FOREWORD

To brighten that flame of patriotism which burns in the breast of every Virginian; to create in its readers a greater appreciation for State and College; to establish an indelible record of a year's happenings at Virginia Tech.—these three are the keynotes "The 1918 Bugle" would sound to readers of the Long Roll Number.

It is our sincere wish that this volume will be truly representative of Virginia Tech.—a great college supported by an even greater State. Whether or not we have attained this aim, we leave the reader to judge for himself.

Dedication

To those men who, claiming Virginia Tech as their Alma Mater, have given their services to the defense of the American flag, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Eighteen dedicates this the twenty-fourth volume of the Bugle.

Our Campus

Virginia can boast of having the most beautiful college campus in the country; and that one is none other than the front yard of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. At least, that is what Roosevelt has to say about it. Shouldn't we feel proud of this?

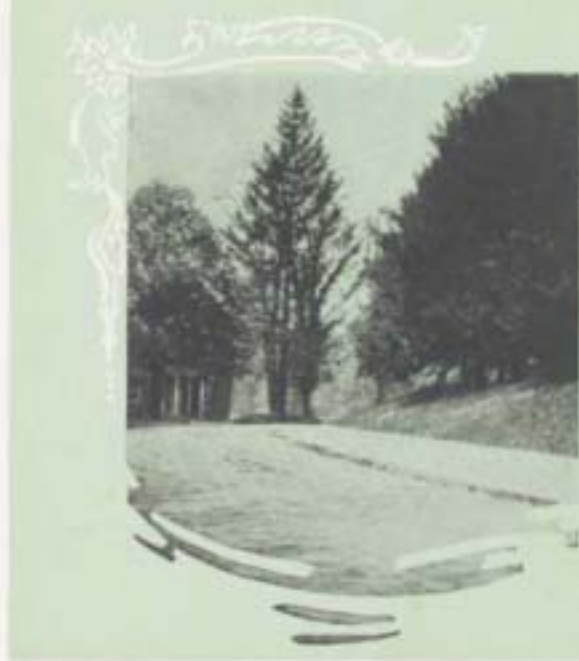

Speaking in tree language, our campus has indeed a very cosmopolitan population. With the exception of just one or two, every variety of tree found in Virginia is represented. There is no season of the year when a part of the campus is not green.

Of course, we are very proud of our Shops Building, but as for the other buildings it doesn't seem we have much right to boast. But, after all, Nature has done vastly more toward making our surroundings beautiful than man could ever begin to do by his own craftsmanship.

OUR SERVICE FLAG

V. P. I. AND THE WORLD WAR

THE American Nation is today concerned with but one subject—preparation. The soldier, the laborer, the manufacturer, and the housewife are all striving toward a single end. The clerk now wears a suit of khaki; the automobile factory now makes tractors; the old pipe factory is now humming with the manufacture of rifles. Indeed, every line of industry has reconstructed its processes so as to make preparation for a single event—the crushing of the Hun.

To fall in line with other American organizations, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute has no found it necessary to remodel its machinery. For many years it has been the object of this institution to equip men with that form of training which is most essential at the present time. The technically trained man who has received a thoro course in military science is the man of greatest value to his country today. It is for this reason that graduates of Virginia Tech. have won front rank positions in the lines of national defense.

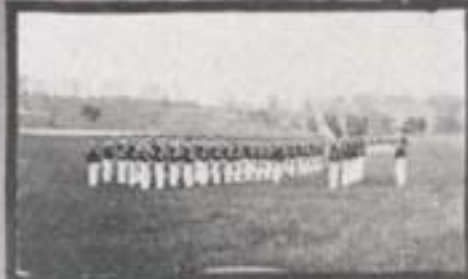

At the closing exercises of the session 1917-'18, held on the twenty-seventh of May, the Alumni Association presented the College with a handsome service flag. In the flag were seven hundred and forty stars. This may seem to be a small number when compared with some of the larger schools and colleges, but on a basis of percentages the Virginia Polytechnic Institute does not hesitate to claim for itself the first place in the column of comparisons.

Two years ago, Virginia Polytechnic Institute was represented in the Army by scarcely a dozen men. The seven hundred and forty representatives of today show in a measure how quickly the Tech. men have responded to the call of the Government. Another fact reflecting credit upon V. P. I. training is that, of these seven hundred and forty men in the service, only twelve are privates. That 98.5 per cent. of its men should be officers is truly a remarkable record.

The achievements of Tech. men in the various officers' training camps of the country has been a cause for wide comment. In fact, the ease with which these men have been able to secure commissions has made common the question: "What kind of a school is that down in Virginia, anyway?" Of the Tech. students in the Engineers' camps of the country, one hundred per cent. secured commissions. Students in training at the Fort Oglethorpe camps have made a similar record. Ninety-five per cent. of the Tech. men at the first Fort Myer camp won shoulder bars. At Camp Lee, fifty-eight men out of sixty candidates received commissions. Is this not an enviable record for any school?

The Class of Nineteen-Eighteen began its college training with the beginning of the world war. At the graduating exercises of this Class, only nineteen men were present to receive degrees. Ninety-four per cent. of the 'Eighteen men enrolled when war was declared are now enlisted in some branch of the service. Those not actually wearing the khaki are engaged in some form of Government work.

The Alumni Association reports that, of the number of men actually enrolled in the Association, twenty-seven per cent. are now under arms. This percentage is larger than that of Harvard, Yale, Princeton, or any other college—North or South. Indeed, shouldn't Tech. men be proud of such a record?

EDWARD F. ADAMS

*Second Lieutenant, Three Hundred Seventeenth Infantry
Camp Lee, Va.*

EDWARD ALLEN

*Corporal, Three Hundred Seventeenth Infantry
Camp Lee, Va.*

"Ed" came to V. P. I. as a "Sophomore rat." He, like the great bulk of Tech. men, became enthused with the idea of becoming an officer in the United States Army, and rushed off with the crowd to the First Fort Myer Training Camp. He received his commission as a second lieutenant, and was assigned to duty at Camp Lee.

ALLEN was one of the tallest men at Virginia Tech., and we feel certain that he stands at the head of the first squad in his Company. "Ed" was drafted in August, and sentenced to serve at Camp Lee prior to his work in the trenches "over there." He has had several years' experience teaching youngsters the fundamentals of "readin'" and "arithmatic," but just how well he can instruct a squad in the principles of military we can not say.

JAMES J. COWAN

*Second Lieutenant, Forty-eighth Infantry
Camp Stuart, Va.*

VIVIAN T. DOUGLAS, JR.

*Captain Division School of Arms
Camp Lee, Va.*

"JAMES" attended V. P. I. three years. He was not old enough to enter the first Fort Myer Camp with the V. P. I. contingent, but managed to get in on the twelfth of June. He also remained thru the second encampment, in order to make the age requirement, and had the distinction of being the youngest man in the Camp.

From the rank of first sergeant at V. P. I., "Heck" rose to be a captain in the United States Army within the short time of three months. He entered the first Fort Myer encampment on the fourteenth of May, 1917, and was commissioned on August 15. He was sent to Oklahoma for special instruction in musketry, and is now in charge of the Department of Musketry, Division School of Arms, Camp Lee.

ROBERT G. EOFF
French Aviation Corps
 In France.

DANIEL H. HOGE
Second Lieutenant, C. A. C.
 Fortress Monroe

"COWE." EOFF was about the first V. P. I. man to get in action against the Germans. He joined the American Ambulance Corps, and sailed for France on March 26, 1917. After six months in the ambulance service, EOFF enlisted in the French Aviation Corps, and was sent to Avord for training. He expected to be in action on the front by the first of January, 1918, but has not been heard from recently.

"DAN." allowed the other fellows to get a whole month's start on him, but soon outstripped many of his competitors. He entered the first Fort Myer Camp, on the twelfth of June, and was commissioned in the R. O. C. on the fifteenth of August. However, "DAN." was very soon transferred to the Regular Army, and stationed at Chickamauga Park, Ga., with the Fifty-First Regiment. On October 26, he was transferred to the Coast Artillery, and is now at Old Point.

RUSSELL M. HOWELL
Company No. 3, O. T. C.
 Camp Lee, Va.

HAROLD M. JONES
Ensign Naval Reserves
 Annapolis, Md.

"HIS" was drafted in the National Army on September 1, 1917. After a month's stay at Camp Lee, he was made first sergeant of Company "A," Three Hundred Seventeenth Infantry. At the time THE BUCLE goes to press, Howell is in the Officers' Training Camp, and we feel sure that he will come out with either a gold or silver bar on his shoulder.

JONES left V. P. I. on the twelfth of May, for the first Fort Myer Camp. However, after a month's time he was transferred to the training school at Fortress Monroe. At the end of the Camp, Jones enlisted in the Naval Reserves, at St. Helena Training Station, as Chief Master at Arms. After a short stay at the Jamestown Naval Base, he was transferred to the training school at Annapolis for a sixteen weeks' course.

GEORGE W. KEARNEY
*Graduate O. T. Camp
Camp Lee, Va.*

JOHN W. LARK
*Motor Mechanics, Signal Corps
In France*

KEARNEY evaded the draft, and won a place in the Third Officers' Training Camp, at Camp Lee. He is also numbered among the Class of 1918, for he was with us until the Christmas holidays began, having been a second lieutenant in "D" Company. "Georgia" has won the ribbon for being the most practical man at Virginia Polytechnic Institute several years, and should make Uncle Sam a good officer.

Altho "Buckie" seemed to take no interest in military whatever at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, he was pretty anxious to get in the real service, and meet the Kaiser on the other side. He applied for a place in the Aviation Corps, and was accepted; but rather than wait a long while for his call, he enlisted in the Motor Mechanics branch of the Signal Corps.

JOHN W. McNAIR

*Second Lieutenant, One Hundred Fifty-Fifth Depot Brigade
Camp Lee, Va.*

WILLIAM H. PERCE

*Private, Troop "A," First Virginia Cavalry
Camp McClellan, Ala.*

"Mack" attended the Second Fort Myer Training Camp, and was commissioned in the infantry on November 27, 1917. After a short leave of absence, he was assigned to active duty with the Fifty-First Company, Thirteenth Training Battalion, One Hundred Fifty-Fifth Depot Brigade.

After two years at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Perce joined the Richmond Blues, and went with them to Brownsville, Texas. He is now a Private in the same unit, stationed at Anniston, Ala. It will be remembered that "HARRY" was in the Band while at Virginia Tech.

GEORGE S. SOMERVILLE

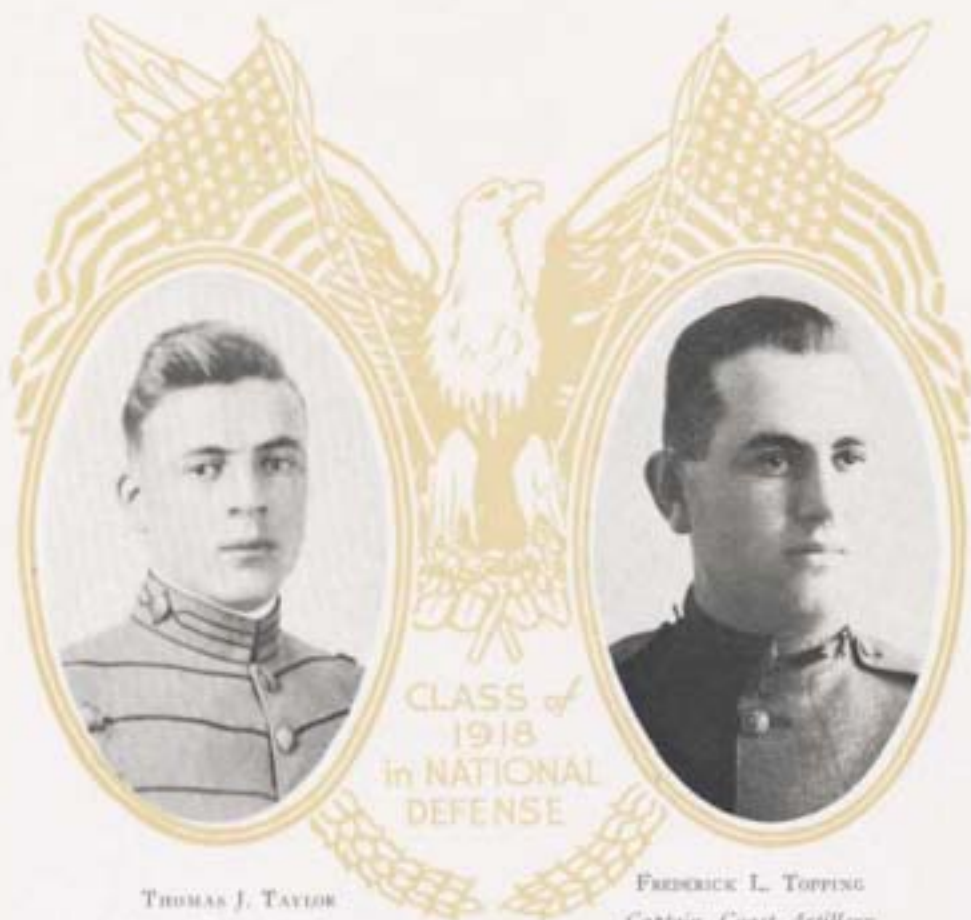

*Non-Com., Seventh Regiment Marines
Guantanamo, Cuba*

"BILLY" SOMERVILLE left Virginia Polytechnic in the spring of 1917, because of poor health. However, we are glad to know that he has recovered, and is now in the Marine Corps. "BILLY" enlisted in the Navy the last week in May, and after two months at Quantico, was sent to Cuba with the Marine outfit. We hear that he has been promoted to a non-commissioned officer, but can learn very little of his whereabouts at present.

WILLIAM B. SOURS

*Company I, O. T. Camp
Camp Lee, Va.*

"BUCK" SOURS was a quartermaster-sergeant at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He fell in the hands of the draft board, and was taken to Camp Lee in the early fall of 1917. Almost immediately, SOURS was made sergeant in Company "A," Three Hundred Seventeenth Infantry. At present, he is in the Officers' Training Camp, at Camp Lee, and we certainly expect him to come out with a lieutenantcy.

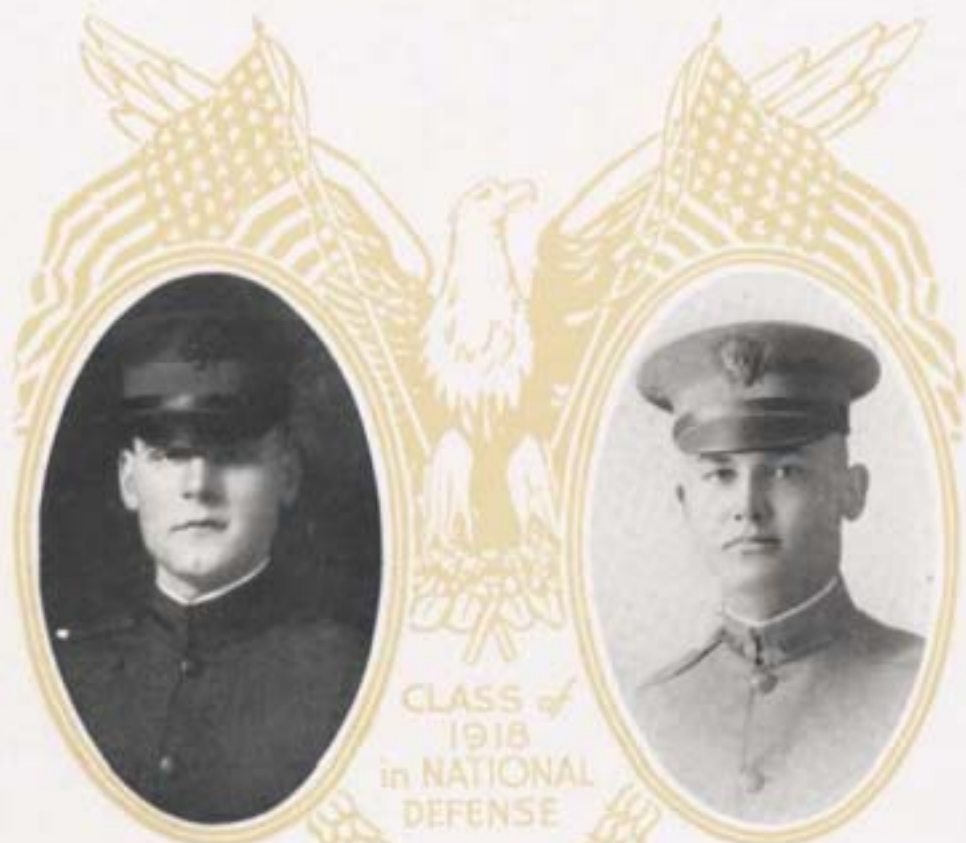

THOMAS J. TAYLOR
Officers' Training Camp
Camp Lee, Va.

FREDERICK L. TOPPING
Captain, Coast Artillery
Fortress Monroe, Va.

"JOLLY" TAYLOR "fell out" at Virginia Polytechnic Institute last Christmas, and hit the trail for Camp Lee. He is one of the sixty Tech. men in the Officers' Training Camp, and will probably be one of the sixty to get commissions. He had an "ear" for military while here, and is sure to win a shoulder pin.

TOPPING has been one of the "Eighteen men to secure rapid promotion. He took the examination for the regular army last spring, and was sent to Fort Leavenworth in June. After completing the course there, he was sent to the Pacific Coast for additional training. Just recently, "Toe" has been transferred to the Virginia fort.

HOWARD I. TUGGLE

First Lieutenant, Three Hundred Twentieth Infantry

Camp Lee, Va.

WALTER L. TURNER

Second Lieutenant, Three Hundred Twentieth Infantry

Camp Lee, Va.

After a few months' training in the First Fort Myer Camp, TUGGLE went from a first sergeant at Virginia Polytechnic Institute to a first lieutenant in the United States Army. "Tug" always seemed to be more interested in military than anything else, so we are not surprised that he has done so well in his new career.

TURNER is another V. P. I. first sergeant who won a commission at the First Fort Myer Camp. While in Blacksburg, he called the roll for "A" Company, and seemed to take military more seriously than the majority of fellows. He is a big, strong fellow, and will probably be the head man in his Company before long.

JAMES A. WALLER, JR.

*First Sergeant Three Hundred Tenth
Field Artillery*

Camp Meade, Md.

WALLER was drafted in August, 1917. However, he very quickly rose to the rank of first sergeant in a battery of field artillery. He was one of the men picked for the Officers' Training Camp, at Camp Meade, but while in training was thrown from a horse, and forced to remain in the hospital for about six weeks. At Virginia Polytechnic Institute, WALLER was first sergeant of the band.

JACOB D. WOSTACK

Sergeant Company "A," Three Hundred Seventeenth Infantry

Camp Lee, Va.

"JAKE" fell out after completing his Sophomore year at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He was drafted on September 5, 1917, and received his appointment as sergeant on the twenty-eighth of November. WOSTACK is now taking a special course in grenade throwing and bayonet fighting, under instruction of French officers.

HISTORY in MINIATURE

THE Class of 'Eighteen! A quiet, peace-loving group of men, and yet a Class which had its birth almost simultaneously with that of the present war. While Germany was devastating the lands of brave Belgium, we, many miles from the thunder of the guns, entered upon our Freshman studies. We had little idea that even before our Senior year many of our number would be called upon to crush the brutal Huns.

While England and France were fighting desperately to check the advances of the enemy, we continued our college work thru our Sophomore year, undisturbed by the distant turmoil of battle. Then, in our Junior year, the United States declared war, and the time came for our Class to furnish its first quota for the front. Up until this time, we had looked upon our military training as a necessary evil; but now our views were suddenly changed. We realized that we had to become proficient in military tactics, or else remain as privates when the time came for us to step into our Nation's army.

As Seniors, it is interesting for us to close our eyes for a moment, and dream of our experiences as underclassmen; to recall some of the joys and discomforts of our Freshman life; to feel again the shiver which ran thru our bodies when we heard the dreaded yell of "Rat"; to run a thousand errands in a less number of minutes—such is the retrospection of a Senior. How insignificant we felt when we stood in a room filled with old boys, and attempted to convince a broom that we loved it with an undying love. It was refreshing, too, to return from a party at eleven p. m., and walk into our room whistling, and then to stumble over all our furniture and personal effects which had been piled in the center of the room. Shall we ever forget the cooling effect produced by a two-pound bag of water when it struck us on the shoulder after it had traveled from a window on the fourth story?

The Class of Nineteen-Eighteen has furnished several monogram men, whose work in athletics was felt by many opposing teams. Most of these men are now in the Army or Navy, and their loss will be keenly felt by the Athletic Association.

The time is drawing near when we must say farewell to our alma mater. We have stood together to uphold her highest ideals; she has prepared us for a life of peace or war. May we always do our utmost to extend her influence and usefulness at all times!

The bugle call is sounding even now for the sons of V. P. I. to assemble under the Stars and Stripes. As we answer this call, the members of Class 'Eighteen can feel the distinction of being the only Class which has entered upon and completed its training since the beginning of the great world conflict.

TYLER FRAZIER ACKERS

Agriculture

Snowville, Va.

1914-15—Private Company "E".

1915-16—Corporal Company "E".

1916-17—Color Sergeant.

1917-18—First Lieutenant Company "D";
President Planters' Club; Member Stock
Judging Team; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; President Pulaski County Club.

Altho Tyler came to us directly from the mountains of Snowville, do not think he is a "bear," except in Agriculture and Military. Tyler evidently wants a picture of the Kaiser, for he has signed up with the Aviation Photographic Service. We hope that he will make such a good snapshot at the Kaiser that it will be a time exposure of endless duration for Uncle Wulsein.

1916-17—Out of Military; Member American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

1917-18—Out of Military; German Club; American Society of Mechanical Engineers; "Flats High Life".

We are now in the heart of the "Flats," the abode of the doctor jockies, where silence and order reigns supreme; but "Alex" has not arrived, for to those who know the presence of "Alex" means a suspension of all work, unless the King of the Flats has some extraordinary work of importance to be done. Altho "Alex" claims Marion as his home, we fear that his real address is a little more specific, and that he forgot to include "In care of the Asylum," but as superintendent.

1916-17—Musician Company "A"; Lee Literary Society.

1917-18—Chief Trumpeter, Staff; Entered Service in April.

"May" came to us
Evan Albemarle,
with much love for a roving life. His dreams are always of the fair sea, and often we find him
humming, "Carry Me
Back to Pennsylvania."
From his specialization in Chemistry, we once had a vision of his future in a Professor's chair; but, instead of this, "May"
has chosen the lighting life for the present, and we are sure to see him shine
among his army comrades.

1915-16—Corporal Company "C"; Norfolk Club.

1916-1917—Musician Company "C"; Member American Society of Mechanical Engineers; Norfolk Club.

1917-18—Musician Company "B"; Member A. S. M. E.; Norfolk Club; Executive Committee Corps; Member D. O. B. D.'s.

"Bossy," after exhausting the educational facilities of Norfolk, set out for Blacksburg in pursuit of the Goddess of Knowledge.

Opinion differs as to whether or not he will ever catch this elusive lady. If not, she will be the first of the feminine sex who has not fallen victim to his charms. "Bossy" while a "scribe" at most things, is particularly interested in the study of finance and economics. He is always ready for work or PLAY, and his many and sterling qualities have won him innumerable friends. At work or PLAY, he always gets results; and with such tactics he is bound to win.

JAMES ALEXANDER BELL

Chemical Engineering

Staunton, Va.

1914-15—Private Company "C"; Class Football; Class Basket-Ball.

1915-16—Corporal Company "C"; Class Athletics; Shenandoah Valley Club.

1916-17—Private Company "C"; Secretary Shenandoah Valley Club; Class Football.

1917-18—First Lieutenant Company "B"; President Shenandoah Valley Club; Defending Attorney of Corps; American Chemical Society; Class Athletics; Secretary of "NINETEEN-EIGHTEEN BUGLE"; President of Senior Class.

Above shadow represents "Alex," a man small in stature, but in ability and in "all-round" manliness, anything but small. Alex drifted across the hills from Staunton to Blacksburg in the fall of 1914. Since his earliest rathood days, his one ambition has been to locate himself in Birmingham immediately upon graduating. We leave it to you to decide from his countenance whether it is a case of chemical affinity or otherwise.

- 1917-18—Captain and Adjutant, Staff; Nottoway-Amelia Club; Member American Institute of Electrical Engineers; Class Football; Associate Business Manager "NINETEEN-EIGHTEEN BUGLE".

"Meade" lives up to the name of his home town in a fine way. He is an entire Crewe(s) by himself in class work. If an argument arises, "Meade" will form his opinion, and that must be correct until something like the "I. R.'s" or "I. D. R.'s" can prove the contrary. The "shirt-waists" have much attraction for Meade, altho he would never admit it. Just at present it is almost impossible to find him in his room, as there seems to be a great attraction down town. Perseverance will win, in any case, and "Meade" has that fine quality in abundance.

"They go wild, simply wild over me." So thinks "Gawky." Anyway, that is the tone he hits all the way from town to his country home every Sunday afternoon, for this gentleman seems to make good use of Price's Forks (as well as their spoons). Nevertheless, we can imagine nothing but success for "Gawky" in his chosen profession, altho sometimes we stop to wonder how it is that he lurches out far enough to keep thro' the eye of a transit.

LAURUM OVERBY BRIGGS

Mechanical Engineering

Suffolk, Va.

1914-15—Private Company "E"; Member German Club; Private Band.

1915-16—Corporal Band; Member German Club.

1916-17—Private Band; Member German Club; Member American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

1917-18—Private Band; Pres. Suffolk Club; American Society of Mechanical Engineers; Virginia Tech. Consulting Engineers; D. O. R. D.; Class Football; Leader German Club.

Here we have "Ham," the mathematical genius of the Senior Class; the discoverer of the imperial logarithm tables; the greatest "bees-eater" in the institution; the wearer of the broadest smile in the Corps. Laurum Overby quietly entered this institution with us four years ago, and doubtless without any strenuous effort on his part will graduate with us in June. "Ham" must have spent one of his Merit-mans when he last saw Hampton Roads, for he now intends to enter the Naval Reserve.

1917-18—Musician Company "D"; Resigned in January to enter Aviation Corps; Member D. O. B. D.'s.

"All the world loves a sleeper." Probably that is the reason we are so fond of "Pop", for certainly he holds the record for sleeping thru reveilles. While not aspiring to military distinction, "Pop" was the holder of an office until he decided that it did not suit his taste. In answer to Uncle Sam's call, "Pop" has rendered his services to the aerial branch of the service. This being the case, we should expect to see him rise higher and higher.

Ladies, protect your hearts, for the twinkling of George's eyes has played havoc with the affections of many a fair young demsel. Prominent in all branches of student activities, George's influence has always made itself felt for the best interest of school and student body alike. Versatile, energetic, and the possessor of a pleasing personality, this son of Norfolk will be successful in any undertaking. From present indications, the Engineering Corps of the Army will claim his services, and his friends wish him many chances to show his mettle.

1915-16—Private Company "F"; Varsity Basket-Ball; Treasurer Corps; Class Football.

1916-17—Private Company "F"; Varsity Basket-Ball; Bristol Club; Captain Class Football.

1917-18—Musician Company "D"; Captain Varsity Basket-Ball; President Corps; Vice-President Senior Class; Bristol Club; Class Football; Member D. O. B. D.'s.

"Ben," one of the brightest basket-ball stars of Tech's noted constellation, dribbled in from Bristol presumably to study the wiles of the debaucheries of his native city. Cheerful, loyal, and able, he soon won the respect of his fellow-students, a respect that has been the recipient of many honors. Until recent years, his military aspirations have been decidedly negative, but war, the great arbiter of human destinies, has decreed that "Ben's" ambition should soar upward toward higher things. Our best wishes go with him into the Aviation Corps.

1916-17—Private Company "E"; Planters' Club; Charter Member Martinsville Club.

1917-18—Lieutenant Company "C"; Planters' Club; Member Murray's "Test-Cutters".

Martinsville is well known for its tobacco, and other things. Guy is one of the other things. He shared with us in the many trials and tribulations of "Raidhood," and by his sunny disposition and optimistic manner soon won the name of "Tulip." His military ambitions were realized his Senior year, when he became a wearer of the gold band. "Tulip" is a patriotic, hard-working student, and will always be held in high esteem by his classmates.

Napoleon had his Waterloo; but Waterloo gave us a Digges. This Waterloo gave us quite an elongated personage, in our tallest classmate. A world of sentimental right would be an Utopia to "Sleepy," as perhaps he could satisfy his nocturnal propensities. "Sleepy" is one who will come thru with "I" when everyone else gets a "I," and then he just smiles. The fact that he has been chosen Assistant in the Graphics Department is not to be held against him. Here's to an "all-along" fellow.

1917-18--Out of Military; Lyneborg Club; "Flats High-Life"; American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

We have the honor of introducing the man who critic never is getting a pass on Lincoln's Mechanism than any other member of the Class. "Dris" is the sort of fellow who always gets his work done well, but still has a plenty of time to do as he wishes. Among his other laurels, we must mention the staging of a comedy entitled, "Buffaloes the Military Department," which has had a three years' stormy but successful run here, with "Dris" playing the role of the Buffalo. We wish you continued good luck, "Dris".

1917-18—Lieutenant Company "B"; Cotillion Club; Member American Society of Mechanical Engineers; Bristol Club; Monogram Club; Manager Varsity Basket-Ball; Athletic Council.

"Dungan," a Bristolite in whom there is no guile! The first thing you notice about him is his ever-beaming smile. This smile is one of the kind that don't rub off, not even when he pulls a IV under "Boson". Dungan is a "happy-go-lucky" fellow, who always looks on the bright side of things. His frank, open face and bewitching smile have always wrought havoc among the fair sex, and we predict that these same attributes will go a long way toward paving the way to success in future life.

BUT THEY GOT HIM!

A worthy son of Blacksburg, and a man of many accomplishments. "Evans" spent three years in the Cadet Band, and then became ranking lieutenant of the battalion. He is an expert in stock judging, and knows the ins and outs of an automobile. "Evans" has a big, warm heart (which he doesn't own at present), and is always ready to help the other fellow. His affectionate disposition has won him the love of all his classmates. Our best wishes go with you, "Evans".

"Book agents, newsboys, and dogs keep out." It is by repeatedly facing such signs as this that "Johnny" has acquired the perseverance necessary to overcome the obstacles of life. In the past, "Johnny" has always had our best wishes, both as a book-agent and as a student; and now we wish him even better success as a future aviator for Uncle Sam.

"Chap" paddled his way to Blacksburg in the fall of 1914 from the swampy regions of Chickahominy. He is a happy-go-lucky youngster, with a cherubic countenance and a smile which covers most of his face. His picture shows him to be a "Ladkiller"; his achievements indicate that he is a scribe on stilts; his grades are proof conclusive that he is doubly a scribe in his class work. He has one fault; the complete inability to put any time on his books.

"Beef"; not wild, but he may be a little tough.

"Beef" is one of the boys from Norfolk, and Norfolk should be proud of him, for in his four years with us he has done well in both military and classes. He is seldom found in his room, and has never been caught studying, but he is one of the few that has a P. G. ticket. That's why we argue that there is no need of studying. His worst habit is going to Buntzke on "business" for the "Bugle"—a very good excuse, for he is the Business Manager.

Yes, Sir; this is Alonzo. For four years and three summers he has pursued a B. S. degree in three parts, and during the pursuit has become quite a track man. Alonzo is the man who made a ten-year Tech. grow where an eight-page one had been the rule, and in this respect satisfies Professor Randolph's definition of an Engineer. In every other respect, as well, Alonzo is one of our most college-spirited men.

During his Senior year, a few of his observations he spent interworking in Mechanical Laboratories, but the year maturity he spent in demonstrating to our young gentlemen military authority the art of driving a Fracklin, and other acts that might be mentioned in a field's "Manual of Arms," but not in the Army Editions, which he is now studying in the Officers' Training Camp.

When we entered the Freshman Class at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, we never thought that we had a classmate in our midst who would be Chief Garden Inspector and Advisor for the City of Roanoke. We are proud to own him as a classmate, and expect great things of him.

Johnny claims Disputanta as his native town, altho many of his classmates believed him to be a subject of the Kaiser, for he is of Bohemian parentage. However, Opivsky is a loyal American, and betrays no indications of German "Kultur". He has always had a fond liking for the "weed," and one can always be sure of getting a "chew" or "puff" from him. Early in his college career, John lost his military aspirations, and, like many of his disappointed classmates, selected the bugle in lieu of the gun.

Jack entered our Class as a Sophomore Rat. He had just spent a year at Kansas College, and the change from civilian college life to a military career seemed to go hand with him. He disliked the idea of getting up so early, and of answering so many bugle calls; but nevertheless he made good in military, and in his Junior year he was a sergeant. This season we thought that he would be a Senior Officer, but when he boldly told the military authorities that he had no military aspirations, he automatically became a "Fallen Angel."

Altho this man has never studied astronomy, he has somehow been able to place more stars in his credit than any other member of his Class. But now Claudius has deserted us for Boston Tech., to acquire the surmounts of a radio specialist, with the idea of instructing young Sammies here next year. We give Claudius credit for being extremely patriotic in his anxiety to train soldiers here next session, but we firmly believe there is also a Virginia Goddess of Liberty (?) behind the movement.

"Percy's" military appearance easily distinguishes him from any of our noted local military heroes. One would never believe that he has been exposed to four years of military training, for his every move and speech is non-military. This, however, should not lead one to believe that he is unpatriotic. Had he only taken as much interest in military as he does in photography, then he would have been our ranking captain, without trial.

Smith is a son of the "gopher" country; a lover of nature; an example for his college mates in observing the Golden Rule; the true Virginia gentleman—such is our beloved "A. G." His knowledge of Horticulture gained him the position of Assistant in that Department, and because of this his classmates call him "Professo." In winning promotion in the military department, Smith certainly holds the record; he has risen to the rank of lieutenant after a stay of three months in the ranks. He has also won many laurels as a stock-judge.

Jolly, by name and nature, entered our midst from the outskirts of Richmond. The good in his academic work, military claimed a large share of his attention. His military career was suspiciously begun by the capture of a corporality in his Sophomore year. At the beginning of his Third Year, this budding Napoleon attained the rank of sergeant. He left us at the beginning of nineteen-eighteen to enter the Training Camp, and we feel sure that he will be one to make good.

Lee Edwin Henley

In the death of L. E. Henley the faculty and students of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute mourn the loss of a friend and fellow-student. During his long stay among us he had won for himself both friendship and esteem; and so intimate an acquaintance has made us feel more keenly his absence. That he should leave us at this stage in life only adds sorrow to such an untimely occurrence. Yet, after all, we must realize that, tho he has been called much earlier in life than many, in time, all persons must appear before that tribunal from which there is no exemption.

THE RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS AT VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE

By an Act of Congress of June 3, 1916, provisions were made for the establishment and maintenance of a Reserve Officers' Training Corps. It was to be divided into two divisions; that is, a senior division and a junior division. The first of these two divisions were designed for educational institutions where a four-year course leading to some degree was given, and for those schools which are required to provide military tactics under the Act of Congress of July 2, 1902. The Junior division was to embrace all private and public institutions not included in the limits of the Senior division. The object of this corps is to qualify for reserve officers, by systematic methods of training, the students of these civil educational institutions.

Early in the fall of 1916, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute made application for the establishment of an infantry unit at Blacksburg, but it was not until December of that year that the War Department made it possible by publishing a bulletin authorizing the formation of an infantry unit, Senior division, of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. This establishment made it compulsory for all physically fit students in their first and second years of military to become members. However, to become a member of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps when in their third and fourth years of military, students must sign a contract setting forth their intention of attending a summer training camp of four weeks' duration at the end of each of these years. On the other hand, each student so indicating his willingness to pursue further military instruction at the end of his second year receives about nine dollars per month from the date of signing the contract to the date of graduation, extending thru the summer between his third and fourth years. A further benefit to be derived from membership in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps is a regular service uniform issued by the government to each member, or the equivalent thereof in money, which amounts to about fourteen dollars each.

The course as prescribed by the War Department in General Orders No. 49 does not differ materially from the course that had been given at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute; so that very little change was necessary. It is to be a graded course covering a period of practical and theoretical instruction. The School of the Soldier, Squad, Company, and Battalion are carefully taken up in order, as well as physical drills and aiming exercises. Target practice is given in lectures, and then later the student is taught to shoot on a specially constructed range where distances up to five hundred yards may be used in actual firing. Tactical problems, map maneuvers, and field orders are taught, as well as Company administration and modern paper work.

Finally, it might be well to say that the facts herein presented are those existing at the present time, and may or may not be in force another year, altho the Reserve Officers' Training Corps as an organization will exist in general as presented above.

MAJOR WILLIAM P. STONE

COMMANDANT OF CADETS

IN recent years, Virginia Polytechnic Institute has had no Commandant of longer and wider military experience than Major W. P. Stone. A service of thirty years in several branches of the Army, and a West Point training to begin with, has certainly made him a capable officer. Major Stone came to Virginia Tech. in September, 1917, and altho this is his first year with us, it is hoped that he will have a much longer stay.

William Porter Stone was born at Camden, Ark., in 1860. He received his early education at Camden, and later studied at the University of Indiana, the University of the South, and at the United States Military Academy. In 1883, he was graduated from West Point.

After completing his course at West Point, Lieutenant Stone was assigned to duty with the artillery, and served with both the coast and field branches. Among the Posts at which he has been stationed in the United States are Little Rock, Fortress Monroe, Mount Vernon Barracks, Ala., Fort Riley, Fort McPherson, Washington Barracks, D. C., Fort Slocum, N. Y., Fort Adams, R. I., and Fort Hamilton, N. Y. In 1899, Lieutenant Stone was promoted to captain, and was commissioned as a major in 1906. He also served three years in the Philippines, and took part in the Spanish-American war in those islands.

Major Stone has had quite a bit of experience as commandant at colleges before coming to the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. His first position of this kind was at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. After two years at that institution, he was transferred to Fort McPherson, Ga. He later served as commandant at Ouachita Baptist College, Arkadelphia, Ark.; and also at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark.

Major Stone was retired from the service in 1909, upon his own request, and ever since that time has been living in Denver, Colo. At the beginning of the war, he volunteered for active duty, and was assigned to the Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

CHARLES A. BERNIER
ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

IN OUR new Athletic Director, Coach Bernier, Virginia Polytechnic Institute has a man who, as an athlete, a Coach, and loyal alumnus, is eminently fitted for the position which he holds. His record as an athlete is very brilliant, and his experience as a Coach is certainly none the less extensive and successful. During his prep-school days, he won letters in the three major branches of athletics, and for one year served simultaneously as captain of the football and baseball teams of his school. During the summers, he played baseball in the White Mountains, and captained the baseball and basket-ball teams during his last year. In 1911, he entered Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and took a prominent part in all branches of athletics here. His work in baseball was particularly meritorious. The following year he played with the Providence team of the International League.

Great as is his record as an athlete, his record as a Coach is greater. In 1912, he coached the baseball team at New Hampshire State College, and turned out the best team this college had put on the diamond in six years. His record at Hampden-Sydney, creditable under any circumstances, is even more remarkable when it is remembered that this school has the smallest enrollment of any college in the State. Their victories in athletics are a testimony to Coach Bernier's ability to turn out a good team from whatever material is given him. For the past season, Mr. Bernier has coached all branches of athletics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and the teams turned out in each branch have in every case been a credit to the school and to its Coach.

With Coach Bernier as Athletic Director, we predict great future success in all branches of athletics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and we feel assured that his qualities as a man, a Coach, and an athlete will prove a great factor in making old V. P. I. a rival to be feared in every contest.

CLARENCE P. MILES

GRADUATE MANAGER OF ATHLETICS

THE nineteen-eighteen athletic season brings to a close the long and efficient services of Prof. C. P. Miles as Graduate Manager of Athletics. Professor Miles was appointed Graduate Manager of Athletics by the Athletic Association in 1908, and since that time no man has had the interests of athletics more keenly at heart, or has labored more earnestly for its development than he. For four seasons ('05, '07, '13, and '14), he coached the baseball teams that represented Virginia Polytechnic Institute. In 1905 and 1906, he was head football coach; and it may be noted in passing that he turned out the team that defeated the Army, and made things happen on Lambeth Field. Professor Miles has always been actively interested in any plan that would make for better and cleaner athletics, and has been instrumental beyond measure in raising the standard of athletics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

In addition to the active part that he has taken in local athletics, Professor Miles has always been an ardent advocate of intercollegiate contests. Upon the formation of the South Atlantic Intercollegiate Athletic Association, he was made one of its board of managers. For the three subsequent years, he also served as vice-president of the Association. For two terms (1909-10 and 1916-17), he held the position of president of the Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

To Professor Miles, all friends of athletics are grateful, for there is no exaggeration in the statement that the past and present athletic success and prestige of Virginia Polytechnic Institute has been largely due to his untiring efforts. In every way he has helped to advance the interests of athletics, both here and among the other colleges of the South. For this reason the student-body receives with regret the resignation of Professor Miles as Graduate Manager of Athletics, and wishes at this opportunity to express the appreciation of its members for what he has done to further athletics at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

A REVIEW OF THE FOOTBALL SEASON

THE effects of the great war were felt very keenly by the nineteen-seventeen football squad. When "Fall In" sounded on Miles Field, only three of our veteran V. P. men answered the call. Such men as Nelson, Reid, Gardner, and Lancaster have all entered some branch of the service, and upon them Virginia Tech. depended largely for a nineteen-seventeen team. Furthermore, seven of last year's Varsity men were lost to us because of graduation.

Probably the most serious calamity that befell the team was the failure of Captain Gregory to return to the Institute. In him we lost the most spectacular all-star end that has held a position on the Tech. team for many years. As a successor for Gregory, "Sol" Parrish was elected to captain the team. This big tackle was always full of grit and fight, and made the team an excellent leader.

The new, and inexperienced, there were quite a number of likely candidates that tried for places on the Varsity. The excellent showing that the team made is due to two things: the fighting spirit of the Tech. men, and the wonderful development of material by Coach Bernier. The team as a whole was much lighter than it has been in previous seasons; but no faster and better coached fighting machine has been turned out in some time.

Tech. students are very proud of the nineteen-seventeen record. Of the nine games played, we lost only two, and tied one. We could scarcely expect to win from such strong teams as Georgetown and the University of West Virginia; yet our men showed the heavier teams just how much speed and grit they had. The 7 to 7 tie with A. and E. was played when our men were not at their best; and we were somewhat disappointed with the result. The Davidson game was won purely by the fighting spirit of the Techs., and shows how well the boys can rally when defeat seems imminent. No matter how badly crippled our team might have been, it was predestined that we should lick Virginia Military Institute in the final football classic; and this we did.

"SOL" PARRISH
Left Tackle

"Sol" Parrish was a captain of inestimable value. The very color of his hair was proof enough for anyone that he was a fighter of the finest type. It can be said, in all truthfulness, that "Sol" was the incarnation of V. P. I. spirit; and history reveals the value of that spirit. This fellow was a great defensive player, and one who could be counted on for the necessary yards for field down on his famous tackle-around play. "Sol" could also fling the forward pass accurately, with his big outstep.

"MONK" YOUNGER
End

Hardly a sportlover in the State of Virginia has not heard of this famous end. Ever on the alert, always using keen judgment, a born fighter, "Monk" was never known to let up in his efforts to bring victory to his alma mater. On the defense, Younger stands peer of all the ends Virginia Polytechnic Institute has ever developed. Nevertheless, "Monk" could always be counted on to open up a hole in the line for the backs. Just how well he could do that, can be vouched for by a certain Virginia Military Institute tackle. Younger has been chosen to Captain the nineteen-eighteen team.

"REID" WILLIAMS
Manager

This manager was always on the job. Some like to take it out on the manager when matters go wrong, but Reid gave the alibi-finders no chance to come back at him. If Reid could not arrange for everything, "Oswald" or "Rusey" came to the rescue, making the management all that could be desired. The team and Corps express appreciation for the untiring efforts of the manager and his assistants in making the season a big success.

"PAP" PEYTON

Halfback

"Pap's" toe won one of the greatest games of the season. But not only is this fellow a kicker of rare ability, but many times he displayed flashes of great offensive ability. Who will forget the splendid line smashing this Shenandoah Valley Academy star did in the Virginia Military Institute game, after the injury of our great fullback, Bob Godsey? On several occasions, Peyton was shifted to the end position, and there his tackling was of the stellar class.

EDDIE RODEN

Quarterback

The things of most value come in small packages; and 'tis certainly true of Eddie. In this man, Virginia Polytechnic Institute has found a jewel which she could not afford to lose. The little "runt" is a fine general, always ready to take advice, and a master at injecting the necessary "peg" in his team. With him in the game, the rosters always had the greatest confidence in the team. Eddie was a great open-field runner, and it will be remembered that he got away in the Virginia Military Institute game for the longest run of the contest.

"DOUG" RODEN

End

"Doug" is a good example of the value of "stick-to-it-iveness." For two years he worked hard for a place on the Varsity, and this year he reached his goal. The man that wins by constantly fighting is the true victor. On the defense, Roden was a black diamond—a sure tackler, and an unusually hard man to shake off. In receiving forward passes, he has few equals. Everyone will be glad to see "Doug" in action again next year.

"DOC." RANGELY
Guard

The "Doc." did right much gazing at the scenery, everyone will admit that, after his opera glasses were taken from him by the hard knocks of experience, he certainly got down to business. No man on the squad developed faster than he did. Willing at all times to learn, he sought the advice of the Coach on all points pertaining to the game. "Doc." never failed to make a "hit," for he was a very fast man, both on and off the field.

"BOB" GODSEY
Fullback

District has certainly sent her full quota of athletes to Virginia Polytechnic Institute; but they have been of such fine quality that another draft will be made. In "Bob" Godsey, Virginia Polytechnic Institute got a football player of great ability, and football enthusiasts should watch him develop into one of the best fullbacks in the South. Not only could he carry the ball himself, but he could mow down opponents for the other backs as well. On the defensive, "Bob" was shifted to the end position, and there he was found to be fast, alert, and a hard tackler.

"JACK" BENNER
Halfback

Fast as lightning, and quick to pick up an opening, was this whirlwind. The West Virginia game found him at his best, and time after time "Jack" circled the Rodgers Firm for long gains. A pity, indeed, that this "speed merchant" did not go out for the team his Freshman year; the experience would have made him one of the sterling backs of the South Atlantic division.

"BILL" LYBRONK
Quarterback

Here is the real type of V. P. I. grit. For four years, "Bill" has fought hard, and has made many sacrifices in his efforts to win the coveted V. P. He has had a large hand in the polishing of the Varsity crown each year, and by that spirit has made his letters. It can be truthfully said that he is one of the most deserving members of the program. As a broken-field runner, "Bill" was of great value to the team; and cutting down the opposing ends was his specialty. This lad is also a punter of no mean ability, and was always met in the thickest of the fray, with a sure, hard tackle that could never be resisted.

"MACK" McNEIL
Guard

"Mack" needs no introduction. If you wish to know the power of this man's arms and shoulders, ask any of the men who have played against him. With two years' experience at Richmond College, "Mack" came to Virginia Polytechnic Institute with his reputation already established. The just a bit slow to warm up, he certainly did "deliver the goods" when he got in trim. With a little more aggressiveness, this mountain of muscle and bone could sweep everything before him.

HENRY CRISP
Tackle

Henry Crisp is a picture of grit and determination. Tho' he has not one hand, that one has been trained to do the work of two. He has learned to hold out a little longer, to work a little harder, and never to give up until he is the top man. No man worked harder and put more "pep" in the game than did Henry. Like several other of V. P. I.'s star athletes, Crisp received his early training at Hampden-Sydney. He will be a line nucleus for the nineteen-eighteen team.

"VILLA" CURRIE

Center

Currie came over to Virginia Polytechnic Institute from the University of North Carolina. Having an old head in the game, he could size up the play as well as any player on the field, and was always in the right spot at the crucial moment. Currie was everything that could be desired of a center—an accurate passer, and ready at all times to open up a hole for the backs. He was also a good tackler, and had an uncanny way of intercepting forward passes. His witticisms will be missed next year, for Currie has enlisted in the Aviation Corps.

"ROMEO" LESTER

Guard

"Romeo" has served on the squad for three years, and we are glad to see him make his letters this season. No player has done his work more conscientiously and sincerely than this man. Whenever a play was called over this warrior, the backs could always count on an opening being ready for them. Few plays of the opposition could gain ground against him. We shall certainly count on Lester to star next season.

"GENE" DOOK

Halfback

"Gene" is a product of the ground school of Blacksburg, Yeary High School. The green and rather slow at first, this man changed over night, and after the Wake Forest game no one dared deny the prowess of this long-legged athlete. "Gene" could hit the line just like a "junk"; and certainly he will always be remembered by Virginia Military Institute, for on Thanksgiving Day the halfback did much to batter down the stubborn defense of our rivals. "Gene" has a great future before him, and should make Tech. a great athlete.

JUST A BIT ABOUT THE GAMES

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 11; HAMPDEN-SYDNEY, 0

When Virginia Polytechnic Institute started kicking this year, Hampden-Sydney was the first to receive the kick. With crisp, breezy October weather, and a bumper crowd of enthusiastic spectators, we met the Presbyterians in our first game of the season. We not only met them, but defeated them 11 to 0.

The game little Tigers measured up to all that has been said about them, and it was "big and tack" the entire distance, with honors about evenly divided. In the first quarter, the Techs got possession of the ball, and Galsbey, our feet fullback, carried it over for the first touchdown.

The second touchdown came near the end of the fourth quarter. "Monk" Younger managed to squirm thru a mass of players, and roused a distance of twenty-five yards for the final score.

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 20; EMORY AND HENRY, 6

Running roughshod, like a "tank" on the Flanders coast, the Tech. football machine smothered Emory and Henry, by the top-heavy score of 20 to 6. Almost the whole of the game was played in Emory and Henry's territory, and time after time the throng of spectators were brought to their feet by the lightning-like antics of the best Tech. backfield. The forwards seemed to be in line running shape, for they rapidly mowed down the opposing backs for heavy losses.

It required only two minutes for the Techs. to begin scoring, for Benner crossed the ball over the goal line very soon after the whistle had blown. The visitors' single touchdown came towards the end of the second quarter. Halfback French, standing on his own 45-yard strip, grabbed a snarly executed forward pass, and made the distance to the boundary with little interference.

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 13; DAVIDSON, 7

Virginia Tech. nicked her tenth pole for the third time of the season when she defeated Davidson, 13-7. The game was the greatest thriller seen on Miles Field for many a day, and the result was in doubt until the final whistle blew. This game goes down in Tech. history—not so much as a great victory, but as a shining example of the V. P. I. fighting spirit.

With a score of 7 to 6 against them, and only five short minutes to play, our boys refused to concede the game to the visitors, and by hard, aggressive playing turned what seemed to be inevitable defeat into a glorious victory. The scoring began in the third quarter, for Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and Davidson made her only touchdown late in the fourth period, by a long forward pass.

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 31; GEORGETOWN, 28

Fighting against great odds in point of weight and speed, the Virginia Tech. boys suffered the first defeat of the season at the hands of Georgetown University. The game was played in Washington, and was witnessed by over three thousand persons. It was a clean, hard-fought contest from start to finish.

Crip, Hardwick, and Younger did the stellar work for Virginia Polytechnic Institute, yet the team as a whole did their "darnedest" to bring back the scalp. Had it not been for the spectacular plays of Gilroy and McQuade, the Tech. boys could easily have held down the Georgetowners.

After the game, the Tech. squad was treated to a banquet by the Virginia Polytechnic Institute men attending the second Fort Myer Camp. The New Willard was the scene of the merrymaking.

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 35; WAKE FOREST, 0

Not even the prayers of the righteous prevented the Carolina Baptists from being crushed by the mighty score of 35 to 0. In this game the Techs. showed a complete reversal of form over the game with Georgetown, the week before. The slaughter began with the whistle, and continued consistently until the last two minutes of play.

To mention the stars of the game is merely to enumerate the entire Tech. eleven. All of them seemed to be in the best of spirits, and took it out on the poor churchmen.

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 31; UNIVERSITY OF WEST VIRGINIA, 29

Just like the debt controversy, West Virginia got the better of us again in the annual football clash. The game at Huntington was watched by over three thousand excited fans; and not a few of them were sisters for the Tech. slaves.

Both teams went on the field realizing the hard battle that lay before them. The Techs. fought desperately, but Rogers proved too much of a veteran for their short experience in the game. Near the end of the second quarter, Peyton fell back for a deep kick, and hit the groove from the 35-yard line. Every one of the Tech. men did his biggest bit to make the game safe for Virginia; but, alas!

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 7; NORTH CAROLINA A. and E., 7

The 40 to 0 score of last year was not duplicated this season, for the speed of the Tech. boys was matched by the great weight of the lads from Raleigh. Indeed, the two teams fought to a standstill; and both parties were contented to quit with a 7 to 7 tie.

Neither team deserved to win; nor did either merit defeat. Blacksburg made her touchdown in the first quarter, while North Carolina saved her scoring to the last. Gurley and McMurray, of A. and E., deserve special mention for the opponents; while Beck, E. Rosen, and Golsby were at their best for Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 70; ROANOKE COLLEGE, 0

Just because the weather man showed the visitors little mercy during the game, the Tech. boys gave the visitors the same kind of treatment. With the thermometer hovering around zero, the Cadets watched the home team administer punishment to the Roanoke College eleven with a seventy point stick.

In spite of the bad weather, fumbles were few. Twice during the game the Salem boys attempted to score on the Techs., but good tackling soon removed any such ideas as these. The game was marked by frequent passes on both sides.

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE, 6; VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE, 0

What the World's Series is to baseball, such is the annual classic when cadet meets cadet. This year Roanokers were treated to a real "neck-and-neck" gridiron battle, for the teams were more evenly matched than they have been in several years. Altho the game was played in a drizzling rain, and on a field of mud, nevertheless, it was fast and snappy throughout. The Techs. seemed to be a little too over-confident at first; yet they soon showed their old fighting ability and spirit. In the kicking, Beck and Leach were about evenly matched. In the last half of the game, the Tech. line became impenetrable, and at the same time several weak places were located in the Virginia Military Institute defensive, making it possible for our boys to keep things going their way.

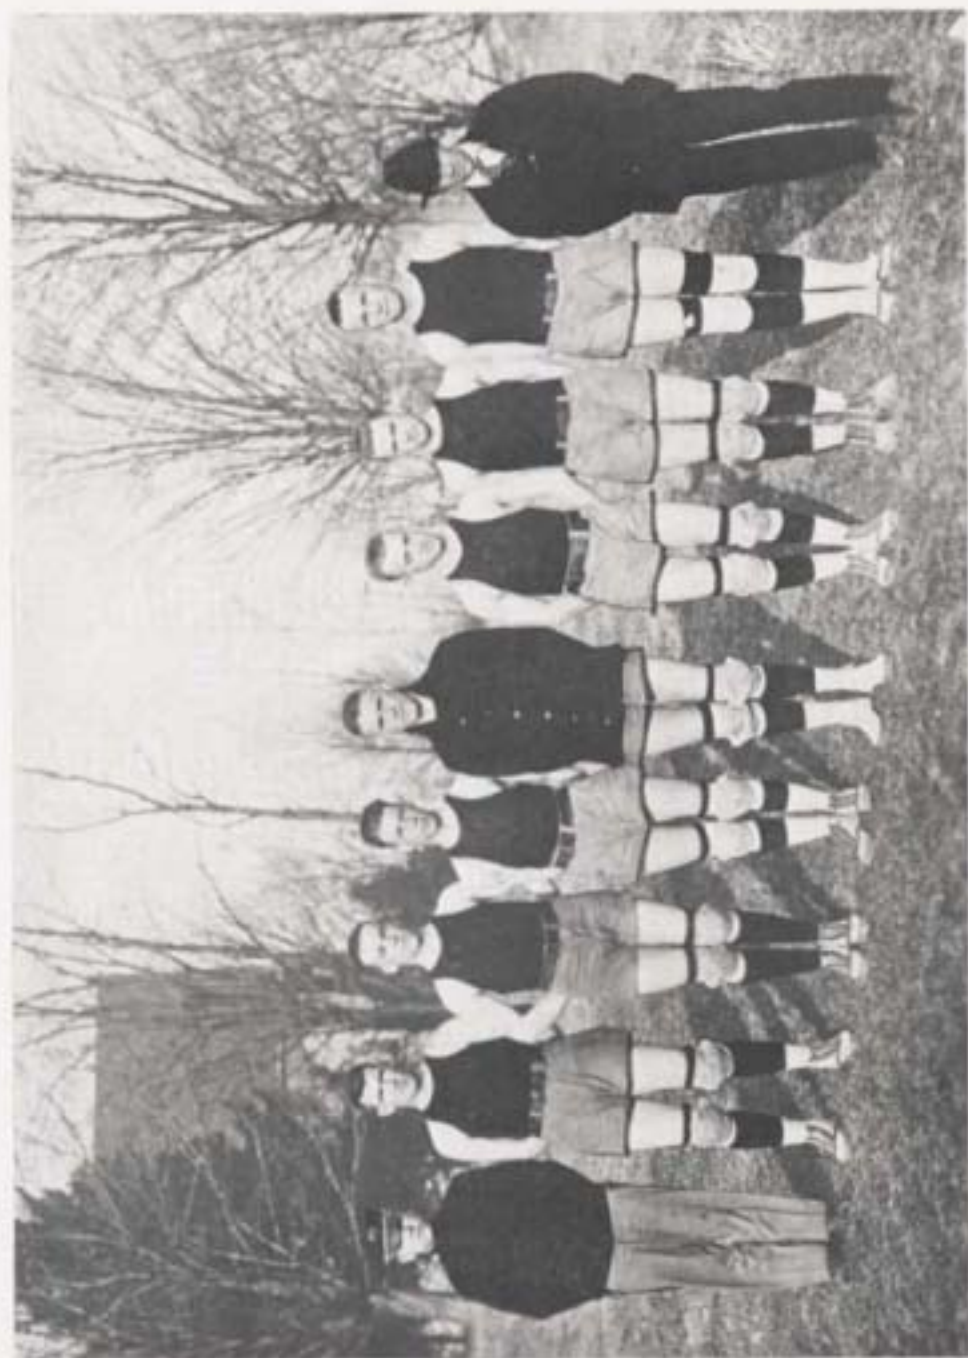

And thus the football season for Virginia's two military schools came to an end—just as it has always done—with the Techs. on the big end of the score. However, we must admit that the Cadets certainly gave us a closer race than we were looking for, and much closer than we would like to have again.

RECORD OF GAMES PLAYED

The thirteen basketball season turned out to be one of the most successful in the history of the College. When Coach Bernier issued a call for candidates, a large squad reported, and among these were three letter men of last year around which to build a team. These men were Captain Cooke, Bill Wharton, and "Jemie" Wren. Among the new material were Crisp, of football fame, Thornton, George Parrish, Phil Brooks, "Kid" Miller, and "Peg" Peyton.

Captain Cooke played with his usual dash throughout the season, and his loss next year will be greatly felt. Wharton played a consistent game at both center and forward, and proved to be the "high-point" man of the team. "Jemie" was out of condition most of the time, because of a severe cold, and his playing was far below his usual standard. Out of Crisp, Coach Bernier made one of the best stationary guards in the South; and out of Thornton he made Crisp's co-star. George Parrish was out of the game for several weeks because of scholastic difficulties, but this barrier was eventually removed, and George became one of the best centers that has ever represented Virginia Polytechnic Institute on the floor.

At the beginning of the season, Tech men had to look rather high to see anything but a long string of defeats for the team. However, the tide of fortune turned when George Parrish entered the arena at the second game with Elon College. From then on the Techs knew nothing but victory. Lynchburg, Washington and Lee, and Virginia Military Institute all fell before the wonderful machine which had gradually become assembled to redeem the defeats sustained in the early part of the season.

RESUME OF THE BASKET-BALL SEASON

The first time we saw "Bill" in action was when he played against us, with the Church Hill Athletic Club. Before then he played on the John Marshall High quarter; but that doesn't detract much from his good record. Wharton made the team his first year, and has always been our most dependable and consistent player. The not a spectacular player, the record will show that he was the "high-point" man of the team this year. We must certainly call attention to the fact that "Bill" is the cleanest and most gentlemanly athlete that Tech. has seen in a long time.

"But," Wharton, Forward

To the Bristol, Va., High School, Virginia Polytechnic Institute is indebted for many of its best athletes. Captain Cooke has been a star in basketball circles for four years. Ben made the squad the first year he entered College, and has been a Varsity man for the three succeeding seasons. At the beginning of the basketball season, Ben contracted the measles, just to be fashionable; but of course that kept him out of several games where he was badly needed. Ben is a very modest lad, and his weakest point on the floor is blushing.

W. E. DUNGAN, Manager

Included in Bristol's contingent to the basket-ball squad is Manager Dungan. The large number of good games that he arranged for the season is at least proof of his success in that phase of the management. In the early part of the season, Dungan also was stricken with the measles, and had to remain in the hospital while his team made the trip that was one hundred per cent. successful. "Dingan" worked hard for the team, and we were lucky to pick such a man as he for the managership.

GEORGE PARRISH, Center

George Parrish is the man who in a large measure is responsible for the long string of victories at the close of the season. Altho it was the middle of the season before he made his appearance on the floor, George put the skill and "pep" in the game which was necessary to turn the tide of defeats into victories. He is a wonderful passer, and is almost infallible in his shots. With George back next year, the Techs. can most assuredly count on a winning team.

HENRY CRISP, Guard

Henry is an all-around athlete, and his ability on the basket-ball floor is of no lower pitch than on the gridiron. Tho having but one hand, there has been no more persistent fighter on the Tech. floor than this man. When opponents took shots at the basket, they were made from the middle of the floor, for 'twas very few shots that Henry allowed to be made in his territory. Crisp came to Virginia Polytechnic Institute from Hampden-Sydney, and is possibly regarded as the best athlete in College.

"JENNIE" WRENN, Forward

Wrenn came to Virginia Polytechnic Institute from Lynchburg High, where he had played stellar ball. Last year he was Virginia Tech's "high-point" man, and one of the most dependable shots in the South. However, "Jennie" seemed to have poor luck this season, and could never regain his form of last year. He was an exceptionally hard player, and did a great deal of aggressive work on the floor. This man has two more seasons at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and will no doubt develop into a wonderful player.

PHIL BROOKS, Guard

"P. C." stood the team in good stead this year. At the beginning of the season, when several of the regulars were out of the game because of sickness, Phil went in and made a regular out of himself. He is an all-around athlete, and one of the most graceful men seen on the floor in some time. Brooks came to us from Augusta Military Academy, and was an athlete of some reputation before he reached Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He is a splendid basket-tosser, and a very clever floor man.

BOB THORNTON, Guard

Thornton comes to us this year from Roanoke High. It was not until the latter part of the season that Bob took his place as a regular on the team, but he had worked hard all the year, and Coach Bernier developed him into one of the fastest floor guards that Tech. has ever turned out. Thornton could be depended upon to waste no shots at the basket, and was always a hard worker. Virginia Polytechnic Institute should make an effort to keep Bob with her for his remaining three years.

A REVIEW OF NINETEEN-SEVENTEEN AND THE PROSPECTS FOR NINE- TEEN-EIGHTEEN

IN COMPLIANCE with President Wilson's appeal for the continuance of athletics in the colleges, Virginia Tech, has done, and is doing, her part to the fullest extent. The cadets here have entered into the realm of athletics with that grit and brawn which will later be developed into the fighting machine of the Nation.

Altho the nineteen-seventeen team was somewhat handicapped because of conditions of the weather and the call of the training camps, Virginia Tech, was able to slay her opponents, and bring back the scalps. The schedule was cut in half by the cancellation of the South Atlantic and the Virginia Military Institute meets, but the Tech sprinters threw cinders in the eyes of the contestants in the Tennessee and Virginia Intercollegiate meets.

The nineteen-eighteen track team has a very promising future before it. The squad is built around the few letter men that are with us from last year. Captain Peple, Carr, Parrish, Linkous, and Wharton are all good men, and should leave very little work for the new men to do. Aside from the mainstays of the team, we have an abundance of good material from which to draw. Pierce, O'Neil, Will, McClure, Frasier, Guerrant, Hitchins, Stone, Seelinger, and Gibbons promise to be hard pushers for the first p'aces in the meets. Manager Caffee has been untiring in his efforts to arrange a good schedule, and he has certainly succeeded in the undertaking. Our first war is waged with Virginia Military Institute. After we have defeated the Cadets, we then turn our attention to the University of North Carolina. The Virginia Intercollegiate and South Atlantic meets follow successively. In any event, we can count on our boys to set the pace.

RESUME OF THE NINETEEN-SEVENTEEN BASEBALL SEASON

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE entered upon her nineteen-seventeen baseball season with very good prospects for a winning team. A very fine schedule had been arranged, consisting of twenty regularly scheduled games, and several other pending dates. The men out for the team at the beginning of the year showed up well, and led us to believe that Virginia Tech. would be represented by her usual high-class nine. And this proved to be the case.

In spite of all our planning for the season, we were able to play but ten of the games scheduled. This curtailment was necessitated by the bad weather we experienced at the first of the season, and the unsettled conditions resulting from the declaration of war by our Government upon Germany. This caused quite a number of colleges to discontinue athletics, and hence to cancel their games with us.

Of the ten games played, only one was lost—and that to Randolph-Macon. In winning nine games, two were taken from Haverford College, one from West Virginia Wesleyans, three from Roanoke College, one from Eastern, and two from Hampden-Sydney. This record is indeed very good, and speaks well for the coaching of "Bill" Breitenstein, one of the most popular baseball coaches we have known since our coming to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. We were very sorry to learn that he could not be back with us this year to pilot the team.

The personnel of the team was as follows: For the receiving end of the game was Captain Gaines, seconded by Stumpf and Jennings; for hurlers we could depend upon Hudson and Thomas, who were ably assisted by Mathews, Willey, Thompson, and Redd; "Lefty" Dean took the first sack without dispute; "Mank" Younger covered second; and Lancaster backed him up at short; Whirmore and Marye both contended for the third corner of the diamond, but "Charlie" had the misfortune to sprain his ankle, and take a seat on the bench for the remainder of the season; the outfield was well covered by Logan in left, Belfinger in center, Harman in right, and "Jimmie" Old fighting to replace any one of them.

PROSPECTS FOR BASEBALL, NINETEEN-EIGHTEEN

ALTHO only four letter men have returned to Virginia Tech, this year, yet we have bright prospects for a successful season. These four men will form the nucleus of the Tech. team that will make itself felt in the history of college athletics.

The letter men back are Stumpf, who ably assisted Gains last year; Hudson, our first string pitcher of last year; Marye, who played third; and Old, captain of this year's team, who will dispute centerfield against all comers. With this bunch of old men, and the promising material, we are looking forward to a great ball club.

Whitmore, who tried for third last year, and sprained his ankle in the first game, is back in school, and promises to fight hard for third again. Last year's pitchers back again are Musgrave, Matthews, McCormick, and Wiley. They are all showing up in fine shape.

The infield promises to be airtight this year, with Wharton on first, Brooks on second, Marye at shortstop, Whitmore on third, and Stumpf behind the bat. At the time of the writing of this, there is some doubt as to who will fill the outfield positions; but besides Old, our captain, we have on the squad Chapman and Digges, two men who played some remarkably Company ball in the last two years; Newman, a letter man from Hampden-Sydney; and Bird and Northcross, two very promising new men. Rice, Peyton, and Farver are playing excellent ball for Freshmen, at first, second, and third respectively. Three catchers of no mean ability have made their appearance among us; they are all Freshmen, namely: Hagwell, Perdne, and Monroe. Additions have been made to the hurling artists in the persons of Digges, Harvey, and Franklin, the latter being a one-armed pitcher and outfielder.

With such a personnel, there is no reason why the nineteen-eighteen baseball club should not put it over all comers.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

J. W. STULL
President Association

WITHIN the last two years, the Alumni Association of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute has grown by leaps and bounds. Prior to that time, the Association had been small and ineffective; but now it has been molded into a strong society. The college authorities have realized how much a well-organized alumni association can do for a school, and it is then this agency that we shall expect to see a large bit of V. P. I. development in the future. Altho there are still some graduates of the Institute who have not identified themselves with the Association, it will only be a short while until all Tech. Alumni will list their names on the records of the Association as active members.

The service which the Alumni Association is able to render the College has been well demonstrated recently. Altho the V. P. I. bond issue was defeated in the State Legislature by a small margin, the great pressure that was brought to bear on the legislators was due in a large measure to the alumni organization. The Tech. graduates pushed the matter to the utmost, and it was not the lack of effort on their part that caused the bill to be defeated.

The work done by the Association since the declaration of war by the United States has been invaluable, both to the Alumni and to the College. The Executive Secretary, Mr. H. H. Hill, has spared no pains to keep track of all the graduates and undergraduates who have enlisted in the various branches of the service. The Association has also compiled a complete record of all these men, and has tabulated information concerning their rank, and branch of the service. This data is not only useful at this time, but will become even more valuable as the years pass. If there are any of the graduates who can supply additional information along these lines, the Alumni Association will be very glad to make its record more complete.

THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

BEING COMPOSED OF MEN OF INTERNATIONAL FAME

Included in the local chapter are:

- HYATT B. ATWOOD (New York)—Widely known in scientific circles as being distantly connected with the great inventor of the Atwood Frictionless Machine.
- KENNETH D. H. BALDWIN (Illinois)—The great sleuth whose name is now borne by a noted detective agency.
- WILLIAM E. GOOD (West Virginia)—The much-talked-about speculator and coal operator of West Virginia.
- CHARLES T. HICKS (Texas)—The terror of the border country and one of Texas' foremost growers.
- CHARLES W. MILLER (Georgia)—Capitalist, and former operator of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, and the International Harvester Company.
- BERNARD G. SAMPSON (Kentucky)—Like his famous kinsman, this gentleman was able to put the strength in the "Cream of Kentucky."
- RALPH C. WHITSETT (Chicago)—The great society dictator of the Chicago Loop.
- GUY WILLIAMS (New Zealand)—A noted engineer who came into prominence by his construction work at Camp Lee.

WAR DEPARTMENT, Washington, D. C.

J. D. Eggleston,
V. P. I., Blacksburg, Va.

Dear Sir: - Just recently there has been found in one of the bar-rooms of this city, a gilded cap-seal bearing the letters V. P. I. on the top. This was turned over to the War Department for identification. The seal also bears several symbols which go to show that the owner was a graduate in chemistry, civil-engineering and agriculture. Should any of your students be able to identify the piece, they may get it by making application to this office.

Intelligence Bureau.

Perhaps, Not Generally Understood.

To Col. W. P. Stone, Commandant:
Sir: - My attention has been called to the fact that students are making it a practice to allow steam to escape from the refrigerators in their rooms. I should advise that you bring this matter to the attention of the Corps. It should be borne in mind that the refrigerators are placed in barracks to act as condensers for the engines in the power-house, and to allow the cold air to escape greatly interferes with the service.

(Signed), J. D. Eggleston, Pres.

Cadet Sidney H. S., having been found to have influential relatives in the legislature, is reinstated to the corps. His name will be restored to the rolls.

By order of the President.

THE THANKSGIVING TRIP

THE spirit of "On to Roanoke" was more strongly manifest this year than ever before, for the much-talked-about trips to Washington and Norfolk were both stricken from our schedule. But, nevertheless, we were able to concentrate all our preparations on the single event, and went down to Roanoke with the determination to win every honor that the occasion afforded.

For the success of the day we are in no ways indebted to the weather man, for a more disagreeable day could not have been picked for a Thanksgiving. To march thru the streets in a cold rain is certainly not an incentive for one to do his best; yet every man did all in his power to uphold the good reputation which Virginia Polytechnic Institute has made for herself.

After detraining, we marched up Jefferson Street, and thence several blocks out of our usual line of march, in order to parade before the several thousand school teachers who were then meeting in Roanoke. At the Ponce de Leon Hotel we disbanded, and after several "Hokies" for the team, etc., the boys scattered all over the town—either to find a suitable mess hall, a good-looking jane, or else to indulge in a sociable glass of Bevo.

For the afternoon event, Virginia Polytechnic Institute was the first to enter the Fair Grounds. There the battalion passed in review before Governor Stuart, and afterwards formed the letters V. T., while the Band played "Play Ball." This brought great applause from the grandstand, as well as a ringing "Hokie" from the many alumni present.

We will have to admit that the game was very much of a surprise to us. Altho we fully realize the Virginia Military Institute fighting spirit, yet few of the Tech. men expected to see the teams so evenly matched. The Virginia Military Institute team deserves much credit for their plucky fight in holding our team to a 6-0 score.

It was the Band's turn to carry off the last honor of the day. When the curtain rose for the final act at the Roanoke Theater, there stood the Tech. Band, ready to show the Roanokers just how really good music is produced. While several of the boys had never appeared in a vaudeville act before, the music seemed none the worse for stage fright.

The Thanksgiving trip seemed more like a big family reunion than anything else. The town was literally filled with V. P. I. alumni, and we were more than glad to see every one of them. Especially were we proud to see that so many of the Tech. men were wearing the Army officer's uniform.

UNCLE BILL, THAT'S ALL

(BUT IT ISN'T ALL)

NO doubt the great majority of students who attend Virginia Polytechnic Institute know that there is an old man owned by the V. P. I. boys; his name is Uncle Bill; and that's all. But that isn't all there is to know, for the story of Uncle Bill's life presents incidents of quite a varied career.

Will Grove Gitt (Uncle Bill, for short) was born at Mattanoras, Va.—just three miles from Blacksburg. However, the family very soon moved to Newport, Va., where Mr. Gitt, Sr., kept one of three saloons of which the small village boasted. At seventeen, Uncle Bill entered Virginia Polytechnic Institute (then V. A. M. C.); so is really one of our alumni. He, like some others, managed to stay in College a whole year without passing any subjects.

In 1778, Uncle Bill decided to hit the trail for parts of this world not then known to him. At New Haven, Conn., he clerked in a 99-cent store for nearly a year before the manager found it necessary to discharge him. It was then that Mr. Gitt found the job for which he was best suited. Mr. Barnum needed a clown to ride a trick mule, and Uncle Bill was just the man to take the job. After one season with Barnum & Bailey, the wanderer devoted his talents to rail-roading. He was successively brakeman, fireman, and conductor on the Chesapeake and Ohio, serving three years in all. But Uncle Bill found that train riding was not half so good as riding a trick mule; so went back to Barnum's circus at the same old stunt.

For several seasons Bill was a prominent figure in circus society. When Barnum carried his menagerie to London for a six weeks' stay, Uncle Bill was included in the number. Upon returning to America, he dropped his profession, to clerk in a Chicago hardware store. A few months later Mr. Gitt found it necessary to retire from business, for he had formed a very intimate acquaintance with the Chicago bar association, and his employer objected. He then took passage on a freight car for Hinton, W. Va., and was soon back on the railroad as brakeman. Four years later, Uncle Bill had a sunstroke, and was placed in a home for incurables in Huntington. It is rather to be suspected that what the old man needed was the Keeley Cure, rather than treatment for the sunstroke. Not being satisfied with the society in the sanitarium, he ran away, and resumed his legal profession, as tender of the bar, in Huntington. That was his work for four years; and we have reason to believe that he rose to be one of the foremost exponents of the trade.

After an absence of thirty years, Uncle Bill returned to his alma mater. For several years he kept a small fruit stand and curio shop in Blacksburg. It was in 1911 that the prodigal surrendered himself to the Virginia Polytechnic Institute boys, and moved in barracks to take up his work there. Every one that knows Virginia Tech. is sure to know Uncle William, for he is truly a part of the College. At any rate, the boys are very fond of the old man; and if any one would like to hear some real interesting experiences, just have a chat with Uncle Bill—That's All.

Yip, yip, yi-i-i,
V. P. I., V. P. I.
Team, team, team.

TUNE: JOAN OF ARC

V. P. I., V. P. I.,
See the light in the eye of the line,
You can hear the Tech. men calling loud
To win the hearts of all the crowd,
V. P. I., V. P. I.,
Hit the line, run the ends just as fine,
And when you hear that the bunch is true,
V. P. I., they are calling you.

TUNE: OH, BOY; OH JOY!

Oh, boy; Oh, joy!
Where do we go from here?
We're going to beat old V. M. I.
And make 'em shed a tear,
And when we see their line men plunge,
We'll hit them in the rear.
Oh, boy; Oh, joy!
Where do we go from here?

V. P. I. is going to win to-day—
V. M. I. is going to yield
Just as soon as she sees our play.
There's "Sol" and "Henry" in the line,
So nothing can go by—
Just give three big cheers for old V. P. I.

Groan, V. M. I., Oh, V. M. I.!

TUNE: YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW

You're up against it now,
You're going to get into a row,
You're going to get beat,
So take your seat.
You're up against it now,
Your team, it may be fine,
But when we hit your line,
You're going to get beat,
So take your seat,
You're up against it now.

TUNE: MY BONNIE LIES OVER THE OCEAN

Last night as I lay on my pillow,
Last night as I lay on my bed;
Last night as I lay on my pillow,
I dreamed that old [Roanoke] was dead.

CHORUS

I dreamed, I dreamed,
I dreamed that old [Roanoke] was dead,
was dead,
I dreamed, I dreamed, I dreamed that old
[Roanoke] was dead.

TUNE: HE RAMBLED

He rambled, he rambled,
He rambled up, he rambled down,
He rambled over the football ground.
He rambled, he ramb'ed,
He rambled till old V. P. cut him down.

TUNE: GRAND OLD FLAG

You're a grand old team, and in football
a dream,
You're the best ever punted a ball;
Making scores you're great, kicking goal's
your fate,
Winning games to you's nothing at all,
You're the best beyond a doubt, and for
you we will shout,
We will win, or don't I know why,
Should auld acquaintance be forgot—
Keep your eyes on old V. P. I.!

TUNE: I WAS NEVER INTRODUCED TO YOU

We're going to win this game, and 'taint
no lie;
'Taint no use for you to moan and sigh,
Our ends and our backs,
They'll down you in your tracks;
Oh! we're going to win this game, and
'taint no lie.

TUNE: BECAUSE I'M MARRIED NOW

Well, your team may be strong,
But ours is stronger;
If you play with us, you'll have a team
no longer—
Oh you would if you could, but you can't.
Why?
Because it's V. P. I.

TUNE: FRIENDSHIP MARCH

Play ball, play ball,
Play today, fight away,
We are all with you,
Cheering to win today,
And we'll win or die,
'Tis no lie,
Watch us try,
There is no team like old V. P. I.

Our team's in line,
Running fine all the time,
We are born players,
Eat, drink, and sleep football,
And we'll win or bust,
Bite the dust?
Sure you must!
Give three big cheers for old V. P. I.

TUNE: OH, JOHNNIE: OH

Oh Blacksburg, Oh Blacksburg,
Look at your team:
Oh Techmen, Oh Techmen,
It seems as a dream
To see our team plow thru the line.
It makes you yell the Hokie fine,
And work the harder,
For it's Oh Blacksburg, Oh Blacksburg,
Please tell the crowd
That you're the best bunch in the land.
You can play good football
And run off with them all,
For it's Oh Blacksburg, Oh Blacksburg,
Oh.

DID YOU KNOW—

THAT a Tech. man built the lock gates at Panama?

That a Tech. man has complete charge of the upkeep of the canal?

That General Goethals regards this man as one of foremost engineers of the country?

That the "Country Gentleman" sent a Tech. man to the war zone to write special articles for that magazine?

THE RESULTS OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION TEN YEARS HENCE

HALT!

HERE'S where I "Fall Out," and "THE NINETEEN-NINETEEN BUGLE" Staff takes up the march. On the opposite page is the story of the optimist; but mine is that of the pessimist. The beam of hope and determination which guided me last spring has gradually faded into darkness and discouragement. A year ago I felt indebted to the man that nominated me for this job; now I would like to put him in the front line trenches. No man ever published more than one College Annual; and it is by getting a new man every year that these books are made possible. Last year the Editor of "THE NINETEEN-SEVENTEEN BUGLE" said that he would not congratulate me, but would sympathize with me, when he heard that I had been elected to pilot the 'Eighteen Annual. This was a pretty good way to put it; and I pass the same words down to the 'Nineteen Editor.

At Virginia Polytechnic Institute, "THE BUGLE" editor seems to be more of a public servant than anything else. If "THE BUGLE" show isn't of the burlesque variety, the boys threaten to mob him; if the show pleases the boys, the faculty make resolves against him. When a couple dances improperly at a "BUGLE" hop, the chaperons hold the editor responsible for their morals. But, worst of all, when a photograph does not picture the subject to be better-looking than he really is, the editor gets the blame for that, too. I suppose "BUGLE" makers should be willing to pose for boys who are not satisfied with their own countenance.

It has been my purpose to get out the very best book that the available funds would allow. I have certainly used all the available funds; but whether or not the publication is up to the standard I leave to the decision of the readers. If this book isn't the best college Annual in the South, it isn't because I haven't tried to make it so; but because the Class of 'Eighteen chose the wrong man to compile it. At this time, "THE BUGLE" is in the hands of the third Business Manager, and it is very likely that a fourth will take charge before the year is over. But this is only one of the many difficulties that have attempted to mar our success. Since I was employed by the Class of Nineteen-Eighteen to do this work, I feel that all accounts should be renderab'e to it. I sincerely hope that the Class will pass upon the work favorably, and that none of the members will believe their confidence misplaced.

—THE EDITOR

FORWARD; MARCH!

ON the opposite page is the end of a splendid undertaking. Our hats are off to "THE BUGLE" of Nineteen-Eighteen; in it we see one of the best Annuals ever turned out at Virginia Tech.

In these stirring times, there is a tremendous driving spirit—the spirit of "Forward; March!" We see its effect in military operations, in business, and in the hearts of all true Americans. We, "THE BUGLE" Board of Nineteen-Nineteen, in our own humble way are imbued with this spirit. We know, along with the reader, that the Class of Nineteen-Eighteen has set a mark at which many future "BUGLE" Staffs will strive. But we are going in with a determination to make "THE BUGLE" of Nineteen-Nineteen a worthy successor to, if not more than an equal of "THE BUGLE" of Nineteen-Eighteen. And to do this we shall have to do our utmost.

Therefore, we ask the support and co-operation of the Corps, the Faculty, the Alumni, and our friends in general. Because of an increase in the cost of engraving and printing, the general rise in all expenses, and the lack of material, our financial affairs will be hard to keep above the water level. But we feel confident of your support, and will ask you to forgive our mistakes, and credit our attempts. Our sole aim is to give Virginia Tech. an Annual which will be truly representative of such a great institution. Below we offer the names of the men who will help us make "THE NINETEEN-NINETEEN BUGLE" a success.

of a good craftsman

The development of accuracy in a student is a vital issue with every vocational director.

Never compare an American industrial tool with a cheap product gotten up to sell the schools—American machines are made to meet the highest demands of industrial life where they are used. No better machines can be had for your schoolroom.

IN FLANDERS' FIELDS

(By LIEUT.-COL. JOHN McCRAE, Canada)

In Flanders' Fields the poppies grow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our places; while in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly
Unheard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead! Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset's glow,
Loved, and were loved; and now we lie
In Flanders' Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch—be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, tho' poppies blow
In Flanders' Fields.

Bureau.. Supremacy Commands Attention!

LOOK back over the past years and ask yourself what other Engraving Institution, specializing in college annuals, has wielded so wide an Influence over the College Annual Field?

Ask yourself if College and University Annuals are not better today because of BUREAU PROGRESSIVENESS and BUREAU INITIATIVE?

You know that the BUREAU OF ENGRAVING, Inc. inaugurated the system of Closer Co-operation with college annual boards in planning and constructing books from cover to cover.

Our marked progress in this field commands attention. Our establishment is one of the largest of its kind in this country. Our Modern Art Department of noted Commercial Art Experts is developing Artistic Features that are making "Bureau" Annuals Famous for Originality and Beauty.

And again, the help of our experienced College Annual Department is of invaluable aid. Our up-to-the-minute system, which we give you, and our Instructive Books will surely lighten your Burden.

A proposition from the Natural Leaders in the College Annual Engraving field from an organization of over 150 people, founded over 17 years ago, and enjoying the Confidence and Good Will of the foremost Universities of this country, is certainly worth your while.

Is not the BUREAU OF ENGRAVING, Inc., Deserving of the Opportunity of showing what it can do for - YOU?
