GIVES DETAILS OF RIVERSIDE DRIVE PROPOSITION

Director of Los Angeles City Planning Board Addresses Meeting

Glen Dale residents who did not respond to the call to attend the mass meeting at the high school last night to hear G. Gordon Whitnall, director of the Los Angeles city planning commission and member of the Los Angeles county planning commission, discuss the Riverside Drive project and entrance it will provide into Griffith park, failed to hear a masterful discussion of civic zoning and traffic direction by an expert in these lines.

Unfortunately other gatherings detracted greatly from the meeting at the high school, where every taxpayer of Glendale and San Fernando valley should have been to hear Mr. Whitnall sketch the origin and development of the Riverside Drive project and explain its inevitable importance to the city of Glendale and nearby communities.

However, the audience that heard Mr. Whitnall was composed of citizens who are vitally interested in the knowledge they received last night will be valuable to understanding discussions of the project by civic organizations and final action by the city.

"When the Los Angeles city planning commission was organized seven years ago we found our first big problem was zoning and traffic direction," said Mr. Whitnall in introducing his subject.

"We found an interesting and unparalleled traffic situation in Los Angeles. There are three reasons for the enormous amount of traffic in Los Angeles. First, the limited street area; second, a large ownership of motor vehicles per capita; and third, climatic conditions that admit of almost constant use of motor vehicles."

In addition to the traffic in the city Mr. Whitnall stated that the commission was confronted with the traffic from outlying districts and they found in their investigations that all traffic from the area of the San Gabriel valley en route for points beyond Los Angeles had

Teacher In One School 32 Years And Never Absent

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gage of 1233 Dorothy Drive enjoyed a visit yesterday from George A. Powles of Chicago, an old-time friend and associate of Mr. Gage.

Mr. Powles, who is instructor of English at McKinley High school in Chicago, has made a remarkable record of teaching in one school for thirty-two years without once being absent or tardy. He is spending his summer vacation in the west and will go from here to Oakland, where two sons reside, and will enjoy a motor tour with one of them through Yosemite Park.

Mr. Gage and Mr. Powles were associated together in the schools of Chicago for many years, until Mr. Gage was forced to retire, owing to his health becoming impaired. Mr. Powles is very much interested in the comparison of the schools of the west with those in his own city.

The teaching staff of the public schools of Chicago were given a noticeable increase in salary this year, which will add from $100 to $100 to the present scale.

Miss Waunita Emery to Wed Jack Eaton

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery of 329 North Kenwood street was the scene of a pleasant event Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Emery entertained a large number of local and out-of-town friends at an announcement party which was given in honor of her daughter, Miss Waunita Emery. She is to be married to Jack Eaton of Santa Barbara in the near future.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion in pink and green, the general color scheme of pink, white and green being carried out in a most artistic manner throughout the three front rooms.

The principal diversion of the afternoon was an exciting game of bunks, in which Mrs. Mabel Long of Hollywood was given the first prize for high score. The consolation award went to Mrs. C. D. Lusby of this city.

Following the bunks game the guests were seated about numerous small tables and were presented with dainty place-cards as a means of announcing the engagement of Miss Emery and Mr. Eaton.

The cards consisted of two pale pink rosebuds tied with a white ribbon, attached to which were petite cards with the names of the newlyweds-to-be inscribed on them. A delicious two-course luncheon was then served, during which time a telegram was received from Miss Emery's cousin, Mrs. Harold Latter of Oakland, with a congratulatory message to the bride-elect.

The guests included Mrs. Mabel Long, Miss Melba Cornell and Miss Mary King of Hollywood; Miss Audrey Crisp of Little Rock, Arkansas; Mrs. Max Cates of Eagle Rock, and the following local people: Mesdames Ray Borstwick, J. G. Huntley, Hattie Johnston, Henry Johnston, Seymour G. Smith, Lloyd Bradley, Owen C. Emery, A. L. Bryant, Frank Weller, Wilbur Lee, C. R. Lusby, C. D. Mr. Ferry's report dealt principally with the completed plans for the summer vacation camp of the Scouts, which is to be held at the site near Howland's Landing, Catalina Island, July 20 to 29. The plans were heartily approved by the council.

Mr. Benner's report dealt principally with the activities of the Scouts in this district during the month of June.

A new troop, designated as Troop No. 1, was formed at La Crescenta, stated the executive. The troop includes a personnel of sixteen Scouts.

A number of tests, said Mr. Benner, were given in the district, to secure higher ratings for the Scouts. These tests, included twenty-five for the Tenderfoot rating, sixteen for second-class and eight for first-class Scouts.

Five Merit Badge examinations were also given during the month. These included tests in scholarship, swimming, craftsmanship in wood and firemanship.

In closing, Mr. Benner stated that twenty-five new members had been taken into the Scout organization during the period covered.

REALTORS INDORSE PROPOSITION TO SECURE HOTEL

George A. Whitney Tells of Project; Plans Call for Many Features

"Next year I expect the greatest crop of tourists to come here in the entire history of Glendale," said George A. Whitney, representative of the W. Ross Campbell company of Los Angeles, speaking before the Glendale Realty Board yesterday noon.

The local hotel project was the principal subject of discussion at the meeting. The proposition was given endorsement. It was decided that resolutions with regard to the Sample or lawyers' bill be withheld until representatives of the opposing sides, the attorneys and the California Bankers' Association, could be heard.

The placing of numerous "For Sale" signs on properties in town was condemned, and it was explained that while the multiple listing system would alleviate part of that trouble, no control could be obtained over the owners who advertise their own property in this manner.

President Thom stated that according to "the highest authority on such matters in Glendale, Mayor Robinson," the three-hour parking ordinance will go into effect.

Mr. Whitney of the Campbell company, which is interested in the hotel project, then addressed the board on the subject of the proposed hotel to be built at the corner of Glendale avenue and East Broadway.

"We are not promoters," said Mr. Whitney before introducing his subject. "We are simply members of the Los Angeles Realty Board, and live up to the ethics of that body. We are interested in Glendale, in getting the hotel here, and in making it profitable for both our client and the people of this city, as it undoubtedly will be."

Mr. Whitney began with a history of the attempts to secure a hotel in this city, and the investigations made at different times by the Campbell organization. He mentioned a lengthy article concerning the hotel project which

INCREASING FUNDS OF HIGH SCHOOL NOT SUPPORTED

Glendale Exchange Club Believes $600,000 Enough for Northeast Site

The Glendale Exchange club yesterday noon went on record as opposed to the expenditure of more than $600,000 on the new high school site.

This organization, which was formerly known as the Glendale Progressive Business club, held its weekly luncheon at the Broadway Inn, 637 East Broadway. The meal, which was much praised, included among other things, strawberry shortcake and ice cream.

"The high school situation was outlined by Captain W. B. Kelly of 106 West Colorado street, the president of the club.

"As you all know," asserted Mr. Kelly, "we had a contest several months ago between the east side and the west side of the city as to where the high school should be located. The east side won out and was to build a high school on a west side site. He stated that the bonding capacity at the time, the bonding capacity this fall is going to be increased by about $400,000 more."

Says 'Breach of Faith'
The expenditure of more than $600,000 on the new high school site was characterized as a breach of faith by Mr. Kelly. He said that failure to make provision for a high school in the northwest section of the city would retard the development of this section of Glendale.

"I am not one of those folks who, having gotten a big thing, want to make it bigger," declared Dr. Henry R. Harrower, explaining that he was thoroughly in favor of a west side site. He also stated that he was in favor of retaining the present high school site for school purposes. He denounced its sale for whatever the property would bring and commented upon its increasing value.

Opposed to Project
"I think that we should be satisfied with the amount of money originally intended," remarked George A. Whitaker of 400 East Broadway. He characterized the idea of spending a million dollars in round numbers for a high school as a breach of faith.

Bridge was enjoyed during the afternoon. Mrs. Nelson's guests were Mesdames Clarence Giegler, Wayne Smith, Noble Ripley and Miss Harriet Barnes of Glendale; Mesdames C. W. Illingworth and D. E. Cason of Pomona; Miss Marion Postell and Mrs. John G. Lambert of Hollywood.

RESURFACING AIDS BOULEVARD IN EAGLE ROCK

C. S. Bramble, Who Has Charge of Street Work, Tells of Improvements

C. S. Bramble, street superintendent of Eagle Rock is planning to spend seven or eight days more in resurfacing Colorado boulevard. For the past three days his forces have been at work, and have completed the work on the north side of the street from Glendale city limits to Central avenue, and part of the south side.

Just east of the sharp curve on West Colorado, a new heavy rock surface is being applied on the steep grade, which was very rough and worn. This section of the street is closed to traffic, and will remain so until the rock has been oiled and rolled.

Another Week's Work

Today Mr. Bramble has been at work on the north side of the boulevard, between Central and Townsend. From Townsend avenue he plans to cover the boulevard east as far as Pasadena city limits, beyond the Rock. It is only in spots that this part of the boulevard is in bad condition, and Mr. Bramble expects to finish the entire length within the next six or seven days.

Considerable apparatus is being used in surfacing the pavements. First a "disc planer" is pulled over the street, the sharp edges of the discs cutting off the bumps. This is followed by a road grader which levels the street, filling the chuck holes with the loose material, and leaving the surplus which was cut from the bumpy spots, on the side of the road. This refuse is picked up and hauled away in the city's wagons.

Wet Before Rolling

Next a sprinkling wagon wets down the treated pavement, and it is rolled, forming a hard, smooth surface. The sprinkling is necessary, according to Mr. Bramble, not as an aid to paving, but to prevent the sticky oil and rock conglomerate from adhering to the heavy wheels of the roller.

A very marked improvement is noticed by the motorist who has been traveling over the bumps of Colorado boulevard. The bumps and ruts have been ironed out and the smooth surface tempts the chronic speeder to give Officer Williams more business.

Tells of Other Sections
The south side of Colorado between Central and Townsend is not to be surfaced at this time, says Superintendent Bramble. The base of the pavement in this section is practically destroyed, and it would be useless, he says, to try to treat it as the rest of the paving, which still retains a fair foundation.

A concrete base is necessary for that section, Mr. Bramble says. He is to do nothing to the pavement until he receives orders from the city council. Various plans are being contemplated, it is understood, for financing the improvement of the section, but as yet no action has been taken. "At least," says the superintendent, "most of the boulevard is going to be slicked up a little bit."

YOSEMITE GOAL OF A. E. TAYLOR

Eagle Rock Party to Leave Saturday for National Park Playground

Arthur E. Taylor of the Eagle Rock water department, is to leave Saturday noon with his wife and son, Arthur, Jr., for an automobile tour of the Yosemite. He plans to return in time to be back on the job a week from Monday.

He has been in the national park two times, but never has made the trip by automobile, he says. The party will leave the state highway at Madera and will take the Wawona route into the valley, going by the Mariposa grove of big Sequoia trees. They will take a complete camping outfit along, and will camp out during the entire trip.

"No one who has never been to the Yosemite can imagine the magnificence of it," said Mr. Taylor. "Photographs give but little idea of its beauty. It is my favorite vacation spot."

Little Girl Has Fear of Lions in Animal Cracker

This is a story vouchsafed for by H. Golz, the manager for Chaffee's at 112 East Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock. A young matron walked into the store yesterday and among other purchases, asked for a pound of animal crackers for her little girl. She then asked Mr. Golz not to include any lions in them, as they frightened the tot. "Can you beat it?"

SPECIAL GEARS FOR FIRE TRUCK

New Blaze Chaser Will Have Special Gears to Climb Eagle Rock Hills

Eagle Rock's new $5000 fire engine has gone to the hospital for internal rearrangements. The Gorham Fire Apparatus company of Los Angeles was to install a special gear for work on Eagle Rock's precipitous hills, but this gear was not in the car when it was delivered Monday evening. Representatives of the company, it is understood, took the speed wagon back to Los Angeles today for the installation of the extra cogs.

"How do you like your new bus?" Fire Marshal C. S. Bramble was asked.

"Well, she's pretty, anyway," he replied.

While the new engine is away, the old Lincoln Pup will continue to menace the glass door of the city hall. The Pup is expected to return tomorrow morning.

Wall of Building Collapses; Two Die

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—Two workers were killed and eleven injured this afternoon when the south wall of the City Center building at Broad and Cherry streets collapsed at the tenth floor, sending tons of debris on to the roofs of adjoining buildings.

The building, formerly known as the Parkway building, was under reconstruction. Fire apparatus and ambulances from nearby hospitals responded and at once took up the work of rescue.

The dead were a white man and a colored man. It was feared other victims might be buried under the wreckage, into which rescue workers were slowly digging their way.

The cause of the collapse was a mystery. According to eye-witnesses the central portion of the roof on the south side of the building suddenly seemed to give away and crashed downward, ripping off the sidewalls of the ninth and tenth floors and smashing a large opening in the eighth. Tons of brick, heavy joists and huge concrete pillars fell like thunderbolts on adjoining buildings, in many instances demolishing roofs and endangering occupants of upper floors.

Battle Creek Folk to Picnic July 23

Glendale members of the Battle Creek society of Southern California are planning to attend the annual picnic and outdoor reunion of the organization on Sunday, July 23, in the open air theater in Brookside park, Pasadena. This announcement is made by Dr. Henry R. Harrower of this city, who is the newly-elected president of the society.

The day's festivities will start promptly at 10:30 a. m., when the register of the society will be opened. Following this the merry-makers will enjoy a "community" basket luncheon, after which Dr. Harrower will deliver an address of welcome.

At 1:30 p. m. the special afternoon program will be introduced by a vocal solo by Dr. Harrower, after which the following features will be in order: Reading of messages from absent members, report of the secretary, Dr. V. Hammond Lucas of Pasadena, vocal selections, speeches, community singing, "A Review of the Battle Creek Idea," reminiscences by the women of the society, a doctors' and nurses' symposium, etc.

A number of specially arranged athletic contests and races will be staged following the program, prizes to be given to the winners of the various events. This part of the celebration will be in charge of the department heads.

Those who are planning to attend the outing are requested by those in charge to "bring your own" basket lunch.

Three States Plan Big Picnic Outing

Glendale people originally from Virginia, Georgia, North or South Carolina, are called to a big picnic outing, Saturday, July 15, at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, the gathering to be the first of joint reunions of groups of states.

Native of the "Old Dominion," "Cracker," "Tar Heel" and "Palmetto" states are asked to come Saturday and bring families and friends and participate in one of the biggest gatherings of southerners ever held in the west.

"Fighting Bob" Shuler will be the orator and M. M. Johnson will lead the old southern melodies, County registers, coffee, badges and basket dinners will be features of the day.

$70,000 in Contracts Written in One Week

The Western Mutual Finance company of which Campbell & Haines, located at 110 East Broadway, are general agents for Eagle Rock and the San Fernando Valley, has opened up with a remarkable business. During the first week, a total of $70,000 in contracts were written, according to Mr. Haines. This stride is due to the equitable plan upon which the company operates and the fact that it is under the supervision of the state corporation commission, he says. The contracts, issued in denominations of $1000 or any tenth multiple thereof, are interest bearing at the rate of 4 per cent compounded semi-annually and real estate loans are made at 5 1/2 per cent at which rate the total interest to be paid can only be $188.70 per $1000.

As the payments are made on these contracts, interest accumulates to the credit of the holder and the loans are made from the amounts paid in. It is a financing plan which is proving very popular, both as an investment and as a means of aiding those who desire to build. All loans are secured by a first mortgage and cannot exceed 60 per cent of the appraised value of the property, it is declared.

Mr. Haines is very optimistic and says "that the business is growing rapidly."

Flapper Ordered Out of Court by Judge

NEW YORK—"I will have no flappers shifting about this courtroom," said Magistrate James O'Neill in Bridge Plaza Court after he had directed court attendants to escort Miss Ira Adelman, 18, from the room.

She was in court because her father, Nathan, had been arrested on a charge of assault. Miss Adelman was trying to get closer to the rail to hear the proceedings when the magistrate directed that she be warned to keep still. She failed to heed the warning.

URGES IMMEDIATE ACTION

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Federal regulation of grain exchanges to prevent manipulation of prices by speculation in futures is more important at this time than a year ago, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace declared in a message to the senate agricultural committee. Wallace urged immediate action on the Capper-Tincher "anti-grain gambling" bill, now being considered by the committee.

Colonel Lenone Past 90 Years? Maybe

Vigorous protest was advanced yesterday afternoon by Colonel Charles F. Lenone, picturesque Glendale resident and prominent E. L., when he was mentioned for The Evening News' over 90 years aggregation.

Upright figure, lively step and active interest in civic and club affairs tend to deny the rumor that the colonel is past 90. However, he did not deny the rumor, neither was he willing to say more than:

"Wait until you write up the young men of Glendale and then I'll tell you the story of my life."

VICTIM OF THIEF MAKES PLEA TO RESCUE HIM

Rich Man Urges Leniency
Be Shown to Robber
Who Pleaded Guilty

NEW YORK, July 13.—Mitchell Harrison, millionaire sugar refiner of Philadelphia, appeared before Judge Nott of General Sessions and made a plea for Luman H. Beede. Beede pleaded guilty to stealing $70,000 in jewels belonging to Mrs. Harrison.

Mr. Harrison asked that leniency be shown Beede if he had no previous criminal record and if all the jewels were recovered. He held no animosity against Beede. There was still $20,000 worth of jewelry missing.

Beede Has Record

After Mr. Harrison had left the court it was disclosed that Beede had a record of three convictions on grand larceny charges, twice in Boston and once in Detroit. A charge also stands against him in Brooklyn, where he is accused of obtaining money under false pretenses from a woman. So that it is unlikely that leniency will be shown.

Beede assumed full responsibility for the theft and stuck to his original statement that the bag containing the jewels had been thrust into his taxicab by a porter at the Pennsylvania station. He said the lure of the suddenly confronted fortune was an overpowering temptation. The police say his record proves he has become a chronic prey to temptation.

Clears Three Others

Miss Ruth Hayden of Chicago and John Gavin and David Bushnell were completely exonerated by Beede. The four were arrested here. Miss Hayden was liberated. Gavin and Bushnell were indicted with Beede.

Miss Hayden still expressed entire faith in Beede, whom she is engaged to wed. She said she would not marry Beede while he is in prison, but will wait until he is liberated.

The police and district attorney were satisfied that Miss Hayden's only connection with the affair was to receive one of the sealed packages containing some of the jewels in her home in Chicago and which had been mailed by Beede from Philadelphia. The officials believe her story that she followed Beede's instructions not to open the package and that she did not know its contents.

ACCEPT HARDING OFFER

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The first acceptance of President Harding's arbitration proposal to settle the coal strike was made known here today.

A committee of anthracite coal operators called at the White House and left a long statement with the president in which they accepted the terms which he laid down Monday for arbitration of the labor strike. The operators would not make public the statement.

Plan of Harding to Discuss Coal Strike Accepted

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—The first break in the deadlocked coal conference came yesterday afternoon with the acceptance by the anthracite operators of the proposal of President Harding to submit their quarrel with the United Mine Workers to federal arbitration.

After pointing out in a formal communication to the president that the operators had already proposed the establishment of a commission to investigate the wages and working conditions in the coal industry, the hard coal operators declared they were "entirely in sympathy with the principle of the method of settlement" suggested by the administration.

The reply of the anthracite operators was signed by S. D. Warriner, W. J. Richards, W. L. Connell and W. W. Inglis.

MONTE CRISTO ON GLENDALE SCREEN

Story by Dumas Sure to Please; Critic Declares
Acting Beyond Praise

"Monte Cristo," again at the Glendale Theatre today, should bring out record crowds for it is a fine picture, true to the story by Dumas, and the work of the actors is beyond all praise. A confirmed critic writes of them as follows:

"First honors, of course, go to Jack Gilbert as the count. As the youth, Edmund Dante, he is entirely ingenious, magnetic, appealing. As the prisoner he lacks nothing; and he manages a transition to the dignity and suppressed fire of late middle age after the suffering, the bitterness of prison life, and his escape into a world that doesn't know him—that bespeaks the real artist.

"Estelle Taylor as Mercedes is gorgeously beautiful. William V. Mong comes close to stealing more honors than the part rightly calls for in the role of Cadereousse; Spottiswoode Aitken appears poignantly as the life-long prisoner Abbe Faria; Virginia Browne Faire is very lovely as Haidee; Robert McKim rises splendidly to the villainous Duke de Villefort, while Renee Adoree, Maude George, George Seigemann, Ralph Clominger, Harry Lonsdale, Gaston Glass, Al Filson, Albert Prisco, Francis McDonald, Jack Cosgrove and Herschel Mayall all cover themselves with glory." That says a lot for this fine Fox feature.

Enormous losses to the whole country from big strikes, with no corresponding gain for the people or for any class, demonstrative once more that a better way of adjusting industrial disputes must be found.

GOVERNMENT WILL INAUGURATE BIG NAVAL CAMPS

Emergency Complements to Be Made Ready for Instant Combat

By WILLIAM HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The skeletonized American navy, the smallest among the world's leading naval powers, will be kept ready for emergencies through development of reserve officers at naval camps throughout the country.

A $3,000,000 appropriation in the recent naval bill authorized the establishment of camps for summer training in the navy, similar to those held by national guard units in two score states.

The naval reserve force, so organized, will give training to 10,000 men and 3000 officers, who will be ready at all times to be used in emergency combat service.

The regular navy of 86,000 men will be far below the strength of recent years, but the officer personnel will be maintained above the 4 per cent ratio to be used as the nucleus of a greater and swiftly expanding force in event of war.

On the new navy rolls there will be 4431 officers, with a much larger percentage than usual holding high positions.

While there have been attacks on this policy both in the house and senate, proponents of an adequate national defense contended it was provided in the interests of national safety. The 4431 officers will give the navy 1000 more officers than it would obtain if the 4 per cent rule were applied. A majority of these will be placed in higher grades, so that the men upon whose shoulders will fall the responsibility of high command in war shall have a thorough training in executive positions prior to actual war service.

Would Eliminate Hardships

This defense plan, it was stated officially, would eliminate much of the hardships inflicted on the navy during the last war, when there existed a dire shortage of experienced officers for the higher commands. The present officer force, it was explained, would be enough to command a navy of 131,000 immediately, with only the need of additional ensigns and junior lieutenants, and the lowest grades in the navy.

It was pointed out that when America entered the world war the navy had to make rapid promotions and had to train new men to fill the higher executive commands. With the present reserve force of 3000 trained officers and the 4431 regular officers, there would be enough executives to direct a war-time navy of approximately 235,000 men, almost the strength of the navy at its peak during the world war.

Provide Trained Men

This officer strength in war-time would be thoroughly trained in modern naval warfare, particularly the use of submarines, destroyers and aircraft. There would be sufficient material available to fill every executive position with trained men and to complete the round of fleet commanders without drawing on inexperienced men.

The naval reserve, it was said, would also provide 10,000 trained sailors to fill the non-commissioned posts among the enlisted personnel. This would eliminate another shortage that developed during the world war. In short, the navy, while effecting great economies, will be on a thoroughly prepared basis for swift inflation in time of war.

Camphor & Hydrastis Fine for Sore Eyes

It is surprising how QUICK eye inflammation is helped by camphor, hydrastis, witchhazel, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. One small bottle Lavoptik usually helps ANY CASE of sore, weak or inflamed eyes. Aluminum eye cup FREE. Roberts & Echols, Druggists.—Advertisement.

That President Harding cannot accept the shop crafts position entailed was freely predicted by his advisers. For him to do so, it was said, would be for the government to recognize the injustice of the acts of a duly constituted agency of the government (the railway labor board) set up by law to deal with just such situations.

For the President to give his sanction to a joint conference between the workers and the railway executives without interference by the board as hinted at by the workers' telegram would be tantamount to decreasing the death of the railway labor board.

One move open to the administration, it was said, would be to summon to Washington the railway labor board, the leaders of insurgent railway men and the railway executives and in the quiet calm of the capitol seek to settle the differences that have proved unreachably in the hectic atmosphere of Chicago.

Peace Conference on Rail Trouble Is Board's Offer

Chicago, July 13.—An agreement by railroad executives not to require members of the "big four" brotherhoods to do any of the work of striking shopmen and the receipt of a proposal of Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the United States railway labor board to arrange a peace conference were momentous steps toward ending the strike taken late yesterday.

Brotherhood representatives obtained the agreement concerning the work of men out on strike at a conference with the executives in the office of Samuel M. Felton, president of the Chicago and Great Western.

"The meeting was entirely harmonious," Felton said. "We shall notify all railroad executives advising them to stop the objectionable practice. We cannot guarantee that they will stop, but I believe they will."

Hooper met the executives a short time before and offered to effect a conference between them and B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking shopmen.

"The text of the telegram follows: 'It appears from your proclamation of July 11 that incomplete information has been furnished you concerning the present dispute around the railroad operators and the employees. We are sorry that the transportation act or decisions of the railroad labor board in 104 cases. These involve not only contracting out work and shops, but also wage decisions, interpretations of rules and rights of employees to select their own representatives.'

RAILROAD STRIKE BECOMES WORSE

Wholesale Tie-Up Seems to Be Near; Labor Plans
Contest to Finish

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Face to face with the ugly fact that the railroad strike is hourly becoming more serious; that a wholesale tie-up of transportation is just around the corner, and that labor is "digging in" for a showdown fight which will determine the life or death of the railway labor board, officials in Washington began to lose today some of the optimism that so far has marked the government's attitude in the situation.

In every department of the government that has to do with movements of trains, mail and commerce, from the war department, where soldiers are being made ready for emergencies, to the post-office department, where fleets of motor trucks are being mobilized on paper, the attitude today was "hoping for the best and preparing for the worst."

Reports received here today indicated that the situation is becoming more acute on many roads as rolling stock, particularly locomotives, begin to show need of repairs.

The tendency towards violence also is reported to be increasing in many sections, although no serious new outbreaks have been reported.

The shop crafts telegram to President Harding, coming as it did, on top of Samuel Gompers' open condemnation of the President's law and order proclamation and the action of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor in ordering union members to refuse repair work on roads concerned in the strike, was accepted here as proof positive that labor is "digging in" for a long battle.

Up to President

Labor leaders said the shop crafts telegram, laying the onus of the present strike on the railroad should be regarded as an answer to President Harding's proclamation and at the same time labor's platform and declaration of principles on which it will stand to the last.

The shop crafts telegram admittedly put the next move up to President Harding. It is expected his reply will reveal the government's platform as fully as labor's was revealed by the shop crafts message.

That President Harding cannot accept the shop crafts position entailed was freely predicted by his advisers. For him to do so, it was said, would be for the government to recognize the injustice of the acts of a duly constituted agency of the government (the railway labor board) set up by law to deal with just such situations.

For the President to give his sanction to a joint conference between the workers and the railway executives without interference by the board as hinted at by the workers' telegram would be tantamount to decreasing the death of the railway labor board.

One move open to the administration, it was said, would be to summon to Washington the railway labor board, the leaders of insurgent railway men and the railway executives and in the quiet calm of the capitol seek to settle the differences that have proved unreachably in the hectic atmosphere of Chicago.

BEATEN TO DEATH

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Every faculty of the police department and sheriff's office was centered today on the solution of Los Angeles' latest crime mystery following the discovery late yesterday of the brutally mutilated body of an unidentified woman about 30 years old on a lonely road near the end of the Griffin avenue street car line.

The woman had apparently been beaten to death with a hammer.

Attractively dressed, and from all appearances an immaculate and beautiful girl, she had bobbed hair and wore rolled-down stockings. The only mark of identification on any part of her clothing was on her pink silk lingerie, which bore the name of J. L. Hudson, Detroit, Mich.

STRIKING SHOPMEN TELL PRESIDENT GRIEVANCES

Union Sends Telegram to Harding in Reply to His Proclamation

CHICAGO, July 13.—Grievances of the striking railway shopmen against the railroads and the United States railway labor board were laid before President Harding today in a telegram sent to the nation's chief executive by the executive council of the shop crafts unions. Charges of partiality are clearly made against the labor board. The willingness to bring about a settlement is set forth.

The telegram is the union's response to the proclamation issued by President Harding that mails must not be interfered with.

The telegram charges that the board has fixed wage scales far beneath the standard of a living wage and contends that the employees are clearly within their rights in striking. It points out that Federal Judge Page has held the decisions of the labor board on wages and rules are merely advisory.

Text of Telegram

The text of the telegram follows: "It appears from your proclamation of July 11 that incomplete information has been furnished you concerning the present dispute around the railroad operators and the employees. We are sorry that the transportation act or decisions of the railroad labor board in 104 cases. These involve not only contracting out work and shops, but also wage decisions, interpretations of rules and rights of employees to select their own representatives.'

"When the Pennsylvania railroad refused to comply with the board's ruling, Federal Judge Page held that the board's decisions on wages and rules are only advisory. The railroads have refused ever since the passage of the transportation act to establish national boards of adjustment described by the labor board as an essential part of the machinery to decide disputes between carriers and employees. The railroads have made all negotiations merely formal thus throwing on the board an impossible burden of arbitration.

Reduction in Wage

"The board has abolished overtime pay for holidays and Sundays, enjoyed for thirty years even on unorganized roads. The board has established a basic wage of $10 per year although the department of labor states that a bare subsistence of living at over $1,400 and a minimum comfort budget of over $1,730.

"Organized employees support declaration of May 23, 1921, that the lowest wage must be enough for comfort and insure that the struggle for existence shall not crowd out things truly worth living for and provide education, recreation and saving. Employees have never violated any decisions of the board, but railroads have violated the decisions and employees have refused to work under wages fixed by the labor board in violation of the provisions of the transportation act.

"The board has attempted to unload financial burdens of the railroad managements upon employees through inadequate wages that will undermine the health and prosperity of the next generation. After exhausting all other methods the employees sought again to obtain a conference and agreement and only as a last resort did they strike.

Blames Railroads

"We respectfully insist that no interruption of commerce or interference with the mails is caused by direct or unlawful acts of organized employees. Such interruption and interference result inevitably from attempts of railroads to operate with insufficient, incompetent and unskilled workmen. Such interruption and interference will continue and increase until agreement is obtained upon just and reasonable wages between the representatives of the skilled employees and the railroad executives who up to date have refused even to meet with the employees' representatives.

"We stand ready to co-operate wholeheartedly with any effort to bring about such an agreement."

The telegram is signed by B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor; John Scott, secretary of the department; William Johnston, of the machinists; J. J. Hines, of the sheet metal workers; J. W. Klein, of the blacksmiths; Charles W. Noyan, of the electrical workers; J. A. Rankin, of the boiler-makers, and Martin F. Ryan, of the carmen.

WAIT TO SEE GLORIA

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Eager throngs of men and women jammed the courtroom of Probate Judge James C. Rives today to see Miss Gloria Swanson, celebrated screen star, take the witness stand in her own defense in the will contest for the $100,000 estate of the late Mathew P. Burns, shoe dealer.

Long before the hour for the opening of the morning session, the advance guard of the motley throng had arrived and taken seats in the front row of the witness stand as possible spectators.

Miss Swanson was scheduled to be the first witness called, in an effort to refute testimony given by the scores of witnesses called by attorneys representing Burns' relatives in the court fight.

Russian Army Now Formidable Force

PARIS—From an impotent, disorganized body, camouflaged as formidable, the Red army has become a force genuinely to be dreaded, according to Paul Erio, writing from Moscow to the Journal. And the man who is responsible for the change, according to the French correspondent, is Leon Trotsky.

Formerly, M. Erio writes, the Soviet government had at its disposal only a few thousand well trained men, which it trotted out on parade for propaganda purposes. Since Trotsky became minister of war and marine, in 1918, however, the Red army has been entirely reorganized. Czarist officers have been induced, sometimes by threat, sometimes by bribery, to train the men; other officers have been imported from Germany, and arms and supplies have been assembled from all over the world.

The classes of 1899, 1900 and 1901 now serving under the colors, number 1,370,000, to which must be added a militia of 500,000. At the end of April the Red army possessed a million and a half rifles, more than 2000 pieces of light artillery, 500 to 600 pieces of heavy artillery, about 10,000 machine guns and from 500 to 600 cartridges per gun. A supply of airplanes is being furnished by Berlin.

A feature of the new army is the elegance of the officers' uniforms, according to M. Erio. Instead of gold braid, red braids worn, and this assumes curious designs according to the taste of the individual officer. Privates wear a uniform similar to that worn by the Czarist soldiers, but with a queer khaki cap, pointed and adorned by an enormous red star.

Boy Defends Flapper, Masculine, Feminine

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—The flapper, both masculine and feminine, has good standards and high aspirations and critics are unjust, asserted Daniel Debrier, 16-year-old honor student, in his valedictory address at the commencement exercises of the Atlantic City High school.

"People have the idea," he said, "that because a girl wears short fringed dresses, bobbed hair and adopts a vocabulary of her own, she is immoral, and because a modern boy covers sixty miles in sixty minutes in his motor car, because he dances nightly to the latest jazz music, and considers parental discipline a training to be administered by him to his parents, that he is becoming ungovernable and wayward and he will grow up unworthy and unable to carry burdens thrust upon him.

"Youth has been accused of everything that is sordid because a few narrow minds and self-conceited persons have been allowed to have their say. They merely have a wrong point of view."

Flappers, both masculine and feminine, he said, are signs of the time, and they want criticism where it belongs and not upon youth.

"Where does the fault lie?" the boy asked. "Our parents have received their share of blame and they have been characterized as blind because they do not see our faults. Others attempt to solve the problem by saying that the fault lies with youth itself, while still others claim the freedom of today is due to war, to the abandonment of religion, or to the decay of home influence. Answers are hazy and the question still remains."

Applies Psychology To Eggs of Hens

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Webster's definition that psychology is the science of the human soul is due for an amendment as a result of the experiments of Mrs. Thomas Flanagan, of Lillian avenue, Eastwood, who has been delving into the effect of that doctrine on eggs.

If the chicken within the egg has no soul it has something that is susceptible to thought transfer—once, and the mother hen can be influenced through the same medium, Mrs. Flanagan declares.

"I use psychology," explained Mrs. Flanagan. "After my hens began to set it occurred to me that I might get better results if I 'concentrated' on the hens and the eggs. So I began to picture in my mind that those hens were coming off the nests with large, healthy families of chickens.

"I had set duck eggs under one hen, so I had to picture a fine family of ducks when I thought of her. When I went out to feed them I patted the hens, told them what good mothers they were, felt 'of the eggs and suggested' to the developing intelligence inside the shells that they hatch out strong, healthy chicks.

"The results have been remarkable. Those hatches which have had 'mental suggestion' the longest have hatched out the largest and strongest families. I have fifty lusty chicks, fourteen out of one hatch, and seventeen flourishing ducks. I know that psychology works.

SEEKS STOCK SALE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—Southern California Edison company presented to the railroad commission today for its approval a proposed reclassification of its capital stock and asked authority in this connection to issue and sell $9,500,000 par value of a proposed new 7 per cent cumulative non-participating preferred stock. The company reports that an agreement has been entered into with the holders of its second preferred stock for the retirement of that stock on a price basis which will cause a net reduction in the company's capital stock outstanding of over $2,500,000.

FIGHT OVER FORD OFFER CAUSING DISCUSSION
 Philip T. Wells Declares Proposal Hits Principles of Conservation

By J. E. JONES
 Special to The Evening News
 WASHINGTON, July 13.—“Conservation” and “Pinchot” are almost synonymous in some parts of the country. Pinchot is finally being understood in his own state of Pennsylvania where he is the Republican nominee for governor. And it may be that the “Ford offer” will serve a very useful purpose in vindicating before the country the Pinchot principles of “conservation.” Philip T. Wells, president of the Connecticut Forestry association, is the man who wrote the two famous vetoes of President Roosevelt on the water power bills of 1908 and 1909, and he has stated before the senate committee that the Ford offer violates all the basic principles for which conservationists have fought for so many years.

Mr. Wells and Mr. Pinchot were the same armor in the famous political battles when “conservation” was a bigger issue, and less understood than is the Ford offer at the present time. Mr. Wells decried what he called the “Ford water policy” to the senate committee on agriculture and forestry. “There were certain principles of that policy for which we contended all those years,” he said. “The first one was that there should be no grant of water power privileges for more than fifty years. The second was that there should be some rental paid to the government for the raw water power. The third was that there should be public control of the rates charged to consumers, and the service rendered to them by the lessee. It was always assumed that the lessee was going to risk his own money in building the works, and take the risks of any disaster that might come to it; then there was the further principle which we contended for, and which was finally embodied in the water power act, that excess profits, if any existed after regulation of rates and service, should be paid to the government.”

According to Wells: “The Ford proposal seems to violate every one of these principles. There is no pretense of any rental for the raw water power. There is no fifty-year limit.” He commented on the fact that there is no proposal that would furnish public control of the rates Mr. Ford would charge or the services that he might render. There is likewise no provision for the return of excess profits to the federal treasury.

Incidentally, Mr. Wells pointed out that the personal representative of Mr. Ford in Washington in the matter is the identical individual who led the fight for the “big interests,” as they were called, in opposition to the “Roosevelt water policy.” He likens the Ford offer to the old fight and says that the representative of Mr. Ford is “consistent,” since the demands made for many years by the “Wall Street men, and so forth, as we call them, are pikers in comparison to Mr. Ford in this matter.” Mr. Ford has never personally appeared before committees of the house or senate in support of his proposition, although he has frequently been invited to do so. His personal attitude in the matter conforms to the observation of Oscar Wilde who described a character: “He knew the precise psychological moment when to say nothing.”

Government to Intervene?
 In urging a conference between the mining coal interests and the threatened railroad strike to the government, one of the leaders in the strike complains that “it appears impossible to make people understand in July that there must be a December.” This observation is not cryptic, since the public has grown to expect a coal strike some time between every July and December. The coal barons and the miners are always solicitous about the public getting hurt by reason of these annual industrial rows, and all parties concerned have grown into the habit of “concerting public opinion”—as a former president expressed the process to a crowd of angry women suffragists. When public opinion is sufficiently “concerted” the combatants miners and their lordly masters always find a way to get together and keep the nation’s home fires burning.

Labor and capital no longer dispute the right of the public to enter into its controversies, and whenever the shoe begins to pinch, the employers and employees just naturally ask the government to intervene. The coal miners are insisting that the whole trouble is that the operators are determined to crush the miners’ organization. This is undoubtedly true. The coal operators are now refusing to enter into the suggested conferences with the miners because such conferences would be a recognition of organized labor. The employers figure that sooner or later they will be forced by the government to submit to some kind of compulsory settlement of their differences with their men, and they class this as a victory because it relieves them from “recognizing” the strikers. Thus we have each year a “patched-up,” and the war between the unions and the anti-union employers goes merrily on except for the interruptions during the strike. Of course coal has gone higher year after year, in consequence; but when that goes on long as the public pays the bill, unless a nationably the government will eventually intervene, since the flow of coal to its natural users compels Uncle Sam to take a hand in order to protect the public.

More Intervention
 It does not take long for a threatened railroad strike to reach Washington. In the coal industry the belligerents spar for time because of a lack of direct contact between employers and employees. That is the way where labor lacks organization. But in railroad affairs it is all different. Any branch of railroad employees are able, through their brotherhoods, to definitely state what they want. If they make a demand the employers, through their associations, can return an explicit answer. Or the communication can go the other way around, and the process is the same. It doesn't take long for them to “get down to business.” When a difference exists the representatives of the different groups can get together, and in most cases there is an adjustment. In such instances the public has no particular interest. Further along in the established method for adjusting their affairs we find the interstate commerce commission and the railroad labor board, with broad powers to meet most situations. This would be all-sufficient except for the fact that the railroad managers and the railroad employees do not always agree to the awards of the government. Then they talk about strikes and lockouts, and display unreasonable symptoms characteristic in all cases where someone wants a “scrap.” In order to prevent a tie-up of the industrial affairs of the country it has frequently been necessary for members of the cabinet, and even the president, to “intervene,” and arrange terms of peace.

One wonders sometimes whether there is ever to be an end to these disturbing strikes, and threats of strike. There is no positive answer. Attempts are always being made to set up courts and arbitration boards with “teeth in them.” Industrial conferences have been held at which the leading men of the country have sought solutions of the problem. The government has on file a complete report which seems to provide a remedy to the whole situation, and to furnish a way to prevent all strikes. This report bears the signature and approval of W. B. Wilson, recent secretary of labor; Herbert Hoover, Martin H. Glynn, Thomas W. Gregory, Oscar S. Straus, Owen D. Young, and a number of other great leaders in national thought. It is as fine a piece of constructive work as has ever been submitted to congress. But, like John Brown's body, it “lies smouldering in its grave”—all because it does not suit Samuel Gompers, the one great power in industrial warfare who insists through all seasons, through fair weather and foul, that the “right to strike must not be abridged.”

Ship's Oil Leakage Killing Rarest Birds
 BERLIN.—“Oil from outgoing steamers kills sea birds by the thousands and soon will cause the extinction of the rarest specimens among them unless measures to save the fowls are taken at once,” writes the foremost biologist of Germany, the government ornithologist of the Heligoland observatory, Dr. H. Weigold, in an article of the Hamburger Fremdenblatt.

“The pipes of the ship pumps are not tight,” he states. “So hundreds of gallons of bad oil find a way into the water at open sea or at ports, thus covering the surface of the water with a thin skin of oil. Sea birds, expecting to find something edible wherever they observe these oily spots, rush into them, moisten and soil their feathers with oil and can never get rid of it. It makes the feathers stick together so that the air no longer has access to their bodies. Air is indispensable for them to keep them warm. Most of the birds getting in touch with oil catch a fearful cold, become tired, lose their strength and slowly fade away.”

“In this way thousands of sea birds perish near ports on the California coast, where oil is being unloaded. And since the war some ten or twelve specimens of sea birds simply were doomed to extinction in Heligoland bay, which was a naval base.

“Also, oil washed ashore, apart from destroying the spawn by preventing the access of vital oxygen, covers the breeding places of sea birds with a stratum of just a few millimeters, which, however, are sufficient to render any food unfit to eat. Thus hundreds of gullmoths, auks, divers and other rare birds were simply wiped out.”

Sooner or later, says the expert, the government will have to handle this important question, as some specimens of sea birds, apart from forming the delight of ornithologists of all countries, are very useful to the fishing trade.

WHITE CEDAR IN BIG DEMAND FOR PHONE POLES

Not All Trees Are Cut Up for Lumber; Some Allowed to Stand

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—When snow spreads its mantle over woodland, and the forest streams lie ice-bound, the woods resound with the swinging blows of the lumber-jacks and the great trees of the forest bow to the keen edge of the axe or the biting teeth of the saw; the temper-defying monarchs lie prostrate before the prowess of the woodman. Soon, denuded of their branches, the huge trunks are hauled or floated down to the saw mills, there to be attacked by huge saws and converted into lumber.

Not all of them. Many millions of them are destined to stand again straight and tall in storm and sunshine for many years. Instead of green tops towering to the sky, they will bear proudly aloft great cross-arms carrying myriad copper strands vibrating with electric impulses, carriers of a nation's speech by which a continent is knit into a closer community. Thus panoplied, some 15,000,000 of them carry the wires of the Bell Telephone System and are a familiar sight along the highways in all sections of the country.

For Telephone Poles

Northern white cedar has been the species most largely used for telephone poles. It grew abundantly in the northern parts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and eastward through the maritime provinces. Western red cedar, an upland species found in Idaho, Washington, Oregon and British Columbia, is another large source of pole supply. Chestnut is largely used in the east and the supply is found in the Atlantic Coast states from Massachusetts to North Carolina and in Tennessee, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Ohio. Juniper and cypress are used to some extent in the south, near where they grow. Creosoted yellow pine from the south is also an important item in today's pole supply.

In Minnesota, from which the greater part of the northern cedar poles are now derived, the trees grow in a mixed stand with pine, spruce, tamarack, etc. To bring out separately from this stand each kind of tree would be expensive and so a system has grown up where the logging of all varieties is carried out as a single operation, and the pine for saw logs, the spruce for paper and the cedar for poles are subsequently separated and brought to their proper markets.

As early as August or September, camps located at convenient points have been built, large enough to house crews of from forty-five to sixty men. Roads are built, underbrush is cut away before the actual work of felling begins. The colder the winter, the better the lumberman likes it, for it makes the work of hauling the lumber much easier. Snow and ice are the lumberjack's allies in the arduous labor of getting the poles out of the woods and to the nearest shipping point.

The "slowest" crop in the world is the giant bamboo of India. It blossoms only when it reaches its thirtieth year, and then it dies. In the meantime it bears an enormous quantity of seed, which is eagerly gathered and used as grain by the natives.

Europe must invoke the sanest possible course and do a vast deal of self-helping to bring itself back to economic normality.

Chinese Flapper in Revolt; Court Sides With Mother

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—The flapper has quelled the first Chinese flapper uprising. Pretty little Grace Chan, 16, bobbed her hair, shortened her dainty pantalets, and eloped over her parental housetop with George Sae.

Mother Chan did not look with disfavor upon George, but there were certain oriental formalities—a matter of a gift of some $800 in cash and goods to mother—overlooked in the elopement.

So Mother Chan came into court, asked annulment of her flapper daughter's marriage and the law sided with her mother, holding that 16 years is too early an age to stage a flapper revolt.

Pretty Grace pointed and explained she wanted to be a real American girl, have a real American marriage, and anyway, she said, according to Chinese reckoning, she was 18 years.

Radio Program for Scouts at Catalina

Arrangements have been made by Peter L. Ferry, chairman of the camping committee of the Boy Scouts, for a large radio receiving set to be taken to the scout camp on Catalina Island next week.

The set includes audion bulb detectors and has a wide range for receiving messages. It will be able to tune in on concerts from San Francisco, it is understood, and is expected to furnish the scouts considerable entertainment and amusement around the camp fire at night. Some of them are looking forward to listening in on the Catalina telephone conversations.

It is planned that the chairman of the district scout work, or other high scout officials or executives will address the scouts from some broadcasting station on the mainland, while they are in the camp. The receiving set, with the amplifier, will allow the campers to listen to the speech being delivered many miles away, for their special benefit.

C. E. Jenner, local executive, announces that of the sixteen additional enrollments which were recently prepared for, only two places this morning remained unoccupied. Those scouts who have not yet signed up and wish to go, he says, will have to hurry to get in on the camp before the last vacancies are filled.

Youthful Romance Is at End in Courts

DETROIT, Mich.—Douglas G. Smylie, 19, son of Robert W. Smylie, prominent banker, is defendant against a non-support charge sworn to by his 14-year-old wife, Reva. Douglas married Reva five weeks ago.

The youthful wife, blue-eyed and with black bobbed hair, appeared before Judge Faust and asked that the boy husband be arrested. Judge Faust authorized the warrant.

The charge is the culmination of a youthful romance. Smylie met the girl wife, Reva Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Dunn, while they were attending business college. Their friendship was quick and complete.

Finally Mrs. Dunn suggested marriage. The wedding took place and they separated after the ceremony.

Cultural Education Necessary, Is Claim

WESTFIELD, Mass.—Henry Turner Bailey, director of the Cleveland school of art, speaking before the graduating class of the Normal school in this city declared that "bootlegging, loafing, gossiping and other forms of useless activities would disintegrate the entire social system if the majority of working people had four hours of leisure time."

Bailey emphasized the need of making the most of leisure time, saying that the present level of intelligence would disrupt the entire country if people weren't kept busy. "A cultural education is as important as a practical education," he said.

The use of the word "mug" as a slang word for the face is probably due to an old-time habit of making drinking mugs to represent a human face.

PLATE POTENTIALS FOR AMPLIFIER TUBES

In order to lengthen the life of a plate battery it is advisable to limit its voltage or, more particularly the voltage applied to the plate, since increasing plate voltages mean increasing plate current and consequent drain on the battery. On the other hand, there are reasons for using comparatively high plate potentials, and the rule is to use no higher than is necessary.

The characteristic curve of a vacuum tube becomes steeper with increasing plate voltage, and, consequently, the voltage amplification factor increases. An investigator found that a certain amplifier tube had an amplification factor of 7.5 to 7.5, with forty volts on the plate, and 8.5 to 8.5 with 100 volts. The limit to plate potential increase in this case is reached when the signals in the head telephones are of satisfactory strength, and it would be wasteful to use higher potential with the accompanying increased plate current. If it is necessary to increase the plate potential very greatly for any reason, however, the negative grid biasing voltage may be increased, and the plate current will be reduced below what it would be without this increased negative bias.

If the input voltage is very great it is quite necessary to operate at the middle of the straight portion of the characteristic curve, so that negative half cycles will not swing the grid potential to the cut-off point, or that positive half cycles will not cause the saturation point to be reached. Otherwise, there will be distortion. But to do this it is frequently necessary to raise the plate potential unless a positive potential is normally applied to the grid, which would accomplish no benefit, but quite the reverse. Raising the plate potential has the tendency of preventing the grid from swinging to too high negative potentials, but increases the liability of its swinging to too great positive potentials unless the grid biasing potential (negative) is at the same time increased. Increasing the negative grid bias voltage will not only bring the operating point to the middle of the straight portion of the curve (unless increased too much), but will also decrease the value of the steady plate current and tend to increase the life of the plate battery. It is obvious, however, that the plate voltage should not be raised any higher than is necessary to insure operation at the midpoint of the curve, with a negative grid bias, sufficient to be greater than the maximum amplitudes of applied grid voltage.

It is seen that the required plate potential depends upon the applied grid voltage variations, and it was seen in a previous article that the necessary biasing potential also depended upon these variations.

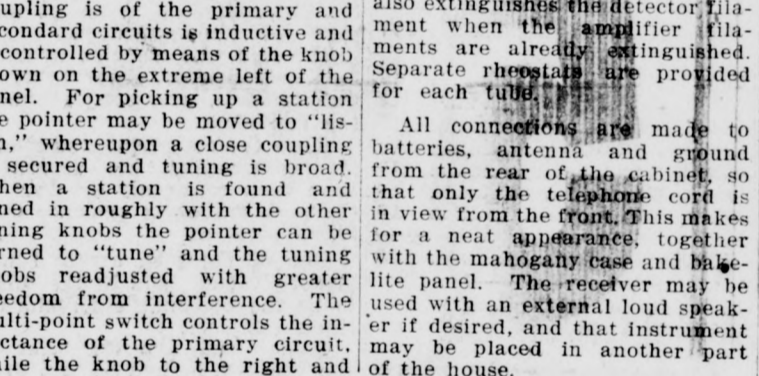

NEW APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN
RADIO ENGINEER, CUTTING AND WASHINGTON RADIO CORP.

A WELL DESIGNED NON-REGENERATIVE RECEIVER

The receiver illustrated is of the non-regenerative type, but is capable of very sharp tuning. It eliminates a very great deal of the spark telegraph interference in congested districts.

The cabinet contains, in addition to the tuning circuits, a vacuum tube detector and two stages of audio-frequency amplification. The wave length range is from 150 to 850 meters. The coupling is of the primary and secondary circuits is inductive and is controlled by means of the knob shown on the extreme left of the panel. For picking up a station the pointer may be moved to "listen," whereupon a close coupling is secured and tuning is broad. When a station is found and tuned in roughly with the other tuning knobs the pointer can be turned to "tune" and the tuning knobs readjusted with greater freedom from interference. The main-point switch controls the inductance of the primary circuit while the knob to the right and slightly above it controls the secondary condenser. It is with this last named knob that the fine adjustment is secured for sharp tuning.

Two telephone jacks are provided—one is for detector only, while the other is used when both stages of amplification are desired. The jacks automatically control the filaments of the tubes, so that when the plug is removed the tube filaments are extinguished. Thus, if the head-phones are plugged into the detector jack, the amplifier tube filaments are not lighted. They may be lighted when the plug is inserted into the second jack and extinguished when it is removed. Removing the plug from the detector jack also extinguishes the detector filaments when the amplifier filaments are already extinguished. Separate rheostats are provided for each tube.

All connections are made to batteries, antenna and ground from the rear of the cabinet, so that only the telephone cord is in view from the front. This makes for a neat appearance, together with the mahogany case and bakelite panel. The receiver may be used with an external loud speaker if desired, and that instrument may be placed in another part of the house.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—If the judgment of 112 years is worth anything, the flappers of today are not the terrible beings they are sometimes represented to be. In fact, 112 years of life say the much-slandered young lady of the present is "just about all right."

Mrs. Sarah Duffy, born in England in 1810, is speaking: "The flappers' dresses are a little short, but I guess they are pretty good girls—about as good as the girls ever were."

Mrs. Duffy came to America when she was a little girl. The passage took three months. Her husband, Thomas, died 30 years ago. She attributes her longevity to "just natural living." Asked for a reason, she replied: "Oh, nothing—just worked! I always did eat what I wanted. I wasn't particular."

Girl Meets Father After Fifteen Years

SAN FRANCISCO.—The dream of fifteen years came true for pretty Catharina Toolis, 17, when, after an 8000-mile journey, she was reunited with her father. The union was effected through the Travelers' Aid society, who protected Catharina on the trip. It took place at the Ferry building.

When Catharina was two years old her parents emigrated to this country from Ireland. Death left Catharina and a nine weeks' old baby boy motherless. Unable to provide proper care, Patrick Toolis, the father, sent the babes to their grandmother at Westport, County Mayo, Ireland.

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

With both Johnston and Tilden practically assured of competing in the national lawn tennis championships this year, the prospects for one of the most interesting competitions in its history appear likely. Early in the spring there were many who feared that Johnston would be physically unable to make the grade this year.

There is one thing, however, which may militate against this possibility. It is a well known fact that Johnston is far from immune in the matter of feeling the effects of the humid eastern summers. In the past it has taken all his strength and vitality to combat this handicap, for handicap it is to one who is used to the cool temperature which prevails at all times about San Francisco, which is his home town.

There is every indication that the far west will be well represented in the thirty-fifth annual tennis tournament for the championships of the United States in women's singles and doubles which will begin at the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y., on August 14.

Oarsmen of northern California were considerably humiliated by those from the southern part of the state in the recent Pacific coast championships held on the Fourth of July. The artists from San Diego trimmed their northern brethren by taking four out of the five events scheduled.

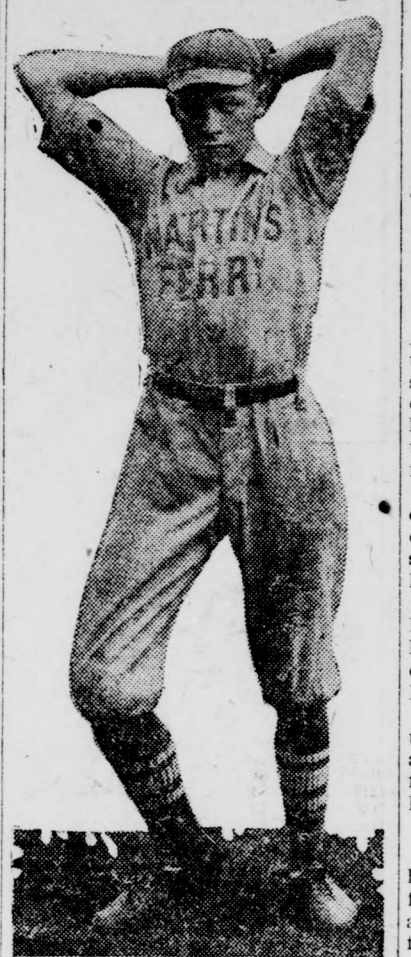

The season just past has held no thrills as far as the wrestling game is concerned. With Stecher, Zyzszo and Strangler Lewis a triumvirate with a monopoly on ability, the sport is in desperate need of recruits so these fellows can do something else besides wrestling each other.

SHORT FENCE BIG HELP TO HITTER OF HOMERS

John A. Heydler, Head of National League, Gives His Conclusions

NEW YORK, July 13.—John A. Heydler, president of the National league, after an exhaustive study and observation, gives the opinion that the American league leads his circuit in home run hitting because of the many short fences in the younger league.

Summed up, Heydler points out that the American league has eight short right field fences to shoot at, while the National league has only five.

The Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Boston National league parks have fences that are almost out of reach for a slugger under the Ruth type.

Leaving Ruth out of the figures, because he has been one in a generation, the record in favor of the American league is hardly eight to five.

Given Preference In defining the slugger, the home run hitter is given the preference because of the national appeal of a ball smacked over the fence.

It would seem more fair, however, to consider the three-base hitter, because under the present conditions with short fields it is more difficult to hit a triple because the ball has to be dropped at a bare spot within the confines of the fences.

Stretching a point, it might be granted that the league, with the most three-base hitters is the real slugging organization. Leaving Ruth again out of the reckoning, the National league has the greater number of three bagger stars.

Counting sixteen made by Ruth, the American league hit 694 triples last season as against 670 poled out by National league stars. The following table shows the leaders in both leagues:

Return to Primitive Man Regains Health

LOS ANGELES.—Frank Hansen has a new way of cheating death. Told by physicians that he was rapidly approaching death by returning to the primitive life, Hansen is said to have lived like a wild man on Santa Cruz Island, off Santa Barbara channel, for 18 months, subsisting alone on muskels, abalone and fish. His only garment, it was said, was a bathing suit, which suffered considerably through hard usage.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Forty alleged baseball gamblers were arrested by the police in a spectacular raid on the grandstand in the Chicago National league ball park yesterday afternoon.

The raid was executed by thirteen detectives at the request of Cub officials, who complained of the gambling. Since the complaint was made, it was revealed, the detectives have been constantly on duty in the park gathering evidence during the games.

One of the men arrested was Isadore Fabian, said by the police to be the bookmaker for the alleged gamblers. Fabian was arrested after, it was charged, he had taken a $200 to $100 bet that a player, who had singled, would get to second base.

It was an investigation of gambling charges at the Cubs' park in 1920 that led to the sensational exposure of the 1919 world's series scandal.

Rogers Hornsby Hits Twenty-third Homer

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals, leading home run hitter of the majors, crashed out his twenty-third homer of the season in this afternoon's game with the Phillies. Meadows was pitching for the visitors.

Tagging All Bases

Ruth was fanned three times by Pruett, once with the bases filled and twice with two on, while Ken Williams smote his 21st homer of the season off Hoyt, the Browns winning 7 to 4.

Donohue outpitched Grimes and the Dodgers made it seven defeats in a row. The Tigers waited till the ninth before they decided that matters had gone far enough. Then they climbed aboard Naylor for four runs.

After winning eight straight, the Cardinals showed they were only human by dropping a doubleheader to the lowly Phils. Hornsby connected with a homer in the sixth inning of the first game, his 23d of the season.

Johnny Mostil and Urban Faber became suddenly unpopular in Washington when the former hit a single, double and triple and scored three runs, while Faber was limiting the Senators to four hits.

LINEBERGER GETS NOTIFICATION OF ENDORSEMENT

Republicans of District at Pasadena Conference Commend Him

"Hon. Walter F. Lineberger, M. C., Washington, D. C."
"Conference of Republicans of Ninth Congressional District at a meeting held this day in Pasadena unanimously endorse your work and record and commend you to the people of the district for reelection. Meeting attended by more than 400 enthusiastic Republicans. Predict your reelection without formidable opposition."

"W. E. EVANS, Chm. of Conference, 'C. A. REESE, Sec'y."

The foregoing telegram dispatched from here last night by Attorney Evans briefly states what happened at yesterday's meeting held in the Pasadena Y. M. C. A. with 400 delegates attending the Republican district conference.

Resolutions were adopted urging Lineberger's reelection, lauding the Harding administration, memorializing the party work of the late Frank C. Roberts and asking the governor and legislature to make it impossible for more than one party ticket at the primary.

Mrs. Lineberger made a speech thanking the district leaders for the support given her husband. Mrs. Mary Gridley Braly was among the women delegates who were invited to take seats on the stage for the nomination of gubernatorial and senatorial candidates was noticeable, but nothing was said in the conference on the complicated situation.

Galena C. Welch of Long Beach called the meeting to order. Judge George E. Waldo of Pasadena presided and Attorney Evans was named permanent chairman. A. A. Reese acted as secretary.

Pass Resolutions
The following resolutions were passed by the conference:
"Whereas, the Honorable Walter F. Lineberger, congressman from this district, has well and faithfully represented his constituents in all matters affecting them; and has given his time and energy in all things looking to their welfare and their interest; and has given able support and unwavering loyalty to the Republican national administration, and has stood for the strict enforcement of the constitution of the United States; and

"Whereas, Congressman Lineberger has indicated his willingness to continue to serve his district and state as congressman from the Ninth Congressional district, he it therefore

"Resolved: That we, Republicans in conference assembled representing all sections of the Ninth Congressional district, do hereby strongly recommend, for reelection from this district the Hon. Walter F. Lineberger, congressman, and urge all Republican voters to support his candidacy in all ways proper and to vote for his nomination at the primary election, August 29, 1922, and his reelection at the general election, November 7, 1922."

Praise for Harding
"Whereas, the Republican administration, with the wise guidance of President Harding, ably seconded by other great Republican leaders, has succeeded in bringing out of the chaotic condition left by the extravagant, incompetent and inefficient Democratic administration, a condition which approaches normalcy in government as well as in the industrial and social life of this country; and

"Whereas, through the successful conclusion of the disarmament conference called by President Harding, much was accomplished towards the maintenance and permanence of peace and the solution of other international problems; and

"Whereas, the Republicans of the Ninth Congressional district of California will nominate a candidate for congress from this district at the primary election on Tuesday, August 29, 1922, be it therefore

"Resolved, that we, the Republicans of the Ninth Congressional district of California, in conference assembled, to recommend a Republican candidate for this district, whose name will be presented for approval at the Republican primary, August 29, 1922, do hereby heartily endorse the administration of President Harding and recognize the wisdom of electing a Republican who will actively and intelligently represent the best interests of this district in the national congress and give his best efforts in aid and

Hiram Johnson Club to Be Formed at Public Meeting

Every admirer of Senator Hiram W. Johnson in California—and there are more than a half million of them according to the last presidential primary—will be invited to meet tonight at a meeting to be held in the Glendale Union High school auditorium for the purpose of forming a "Johnson for Senator club" in Glendale.

The meeting is called for 8 o'clock and already a large number have signified their intention of being present at the present campaign is considered a crucial test for the picturesque and outstanding political figure from "out of the west."

support of the constructive policies of the national administration."

Want Law Amended
"Whereas, under the present law, candidates for state and federal office seek the nomination of more than one party; and

"Whereas, it is the opinion of the delegates here-assembled that said law should be amended so that a candidate for public office, both state and federal, can run only on the ticket of the party of which he is officially registered; now

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the conference petition the governor and state legislature to so amend the law so as to prevent this deceitful practice.

"Resolved, that the Republicans of the Ninth Congressional district of California, here assembled, for deliberation upon matters vital to the welfare of our party and country, pause to note the regretted passing of our beloved and ever-faithful fellow Republican, Col. Frank C. Roberts of Long Beach, May God rest His spirit, noble soul, and may his valiant of teary to our party and country ever abide with us as an inspiration to another Republican victory."

Extend Sympathy
"Whereas, Henry P. Barbour of Long Beach is unable to be present at this conference today by reason of illness; and

"Whereas, he is one of the faithful Republicans of the Ninth Congressional district, one who has always given generously of his time and means for the success of his party and its candidates;

"Therefore, be it resolved, by this conference, that we sincerely sympathize with Mr. Barbour in his illness and trust for his speedy return to health and strength."

SENATOR JOHNSON HAS SUPPORT IN EVERY SECTION

Friends Organize In His Behalf and Campaign Is Now Under Way

Senator Hiram W. Johnson's campaign for reelection was launched last night at a great mass meeting held at headquarters established in Los Angeles at 409 South Hill street.

Local organization is being effected throughout the state and all classes are rallying to the support of the senator whose record in the state and nation has been most remarkable.

Former Senator Frank P. Flint, in speaking to the meeting, made the very pertinent remark:

"The opposition says that Johnson is against the administration because he voted against several measures. The government wants men who are firm in their convictions and willing to vote as they conscientiously think best."

Fights for Tariff
From every angle his record appears to be clear and his staunch supporters consider his defeat would be a calamity to California. He has done much to assist the growers in fighting for the tariff, shoulder to shoulder with his less famed colleague, Samuel Shortridge.

Senator Johnson has maintained a firm stand against foreign entanglements and he has consistently represented his constituency in the upper house against the overwhelming odds of big business' control of the east, it was pointed out.

In view of the trend of the country toward progressive policies, it would appear that Senator Johnson will have but little difficulty in holding his toga. However, his friends will be rallied by the opposition presented in C. C. Moore.

Loyal to Harding
The senator himself will arrive in California the latter part of the month to complete a whirlwind campaign which his friends have initiated in his behalf, a tribute to his tireless and fearless service to California covering a score of years.

From Washington comes the statement by Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, that Senator Johnson is loyal to the Harding administration. In no sense of the word, she sets forth in a lengthy telegram, can he be considered the obstructionist which is alleged in certain campaign propaganda seeking his defeat.

If you have no incense burner or rose jar, pour spirits of lavender over lamps of bicarbonate of soda. This will give a pleasant perfume and at the same time is an excellent disinfectant.

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord

Did You Get the Bottom Price, After All?

The man who buys a "long discount" tire usually finds himself troubled by the above question. Did he pay less for the tire than his neighbor might have paid, or actually did he pay more?

Did he get the bottom price, when all is said and done, or could he perhaps have driven a sharper bargain? Was the net price really more than he might have had to pay for a tire of established reputation and value?

In the belief that the average motorist prefers a frank and open transaction, we built the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord and discounted the "discount" in advance.

Instead of listing it at a high price, to enable the dealer to attract you with a so-called "long discount," we list it as low as we profitably can.

We build it of high-grade long-staple cotton, using the patented Goodyear method of group-ply construction, and sell it at a lower price than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown worth.

If you want a quality tire, and a reliable value, call today on any of the Goodyear Service Station Dealers listed here.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

CHICAGO, July 13.—Industrial conditions as a result of the combined mine and railroad strikes have led to the discontinuance of a number of mail carrying trains.

Six Dead, 48 Hurt In Train Collision

An early morning check-up showed a total of six dead and forty-eight injured as the result of the head-on collision of Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 11 and a freight train near the outskirts of this city last night.

A misunderstanding in train orders caused the wreck, it was believed. Dr. Chett McDonald, coroner, began an official investigation today.

Both engines were demolished. The most severely injured and most of the dead were in the front end of the smoking car, which was telescoped for more than half its length by a heavy steel baggage coach.

Six of the twenty freight cars comprising train No. 92 were demolished. All of the others were damaged.

FOR STRIKE DUTY WASHINGTON, July 13.—Federal troops will be sent into the strike zones of any state to maintain order and protect life and property, but only if the state authorities are "unable or unwilling" to maintain the law and order that the federal government requires, Secretary of War Weeks said this afternoon.

ORPHEUM CIRCUIT ACT IS OFFERED

A real Orpheum circuit act is included in the program of the T. D. & L. theatre tonight and tomorrow night, in addition to the feature photoplay, "The Dictator," with Wallace Reid.

A special treat in vaudeville is the "Classical-Jazz Review," says Ralph Allan. The personnel of this "harmonizing five" includes Richard Coburn, composer of such song hits as "Tell Me Why," "Make Me," "Smilin'," and "Truly." Monroe Jockers, jazz pianist, Clair Case, Charles Prendergast, and Peter Harmon.

GIVES DETAILS OF RIVERSIDE DRIVE PROPOSITION

to go through the heart of the city of Los Angeles. This situation he said brought to the commission the proposition of providing more roads, more direct roads and wider roads.

"Bringing this discussion nearer to Glendale," said Mr. Whitney, "let us consider the means of connection with the northern part of the state. There are at present only two roads of travel, the San Fernando boulevard and the Cahuenga pass, and it is needless for me to tell of the constant and heavy travel continually passing over the San Fernando boulevard, part of which, because of political boundaries, is financially supported by the city of Glendale.

Great Trunk Line

"Possibilities of relieving the traffic situation to and from the northern districts have been thoroughly considered by Los Angeles officials and we feel that this Riverside Drive project will provide a great trunk line of traffic with easy grades and no grade crossings of railroads.

"Riverside Drive is an assured thing as far as the city of Los Angeles is concerned. The first survey showed that we had practically the entire right of way and through the co-operation of W. I. Hollingsworth, who let us have two miles of property, 190 feet wide, and other property owners, we are now ready to make the project a reality.

"It is inevitable that Glendale will tie in with Riverside Drive by one and maybe more boulevards. This will not only mean that you will be connected with Griffith park, the largest municipal park in the country, but it will also mean that what is now potential traffic from Pasadena and other communities to the east and from northern California, Ventura and San Fernando valley, will become actual traffic.

Time is that which counts today, and smoothly moving traffic means fast-growing communities.

Claims Are Settled

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Claims of the C. M. Standifer Construction Corporation of Seattle against the shipping board, which originally totalled more than $10,000,000, have been settled for $998,416.23, Chairman Lasker announced. This amount is in addition to $500,000 which was paid by the board in May, 1921, "on account."

Fourth Regional Conference to Be Held Here Sept. 12

G. Gordon Whitnall, director of the Los Angeles city planning commission and member of the Los Angeles county planning commission, during his address last night at the high school announced that the fourth regional conference of cities of Los Angeles county, is to be held September 12 in Glendale.

Mr. Whitnall took occasion to compliment Glendale on the part its representatives have taken in the previous conference and to predict a great gathering here in September.

REALTORS INDORSE PROPOSITION TO SECURE HOTEL

appeared in The Glendale Evening News on May 12 and its interest to him.

Suggestions Welcome

"I strongly advised that they reduce the amount to be appropriated for the building of the hotel, or rather the including in the disposal of that amount the furnishing and equipment of the building," stated Mr. Whitney. The original plan, as he explained, called for the expenditure of $425,000 for the building alone, and this amount, he thought, should cover the furnishings.

"We don't intend to build a cube," he stated "we would welcome any suggestions for exterior decoration which would make the building of pure Southern California type. The plan is to construct a 140-room building, with a bath for every room, and 50 kitchenettes."

Other features, including a roof garden, bowling alleys and garage, with a capacity for 60 to 100 cars, were mentioned.

"I am going to be frank with you," continued Mr. Whitney, "and tell you that if I were coming as a stranger to Glendale to select a site for a hotel, I wouldn't pick the place at the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway. But I also tell you that you neglected the opportunity to put over this hotel you may never get the chance to do so with another one. Also, the lot is already excavated, which will save considerable expense, and if not in the lot, is still in a good location. I believe that it is perfectly satisfactory for the first hotel in Glendale.

Plenty of Business

"Also, it is to be built in such a way that if a commercial hotel were to be started next week on Brand boulevard, it wouldn't interfere with the operation of our hotel. With its 50 kitchenettes, it might even be converted into a high-class apartment house. And if in a year or so a tourist hotel is built at the north end of Brand boulevard, the town will be enough larger by that time so that there will be plenty of business for both."

"About October first, 1920," he continued, "I came with my family to Glendale, intending to find a winter home. In the entire city I found only three locations, and upon the matter it would be well to enlist the aid of people in San Fernando valley."

E. D. Yard represented the business men and citizens of Glendale and he told of the need of a suitable connection between the city of Glendale and western environs.

"In my opinion there are five things we should consider," said Mr. Yard, "they are:

First, ample lighting on the west city limits; second, improved conditions of cross-town streets; third, transportation on "cross-town streets"; fourth, an entrance to Griffith park on Broadway or Park, and, fifth, the securing of new intermediate high schools, a new hotel and a new depot.

Bartlett & French In Permanent Home

Lanier Bartlett and James H. French of the Bartlett and French company, Glendale and San Fernando valley dealers for the Hupmobile, have moved into their permanent location at 107 East Colorado boulevard after having been "shifted around" from place to place since giving up their lease at the corner of Brand boulevard and Harvard street. Their latest location was at 245 South Brand boulevard, where they have been for the past two months.

Both Mr. Bartlett and Mr. French are highly elated over the fact which one of their Hupmobiles performed last Saturday in carrying them to Pinescrest, a distance of eighty-five miles, in exactly three hours. This time will be recognized as being exceptionally good when it is observed that twelve miles of the distance is contained in the steep Waterman canyon road, some of the grades of which are listed at eighteen per cent.

Messrs. Bartlett and French spent the week-end at the famous mountain resort, where they visited with their wives, who are spending the summer there.

Little Volstead Act Proves Money Maker

REDDING, Cal., July 13.—Shasta county's "little Volstead act" has proven a money-maker for the county even if it has not completely stamped out the manufacture and sale of "Jackard brandy" by bootleggers. The county collected $10,578 in fines the last twelve months and $3,000 remains to be collected on the installment plan. The district attorney has $127 left in his $2500 secret service fund for apprehending liquor law violators.

school plant in the east side of the city as ridiculous. He asserted that an additional $400,000 or $500,000 which might be raised should be invested in the northwest portion of the city.

The probable separation of Eagle Rock from the high school district was mentioned by Fred S. Hill of 121 South Brand boulevard.

G. C. McConnell of 633 East Broadway suggested that the matter should be tabled for one week in order that additional information on the subject might be obtained from Architect George M. Lindsey of 710 East Broadway, who is a member of the club.

The removal of the spur tracks from Sycamore Canyon road before it is paved and the extension of the Pacific Electric's East Broadway branch to Verdugo Road for the convenience of high school pupils and teachers was discussed and both actions were recommended.

For Branch Postoffice

In regard to the establishment of a branch postoffice on the east side, Dr. Harrower read the following telegram from Walter F. Lineberger:

"Have personally seen William R. Spilman, superintendent of postoffice service, urging establishment of contract substation in East Glendale. Department appears favorably inclined, but desires that Postmaster Jackson submit formal request together with data covering letters from your laboratory, estimated business from other sources, approximate number of people to be served and all other information possible. Get in touch with him and see him about forwarding petitions referred to in your letter along with foregoing copy of same and correspondence to me so that I may keep in touch with situation.

Dr. Harrower declared that he was not in favor of a contract postal branch as that usually meant poor service in some mercantile establishment.

Edward H. Spicer, who is returning to London in a short time to take charge of a branch office there soon for the Harrower Laboratory, was a guest at the meeting. He said that there were no similar organizations in England as the merchants there were too busy studying the quality of their lunch to devote time in the middle of the day to the discussion of civic matters. He said that he did not believe this was due so much to lack of progressiveness as abundance of conservatism.

Mr. Spicer said that it had been a year since his last visit to Glendale. He commented upon the numerous changes. He said that he had been away from his home district in London on for twelve years and had been unable to see any changes whatever upon his return."

Prehistoric Bones Are Cause of This

The prehistoric bones now on display in the window of the First Savings Bank, 108 East Broadway, has inspired the following communication:

And so ye laugh, ye modern imps,
When ye find our poor old bones.
Ye sure are some set o' simps;
Do ye think we're nought but stones?

Why have ye 'only hoistrous jeers
When ye speak o' ancient times?
Have ye no respect for years
Just because we've turned to lime?

Better can that sort o' talk
When ye're speakin' o' our bones.
Some day ye, too, will turn to chalk
And look like just a heap o' stones.

Ye human dwarfs o' modern day
That never grow to decent size
How did ye ever get that way?
How dare ye laugh at ancient guys?

Ye take a window of your Bank
And spread our teeth out on a tray.
Don't you think it's rather rank
To put our backbones on display?

Well, I s'pose there's no use howlin'.
You fellows think you're awful wise.
S'pose when ye hear this bit o' growlin',
You'll say: "It pays to advertise."
