IN SQUAB INDUSTRY

YORK RANCH DEVELOPS FLOURISHING BUSINESS THAT INCREASES DAILY

Given an acre of ground, some small capital and proximity to a large city, and it is not impossible to make a comfortable living and lay up also what will be sufficient for a rainy day. That has been the experience of Mrs. Walter D. Seese, formerly Mrs. D. A. York, proprietor of the York ranch on Dryden street, Casa Verdugo. Mrs. Seese came to California about three years ago in bad health from overwork. She purchased the acreage in Casa Verdugo, where her business is now conducted, and started in raising chickens, rabbits and pigeons.

After some experience she discovered that the profit in such a business lay in the pigeon industry and she has now cleared out all her rabbits and chickens with the exception of what she needs for domestic use, and is devoting her entire attention to squabs. This has proved to be a profitable undertaking. The York ranch specializes in Homer and Carnot pigeons. They are all large birds, the Carnots being specially large. The Homers when plucked and dressed weigh from 10 to 12 ounces and the Carnots from 14 to 17 ounces.

There is an incessant turn over of this stock, as Mrs. Seese sells the squabs when they are three weeks old and gets a good price for them. If the young birds should be left any longer in the nests the old birds would turn them out.

There is a large demand for squabs in Los Angeles. One hotel last week ordered 200 Homer squabs from the York ranch and there is a steady demand for the whole output of the place.

It takes about a ton and a half of feed of all kinds to keep the birds in good condition. There are 2000 birds in the nests just now and Mrs. Seese intends to put in another 1000. She has men busily employed in tearing out the old rabbit hutches and building the dovescots. When the extra 1000 birds are installed in their home, there will be plenty to do taking care of them.

In addition to the market varieties the ranch will soon begin the breeding and sale of fancy varieties. There will be fantails, white kings, runts and the famous Belgian horono, as well as others. There is much profit in breeding these varieties, as some of them are sold easily for prices ranging from $5 to $50 a pair.

York ranch is a scene of activity and lies not too far out from the heart of the city to make it any matter of difficulty to visit it. Visitors are certain of a hearty welcome from Mrs. Seese, the enterprising owner and manager of the ranch.

WILTON LACKEYE IN "THE PIT" AT PALACE GRAND SUNDAY

"The Pit," one of the most exciting films ever shown in Glendale, will be the attraction at the Palace Grand Sunday.

"The Pit" made a sensation both as a book and a play. It was published at an opportune time. Eleven or twelve years ago corners in staple products were often attempted, and sometimes were successful to an extent, if not entirely so. Cotton was cornered, wholly in part, in Liverpool and here; so was wheat. Truists are, it is averred, only corners in another form. If you create a monopoly, you can fit your own terms and conditions as to how that monopoly is administered. Anti-trust legislation is, after all, according to one way of thinking, only a just form of repression, directed against corners and monopolies, in the interests of the people at large. Joe Leiter of Chicago tried to corner wheat in 1897 and he was beaten by the Armour's. Joe made the gamble of his life and failed because circumstances and his opponents, i. e., the world, were too strong for him. The bank (otherwise the world) always wins; the taker of chances invariably loses.

Leiter's spectacular performance in the Chicago wheat pit led, it is said, to the writing of Frank Norris' novel, "The Pit," which was a success at the time and is still remembered and read. Like all popular novels of the sensational kind, "The Pit" had its culminating point or climax, to which all the avenues of action led up. And this was the wheat pit of the Chicago Board of Trade, where, amid great excitement, Mr. Leiter's attempted corner of wheat was defeated.

Report had it that "Joe" corrected the proof sheets of Frank Norris' book where the novelist dealt with technicalities; it is certain that when William A. Brady presented the play in Chicago, Mr. Leiter assisted in the production and saw in the first performance a reminder of his own adventures six years previously.

"The Pit," as a play, was offered

HARVEST TIME OF EXTRA VOTES BRINGS FORTH MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Bonus Vote Offer

An extra inducement is offered to candidates who begin work at once. Fifty thousand extra votes will be given with every club of six new subscriptions turned into the Evening News office for the Glendale Evening News or the Tri-City Progress between Wednesday, June 30, and Thursday evening, July 15. These votes are in addition to the regular votes issued. All new subscriptions already turned in by candidates will count on this offer.

Everybody in The News' great contest is rapidly catching the spirit of the big extra vote offer which closes Thursday, July 14, and are bending their every effort to procure new subscriptions for the Evening News or the Tri-City Progress.

The wise contestants are centering their attention in going after clubs of six yearly subscriptions to the Evening News, as it counts for much more than the weekly. For instance, the regular vote on six yearly subscriptions to the daily would be 10,000 votes each, or 60,000 votes, to which add the 50,000 bonus or extra vote and you have a grand total of 110,000 votes. While a club of six yearly subscriptions to the Tri-City Progress totals only 6000, together with the bonus, a club of the weeklies would amount to 56,000 votes. Therefore, it behooves every candidate to specialize on yearly subscriptions to the Evening News.

Independence Day may also be turned to account in this campaign. While no candidate would care to celebrate the entire day securing votes, yet a few well-timed solicitations from friends whom you meet on the holiday will easily add to your list of subscriptions, and you may have the opportunity of meeting acquaintances Monday whom you may not see again throughout the balance of the campaign.

Resolve that on next year, Independence Day, you will take a trip in your own automobile, the $850 Maxwell, that you are now working for in The News contest. Imagine the pleasure that would be yours to be speeding along one of California's beautiful roadways guiding the steering wheel of your own machine.

Next in desirability and in point of value in the list of prizes comes the $400 Schiller piano, a pure-toned instrument, with a highly finished mahogany case, one of the most attractive medium-priced instruments to be found in the large show-rooms of the Platt Music company of Los Angeles, from which firm it was purchased.

The trip to the exposition, with expenses prepaid, will also be a most desirable one this autumn when California weather will be at its best. This trip may be yours if you miss both the first and second prizes and win the third.

In addition to the three grand prizes are the district prizes, which include three $75 scholarships to the Isaacs-Woodbury Business college of Los Angeles, the $50 bank deposit at the First National bank of Glendale and other prizes to be announced later.

APPOINT CENSUS ENUMERATORS

The board of city trustees held an adjourned meeting Friday evening and adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of four census enumerators as follows:

Precinct No. 1—Mrs. Cora Nichols.
Precinct No. 2—Sam'l P. Stoddard.
Precinct No. 3—Wm. Thomson.
Precinct No. 4—Mrs. P. A. C. Moore.

The taking of the census at this time is made necessary on account of a petition asking that the trustees of the city of Glendale call an election for the purpose of allowing the citizens to vote if they desire to change from a sixth to a fifth class form of city government.

in 1903. Eleven years is a long time nowadays in the history of plays and books, yet in regard to "The Pit" in both forms, the public mind is still keenly alive to the dramatic value of the main theme utilized by the novelist and dramatist. The speculative side of American business life and its effects upon the home is a subject that, in changed aspects, offer itself in books and plays today and always will, of course.

FOURTH OF JULY

PATRIOTIC CELEBRATION WITH ATHLETIC SPORTS ON UNION HIGH SCHOOL GROUNDS

What will really be the patriotic celebration of the Fourth in Glendale will be held on the Union high school grounds Monday afternoon at two o'clock. This will be a combined patriotic celebration and athletic sports. The ceremony will be led off by patriotic addresses delivered by the Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church and the Rev. R. T. Smith of Tropic.

After the patriotic exercises the athletic sports will begin. The following is the program:

For Boys—100-yard dash, for pupils 14 years and over; 75-yard dash, for pupils from 10 to 14 years; sack race, for children under 10; free-for-all relay.

For Girls—Basketball relay, for girls of 14 years and over; 60-yard dash, for girls from 10 to 14; obstacle relay for girls under 10.

A baseball game will be played between two patriotic teams—the Glendale Reds and the Glendale Blues. Refreshments will be sold on the grounds, consisting of lemonade and ice cream. The proceeds from this sale will be devoted to defraying the expenses of equipping the three playgrounds. The ladies of the committee and their helpers will also sell red, white and blue lead pencils. No admission will be charged to the grounds.

Following are the committees: Mrs. E. C. Hutchinson, general chairman; Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, chairman ice cream committee; Mrs. Fred Baker, chairman lemonade committee; Mrs. Stephen Packer, chairman lead pencil committee; Mrs. A. N. Lord, chairman decorating committee; Mrs. F. C. Hagan, chairman of young ladies ice cream brigade; Mr. R. D. White, chairman of the athletic sports, assisted by the superintendents of the playgrounds.

The public is cordially invited to attend and is promised an excellent time. All three playgrounds will be open on Tuesday morning at 8:30 and will remain open every day except Sunday, from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m., and from 2 p. m. till 6 p. m. This arrangement will be continued until September, under the charge of the competent directors recently appointed.

TROPICO

The Title Guarantee and Trust company of Los Angeles, as trustee for the bondholders of the Glendale Consolidated Water company, has brought suit in the superior court of the county for an order to fix the rate for water service in the city of Tropic that will furnish a sufficient income "to pay the expenses, depreciation, repairs and interest on first lien ($27,000) on said plant and a reasonable rate of interest on the value of said property ($91,758.40)," that is to say:

For interest	$7340.67
Expenses and repairs	9027.20
Depreciation	3500.00
Total	$19,867.87

To produce this sum will require a rate on the 760 consumers or rate payers in the city averaging $2.40 per month each. It seems an exorbitant rate, but the outlook is promising that they will have it to pay.

It was indeed a very merry dinner party with which Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Freeman entertained at their home on West Fifth street Thursday evening complimentary to Mr. G. H. Atchley, city engineer of Redondo. Mr. Atchley is a native son of Kansas and the gracious hostess took the sunflower, the emblematic flower of that state, as the one which predominated in her floral decorations. The table was centered with a low cut bowl of sunflowers intermingled with ferns, arranged upon a large mirror, from which broad satin bands of yellow ribbon radiated to the edges of the table, where they were fastened with clusters of sunflowers. The place-cards were pretty conceits done in water colors of sunflowers, the artistic handiwork of Mrs. Freeman. The place-cards also contained original lines penned by the hostess. The guests who accepted the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman and also wished Mr. Atchley many happy returns of the day were Mrs. M. J. Rowantree, Miss Leonora Rowantree and B. S. Doggett of Los Angeles.

Miss Eva M. Dutton has returned to her home on Virginia place after a delightful visit in San Francisco and San Diego.

Mrs. Richard Todd and daughter, Miss Mable Todd, motored to Long Beach Thursday as the guests of Mrs. Carrie Todd of Los Angeles, where

OUR NATAL DAY

WOMAN AND WAR AS SEEN BY SAMUEL PARKER, GLENDALE'S POET

Sing how our fathers fought that we might thus enjoy our liberty;
Sing of their struggles that gave birth
To this, the proudest realm of earth.
Sing of our church spires rising high,
Schools, college, university.
While happy homes dot all the plain,
Where order and contentment reign.
Proud of a heritage so grand,
Oh, happy and most favored land;
Yet prouder far than all the rest,
Are we of noblest, dearest, best—
The women of our land.
And here most boldly I defy
The world's heath heaven's canopy,
To find a nobler band.

Fourth of July! Oft as thou shalt return
To cheer the patriot heart and bring to mind
Heroic battles, hardships nobly borne,
Fighting the tyrant and his host combined;
And as the sun mounts on his fiery way,
Let millions meet to celebrate the day;
Raise loud the patriot anthem, wild and high;
All voices join to swell the harmony.

How sacrificing, brave, were they in revolutionary day,
Mid perils stretched on every hand,
Around the hardy, struggling band,
The Indian's yell, the panther's cry,
And mocking other misery,
Famine stalks in with threat of doom
And yet amid such awful gloom
Hope sees a glimmering ray of light
And women cheer the dismal night
With song of better days.

Hark! From afar
Terrific threatenings of war;
Too soon the tyrant army comes—
Across the sea to plunder homes,
Just planted in the wilderness—
A feeble folk—too weak to oppress;
But strong in manhood see them now,
How plain is written on each brow
Resistance; see them quickly fill
The trenches on old Bunker Hill;
A strong, determined, sturdy band,
Firm for the right nor will they flee
While they have powder left on hand
To fire upon the enemy.

The mother suffers most in wars;
Her heart bears the unhealing scars,
Though patriotic pride may swell
To learn how loved ones fought and fell.
No conquering shout of victory
Can from that feeling set her free,
Time may subdue and dull the pain,
But sense of loss must e'er remain.

How readily the poets yield
To sing about the battlefield;
Scarce does the cannon's thunder cease
E'er equal loud they sing of peace.
How quickly the commander's name
Shines forth from lofty shaft of fame,
Now, would it not be merely fair
To place a woman's name up there?
A long list, noble names among,
Remain unhonored and unsung.
Heaven speed the time, nor be it long,
E'er woman has her place in song.

Dr. A. O. Conrad reports his brother, Charles Conrad, as improving since his operation of a few days ago. Mr. Conrad was removed from Thorncroft farm Friday afternoon to the residence of Dr. Conrad on Glendale avenue, where he and Mrs. Conrad, who came down from their home in Newhall, will remain for several weeks, or until the patient suffers has sufficiently recovered to return to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Peck and daughter, Miss Amy Miller, motored to Carpinteria, near Santa Barbara, this morning, where they will spend several days attending the family reunion of the Peck and Miller families. These reunions are held annually and occur upon the Fourth of July, a day most befitting for the assembling of the various branches of these families, of whom there are about four score.

Mrs. Nina Richards of La Paloma avenue left for Patterson, Tulare county, a few days since, where she will spend several weeks visiting her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy De Gaston of Glendale avenue, accompanied by the latter's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Sayre and Miss Viola Sayre of Palmer avenue, are enjoying a most delightful visit in San Diego.

TWO FETES IN ONE

ORIGINAL DOUBLE BIRTHDAY PARTY AT THE HOME OF MISS GRIFFITH

For originality of conception and success in the carrying out of the details, the double birthday party given Friday at the home of Miss Coral Ellen Griffith, 1471 Salem street, was voted by the guests one deserving of the highest commendation. The double event was in celebration of the birthdays of Mrs. Henry Wayne Yarik, 1447 West Third street, and of Miss Coral Ellen Griffith.

One of the original features of the party was that the guests had arranged to appear at the fete dressed in costume symbolic of the months in which they were born. This naturally caused a great deal of amusement and some guessing as to the months represented by the costumes. Thus January had a representative clad in the furs and wrappings of winter, trimmed with snowballs and looking like Alaska all over.

February was represented by a lady dressed in Valentine costume. The spring months were modestly bedecked in violets.

During the course of the afternoon guessing contests were indulged in to the great amusement and pleasure of all. This guessing game was unique of its kind, for it consisted in guessing who among the guests the pictures of them taken when they were babies represented. Mrs. J. B. McClellan gained the prize in this contest.

Another amusement of the day was an "age" guessing game, in which the guests had such terms as "marriage," "carriage," etc., to discover from recondit descriptions. Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker won the prize in this competition.

In serving the refreshments a novel method was followed. The viands were placed in individual trays and the guests had to find their own trays from place cards, which were fastened to little silk flags, each with a verse appropriate to the guest, whose name was on it.

In the dining-room a huge birthday cake, decorated in red, white and blue, held the center of the table. The ice cream was colored red, white and blue. The Misses Christina and Louise Ferris presided with much grace and hospitality at the punch bowl, which was placed in the breakfast-room, where the decorations were yellow, and the beautiful coreopsis adorned the room in gorgeous clusters. Both the living-room and the dining-room were decorated in red and the den was attractively blazoned in pink.

Mrs. Eugene Murman delighted the company by her masterly performances on the piano and Miss Veta Franklin of Washington state sang in a most charming manner several solos.

The guests were as follows: Mrs. L. L. Frazee, Mrs. L. Allison, Mrs. C. E. Howell, Mrs. N. G. Jackson, Miss Frances Jackson, Mrs. Victor L. Skyles, Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke, Miss Laura Vermillion, Mrs. Eugene Murman, Mrs. Edgar A. Bayley, Mrs. J. H. Franklin, Mrs. Blake Franklin, Miss Veta Franklin, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Harmon A. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Echols, Mrs. J. B. McClellan, Mrs. B. E. Johnston, Mrs. Edna T. Offut, Mrs. Molly A. Thompson, Mrs. Howard Oswald, Mrs. Horace Hosford, Mrs. Henry Wayne Yarik and Miss Coral Ellen Griffith.

LUCKY THIRTEEN GIRLS

Miss Ruth Williams of 1228 Maple avenue entertained the Lucky Thirteen girls at her home Thursday evening with a surprise party in honor of Miss Dorothy Morgan. The evening was pleasantly passed with music and refreshments were served at a late hour.

LEST WE FORGET

ROUND the birth of a nation there cluster ever memories the most tender and sacred. To attain freedom has never been a simple or a bloodless task. The embattled forces that are interested in the propagation of the rule of force are always prepared for sanguinary assertion of their so-called "rights." Born in a swelter of bloody war; trembling on the verge of disaster a hundred times during the gallant struggle for liberty, the American republic won its way to the light, and out of its handful of patriots has become a nation of one hundred millions. It has stretched out its branches over the sea and on it is laid a mighty trust. In the midst of an insensate war that has involved nearly all the nations of the western world, the inviolate republic of the United States of America holds aloft the flag of freedom and peace and still points to the higher ideal of humanity. Never can the sons of those who made the whole world ring with their Declaration of Independence afford to forget the chaos of difficulty and doubt and even despair out of which the republic was born. Keeping alive the light of that glorious past, let us celebrate this Fourth of July, not with foolish boasting, nor with meaningless noise, but with a profound thankfulness that God has led and guided us of all the world into the ways of peace. The Fourth of July stood for the salvation of the nation in the days that are gone. In the days that are with us, let its spirit so inspire us that we may make it ere long stand for the salvation of the world.

DEALING WITH TUBERCULOSIS

Many excellent suggestions for dealing with tuberculosis are given in the report of the Bureau of Tuberculosis for April, 1915. The tables attached to the report show that during March thirteen cases of children under five, and seventeen under fifteen years of age, were suffering from tuberculosis throughout the state. These figures show that the disease has increased its hold in the state. Though the numbers appear small, they are significant. Tuberculosis begins in childhood. This has been ascertained very recently and is gradually altering the whole aspect of the campaign against this disease. It shows that the work of fighting this dread malady must be begun very early in the history of the individual and must assume preventive features from the beginning. Successful crusades against tuberculosis have been made in other states by taking preventive measures in the early years of the child. In this way many lives have been saved and the death rate among children appreciably reduced. California is recommended to take measures similar to those already successfully applied. The reasonableness and the effectiveness of those precautionary measures make them not only easy of adoption, but also valuable when adopted. It is recommended that open-air schools be established for children and that until such schools can be provided, all schools be conducted on the open-air principle and that special provision be made for delicate children by frequent intermissions and rest periods. Physical examinations of all children for tuberculosis are recommended.

If along with these measures investigation of home conditions be carried out, the possibility of the development of the disease would be reduced to an almost negligible quantity. The remedying of insanitary conditions wherever found is also recommended; and the establishment of sanatoria for tubercular children when necessary.

One of the most simple and yet valuable suggestions is that all children be instructed in proper breathing and also in the principles of hygiene. Food inspection is also recommended. This is also an excellent precaution when one reflects that butcher's meat presents possibilities in the way of tuberculosis infection.

By the adoption of such measures as these, it should be possible to reduce the present high death rate from this most insidious disease. There were 585 deaths from this disease in March and 495 in April. That is almost 17 per cent, a rate that is much too high under any circumstances. It is to be hoped that the precautions suggested will be adopted all over the state.

SOCIAL STATISTICS AND THE WAR

How much environment and external conditions have to do with the rise and fall of the birth rate and marriage rate can be seen in facts recently revealed by the statistical bureaus of France and the United States. For years past the birth rate has been declining in France. In fact, ever since the Franco-Prussian war it has been manifest that the people of the French republic had developed a national tendency toward the small family. This has enabled Germany to forge rapidly ahead of France and has given that country an enormous advantage in military numbers in the present war.

Those sinister conditions were partly the result of the misery engendered in France by the Prussian invasion of 1870. War does not favor marriage. It takes also the best of a nation's young men out of the circle of marriage influence and puts a premium on celibacy. That this is the case is being shown in a marked degree in France these days. Since the war began there has been a serious decline in the birth rate in that country. In 1914 there were 1000 births daily. At the beginning of 1915 the figures dropped to 850 and there has been a rapid decline since that time. June 6-12 was the last week recorded. During those seven days there were only 356 births throughout the whole of France.

Even in the United States the effects of the war in Europe are being felt. This is particularly the case in the eastern states, which are more closely in touch with Europe than the states of the Pacific coast. The June bride contingent of New York shows a marked decrease. The record of marriage licenses shows a slump of no fewer than 515. New York is so closely bound up with the war and is brought so intimately in contact with its withering effects that conditions in Europe are immediately reflected in the Empire state.

Turning to the other side of the question, we find that the Pacific coast is enjoying ideal conditions with its two expositions and its genial climate. The consequence has been that June both in San Diego and in San Francisco has brought with it a wonderful increase in the number of brides.

In the entire past history of San Francisco there has never been a wedding record like that of last month, when no fewer than 762 couples entered the state of holy matrimony. San Diego, the southern exposition city, in like manner had 175 marriages in June, an increase of 12 over all past records.

Where people are present to enjoy a good time, where conditions are favorable to peace and quietude, where the lights flash and the music rings, where every face is aglow with joy and every countenance beams with mirth, where "quijs and cranks and wanton wiles, nods and becks and wreathed smiles" are heard and seen on every side, the little love god is not far away and his invisible arrows strike into many a heart.

In San Francisco and San Diego, California is offering to the war-torn world a rest and peace that reign almost nowhere else at present. Here the war god has not built for his bloody trade; here no blight of hatred can show itself. The very air is laden with sweet suggestions of love and congenial souls discover each other in the revealing sunshine, amid the fragrant orange groves, where the full-orbed moon sheds a silvery, silken veil of light over the purple Sierras and the blue expanse of the broad Pacific.

Statistics speak for themselves. While in Europe the war saddened daughters of France, Germany, Great Britain, Austria and the other warring nations have no heart for the responsibilities of the marriage state, the favored children of California are dwelling in a condition of peace and love that draws kindred souls together in a perfect unity of soul that naturally blends into the perfect day of wedded bliss.

ADORN CITY FOR VISITORS

When the invading hosts of Elks from all parts of the United States arrive for the big convention in Los Angeles, July 11-17, they will overflow into Glendale, because Glendale is a notable Elk Center and has made arrangements for an entertainment of the brethren in conjunction with the Pasadena lodge. When the visiting brothers come in their thousands they should find Glendale in gala attire. It is only proper to set our house in order for our gracious visitors.

Preparations should be begun at once to clean up all unsightly lots; to cut down the tall weeds in some of the downtown lots; to make the public buildings gay with bunting and other decoration and to set every American flag in the city flying from flagstaff and window. The city owes all that to itself as well as to its visitors. Here is, too, a chance to give this beautiful city and its wonderful natural environment wide advertising. Glendale is attractive because of its general air of cleanliness, its natural setting is one of the finest in the state. Peacefully sheltered from the desert by the protecting ranges of the Verdugos and the Sierras, it impresses visitors by its atmosphere of comfort and its general air of home life.

Such a city cannot afford to have ragged edges. It cannot afford to offer opportunity for sarcastic criticism. Cleanliness in the private lots, cleanliness in the vacant lots, trim trees and gardens with attractive expanses of flowers, will do a great deal to convince the coming visitors that Glendale is an excellent place in which to live. Many of those visitors will probably decide to come out here after they have convinced themselves that in addition to an unrivaled moral setting this city has public sanitation and civic cleanliness and beauty.

BELLS ON TURKEYS

To those who live in the West, where the coyotes are so bad about catching the larger turkeys, says a Texas farmer's wife, I have found that the best way to avoid this is to get for each turkey a small bell and with a string tie it around the neck. They will not like the noise at first, but they will soon get used to it, and when brother wolf goes to catch one and all of those bells go to ringing, he will be ready and only too glad to make his escape. Now, this may seem queer to some people, but if it had not been for this remedy many of the westerners would have lost all of their turkeys by the wolves.

Seed Notes

What more timely topic could we consider at this time? This very day being the 139th anniversary of our nation's birth, every religious organization has a grand opportunity to exercise itself in inculcating the right incentives for making a nation strong and useful and an honor to the world.

This is the day for streams of patriotic fervor to flow from fountains of love and loyalty to country and the Stars and Stripes.

Ours today is a need for that kind of patriotism willing to live for the good of our country. This will do far more in upholding civic righteousness than one thousand deaths for our country on the battlefield. It is well and good to die for one's country, but far more good can be done by that patriotism leading to the high levels of justice and economy.

A patriotism willing to uphold the laws, willing to be a model citizen, willing to help our country to be right where she needs righting, willing to pray for her welfare and work with others in her general good, that is a citizenship worthy of a free people, imbued with the highest ideals, may be fostered, is in direct line with all the moral and religious sentiment that comes from the word of God. That is the kind of citizenship that will make any nation great, good and useful, pursuing the peaceful arts and trades.

A nation's glory is not its great armies and navies, its great piles of wealth, its immense crops and harvests, its fine public parks and universities, buildings of all sorts, but the character of its citizens, their spirit of justice, equity and righteousness. Our material advantage and greatness become a blind to our sense of moral and religious need. It is "righteousness that exalteth a nation," we should never forget, not praise or boastfulness or pride.

In our cities where people are crowded together there is greatest need for home mission churches as centers for moral sentiment. Wrong ideals amongst such are inflamed by the walking delegate. The capitalist and the laborer are unfairly dealt with. Wealth is decieved, poverty is made the sign of injustice, moral sentiment there is demanded.

This can only be the "land of the free," where the spirit of God rules; where Christian principles are constantly inculcated and when evil men find it hardest to do as they please. The highest respect for law and order and fear of God mark a nation's progress.

Mrs. C. W. Young of Rock Glen avenue entertained within the past few days a large party of ladies belonging to the sorority of Minnesota university. The party which was on its way to visit Berkeley university, had a merry time at the beaches.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH

The Glorious Fourth in religious services. True patriotism demands a gathered multitude to consider together the hand of God in national affairs, and praise him for his goodness. All citizens are most cordially invited at 11 o'clock to this service. Let us make this a demonstration of the highest type of citizenship, and those who have no churches of their own will find a warm welcome at this service.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee," choir and congregation.

Offertory, "The Veteran's Last Song" (Horace Lozier), by the pastor and his daughter.

The ancient Hebrew prophet never saw an automobile, so far as we know, but, if he had, could he in much more accurate language have described it than when he said: "The chariots shall rage in the streets; they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways; they shall seem like torches; they shall run like the lightnings."

TROPICO

Julia Byloff, have taken a beautiful bungalow home on Mira Loma in the Gardena tract, where they will reside. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart was one of the recent events in local as well as Los Angeles society, and was solemnized in the First Lutheran church of that city.

Mrs. Allen E. Boyce and her sister, Mrs. Victor Peterson of Denver, Colo., who is her house guest, were guests at the marriage of Mr. Clinton L. Fennessy and Miss Beth Hazel Nash, which was solemnized in the Universalist church in Los Angeles late Friday afternoon. The lines were read by the bride's father, Dr. C. Elwood Nash, pastor of the church.

Miss Johanna Lind of Moscow, Mont., who has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allen E. Boyce of South Brand boulevard, left for Berkeley recently, where she will spend a few weeks at the university of that city.

WHY SOME BOYS LEAVE FARMS

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, an Ohio contributor makes the following interesting explanation of why so many boys leave the farm:

"Let me try to show that the fathers are to blame by keeping in the rut that runs back to the days when all work was done by hand.

"The trees were chomped and also cleared by hand, and the land prepared for seeding with the old-fashioned crude tools, the crops planted, cultivated and harvested in the same old way.

"These ancestral farmers were compelled to work fifteen hours or more each day while doing this pioneering, and the same fifteen-hour-a-day grind has been handed down from generation to generation ever since.

"This plan of doing two days' work in one will no longer be tolerated by farm boys when they come to know that the mason, the carpenter, the plumber and shoemaker work but little more than half of the farm day.

"So, too, are the mothers to blame. Their sons must become teachers, clerks, salesmen or office men—jobs that will allow white hands, fine clothes and a spruce, civilized appearance. Also, the girls are too often advised by their mothers to marry city fellows.

"Don't do it any more, mothers! If you could follow your boy for a month after he reaches the city you would shed tears of regret the rest of your life.

"Now, tell the truth, Mr. Farmer. Are you giving the boy the opportunities you might? Remember this is the twentieth century, not the eighteenth. Couldn't you make life a little more pleasant?

"Have a little more sociability; give your sons a share; let them do some of the business. I know a farmer who never would let his boys work the team. They used the hoes. There were four of them, and they all left home before they were eighteen. Make the boys confidants; ask their advice; make farming interesting, dignified and honorable."

EAGLE ROCK

Thursday afternoon of last week marked the closing of the club year of the Women's Twentieth Century club. A short business meeting took place, after which a program was given. A benefit luncheon was served—the proceeds of which will go towards the clubhouse fund.

Mrs. E. Stevens is having a fine large house erected on the corner of Ridgeway and Valley drive. A. A. House put in the concrete foundation this week. Mrs. Stevens has rented the house to a club of Occidental girls, who will take possession of it soon after completion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harden and daughters, Helen and Margaret, from Phoenix, Ariz., are living in the Adams house on the corner of Palm and Central avenues. They came to be here with their son, who is a student at Occidental college, as he is one of the club of boys who occupied this house until school closed and the family will keep it until college begins again, when the O. M. A. boys will take possession.

Mrs. W. Koethen and little daughter spent last week at Riverside visiting friends and relatives.

Members of the Eagle Rock Eastern Star lodge visited the Garvanza chapter last Monday evening and report having had a most delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith of Ohio are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Roth of Acacia avenue.

Mrs. H. Hanks, Miss Helen Hanks, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Stevens and their three sons, Paul, Albert and Lawrence of East Eagle avenue, spent a day of last week at the beach.

Members and friends of the Christian Science church enjoyed a picnic on Monday of last week at the L. A. White home on Rock Glen avenue. Tables were spread in the garden under the trees and dinner was served to over forty people.

Among those who are enjoying their vacation at the beach or in the mountains are: Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Crow, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Kingdon and three children, at Bear valley; Mrs. A. D. Hitchcock and son, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. E. Bellinger, Long Beach; Rev. and Mrs. Crowl and daughter, Forest home; Mr. and Mrs. Nair, Venice; Misses Cleio Wilson, Alice Colbe and Mrs. Sanders, Huntington Beach; Mrs. A. Putnam, son and mother, Laguna Beach; Rev. Kirkes and family, Mt. Baldy.

Seats to accommodate several thousand spectators are being made in Eagle Rock park just above the merry-go-round for the play to be given in the natural amphitheater, "Mid-Summer Night's Dream," Friday, July 9, and Saturday, July 10. The park has been greatly improved recently, which adds much to its beauty and attractions and makes a most perfect outdoor theater.

F. S. Hannaford has opened a garage and machine shop at Avenue Forty-three and Pasadena avenue, so with that and his splendid business here as auto dealer and plumber, he will manage to keep very busy.

Last Friday evening the grown-ups took part in the program at Dreamland, which was indeed great, and they were heartily applauded.

One of our well-known young ladies, Miss Florence Fleckenstein of Oakwood trail, deserves much praise for the play she has just written, "California in 1915 as it Is." It will be given for the first time July 12 to July 17 at the Normal School building. Several children from this city will take part in it.

The Parent-Teacher association is to hold the first of their "during the summer months" teas at the Galpin home on Adams avenue July 7, with Miss Floy Galpin and Mrs. J. R. Love as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bruce left Friday for their former home in Massachusetts for an extended visit. Their many friends shall miss them greatly as Mr. and Mrs. Bruce have resided in this valley for several years. It will be remembered that Mr. Bruce recently disposed of his drug store business to A. J. Long, who took full possession this week.

Miss Olive Moe held a picnic on Wednesday in Eagle Rock park for her Sunday school class. Those who attended and greatly enjoyed the picnic dinner were Evalyn Vince, Hazel and Helen House, Wayne, Marion and Bobbie Kingdon, Edward, Ernest and Arthur McCormick, Ernest Ogelbie, Margaret Harden, Elsa May Scouten, Paul Bates and Mesdames Vince, Kingdon and Ogelbie, who assisted Miss Moe with the picnic.

"THE GOVERNOR'S LADY" PRODUCED BY GEO. MELFORD

The special Paramount feature, "The Governor's Lady," which will be shown at the Palace Grand theater Monday and Tuesday of next week, July 5 and 6, was directed by George Melford of this city, and is said to be one of his best "bits of work."

At the beginning of the drama Dan Slade, a young miner, and Mary, his wife, are shown happy together in their little mountain cabin. Mary is content with life so long as she has Dan to care for, but Dan already shows signs of a great ambition.

Robert Hayes, a young lawyer, riding in the hills near Dan's cabin, falls over a cliff with his horse and the fall dislodges some of the earth from the face of the cliff. Dan, returning from his work at the mines, discovers Hayes and at the same time among the rocks brought down by the fall, unmistakable traces of gold. Dan brings Hayes home to the cabin and Mary cares for him, with the result that they become fast friends. It turns out that Dan's discovery is a real gold mine and he is rich. Mary and Dan then move to a large house in the city and Dan surrounds himself with money and servants. He wants to rise and become a power, but Mary is afraid of everything and longs for the old simple life together.

At this period of his career Dan meets Senator Strickland, a political leader, and Katherine, his daughter, a beautiful and ambitious girl with whom Hayes is in love. The senator objects to Hayes as a possible son-in-law because he is poor, and separates the lovers, sending Katherine abroad for a time. On her return from Europe, Katherine has become ambitious herself and craves money and influence. She and her father both see a future for Dan Slade in politics and they urge him to run for the office of governor.

Dan gradually grows restive and impatient with Mary, who cannot get used to money, servants, dress or any of the conditions of her new life. Dan, meanwhile, becomes fascinated with Katherine and Katherine with the thought of all she could do with Slade's wealth and political power. Dan asks Katherine whether she would share his career if he were free and she admits that she would do so, which causes Dan to leave home and ask his faithful wife for a divorce. Dan asks Hayes to act as his lawyer, but Hayes refuses and breaks his relations with Katherine when he learns that it is because of the girl he himself loves that Dan wishes to be separated from Mary. Mary cannot believe that Dan wishes to leave her, but learns through Hayes' suffering that Katherine is the other woman.

Strickland gives a dinner to the politicians at his home and Dan is hailed as the next governor. Mary comes there and tells Dan that she will never consent to a divorce which will ruin three lives. Mary then goes back to live in the little cabin, where she spent her happiest days, and this causes much talk when Dan's enemies and the newspapers learn of it.

Mary sends for Katherine and she shows the girl what she is doing and Katherine, thoroughly ashamed of the extremes to which her foolish ambition has led her, is forgiven by Hayes. Dan, coming to ask Mary to go away, learns the truth—that Katherine cares not for him but for Hayes. At the same time he is surprised at the change in Mary and asks her to come back to the city with him, but Mary refuses on the ground that he is asking her only because he cannot get the other woman, saying that she is now ready to give him his divorce. In the end, however, Dan is elected governor and his wife takes her proper place by his side.
