to inform Congress, that the Board gave orders to the Commissary General of Military Stores to procure to be made four hundred Cartouch Boxes, and to have repaired of the public Arms four hundred stands on Lieut Col Laurens's furnishing the money, for the repair of the Arms and purchase of the accoutrements, these monies to be repaid him when the public circumstances would admit. That in consequence of the orders and in a private engagement from Col Laurens to him M^r Hodgdon procured to be made and repaired four hundred Cartouch Boxes and the like number of stands of Arms for the payment whereof M^r Hodgdon pledged himself to the workmen who have made and repaired the Arms and accoutrements and having performed their part of the contract now most importunately press M^r Hodgdon for payment which he has no means of doing consistent with other demands of the department.

That the clothing agreed for by Col Laurens stated in his letter appears to be contracted for at reasonable prices and in the opinion of the Board it ought to be taken for the public use it being much wanted.

The following resolution is therefore submitted:

Ordered, That bills of exchange, to the amount of three thousand seven hundred dollars, be put into the hands of the paymaster of the Board of War and Ordnance, for the purpose of enabling the said Board to take for public use, a number of cartouch boxes and a quantity of cloathing, contracted for by Lieutenant Colonel Laurens, and to pay for the repairs of a number of arms, for which Colonel Laurens became engaged.¹

¹ This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 165, folio 25.

A report of the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

AT A BOARD OF WAR, December 26, 1780

Gen^l Ward

The Board of War beg leave to report the following Additional Regulations for the Clothing Department—

That the Clothier General lay before the Board of War from time to time, estimates of the number, species and quantities of Articles of Clothing necessary to be procured from Europe or purchased within these States for the use of the Troops, and on such estimates being allowed, and the articles to be procured by domestic purchases specified by the said Board, orders shall issue from the Clothier General to the Agent Clothiers for making the purchases in such places as the said Board shall direct—

That there be three Agent Clothiers appointed by the Board of War—one to reside in the Eastern—another in the Middle—and another in the Southern District or Division of the United States, whose duty it shall be to purchase and make up all such articles of clothing as shall be directed by the Clothier General with the concurrence of the Board of War and transmit the same, to such places as shall be pointed out by the said Board or the Commander in Chief. All Articles of clothing imported from Europe to be also received and where necessary made up and forwarded by the said Agent Clothiers—

That all monies for purchasing articles of clothing, and the expences attending the making, storing or forwarding the same shall be supplied by the Treasury Board to the Clothier General on estimates allowed by the Board of War, and by him transmitted to the Agents in the proportions allotted to them respectively by the said Board.

That the Board of War in conjunction with the Commander in Chief shall appoint proper places for the receipts and issues of all clothing, and order persons to be there stationed under the direction of the Clothier General, to whom shall be transmitted by the Agent Clothiers respectively exact Invoices of all clothing imported and received and forwarded by them—and of such articles as are purchased within these States an account of Quantities Species and Prices. Invoices shall also accompany every parcel of clothing sent to the places of Deposit, and Duplicates of the whole should be transmitted to the Board of War, that a judgment may be formed of the prices given, and of the quality of articles imported or purchased—and for this purpose, all articles coming into the hands of the Clothier General or of any of his Deputies or Assistants stationed at the places of Deposit shall be compared by them with the Invoices and the quality thereof shall be examined, and if the prices are exorbitant or the articles bad in kind, or if there shall be any Deficiencies, the same shall be represented to the Board of War to enable them to make a proper investigation into the conduct of the purchasing Agents, or if the Deficiencies happen in the Articles imported from abroad, or the same shall be of bad quality, the necessary information may be given to Congress on the subject—

SIR,

The detachment of the Artillery Artificers who were stationed in Philadelphia have marched to Carlisle agreeable to the direction of Congress, but whether there is a sufficient stock of provisions at that post yet remains a doubt, particularly as to the article of meat.

The Board have done every thing in their power to have supplies at the post, and if any disappointments happen, they hope they shall not be deemed responsible. If money and provisions can be furnished these men will be usefully employed, if not they will be a burthen to the public, and what is most alarming, the Army will want their Ordnance supplies.

The affairs at Springfield remain in the most deranged situation. A M^r Hiller who is strongly recommended to the Board as a capable person, is appointed Commissary of Military Stores, and is intended to take charge of the business at Springfield; but his instructions are delayed on account of the report of the Board respecting the pay of the department not being acted on by Congress.

The season is far advanced and the preparations so essentially necessary for the next Campaign are still delayed. Every day lost at this period will be regretted at the opening of the Campaign and therefore it is hoped Congress will excuse the Board for pressing a

The estimate made by the Commissary General amounts to £51,230 in Specie, but if half that sum could be speedily furnished, and so much of the remainder as the Board shall deem absolutely essential be supplied in the course of a few months, the business would emerge from its present languid state, and the Department rendered useful to the public.¹

A memorial of Captain John Williamson was read: ²

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of War to take order.

The Commercial Committee to whom was referred the letter of Baron d'Arendt to Congress, report as follows,

That they have had the same under consideration, and that from Baron d'Arendt's assurances, as well as from authentic testimonials, they have every reason to conclude he is relied upon by the Court of Berlin for informations, respecting the trade and productions of these United States; with a view to discover how far the subjects of the king of Prussia might derive benefit from a commercial intercourse with us.

That altho' the points he hath submitted to your Committee may be considered rather as questions respecting the ordinary channels and modes of commerce, or matter connected therewith, capable of answer by private enquiry than as propositions for the judgment and determination of Congress. Yet they are of opinion it will appear, from the nature of Baron d'Arendt's agency, that the king of Prussia has evidenced an attention to the affairs and circumstances of America which as it may lead to important consequences, should not be suffered to pass by unnoticed. They therefore submit the following resolutions.

Resolved, That Congress approve of Baron d'Arendt's collecting the best information possible respecting the trade of America, and the best mode of opening and carrying on commerce between the citizens of these United States and the subjects of his Prussian Majesty. Resolved, That Congress do in the name of these United

That with respect to the acknowledgement of M^r Lee of the sum of 375,000 Livres some accounts must be instituted and credited in the books at the Treasury, and thus it seems for the reasons assigned by M^r Lee can only be declared by Congress.

That to comply with the rules laid down in the Treasury for the liquidation of accounts the accountant ought to produce the authority by which he acted and the vouchers to support his account: therefore to dispense with these requisites in the present instance it will be necessary that Congress should give directions.

AT A BOARD OF WAR *Jan^y 2nd 1781*Present M^r PetersGen^l Cornell

The Board having considered the letter of Gov^r Clinton of Nov^r 15th and the letter from Col Malcolm enclosed therein, which were referred to them, beg leave to inform Congress.

That it appears to the Board that in the Spring 1779, the regiments of Spencer and Malcolm, two of the sixteen additional regiments were consolidated, but the field officers of the line of additionals, so far as appears to the Board were not in every instance arranged. The Commander in Chief recommended to Colonels Spencer and Malcolm to accommodate with each other, so as to settle who should take the command of the regiment, but no agreement between Colonels Spencer and Malcolm appears. Col Spencer was in the actual command, and so continued 'till the last arrangement, and Col Malcolm retired unwillingly from actual duty in the line, having occupied himself during the period of his discontinuing the command in the line some times in performing the duty of Adjutant General of the Northern Army and sometimes commanding Militia of the State of New York, under his Continental Commission which does not appear to be superseded by any positive act; but on the contrary by resolve of the 19th of June 1778, it is determined, "That Col William Malcolm D^r Adjutant Gen^l in the Army now under Gen^l Gates, be permitted to hold his rank in the Army and his regiment if the same shall be kept up in the new arrangement now making." Whether or not his holding the rank without the regiment entitles him to pay, Congress will be pleased to determine. Should they be of opinion that he is entitled to pay and rank, it will then in the opinion of the Board be proper to resolve.

That Col William Malcolm be permitted to retire from the service of the United States, and receive all the benefits to which Officers of his rank are entitled by any resolution of Congress on retiring from service.

If on the contrary Congress should be of opinion that the rank only was continued, they will please to resolve—

Resolved, That, in the opinion of Congress, Colonel William Malcolm cannot be considered as entitled to pay and subsistence as a colonel in the service of the United States, longer than he held the actual command of his regiment; and that he be recommended to the executive of the State of New York as a meritorious officer, who, from the impracticability of employing him in the army, is to be deemed a supernumerary under the resolution of Congress of the 24 day of November, 1778.

And whereas Colonel Malcolm has been employed, after his leaving his regiment, on sundry occasional services:

Resolved, That it be referred to the executive of the State of New York to settle and adjust his pay during the time of such services, and charge the same to the United States.¹

The committee, to whom was referred the report of a committee on letters from General Washington, &c of December 8, delivered in a report; Whereupon,

Resolved, That it be earnestly recommended to the states, from New Hampshire to North Carolina, inclusive, to procure and forward to the treasurer of the United States, or to their commissary of prisoners, appointed to reside at New York, by the 1st day of March next, for the use of the officers in captivity at that place, and on Long Island, and to be charged to the United States, the following sums respectively, in specie, or bills of exchange on New York, viz.

New Hampshire, - 2,319 dollars.	Delaware, - - 987 dollars.
Massachusetts, - 13,334 do.	Maryland, - - 9,159 do.
Rhode Island - 1,160 do.	Virginia, - - 14,492 do.
Connecticut, - - 9,855 do.	North Carolina, - 5,796 do.
New York, - - 4,347 do.
New Jersey, - - 5,217 do.	80,000 dollars.
Pennsylvania, - 13,334 do.

~~Resolved that it be permitted to such of the said States as cannot provide their respective proportions within the limited time in specie or bills as aforesaid, to export to New York lumber, boards, scantling, iron, hemp, tar or pitch to be consigned to the American commissary of prisoners sending them in sufficient quantity to procure the same.~~

¹ A copy of these resolutions, as an extract from the minutes, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 78, XVI, folio 387. The report is in No. 147, VI, folio 69.

~~That to prevent a repetition of the distresses to which the want of specie has exposed the officers of the United States in captivity it be further recommended to the States above named to procure and transmit to the Treasurer of the United States half yearly during the war reckoning from the first day of March next, the sum of ——— dollars in specie in the proportions above assigned; the same to be credited to the said states respectively.~~¹

Congress took into consideration the report of the committee on the memorial of W. Peck, and, after debate, the same was set aside by the previous question.

Congress proceeded to the election of an adjutant general, and, the ballots being taken, Brigadier General Hand was elected.

SIR,

Congress consider your correspondence with the Count de Vergennes on the subject of communicating your plenipotentiary powers to the ministry of Great Britain, as flowing from your zeal and assiduity in the service of your country; but I am directed to inform you, that the opinion given to you by that minister relative to the time and circumstances proper for communicating your powers, and entering upon the execution of them, is well founded. Congress have no expectations from the influence which the people of England may have on the British councils, whatever may be the dispositions of that nation or their magistrates towards these United States; nor are they of opinion that a change of ministers would produce a change of measures: they therefore hope that you will be very cautious of admitting your measures to be influenced by presumptions of such events, or their probable consequences.

out the propriety of cultivating with them a friendly correspondence and connection:

That to render such an intercourse advantageous, the necessity of a competent knowledge of the interests, views, relations, and systems of those potentates, is obvious:

That a knowledge, in its nature so comprehensive, is only to be acquired by a constant attention to the state of Europe, and an unremitting application to the means of acquiring well grounded information:

That Congress are moreover called upon to maintain with our ministers at foreign courts a regular correspondence, and to keep them fully informed of every circumstance and event which regards the public honor, interest, and safety:

That to answer those essential purposes, the committee are of opinion, that a fixed and permanent office for the Department of Foreign Affairs ought forthwith to be established, as a remedy against the fluctuation, the delay and indecision to which the present mode of managing our foreign affairs must be exposed"; Whereupon,

~~That your Committee are further of Opinion that the most effectual mode of conducting the Business of the Department for foreign affairs would be thro' a Minister vested with Confidential powers after the Example of other nations, responsible for his Trust and under the immediate Direction of Congress.~~

~~That there are however obstacles to be apprehended which may retard the Introduction of such a plan; and as a provision which can be carried into immediate practice is indispensably necessary, your Committee therefore submit the following Resolution:~~

Resolved, That an office be forthwith established for the Department of Foreign Affairs, to be kept always in the place where Congress shall reside:

That there shall be a secretary for the despatch of the business of the said office, to be stiled "Secretary for foreign affairs:"

~~That a Committee of Congress consisting of three members of whom the president shall always be one shall have the superintendance and direction of the Department of foreign affairs and that the~~ Negativ^d ~~Secretary for foreign affairs shall be subject to their Instructions and Submit all his correspondence and proceedings to their Inspection.¹~~

TREASURY OFFICE January 10, 1781.

The Board of Treasury represent for the Information of Congress—

That from the Entries in the Treasury Books it appears that a Balance is due from the Respective States upon the Monthly Tax of fifteen Million of Dollars per month; to the month of February, 1780, inclusive 42,491,284 $\frac{7}{8}$ Dollars as will more particularly appear by the Paper herewith sent, wherein the separate balances are particularly specified; as a part of these Balances three Warrants have been drawn in favor of the Commissary General of Purchases in Consequence of a Resolution of Congress of the 26th of August last. One on the Treasurer of the State of New Jersey for 281,435 Dollars— one on the Treasurer of the State of New York for 647,810 Dollars— and one on the Treasurer of the State of Pennsylvania for 268,049 $\frac{3}{8}$ dollars, none of which warrants are paid as this Board believe, and therefore it is considered the balance stated above is due.

That from any information received from the respective Treasurers of the different States, it is not probable that any more money will be brought in, in Discharge of their Quotas aforesaid up to the first of March last in the old money.

The Board also lay before Congress another Paper which will shew the whole amount of the four Tenths of the Money of the 18 of March subject to the order of Congress and the amount of the Warrants already drawn as a part of that money.

ADMIRALTY OFFICE Jan.^y. 9th 1781.

The Board of Admiralty to whom the letter of John Wharton Esq^f to the Honorable the Congress of the 4th Instant respecting his resignation is referred beg leave to report—

That it is not without regret they find themselves called upon to attend to the proposed resignation of M^r Wharton who hath been so long, and so diligent a member of the Navy Board, but in compliance with their duty they would observe, that as from his first appointment he hath been principally employed in that branch of the business, which respects the equipping and fitting out ships, they cannot conceive that he ought to be constrained to keep his seat at that Board for the purpose of settling its accounts, and therefore they submit to Congress this Resolution.

Ordered, That the resignation of John Wharton be accepted.

And whereas the business of the Navy Board, by its present constitution cannot proceed, in case M^r Wharton's resignation should be accepted, unless a member should be chosen in his room, or the only present member James Reed Esq^f be clothed with authority to conduct the same, and as from the information of M^r Reed, it appears to be altogether impracticable for him to settle the accounts of the Navy Board without a suitable Clerk, the Board of Admiralty therefore, provided that the foregoing Resolution should be agreed to by Congress, and they should not think it proper to appoint a member in the room of M^r Wharton, beg leave to submit the following Resolution.

Resolved, That James Reed be, and he is hereby invested with full powers for conducting the business of the navy board in the middle department, until the further order of Congress, and that he be empowered to hire a competent clerk for the purpose of assisting him in settling the accounts of that Board.¹

of the commissary general of military stores be as follows, the sums hereafter mentioned to be paid in bills of the new emissions, and all moneys received in bills of the old emissions, since the said 1st day of August, to be accounted for according to the table of depreciation, as fixed by the Board of Treasury, viz.: commissary general of military stores, ~~115~~ 100 dollars per month, 3 rations per day; deputy commissary general, 80 dollars per month, 2 rations per day; commissaries, 70 dollars per month, 2 rations per day; deputy commissaries, 55 dollars per month, 2 rations per day; conductors, 45 dollars per month, 1 ration per day; clerks, 40 dollars per month, 1 ration per day.

That the officers and men of the regiment of artillery artificers, have the same pay, from and after the said 1st day of August, in bills of the new emissions, as was originally fixed in bills of the then emissions, by the regulations of the department, made by Congress, on the 11th day of February, 1778, and that they draw the number of rations then directed:

That the appointments of the field commissary of military stores, and his subordinate officers, be as follows, from and after the 1st day of August last, the pay to be received in bills of the new emissions: field commissary, 90 dollars per month, 2 rations per day, servants included; deputy field commissary, 70 dollars per month, 2 rations per day, servants included; conductor, 45 dollars per month, 1 ration per day, servants included; clerk, 40 dollars per month, 1 ration per day, servants included:

AT A BOARD OF WAR Dec: 8th 1780

Gen^l Ward.

The Board of War beg leave to lay before Congress a letter from M^r Pierce D^r Pay Master Gen^l respecting the additional sums allowed to Aids de Camp, Brigade Majors and Regimental Clothiers and Pay Master, Adjutants and Regimental Q^r Masters and submit the following Resolution

Resolved, That the additional pay of aids-de-camp, brigade-majors, adjutants, and regimental quartermasters, agreeably to the act of 27 May, 1778, be considered as fixed in specie ~~at the times when the several allowances in addition to the pay of those officers in the line were made by Congress;~~ and that the same, from and after the 18 day of August last, be drawn in bills of the new emission :

That the pay of a regimental paymaster and clothier, in addition to his pay as an officer in the line, be thirty dollars per month, in bills of the new emissions, and that the several states, in making up the depreciation of such officers from the times of their respective appointments, calculate upon the additional pay as being thirty dollars per month in specie.

The reason of the Board being induced to offer the Resolution relative to Regimental Clothiers and Paymasters is that at first the Paymasters had twenty dollars additional Pay allowed them. The Regimental Clothier had thirty dollars additional pay. Afterwards both these duties were directed to be performed by the same person and the Officers acting in these capacities claim both additional sums and have applied to their States for the depreciation on both. It is conceived that the thirty dollars stated in the above Resolve are sufficient for the additional trouble thrown upon those Officers especially as they do no duty in the line.¹

That the committee furnished the commissioners of the Chambers of Accounts with the said complaint, and afterwards heard the testimony, proofs, allegations and observations of the several parties; and after mature deliberation thereupon, find that the commissioners of the Chambers have settled above two hundred accounts between the 1st December, 1779, and the 1st December, 1780, several of which required the examination of many thousand vouchers and papers; and that all the accounts which have been referred to them are reported to the auditor general's office, four or five excepted, for the delay of which satisfactory reasons were given to the committee:

That the committee cannot ascertain with any precision the time that might be necessarily employed in the transacting this business, but conceive it might have been done with more facility if the present system established by Congress did not necessarily create great delays, and therefore they are, upon the whole, of opinion that the said commissioners cannot justly be censured on account of any of the three first articles or charges:

That the committee had no evidence of incapacity in the said commissioners, or either of them, save from Mr. John Nicholson, one of their clerks, whose conduct had been complained of by them, and who had recriminated the said commissioners previous to the giving his evidence; and besides, the committee are not satisfied that he is a competent judge of this matter:

That they have carefully attended to every suggestion of partiality, and, having fully investigated every particular relating to this charge, do not find any trace of the sort:

The committee, therefore, are of opinion, that the commissioners of the Chambers of Accounts, and every of them, should be acquitted of each of the charges exhibited against them."¹ from J. Pierce, delivered in a draught of a letter to the states, which was agreed to as follows:

SIR: A circular address to the respective states, of the 9th day of November last, communicated a requisition of Congress for the service of the current year. This act, and the system of the 18th of March, ~~for improving~~ [respecting] our finances, include the principal means [which their present powers have enabled Congress to adopt] for prosecuting the war ~~and they are of such vast moment, that, under Providence, the public safety rests upon their efficiency;~~ measures so deeply interesting not only demand the unremitting attention and vigorous support of the legislatures; but Congress ought to be informed of their progress with the utmost precision. Both are necessary to the public credit, to the success of our military operations, to the very existence of our armies. By our act of the 21 of October, the state agents are directed to transmit to the Commander in Chief, and to the commissary general, respectively, monthly returns of all supplies which shall be drawn into their hands, specifying the articles and the magazines where they shall be deposited. It is equally incumbent on the state treasurers to make similar returns to the Board of Treasury of all the taxes which shall be brought into their respective offices, and of the issues of the new emissions. These are regulations which cannot be dispensed with, and it is recommended to the legislatures to enjoin them under such penalties as will enforce a prompt and punctual obedience.

Besides those supplies for the current year, which cannot be anticipated without the utmost danger, the pay in arrear to the army demands your most serious consideration. The honor of government and military order and discipline depend on its regular discharge. Nor was a fund sufficient for this and other purposes neglected; for had the requisitions for taxes prior to the act of the 18 of March been productive; had the warrants on the state treasuries for the balances of those taxes, drawn so long ago as the first of July, been satisfied, a complaint of this nature could not have existed, ~~but when there remains at this moment a deficiency of no less than 42,499.384²¹/₁₀₀ dollars it will readily be accounted for.~~

We are not unapprized of the embarrassments attending the collection of taxes from the credit given on commissaries' and quartermasters' certificates for the support of the army; but it is manifest that Congress could not provide a remedy. ~~We had ceased~~ [It was found expedient to discontinue] the emission of paper money, ~~to comply with what was conceived to be the sense of the people, and from a want of confidence in the public credit our~~ [various causes, the public] necessities were not relieved by loans, at the same time that the ~~expedient~~ [measure] was embraced of extinguishing those certificates in the taxes. Hence the treasury has been ~~without~~ destitute of supply, almost every resource being cut off at the same instant. In vain have we endeavoured to obtain a knowledge of the amount of those certificates, or how far they have been reduced; and they continue to obstruct every plan which ~~can be~~ [hath been] devised for restoring public credit and supporting the war. This is a subject to which the authority of the legislatures alone is competent, and it will become their wisdom and their zeal for the public service to give it the fullest investigation.

In the mean time, an immediate provision for the pay of the army is indispensably necessary. We need not dwell upon the injustice or the probable effects of a delay, they are obvious and alarming: and we earnestly call upon the several states to devise prompt and efficient means for remitting to the paymaster general, [on warrants to be issued in his favour,] the respective quotas assigned to them by the enclosed estimate. ~~With this measure is connected the very existence of the army.~~¹

The necessity of great and spirited exertions becomes every day more evident.² While the cruel policy of our enemies raises ~~our~~ universal indignation and abhorrence, it admonishes us that no time is to be lost in rescuing our bleeding country from desolation, and establishing its independence on the basis of an honorable and permanent peace. However great may be the burthens which we are called upon to sustain, let us remember that they are the price of liberty, and that they have been common to every people who have dared to struggle for social happiness against ~~the hand of~~ violence and oppression. Let us reflect on our solemn engagements, to devote our lives and our fortunes to the best of causes: and we shall find that we cannot be destitute of resources. Let us review the past miseries of a lingering war, and the danger of its further protraction, and we shall seize the golden opportunity of cooperating with our generous ally, by every possible effort to render the approaching campaign glorious and decisive. If we are unable in this stage of the conflict ~~when we enjoy the prospect of its happy conclusion to maintain our~~ ~~cause~~ defend ourselves by annual taxes; can we hesitate to interpose our responsibility, or to contribute a portion of our capitals? Will a people whose fortitude and patriotism have excited the admiration of Europe, languish at the bright dawn of triumph, and endanger the public happiness by a selfish parsimony? While Congress entertain just sentiments ~~of the zeal of their constituents for the best of~~ ~~causes~~ there can be no place for such humiliating apprehensions. On the contrary, we shall look with confidence for a liberal compliance with every requisition which the public exigencies dictate. Experience has pointed out the dangers to which we have been exposed by a want of punctuality in former supplies, and we are persuaded that those dangers will, for the future, be carefully prevented.

For our own part we have left nothing unessayed to render the operations of the war more vigorous and successful. We have [applied] for naval succours from abroad: if we no longer continue unfortunate in the importation, we shall not want a competent supply of cloathing, arms and ammunition. We are once more attempting a foreign loan of specie: we have pointed out and required the aids of men, provisions and money, which in every event must be produced from our own internal resources. We have strenuously urged upon the states a punctual compliance, on their part, with those requisitions. With the states who ~~have the power~~ alone have authority to execute; with an enlightened people, who know how to estimate the blessings for which we contend, it remains to give the measures which we have recommended their full and seasonable effect.

The estimate referred to:

Estimate of the sums necessary to be forwarded by the respective states, from Pennsylvania to New Hampshire, inclusive, for the immediate pay of the army composed of the lines of those states. Total 879,342 Dollars.

Apportioned by Congress as follows:

New Hampshire, - -	51,726	New Jersey, - - - -	51,726
Massachusetts, - - -	284,493	Pennsylvania, - - - -	232,767
Rhode Island, - - - -	25,863		<hr/>
Connecticut, - - - -	155,178		879,342
New York, - - - - -	77,589

The above is calculated on six months' pay in specie value; one half of which to be advanced without the least delay, and the remainder by the 1st of April next.¹

AT A BOARD OF WAR January 13th 1781

 Gen^l Cornell

The Board having reconsidered their report of the 29th of October [November 17] in the case of Col Donald Campbell, upon which they are directed to report specially, beg leave to inform Congress, That on the 17th of July 1775 he was appointed by Congress D Q M General for the New York department, with the rank of Colonel, in which he continued for some time, but was arrested and tried by a Court Martial in 1776, the sentence of which was unfavorable to him, but was not finally approved as Congress will see by Gen^l Gates's report on their Journals of the 18th of Jan^y 1777 to which the Board beg leave to refer. It operated however to take from him his employment of D Q M Gen^l and on the 13th of February 1777. Congress resolved: "That he be continued in his former pay and rank; and directed to repair immediately to the Commissioners for auditing accounts of the Northern Army, and settle with them the accounts of his late department"

Upon this state of the matter, and taking into consideration that Col Campbell has not done one day's public duty, except settling his own public accounts, since the last mentioned resolve, the Board submit the following resolution:

power to give them the requisite attention, without neglecting some of the more immediate and important business of Congress, for this reason the Committee submit the following Resolution:

That an agent be appointed with a competent salary whose duty it shall be to arrange and state the accounts of the former Committees of Commerce and to manage the Commercial transactions of Congress.¹

WAR OFFICE Jan^y 15th 1781

SIR.

The Board have been honored with an order from Congress to draw a warrant in favor of Thomas Bates late a soldier in Colonel Moylans Regiment whose case is exactly similar to those of great numbers who have been refused at this Board, and of those who never had it in their power to apply. If this warrant is drawn it will expose Congress to repeated applications and as there is no Money in the Military Chest even if warrants are drawn, they will either be useless or sold about the City for trifling considerations. The Board foresaw the present inconveniences and reported to Congress on the 22nd of December on the subject. If the monies recommended to be put into the hands of the Pay Master General are provided we shall be happy to distribute them among the appliers. But at present we submit to Congress whether giving a Warrant or paying money to one soldier and not to others under like circumstances will not be of more disadvantage than benefit to the public.²

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

SIR,

The Board have the honor to enclose for the consideration of Congress, two letters from Mr Baker Johnson in Maryland, from which it appears that he has involved himself in a difficulty, not a little distressing to him, by a laudible desire to promote the public good.

The contract for which he stands engaged was made before the resolution of the 6th ulto prohibiting Military Officers from making purchases could be known: and being informed that an officer was left at Philadelphia for the express purpose of procuring clothing for Col Lee's Corps, leather breeches among other Articles, he thought there was little risk in becoming security for a purchase, which the soldiers then stood in need of, and which was made on terms not disadvantageous to the public.

The Board beg leave to report:

Resolved, That the executive of the State of Maryland be and hereby are requested to liquidate and settle the account of Mr. Baker Johnson for ~~fifty two pairs of leather breeches~~ cloathing which he purchased for Lieutenant Colonel Lee's partizan corps on account of the United States.¹

The committee to whom was referred the letter, of 15, from the hon^{ble} the Chevalier de la Lucerne, minister plenipotentiary of France, delivered in a report, which was read:

The Committee to whom was referred the Communication of the Chevalier De la Luzerne Minister of France of the 15th Instant have agreed to report hereupon as follows.

Whereas His Most Christian Majesty has thought proper to give an additional proof of his regard for these United States in his letter dated the 10th day of August last to the Admiral of France, touching the sentence and condemnation of prizes taken by ~~Privateers~~ armed vessels fitted out by these States in the Ports of France, by signifying that it is his intention and pleasure, that the prizes which shall be taken by such ~~Privateers~~ armed vessels, and brought into any of his ports may be judged of by the Council for prizes in the same manner as those made by Privateers fitted out by his subjects; and that the officers of the Admiralty observe with regard to them the formalities prescribed by his declaration of the 24th June 1778. Congress desirous of evidencing a reciprocal esteem and regard for the good ally and his subjects have resolved:

That all Prizes taken by ~~Privateers or Letters of Marque~~ armed vessels fitted out by the subjects of his Most Christian Majesty in any of the ports of these United States, and brought within the same, may and shall be judged of tried and condemned in any Court of Admiralty, in the same manner in all respects as those made by ~~Privateers or Letters of Marque~~ armed vessels belonging to the Citizens of any of these States of which all persons concerned are to take notice, and govern themselves accordingly.

[If the amendments proposed by the Board of Admiralty should be agreed to the Resolution will then read:

That all prizes taken by Privateers and other armed vessels fitted out and navigated by the subjects of his Most Christian Majesty in any of the Ports of these United States and brought within the same, may and shall be judged of tried and condemned in any Court of Admiralty in the same manner in all respects as those made by Privateers and other armed vessels belonging to the citizens of any of these States. Of which all persons concerned are to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.]¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of Admiralty.

The Board of Treasury, to whom was referred the memorial of John Ross, together with his account against the United States, delivered in a report; Whereupon,

TREASURY OFFICE Jan^y 13th 1781

The Board of Treasury beg leave to report,

That they have had under their consideration the report of the Chambers of accounts and the Auditor General on the account of John Ross referred to them by Congress on the 3rd of January with directions to liquidate the account and devise ways and means for paying the balance due to him beg leave to submit the same to the decision of Congress on the point submitted by the Auditor General

The Board however are of opinion from the certificates adduced that M^r: Ross has complied on his part with every requisition in the settlement of his accounts under the direction of Doct^r: Franklin required by a special resolution of Congress for that purpose dated August 11th 1778 and it would seem unreasonable for him to wait for the payment of his balance which from anything that appears to the contrary is well and justly settled until Doct^r: Franklin who is in possession of the papers on which that balance is founded may send them forward. The Board are further of opinion that a continuation of the interest from the date of the settlement Viz. on the 1st of July, 1779, to the present time ought to be made, which, by the report amounts to the sum of £1368.. 3.. 9 which with the former balance is £19,445.. 11.. 11 Sterling, the following resolution is therefore submitted:

Resolved, That bills of Exchange be drawn on the Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States of North America at the court of to the amount of nineteen thousand four hundred and forty five pounds eleven Shillings and eleven pence Sterling to discharge the principal and interest of the public debt due to John Ross, and that the Board of Treasury be authorized and directed to carry this resolution into effect.¹

Ordered, That the Board of Treasury direct the balance of nineteen thousand four hundred and forty-five pounds, eleven shillings and eleven pence sterling to be entered to the credit of John Ross in the books of the United States, and that the said balance bear an interest of six per cent. per annum until paid.

Congress took into consideration the report of the committee on the letter of 5 of November last, from General Washington, enclosing a memorial from the officers in the hospital department; and, thereupon, came to the following resolutions:

Whereas, by the plan for conducting the hospital department, passed in Congress the 30th day of September last, no proper establishment is provided for the officers of the medical staff, after their dismissal from public service, which, considering the custom of other nations and the late provision made for the officers of the army, after the conclusion of the war, they appear to have a just claim to; for remedy whereof, and also for amending several parts of the above-mentioned plan:

Resolved, That all officers in the hospital department, and medical staff, hereinafter mentioned, who shall continue in service to the end of the war, or be reduced before that time as supernumeraries, shall be entitled to, and receive, during life, in lieu of half-pay, the following allowance, viz.

The director of the hospital equal to the half-pay of a lieutenant colonel:

Chief physicians and surgeons of the army and hospitals, ~~each equal to the half pay of a major~~ and hospital physicians and surgeons, purveyor, apothecary, and regimental surgeons, each equal to the half-pay of a lieutenant captain: ~~and regimental mates each equal to the half pay of a lieutenant~~

That there be allowed to the purveyor, apothecary, and assistant purveyors, each, forage for one horse:

That the power given in the before-mentioned plan, to the chief physician and surgeon of the army, to remove regimental surgeons and mates in case of absence without leave, shall in future extend no further than a power of suspension, until such delinquent shall be reported to a proper officer for bringing him to trial by court martial:

That the apothecary may deliver medicines, instruments and dressings, and other articles of his department, to the hospitals, on orders in writing from a physician and surgeon having the care of any particular hospital, where the director or one of the chief physicians and surgeons shall not be present to give the same:

That the power given to the director and chief hospital physicians, with respect to the appointment of matrons, nurses, and other persons necessary for the regular management of the hospitals, be extended to each of the physicians and surgeons of the hospitals, in the absence of the director and chief physicians and surgeons.

~~That notwithstanding the prohibition against officers of the hospitals using any of the Stores provided for the sick, the said officers may occasionally draw out of the hospital Stores under their particular direction by written orders on the Stewards of the same, such small~~ articles for their comfortable subsistence as they may stand in need of, provided such articles are not immediately wanted for the use of the sick: of which articles so issued, the Stewards shall keep regular accounts, charging each officer with the articles drawn at the current price the same bears at that time, which shall be deducted out of his pay in the settlement of his account, copies of which accounts, each respective Steward, under obligation of his oath of Office, shall transmit every six months to the Purveyor,

Negatived

~~which being charged in a general account by him, shall be lodged in the Treasury Office—~~

~~That the Director, Chief Physicians of the army and hospitals, and other Physicians and officers in the hospital department, as well those lately dismissed from service, as those re-appointed in the last arrangement who were in office between the first day of Sept: 1777, and the 30th day of September last, shall have the depreciation of money made good to them on their pay for such part of the above mentioned time as they were actually employed in public service.¹~~ of procuring on his own credit, clothing, arms, accoutrements and horse furniture for his legion, Congress agreeing to pay him the amount of the articles procured, in four years with interest at five per cent per annum.

He represents the impracticability of getting men under the former resolution of Congress on this subject and therefore request that monies for recruiting be given to the Officer left in command of the legion for the purpose of inlisting.

That means may be taken to procure horses for the Dragoons.

He represents that the Corps is in want of a Lieutenant Colonel and wishes that Lt Col Ternant may have this appointment, when exchanged, and that this may be done without additional expence to the United States, as this Gentleman is already in the service in the rank proposed. That the remains of the Corps may be stationed at some convenient place for the purpose of equipment and discipline.

On those representations should Congress approve of them it may be proper to resolve:

Resolved, That Congress approve of Colonel Armand's proposals as made in his letter of the 19th instant to the Board of War, respecting procuring cloathing and equipment of his legion on his own credit; the monies advanced for the purchase of the articles procured, to be repaid in four years, with interest, at five per cent per annum; the articles procured to be plain and useful, without unnecessary decorations or expence:

That the Board of Treasury report a warrant in favour of the paymaster of the Board of War, for the sum deemed necessary by the Board to recruit the legion commanded by Colonel Armand to its complement:

That Lieutenant Colonel Ternant be appointed lieutenant colonel of Colonel Armand's legion and take his rank and command therein when exchanged.

That the quartermaster general be directed to procure a sufficient number of horses, to remount such of the cavalry as are destitute of horses agreeably to directions to be given by the Commander in Chief for the next campaign, and that Colonel Armand's legion be furnished with its proportion out of the number so procured by the quartermaster general.¹

That the remainder of Colonel Armand's legion, now in service, be stationed, for the purpose of discipline and equipment, at such place as the Commander in Chief shall think proper:

Should Congress not deem it expedient to adopt the before mentioned resolutions, they will be pleased to resolve.

That a Committee be appointed to confer with Colonel Armand on the subject of his letter to the Board of War, relating to the arming, equipping and recruiting his partizan Corps.²

That so much of the report as relates to the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel Ternant to be lieutenant colonel of the legion commanded by Colonel Armand, be referred to the Commander in Chief.

The committee, on the memorial of R. Peters &c; and

The committee appointed to confer and act in concert with the executive of the State of Pennsylvania in quieting the disturbances in the Pennsylvania line, delivered in their respective reports:

The Committee &c

Having at different times sent to Congress every material piece of Intelligence, during the course of their negotiations, now beg leave to lay before the House a connected view of their whole Proceedings with Remarks.

On their arrival at Trenton on Saturday Evening the 6th Instant, they met and conversed fully with M^r President Reed from the Executive Council of the State of Pennsylvania, who had that Day been at Maidenhead near Princeton and began a Treaty with the insurgents through General Wayne. The Committee of Congress and of the Council agreed upon the measures to be pursued by them in conjunction and in particular, that not only every thing justly due to the Soldiers of the Pennsylvania line should be granted, but that a construction favorable to them should be put upon the form of enlistment, for three years or during the war; viz: that it should terminate in three years unless the soldier had voluntarily reinlisted but that they would not on any account discharge those who had freely inlisted for the war. They also agreed that as Gen^l Wayne had offered them on the 2^d Instant a general amnesty it should be confirmed whatever reason there was in two or three instances to have made exceptions.

The Committee received undoubted information, that the Soldiers during their march had observed very strict order, and had done ~~far less~~ very little damage to the Inhabitants in passing through the Country ~~than could have been expected~~, and that they observed the same order in Princeton where they had now been near a week. It also appeared that they constantly gave out that they would not go to the Enemy, but that on the contrary, if the Enemy encouraged by their proceedings should make an excursion into New Jersey, they would turn and join the Militia in fighting them. Yet their taking Post at Princeton, which was so conveniently situated for turning either way, gave ground to suspect that they might reserve this as an ultimate resource in case of extremities—all this while Gen! Wayne, and Colonels Stewart and Butler were with them, not Prisoners as was at first supposed, but without command.

On Sunday morning the 7th M^r President Reed proceeded to Princeton, having been informed that the Soldiers earnestly desired it, and assured him he would be perfectly safe, the Committee of Congress remaining at Trenton to correspond and co-öperate with him. In the night preceeding a Sergeant from Gen! Clinton at N. York with a disaffected Inhabitant of N. Jersey for a guide had come to them to Princeton and produced a written but unsigned address to them, a Copy of which is herewith laid before Congress. Another paper of the same tenor wrapt in Sheet lead, was dropt by some unknown person before the door of the House where the Board of Sergeants used to meet. These overtures they received with so much contempt and indignation that they seized the persons who brought them, and sent them to General Wayne, yet taking his promise to re-deliver them when called for, he sent them under a guard of the revolted soldiers to President Reed who met them on his way to Princeton, and carried them back under a guard of the Pennsylvania light Horse to Maidenhead for examination. When he was preparing at that place to proceed to Princeton, the Soldiers sent and desired again to have the custody of the Prisoners, yet promising to have them forthcoming to the order of the President and they were accordingly delivered to them, notwithstanding this suspicious circumstance he determined to go on, and did so. He was received by them with great respect under arms and saluted. They discovered however on this occasion a great jealousy and suspicion of their being overreached, for their Sergeants came up close to him on pretence of enquiring when and where they might converse with him, but in reality to be fully satisfied of the Identity of his person, nor would the soldiers be satisfied until some of the Sergeants who knew him personally assured them it was President Reed.

In the afternoon of that Day he conversed fully with the Sergeants, who acted in name of the whole, and ~~found that they discovered no prejudices against Congress nor even against the State of Pennsylvania but chiefly against some of their own officers and complained of fine deception in their enlistments.~~ We then read to left with them a set of propositions to be read to the Soldiery next morning on the Parade and early on the following day, Monday the 8th, sent an account of his proceedings, and a Copy of the Propositions to the Committee of Congress. In the mean time the Executive authority of the State of New Jersey had given orders to have the Militia assembled on the lines and at Brunswick, in order to protect the Country and oppose the Enemy if they should land at Amboy, as also finally to quell the Mutiny if reasonable terms should be refused.

The Committee attentively considering the whole affair and being fully informed of every circumstance by the Inhabitants of Princeton and the neighbourhood, whom the Soldiers suffered freely to mix with them, found that there was a considerable number of British Deserters who had been enlisted among them, though contrary to the repeated directions of Congress and the laws of their own State. Two of these had even been chosen into the Board of Sergeants who managed their affairs, and nothing but the dissent of these hindered them from executing the two spies by their own authority. Probably these as well as some of the other English Deserters had their eyes on New York, but they were never able to make their sentiments on this subject general, nor durst they even express them freely. The revolted Body in general discovered and even expressed great jealousies that the Militia of the country would be brought upon them to prevent which they paid the strictest attention to discipline, and the protection of the Inhabitants and every where published that they wanted only justice to themselves. They further often said that should the Enemy come out, they would join the Country under Gen^l Waync, at the same time dropping threatenings that if the Militia came upon them before the affair was settled they would burn and waste the Country without mercy. All this had its natural effect, for there appeared no disposition in the Militia to act against them till an accommodation was tried but if they had either refused reasonable terms or turned towards New York, the Country would have risen upon them to a man.

The Committee therefore prepared on their part an additional Declaration and Requisition a Copy of which is herewith produced. This having been sent to President Reed, was by him communicated to them this Day, Monday the 8th, and in the Evening they sent a written Declaration upon the terms offered them a Copy of which also accompanies this Report—about this time the Committee were happy in receiving a Copy of Gen! Washingtons letter to Gen! Wayne, by which it appeared that he approved and recommended the very measures of lenity and justice which had been adopted by them, so that there would be perfect harmony on the part of the United States. President Reed adhered to his own propositions, and those of the Committee and rejected that mentioned by them of chusing an equal number of the Commissioners, who were to determine the particular claims and insisted that they should immediately accept or refuse, and if they accepted, that they should march to Trenton to have the plan carried into execution. This was accordingly agreed to. They marched next Morning and arrived at Trenton Tuesday the 9th about 2 o'clock P. M.

The Committee were at Trenton when they arrived ~~and from the disposition they were in had no apprehension of danger from them yet thought it would have an improper appearance should they continue in the power of men in arms who had not yet completed their agreement and named their officers.~~ On this account they went over the River in the afternoon and that Evening had a long and full conference with the Committee of the Council of Pennsylvania, on which they appointed Commissioners for hearing and determining the claims of the Soldiers without delay viz. Col. Atlee of the Committee of Congress, Gen! Potter of the Committee of Council, Capt. Morris and M^r Blair M^rlenaghan of the light horse, and also determined next Morning to make a peremptory demand of the two Spies who were yet in the custody of the Soldiers. Next Morning Wednesday the 10th the Soldiers proposed an additional article that they should continue in arms till the whole Regiment were settled with and not disperse as they received their discharges. But this was by President Reed ~~who had staid on the east side of the River~~ positively refused as absurd in itself and discovering an unreasonable jealousy and a final answer to the former propositions required in two hours. Within this time they declared they were well satisfied with the nomination of the Commissioners they departed from their demand of continuing in arms after they were discharged, and promised immediately to deliver up the Spies, accordingly that Evening the Spies were sent to the Committee of Congress, a Board of officers immediately tried and condemned them, and they were executed next day the 11th at 12 o'Clock at the cross roads near the upper Ferry.

The Committee then directed the Commissioners to proceed immediately to the settlement of the claims of the Soldiers in the different Regiments, one or two Regiments were settled with before the Committee left Trenton and by the Report of General Wayne, there appeared a very general disposition in those who were discharged to reinlist, to which nothing was wanting but money to pay the Bounty in advance. One circumstance ought not to be omitted, because it does the Insurgents much honor. When they delivered up the British Spies Gov^r Reed offered them 100 Guineas, which they refused saying that what they did was only a duty they owed their Country, and they neither desired nor would receive any reward, but the approbation of that Country, for which they had so often fought and bled.

From the whole of this affair thus happily terminated, your Committee humbly submit the following remarks.

1st That this disturbance however unhappy and threatening at first, has now afforded an undeniable and pleasing proof of the firm attachment of the Soldiery as well as the Country in general to the American cause. Notwithstanding the hardships which our army in general has suffered from the necessities of our affairs which have been many and great, and notwithstanding the peculiar complaints of many of the Pennsylvania line there was not the least appearance of any previous concert with the Enemy, nor any disposition to hearken to overtures when made by them. It ought not to be forgotten that the seizing of the Spies was previous to any steps being taken for accommodating the difference.

2. That all possible care should be taken to prevent for the future the enlisting of any British Deserters, perhaps also those who are now in the army should be discharged.

3. That Every State in the Union should be requested to pay the strictest attention to supplying the wants of the Army ~~of every kind.~~

~~4. That the inferior officers of the army should be directed in their treatment of the soldiers never to separate severity from justice and to temper severity with mercy.¹~~

Ordered, That the report of the committee last mentioned be referred to the committee on the letter, of 10th, from the said committee.

¹ This report, in the writing of John Witherspoon, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 20, II, folio 101.

The committee, to whom was referred the memorial of the officers of the five Pennsylvania companies of the late German regiment, delivered in a report; Whereupon,

The Committee to whom was referred the Memorial of the officers of the German Battalion beg leave to report.

That the officers were directed to march that battalion to join the Troops of Pennsylvania near Morristown by the first day of Jany. Instant.

That when they arrived with these troops on the first instant, the memorialists were dismissed the service agreeable to an act of Congress of the of for new arranging the army, by which the German Battalion was reduced.

That for the purpose of settling some regimental accounts they came to this City, on the way to their respective places of abode and not having received their pay for a number of months past are destitute of money to defray their expences in this City, or to support them on their way home. Your Committee therefore submit the following Resolution viz.

Resolved, That the Board of War draw a warrant on the Board of Treasury in favor of the paymaster Gen^l for three months pay for each of the Memorialists to be paid in bills issued in pursuance of the act of the 18th of March last in part of the wages due to them.¹

Ordered, That the Board of War take order for causing payment to be made to each of the said memorialists three months' pay in part of the arrears due to them, the resolution of the 4th notwithstanding, and that the same be paid in bills emitted in pursuance of the act of the 18 March last.

The Board of Admiralty, to whom was referred the report of the committee on the communications of the hon^{ble} the minister of France, delivered in a report.

ADMIRALTY OFFICE Jan^y 23^d 1781.

The Board of Admiralty to whom the Communication of the Hon^{ble} the Minister of France, and the report of the Committee thereon have been referred, beg leave to request, that as the said communication and report of the Committee relate to captures by sea and the mode of their trial and adjudication in the ports of his Most Christian Majesty, and do not touch the regulations of the Navy, the Board of Admiralty may be discharged from giving any opinion thereon, and that the same be committed to the Committee appointed to form a system of regulations for captures by sea. But if the Honorable Congress should not think proper to grant their request the Board of Admiralty then submit the following amendments to their wisdom, to wit, that between the words "taken" and "armed" in the first line, and between the words "by" and "armed" in the fourth line, the words "Privateers and other" should be inserted and that the words "and navigated" should be inserted between the words "out" and "by" in the first line of the said Report.

The reason for their first proposed amendment is that altho' Privateers are armed Vessels, yet Privateers are defined to be "Vessels of War armed and equipped by particular merchants and furnished with a military Commission to cruise against the Enemy" &c, and the transportation of merchandize may be the chief business of an armed Vessel. The reason for the last proposed amendment is that "fitting out" is "the act of providing a Ship with a sufficient number of men to navigate and arm her for attack or defence, also to furnish her with proper masts &c together with sufficient provisions for the Ships Company:" and this Board conceive that his Most Christian Majesty will not permit Privateers and armed Vessels belonging to these States to be manned in his Ports with Seamen (his Subjects) and further that if it should be permitted that Privateers and armed Vessels belonging to the Subjects of his Most Christian Majesty should be manned with Seamen (Citizens) of these States, the manning of the Navy and the Commerce, as well as Privateering of these States might be obstructed, and perhaps the recruiting of its armies impeded.¹

AT A BOARD OF WAR, Jan^y 24, 1781.

Gen^l Cornell.

SIR

The enclosed letter from Col Armand is agreeable to his request therein laid before Congress. The Board presumed that as Col Armand is going to Europe and will not otherwise have an opportunity of partaking in the Provision made or to be made by Congress for the payment of the Army it should seem that there can be no cause of jealousy if Congress are pleased to direct,

That the Treasury Board report a warrant in favor of Col Armand for seven hundred and twelve dollars and an half, the same being the amount of his pay and subsistence for six months.³

A report from the Board of Treasury was read; Whereupon,

Ordered, That upon the application of the hon^{ble} Cyrus Griffin, one of the judges of the Court of Appeals in Cases of Capture, a warrant issue in his favour on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, for one thousand dollars new emissions, on account of salary due to him and for which he is to be accountable.¹

On the application of Mr. [William] Sharpe, a delegate for the State of North Carolina:

Ordered, That a warrant issue in his favour on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania for twenty thousand dollars old emissions, and for which the said State of North Carolina is to be accountable.

According to the order of the day, Congress was resolved into a Committee of the Whole, and after some time the President resumed the chair and Mr. [John] Mathews reported, that the committee have had under consideration the reports referred to them, but not having come to a conclusion desire leave to sit again:

A report from the Board of Treasury was read, respecting the owners of rum taken for the use of the army:

TREASURY OFFICE, January 22th 1781.

The Board of Treasury finding themselves greatly embarrassed by endeavouring to carry into Execution the Resolution of Congress of the 4th instant, relative to certain Quantities of Rum taken for the

Use of the Army, and other Quantities purchased on Special Contract, beg leave to state the Matter for Instruction.

The several Claimants under the Resolution aforesaid have had their Accounts stated by the Agent of the Commissary General of Purchases, stating the Articles charged, "at their just Value estimated by the current Price of such Articles at the Time and Place when and where taken". Those who had their Property taken in June last, have considered the Value of Money then, at sixty paper dollars for one Silver dollar, and now consider the Rate of Exchange at one hundred of the former for one of the latter. Of Consequence they have added to their Accounts from June last to the present Time 40 per cent Depreciation. Those who had their Property taken in September last do consider that at that Time the Current Rate of Exchange was 75 Paper dollars for one Silver, and as in the Case above stated have brought the Rate of Exchange up to one hundred for one, making a Charge for Depreciation of 25 Per Cent from September last to the present Time.

The Claimants are willing to receive Payment in the money of the old Emissions agreeably to the State of their Accounts as aforesaid which appears to have been the Intention of Congress by their Resolution aforesaid and one other of the 8th instant repealing a part of the Resolution of the 4th. But this Board not having it in their Power to report Payment in the Money of the former Emissions, and Congress not having fixed any Rate of Depreciation since the 18 of March last renders the present Case difficult.

The well known Mercantile Exchange between the Money of the old Emissions, and Gold, is one hundred for one, and the legal Exchange, as established by a Law of the State of Pennsylvania, is not more than seventy five for one—evidently produces a difference of 25 per cent between the true Value of the Money of the old Emissions, if Gold and Silver be considered the Criterion.

The Claimants alledge that in the stating of their Accounts they had respect to Mercantile Rate of Exchange only, so, in the Payment, it is but equitable to observe the same Rule, for at the Time they admit Depreciation was 60 and 75 for one in June and September last, Congress by their Publications admitted of no greater Depreciation than 40 for one. That if the Mercantile Depreciation is admitted in the first Instance it should also in the second—Otherwise they say they are willing to receive the Amount of their original Claim without any Allowance for Depreciation, agreeably to the Regulation of 40 for one.

The Claim reduced to Calculation stands as follows—

The Amount of the several Claims for Rum, now before the Board, exclusive of Interest and depreciation is 1,028,020 dollars. This Sum divided by 40 will give 25,700 dollars in the New Bills—The same Claim including Depreciation and Interest charged in their Accounts upon the Principles aforesaid, amounts to 1,605,196 dollars of the old Bills which Sum divided by 75 gives 21,402 dollars in the New Bills—Balance in favor of this Payment 4298 Specie dollars; but if the Claim aforesaid of 1,605,196 dollars be divided by one hundred, which they say by their Accounts is the Mercantile Depreciation, the Specie Dollars to be paid them will be 16,051. This Payment will not be accepted, tho' it is most certainly the true Exchange supposing the new Bills to be equal in Value to Silver and Gold. But as those Bills have and now do pass, this Payment would be 25 Per Cent under the real Value of their Claim.

The Board verily believe that some, if not all of the Claimants are in the utmost Distress for want of their Money and as it is a subject of no small Magnitude hope it will Claim the Attention of Congress, not only as it respects the present Claimants, but as it relates to monied Matters generally.

This Debt being so considerable the Board cant even suggest to Congress how Payment shall be made, unless by a Warrant on the Loan Officer of Massachusetts Bay, where there is more than a sufficient for this Purpose; but as the Money is wanted in this City, where the Massachusetts Money passes very heavily even at 40 for one, the Claimants will receive Payment in that money reluctantly.

In the Opinion of the Board it has been mistaken Policy in the States that they have not made the whole of the Emissions of the 18 of March last legal Tender, for altho particular States have provided Funds for the Redemption of certain Stipulated Sums, yet, ought not the whole of that Emission to be considered as the Money of the United States, and in that View obtain a Credit in every State, upon the same Principles the Money of the old Emissions did. Unless the States do attend to this Matter public Business must be greatly obstructed.

The Board beg leave to submit it to Congress, whether it is not indispensibly Necessary, that they should immediately recommend it to the several States, to pass Laws making the money issued in all the States, respectively, under the Act of the 18 of March last, a legal Tender in all Cases whatever.¹

The committee to whom was referred the extract from a report of the Board of Treasury, of January 2; and

The committee to whom was referred the report of the Board of Treasury, of the 22, relative to the owners of Rum, &c., delivered in their several reports:

The Committee to whom was referred the extract of a report from the Board of Treasury of the 2^d January beg leave to report,

That on considering the several principles proposed for liquidating the debts due by the United States they know of no rule so nearly coinciding with the rule of right and justice, or so well calculated to give general satisfaction as that by which the value of the debts may be ascertained in gold and silver as reduced from the old Continental money in which they were incurred at the exchange current at the times when and places where they were so incurred.

They therefore offer the following resolution as a rule to be observed in the liquidation of all the unsatisfied demands against the United States, Loan office certificates excepted, which are otherwise provided for, and excepting specific supplies furnished by the several states and credited towards the respective quotas, and this to supersede, and repeal all other regulations of Congress now subsisting which respect either the prices of articles furnished the United States or the modes of settlement.

Resolved, That the Treasury Board from the best informations they can obtain, and as soon as may be, prepare for the consideration and correction of Congress a table of the actual popular and mercantile value of the old Continental currency as compared with gold and silver in all its stages of depreciation to the present time in the states respectively.¹

to pay the creditors in specie equal to the price of the article in old Continental bills, at the current rate of exchange at the time and place of receiving the articles and interest or to pay the sum in the old Continental bills with the depreciation since arisen and interest.

But as payment cannot be made in either specie or old Continental bills, and as the creditors decline accepting the new Continental bills equal to specie and as your Committee conceive that Congress will not at this time admit any distinction to be made between the new bills and specie, Congress must either wholly suspend payment or make advances in part payment to be in accompt. If Congress should be of the latter opinion then it may be proper to resolve—

That the Board of Treasury be directed to draw warrants for new Continental bills in favor of the creditors of these States to whom balances shall be found due in part payment of such balances to be in accompt.¹

Ordered, That the letter, of October 14, from the hon^{ble} J. Adams, be referred to the Committee of Commerce.

That it be further recommended to the respective legislatures to call out of circulation as soon as shall be consistent with their public faith pledged for remitting the same, all their state emissions, and not to issue any more but by advice or consent of Congress, that the paper bills in circulation flowing from one source may be readily ascertained.¹

AT A BOARD OF WAR Feb^y 1st 1781

Gen^l Cornell
M^r Mathews

The Board have considered the extract from Governor Jefferson's letter, referred to them, beg leave to inform Congress that thirty four thousand four hundred dollars of the old money will be necessary to furnish such articles as are wanted for Virginia, and are not on hand as will appear from the estimate enclosed. Wherefore the Board beg leave to report.

Ordered, That the Board of Treasury report a warrant in favour of the commissary general of military stores for thirty-four thousand four hundred dollars for the purchase of sundry articles to be forwarded to the southern army.¹

The Board of War, to whom was referred the letter of Captain Paschke, delivered in a report; Whereupon,

AT A BOARD OF WAR Jan^y 26th 1781

Gen^l Cornell

The Board having considered the letter of Capt^s Paschi referred to them, beg leave to remind Congress, that in consequence of his application for a sum of money to enable him to return to Europe

(he despairing at that time of employment in the American Army) it was resolved on the 16th of May last, "That the sum of three thousand dollars currency of these United States, and a bill of exchange for two hundred and fifty dollars in Specie be paid to Capt^a Paschi late of Count Pulaski's legion (which being dissolved Congress have no means of employing Capt^a Paschi, tho a deserving Officer) to enable him to return to Europe." From this resolution, with which Captain Paschi at the time of its passing appeared perfectly satisfied, the board conceive he can have no right to the claim contained in his letter "of depreciation and half pay"—but as it appears from the instructions of the late Baron De Kalb, and the certificate of Gen^l Gates, that he has since been usefully and actively employed with the Southern Army, something may be due to him from the generosity of Congress.—of this however Congress will judge,—the Board cannot consider him in any other light than as a discharged Officer, who since his dismissal has volunteered it with the Army, and under this Idea they submit the following Resolution:

Resolved, That Captain Paschke, late of the American army, be informed that the request contained in his letter of the 22d inst. to be allowed depreciation and half-pay cannot be complied with.

But if Congress conceive that something is due to him for his services with the Southern Army, they will in that case be pleased to resolve:

Ordered, That the Board of Treasury report a warrant in favour of Captain Paschke, late of the army of these states, for three hundred dollars of the new emissions, for his services with the southern army since the resolution of the 16 day of May last.

The Board have inserted three hundred dollars that sum being six months pay without subsistence, he having been allowed advantages by Gen^l Gates equal to his subsistence.¹

On the application of Mr. [John] Sullivan, a delegate for the State of New Hampshire,

Ordered, That the Board of War advance to John Nesmith, so much money as they may judge reasonable and necessary, to enable him to return home; and make report to the Board of Treasury of the sum so advanced, that the same may be charged to the State of New Hampshire, which is to be accountable.¹

The committee appointed to meet and confer with the supreme executive of Pennsylvania made report.

The delegates of Pennsylvania laid before Congress a letter of this day to them, from the president of the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania, enclosing a copy of a letter from the same to Major General St. Clair, which were read;² Whereupon,

Ordered, That the President inform the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania, that Congress have not been insensible of the sufferings of the army for want of pay: that on the 15 of last month they did, in the most earnest manner, apply to the respective states, from Pennsylvania to New Hampshire, both inclusive, for a sum of money for the immediate pay of the army composed of the line of those states: that the whole line is equally the object of the care and attention of Congress: that as soon as the circumstances of the public treasury will admit, the just claims of the army shall be satisfied; but that Congress cannot, in any circumstance, make a distinction between the troops of any one State and those of another.

On motion of Mr. [Oliver] Wolcott,

Resolved, That he be ~~discharged~~ excused from any farther attendance at the Board of Treasury.

Mr. Thomas Smith, a delegate for Pensylvania, attended, and took his seat.

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

Mr Peters

Gen^l Cornell

The Board beg leave to inform Congress that there are more than 400 prisoners in goal in this City who have on several occasions manifested a mutinous disposition, and there being at this time several circumstances which would favor any attempt they might make to escape, particularly the sourness of the Invalid regiment, which dissatisfied as the Men are, amounts to no more than eighty fit for duty, a number too small to do the duty of this City, were they ever so hale and robust. Whereupon the Board submit the following report:

Resolved, That it be recommended to the supreme executive of the State of Pensylvania, to call out to do duty in the City of Philadelphia for thirty days, if not sooner discharged, one hundred rank and file of the militia, properly officered.²

The order of the day was called for, when a motion was made by Mr. [John] Witherspoon, seconded by Mr. [Thomas] Burke,

That it is indispensably necessary that the United States in Congress assembled, should be vested with a right of superintending the commercial regulations of every State, that none may take place that shall be partial or contrary to the common interest; and that they should be vested with the exclusive right of laying duties upon all imported articles, no restriction to be valid, and no such duty to be laid, but with the consent of nine states. Provided, that all duties and imposts laid by the United States in Congress assembled, shall always be a certain proportion of the value of the article or articles on which the same shall be laid; and the same article shall bear the same duty and impost throughout the said states without exemption: and provided that all such duties and imposts shall be for the perfecting of certain specified purposes, which purposes being perfected, the said duties and imposts so appropriated, shall cease: provided also, that the United States in Congress assembled, shall not be empowered to appropriate any duties or imposts for perpetual annuities, or other perpetual or indefinite interests, or for annuities for more than three lives at the same time in being, or for a longer term than years; ~~and provided that when any duty or impost shall be laid on any article of the growth or produce of any state, or upon any article not imported into the United States, the net proceeds of such duties and imposts shall be placed to the credit of the State producing the said article or paying the said duty or impost, and such duties and imposts shall cease to operate in the states respectively so soon as their respective quotas of the appropriated fund shall be discharged.~~ debts already contracted, or which may be contracted, on the faith of the United States, for supporting the present war:

That the said ~~laws be continued in force and the duties aforesaid collected and paid as aforesaid~~ be continued until the said debts shall be fully and finally discharged.¹

The Committee to whom the Letter from the Board of War of the 9th January was referred,

Report,

That it appears to have been the sense of Congress that the two estimates of the Board of War of the 21st April and 21st Aug. last amounting in the whole to 201,625 dollars in specie, should have been fully complied with, and that the Board of Treasury were directed to prepare bills of exchange for that purpose.

It also appears that the Paymaster of the Board of War has hitherto only received bills to the amount of 123,263 dollars whereby a deficiency remains of 78,362 dollars to complete the two estimates even supposing bills to that amount would produce an equivalent sum in money.

Your Committee find that the residue of the bills formerly intended to be applied for the relief of prisoners of war (except to the amount of 30,616 dollars of those drawn on Mr Jay, the sale of which has been lately stopped by order of Congress, and about 20,000 dollars of those drawn on Doct^r Franklin) have been already disposed of, and the monies applied to various purposes.

Your Committee therefore beg leave to recommend the following Resolution Viz.

¹ At this point Charles Thomson resumed the entries. A copy of this report, in the writing of Charles Thomson, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 36, IV, folio 43. The following is indorsed "Motion for amendment." It is in James Madison's writing, and is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 36, IV, folio 263:

That it be earnestly recommended to the States, as indispensably necessary to the support of public credit and the prosecution of the War immediately to pass laws laying an impost of 5 pr. cent ad valorem on all goods wares and merchandises imported into them respectively after the 1st day of May next from any foreign port Island or plantation; to vest Congress with full power to collect and to appropriate the same to the discharge of the principal and interest of all debts already contracted or which may be contracted on the faith of the United States during the present war, and to give to the officers which shall be appointed by Congress to collect the said impost all the legal authorities necessary to the ~~punctual~~ execution of his duty.

Resolved. That the Board of Treasury be directed immediately to prepare bills of exchange to be drawn on the hon^{ble} Benjamin Franklin Minister Plenipotentiary at the Court of Versailles at ninety days sight for such amount as will be sufficient to complete the former estimates of the Board of War for the relief of prisoners, and that the said bills be sold under the directions of the Board of War, and the monies applied solely to the purposes directed by former resolutions of Congress for their support.¹

The committee, to whom was referred the letter of 20th November last, from the president of the State of New Hampshire, report,

The Committee to whom was referred the letter of the 20th day of November 1780 from President Weare with the papers enclosed having considered the subject to which they relate and consulted the best sources of information within their power as to the law of Nations thereon, Report,

That it does not appear that any principle or usage established among the most friendly Powers, or the spirit or tenor of any particular conventions among such powers and still less any article or clause in the treaties between his most Xn Majesty and the United States authorize a claim of exemption by the subjects of the former residing in America from any taxes or imposts ~~laid~~ on their property ~~within the United States~~ common to the Citizens of the latter and to the subjects of other nations.

That alien friends appear to be entitled by their residence to exemption from all military and other personal services except in certain critical situations from all taxes laid directly on their persons, and in general from all such other taxes as in their nature have immediate relation to citizenship and are incompatible with the duties they owe to their lawful Sovereigns.

That with respect to the case of Mons. de la Tour, a French subject, residing in New Hampshire, stated to Congress by President Weare, the committee are of opinion, that the tax on his stock in trade, of which he complains, being common to the citizens of that State, and no wise incompatible with his character as a French subject, is liable to no objection, unless such effects be included in his computed stock as lie out of that State, to which distinction careful attention ought to be paid.

Resolved, That Congress agree to the said report.

The committee having reported farther on the subject:

The Committee further report, as their opinion that as the general law of nations does not define with any degree of precision the privileges and obligations of foreigners with respect to taxes and imposts and as the treaties subsisting between France and the U. States contain no particular regulations on that subject, and as it is of the utmost consequence to the interests of commerce and to harmony of intercourse between the U. States and their allies that some precise and permanent rules thereon founded in equity liberality and reciprocity should be speedily settled, it is expedient that the Minister Plenipotentiary at the Court of Versailles should be authorized to open a negotiation with that Court for such purpose and that a Committee be appointed to prepare the necessary instructions for his conduct therein.¹

Ordered, That the consideration of the remainder be postponed.

A motion was made by Mr. [George] Walton, seconded by Mr. [William] Floyd;

That a member be elected for the Board of Treasury, in the room of Mr. [Oliver] Wolcott.

Question put, passed in the negative.

On motion of Mr. [George] Walton, seconded by Mr. [Oliver] Wolcott,

The Members, Mr. [George] Walton, Mr. T[homas] Smith.
On motion of Mr. [Theodorick] Bland,

Resolved, That Thomas Bond, jun. purveyor to the general hospital, be, and hereby is, authorised to settle the accounts for salaries, and pay the officers of the hospital established in Virginia, under the direction of Dr. Gould, which have accrued since the new arrangement of the medical department; and that Dr. William Rickman, late deputy director, settle and return the accounts of salaries due the officers of the said hospital, prior to that date, to the present purveyor.

A memorial of J. Henderson, agent of O. Pollock, was read;¹ Whereupon, Congress took into consideration the report of the Committee of Commerce on the memorial of J. Henderson, respecting the accounts of O. Pollock; and, thereupon,

The Commercial Committee beg leave to report,

That they have had under their consideration the memorial of John Henderson, agent for Oliver Pollock, together with the Accounts of said Pollock against the United States therein referred to, which they find had undergone a previous examination and been passed by M^r: Fell one of the late Commercial Committee as appears by his certificate thereon.

That in attempting a reexamination of the said account they perceive some of the vouchers are missing which M^r: Pennel of the Navy Board who assisted M^r: Fell in the settlements and had frequent access to the papers of the Commercial Committee assures your Committee did once exist.

That as M^r: Henderson has remained in this city for many months past solely to prosecute this business of his principal, and as it would have the appearance of imposing a hardship on M^r: Pollock to require of him a new transmission of vouchers to ascertain a demand which from the circumstance of M^r: Fell's certificate seems to have been satisfactorily established in the opinion of the late Commercial Committee; if Congress should be of the like opinion, your Committee submit the following order to the Treasury Board:

Ordered, That the Treasury Board pass thirty-seven thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars, specie, to the credit of Oliver Pollock, agent of the United States at New-Orleans, as a debt due to him from the said states, on which an interest of six per cent. is to be allowed him until payment shall be made.¹

A report from the Board of War was read:

AT A BOARD OF WAR, February 5, 1781.

Present M^r Peters, Gen^l Cornell.

The Board have the honor to lay before Congress a letter of the 30th Ult^o from Charles Pettit, A. Q. M. G. inclosing one from Col^o Carrington D. Q. M. for the Southern Army, containing information, as well as a request for a supply of money. As it will be impossible to procure an estimate from Col^o Carrington in any reasonable time, and as it is evident that he must stand in need of a very considerable supply of money in the present deranged situation of affairs in that quarter, the Board have thought proper to make this application immediately to Congress, the more especially as it is not accompanied with an estimate, and they beg leave to report—

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of Treasury, to report a warrant in favour of C. Pettit, assistant quartermaster general, for the use of Colonel Carrington, deputy quartermaster for the southern army, for five hundred thousand dollars old emissions.²

TREASURY OFFICE Jan^y. 30th 1781.

The Board of Treasury have considered the Petition of Robert Jewell, keeper of the States Prison, read in Congress the 27th Inst. and referred to the Board of Treasury.

It appears by a return this day made by the Treasurer, that warrants drawn upon him in favor of the Petitioner to the amount twenty-nine thousand six hundred and seventy-five dollars remain undischarg'd and that there is no probability that the Treasurer will shortly be enabled to pay them,—wherefore the following resolution is submitted.

That a warrant issue on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, in favour of Michael Hillegas, treasurer, for twenty-nine thousand six hundred and seventy-five dollars in the old emissions, to enable the said treasurer to discharge the several warrants due to Robert Jewell, keeper of the states prison, for which sum the said treasurer is to be accountable.

The following Resolution is submitted—

Ordered, That so much of the report as relates to the letter of 29 January last, from C. Pettit, assistant quartermaster general, together with the said letter, be referred to a committee of three:

The members, Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, Mr. [Alexander] McDougall, ~~Mr. Sullivan,~~ Mr. [Oliver] Wolcott.

Another report from the Board of Treasury was read; Whereupon,

The Board of Treasury, to whom was re-committed their report, respecting the drawing of the fourth class of the United States' lottery, delivered in another report; Whereupon,

TREASURY OFFICE January 19th 1781.

The Board of Treasury beg leave to lay before Congress a letter of the 15th instant from the managers of the United States lottery, for direction in the premises. The Board, however, are of opinion that in the present depreciated state of the old currency it will be for the interest of the United States not to dispose of any of the tickets which remain unrenewed by adventurers in the third class; because the prizes to be funded in the fourth class will be on the disadvantageous terms of forty dollars of the old for one of the new, when the value of one of the latter is at least equal to seventy-five of the former. The following resolution is therefore submitted:

Resolved, That the managers of the United States' lottery, forthwith prepare for the drawing of the fourth class of the said lottery; that they draw the blanks and prizes, and begin the drawing on the first ~~day of March~~ Monday in April next, under the direction of the Board of Treasury; and that the tickets then remaining unrenewed by the adventurers in the third class, conformable to the resolution of the 18th day of November, 1776, be on account of the United States and not disposed of.²

Ordered, That Tuesday next be assigned for considering the papers therein referred to.

Elliot, request that they may be discharged therefrom, the said account not being within the line of their department, but relating to a private expedition, undertaken at the expence of the State of Virginia, and because they are not furnished with any documents relative thereto from O. Pollock, continental agent at New Orleans, who was employed by and hath constantly corresponded with the Committee of Commerce:³

Resolved, That Congress agree to the said request.

Whereas the events of the war may prevent the legislatures of some of these states from assembling in time to consider the act of Congress of the 3d, and consent to the vesting in Congress the power to levy the duties mentioned in the said act, so as to enable Congress to apply the said duties for the important purpose for which the said duties are designed; and whereas there is no reason to apprehend that such states

Ordered, That the foregoing resolution, together with the act of the 3d, be transmitted with all convenient despatch to the several states; and that, in the letter accompanying the same, the President urge upon the several executives the necessity of immediately calling the assemblies, if not already convened, for the purpose of vesting Congress with the power mentioned in the said act.

The Board have considered the Memorial of Lt Col Diriks and beg leave to remind Congress, that he was made a Lt Colonel by Brevet in the Army of the United States on the fifth day of Nov. 1778 and permitted to return to the Netherlands—where it appears from the journals of that day that he was to be employed in negotiating a loan—the Board know nothing of him from that time only by report—which said that he went to Holland and transacted the Business he was employed in to the satisfaction of those who sent him—till the 29th December, 1779 when Congress resolved “That in consideration of the peculiar circumstances attending the Case of Colonel Diriks that gentleman receive the pay and subsistence of a Lt Colonel in the Army of the United States from the date of his Brevet untill the further order of Congress.” It would seem from this resolution that the Brevet commission given to Colonel Diriks was intended in the first instance as a mere honorary matter. He continued to draw his pay and rations in Philadelphia, frequently applying to the Board to be employed in active service till the 12th of July last, when Congress Resolved “That Lt Colonel Diriks have leave of absence agreeable to his request untill the further order of Congress.”

“That Bills of Exchange for four hundred and fifty dollars be granted him on the hon^{ble} M^r: Laurens (afterwards altered for Bills on M^r: Jay) on account of his pay.”

Colonel Diriks did not return to Europe as he intended when these resolutions passed but on the 7th of August informed Congress that he would serve one more campaign in America and defer his departure till the end of it which he has done accordingly.

Upon this State of facts Congress will be pleased to Judge whether it should be resolved

That Lt Colonel Diriks be informed that it is impracticable to employ him in the Service of these States consistent with the arrangement of the Army.

That he receive his pay to this day and be no longer considered in Service.

Or if Congress should be of opinion that Lt Col. Diriks should be considered as an Officer entitled to retire under the Regulations of the 3d and 21st Oct last, they will please to resolve,

That Lt Col. Diriks have leave to retire from the Army of the United States agreeable to the regulations of Congress of the 3d and 21st October last—¹

A letter, from Baron d'Arendt, was read.¹

AT A BOARD OF WAR Jan^o 16th 1781

Present Mr Peters Gen^l Ward Gen^l Cornell

The Board of War to whom was referred the Memorial of the Baron Arendt so far as respected his Military claims, beg leave to report to Congress.

That by Resolve of Congress of the 19th March 1777. the Baron Arendt was appointed Colonel of the German battalion in the room of Col Hausegger. That while on duty in the same year he became ruptured by an accident and so soon as he was fit to resume a command, he was ordered by Gen^l Washington to take charge of the garrison of Mud Island the command whereof he was obliged to leave by an injury received in the course of duty.

That on the 18th August 1778, the Baron obtained a furlough from Congress, for twelve months, to the end that he might during that time, cross the Sea for the benefit of his health.

That it appears by two letters produced to the Board from the honble William Lee to the Baron Arendt dated at Frankfort on the Maine the 3rd and 5th July 1779. that at the request of Mr Lee, the Baron being then on his way to America returned to the Court of Prussia to solicit Arms and Military Stores for the State of Virginia, and in one of the said letters Mr Lee agreed to "recommend it to the State of Virginia to reimburse the Baron for the expences of his journey, when he returned to America, provided that those expences did not exceed twenty five Louis d'ors".

It appears by the Baron's Memorial that he thought this request was sufficient to justify him in discontinuing his intended return to America, as he presumed Mr Lee by being a Commissioner of the United States had sufficient authority to warrant him in making the request.

Should Congress be of this opinion, they will please to resolve,

That the reasons assigned by the Baron Arendt for not returning to America before the expiration of the furlough granted him by Congress are satisfactory.

¹ This letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 78, VII, folio 355.

That the Treasury Board be directed to report a Warrant for the pay and subsistence of the Baron Arendt as a Colonel in the service of the United States from the time of his last receipt of the same, to the first of January 1781.

Negatived

That the Baron Arendt be informed Congress have a due sense of his merit, but that it is impracticable, consistent with the arrangements of the Army, to employ him therein, suitable to his rank and therefore that he cannot be considered as in service after the said 1st of January 1781.

Should Congress be of opinion that Mr Lee's request to the Baron to go on a private negotiation was either not intended by that gentleman to interfere with his military obligations, or was, otherwise insufficient to justify the Baron's delay, it may be proper to resolve:

That Baron Arendt be informed that Congress cannot employ him in a station suitable to his merit and rank, in the Army of the United States, consistent with the late arrangements thereof.

Ordered, That the Board of Treasury settle the account of Baron d'Arendt, charging him with twenty-five louis paid him by Doctor Franklin, and report a warrant for the balance of pay and subsistence due to him as a colonel in the service of the United States, from the time of his last receipt of the same to the time of the expiration of his furlough, after which time Congress did not consider him in service.¹

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1781

The report of the committee on the letter, of January 15, from the governor of Virginia, being read;

The Com^{ee} to whom was referred the letter of the 15th of January 1781 from Governor Jefferson report—

That they have agreeably to their instructions, conferred with the Board of War whose ideas on the subject matter of the said letter are contained in a letter to your Committee dated February the second to which the Committee refer—and from the best enquiries your Committee have been able to make they are of opinion that the flesh provisions of Virginia which can be driven to the Southern army or magazines ought to be wholly reserved for that service, that flour and other provisions which require transportation by land and lie near the places where the prisoners are stationed, and remote from navigation ought to be appropriated to the supply of the posts where the prisoners are kept, that the flour and grain to be furnished from the parts of Pennsylvania which lie west of the River Susquehanna, and remote from the navigation thereof and of the waters that run into Cheaseapeak Bay, also from the western parts of Maryland and the parts of Virginia that lie on the head branches of Potowmack and remote from navigation may with the least inconvenience to the general objects of the war, be appropriated for supplying the posts in the western parts of Maryland where the prisoners are stationed—That the flesh meat required from Maryland except such as may be barrelled cannot without great waste and difficulty be sent to the Southern army, and therefore it will be expedient to supply the same to the Posts where the prisoners are stationed—

Whereupon your Committee submit the following resolution—

Resolved, That the Commissary General of purchases be ordered to supply the prisoners of war who are or shall be stationed in Maryland with flour and bread from the parts of Pennsylvania lying to the Westward of the River Susquehanna and not convenient to the navigation of that river or any of the waters which run into the Bay of Cheaseapeak, and from that part of Virginia which lies remote from the navigable waters of James and ~~contiguous to the more inland branches of Potowmack rivers,~~ and with flesh provisions from Maryland, and if not sufficient from Pennsylvania and the States to the Northward thereof—

Resolved, That all provisions furnished by the said States for supplying the said prisoners shall be credited to their respective quotas of specific supplies¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the committee appointed to confer with Colonel B. Harrison.

twenty-five thousand dollars in the bills of the old emissions, to be advanced to Alex^r Rutherford for paying the hired men in the shoe factory, for which sum the said paymaster is to be accountable.¹

TREASURY OFFICE Feb^y 12th 1781

In compliance with an order of Congress of the ninth instant "to lay before them returns from all the respective Loan Offices &c," the Auditor General was by the Board immediately served with a copy of said order and directed to prepare the returns necessary. In the meantime the Board beg leave to call to the remembrance of Congress the information on this subject laid before them by the report of the Board of the 10th ult. which report and the enclosures do contain the information now demanded.

The Board further report,

That no returns from any of the Loan Offices since the report aforesaid of the 10th ult. relative to the information now required by Congress have been received: but the Board are informed, tho, not officially that the Treasurer of Pennsylvania has paid several sums into the Loan Office of this State, to exchange for the New Money.

The Board of Treasury have had under their consideration, "the representation of the Board of Admiralty to Congress Feb^y 17th 1781" and referred to them, whereupon they beg leave to represent, that with respect to the ten thousand dollars required to be advanced (which the Board conceive are intended to be in the new bills) They are of opinion such advance cannot be made, unless by a warrant reported for that sum on the Loan Office of Massachusetts Bay, at which Office only they are of opinion it can be paid. The sum in the new bills in that office will appear by a report from this Board of the 10th ult. subject to very little alteration since by drafts on said Loan Office.

The warrant on Thomas Smith Loan Officer for Pennsylvania in favor of the Treasurer required by the Board of Admiralty to enable the said Treasurer to discharge a balance of a warrant that Board has on him for 602,000 dollars would answer no valuable purpose, as M^r Smith has not money to discharge such warrant.

The Board further Report:

That Joseph Howell Jun^r one of the Auditors of accounts for the Main Army has by his letter of the 27 ul^r informed the Board—that he left Head Quarters with an intent to continue with the troops stationed at Morris Town in order to have adjusted the accounts of the Officers during the Winter. Those Officers and Pay Masters to the Pennsylvania Line have so unexpectedly been removed to this State, it becomes a Matter of consideration, the propriety of Mr Howell's opening his Office for a time during the pleasure of Congress in Philadelphia, for the purpose of settling with the several Pay Masters and Officers of the Pennsylvania line, which the Board are induced to believe is very necessary—and thereupon submit the following resolution :

Resolved, That Joseph Howell, jun. one of the auditors of accounts for the main army, be, and he is hereby authorised to open his office in Philadelphia, for the purpose of settling the accounts that may properly come before him, as one of the auditors of accounts for the main army; and that he proceed particularly in the settlement of the accounts of the officers and paymasters of the Pennsylvania line, or other accounts proper to be settled by him, under the direction of the Board of Treasury, subject to be removed to the main army so soon as it shall appear necessary.¹

Congress resumed the consideration of the letters from W. Carmichael, &c. when the draught of a letter to Mr. Jay, which the delegates of Virginia had moved in pursuance of instructions from their constituents, was debated and agreed to.

The Delegates from Virginia have received an instruction from the General Assembly of that State which authorises them to inform Congress that the zeal of their constituents to promote the general object of the Union and to remove as far as depends on them every reasonable obstacle to the speedy conclusion of an alliance between his Catholic Majesty and these States has so far prevailed over all considerations of a particular interest, that they have consented to withdraw the claim urged in their former instructions to their Delegates on the subject, to the navigation of the River Mississippi, except of such part thereof as forms their Western boundary: provided such cession shall be insisted on by Spain; and relying on Congress for their utmost endeavours to obtain for that and the other states having territory on the said river a free port or ports below such territory. In pursuance of the object of this instruction, the Delegates aforesaid propose that the following letter of instruction be immediately transmitted to the Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States at the Court of Madrid.

SIR,

Congress having since their instructions to you of the 29th September, 1779, and 4 of October, 1780, relative to the claim of the United States to the free navigation of the River Mississippi, and to a free port or ports below the thirty-first degree of north latitude, resumed the consideration of that subject, and being desirous to manifest to all the world, and particularly to his Catholic Majesty, the moderation of their views, the high value they place on the friendship of his Catholic Majesty, and their disposition to remove every reasonable obstacle to his accession to the alliance subsisting between his Most Christian Majesty and these United States, in order to unite the more closely in their measures and operations three powers who have so great a unity of interests, and thereby compel the common enemy to a speedy, just and honorable peace—have resolved, and you are hereby instructed to recede from the instructions above referred to, so far as they insist on the free navigation of that part of the River Mississippi, which lies below the thirty-first degree of north latitude, and on a free port or ports below the same; provided such cession shall be unalterably insisted upon by Spain; and provided the free navigation of the said river, above the said degree of north latitude, shall be acknowledged and guaranteed by his Catholic Majesty to the citizens of the United States in common with his own subjects. It is the order of Congress at the same time, that you exert every possible effort to obtain from his Catholic Majesty the use of the river aforesaid, with a free port or ports below the said thirty-first degree of north latitude for the citizens of the United States, under such regulations and restrictions only as may be a necessary safeguard against illicit commerce.¹

I am, &c.

That upon examining the Papers presented to Congress by the late Committee for Estimates and Ways and Means they conceived it necessary, in order to discharge the business referred to them with any degree of satisfaction, to obtain information which did not fall within the view of that Committee.

That your Committee accordingly applied for returns from several of the public officers: particularly from the Commissary General and Assistant Quarter Master General; directing that each of their estimates of debts due from their Departments should distinguish the amounts of Certificates issued for supplies for the Army.

That it will appear from the answer of the agent for the Commissary General herewith presented, his principal being at the Head Quarters of the Commander in Chief, that the prospect of an estimate from that Department is remote. Estimate N^o 24.

That M^r Pettit assistant Quarter Master General furnished your Committee on Saturday last with an Estimate of the debts due from his Department which with his Letter and the other Estimates hereafter noted, numbered from N^o 1 to N^o 25; are submitted and referred to, as explanatory of this Report. Estimate N^o 10.

That the unsettled condition of the publick accounts admits only of an imperfect Estimate of the debts due from the United States. No precision can be expected till there shall be a liquidation of the accounts between the United States and each particular State. Your Ministers at Foreign Courts; Commercial Committee and Agents; the Admiralty and Navy boards; the War office and Commissary of Military Stores; Commissaries and Quarter Masters; and Individuals who have claims against the publick.

Your Committee therefore, are only able, from the information they possess, and the materials which they have collected, to lay before Congress a general view of the publick debt, and in some instances founded on mere probability.

The Debts due on Loan Office Certificates as far as returns are made to the Board of Treasury to the 16th Estimate N^o 10.

Instant, amount to sixty millions five hundred and fifty-eight thousand four hundred and forty four Dollars; equal according to the Table of Depreciation and computed on the 15th day of every month, to eleven million three hundred and ninety one thousand five hundred and forty-four specie dollars.

Estimate N^o 10. Of this sum Interest is drawn by Bills of Exchange on France for seven millions three hundred and thirty-one thousand three hundred and six dollars; that Interest annually amounting to four hundred and thirty-eight thousand seven hundred and ninety three dollars and three seventyeths.¹

The Interest of the remaining four millions seventy eight thousand two hundred and seventy eight dollars is unfunded and unprovided for, and that Interest amounts annually to two hundred and forty four thousand six hundred and eighty three dollars.

244696 $\frac{3}{100}$

The Debt contracted in Europe can only and but very imperfectly be estimated from the Bills of Exchange drawn on our Ministers, at foreign Courts.

ESTIMATE OF DEBTS CONTRACTED IN EUROPE

	Bills of Exchange on France for payment of Interest borrowed previous to 1 st March 1778 amount in Specie dollars to	933, 165

Your Committee have it not in their power to state with any certainty the advances which have been made to your Ministers at the Court of France. They are indebted to the Honorable M^r Lovell who is possessed of the foreign papers for extracts from D^r Franklin's Letters from which they collect the following:

Estimate of aids in money acknowledged by our Minister to be received from the Court of France.

An Aid of	2, 000, 000	1777. April to a further aid of	3, 000, 000	Septembr.
an additional aid of	3, 000, 000	Decembr.
Besides these Sums D ^r Franklin mentions		1780 March.
in a letter of the 26 th of May 1779 that		1779. May.
his most Christian Majesty had under his hand engaged his responsibility for 3,000,000 Livres to be borrowed in Holland, of which this Minister had then

But supposing the whole to have been since

Total will amount to . Livres . 11, 000, 000
 Equal at 5 Livres to a Dollar, to Specie Dollars 2, 200, 000

and it would only exceed the amount of the bills drawn on France by one hundred and thirty three thousand one hundred and eighty seven specie dollars. It is known however from Mess^{rs} De Nieuville and Sons correspondence,—That D^r Franklin eventually paid the first bills drawn by Congress on M^r Laurens which those gentlemen took up for the honor of the United States. It is also known that he has purchased clothing and arms and supplied the other Commissioners and Ministers with money independant of his own support. He must therefore have received further aids than are to be discovered from extracts of the Letters to which we have referred.

From the Report of the Committee on D^r Lee's account, it appears that he received from the Court of Spain thro' M^r James Cardoqui 75.000 Livres, equal to 15000 Specie Dollars; but on what condition is not stated either by D^r Lee's memorandum or that Committees Report.

See the report.

There is no account of the supplies of Arms, Ammunition and Cloathing procured in Europe on the credit of the United States.

There may be materials for such an estimate among the commercial papers but they are represented to be in such disorder that your Committee thought it needless to make the attempt.

Act of Congress
18th March 1780.

The next article of publick debt arises from the Emissions of paper money. We can at present only State it upon the principles held out by the act of the 18th of March, and supposing that it will take effect.

By the operation of this system the old emissions of bills of credit amounting to two hundred Millions of Dollars will be reduced to Ten Millions of Dollars equal to Specie bearing an Interest of ~~six~~ five per cent, the principle and interest to be sunk by Taxes within Six years one sixth part of the whole annually.

See Mr Pierce's letter and estimate.

The pay and subsistance in arrear to the Army up to the last day of December 1780 according to the Pay-Master's Return is estimated at one Million of specie dollars.

The Loan officers have not made Returns of their several Interest accounts; but there is little doubt that a year's interest is due to the holders of those Certificates, deducting four hundred and thirty eight thousand seven hundred and ninety eight dollars Interest payable in France, there will remain unfunded, and to be paid by the United States, two hundred and forty four thousand six hundred and eighty three dollars.

The Quarter Master and Commissary's Departments open a large field for claims against the United States, as well as for embarrasments in collecting the taxes. The Committee have already noticed the estimate of M^r Pettit Assistant Quarter Master General. His materials as appears from his explanation and letter are far from being perfect.

Estimate No. 22

He sums up the debts due from that department as follows:

Ascertained for which certificates are given	20, 758, 850
Debts by estimates not returned, as certified	27, 149, 870

Total debts supposed 47, 908, 720
to be due in money of the old emissions.

It has already been observed that there is no Estimate from the Commissary General; but experience has shewn that latterly his and the Quarter Master's departments have expended annually nearly an equal sum. For the satisfaction of Congress on this point, your Committee refer to an account from the Treasury which shews that from April 1778 to October 1779 the difference in the expenditures of these Departments was inconsiderable.

Account N^o 23.

Dollars of old emissions.

We therefore venture on the credit of M^r Pettit's Estimate to state the debts of these departments at 47,908,720 dollars of the old emissions, each, and they will amount to 95, 817, 440

From this sum is to be deducted the balance due from the states on their monthly tax of 15,000,000 dollars to February 1780 inclusive, these taxes being generally received in Quarter Masters and Commissaries' Certificates. North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia are not comprehended, because the debts due to them in those departments are not included in M^r Pettit's Estimate.

Estimate
N^o 11 A.
N^o 11 B.

Deduct therefore 31, 851, 284
Remains due in the Commissary and Quarter Master's Depart^t 63, 966, 156

If this balance is to be computed at 75 for one it will be addition to the public debt in Specie dollars of, equal in Specie Doll^s, 852,822.

Upon these principles and materials the debt from the United States is thus estimated in Specie value.

Congress have called upon the States for an aid to discharge as part of the arrears of pay and subsistence to the Army of . .	879, 342
---	----------

If that Requisition is conceived effectual, there remains to be provided for . . . 1, 218, 165

Besides this, funds are to be provided to pay the Interest incurred on the Loans already effected; and which will become necessary to support the War.

Your Committee take it for granted that the Interest of the ten millions of dollars in bills of Credit circulated upon the plan of the 18th of March is to be considered as funded by the respective states according to their Quotas.

Whether Doctor Franklin has obtained an aid from the Court of France to enable him to pay such part of the Interest of Loan Office Certificates as is drawn for upon him during the war or for any particular period; or whether he depends on the success of his solicitations as it becomes due, has not, as we find, been explained.

Under these circumstances it would be for the credit and honor of the United States if a permanent and productive fund could be provided and appropriated for the payment of the Interest of all the Loan office debt: as well as the Interest accruing from the Bills of Exchange drawn upon our Ministers in Europe.

That a fund must be assigned as a security for the Interest of the money hereafter to be borrowed to support the war and is not to be doubted: what sum will be necessary cannot be pointed out on any precise estimate: because your Committee are not possessed of any means by which the wealth or resources of the respective states, and their ability to contribute to the public expenditures by annual taxes, can be ascertained. But if we may judge from the difficulties and disappointments hitherto experienced in raising the supplies a further Loan of ten millions of Specie Dollars in addition to the five millions lately requested from the Court of France for the service of the ensuing campaign, will be necessary to reestablish public credit; and to prosecute the war with success.

In this view the funds to be provided and appropriated to discharge an Interest of six per cent, on the several loans before mentioned, ought to produce as follows:

1 st Estimate of Interest to be funded—
For the Interest of the Loan Office Certificates amounting to 11,391,564 Dollars	683,493. $\frac{88}{100}$
For the Interest of Bills of Exchange drawn on our Ministers in Europe amounting to 3,128,743 Dollars . .	187,724. $\frac{88}{100}$

Journals of Congress

For the Interest of 5,000,000 Specie Dollars lately requested from the Court of France for the service of the next campaign	300, 000
For the Interest of a further sum of 10,000,000 of dollars now proposed to be borrowed	600, 000
Total	1, 771, 218. $\frac{58}{100}$
If the duty of 5 per cent on importations required from the states by the late act of Congress should be appropriated as an Interest fund, which will render it most advantageous—it is supposed that it may produce during the war	533, 333 $\frac{1}{2}$
Remains an unfunded Interest of	1, 237, 885 $\frac{23}{100}$
The produce of the above duty is thus Estimated:
Imports into the United States before the war were usually estimated at 4,000,000 Dollars.
Supposed to be reduced to	1, 200, 000
Advance value on importation	1, 500, 000
	2, 700, 000 Ster ^l s

Duty at 5 p. Cent, 135,000 Ster^ls:
 In Penn^a Curr^t 200,000, equal as above to 533,333 $\frac{1}{2}$ Specie Dollars.

But if it should appear to Congress as indeed it does to their Committee, that the states under our present embarrassed circumstances, will not be able to assign efficient and permanent funds for so large a sum as ~~1,200,000~~ Specie Dollars annually in addition to the impost upon Trade,

Then your Committee submit the following proposition—

To leave the Interest accruing on that part of the Loan office debt for which the creditors are entitled to bills of Exchange, for the present unfunded, trusting that the Court of France will continue to make provision for it as heretofore on the general credit of the United States.

On the same ground to leave unfunded for the present the Interest on all the Loans borrowed and negotiating at the Court of France and in Spain; but to make provision for the Interest of the Bills drawn on Holland, for this at least appears to be necessary.

In this view the following estimate is submitted:

2 nd Estimate of Interest to be funded:
Annual Interest of such part of the Loan office debt, as is payable in the United States	244, 683
The like of the Bills drawn on your Minister in Holland	32, 605 $\frac{6}{100}$
The like of 10,000,000 of Dollars proposed to be borrowed in addition to the aid of 5,000,000 requested from the Court of France for the service of the next campaign	600, 000
Total	877, 288 $\frac{6}{100}$
Deduct the Supposed produce of the Duty on Imports	533, 333 $\frac{1}{2}$
Remains unfunded	343, 955

As new arrangements are taking place in the four great executive Civil Departments it Seems not to be essential to state the expence of the Civil List. Your Committee however Submit an estimate for the year 1780 marked N^o. 26, amounting to sixty nine thousand nine hundred Specie dollars.

Estimate N^o. 26.

Your Committee having thus stated the public debt of the United States and the funds necessary to secure the Interest of the Loans proceed upon the materials and information of which they are possessed to estimate the probable expenditures and the ways and means for the current year from the first day of January.

Estimate of the Expences of the War for the year 1781:

Provisions and Forage reduced on an estimate approved of by Congress to	Specie Dollars.	Estimate N ^o . 9.
Quarter Master's Department computed on the experience that the expence of this branch and the Commissary's have uniformly been nearly equal	6, 000, 000
	5, 000, 000	Estimate N ^o . 23.

<small>Estimates N^o. 1: to N^o. 8. Inclusive.</small>	Pay and subsistence of the Army voted by Congress, on accurate estimates . . . 5, 114, 897 Levy money for recruiting up to the new arrangement; supposed 20,000 men at 100 Specie dollars, each 2, 000, 000 Extras may be moderately stated at . . . 1, 885, 103
	Total 20, 000, 000

It ought to be observed that the price of provisions is regulated by the act of Congress in February far beyond what they might be purchased for specie. This mode of calculation also capitally affects the article stated for the expence of the Quarter Master's Department.

In this estimate arms, ammunition, ordnance, military stores and cloathing are not included; as we depend on importing the chief of these articles from France: And your Committee have no materials to justify even a conjecture of the expence of the military preparations which may be made under the direction of the Board of War or at the several Laboratories &c: Nor for the reason last assigned are they able to state the expence of the Marine Department's maintenance of prisoners &c: &c:

They proceed therefore to exhibit the Ways and Mean for the year 1781.

<small>Estimate N^o. 9. Act of Congress of Nov. 1780.</small>	States, amounts, on the very large prices allowed by the act of Congress of the [25th] Feby, 1780 to 4,357,012. A specie tax intended for forage is also required from the States of 1, 642, 988
---	---

Total required by the States by the act of 4 th Nov. Specie Dolls.	6, 000, 000
The States are also to furnish the countys money for recruiting the Army esti- mated at	2, 000, 000
The plan of the 18 th of March is to produce to the publick Treasury	4, 000, 000
The Loan from France requested by the Act of the	5, 000, 000
	Total 17, 000, 000

If all these Means should be productive to their full extent there will be a deficiency of 3, 000, 000 on the expence of the land forces exclusive of all other contingencies.

But it is to be observed that of the four millions which are to arise from the plan of the 18th of March there is already anticipated by warrant drawn by Congress on several of the Loan offices 355, 473
 Estimate N^o. 25.

South Carolina being in the hands of the enemy it is obvious that her Quota must be altogether deficient. Her Quota of the old Emission is 15,600,000 Dollars: of the new, 780,000 of which her 6/10^{ths} is 468,000, and the 4/10^{ths} of Congress is 312, 000 Estimate N^o. 32.

If North Carolina should fail—and there is too much reason to expect it from the change of our Southern affairs and the operations of the war in that quarter—her Quota of the old Emission is 13,000,000; of the new, 650,000, of which her 6/10^{ths} is 390,000, and the 4/10th subject to the orders of Congress amounts to 260, 000

If New York should also fail, as is to be apprehended from her late Misfortunes and the Representations of that Government her Quota of the old money is 9,750,000; of the new 487,500 Her 6/10^{ths}, 292,500; the 4/10^{ths} subject to the approbation of Congress 195, 000

If the requisition of the 15th of January 1781, for an immediate supply to pay the arrears due to the army and required in Specie or bills of the new emissions was not an additional tax but a part of the supply called for by the act of the 4th of November there will be a further deficiency of 879, 342

Total Deficiency on this calculation of the 4,000,000 intended for the Service of the Current year	2, 001, 815 and hence it appears that no more can be depended upon from that system than 1,998,185.
If then we add the deficiency above stated of on the Ways and Means.	3, 000, 000
	5, 001, 815

Hence it is manifest that further ways and means are to be devised for the Service of the Current year.

Your Committee for the information of Congress lay before them,

Estimate No. 32. An estimate containing an account of the monies which the States have been called upon to levy and pay into the public Treasury for the Support of the War from the 22^d November 1777; and your Committee are of opinion that the Board of Treasury ought to be directed to procure official returns from the States specifying how far the said several requisitions have been complied with that Congress may be enabled to form a judgment what additional aids may be required from them with a prospect of their being produced.

Your Committee beg leave to subjoin—

No. 27, 28, and 31. A general estimate of the expenditures of the United States for the years 1776, 1777, 1778 and 1779.

And a State of the Armies of the United States including the Militia from New Hampshire to North Carolina, employed in those years; taken from the returns at the season of each year when the armies and militia consisted of the greatest numbers.

An account of the 4/10th of the new emissions lodged in the different loan offices, and lastly—

An estimate shewing the effect of exchanging the money of the old for the new which is to be emitted on the act of the 18th of March at 75 instead of 40 for one as lately directed by a law of the State of Pennsylvania.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1781

Mr. M[eriwether] Smith, a delegate for Virginia, attended and took his seat in Congress.

A letter, of 2, from the governor of North Carolina,¹ and

A letter, of 12, from the governor of Virginia, were read.²

Congress took into consideration the report of the committee to confer with Colonel Harrison, whereupon,

The Committee appointed to confer with Col. Harrison, beg leave to report that it appears to them absolutely necessary for the protection of the Southern States that ten thousand regular troops be employed in the Southern Department.

That to complete this number all the troops from Pennsylvania to Georgia inclusive should compose the Southern army.

That for their subsistence all the provisions required from the States Southward of Pennsylvania by the Act of Congress of the 4th of November last will be necessary.

That for supply of that army, the following articles, exclusive those already provided are requisite, viz.

5000 musquets with bayonets and cartridge boxes.

¹ This letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 72, folio 119.

² This letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 71, II, folio 31. A letter, of 8, from the governor of Virginia was also read, as the indorsement shows; it is on folio 27.

 8000 canteens.
 700 camp kettles.
 8000 blankets.
 10 tons of musquet powder.
 5 tons of cannon do.
 20 tons of lead.

That 400 waggons ought to be procured and employed in the Southern Department for transporting provisions to the Southern army.

That the Board of War should be directed to furnish the necessary ammunition and equipments for the cavalry and artillery not comprised in the above estimate.

That your Committee therefore submit the following resolutions, viz.

Resolved, That the southern army be composed of all the regular troops, from Pennsylvania to Georgia, inclusive, except Moylan's dragoons, and those on command on the western frontiers; and that the Commander in Chief be, and hereby is directed to order the troops of the Pennsylvania line, except as above, to join the army in Virginia, by detachments, as they may be in readiness to march:

That the deputy quartermaster in Pennsylvania be, and he is hereby directed to put the waggons belonging to the Pennsylvania line, in order for service immediately:

That the several states southward of Pennsylvania be, and hereby are required to furnish their respective quotas of supplies to the southern army, timely and regularly:

That the states aforesaid, and the State of Pennsylvania be, and hereby are required to complete their respective quotas of troops, and forward them to join the southern army without loss of time.

Resolved, That four hundred waggons be procured and furnished for the southern army.

Resolved, That the Board of War be, and hereby are directed to furnish the southern army with ten thousand suits of cloathes, complete: eight hundred and sixty tents, five thousand musquets, with bayonets and cartouch boxes; eight thousand knapsacks, six thousand haversacks, eight thousand canteens, seven hundred camp kettles, eight thousand blankets, ten tons of musquet powder, five tons of cannon powder, and twenty tons of lead.

That the Board of War furnish the artillery and cavalry with the necessary ammunition and equipments not comprised in the foregoing resolutions: and that they employ a sufficient number of artificers to repair the arms in the magazines of Virginia and other places.

Resolved, That for purchasing the foregoing articles the Board of War be, and hereby are authorised and directed to contract for payment in specie, or other money equivalent, payable in six months with interest; [and that bills of exchange, on the minister of these United States at the Court of Versailles, be prepared immediately, and deposited with the Board of War, to be by them delivered to the persons so contracting, to the amount of such contract, at the expiration of the said term, unless they shall have monies at that time to fulfil the said contracts.]

Resolved, That it be, and hereby is recommended to the executives of the states of Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina, to agree upon and settle an arrangement for supplying the southern army with provisions from the states most contiguous, and for replacing the same with provisions from those that are more remote; and to establish such mode of transportation as will be most convenient and least expensive to the whole.

Postponed ~~Resolved, that the Convention Troops now cantoned in Virginia be removed to~~¹

Ordered, That a committee of three be appointed to draught a letter to the Commander in Chief, informing him of the arrival of the enemy's reinforcement in North Carolina, and requesting him to confer with the naval and land commanders of his Most Christian Majesty's forces at Rhode Island, and if it shall appear that the loss sustained by the British navy in the late storm has rendered the French naval force superior, that he urge the necessity of sending the French forces to the southward.¹

The members, Mr. [Alexander] McDougall, Mr. [James] Madison, [Mr. Thomas] Burke.

A report from the Board of Treasury was read; Whereupon,

Ordered, That on the application of William Ramsay, one of the clerks in the Chambers of Accounts, a warrant issue in his favour on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, for six thousand dollars of the old emissions, on account of his salary, and for which he is to be accountable.²

Congress took into consideration the report of the committee on a memorial of E. Forman; Whereupon,

The Committee to whom was referred the letter of Ezekiel Forman, of Dec. 18 1780, report—

That they have had the same under consideration, and that it appears to them that M^r: Forman did in the month of September 1779 lend to M^r: Wederstrandt assistant Commissary of Purchases for the State of Maryland a certain quantity of flour, upon a special promise that a like quantity should be returned him within a few months from that time.

That the said promise not having been complied with on the part of M^r: Wederstrandt, it became necessary to consider the loan as a purchase, and accordingly M^r: Forman sometime in October last received a partial payment at the Treasury,—

² This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 36, V, folio 103.

That upon an equitable settlement a balance of eleven hundred and thirty four specie dollars remains due to M^r. Forman from the United States on account of the said flour; they therefore propose the following order to the Treasury Board.

Ordered, That the Board of Treasury pass to the credit of Ezekiel Forman eleven hundred and thirty-four specie dollars, balance due to him on account of a quantity of flour, delivered to Mr. Wederstrandt, assistant commissary of purchases in the State of Maryland for the use of the United States, the said sum to bear an interest of six per cent. until paid.¹

Congress proceeded to the election of a superintendent of Finance, and, the ballots being taken,

Robert Morris, Esquire, was unanimously elected, having been previously nominated by Mr. [William] Floyd.

The committee appointed to draught a letter to the Commander in Chief reported the same, which was agreed to.

Adjourned to 10 o'Clock to Morrow.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1781

A letter, of 4th, and

One, of 7, from the hon^{ble} J. Laurens, was read.²

A letter, of 31 January, from Major General Greene, was read, enclosing a letter, of 25 January, from Lieutenant Colonel H. Lee:³

Ordered, That the letter from Colonel Lee be referred to the Committee of Intelligence.

Letter, of 19, from Baron d' Arendt, was read:⁴

² The letter of the 4th is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 165, folio 41; that of the 7th is on folio 49. They are printed in the Diplomatic Correspondence of the American Revolution, (Wharton), IV, that of the 4th on page 249, and that of the 7th on page 252.

⁴ This letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 78, VII, folio 359.

The members, Mr. [Alexander] McDougall, Mr. T[homas] Smith, Mr. [George] Walton.

A report from the Board of War, on the memorial of Captain Bentalon, was read;

AT A BOARD OF WAR Feb^y 19th 1781.

Gen^l Cornell

The Board having considered the reference with which they were honored, on the memorial of Captain Bentalon beg leave to report.

That he was appointed Captain in Count Pulaski's legion and at the attack of Charlestown was wounded and obtained an unlimited furlough from Genl Lincoln to go to Europe for his recovery, from which it appears that General Lincoln considered Captain Bentalon as an officer in the Army of the United States. So far as respects his demands for the loss of horses does not seem properly authenticated; as to the payment of his expences to and from Europe when on furlough, appears to the Board unprecedented and altogether inadmissible.

Should Congress be of the same opinion it may be proper to resolve,

That Captain Bentalon be considered as retiring under the resolution of the 3rd and 21st of October 1780, and entitled to the emoluments arising therefrom.

That the Board of War draw a Warrant in favor of Captain Bentalon on the Pay Master General for three months pay on account.¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the foregoing committee.

A report from the Board of War, on the memorial of Major General A. St. Clair, was read; Whereupon,

Present Mr Peters Gen^l Ward Gen^l Cornell

The Board having taken into consideration the memorial of Major General S^t Clair referred to them from Congress,

Beg leave to report,

That the General is under the necessity of visiting the several Cantonments of the Pennsylvania line, but cannot proceed upon that duty until he is furnished with a supply of money, for his travelling expences.

¹ This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, VI, folio 193.

The Board are sensible of the necessity of supplying him with money and at the same time foresee the dangerous precedent which will be established by making the advance, as every other officer of that line, will claim with equal justice the like advantages.

Should Congress however be of opinion, that the General's presence is absolutely necessary at the aforementioned Cantonments, in that case, it may be proper to resolve,

Ordered, That the Board of War draw a warrant on the paymaster general, in favour of Major General St. Clair, for three months' pay, equal to four hundred and eighty dollars of the new emissions, for which sum he is to be accountable.¹

Another report from the Board of War, on the memorial of Captain O'Neil, was read; Whereupon,

Gen^l Cornell

The Board having taken into consideration the reference they have been honored with on Captain O'Neils memorial beg leave to report.

That it does not appear by any resolution of Congress that Captain O'Neil ever had any other Continental appointment than that of Captain in Count Pulaski's legion. That on the 29th of December 1779 Congress, by a resolve authorized General Lincoln to reduce the legion, which he undertook and completed in December 1779 (to which time Captain O'Neil was paid) by ordering the Cavalry to join the late Col Bland's reg^t and the Infantry the 1st South Carolina reg^t. Congress on the 23rd day of Feb^r 1780, Resolved that Col Armand should take the Command of the legion; neither of the resolutions make any provision for the Officers. But from many circumstances it appears that Captain O'Neil considered himself a supernumerary, among which his accepting the appointment of Colonel from Gov^r Nash of the State of North Carolina is not the least, and it appears by information the Board have received that ten days before the attack on Savannah Captain O'Neil left the legion, having no Command therein, and went to Augusta, never having acted since in the legion or any other Continental Corps.

Should Congress be of that opinion it may be proper to Resolve That Captain O'Neil be considered as retiring from service under the Resolution of Congress of the 24th day of Nov^r 1778 and be entitled to one years extra pay.

That the Treasury Board be directed to report a Warrant in favor of Captain O'Neil for ninety seven dollars and one third in bills of the new emmissions, in full of all demands on the United States.

The reason of the Boards fixing on the above sum is that it is the value according to the scale of depreeciation, of the sum received by Officers of the like rank at the time of their retiring as Supernumeraries.¹

Resolved, That Captain O'Neil be considered as retiring from service under the resolution of Congress of the 24 day of November, 1778, and be entitled to one year's pay in bills emitted pursuant to the resolution of 18 March, 1780.

The Board having considered the reference, with which they have been honored, on the memorial of Col Elbert, Beg leave to observe, that the Colonel is now confined by a disagreeable disorder, and destitute of cash, and that he hath lent a considerable sum to the Continent, which he is willing should still remain, provided he can receive his pay.

In consideration of the foregoing facts, it may be proper for Congress to resolve,

Ordered, That the Board of War draw a warrant on the paymaster general, in favour of Colonel S. Elbert, for three months' pay and subsistance equal to three hundred dollars in the bills of the new emissions on account.²

AT A BOARD OF WAR February 20th 1781

Present Mr Peters

Gen^l Cornell

The Board having considered the reference with which they were honored on the memorial of Preserved Clap, beg leave to observe,

That it appears from his memorial and General Knox's letter that he hath been with the Army as a volunteer for eighteen months without pay or any emolument. That it farther appears by General Lincolns and Knox's letters that Mr Clap was sole inventor of stocking the Cannon that were supposed to be rendered useless by the enemy at Boston, and in the vicinity, in the spring of 1776; from which the Continent at large received a real benefit; for which he received no emolument but barely day wages. From the foregoing state of facts it may be proper for Congress to resolve,

Resolved, That the supreme executive of the State of Massachusetts examine into the merit and services of Preserved Clap, and order payment on the account of the United States, for such sum as they think he may justly deserve; provided it shall not exceed one thousand dollars in bills of the new emissions:

That Preserved Clap be informed, that Congress cannot employ him in public service, consistent with their arrangements.¹

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

WAR OFFICE Feb^y 1781

SIR.

At the instance of the Commander in Chief, the Board have taken measures for supplying Lieutenant Colonel Stevens with a number of cannon and stores for an enterprize to be immediately undertaken, the execution whereof depends in a great degree on the secrecy and promptitude of the preparations. We have been able to procure the greater part of the articles and with the sum of forty four thousand two hundred and fifty dollars of the old emissions, for the department of Commissary General of Military Stores, and two hundred and fifty dollars of the new emissions for Lieutenant Colonel Stevens, the whole will be in a situation to move by the time expected. We therefore beg the favor of Congress to resolve,

Ordered, That warrants be drawn on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, in favour of the paymaster of the Board of War and Ordnance, for forty-four thousand two hundred and fifty dollars of the old emissions, to be applied under the order of the said Board, for the purchase of military stores immediately wanted for a special occasion, and also for two hundred and forty dollars of the new emission, to be delivered by the said Board to Lieutenant Colonel Stevens, for which he is to be accountable.¹

A report from the Board of War, of this day, was read, respecting the removal of the Convention prisoners:

WAR OFFICE, Feb^y 26, 1781.

SIR.

The Board have been honored with an order from Congress to remove the Convention Prisoners in Virginia into some State more northerly. We should as we are on all occasions be happy in executing the orders of Congress, but in this as well as too many other matters we find ourselves embarrassed for want of means. This being the case we are with submission to the better judgment of Congress of opinion that the business had better be recommended to the executives of Virginia and Maryland to take order for the removal and temporary supply of these Prisoners. The care of the Convention Prisoners has always been ultimately vested in the executive of Virginia, but when they are out of that State it will be necessary that the Government of Maryland be requested to take the superintendancy of their supplies and safe keeping so far as to furnish the means to Colonel Wood who has the command of all matters relative to the Convention Troops in the Military line. Under present circumstances if they are crowded together without Magazines the whole must suffer for Want of Provisions or disperse thro' the Country. Our accounts from those of the Convention Troops now in Maryland are very disagreeable. They are so precariously supplied that the soldiers are sent thro' the Country to collect provisions and being unguarded great numbers daily desert. These evils will be increased by a junction of the whole and therefore we submit to Congress the propriety of fixing on some stationary place for these prisoners where they can be supplied and proper Magazines and guards provided that this business may at once be put in a proper train and the embarrassments of temporary measures be thereby prevented.¹

Ordered, That the same, together with the postscript of Governor Jefferson's letter, of 17th, relative to the prisoners taken at the Cowpens, be referred to a committee of three.

That from and after the said first day of January, 1781, Colonel Gridley be considered as a retiring officer, and be entitled to receive from the United States four hundred and forty-four dollars and two-fifths of a dollar per annum, in bills of the new emissions, in virtue of the resolutions of Congress of the 17 November, 1775, on the subject of his indemnification for any losses he might sustain by entering into the service of the United States.¹

The Board taking into consideration the reference they have been honored with on the Memorial of Lieutenant Beaulieu beg leave to report,

That Lieutenant Beaulieu has no more pay in arrear than every other Officer that is a prisoner of War on parole but as he is a stranger it is probable he may be more distressed for want of money than Officers who are with their friends. If Congress should be of opinion that the foregoing reason is sufficient to entitle him to receive present pay, it may be proper to resolve, Ordered, That the Board of War draw a Warrant on the paymaster general in favor of Lieutenant Beaulieu late of Colonel Armand's Corps for three months pay and subsistence on account, equal to one hundred and fifteen dollars in bills of the new emissions.

That part of his Memorial that respects cloathing appears to the Board improper to be complied with at this time—as they have no knowledge of any cloathing being delivered to Officers in the field or elsewhere on public account for the year past.¹

The Board have considered the memorial of Captain Sigognie and Lieutenant Fontevieux of Col. Armands Legion whose situation is such that it is impossible for them to join their Corps without some money being given them by the public; and as they are foreigners they have not the means of procuring assistance from private persons. The Baron Deutrick also a Captain in the legion is in similar circumstances and no doubt will expect similar treatment with the memorialists. If Congress think their situation so peculiar as to distinguish it from that of the Officers of the Army in general, all of whom are in want, and many have in vain made repeated applications for pay, it will be proper in the opinion of the Board of War, that Congress direct,

TREASURY OFFICE, February 20th, 1781.

In Execution of the order of Congress of the 14th instant upon Mr. Ross's Memorial "to devise ways and means for payment of his account" the Board beg leave to report,

That they have carefully looked into the State of the public Funds with a view to point out a mode for paying Mr. Ross's account, the most convenient to the Publick and acceptable to him whom they have consulted; but they have not been able to devise any that is unattended with Embarrassment.

Considering the great number of bills of Exchange which have been drawn on the Minister of the United States in France, it was thought most eligible to propose payment in the public Tobacco in Virginia and Maryland, but Mr. Ross declined it alledging that it was totally inconvenient.

The Board would have offered payment in the Bills of the New Emission had they not been advised that Congress intended the first Proceeds of that Fund for the use of the army. No other mode of Payment therefore can be devised by the Board but drawing Bills of Exchange upon and Mr. Ross having informed the Board that his Necessities require that he should have Bills at Short Sight for one half his Demand and is willing to take Bills at a longer Sight for the Remainder.

The Board are therefore of Opinion,

That Bills of Exchange be drawn on for the sum of sterling—half thereof at Days Sight and the Residue at Months Sight in full discharge of his Account for Supplies furnished the United States from France and the Interest thereon arising (including two Months allowed for Presentation for Acceptance.)

The Board of Treasury on considering the Letter from the Board of War of the 15 instant to Congress and referred to this Board with Directions to “devise Ways and Means for furnishing the Money mentioned in the Estimate and report” beg leave to propose it (as their Opinion) in the present exhausted State of the Treasury,

That the Commercial Committee be directed to make Sale of as much of the Public Tobacco collected by the States of Virginia and Maryland as will be sufficient to raise the Sum of 116,010 dollars of the New Emissions, to be paid into the Hands of the Quarter Master General and Commissary General of Military Stores for the Purpose of purchasing the Articles mentioned in the said Estimate.

At the same Time the Board inform Congress that by Returns from John Hopkins, Commissioner of the Continental Loan Office in Virginia, dated the 31st of December last, it appears that the sum of 423,412 dollars and $\frac{4}{7}$ of a dollar of the Bills of the old Emission and 5400 dollars of the New were in his Office.

And by Returns from Nicholas Gilman, Commissioner of the Loan Office for the State of New Hampshire, dated the 2d day of December last, it appears the Sum of 50,907 dollars and $\frac{5}{8}$ of a dollar of the old Emissions were in his Office.

The Board having considered the Letter from the Board of War of the 19 instant inclosing an Estimate of the Sum Necessary for the Repair of the Arms and Cartouch Boxes of the Pennsylvania Line beg leave to report

That a warrant issue on Thomas Smith, commissioner aforesaid, in favour of Colonel Benjamin Flower, commissary general of military stores, for two thousand two hundred and ninety-two dollars of the new emissions, to enable him to make the necessary repairs to the arms lately belonging to the Pennsylvania line, and for which sum the said Benjamin Flower, commissary, is to be accountable.¹

According to the order of the day, Congress proceeded to the election of a Secretary of Marine, and, the ballots being taken, Major General Alexander McDougall was elected.

Ordered, That the election of the other secretaries be postponed.

WAR OFFICE Feb^y 28th 1781

SIR.

The Board have been applied to by the Marquis de la Fayette for one month's pay of a detachment he commands on their march on a secret Expedition. The reasons he urges for the advance to be made appear to the Board very strong, among them are, the Officers and Men being detached from any possible resource of a private nature from whence they can draw supplies, their going to a part of the Country in which they are in some degree Strangers—their coming from the Army on such short notice and without information of their destination and under all these circumstances, not having a dollar to purchase the most trifling article. The Board in consequence of the pressing wants of these troops and to encourage them in the cheerful and vigorous execution of the enterprize cannot but join with the Marquis in Opinion that the Money requested should be advanced. It will amount to about fifteen thousand sixty nine dollars in bills of the new emissions, and if Congress should think proper to order the Money to be paid they will please to resolve,

That a warrant be drawn on Thomas Smith Esq. Loan Officer of Pennsylvania for fifteen thousand one hundred dollars in bills of the new emissions in favor of John Pierce Esq Paymaster General, for which he is to be accountable.

That this Warrant be paid in preference to any former Warrants.

That the Board of War draw warrants on the paymaster general for one month's pay of the detachment under the command of Major General the Marquis de la Fayette, the resolution of the 4 January notwithstanding.¹

The committee to whom was referred the representation of the iron masters brought in a report; Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. [Thomas] Burke, seconded by Mr. [Richard] Howly;

THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1781

A representation from the delegates of the State of New Hampshire, and the State of Rhode Island, was laid before Congress, and read.¹

In pursuance of the act of the legislature of the State of New York read in Congress the 7 March, 1780, entitled, "An act to facilitate the completion of the Articles of Confederation and perpetual union among the United States of America," and which is in the words following:²

"Whereas nothing under Divine Providence, can more effectually contribute to the tranquillity and safety of the United States of America, than a federal alliance, on such liberal principles as will give satisfaction to its respective members; and whereas the articles of confederation and perpetual union, recommended by the honorable Congress of the United States of America have not proved acceptable to all the states; it having been conceived, that a portion of the waste and uncultivated territory, within the limits or claims of certain states, ought to be appropriated as a common fund for the expences of the war; and the people of this State of New York being on all occasions disposed to manifest their regard for their sister states, and their earnest desire to promote the general interest and security; and more especially to accelerate the federal alliance, by removing, as far as it depends upon them, the before mentioned impediment to its final accomplishment:

Be it therefore enacted, by the people of the State of New-York, represented in senate and assembly, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that it shall and may be lawful to and for the delegates of this State, in the honorable Congress of the United States of America, or the major part of such of them as shall be assembled in Congress; and they the said delegates, or the major part of them, so assembled, are hereby fully authorized and empowered, for and on behalf of this State, and by proper and authentic acts or instruments, to limit and restrict the boundaries of this State in the western parts thereof, by such line or lines, and in such manner and form as they shall judge to be expedient, either with respect to the jurisdiction, as well as the right or pre-emption of soil, or reserving the jurisdiction in part, or in the whole, over the lands which may be ceded or relinquished, with respect only to the right or pre-emption of the soil.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the territory which may be ceded or relinquished, by virtue of this act, either with respect to the jurisdiction as well as the right or pre-emption of soil, or the right or pre-emption of soil only, shall be and enure for the use and benefit of such of the United States, as shall become members of the federal alliance of the said States, and for no other use or purpose whatsoever.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that all the lands to be ceded and relinquished, by virtue of this act, for the benefit of the United States, with respect to property; but which shall nevertheless remain under the jurisdiction of this State, shall be disposed of and appropriated in such manner only, as the Congress of the said States shall direct; and that a warrant under the authority of Congress, for surveying and laying out any part thereof, shall entitle the party in whose favor it shall issue to cause the same to be surveyed and laid out, and returned according to the directions of such warrant, and thereupon letters patent under the great seal of this State shall pass to the grantee for the estate specified in the said warrant, for which no other fee or reward shall be demanded or received, than such as shall be allowed by Congress.

Provided always, and be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the trust reposed, by virtue of this act, shall not be executed by the delegates of this State, unless at least three of the said delegates shall be present in Congress.

State of New York, ss.—I do hereby certify, that the foregoing is a true copy of the original act, passed the 19th of February, 1780, and lodged in the secretary's office.

ROBERT HARPUR, *Dep. Sec'y of State.*¹

¹A copy of the Act is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 67, II, folio 250.

To all people who shall see these presents, we, James Duane, William Floyd, and Alexander McDougall, the underwritten delegates for the State of New York in the honorable Congress of the United States of America, send greeting:

Whereas it is stipulated as one of the conditions of the cession of territory, made for the benefit of the United States by the legislature of the State of Virginia, that the United States should guarantee to that State the boundaries reserved by her legislature for her future jurisdiction; and it would be unjust that the State of New York, as a member of the federal union, should be compelled to guarantee the territories which shall be reserved by other states making such cessions, when her own boundaries, as they are to be limited and restricted by the act or instrument of cession now to be executed, shall not be guaranteed in the same manner: wherefore, the said delegates for the State of New York, being uninstructed on this subject by their constituents, think it their duty to declare, and they do by this present instrument declare, that the cession of territory and restriction of boundary of the said State of New York, now to be made by them in behalf of the people of the said State, shall not be absolute; but on the contrary, shall be subject to ratification or disavowal by the people of the said State, represented in senate and assembly, at their pleasure; unless the boundaries reserved for the future jurisdiction of the said State, by the instrument of cession now to be executed by us, shall be guaranteed by the United States, in the same manner and form as the territorial rights of the other states shall be guaranteed, which have made or may make cessions of part of their claims for the benefit of the United States; the people of the State of New York, on their part, submitting that any part of their limits, which are or may be claimed by any of the United States, shall be determined and adjusted in the mode prescribed for that purpose by the Articles of Confederation. In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and seals, in the presence of Congress, this first day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-one, and of our independence the fifth.

The foregoing being executed, the delegates aforesaid, in virtue of the powers vested in them by the act of their legislature above recited, proceeded and executed in due form in behalf of their State, the following instrument, viz.

To all people who shall see these presents, we, James Duane, William Floyd and Alexander McDougall, the underwritten delegates for the State of New York in the honorable Congress of the United States of America, send greeting:

Whereas by an act of the legislature of the said State of New York, passed at a session held at Albany, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty, entitled "An act to facilitate the completion of the Articles of Confederation and perpetual union among the United States of America;" it is declared, that the people of the State of New York were on all occasions disposed to manifest their regard for their sister states, and their earnest desire to promote the general interest and security, and more especially to accelerate the federal alliance, by removing, as far as it depended upon them, the impediment to its final accomplishment, respecting the waste and uncultivated lands within the limits of certain states; and it is therefore thereby enacted by the people of the said State of New York, represented in senate and assembly, and by the authority of the same, that it should and might be lawful to and for the delegates of the said State in the honorable Congress, and they or the major part of them, so assembled, are thereby fully authorized and empowered, for and on behalf of that State, and by proper and authentic acts or instruments, to limit and restrict the boundaries of the said State in such manner and form as they shall judge to be expedient, either with respect to the jurisdiction, as well as the right or pre-emption of soil, or reserving the jurisdiction in part or in the whole, over the lands which may be ceded or relinquished with respect only to the right of pre-emption of the soil: and by the said act it is further enacted, that the territory which may be ceded or relinquished by virtue thereof, either with respect to the jurisdiction, as well as the right or pre-emption of soil, or the right or pre-emption of soil only, shall be and enure for the use and benefit of such of the United States, as shall become members of the federal alliance of the said states, and for no other use or purpose whatsoever: and by the said act it is provided and enacted that the trust reposed by virtue thereof, shall not be executed by the delegates of the said State, unless at least three of the said delegates shall be present in Congress: and whereas, by letters patent, under the great seal of the said State of New York, bearing date the 29th day of October last past, reciting that the Senate and Assembly had, on the 12th day of September then last past, nominated and appointed us, the said James Duane, William Floyd and Alexander McDougall, together with John Morin Scott and Ezra L'Hommedieu, delegates to represent the said State in the Congress of the United States of North America, therefore in pursuance of the said nomination and appointment, the people of the said State of New York, did thereby commission us, the said James Duane, William Floyd and Alexander McDougall, and the said John Morin Scott and Ezra L'Hommedieu, or any majority who should, from time to time, attend the said Congress; and if only one of the said delegates should at any time be present in the said Congress, he should in such case, be authorized to represent the said State in the said Congress, as by an authentic copy of the said act, and an exemplification of the said commission, remaining among the archives of Congress, fully appears.

Now therefore know ye, that we, the said James Duane, William Floyd and Alexander McDougall, by virtue of the power and authority, and in the execution of the trust reposed in us as aforesaid, have judged it expedient to limit and restrict, and we do by these presents, for and on behalf of the said State of New York, limit and restrict the boundaries of the said State in the western parts thereof, with respect to the jurisdiction, as well as the right or pre-emption of soil, by the lines and in the form following, that is to say: a line from the north-east corner of the State of Pennsylvania, along the north bounds thereof to its north-west corner continued due west until it shall be intersected by a meridian line, to be drawn from the forty-fifth degree of north latitude, through the most westerly bent or inclination of Lake Ontario; thence by the said meridian line to the forty-fifth degree of north latitude; and thence by the said forty-fifth degree of north latitude: but if on experiment, the above described meridian line shall not comprehend twenty miles due west from the most westerly bent or inclination of the river or strait of Niagara, then we do by these presents, in the name of the people, and for and on behalf of the State of New York, and by virtue of the authority aforesaid, limit and restrict the boundaries of the said State in the western parts thereof, with respect to jurisdiction, as well as the right or pre-emption of soil, by the lines and in the manner following, that is to say; a line from the north-east corner of the State of Pennsylvania, along the north bounds thereof, to its north-west corner, continued due west until it shall be intersected by a meridian line to be drawn from the forty-fifth degree of north latitude, through a point twenty miles due west from the most westerly bent or inclination of the river or strait of Niagara; thence by the said meridian line to the forty-fifth degree of north latitude, and thence by the said forty-fifth degree of north latitude: And we do by these presents, in the name of the people, and for and on behalf of the State of New York, and by virtue of the power and trust committed to us by the said act and commission, cede, transfer, and forever relinquish to, and for the only use and benefit of such of the states as are or shall become parties to the Articles of Confederation, all the right, title, interest, jurisdiction and claim, of the said State of New York, to all lands and territories to the northward and westward of the boundaries, to which the said State is in manner aforesaid limited and restricted, and to be granted, disposed of, and appropriated in such manner only, as the Congress of the said United or Confederated States shall order and direct.

In testimony whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names, and affixed our seals in Congress, the 1st day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-one, and of our independence the fifth.

In determining questions in the united states in Congress assembled, each state shall have one vote.

Freedom of speech and debate in Congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any Court, or place out of Congress, and the members of congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests and imprisonments, during the time of their going to and from, and attendance on congress, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace.

Article VI. No state, without the Consent of the united states in congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with any King prince or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the united states, or any of them, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince or foreign state; nor shall the united states in congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

No two or more states shall enter into any treaty, confederation or alliance whatever between them, without the consent of the united states in congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

No state shall lay any imposts or duties, which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties, entered into by the united states in congress assembled, with any king, prince or state, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by congress, to the courts of France and Spain.

No vessels of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any state, except such number only, as shall be deemed necessary by the united states in congress assembled, for the defence of such state, or its trade; nor shall any body of forces be kept up by any state, in time of peace, except such number only, as in the judgment of the united states, in congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defence of such state; but every state shall always keep up a well regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutred, and shall provide and constantly have ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp equipage.

No state shall engage in any war without the consent of the united states in congress assembled, unless such state be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such state, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit of a delay till the united states in congress assembled can be consulted: nor shall any state grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the united states in congress assembled, and then only against the kingdom or state and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the united states in congress assembled, unless such state be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the united states in congress assembled, shall determine otherwise.

Article VII. When land-forces are raised by any state for the common defence, all officers of or under the rank of colonel, shall be appointed by the legislature of each state respectively, by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such state shall direct, and all vacancies shall be filled up by the State which first made the appointment.

Article VIII. All charges of war, and all other expences that shall be incurred for the common defence or general welfare, and allowed by the united states in congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states in proportion to the value of all land within each state, granted to or surveyed for any Person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated according to such mode as the united states in congress assembled, shall from time to time direct and appoint. The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several states within the time agreed upon by the united states in congress assembled.

Article IX. The united states in congress assembled, shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the sixth article—of sending and receiving ambassadors—entering into treaties and alliances, provided that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective states shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners, as their own people are subjected to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever—of establishing rules for deciding in all cases, what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the united states shall be divided or appropriated—of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace—appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures, provided that no member of congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

The united states in congress assembled shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting or that hereafter may arise between two or more states concerning boundary, jurisdiction or any other cause whatever; which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following. Whenever the legislative or executive authority or lawful agent of any state in controversy with another shall present a petition to congress stating the matter in question and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question: but if they cannot agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the united states, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven, nor more than nine names as congress shall direct, shall in the presence of congress be drawn out by lot, and the persons whose names shall be so drawn or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges, to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination: and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons, which congress shall judge sufficient, or being present shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgment and sentence of the court to be appointed, in the manner before prescribed, shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear or defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce sentence, or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive, the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress, and lodged among the acts of congress for the security of the parties concerned: provided that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state, where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favour, affection or hope of reward:" provided also, that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the united states.

All controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed under different grants of two or more states, whose jurisdictions as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall on the petition of either party to the congress of the united states, be finally determined as near as may be in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

The united states in congress assembled shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective states—fixing the standard of weights and measures throughout the united states—regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the states, provided that the legislative right of any state within its own limits be not infringed or violated—establishing or regulating post-offices from one state to another, throughout all the united states, and exacting such postage on the papers passing thro' the same as may be requisite to defray the expences of the said office—appointing all officers of the land forces, in the service of the united states, excepting regimental officers—appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the united states—making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

The united states in congress assembled shall have authority to appoint a committee, to sit in the recess of congress, to be denominated "A Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each state; and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the united states under their direction—to appoint one of their number to preside, provided that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years; to ascertain the necessary sums of Money to be raised for the service of the united states, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expences—to borrow money, or emit bills on the credit of the united states, transmitting every half year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted,—to build and equip a navy—to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state; which requisition shall be binding, and thereupon the legislature of each state shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men and cloath, arm and equip them in a soldier like manner, at the expence of the united states; and the officers and men so cloathed, armed and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the united states in congress assembled: But if the united states in congress assembled shall, on consideration of circumstances judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota, and that any other state should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, cloathed, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spared out of the same, in which case they shall raise officer, cloath, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared. And the officers and men so cloathed, armed and equipped, shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the united states in congress assembled.

The united states in congress assembled shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expences necessary for the defence and welfare of the united states, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the united states, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war, to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander in chief of the army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same: nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the united states in congress assembled.

The congress of the united states shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the united states, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six Months, and shall publish the Journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances or military operations, as in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state on any question shall be entered on the Journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a state, or any of them, at his or their request shall be furnished with a transcript of the said Journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several states.

Article X. The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the united states in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall from time to time think expedient to vest them with; provided that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states in the congress of the united states assembled is requisite.

Article XI. Canada acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the united states, shall be admitted into, and entitled to all the advantages of this union: but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

Article XII. All bills of credit emitted, monies borrowed and debts contracted by, or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the united states, in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the united states, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said united states, and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

Article XIII. Every state shall abide by the determinations of the united states in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the Articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them; unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the united states, and be afterwards confirmed by the legislatures of every state.

And Whereas it hath pleased the Great Governor of the World to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectively represent in congress, to approve of, and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union. Know Ye that we the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained: And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the united states in congress assembled, on all questions, which by the said confederation are submitted to them. And that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the states we respectively represent, and that the union shall be perpetual. In Witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands in Congress. Done at Philadelphia in the state of Pennsylvania the ninth day of July, in the Year of our Lord one Thousand seven Hundred and Seventy-eight, and in the third year of the independence of America.

The committee to whom was referred the case of the hon^{ble} H. Laurens, made a prisoner on his passage to Europe, and said to be committed to the Tower of London on suspicion of high treason; and

The Committee to whom was referred the information of the Honorable Henry Laurens Esq. being committed to the Tower of London beg leave to report,

That they have taken the Matter into their serious Consideration and submit to Congress the following State of Facts and Resolutions:

That Mr Laurens who was formerly President of Congress came into that Body long after the Independence of these States was solemnly declared and being in a high Character in their Service, and taken upon the high seas, instead of being treated as a Prisoner of War, was sent to the Tower of London, put into close confinement, and by the tenor of his commitment is pretended to be considered as a traitorous subject of the King of Great Britain;

That the United States are and of Right ought to be free and independent, and their Citizens ought to receive the same treatment when taken Prisoners as the subjects of other Independent States do among civilized Nations, the rather that their Independence has been explicitly acknowledged by one of the greatest and most enlightened Powers of Europe;

That they have been in full Possession of their Independence for several years, which alone ought to have protected their subjects Citizens from such cruel and barbarous Treatment as is seldom given but to those who are guilty of causeless and seditious Insurrections against Law and order in general in a Government formerly at peace;

That their Independence has been acquiesced in and virtually acknowledged by the Court of Great Britain so far as regards the Treatment of Prisoners, and the Conduct of the War many public Exchanges having taken place by agreement of the Commanders in Chief of both armies of Soldiers, Mariners, and Citizens of all Ranks, and even Cartels having been settled fixing the Principles upon which they are still to be conducted.

Your Committee upon these Grounds are of opinion that it is incumbent on the Congress of the United States speedily and strongly to express their Resentment against this Infraction of their Rights and take effectual Measures for preventing any similar conduct in their enemies for the future. With this View they submit to the House the following Resolution:

That with all possible Expedition and Secrecy ——— be put into secure and close confinement treated in the very Manner that Mr Laurens is treated, ~~and that public notice be sent to the commander in chief of the British Armies that unless Mr. Laurens is acknowledged to be and treated as a prisoner of war the United States will inflict such punishment upon the officers so confined as will testify their just resentment of the injury they have received through their minister.~~¹

The committee on the report of the Board of War on the case of Colonel Campbell, delivered in their several reports.²

[Report of the Committee on the report of the Board of War on the case of Col D. Campbell March 2nd 1781]

That, at the commencement of the war, he was a lieutenant upon half pay in the british service, which he gave up on the 17 day of July 1775, when he was appointed by Congress, deputy-quartermaster-general of the New York department, with the rank of Colonel. That, on the 12 day of September 1776 he was superseded by the appointment of Colonel Morgan Lewis to that department; soon after which, Colonel Campbell made application to Congress, and on the 13 day of February 1777, it was resolved "That the said Colonel Campbell be continued in his former pay and rank, and that he repair directly to the Commissioners for auditing and settling the accounts of the Northern Army and settle with them the accounts of his late department."

That since passing the said resolution, Colonel Campbell has been upon no service in the Army, and six months' attendance on the Commissioners were fully sufficient for settling his accounts, Colonel Campbell supposing he had rank but no command, which your Committee are of opinion was continued to him by the act of Congress of the 13 of January 1777. The following resolution is therefore submitted:

SIR,

Congress having resolved that Cap^t O'Neil be entitled to one year's pay in bills of the new emission, it was presumed that the matter of procuring the money lay of course with the Treasury Board, but as we are informed the Gentlemen of that Board are of opinion that the Board of War should draw a warrant on the Pay Master General for the pay which by a former Resolution of Congress we are restricted from doing. We therefore submit the matter to the decision of Congress, who will in either case determine,

That the Treasury board be directed to report a warrant in favor of Captain O'Neil for one year's pay in bills of the new emissions, to which he is entitled by the resolution of Congress of the 21st instant, or

On motion of Mr. [Thomas] McKean, seconded by Mr. [James] Duane:

In pursuance of the order of the 9th of February last, the Board of Treasury laid before Congress "a state of the arrearages of the public taxes previous to the resolution of the 18 March, 1780, and the quotas of the respective states in consequence of that resolution;" together with a report respecting the same:

TREASURY OFFICE, March 5, 1781.

To carry into effect the Resolution of Congress of the 28th ult. for the Payment of Contracts for Shot and Shells entered into by the Board of War and for other Purposes, the Board of Treasury beg leave to submit the following Resolution:

Resolved, That Bills of Exchange be drawn under the Direction of the Board of Treasury on the Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States of America at the Court of Versailles, at six months' sight, for 55,333 $\frac{1}{2}$ dollars, at $\frac{4}{6}$ the dollar, to be paid to the Board of War to enable them to fulfill their Engagements for the aforesaid Shot and Shells.

To comply as far as possible with the Resolution of Congress of the 9 ult. the Board beg leave to present to them a State of the Arrearages of the public Taxes, previous to the Resolution of the 18 of March last, and the Quotas of the respective States in Consequence of that Resolution. It is to be observed that it would seem the Quota for the Month of April, 1781, ought not to have been included, as it is by the aforesaid Act of the 18 of March last; for it will appear by the present Return that it carries the sum of ten millions of dollars, beyond the whole of the Emissions of the old Currency— the Board on this supposition in their orders to the Superintendants of the Press for their respective Quotas of the New Money have excluded it, and when the several Quotas of the States are completed agreeably to their Orders as aforesaid, the aggregate sum will be but one hundred and ninety-five millions.

The Board beg leave to observe, that the want of proper and punctual Returns from many of the Commissioners of the Loan Offices occasions great embarrassments in the public accounts, and disappoints the Desires of Congress in receiving the Information they require.

The Board have done every Thing in their Power to cause the Commissioners to perform their duty; but while the Incapacity of some puts it out of their Power to comply with the Directions of the Board, and the Inattention and Neglect of others is permitted, Congress must unavoidably remain uninformed of a true State of their Finances.¹

Ordered, That the same be referred to a Committee of the Whole.

On motion of Mr. [James] Duane, seconded by Mr. [Jesse] Root, Ordered, That the Board of Treasury report to the United States in Congress assembled, the commissioners of the loan offices in the several states who have neglected to make proper returns to the Board of Treasury, agreeably to orders given them for that purpose.

On motion of the delegates for the State of Delaware,

Resolved, That Samuel Patterson and John Thompson, esquires, be appointed commissioners on the part of the United States of America, either of them to indorse the bills that shall be emitted by the State of Delaware, pursuant to the act of Congress of the 18 day of March, 1780.

A motion was made by Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, seconded by Mr. [Thomas] McKean:

Ordered, That it be referred to the committee to whom were referred the proceedings of the convention of sundry states met at Hartford.

The members, Mr. [Jesse] Root, Mr. [Samuel John] Atlee, Mr. [Daniel] Carroll.

On motion of Mr. [Jesse] Root, seconded by Mr. [John] Mathews, Ordered, That Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday in every week be assigned for the subject of finance, until the United States in Congress assembled, shall have come to a final decision on that subject; and that on those days the business be entered upon immediately after reading the Journal.

On motion of Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum, seconded by Mr. [Jesse] Root:

Ordered, That a committee of three be appointed to prepare a plan to invest the United States in Congress assembled with full and explicit powers for effectually carrying into execution in the several states all acts or resolutions passed agreeably to the Articles of Confederation.²

The members, Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum, Mr. [James] Duane, Mr. [James] Madison.

The report of the committee on the letters, from Governor Clinton and from the president of the senate and speaker of the house of assembly of the State of New York, was taken into consideration, and, after some time spent thereon:

Ordered, That the farther consideration thereof be postponed till to Morrow.

The Committee to whom was referred the Letter of Stoddard, beg Liberty to report the following Resolutions— (Viz)

Resolved, That all officers in the Line of the federal army who have been regularly discharged from the Service, by their Resignations being accepted by Congress, the Commander in Chief, or the Commander of a seperate Department, since the first day of January A. D. 1777, be intitled to Depreciation upon their Wages, in the same manner as Officers retirug as Supernumeraries.

Resolved, That the Legislatures of the respective States be requested to cause the Accompts of all Officers of the foregoing Description formerly belonging to the Line of their States, to be adjusted, and transmit the Ballances due to each, up to the Time of Discharge from the Army, to the Board of War.

Resolved, Upon the Ballances being finally liquidated, certificates shall be issued, payable to the Persons in whose favor they shall be drawn, or Order, on or before the first Day of January A. D. 1784, with an Interest of six per cent per annum from the Time when such Ballances became due.

Resolved, That the Depreciation of Officers not attached to the Line of any particular State, be adjusted by the Board of Treasury.

A report from the Board of War was read, enclosing two letters from the governor of Maryland:

SIR,

The Board beg leave to lay before Congress a letter received from his Excellency Governor Lee of Maryland. The Gentleman who is proposed as the subject of the appointment was a Captain in the late Rawlins's regiment and received from the State the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel of their additional regiment after his having resigned his Captaincy. He never did any duty in the regiment which was broke up and the Non Commissioned Officers and privates drafted into their old regiments. As the case is somewhat singular and may establish a precedent if the request of the executive of Maryland is complied with, the Board thought it best to have the sense of Congress thereupon for their government.

We also enclose for the directions of Congress to us copy of a letter from Governor Lee requesting commissions for four companies of Artillery. As the resolves of Congress respecting the arrangements of the present Army do not take notice of such a corps we have informed the Governor that we cannot comply with his desire without the express orders of Congress.¹

The following motion, in the writing of John Sullivan, undated, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 36, IV, folio 371:

Resolved, That all officers and Soldiers who are now serving or who have Served in the army of the United States not having been annexed to the line of any State or had their depreciation made up, Such of them as belong to any particular State shall have their depreciation made up by such States respectively upon the principles adopted by them in Settling with the Troops of their respective States; and that such as are not Inhabitants of either of these United States shall have their Depreciation paid them out of the publick Treasury upon the same principles as the same was made up to the Troops of Hazen's Regiment.

Resolved, That the Depreciation in the Department of the Adjutant and the Inspector General be Settled upon the same principle and paid out of the Treasury of the United States.

¹ This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, VI, folio 259. A letter of March 8 from the Board of War was as follows. It is on folio 263:

In a report on the subject of Lt Col Lawson Smith's Commission we from a misapprehension informed Congress "That he never did any duty in the regiment." We have been since informed that Colonel Smith marched with the regiment and joined the Southern Army. We think it our duty to mention this to Congress lest any mistake of ours should have influence in the determination upon that Gentleman's case.

Ordered, That the same be referred to a committee of three:

The members, Mr. [Daniel] Carroll, Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum.

Another report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

Ordered, That the Board of War draw a warrant in favour of Captain Andrew Nixon of the first regiment of light dragoons, on the paymaster general, for three months' pay and subsistence equal to one hundred and eighty dollars in the bills emitted under the act of Congress of the 18 March, 1780, on account, the resolution of the 4 January notwithstanding.

And whereas the Board of War have represented, that it hath been too much a practice of the commanding officers of regiments, to send their officers to this place on commands that are out of the line of their duty, which is not only expensive to the public and the officers, but appears to the Board altogether unnecessary:

That the Board be informed the United States in Congress assembled, highly disapprove such practice; and that the Board take measures not only to discourage it in future, but that all such officers join their respective corps immediately.¹

A letter, of 6, from the Board of War, was read, enclosing a letter of 20 May, 1780, from Messrs. Penet & Co., whereby it appears that the contract entered into with them for the manufacturing of arms, is entirely at an end, from a failure on their part.²

The Board of Admiralty delivered in a report, which was read:

Ordered, That it be referred to a committee of three:

The members, Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum, Mr. [William] Sharpe, Mr. [James] Duane.

The committee on the letter, of 24 February, from E. Forman;

The committee on General Washington's letter, of 20 December, 1780; and

The Committee to whom Gen^l Washington's letter of the 20th of December was referred beg leave to report the following resolutions—

Resolved, That Battallion promotions in the Infantry, to the rank of Commanding Officer inclusive, where such Battallion is annexed to any State, shall be in the Line of such State;

That in Regiments of Infantry not annexed to particular States, promotions to the rank of Commanding Officer inclusive, be Regimental;

¹ This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, VI, folio 239. It was read on this day, as the indorsement indicates. A further indorsement says: "August 23^d, 1781, not to be acted upon."

A letter of February 23^d from Major General Steuben to the Board of War was read on this day, the indorsement states. It is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 164, folio 218.

That Regimental promotions in the Artillery to the rank of Commanding Officer inclusive, shall be in the Line of Artillery at large;

That Regimental promotions in the Cavalry to the rank of Commanding Officer inclusive, shall be in the Line of Cavalry at large.

With respect to promoting Battallion Officers to the rank of Brigadiers, your Committee beg leave to report as their opinion, That such promotions if confined to States that furnish one or more Brigades, will exclude the smaller States, and of course destroy all pretensions to promotions by officers of such States, whatever may be their pretensions arising from seniority. That permitting them to take place among the States in rotation will be no less injurious. And that promotions from the eldest Battallion Officers in the Army, will not only be injurious to officers belonging to the larger States, but will have a tendency to place troops coming from one extreme of the Continent under the command of a Brigadier coming from another, who cannot be so well acquainted with the temper and disposition of the Troops as an officer taken from among themselves.

To prevent these inconveniences, your Committee have thought proper to confine the promotion of Brigadiers to certain districts, in each of which, Brigadiers when wanting shall be made from the Senior Battallion Officer of that district, without regard to any particular State. And they beg leave to submit the following Resolution, viz.

Resolved, That so far as respects the promotions of Battallion Officers to the rank of Brigadiers, the States of New Hampshire and Massachusetts be considered as making four Brigades

Rhode Island and Connecticut two Brigades

Delaware and Maryland, two Brigades

Virginia and North Carolina four Brigades

South Carolina and Georgia one Brigade

Resolved, That whenever a Brigadier shall be wanting for the Troops of either of those districts, he shall be made from the senior Battallion Officer, without regarding the State to which he belongs;

Resolved, That in the Cavalry and Artillery, Brigadiers shall be made from the eldest Regimental Officers in those Corps respectively;

Resolved, That Major Generals shall be made from the eldest Brigadiers in the army, whether belonging to the Infantry, Cavalry or Artillery;

Resolved, That all Brigadiers hereafter made, shall take relative rank agreeable to the date of their last Battallion Commissions;

Resolved, That Tench Tilghman receive the commission of Lieutenant Colonel to take rank from the day of

Resolved, That Doctor McHenry receive the commission of Major to take rank from the day of

Resolved, That officers not annexed to any Line, serving in the family of the Commander in Chief, and those serving as Aids de Camp with other general officers, retain the same rank they now hold, and shall be entitled to promotion when they become the eldest officers of that Rank in the Line of the Army.

~~Resolved, That officers reduced by the late arrangement, may at any time previous to the first day of Jany next, exchange commissions with officers of the same State, and of the same rank in the army under the direction, and with the approbation of the Commander in Chief~~

Resolved, That Volunteers serving one campaign, may with the approbation of the Commander in Chief, receive Brevet Commissions in the lowest grade of subalterns, not to receive pay till placed in command, and shall not be entitled to half pay for life, till annexed to some Line.

All officers not connected with Corps, and now entitled to rank in the army by this arrangement, shall be considered as reduced and receive half pay, so long as they reside within the United States, or owe allegiance to the same.

Resolved, That the Commander in Chief may employ such reduced officers as he shall think proper in the military staff, or in the Inspectors Department, who are constantly to attend their duty in the army.

Resolved, That all officers who are Hostages, and are liable to be called for by the enemy, and are not continued in the Line of any State shall be entitled to their full pay until redeemed, and to half pay for life afterwards in the same manner as officers of equal rank reduced by the late arrangement; and that it be recommended to the respective States, in the Line of which they were at the time of their becoming Hostages, to make good to them their depreciation, and also to pay them such sums as are, or may become due to them, and charge the same to the United States.

Resolved, That Col. Dayton of the Jersey Line be promoted to the rank of Brigadier in the army of the United States.¹

licable for the Board to form an estimate of with any kind of precision, but must be very considerable. Upon full consideration of the foregoing expence and conviction, that waggons are as much wanted for the use of the Southern Army as the Stores now ordered there, we have taken the liberty to enclose to Congress for their information an estimate of the Money necessary to enable the Board to order all the Stores contained in Colonel Febiger's estimate forward by public teams, amounting to 22,586 dollars in the new bills; at the same time we beg leave to observe, that the Stores will be detained at least fifteen days longer if money is granted, to purchase than to hire the Teams, all which is humbly submitted with this remark, That it is not in the power of the Board to move the Stores unless money is furnished, and then wait the determination of Congress to point out the Mode to be adopted which shall be immediately carried into execution, so far as shall be in their power.

The Board beg leave further to observe that they did themselves the honor on the 12th day of February last, to report to Congress an estimate for 590 dollars to enable Colonel Miles D^r Quarter Master to forward a part of the aforementioned Stores, for which a Warrant was granted, but the money not yet obtained, and the quantity of Stores much increased. The money wanted for the clothier's department as mentioned by Colonel Febiger hath been reported to Congress by the Board of Treasury some time since.¹

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

SIR.

The Board beg leave to lay before Congress an account exhibited by Lt Skinner, for his expences on command for one month by order of Lt Col Lee and for the residue of the time in virtue of express orders of Congress. Three dollars were allowed officers per day when on command at a time when those dollars were equal in value to the dollars of the new emissions. We also transmit a request for an additional sum in consideration of his having drawn no rations or forage but for a short time. These charges, however great they may seem, will not clear his expences, as he has supported himself and his horses. And as he was for the greater part of the time expressly ordered to stay at Philadelphia by Col Lee, in virtue of an order of Congress it should seem that Payment cannot be avoided. The Board therefore are of opinion that five hundred and eighty two dollars be paid him for his expences on command and if Congress think any additional sum should be given—they will please to do it. It will take at least twenty days for Mr Skinner to perform his journey to the Legion which in the whole will make 642 dollars; he also desires three months pay may be advanced him. We therefore beg leave to report—

That the Board of War be authorized and directed to draw warrants on the paymaster Gen^l, the Resolution of the 4th January last notwithstanding, for six hundred and fortytwo dollars in bills of the new emission in favor of L^t Alex^r Skinner: of Lt Col Lee's legion for his expences on command and also for three months Pay and subsistance equal to one hundred and fifteen dollars in bills of the new emissions.²

The committee on the memorial of Mat. McConnel, &c., and,

The Board of Admiralty, to whom was referred the petition of Du Maine & Lion; delivered in their several reports.

The Board of Admiralty to whom the Petition of Dumaine & Lion was referred beg leave to report,—

That it appears by the Certificate which accompanies this Report that Nicholas Malescot and Samuel Waters, the persons mentioned in said Petition in August and September 1779, received Commissions, the former as Commander of the armed Brigantine Vigilant, and the latter as Commander of the Brigantine Brilliant from the Council of the State of Massachusetts.

That it appears from the allegations of the Petitioners that the Brilliant was so disabled by tempestuous weather in her passage to Guadaloupe, that the merchant there to whom she was consigned thought proper to sell her, reserving her long-boat, which with the Captain and the crew of the Brilliant were taken on Board the Vigilant in order to be carried to Boston in the State aforesaid, both the Brigantines being owned by the same persons.

That Capt. Malescot continued sick at Guadaloupe, and the Command of the Vigilant (as M^r James Veillon attorney to Dumaine & Lion hath declared to the Board) was given to Capt. Billat, who was Lieutenant of said Brigantine Vigilant and took with him the Commission given to Capt. Malescot as the said Veillon to said Board also declared.

That the Petitioners further set forth that the Vigilant on her passage to Boston aforesaid, meeting with adverse winds tempestuous weather and one of the Enemy's cruisers, was driven from her course and so disabled as to be obliged to put into the Island of Teneriffe to refit. That after refitting Capt. Billat sailed for Boston and soon met with a British Merchant Vessel. That Capt. Waters with his crew in the long-boat beforementioned Captured the said Vessel, and carried her into the Island of Teneriffe, where she was condemned and sold as lawful prize.

That the French Consul in that Island claimed the prize in behalf of his Most Christian Majesty; and thereupon the court there decreed, that the amount of Sales should remain deposited, until the court of Spain should have decreed in the premises—and thereupon the Petitioners pray that Congress will be pleased to direct their Minister Plenipotentiary at the Court of Madrid to obtain an order from the Spanish Court, for the payment of the amount of sales of said prize in behalf of the Captains Officers and Crews and Owners of the Brigantine Brilliant.

The Board would add to this stating of the case, that the said attorney James Veilon informed them that at the time the Commissions referred to in the Certificate were granted the Petitioners Du Maine & Lion were not become residents in Boston in the State aforesaid, and therefore it was that their friends M^r James McDuff & Compy. appeared as owners of the said Brigantines when in fact the property was in Du Maine & Lion.

Upon the Stating the case the Board beg leave to Report, as their opinion, that as the prize mentioned in the Petition was captured under Commissions of the United States of America, the claim of the French Consul was not well founded, and that the owners of the Brigantines Brilliant and Vigilant (who are the same persons) and the Captors are undoubtedly intitled to the whole amount of said prize, but as it may be made a question who were the Captors, whether Capt. Waters and his crew and Captain Billat and his crew conjointly, or the Captains and their crews separately considered. If the Honorable Congress should be of the above opinion, the Board would with submission propose,

That the Minister Plenipotentiary of these States should be directed to represent this matter to the Court of Spain, and take such measures as he may judge expedient to obtain an order to the Judge of the Admiralty at Teneriffe, to deliver the whole amount of sales of the prize captured and condemned as aforesaid to the owners of the Brigantine Brilliant, their agent or attorney for the use of the said owners, and the Captors.

In this way the Board conceive due respect may be paid to the Commission of Congress, and justice done to the Petitioners and Captors leaving Waters and Billat and their crews to decide as they think proper, who are entitled to a part of the Prize as Captors.

SIR,

The Board have the Honor to enclose to Congress a Return of the invalid Regiment specifying the States to which the Officers and Men belong so far as they are able at present to ascertain their Places of enlistment or Residence. Those at Boston belong to the Eastern States, but in what proportions we do not know. We beg leave to observe however, having in our view the request made by Gov. Trumbull in his letter referred to the Board, that if every State claim their Soldiers from the Regiment and especially for State Purposes there will be very little use to the United States in their being regimented as they will be subdivided into so many Parts as to render them incapable of discipline or any general purpose. Their situation in general is such as to admit of but a small proportion of Effectives from the variety of complaints with which they are afflicted; yet we find by drawing together a considerable number that they answer very well for Garrison Duty. Those to the Eastward may be employed if kept together in guarding Prisoners and stores, which is their present Duty, and with this view we had them collected at Boston. A small Detachment is at Rutland and if the number of Prisoners increase at that Post the whole of the Eastern Invalids may be collected there as Guards. We therefore beg leave to report on Gov. Trumbull's letter desiring the Connecticut Invalids to be stationed in that State,

Ordered, That governor Trumbull be informed, that although the United States, in Congress assembled, would be happy, on all occasions, to comply with the requests of the executive of the State of Connecticut, they cannot agree to the invalids of that State being stationed therein, consistent with the general benefit of the United States.¹

Ordered, That two members be added to the committee on the letter, of 12, from C. Pettit, assistant quartermaster general:

The members, Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, Mr. [Thomas] McKean.

On motion, the house was resolved into a Committee of the Whole, and, after some time, the President resumed the chair, and Mr. [John] Mathews reported, that the committee have considered farther the reports of finance and other matters referred to them, and have come to sundry resolutions thereon, which he was ordered to report.

The report of the Committee of the Whole was read, and the same being debated, it was thereupon,

Resolved, That all debts now due from the United States, which have been liquidated in specie value, and all debts which have been or shall be made payable in specie, or other money equivalent, shall be actually paid, either in specie or in other money equal thereto, according to the current exchange between such money and specie.

That it be and hereby is recommended to the several states to amend their laws making the bills of credit emitted under the authority of Congress a legal tender, so that such bills shall not be a tender in any other manner than at their current value compared with gold or silver.²

Resolved, That the states be immediately called upon to furnish for the public expences and for carrying on the war, their proportions of one million five hundred thousand dollars quarterly, the first quarterly payment to be made on the first day of June next.¹

That in discharge of this requisition, as well as those made by Congress on the 26 day of August, the 4th of November, and the 15 day of January last, the bills of credit emitted pursuant to the act of Congress of the 18 March, 1780, by what State soever emitted, shall be received at the treasury of the United States, as equal to and in lieu of the like sum of specie; and that interest be computed thereon in favor of the states from whom such bills shall be received, to the time assigned for discharging the several requisitions respectively:

That the respective states make exact returns to the Board of War by the first day of June next, of all articles by them supplied, agreeably to the act of Congress of the 25 February, 1780:

That the United States in Congress assembled will then call upon the deficient states for the full amount of their deficiencies, in value, to be paid into the treasury of the United States by the 1st day of September, 1781.

Ordered, That a committee, consisting of a member from each State, be appointed to apportion the quota of the above-mentioned sum of one million five hundred thousand dollars, to be paid quarterly by the states:

A report from the Board of Treasury was read:

TREASURY OFFICE March 15th 1781.

The Board of Treasury beg leave to represent to Congress

That the Loan Officer for the State of Massachusetts, applied to the Board by letter dated the 4th October last for instruction respecting the Interest accrued on the new bills at the time of issuing; and the act of the 18th of March last being clear in this respect, the following answer was given to that Loan Officer "That interest on the new bills is to be calculated from the date, and in all receipts and payments must be attended to."

This instruction was not sent to any other loan officer taking it for granted that they had not entertained the like doubts upon an act entirely unequivocal, made the more so, by the act of the 9th of September last, by which the interest is formally relinquished, on the part of the public, in payments to the Officers, Soldiers and Seamen of the Army and Navy. On the 5th of March, instant, Thomas Smith, Loan Officer for the State of Pennsylvania, having made a similar application, the board now consider it indispensable to submit the matter to Congress.

It is suggested out of doors, and the board incline to be of the opinion; that, in some of the States, the money afs^d will circulate with additional difficulty, if it shall be necessary to calculate and demand Interest at every transfer; indeed it is matter of doubt whether it will not stop it altogether. It is notorious on the other hand, that, if the interest shall be relinquished on the part of the public, there will be a certain loss of a very considerable sum annually. The difficulties on either side are great, and can only be removed by Congress.

The board are constrained farther to remind Congress, that the period is near at hand, when the first year's interest will become due; and altho it has been hitherto unattended to, either by the public or individuals they have no doubt it will be made an object of speculation, and consequently demanded as it becomes due; provision must therefore be made in time, to prevent the usual clamors against public faith; and for this purpose bills of exchange ought to be prepared. Besides this, new bills are to be delivered in lieu of those on which interest shall be paid, which makes a new emission of the Bills of Credit immediately necessary, the paper for all which is yet unmade; and the whole of the emission of the ten million not yet complete; although the press has been constantly employed on that business, and in striking bills of exchange and loan office certificates.

Two hundred ream of papers will be necessary for the first renewal of the new bills, and twenty thousand sets of exchange for payment of the first year's interest.

Congress considering these things, and pursuing the act aforesaid, will please to direct,

That the board of Treasury employ a sufficient number of extra hands to prepare bills of exchange for payment of the first year's interest, which shall be due upon the Bills of Credit issued agreeable to the Act of the 18th of March last, and paper for renewing the same.

The board beg leave further to inform Congress That, by a clause in the Act of the 18th of March last, requiring the payment of fifteen millions by monthly quotas, is extended to the month of April inclusive, which calls for, out of circulation, ten million more than hath been emitted which they apprehend to be a mistake, and therefore submit it, that it be corrected to March inclusive.¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the committee on the letter, of 12, from C. Pettit, assistant quartermaster general.

A motion was made by Mr. [James] Madison, seconded by Mr. [James] Duane, for putting a stop to all commercial intercourse between the inhabitants of the United States of America and the subjects of the king of Great Britain:

Whereas in order to afford to the virtuous individuals of Great Britain an assylum from the tyranny against which these States had taken arms, and to favor the importation of such warlike stores as were necessary for the defence of the said States, all vessels belonging to any inhabitant or inhabitants of Great Britain bringing settlers, arms ammunition or warlike stores for the use of these (then Colonies) now United States, were together with such stores and the effects of such settlers, by a resolution of the 23 of March 1776 exempted from seizure and condemnation as lawful prize, which exemption by a resolution of the 24 of July 1776 became extended to all vessels under like circumstances belonging to any subject or subjects of the King of Great Britain. And whereas from compassion to the distresses of the inhabitants of Bermudas and Providence or Bahama Islands all vessels and all goods wares and merchandizes belonging to the said Inhabitants were by the resolution last referred to excepted from being deemed and adjudged lawful prize, which exception as far as it relates to the inhabitants of the Bermudas Islands is still in force; and whereas the original grounds of these indulgences no longer exist; and there is also reason to apprehend that under cover thereof a clandestine trade and intercourse is carried on with the enemy, by which they are the better enabled to support the burdens of the war, and prosecute the arts of seduction among the citizens of these States as well as to give colour to their misrepresentations in Europe of a latent predilection in these States towards them; and it moreover doth not accord with the ~~friendship and convention-alliances~~ intimate connection subsisting between the United States and his M. C. Majesty that any of the subjects of the power with which they are both at war, should be regarded as friends or neutrals by the one whilst they are regarded as enemies by the other party, and the more especially as the communication resulting from their being regarded as friends or neutrals by the former may be ~~injurious to~~ interfere with the commercial advantages of the latter, at the same time that it adds to the resources of the common enemy for protracting the war:

Resolved, that all the resolutions above recited or referred to, so far as they exempt vessels belonging to any subject or subjects of the King of Great Britain bringing settlers, arms, ammunition or warlike stores ~~into any one~~ for the use of the United States, or the citizens thereof, or such warlike stores, or the effects of such settlers, or which exempt the ships and other vessels or the goods wares and merchandizes belonging to any inhabitant or inhabitants of the islands of Bermudas from capture and condemnation be and they are hereby repealed.

Resolved, that the Board of Admiralty or the Secretary of Marine make such alterations in the Commissions and instructions issued and the bonds taken in that department as the foregoing resolution may require.

And whereas there is just ground to ~~believe~~ suspect that the letters of protection which have been granted by Congress ~~to the~~ in particular instances to citizens and inhabitants of the United States for the removal of their property from places within the dominion or possession of the Enemy have notwithstanding the precautions with which they were guarded been ~~productive~~ made subservient to a commercial intercourse with the enemy; and whereas there is equal ground to ~~believe~~ suspect that vessels the property of subjects of the King of Great Britain and laden with merchandize the property of the said subjects have been imported into the United States under ~~pretended~~ fraudulent clearances from places not within the dominion or possession of the Enemy:

Resolved, That from and after the date hereof the United States in Congress assembled will grant no letters of protection for the purpose above mentioned; and that after the day of no benefit shall be claimed from any such as have been already granted.

Resolved, that it be recommended to the Executives of the several States to take the most vigilant and effectual measures for detecting and suppressing such fraudulent importations.

Ordered, That copies of the foregoing resolutions be transmitted to the Executives of the States, to public ministers of the United States at foreign courts, and that the same be communicated to the Hon^{ble} the Minister Plenipotentiary of his most C. Majesty.¹

Ordered, That it be taken into consideration on Monday next.

The report of the Medical Committee on the memorial of Dr. John Bartlett, late physician and surgeon general of the army in the northern department, was taken into consideration; and it appearing,

The medical committee to whom was referred the memorial of Dr. John Bartlett late Physicⁿ and Surgⁿ Gen^l of the army in the northern department, beg leave to lay before Congress the following State of Facts respecting the memorialist

⁴ This letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 161, folio 229.

That on the 11th of April 1777 he was appointed Physicⁿ and Surgⁿ Gen^l to the army in the northern department, to which he repaired some time in July following and with which he continued until the 23^d of October following when he was permitted by Gen^l Gates to return home on account of his inability to perform the duties of the office by reason of the infirmities of age and more especially on account of an accidental injury received in his arm, That it appears to your committee that at the time D^r Bartlett left the army it was generally understood that he had no design of returning to that post, he having before he received the hurt in his arm declared repeatedly to the other officers of that department that he was too old and infirm to perform the duties belonging to that office and at his particular request exchanged with D^r Thomas Tillotson an Hospital Surgeon, That before he went home he obtained a certificate from D^r Potts and D^r Treat recommending him for an appointment to any hospital that might be established near his own home. That this notwithstanding, he repaired to the army at the White Plains some time in the year 1778, but was not considered or treated as Physicⁿ and Surgeon General nor did he do any of the duties of that office, D^r Tillotson having been appointed by Gen^l Gates in his room and being then with the army and doing the duties of that office.

That on the first of July 1779 D^r Shippen the late Director General at the particular request of D^r Bartlett's friends directed him to repair to Fish Kill and superintend the Hospital at that place, where he accordingly came and the officers of that Hospital refusing to do duty under him he requested and obtained permission from D^r Shippen on the 28th September 1779 to return home,

That he received pay for the time he was with the northern army in 1777 and six months pay besides after he went home and also that he received three months pay for the time he was at Fish Kill in 1779. Since which time your Committee cannot find that D^r Bartlett hath either done duty or received pay. Upon which State of facts your Committee beg leave to report,

That Dr. John Bartlett, at his own request, and with the consent of the commanding officer of the department, and the deputy director and other officers thereunto belonging, left the service to which he was appointed, in a manner which clearly indicated his intention of relinquishing his office; and having received pay for all the time he spent with the army, and six months while he was at home, cannot be entitled to any farther pay or allowance.¹

The report of the committee to whom was referred the report of the Board of War was taken into consideration, and, after debate, the same being postponed, the report of the Board of War was again read and considered; and Thereupon,

The Committee to whom was referred the letters and papers of Colonel D'Arendt, and Cap^t: Bentalon, beg leave to report,

That Cap^t: Bentalon was the senior Captain in the late Count Pulaski's Legion.

That he was wounded in his left hand, in the attack on Savannah, and obtained leave of General Lincoln to go to France to effect a cure of it.

That on his passage to America, he was taken by the enemy, and is now a prisoner to them on Parole, and in great distress, That by a certificate from the pay office, it appears that Count Pulaski's legion was paid only to the 1st of December 1779, so that there is due to him fifteen months pay and rations to the 1st of this instant March.

That it appears from a report from the war office, that Cap^t: Bentalon is not arranged in Colonel Armand's corps; altho' the officers of Count Pulaski's legion were by resolve of Congress to be incorporated in that Corps, and he appears to be a deserving officer and of a proper age for cavalry service. Upon these facts your committee beg leave to submit the following resolutions—

Resolved, That the Paymaster General be and he is hereby directed, to pay Cap^t: Paul Bentalon seven months pay and rations of the new emission on account.

Resolved, That as Cap^t: Bentalon appears to be a deserving officer, it is the wish of Congress that he be provided for in Col^o: Armand's

Resolved, That Captain Bentalon be considered as retiring from service under the resolutions of the 3d and 21 of October, 1780, and entitled to the emoluments arising therefrom;

That the Board of War draw a warrant, in favour of Captain Bentalon, on the paymaster general, for three months' pay on account.

SIR,

The Board have been honored with a reference from Congress, of a letter from Col. Brodhead of the 18th Feb^r last, on the subject of the Indian Affairs in the Western Department and from the general Direction that we are "to report a state of the Western Department"

¹ This report, in the writing of Meriwether Smith, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 26, folio 253.

it should seem that Congress meant we should also comprehend the Military Affairs of that Department. We have the honor to enclose the last return we have had of the state and numbers of the troops whereby the military strength will appear. The supplies of all kinds are extremely deficient and especially in the article of provisions, the garrison of Fort Pitt and its dependencies having been subsisted for twelve months past in the most scanty and precarious manner, and the distress is now so great that we should not be surprised to hear of the Posts being abandoned and the frontiers of this and those of the neighboring States protected by the western troops, consequentially exposed to the ravages of the Enemy. At the instance of the Board a supply of Money was put into the hands of Col. Blaine, a considerable time ago, to enable him to have purchased about one hundred head of Cattle; but from our latest accounts few or none have been purchased and we wait for Col. Blaine's arrival in Philadelphia to promote a proper Enquiry into the causes of this failure. Col. Brodhead appears to have taken every measure to gain supplies and among other expedients he was reduced to the necessity of sending a party into the Indian country to kill Buffaloes for the garrison; what success this scheme has been attended with we are not informed and it tends more to evidence their distress than to hold out hopes of any material supply for the Troops. We wish this description of wants could only be applied to the provision department as every other is nearly in the same situation. These causes if the strength of the Army would otherwise have admitted of it, have prevented the Commanding Officer from carrying on any offensive operations, save the sending out small parties as scouts, which he has done from time to time with various success. The Garrisons now consist of parts of two Regiments one of the Pennsylvania and the other of the Virginia line, a small detachment of Artillery and some independent companies. Fort Pitt as we understand is in a very ruinous and defenceless situation and Fort McIntosh about twenty five miles distant, tho' a well constructed Fort, could not for want of supplies resist a serious attack. The detail of the Military Affairs of this Department and a State of other business therein will best appear from Col. Brodhead's letters and those of this Board, which have been from time to time laid before Congress. Before we quit this part of the subject we beg leave to mention that it seems to us best that either the Virginia or Pennsylvania Detachments of the Regiments of those

State lines should be ordered to join the Army and an entire Regiment stationed at Fort Pitt, as disjointed corps are not only prejudicial to Discipline but are otherwise inconvenient.

The Enemy Indians to the Westward consisting of tribes of different nations, were at first not more than three hundred, the Delaware and Shawanose Nations being much divided. But these hostile savages have now a considerable accession of strength from the junction of the Northern Tribes, and unless some measures are fallen upon to support the friends of the United States among these savages and to supply those who are inclined to be neuter the nature of Indians and their necessities will compel the whole of them to join the British Interest.

It is certainly expedient that there should be some person invested with authority to act as an agent for Indian Affairs and that means should be put in his hands to support the friendly savages, to divide those who are hostile and if any of them will wage war with the rest it would be politic to enable them to do it. As there is no very extensive Business in this way to transact it seems to us proper that the Commanding Officer should be invested with the powers of an agent; but the present state of the finances appears to forbid any measures being taken for supplies to the Indians to any great amount, and until we are in a condition better to support them it should seem that it will not be prudent to give large promises, a failure in which will only tend to exasperate instead of conciliating their affections.

The Delaware Council at Cohocking have always appeared friendly to our Interests. Their number of fighting men amounts probably to one hundred. Many of them were at Philadelphia in 1778 and received presents from Congress. Several of their children are now educating at Princeton Colledge at the expence of the United States. On the 4th of January last Congress agreed to a visit from some of these Indians as proposed by Col. Brodhead. This visit will be very expensive and probably dangerous to the Indians, as the country through which they pass has much enmity against all Indians and cannot be persuaded to make distinctions. We were obliged for these reasons to send a strong escort with the Indians who came on a former visit to Congress both on their coming and returning. We therefore submit to Congress whether it would not be best to send some presents to Fort Pitt and supercede thereby the necessity of their coming to Philadelphia. As to building a Fort at Cohocking and sending thereto three hundred men we conceive it impracticable, for by the former part of this letter it will appear that we are not in a condition to support even the Garrisons we already have in that Country. Upon the foregoing State of the Affairs of the Western Department we submit the following resolutions—

That the Executive of the State of Pennsylvania, be earnestly requested to lay up at Fort Pitt in part of their Quota of provisions an immediate supply of provisions for six months for a complete regiment, consisting of six hundred and twelve rank and file properly officered.

That the Commanding Officer in the Western district be directed so far as he has the means in his power to put the Fortifications at Pittsburg in good order.

That the said Commanding Officer for the time being act as Agent for Indian Affairs in that District and that the Board of War give him the necessary instructions on this subject.

That the sum of Dollars in Bills of Exchange be delivered to the Paymaster of the Board of War to enable the said Board to purchase a quantity of Indian goods to be sent to the Commanding Officer of the Western Army to be distributed agreeable to the instruction of the said Board among such of the faithful savages of the Western Nations as shall be deemed proper objects of the Bounty of the United States.

That the expediency of the Cooshocking Indians making a visit to Congress agreeable to the Resolution of the 4th of January last be referred to the Board of War to take order, that resolution notwithstanding—

That the Commander in Chief take order respecting the Troops of which the Western Army is or shall be composed so that entire corps be drawn together as much as circumstances will permit.

That Col. Brodhead be informed that it is inexpedient to comply with the request of the Delaware Indians as contained in the letter of W^m Penn and the Councillors of Cooshocking dated the 13th of January last.¹

TUESDAY, MARCH 20, 1781.

A report from the Board of Treasury was read; Whereupon,

TREASURY OFFICE March 19th 1781

The Board of Treasury have had under their consideration the Letter of the Honble Thomas Smith Esq^r read in Congress the 16th instant, and referred to this Board.

They are of opinion from enquiry into the facts that M^r Smith has given a just and true representation of them—That the warrant for thirty thousand dollars said to have been obtained in August last for the repayment of the money borrowed by him remains in the hands of the Quarter Master unpaid from there not having been money in the Treasury to pay and discharge the same; and that M^r Smith has received no payment, as was intended by the said warrant—That considering the circumstances of this claim by M^r Smith the Board are of opinion his demand of the new money at forty for one in payment is reasonable, and should be complied with which is submitted to Congress, with the following Resolution:

Ordered, That a warrant issue on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, in favour of Charles Pettit, assistant quartermaster general, on account of Nath^l Greene, late quartermaster general, for seven hundred and fifty dollars new emission, to enable him to repay that sum to Thomas Smith, Esq^r, of Bedford County, in the State of Pennsylvania, for money advanced by him heretofore for the quartermaster department, for which sum the said late quartermaster general is to be accountable; and

That the said assistant quartermaster general be authorised to apply the money arising from the warrant in his favour upon the treasurer, for thirty thousand dollars, dated 30th of August last, to the most pressing purposes of that department.¹

TREASURY OFFICE, March 16th, 1781.

The Board of Treasury, having considered the Letter from Charles Pettit, Esq., Assistant Quartermaster General, dated the 13 inst.

inclosing a letter of the 7th together with an Estimate of Money necessary for the Quartermaster General's Department in the State of New Jersey from John Neilson Deputy Quartermaster for said State approved by the Board of War, beg leave to report,

That a warrant issue on Joseph Borden, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of New Jersey, in favour of Charles Pettit, assistant quartermaster general, on account of Colonel Timothy Pickering, quartermaster general, for sixty-one thousand nine hundred and eighty dollars of the ~~old~~ new emission, for the use of the quartermaster's department in New Jersey, and for which sum the said Colonel Timothy Pickering, quartermaster general, is to be accountable.¹

The report of the committee appointed to prepare a recommendation to these states, to set apart a day of humiliation and prayer was taken into consideration; and thereupon

The United States in Congress assembled, agreed to the following proclamation:

~~In times of calamity and impending danger when a vindictive enemy pursues with unrelenting fury a war of rapine and devastation to reduce us by fire and sword, by the savages of the wilderness and our own domestics to the most abject and ignominious bondage; it becomes the indispensible duty of the citizens of these United States with true penitence of heart publicly to acknowledge the over ruling Providence of God, to confess our offences against him, and to supplicate his gracious interposition for averting the threatened danger and preparing our efforts in the defence and preservation of our injured country.~~

At all times it is our duty to acknowledge the over-ruling providence of the great Governor of the universe, and devoutly to implore his divine favour and protection. But in the hour of calamity and impending danger, when by fire and the sword, by the savages of the wilderness, and by our own domestics, a vindictive enemy pursues a war of rapine and devastation, with unrelenting fury, we are peculiarly excited, with true penitence of heart, to prostrate ourselves before our great Creator, and fervently to supplicate his gracious interposition for our deliverance.

The United States in Congress assembled, therefore do earnestly recommend, that Thursday the third day of May next, may be observed as a day of humiliation, fasting and prayer, that we may, with united hearts, confess and bewail our manifold sins and transgressions, and by sincere repentance and amendment of life, appease his righteous displeasure, and through the merits of our blessed Saviour, obtain pardon and forgiveness: that it may please him to inspire our rulers with wisdom and uncorruptible integrity, and to direct and prosper their councils: to inspire all our citizens with a fervent and disinterested love of their country, and to preserve and strengthen their union: to turn the hearts of the disaffected, or to frustrate their devices: to regard with divine compassion our friends in captivity, affliction and distress, to comfort and relieve them under their sufferings, and to change their mourning into grateful songs of triumph: that it may please him to bless our ally, and to render the connection formed between these United States and his kingdoms a mutual and lasting benefit to both nations: to animate our officers and forces by sea and land with invincible fortitude, and to guard and protect them in the day of battle, and to crown our joint endeavours for terminating the calamities of war with victory and success: that the blessings of peace and liberty may be established on an honourable and permanent basis, and transmitted inviolate to the latest posterity: that it may please him to prosper our husbandry and commerce, and to bless us with health and plenty: that it may please him to bless all schools and seminaries of learning, and to grant that truth, justice and benevolence, and pure and undefiled religion, may universally prevail.

And it is recommended to all the people of these states, to assemble for public worship, and abstain from labour on the said day.¹

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

WAR OFFICE, 20th March 1781

SIR,

The Board beg leave to represent that in obedience to the orders of Congress they have drawn a warrant on the Pay Master General in favor of Lt. Skinner of Lt Col^o Lee's partizan corps for eight hundred and fifty seven dollars in the new bills. The pay master hath this moment informed the Board he hath no money in his hand, to pay the warrant. All the money he has is appropriated for the payment of the Baron D'Arandt by express order of Congress. The waggons are nearly all loaded with the cloathing for Lt Col^o Lees Corps which is under Lt Skinners care, and the Board know of no way that the aforesaid sum can be obtained immediately unless Congress should think proper to order payment to be made out of the moneys in the Paymaster General's hands, in which case it may be proper to resolve,

Ordered, That the Board of War take order for the discharge of Lieutenant Skinner's warrant, any former orders of Congress to the paymaster general notwithstanding.²

There being no entry made on the Journal after the yeas and nays taken yesterday, to shew in what manner the question was decided; it being alleged that the report upon which the question was taken, involved a point for the determination of which the assent of nine states was necessary; it was moved that immediately after the yeas and nays taken yesterday, be entered the following words, "so it was resolved in the affirmative."

On the question to agree to this, the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [Thomas] Burke,

The letter, of 13, from R. Morris, was taken into consideration, when a motion was made by Mr. [Thomas] Burke, seconded by Mr. [John] Mathews,

That Congress do not require Mr. Morris to dissolve any commercial connection which he shall have formed previous to his taking upon him the office of superintendant of the finances of the United States of America:

A motion was then made by Mr. [James] Duane, seconded by Mr. [John] Mathews, as follows:

The following paragraph from the letter from Mr. R. Morris, lately elected superintendant of finance, was considered, viz.

“I am to inform Congress that the preparatory steps I had taken towards procuring myself relaxation from business, with least injury to the interests of my family, were by engaging in certain commercial establishments with persons in whom I had perfect confidence, as to their integrity, honor and abilities. These establishments I am bound in honor and by contracts to support, to the extent agreed on: if therefore it be in the idea of Congress, that the office of superintendent of finance is incompatible with commercial concerns and connections, the point is settled; for I cannot, on any consideration, consent to violate engagements or depart from those principles of honor which it is my pride to be governed by. If, on the contrary, Congress have elected me to this office, under the expectation that my mercantile connections and engagements were to continue, an express declaration of their sentiments should appear on the minutes, that no doubt may arise or reflections be cast on this score hereafter.”

Resolved, That the United States in Congress assembled do not require Mr. Morris to dissolve the commercial connections referred to in the said paragraph.

A letter, of this day, from G. Measam, was read.¹

A letter, of January 14, from Major General Greene, was read, with sundry papers enclosed:

Ordered, That it be referred to the Medical Committee.

The report of the Medical Committee, delivered the 15, was taken into consideration, and it was thereupon resolved as follows:

Whereas the late regulations for conducting the medical department and military hospitals passed the 30th day of September last, and amended by several subsequent acts of Congress, extends no farther southward than to include the State of Virginia; and whereas the present operations of the war to the southward, make it necessary that the hospital department, in that district, be rendered as uniform to that in the northern army as circumstances will permit, that no inconveniencies may arise to the army in general from different and opposite systems, as its operations may eventually be interchangeable from one district to another in a short space of time; therefore,

Resolved, That there be one deputy director of the military hospitals, ~~in the Southern district subject to the general control of the director~~ who shall, in the absence of the director, have the general control and management of all the military hospitals that are or may be established ~~to the Southward of Virginia~~ under the orders of the commander of the southern army for the time being.

Resolved, That ~~within the~~ for the army aforesaid, ~~district~~ there shall be one chief physician of the hospital, who shall also be a surgeon; one chief physician to the said army, who shall also be a surgeon; two hospital physicians, who shall also be surgeons; and four surgeon's mates for the hospitals; one deputy purveyor with an assistant, one deputy apothecary with an assistant; and to each hospital, a steward, matron, orderly men and nurses as is directed in the arrangement of the ~~northern~~ hospital, passed the 30 day of September aforesaid.

That all the other officers of the hospital and medical staff for the southern ~~district~~ army, exercise the same powers, perform the same duties, receive the same pay and emoluments, and be subject to the regulations and restrictions laid down in the aforesaid arrangement for officers of like description:

Provided nevertheless, that the powers therein directed to be exercised by the director, and any two chief physicians and surgeons of the hospital, shall, in the absence of the deputy director, be vested in and exercised by the next officer in the hospital department for the southern army, and so on in succession, in conjunction with the two next seniors.¹

Ordered, That Monday next be assigned for the election of the officers in the hospital department for the southern army.

“That Congress, therefore, recommended it to the respective states as indispensibly necessary, to vest a power in Congress to levy the duty on imports and prizes, mentioned in their act of the 3d of February last; and that the said duties should be continued until the principal and interest of the debts already contracted, or which might be contracted, on the faith of the United States, for supporting the present war, should be fully and finally discharged:

“That in the opinion of the committee, the proviso at the close of the act of the legislature of Connecticut, will defeat the good intentions of the said requisition, which aims at giving the public creditors, who have vested or shall vest their property in the funds, a substantial and adequate security which shall operate until their debts are fully satisfied:

“That from the estimate laid before Congress, the produce of the duty on imports and prizes will, during the war, fall greatly short of the annual interest, even of the loan office certificates; and will, in the opinion of the committee, justly alarm those who have lent their money to the public, if the funds so to be assigned, should be limited for a short or any period, which will not afford them reasonable security, and continue in force until the debts due to them are faithfully discharged;” Whereupon,

Resolved, By the United States in Congress assembled, That it be, and hereby is earnestly recommended to the legislature of the State of Connecticut, to revise the above-mentioned law, and to alter and amend it agreeably to the requisition in the act of Congress of the 3d day of February last to wit:

stand that such scanty supplies of flour have been furnished as to render the subsistence of the army uncertain and precarious, And Whereas it is absolutely necessary that the supplies of flour and fresh provisions should be regularly made according to the requisitions of Congress to the several States by their Act of the 4th of November last, especially as the consumption of provisions is dayly increasing by the accession of new Recruits to the army.

Resolved, therefore that the States be again called upon to furnish the provisions agreeably to said Act of the 4th of November last; And that they be informed that unless the strictest attention is given to those requisitions, the important views respecting the ensuing campaign will probably be defeated, And that in case this shall happen the war will likely be prolonged beyond a period which might otherwise be expected,

And Whereas there is good reason to apprehend that the estimates made of the quantitys of live provisions furnished the army have, in many instances been very erroneous, by means whereof the United States are charged with much larger quantitys than have been actually supplied, whereby an unrightious advantage has been obtained by individuals to the injury of the Publick.

Resolved therefore that the executive power of the several States appoint disinterested and judicious Freeholders to apprize upon oath according to their best judgment the weight of all live provisions purchased for the use of the army or navy, at the time when such provisions shall be collected for that purpose within the State where the same has been purchased. And that a certificate under the hands of at least five such apprizers together with a proper certificate of their having been appointed by such executive shall be produced as vouchers to support any charge for supplies of this kind, against the United States. . The report of the committee for apportioning the quotas of the states, was taken into consideration; and, thereupon, ¹This report, in the writing of Oliver Wolcott, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 19, I, folio 381. It is indorsed by Thomson: "Important." It is in the list of postponed reports in No. 31, folio 371.

Resolved, That the quota of one million five hundred thousand dollars, called for by act of 16, be as follows;

New Hampshire,	46,080 $\frac{3}{4}$	four quarterly payments,	184,323
Massachusetts,	264,965 $\frac{3}{4}$		1,059,863
Rhode Island,	29,146 $\frac{1}{4}$		116,585
Connecticut,	195,844 $\frac{1}{4}$		783,377
New York,	43,200 $\frac{3}{4}$		172,803
New Jersey,	103,682		414,728
Pennsylvania,	264,965 $\frac{3}{4}$		1,059,863
Delaware,	24,480 $\frac{1}{4}$		97,921
Maryland,	182,026 $\frac{3}{4}$		728,107
Virginia,	288,006 $\frac{1}{2}$		1,152,026
North Carolina,	57,601		230,404
	1,500,000		6,000,000

Resolved, That the sums assessed shall not be considered as the proportion of any State, but being paid into the treasury, shall be placed to their respective credit, bearing an interest of six per cent. per annum, from the time of payment until the quotas shall be finally ascertained, agreeably to the Articles of Confederation. And if it shall then appear that any State is assessed more than its just quota of the said tax, it shall continue to receive interest on the surplus; and if less, it shall be charged with the interest on the deficiency, until, by a future tax, such surplus or deficiency shall be properly adjusted.

The report of the committee on the letter, of 17, from the Board of War, was taken into consideration; and, after debate,

The Committee to whom was referred the report from the Board of War of the 17th March, with sundry other papers relating to the prisoners under the Convention of Saratoga, and the Cowpen prisoners, &c, &c,

Find that it is provided under the 2nd and 3rd Articles of the Convention of Saratoga, and recognised in the 9th Article of the said

Convention that unless a Cartel should take place, by which the Army under Lieut: General Burgoyne, or any part of it may be exchanged, those troops are not to serve again in North America during the present Contest, notwithstanding which your Committee are well informed, that great desertions have taken and do daily take place among the British Troops prisoners under the aforesaid stipulations, who after being encouraged thereto by the Enemy, are immediately drafted into their Regiments, now in actual Service against these United States. Your Committee cannot but think it highly expedient to take effectual measures, to prevent such mischievous consequences as do or may arise from such an unjustifiable procedure on the part of the Enemy, to the welfare of these United States, in which it is notorious that every effort is made by them to evade the most solemn stipulations. Your Committee beg leave farther to report, that from a strict adherence to the tenor of the aforesaid treaty, a very considerable balance is due to these States, for rations and transport furnished the said Troops who have been supplied with full rations of provisions more than what is usually allowed to prisoners of war under any description, for which no payment has been made for more than two years, altho frequently demanded. In order, therefore, to prevent future desertion from the British Troops of Convention, your Committee are of opinion that it is necessary, the non commissioned Officers and Soldiers of the said Troops be forthwith closely confined and effectually guarded so as to prevent them from going to the Enemy. That such of them as shall escape in future, be treated as Enemies holding no faith, that such of their Officers as may attempt to hold any correspondence with the Enemy or others or take any steps to promote their escape, shall be deemed and treated as having forfeited their paroles.

That unless immediate payment is made for provision and transport heretofore furnished the said prisoners under the Convention of Saratoga according to rates stipulated in Article the 5th, no more or other provision shall be issued to the said prisoners, but such as are issued to prisoners in other circumstances.

Your Committee are of opinion, that for the security and providing the unconditional prisoners of war and the prisoners under the Convention of Saratoga, they should be disposed of in the following manner, viz:

That the Cowpen prisoners and all the unconditional prisoners of war in Virginia and Maryland, be immediately removed to Pennsylvania under a strong Guard;

That the British prisoners under the said Convention remain at Frederick Town in Maryland, and be closely confined, except the Officers who should have their parole, and be sent to Simsbury in Connecticut, where they can be more conveniently quartered than at present;

That the German Troops under the said Convention, shall remain near the Town of Winchester in Virginia and be confined to the Barracks, built there by order of the State of Virginia, and the guard now there, added to such guards as the State of Maryland shall furnish at Frederick Town, and be employed in guarding the prisoners at that place;

That the Regiment of guards, raised by the State of Virginia, be appointed to guard the German Troops under the said Convention, and that Colonel Wood be continued in the Command and Superintendency of the Convention Troops both German and British;

Whereupon your Committee submit the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the unconditional prisoners of war in Maryland and Virginia, be immediately removed under a strong guard into the State of Pennsylvania, where they are to be confined, under the direction of the Board of War.

Resolved, That that Board take immediate measures, for furnishing a sufficient Guard, for their Escort and safe keeping.

Resolved, That the German Troops under the Convention of Saratoga be confined to the Barracks, built by the State of Virginia near Winchester, and that the Regiment raised by the said State for guarding the Prisoners of Convention be assigned as a guard for the said German Troops.

Resolved, That the non-commissioned Officers and Privates of the British prisoners under the said Convention be forthwith closely confined at or near Frederick Town in Maryland, or in such other place or places within that State as the Governor and Council shall direct, and unless immediate payment is made for the provisions and transport heretofore furnished the prisoners under the said Convention, that no more or other provisions or transport be furnished or allowed them, but such as are furnished to unconditional prisoners of war by order of Congress.

Resolved, That the Officers of the German Troops be paroled to a district in the County of Frederick in Virginia, not exceeding ten Miles in Circumference, and that the Officers of the British Troops of the Convention be ordered to Simsbury in Connecticut, stationed there or at such other place, as the Executive of that State shall think proper within the said State, and be paroled to a District not exceeding Six Miles in Circumference, and that the Executive of the said State of Connecticut, be requested to appoint a proper person to superintend their Conduct and to report thereon to Congress or the Board of War.

Resolved, That no transport be allowed to the prisoners under the Convention in future at the expence of the United States, and that the commanding officer having the care of the said Troops, have full authority to limit the number of waggons and horses to be hired by them, for the purpose of transporting baggage, &c, or the number of Horses to be kept by the Officers, and the price to be by them given for forage to support their own Horses, or of provisions for themselves.

Resolved, That the Board of War take immediate measures for carrying into execution the aforesaid resolutions.¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of War to take order thereon.

A memorial from the honorable the Minister of France was read:

The Chevalier de la Luzerne, minister plenipotentiary of France, by a memorial informed Congress, That the king, being made acquainted with the situation of the affairs of the confederacy, had resolved to continue during the next campaign the land and sea forces which are now in this continent. That unforeseen obstacles had prevented the junction of the second division of sea forces with the first, as soon as was expected; but that it was to sail as soon as possible; and that Congress should use their utmost exertions to have their army ready for action without the least delay.

But while the king, actuated by his love for the United States, of his mere motion was giving them succours which he was under no obligation to do, and out of regard to them lessened the efforts which he could have made for his own advantage, he had reason to expect a proportionable activity from Congress; and he hopes that the United States, which have so much to gain or lose by the issue of the contest, will employ all their resources in the present conjuncture; and that the Congress which is entrusted with their dearest interest will hasten to adopt effectual measures for conducting matters to a happy issue.

The Chevalier de la Luzerne, when he communicated to the king the news of the final ratification of the confederation, thought himself warranted to assure his majesty that this event would have a happy influence on the councils of this republick; that they would thereby acquire all the energy necessary for conducting the important business entrusted to them; that the union would receive new force; and he did not doubt but the ensuing campaign would give decisive proofs of this. And the minister relies that his hopes, which are the same as are entertained by the whole continent, will not be disappointed. It is at the same time essential, while Congress are making the necessary arrangements for the ensuing campaign, that they should know for certain that they are to count only on their own resources for defraying the expenses that it will require. The frankness of the king, and the friendship he bears to the United States, will not permit him to encourage an error which they appear to be in, with respect to the pecuniary aids which they seem to expect. The desire of securing their independence had induced his majesty to exceed the measure of the engagements he had contracted with them; and he will continue to support their interests, either by powerful diversions or by immediate succours; and they may rely not only on his most scrupulous punctuality in the execution of his engagements, but upon all the extraordinary assistance which it will be in his power to give them. But as to pecuniary aids, the enormous expenses of the present war, and the necessity of preserving credit, which is the only means of providing for those expenses, do not permit his majesty's ministers to give Congress the least hope in that respect. The Chevalier de la Luzerne will not dissemble that his court was exceedingly surprised on being informed of the step which Congress had taken in disposing of bills drawn on their minister, although they could not be ignorant that they had no funds for discharging them. This is a conduct totally inconsistent with that order which his majesty is forced to observe in his finances, and he has no doubt but, in future, Congress will most studiously avoid a repetition of it. He has nevertheless resolved to discharge the bills which became due last year, to the amount of one million of livres; and it is probable his majesty will be able to provide funds to the amount of three millions for the discharge of those which will become due in the course of the present year. The king's ministers have also procured for Mr. Franklin, whose zeal, wisdom and patriotism deserve their utmost confidence, the sums necessary for the purchase he is ordered to make. These expenses, joined to those occasioned by sending a fleet and army to this continent, far exceed what Congress had a right to expect from the friendship of their ally; and the Chevalier de la Luzerne is persuaded, that from this moment Congress will abstain from that ruinous measure of drawing bills of exchange without the previous knowledge and consent of his majesty's ministers. And as their attention is employed in what may be most for the convenience of the United States, they propose that Congress should furnish the fleet and army of his majesty which are in this country with the necessary provisions, and receive in payment bills on the treasury of France, which will be punctually discharged. As to the manner in which this arrangement may be made, the minister will have the honour of entering into a minute discussion with a committee which he begs Congress would be pleased to appoint to confer with him on the subject.

The above was referred to a committee of six, namely, Mr. [Joseph] Jones, Mr. S[amuel] Adams, Mr. [Thomas] Burke, Mr. [Thomas] McKean, Mr. [James] Madison and Mr. [John] Hanson.¹

And that the Board of Admiralty or Secretary of Marine forthwith prepare, and lay before the United States in Congress assembled, a draught of instructions for such ships or vessels as shall be commissioned for the purposes above mentioned.

And it is hereby farther ordained, that the destruction of papers, or the possession of double papers, by any captured vessel, shall be deemed and taken as just cause for the condemnation of such captured vessel; and that [when any prize, having been taken and possessed by the enemy twenty-four hours, shall be retaken from them, the whole of such re-captured prize shall be condemned for the use of the re-captors; but in cases where the prize shall have continued in the possession of the enemy less than twenty-four hours, it shall be restored to the original owner or owners, except one-third part of the true value thereof, which shall be allowed as salvage to the re-captors].¹

And it is hereby farther ordained, that the citizens and inhabitants of these United States be, and they hereby are, strictly enjoined and required to abstain from all intercourse, correspondence or dealings

And in order the more effectually to remove every colorable pretence for continuing such intercourse, it is hereby ordained that from and after the first day of November next, no benefit shall be claimed from, nor countenance or regard paid to any letters of passport or safe conduct, heretofore granted by the Congress of the United States, to any of the citizens or inhabitants thereof, or to any person or persons whatever, for the removal of their property or effects from places within the dominions or possessions of the said King of Great Britain:

The United States in Congress assembled proceeded to the election of a deputy purveyor of the hospital for the southern army, and, the ballots being taken and counted, Dr. Nathan Brownson was elected, he having been previously nominated by Mr. [Samuel] Adams.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1781

The Board of Admiralty, pursuant to the order of Congress of June 8, 1780, and directions afterwards given respecting public cloathing and military stores, delivered in a report, accompanied with a number of papers, which was read.

Pursuant to the Resolution of Congress of June the 8th 1780, and that of October 25th in the same year the Board of Admiralty beg leave to Report,

That as soon as they received the direction of Congress of the 25th of October they sought for the reasons of the Cloaths and military stores not being exported from France of such persons as had been in France, and had arrived here previous to that direction, and also from such others as afterwards came hither from that Kingdom, who it was thought were capable of furnishing any information on that subject, and from time to time reported the result of their inquiry, until the arrival of Capt. Jones. On his arrival the Board resumed that business, and in order to become acquainted with his conduct during his absence and to investigate the causes of the cloathing and military stores not being exported they thought proper to prepare and lay before him a number of Questions relative to these points, and to require his answer to them in writing, beginning with his departure from New Hampshire in the Ranger, the 1st Day of November 1777, and ending with his departure from France. In pursuance of this plan a number of questions were drawn up and presented. At the time they were presented to him, the Board conceiving that in the restrained mode of question and answer, he might not be able to communicate his sentiments so fully as he and they could wish, they desired him to subjoin to his answers all such matters as he should think would throw light on their inquiry.

The Questions (and answers) with a great number of letters handed by him to the Board, accompany this Report; such of the letters as appeared to relate more immediately to his answers are referred to in the margin thereof; the rest are arranged in Files, according to their number and dates, and some of them which regard particular subjects and transactions are in separate parcels, with labels, denoting their contents; These letters are put up in four bundles, the first marked A from No. 1 to 10, the second marked B from 11 to 20, the third marked C from 21 to 30, and the fourth marked D from 31 to 42 inclusive, a list of the packages and letters in each bundle is thereunto annexed.

The Board have read all those letters with as much attention as numberless applications and the urgency of Congress for a Report would allow, and upon the whole are fully satisfied that the cloathing and military stores procured in consequence of the application of the Honorable Congress to his most Christian Majesty not coming out in season, hath not been owing in any measure to a want of the closest attention to that business, either in the Minister Plenipotentiary of these States, or to Captain Jones, who have on the contrary made every application and used every effort, to accomplish that purpose, but that it was owing to Captain Landais' taking the Command of

It was the intention of Captain Jones to have bro't out a large quantity of stores in the Ariel, which he had borrowed of Government for that purpose, under the convoy of the Alliance, which also could have taken in a considerable quantity; but this plan was frustrated by the malconduct of Landais as before mentioned, for which, and other malconduct he was on the 6th Day of Jan^y. 1781. sentenced by a court martial to be broke, and rendered incapable of serving in the American Navy for the future.

His conduct previous to his reassuming the Command of the Alliance and during the cruize or expedition to the North Seas, was not brought before the court martial, because Captain Jones, who had exhibited charges against him, to the Admiralty Board was not present to support them, and to institute a prosecution against him, after a dismissal from the service, hath been thought improper.

After this short digression, the Board proceed to report that the plan for bringing out the cloathing &c. being frustrated in manner aforesaid, Captain Jones endeavoured to obtain from the minister of the marine of France an additional Vessel for that purpose, and this failing applied for a larger Ship than the Ariel, requesting several Gentlemen of distinguished character, to back his application, but neither the one or the other could be effected. Things being in this situation he sailed from France with the articles of stores and dispatches mentioned in his answers. Unable to inform the Board with certainty what persons purchased the cloathing &c and who were charged with the shipping of it, he referred them for information to M^r. Sam^l. Wharton, to whom the Board have written on this subject. Their letter marked A. with his answer marked B accompany this report.

From M^r. Wharton's answer, and other corroborating letters and information, it appears that no money was furnished by the Court of France to the Minister Plenipotentiary of these States, or his Banker to enable him to procure cloathing.

That the French Court gave a Commission for that purpose to its own agent Monsieur Le Ray de Chaumont, and he either received the money, or was authorized to draw upon the Treasury of France for payment thereof. That M^r. Jonathan Williams of Nantes was employed by him to buy it. That at L'Orient Mess^{rs} Goullade & Moylan are Monsieur Chaumont's agents for shipping the cloathing and military stores, and that they as well as M^r. Williams act wholly by orders from him.

Captain Jones was asked by the Board after he had given in his answers to their questions, whether he heard any thing respecting the hiring of a ship to bring out the cloathing &c. after his return in the Ariel to L'Orient. His answer was "after my return I heard of M^r Chaumont's hiring a ship called the Marquis de La Fayette for that purpose. I do not know when she would come out; she was at Bourdeaux when I sailed."

A quantity of public cloathing purchased by M^r John Ross, and not part of that procured in consequence of the application made by the Honorable Congress to his Most Christian Majesty, was with some private property shipped by him on board the Brigantine Luke, which sailed under convoy of the Ariel, and was forced back to France by the same storm, in which she was dismasted. This Brigantine sailed the second time about the last of October without convoy and was taken. The Ariel sailed the 18th of December after waiting ten or twelve days for the dispatches. How it came to pass that the public property was thus hazarded and lost when by detaining the Brigantine about a month she might have been convoyed by the Ariel, we leave to M^r Moylan the owner of said Brigantine to explain. It is not our business to criminate. It is our duty to Report facts. Captain Jones hath declared to the Board, that neither Goullade or Moylan ever spake to him respecting the Luke's sailing under convoy of the Ariel after her return to L'Orient.

With regard to the conduct of Captain Jones, the Board beg leave to report, that the views of the Marine Committee in sending Capt. Jones and his views in going in the Ranger to France were, that he might take the command of the Indian a Ship that was building in Amsterdam on a new construction under a contract made by the Commissioners of these States at Paris and with her in concert with the Ranger, annoy the trade and coasts of Great Britain. When he arrived at Nantes, the Commissioners sent for him to Paris; after remaining there some time he was informed, that they had assigned their property in the Ship Indian to the King of France.

Captain Jones returned to Nantes; plans and undertakes a secret expedition in the Ranger. His designs and success appear at large in his answer to the 2^d Question. He leaves the Ranger at the instance of the Court of France, to take the command of the Indian. He is disappointed and takes the command of the Bon Homme Richard, the property of the King, and of a squadron at the expence of the Crown of France under the Commission and flag of the United States of America. The Alliance was made part of the said squadron, and put under orders by D^r Franklin. This Squadron was at first committed to his discretion, and he had a variety of objects in view. His first, second, and last objects are pointed out in his answer to the 12th question. The orders which he received in Europe will best explain the objects of the Court of France, and of the American Minister at that Court.

His success in the expedition with the squadron from L'Orient round the West of Ireland, North of Scotland, and East of England to the Texel appeared in a particular account thereof transmitted by Captain Jones to the President of Congress, and is one of the papers herewith presented.

That ever since Captain Jones first became an officer in the Navy of these States, he hath shown an unremitting attention in planning and executing enterprizes calculated to promote the essential interest of our glorious cause. That in Europe, although in his expedition through the Irish Channel in the Ranger he did not fully accomplish his purpose yet he made the Enemy feel, that it is in the power of a small squadron under a brave and enterprising Commander to retaliate the conflagration of our defenceless Towns, and took the Drake, a Ship in number of Guns and Men superior to the Ranger which she was sent out to capture. That by his reputation and address, he obtained the Command of a Squadron under the Flag and Laws of these States, at the expence of our generous allies, and therewith captured the Serapis, and Scarboroughh, spreading universal alarm through the Island of Great Britain, and its dependencies. That in his expedition with that squadron, he made a number of prisoners sufficient to redeem all our fellow citizens in British Dungeons, and established a Cartel for their exchange.

That he hath made the Flag of America respectable among the Flags of other nations. That returning from Europe he brought with him the esteem of the greatest and best friends of America, and hath received from the illustrious Monarch of France, that reward of war-like virtue which his subjects obtain by a long series of faithful services or uncommon merit.

The Board are of opinion that the conduct of Capt: John Paul Jones merits particular attention, and some distinguishing mark of approbation from the United States in Congress assembled.

Signed by order of the Board

THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1781

A memorial of Captain Le Vacher de St. Marie was read:¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of War to take order for three months' pay, the resolution of the 4 January notwithstanding.

A letter, of 24, from Doctor W. Burnet, was read, signifying his acceptance of the office of chief physician and surgeon of the hospital.²

A report from the Board of Treasury on the letter of John Lawrence, treasurer to the State of Connecticut, was read; Whereupon.

TREASURY OFFICE, March 26th, 1781.

The Board of Treasury on the letter of John Lawrence, Treasurer to the State of Connecticut and late commissioner of the loan office in the said State, accompanied with a letter of the same date from his Excellency Governor Trumbull to them referred, beg leave to report,

Ordered, That the treasurer of the United States be directed by the Board of Treasury to draw an order on the said John Lawrence, treasurer aforesaid, in favour of Ephraim Blaine, commissary general of purchases, for the sum of one million of dollars, in part discharge of a warrant drawn in his favour by the President of Congress on the said Lawrence, as treasurer to the State aforesaid, for one million three hundred and twenty-nine thousand one hundred and fifty dollars, dated the 1st day of July last, which is to be substituted in place of a warrant to be returned and cancelled at the treasury, drawn by the President of Congress on the said J. Lawrence, as commissioner of the loan office in the State aforesaid, dated the 24th of January, 1780, in favour

On a farther report from the Board of Treasury on the letter, of 13 instant, from J. Pierce, paymaster general:

Ordered, That for the discharge of the pay and subsistence due to the main army on the estimate exhibited by the said J. Pierce, of the 11 December last, John Lawrence, treasurer to the State of Connecticut, be and he hereby is authorized and directed to pay to the order of the aforesaid John Pierce, paymaster general, eight hundred forty-four thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars, the residue of a warrant drawn on him by the President of Congress for eight hundred and sixty-four thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars, in favour of Colonel Palfrey, late paymaster general, assigned by him to Thomas Reed, deputy paymaster general, for the pay of the army, dated 17 April, 1780, and for which he hath given his promissory note on taking up the aforesaid warrant, as appears by his letter, of the 31 January last, to the Board of Treasury;

That the treasurer of the United States be directed by the Board of Treasury to draw an order on Henry Gardner, treasurer to the State of Massachusetts, in favour of John Pierce, paymaster general, for the sum of two million two hundred and eighty-one thousand nine hundred and forty-four dollars old emissions, payable out of the monies due on the quotas raised by the said State for the use of the United States, for which said sums, amounting to three millions one hundred and twenty-six thousand seven hundred and eighty dollars old emissions, the said paymaster general is to be accountable.

The board on the memorial of John Lloyd transmitted to Congress in his Letter of the 28th of February last, beg leave to report

That they have already reported at two several times upon the case of Mr Lloyd viz^t on the 23^d of March 1780 and on the 2^d of January 1781; to which they beg leave to refer: and they are of opinion

there is nothing contained in his last letter and memorial that should induce Congress to order payment in loan office certificates of the date he mentions.¹

On a farther report from the Board of Treasury on a letter from Messrs. Burrall and McCall, extra commissioners of accounts, dated Hartford, March 8, 1781:

Ordered, That a warrant issue on John Lawrence, treasurer for the State of Connecticut, in their favour for thirty thousand dollars each in bills of the old emissions, on account of their salary, and for which they are respectively to be accountable.

A letter from B. Bankson, one of the clerks in the office of the commissary of issues, were read, with sundry papers enclosed:

Ordered, That they be referred to the Board of War.

A petition of Frederick Bicking; and stock the Commissary General has on hand as can possibly be spared. The distress evidenced by this letter is but the beginning of the misfortunes which must inevitably fall both on the Main and Southern Armies for the want of Ordnance Stores of almost every description which are in the whole deficient tho' we have most of the Article of powder. Of Lead Flints and Cartridge paper there is an absolute want, and even the smallest supply would be of service to keep our affairs in this way from total stagnation. If four thousand dollars in Specie or the value of it in current money could be furnished immediately, in part of the general estimate, we should be enabled to buy about ten Tons of Lead and a small supply of Flints, Cartridge paper and thread. If Congress should think proper to be informed of the quantities of those articles or any others in the Ordnance Department on hand the Board will be happy to give the information at a moment's notice. We cannot add to the repeated representations we have made on the necessity of enabling the Commissary General of Military Stores to prepare the stores necessary for the Army and without which no operation can be undertaken. The estimates already before Congress sufficiently shew the nature and necessity of the articles wanted and the danger of their not being supplied and prepared.

If the sum now asked for is more than [can] be furnished, any sum that can be given shall be expended so as to produce as many of the articles as possible.

Ordered, That a warrant issue on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, for four thousand dollars of the new emission, in favour of the commissary general of military stores for the purchase of articles mentioned in the said report; and that this warrant be paid in preference to any others heretofore issued: ¹

Ordered, That a warrant issue on the treasurer of the United States for ~~twelve thousand nine hundred and thirty-three dollars~~ thirteen thousand four hundred and sixty-six dollars and two-thirds of a dollar new emission, in favour of the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania, being the amount of monies advanced at sundry times to Colonel S. That they have attentively considered the said letter, and have called upon Mr Morris for such further and particular explanations as appeared necessary. His letter to the Committee they have annexed to their report for the satisfaction and information of Congress.

On the whole matter committed to them they submit the following Resolutions:

That the Superintendant of Finance be, and he hereby is, authorised to remove from office or employment for incapacity, negligence, dishonesty or other misbehaviour all persons entrusted with and immediately employed in the expenditure of the public money, and also all such as are, or shall be, in his judgment unnecessary: provided that such power of removal from office shall be limited to the duration of the present war.

That he be authorised to exercise a like power with respect to those who are immediately entrusted with the issues or expenditure of public supplies, stores, or other property.

That he be authorised to exercise a like power with respect to those who are employed in stating, examining and passing the public Accounts; and all receivers of the Continental Revenues of the United States.

That the said Superintendant of Finance shall exercise the aforesaid powers so far forth only as any of the persons who may be affected by them, act in a civil capacity: and such Powers shall not extend to interfere with the rank or Commission of any Officer in the line of the Army.

That when any person is removed, as aforesaid, the Superintendent of Finance shall transmit to such authority, Board, Minister or Officer to whom it may belong to supply the vacancy, the name of any person so removed, and report to Congress the reasons for such removal.

That the Superintendent of Finance be authorised and directed, whenever he shall deem it expedient, to put in Arrest by order in Writing any of the persons herein before described as employed or entrusted with the expenditure or issues of public money or stores, who are, or shall be amenable to the law martial and who shall appear to him to have committed any waste, embezzlement or misapplication of the public money, stores or other property, and to give immediate notice of such arrest to the officer whose duty it may be to order a Court of Enquiry or Court-martial as the nature of the case may require: and such Officer is hereby directed to order proceedings on the said arrest in like manner as if the same had been ordered by a military Officer duly authorised.

That the foregoing powers shall not extend to those who are, or shall be, duly entrusted with money for secret services, they being accountable to Congress only, the Commander in Chief or such person or persons as they may respectively appoint for that purpose.¹

Ordered, That the report on the letter from Major General A. McDougall be taken into consideration to Morrow, and that on the letter from Mr. Morris on Saturday next.

The report of the Board of War on the representation of Captain John Lucas was taken into consideration; Whereupon,

AT A BOARD OF WAR March 20th 1781.

Gen^l. Cornell.

The Board have considered the reference with which they were honored by Congress on the memorial of Captain Lucas, and beg leave to observe, that it appears by the enclosed certificate (to which we beg the particular attention of Congress) that Captain Lucas has pay due him for a considerable time in the Continental bills, which is at this time of but little value, and no mode as yet settled for making good the depreciation to Officers, except by the States to which they belong; at the same time they must further observe, that Captain Lucas has received in the new Bills one hundred and forty eight dollars, which is only two dollars short of three months pay and subsistence. If from the foregoing state of facts, and the distressed situation of Georgia, in which line he is, and the utility of his going to the southern Army there should appear sufficient inducements for Congress to order any further sum advanced, it may be proper to resolve, Ordered, That the Board of War draw a warrant on the paymaster general, in favor of Captain John Lucas of the late Colonel White's regiment of the Georgia line, for three months' pay and subsistence equal to one hundred and fifty dollars of the new emission on account, to enable him to join the southern army.

N B The Board beg leave to observe that there is a number of Officers belonging to the Georgia line nearly in the same situation with Captain Lucas on account of pay scattered in the Country.¹

The delegates of Georgia laid before Congress sundry papers relative to the captivity of Sir James Wright, and the parole given by him, and the violation of that parole:

Ordered, That the same be referred to a committee of three:

The members, Mr. [George] Walton, Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum, Mr. [Thomas] Bee.

[A report from the Board of Treasury on the letter of Aaron Levy was read; Whereupon,

Resolved, That until the loan offices of South Carolina and Georgia be fixed, and public notice thereof given, agreeably to the resolution of Congress of the 3d of August last, the treasurer of the United States be empowered to issue loan office certificates in discharge of interest that is or shall be due on loan office certificates issued from either of the loan offices aforesaid, in the same manner and upon the same principles as certificates for interest are issued from other loan offices.

The Board of Treasury have considered the memorial and papers presented to Congress by Nathaniel Rochester in behalf of Colonel Thomas Hart and beg leave to report

That Colonel Thomas Hart's accounts ought to be settled in the southern department, where they were contracted, and paid out of the monies arising from the quotas of the Southern States.

The Board of Treasury, to whom was referred the petition of Isaac da Costa, report:

"That for the payment of the interest due on the Certificates said to have been taken out of the loan office of South Carolina, the Petitioner be referred to Michael Hillegas, in pursuance of the act of Congress of the 3d of August last;

That payment of the principal sums of the said Certificates in the present state of the finances cannot be made:"¹

Resolved, That the United States in Congress assembled agree to the said report.]²

The report from the Board of War, respecting the regiment of artificers, was taken into consideration; and, thereupon,

SIR.

The Board have been honored with a reference of Colonel Pickering's letter of the 24th inst and beg leave to report on that part of it which relates to the Artificer Regiment which in our opinion requires immediate determination as there are a number of Officers drawing pay and rations whose services are on all hands agreed to be unnecessary. As to the subjecting the Artificers totally to the orders of the Commanding Officer of Artillery it was a suggestion of Colonel Pickering's. The same difficulties as to hiring will exist in the Ordnance as are supposed in the Department of Quarter Master General, the regiment of Artillery Artificers (one company whereof was always with the rank in the field) being also about to be dissolved. The Officers now with the Artillery Artificers we believe to be very capable and therefore it may be proper to retain these in preference to those of the other regiments. Not being competent judges of this we wish the matter to be left open for the determination of the Commander in Chief who will consult, no doubt both the Q^r

Master Gen^l and the Commanding Officers of Artillery, and order the company to be employed, as well as officered, as shall be most expedient.

Resolved, That the regiment of artificers, commanded by Colonel Baldwin, be dissolved; and those of the non-commissioned officers and privates whose times of service are unexpired, and are now with the main army, be formed into one company, under such officers, and be employed in such way, as the Commander in Chief shall direct:

That the artificers with the southern army be also formed into one company, under a competent number of officers to be selected by the commanding general of that army:

That all officers of the regiment of artificers not retained by virtue of these resolutions, be no longer considered in the service of the United States.¹

WAR OFFICE March 23rd 1781

SIR,

The Board have received information from Carlisle that the greater part of the regiment of Artificers there are liable to the same dispute with respect to their enlistments as induced the discharge of great numbers of the Pennsylvania Line. Finding this precedent established, we have given orders for the discharge of all the Men under this predicament. This part of the regiment will be reduced to about fifty Men and we see no prospects of reuniting it nor is it perhaps eligible under present circumstances that it should be so. We therefore deem it proper that Congress be pleased to direct,

Resolved, That all the non-commissioned officers and men of the regiment of artillery artificers at Carlisle, whose times of service are unexpired, be formed into one or more company or companies, and the officers at that place, except Captains Wiley and Jordan, be no longer considered in the service of the United States.

The discharge of so many of the Men of this regiment will throw still greater obstacles in the way of procuring the Ordnance supplies than have heretofore existed and involves the greater necessity of the [Report of Committee on Letter from Charles Pettit A Q. M. G.]

The Committee Submit the following Report:

Your Committee report it as their opinion that no sufficient vouchers have been produced to authorize Warrants on the State Treasury of Virginia for the advances of that State to the late Quarter Master General's Department.

Nor have your committee any information or materials on which they can recommend the warrant requested by Col Finnie late Deputy Quarter Master General for 3,125,691 $\frac{7}{10}$ to discharge the debts due from his Department.²

FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1781

A letter, of this day, from J. Pierce, paymaster general, was read;³ Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. [John] Mathews, seconded by Mr. [Isaac] Motte,

That the honorable the house of assembly of Pennsylvania be requested to appoint a committee of their body to confer with a committee of Congress, on the recommendation of Congress to the several states to amend their laws, making the bills of credit, emitted under the authority of Congress, a legal tender. That a committee of three be now appointed to attend on the said proposed conference.

On the question to agree to this, the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [George] Clymer,

The Committee to whom was referred the Letter of Alexander M^cDougal dated the 9th of March 1781, beg leave to report,

That your committee, having Conferred with the said Alex: M^cDougal upon the subject of his Letter; and received his Explanation thereof more fully, are of opinion, that it would be unreasonable in Congress to desire this Acceptance of the Appointment of Secretary of the Marine, if by such Acceptance he may be deprived of his command in the army and forfeit the pay and future Emoluments annexed to his Rank; as he would thereby give up a better and more permanent Support for his Family; a circumstance, considering the losses he hath sustained and the Dependence of his Family upon him, very important in its consequences.

That your committee cannot determine as to the views of Congress in appointing the said Alex: M^cDougal to the Office of Secretary of the Marine, if it be thought that such an appointment is incompatible with his command in the army: and therefore your committee suppose that no such Incompatibility exists, and that the experience and ability of the said Alex: M^cDougal, in the present Situation of the Marine are essentially necessary in that Department. Whereupon, your committee are of opinion that the said Alex: M^cDougal ought to receive the full Emoluments of the Office so long as he preforms the duties. of the Secretary of the Marine.¹

A motion was made by Mr. [Thomas] Bee, seconded by Mr. [William] Sharpe:

That during the time Major General McDougall shall continue to act as Secretary of Marine, his pay and emoluments as an officer in the army shall cease; but he shall not thereby be deprived of rank or the privilege of returning to his command whenever Congress or the Commander in Chief shall think his services necessary in the field.

On motion of Mr. [Thomas] Burke, seconded by Mr. [Richard] Howly,

Resolved, That the United States in Congress assembled, have a due sense of the zeal of Major General Alexander McDougall, for the safety and honour of America, and applaud his magnanimity in declining to "retire from the toils and perils of the field in the present critical condition of the United States in general, and that of New York in particular:" that they are well convinced of his wishes and disposition to render to the public every service in his power; but as Major General McDougall, for good reasons, cannot detach himself from his command in the army, and as the duties of the office of Secretary of Marine, to which he has lately been elected by Congress, may interfere with the execution of military duty, the United States in Congress assembled do not therefore expect his acceptance of that office.

WAR OFFICE March 30 1781

SIR

The Board have considered the Memorial of G Bensell and B Bankson referred to them by Congress and beg leave to observe that it is the opinion of the Board the Clerks' salaries of five hundred dollars per annum Specie paid at the real value is fully adequate: the clerks in the War Office neither ask or expect any more. The Commissary General of Issues did make application to the Board that they would report a warrant in his favor, and it is as true they did refuse and they have no stronger reasons to offer in justification of their conduct than will appear from the Commissary General's abstract, and the order given him by the Board copies of which are enclosed to which we beg the particular attention of Congress.

The Board do not entertain the least doubt of the Memorialists being distressed for want of pay and suppose many others in the Department may complain on the same subject with an equal degree of justice.

If after considering the foregoing facts and enclosures, notwithstanding the Board see no reason for altering their former opinion, Congress should be of opinion that partial payments ought to be made, the Board will cheerfully acquiesce in any measure they may please to order.¹

The Board are requested by the hon. the Delegates of the State of Virginia to forward the Arms and Stores to that State belonging to them, that are now at this place, agreeable to an act of Congress of the 2nd October 1780. Upon which, we beg leave to observe that it is out of our power, unless the money is advanced to Colonel Miles deputy Quarter Master, agreeable to the enclosed estimate. It may be objected that the waggoners ought to be paid by the said State, to which they answer, they shall be paid in Virginia Money, which will not pass at this place, therefore they cannot be engaged on these terms, it hath also been proposed that they take Tobacco in Virginia for payment, which they have likewise objected, as they say they cannot bring back more than one quarter of their pay in that Article. Should Congress be of opinion, that the Board should carry the said resolution of the 2nd of October 1780 into execution, it may be proper to resolve, Ordered, That a warrant issue on the treasurer in favour of Colonel S. Miles, deputy quartermaster for the State of Pennsylvania, for the sum of nine hundred and ninety-five dollars new emissions, to enable him to transport to Virginia the stores now in this city belonging to that State, for which the said State is to be accountable.²

And, to enable the treasurer to discharge the said warrant, that the Board of Treasury report a warrant in his favour on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, for a like sum of nine hundred and ninety-five dollars new emission, this to be paid in preference of all other warrants not specially directed:

It gives us pain to find ourselves so often under the disagreeable necessity of troubling Congress on trifling matters but when it is considered that the four thousand dollars lately granted was to answer a purpose of the first importance to these United States, we flatter ourselves Congress will not think we trouble them without cause, more especially when they are informed the money cannot be obtained without allowing the interest which cannot be paid away on them terms. From the foregoing reasons it may appear proper to resolve,

Ordered, That Thomas Smith, commissioner aforesaid, pay the money ordered to J. Carlton without accounting the interest, and that the Board of War take order for the application of the money.¹

On application of the delegates for the State of Georgia:

Ordered, That a warrant issue in their favour on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office for the State of Pennsylvania, for five thousand dollars old emissions, to defray the expences of an express to them from the president and council of the said State, which is to be accountable.

SIR,

As we deem it our duty on all occasions to give Congress all the information in our power respecting the state of Supplies of Provisions, we enclose a copy of a letter we have received from Col. Stewart and should be happy if we could accompany it with returns from the State agents, but none have been transmitted tho' repeatedly called for except the one enclosed from Pennsylvania. We are clearly convinced that unless this and the State of Jersey fully supply their quotas of flour much distress will ensue, and if no more supplies of this article are sent for the ensuing Campaign than those which appear to have been furnished for the last the Army cannot possibly be kept together. There seems every disposition in the executive to forward the business but they complain of a total want of funds to purchase. No dependance can be placed on large supplies from New York as that State has been so distressed by the Ravages of the enemy.¹

WAR OFFICE March 22. 1781

SIR

The Board have considered the Memorial of Captain Bedkin, referred to them by Congress and beg leave to observe: that as early as the 26 January last the Board were apprised of Colonel Armands having given orders for enlisting Men on the same principles that Captain Bedkin has enlisted those mentioned in his Memorial, as will appear by the Board's letter to Colonel Armand, copy of which is enclosed; the letter was duly received, the spirit of which Colonel Armand transmitted to Captain Bedkin previous to his enlisting the men, as fully appears by the Colonel's letter shewed to us sometime last week by Captain Bedkin. The Board are at a loss to account for the Captains conduct in this affair: however when the foregoing as well as the State of the finances and pressing demands for money are taken into consideration, also the additional expence of mounting the Men, and that they cannot be cloathed and accoutred until Colonel Armand's return from France, it appears to the Board the Men had better be discharged that are enlisted and have not received their bounties. Should Congress be of the same opinion it may be proper to Resolve Ordered, That the memorial of Captain Bedkin which was read on the 21 of March last, so far as it respects the recruits, be referred to the Board of War to take order:

On that part of the Memorial that relates to the pay of Captain Bedkin's Troops, the Board beg leave to observe that they are no farther in arrears than the Army in general, that they are cantoned at Bristol and not on actual duty. But should Congress be of opinion that the hardships they suffer on account of their belonging to no particular State, and of course receive no extra supplies is a sufficient inducement to advance a Sum of Money on Account, it may be proper to Resolve

That the Board of War draw a warrant on the paymaster general in favour of Captain Bedkin, of Colonel Armand's legion, for two months' pay for himself and troop, amounting to five hundred and six dollars and two-thirds of a dollar, in bills of the new emission on account.

N B Previous to granting any Money on Reports from this Board, we think it our duty to inform Congress, that it will be absolutely necessary to advance the Quarter Master General some Money to enable him to equip the first division of the Pennsylvania Line, that they may begin their March from York Town on the first day of April which General St Clair informs is the time fixed.¹

The report of the committee, on the letter of 12 March, from Charles Pettit was taken into consideration; Whereupon,

The Committee to whom was referred the letter from Charles Pettit, Assistant Quarter Master General, dated the 12th day of March last, together with its enclosures, have agreed to propose the following Resolutions, to Wit,

1. That no interest be charged by the Treasurer, or any of the Loan Officers of the United States, on the issuing of the bills of credit emitted in pursuance of the Act of Congress of the 18th day of March 1780.

2. That the respective Loan Officers be provided with a machine or stamp, in which may be fixed, as follows "Int. paid March 18th 1781," or any other month or year, as the case may require: and that this impression be stamped on every of the aforesaid bills, that shall hereafter be received into, or now remains in any of their said Offices, at the time of issuing, or re-issuing the same.

3. That the Treasurer of the United States be furnished with a like machine or instrument, in which may be fixed any day, month, and year, and that all the aforesaid bills, which shall be paid into the public Treasury, shall before they are paid out be stamped with that impression underneath that made by the Loan Officer, or if no impression shall have been made then with such as ought to have been made by the Loan Officer, and afterwards underneath the same with the day, month and year only: and that no interest be allowed to the States in future; but from the date of the last impression

4. That the Treasury Board be directed to cause new bills to be printed of the like tenor and date with those emitted in pursuance of the Act of the 18th day of March 1780, excepting such parts thereof as in any manner relate to the payment of interest thereon, which are to be wholly omitted; and that the same be signed and numbered by the former signers of the aforesaid bills, or in case of their deaths, or refusal, by some other suitable persons to be appointed as by the aforesaid Act is directed; and that the quotas of said bills belonging to each State agreeable to the said Act shall be lodged in the Loan Office of each State, and by the Loan Officers exchanged and remitted in lieu of the former bills, as often as they shall come into the said offices; and that the said Loan Officers be directed to lodge sufficient quantities of the said new bills with the Treasurer of the United States, for the purpose of exchanging such of the former bills as may at any time come into his possession, and to be issued out instead thereof in all future payments of warrants or drafts on him. All which bills emitted in pursuance of the Act of the 18th day of March 1780, and exchanged as aforesaid, shall be sunk and destroyed in the same manner as other bills called out of circulation are directed to be destroyed, or in lieu of the whole except the first Resolve

That the Treasurer of the United States, and the several Loan Officers, be each furnished with a machine or instrument in which may be fixed, as follows "No interest to be paid or demanded on this bill," and that this impression be stamped or made on every of the aforesaid bills, that now remains in, or shall hereafter be received into any of their Offices, before the same shall be issued or re-issued; on which bills so stamped no interest shall be paid or allowed in any payment whatsoever.

That the Treasury Board be directed to cause the bills, which were directed to be emitted by the Act of the 18th day of March 1780 for the States of Delaware — to be printed, without any words or figures importing that any interest is to be paid thereon, any thing in the said Act to the contrary notwithstanding.¹

¹ This report, in the writing of Thomas McKean, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 19, V, folio 127. The indorsement says: "August 24, 1781, not to be acted upon."

The following report, undated, belongs to this month. It is in Charles Thomson's writing and the indorsement says: "Mr. [James] Duane, Mr. [Thomas] Bee, Mr. [Jesse] Root, Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, Mr. [Thomas] McKean," being, it is presumed, the committee to which it was referred. It is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 36, IV, folio 313:

By the act of Congress of the 18 March 1780 the new Bills are to bear an interest of 5 per cent which is to be paid annually at the several Loan offices in Silver or Gold or in Bills of exchange on France, and it is therein provided that the bills upon which interest is paid shall not be reissued but new bills provided for the purpose are to be issued in lieu thereof. Now as the Loan offices are unsupplied with specie or bills to discharge the interest and if they were as no new bills are prepared to be given in exchange it is evident that the United States in Congress assembled are not in condition to comply with that part of the act above mentioned. Some mode therefore must be devised to answer the purpose and prevent the clamours that may be raised on account of the non payment of the interest.

The act of the 16 instant provides that in discharge of the requisition made that day as well as those made by Congress on the 26 August 4 November and 15 January last the interest due on the bills emitted pursuant to the act of 18 March 1780, shall be

Resolved, That no interest be computed on the money emitted pursuant to the act of the 18 March, 1780, at the time of issuing the same from the loan offices, or when any officers of the United States shall make payments therewith for supplies, or in discharge of public debts.

The committee to whom was referred the motion of Mr. [Thomas] McKean relative to certificates, delivered in a report.

The committee to whom was referred the letter, of 30 March, from J. Pierce, delivered in a report.

computed thereon in favour of the State from whom such bills shall be received to the time assigned for discharging the several requisitions respectively.

In consequence of this it is to be presumed that the several States will allow their inhabitants in the payment of taxes to count the Interest then due on those bills ~~at the time of payment~~ and in that case the holders will have no cause of complaint.

But if these bills are again issued from the public Treasury without adding the interest or without noting thereon that the interest has been paid to a certain day, the person into whose hands they shall come and who shall pay them in taxes will charge and be allowed interest from the date of the bill and consequently the public will be charged and will pay double interest, and the next time the bill is paid in, treble and so on.

On the other hand if the public undertake to add the interest due on the bills to the value expressed therein it will occasion infinite trouble in counting and give great disgust to creditors and particularly to the Army, who in their small dealings and payments will certainly lose the interest and will therefore consider themselves as cheated or defrauded of their pay. Experience has already evinced the necessity of dropping the interest in payments made to the Army, and a late instance has proved that the waggons employed to carry stores to the southern Army could not be prevailed upon to allow the interest to be added to the bills.

In order therefore on the one hand to obviate discontents and give currency to the bills and on the other to prevent the public from sustaining too heavy a loss, it is proposed that the Com^{rs} of the Loan offices be provided with a stamp or machine in which may be fixed as follows "Int. paid March 1781" or any other month or year as the case may require and that every bill be stamped on its face with this impression before it is issued out of the office and that the treas^r of the United States be furnished with a like machine in which may be fixed any month and year and that all bills, which shall be paid into the public Treasury, shall before they are issued out be stamped with that impression underneath that made by the loan officer, or if no impression has been made then with such as ought to have been made by the loan officer and afterwards underneath with the month and year only and that the interest to be allowed to the States be counted from the date of the last impression. By this means, provided the impression is made just before issuing the money, the public will save the interest between the time of receiving the money from the time of receiving it from the states and the time of issuing it, which may compensate for any losses on broken interest.

Ordered, That two members be added to the committee on the letter, of 19th February, from Baron d'Arendt, in the room of Mr. [Alexander] McDougall and Mr. [Meriwether] Smith:

the captains of private armed vessels, was taken into consideration; and thereupon,

Be it ordained, and it is hereby ordained, by the United States in Congress assembled, that the following instructions be observed by the captains or commanders of private armed vessels commissioned by letters of marque or general reprisals, or otherwise, by the authority of the United States in Congress assembled:

I. You may by force of arms attack, subdue, and seize all ships, vessels and goods, belonging to the King or Crown of Great Britain, or to his subjects, or others inhabiting within any of the territories or possessions of the aforesaid King of Great Britain, on the high seas, or between high-water and low-water marks. And you may also annoy the enemy by all means in your power, by land as well as by water, taking care not to infringe or violate the laws of nations, or laws of neutrality.

II. You are to pay a sacred regard to the rights of neutral powers, and the usage and customs of civilized nations; and on no pretence whatever, presume to take or seize any ships or vessels belonging to the subjects of princes or powers in alliance with these United States; except they are employed in carrying contraband goods or soldiers to our enemies; and in such case you are to conform to the stipulations contained in the treaties subsisting between such princes or powers and these states: and you are not to capture, seize or plunder any ships or vessels of our enemies, being under the protection of neutral coasts, nations, or princes, under the pains and penalties expressed in a proclamation issued by the Congress of the United States, the 9th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight.

III. You shall permit all neutral vessels freely to navigate on the high seas, or coasts of America, except such as are employed in carrying contraband goods or soldiers to the enemies of these United States.

IV. You shall not seize or capture any effects belonging to the subjects of the belligerent powers on board neutral vessels, excepting contraband goods; and you are carefully to observe, that the term contraband is confined to those articles which are expressly declared to be such in the treaty of amity and commerce, of the sixth day of February, 1778, between these United States and his Most Christian Majesty, namely: arms, great guns, bombs, with their fuses and other things belonging to them; cannon-ball, gun-powder, matches, pikes, swords, lances, spears, halberts, mortars, petards, grenadoes, salt-petre, muskets, musket-ball, bucklers, helmets, breast-plates, coats of mail, and the like kind of arms proper for arming soldiers, musket-rests, belts, horses with their furniture, and all other warlike instruments whatever.

V. You shall bring all such ships and vessels as you shall seize or capture, with their guns, rigging, tackle, apparel and furniture, and ladings, to judgment in any of the courts of admiralty that now are or hereafter may be established in any of these United States, in any court authorized by his Most Christian Majesty, or any other power in alliance with these United States, to take cognizance of captures and seizures made by the private armed vessels of these states, and to judicially hear and determine thereon.

VI. You shall send the master or pilot and one or more principal person or persons of the company of every ship or vessel by you taken, in such ship or vessel, as soon after the capture as may be, to be by the judge or judges of such court as aforesaid examined upon oath, and make answer to such interrogatories as may be propounded, touching the interest or property of the ship or vessel and her lading; and at the same time you shall deliver or cause to be delivered to the judge or judges, all passes, sea briefs, charter parties, bills of lading, cockets, letters, and other documents and writings found on board, proving the said papers by the affidavit of yourself, or of some other person present at the capture, to be produced as they were received, without fraud, addition, subduction or embezzlement.

VII. You shall keep and preserve every ship or vessel and cargo by you taken, until they shall, by sentence of a court properly authorized, be adjudged lawful prize, or acquitted; not selling, spoiling, wasting or diminishing the same, or breaking the bulk thereof, nor suffering any such thing to be done.

VIII. If you or any of your officers or crew shall, in cold blood, kill or maim, or by torture or otherwise, cruelly, inhumanly, and contrary to common usage, and the practice of civilized nations in war, treat any person or persons surprized in the ship or vessel you shall take, the offender shall be severely punished.

IX. You shall, by all convenient opportunities, send to the Board of Admiralty, or Secretary of Marine, written accounts of the captures you shall make, with the number and names of the captives, and intelligence of what may occur, or be discovered, concerning the designs of the enemy, and the destinations, motions and operations of their fleets and armies.

X. One-third at least of your whole company shall be landmen.

XI. You shall not ransom or discharge any prisoners or captives, but you are to take the utmost care to bring them into port; and if from necessity you shall be obliged to dismiss any prisoners at sea, you shall, on your return from your cruize, make report thereof on oath to the judge of the admiralty of the State to which you belong, or in which you arrive, within twenty days after your arrival, with your reasons for such dismissal; and you are to deliver, at your expense or at the expense of your owners, the prisoners you shall bring into port, to a commissary of prisoners nearest the place of their landing, or into the nearest county goal.

XII. You shall observe all such further instructions as shall hereafter be given by the United States in Congress assembled, when you shall have notice thereof.

XIII. If you shall do any thing contrary to these instructions, or to others hereafter to be given, or willingly suffer such thing to be done, you shall not only forfeit your commission, and be liable to an action for breach of the condition of your bond, but be responsible to the party grieved for damages sustained by such malversation.

The Committee to whom were referred instructions for the masters of letters of marque &c. beg liberty to report, that altho' said instructions are very imperfect in many particulars, yet they are as extensive as the ordinances already existing, respecting the Marine, and as new instructions are immediately necessary for carrying into execution the Ordinance of the of March last, the Committee are of opinion that said instructions be adopted as they are. The Committee further report the following resolution:

The United States in Congress assembled, having received intelligence that an embarkation of a body of troops is in forwardness at New York, the object of which is the taking possession of the neck of land lying between the head of Chesapeake bay and the river Delaware, whereby all the stores and provisions on the peninsula may fall into the hands of the Enemy unless immediately removed:

WAR OFFICE, April 8th 1781

SIR,

The Board have been honored with a communication of the intelligence from General Foreman indicating a design in the Enemy to possess themselves of the Peninsula between the Delaware and Chesapeake Bays for the purpose no doubt among others of collecting forage and provisions with which that country abounds and which from their being capable of becoming masters of the waters as well as with a small force holding possession of the Isthmus, we conceive will easily fall into the Enemy's hands. Congress will know the difficulties we shall experience in collecting a sufficient quantity of provisions for an army which will we presume be thought necessary to keep the Enemy at least in check and prevent their farther progress. It is well known that the public purchasers have obtained little flour or meat, and from the want of money but small quantities of salted provisions could be put up the last autumn. Yet, it is equally notorious that large quantities of flour and forage are collected in the peninsula at sundry places by private people and great numbers of cattle were fatted there, and these have been preserved in good order by the uncommon mildness of the winter, which put it in the power of the farmers and graziers to keep their cattle with little assistance from grain or short fodder, the herbage on their meadows having been abundant through the whole season. Not a few of the inhabitants of the Peninsula are known to be disaffected, and probably the cattle and forage these are possessed of are designedly kept for the enemy, as we know there was a similar plan in the lower parts of Pennsylvania, and in many parts of this Peninsula when General Howe landed at the Head of Elk. But if this was not the case we presume it both prudent and necessary that the means of subsistence should be kept out of the Enemy's hands, and transferred to our own troops. We therefore beg leave to submit to Congress the propriety of collecting all the provisions and forage in the country which will probably be exposed to the ravages of the Enemy, and as there is a body of troops now in the neighborhood we conceive they should be made use of upon the occasion, and that their commanding officer should be directed to send out parties and collect all cattle flour and forage which might otherwise fall into the Enemy's hands.

Should they not be wanted they may be returned to the owners; but if they should become necessary it will be a matter of hopeless regret that from any motives of delicacy they have fallen into the Enemy's hands, and then too it will be too late to take measures for obtaining them.

We therefore beg leave to report

That the Board of War be and they are hereby directed to take ~~order~~ effectual measures for the removal of all public stores and also of all beef cattle provisions and forage collected or stored, from the Peninsula between the Delaware and Chesapeak Bays and on the Jersey shore adjacent to the Delaware which may probably fall into the hand of the Enemy on an invasion. That the said cattle provisions and forage be transported to places of security and valued ~~under the direction of the commissary or~~ by proper persons, and certificates given by the Commissary General of purchases to the owners thereof specifying quantity, species and value.

That it be recommended to the Executives of N. Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia to give every assistance in their power to the officers appointed to ~~collect~~ secure the said provisions and forage in the Peninsula and that the said Executives be assured that Congress will take measures for making Satisfaction to the Proprietors for all Provisions and Forage coming to the use of the Troops, and that as nothing but the necessity of the case induces them to direct this measure, all the articles not wanted for the Troops shall be returned to the Owners or delivered to the order of the said Executives respectively.

P. S. We take the freedom to mention that if this measure is adopted secrecy and dispatch are necessary.¹

Ordered, That the Board of War take immediate measures for the removal of the public stores within the said peninsula; and that it be and hereby is recommended to the Executives of the States of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia to take the like measures with respect to all the provisions and forage belonging to the said States respectively, or to the citizens thereof, which will not be necessary for the consumption of the inhabitants.²

The Committee to whom was referred the Report of the Board of War, and the Letter from the Committee of the assembly of the State of Pennsylvania take leave to Report,

That they have conferred with a Committee of the assembly aforesaid and find that no assistance is to be expected from them to enable Congress to comply with the report of the Board of War.

Your Committee further report, that the Committee of the assembly further state and urge the exhausted state of the Treasury, whereby they are rendered unable to comply with their engagements to the troops of their line previous to their marching to the southward, or to procure the supplies of flour wanted for the subsistence of the Army—and that in the course of three weeks they will be able to replace the sum asked for.

Whereupon your Committee submit the following Resolution:—That the Committee of Congress be directed to inform the Committee of the Assembly of Pennsylvania,

That the glorious cause we are engaged in, is the cause of the particular States as well as of the United States in Congress assembled, and that the means of effectually supporting it, must be derived from the particular States. That Congress have seasonably called upon them for the same, and by reason of an unhappy deficiency in the supplies asked for, Congress is unable to comply with the request of Pennsylvania, without deranging their system of finance, and giving general disgust to the other States. Yet Congress considers the marching of the Troops of the Pennsylvania line with all dispatch, and the procuring flour for the Army cannot be dispensed with; nor can the United States in Congress assembled consider themselves answerable for consequences which they have not had it in their power to prevent or remedy.

That after examining the Contents of the Articles and the deductions made by the Board at the foot of the Account, and having conferred with the Board fully on the subject, they find no reason to recede from their former report: the Committee cannot however omit taking notice, that the returns of rent and stores on hand in the said Department is by no means so regular or exact as they ought to be: notwithstanding your Committee have seen a copy of an order issued by the Board of War to the head of the Quartermasters Department so early as the month of November last whereupon your Committee report the following Resolution:

Ordered, That the Board of Treasury report immediately the ways and means for furnishing the Board of War with the sum of two hundred and eighty-five thousand eight hundred and sixteen dollars and nineteen ninetieths in bills of the new emission or other money equivalent, in addition to the five hundred thousand dollars which, on the 22nd March last, they were ordered to report the ways and means of furnishing to the said Board, to enable the said Board to procure the articles necessary in the quartermaster general department, according to an estimate presented by the Board.¹

United States at the Court of Versailles, and the memorial from the minister plenipotentiary of his Most Christian Majesty, of 24 March, was taken into consideration; and, Thereupon,

The Committee to whom were referred the letters of the 2^d and 3^d of December last from the Minister Plenipotentiary from these United States at the Court of Versailles and the Memorial from the Minister Plenipotentiary of his Most Christian Majesty to these United States of the 24th of March 1781.

Report,

That upon the conference with his Most Christian Majesty's Minister Plenipotentiary, it appeared to your Committee that the Court of Versailles is at all times attentive to the situation and circumstances of these United States and extremely disposed to give every assistance which the peculiar affairs of France will admit of for extricating the affairs of these States from their difficulties and embarrassments. That his Most Christian Majesty will not only liberally perform all his engagements but also will give very powerful succours of Sea and Land forces for the operations of the ensuing Campaign. That the arrival of very considerable reinforcements of troops and ships of war may be seasonably expected; but that the disposition state and arrangement of his Finances will not admit of the supplying funds for the payment of bills of exchange drawn on the Minister of these States at his Court beyond the provisions already made which amount to one million of livres tournois for the last, and three millions of the same livres for the present year. Being however desirous of assisting these United States in measures for establishing their Finances, and for carrying their operations on with vigor and effect, his Majesty is willing that his Ministers make such arrangements respecting the supplying of his forces in America as may admit of the constituting a fund in France for the purposes of Congress, of the monies destined for the paying for such supplies, and therefore if Congress can give assurances that such supplies will be duly furnished, at the prices for which they could be purchased in specie payment shall be made by his Majesty's Paymaster in America in Bills on the Treasury of France, which shall be punctually discharged. That as this Proposition is intended for the convenience and advantage of these United States if Congress deem it inexpedient his Majesty does not wish them to adopt it; But if they deem it expedient it will be necessary that they take measures for furnishing supplies of provisions for 12 thousand land and as many Sea forces at the least.

Besides this general subject his Most Christian Majesty's Minister communicated to your Committee that the Minister of Finance in France had obtained from the Minister of these United States a letter of credit on Congress for supplies to the amount of four hundred thousand dollars, which your Committee suppose to be the same mentioned in the letters from D^r Franklin referred to them and which appears to have been in consideration for funds to enable him to discharge the bills drawn on him by Congress.

These last supplies your Committee are of opinion ought to be furnished at all events, as well because the faith and honor of Congress requires that they should perform engagements made by their Minister for procuring funds to enable him to pay their bills and support their credit as because it is probable that the supplies may be relied on for the subsistence of the succors which his Majesty has destined for the ensuing campaign, and your Committee know of no resources in the power of Congress from whence the said supplies can be furnished except from the arrears of the specific supplies required from the States by the Resolutions of the 25th of February 1780.

Your Committee cannot discover that any powers or resources at present vested in Congress can enable them to give assurances to be relied on for supplying the provisions which are the object of the first proposition communicated to them, and therefore are of opinion that Congress ought not to enter into such engagement.

Upon the whole they submit the following Resolutions,

That the Committee be instructed to inform the Minister Plenipotentiary of his Most Christian Majesty that Congress have a just and high sense of his Majesty's friendly and liberal attention to the affairs of these United States.

That the candor and sincerity becoming honest Magistrates and faithful Allies forbid their holding up assurances of the certainty of which they have not the fullest conviction.

That the situation of the affairs of these United States does not at present afford them such assurances for furnishing supplies of provisions for the forces which his Majesty has destined for the succour of these States, to be paid for in bills drawn by his Majesty's Paymaster on the Treasury of France, and they therefore cannot avail themselves of his Majesty's good intentions for enabling them to establish such a fund in aid of their finances.

Resolved, That the United States in Congress assembled will take every measure in their power for furnishing the supplies to the amount of four hundred thousand dollars for which their minister has ~~given a letter of credit on them~~ ~~for~~ entered into engagements, and will give immediate orders for forming magazines of flour, biscuit, Indian corn, and flesh provisions to be in readiness for the officers of his Most Christian Majesty:¹

Ordered, That the Board of War cause Magazines of flower, Indian corn and flesh, to be formed of the arrears of the specific supplies, required by the Resolution of the 25th of February 1780 and cause hundred weight of biscuit to be prepared from the proper materials afforded by the said specific supplies. And they lay before Congress as soon as may be a return of the supplies aforesaid.²

Ordered, That the remainder of the report be re-committed.

Ordered, That a warrant issue on Thomas Smith, commissioner of the continental loan office, in favour of Cha. Thomson, Sec^y, for three hundred dollars new emission, on account of money due to him.

The report of the committee on rules for conducting business was taken into consideration, and some progress being made therein;

those States have greatly depreciated, which has occasioned their being brought into other States where this depreciation causes less effect, which circumstances together with the vast quantities of local currency which some of the States have emitted for their own use, and the want of an adequate taxation, added to the unavoidable causes mentioned in the said act of the 18th of March have so operated as to reduce every public measure to the greatest distress, embarrassment and dishonor. And not only so but the sacred principles of commutative justice are scandalously and with impunity violated by the vicious and profligate part of the community. Public virtue and industry are under heavy discouragement and the means necessary for the public safety are not provided for.

The Congress of the United States in Congress assembled being deeply impressed with the consideration of these public distresses, and being desirous to remove as far as it shall be in their power the pernicious causes operating to produce a fluctuation in the value of the public currency which while it shall continue will be not only attended with a greater expence and disadvantage to these States than to raise the sums by taxation sufficient to support the public expenditure. But will continue that derangement of our public finances which mark our present distresses. Congress being also impressed that the means necessary for the support of the war ought to be immediately provided for, have therefore thought fit to come to the following resolutions as being both just and necessary:

Resolved, That the several States who have not already collected the Bills of Public credit emitted by the United States previous to their act of March 1780, accelerate the collection thereof as fast as possible by taxes, loans or by exchanging the same for the new Bills ordered to be emitted by Congress by their act of the said 18 of March according to the Rate of Exchange in specie, which has or shall be fixed by the respective States. And that none of the said Bills emitted previous to the said 18 of March shall be current or redeemable after the day of next except that the possessors of such Bills shall be in the power of the Enemy or shall not be within the United States one month before the said day of next or shall belong to one of the United States as shall be so far in the power of the Enemy that the Legislature or Executive power of the State shall be prevented thereby from exercising their respective authorities. In which cases and upon reasonable proof thereof being made to the Executive of any State who shall not have collected to be destroyed the Quota of Bills assigned to such State shall have an order from the Executive thereof upon their State Treasurer to exchange the same according to the rate ascertained by such State.

And whereas notwithstanding the provisions made for cancelling said old Bills of public credit, a considerable quantity of them will be unprovided for, owing as before mentioned to the events of the war.

Resolved, therefore, That Congress will make proper provision that the possessors of the said old Bills to the amount of what shall be assigned as the Quota of such States as shall be so far in the power of the Enemy as to prevent their compliance with the foregoing Resolution shall be entitled to and have the same equity done to such possessors as shall be agreeable to the foregoing Resolution.

And whereas it is indispensably necessary for the support of public credit that whatever can affect the same shall be under the direction of one superintending power who shall be able to control and restrain whatever may be injurious thereto. And in this view and to strengthen and confirm the union of these States Congress recommended to the several States that they did not on any pretence issue Bills of public credit for their own particular use otherwise than according to the recommendations of Congress.

Resolved, therefore, That unless the particular States shall discontinue to emit bills of public credit except by a recommendation of the United States in Congress assembled, and shall not as soon as possible cancel the Bills of public credit which they have otherwise emitted, The Representatives of these States will not consider themselves as responsible for that Injustice, Distress and Disorder, which must be the certain consequence of a practice of this nature.¹

Another, on the same subject, was made by Mr. [Meriwether] Smith, seconded by Mr. [William] Sharpe:

SCHEME OF FINANCE.

1°. Let Congress now assume to itself the powers of the Confederation and make that act in all cases the rule of its conduct.

2°. Let Congress avail itself of the necessity which induced it to emit Bills of Credit prior to the ratification of that act, when it had not the power of making taxes productive for the support of the credit of the Bills, or for the redemption of them; and also of the uncertainty of the time of redemption; as a reason for extending the time of final redemption to suit the conveniency or ability of the United States.

3°. Let Congress apportion the sum of those Emissions among the States according to their respective Quotas and ordain that there shall be paid annually in specie or those identical Bills (dollar for dollar) by each State a portion of the respective quotas until the final redemption, which portion of the Bills when received shall be destroyed by burning them; leaving it optional in the respective States at the same time, to procure and pay into the Treasury of the United States their full Quotas of such Bills, at such time and in such manner as they may think best, within the time of final redemption, providing also that Congress will pay specie for the outstanding Bills when demanded after the expiration of the time of redemption and charge the same to the delinquent State or States.

4°. Let Congress, in order to comply with the present demands for money issue $\frac{4}{10}$ ^{ths} of the Bills provided by the Resolutions of the 18th of March 1780, upon the funds established by each State, making the same a general currency by the powers of the Confederation pledging the United States as a counter security for punctual redemption. If any of the said Bills have been issued by the States, over and above the $\frac{4}{10}$ ^{ths} let it be considered as a State Emission and redeemed accordingly. Let every thing contained in the said Resolutions except what relates to the $\frac{4}{10}$ ^{ths} be repealed. Let the $\frac{4}{10}$ ^{ths} issue with a reduction of interest according to the time of issuing compared with the date of the Bills; and let the respective States be called upon to pay into the Continental Treasury their respective quotas of the $\frac{4}{10}$ ^{ths} either in specie or the identical Bills (dollar for dollar) within the space of one year from the time of issuing to save the payment of interest by destroying them; by this means the funds created by the acts of the respective Legislatures may be abolished, and the States thereby enabled to create new funds for the redemption of other money to be emitted by Congress.

5°. Let Congress upon further emergencies, emit Bills of Credit redeemable at the end of 4 or 6 years. Let each State be called upon to pay a portion of its quota of such Bills either in specie or the identical Bills, (dollar for dollar) annually in order to redeem them.

6°. Let Congress pursue this last principle in subsequent emissions, extending the time of final redemption according to the ability of the States to pay additional annual Taxes, having regard also to any depreciation which may arise from the superabundance of the circulating medium; which excess may always be restrained by the application of Taxes, payable in specie or the identical Bills, dollar for dollar.

7°. Let each State pass acts establishing a fund for the payment of their Quotas aforesaid pointing out the manner in which it will be productive annually; let these be transmitted to Congress and deposited in the Treasury office of the United States for the satisfaction of the public.

8°. In order to establish one general currency and to prevent the loss of credit which may fall upon the Emissions of Congress, by the deficiency of any State arising from the appropriation of its funds to the redemption of State Emissions, let a memorial be sent to the respective States representing the bad tendency of their emissions, and proposing at the same time to lend to their respective exigencies Bills emitted by Congress in lieu thereof.

9°. Let the respective States be called upon to pay punctually their respective Quotas according to the ordinances of Congress fixing the annual payments, and in case of any deficiency, without sufficient reason assigned and approved; let Congress remonstrate to the State deficient, against its conduct and demand full payment of arrears at a day certain; and if this shall not be productive of the money, let a prohibition issue against the commerce of such delinquent State until full payment be made.

10°. Let Congress call on the States for a revenue by duties &c on trade, payable in specie only to be deposited in the Treasury, and there to remain unappropriated (except for peculiar exigencies of the States) until the final redemption of the Bills emitted. Let a Receiver General be appointed in each State, to collect and pay these duties into the Treasury of the United States annually.

11°. Let a day certain be assigned for the settlement of public accounts annually, let the persons concerned settle with the Auditor General and pay their balances if any into the Treasury; let the Auditors certify to the Treasurer the delinquencies; let the Treasurer order prosecutions by an advocate in the respective States. Let judgments issue against delinquents upon motion, on ten days' notice.

Finally, Let Congress adopt and pursue this plan and be great and happy.

M. SMITH.

Note, with respect to old Emissions, Congress may allow 20 years or more for the redemption of it. The faith of the United States pledged by Congress upon issuing those Bills will not be violated by Congress. The States may avail themselves of the Depreciation by purchase or by the payment of the Bills in taxes, in value equivalent to specie. If the States will do neither the Bills will circulate and be payable in taxes until finally redeemed thereby. Some who have lost by depreciation will have an opportunity of recovering their losses, and those who have gained by it will keep what they can. Some will make fortunes; none in future can be injured materially.

If these principles be adopted, ordinances may be directed to be prepared upon the resolutions agreed to.

Let Commissioners be appointed to liquidate the debts due from the United States by certificates according to their real value in specie, fixing the same by a scale of depreciation, and let Certificates issue for the same redeemable at the end of years, bearing interest annually to be paid. Let these be considered as Bank stock, transferable only at the Bank or Treasury in some established form. Let funds be created for payment of this interest annually and for making provision for the principal at the day of redemption.¹

WAR OFFICE April 7 1781

SIR,

The Board have considered the letters from the Commander in Chief and the Pay Master General respecting the extra Ration allowed to Officers to be drawn in kind. If the whole of the Ration was drawn in kind and perfect in every article and the Officers' pay was regularly given them, there might be strong reason in charging them with the extra ration. But as neither of these cases can happen under our present situation we agree with the Commander in Chief that the extra ration should be considered as a gratuity, subject nevertheless to the future order of Congress. It will therefore be proper to authorize the Pay Master General to settle with the Officers independent of the extra Ration and perhaps the best way of doing it will be to refer the matter to the Board to take order without making it an Act of Congress.

We therefore beg leave to report

Ordered, That the letter, of 3, from J. Pierce, paymaster general, relative to the extra ration allowed to the officers of the army to be drawn in kind, be referred to the Board of War to take order.

As to the pay of the new levies or six or nine Months Men the Board have a considerable time ago, reported thereon to Congress, that it should be recommended to the States in which they were raised to pay them and charge the amount to the United States.¹

SIR

The Board have considered the memorial of Col. Febiger referred to them by Congress and beg leave to observe that the delay he complains of, did not arise altogether from a want of knowledge in what manner to report his case. We were sensible if warrants were reported in his favor they could not be immediately paid and we were further informed by the Colonel that if all this was done, he was not ready to leave the City immediately. But to return to the point. The Board are of opinion that upon every principle the Colonel is entitled to as large an allowance as D^r Skinner was, and if we judge from real service, we must say, much more; but there will be this difference, the Colonel has received one ration and forage for two horses p^r day, which the Doctor did not. The Colonel's account being stated as follows; and the ballance granted will put them both nearly on a footing, without any distinction of service.

The time on command from the 2 nd day of November 1780 to the 1 st of March 1781 (when the Resolution allowing 3 dollars p ^r day was repealed) is 119 days at 3 dollars	dollars per day	357
To expences in joining his Regiment	50
	— 407
Contra C ^t
By one ration p ^r day for four months at 5 dollars p ^r Month	20
By forage for two horses for the above time at 2/6 p ^r day	37
	— 57
Ballance due	350

Should Congress agree in opinion with the Board it may be proper to Resolve

That a warrant issue on _____ in favor of Col. Febiger for three hundred and fifty dollars of the new Emission in full of his expences, while on command in the City of Philadelphia by order of Major General Greene, and in returning to join his regiment.

Ordered, That the Board of War draw a warrant on the paymaster general in favor of Colonel Febiger, for three months' pay and subsistence equal to three hundred dollars of the new emission, for which he is to be accountable;

Should Congress be of opinion that the repeal of the resolution respecting allowances to Officers on command should only operate on commands on which Officers were sent after that repeal and cannot affect those Commands which were not closed previous to the repeal, and also that no deductions should be made for the articles of forage and provisions, they will then please to order,

That another warrant issue on the commissioner of the loan office for the State of Virginia, in favour of the said Colonel Febiger, for four hundred and eighty-five dollars in bills of the new emission, for his expences on command.¹

The Board have considered the Memorial of Major Devoux referred to them by Congress, and beg leave to observe, that by the Act of Congress of the 8th day of January 1780, pay was allowed for all horses killed in action, and by their Act of the 29th day of November last, pay is allowed for horses w. unded in Action, provided they are delivered to the Q. Master. By the Major's certificate it does not appear to the Board, his cases come under either of the aforementioned resolutions, as it is expressly said, he lost him on a retreat. As to that part of his Memorial that respects his pay, the Board can only say the Major appears to them, to have been serving in no other capacity than that of a volunteer, and while they applaud his zeal they cannot report any pay due to him, as they are convinced Major General Gates had two aids regularly appointed at the same time; nevertheless should Congress be of opinion, that a gratuity ought to be made him, in that case, it may be proper to resolve

SIR

We have the honor to lay before Congress the enclosed papers for their consideration on the subject of the proposed Alterations in the Systems of the Provision Departments. The whole matter is so clearly stated in these papers, that it is unnecessary for us to enlarge thereupon.

Should Congress be of opinion that the Duties of the Quarter Master General are so great as not to admit of ~~any further burthen~~ the whole being thrown upon him, we conceive that it will very little interfere with the business of his department if it was directed

That the Deputy or Assistant Quarter Masters at any fixed Posts shall without any additional Salary do the duty of Commissaries of Prisoners whenever there is a Necessity therefor by the arrival of Prisoners at their Posts.

² The portion in brackets was entered in the Journal by George Bond.

³ A letter of April 7 from the Board of War, relative to the transportation of General Lafayette's detachment, was read, as the indorsement indicates. It is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 148, I, folio 353.

That in all business relating to Prisoners they shall take the Direction of the Commissary General of Prisoners to whom and to the Board of War monthly returns of all prisoners under their care shall be duly transmitted. That all Commissaries of Prisoners at any fixed posts be and they are hereby discharged.

That in future the office of Assistant Quarter Master General be abolished and the Quarter Master General shall himself examine or direct his deputy at the place where Congress shall sit to receive and examine all Estimates and applications for Monies required for the use of the Department, previous to their being laid before the Board of War for their Approbation and report to Congress.

P. S. Should Congress be of opinion that the Commissary General of Purchases is unnecessary and do not choose to adopt the plan on the extensive scale it may be proper to Resolve

That the Office of Commissary General of Purchases be abolished and the duties prescribed in the Regulations for that Department devolve on and be executed by the Commissary General of Issues.¹

Ordered, That it be referred to a committee of three:

The committee ||consisting of Mr. Varnum, Mr. Houston, and Mr. Mathews||, to whom was referred the motion of Mr. [James Mitchell] Varnum, delivered in a report; Whereupon,

The United States in Congress assembled, having taken into consideration the report of the Board of Admiralty of the 28 March last, respecting the conduct of John Paul Jones, Esq. captain in the navy, do Resolve, That the thanks of the United States in Congress assembled, be given to Captain John Paul Jones, for the zeal, prudence, and intrepidity, with which he hath supported the honor of the American flag; for his bold and successful enterprises to redeem from captivity the citizens of these states, who had fallen under the power of the enemy; and in general for the good conduct and eminent services by which he has added lustre to his character and to the American arms.

That the thanks of the United States in Congress assembled, be also given to the officers and men who have faithfully

That a medal of Gold emblematical of the victory obtained over the British ship of war the Scrapis be presented to Captain John Paul Jones, and that the Board of Admiralty take order therein.¹

On motion of Mr. [Abraham] Clark, seconded by Mr. [John] Sullivan,

Resolved, That the commissioners of the continental loan offices in the several states be, and they are hereby, directed to exchange with the treasurers of their respective States, all such bills of credit of the old emissions as now are or may come into their hands, by the sale of bills of exchange or on loan for bills of credit of the new emissions issued in the same State, in order that the said bills of the old emissions may be drawn out of circulation as soon as possible.

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

SIR

The Board have considered the reference of the Memorial of Major Tudor and deem his account just. There are great numbers of officers in his situation having old recruiting accounts and advances made by them to settle. If Congress deem it proper that these accounts should be paid at this time they will direct it to be done, but probably the best method will be, as the finances will not admit of payment of the whole, to direct the Auditor of the army to settle the accounts according to the Table of Depretiation and give certificates of such settlements which will entitle the Officers possessing them to payment when the public are enabled to make it. If this should be agreeable to the opinion of Congress, it will be proper to resolve,

Ordered, That the auditors of the army settle all accounts for monies heretofore advanced by officers out of their private funds for their regiments or companies, and which are now

A motion was made by Mr. [Samuel] Adams, seconded by Mr. [Theodorick] Bland,

That the Board of Admiralty be directed to enquire into and report to Congress, the cause of the detention of the prize-money due to the seamen in the service of the United States in Europe and America.

TREASURY OFFICE April 12th 1781

The Board of Treasury, to whom was referred on the 7th inst a letter from Brigadier General Morgan dated the 24th ultimo requesting payment for a quantity of corn furnished Col Archibald Steel late D^r quarter master general to the Southward as appears by his Certificates therein enclosed at the request of General Gates, have considered the same, and are of opinion that as the General furnished the Corn for the public service at a time when public credit rendered it difficult to procure supplies of that kind for the service he ought to receive immediate payment for the same: and Col^o Pettit having applied to the Board for the sum of 96,408 dollars Virginia paper money in the hands of the Managers of the United States Lottery for the use of the quarter masters department, to be applied towards the payment of old debts due in the State of Virginia or, on current business: The Board are of opinion, that as this sum will be more than sufficient to discharge in full Gen^l Morgan's demand, the residue may be applied to the most pressing purposes of the department, and therefore submit the following Resolution:

Resolved, That a warrant issue on the Managers of the United States Lottery in favor of Charles Pettit assistant quarter master general on account of Major General Greene late quarter master general for ninety six thousand four hundred and eight dollars Virginia paper money, forty-seven thousand seven hundred dollars of which he is to apply to the payment of Brigadier General Morgan's demand for the corn furnished Col Archibald Steel late D^r Q^r Master Gen^l to the Southward: and the residue to be applied to the most pressing purposes of the department, in the State of Virginia, at the discession of the assistant quarter master, for which sum of ninety six thousand four hundred and eight dollars the said Major General Greene late quarter master general is to be accountable.¹

That the certificates issued by the Commissary and Quarter Master General under the authority of Congress, to be paid in specie or other money equivalent shall be received from the States within which the same shall have been issued, towards the discharge of their respective quotas called for by the requisition of Congress of the of March last, computing the Interest due thereon to the time assigned for discharging such quota: and that certificates issued to creditors of these United States by Commissaries and Quarter Masters, previous to issuing the certificates above mentioned shall also be received towards the discharge of such quotas after the same shall be reduced to the specie value of the Articles for which the same were given, agreeable to and in the manner prescribed by a resolution of Congress of the 26th of August last, and in all cases where the real value of the Articles for which such certificates were granted, cannot be ascertained by the rule prescribed in the last mentioned resolution: The value of such certificates in specie shall be computed and settled at the rate of depreciation established by Congress on the 28th day of June last, for payment of loan office certificates.

Resolved, That in settling the accounts of officers returned from captivity, the auditors consider their pay to the first of August last, in bills of the old emissions, agreeable to the usual mode of paying the army; and from the said first day of August, till such officers returned from captivity or rejoined their corps, in bills of the new emissions issued agreeable to the resolution of the 18 March, 1780:

That subsistence money be allowed to the said officers, at the rate of one-sixth of a dollar per ration, in specie; and that the monies paid to them by the commissary of prisoners, pursuant to former resolutions, be charged as so much advanced.

Resolved, That the states who have not considered their said officers in captivity, in settling the depreciation accounts of their lines of the army, receive and adjust their demands for depreciation in the same manner as though they had not been in captivity.

A letter, of 14, from General Washington, was read:

Ordered, That extracts from the same and also from the letter, of 12, be sent to the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania.

A letter, of 30 March, from Major General Greene, was read:²

Ordered, That the memorial from Doctor F. Allison, read 13, be referred to the Board of Treasury.

A motion was made by Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, seconded by Mr. [John] Sullivan:

Suppose the Minister of France will agree to vest Congress with the amount of two hundred thousand dollars in specie, and to the same amount in Bills of Exchange on the Treasury of France drawn by their Paymaster General what would be the best mode of disposing of those sums for the advantage of our Ally, and for the service of the United States, to give a spring to the credit of our money and to restore public credit in general.

I would propose the following mode:

Let ~~two~~ one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in Bills of Exchange be immediately appropriated to the payment of bread, flower, beef, pork and other articles of grain, provision and forage according to an estimate to be delivered to Congress by the Commander in Chief of the French army; and fifty thousand dollars in specie be appropriated to the same purpose; the other fifty thousand dollars in bills to be lodged in the Treasury of the United States; and one hundred and fifty thousand dollars specie to be likewise lodged in the Treasury as aforesaid. Let the 150,000 in bills and the 50,000 in cash be apportioned and sent on to the different States, whose Executives shall contract with certain persons for the delivery of double the quantity of all the articles which their respective sums would purchase, agreeing to pay for one half immediately on the delivery thereof, and for the other half in six months afterwards, the first payment to be made $\frac{3}{4}$ in Bills of Exchange and $\frac{1}{4}$ in specie, the second payment in Bills of the new Emission at their current value when paid.

The money remaining in the Treasury to be applied to the payment of the interest of Loan Office certificates, or the interest due on the new bills already emitted, and a loan immediately opened for the new money.¹

Ordered, That it be referred to a committee of three:

The members, Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, Mr. [Daniel] Carroll, Mr. [William Churchill] Houston.

A report from the Board of Treasury on the orders, of 22 March and 11th instant, was read:

TREASURY OFFICE, April 16, 1781.

Upon the two Orders of Congress, one of the 22d of March last, to provide 500,000 dollars, and the other of the 11th instant, the additional sum of 285,816 $\frac{19}{90}$ dollars of the New Emission, for the use of the Quarter Master General's department, the Board beg leave to report,

That the War to the former part of the last year was carried on by Emissions of paper money, and by Loans, when the monies emitted amounting to two hundred millions of dollars and the Certificates given for those loaned, got into such a current of depreciation that farther Emissions became unadvisable, and therefore were determined against. On the 18 of March, 1780, the old Emissions were consolidated, and new Paper was to issue, upon which the War on the part of the United States was to be supported, and in the mean Time monthly Quotas of 15,000,000 old dollars, and specific Articles to supply the Army were demanded of the States; and the Certificates for monies loaned were not only put upon an equitable, but a generous footing.

The system of the 18 of March not meeting with general Approbation, either among the foreign or home Merchants and Traders, or with the Legislatures of the States, it never has, or can be pushed into efficient Operation; some of the States have not issued the New Paper, and the Board are of Opinion never intend to do it. That which has been issued has a partial Circulation and is of different Value in different states, and has already depreciated at least one hundred per cent.

Neither the Monthly Quotas or specific Articles demanded of the States have been supplied, except in part, and no prospect of farther Compliance, or more punctuality in future—the special Calls of Congress of the 26 of August and 4 of November last having been entirely unattended to.

The Loan Offices feeling these Effects, have not produced money sufficient to discharge the Interest of Money already loaned. By these means the Army has long been and remains without Pay and frequently has been reduced to a state of Want; and public Credit and Confidence are almost totally expiring; to recover which, and to be enabled to carry on the War, other Funds must be provided, and New Measures adopted; for from every Experience Congress ought not to depend upon punctual supplies from the States. Were the Balances due by the respective States paid, or expected to be paid, the public difficulties would be greatly relieved; but the Board are of Opinion that drawing for them would be a mere delusion. There are or ought to be in the states of Virginia and Maryland seven thousand Hogsheads of Tobacco under the direction of the Commercial Committee as yet unappropriated, as the Board supposes, and which they are of Opinion should be sold for the use of some of the departments of the Army.

The new Money not having yet been brought into the respective Loan Offices in any Quantity, and no prospect of its being so in all, and not at all in some; the Monthly Quotas and the Special Calls of Congress upon the States not having been complied with; and Congress having declined drawing Bills of Exchange, the Board have it not in their Power to report the Ways and Means of furnishing the 785, 816 19/90 dollars of the New Emission for the Use of the Quarter Master General's Department.¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the before mentioned committee.

A report of the Board of Treasury, on an application of Wm. Paulding, was read:

Ordered, That the same, together with their reports respecting J. Lloyd, be re-committed.

A representation from Coulaux la Vigne, agent for Penet de Costa Freres & Co., was read:

On motion of Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, seconded by Mr. [Thomas] Bee:

Resolved, That the cloathier-general, before he enters into office, shall give bond in such sum as the Board of Treasury shall think sufficient, with two or more sufficient sureties, for the due performance of his office, which bond shall be lodged in the treasury office.

Congress proceeded to the election of a cloathier general; and, the ballots being taken, Mr. John Moylan was elected, having been previously nominated by Mr. [Thomas] Burke.

Ordered, That Monday next be assigned for electing a Secretary of Marine.

The distresses of the army for want of provisions, and their uneasiness and dissatisfaction for want of pay, have been so great and so notorious, and the clamours of public creditors so loud, that it is become necessary to state the measures which Congress have pursued, and the steps they have taken from time to time to support the war, to provide for public exigencies, and to guard against the dangers and embarrassments with which we are now threatened for want of timely supplies of money.

It cannot be forgotten that these United States were plunged into a war, and that an army was drawn together before any money was provided, or funds established for defraying the expence thereof. Arms, ammunition and implements of war were all to be procured, as well as provisions, subsistence, and pay for the troops, suddenly called forth to oppose an enemy already in the heart of our country, and in possession of one of our capital towns. In this situation of affairs Congress met in May, 1775. They had no resource from whence to derive present supplies but that of emitting bills of credit, redeemable at a future day. This was an expedient which was well known, and had often been practised to good effect in the several colonies. Accordingly, on the 22 of June, 1775, they agreed to emit bills of credit to the amount of two millions; and on the 25 of July following encreased the sum to three million dollars;—for the redemption of which they pledged the confederated colonies, and directed each colony to provide ways and means to sink its proportion or quota, which was then ascertained, in such manner as would be most effectual and best adapted to the condition, circumstances and equal mode of levying taxes in such colony, in four annual payments; the first to be made on or before the last of November, 1779, before which time it was hoped the contest might be brought to a conclusion. On the 29 of November following, an estimate having been formed of the public expences already arisen, and which might accrue in the defence of America, to the 10 of June, 1776, Congress resolved to emit a further sum of three millions of dollars, to be redeemed as the former, by four annual payments, the first to be made on or before the last day of November, 1783. It was at the same time resolved, that the proportion or quota of each respective State should be determined according to the number of inhabitants of all ages, including negroes and mulattoes in each colony; and for this purpose it was recommended to the several assemblies, &c. to ascertain by the most impartial means in their power the number of inhabitants in each respective colony, and make returns thereof to Congress as soon as possible.

At this time a hope was still entertained that an accommodation would take place, and that hostilities would soon cease. But having received advices, in the winter following, that Great Britain had contracted for a large body of Hessian and other German mercenaries, which were to be sent over to subdue America, Congress found it necessary to make suitable preparations, which consequently increased the expence; and therefore, on the 17 of February, they ordered four millions of dollars to be emitted on the same security as the former sums; and on the 9th of May following, emitted five millions more on the like security.

The powerful fleet and army sent against America in the summer of 1776, and the professed design of Great Britain to subdue by force, or to bring the colonies to unconditional submission, obliged Congress to declare Independence, and to call in the aid of militia, and consequently increased the expence; and therefore, on the 22 July, they emitted five millions more.

But as it was foreseen that such repeated issues of bills of credit would encrease the quantity to too great a degree, and consequently occasion their depreciation, it was resolved on the third of October following to borrow five millions of dollars; and in November, a lottery was set on foot for raising a farther sum on loan.

As the governments of the several states were not yet sufficiently organized and in vigour, and as the expences of arraying and equipping the militia were great, and the resources from commerce cut off, it was not thought proper to proceed to taxation. And as neither loans nor the lottery were sufficiently productive, necessity compelled to farther emissions of bills of credit. By this means the paper currency being multiplied, began to depreciate. It was therefore resolved on the 10 September, 1777, to prepare an earnest recommendation to the states to proceed to taxation. The invasion of Pennsylvania, and the removal of Congress from Philadelphia, prevented this from being done as soon as might have been wished; but on the 22 November, 1777, it was recommended to the states to raise by taxes, for the service of the year 1778, the sum of five million dollars, and to pay the same into the public treasury in four quarterly payments. Previous to this it had been resolved to borrow larger sums; and to encourage the money holders to lend, it was agreed to pay the interest by bills of exchange drawn on our Commissioners in France.

Unfortunately the tax failed, and the sums obtained from loans were greatly inadequate to the expenditure: consequently more money was emitted; and notwithstanding the favourable turn in our affairs in 1778, depreciation encreased with amazing rapidity.

At the close of the year, 1778, the sums emitted and borrowed amounted to about one hundred and eight millions. Congress, anxious to put a stop to any farther emissions, and to provide a fund for redeeming what was issued, called upon the states on the 1 January, 1779, to pay into the continental treasury their respective quotas of fifteen million dollars for the service of that year, and of six millions annually, from and after the year 1779, as a fund for sinking the emissions and loans to the 31 December, 1778; and on the 21 May following, in addition to the above, on account of the great depreciation of the paper, the states were called on to furnish for the service of the year 1779, their respective quotas of forty-five millions—the whole to be paid into the continental treasury before the 1 January, 1780. A compliance with these requisitions would not only have answered the necessary exigencies of the year, but would have arrested depreciation in its progress. But as these were not complied with in due time, and as the demands of the public were pressing and constant, the prospect of future taxes served only as a stimulus to urge those who had in their possession the supplies and necessaries wanted, to enhance the price, in order to pay their taxes with greater ease: while at the same time the public treasury, receiving no recruit from taxes, was from time to time replenished with new emissions; and from these causes combined, depreciation, instead of receiving a check, proceeded with redoubled vigour.

As the failure of the states was attributed to their not having received the requisitions in due time, Congress resolved in future to remedy that defect; and therefore, early in the fall of 1779, took into consideration the means of providing for the ensuing year; and on the 6 October, accommodating themselves to the depreciation as it then stood, and still flattering themselves that the taxes already called for, if duly collected, would stop it where it was, and answer demands on the public till February following, they called upon the states to pay into the public treasury on the first day of February, 1780, and on the first day of each succeeding month, to the first of October inclusive, their respective quotas of fifteen millions.

It should be observed that on the first of September, 1779, the sum emitted and in circulation amounted to 159,948,880 dollars; and as there was a general outcry on account of the depreciation and the floods of money emitted, Congress resolved that they would on no account whatever emit more bills of credit than to make the whole amount of such bills two hundred millions. And as 40,051,120 dollars remained to complete the two hundred millions, they on the 3d of the same month resolved that they would emit such part only of the said 40,051,120 as should be absolutely necessary for the public exigencies, before adequate supplies could be otherwise obtained, relying for such supplies on the exertions of the several states.

This was represented to the states in an address dated the 13 of September; and they were earnestly entreated not to leave Congress without supplies, nor to let in that flood of evils which would follow from such a neglect. Notwithstanding this earnest address and representation, Congress were compelled by necessity to issue the remainder of the two hundred millions; and the army was in such extremity for want of provisions, that the Commander in Chief was reduced to the sad alternative, either to suffer it to disband, or to collect supplies by military force. He preferred the latter, and the inhabitants of New York and New Jersey, though they felt the injury, saw the necessity, and patiently submitted.

To prevent the like evils in future, Congress, on the 25 of February, 1780, called on the states forthwith to procure their respective quotas of supplies in enumerated articles for the ensuing campaign. And as by the continual depreciation of the continental currency, the community was suffering great injustice, the public finances were deranged, and the necessary dispositions for the defence of the commonwealth much impeded and perplexed, they on the 18 of March, 1780, recommended that the fifteen million monthly tax should be continued from October to April, 1781, inclusive; and that thirteen of those monthly quotas, namely, from March, 1780, to April, 1781, both inclusive, should be applied solely to redeem or sink the old money, which was to be cancelled and burned as fast as brought in; and in lieu thereof, new money was to be emitted in the proportion of one of the new for twenty of the old; so that when the whole two hundred millions were drawn in and cancelled, ten millions new money would be thrown into circulation; of which four tenths were to have been subject to the order of Congress, and the other six tenths to belong to the several states. The effects of this resolution, if it had been punctually executed according to the intention of Congress, would have been—1. The cancelling the old money; 2. reducing the currency to a more fixed standard; 3. supplying the states with money to purchase the supplies required from them by the act of the 25 of February; and 4, enabling Congress to pay the army, discharge the principal debts already contracted, and to provide for the exigencies of the ensuing campaign. But as this was not done, Congress was again driven into temporary expedients.

The enemy knew our situation, and were exerting their utmost efforts to take advantage of it. The southern states were invaded. A descent was threatened on New Jersey. The posts on Hudson's river were in danger.

In order to put the army in motion, Congress were obliged to raise money by drawing bills on their ministers abroad; although they had not sufficient assurances that those bills would be honored. On the 19 May, Congress called upon the states, from New Hampshire to Virginia, both inclusive, to collect and pay into the public treasury, in thirty days, ten million continental currency, part of the sums required to be paid last year. The states, in order to comply with this, pressed the collection of taxes, which occasioned such a clamour from those who had furnished supplies on credit, that on the 27 of the same month Congress recommended to the legislatures of the several states to empower the collectors of continental taxes due before the 1 March, 1780, to receive in payment thereof the notes or certificates which had been given by the quartermaster and commissary of purchases for such supplies.

Until the opening of this campaign, the army had borne their sufferings with unparalleled patience and perseverance. What pay they had hitherto received had been chiefly in depreciated money. Congress had not been unmindful of their sufferings and faithful services. As early as September, 1776, they had resolved to make provision for granting lands in certain proportions to the officers and soldiers who would engage in the service, and continue therein to the close of the war, or until discharged by Congress, and to the representatives of such officers and soldiers as might be slain by the enemy. On the 15 of May, 1778, they resolved unanimously that all military officers commissioned by Congress, who then were, or thereafter might be, in the service of the United States, and continue therein during the war, should, after the conclusion thereof, receive annually for the term of seven years, if they lived so long, one half of the pay then established for such officers, with a proviso, that general officers should not receive more than the half pay of a colonel; and it was also resolved, that non-commissioned officers and soldiers enlisted for the war

On the 17 August, 1779, having prefaced their resolution with a preamble setting forth that the army of the United States of America, by their patriotism, valor and perseverance in defence of the rights and liberties of their country, were entitled to the gratitude as well as approbation of their fellow citizens, they recommended it to the several states to make such further provision for the officers and soldiers enlisted for the war, to them respectively belonging, and who should continue in service till the establishment of peace, as should be an adequate compensation for the many dangers, losses, and hardships they may have suffered in the course of the contest; either by granting to their officers half pay for life, and proper rewards to their soldiers, or in such other manner as might appear most expedient to the legislatures of the several states. And it was farther recommended to the several states to make such provision for the widows of such of their officers and such of their soldiers enlisted for the war, as had died or might die in the service, as would secure to them the sweets of that liberty for the attainment of which their husbands had nobly laid down their lives.

On the 10 of April, 1780, they resolved, that as soon as the state of the public finances would admit, they would make good to the line of the army, and the independent corps thereof, the deficiency of their original pay occasioned by the depreciation of the currency; but none were to derive benefit from this resolution except such as had engaged to serve during the war, or for three years, and were then in service, or should thereafter engage to serve during the war.

And now on the 13 August, 1780, they resolved that from and after the first of the said month, the army shall receive their pay in the new bills emitted pursuant to the resolution of the 18 of March, 1780, and again recommended to such of the states as have not made compensation to their officers and soldiers, agreeably to the resolution of the 17 August, 1779, to do it as soon as possible. At the same time the provision for granting lands was extended to the general officers; and on the 24 of the same month the resolution of the 15th of May, 1778, granting half pay for seven years to the officers of the army who should continue in service to the end of the war, was extended to the widows of such officers as had died or should thereafter die in the service, to commence from the time of such officer's death; or, if there should be no widow, or in case of her inter-marriage, that it should go to the orphan children of such officer.

And it was recommended to the legislatures of the states to which such officers belonged to make provision for paying the same on account of the United States.

Still the public treasury remained unsupplied; and the army continued without pay, and oftentimes in great distress for want of provisions. Debts were accumulating, and the creditors more and more clamorous.

Under these circumstances Congress, on the 26 of August, 1780, earnestly recommended to the several states to take the most speedy and effectual measures in their power for drawing in their respective quotas of the continental bills of credit, by taxes or otherwise, in order that the new money might be issued. And at the same time it was recommended to the states to raise by taxes, payable in the said new bills, their respective quotas of three million dollars; and to pay the same into the public treasury as soon as possible, the payment to be fully completed by the last day of December following. From this it was hoped that Congress would draw a supply of money to enable them to pay the army, and carry on the war with vigor; to discharge the unfunded debts; and to pay the interest due on loan office certificates. Their expectations were again disappointed. The consequences that ensued from the failure, though alarming and painful to recollect, were far short of what might have been apprehended. Yet the requisition of the 15 January, 1781, after the mutiny in the Pennsylvania and Jersey lines, for 879,342 dollars for the immediate pay of the arrears due to the army, has not yet been complied with.

This recapitulation is made, not with a view to criminate, but to show that Congress have done every thing in their power to carry on the war, and to prevent the embarrassments under which our affairs now labour.

It now remains to estimate the supplies necessary for the current year; and to point out the measures already taken for obtaining those supplies.

Congress by their resolutions of the 3 and 21 of October last, have resolved that the army for the ensuing campaign shall consist of six legionary corps, four regiments of artillery, fifty regiments of infantry, and one regiment of artificers, amounting to thirty-five thousand seven hundred and forty-eight rank and file.

		\$1,739,256 $\frac{1}{3}$

~~From the situation of the Southern States and the distressed condition of New York it is judged improper to call on them.~~

~~This requisition is not to interfere nor in any wise be construed to dispense with the states sinking one sixth of the new emission according to the tenor of the act of the 18th of March, 1780.~~

It will moreover be necessary to provide funds for paying the interest of the debts contracted in Europe. With a view to this, Congress, in their requisition of February, 1780, among other specific supplies, called upon the states of Virginia and Maryland to furnish a quantity of tobacco, which it was expected might have been shipped to France, and been the beginning of a fund for defraying the expences of our ministers at foreign courts, and paying the interest of moneys borrowed in Europe. But the want of ships last fall, and the naval superiority of the enemy in Chesapeak Bay this spring, have prevented the public from deriving any advantage from that requisition.

It has been before observed, that the debts contracted abroad amount, by computation, to the sum of six million dollars, the annual interest of which is three hundred and sixty thousand dollars. The annual interest of the money borrowed on certificates previous to the 1 March, 1778, and which is to be paid by bills drawn on our minister at the Court of France, amounts to 438,798 $\frac{1}{4}$.

The credit and honor of the United States require that a fund should be provided not only for defraying this interest, but also for discharging the principal, or at least those certificates for the interest of which bills are to be drawn annually on our minister, who has no fund to apply to that purpose, and who therefore has to depend on the success of his solicitations, as it becomes due.

And what equally concerns the honor of the United States, a fund should be provided for defraying the expences of our ministers abroad. This shows the absolute necessity of the states immediately granting the duties on imports and prizes as requested by Congress.

Before we conclude it may not be amiss to observe, that from the constant depreciation of the currency, and the unpunctuality of the states in complying with the requisitions of Congress, the sums called for when paid in have heretofore always been greatly inadequate to the purposes designed.

~~It is therefore recommended that for the future wheat or flour or beef be made the standard, and that in all requisitions hereafter made the states be called upon to pay in such certain sums of money, or so much as will be equal in value to or will purchase a certain given quantity of wheat flour or beef.¹~~

The members, Mr. [James] Duane, Mr. [Theodorick] Bland, Mr. [William Churchill] Houston.

On motion of Mr. [James] Duane, a delegate for the State of New York, in pursuance of instructions from his constituents, it was resolved as follows:

Whereas differences have arisen between quartermasters and commissaries, and persons claiming to be creditors of the United States, for articles furnished by or taken from them, and for services performed by them, for which no vouchers have been given, or for which the vouchers may be lost, or having vouchers it is doubtful whether the accounts can be adjusted in either of the departments of quartermaster general or commissary general; to remedy which,

Resolved, That every such claim as aforesaid, which shall have been submitted to the inspection of the continental commissioners for auditing and adjusting accounts, and by them certified, shall, by the quartermaster or commissary, be allowed and may be paid, or certificates given for the same, in like manner as is directed by the act of Congress of the 26th day of August, 1780.

The report of the committee, ||consisting of Mr. Adams, Mr. Duane, Mr. Wolcott,|| to whom was referred the letter of March 10th, in the name and behalf of the general court of Massachusetts, was taken into consideration; and the same being read twice, and agreed to:

The letter under consideration represents "That there is reason to suppose that the State of Massachusetts is called on for contributions in an undue proportion to her abilities. That the duty on imports and prizes required by Congress will be an unequal burthen on some of the states. That it is impossible, if the proposition should be acceded to at all, that it will be on any other plan, than that the produce shall be passed to the credit of the State. And that its mercantile interest object against it as partial, alledging that it is notorious that the commodities which they import are vended below their cost."

Your committee have deliberately considered these several objections; and are persuaded of their insufficiency to justify any alteration in the act to which the objections are made, either as to the duty itself, or the manner of its application. Nothing is more to be wished, than that Congress was enabled to assign to the respective states their quotas of aids on fixed and equitable principles. The necessity of it, as early as the year 1775, was fully understood. The states were then called upon to sink by taxes their respective proportions of the bills of credit ordered to be emitted. It was directed that the quota of each should be determined according to the number of its inhabitants of all ages; and the governments then in being were pressed to ascertain by the most impartial means in their power, and to return as soon as possible, the number of inhabitants. This recommendation was in vain attempted to be enforced. With very few exceptions, it has been neglected to this day. The Confederation prescribed another rule for fixing the quotas of aids for the common defence or general] welfare, namely, that they shall be supplied by the several states in proportion to the value of all appropriated lands, and the houses and buildings in the respective states. But the attainment of such an estimate, flagrante bello, is difficult; perhaps in some states, which are the seat of war, impracticable; in every view it must be remote. Thus Congress, without an accurate knowledge of the comparative wealth and abilities of the respective states, were, from the necessity of the case, obliged not only to call for aids, but to apportion those aids on such information as they possessed. Apprized that the quotas might be unequal, they provided the best remedy in their power, and which will ultimately do justice to all the states, each being entitled, on a final settlement, to full credit for the principal and interest of all advances beyond their due proportion.

The ravages of the enemy in some of the states, and their possession of strong posts throughout South Carolina and Georgia, have unavoidably occasioned an increase of the quotas of such states as enjoy greater internal tranquillity and freedom of commerce. Whether Massachusetts in particular hath been called upon in an undue proportion to her abilities, as seems to be apprehended, cannot now be determined; but their honorable court do justice in ascribing it, if it has happened, to error. That no partiality could have been intended, is as certain, as that the most punctual compliance with the respective requisitions is essential to the public safety.

Imported commodities, it is affirmed, are vended in Massachusetts below their original cost; and that therefore the proposed duty will operate partially against the mercantile interest. Information respecting imports into Philadelphia leads us to conclude that the disadvantage pointed out in this objection arises from accidental circumstances, and not from any permanent cause. But it seems sufficient to observe, that either a profit will arise on foreign commodities, or the importation must cease. For no commerce can be long pursued, which, instead of enriching, impairs the substance of the merchant. Besides, the aid required ought not to be measured by the present hour. It will be contributed many years after peace shall be established, and when we may expect that our commerce will be secure and prosperous.

The honorable court seem to apprehend, that the duty will operate on the states themselves unequally. It may be necessary, in order to remove this objection, to recur to the motives which gave it a preference in the opinion of Congress.

The public debts actually incurred on loan office certificates, and other loans, had created an annual interest of more than a million of dollars. Those engagements, although contracted on the faith and for the defence of the United States, Congress had no means to fulfil. It became then an indispensable act of justice, that funds should be provided by the states; that those funds should be productive, and of sufficient permanency to secure the public creditors; and that the burthen which they might impose should be uniformly and equally sustained. To combine so many states in one general system; to reconcile it to their opinions, their policy and their internal circumstances, will always be difficult. Without liberal sentiments with respect to each other; without confidence in the general council, and a regard for the safety and happiness ~~and glory~~ of the ~~general~~ whole Confederacy, ~~will be found necessary to repress the force of local attachments~~ it will be impracticable. What tax could have been pointed out, to which some of the states might not have raised objections? Had an excise, a land tax, or a capitation, been recommended, would either of them have been preferred to the duty under consideration? Could either of them have been carried so easily into effect, or have operated with so much impartiality? It is indeed the interest of a nation to leave trade as free and unincumbered as circumstances will permit; and yet we find that even those governments, which owe all their riches and grandeur to commerce, do not hesitate to draw from it contributions for the support of war and government. Considering then the great exertions which are necessary at this interesting conjuncture, ought these United States to plead an exemption? Surely a moderate duty on trade cannot give dissatisfaction to a people, who have nothing less at stake than their honor, good faith, liberty and independence. As a partial regulation of individual states there is no reason to think it will ever take place. The danger of transferring the trade from such as impose, to those which are exempt from the burthen, will effectually prevent it. There is only one method in which it can be introduced—by the authority of the United States cooperating with the respective legislatures.

~~That the consumer eventually pays all duties of this nature is a maxim which affords an irrefragable argument in favour of the measure.~~

When this duty was debated, it was taken for granted, on the general maxim, that it would ultimately be borne by the consumer. In this view no tax could have been devised, under our present circumstances, which afforded a prospect of more equality and impartiality, or of less objection, or discontent. The states, whose commerce is the most flourishing, will appear in the first instance to contribute largely to the common treasury. But remotely the consumer, wherever he resides, must bear the burthen. And the merchant who advances it, will take care to receive full interest. Even if it should be admitted, that states which enjoy the greatest commercial advantages may be exposed to a share of the duty beyond their strict proportion, might it not be considered as a just tribute for peculiar blessings denied by the fortune of a common war to their less happy sister states? Blessings purchased perhaps by their sufferings and secured by their resistance against invaders, who might otherwise have had leisure to close all the avenues to commerce.

The last objection implies, that if the proposition should in part be acceded to, it would be insisted on that the proceeds of the duties should be passed to the credit of the states from which it might arise. This objection was also fully considered when the subject was debated. A review of the situation and commerce of the several states, as well before the war as at this day, will be sufficient to remove it. Several states, and in every part of the continent, import for their neighbours. Is it reasonable that the duties on goods, which the latter consume, should be applied to the exclusive benefit of the State which has had the advantage of the importation? Would a measure so illiberal meet with approbation or acquiescence? Every system, which is to operate throughout the United States, must have equity for its basis; and if the consumer pays the taxes, and every state, whether it imports or not, contributes to the consumption, the produce of the duty ought to be credited to the United States; or it is easy to see that the proposition will be rejected.

Your committee are upon the whole of opinion, that the necessity of a compliance with the proposition in question should be strongly urged to the legislature of Massachusetts, as a measure just and expedient in itself, and which will operate with impartiality and facility, and better than any other afford a prospect of some satisfaction to the public creditors, whose just complaints ought to be redressed without delay.¹

A report from the Board of Admiralty was read:

The Board of Admiralty beg leave to lay before the Hon'ble the United States in Congress assembled an extraordinary letter they yesterday received from one Samuel Parsons, directed to the Honorable the Marine Committee of Congress, inclosing an account of the purchase and disbursements of a certain schooner called by him the Continental Schooner Fame.

This same (we suppose) Samuel Parsons not long since drew a bill upon the Marine Committee, in favor of the Hon'ble the Committee of Commerce, which this Board refused to accept, and they shall not think themselves justifiable in giving him credit for the amount of the first cost and disbursements of the Schooner Fame, unless they are directed so to do by your Honors, for they have no official knowledge of this man.

One of your Commissioners (Mr Ellery) informs the Board, that while he had the honor of a seat in Congress, he received a letter from Martinico, addressed to the Delegates of the State of Rhode Island, which placed Samuel Parsons in so unfavorable a light, that he thought it his duty to communicate it to Congress. As St. Eustatius is in the possession of the enemy and of course the trade of these States to the French Islands will be probably increased, the Board with all submission would beg leave to suggest, that it might not perhaps be improper to appoint a Consul for Hispaniola and another for Martinico invested with power to act as ~~continental or commercial~~ agents for the United States in Congress assembled.¹
