Volunteer Fire Fighting Force Needed in All Cities Threatened by Brush Fires

ON NOVEMBER 6th, in an article appearing in this column, we asked the question, "Will Glendale profit through the experience gained in the late hill fire?" This article was written a short time after the fire in the San Rafael hills and referred to that fire.

It is over a month since we asked this question and nothing practical has been done up to now. Another hill fire started yesterday, which looked, for a time, as if it would prove as bad as the last one.

MUCH publicity has and is being given to fire protection, which undoubtedly is doing much good and prevents a week is set aside to the giving of publicity to fire prevention. This year it was held from October 6th to 13th. Even with this fresh in our minds the San Rafael hill fire, which took a toll of two lives, occurred on October 13th, the last day of fire prevention week.

THIS demonstrated very clearly that no matter how much prevention education is disseminated forest fires will start and to keep it from the direction of the Sunset Canyon country club. Those living in the canyon were all prepared to fight in case the fire should reach the country club grounds. The women of Burbank prepared sandwiches and great cans of coffee, which were served to the men fighting. Fortunately no one was seriously injured and the report that many men were trapped was not entirely unfounded, as a band of men and sixteen Burbank High school boys were surrounded by the fire. Officer Owens, in his car, drove into the fire and all piled into his car and drove out to safety. The boys went up into Stough canyon shortly before dark to watch the blaze. They suddenly were hemmed in by the crushing flames and driven back as they sought an avenue of escape. Fire fighters under Assistant Chief County Fire Marshal Spence Turner reported that when they last saw the boys they were surrounded by the raging fire, with no chance of rescue.

Several hours later the boys were seen outlined on the top of the ridge between Stough and Sunset canyons, and shortly afterward Officer Owen reached them. Except for minor burns, the boys were unharmed.

With the high wind as an added hazard, the fire that started near

It HAS been demonstrated many times that a few men, organized into a force with a clear understanding of their duties, are worth more than hundreds of men willing but helpless on account of lack of knowledge and leadership.

WE HAVE been told that last night's fire could have been easily controlled if a few experienced men had been on the ground where it started, but as such men were not there the fire gained considerable headway and the change in the wind was the only thing that eventually saved the situation.

A VOLUNTEER organization could be coached in their duties by the fire department and much information of value could be obtained through the fire underwriters' association, which would probably assist in many ways, as a move such as this would prove a big saving to it and in consequence its hearty co-operation could be counted on.

LET'S get busy and organize without waiting for a fire to start, which will prove destructive to this entire territory. Here is something one can't play with, so let's not think we can so

EACH BLAMES OTHER IN AUTO-COLLISION

An automobile collision occurred about 10:45 last night at the intersection of Brand boulevard and Broadway, Glendale. Glenn A. Reeder of 288 Arden avenue, who was going south on Brand boulevard, remarked: "I was over half way across the street and the other car tried to beat me across."

VERDUGO HILLS AFLAME LAST NIGHT

Sunset Canyon Country Club Has Narrow Escape

The Verdugo hills in the Burbank section was a mass of flames last night and many fled for their lives, abandoning their homes. The fire alarm was turned in yesterday afternoon about 2:30 by W. Lee Ray, a resident on Orange Grove avenue, and he was the first one on the scene of the fire which had started in Stough canyon. He claims that he saw no one in the neighborhood of the fire and did not know how it started. The entire fire department and police department turned out and every available man and many motorists were enlisted to fight the fire. The Boy Scouts and the school boys volunteered and did some mighty fine work. The flames, fanned on by a fierce gale, swept over the entire hills so rapidly that the men were compelled to work all night to check it and to keep it from the direction of the Sunset Canyon country club. Those living in the canyon were all prepared to fight in case the fire should reach the country club grounds. The women of Burbank prepared sandwiches and great cans of coffee, which were served to the men fighting. Fortunately no one was seriously injured and the report that many men were trapped was not entirely unfounded, as a band of men and sixteen Burbank High school boys were surrounded by the fire. CAPTAIN HOBSON IS MISSING IN THE VERDUGO HILLS

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Captain Richmond P. Hobson, hero of the Spanish American war and crusader for prohibition, and his brother, Major J. M. Hobson, are missing in the mountains back of Tujunga canyon. The brothers entered the hills last night in search of Captain Hobson's son and a neighbor's boy, who at that time had failed to return from a hike. The boys came home safely later. Mrs. Hobson told the Associated Press today that while she had every hope that her husband would come out of his predicament safely, she was nevertheless anxious over his whereabouts owing to the fact that the territory into which he had gone was on the verge of the area swept by a brush fire last night and had suffered considerably during the high winds of the past few days.

Owing to the fact that telephone lines into that region had been prostrated by the high winds, it was impossible today to learn if the missing men had been seen since starting on their search.

Let's all get in and help, by donating old clothes, toys, candy, fruit, games, furniture, money, and anything else. They must be in by Wednesday.

MINERS TAUGHT RESCUE WORK BY BUREAU OF MINES

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Courses in mine-rescue and first aid methods are being conducted by the Bureau of Mines in 35 states and Alaska, Director H. Foster Bain said today in his annual report. More than 100,000 miners have completed the courses in instruction since 1910.

"Although the bureau can say positively that widespread explosions of coal dust no longer should occur," Director Bain declared, "the fact remains they do continue, accounting for 311, or nearly 16 per cent of the total deaths in the mining industry in 1922."

Two effective methods for preventing the spreading through a coal mine of a minor initial explosion have been demonstrated by the bureau. The first is to wet the dust so thoroughly that no dry dust remains in the mine. The second is to dilute the coal dust with shale dust, limestone dust, or other non-inflammable dust so that flame will not pass from point to point.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Violet Marie Clark, 13, who disappeared after carefully putting her dolls to bed last Friday night, returned home last night with the explanation that she had planned to elope with a chauffeur, William Wade, father of two children, but that they had become frightened at newspaper articles telling of her departure, and separated at Stockton yesterday. POSTAL EMPLOYEES TO HAVE SOME XMAS

Over 350,000 postal employees throughout the United States are rejoicing because of an edict ordering all work to be suspended at noon Christmas.

"Formerly the men worked all day, if necessary," declared Assistant Postmaster George Hallett. "The new rule is another reason for mailing holiday packages out early. If they have not been delivered by noon Christmas they will not be delivered until the next day."

In order to insure delivery the following mailing schedule should be adhered to: California, not later than December 21; west of Rockies, not later than December 18; Mississippi valley, not later than December 16; points east of the Mississippi valley, not later than December 14.

Owing to the haste with which packages are handled during the holiday rush they should be unusually well wrapped.

A suggestion made this morning by Mr. Hallett that letters mailed together should have the envelopes and stamps faced the same way and the package fastened together with rubber bands or string. He stated that this would eliminate one handling and that bundles of letters so received would be sent immediately to the cancelling machine.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—PETROLEUM HEADQUARTERS A very considerable share of the Southland's invested wealth, of her economic and industrial enterprise and employment — rises from the fact that the greatest oil fields in the world are here in Southern California. Yet, as most people in the Southland know, not every oil promoter's "opportunity" is to be jumped at; not every oil derrick you see means a gusher or even a producing well; nor is "bargain" gasoline apt to be any more of a bargain than you pay for!

MY NEIGHBOR SAYS Never throw water on blazing oil for it will only spread the flames. Earth, flour or sand will extinguish the fire, but if these are not at hand, a thick rug or curtain should be thrown on the burning oil.

Sunday night the big wind blew down the forty-foot pole which Sol Gans of the corner soda fountain at Central and Colorado uses to hitch his aerial up to. The gale seemed to increase all of a sudden, and with a terrific bang the pole fell its entire length across the San Seelig store, breaking some glass in the rear and causing a jumbled up mess of wires and splintered wood.

All of the organizations have combined to make a big community Christmas. The Occidental-York Valley Improvement association voted recently to go in with the rest of the organizations, and to attend the big community meeting which is to be held tomorrow evening in the Arroyo Seco club house at eight o'clock.

The wind storm in this district, which uprooted many homes and garages, was also the cause of closing the schools yesterday on account of the small attendance. The gas connection has been made with the school buildings so the rooms are all comfortably warm now.

One of the chief aims of the La Crescenta Improvement association for the past year has been the support of the local fire truck and equipment with C. Jennings Young as fire warden. An appeal sent out from the association for small donations from residents of the valley was met by a response from about 15 residents of La Crescenta and Montrose.

Accompanists for the musical review will be Miss Mary Sherrick and Miss Lucile Beach. The glee clubs have the following members: Girls' Glee club—Lucile Allen, Winifred Allardice, Lucile Beach, Ruth Berger, Angelina Carrothers, Alice Carpenter, Charlotte Cleveland, Lillian Danforth, Norma Dietrich, Shirley Fawkes, Katherine Guthrie, Lucile Harris, Marie Hearnshaw, Marlon Hill, Grace Jennings, Frances Johnston, Margaret Jones, Erma Lucas, Frederica Marshall, Alice Mercer, Annie Moss, Dorothy McDowell, Doris Osmun, Winifred Parker, Gladys Peckham, Alice Pratt, Cleo Redd, Romona Ryan, Evelyn Sample, Mildred Sooy, Beatrice Sutton, Evelyn Thomas, Gwenllilian Warner, Catherine White, Ruth Whittaker, Lucile Whittson and Dorothy Young.

The Palais Majestic ballroom will celebrate its first anniversary tomorrow evening with a golden apple party, in which $50 in gold is to be given away to those lucky enough to get the golden apples. Many special attractions are to be featured and everyone is looking forward to the occasion and to an evening of enjoyment.

The jewelry store owned by Chris Johnson, located on San Fernando boulevard and Magnolia avenue, was broken into Saturday night and ransacked, but the marauders got away with only ten watches. They broke the front door and left no other clues but fingerprints, which Kenneth Corvill of the police department is working upon.

Even yet, at 3 p. m., smoke is still to be seen in several places and the embers are being carefully watched lest they burst out again into flame.

The police theory is that "Stewart was the first victim of a series of planned killings in an organized warfare by Buffalo and Niagara frontier illicit liquor operators against the dry enforcement forces."

These prohibition enforcement agents have to brave death because they are obliged to wage warfare against murderers and men who think no more of a human life than they do of a dog's. Stewart died as much of a hero as any of the men who fell in battle, because it takes a good deal more courage to do the lonely work of law enforcement when you have been threatened with death than it does to go forward amid the cheers and excitement of battle.

Dr. Robert Millakin, receiver of the Nobel prize and head of the Physics department of the California Institute of Technology, will lecture Thursday at Occidental. The Men's Brotherhood of the Presbyterian church is staging the affair and wishes that all who are interested will get tickets at the church by Wednesday noon.

The regular meeting of the Burbank Grove of Druids, which was to be held last night, was postponed on account of the members joining the fire fighters in the Verdugo hills. The meeting will be held on next Monday evening at the Odd Fellows' hall.

Knox College Gets Early Diderot Books

GALESBURG, Ill., Dec. 11.—A "King Tut" among modern books has been obtained by Knox College through the acquisition from France of the original impression of Diderot's 180-year-old encyclopedia. The 25 massive volumes, which are the gift of Frank M. Lay, Kewanee, Ill., were packed away generations ago, possibly to avoid destruction during the French revolution, and except for a slight discoloration of the heavy bindings are virtually in the same condition as when they occupied the shelves of some noble or scholar of the time of Louis XV. The work was started in 1751. Diderot determined to make the book an embodiment of his own then radical ideas, as well as a survey of general knowledge, and won the opposition of the government. The work was stopped in 1757 and resumed when Madame De Pompadour asked the king that she might have it to find out how her rouge and silk stockings were made.
One day Hazel's mother sent her to find a switch with which to chastise her little brother, who had been teasing her. After a time she returned with a dozen or more pebbles in her apron.
"I couldn't find any switch, mamma," she explained, "but you can throw these rocks at him."

Truths in Epigram

RANK INJUSTICE

A colored citizen of California was charged with having committed murder in Birmingham, Ala. Some visitor from that place professed to have recognized him. The accused was engaged in business for himself in Los Angeles. On the word of the visitor he was arrested and taken back to Birmingham for trial. He established there the fact of his innocence. Indeed, he made it clear to the court that never in his life before had he been in Birmingham. He was honorably acquitted. However satisfactory this may have been to him, it left him penniless in a strange and distant city, his resources at an end, for in his absence his little business had vanished.

In such a case as this, justice would seem to require that redress be available. When a man has undergone the disgrace of arrest and public arraignment for a crime with which he could not have been in any way connected, he has been grossly injured. The state that demanded his arrest is morally responsible, and is under every obligation of honor to make such amends as possible. At least it should pay his way back to the point from which, without proper warrant in fact or law, it had snatched him. He should not be asked to bear punishment because of his resemblance to somebody else.

REGULATING CHILD LABOR

The failure of congress to regulate child labor must be regarded as cause for the proposal of a constitutional amendment covering the subject. The failure in question was not the fault of congress. That body had sought to approach the matter by the only avenue open, and found progress blocked by the Supreme Court. It is probable that most of the hostile attitude towards this tribunal, and open or covert attacks upon it, could be traced to the decision cited. The popular feeling was unanimous, save for those who profit directly by child labor, that the sacrifice of the little ones to the greed of manufacturers was wicked, and should be made to cease. That there was not, and could not be statutory restriction, was a discovery of the most startling character. The pronouncement from the bench was received with such ill favor, as to bring into question the good faith of the court itself, which was a most unfortunate circumstance. The belief was expressed with considerable freedom that in order to thwart the intent of the public, as expressed in the law declared unconstitutional, the court had made a rigid interpretation in favor of the group of interests opposing interference with child labor. Attention was called to the fact that there had been a dissenting opinion by a large minority of the justices.

There is no argument to be made in favor of child labor of the sort the voided legislation had been designed to correct. Such employment is an iniquity for which no defense may be advanced. If the only way to abate the outrage is by constitutional amendment, there is no doubt that the amendment would be endorsed overwhelmingly.

THE SOURCE OF CRIME

Mark Keppel, superintendent of schools in Los Angeles county, has replied to the frequent charge that the schools are the sources of crime. He defended, very ably, the present system of education, and in doing so placed responsibility for social shortcomings, where he considered it to belong. Mr. Keppel called attention to the disrespect for law among the parents of the pupils. This was especially in relation to prohibition and to statutory regulation of speed on the highway. He also deplored the protest made over the closing of dances at the hour the law had set for such affairs to close. "The real business of the schools," said the speaker, "is not to teach reading, writing and arithmetic, but to teach boys and girls how to live. Education is not a failure in our land contrary to the opinions of the cynical and the misinformed. All the money spent on education is well spent if boys and girls are taught to become better physically, socially and intellectually. Let young men and women be taught first to govern themselves—and there will be no need for a whip in the hands of the teacher, and society will not need to spend so much money in building prisons."

PACIFISM AS A MANIA

There is an organization at work in this country in the name of pacifism. Its intent, heralded as benign, is as sinister as that of the most virulent red. Indeed, its inspiration is anarchy, and if not acting under orders from Moscow, it is in full accord with the communism entrenched there. Its direction is in the hands of aliens. The citizens who have joined it are of the veriest dupes. They think they are working for a good cause, while they are working for one inexpressibly bad. They are with it patriotism, and that which they think to be love or humanity, takes the form of seeking to undermine the whole structure of society. Members of this band pledge themselves not to assist in any future war, domestic or foreign; not even in a war to resist invasion. Thus they take the attitude taken a few years ago by a class who by taking it proved themselves traitors or cowards. It is not by such material that nations are made, or sustained. Pacifists of this brand are enemies to society, to law and order. The only danger that they might work serious evil is in great measure offset by the boldness of their promotion of disloyalty. Secrecy might be a potent weapon, but these mental weaklings, blabbing of their purpose, make inevitable their own defeat.

One of the propositions advanced is that the army and navy be abolished. That is to say, the richest people of the world, made powerful by natural resources and extent, by applied industry, by its military and naval strength, as well as by the unity and devotion of citizenship, is asked to strip itself of all means of defense and invite a hostile and greedy and impoverished environment to prey on its helplessness. And the suggestion that this be done comes from destructive forces, ready to institute in this country a system through which the criminal, now fearful of the police, may dominate undisputed.

Occasionally there are issues that ought to rise above partizanship, and so far as the ordinary citizen is concerned, they do so. It is different with members of congress. They have been known to kick over the traces once in awhile, but as a rule their opinion as to any public policy is based wholly upon consideration of the effect of that policy on their own political group.

President Coolidge will have the support of the country in his desire to strengthen the army and navy in every way compatible with treaty arrangements.

“WOMAN” REALM

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Lying before me is a dispatch from China which announces with becoming pomposity that "a woman's body was found among the slain bandits" after an attack on one of the brigands' strongholds in Shantung.

The inference is that a bandit camp is not in "woman's realm." I wonder when the press will get over its attitude of rabbit-like astonishment whenever a woman does something unconventional and outrageous. We have for so long kidded ourselves into the belief that every skirt covers a little white angel that we've lost both our sense of humor and our perspective.

Some cub reporter is forever writing about "woman's realm," a mythological location that exists only in the perverted imagination of people who know nothing about life.

It would be delightful could we honestly establish the fact that women are all good, all beautiful, all free from the taint of association with criminals and thieves. But facts demand that we realize that every man criminal has a mother, who in all likelihood did a rotten job of upbringing. Most handits have wives or sweethearts; many have sisters and a goodly number have daughters.

Is it likely that criminal men will bring their women up with strong predilections for law and order? Pirates, and there are many pirates in the Far East, sail the seven seas accompanied by their wives and many times by their large and varied collection of children, boys and girls. Robbers usually have their women in camp to cook for and wait upon them, and many of our most colorful operas are based on the adventures of women criminals—Carmen, for example. You may recall that she led a smuggler's band.

Bad men foregather with bad women. At the present moment a man lies in jail in Los Angeles charged with a brutal murder in which his bride is said to have rendered him active and skilled assistance.

For many years I have reported murder trials and I am unable to remember a murderer who had not the love and faith of some woman back of him, and generally a woman of his own ilk.

Now I am not boasting of the criminal exploits of women. It just happens to be true that we kissed a fond farewell to the ancient delusion that "woman's realm," psychologically speaking, is a neatly dusted, pink and precise white marble corral, roofed with a canopy made of the feathers of angel's wings.

"Woman's realm" is the place where her men happen to be, for women are no better nor worse than the men who are close to them; they are merely more cautious because the connections bear harder on them and the penalties they pay for moral lapse are proportionately higher.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

It wasn't my fault that I met him. We rather looked down on millionaires in our set. That is— isn't precisely true—there is always some one in the crowd who is so awed because the other fellow has more little pieces of green paper than he that he spends his time yes-ing the rich man. It spoils the party. The presence of Dives sends us Lazaruses to the conversational bull-pen, where we may be seen but not heard.

"This is Mr. Whoosis," said my old friend. "He's got lots of money."

My old friend is in the employ of the rich man. So were two others of those present. They said "sir" respectfully whenever they addressed their boss. They called him by his first name, by request, but they were just as carefree in doing it as though he were a Bengal tiger and their assignment was to carry his tummy. The rich man made a profound statement.

"That's nonsense, Ed," said my old friend. "You're talking like a strawberry rash. The facts are—"

And he told them. Ten years ago my old friend often borrowed quarters from me. Then he got a job with the millionaire.

"He likes me because I'm the only man who doesn't 'yes' him," said my old friend. "He has plenty of people around to assure him that he is wiser than the nine wise men, and that he shoots perfect golf only he has had luck, and that his pants hang like a peri's dream. He comes to me for straight talk."

"Are you always right?" I asked. "Criminy, no," said my old friend. "But I give him the best I've got. He may not rank my judgment very high. But at least he knows that it is all mine."

Then he got into his fifteen-foot automobile and rolled ponderously away. And ten years ago he was borrowing quarters. And whatever his fortune may be, it was all made by being a man. He isn't afraid of his millionaire.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

On the great highway of life. The proud and the humble. The strong and the weak. The sound and the maimed.

The happy and the sorrowful. The joyous and the miserable. All making their ways—somewhere.

There is the stately limousine and the rusty run-about. The proud Pierce and the modest Ford. And all of the kinds and sorts and conditions in between.

Sometimes solemnity and sorrow in the limousine. And sometimes riotous laughter in the rusty runabout.

No telling from the exterior what is inside.

There is the well varnished and smooth running car making its way at fifty miles an hour.

Everything indicating prosperity and good fortune.

And there is the wheezing four cylinder toiling up the grade. Against odds.

There is the fellow who was making good headway until somebody smashed into him at an intersection.

And there he is crippled and broken. Looking at the ruin of his affair.

There is the fellow who meant to pass the car in front and got a little too near the edge. And went into the ditch.

Fortune yesterday and misfortune today. Yesterday the bright and shining varnish of prosperous circumstance and today the red rust of carelessness and adversity.

The highway any day you chance to travel it is like life. Some negotiating the way in safety. Others in the ditch. And still the procession moves endlessly. To Somewhere.

Bring me an axe and spade. Bring me a winding sheet; When I my grave have made. Let winds and tempests beat; Then down I'll lie, as cold as clay: True love doth pass away!

ON THE JERICHO ROAD

By JOHN CARLYLE

SMUGGLERS in motor cars go pounding down the ancient road from Damascus to Bagdad. So the news dispatches tell us. The smugglers are hunted with flying machines equipped with machine guns. Things have changed in that part of the earth since the children of the village peered through the open door of the carpenter shop of Nazareth. But the road to Damascus is still there. There is a Jericho road, too, which stretches all the way from there to here. Today, as yesterday, there are weary travelers who fall among thieves. There are proud and selfish and indifferent men who pass them by. The Jericho roads of here and now are rich in the treasures of the spirit to the good Samaritans who stop and look and lift.

Songs of the Poets

Song—By William Blake

My silks and fine array. My smiles and languish'd air. By Love are driven away; And mournful lean Despair Brings me yew to deck my grave: Such end true lovers have.

Bring me an axe and spade. Bring me a winding sheet; When I my grave have made. Let winds and tempests beat; Then down I'll lie, as cold as clay: True love doth pass away!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

Apparently there are Mexicans unable to recognize a good government when they have the opportunity.

English elections have left the ground strewn with very distinguished political dead.

Dancing after midnight is less reprehensible than using the time to slug the belated pedestrian.

"President Openly Challenges Hiram." Headline. Hiram's friends are flattered. The President probably had not thought of him.

Development of subnormal youth into criminal maturity is so constant and inevitable a process that society gets accustomed to it.

No ability is required for procuring an automobile license, or from running automobiles as many run them.

A man at the beach got soured on hair tonic. More strange yet, somebody took the trouble to pump him out.

The explanation of one motorist for not heading signals if that he is color blind, and can't see red. He'd see red all right if somebody ran into him.

GR D OLD NAMES

[Memph Commercial-Appeal] Telephoning to a neighbor, a Memphis woman, proud of the fact that she was a grandmother, said "It's a girl, and her name is Mary Ann."

The mother's name is Mary Ann and the grandmother's name is Mary Ann. The young mother might have called her daughter Yvonne or Edwige, or something else just as daring but she didn't.

Doubtless the whole list of names had been weighed and analyzed before Mary Ann came into being. The other mind had traveled backward over the ages of sacred and secular history and taken note of the glorious lives of the Marys and the Ann whose faith and works have scintillated throughout the ages like jewels in a diadem.

The tender and loving sacrifice of her own mother, whose name is Ann. What could be more appropriate, then, than to call this new bud in humanity's garden Mary Ann?

Some one still have a lingering fondness for old-fashioned roses, and to those of us who do it with a distinctive beauty and sweetness cling around old-fashioned names.

His little Mary Ann and all the rest were bits of humanity that bear the grand old names of antiquity into a womanhood that will be as old and refining as old-fashioned roses

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MARK

As Pilate wanted to satisfy the crowd, he set Barabbas free for them, and after having Jesus flogged handed him over to be crucified.

Then the soldiers took him inside the courtyard, that is of the governor's residence, and they called the whole battalion together. And they dressed him up in a purple cloak, and made a wreath of thorns and crowned him with it, and they began to acclaim him.

"Long live the king of the Jews!" And they struck him on the head with a stick and spat at him, and they knelt down and did homage to him. When they had finished making sport of him, they took off the purple cloak and put his own clothes on him.

Then they took him out of the city to crucify him. And they forced a passer-by, who was coming in from the country, to carry his cross—one Simon, a Cyrenin, the father of Alexander and Rufus. And they took him to the place called Golgotha, which means the Place of the Skull. They offered him drugged wine, but he would not take it. Then they crucified him, and divided up his clothes, drawing lots for them to see what each of them should have. It was nine in the morning when they crucified him. And he noticed of the charge against him read, "The king of the Jews." They crucified two robbers along with him, one at his right and one at his left. And the passers-by jeered at him, saking their heads and saying,

"Aha! you who would tear down the sanctuary and build one in three days! Come down from the cross and save yourself!"

The high priests too made sport of him to go another with the scribes and said, "He saved others, but he cannot save himself! Let this Christ, the king of Israel, come down from the cross now, so that we may see it and believe!" And the men who were crucified with him abused him.

At noon darkness spread over the whole country, and lasted until three in the afternoon. And at three o'clock Jesus called out loudly, "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?" which means, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

Some of the bystanders, when they heard it, said, "See! He is calling for Elijah!" One man ran off and soaked a sponge in commo wine, and put it on the end of a stick and held it up to him to drink, saying, "Let us see whether Elijah does come to take him down!"

But Jesus gave a loud cry, and expired. And the curtain of the sanctuary was torn in two, from top to bottom. And when the captain who stood facing him saw how he expd he said, "This man was certainly a son of God!"

There were some women also watching from a distance, among them Mary of Magdala, Mary the mother of the younger James and of Joseph, and Salome, who used to accompany him and wait on him when he was in Galilee—besides many other women who had come up to Jerusalem with him.

Although it was not evening, yet since it was the Preparation Day, that is, the day before the Sabbath, Joseph of Arimathea, a highly respected member of the council, who was himself living in expectation of the reign of God, made bold to go to Pilate and ask for Jesus' body. Pilate wondered whether he was dead already, and he sent for the captain and asked whether he was dead yet, and when he learned from the captain that he was, he gave Joseph permission to take the body. And he bought a linen sheet and took him down from the cross and wrapped him in the sheet, and laid him in a tomb that had been hewn out of the rock, and rolled a stone against the doorway of the tomb. And Mary of Magdala and Mary, Joseph's mother, were looking on and saw where he was put.

When the Sabbath was over, Mary of Magdala, Mary, James' mother, and Salome bought spices, in order to go and anoint him. Then very early on the first day of the week they went to the tomb, when the sun had just risen. And they said to one another, "Who will roll the stone back from the doorway of the tomb for us?"

And they looked up and saw that the stone had been rolled back, for it was very large. And when they went into the tomb they saw a young man in a white robe sitting at the right, and they were utterly amazed. But he said to them, "You must not be amazed. You are looking for Jesus of Nazareth who was crucified. He has risen, he is not here. See! This is where they laid him. But go and say to his disciples and to Peter, 'He is going before you to Galilee; you will see him there, just as he told you.'"

And they fled out of the tomb, for they were all trembling and bewildered, and they said nothing about it to anyone, for they were afraid to

AN ANCIENT

But they reported briefly what had been told. And by them from the east to the message of eternal salvation

ANOTHER AN

Now after he had risen on the third day, he appeared first to his mother, he appeared first to his brothers, he appeared first to his companions, while they were sitting at table. When they heard that he was living, they would not believe it. A different form to two of them on their way into the country, but they would not believe it. He appeared to the Eleven and to all the other disciples, and reproached them for their unbelief, because they had not believed what he had said when he was living. He had been raised from the dead.

"Go to the whole world and preach the Gospel. He who believes and is baptized will be saved, but he who does not believe will be condemned. And signs like these will attend them wherever they go, as the Lord Jesus, after he had risen, had said to them. They will take snakes in their hands, and they will not be hurt, and they will get up on the sick, and they will get up on the dead, and they will be healed. So the Lord Jesus, after he had risen, had said to them. And they went out and preached everywhere, and confirmed the word by the signs that attended it.

Hawaii Reports
Better Business

Bigger Incomes
[By Associated Press]
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Every economic indicator reflects the "steady progress and well-balanced prosperity which have been the portion of Hawaii during the past fiscal year." Gov. W. R. Farrington declared in his annual report to Congress, made public today. As of special significance, he listed the following:

Savings deposits largest in history of territory.
Tonnage of vessels calling at Hawaiian ports greater than any other one year.
Sugar crop for 1923 estimated at 524,000 tons, valued at nearly $63,
000,000.
Pineapples packed estimated at 5,500,000 cases, worth $28,875,000.

Labor conditions measurably improved due to increased immigration of agricultural labor from Philippines.
For the first time in many years,
Gov. Farrington said, the Japanese have taken second place in the sugar industry, being superseded by Filipinos. The large alien population continues to present a serious problem, however, and "the insistence of quite a group of aliens that their children be given alien language instruction under alien teachers demonstrates clearly that a good portion of these people have no desire to be assimilated." The right of aliens to insist upon such instruction is being tested in the courts.

"Hawaii does not receive for local appropriations a cent of the moneys collected in customs and international revenue. Similar collections in the Philippines and Porto Rico are used for the development of those possessions. Hawaii has never received a dollar of appropriation from the federal government for its highways, as in the case of Alaska, where the War Department has expended millions for highways and the federal government has constructed a railway. Hawaii has built its own roads and maintained its own territorial and municipal governments under taxes levied in addition to those paid to the federal government. These local taxes total $9,569,218.41 for the year under review.

"In the face of this and notwithstanding that congress in 1910 amended the Organic Act of the Territory to include Hawaii in all general appropriations applicable to states, the territory has been left out of federal appropriations for national highways, for agriculture and vocational training, and national maternity legislation.

"The territorial legislature at its regular session of 1923 passed an act setting forth the historical record of annexation, reasserting Hawaii's right to complete recognition as an integral part of the American Union and authorizing the governor to cooperate with the Delegate to Congress in presenting this situation to the United States Congress. This declaration has become popularly named "Hawaii's Bill of Rights" and its chief significance is that the people of this territory—far from having any aggressive intent of independent autonomy—are aggressive in their ambition to be granted the full status of statehood."

FEDERAL MORTGAGE COMPANY ORGANIZED

Indicative of the growing financial importance and rapid growth of Glendale is the announcement of C. C. Cooper, president of the Federal Commercial bank and associates of the organization of the Federal Mortgage company, corner North Brand at East Wilson, a half million dollar financial institution, to handle mortgages and transact a general financing business, supplemental to that of the bank.

The purpose of the company is to handle a good share of the business that is going to Los Angeles, as well as to take care of the growing need locally for money to finance Glendale's ever increasing building.

Heading the organization whose officers were chosen from the stockholders of the Federal Commercial and Savings bank is C. C. Cooper, whose activity in financial circles in Glendale during recent years is a matter of record—the former being president of the First National bank of Glendale.

J. V. Rea, secretary and treasurer, is cashier of the Federal Commercial and Savings bank, and has had varied experience in Southern California banking and financial circles.

E. U. Emery, vice president, is a widely known citizen of Glendale, having been active in the progress of Glendale for the past twelve years—and a large Glendale property owner.

W. J. McCormick, assistant secretary, is assistant cashier of the Federal Commercial and Savings bank, and W. P. Llewellyn, assistant treasurer is in charge of the escrow department of the Federal Commercial and Savings bank.

Mrs. Myrtle A. Baldwin has been a resident of Glendale for the past twenty years, and a member of the school faculty for about fifteen years of that time. She now spends her time looking after her large holdings in real estate in Glendale and the surrounding towns. Mrs. Baldwin is a very active worker in civic affairs, and has a great many friends in Glendale. She has been very successful financially.

D. J. Kelly is a retired capitalist, and an owner of large real estate interests in Glendale, also having real estate and banking interests in Iowa, being a director of same bank for a number of years, and has a resident of Glendale for the past few years. He has been very successful financially, and is interested in the Glendale Hudson-Essex agency.

T. J. Embrough has been a resident of Glendale for the past fifteen years, being actively engaged in the building contracting business. He also has extensive real estate holdings here in Glendale, and has been very successful in his line of business, and financially.

B. A. Mason has been a resident of Glendale for the past three years, coming here from Kansas, where he was a district judge. He is now engaged in the practice of law, also having large real estate holdings here and elsewhere. Mr. Mason has been very successful in his law practice and also in a financial way.

Nathan Rigdon came to Glendale four years ago, and has done a large and successful building contracting business here, and at this time has large holdings of real estate in Glendale, as well as elsewhere. He has been very successful both in building, as well as financially.

A. Jud Shepard has been a resident of Glendale for the past eight years, being actively engaged in the real estate business and has large holdings of real estate here, also in Long Beach and Compton. He has been very successful in his various lines of business.

Paul E. Stillman, a resident of Glendale for the past year, came here from Iowa, where he still owns extensive real estate and other property interests. Mr. Stillman is a former state senator and president of the board of education. He is now actively engaged in the building business, and has large real estate holdings in Glendale.

Fred L. Smith has been a resident of Glendale for the past two or three years, coming here from the northern part of the state, where he was the owner of a number of bus lines. He is now actively engaged in the real estate business, being a member of the firm

QUAKE EXPERTS SEEK BREAKS IN EARTH CRUST

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—An exhaustive study of earthquakes in and near the American continent is being made by the weather bureau in co-operation with the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Canadian meteorological officials, a number of universities and about 5,000 volunteer observers. Among the university records which are proving of great value are those kept by Father Tondorf, in charge of the seismological laboratory at Georgetown University, whose announcement that a violent earthquake had been registered by his instruments was the first news given the world of the Japanese disaster.

Just Chatter

There were five of them all told, mother, father and five kids and a happier family I never knew. Each Sunday they'd get out the battered old Ford and, loading it up, start out for shady woods and pleasant nooks. They hadn't much of worldly goods and Mother's hats were mostly out of style while Pa's trousers bagged at the knees, but nevertheless they were happy. Happy in the joy which comes of living right and for one another. The years rolled by, the kids, finishing school the family moved west. Everything went fine till Pa by a curious whim of fate struck it rich in California oil. Out of the earth the black gold flowed and likewise the sunshine from their hearts, for wealth in its coming made things different. Ma entered the social swim and her clubs and teas took most of her time, while Pa, wrapped up in his growing wealth, was hardly ever home at all. Gradually they drifted apart, while the kids, with connas gone, grew wilder and wilder. Slowly the feeling of unity and love disappeared. Ambition and wealth and jealousy entered the front door and love climbed down the fire escape. Wranglings grew apace and finally came the rupture and divorce proceedings. It all came out in the papers and reading it through my heart went out to the little family who had forgotten love for the vainer follies and pleasures of life.

I met the father the other day in his ten-thousand-dollar car, haggard, worried, stooped and bent with the weight of gold. He wrung my hand and his eyes were moist.

"I, old man, it's all true, that paper stuff—I guess it's the end. The misses and I just can't seem to make the grade. Damn it all, you know, J., I like money as well as anybody; in fact I could shoot the fellow who started poverty, but by jimmy crickets, Kitty and I were a darned sight happier back in the days of the baggy old pants and the battered old Ford."

KNITTED SPORT SUIT

A knitted sport suit of beige has a narrow border on the coat and skirt and around the collar of wool hooked through the material. Wide pockets of brilliantly colored wool are put on in the same clever way.

THOSE CHRISTMAS CIGARS
He won't be telling a "Christmas cigar" joke after the holidays, if you buy that box of cigars at the Ahlmann Drug Co., 200 South Brand, for if you don't know what kind he smokes, they can probably tell you. He will appreciate a gift of "his" favorite brand at Christmas time.

MAKE SURE
Fruit cake is one item for the Christmas dinner that must not be forgotten, and that must not be left until the last on the list to be ordered. Fruit cakes, containing all of the delicious nut meats and fruits necessary for flavor unsurpassed, can now be ordered at Sauter's (Jensen's) Bakery, 519 South Brand. You can save yourself and family by ordering yours now and "making sure."

WORTHY OF THE NAME
Seldom does one appreciate the exacting details which are required to make up an automatic water heater, having all of the elements of safety, convenience, and durability which appeal to the housewife.
When Bonnie Jeanne examined the Glendale—an automatic storage heater worthy of its name—she was deeply impressed with the contrivances which have been brought into action in order to afford water heating apparatus on the most economical basis. Aside from including a pilot light of such efficient design that it will never go out, if properly installed; a thermostat, which, though constructed along lines of puzzling simplicity, affords perfect control; and economic storage facilities—the Glendale is the first heater of its type to furnish as a part of its equipment a high class thermometer, which indicates the temperature of the water in the tank at all times. Every feature has been attended to with utmost care, as you will see when you inspect one for yourself at the Jewel City Plumbing Co., 526 East Broadway.

ATTRACTIVE DESK SET
A desk of painted wood has an antique finish that is most attractive. The background is cream with dull pink roses and garlands of blue ribbon. This set consists of a stand holding two ink wells and a place for pens, a large blotter and a box for writing paper.

DUCKLING FOR XMAS GIFT
There is a gay little duck painted yellow which bobs his head quite sociably when his small owner pulls him about. The duck performs on a blue stand with wheels.

IT SPEAKS
A home is often judged on the merits of its piano. When one considers a piano in its rightful place of importance, its choice becomes a matter for serious consideration. Preference may fall upon the Sterling, the Hobart M. Cable, the Huntington, Baus, Wagener, Jesse French, Lagonda or one of the many other makes which have gained popularity in the music world. Bonnie Jeanne knows of no better place to assert this preference than at the Piano Exchange, 112 West Broadway, where all of the above makes may be seen and tried. New pianos range from $300.00 up in price. A used Wagener at $210.00, Kurtzman at $175.00, and a used Harvard Player at $387.00 are some of the attractive offerings.

EXQUISITE EARRINGS
Exquisite earrings of rock crystal are mounted with filigree silver. The crystal is in a large oblong piece carved in an open-work design. The whole effect is delicate and fragile.

THE KEYNOTE
Draperies denote the atmosphere of the home. Would you express harmony, restfulness, cheerfulness or dignity in the furnishings of your home, the lasting and final impression lies in the draperies you have chosen. For this very important consideration in the home, Bonnie Jeanne advises you to consult George J. Lyons, 1300 South Brand. A salesman will call with a complete line of samples if you desire. Phone Glendale 2372-J.

TO THE WINDS
Three of your shopping days have gone to the wind, both literally and figuratively speaking, but that doesn't change the fact that Christmas is only eleven days off—counting the days in which one may shop.
That makes it even more imperative that one should do as much shopping in the newspaper before starting on the "tour of the shops", in order to save time—patience, and above all, money. Bonnie Jeanne has seen many things this week—which she would like all of her readers to see, and while the housewife has been kept busy indoors, endeavoring to keep the dust off the chairs and the shutters closed, Bonnie Jeanne has paid her regular visits, in order to give her readers something to read about, think about, talk about, and buy.
Remember, this week and next are all that lies between you and Christmas. If you can decide early what you want to buy, shopping can be done with ease, for the choice is to be had in Glendale.

STEEL BEADS ON ENVELOPE BAGS
Envelope bags of colored suede have all the edges finished with tiny steel beads. There are two flaps instead of one, and the second one forms an extra compartment in the bag.

THE H. C. C. B.
Dollars and cents do not always denote elegance—in other words, a clever shopper can sometimes outwit the high cost of Christmas buying by seeking the shops which are outside the high rent area. Some women have already had the intuition to do this very thing, but Bonnie Jeanne knows that there are some uninitiated who will be so thankful to know that a "find" of this kind is within their reach, for at there are art mirrors of French plate, exquisite floor lamps, useful cedar chests, smoking sets—innumerable gift suggestions—at the Russell-Pierce Furniture Co., which is located at 1529-31 South San Fernando Boulevard.

FOR THE NURSERY
A gay little elf with outstretched arms and wings will prove a happy addition to the nursery, particularly as its mission is both practical and decorative. The arms and wings form a unique clothes rack that is quite within reach of the child.

A MAN'S OPINION
Ask any man and he will tell you that a shirt, provided it is the right size, is an ever-welcome gift. Now, take a suggestion from Bonnie Jeanne, get the measurements of that shirt your husband or brother says is just right and have a shirt made to his measure. You can do this most conveniently, for you must know that Glendale has among her many offers to shoppers an institution known as the Baldwin Shirt Co., 1725 South Brand Boulevard, where you can select exactly the kind of shirt he would like. Bonnie Jeanne had never before seen such a large assortment of materials—all for men's shirts—and she thinks that whatever his taste the Baldwin Shirt Co. will be able to meet it.

ARISTOCRACY IS DEMOCRATIC
If expressed in a necklace of pearls—for pearls are becoming to every woman. No matter what her type every woman will be pleased over a gift of Blue Bird Pearls—roses and cream for the distinct fair complexion—pearls of many hues to enhance the charm and pay tribute to the beauty of all. Bonnie Jeanne saw necklaces of many lengths, from the smart and piquant choker to the long rope, priced from $3.90 to $100.00, at Ed. N. Radke's, 109 South Brand.

LARGE FAN OF BLACK QUILLS
A large fan made of black quills, each tipped with brilliants, is sure to add a decorative touch to any gathering.

IMPROVE THEM
"It's surprising what a difference a little varnish makes in the looks of a chair." said a neighbor of Bonnie Jeanne's when caught in the act of going over the dining room chairs. "We expect to have company Christmas and I just decided to do a little retouching myself. When I inquired at Harry Moore Co., Inc. about varnishes, I was surprised to think how little it would cost to go over these—and just see the difference." You may have been planning to retouch the furniture in your home before the holidays. If so, you will find all necessary materials at Harry Moore Co., Inc., 304 East Broadway.

DON'T KEEP A COLD
"This is a bad time of the year to take chances with a cold. Once they are started they are difficult to check. Stimulating the circulation through chiropractic and naturopathic treatments is one of the best means known in preventing and treating colds, grippe and influenza," said Dr. M. H. Hawman, whose office at 221 West Broadway, is visited by many Glendaleans.

SINCERITY
You will agree that price and value in Christmas buying rest upon sincerity. There is a comfortable sense of security in buying where sincerity is sold with every piece of merchandise. Bonnie Jeanne finds this true of W. E. Heald, jeweler, 125 West Broadway, whose stock of gift suggestions will please.

THE PARIS SHOPPER
A friend writes from Paris that bobbed hair is as popular as ever. America answers the same.

TREND OF FASHION

By HELEN MERRILL EMERY

Slim and exceedingly straight in line as so many of the new frocks are, nevertheless they lend themselves to varied treatments as interesting as they are novel. Since for many people an absolutely unbroken line is apt to be a bit trying certain details are introduced which relieve a too straight line, but do not detract from the essential slenderness.
A circular flounce attached to a long, slim frock is one of the most effective means of breaking the line, and when, as in the model sketched, this flounce is of fur to match the circular cuffs on the sleeves, the result is an ensemble of tremendous distinction.
The importance of brown is stressed in the modes of midwinter and the costume illustrated is a telling exponent of the vogue for all shades of brown. The material in which it is developed is soft wool velour in a particularly flattering tone. The fur on the sleeves and forming the flounce is of beaver, while a note of contrast is added by narrow bands of dull gold galloon arranged to form a decoration on the skirt and to suggest a belt just across the front of the dress.
With this costume is worn one of the new high-crowned hats which milliners have introduced in the hope of ousting the ubiquitous cloche. It is of black haters plush with a small brush ornament placed in front a little to the right. Several of these hats have appeared lately and are extremely chic. One model has a slight roll just at the side which gives a becoming and flattering line.

Fur Used in a Clever Way on a Frock of Velour.

WILL GIVE PRIZES
Do you believe in luck? You will if you hold one of the five lucky numbers to be drawn Friday afternoon and evening, when Ferber's will hold the grand opening of their fine new store at Broadway and Maryland.
Tickets will be given each visitor at the store Friday, and five lucky numbers will be called at various times during the afternoon and evening program. Bonnie Jeanne advises you that the prizes to be given are well worth trying for—and it costs nothing.

A CALIFORNIA TOKEN
If someone asked you whether or not you knew that California dates are the finest in the world, what would you answer? Bonnie Jeanne learned at Roberts & Echols Drug Co., Brand and Broadway, that dates grown in Coachella valley, Riverside county, have that reputation. What an excellent California Christmas gift to send back east a box of these tempting dates would be. Many sizes of well wrapped boxes are offered at Roberts & Echols Drug Co.

The drawing is to take place between numbers of the fashion show which will be in progress from 3 to 5 and 8 to 10 p. m. This show will be a charming feature in itself—10 beautiful models will show the newest things in women's and children's apparel, while Kelly's Shrine orchestra plays. Plan now to be present at this pleasurable event.

In Paris skirts are worn 8 inches from the floor, a point greatly in favor of the woman of average height.

DIPLOMATS FACE MOVE TO ANGORA

[By Associated Press]
CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 11.—The decision of the national assembly, by an overwhelming vote, to retain Angora as the capital ends for the time being the effort on the part of a very large group to move the capital back to this city. Also it brings the countries having diplomatic representatives in Turkey face to face with a problem they have evaded up to the present time, whether they will retain their seats here or remove to Angora to be in contact with the Turkish government.

At present all the more important countries have liaison officers in Angora. Only a few small countries, like Afghanistan, have placed their ministers there. But now the German representative announces that, no matter what the other powers may do, the German Minister, when appointed after the ratification of the Lausanne treaty, will take up residence in the capital. This may force the hand of other big states, but it is not considered likely that any of them will really establish embassies in that remote and unhealthy city, when here they own impressive and costly premises.

In deciding to remain in Angora the assembly seems to have been controlled by two principal motives, one that in event of war it is remote and safe from an enemy, and the other a desire to be freed from what they have called the evil influence of a partly foreign metropolis.
Angora advises, however, say that the decision is not irrevocable and indicate that the matter may

MONROSE NOTES

The community sing held at the Montrose school house Friday evening was a complete success. Despite the cold winds the hall was crowded and everyone present was in favor of continuing the affairs each week. The following officers were elected to serve during the year: Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, president; Mrs. Edwards, vice president; Mrs. Case, secretary; Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, treasurer. Alexander Stewart, director of the Civic Music and Art association of Los Angeles, graciously gave his time to direct the singing. Mr. Stewart has perhaps had more experience in the direction of community singing than any other man along the coast, and Montrose is indeed fortunate in securing his aid. He will be present at next Friday's affair. Miss B. Barnard favored the audience with a beautiful solo which was enjoyed immensely. A new song for Montrose was introduced. The words were composed by Mrs. A. F. Hopkins and the music was written by Mrs. C. Colts. The song will be practiced next Friday. The president urges that everyone secure a copy of the "Twice 55" song books, which will be on sale at the next sing. These books will be used during the season for the sings. Don't forget the next meeting which will be held Friday evening, December 14, at the Montrose school.

The rather husky breeze that has been frolicking about the valley the past three days became somewhat too hilarious in its fun last evening and played havoc with many pieces of property in Montrose. Winds from the south and from the mountains in the north met in a "head on" and went about tearing down signs and various flimsily built small buildings. Two plate glass windows in the Montrose State bank were broken, as were also the windows of the Montrose Dry Goods store and the furniture store adjoining. Part of the Boyer garage and service station was demolished, and many roofs were lifted off and deposited in vacant lots. Telephone and electric car service was cut off for some hours during the morning, Monday.

Saturday morning about 11:30, a Los Angeles county steam roller and oil tank, working on Mountain avenue in La Canada, got away and raced down La Canada boulevard toward Montrose at 40 miles an hour. The driver jumped from the engine at the subdivision owned by Frank Turner and L. B. McCright of Montrose. He escaped with no more serious injury than a lacerated knee. The engine continued a few yards in its flight and then turned completely over, landing up side down against a telephone pole.

LEGION NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.—Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Under provisions of a new eligibility class in the American Legion, hundreds of allied soldiers, heretofore unable to join the veteran's organization are becoming members, according to word received from National Headquarters.
Morgan Keaton, State Adjutant of the Legion for California, said yesterday that men who served with the allied forces, whether at the time of entry, American citizens or later becoming naturalized, are now eligible to the Legion because of a change made in the constitution at the recent San Francisco convention.

The new provision particularly applied to Canadian veterans who have taken up American citizenship since the world war, and scores of such men are affiliating with the Legion, Keaton says, as well as making eligible the thousands of Americans who enlisted in the armies of other nations during the war, but who were previously barred from the legion because of foreign service.

Once upon a time a writer of book advertising, waxing ambitious, thought he would do something a trifle different. His next advertisement was very simple. Here it is:
"Our latest book.
"Just a summer novel.
"It does not grip you."
Millions of copies were sold. Clamorous customers caused rioting and the publishing house was demolished. So after that he was asked to stick to tried and true old formula used in boosting any book—it grips you.
