Russia's Role In The War Growing In Importance

Western Front Movements

LUCKY CAMP FORBES

In the 1930s, Forbes was known as a lucky camp for the group of American horsemen who rode to fame in the early war years. The camp was located in the foothills of the Bihor Mountains, and it was considered the ideal location for horse training and development. The camp was named after the famous horseman, J. W. Forbes, who had first come to the area in the early 1900s.

MINITLA CAMP AT BATHURST

Local Unit Enters October 7

【TEXT NOT READABLE】