NOT HELD RESPONSIBLE

If any man in British Columbia buys a piece of property and is given a title which is an indefeasible title and if it is discovered later that old succession duties on the land still remain unpaid, the innocent purchaser will not be held responsible. This was made plain by departmental officials in reply to the suggestion that land purchasers may be embarrassed by the present drive to collect all old succession duties.

NOW HOPED GYE-BARNARD METHODS WILL LEAD TO NEW ATTACKS ON DISEASE

Lancet refers to the "numerous guesses" in the past as having been of little value to cancer research as racing tips are to horse breeding, but it dwells with appreciation on the work of Dr. Peyton Rous of the Rockefeller Institute, New York. Dr. Rous discovered some fifteen years ago that tumors in chickens were caused by a minute organism. ONLY CORRECT GUESS
The Lancet further remarks that the suggestion by Dr. William Bradley Goley of New York that the cancer parasite postulated by him required kataplasma (heredence rupture) to attach the cells to produce a cancer lesion was probably the only "correct guess" ever made in the voluminous literature of cancer theory. The papers by Doctors Gye and Barnard published by The Lancet were so technical as to be largely beyond the understanding of the general reader, but the conclusion that cancer is caused by a virus, or specific organisms, stands out as the great result of their investigations.

FRUIT COMPANIES WHOSE BOOKS POLICE TOOK OFFER TO ASSIST INVESTIGATION

Winnipeg, July 17.—J. A. Simington, head of the Nash interests in Western Canada, who has just returned from Italy, has issued a statement in which he says the company welcomes the fullest investigation and is ready "in every way to facilitate the investigation."

J. C. McRuer, K.C., counsel for the Federal Government, is now in Winnipeg and will advise the Mounted Police in their actions and those who will investigate the books and papers seized in the fruit dealers' offices in cities throughout Western Canada.

Mr. McRuer emphasized that the books and papers seized during the last few days and which will be removed, refer only to transactions prior to March 1 of this year. He said he had no desire to interfere with the current business of any of the concern.

Coincident with the arrival of the telegram to Governor Len Small at Springfield, purporting to come from Robert Scott, the condemned man's brother, a message was also received by the aged father of the two boys in Chicago, according to Russell Scott's wife.

"Am on my way to Chicago, Dad, to give myself up," the message read. "Have wired authorities." These communications, if genuine, constitute the first word heard from Robert Scott, younger brother of the condemned man, since the murder was done early last year. (Continued on page 2)

MCCLINTOCK WILL RULED OUT BY JUDGE

Undue Influence Presumed; Rich Chicago Youth Died of Typhoid

Chicago, July 17.—Basing his decision on a "presumption of undue influence," Probate Judge Horner to-day refused to admit the will of William Nelson McClintock to probate.

Joining forces with the attorney had sought to prevent admission of the will to probate. Miss Isabelle Pope, fiancée of the late millionaire youth, charged through her attorneys to-day that the document was the result of a criminal conspiracy between William Darling Shepherd, Mrs. Shepherd and others.

Shepherd, principal beneficiary under the will of his foster-son, offered the testament for probate several days ago. Miss Pope, whose marriage to McClintock was prevented by the boy's sudden death last winter, would have been the recipient of an $8,000 annuity under the will.

Shepherd was recently tried on a charge of murder and acquitted. McClintock died of typhoid fever and the charge was that he had been inoculated with germs.

But Church Prohibits it in Respect to U.S. Law Many Missionaries Will Campaign in Victoria Soon. The Mormons are no longer a polygamous people although they have never changed from their original beliefs that polygamy is no sin.

Receipts totaled $2,567.42 and disbursements $2,717.41. Accounts passed for payment totaled $3,173.44. The lamp for the operating room so kindly donated by the A.O.F. is now installed in position and is most useful.

DELEGATES NAMED

The delegates to the annual B.C. Hospital Convention at Nanaimo next month were appointed by the Board. They are Mrs. G. W. Carr-Hilton, Miss Wilson and E. W. Carr-Hilton, Duncan. The old kitchen will shortly be turned into a men's ward and a bath room and laboratory added. The cost is in the neighborhood of $500. The readjustment of the lighting system will be done at the time of the alterations. The committee appointed by the board comprising Miss Wilson and A. Wood, and E. W. Carr-Hilton, gave a report of their investigations. The arrears are very heavy but in some cases amounts were written right off where it was considered the persons were in very indigent circumstances. In other cases where the committee considered some payment could be made, the bills were placed in a collector's hands. There have been many complaints recently about the condition of the ambulance. The board desires the public to know that they are not in any way responsible for this state of affairs. Apparently the mattress, blankets and pillows supplied are missing. The apparatus in such bad shape that it will shortly be dispensed with. Neither the city or the municipality will lay out on a new ambulance. Therefore the public will be without this service. GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommend Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion." Acid stomachs are dangerous because they irritate the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ailments. It is the most common cause of indigestion and creates the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart. It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any drug store a few ounces of Bisulphate Magnesia, and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated rigidity of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulphate Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. (Advt.)

Shingle Mill Was Totally Destroyed by Fire at Alberni

Port Alberni, July 17.—A conflagration which started in the conveyer, totally destroyed Little Brothers' shingle mill here last week. The fire commenced when a heavy south wind, which was blowing at the time, drove a blast of flame from the door of the Dutch oven and ignited refuse which was being conveyed from the saws. In a few minutes the whole mill was on fire, and although the fire brigade made a prompt turnout, the wind was so strong very little could be done to save the plant. The loss is estimated at $51,500, and insurance was carried to the extent of $23,000. It is not yet known whether or not the mill will be rebuilt.

PROTOCOL NOTES ARE MADE PUBLIC

Ottawa White Paper Gives British-Dominions Dispatches on Geneva Plan

Ottawa, July 17 (Canadian Press).—Dispatches which were exchanged between the Government of Great Britain and the Governments of the Dominions in regard to the Geneva protocol and the pacific settlement of international disputes, have now been issued in the shape of a White Paper. Canada's attitude was outlined in a communication to the Secretary of State for the Colonies on March 4, 1925, and tabled by Premier King in the House of Commons during the last session of Parliament. While advocating continued wholehearted support of the League of Nations, it stated the Government could not recommend to Parliament adherence to the protocol.

TOO MUCH HASTE

The Premier of New Zealand recorded "an emphatic protest against a process" under which the British Empire is hurriedly called upon to give its adhesion to momentous novel conditions expressed in a document hastily prepared and vague in expression both as regards its effects and its details. The Government of the Union of South Africa informed the British Government in another communication that it was unable to recommend acceptance of the protocol. Australia also voiced objections, stating the protocol was distinctly unacceptable. The reasons why Britain could not "sign" the Geneva protocol, or other governments of the Empire" were set out in a lengthy memorandum by the British Foreign Secretary. That statement was made public some time ago.

Girl of Fifteen Was a Robber

Melbourne, Australia, July 17.—In its progress round the world the "crime wave" has not failed to touch the shores of Australia. In the last few weeks there has occurred a succession of crimes any one of which would ten years ago have passed into history instead of passing into oblivion within a week. Occasional cases of the sort are to be expected, but a series of crimes which interrupts the routine of the crimes of violence. For months Phillip in the neighborhood of Sandringham, on the shore of Port Phillip, were robbed of goods of all kinds. The police were puzzled, for they could not associate any of the familiar underworld characters with the thefts. Finally a man-hunt was organized, and a large party of detectives set out with a pack of trained dogs. Things went uneventfully till they approached the centre of the Sandringham scrub, where the dogs began to show signs of excitement. Coming upon a narrow track, screened with thick bushes, they traveled along it for some quarters of a mile. Then the police found themselves at the entrance to a cave so artfully concealed as to be practically invisible to an ordinary passer-by. The dogs burst in, and the detectives following were amazed to find they were standing in a cave as fascinating as All Baba's. It was furnished in luxurious style, obviously with the choicest of the portable contents of many of Melbourne's richest homes. All Baba was at home—in the person of a fifteen-year-old girl, who showed little concern at the detectives' visit.

KILLED HIS DAUGHTER

"She was screaming and making an awful noise and she would not stop. I could see there was only one thing to do, so I shot her." That was the explanation of a man who, though he had never supported her, shot dead his eleven-year-old daughter because she refused to go away with him from the grandmother who had brought her up.

HUNTERS TOLD OF CHANGES IN LAW

Ottawa, July 17.—Canadian sportsmen preparing for hunting trips next fall are urged to acquaint themselves with amendments and alterations in the Migratory Birds Convention Act by securing full information from the Commissioner of National Parks, Department of the Interior, Ottawa. The regulations based upon the Migratory Birds Convention Act have been consolidated and slightly amended by a recent Order-in-Council. The open seasons for the killing of migratory birds, such as geese, ducks, brant and rails, which are provided throughout Canada, are the same as last year except for a slight change in British Columbia. A new feature of the regulations is that possession of legally taken migratory game birds is allowed for a period immediately following the open season.

T. A. Low, Minister of Trade, yesterday told a gathering at a picnic at Killaloe that the shipping advantages which the Peterson contract would have brought about must not be lost sight of. Duncan Marshall, Liberal organizer, announced that Mr. Low would be the Liberal candidate in Renfrew County in the forthcoming election.

A NATIONAL SPIRIT

HON. E. L. PATENAUE, a prominent member of the Legislature of Quebec who has been visiting the city, says the permeation of Canada with a truly national spirit is necessary to the maintenance of this Dominion as a part of the British Commonwealth.

It ought to be so obvious as to need no emphasis that this Dominion, in the face of its peculiar geographical position and its associations on this continent, must be a strong, distinctive Canadianism, which regards Canada with the same intimate interest and enthusiasm as every other progressive people regard their country and its characteristics.

But before this condition can be established in Canada, a considerable number of excellent, well-meaning but mistaken people will have to change their points of view. They will have to abandon the habit of shouting "sedition" every time some proposal, policy or project designed to stimulate Canadian pride and consciousness is mentioned.

The recent flag incident is a case in point. For many years there has been in use an ensign with the Jack and the Canadian arms on it, expressing, of course, the union of the Dominion with the United Kingdom.

A few years ago Canada received a new coat-of-arms, and recently it was decided to have another ensign incorporating the latest device. The Government appointed a committee of Parliament to devise a new emblem, whereupon the usual chorus of "sedition" went up from certain quarters in this country, and rather than have the question made a political football the Government abandoned its intention.

The Union Jack is the authorized flag of the Empire and is recognized as such. Yet strictly speaking it represents only the union of England, Scotland and Ireland by the consolidation of the crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick.

There is nothing seditious in their action. On the contrary, the Australian emblem not only stimulates the Australian national spirit but is also a perpetual reminder of Australia's association with the United Kingdom. The Union Jack has been changed twice—first when Scotland joined England in one kingdom, and second when about a century and a quarter ago, Ireland came in. There is therefore nothing unchangeable about it.

It will be a flag of Empire in every respect. Meanwhile Canada should devise an ensign of her own reflecting her association with the British Empire, just as Australia has done. A large majority of the Canadian people would approve of such a course for the same reason that they liked to fly the flag which bore the old Canadian arms with the Jack in the corner.

CONFLICTING AT LEAST

THE MORNING PAPER says that if the Liberal Party at Ottawa was put into power for any purpose whatever, it was put there to remove trade dullness, to do away with unemployment, to solve the railway problem, and, generally speaking, to give the country prosperity.

Our contemporary is at least candid. Its comment is a very definite admission that the country was in a generally deplorable condition when the people turned down Mr. Meighen's first appeal for endorsement and gave Mr. King instructions to carry on. But the morning paper has failed to make out a case against the present Government, while it seems to imagine that the newspaper reader treats trade statistics as fiction.

Since the statistical evidence there displayed fully justifies the heading above set out, we can only assume that the catalogue of our contemporary's complaints against the King Government is merely part of the material which Dr. Tolmie's propaganda factory at Ottawa is continually turning out.

MUCH TOO BUSY

NO DOUBT A TIME WILL come when statesmen may sit round a table and decide what nation shall have the pleasure of making laws for the people and penguins who inhabit the barren wastes of snow and ice surrounding the North Pole. But the Kansas City Star expresses our view when it discounts American interest in the property in question and very probably represents the sentiments of our neighbor in its suggestion that if the point arises, and the republic to the south has to consider the application of its laws to new people, there will be very little pleasure in the prospect.

MUST BUILD FIRST

HOW FAR DISTANT IS the day when China in her own best interests will be able to conduct her own affairs without any sort of "assistance" from other nations appears to be still a matter for conjecture. People who have lived in the Orient for a number of years and have scarcely moved out of the "foreign quarters" can not be expected to be in a position to render impartial judgment in respect of recent happenings. Their sympathies very naturally incline to a continuance of the principle of extra-territoriality.

wholly dependent upon the manner in which they develop and utilize their modern learning, these products of what we please to call our Occidental civilization, most of them the products of either British or American universities, ought to be able to justify such claim to the right of directing the country's destinies as they may put forth to the Treaty Powers.

HEALTH OF DISEASE WARTS

A wart is one of the minor diseases to which not much attention is given. Nevertheless it can be troublesome, situated in a place where it is subject to constant irritation—for example, about the tip of the index finger—or around and under the corner of the nail. Also it can be very unsightly if situated on the nose or other prominent place.

Warts are much more common on children than adults, and generally multiple in children while often single in adults. They seem to grow more readily on moist clammy hands than on dry ones. Everyone knows a remedy—guaranteed to cure warts. Often it is a charm. The popular belief in charms and incantations for warts seems to have survived—even when this method of treating other diseases has been discarded, probably this is so because they often vanish spontaneously within a very short time.

CAR OVERTURNS IN CRASH ON HIGHWAY

Two Seriously Injured and Two More Hurt Slightly Last Evening

James Moore and George Weiler, injured in an automobile accident shortly before 7 o'clock last night on the Colwood road, Island Highway, were reported in favorable condition this morning by the hospital authorities, and their two companions, Harry "Happy" Holmes and Peter McCarter were not injured beyond minor cuts and bruises.

Driving a heavy Studebaker car along the road from Colwood to Victoria, and apparently trying to avoid a car in passing, Peter McCarter ran the machine off the road, struck a tree and then, the motor completely out of control, the car turned over and over coming to a stop battered and rendered almost a complete wreck.

Constable Hatcher of the Provincial Police was on hand within a few seconds of the smash. He rendered first aid to the injured men. Mr. Moore suffered severe bruises on the head and Mr. Weiler has an injured spine, but both spent a fairly good night and are thought to be well on the road to recovery.

All four are well-known business men of this city. "Happy" Holmes is Victoria's ice hockey team goal tender. Mr. Weiler is a well-known automobile equipment man. Mr. McCarter is a mill owner and Mr. Moore an insurance man.

TAX COLLECTION IN OAK BAY FAR AHEAD OF PREVIOUS YEARS

Report For First Six Months Shows Big Increase; Annual Health Report Good

Over eighty per cent of the current taxes in Oak Bay have been collected for this year it was shown in the report on tax collections for 1925 up till June 25, which was submitted to the Oak Bay council last night, at its regular meeting, by Municipal Treasurer R. F. Blandy.

The figure of $147,418 shows a decided increase over the same time in previous years. At present the collection of the current taxes, arrears of taxes and back taxes have proved satisfactory. Up to date, 75.1 per cent of the current taxes have been paid, compared with 74.9 per cent at June 30, 1924. The amount collected was $128,280 and $2,205 respectively, the total exceeding last year's by $2,471.

LOWER LEVY

Another interesting feature is that on account of Oak Bay reducing its taxation this year the tax levy has been decreased from $99,816 to $181,761, a reduction which totals $18,955. Of this amount $12,588 is general rate, the remainder being principally for local improvements. To attain the estimates for the year $18,254 is still needed from the three divisions of taxes.

BURN GARBAGE

The problem of disposing of garbage was still a question to be fatigued. The municipality could provide an incinerator the residents should make a practice of burning everything possible, Dr. Walker stated. The time would come when the municipality would be forced to provide proper incinerators, owing to the fact that household incineration is becoming more difficult every year due to the increased use of electric power, the official said.

Up until the present time Oak Bay has disposed of their garbage by placing it in a big hole on a piece of reverted property on St. Ann Street. This hole will not be filled up for another year, and until that time the councillors decided to continue with the present plan.

A letter was received by the council from Herbert Carmichael, through the Oak Bay School Board, who asked that the sum of $50 be spent on making the old dressing-room at the park on Windsor Road suitable for the next three or four months. Engineer Fowler was asked to report at the next meeting of the council as to the cost of repairing the room and also what expenses it would take to erect new quarters.

FOR SHORE ROAD

It was approved that the sum of $200 be spent on the repair of Shore Road, as recommended by the works committee. The engineer and superintendent will examine the Uplands property and report to the committee on the work necessary.

The Business Ladies' Club of the City Temple were granted permission to use the Willows Park for their picnic on July 22.

NO PLAN FOR NAVAL BASE AT ESQUIMALT

Ottawa Discounts Rumor Imperial Station Might be Revived

Ottawa, July 17.—The British Government has made no proposal looking to the establishment of a naval base at Esquimalt, B.C. This was officially stated at the Department of National Defence today when attention was drawn to rumors that such a proposal had been made. It was stated that the plan was raised from time to time in England that there should be a British naval base on the Canadian Coast, but that nothing had been done. The Canadian Government now operates a naval dockyard at Esquimalt.

ELK INCREASING IN ROCKIES, SAYS NEW YORK PAINTER

Rapid Development of Herds Will Lead to Trouble Unless Checked

Banff, Alta., July 17.—Forty miles north of Banff, in the Panther River country, elk are increasing with such rapidity that they will soon be a menace to the country, states Belmore Brown, famous New York artist who has returned from a painting tour of that district. Ten years ago, he says, there were only 10,000 elk in that district.

First of Yellow Driver's License Cards is Issued

Magistrate George Jay served his first yellow driver's license yesterday in the city police court, when W. W. Jacob answered the charge of driving to the common danger, and was fined $20. Mr. Jacob was driving his car at a good rate of speed along the road from Esquimalt towards the Johnson Street bridge when he struck the curb and hopped into the middle portion of the roadway, which is uneven, broken, and considerably lower than the paved bed. He had to surrender his blue driver's ticket, after losing his white one, and now has a yellow. Another conviction will mean the loss of a driver's license altogether.

Philadelphia, July 17.—After Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., had received the referee's decision last night over Tommy Loughren, Philadelphia, at the end of their ten-round bout, C. F. ### TWO-TON BULL TAKES PART IN "THUNDERING HOOFS," AT COLUMBIA

An underslung, two-ton bull, as harmless as a super juggernaut and as gentle as a wounded grizzly, was Fred Thomson's latest opponent in a catch-as-catch-can grappling match during the filming of "Thundering Hoofs," the first of the new Thomson series for F. B. O., now playing at the Coliseum Theatre.

The answer to this apparently unequal battle may be seen on the screen, but the final result does not show the close calls and the terrible spills the champion athlete and picture star received when he undertook to "bulldoze" a bull in a Mexican ring. Thomson is perhaps the only man on the screen who has ever attempted this feat, and that he did it at all speaks volumes for his strength, courage and ability. The action of the story calls for Fred to rescue his great horse, Silver King, from the horns of the infuriated animal. Silver King has been stolen by Mexican bandits and sold to serve as "bull bait" in the cruel sport of the torador. And Thomson not only makes the rescue, but actually leaps to the back of the charging animal, grasps the horns and twists the big bull's neck until he wins a "fall," while Silver King makes good his escape if you think you're good at "bulldozing!"

LAUGHABLE DOMESTIC COMEDY DRAWS FINE HOUSES AT DOMINION

What is an "alphabetical piano"? That was the question asked by Betty Bronson, Paramount featured player, during the filming of "Are Parents People?" now at the Dominion Theatre, in which she is featured with Adolphe Menjou and Florence Vidor.

The question arose when Director Malcolm St. Clair asked the property boy to bring over an "alphabetical piano" for a scene in the picture.

A few minutes later the boy returned with a portable typewriter and the mystery was solved.

"Are Parents People?" is a screen version of the Saturday Evening Post serial by Alice Duer Miller, author of "Manlaughter," and is a laughable domestic comedy, in which the parents decide to separate, while the daughter does everything in her power to bring about a reconciliation. It's a picture with "the perfect cast."

"HONEYMOON TRAIL" IS MAKING REAL HIT AT PLAYHOUSE THIS WEEK

"The Honeymoon Trail," as presented by the Frank Morton company, has registered a real hit, playing to large audiences all week. The bill is built on the light farce lines allowing of fast, snappy action, and giving each member of that company ample opportunity for his or her best work. The current screen attraction, "Temporary Marriage," with an all star cast, is easily one of the best picture-dramas seen at the Playhouse in some time. Starting next week, Mr. Reginald Hincks and the new Playhouse company will be seen in "The Island King," celebrated English musical comedy.

DIRECTOR OF PICTURE AT CAPITOL ROSE TO FAME ON AN INSULT

Big events in the lives of babes and kings sometimes have their origin in trifles. The same holds true for motion picture directors.

Take the case of Alfred E. Green, who directed "Sally," First National's newest starring vehicle for Colleen Moore, now playing at the Capitol Theatre. Because an officious underling stung Green with a slight, the screen to-day includes him among its most noted directors. It was a trifle as things go in the life of the average man. Something that frequently occurs to everyone but which most persons ignore because life is too short to be bothered.

Not so with Green. The "little thing" in his life occurred many years ago when he was appearing as an "extra" in motion pictures. Green, until then, had been identified in a humble way with the legitimate theatre. Here in curiosity than anything else he "strayed on" as an "extra" in a pirate mob. With a hundred other young fellows he was taken to a ship in San Pedro harbor "on location." As the call for lunch sounded Green hurried toward the ship's cabin. At the door he was stopped by a youth of overbearing manner who curtly and rather sneeringly said:

"Go on you; get back there. These tables are for actors. You'll have to wait till your grub is brought to you."

That was all. Most of us, perhaps, would have grinned and forgotten the incident. But it seared into Green's soul. Suddenly, pictures became his sole interest. He determined to stick and to rise to a position where underlings of this type would not dare to address him in such manner. And further, he determined that when he reached the goal he would see that even "extras" were treated with common human courtesy.

SATISFIED WITH RELATIONSHIP TO BRITISH EMPIRE

Montreal Jurist Says Quebec is Unanimous in Approval

Hopes Westerners Will Pay Return Visit

"It takes an actual inspection of the Great West of this country to bring realization of the wonderful future ahead of Canada as a nation," said the Honorable L. E. Panneton, Justice of the Superior Court of Quebec Province, last night at the Empress Hotel, when speaking of the experiences of over one hundred visitors from Quebec to the West.

Hon. Mr. Panneton is accompanied by his wife and daughter, and all are enthusiastic over their reception throughout the Western Provinces.

"I am convinced that the prospect ahead of Canada is of too great a magnitude for casual forecasts, based upon such a hasty visit as we have been compelled to make at this time. When we recall that all the wonderful development we have witnessed has been the work of the past forty years, it is impossible to foretell what will happen in the coming forty years," he said.

UNANIMOUS

"This time, however, the people of Quebec are almost unanimous in their satisfaction with the present relations with the British Empire, we look to the development of a united Canada, with the people of the East growing ever more familiar with the needs and ambitions of the West, while the people of the West will, we hope, come to Quebec and make themselves familiar with our views."

This sentiment in favor of better acquaintance is growing stronger among the middle classes of Quebec, the feeling is widespread that a greater Canada will be the outcome of close ties between East and West.

UNITED AND STRONG

"We would disabuse the minds of our fellow Canadians in the West of any idea that the Bourassa doctrine of independence is popular in Quebec. Even Bourassa himself has now abandoned that propaganda, realizing at last the direct tendency therein towards annexation. Quebec favors a strong Canada, united to advance her own interests, and that aspect of public opinion will be tremendously strengthened by the success which has attended the present tour."

Hon. Mr. Panneton declared that all members of the touring party were united in appreciation of the welcome extended them by the people of the various cities visited. "We hope to see you return our visit, individually and by such excursions as this organized by the University of Montreal." We wish most heartily to return the hospitality we have experienced, and shall be delighted, one and all of us, to show you what we have accomplished in Quebec and what we are attempting to do, for our own prosperity and for the advancement of Canada as a whole," he said.

Hon. Mr. Justice L. E. Panneton is a native of Sherbrooke, a section of Quebec province, with a large population of British origin. After a public career, which he describes as "the usual steps, schools commission, councillor and member of the legislature, spread over forty years," Hon. Mr. Panneton was elevated to the Superior Court of Quebec twelve years ago, removing to Montreal at that time. The present tour is his first visit to the distinguished jurist has paid the West.

BROADWAY ACTOR SHOT BY WIFE

"Held without bail." With these words, Edith Parker Davis' cup of remorse filled to overflowing. Led into court in New York to be arraigned on the charge of shooting to kill her husband, she moaned over and over "Don't let him die. I love him so." With face buried in her hand she listened to the district attorney as he read the charges against her, violating the Sullivan law in that she had a pistol in her possession without a permit, and of attempting to kill her husband. And when the judge held her without bail to await the outcome of her husband's injuries, Edith Davis was led back to her cell with tears streaming down her face.

MANITOBA EXPECTS LARGE GRAIN CROP

Rain is Needed in All Parts of Alberta After Warm Period, Say Reports

Winnipeg, July 17.—The scorching heat experienced throughout the prairie for nearly a week failed to minimize the promising crop outlook in Manitoba, and reports from all parts of the province, based on present conditions, indicate prospects of a bumper yield.

The progress of the crops to date is far in advance of this time last year, according to J. H. Evans, Deputy Minister of Agriculture of Manitoba. Taking the province as a whole, he said, prospects were exceptionally favorable. Very little hail damage had been reported and the menace of rust had been greatly exaggerated. The Government estimate indicated seventy-five per cent of wheat had headed out. While rain was needed in many districts, there was no immediate danger of loss from drought.

IN SASKATCHEWAN

That's a common record with Aristo. This western oil is economical to begin with—it costs less than many other motor oils—but its greatest saving is in the end.

Perhaps the most confusing thing about motor oils is the matter of price. Eastern oils, for example, cost more—chiefly because they carry heavy freight rates.

Western oils, actually superior lubricants, are thus obviously the most economical. And particularly is this true of Aristo Motor Oil.

Aristo's greatest saving, however, is not in its price. It's in that most formidable of items—motor up-keep.

Aristo combats the formation of carbon. And as a lubricant it has no peer.

The makers of Aristo have a pride in their product which takes no account of costs. It could sell for twice as much and not be a better oil.

Sold at Union Oil service stations, and at independent dealers of the first class everywhere.

STAGE IS WRECKED CLOSE TO NANAIMO

Two Passengers in Hospital While Others Bruised in Accident Yesterday

Nanaimo, July 17—Two men are in the Nanaimo Hospital and two other passengers are severely bruised and shaken up as the result of an accident which occurred in the Northfield Road about four miles from Nanaimo when the Courtenay-Nanaimo stage driven by Jack Harris blew out a front tire and jumped the road into a ten-foot hole. Thomas Edmonds and an elderly man named Stephenson, from Courtenay, are in the hospital.

The car came to a halt against a young alder tree, a complete wreck, and all its passengers were hurled out amongst the stumps and rocks. Stephenson was picked up unconscious, and at the hospital it was learned he had sustained a severe scalp wound at the base of the head, probably from the broken windshield. Edmonds sustained a broken shoulder, various other cuts and bruises and the driver escaped with slight injuries to one leg.

The accident occurred at 4.30 yesterday afternoon near Northfield, where there is a slight turn in the road and lots of gravel. The driver says when the tire burst he lost control and within twenty yards the car crashed into the ditch. Stephenson and Edmonds were sitting in the rear seat and were thrown against the tree, while the space where the others landed was somewhat more open, which probably accounts for the lesser injuries they sustained.

SWIMMER DROWNED

Swift Current, Sask., July 17.—Tangled in long weeds on the bottom of the river, at a depth of twelve feet, George McGilvray was drowned Wednesday night. He had gone in bathing with two companions who were a short distance from him when the fatality occurred. They heard him shout and saw him go under water, but thought he was diving.

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT? Scopes Wishes His Fame Could Die Down a Little

The great men of the earth come to town to protect this frail youth. Clarence Darrow comes and Bainbridge Colby and Dudley Field Malone.

They are dined and banqueted and feted. Sometimes John Scopes, the martyr, youth persecuted for his belief in the holiness of freedom, appears on the scene and shuffles in, head lowered upon his mainly bosom, eyes furtively seeking out reporters, lurking in the trail of his defenders.

When he goes to the big towns like Chattanooga or Atlanta or Knoxville for conferences and the like, he is made him one of the herd. His favorite trick is the reporter's stunt, and John Thomas carries notes.

"How do you see this Scopes fellow?" he inquires of the curious bystander.

Professor Johnny Scopes calls for his mail every morning at the Dayton postoffice. Sometimes he can take it away in one load, sometimes not. Sometimes he reads it. Sometimes not.

QUEBEC VISITORS CONTINUE TRAVELS

Montreal University Excursionists on Way to Edmonton

Come and See Quebec is Cordial Invitation to Westerners

Delighted with their visit to Victoria, the Quebec excursion, organized by the University of Montreal, this afternoon commenced their return journey, after spending a day and a half in a busy survey of Southern Vancouver Island. Motor drives proved highly popular with the excursionists, and all were loud in their praises of Butchart's Gardens, the Malahat and the great waterfront drive.

On the way to Victoria the party stopped off at Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise and Vancouver, and will make the return journey by way of Edmonton,

IT MUST BE SEEN

Abbe J. E. Duchesne, Superior of the College of Chicoutimi, expressed the view that such tours should become a popular recreation among Canadians, declaring that in such a great land as Canada no other means of acquaintance is possible. "We read what is the real meaning of what we read until we have seen the land and met the people. You read of Quebec, come and see us, then you will realize how truly we are good Canadians seeking the advancement of our country," he said.

FATHER TO REGAIN POSSESSION OF CHILD

San Francisco, July 17.—The immigration authorities here yesterday recommended to Washington that Shirley Cooke, five-year-old daughter of J. Henry Cooke, barrister of Toronto, and Mrs. Sylvia Betty Cooke, be deported to Ontario from San Francisco. She and her mother were traced here by the father, who recently was given custody of the child in divorce proceedings. The case of the mother, who is charged with having brought the child here without having their passports properly vised, is still being investigated.

If the Department of Labor acts on the recommendation it means the child will be returned to the father, who recently sought a divorce through Parliament at Ottawa, but was unsuccessful, although winning custody of the child. Mrs. Cooke thereupon fled with the little one and was traced here.

DUCHESS UNVEILED MEMORIAL WINDOW TO WAR HEROINES

London, July 17.—As an act of most high praise and glad thanksgiving to Almighty God for the lives and devotion of the 1,400 women of the Empire who served their country in the war, and in the name of their sisters in all parts of the world, I unveil and restore to its ancient use the "Five Sisters Window" at the Duchess of York, revealed to the eyes of hundreds of women in York Minster recently a memorial to those in whose honor they were gathered.

Uniforms familiar during the war were sprinkled among the congregation, and seated together were two V.A.D. nurses whose many medals testified to splendid service. Six-and-a-half centuries after its creation, the Five Sisters window has been restored to its original state in tribute to the dead. Formed of five lights, each fifty three feet high and five feet wide, no two of which are alike in design, it is the only complete piece of early English glasswork in the country.

The leaf pattern in brown enamel, interspersed with insertions of colored glass in geometrical shapes, had become almost obliterated, and it was on the suggestion of Mrs. H. D. Little, a Kent woman, who attended the ceremony, that the window was restored.

"The idea came to me in a dream," she says, "when I saw my two little sisters, both of whom died in childhood, standing hand in hand in the north transept, one beckoning to me, the other pointing to the window."

Princess Margaret started the restoration fund, and 32,000 women contributed to it. After the memorial had been unveiled by the Duchess of York, the service ended with the Last Post and the Reveille, sounded by trumpeters hidden from the congregation.

Willoughby, Panting, Shaw, E. Shaw, Robertson, Moulton, E. Thomson, Hatcher, Pears and Oliver, Miss Hill, Mrs. K. Hill. Gifts were also sent from Legionnaires Mitchell, Florence, Hill and M. Robertson. Among the numerous social functions arranged for Countess Haig by leading Vancouver hostesses was the tea given by Mrs. A. D. McRae on Wednesday afternoon at "Hycroft." The guests included Countess Haig, Lady Tupper, Mrs. J. W. Stewart, Mrs. Herbert Drummond, Mrs. Mayne D. Word received in the city this week from the Peace River District tells of an excellent trapping season experienced by pioneer men north of the Nelson River. Marten, beaver, lynx and many other types of fur-bearing animals are said to be fairly plentiful. Marten trappers are working north from Nelson River towards the foothills of the Rockies. One trapper took 111 lynx alone. Big game is plentiful in the country, grizzlies and mountain sheep being specially mentioned in the report.

Several rings, a bangle and a pair of cuff links were stolen from the residence of J. L. SONS OF ENGLAND FROM VANCOUVER TO PAY VISIT TO CITY

Two Hundred and Fifty Will Come For Annual Reunion

On Saturday the local lodges of the Sons of England Benefit Society will be hosts of about 250 visiting members of the Vancouver and New Westminster lodges at an annual reunion meeting of that order. The visitors will be met at the C.P.R. wharf by a large number of members of the local lodges, and will proceed to the steps of the Parliament Buildings to be photographed. Headed by the Sons of England band of Vancouver, the visiting body, some 100 strong, will parade through the business section of the city to the Knights of Pythias Hall, North Park Street, where the visitors will be entertained during the evening. The route of parade will be as follows: Leaving the Parliament Buildings to Government Street, pausing a few moments in Memorial Square, the members will pay silent tribute to fallen brothers and place a wreath thereon. The parade will then proceed along Government Street to Yates Street, up Yates to Queen and thence to K. of P. Hall, upon arriving at which, after having listened to an address of welcome from the Mayor, the visiting members will be banqueted.

At 6:30 p.m. all members will proceed to Central (North Ward) Park where a game of baseball will be played between teams from visiting and local lodges, meanwhile the Vancouver band will render several selections. The interval between the banquet and baseball game will be utilized in visiting their respective hotels or renewing acquaintances. Returning to the K. of P. Hall after the game, the balance of the evening from 8:30 will be of a social nature, the committee in charge having untriflingly devoted several weeks to arrange an excellent programme to which all members of the order are invited. Sunday morning not having been included in the programme, the committee ask that all members having automobiles kindly oblige by making arrangements to take visitors for a drive.

B.C. WILL KEEP CLOSE CHECK ON MINING PROJECTS

Wembley Representative to Keep Government Informed on All Flotations

British Columbia will be represented at the Mineral Exhibit in the Wembley Exhibition this year, by Fred A. Starkey, Commissioner of Associated Boards of Trade, of Eastern British Columbia.

This announcement was made to-day by Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, Mr. Starkey, who held the position last year, who is instructed to prepare to leave for England immediately.

TO WATCH FLOTATIONS

Mr. Starkey will be charged with the responsibility of keeping the minister in touch with mining flotations launched in London and based on mineral resources of this Province. Reports indicate that British capital is taking increased interest in the mining industry of this Province. It should be encouraged, and that what is possible should be done to prevent enterprises of questionable merit being put before the British investor.

"What the mineral resources of British Columbia most need at this time," Mr. Sloan said, "is capital, with such support nothing can hold the continued prosperity of the industry."

The Province has a thoroughly representative mineral exhibit at the great exposition. Specimens of the production of the different mineralized districts were assembled by Dominion and Provincial officials two years ago. They were generously assisted by individual miners and active companies, resulting in the assembling of literature selected display, which serves to illustrate the present prosperous condition of mining in the West, and gives the seeker for information some conception of the possibilities of an industry which, so far as British Columbia is concerned, has only started to come into its own.

FIRST-HAND KNOWLEDGE

Mr. Starkey has long been intimately associated with mining in the Interior. He has first-hand knowledge of all the mining sections of the Province. Last year he did good work at Wembley, taking charge of the distribution of literature furnished by the department, and explaining to those making enquiries at the exhibition and elsewhere, the opportunities offered by British Columbia to the investor. While it was to mining that he primarily addressed his activities, it was found that his knowledge of the general conditions in the West, and his understanding of the temptations migrating to the Canadian West.

MINING DATA

This year the department has forwarded to the exhibition a large quantity of mining reports and illustrated booklets, which are being distributed among those who inspect the British Columbia mineral exhibit. Mr. Starkey will pick up the work where it was left off in 1924, the results of which are already being made manifest, and which it is considered of utmost importance should be continued.

GOVERNMENT DOES NOT REGARD BEER MOVE FAVORABLY

New Westminster Agitation For New Plebiscite Does Not Impress Premier

Wants Finality on Liquor Question; Emphatic Vote of 1924 Should Stand

Efforts of beer advocates in New Westminster to bring about a second beer plebiscite in that city shortly are not regarded by the Government with any sympathy. This was made clear to-day by members of the Cabinet. The feeling of the ministers is that as New Westminster voted on the beer question last year and rendered a verdict against beer by the convincing majority of 722, no further test of public opinion is needed now, twelve months later.

FINALITY

"There ought to be some finality about these things," Premier Oliver declared to-day when he was pressed for his opinion on the New Westminster proposal. "Surely a decision rendered by a big majority last year should stand good to-day. The Government is constantly faced with just such things as this, which keep turning up time and time again although we have spent endless time and consideration settling them."

VOTE UNLIKELY

The Premier stated that the proposed New Westminster plebiscite had not been considered by the Cabinet but that Attorney-General Manson had been interviewed on the subject by New Westminster residents. Mr. Manson, the Premier understands, promised an answer on his return from the North. As the Attorney-General is not expected back here for some time it seems certain that no plebiscite can be held at the New Westminster election planned for July 23 in any case, whether a vote is ordered later or not. It is not likely that any vote will be ordered as the Government is not anxious to open up the beer question unless on the basis of big petitions from districts affected.

FINE PICTURES OF QUAKE AT DOMINION

Scenes Show Damage Done By Recent Earthquake at Santa Barbara

An interesting feature of the Dominion Theatre programme this week is the showing of the first authentic pictures of the Santa Barbara earthquake. This is the first time these have been put on the silver sheet in Canada.

The pictures show all details of the tornado and the majority of them were taken from an aeroplane flying at very low altitude. They show all the main buildings of the Southern city that were demolished. In one scene an apartment house is shown that collapsed leaving the two sides standing. Several of the rooms had only the walls crushed and the beds can be seen just as the people left them in their mad-rush for safety.

Another scene shows the Japanese quarter of the town and how these hardy people have already commenced to reconstruct their quarters. By the pictures it can be seen that volunteer laborers are clearing away a great amount of the debris and it will not be very long before the buildings are rebuilt.

BENCHERS DISCUSS MANSON'S COURSE

Vancouver Paper Says Law Society Directors Considered Yamamoto Case

Reported to Have Sent Letter to Attorney-General Claiming Injustice Done

Vancouver, July 17.—Conduct of Attorney-General A. M. Manson and his prosecutor at the Nanaimo Assizes in the Yamamoto case was up for review before the benchers of the Law Society, the governing body of the legal profession in British Columbia, which has the power to discipline its members by reprimand, suspension or expulsion, according to an item in "The Vancouver Daily Sun."

The charge of suppression of evidence in the Yamamoto case which it is explained, tended to show the man was insane, came before the benchers in the concluding moments of their July meeting. It was stated to-day by J. H. Senkler, K.C., treasurer of the Law Society, and its chief presiding officer at the meetings of the benchers. Prompt action was taken by the transmission of a letter calling upon Mr. Manson to rectify the alleged injustice done by obtaining computation of the sentence or a new trial for Yamamoto, who was tried and sentenced to be hanged, says "The Sun."

ASKED FOR STATEMENT

"That, however, does not necessarily end the matter," Mr. Senkler added, "as the Attorney-General on July 11 issued a statement in which he stated that the sworn evidence before the benchers. It will be most unfortunate if the statement which the Department of Justice has called upon him to make in this case is in the same vein as his public statement."

The important document before the benchers is an affidavit by Dr. H. C. Stevens, superintendent of provincial mental hospitals.

MANSON'S STATEMENT

Attorney-General Manson, in his statement of July 11, concluded with this statement:

"It is quite true that since then (the trial) Dr. Stevens, upon a recent examination of the condemned man, finds he is suffering from delusions and hallucinations and is, in fact, a typical victim of dementia praecox."

"But in his statement to the crown Dr. Stevens is unable to say Yamamoto was of unsound mind at the date of the commission of the crime." Yamamoto was tried and sentenced to be hanged.

STEEVE'S AFFIDAVIT

Dr. Stevens in his affidavit swore: 1. That on May 21 he was instructed by A. M. Johnson, K.C., in behalf of the Attorney-General's Department, to examine Yamamoto. 2. That after examining Yamamoto he concluded Yamamoto was suffering from a serious mental disease and was irresponsible at the time he committed the said act of murder. 3. That on May 22, (six days before the trial) he wired his findings to Mr. Johnson at Victoria as follows:

"Yamamoto examined with interpreter. Shows very active auditory hallucinations since February, out of which has arisen a mass of persecutory delusions and directly responsible for killing. It is a clear dementia praecox of the paranoid type. Do you wish further detail report?"

"(Signed) H. C. STEEVES."

4. That he was not subpoenaed or requested by the crown to give evidence at the trial of Yamamoto. In the representations laid before the benchers other statements made by the Attorney-General in answer to the charge of suppression of evidence are contradicted.

NOT PRESENTED TO JURY

One statement by Mr. Manson, says the newspaper, was that "all the facts that could be obtained on the subject of his possible insanity were presented to the jurors."

The affidavit shows, says the paper, that was not so, as Dr.

Lawn Tennis Finals Set For To-morrow

Semi-finals Being Played To-day and Great Programme of Tennis is Booked For To-morrow; Keen Matches Yesterday in Ladies' and Men's Singles; Most Double Matches Were Decided in Straight Sets

To-morrow will witness the finals of the B. C. lawn tennis championships at the Victoria courts. The semi-finals, which will be the best three out of five sets, are being played to-day and the players who are to contest for the titles will be known by sunset.

It is expected that the largest gallery that has ever witnessed a provincial tournament will be in attendance to-morrow. The tennis should be exceptionally good.

Yesterday play was notable for the ease with which some of the matches were decided. Outstanding in this regard was the match between Cal O'Halloran, of Kingston Street and W. McMaster of Vancouver, B.C., under twenty-one-year champion. It was expected that the match would have been extremely close, going probably the limit, three sets.

McMaster of Vancouver, B.C., under twenty-one-year champion. It was expected that the match would have been extremely close, going probably the limit, three sets. McMaster of Vancouver, B.C., under twenty-one-year champion. It was expected that the match would have been extremely close, going probably the limit, three sets.

Rennie Looks Good. Leroy Rennie of Toronto won two matches yesterday and entered the semi-finals. Rennie did not have much trouble winning from Tatlow of Vancouver, but Gerald Cunningham, the Victoria lad, made him move, especially in the first set, which ended at 7-5.

Rennie is meeting John Proctor of Victoria in the semi-finals this afternoon. Proctor won his match in a walk yesterday, defeating Knox with the loss of but two sets. Rennie is a splendid all-round tennis player, who has wonderful control, and plenty of experience to back up his game.

The other semi-finals have not been decided as yet, but Gordon, Eric McMath and O'Halloran of Victoria, and Sparling of Vancouver are lining up for the honors.

GOOD LADIES' MATCHES. The ladies' singles produced some fast matches. Mrs. Bourque of Edmonton had a struggle on her hands with Mrs. Verley of Victoria, who was carried to three sets before she won. Mrs. Bourque took the first at 6-3, but Mrs. Verley rallied strongly in the second set taking it at 6-4.

A KEEN MATCH. The outstanding match of the ladies' doubles was between Mary Campbell and Mrs. McGivern of Victoria, and Mrs. Knox and Miss Gladman of California. The former won by 6-4, 7-5. Mrs. McGivern is improving greatly and after a little more tournament play will be one of the best lady players in the Victoria Club.

MEN'S SINGLES. C. H. O'Halloran, Kingston Street, beat T. McMaster, Vancouver, 6-2, 6-1. G. B. Sparling, Vancouver, beat W. McMaster, Victoria, 6-0, 6-4. E. Purkis, Toronto, 6-2, 3-6, 6-0. LeRoy Rennie, Toronto, beat K. Tatlow, Vancouver, 6-1, 6-4. G. Cunningham, Victoria, beat A. P. Wilks, Vancouver, 6-2, 6-2.

MEN'S DOUBLES. Kingston and Huntington, Cowichan, beat Pollard and Cabedo, Victoria, 6-0, 6-2. Rennie and Purkis, Toronto, beat Hocking and Temple, Kingston Street, 3-2, 2-2. Castleman and Martin beat Berrill and Goodday, Victoria, 6-4, 6-2.

LADIES' SINGLES. Mrs. Wright, Ottawa, beat Miss Fowler, Victoria, 6-0, 6-2. Miss Gladman, Victoria, beat Mrs. Pinlayson, Cowichan, 6-2, 6-1. Mrs. Bourque, Edmonton, beat Mrs. Verley, Victoria, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. Mrs. Wright beat Miss Gladman, 6-2, 6-1.

Crucial Cricket Matches Are On To-morrow's Card

Victoria, League-leaders, Meet Five C's, Who Are Treading on Their Heels

Cowichan, Making Bid For Championship, Scheduled to Play Albions

Interest in to-morrow's cricket centres around the meeting of Victoria and the Five C's at the Jubilee Grounds. Victoria is at present leading the league by four points with Five C's second. The Five C's have played one game less than Victoria and should they win to-morrow will be right on the leaders' heels.

The last time these clubs met the match ended in a draw. So far Victoria has only suffered one defeat since the start of the season. The Five C's have played two weeks ago. Victoria will be without the services of their star bowler, George Wilkinson, who is now on his way to Regina to play for Victoria in the Western Canada cricket tournament.

Pictorial Golf Instruction Left Arm Should Be Straight At Moment of Impact

By H. B. Martin

THE VALUE IN A STRAIGHT LEFT ARM IS NOT SO MUCH AT THE TOP OF THE SWING AS AT THE MOMENT OF THE IMPACT

There is a great deal about the straight left arm that is misunderstood. If the arm is straight at the top of the swing it does not always follow that the shot will be a good one nor does it even insure a direct line to the ball.

Dempsey Breaks With His Manager and Talks Business For Himself

Kearns, However, is Smart Young Feller and Comes Back at Champion

New York, July 17.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, to-day visited the New York State Athletic Commission and after the conference that he had made his peace, and that the commissioners had agreed to two or three bouts before he meets the negro, Harry Wills.

Los Angeles, July 17.—Jack Kearns is peeved with the man he piloted into the world's heavyweight boxing championship and he doesn't care who knows it.

Jack Dempsey's reported announcement in New York that he would henceforth handle his own boxing business was the straw that broke the back of his fight manager's customary patience.

OWNS HALF CHAMPIONSHIP. "Fifty per cent of Jack Dempsey's heavyweight championship title is his own," continued the fight manager heatedly, "and as long as our contract endures he will make no matches without my OK."

New York, July 17.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, yesterday set at rest rumors he had retired by agreeing to meet his negro challenger, Harry Wills.

With this decision the champion scattered other rumors, far and wide. Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, have divided forces, but Kearns will partake of the proceeds of any Dempsey bout until September, 1925. Dempsey, however, hereafter will handle his own boxing business.

TOURISTS and CAMPERS SUPPLIES

MODERN TOURIST HAS HOME ON WHEELS

The modern tourist, in his own car, has a home on wheels. Many cars come here specially built for touring, with what has every appearance of a small bungalow, with the engine in front and the driver's seat inside. Several of these cars have visited Victoria in the past and others have come this year. But the average tourist, with his camping equipment neatly packed and lashed to the car, has every bit as pleasant a Summer home under canvas as the man who builds a special car of the bungalow type.

There is not a camp on Vancouver Island that cannot boast a superb view of mountain, woodland and water, such as the photograph represents. Ocean, lake and river all are close to Victoria, and the mountains are the constant setting of the water reaches. There are thousands of camp sites that look over scenes such as this.

LATEST EQUIPMENT COMBINES HOME CONVENIENCES WITH LIFE IN GREAT OUTDOORS

With Schools Closed Families Trek to Seaside and Lakeside for a Glorious Summer Close to Nature at Enchanting Campsites of Vancouver Island.

With school closed and the family free to make their vacation where they will, the trek to the great outdoors for Victorians is in full swing. With the ideal weather Vancouver Island always enjoys, camping wins first place in popularity. Victoria is happily situated in that it gives citizens and visitors ready access to untenanted country of virgin woods and lonely rivers that lie to the north, generally, where ideal spots for camping and outing parties may be found, and without searching, for they are everywhere. It is established, too, where its citizens are within easy reach of many little, sheltered, sandy beaches, cool water and grassy camping sites, and now, during the warm Summer months, the canvas tents and Summer cottages dot the seaside and the banks of lakes and rivers for miles about the country.

Good roads are largely responsible for the great area of country to which campers throng during the Summer season. From Cordova Bay northward into the long Saanich Arm, up to Mackenzie Bay and into Brentwood, these Summer-homes are set. There it is that hundreds of healthy youngsters swim and play the whole day long and enjoy their long vacation.

LINE OF CAMPS South from Cordova Bay, along the whole waterfront around Ten Mile Point, in from Telegraph Bay to Cadboro Bay, the Willows Beach, Poul Bay, and then up and into the Gorge goes this endless line of camps. Some are rude shelters of boards and scantlings; others are trim, green painted little dwellings, with pretty flower boxes at their windows, clean white curtains, and smoke from a hospitable chimney. Often there are only tents, some pitched haphazardly, some built on solid frames. But everywhere are these campers.

Up the Gorge goes the long line, with children flocking to the warm waters of this Summer paradise of sport daily. There is the widely known Curtis Point Automobile Camp, where tourists specially are made welcome—and hundreds stop there every year, carrying away with them visions and memories of enchantment while they remained at the spot. Even up into Portage Inlet, and to the mouth of Dead Man's River, these camps extend.

POPULAR RESORT Before there was any Victoria at all, and when the Indians were the only tenants of the lower reaches of Vancouver Island, the Gorge waters rushed back and forth through the little channel over which the Gorge Bridge is now built, just as they do to-day. The surrounding country was similar to what it is now, for the forest has been preserved, and this is one of the greatest of all the Summer resorts of Victoria.

But Esquimalt, Albert Head and other districts are all a part of this great camping area.

In the present day of camping life, when motorists pack their tents and foodstuff, bedding and other supplies into the back seat, on the running boards or in some contrivance at the rear of the car, it is essential to conserve space. All manner of innovations and inventions have been borne of fruitful minds that the camp may be stowed away in a motor car, and set up by the roadside at night. Light canvas tents, folding beds and bath tubs, canvas pails, tin oil stoves, tin fuel which burns in a small container and is of sufficient strength to cook a fair-sized meal, compact cooking sets and other neatly arranged necessities of life can be obtained here now and are used extensively by the modern motoring campers.

POPULAR RESORTS The Island lakes are as popular with the camper and visitor as are the salt water resorts at this time of the year, and close to Victoria, at such places as Elk Lake, Prospect Lake, Beaver Lake, Langford Lake, and others are daily thronged, with transient as well as campers who are there for the entire Summer. Here at these places, boating and bathing are the chief sources of amusement, as is the case at the salt water camps. But the warmth of the water is the main attraction, and thousands boats, beauty of natural surroundings and pleasures of a more physical nature combine to make the place attractive to all. At the farther end of the lake is one of the finest picnic grounds within easy driving distance of Victoria, and many gatherings have been held there this season as before.

Victoria was chosen this year as the headquarters of one of the biggest international yachting regattas that has ever been held on the Pacific Coast, and local boatmen showed their worth in competition. This regatta encouraged yachting and other forms of sea racing in no small degree. And with this impetus there have been dozens of small craft sailing and chugging about the waters of the harbor and the Gulf of Georgia in all kinds of weather. There is now a colony of enthusiastic boatmen in Victoria that is steadily growing, and nowhere are conditions better suited to this form of recreation and pastime.

HIGH PRAISE FOR ASIA'S OFFICERS IS VOICED BY REAR-ADMIRAL GUY GAUNT

C.P.S.S. Liner Deserted by 500 Chinese at Hongkong Makes Port in Phenomenal Time With Volunteer Crew; Titled Passengers Scrub Decks, and Chief Officers Act as Carpenters in Stirring Voyage.

Nine days and nine hours odd after she passed the break-water at Yokohama the C.P.S.S. Empress of Asia, Commander L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., left Race Rocks astern last night with an average of 18.52 knots an hour for the trip in which she was manned by a volunteer crew.

The desertion of approximately 500 Chinese members of her crew at Hongkong left the Asia crippled when due to sail. Despite this handicap and the open boasts of the Chinese that she would not clear, the C.P.S.S. liner gathered a volunteer crew and made the run in a lapsed time of 225 hours and 53 minutes.

A VOLUNTEER CREW

Seldom was a ship's company more strangely assorted. In her stokehold sixty Russians labored at a work that none of them had seen before. Several decks above, forty Portuguese schoolboys, from Macao carried dishes, trays, and answered cabin bells with a zest that showed that they, at all events, were thoroughly in love with the adventure.

Seventy Filipinos, shipped as deck hands, twenty British clerks from mercantile offices in Hongkong, and fifteen American missionaries made up the volunteer crew that made it possible for the Asia to sail.

One of the most unique features of her crew was the fact that 150 Chinese remained faithful to the ship after 500 companions had walked ashore, and these worked without hitch all the way over.

The volunteer crew performed wonders, and almost the entire passenger list of the vessel offered their services where they could be of use. Rear-Admiral Sir Guy R. Gaunt, member for Buckrose, East Riding, Yorkshire, in the House of Commons, headed a large party of passengers who took their turns at scrubbing the decks of the liner at their own request.

On the bridge Capt. L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., acted as master, navigating officer, and officer of the watch for hours on end without relief, while E. M. Legge, first, and every officer on the ship took turns in directing and actually performing the multitudinous manual duties. It was the ship's officers who fitted up bunks for the stokehold crew and acted as carpenters, riggers, handymen and in a thousand capacities on the way over.

ENJOYED ADVENTURE Far from being inconvenienced by the strange order of affairs the passengers took a keen zest in the adventure, and declared at the end of the run that they had never been better waited on in their lives. Society women of Hongkong offered their services as stewardesses and entered heart and soul into their labors.

PRaise FOR OFFICERS "On behalf of the passengers I want to say that Capt. Douglas and the officers of the ship deserve the greatest praise for the way in which they have brought her across," stated Rear-Admiral Sir Guy Gaunt to The Times on board last night.

"I cannot speak too highly of the way things were handled," he continued, "and as a sailor myself I know what it means. I want to emphasize how much we appreciate the way in which the ship was handled."

Sir Guy took occasion also to refer to the manner in which boat drill was carried out. In view of the exceptional circumstances passengers and crew were made thoroughly familiar with their boat stations. Men with seafaring knowledge were placed in command of a boat. Every soul on board the ship was given a card, and made to report with the card to his boat at all drills. In a few days' time everyone on board knew their stations, and had the occasion arisen to use the boats there would have been no confusion. In commenting on this Sir Guy again paid warm tribute to Commander Douglas and his officers.

With 120 passengers in the saloon list, and about sixty in the second cabin the Empress of Asia brought a fair cargo despite the speed with which she cleared in an effort to sail outbound again from this coast on schedule.

DISTINGUISHED CAREER Rear-Admiral Sir Guy Gaunt is en route to London, after a pleasure trip around the world, which started in March. As member for Buckrose, East Riding Yorkshire, he has weathered three changes of parliament in the House of Commons. India Strait Settlements, and Egypt were included in the trip he is now completing. He is a member of the Canadian Club in London, and was a member of the House of Commons, India Strait Settlements, and Egypt were included in the trip he is now completing.

ADVOCATE NAVAL BASE "We must have a base at Singapore, because it is the front door to British trade in Asia and Australia," stated Sir Guy. "It is the best shop window for the Empire to show its wares to competitors, and I am more than ever in favor of that location above all others, since my recent visit," he concluded.

Lady B. Cruise, wife of Sir Richard Cruise, a famous physician of London, was a passenger on the Asia, en route to London after a pleasure tour in the Far East.

Fathers J. J. DeGure and G. LeCompte, members of the Franciscan Monastery at Montreal, are returning from a two months' inspection tour of the two stations in the Far East. They visited the Kakoshima post in Japan, and the Shantung Oriental in China. In connection with the former is operated Oshima Nani College for girls. Fathers LeCompte and DeGure will stop over ten days at Vancouver again at Edmonton, and will then return to their monastery in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lambie, Vancouver, are returning from a pleasure trip to the Orient. Mr. Lambie is connected with Vancouver office of the firm of Cassidy Limited, well-known wholesalers.

The Empress of Asia docked at 10.30 p.m. and cleared at 12.40 a.m. for Vancouver.

According to word received by the Department of Marine offices here the C. G. S. Newington will make port to-day. She will go on station in place of the C.G.S. Estevan, away on lighthouse duty at Prince Rupert.

HEAVY TOURIST TRAVEL IS BEING WELL SUSTAINED

All Boats Plying in Local Waters Experiencing Record Bookings

Not since pre-war years, when money flowed freely and travel was heavy, has Victoria experienced such a well sustained influx of tourists as this season. In pre-war days international exhibitions and other attractions supplied an incentive to travel and large numbers of people were carried on all carriers in and out of Victoria.

This year, however, without the added impetus, tourists have filled all carriers in a stream that is increasing as the days go on. This is particularly to be marked at the week-end when the B.C. Coast Service steamers on the triangle run are packed with trippers.

The Alaskan sailings are experiencing a similar popularity, and all vessels, plying between Victoria, Vancouver and Skagway are sold out regularly. The same tourist flow finds its expression in the San Francisco sailings, the Alexander liners being filled to capacity on the occasion of each arrival and departure.

In from her regular run at 5 a.m. Monday the Rutilia Alexander carried a full passenger list, ninety passengers debarking here and the remainder for Soona ports. When the Rutilia clears southbound on Sunday she will be filled to her capacity again, say her local agents, The Dorothy Alexander, to arrive late Saturday evening, reports a similar condition.

Auto ferries are meeting the same experience, and local transportation men predict a banner record for Victoria when the aggregate figures are known.

PARANA SAILS WITH CREW THREE SHORT Three men short of her regular crew the Sa. Parana, of the Danish Oriental line, cleared at 4 a.m. to-day for Sydney, Australia with a cargo of lumber from B. C. mills. A crew of forty-one men were brought in on the President McKinley yesterday for the Parana, and signed on last night. This leaves the steamer three men short of her regular complement, and three men will be taken on when the Parana calls next at Shanghai. Captain F. W. Heisterberg is in command.

JAPANESE SHIPPERS WARNED OF EMBARGO

Anti-pneumonia Ruling Explained to Consignors

The notification of Japanese shippers as to the Canadian Government restrictions on fodder-packed cargoes has now been issued to all lines affected by the embargo, and less delay will follow on all boats clearing after this from the Orient.

The embargo was exercised on account of an outbreak of pleuro pneumonia in the Orient, and risks against live stock and fodder or fodder packed shipments. The latter may be landed after fumigation, however, for the convenience of cargoes now in transit.

YACHTSMEN WIN CONCESSION IN RIGHT OF SEARCH

U.S. Coastguards Will Pass Burgee of Reputable Yacht Clubs Unsearched

Seattle, July 16.—That wind ruffle that swept across the placid surface of Elliott Bay was not a warning that a sou'-wester was about to blow. It was caused by the combined sighs of the Seattle Yacht Club membership that breezed from the city's sportsmen mariners when Capt. F. G. Dodge, United States Coast Guard, announced that hereafter the burgee of the club, flying from the jackstaff of a yacht outbound for British Columbia or inbound for Elliott Bay will offer protection against being boarded by Uncle Sam's watchful coastguards along the waterway frequented by whistling runners.

The order is in keeping with similar regulations issued on the Atlantic coast by the U.S. Coast Guard. It states that pleasure vessels and vessels belonging to organized yacht clubs are not to be boarded and searched unless there is evidence that there is smuggled liquor on board. Copies have been forwarded to all officers of the district.

The request that the Atlantic Coast rules apply to yachts club boats on Puget Sound was made by a committee of the Seattle Club, headed by Capt. James Griffiths, former commander of the club.

"We felt that there was no call for interference with vessels from a reputable club," said Captain Griffiths to-day. "We realized that the young men in the Coast Guard were ambitious and anxious to do their duty to the fullest extent, for which they are not to be blamed. However, it reached a point where yachts of the club fleet were being stopped every time they left Puget Sound. Some yachts, well known to the rum chasers, were stopped many times and boarded. It was an unnecessary embarrassment to the owners, so the club petitioned Captain Dodge to ask Coast Guard headquarters that the Atlantic rule be put in effect here."

"Many yachts, also, were stopped on their way north and, although a large number of boardings have been made, no member of the club ever has been accused of trying to violate the prohibition law. Their duty is to breathe easier and daubing extra paint on the name plates on their craft that no mistake may be made

With a 6,000-ton cargo, including 2,700 bales of silk, the N.Y.K. Toyama Maru docked at 10 o'clock last night from the Orient after a fine run. Captain K. Teramoto reported an uneventful run. The liner omitted the call at Hongkong and Shanghai.

For Victoria and Vancouver the Toyama Maru had 400 tons, and was not seriously affected by the anti-fodder restrictions in relation to the outbreak of pleuro-pneumonia in the Far East. A few cases of silk, crockery and miscellaneous wares were put off here.

The Toyama averaged 12.7 knots an hour on her run and met fair weather for the greater part of the trip. After local discharge she shifted to Seattle to unload.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, July 17 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—The market was much in line with that of yesterday and final prices showed varying changes from the final figures of last night.

New York, July 17 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Advancing tendencies were vigorously maintained among the recent leaders and the upward spread to fresh favorites, giving the market its broadest scope since last winter.

Steel common also maintained great activity at the best levels of its recovery from the Spring decline.

In the rail class the principal feature was the accomplishment of the highest levels in their history by Southern Railway and Frisco common.

Present market is without doubt exceedingly strong and will continue to increase.

Stress sheffielded in the steel group, shooting ahead rapidly to 88 3/4, an advance of 4 1/4 points.

Corn: Averaged lower much of the day but recovered with the close.

Oil: Demand for oil has been moderate but the statistical situation is favorable from a bull standpoint.

Petroleum shares are considerably behind the market, measured by their average prices, they are still lower than they were in March.

A sample of the strong oil earnings statements which will be coming along now for the first half of 1925, was furnished by publication of the Phillips Petroleum report for that period.

Other petroleum shares will shortly make reports which will show similar large gains in net.

Corn: While not as active, was strong in sympathy with the food and cereal reports of damage in Nebraska where high temperatures prevailed.

Export demand showed some betterment. Northwest markets were buoyant in the last hour.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, July 17—On a market devoid of export demand the bulls, basing their operations on weather-reports from the Canadian West and damage from rust in United States wheat areas, early took control of the trading here to-day and prices advanced rapidly, especially during the final hour of trading.

It was purely speculative buying that was going on with the market getting some support from the outside public.

Winnipeg, July 17 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat: The market scored further advance to-day, closing strong at 5 1/2 cents to 3 3/4 cents above the final yesterday.

At mid-day session some reports of damage from heat with rust developing south of international border combined with a warmer weather forecast, for the Canadian West.

Market was active especially during the latter part of the session when a big trade was passing with the public showing more interest on the buying side.

There are naturally a few bad spots from different causes but on the whole the crop is making favorable progress with Saskatchewan expecting one of the biggest crops in her history.

BELGIUM EXPECTED TO PAY DEBT TO U.S. Washington, July 17. - The Washington Government is expected to look coldly upon any proposal that Germany should be held responsible for payment of any of the Belgian war debt to the United States.

Statements were made in the Belgian Chamber of Deputies by former Foreign Minister Hymans indicating the Belgian debt mission, soon to arrive in Washington, would raise the contention that Belgium was relieved of responsibility for her war debt by reason of a special provision of the Versailles Treaty providing Germany should reimburse Belgium for that obligation.

The Washington Government, however, has previously taken the position that it would not consent to the substitution of German liability and there is no reason to believe a change in sentiment had occurred.

Here are shown Margaret Maillefer and Mrs. Stephen Carrough, Orange, N.J., daughter and mother, respectively, of Mrs. Sarah T. Maillefer, the one of the many valedictorians who has killed or stricken many workers in an orange plant where luminous watch dials are painted. The body of Mrs. Maillefer is to be sent to Pasadena, Cal., for laboratory tests by Dr. R. A. Milliken, winner of the Nobel prize in physics, in an effort to learn more about this fatal new malady. It has been named "radium necrosis."

Investigation by the U.S. Department of Labor has been announced. Specialists are endeavoring to learn if a new sort of industrial malady, bringing slow death in the form of pernicious anaemia, must be fought.

One phase of the investigation is centered by Dr. R. A. Milliken, who reports that afflicted workers used their lips to keep the brushes pointed and thus started the trouble. It is noted that the teeth and gums were attacked in some cases and that one employee has for years suffered a strange jaw disease. A representative of one company reports that he sees no reason why the paint used should have any destructive effect.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Sassafras

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis)

Nipper and Skipper, two of the little rabbit boys who were living with Uncle Wiggily in his hollow stump bungalow, were marching up and down the garden path in front of Weezie and Wizzie, the little boy and girl bunnies. And as they hopped up and down Nipper would teasingly call out:
"You two haven't anything good like we have!"
And Nipper would take a bottle out of his pocket—a bottle that had some black liquid in it—and he would pour some out in a little empty snail-shell for a glass and after taking it he would say:
"Don't you wish you had some? Don't you wish you had some?"
"Oh, dear! I wish we did," sighed Weezie.
"Maybe if I ran after him and hit him on the nose, I could knock the bottle away from him," suggested Wizzie, her brother.
"Hello! What's all that talk about knocking noses?" asked Uncle

The Bob Cat pulled with all his might.

Wiggily with his jolly laugh, as he hopped up behind the twins.
"Oh, of course, I wouldn't really bang Nipper on the nose," said Weezie. "But I do wish he'd give us some of what he's got."
"What is it, apple sauce or molasses?" asked Uncle Wiggily watching Nipper, who, just then, poured some more of the stuff out of the bottle and gave it, in the empty snail shell, to Skipper.
"It's licorice water, that's what it is," said Weezie with a hungry sigh. "They bought a penny's worth of black licorice and let it melt in a bottle of water and now they're drinking it, and oh! it's so good! I wish we had some!"
"For licorice water is good—if you like it, and you make it just as Weezie told you by putting some pieces of licorice candy in a bottle of water and shaking it up."
"Just you wait a minute now," advised Uncle Wiggily. "I'll go ask Nipper and Skipper to give you some of their treat."
"No! Please don't do that!" begged Weezie. "If they're so stingy like they don't want to give us some they don't need to. But I wish we had some licorice water of our own."
"How would you like sassafras water?" asked Uncle Wiggily, with a funny little twinkle of his pinkie inkle nose.
"What's sassafras water?" asked Wizzie.
"Well, you dig up some of the root of the sassafras plant," went on Mr. Longears, "and peel off the outer bark after you have washed it. Then you pound the bark between two stones to make the juice ooze out and you mix it with water in a bottle, and put in some sugar and you have sassafras water."

"Oh, it sounds terribly good!" exclaimed Weezie. "But how can we get any?"
"On my way here I passed some sassafras plants growing in the woods," explained Uncle Wiggily. "I'll take you where you can get some roots."
"Please do!" begged Weezie. "When we have sassafras water we won't have to ask Skipper and Nipper for some of their licorice."
"And we won't need to be copy cats, either," added Weezie, proud like.
Soon Uncle Wiggily and the little rabbit twins were in the woods, where grew the sassafras with its leaves like a three-fingered glove. Weezie and Wizzie grasped a low sassafras bush and tried to pull it up by the roots. But if you have ever tried this you know how hard it is.
"I'll pull it up for you," offered Uncle Wiggily, but, though he pulled and tugged, he could not get the strong root out of the dirt. "And when he was pulling, all of a sudden, along came the Bob Cat.
"Gurra! Gurra!" growled the cat. "I am going to nibble you!"
"Are you feeling strong enough to do that?" asked the bunny gentleman.
"Of course I am!" snarled the bad chap.
"Then pull up this sassafras bush before you nibble me," asked Uncle Wiggily. The Bob Cat, proud of himself, pulled with all his might. The sassafras plant suddenly came up by the roots and the Bob Cat went head over heels over backward in a somersault, down a long hill, rolling all the way to the bottom. But he dropped the sassafras plant at the top.
So Uncle Wiggily picked it up, and looking at the Bob Cat down at the bottom of the hill, the bunny said, "Ta, ta, good-bye," and off he hopped to his bungalow, where he made Weezie and Wizzie some sassafras water.
"So that's all to this story, but if the dogwood tree doesn't bark at night, as it ought to, those who break its branches, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's big bounce."
The man who is always telling what a lot of good things he would do if he had money never has any.

"The Steadfast Heart"

By Clarence Budington Kelland

Lydia was not happy; she was not even contented. Life held no interest for her, and it was with the greatest difficulty her aunt persuaded her to go abroad at all in the most fascinating city in the world. If Lydia had been permitted her own way, she would have seen no more of Paris than was visible from the window of her bedroom. She was, to tell the truth, homesick—homesick for Rainbow—and heart-achingly, soul-sick for Angus Burke.
Her case seemed hopeless to her, as hopeless as if she were a prisoner in Paris and Angus a prisoner in Rainbow. Titus Burke was the jailer who kept them apart with bolts and bars; kept them apart more inexorably than stone walls could have done. The sight of Burke, his yagae, but none the less dreadful resemblance to his son, arose before her hourly. It made Angus repugnant to her, and yet she was sick for the want of him. It was a paradox. She loved Angus, yet the very thought of committing her life to his hands, of living with him under the same roof, in the full knowledge of Rainbow, filled her with sickening aversion. It was not logical, not rational, perhaps. Her Great-aunt saw that something must be done, and done quickly.
There were moments, almost happy moments, when Lydia persuaded herself that nothing mattered save Angus and her love for him; that nothing in the world could embitter the joy of seeing him again, of being with him; touching him, caressing him—of mothering and comforting him. But these periods were brief, to be followed by long days of depression and heartache.
Poor Lydia! She was caught in a net not of her own weaving. The knife which cuts the meshes of such a net most oftentimes wounds the prisoner released. For weeks Great-aunt Margaret had been debating the advisability of inflicting such a old enough to know things. I've learned. One thing I know is that every man should stand, and should be allowed to stand on his own feet, by himself, to be judged on his own showing. It's what a man is that matters, not what his father was nor his grandfather. Father might be a saint—son a reprobate. This Burke boy, from what I can learn, is all right. I only hope he's big-enough man. I only hope he's big-enough man to take you back. . . . I wouldn't.

"I can't go back. . . . You can't make me go back."
"Little idiot. . . . You're going back because you have no reason for staying—not on the score of fathers anyway. What do you know about your father?"
The question startled Lydia. What did she know about her father? He was only a vague memory to her, seen in earliest childhood, absent thenceforward, and mysterious until the day of his death. . . . What did she know of him?
"Nothing," she answered faintly.
"Hum. . . . No. Well, I'm going to tell you something about him. I'm going to drag out the family skeleton—just to show you that your flesh is human flesh and not made of some ethereal stuff that lifts you up close to the angels. Your grandfather and his wife contrived to keep it a secret from that miserable little town."

Lydia was sitting stiffly erect, lips parted, fists clenched in her lap. She was frightened, and her eyes were fearfully upon Great-aunt Margaret's eyes. . . .
"Your father," said her aunt in a dry, crackling voice, "was an habitual criminal. . . . incorrigible. He died in prison—in California. . . ."
"Oh!" said Lydia. She stood up, swaying. "Oh! . . . Oh! . . ." She swayed toward Great-aunt Margaret, sank to her knees before the old lady and buried her face in that ample lap. The old lady sat motionless, her hand resting on Lydia's head—praying for the successful outcome of her operation.
The vagaries, the phenomena, of the mind and the heart are amazing, beyond comprehension. Every day we are astounded by some prank of our psychic mechanism—and now Lydia was amazed, confused, non-plussed, ashamed to discover that after the impact had been sustained, her sensations were not of horror, of shame, of self-detestation, but of joy.
"Of joy!" Her world was tumbled about her ears; the teachings upon which the philosophy of her life was based were a mass of lies. . . . Fame—there had been no fame. She had been brought up on lies—on lies which had concealed the family's shame. . . . After a time—in quietest mood—she would be hurt, grieved, might even weep for her father, whose misfortunes, whose very soul she could not grieve. . . . But never, and she knew it with a definiteness which nothing could shake, never would she be ashamed. . . . She was herself, for herself, of herself—nothing could touch her which had not its source in her own soul. . . . It was a truth which burst upon her, a truth without which, life would have been impossible to her. . . . She knew herself, knew she was worthy; knew no defilement had passed on to her from acts of her forebears. . . . If this were true of herself, then it was true of Angus Burke. . . .
