P R E F A C E .

THE value of Churchwardens' Accounts as sources from which facts are frequently obtained upon which not only parochial but national history is built is now so fully appreciated that any apology, it is presumed, for the publication of the following sheets is unnecessary.

But a few prefatory words of explanation appear desirable. The Editor secured by purchase in the year 1860 or thereabouts, from the late Mr. Cox, then a baker and flour dealer in Market Street, Leicester, a large volume containing 773 pages of the original Manuscript Accounts of the Churchwardens of S. Martin, Leicester, bound in rough calf with a pair of strong clasps, and dating from the year 1544 to the year 1645: Mr. Cox's statement was to the effect that the volume had then been in his possession for about fifty years, and that he bought it at a second-hand bookstall and had preserved it on account of its local character. This volume is referred to by Throsby (with whose family

Mr. Cox was, I believe, connected by marriage) in his History: both he and Nichols give many extracts from it which, however, are frequently incorrect.

The acquisition of this volume by the present Editor induced him to write "A Chronicle of the Church of S. Martin in Leicester," which appeared in the year 1866.

The use then made of the MS. volume, however, by no means exhausted its interest, and, inasmuch as the chronicle only related to events preceding the year 1585, there was of course, a large portion of it not utilized in any way.

Being quite aware that a volume of such local interest should not be in private hands but restored to the custody of the Churchwardens of the parish from whose care it ought never to have been removed, the Editor, preparatory to handing it over to them, has made a faithful and full transcript of the earlier entries, and copious extracts from the later years, as will be shown in the table of contents of this volume. This being printed there is no danger of the information derivable from the original being lost through the accidental destruction of the MS., or by its loss through the carelessness of its custodians.

Subsequently the Editor was able to make extracts from the later Churchwardens' Books extending from the year 1744 to the year 1844.

Nichols, in his History of the County of Leicester (vol. i., part 2), gives some extracts of entries from other books of the Churchwardens of the Parish of S. Martin, Leicester, dating from 1489 to 1544, and from 1645 to 1737; as these books are not now to be found, and as that History is now a rare, and very expensive, and so not an easily accessible book, it is thought desirable to incorporate most of the extracts there printed in the present volume and so present, with a very slight break, a continuous selection of transcripts and extracts from the Churchwardens Books for nearly four centuries, viz., from 1489 to 1845.

It is hoped that this plan will meet with the approbation of those who may take an interest in the contents of the following pages.

Jan. 8, it was ordered, that the Churchwardens take of Mr. John Bryan his house, late in the occupation of Mr. John Prat, and see the same put in repair for the use of Mr. Thomas Daffy, at the charge of the parish; and that they advance what rent they can on the Vicarage-house towards payment of Mr. Bryant's rent

May 20, the Churchwardens set the Vicar's house to Mld. Hebb for 40s. a year, allowing repairs out of the rent.

Whereas the parishioners had voluntarily subscribed towards the maintenance of a minister several sums amounting to £50; which being thought too little, it was agreed, March 15, 1646, that 13 persons should be chosen, the major part of whom shall add to the same subscriptions, in way of tax, such sums as they think fit, to make up the full sum of £80 for the said minister, with Tamworth's Exhibition, besides the other parochial duties, which sums the inhabitants engaged to pay; but this engagement was to continue only till Michaelmas. A tax was made accordingly; and, April 1647, unanimously agreed to; and that the like sum be yearly raised, so long as Mr. Daffy should continue minister of the parish.

Soon after the celebration of the arrival of the "New Vicar," the Rev^d Edward Thomas Vaughan, by the ringing of the bells, as notified in the last entry, extracted from the Accounts of the Churchwardens, S. Martin's Church entered upon a new era in its existence. The fabric was in a sadly decayed and decaying condition. Several meetings were held at which Resolutions were passed initiating a long series of works of rebuilding which now (after a lapse of nearly forty years during which, with intervals of more or less duration, they have been in progress) are, it is supposed, approaching completion. Nearly the whole church has been rebuilt. Much loving care and great liberality have marked the progress of the work which step by step has led to the present result.

SOME OPINIONS ON THE ABOVE:

"Thanks to the devotion of enquirers like Mr. North, we shall, in course of time possess accounts of all the bells in England, but no compiler is likely to surpass Mr. North in care and diligence. This is saying a good deal, seeing what excellent volumes have been devoted to the subject."—Athenæum.

"One after another the bell lists of the different counties are being collected and published, and none of them better than those which have been undertaken by Mr. North."—Notes and Queries.

"Must be studied by the historian of English manners."—Standard.

"An unexpectedly pleasant book."—Saturday Review.

"We recommend [our readers] to see for themselves how excellent a work of the kind it is."—Guardian.

"Mr. North has marshalled his materials in a way which leaves nothing to be desired."—Church Bells.

"We earnestly recommend those interested in such matters to read the book for themselves."—Church and State Review.

"This beautifully printed volume . . . is made up with pleasant discussions and with much information."—The Churchman.

"Mr. North . . . has done really good service to Archæology by the publication of his present work, which is, without exception, the best of the kind we have seen."—The Reliquary.

"We welcome and commend Mr. North's Chronicle of the Church of S. Martin at Leicester."—Ecclesiastic."
