

ON MEXICAN BORDER

MRS. McREYNOLDS RECEIVES GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF CONDITIONS IN CANANEA

Mrs. McReynolds of Central avenue, who has some property in war-racked Cananea, in the province of Sonora, recently received a letter from a tenant of hers in that storm center, which tells graphically of conditions there. It will be remembered that not long ago the Villistas and the Carranzistas were fighting in that quarter and that the American mining population in the copper mines at Cananea were compelled to flee for safety to the United States.

Mr. Beckham, the tenant who is occupying part of Mrs. McReynolds' property in Cananea, was one of those who were compelled to seek refuge in Douglas, Arizona. "When the tide of war drifted in our direction," he writes, "the American colony at Cananea hoped that it would be stayed ere it reached our quarters; but the hope was doomed to disappointment. The fighting swept in our direction and we were forced to allow that discretion was the better part of valor and seek refuge in the United States. We had a hard and difficult journey to make but got back to the Stars and Stripes in safety, leaving our property behind.

"I was fortunate enough to have some friends among the natives; so I put a Mexican in charge of my property and left with the feeling that he would keep everything safe. So when the whole American colony went back to Cananea, Dec. 17, I found my property intact. The soldiers had not taken possession of the house as they did in other cases. They camped outside and only asked the occupant to provide them with cooking conveniences. Other houses were occupied by the forces and were left in a condition of indescribable filth and confusion. The house stands near the court house, where a large number of the Mexicans encamped.

"Among some of the unrecorded incidents of that occupation was the robbing of the American bank of $60,000. The Cananea Consolidated Copper Company has large stores in the city. These were looted and partly destroyed. The Sonora hotel was made the target of the artillery and was almost shot to pieces.

"All the horses in the city were commandeered for the use of the fighters. All the cattle were taken and killed for the use of the army. One American was killed. It was that final act of hostility that decided the American colony to leave.

"Those who have come back are busily engaged in putting their properties into shape again. We do not think there will be any more fighting here for some time anyway. We hope never. The Cananea Copper company officials were astute enough to leave things in such shape that it was impossible for hostile visitors to do much harm. All the important parts of the machinery were taken off and concealed. The Mexicans, too, had not much temptation to take anything away as the copper ore is bulky and difficult to handle. In the case of some of the gold and silver properties, however, both Villistas and Carranzistas got some valuable loot.

"The copper company is running again with a full complement of workmen and everything goes on much as usual. We hear that Carranza is not having everything his own way, however, and that Gen. Obregon and he have had a falling out. Everyone here hopes that is not the case but that this much-vaunted land will have some peace at last."

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

Through the courtesy of Congressman Charles H. Randall, the Congressional Record is received regularly now at the Glendale public library, where those interested in the doings of Congress may have access to it. Only 56 copies of this official Record are allotted to each member of Congress, hence it is simply impossible to supply it to all who should like to receive the publication. It is Mr. Randall's idea to send the Congressional Record to public libraries as far as possible, in order that the greatest number of people may have the benefit of each copy.

NEW YEAR'S DINNER

Through the gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. McDougall of 1305 Burchett street, guests enjoyed an elaborate dinner on Saturday evening. The oblong table was most attractive with its center arrangement of holly and mistletoe, the only touch of bright color being the bell-shaped nut cups of scarlet.

Seated with the host and hostess were her mother, Mrs. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nash, Mr. and Mrs. John Powell of Los Angeles, Miss May Reynolds and Mr. Edward C. Kane.

WORK ON BOULEVARD

CITY ENGINEER LYNCH SAYS PAVING OF NORTH BRAND IS MOVING RAPIDLY

"Work on the paving of Brand boulevard from Second street to the north city limits is proceeding very satisfactorily," said City Engineer Lynch to a representative of The Glendale Evening News. "We are putting in $30,000 worth of paving there and when the work is finished it will be of the same quality and excellence as the work already done on that boulevard. The railroad track will have lowered crossings at First and at Doran streets. All the grading has been done, the curbing is in, two-thirds of the gutter has been constructed and one-fourth of the concrete base.

"This work is being done at a remarkably cheap rate. This is due chiefly to general conditions. Contractors are anxious to get work and labor is cheaper at present than it was some time ago. The contractors, George Oswald and Co., of Los Angeles, are doing their work in a most efficient manner and in all my experience I have never had a firm working under me that has conducted its affairs with less noise and with an entire absence of that profanity among workmen which is so common in connection with work of this kind. Everything has gone and continues to go smoothly. The work is being done strictly in accordance with the specifications and all my suggestions and requests in connection with the contract have invariably been complied with without discussion.

"We had to take out the old curbing at the intersection of First and Brand. There we had to drop three corners of the street to grade. The necessity for so doing might not at first be apparent to the general public. Those curbs, however, were put in long before the street was paved and had they been left as they were they would have broken the grade and been a perpetual eyesore. The owners of the adjacent property are pleased now that they see the meaning of this alteration and the necessity for it. The curbs were put in before the city was incorporated and without the aid of an engineer.

"The department is also doing some work on Second street from Central to Columbus. This is work of the same quality as on corresponding streets throughout the city. It is light-oil and macadam work. The contractor is E. Schilling. This work should have been finished before this time; but the rain interfered. It is now going on nicely and will probably be finished within five or six days.

"At Ross' packing house we are putting in some dykes to restrain the waters of the wash in floodtime. These dykes consist of posts, barbed wire and a backing of brush. There is about $00 feet of this work. It is, however, a mere makeshift and is of the nature of patchwork. The wash is in a dangerous condition. The center of the stream is higher than the adjacent land on each side. A rush of flood water will search out weak places and they are everywhere. Meantime we are patching and stopping up the gaps according to the limit of the finance available for that purpose."

PETER L. FERRY GETS CONTRACT

At their meeting Friday, Dec. 30, 1915, the Board of Supervisors awarded the contract for paving Mint Canyon road to Peter L. Ferry of Glendale. The work consists of five miles of 20-foot concrete paving, 5 inches thick, with oilwearing surface. The work starts at Saugus and finishes at Santa Clara River bridge. Following is the list of bidders:

E. J. Hein, Los Angeles	$32,089.81
Peter L. Ferry, Glendale	29,539.87
Messmer & Rice, Los Angeles	32,491.94
Leigh Guernsey, Los Angeles	31,983.66
Fred Hoffman, Long Beach	30,603.53
Dotson & Butterfield, San Pedro	36,996.76
W. A. Danlinvill, Pasadena	38,938.57
Richard Rothwell, Los Angeles	36,864.00
Engineer's Estimate	30,626.19

Los Angeles county furnishes oil, cement, broken stone, and sand on board cars at Saugus and railroad siding along road. Average haul on material .84 of a mile. Material furnished by Los Angeles County: 12,660 tons of broken stone, 7000 tons sand, 700 bbls. road oil. Cost of material and engineering $38,325, making total cost of road $67,864.87.

REVIVES OLD PLAY

MASONIC ORDER TO PRESENT 'A BACHELOR'S ROMANCE' WITH CHARLES L. PECKHAM IN LEAD

For the benefit of the charity funds of the four Masonic bodies in Glendale, the well-known comedy-drama, that had such a run some twenty years ago, "A Bachelor's Romance," will be presented Jan. 13 and 14, by the management of the Palace-Grand theater. Charles L. Peckham will essay the role of David Holmes, the literary critic. It is needless to say that he will have his work cut out to equal the clever work done in this part by such actors as Sol Smith Russell, James Neill and other well-known stars.

Mr. Peckham, however, comes to the part with a profitable experience and will be ably supported by a cast of clever Glendale people with histrionic talent. The direction of the play has been intrusted to Mr. Willis Marks, formerly of the Burbank Stock company.

The play presents a middle-aged literary critic who has become lost in his work; a sweet young girl, his ward, brought up by a maiden relative; grown up to womanhood and presented one day to the critic with the demand that he assume the active duties of guardianship.

Under the gentle tuition of the young girl the hardened critic comes to realize that the whole world is not contained in books. He recovers his lost perspective on life and learns to love his ward. She has many suitors of her own age. What will she do with this middle-aged lover? See the play and find the answer.

Following is the cast:
David Holmes, literary critic..... Charles L. Peckham
.....Gladys Justema
.....Gerald Holmes, David's brother
.....Dwight Stephenson
.....Archibald Lytton Savage..... Owen Emery
Harold Reynolds.....Angelo Gossman

JUNIORS MAKE MERRY

New Year's Eve was a particularly merry time at the Masonic hall, where about 60 couples, members of the Junior class of the Glendale High School, and their friends, danced the old year out and the new year in. The spacious ball room was beautifully decorated for the occasion with deep festoons of green caught up with scarlet Christmas bells. Potted palms, ferns and Christmas greens supplied a most attractive background for the dainty and elaborate gowns worn.

Thorp's orchestra furnished the splendid numbers marked on programs done in the class color of orange and black.

Just at midnight, what had been an attractive mound constructed of smilax was removed, disclosing a huge clock, which rang out the hours of twelve. For the next fifteen or twenty minutes the guests wished one another a "Happy New Year." Dancing was resumed until after one o'clock, then the merrymakers regretfully bade one another adieu.

Patrons and patronesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hunchberger, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson D. White, Mrs. David Imler, Mrs. Letty Boucher and Mrs. Dora Glazier. Chairmen of committees were graciously enacted by the Misses Evangeline Hunchberger, Marjorie Imler, Margaret Boucher, Catherine Phillips and Mr. Harry Glazier.

FILM FAVORITE HOME

Miss Francella Billington, the attractive daughter of Mrs. A. Billington, and a favorite in the film world, is at the Billington home, 1227 Chestnut street, spending her holiday vacation. In a few days Miss Billington will return to San Jose, where she is playing leads for the Hearst Film company with studios in that northern city.

GLENDALE ATHLETIC CLUB

Since the acquisition of its new headquarters in the building at the corner of First and Glendale avenue, the Glendale Athletic club has been hard at work fixing up the gymnasium and getting it ready for the reception of the public. There is now ample seating accommodation and ladies as well as men will be made welcome at the various games. The first game in the new quarters will be played Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. It will be open to the public. There will be two games—one of the 140-pound teams and the other the unlimiteds.

BUILDING PERMITS

LAST MONTH OF 1915 SHOWS VERY LIGHT BUILDING RECORD

"While December, 1915, shows a very small record of building permits," said Mr. J. Banker, building inspector of Glendale, "there are indications that the new year will show a gradual development in building work. This may be judged from the reports of new work that is in contemplation.

"The fact that the trend of travel will be toward Southern California this year and not toward San Francisco as it was last year, should help matters a little. Last year every person went to the northern city. That undoubtedly took a great deal of money away from this section. This year we should get back the greater part of what was spent outside of this part of the country, during the San Francisco fair period.

"During the month of December, 1915, building permits totaled $15,530, which is a slight advance over Dec., 1914. Several substantial dwelling houses were erected during the last month of the year. The value of those dwellings alone amounted to $14,300. The rest of the permits consist merely of garages, additions and repairs.

Manjiro Katsukeha built a small dwelling at 324 Chestnut, at a cost of $100. The contractor is J. Witham.

H. R. Wolfe designed, superintended and built an addition to his residence at 1540 Ivy, at a cost of $30.

L. A. Burson made an addition to his house at 771 S. Louise, which was contracted for by George Peters for the sum of $350.

F. W. Chambers built a dwelling house at 860 S. Glendale, at a cost of $3000. The contractor is Ralph Brown.

R. L. Taylor is building himself a house at 1318 W. Ninth, at a cost of $2000.

V. R. Abarta has built a sleeping porch at 418 Kenwood, at a cost of $50.

E. Shaw's repairs on his house at 443 S. Glendale cost $300. The contractor is W. F. Boyd.

R. Boss is building an addition to his house at 1445 W. Seventh, at a cost of $50.

M. E. Burchfield has employed D. Roy Stanford to erect a dwelling house at 342 N. Kenwood, at a cost of $2000.

A. W. Randolph is building a garage at Damasco Court, at a cost of $50.

M. F. Murch is building a bathroom at 215 E. Tenth street, at a cost of $200.

T. J. Fambrough is erecting a dwelling at 1429 Oak, at a cost of $2000.

J. T. Stanford is building a dwelling house at 1469 Pioneer Drive, at a cost of $2000.

J. T. Stanford is erecting a dwelling at 1576 Burchett street, the cost of which is $1500.

A. W. Beach is building a garage at 333 N. Erand, at a cost of $300. The contractor is A. K. Robertshaw.

T. J. Fambrough is building a dwelling at 1523 Ivy, at a cost of $1800.

IN SPITE OF RAIN

In spite of the falling rain on Saturday, the James A. Farrels of 123 East Broadway and party left about 3 o'clock in the afternoon by auto for "Thistlecroft," a beautiful estate belonging to Mr. Farrell's cousin, located near Lordsburg.

At six in the evening the party sat down to a delicious hot supper presided over by the Abraham Bakers, lessees of the property. The motor party returned to Glendale the same evening and reported having seen many machines well covered with snow.

WAR PROFITS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Uncle Sam has been taking stock and finds that the war in Europe has started him on the year 1916 with half a billion dollars more of foreign gold than he had a year ago. American merchants have sold more goods abroad than ever before. The greatest external loan in history, the Anglo-French loan, was floated in 1915. The market value of American securities appreciated something like two billion dollars during the past twelve months. National banks have bigger deposits and larger reserves than at any time since this country was founded.

Toward the close of 1915 a wave of speculation swept the country and when the New York exchange shut its doors for the holidays everything in the speculative line was as bright as the opening of the year found it dull. One of the singular facts about trading on the Exchange last year was that not a single failure was noted. The record of the year shows many newly-made millionaires and can tell of many days throughout the year when a million shares were traded.

It is interesting to note that the aggregate value of shares of stocks traded during the year amounted to fourteen billion dollars. Nearly nine hundred millions' worth of bonds were also traded. Contrasted with this enormous amount of business only 48,031,833 shares changed hands in 1914. The value of this business was only four billion dollars; and the bond business was only $440,438,600. The war caused the stock exchange to close four months in 1914, which partly explains the comparatively small business of that year.

From the dark, uncertain days of early January, 1915, with minimum prices and other war restrictions, business in the world's biggest stock market gradually developed until million-share trading days became almost common. There were only two such days in 1914, none in 1913, and only 11 in 1911.

War profits to automobile companies and war equipment companies run into the hundreds of millions. In fact this latter business prospered so largely as to cause various attempts on the part of foreign emissaries to cripple the factories or put them out of business entirely. In some cases these attempts were successful and the Du Pont and other munitions firms have recorded an extraordinary number of fires and explosions in their factories. These attempts are now the subject of a most searching prosecution on the part of the United States and have resulted in the enforced return of three prominent foreign diplomats to their respective countries.

One American company, the Submarine Boat, received over $125,000,000 in European war orders. It is also certain that the amount of money earned by such companies as Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse, Crucible Steel and the Steel corporation, while only matters of conjecture, must have been enormous.

What will be the ultimate effect of all this profit-making in this country cannot be foreseen. The profits have come to groups of individuals who had the capital and the initiative to enter on the manufacture of war munitions; but a large part of this money has already been paid out in wages and there is every indication that the present year will see further earnings.

ENORMOUS COST OF THE WAR

How much the people of the United States have to thank the wisdom that has kept this country out of the war is seen in the terrible financial burdens incurred by the warring nations of Europe. Those burdens will weigh on the European people for generations to come and will probably give rise to many political and economic changes on that continent.

At the close of 1915 the war had cost more than twenty-six billion dollars. That sum exceeds by five million dollars the total national debts of the six principal belligerent powers when the conflict began. With the exception of about five millions raised in the United Kingdom by taxation, practically all the expenses of the war have been met by borrowed money. The opening of 1916 therefore, finds the fighting nations saddled with double the debt they had accumulated in all the centuries preceding the outbreak of the war.

As the war has developed, the cost has increased. In the beginning of hostilities the most liberal estimate of its cost, including the destruction of property and the economic loss caused by casualties, was fifty millions a day. The actual expense at the present moment, exclusive of economic and property losses, is eighty-five millions a day. Of this amount Great Britain and her allies are paying two-thirds and the Germanic allies one-third. It is practically certain that if the war should continue throughout the winter the cost will rise to one hundred millions a day. The generations yet to come will have to face the liquidation of this enormous debt and at the same time pay the interest on it. Interest on the present debt amounts to one billion two hundred millions a year. Every week the war lasts fixes an additional annual interest burden on the belligerents of twenty-five millions.

It is practically certain that there will be no indemnities paid by any of the warring nations when the fighting closes. None of them will be able to face an indemnity. They will each have enough to do to pay the debts incurred by them individually. The burden of new taxes that will be imposed on the people of each country will be crushing. How they will stand up under them is a question. During the past year various British statesmen have uttered warnings concerning the financial outlook. The possibility of bankruptcy overtaking Europe has several times been mentioned in responsible quarters.

All the belligerent nations have become uneasy about the monetary outlook; but the system of running the war on borrowed money has prevented the people themselves from feeling the financial pinch. Great Britain is the single exception to this. That nation is now raising about five hundred millions per year for war costs by direct taxation; but no other nation has as yet seriously increased its peace taxes. The British tax, large as it is, does nothing more than meet the interest on the government's war borrowings.

It is in this enormous cost that financiers throughout the world foresee the likelihood that the war will come to an end during the present year. It is certainly impossible for the nations to continue piling up these enormous burdens much longer. Something must break somewhere. It looks as though the longest purse will win in the end.

If Europe is to recover from the appalling condition into which the war has plunged it, it will be necessary for the different countries to study American methods and apply them to their varied industries. Factories everywhere will have to be rebuilt or remodeled. France and Belgium will need new machinery and even now these countries are studying American methods and American labor-saving devices. It is certain that the economic competition will be much greater after the war and while factory output in the United States is three times as great per man as in Europe, that ratio will have to be increased to meet the increasing European competition. The United States is therefore likely to feel the after results of the war as much as any other country. Fortunately this country is alive to these conditions, and having wisely avoided involvement in the European debacle will enter on the struggle with unimpaired forces.

PROSPECTS OF THE WAR

On the threshold of the new year the British are obtaining much satisfaction from the old Napoleonic maxim, "Wars are not won by the occupation of territory; but by the smashing of armies." Thus far no army has been smashed—not even that of Serbia, which is still holding out among the hills along with the invincible Montenegrins. The armies of the Allies are intact and growing daily. Great Britain, not content with having raised 4,000,000 men in one year is now setting out to raise a constant supply of men by conscription. Russia has already raised new armies and is already on the aggressive.

On the western front there is a stalemate. Germany has not been able to advance one step there and, indeed, has lost some ground. There will be no chance for another great dash by the Allies until spring, when the roads are drier. Meantime Germany has extended her lines in the Balkans and thereby weakened her position in the West and East.

Germany is losing men at the rate of 200,000 a month and even with the drafts of 1916 and 1917 boys of 17 years, which are all she has to draw on, she cannot stand the strain another year.

In the matter of munitions the Allies at last have the ascendancy. The work of Lloyd George in organizing the war industries of the country has been wonderful. Japan, too, has cooperated in this work and the United States has sent a steady stream of munitions to the Allies who are now prepared to throw two shells for every one from the enemy guns. This proportion, too, is steadily increasing. The real resources of the British empire have not yet been tapped, whereas the Central powers are approaching the end of their reserves of money and men. The conclusion is obvious.

1915 REVIEW OF THE WAR—ITALY

(By Alice Rohe)

When the orchestral guns have boomed their last salvo and the big asbestos curtain of peace drops on Europe's war-torn stage, doubtless the world will begin to appreciate the role played by King Victor in the greatest tragedy of history.

Act II was well under way before Italy joined the players and King Victor with his tuft of rooster feathers appeared from the wings. He had frequently been mentioned in the lines, and no sooner had he appeared upon the stage than he and the veteran actor Franz Josef came to blows.

"Verona will fall before Gorizia," shouted the Austrian. "Gorizia first," retorted Victor—and the play went on.

It was not until May of 1915 that Italy declared war on Austria. Immediately the Italian general staff outlined the following land program:

First: An aggressive, systematic operation on the mountainous northern frontier, Trentino and the Carnic Alps—long fortified by Austria, designedly to make an Austrian invasion of Italy easy while standing impregnable against Italian invasion.

Second: An offensive on a large scale against the valley of the Isonzo which barred Italy's way toward the Julian Alps on the East and the Austrian peninsula on the South.

The naval program was to destroy Austrian commerce on the Adriatic and adjacent waters and the bottling up or destruction of the Austrian fleet.

On land today Italy faces the new year as the only one of the allied powers whose main army is firmly entrenched on the soil of an enemy. On water the Duke of Abruzzi fleet is supreme. The Austrian main fleet, refuged in Pola harbor, refused the Italian challenge just as the German fleet defies the British—in the Kiel canal. Like Germany, Austria is unable to give safe convoy to her own commerce.

With an army of more than 2,250,000 men in uniform; with reserves of 1,700,000 men between 18 and 38 yet to be called to the colors; with abundant equipment, especially heavy artillery; backed by a splendid industrial mobilization capable of feeding munitions for any emergency, Italy looks to the future with the utmost confidence. This feeling was vividly reflected in the recent utterances of Baron Sonino, minister for foreign affairs, in the chamber, in which he announced not only Italy's agreement with the allies not to conclude a separate peace, but her purpose to extend the campaign across the Adriatic in support of stricken Serbia.

In answer to the latter pledge, 50,000 Italian troops have already landed in Albania where pioneers are busy at road-building and other means of transport through the pathless mountains.

Seven months of fighting along the lines of the general staff's plan of campaign have produced greater results than the daily communiques have indicated, and great results are expected this year.

PENSIONS FOR THE BLIND BEGIN IN ILLINOIS TODAY

According to announcement from Springfield, Illinois, pensions for the blind became effective in Illinois today. Each blind man above the age of 21 and each blind woman above the age of 18 will be paid $150 a year in quarterly installments by the counties in which they live. Provision is made for competent medical examination and for regulation to prevent fraud. The act providing the pensions was passed by the last General Assembly. It was introduced by Representative Tom Gorman of Peoria. The number of beneficiaries has been variously estimated at from twenty to forty thousand.

H. Barry spent Christmas in Pasadena with friends.

The Leenhouts family motored to Calabasas with Mr. and Mrs. Appel, of Glendale, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert and son spent Christmas at their country home on Honolulu avenue.

R. A. Walton has moved his well-drilling outfit on to the ten-acre plot on Pennsylvania avenue in the rear of Allen's. J. W. Irby, foreman, says there are indications of water there.

Christmas Program Success

Christmas tree exercises, given by the Presbyterian church of La Crescenta Friday evening at the school house, were a decided success. With the program, which was published in the Progress last week, carried out to perfection, and Theodore Hopping acting as Santa Claus and Miss Dorothy Cookson impersonating Mrs. Santa Claus, the good cheer was distributed to the merry throng numbering over one hundred and twenty-five persons.

The tree, which was presented by Joe Hawkins, was most beautiful when decorated and illuminated. A present, in the shape of three books, was given Mrs. Belle Miller, librarian, by the Crescenta people, for her good work in that office. A most enjoyable time was reported by all.

Dry Goods Store to Open

Mrs. Susie Rheinschild has purchased a business and residence lot in the town of Crescenta, directly across the street from the La Crescenta store and postoffice, where she will erect a business block for the purpose of starting a dry goods store and dressmaking establishment.

On the lot at the rear of the store building Mrs. Rheinschild will have a dwelling constructed. The land transaction was consummated by Joe Hawkins.

Improvements at Castle

With the arrival of the owner, Mr. Cohen, from Oakland, a couple of weeks ago, the famous old "Gould Castle" is under improvement at the present time.

A water tunnel is being installed by Mr. Withers and decorating the interior is being done by the Craigs, both of whom while here are stopping at the Fairmount.

On Mt. Wilson Trail

What proved to be a most romantic hiking party, spent Wednesday evening on the Mt. Wilson trail. Those going included the Misses Juanita Thompson, Gladys Thompson, Dorothy Cookson, and Edna Wellborn and the Messrs. George Lewentien, Louie

Maranville, Walter Clark and the latter's uncle.

C. E.'s Hit the Trail

Among the mountain climbers were: Theodore and Roberta Hopping, Walter Clark, Gladys Thompson, Violet Brown, Beatrice Volker, Dorothy Cookson, Andrew Peddie, and Orville Rogers.

Hollywood Man to Build

It is reported that G. A. Pardee, a prominent architect of Hollywood, will put up a residence immediately south of the Bissell place on Los Angeles avenue.

Los Angeles avenue appears to be the center of building activity at present. With the completion of the school, the new store building, Presbyterian church and two new residences, the street will make a very favorable impression on strangers visiting the valley.

Fairmount Over Christmas

Fairmount hotel guests on Christmas Eve planned and carried out a most unique surprise on Mrs. F. D. Hanger, wife of the proprietor. Under the direction of Mrs. Adam, of Oakland, a miniature Christmas tree was fixed up and placed in the dining room. Mr. Hanger had some difficulty in keeping Mrs. Hanger from arranging a tree of her own. At the evening dinner table, the pleasant surprise was brought forth and gifts distributed to the guests.

Those registered during the week were: W. C. Smoot, E. A. Craig, A. Craig, Harry G. Thornton and son, A. H. Anderson, W. H. Withers, and A. Rosenberg, all of Los Angeles.

Mrs. F. D. Hanger was a Los Angeles visitor on Tuesday of this week.

La Crescenta Registeries

Over a score of happy Christmas guests were seated at the tables of La Crescenta hotel, last Saturday noon. The Yuletide season is at its height at this resort and the registeries have been most gratifying to the Misses Gordon and Brennan, in charge. Following are the Christmas day registeries: Miss Juliet Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Pease, Miss Grace G. Pease, Miss Jessie F. Pease, Miss Anna Pease, Mrs. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hawkes, C. T. Pepper, Dr. Charles F. Flinn, Beatrice Jarvis and Peggy Howard, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hill and Miss Annie D. Hill of Beverly Hills; Mrs. Booth, Saginaw, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Waddle and son, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. William Cahoon and Mrs. Eaton of La Crescenta.

Other guests were: Miss Celia H. Parson, Miss Ethel Hume Flood, Mrs. G. H. Pratt, Los Angeles; Miss Mary M. Donichy, Glendale; Ethel B. Rhoades, Hollywood, and Mrs. Gerald A. Rule, Los Angeles.

MONTROSE

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Potts, and son Robert, ate Christmas dinner with the William Coopers in Glassel park, Los Angeles.

T. O. Potts, of the Montrose grocery, was confined to his bed the first of the week. During his absence, W. A. White of La Canada assisted in the store.

Mrs. Hargett, who has been quite ill, is reported as recovering.

It may be further around the corners of a square deal but the road is better.

Graham of Hill street entertained with a family party on Christmas day, at which there were present Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. George Lynde, Mrs. Anderson and son Jimmy, all of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Graham and son Billy of Sunland. Mrs. J. E. Graham is a delightful hostess and is noted for her ability in the culinary line, which makes any affair which she may plan a success, as was evidenced by the elaborate affair of Christmas day.

Christmas eve exercises at the Baptist church were attended by a large number who thoroughly enjoyed the program given by the Sunday School pupils under the direction of Mesdames Ryan and Bernhardt and Miss Lancaster. The orchestra under the direction of Mr. Maygrove gave musical selections which were much appreciated. Miss Bertha Wilde gave a mandolin solo and Miss Josephine Akins sang "My Rosary" and "Afterwards" in a pleasing manner. Tableaux, recitations and songs by the Sunday school completed the program at the close of which Santa Claus appeared and distributed boxes of candy to all. A large tree, prettily decorated, formed a pretty decoration, and holly and mistletoe were also used.

A. Adams, Jr., and family, accompanied by Mrs. Stanciff and daughter, Miss Orpha, motored to Riverside Christmas day to be present at the wedding of Miss Zilla Florey to Jesse Laird of Sawtelle. Miss Lillian Richardson of Pine street has accepted a position as resident nurse in a hospital at Fresno. She recently occupied a similar position in the county hospital at Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hough of Pine street were the guests of their son and family in Los Angeles over Christmas. For a few days previous to this their four little grandchildren visited with them in Littlelands, returning with them to their father's home, Saturday.

Considerable alarm was manifested Sunday night for a while in Littlelands because of the extensive burning of brush southeast of here, beyond the Begue ranch. However at no time during the night was there any real danger owing to the direction of the wind and the distance of the fire. The people of Sunland thought at one time that our town was on fire and a number of the residents motored up the hill to offer their assistance.

There was a Christmas party held at the home of Miss Adkinson on Pine street, Christmas night. The younger people of the colony were the participants in this pleasant social function.

Miss Gertrude Van Batum enjoyed a short vacation from her work in Glendale during Christmas week. She spent the time with home folks.

Mrs. Shiras of El Centro avenue, who has been on the sick list, is reported to be slowly improving.

Mr. Lung of Lemoore, Cal., who owns a ten-acre tract on Palm avenue, was a recent visitor to the valley. He contemplates sometime in the future subdividing his land into suitable parcels for building lots. He also anticipates making his home some day on another five-acre tract here which he is reserving for the purpose.

Mrs. Clara Noyes of Pasadena, who is a granddaughter of Ex-Governor Ludington of Wisconsin, spent the Christmas week-end with her friend, Mrs. B. Zachar. Mrs. Noyes is a frequent visitor to the valley and is so fascinated by its beauty that she comes again and again.

Dance Saturday Night

The Monte Vista Valley band will give a dance at the clubhouse New Year's night. They extend a cordial invitation to the entire valley.

Miss Anna C. Peck of Monte Vista boulevard, is having considerable improvement made on her little cottage. The structure is being weatherboarded to make it snug for the rainy season, besides other needed repairs.

Town Meeting

At the Tuesday night meeting only a short session was held. On motion of P. J. Blake, the present incumbents of offices of the town meeting and the only candidates, Mr. Ashley, moderator; C. H. Clark, clerk, and Mrs. Woodruff, historian, were declared unanimously elected.

It was decided to hold a watch meeting New Year's eve, which comes the same night as the regular Home Croft meeting. However, the Home Croft program will be carried out and then there will be ample time for the watch meeting. The subject for consideration for that evening is "fertilizers." Mr. Darlington is chairman of that committee and will have the matter in charge. A number of men volunteered to go Wednesday with Mr. Kirshman, who will loan his wagon and team, to collect wood for the clubhouse fire place for the watch meeting New Year's eve.

The Barnes Herbal club will also have a short session between the Home Croft program and the watch meeting. The secretary, William Weeks, reported that he had received from Dr. Barnes enough Calendula seed to plant an acre and which is to be distributed among the members of the club Friday night.

Last Friday afternoon Misses Salstrom and Wilson, teachers of the school in Littlelands, were hostesses to the school board and patrons of the school to the number of about twenty-four. The program of the afternoon as rendered by the children consisted of songs, select readings and original compositions, which was thoroughly appreciated by those present. At the close of the program patrons and pupils were served by the hostesses assisted by some of the children, to refreshments of delicious ice cream and cake. The work of the children drawing, painting and calendars made by them, were on display and showed the painstaking efforts of both teachers and pupils.

Work On Earl Ranch

Altacana, the beautiful ranch property owned by Edwin T. Earl, is being improved and subdivided for the purpose of placing it on the market in the near future, according to C. P. Humphries, in charge of the ranch.

Beside the extensive road work on Mountain, Jarvis, and Burr avenues and Canyon road which has been under progress for some time, a great deal of beautifying of the property is under way.

The work is under the personal supervision of Mr. Earl, who spends his evenings at Earlmont, his residence in La Canada.

Children's Party

Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. W. H. McMullin, of Michigan avenue, gave a baby party for her little year and a half old daughter. Nearly all of the little ones in the community and their mothers attended this pleasant affair.

Business Better, Says Stultz

Considering conditions the world over, one would be inclined to think that the business depression would even reach the stores of La Canada. The business houses here, however, have enjoyed a most prosperous year's business.

According to J. W. Stultz of the La Canada store, La Canada grocery business is increasing every year. Asked whether business had been better this holiday season than a year ago, Mr. Stultz emphatically replied, "Business was better, certainly. There is no question about it."

This is an optimistic outlook for the valley in the face of most depressing conditions caused by the great European struggle.

Xmas Dinner and Theater Party
 Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Huntington of La Canada, had as their guests Christmas day, their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Taylor, and Mrs. De Adrian, of Los Angeles. Others present were Gilbert De Adrian, and Mr. and Mrs. Sears and baby.

After the turkey dinner, the entire party attended the Strand theater at Pasadena.
